CARL ST. is finally going to be more than just a curb cut on Arthur St. The road was dug up last week as part of the Bridgetown Condominium project. It will provide a secondary access to the project. The main entrance will be off the Taylor St. extension on the opposite side of the project.

Joseph K. Piasecki Signs Three-Year Pact As School Superintendent

Joseph K. Piasecki has signed a three-year contract to become the new superintendent of the Chelsea School District. He will succeed Ray Van Meer, Chelsea's superintendent since 1978, July 1. The announcement was made at Monday night's school board meeting.

Piasecki, 41, is superintendent of Breckenridge Community Schools, a district of 1,250 students near Alma.

The contract calls for a salary of $58,000 for the first year. In addition, the school district will pay relocation expenses.

"Mr. Piasecki has a strong background in staff development and public relations," said Chelsea School Board President Lloyd Grau.

"We especially liked his involvement of the community in the operation of the Breckenridge schools. Mr. Piasecki has also been a very active participant in the Breckenridge community. We look to his leadership to continue the many fine programs now established in the Chelsea schools."

Piasecki was appointed superintendent at Breckenridge in 1984. Prior to that he was superintendent and principal of St. Mary's Preparatory school in Orchard Lake from 1980-84. He also served in the West Bloomfield district as acting high school principal, project manager and assistant high school principal. He was also assistant principal of Adams High school in Rochester for five years.

Piasecki was born in Detroit and earned his bachelor's degree at Central Michigan University in 1968, with a major in political science and minor in journalism. He also earned a master's degree at CMU in 1971, with a major in secondary administration, and the educational specialist degree, with a major in general administration, from Wayne State University in 1979.

In addition, Piasecki has received several recognitions. He was the recipient of an education policy fellowship program scholarship during 1986-87 was selected as one of the Outstanding Young Men in America in 1981, and was named Outstanding Young Educator by the Rochester Jaycees in 1976-77.

"I am very pleased to be selected by the board of education," Piasecki said.

"I will offer the people of Chelsea three things: professionalism, a

JOSEPH K. PIASECKI will become the new superintendent of the Chelsea School District in July. He will take over for Ray Van Meer, who resigned to start a consulting firm.

positive leadership, and involvement of the community with the school system."

Piasecki's community involvement has included membership on the Gratiot County Michigan Week Committee, Breckenridge Rotary Club, Breckenridge Area Chamber of Commerce Executive Board, Gratiot County United Way Executive Board, and the Breckenridge Sports Boosters.

In a letter of recommendation, Karen Giles, president of the Breckenridge Board of Education, said, his "ability to lead a school district as superintendent is unquestionable. Those under his supervision have a clear knowledge of who is in charge. He is totally loyal and completely supportive of his entire staff." She went on to describe him as "an optimist with an added sense of realism... down to earth with a good sense of humor."

Breckenridge Community Schools have passed all five millage issues during Piasecki's four-year tenure.

Piasecki and his wife, Marlene, have two children, Brian and Nicole.

Chelsea Voters To Choose President, Three Trustees In Monday Elections

Chelsea voters go to the polls next Monday, March 14 to elect a village president and three village trustees.

There are also uncontested races for village treasurer and two McKune Memorial Library Board seats.

No one is running for village assessor for the third straight year.

Jerry Satterthwaite, the incumbent village president, faces trustee Richard Steele in the election for president (see related story this issue).

Satterthwaite is seeking his third consecutive term. Steele, a two-term trustee, has never run for president.

Six men are running for village trustee, including incumbents Gary Bentley, Phil Boham and Joe Merkel, and challengers Charles Ritter, Harold Allen and Richard Rigg.

Bentley, 223 Harrison St., is seeking his second term on council. Bentley, originally from Kentucky, has lived most of his adult life in Chelsea and is employed at Chelsea Milling Co.

Boham, 122 S. East St., is also seeking his second term. He is employed at Chelsea Community Hospital. Boham has lived most of his life in Chelsea.

Merkel, 743 Taylor St., another long-time resident, is seeking his fifth term. He is the senior member of council. He's also the owner of Wolverine Food & Spirits on Old US-12.

Ritter, 509 Maywood St., was village president in 1980-81. He ran again for president against Satterthwaite in 1986 and was defeated in one of the heaviest voter turnouts ever.

Originally from Kansas, Ritter has lived in Chelsea since 1949.

Allen, 250 Wilkinson St., is a newcomer to village politics. He is a past-president of the Chelsea Jaycees and is the organizer of the Chelsea fireworks display. He is self-employed.

Rigg, 143 E. Middle St., is also a newcomer to village politics. However, before moving to Chelsea in 1975, he was a village trustee in Manchester. He works at Chrysler Proving Grounds.

Incumbent treasurer Kathleen Chapman is seeking her second term.

Anne Merkel and Dan Kaminsky are running for library board seats.

President, trustee and treasurer all are two-year positions. Library board seats run for three years.

Sylvan Town Hall on W. Middle St. will again be the voting place, even though it is the temporary home of the 14th district court. Court business will be kept to a minimum. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

'89 Budget Considered In Special Meeting

A public hearing was scheduled to be held last night on a proposed village general fund budget of $1,335,300 for fiscal year 1988-89. The budget was the major agenda item of a special meeting of the village council.

The proposed budget is $245,300 higher than the 1987-88 amended budget. It anticipates a tax increase of 5.1 mills to 17.95 mills, most of which will be used for debt retirement for the new wastewater treatment plant.

The village anticipates $654,000 in revenues from real and personal property taxes, a rise of nearly $117,000 over 1987-88 revenues. In addition, the budget anticipates increased revenues from state shared taxes (up $20,000), fire department contracts (up $9,000), and garbage collection (up $31,000). It shows a cash balance of $133,000 on March 1, up $62,600 from 1987-88.

The chief rise in expenditures is in the "other activities" line item, which jumps $165,400 over 1987-88. Included will be debt retirement for the smaller of the two bond issues for the wastewater treatment plant and contingency money for dealing with the landfill problems.

Teacher Loses Purse to Thief

A purse containing credit cards and $100 in cash was stolen from a Chelsea High school teacher's room last week.

Chelsea police reported that a purse belonging to Nancy Cooper was taken either near noon on Monday, Feb. 29 or between 6:30 a.m. and 8 a.m. on Tuesday, March 1. Police said bathrooms and trash cans at the school were searched but nothing related to the theft was found.

Meet Your Candidates

This is the fourth in a series of profiles of candidates for office in the March 14 village elections. This week's profiles focus on Jerry Satterthwaite and Richard Steele, candidates for village president. The Chelsea Standard does not endorse any candidate(s).

Jerry Satterthwaite, 423 McKinley St., is seeking his third consecutive term as village president.

He served three years as trustee on the village council prior to running for president.

Satterthwaite, who's self-employed, is a 1959 graduate of Chelsea High school and has lived in the area all his life. He's been a village resident for most of the years since 1960.

"When I took over as president I had a touchy situation with the chief of police and I vowed then that I wouldn't leave any major issues unattended," Satterthwaite said of his reason for seeking his third term.

Satterthwaite sees the landfill licensing and pollution problems as the major issue that he'd like to take care of before he leaves office.

"I see what kind of problem that could be, and it probably won't go away," Satterthwaite said.

"The problem with the landfill is, if we close it down now all we'll do is postpone the problem. The (Department of Natural Resources) will come after us now or later. We might just as well go after the new operating license. I think that would be best for the village and surrounding townships."

(The DNR wants Chelsea to assume complete responsibility for cleaning up groundwater pollution caused by the landfill in exchange for a new operating license.)

Satterthwaite said he has no regrets over votes he has cast on other issues and that he is satisfied with what the village has accomplished over the last two years.

"I said the last time that if we could get the F&M cleaned up and the hotel cleaned up that I'd be satisfied so I guess I'm satisfied," Satterthwaite said.

RICHARD STEELE

Student Charged With Hitting Man

A 17-year-old Chelsea High school student has been charged with assault and battery in connection with an incident at a high school dance.

The boy, according to Chelsea police, is accused of striking Donald Pickell, 18, after Pickell allegedly used an obscenity to describe him during a dance on Friday, Feb. 26.

Village trustee Richard Steele is seeking his first term as village president.

Steele, 211 Lincoln St., is in the middle of his third term on the village council.

Steele is supervisor of out-patient endoscopy at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, where he's worked for 22 years. He was born and reared in Chelsea, but moved to Ann Arbor in his early teen-age years. He moved back to the village 17 years ago.

Steele said his reasons for running have nothing to do with any dissatisfaction over Jerry Satterthwaite's administration, although Steele is the most likely member of council to vote against Satterthwaite. For example, Steele voted for (and Satterthwaite against) a zoning change to allow a shopping center to be constructed adjacent to I-94, he voted against (and Satterthwaite for) the Downtown Development Authority's tax increment financing plan, and he voted against (and Satterthwaite for) spending $25,000 on the district court renovation project.

"I just thought for me it's the right time to run," Steele said.

"I didn't want to wait until someone else makes a decision not to run. I'm satisfied with my performance on the council and I'd like to be village president."

Steele said his number one agenda item as president would be the development of a flexible, short-range capital improvement development plan. He said the plan should take a look at development plans for the next few years and project what the village will need in terms of increased water and sewer system improvements, general facilities, and fire and police protection, and possible methods of financing them.

"Most of the developers are working in phases," Steele said.

"If we know the population of the village, we'll know what services we need to provide. I don't know if we could have projected what's going on (Continued on page seven)

Governor Launches T.I.P. To Combat High School Drop-Out Rate
Governor James J. Blanchard has introduced a program that will provide high school students an incentive to graduate, by providing up to two years of tuition and mandatory fees at a Michigan community college.

The governor traveled to high schools in Detroit and Flint, along with Sen. Dan DeGrow (R-Port Huron), to launch the Tuition Incentive Program (TIP). Sen DeGrow proposed the program last year.

The program is an effort to reduce the state's drop-out rate, which the U.S. Department of Education reported rose 4 percent from 1985 to 32.2 percent in 1986.

TIP, which would be effective this spring, is available to students whose family incomes have been at or below the poverty level for three of the last four years, or whose family receives public assistance.

"A quality high school education is an important step to opportunity," the governor said. "TIP is an exciting new way to provide this opportunity by offering an incentive for students from low-income families to stay in school, graduate and go on to college."

Juvenile Crime Shows 10-Year Decline
A recent report by the Michigan Council on Crime and Delinquency showed a decline in juvenile apprehensions during the past 10 years.

The report showed that apprehensions of juveniles for crimes have never been more than one-quarter of all police arrests and currently are no more than 10 to 15 percent of the total reported by law enforcement agencies, said Lynn Burdell-Williams, president of MCCD.

The report noted that although there has been an increase during the past few years, juvenile apprehensions for violence have also decreased over the 10-year study period.

Richard Duranczky, associate director of MCCD, said violent crimes still make up less than 10 percent of all juvenile apprehensions.

The juvenile advocacy organization recommended continued reform of the juvenile code, mandatory data collection systems, guidelines for decision-making in juvenile courts, elimination of court jurisdiction over status offenders and substantial funding for juvenile delinquency prevention.

State Drops Five Places In Environmental Ranking Michigan's relative environmental ranking dropped five places from last year, leaving it tied for 10th place among the states in an assessment of programs to control pollution.

Its worst ranking by the Fund for Renewable Energy and the Environment was in surface water protection where it was given five of 10 possible points.

Michigan's highest ranking was eight points in pollution control from energy sources, an area in which it was rated among the top nine states.

In the other four categories, it got seven points in land use planning, and six each for reducing pesticide contamination, eliminating indoor pollution and highway safety.

Scott Ridley, author of the State of States report, said cutbacks in federal environmental protection and a shift of environmental responsibilities have placed greater demands on state and local governments.

He said identified needs for environmental cleanup exceed $300 billion, but said a higher bill in increased health risk, degradation of the environment and erosion of quality of life will show up if states cannot meet the challenge.

The group suggested raising funds by taxes on pollution sources and through stiff penalties and fines on polluters.

The 38 total points left Michigan tied with Hawaii, Minnesota and New Hampshire.

Wisconsin and Massachusetts tied for first, followed by California, New Jersey, Connecticut, New York, Oregon, Florida and North Carolina.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers were doing some wishful thinking at the country store Saturday night, some ahead and some behind, Zeke Grubb set the course by declaring we need to go back to the time we itemized our bills.

Zeke said his old lady come from a 20 minute visit to her doctor's office the middle of the week with a bill for "professional services, $125." That was it except for a slip of gibberish that cost another $47 at the drugstore. No parts, no labor, jest professional services. You couldn't argue, Zeke said, at the price they sure weren't amateur services.

The more he thought of it the less he thought of it, Zeke said. Wonder how that doctor would feel if he got a bill for work on one of his BMWs that said "mechanical services, $75." In both cases, he went on, the paying consumer ought to know what he got. Doctors run machines and send samples to labs, and mechanics don't repair, they replace. If both told everything they do their customers wouldn't understand, but the list would make em feel better than "services rendered."

Ed Doolittle moved ahead to spring that fer all the fellers means a stirring in the land and another year of battling all odds. Ed said it bothers him that barns are getting smaller, tractors are getting bigger and farmers are getting fewer. There's a connection there, he said, and it ain't good fer agriculture or the rest of the economy. Ed said little barn, big tractor is all hat, no cattle. It's the feller out for the short gain that will pull up lame over the long haul.

General speaking, Ed lost most of the fellers, but Clem Webster come out swinging. He said Ed's ideas on agriculture are as obsolete as his politics, and that Ed ain't changed his mind since Herbert Hoover convinced him this country needs a good old fashion depression ever now and agin to test her character.

The truth is, Clem declared, modern equipment is the only way to farm with any hope of making a go of it. A big, fresh-painted barn might be nice to look at, and it might give the idee of storing up fer the future, Clem went on, but if you don't raise somepun to store you ain't got a future in farming. Besides, he said, storage is a dead expense, and that's why the big car makers limit their inventory to six production hours and their suppliers to two hour delivery time.

Bug Hookum was foursquare with Clem. Bug said if you don't keep up you git left out. Chances are, he said, the big, bright-painted barn you see at the edge of town next to the subdivision jest past the strip shopping center is a big fake-country, all-you-care-to-eat restaurant with planks on saw horses fer tables in the loft and owned by a bunch of big city boys that made it big in the market and got out jest in time. Bug had saw where the farmer's piece of the country's food-dollar pie was down from 32 to 30 cent fer 1986, but it wouldn't be that good without smart marketing.

Furthermore, Bug said, smart thinking like the corn burning stove made in Omaha keeps the farmer in the game. It heats homes on shelled corn we got plenty of, or it can be fixed to burn pellets made of what we've been throwing away, peanut and rice hulls and sawdust. The pelleting makes jobs and the stove makes low-cost energy, Bug went on, and if we can market it in the South and rig it to run on kudzu vines it'll clean up farmland in the bargain.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

America is going native. According to National Wildlife magazine, native plants are back in vogue for landscaping and wildlife habitat. Along Florida beaches, for instance, local groups are replanting seas grasses essential for small fish. And in the Southwest, they're restoring thorn forests to provide habitat for ocelots and jaguarundis. Even the California Transportation Department is getting in on the act by using native trees and shrubs for erosion control and highway beautification!

A VIEW from the CLOCK TOWER

By Brian Hamilton

Is anyone laying odds on who Chelsea's next village president and trustees will be?

How many people in this village even know there is an election Monday, let alone know the names of the candidates?

What would happen if someone went door-to-door in the village and asked residents if they could name anyone on the village council? Can the average resident name even one trustee?

Several of the candidates have said that the village electorate, in general, is apathetic about village politics. It is hard to argue with this notion.

Last year a total of 180 voters turned out and Dennis Hall accumulated a massive total of 138 votes to whip his three other competitors. And trustee Herman Radloff lost his seat by a single vote.

In 1986, in one of the heaviest turnouts ever, 668 residents cast their votes. In that election, which really can't be called typical, we elected a village president and voted on $2 million in wastewater plant bonds.

In 1985 only 109 voters showed up, probably because all the candidates ran unopposed.

According to village clerk Allen Anderson, there are about 1,300 active registered voters in the village, and another 1,300 inactive registered voters, meaning they haven't voted in the last three or four years.

So last year about 14 percent of active registered voters voted. The figure drops to about seven percent if you count all registered voters.

That makes the 1986 totals look positively whopping by comparison, when about 25 percent of all registered voters spent a few minutes in Sylvan Town Hall.

Does the indifference mean that everyone is satisfied with the village leadership? Or does it mean that, politically, voters can't tell the difference between a Richard Steele and a Stephanie Kanten or anyone else for that matter? Or maybe they think that council members are interchangeable. Swap one person out for another and council will basically do the same things anyway. Maybe they don't care until they realize their taxes are going up. This is a question for the political scientists.

One thing is for certain. Unless a voter knows the candidates, or is part of a reliable grapevine, (s)he's probably had to rely on this newspaper to form opinions about the candidates.

The vast majority of voters aren't relying on first-hand information to judge how incumbents think about the issues. Village council meetings are about as well attended as Jim and Tammy rallies these days. The people who do show up tend to be the same ones over and over and they are usually village employees.

Occasionally, when a big issue is discussed, like financing for the Downtown Development Authority, 20 or 30 people will show up and stay until that issue has been dealt with. Then the whole herd of people leaves the room like kids at the end of a class when the bell has rung.

Even the challengers for the trustee spots haven't bothered to attend meetings. Perhaps they're too busy campaigning (and being knowledgeable men they know there's no point in shaking hands at council meetings because no one will be there). But I wonder how they're suddenly going to find the time and interest for council meetings should they be elected.

The incumbents, of course, have a big edge in this department because they're somewhat obligated to attend the meetings. However, at least one of the candidates has said that some current members of council don't care about what transpires, either.

Neither the challengers or incumbents have made much of a push, outside of their newspaper profiles, to inform the voters about their credentials. This is the first week for any substantial newspaper advertising. There haven't been any fliers in my front door. Haven't seen any posters downtown either.

A good case could be made that the candidates themselves are at least partially responsible for the low voter participation. If none of the candidates makes an effort to advertise himself, why should anyone vote for him?

Political advertising, regardless of whom it promotes, also plays another crucial role—it makes people increasingly aware that an important election is about to take place. Political advertising challenges potential voters to form an opinion about a person or issue. And once that opinion is formed, a person is far more likely to vote.

If every candidate has a low-key campaign, is it any wonder the election is low-key as well?

The level of turnout Monday could play a major role in determining our next officials. Some believe a big turnout favors Jerry Satterthwaite's bid for president because Steele has a smaller following but one that is more likely to vote due to dissatisfaction with the current administration. A small turnout could be interesting because 80 votes might be enough to elect a trustee since there are so many candidates.

If there was ever a time for anything approaching political activism in Chelsea, it is now. How the village deals with the landfill and the Department of Natural Resources, general growth of the village, and keeping the downtown a vital business area will affect every resident.

All the candidates have their particular strengths and it's up to the voters to decide which of those strengths are most important to the future of the village.

Please vote Monday. However, if you have no knowledge about the issues or the candidates, please stay away. As we saw last year, one vote can make a big difference.

Dexter township board of trustees, meeting Tuesday, March 1, gave final plat approval to Wandering Hills Estates II, lots 17-33, and to Huron Creek Farms II, lots 13-25. They gave tentative preliminary approval to Wandering Hills III.

Huron Creek Farms is on the Dexter-Pinckney Rd., south of North Territorial, across from the Huron Creek Party Store. Wandering Hills is on the north side of Island Lake Rd. just past Riker Rd., south of Riker Lake.

The board also discussed future road development with the Washtenaw County Road Commission. They spent the most time discussing Noah Rd. Puppies for the Blind

The blind girl bumped against something on the street and quickly apologized in case it had been a person. Seconds later it happened again, and once more she uttered an embarrassed, "Sorry." Only moments passed before there was yet another bump, almost as though it was the same person. She reached out to touch, and realized with shame that each time it had been a light pole. How many people on the street had been watching her game of blind man's bluff with a light pole?

In a city a thousand miles away, another sightless person was being escorted through the ground floor of a public building by a sighted friend who stopped and warned, "Steps!" The blind man, who also halted stepped forward and crashed, saving himself in the nick of time by grabbing a stair rail. The guiding friend had failed to say down at the head of the basement stairs.

Embarrassment at being helpless. Ashamed at calling attention to their blindness. The threat of accidents in traffic or in the presence of machinery. These are the dreaded companions of sightless persons who attempt to find their way by feel.

The heart-warming alternative is the conquest of fear and the exalted discovery of independence when a human being without sight forms a partnership with a Leader Dog for the blind. Amazingly, these animals are the world's only trained pedestrians.

Since the Lions Club started Leader Dogs for the Blind 49 years ago, more than 7,000 blind people in many lands have found dignity, mobility, employment and emancipation. With their faithful canine partners they are free to travel the streets of cities and villages. The two can go from one place to another in cars, buses, ships, trains and airplanes. Dog and owner are accepted, as a matter of custom and legal privilege, in restaurants, concert halls, auditoriums and public places.

Leader Dogs for the Blind is a charitable organization which depends for its support on Lions Clubs and other donors. It costs $7,500 to raise and train a Leader Dog. Other than a nominal out-of-pocket payment, this skilled animal is given without charge to its blind owner. To qualify for a Leader Dog the prospective owner must be at least 16, of good reputation, in satisfactory health and sufficiently robust to walk briskly for two or three miles.

When a sightless person has been accepted for Leader Dog training, the student comes to Rochester by appointment and begins a very special four week learning program. The owners meet their guide dogs at that time and begin right off by sharing their bedrooms together.

The Leader Dog organization will have nothing to do with blind people who are, or have been, professional beggars. The Rochester people share the feelings of all self-respecting blind persons that the stock in trade of a beggar is a sad, helpless impression deliberately designed to arouse pity. Such mendicants give the impression that all blind people are beggars. The truth is that all Leader Dog owners take pride in their productivity and independence. If you want a taste of courage, imagine yourself crossing Main and Middle Streets in the company of a dog with your eyes sealed shut.

Leader Dogs for the Blind in Rochester, Michigan is situated on 16 acres, a former apple orchard, just a little more than an hour's drive from Chelsea. In Washtenaw county we feel close to the Leader Dog people for reasons other than proximity. Our Chelsea Lions Club has conducted annual money raising drives for the blind during all 11 years of its existence.

Beyond this, some Leader Dogs begin their lives here. Wilma and Norman Luckhart on Island Lake Road, for instance, are experienced raisers of German shepherd puppies for Leader Dog training. Local 4-H members are welcomed as Leader Dog puppy trainers by the 4-H office of our county Co-operative Extension Service. The Washtenaw county goal for 1988 is 60 puppies.

Leader Dogs are contributed by donors who want to help the blind. All canine candidates for training are large, intelligent, gentle animals—German shepherds, Labrador retrievers and golden retrievers—registered with the American Kennel Club. The parents of puppies for training must meet height and temperament standards, and both parents must have their hips X-rayed to determine that neither is displastic. Hip displasia is a malformation of the hip joint that can be passed on to puppies. Such a disability can lead to lameness and shorten a dog's working career.

When a host family begins the 4-H Leader Dog program, they are told, "For the next 12 months or so, the puppy will be yours to love, to socialize, and to enjoy. The puppy will provide you with opportunities to learn the history and characteristics of one of the three breeds in the program. In turn, you will provide the puppy with the experience of becoming bonded to a human, learning to live and work with people."

The host family is provided with a copy of the members' guide to the 4-H puppy project. All members of the family, including the very young, must be made to understand and fulfill the requirements. The guide book has photographically illustrated sections on caring for the well-being and health of the puppy. There is a timetable for the puppy's development, first through the initial 30 weeks, then through various intervals until the dog has reached 15 months. There is guidance in house training, discipline and safe toys.

Obedience training for future Leader Dogs is different than for pets. For instance, a Leader Dog puppy is never taught to heel. Instead he should lead out so that his hind legs are lined up with the handler's legs. Trainers at the Rochester school will take care of the final obedience work, but much can be done while the animal is still a puppy. Lessons in traffic begin with short walks in the neighborhood where children are playing. On farms and in residential areas, the puppies can become accustomed to the presence of tractors, lawn mowers, sprinklers, motorized tools and vehicles.

When the animal is 14 to 15 months old, it is time for the puppy raiser and 4-H leaders to decide if the young dog is sufficiently mature to begin real Leader Dog training. When the time is right, arrangements are made to transport it to Rochester for acceptance testing.

This is often a time of emotional trial for the 4-H youngster. If the pet is accepted, there is the pride of achievement along with the heartbreak of separation. If the pet is rejected there may be the comfort of keeping him but what are the kids and others going to say in Chelsea? Fortunately, 4-H youngsters often go through the same experience with their beloved farm animals.

The young dogs are tested upon arrival by experts at Rochester to make sure they are okay physically. Health problems are the greatest cause for rejection as Leader Dogs. We've mentioned hip displasia. Another problem is heart murmurs which may be present in young dogs and disappear with maturity. Eye problems, poor teeth or lack of stamina may disqualify some dogs. Next come the critical tests for temperament—the potential in a dog for living and working with a blind person for the rest of its life.

In spite of loving and conscientious training, some dogs must be rejected. They can be too aggressive. Or they are simply too nervous. Some prove to be unfriendly or overly-protective or suspicious. Some are found in workout trials to be lacking in responsibility, or are inconsistent in their habits. Others are unable to adjust. Among the latter are a few that just can't overcome their homesickness.

Only 30 out of 100 dogs make it all the way through to graduation from Leader Dog School.

Dogs which are not accepted for training are either returned to their 4-H family or placed in a good home. Those dogs who do begin their Leader Dog training are soon bonded to their trainers.

Upon acceptance, the 4-H dogs undergo five months of professional guide dog training. They are taught to lead through all sorts of problem areas, even including steel stairs with open ends at the back of the treads. The dog's temperament and behavior are matched as closely as possible with the special needs of its selected owner.

It is a poignant moment when the Leader Dog and new master or mistress meet for the first time, and often if is a moment of love at first touch.

If you and your children would like more information about the 4-H host program for puppies, call Janet Everingham, 4-H Youth Agent at 971-0079.

CLAIRE ISAAZ performed a dance routine to "Power of Love" by Huey Lewis and the News at South school's talent show last Thursday. The children performed three times during the day for both schoolmates and family.

Curriculum Director Position Extended For Three Years

The position of curriculum director has been extended for another three years. Acting on superintendent Van Meer's recommendation, as well as from requests from parents, the school board voted, Monday, March 7, to keep the position intact for a full curriculum review cycle, which is six years.

Present curriculum director Laurie Bissell was originally hired for two years to set up the process of curriculum review. After two years her contract was extended another year.

The school board is planning to discuss further what parts of the curriculum director's job they would like to see emphasized.

In other actions, the school board approved the upcoming school board election, appointed assistant superintendent Fred Mills as election administrator, accepted the resignation of special education teacher Barbara Foley, and approved the serious injury/illness procedures policy.

At the beginning of the meeting, Brian Hamilton, The Chelsea Standard assistant editor, was honored for his visits to classrooms to discuss the subject of journalism. He was presented with a certificate by Beach social studies teacher Barbara Brown.

NOTES

DONALD A. COLE Director

"Beauty lies in the eyes of the beholder..."

The significance here is the fact that certain viewers may see great beauty in another person that is not readily apparent to others. Children always appear to be beautiful to a loving parent. "What can she possibly see in him?" (or "he, in her") goes the common question. Probably they see great beauty that is much more than skin deep.

If we are beautiful in the eyes of a beholder who sees beauty in us because of love for us, we are indeed fortunate. Let us always try to be worthy of such affection.

We would be honored to be of service to you when you need us. We invite you to come in and get acquainted prior to any emergency. We offer the highest standard of service to people of all faiths.

retail/apartment complex next to Gambles store on N. Main St. The former Sylvan Hotel is being restored for an office/retail complex.

Satterthwaite described his opponent, Richard Steele, as sometimes, "hard to figure out." "Richard's probably the most conservative member of council. As a trustee he spends a lot of time and takes it very seriously. He's got his following that come to the meetings that, quite frankly, don't like me. But I've never had any problems or run-ins with him or any of the other council members. I don't really care how they vote. They have as much responsibility for running the village as I do as far as their votes are concerned. I'm not going to tell anyone how to vote."

When asked to put a finger on differences between himself and Steele, Satterthwaite said that he (Satterthwaite) is probably a little more accessible to the village administration during the day, which comes in handy when dealing with problems that require immediate attention.

Satterthwaite said that, after the landfill, attracting businesses to the industrial park is probably the village's most pressing problem. He wants the village to hire a broker, which council voted to do more than a year ago. In addition, he thinks the land at $15,000 an acre might be so cheap that it scares off potential businesses who wonder what might be wrong with the property. He wants the village to consider setting a higher price.

Satterthwaite said he also knows what kind of business he'd like to attract.

"I'd hate to see a business out there with 100 employees because if the economy goes sour the area won't feel the effects as bad," Satterthwaite said.

"I'd prefer to see businesses with 15 to 20 employees."

Satterthwaite said he'd also like to see construction start on a new village hall on Park St. sometime in the next two years. He favors financing the building through funds from the electric department, which would then own the structure. The electric fund has a balance of more than $1 million.

More downtown parking is something Satterthwaite said he wants to push for, but only if it can be funded by the merchants themselves or the village's parking meter fund.

"I am not in favor of using taxpayer money," Satterthwaite said. Other projects Satterthwaite said he would like to see started include beautification projects by the Downtown Development Authority, Chelsea Shopping Center, repair work on the sewer system, and the proposed motel.

"The motel would be a good selling point for the industrial park," Satterthwaite said.

Satterthwaite said he has been asked if he would be interested in taking Steele's spot on the village council if he loses next Monday.

"Definitely not," he said. "If I lose, I'm through."

Satterthwaite and his wife, Audrey, have six children between them, all of whom attended Chelsea High school—Vernonica, in Ionia, Susan, in Lansing, Renee, in Mt. Pleasant, Dawn, in Munith, Mark, in Ypsilanti, and Claudette, in Chelsea.

Richard Steele Seeks Presidency

 now, but it's something we've got to deal with. I don't think we're lacking any planning but we need to set a goal. Most businesses do this. And the plan would probably need to be updated every year."
 Steele said the proposed village hall for Park St., which he supports, should be considered as part of that plan.
 "The hall is a definite priority," Steele said.
 "Someday, somebody is going to say we have to have handicapped access to village meetings and force us to do something."
 Steele said he wants the village to act quickly to market the industrial park and the first step would be to hire a broker. He agrees with Satterthwaite that the lots are too cheap and the low price might be scaring clients away. He also said that the combination of low interest rates and increased housing for the village will make the park a more desirable place for possible clients.

 "This is all cyclical and we need to move now," Steele said.
 Steele sees the landfill issue as one that could potentially bankrupt the village if it is not handled correctly.
 Department of Natural Resources wants the village to take all responsibility for cleaning up groundwater contamination at the landfill in exchange for a new operating license.
 "Quite frankly, I think we've jumped through enough hoops and I think we should fight this until we get a resolution we can live with," Steele said.
 "It's too bad they chose to do this when they did because the taxpayers had already spent a lot of money to get the new landfill cell ready. My concern is if the (consent) agreement is signed, are they going to change their requirements again? They really did us a disservice by not being forthright when Lee (Fahner, assistant village manager) first approached them about the license. It's a sad state they've gotten us into and it didn't need to happen."

Again, Steele agrees with Satterthwaite that a public information night should be postponed until the village has more answers about the problem.

Another problem Steele said he wants to pursue is exactly what the state has in mind for Chelsea should the proposed super collider be built in Stockbridge. He said he's been disturbed by rumors that the state wants to build a by-pass around Chelsea.

"We need to find out if that is accurate and if it reflects what the governor means," Steele said.

"It would hurt the downtown terribly because M-52 brings a lot of business. But I can't envision the state doing in one village to enhance another. It just boggles my mind that they'd even bring this up. If they do mean it then we should issue a storm of protest."

Steele said that if he is elected, he will nominate the trustee candidate with the fourth highest number of votes to fill out his term on the council.

"If a person is willing to throw his hat in the ring, he deserves consideration," Steele said.

Steele's nomination would have to be approved by the council.

Steele and his wife, Margaret, have three children, Sonya, David and Philip.

The Labor Department's Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) was created in 1978 when a 1977 act transferred the Federal mine-safety program from the Department of the Interior to the Department of Labor. MSHA is headed by an assistant secretary of labor, who administers a broad regulatory program to reduce injuries and illnesses in mining.

GIRL SCOUTS from the troop at the Chelsea United Methodist Home attended the Father and Daughter banquet held last Sunday, March 6. According Carol Smith, leader of Troop 98 which organized the event, "the senior citizen scouts enjoyed watching the younger girls dance."

Belser Estates Preliminary Plat On Meeting Agenda

Chelsea Village Council was scheduled to consider giving final approval to the preliminary plat of Belser Estates at a special meeting last night. The major agenda item of the meeting, however, was the approval of the 1988-89 village budget.

Council refused to approve the plat at their regular meeting March 1 due to concerns about the location of utility easements and transformers, among other concerns. Belser Estates, a 74-lot development on Freer Rd. on the eastern edge of the village, will be served completely by underground utilities.

Assistant village manager Lee Fahrner said Monday that it appeared that developer Charles Belser and the village administration would have the major concerns dealt with before last night's meeting.

Belser had pushed for approval at the March 1 meeting because he said it is imperative that road, sewer and sidewalk construction begin in April. Until the preliminary plat receives its final approval, that work cannot take place.

Charges are being sought against a Grass Lake man who was caught by police as he was attempting to sniff cocaine in the front seat of his vehicle on Wednesday, March 2.

Police said the 35-year-old man was sitting in his vehicle at the back of the Wolverine Food and Spirits parking lot at 1:08 a.m. Police said they saw the man look into his lap before they approached the vehicle during a routine check of the lot.

The man, police said, had a cassette player in his lap with a line of a white substance on top of it. In addition, police said, a $5 bill was nearby.

When police knocked on his window, they said, the man wiped the substance off onto his pants. When he got out of his vehicle he allegedly threw a small piece of paper onto the ground, which police said contained a small amount of a substance believed to be cocaine.

The man told police that he had been drinking beer since about 3 p.m. the day before, police said.

As of press time, police were waiting for results of tests from the state crime lab.

Let's talk about retirement the IRA way with us.

Let's talk about retirement. Today is the last day of work for thousands of men and women. They're retiring. Comfortable for some. Not for others.

You're never too young to consider retirement. That's why your government inaugurated a Social Security program for working people of all ages.

Social Security is great. But it isn't the entire answer. That's why we offer Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA's).

With an IRA many working people are able to defer income taxes. Every person with an IRA can defer all earned interest, year after year.

Everyone should have a savings program. As a working person or a spouse of a working person, your savings interest can be income tax deferred as long as you have your IRA.

Stop in. Let's talk. We'll take the time to review your situation for full IRA eligibility and show you how your savings mean more to you with an FDIC insured IRA here.

Bulldogs!

Bulldogs Lose Two Games To End Regular Season

Chelsea Bulldogs finished regular-season basketball play with two home losses last week to end with a 3-17 record.

Chelsea lost to Michigan Center on Tuesday, March 1 in over-time, 68-63. On Friday, Chelsea fell way behind early and dropped a 75-57 contest to Jackson County Western.

In Tuesday's game, the Bulldogs were out-scored in overtime, 5-0.

Chelsea had at least two good opportunities to win the game in regulation but couldn't make the shots.

"On two possessions late in the fourth quarter we called timeout, designed two plays and ran the plays to perfection, except the ball hit the rim," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

"We did exactly what we wanted to do but the basket had a lid on it. We couldn't have had two better scenarios."

Chelsea was behind by two points, 33-31, at half-time but led 45-44 at the end of the third quarter. Raymond said the team was more consistent than at any time since the beginning of the season. There were no big slumps and the team was never far behind.

Jeff Marshall paced the Bulldogs with 15 points, Larry Nix scored 12 and Chad Starkey hit for 10 points. Rounding out the scoring were Kevan Flanigan with eight, Junior Morseau and Matt Monroe with six each, John Collins with four, and Greg Boughton with two.

The Bulldogs fell behind 22-0 to JCW and could never recover.

However, one big bright spot for Chelsea was the play of sophomore Brian Burg, who was lifted from the JV squad due to an injury to Morseau in Tuesday's game.

Burg, playing at the post, responded by sharing the scoring honors with Flanigan with 12 points and leading the team in rebounds with nine.

"Brian did a nice job for his first time in a varsity uniform," Raymond said.

"He was playing against junior Dave DeGraaf, who could make all-state next year and was the best inside post player we have seen all year. DeGraaf blocked one of his shots and on the next possession Brian didn't hesitate and made a 12-footer. That was good to see."

Burg didn't start the game but played as long as any of the Bulldogs. Raymond replaced the entire starting line-up mid-way through the first period after the Bulldogs had a tough time breaking the Panther press and just as difficult a time stopping the Panther three-point gunners.

The Bulldogs started with a defense designed to stop DeGraaf. Raymond said he hadn't counted on the Panthers hitting so many shots from the outside.

In addition, Raymond said the Bulldogs were tentative and lazy in the early going and said no school on Friday and an early starting time might have been factors.

"We played them even the rest of the way and played pretty good basketball," Raymond said.

"We applied real good defensive pressure, forced a lot of turnovers and scored 39 points."

Chelsea shot 39 percent from the field, largely because of the poor first quarter. JCW hit 55 percent.

The Bulldogs were also 10-18 from the free throw line compared to 16-25 for the Panthers.

Marshall was the third Bulldog in double figures, finishing with 10 points. Nix scored nine, Collins had five, Monroe four and Starkey three.

Bulldog Cagers Play Tomorrow

Chelsea Bulldogs play either Dexter or Saline in district tournament basketball play tomorrow at Brooklyn Columbia Central.

Tip-off time is 7 p.m. The Bulldogs drew a bye in the first round.

UP, UP AND AWAY is Jeff Marshall as the junior scores two of his 10 points against Jackson County Western. Chelsea faces either Dexter or Saline in district action tomorrow at Brooklyn Columbia Central.

UP FOR TWO of his 12 points is sophomore Brian Burg, playing his first varsity game. Burg tied for the team lead in scoring and led the team in rebounding after being called up from the junior varsity due to an injury to Junior Morseau.

Junior Varsity Cagers Finish Fine Season With Two Losses

Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity basketball team lost their final two games of the season to end with an 11-9 record.

In an early game last Friday at home, the Bulldogs played without high scoring post player Brian Burg, who had moved up to varsity, and lost 65-42 to Jackson County Western.

"We had to learn a different style of basketball in one day and it seemed like we really didn't know what to do," said Chelsea coach Jeff Dils.

"In the first quarter we did a good job moving the ball around but in the second quarter we went stale and got out of our game plan. Also we couldn't get the ball inside as much as we like to."

Chelsea was ahead 16-14 at the end of the first quarter. However, the Bulldogs were outscored 19-7 in the second quarter and the game wasn't close from then on.

Chelsea was outshot from the field, 50 to 31 percent, and missed 10 free throws.

Kerry Plank led the Bulldogs in scoring with 18 points. Kyle Plank scored eight points, Sinisa Janicevic had six, Armando Lee and Brandon Murrell scored three each and Erich Hammer and Chris Wilson each had two points.

On Tuesday, March 1 the Bulldogs hosted Michigan Center and lost 60-51. The game was close most of the way

ARMANDO LEE made one of the most exciting shots of the night for the Chelsea junior varsity basketball team. This three-pointer hit nothing but net and prompted a big round of applause from the home folks.

Bullpup Spikers Knock Off Three More Tough Opponents

Beach Middle school's eighth grade volleyball team came from behind in the second and third games to take a victory at Lincoln last Thursday, Feb. 25 in three games, 11-4, 12-10 and 11-9. In the first game, Holly Koscielniak served five points. Chelsea fell behind in the second game 6-10 but Amy Mitchell came through with clutch serving and had help from teammates Christine Burg, Amanda Nimke, Jessica Fletcher and Danielle Taylor. In the third game Chelsea trailed 6-10. Liz Taylor and Angela Pace each served four points and got help from Becky Vektor. According to coach Ann Schaffner, Jenny Petty played an active and excellent match at the net and successfully handled 27 of 32 attempts.

The Bullpups defeated Milan at home on Tuesday, March 1 in three games, 11-1, 11-8 and 11-8. Koscielniak started the first game with eight straight service points and Jenny Teare served the last three. Girls who played well in the next two games were Jessica Rodenkirch, Taylor, Melissa Hubert and Mitchell. On Thursday, March 3 the Bullpups knocked off Dexter in three games, 11-4, 11-4 and 11-3. The team served 89 percent which Schaffner said was a significant factor. Teare served for seven points, Hubert four points, and Mitchell, Pace, Liz Taylor and Danielle Taylor three points each. Tara Roehm, Amanda Nimke and Christine Burg led a consistent team effort, Schaffner said.

IT WAS A BIG NIGHT in more ways than one for Spaulding for Children last Saturday, Feb. 27 as the Harlem Globetrotters performed a benefit show at Joe Louis Arena for the local adoption agency for children with special needs. Above, Judy McKenzie, executive director of Spaulding for Children, shares a laugh with Globetrotter Derrick Refugee. The show was sponsored by Detroit area Burger King franchises and raised $8,300.

A DEATH DEFYING BATON ROUTINE was performed by Rianne Jones and Jodie Rainey at last Thursday's South school talent show. The children executed their moves flawlessly to the cheers of a packed South school gym.

Chelsea Village Council Proceedings

Regular Session. February 16, 1988
 The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Satterthwaite.
 Present: President Satterthwaite, Clerk Anderson and Assistant Village Manager Fahrner.
 Absent: Village Manager Weber.
 Trustee Present: Merkel, Boham, Steele, Bentley and Hall.
 Trustee Absent: Kanten.
 Others Present: Rick Collman, Superintendent of Electric & Water Department Hafner and Brian Hamilton.

Motion by Merkel, supported by Steele, to approve the minutes of the regular session of February 2, 1988. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.
 Mr. Rick Collman and Sharon Burgess, representing Clear Cablevision, addressed questions asked them by the Council regarding Clear Cable's activities and service within the Village. The Cable Company will come before the Council at a later date with a Franchise Renewal Proposal. No action was taken by the Council at this time.

The Chief of Police reported on the request for bids that are being sent to the local car dealers. At the present time, there have been no bids submitted and the Chief will give an update at the next Council meeting.
 Motion by Steele, supported by Bentley, to accept the Budget Report as printed. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried.

It was reported by President Satterthwaite that there was one occupied apartment at the 151 Park Street property. When this tenant vacates, the Village can close the purchase of the property.

It was reported that the Fire Chief has not yet met with the townships who are serviced by Contract by the Village Fire Department. The Chief is hopeful that by the next Council meeting this matter can be resolved. The purchase of the new fire truck is to be held in abeyance until consumation of the Contracts with the townships.

Mr. Danny L. Henson, C.E.O., representing Indoor Comfort Company, came before the Council to inquire about the Industrial Park for location of his business. The Council responded to Mr. Henson's question about the construction of a warehouse on Park property. Only new projects that create jobs in the area can be considered. Warehouse leasing in and by itself would not be allowed. However, the Council stated that they had no objection to Mr. Henson leasing excess storage space so long as this operation was clearly incidental to the operation of his business. Mr. Henson was directed to the Industrial Park Architectural Review Committee for consideration of his specific building plans.

Motion by Merkel, supported by Steele, to set the date of February 23, 1988 at 5:15 p.m. for a special session of the Village Council to consider budget amendments, pay bills and take up any other matters that may come before the Council. Roll call: Ayes-Steele, Satterthwaite, Merkel, Hall and Boham. Nays-Bentley. Motion Carried.

Area Churches Organize Blood Drive

On Monday, Feb. 29, Barbara Pate, regional representative for the American Red Cross, met with some of the church co-ordinators to explain the need for donor recruitment within the various churches. The churches are planning a blood drive on March 17.

Co-ordinators present were David Lang of the Covenant church, Dorothy Mielke of St. Paul United Church of Christ, Nadine Shaneyfelt of the Immanuel Bible church, Father Joseph Rinaldo representing the Chelsea Ministerial Association, and Marion Kerns, area co-ordinator and member of Our Savior Lutheran.

Pate emphasized the crucial need for blood in this area. The agency must collect 1,100 pints of blood daily to maintain its supply. Many times surgery has to be postponed until an adequate blood supply is available.

Anyone wishing to be a donor should contact their church or call Pat Tressler, appointment co-ordinator at

Girl Scouts Celebrate With Special Week

Girl Scout Week, March 6-11, is being celebrated by Chelsea scouts starting with a father-daughter banquet held last Sunday and ending with the event that scouts are probably best known for—the cookie sale.

The father-daughter banquet took place in the Chelsea High school cafeteria, March 6 from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. It was organized by Troop No. 98, led by Carol Smith, as part of the requirements for the Silver Award, the second highest award in Girl Scouting. Nineteen area troops attended, including the senior citizen troop from the Chelsea United Methodist Home.

The evening started with a pot-luck dinner. After a flag ceremony in which all troops participated, Luke Schaible and Larry Koch played square dance and round dance music.

The cookie sale will start this Friday, March 11. Cookies will be delivered to the Longworth building in the morning at 9 a.m. All day long, Girl Scouts and their leaders will be picking up the cookies already ordered, as well as more to sell at Polly's.

Advanced orders numbered 22,524 boxes sold by the 19 troops in the Chelsea cluster. The top seller was the thin mints, followed in order by carmel delites, peanut butter patties, short bread, peanut butter sandwiches, and lemon patties.

The Girl Scouts will sell cookies directly at Polly's on March 11 from 3:30 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. and on Saturday, March 12, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The next week-end, they will sell them on Friday, March 18 from 3:30 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. and on Saturday, March 19 from 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Different troops take turns staffing the booth. According to Girl Scout publicity chair Lois Kapp, the leaders let the girls do all the work, even dealing with the money. She said "It's a very good experience for the girls. They love selling and doing it together and the people are very responsive. Many stop and talk to the girls about what they are doing in scouts."

FATHERS AND DAUGHTERS formed dance partnerships at the Father and Daughter banquet held last Sunday, March 6. Shown dancing with his daughter is Joe Merkel. In the background is Tom Burke and his daughter.

LUKE SCHIABLE and Larry Koch provided square dance and round dance music at the Girl Scout's Father and Daughter Banquet. Schaible and Koch donate their labor annually as their contribution to the event. The girls are shown doing round dances.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
In response to the letter of W. Parker, Feb. 17, 1988; may I suggest that the high school athletic teams change their name to the "Chelsea Freds." This would offend no one but the most ardent of Flintstones fans.
Douglas L. Foreman
Denver, Colo.

Dear Editor:
We would like to take this opportunity to advise the citizens of Chelsea that the fight to remove Cassidy Lake State Prison is far from over. Area residents have banded together and formed "Citizens' Committee to Remove Prison from Waterloo Recreation Area."

The goal of this Committee is to have Cassidy Lake State Prison permanently closed and the property turned over to the State Department of Natural Resources. They have already purchased the adjoining camp property.

This property, with its current make-up of buildings, could easily be turned into one of Michigan's most beautiful year around State Parks. The economic spinoff to businesses located in Chelsea would be a boon to the area.

We are presently researching legal alternatives that would move us toward our goals. We are soliciting support locally and from state-wide conservation and environmental groups. We are hopeful that CBS News' 60 Minutes will investigate this travesty of justice.

The present situation is unacceptably dangerous and the property too beautiful to be wasted as it presently is. Please support our efforts to develop this area into one of Michigan's outstanding recreational areas.

We urge all Chelsea area residents to write to your County Commissioners and insist that they continue their legal action against the state to enforce the legally binding deed restrictions on this property. Also take some time and write to your state and federal representatives and urge them to become involved in this issue.

Serious wrongs can only be corrected through the combined efforts of many. Get involved!
Gary F. Kistka
Committee Member.

The first Michigan woman to go aloft in a balloon, Gertie Carmo, died on Aug. 25, 1892, at the Detroit Exposition (now the Michigan State Exposition and Fairgrounds). Carmo was thrown from her trapeze when the balloon failed to clear a nearby building. This tragedy mirrored a similar event during the Detroit Exposition of the previous year. On Aug. 29, 1891, John Hogan, an aeronaut from Jackson, died after falling 100 feet while performing on a trapeze attached to a balloon.

EVE K. WHEELER FOR PRESIDENT OF CHELSEA VILLAGE

I am announcing my candidacy for Chelsea Village President. I would appreciate it if you would write-in my name, EVE K. WHEELER for the office of Village President on your Ballot, Monday, March 14, 1988.

I have been a resident of this area my entire life. I am the daughter of Clarence and Louise Trinkle and graduated from Chelsea High school. I am married to Emerson (Skip) A. Wheeler. Our home is at 121 Lincoln St., Chelsea. We have a son who is now living in this area where he grew up after receiving an Honorable Discharge from the U. S. Army with 3 1/2 years service overseas.

This is the first time I have run for a public office. Over the years I have held many responsible positions on a volunteer basis—as a housewife with hobbies, and holding responsible positions in the community and county Social Services. I feel QUALIFIED to serve you as President of the Village of Chelsea.

I will appreciate your write-in vote.

CHELSEA FAMILY PRACTICE CENTER held an open house last Tuesday, March first to celebrate the department's 10th anniversary. The center was open to the public and various local medical officials greeted guests. From left are Dr. Thomas Schwenk, interim chairman of the department, Dr. James Peggs, medical director of the department, and Will Johnson, president of Chelsea Community Hospital.

U-M Family Practice Center Celebrates 10th Anniversary

The University of Michigan Family Practice Center celebrated its 10th anniversary in the Chelsea community with an Open House for special friends and guests from the community on March 1.

Titling the celebration "A Decade of Caring," the administration and staff reflected on their activities over the past 10 years. In addition to caring for patients in the Chelsea community, they believe they have made a significant contribution to fostering the practice of family medicine as well as research in this growing specialty.

The physicians and staff have strived to continually improve their services to patients over the years. During the past year more staff has been added to help facilitate patient flow. In addition to family practice physicians, the number of specialists from the University of Michigan who see patients at the Center has continually increased. The physicians at the Center have delivered over 500 babies, with number 500 arriving last October.

In addition to patient care, an initial mission of the Center was to become a training site for the University's family practice residency program. Ten years ago, the Chelsea site was selected as the ideal location for the program. Since that time, the Center has graduated 37 residents as top-notch family physicians who are now practicing in all parts of the country.

"Another major accomplishment of the Center has been the clinical research program," said Dr. James A. Peggs, medical director for the Center. "Many important and common problems have been studied with significant outcomes."

"These include a study to determine the best way to treat bronchitis; research in high risk obstetrics to identify mothers who would be likely to have problems or complications with their pregnancy; and several studies on drugs including ways to minimize costs as well as the side effects of certain medications."

Dr. Peggs said that the staff at the Center have enjoyed their involvement with the community through participation in programs. "We have served as guest speakers for various community and school programs such as career day. We have also served as the team physician for sports programs."

"We have been involved with a variety of community activities such as the Chelsea Fair and sponsorship of the annual Chelsea Fun Run with Community Recreation. Our biggest, most labor-intensive activity would have to be the annual sports physicals we do each June for over 400 high school and junior high students," Dr. Peggs adds.

Dr. Peggs has devoted time to working with Chelsea Community Hospital and its growth. At the current time he is the Chief of Clinical Affairs for Chelsea Hospital.

Dr. Peggs summarizes the 10 years by saying, "It has been a pleasure to become a part of the Chelsea Community and we hope to be able to continue to contribute to the health and well-being of Chelsea for a long time."

Farm Bureau Urges Continuance of Russian Fur Import Embargo

Farm Bureau has urged trade bill conferees to maintain the long-standing ban on imports of furskins from the Soviet Union. Al Almy, director of public affairs for the Michigan Farm Bureau, said there are fur breeders in the state who would be impacted if the ban were lifted.

"Delegates to the American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting in December adopted policy opposing lifting the Russian fur import embargo. They said the managed economy of the USSR would allow it to manipulate the market to circumvent any U. S.-imposed tariff and engage in other unfair trade practices, such as dumping," Almy said.

"We are urging members of the conference committee considering this provision to take Farm Bureau's position into account and retain the embargo of Soviet furskins," he said.

MOUTHGUARDS: NOT JUST FOR FOOTBALL!

Protective mouthguards, usually associated with football and other contact sports, can prevent injuries in a wide variety of other athletic activities as well according to the American Dental Association. Almost any vigorous sport can cause injuries to your teeth, lips, cheeks, and tongue. Hazardous falls, jaw clenching, or flying pieces of equipment can all lead to injuries that could be easily prevented with a mouth guard. The ADA lists the following sports as those where mouth protection is beneficial: Basketball, Bicycling, Boxing, Discus Throwing, Field Hockey, Football, Gymnastics, Handball, Ice Hockey, Lacrosse, Martial Arts, Racquetball, Rugby, Shotputting, Skateboarding, Skiing, Skydiving, Soccer, Squash, Surfing, Volleyball, Water Polo, Weightlifting, Wrestling. A single, well-constructed mouth protector can be used with any of these sports and they are relatively inexpensive.

Mouth protectors may be either ready made (stock), mouth formed, or custom made. A custom made protector, one which is made by your dentist from a model of your mouth, is the most satisfactory of the three types. It provides exceptionally good fit, comfort, and quality, and does not interfere with breathing.

And mouth protectors aren't just for boys either. Studies show that females are susceptible to injuries like those that male athletes receive in similar sports. These injuries can lead to permanent tooth loss and even facial disfigurement—so why risk it?

TROOP 425
At our troop meeting Feb. 28, our opening was done by Doug Steele, Vincent Stahl and Alex Roskowski. We recited the Pledge of Allegiance to the the Flag. We collected dues, and finished our safety merit badge.

We discussed our spring trip to Mammoth Caves in Kentucky and we have a Court of Honor on March 7.

The boys who completed their safety merit badge would like to thank Mr. Branham for working with them.

The closing of our meeting was done by the same boys that did the opening. For our closing we recited the Scout Law.

Q. I believe in owning stock so in spite of the big drop-off in October and the continued nervousness in the markets, I am continuing to make regular purchases. I have one question that I would like to have your opinion on. Basically, I prefer to buy growth companies because I find that over the long term they have given me the greater profits. However, I like to keep about 30% of my holdings in good quality major companies just because the income is a little better and in these kinds of times they are more stable.

One of my friends says that at this time I should be buying the major companies and wait a few months before I buy the growth companies. His claim is that the good quality major companies will go back up first. He says the growth companies are always the last to recover from a severe market break. Would you agree with him? If you do, would you name a few good top quality giants I should consider.

A. I would agree with your friend's recommendation. After a major stock market break, the top quality major companies usually move back up first. The growth stocks are the last to recover. For suggestions I am going to give you five companies chosen by Leonard Reiser in a recent article on the same subject in Better Investing. One would be AT&T. Its dividend of $1.20 is a good return on the $27-$28 a share it is currently selling at. It looks like earnings are beginning to move upwards and the company has an A rating for financial strength.

Eastman Kodak is a giant that is showing signs of renewed vigor. Its reorganization of three or four years ago seems to be paying off. The price of the stock is down and earnings are expected to grow from 1987's $3.60 per share to $4 in '88 and $5.50 in a couple more years. A great deal of the company's business is overseas and it should be helped greatly in that area by the weaker dollar.

A third suggestion is General Motors. While this company's difficulties are well publicized, it is really quite a value. It has tremendous productive capacity which seems on the verge of being as efficient, if not more so, than any of its competitors. It has worked diligently to make its products competitive and it has a powerful marketing machine. With the stock near $60, the $5 dividend yields over 8%. The next good auto year could produce record earnings and a nice price advance.

The next suggestion is IBM. This giant that dominates the computer industry is no longer the rapidly growing company it once was, but it should continue to move ahead at a moderate pace. While the company has traditionally paid only a modest dividend, the slower rate of growth which has become characteristic has resulted in a lower price-earnings ratio and a higher yield. With the price around $120 the return is 3.7%.

A fifth suggestion is Merck. Merck is considered by many security analysts to be the finest drug company in the business. It's a leading manufacturer of human and animal health care products and environmental health products primarily for the treatment of water and air pollution. Sales could be up this year to $5.7 billion from 1987's $4 billion. While the price of Merck is high, the crash has brought it down comparatively.

A GRAND OLD MAN of Chelsea, Leland Kalmbach, stands beside one of Chelsea's grandest maple trees, a tree he and his sister, the late Ethel Kalmbach Freeman, planted about 80 years ago when the house at 415 W. Middle St. belonged to his mother. Village crews had to take the tree down this week due to concerns about wires. Utilities superintendent Bud Hafner called it a "touchy job."

KIWANIS CLUB OF CHELSEA made its annual contribution to Boy Scout Troop 425 at the club's meeting Monday night. The $200 contribution can be used for general troop expenses during the year. Holding the check is assistant senior patrol leader Duane Penhalegon. With him in the center is his father, Tom, assistant scoutmaster. Left is Kiwanis Scout Committee head Warren McArthur. Right is Dave Bust, head of the Kiwanis Youth Services Committee.
