HOWARD HOLMES, left, president of Chelsea Milling Co., received the Distinguished Service to Agriculture Award in ceremonies last Thursday at Michigan State University. Making the presentation is James Anderson, MSU vice-provost and dean of the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources. Holmes was honored for his contributions to the wheat industry.

Howard Holmes Receives Award for Distinguished Service to Agriculture

Chelsea Milling Co. president Howard Holmes was one of three recipients of a Distinguished Service to Agriculture award in ceremonies at Michigan State University last Thursday, March 24.

Holmes was cited for his role in securing funds for wheat research at Michigan State University since the early 1950s. That research is credited with providing three high-yield varieties of wheat to farmers with an annual value that exceeds $132,750,000. When research began there were more than 20 varieties of wheat of questionable quality grown in the state and farmers were losing interest in the crop. Yields were often about 30 bushels per acre. Now yields are often at 100 bushels.

Holmes got involved in the research program as one of the founders of the Michigan State Millers Association. He became the chief fundraiser for research and has held that role since then.

"We provide basic support for the person assigned to wheat research at Michigan State," Holmes said.

"Having decent, dependable strains of wheat is terribly important for everyone because it allows consistent quality in the final product. People now say, 'I want my flour made out of Michigan wheat.'"

Holmes said his company uses about 1.75 million bushels of wheat each year and it is exclusively Michigan wheat. He said the company used to get some of its wheat from Indiana and Ohio until the Michigan crop improved so substantially. The milling industry is the largest user of wheat in the state.

"Michigan wheat is the best and most dependable," Holmes said.

"It used to be that yields went from A to Z and back again. It's not that way anymore."

Holmes said the research has produced Michigan white wheat which is in high demand but can only be grown in Michigan and a small area of western New York.

However, he said the most significant aspect of research has been to produce disease and bug-resistant strains. Now crop yields are mostly dependent upon the weather.

The award was presented by James Anderson, MSU vice provost and dean of the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources during the president's luncheon. It was all part of MSU's Agriculture and Natural Resources Week, March 21-26.

"MSU is a great school and I'm glad they were able to overcome the fact that I went to school in Ann Arbor," Holmes said.

"I've always respected MSU's agriculture department."

Also honored with Holmes were: Peter Grieves, executive director of the Michigan Association of Timbermen and one of the state's most effective advocates of forestry management; and John Nelson, director of research for the Michigan Blueberry Growers Association, who is credited with having had the most influence on the growth of the state's blueberry industry.

All three men received engraved plaques as tokens of appreciation for their support of MSU research and Michigan agriculture. A photograph and citation that outlines each recipient's contribution will be on permanent display in Agriculture Hall at MSU.

Teachers Union Appeals Decision To Lay-off Two CHS Instructors

Chelsea School District teachers union is filing a grievance on behalf of two high school teachers who were recently given lay-off notices for next year.

Chelsea Education Association contends that English teacher Alice Leith and social studies teacher Rahn Rosentreter can be absorbed by the school district despite an anticipated drop in enrollment next year, according to CEA grievance chairman Phil Jones.

The board has formally informed both teachers that they will be laid off at the end of the current school year. Leith has eight years of service at Chelsea and Rosentreter has four.

"Hopefully the board will be able to be convinced that these teachers should stay," Jones said Friday.

"From (the CEA's) standpoint somebody is going to lose a position unless the district agrees to get creative."

Jones said the union believes that the district hasn't explored every option as far as moving teachers around in order to make room for Leith and Rosentreter.

"When you get to the middle school and high school level, teachers are certified in different areas and it is more confusing to try to determine how it all fits together," Jones said.

According to Jones, CEA contract calls for non-certified staff to be laid off first, followed by non-tenured teachers, followed by tenured teachers. In each instance, the person with the least seniority would go first, assuming there is a qualified teacher to take over the laid-off teacher's duties.

"Layoffs start at the bottom of seniority in the entire district," Jones said.

"We have some teachers with multiple talents and certification and there are creative alternatives for existing staff to remain in different capacities. Those alternatives can't be discussed."

Jones said the grievance procedure is a four-step process. The first appeal is made to principal John Williams, followed by superintendent Ray Van Meer and the school board. If those three efforts fail the appeal would go to binding arbitration.

If appeals on behalf of Leith and Rosentreter go to arbitration, the dispute might not be settled until the summer.

The union, as of Friday, was working at the first step. Jones said he didn't expect a decision until after spring break.

Staff was not told ahead of time that there would be layoffs, although there had been talk about possible cutbacks over the last couple of years as enrollment declines were anticipated, Jones said. However, three teachers are retiring this year and he said the general feeling was that no more people would need to leave.

Good Friday Services On April Fool's Day

Chelsea Ministerial Fellowship is holding community Good Friday services on April 1 from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Chelsea United Methodist church at 128 Park. "Is this a day for fools?" is the theme of this year's service, a reference to the fact that the service falls on April Fool's Day.

The two preachers for the service will be the Rev. Ron Smeenge of Covenant church and the Rev. Ted Thodeson of the Chelsea Christian Fellowship. They will speak on "The Foolishness of God" and "The Foolishness of the Cross."

Music will be provided by St. Paul United Church of Christ choir singing "Oh Lord, Thou Hast Searched Me" and a duet with the Rev. Ed Lang and Terry Lang singing "Love Grew Where the Blood Fell."

Also participating in the service will be the Rev. Jerry Parker of the First United Methodist church, the Rev. Erwin Koch of St. Paul United Church of Christ, Doug Neal of the First Congregational United Church of Christ, the Rev. Mearl Bradley of the Chelsea Free Methodist church, the Rev. Ron Clark of Immanuel Bible church, the Rev. Sandra Willobee of North Lake United Methodist church, the Rev. James Simmons of the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home, the Rev. Don Woolum of Salem Grove United Methodist church, and the Rev. Ed Lang of the First Assembly of God.

Half of the offering will be given to the Cassidy Lake Ministry. The other half will be used for the continuing work of the Chelsea Ministerial Fellowship.

Organizers of the Good Friday service were the Revs. Jerry Parker, Ted Thodeson, and Erwin Koch.

Area Churches Plan Special Services for Easter, Holy Week

Churches in Dexter and Chelsea will be celebrating Easter and the holy days surrounding it in a variety of ways including Good Friday ecumenical services, sunrise services, and a seder.

Area Catholic churches start their special services tonight, Wednesday, March 30. St. Mary in Chelsea will offer a Holy Week Mass at 7 p.m., while St. Joseph in Dexter will have a seder meal.

St. Joseph's seder will be led by the parish staff. Seder meals are part of the celebration of the Jewish holiday of Passover which is held in commemoration of the Hebrews' escape from Egypt under the leadership of Moses. The Last Supper of Jesus was a seder meal.

The next night, known as Maundy Thursday, will be celebrated by a larger group of local churches including St. Mary, Covenant, St. Andrew's United Church of Christ, Our Savior Lutheran, St. Thomas Lutheran, Zion Lutheran, Chelsea First United Methodist, Dexter United Methodist, North Lake United Methodist, and St. Paul United Church of Christ.

According to Fr. Dupuis of St. Mary, the word "Maundy," is a contraction of the Latin word "Mandatum" which means "commandment." At the Last Supper, Jesus said "I give you a new commandment, to love one another as I have loved you."

Following the lead of St. Joseph, Chelsea's Covenant church's Maundy Thursday service will depict a typical Jewish meal at the time of Jesus Christ. Bread and wine, fruits, juices, fish, and unleavened wafers will be served.

The Ministerial Associations in both Dexter and Chelsea have organized community Good Friday services, both at 1 p.m. Dexter's service will be held at St. Andrew's United Church of Christ. A sermon entitled "Scourged, Mocked, and Crucified" will be delivered by St. James Episcopal minister the Rev. Fr. Harry F. Shaefer.

Chelsea's service will be held at the United Methodist church. Taking advantage of the fact that Good Friday falls on April Fool's day, they have entitled their program "Is This a day for fools?" The Rev. Ted Thodeson and the Rev. Ron Smeenge will deliver the sermon.

Churches offering independent

Good Friday services, instead of or in addition to, the ecumenical services include Our Savior Lutheran, St. Thomas Lutheran, Zion Lutheran, St. Mary, St. Joseph, St. James, and Our Savior Lutheran.

Saturday, March 2, St. Mary has a blessing of the food basket at 1 p.m. At 8 p.m., they have a Vigil of Easter ceremony, while St. Joseph has a service "For the People" at the same time.

Many churches start Easter morning with a sunrise service. Members of Dexter United Methodist will meet at Peach Mountain at 6:30 a.m. Other congregations rising early Easter morning are Chelsea Free Methodist, Chelsea United Methodist, North

Extension Agent Bill Ames Honored for 'Untiring Service'

Washtenaw county co-operative extension agent Bill Ames was honored for "20 years of untiring service to Washtenaw county agriculture," at the 1988 Washtenaw County Agriculture Banquet last Thursday, March 24 at Chelsea High school.

The Distinguished Service Award was presented to Ames, who has been the county extension agent since 1968, by Loren Heller, president of the Washtenaw County Dairy-Livestock Council.

The presentation to Ames was one of the highlights of the banquet that attracted several hundred people from around the county for a huge meal, more than 100 door prizes, entertainment by The Contemporaries from Chelsea High school, and a talk by freelance writer and farm wife Pat Leimbach of Vermillion, O.

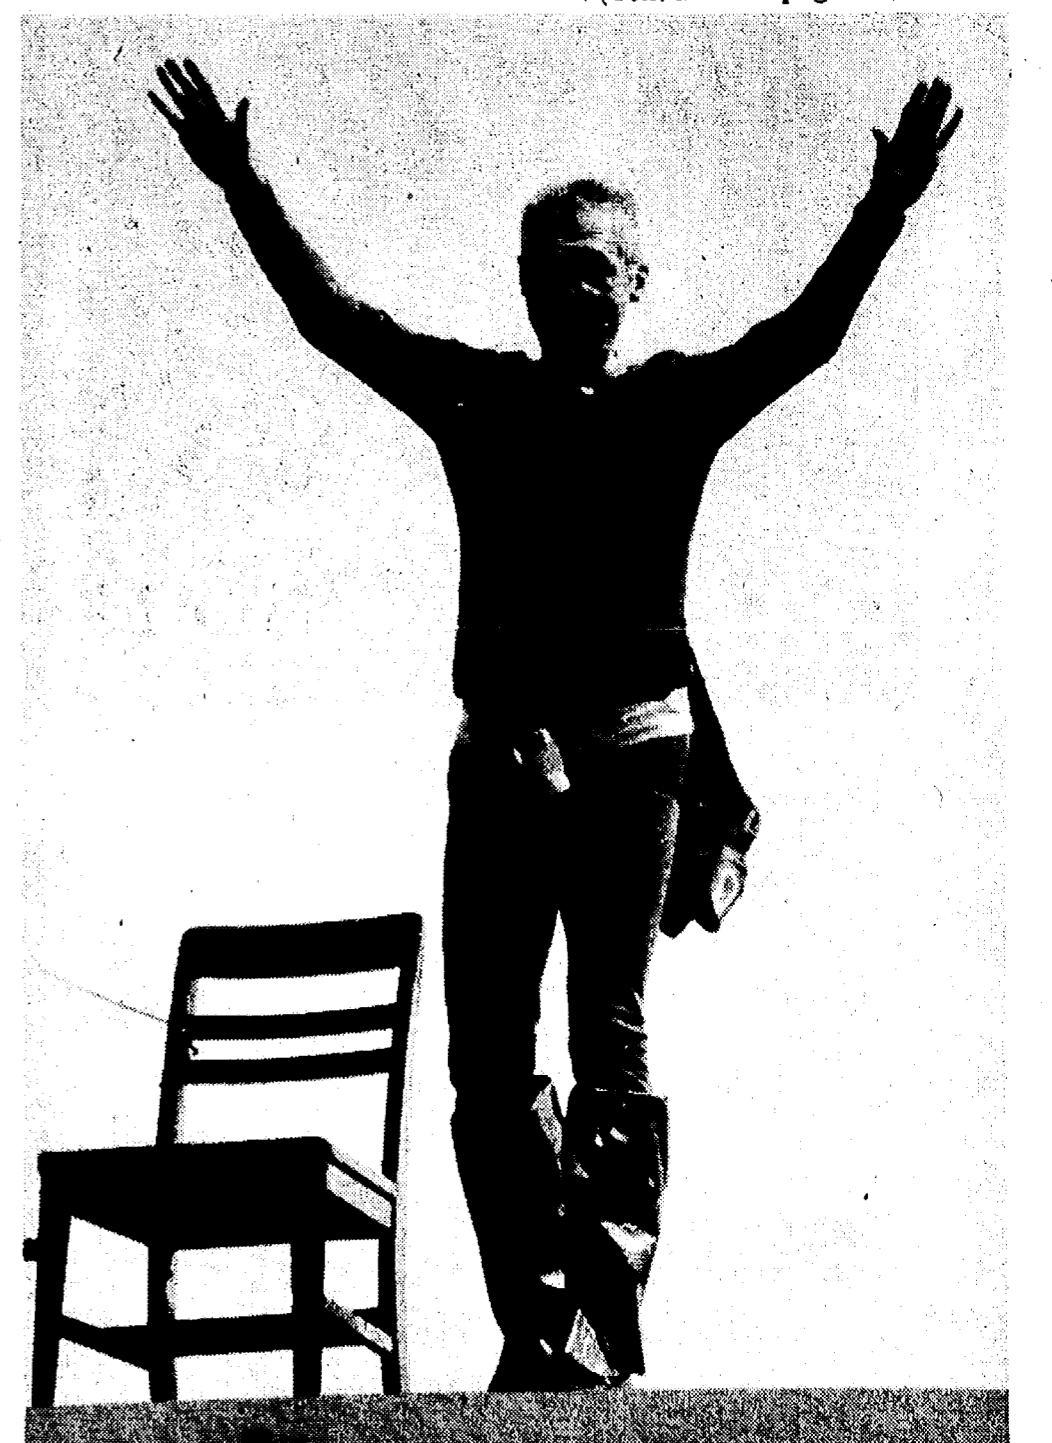

Ames, a native of Eaton county, said "I really like working with the people out there," as his reason for staying in the Washtenaw county and turning down jobs offers from other counties during the last 20 years.

Ames was born and reared on a 233-acre "general farm" in Vermontville, where his family raised sheep, hogs, a few dairy cows and cash grains. His brother still lives on the farm.

Ames left the farm to pursue his education at Central Michigan University, where he studied two

THE MAN OF STEEL, alias South school principal Bob Benedict, made an appearance on top of the school last Friday afternoon, although he didn't exactly leap tall buildings to get there. Benedict promised the children that he would "go to the roof" if they read for a total of 2,300 hours during March, part of the "March is Reading Month" promotion that has been going on at all Chelsea schools this month. Benedict said he dressed up as Superman because the school has "a bunch of super readers."

Five prisoners at the Cassidy Lake Technical School walked away from the institution during the past four days. Four were recaptured, and one is still at large. Security has been tightened at the facility following protests by a committee of Chelsea area residents which demanded that the prison be either fenced or closed.

A committee of 10 will take a further look at a proposal for "revitalizing" Chelsea's central business district. The suggested plan was prepared by the Ann Arbor architectural firm of Johnson Johnson & Roy at the request of the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce's downtown development committee headed by Mark Heydlauff.

During slippery, snowy weather, a Chelsea school bus, empty except for its driver, Elmer J. Lindow, went off Cavanaugh Lake Rd. and into a ditch on March 21 after colliding with an automobile.

Chelsea's Marty Steinhauer and Dexter's Daryl Dittmer made the second five on the all-region boys basketball team selected by the Ann Arbor News.

Tuition Guarantee Wins Favorable IRS Ruling

Following a favorable Internal Revenue Service ruling, Governor James J. Blanchard said the college tuition guarantee program, the Michigan Education Trust, will go forward immediately and probably enroll participants by late-spring.

The IRS ruled that while there are tax consequences to some aspects of the program, there are none on the purchasers. Implementation of the 1966 act was being held up pending the ruling.

Richard Cole, president of the Michigan Education Trust and Blanchard's special advisor on the future of higher education, said although he has not seen the actual ruling, he has the sense it will make the state program most costly.

He said the ruling will have some implications on the tax status of the trust itself and the trust, as a corporate body, may be subject to taxation.

Cole said the ruling will have an effect on the investment strategy as taxable investments would yield higher returns but be subject to federal taxation while non-taxable investments, not subject to federal taxation, would yield a lower rate.

The tax consequences will be determined on what type of investments the fund makes, he noted. Cole said this could make the program most costly to parents.

Cole said the year-long IRS process was not unusual in that it "addressed a very comprehensive question to a very complex issue."

He said the ruling could have very serious tax/revenue consequences to the federal government. He said he was not happy with everything in the ruling, but it would allow the MET program to go forward. "It (the ruling) reflects the current tax laws and we will live with that," he said.

The trust fund president noted a market study conducted by Michigan State University indicated a great demand to participate in the tuition guarantee program.

He added a New Jersey investment marketing organization selling on the theory of protecting the future college tuitions of children has been very successful in Michigan due to the awareness of citizens of the MET program. "This is a good reason to believe the program will be well received," he said.

Depending upon the initial demand, Cole said the state will probably have to limit participation. He said there would have to be some measuring of age of student, cost of projected tuition and determine future participation. He suggested the program would be open on "some variation of first-come, first-served."

He said he anticipated everybody who signs a contract and makes the proper financial arrangements within the first week or so to be accepted.

"At the point, we may pause to determine how the next round will go," he said.

State Board Sponsoring Hazardous Waste Disposal Workshops
The State Board of Education is sponsoring a series of workshops to teach Michigan school districts how to dispose of hazardous waste material in accordance with state law.

The regional workshops, which will be held from late March through early May at eight different locations around the state, will assist school personnel in developing a waste management plan to handle small quantities properly.

Interim State Superintendent of Public Instruction Gary Hawks said the Department of Natural Resources plans to begin monitoring local school districts to determine if waste is managed and disposed according to state regulations.

"Each school district has a legal responsibility to dispose of hazardous waste material in a manner that will protect the environment and human health," Hawks said.

Mobile Phone, Camera Stolen From Pick-up

A cellular telephone and a camera were stolen from a pick-up truck in the parking lot of a local business, Chelsea police reported.

The items were taken from the truck, belonging to Davidson Sales & Maintenance, between midnight and 1 p.m. on Monday, March 21. The truck was parked in the company lot.

The theft was discovered by a company employee.

Boy, 16, Caught During B&E

A 16-year-old Chelsea High school boy was caught trying to break into the "400" building at the high school at 6:35 a.m. on Thursday, March 24.

Police said the boy was caught by maintenance worker Ron Joseph after the boy broke a window and unlatched a window.

The boy, a Werkner Rd. resident, reportedly stole two rings, money, a checkbook, keys and knives from the home economics department during several recent break-ins. The boy also reportedly used some money he stole to buy a portable radio. Police said the boy was also involved in malicious mischief and allegedly broke school fixtures and took the pins from hinges on heavy doors.

Pair Escapes From Waterloo

Two men escaped from Camp Waterloo last Thursday, March 24.

According to Chelsea police, Michael Richard King, 24, and Michael D. Dew, 22, were reported to be missing from the minimum security prison at 10:14 p.m.

King, from Detroit, was described as black, 5'8", 153 pounds, wearing glasses and a blue, hooded jacket. He was serving 1½-8 years for his third larceny conviction.

Dew, also from Detroit, was described as black, 5'10", 160 pounds, wearing beige pants and a beige winter coat. He was serving 1½-2 years for car theft.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle come to the country store with his usual run of clippings Saturday night, and he was off and talking at the opening bell. What had got his interest most recent, he told the fellows, was the interest other states are showing in Wisconsin's Learnfare. The way this idea is going, Ed said, it is going the way of so many good things in this country. Success will kill it stone dead.

The way he reads it, Ed said, Wisconsin wants all her children to get all the schooling the state's taxpayers can afford. All the state asks of families is that they keep their children in school. This way, Ed went on, the public gets a return on its investment in schools and it gives children a better chance of getting enough education to make it on their own. At last report, Ed said, more than 20 other states were looking into setting up programs like Learnfare.

Fer sure, Ed went on, the more the plan grows the more dangerous it will be to people that think freefare with any strings attached is unfair, and to politicians that know whose votes they get their songs they sing. As Learnfare spreads, Ed predicted, it will be hit with the same logic that works where the courts throw out rules that limit the number of children single women can have to keep boosting their aid to dependent children.

General, declared Clem Webster, Ed never has been one to hesitate using a sledge hammer to swat a fly on the coffee table. But even with his neck for overstating ever case, Clem went on, Ed overshoots the target more times than not. The idea of using public aid as a way to cut school dropouts sounds good, Clem said, but how can we know we ain't adding to the taxpayers' burden by making the children go to school for no better reason than to qualify their families for welfare.

Practical speaking, Clem said, most of the fire Secretary of Education Bennett drew with his model high school come from folks with Ed's limited view. If children have to study hard in school, them that don't like to study will take shop. If more money is spent on education there'll be less money for vocation and the shop kids will quit. Principals and superintendent are paid and teachers are assigned on basis of enrollment, so more children mean more jobs and higher pay. The verdict is, curriculums have to fit local situations.

Zeke Grubb said he didn't want to be took for a lawyer that could argue all sides with equal conviction, but he saw some truth in what Ed and Clem had to say. Ever year, Zeke said, a bigger percent of population of this country is younger and older, and ever year society has a harder time dealing with both ends. Right now, colleges say they can't do their jobs if high schools don't do theirs, and high schools say they can't put all their effort into the 30 percent that go to college. Meanwhile, at the other end, doctors are saying they extend human life to 150 year by the middle of the next century, but nobody can figure what to do with folks that live that long.

Personal, I keep in mind that these are just some of the successes that are spoiling us. Right now we got it fixed so that if we didn't have to eat and drink all the stuff that's hazardous to our health we could live forever. But fer what?

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

ABWA Members Hear Advisor on Smart Investing

"Investing After Oct. 19th—Everything Old Is New Again" was the program heard by the Chelsea Charter Chapter of American Business Women's Association at their March 22 meeting. Business Associates were special guests.

Kim MacKenzie, account executive and certified financial planner with Prudential-Bache was the presenter who outlined five steps in investing in today's world:

- 1) Analyze your current situation.
- 2) Prioritize your goals.
- 3) Develop strategies.
- 4) Implement your plan.
- 5) Monitor the situation.

Ms. Mackenzie emphasized that it is best not to put all your "eggs in one basket," but to spread your investments around.

Chairpersons were Martha Powers, Diane Winter and Cindy Bear.

The Chelsea Charter is planning a joint meeting on Sept. 13 with other chapters. The event, which will be held in Chelsea, will feature Gracia Lousma as their guest speaker.

On April 26, the Chapter will hold their Spring Member Enrollment meeting. A special program is planned.

Facts about Easter:

- 1) Easter is observed on the Sunday following the first full moon after the vernal equinox, sometime between March 22 and April 25. This year Easter is April 3.
- 2) More than 70 percent of all Easter cards are given to relatives. Wal-Mart offers more than 1,400 different Easter card designs.
- 3) Easter was first observed in the second century to commemorate the resurrection of Jesus Christ. Christians believe that by this day the brought reconciliation between God and man.
- 4) The word "Easter" comes from Eostre, the Anglo-Saxon goddess of Spring, whose festival was celebrated at the vernal equinox, according to some historians. Others see a connection between "Easter" and the rising of the sun in the east.
- 5) Easter was celebrated very little in the early years of the United States. About the time of the Civil War, however, Americans began to celebrate Easter much as it had been celebrated in Europe.
- 6) About one billion Easter eggs will find their way from dye-filled cups on kitchen tables to Easter baskets and grassy lawns. Eggs are the most popular symbol on Easter cards. Long before the birth of Christianity, the egg was regarded as the symbol of new life. The ancients exchanged eggs to celebrate the coming of spring. The custom waned, however, as populations spread out and the fragile eggs became too difficult to transport. But the tradition of decorating eggs continued and was adopted by Christians as they celebrated Christ's resurrection at Easter. By the mid-19th century in Europe and America, people began exchanging Easter cards, many of them decorated with eggs.

I hope you enjoyed this Easter trivia!

Do You Mask Your Stress?

Attend Systematic Stress Management™ and Relax!

Disguising your stress is only a temporary solution. The long-term results of stress can be devastating — heart disease, high blood pressure and ulcers, to name a few. In fact, according to the American Academy of Family Physicians, two-thirds of all office visits to family doctors are stress related.

Systematic Stress Management™ teaches you to control stress, changing it from a negative experience into a positive motivator. The techniques are easy to master, and they have a dynamic effect on your ability to cope with day-to-day events. The program can be used at home or at work, and will make a profound difference in your ability to relax.

Attend one of our FREE introductory meetings. Systematic Stress Management™ will enable you to gain insight and control of your life.

What A Liberated Congress Could Mean to America

A money miracle of the first magnitude could bless America if our 435 House members on Capitol Hill would agree to become non-elected, salaried employees of the government. They would retain the same Constitutional powers that Congress has held for two centuries, but would be non-political and eligible to hold their appointments until retirement.

Whether Senators should become non-partisan can be considered separately. At the moment, let's confine our inquiry to members of the House of Representatives—generally referred to as Congressmen. Let us also take it for granted that this historic change in our national legislature would be brought about by a Constitutional amendment approved by a two-thirds vote of both houses and ratified by the states.

These liberated Congressmen and their families would never again know the anxiety of running for office in alternate years. They would have job security and be freed at last from having to depend for a living on votes via the pork barrel. They would be equally liberated from degrading dependence on political action committees (PACs) for campaign contributions. Images of FOR SALE signs hovering symbolically over their seats in Congress would vanish forever.

The effect of such liberation on Congress, on the nation and on citizens of Chelsea would be stunning. You are aware that the House of Representatives has just approved a $1.1 trillion budget, including a $134 billion deficit, to keep the government running for fiscal 1989. That's about five billion dollars worth of spending for each day that the House is actually in session!

Such unbridled spending is a critical matter and we must not shrink from solving the problem by means of a Constitutional amendment. Two hundred years ago we were a young nation of four million people. We now have five million people on the federal payroll.

We recognized the need for amendments almost immediately and passed the Bill of Rights. It took 132 years to recognize the right of women to vote, but we did. Now the whole infrastructure of American civilization has been virtually recreated, and a Constitutional change in the charter of Congress is long overdue.

Most individual members have only a limited idea of what government departments are actually doing with the money appropriated for their use. Few have any concrete idea whether line items in a budget are for legitimate needs or for overstaffing, oversupplying or overpricing. Qualified observers advise me that most federal agency budgets are loaded with 25 percent fat or more.

You can believe them when you consider President Reagan's revelation about the American poor. "Obviously, something is desperately wrong," he declared in a weekly radio address. "With only about half what is now spent on welfare, we could give enough money to every impoverished man, woman and child to lift them above the poverty line. Instead, we spend vast amounts on a (bureaucratic) system that perpetuates poverty."

The Art of Wasting Government Money

Federal departments consist of Defense, Public Health, Agriculture, Interior and other cabinet posts plus 17 independent agencies such as the Postal Service and the Tennessee Valley Authority. These are staffed by professional bureaucracies which have not had a housecleaning since time immemorial. They are under the direction of strongly-entrenched, career bureaucrats who continue in power through shifting political administrations.

A liberated Congress, and staff aides with freshly honed skills in management, could deliver a far better quality of government for $250 billion less than we are getting now. An instant result of such economies would be the end of deficit spending and federal borrowing. Within a decade, our national debt of $3 trillion would be nothing more than a bad old memory.

A bureaucrat in charge of an agency or section is paid in accordance with the size of the budget and the number of people under his or her supervision. A department head with 2,000 employees can dream of a staff of 5,000 as Cloud Nine.

This is also true of industry, of course, but empire building is sternly resisted in corporate life and every so often you will read: "XYZ Corp to Lay Off 3,000 White Collar Employees." Not so in government.

New federal jobs are constantly invented. When budget time rolls around, all the new employees are offered as justifications for higher appropriations.

A prime example of bureaucratic opportunism was the IRS and the "simplified" 1987 income tax. Laughing at both the President and Congress, the IRS came through with complicated new forms for the public to fill out—all entangled in bewildering red tape. Because of these new complexities, leading firms of accountants sent pleas to clients urging them to supply 1987 tax data as early as possible.

Government agencies enjoy scattering pork barrel grants around like grass seed. The Department of Agriculture under one profound research grant concluded that women don't like ironing. Senator Proxmire bestowed one of his Golden Fleece awards for waste in government to the National Science Foundation. A $39,000 grant was given to a Michigan anthropologist who travelled to the Himalayas in Nepal. The purpose was to study the relationship between mountaineering by Sherpa guides and the changing practices of the Buddhist religion.

The Department of Defense is a wonderland of waste and the source of spectacular cost overruns. Common Cause magazine recently documented the spending of billions of dollars for reserve supplies of obsolete weapons. There have been all sorts of purchasing oddities such as $600 toilet seats, $726 for an $8 electrical plug and $44 for a common light bulb.

Bureaucratic red tape is the telltale color of taxpayers blood. In 1980, when General Motors was losing millions, the company found it necessary to assign 22,000 employees at a cost of $1.8 billion to cope with the regulations of federal, state and local governments. In that year GM lost $762,500,000. Without all that red tape and needless regulations, the company would have earned a $1 billion profit.

It is well known that members of Congress will vote to spend money on just about anything that will inspire constituent loyalty. But why do we supposedly sensible, prudent citizens tolerate such behavior in Congress? Why? Because we want these waterworks, statues and municipal improvements. Our representatives are behaving the way we demand them to behave.

It is true that members of Congress and bureaucrats have long been bedfellows. What is more, Congressmen are well aware of the waste and inefficiency of government departments. After all, it is the bureaucracies that keep the pork barrels full. But if Congressmen are liberated from dependence on pork barrel largesse, the bureaucrats may suddenly find themselves without blankets on the cold, hard floor. In budget sessions, the liberated Congressmen will demand: What is the money for? Please explain how come everything costs so much? And why do you need so many employees?

With blunt questions such as these, a future Congress can expose the deceptions and contrived wastefulness of the bureaucracies. At least $250 billion can be squeezed out of their spending. In industry this sort of thing is done constantly as a matter of survival.

Well, let's face it. It is stupid for a nation with as much brains as we have to go stumbling along, year after year, crying that we can't afford the cost of our government. Of course, we can! All we need to do is get rid of the pork barrels and enforce a responsible code of discipline on the bureaucrats.

We can ask our Congressmen to support these reforms, bearing in mind that they have the keys to their own handcuffs. We must also bear in mind that 90 percent of incumbent Congressmen are re-elected. They may hesitate to throw away such a winning hand in exchange for a new deal.

The other viewpoint is that Congress is not a private club where the interests of 435 members outweigh the concerns of the 240 million who pay them. We have Constitutional privileges of our own. One is the right to cross party lines when an incumbent chooses to ignore our wishes, and elect a candidate who will promise to vote for reform.

TREASURY WATCHDOG: Congressman Carl D. Pursell has been awarded his fourth "Golden Bulldog" by the Watchdogs of the Treasury. The award was based on Pursell's voting efforts to cut federal spending, eliminate waste and reduce the national deficit. "While I'm proud to receive this award, I am more proud of the fiscally-responsible voting record it represents," Pursell said during a recent ceremony where the presentation was made. According to the Watchdogs, the award is presented to "those members of Congress who vote to contain unnecessary government spending at least 75 percent of the time," based on a compilation of selected votes on economic and fiscal issues published in the "Economy Voting Record." Pursell scored 80 percent in the most recent "Economy Voting Record" ratings. Presenting the award to Pursell this year was Watchdog sponsor George Franklin, vice-president of the Kellogg Co. of Battle Creek.

Chelsea Twirlers Place In National Contests

Contests held in Ohio and Michigan saw several Chelsea Baton Corps members in competition.

Three teenage members drove to Brimfield, O. with their coach, Rita Wilson-Howard, for a large and very competitive contest. Howard was head judge for the twirling unlimited (TU) event. Showing tremendous poise against some of the top twirlers in the United States, Amy Feldkamp, Linda Schaffer, and Melony Owens placed high in every event entered.

Monroe played host to an NBTA (National Baton Twirling Association) competition on March 19. Six beginning twirlers from the Chelsea Corps competed with each twirler, receiving at least one first place.

Results of both contests are as follows:

TU—Ohio
Amy Feldkamp, 13—beginner basic strut (2), beginner flag (2), beginner visitors solo (4).
Linda Schaffer, 12—model (4), intermediate solo (4), intermediate visitors solo (4).
Melony Owens, 13—beginner visitors solo (4), beginner solo (6).
NBTA—Monroe

Prank Calls Send Fire Dept. On Two Runs

Prank telephone calls sent the Chelsea Fire Department on two runs to non-existent fires on Sunday, March 27.

Voice recordings revealed the caller to be a girl about 10-13 years old, according to Chelsea police.

Another call to Chelsea Community Hospital, apparently by the same girl, requested an ambulance to transfer a dead body at about 7:30 p.m. the same day.

In addition, a man living on Old US-12 reported receiving "strange calls" on his answering machine from a young girl.

The Wage and Hour Division of the U. S. Labor Department enforces the federal child labor laws. Employers may be fined up to $1,000 for each child labor violation according to DOL fact sheet.

An Easter Meditation

In the glorious Easter Story
A troubled world can find
Blessed reassurance
And enduring peace of mind—
For though we grow discouraged
In this world we're living in,
There is comfort just in knowing
That God triumphed over sin,
For our Saviour's Resurrection
Was God's way of telling men
That in Christ we are eternal
And in Him we live again—
And to know life is unending
And God's love is endless, too,
Makes our daily tasks and burdens
So much easier to do,
And our earthly trials and problems
Are but guideposts on the way
To the love and life eternal
That God promised Easter Day.

. . . (Jesus Christ) hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel.

2 Timothy 1:10

Dexter Masons Plan Open House Sunday, April 10

The public is cordially invited to attend an Open House at the Dexter Masonic Temple, Sunday, April 10, from 12 noon until 3 p.m.

Refreshments will be served, and a display of Masonic memorabilia may be inspected from Robert Geer, Munis Kenny and Carl Bates, including some old badges from the Carl Bates Estate.

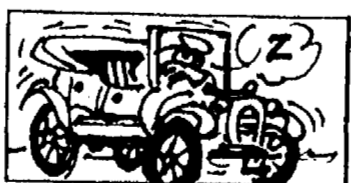

Steinbach said, "A history of the lodge, old records, costumes, lodge at rest and an old wooden coffin made by Henry Vinkel in the old barn that used to be located in back of the Dexter American Legion Home will also be shown during the Open House."

Area Churches Plan Special Easter Services

Lake United Methodist, Covenant, and St. Andrew's. Most of the churches follow their sunrise service with an Easter morning breakfast.

Of course, all area churches offer special Easter morning services. Two churches offer special events for children on Easter morning. North Lake United Methodist has an Easter egg hunt at 9 a.m., while Zion Lutheran has a Sunday school with balloon launch at the same time.

WAITERS FOR A DAY: Spaulding for Children held their annual board meeting on March 16 at the farmhouse on Walkrous Rd. The meeting was preceded by a special sit-down dinner which was served by four Chelsea High school seniors, left to right, Chris Cheng, David Steele, Dan Fletcher, and Sam Elsenbeiser. The quartet donated their services to earn funds to purchase a trainer's medical kit for the varsity track team.

Three CHS Seniors Show Top Math Skills

Chelsea High school seniors Sharon Colombo, Pat Gustine and Jeff Waldyke qualified to take to the American Invitational Mathematics Examination (AIME) with their performances on the American High School Mathematics Examination (ASHME) given on March 1.

The AIME was given Tuesday, March 25 at Chelsea High school. The purpose of both tests is to identify students of unusual mathematical ability who may represent the United States on an international mathematical olympiad team.

In order to qualify to take the AIME the students had to score a minimum of 100 out of 150 points on the ASHME. The Chelsea students will receive an honor roll pin from the Mathematics Association of America. The combined scores of all three students will enable Chelsea High school to win a certificate of merit for outstanding proficiency.

The competition is sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America, Society of Actuaries, Mu Alpha Theta, National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, Casualty Actuarial Society, American Statistical Association, and the American Mathematical Association of Two Year Colleges.

Bill Ames Honored for Untiring Service years before moving on to Michigan State University. At MSU he earned his bachelor's degree in vocational agriculture education and later a master's degree.

Ames spent four years teaching high school vocational agriculture in Springport. He moved on to teach the same subject at Vicksburg and earned his master's degree in his spare time.

Eventually he was offered a job by the extension service, where he has been ever since.

Ames and his wife, Linda, live on a 10-acre farm near Manchester, where they raise a few sheep. They have four children, Stacey, a resident of Eaton county, and Vanessa, Theresa and Stephanie, all Washtenaw county residents.

The biggest change in the extension service in the last 20 years, Ames said, has been in the 4-H program.

"When I first came here it was mainly a rural program," Ames said.

"But now it's rural, urban and we work a lot with juvenile delinquency. There's also more work with home horticulture, such as lawns and ornamentals."

As extension agent, Ames plays mostly an educational role for the area's farmers. He assists them in management decisions concerning their crops, livestock and land use.

Masons Plan Past Master, Life Member Night

A past master-life member night will be held Saturday, April 16, at the Dexter Masonic Temple.

All Masons and male guests are invited, as 60-year pins, 50-year pins, 40-year (life membership) pins and 25-year pins will be presented.

Charles Steinbach explained this week that widow pins will be presented to the five widows, who lost their husbands during the past year. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. and reservations are a must.

Please call Ted Wilson, 475-9630 in Chelsea and leave a message on his answering machine, or give Charles Steinbach a call in Dexter, 426-4363.

A blooming success: Wildflowers may become a common sight along many of this country's highways, thanks to a law recently passed by Congress. The Federal Highway Administration now requires that a portion of the money spent on landscaping along certain roads be used to plant native wildflowers. According to National Wildlife magazine, wildflowers reduce the need for mowing and watering and also seem to deter people from littering.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

We would like to acknowledge and thank the basketball coaches, Mr. Rosentreter and Mr. Terpstra, for the basketball program that was provided for girls in the third to sixth grade. These coaches with the help of the girls varsity basketball team planned, organized and provided instruction and support to over 30 young girls for six Saturdays.

With limited money and resources they did an exceptional job and any observer could see the enthusiasm and skill that developed through this program. This was one of the first opportunities for these young girls to receive instruction and guidance with this sport and many of them hope it continues.

We would like to extend our appreciation for the effort of all involved and request that this program continue with support.

Sandra Merkel.
Arlene Lynch.

To the Editor,

It is no accident of calendar that Easter comes with the new life of springtime in all of nature about us. No matter what month Easter Sunday falls on, there are always crocuses, tulips, showing their burst of beauty, as well as daffodils making their debut, along with trees budding. All signify new life. Which leads me to ask the following.

I wonder if it has ever occurred to you, Editor, or your readers the striking similarity of the child Jesus' arms outstretched as He lay in the crib at Christmas and Christ's arms stretched on the cross on Good Friday.

Always, Jesus, with arms out, inviting us all come nearer to Him. Teaching us the must always be, in each life, a "Good Friday" before we know and fully grasp the wondrous Joy of Easter.

Just as we soak up the warmth of the spring sun, may we share a Blessed Easter with God's Son, and one another. Alleluia.

Local Lakes, Creeks on List of Water Standard Violators

Big Portage Lake, Half Moon Lake, Letts Creek, Mill Creek, and the Huron River at Loch Alpine were all included on a preliminary list of bodies of water which violated, or were suspected of violating, water quality standards. The list was prepared by the Department of Natural Resources at the request of the Environmental Protection Agency.

Letts Creek, Mill Creek, and the Huron River at Loch Alpine were placed on the list by Byron Lane of the Jackson DNR office. All three are run-offs for sewage treatment plants: Letts Creek is for Chelsea, Mill Creek for Dexter, and the Huron River near Loch Alpine for Loch Alpine. Lane explained that all three violate allowable levels of chlorine discharge.

Chlorine is used as a disinfectant in the sewage treatment plants. However, if not treated with another chemical before being disposed of, the chlorine will continue reacting with bacteria in the river water, since it makes no distinction between desirable and undesirable bacteria. It is only recently that this problem has been recognized and new state laws passed to deal with it.

The state law does not demand immediate compliance. According to Lane, Chelsea and Dexter are scheduled to change their treatment of chlorine in 1989, when they make other planned changes. However, Loch Alpine is supposed to have changed already. They have not, but are working with Lane on the problem.

Lane urges the general public not to become too concerned with the list, saying that although the sewage treatment plants on the list are discharging too much chlorine, it does not necessarily mean that the rivers below them are polluted.

Peg Boswick of the Lansing DNR office, who put Half Moon Lake and Big Portage Lake on the list, also urges people not to become too concerned about the list. Boswick was responsible for listing all the inland lakes and waterways which violated the standards.

Using data collected in 1985 for cold water trout fishing, she placed Big Portage Lake on the list. Half Moon Lake was only put on the list of suspected violators because it had been tested in 1980, too long ago to be sure that the same conditions exist.

Boswick says that both lakes are safe for swimming and fishing, but were put on the list because they did not meet the tough criteria for cold water trout fishing. To meet the cold water standards, lakes must have high water quality, with high levels of dissolved oxygen.

Half Moon and Big Portage Lakes test as having high levels of nutrients or acidity and low levels of dissolved oxygen. The two conditions go together. Run-off into the lakes from farmers fertilizing fields, from lakeside lawns being fertilized, and from septic fields add nutrients which causes plant growth, especially algae. The algae use up available oxygen, lowering the amount available to the fish population. Too much algae is also a nuisance, sticking to boats and to the bodies of swimmers.

Boswick says the list will be used to provide information to the community and to tell state officials which lakes to keep an eye on. The list will be used to narrow down priorities and to decide where to place resources.

Boswick says the problem will also be discussed with the department of fisheries. It may be that Half Moon and Big Portage Lakes are fine as warm water fishing areas and should not be considered trout fishing areas at all.

Bruce Monson, director of the Huron River Watershed Council, agrees with Boswick and Lane about not becoming overly concerned about the list. However, he says that it is valuable in helping to publicize needs and to give support to projects such as the Portage Lake water management grant which is in the process of being approved or to the suits being pressed by the Portage and Base Lake Property Owners over projects that they feel are harmful to their lakes.

Vietnam Veterans Day Promoted By U-M Group

Col. Charles Donald Tackett has come to the University of Michigan campus to promote a Vietnam Veterans Memorial Day for May 7, he explained, "to recognize the peculiar and crushing plight of the Vietnam veteran and to remind ourselves of our own diminished rights and responsibilities to object to unjust and inhuman wars."

The issue was considered last week by the Michigan Student Assembly (MSA), and received an affirmative vote, by a two-to-one margin, Tackett said.

"Monday, a meeting was set up to put together the final proposal before taking it to the United States Senate and House of Representatives, as well as to the White House," he explained.

A rally has been tentatively scheduled for 12 noon on Thursday, April 7, at the U-M's "diag," in celebration of a referendum which the group Tackett represents hopes will pass, calling on Congress to establish the holiday and the U-M's support for its own May 7 celebration.

Tackett noted several speakers will be heard at the rally.

On May 7, a holiday celebration is scheduled to encourage postcards be sent to Congress. The postcards will be available for people to use, at the "diag" from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Youth Ball Sign-ups Set Saturday, April 16

Sign-ups for Chelsea summer youth baseball and softball programs will take place Saturday, April 16 from 9:30 a.m. to noon in the Chelsea High school cafeteria. Each child's league assignment is based on his or her school grade, not age. For more information contact the Chelsea Recreation Council at 475-9830.

Softball Meetings Slated April 11-13

Organizational meetings for men's and women's softball in Chelsea will be held April 11 and 13. Women will meet Monday, April 11 at 7 p.m. in the Chelsea High school cafeteria. Men will meet on Wednesday, April 13 at the same time and place. The leagues are sponsored by the Chelsea Recreation Council.

Ellenwood Promoted at Ionia Park

Terry Ellenwood, son of Katherine Ellenwood Doerr of Chelsea, has been promoted to assistant manager at the Ionia State Recreation Area. Ellenwood is a 1975 graduate of Chelsea High school. His duties will include law enforcement, working with the Michigan Conservation Corps program, as well as performing as a commissioned park officer and training personnel. He had previously worked as a park ranger full time for two years at the Waterloo Recreation Area. He has also worked in varying capacities for the village of Chelsea and the Wildlife Division of the Department of Natural Resources. He will be Park Manager Steve Dice's assistant and will fill in when Dice is not available. Previous to his full time work at Waterloo, Ellenwood had worked four seasons at the park. Ellenwood has moved to Ionia with his wife, Veronica, and son, Justin, 19 months, and is living in the park residence on Riverside Dr.

On Feb. 26, 1914, the Detroit Symphony gave its first concert at the Detroit Opera House. In 1919 the symphony moved to Orchestra Hall, generally regarded as one of the most acoustically perfect auditoriums in the world. The brilliant Russian pianist Ossip Salomonowitch Gabrilowitsch joined the Detroit Symphony as director in 1919. Gabby, as he came to be known, was so popular that he was often greeted with a storm of applause that lasted five minutes or more. Gabrilowitsch raised the symphony from a provincial orchestra to a nationally recognized institution. Today the Detroit Symphony performs at both Orchestra Hall and the Ford Auditorium and summers at Meadow Brook in Rochester.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Which Chelsea High school sports program has had the most athletes continue to play the sport in college over the last four years? If I had to guess, I'd say softball. There are four women playing for Siena Heights College (Ann and Karen Weber, Karen Wilson and Angie Defant), two at New Mexico (Beth Unterbrink and Chris Defant), and one at Wayne State University (Kelly Hawker). I'm sure I could name a few more with a little research. This year's team is likely to produce a few more college scholar-athletes.

Pat Clarke is one lucky, and hard-working, Bulldog. His girls cross country team was third in the state last fall. His softball team, which he inherited this spring, could find itself in the state tournament.

Clarke, if he weren't in Florida working out with the girls, would be the first to tell you that the Chelsea softball program, not any one person, is responsible for the Bulldogs' phenomenal success. Ex-coach Charlie Waller said much the same thing in a Standard interview a few years ago, although I think he may have been a little too modest.

Tradition has become a big part of the program. You'll never see athletes more focused at Chelsea High school than Bulldog softball players. The winning tradition motivates them to work harder. They won't settle for what would be a good season for any other school. They assume they are going to win.

The tradition also puts pressure on the players and coaches. In addition, it assures that good athletes are constantly entering the program. Softball is the status sport for girls at CHS much as football is for boys.

Another big factor is coaching. Girls in Chelsea are fortunate to have good instruction at all levels, including the summer ball programs here and in Ann Arbor. With all those factors, it's not surprising the varsity team has had so much success.

Heard on the radio this morning that a Wisconsin legislator is trying to pass a law that would allow blind people to hunt in that state. Any blind hunter would have to be accompanied by a person who can see. This sounds like a well-intentioned but misguided bill.

This is the week-end for basketball fans. The NCAA Final Four features a great field in Arizona, Oklahoma, Kansas and Duke. So what happened to the Big 10, dubbed the best conference in the country this season?

I'm picking Arizona to beat Kansas in the finals by less than 10 points, provided they can get past Oklahoma, which is probably the second best team in the field.

The Georgia Tech Yellow Jacket mascot, "Buzz," was voted the best college mascot in the country by an organization that rates those kinds of things. Their only mascot used to be "The Ramblin' Wreck," which really looks more like a clown car.

DISCOVER magazine recently had a piece on last year's big controversy in baseball about the "lively" ball. The magazine, in fact, found that the ball did travel a little farther, but not far enough to explain the record year for home runs. They surmise that because it was also a record year for strikeouts that more batters were simply free swingers.

The magazine also found that doctoring a bat makes little difference in how far a ball can be hit. Superballs, cork, all that stuff don't make any difference, except for the fact that they tend to make the bat lighter, which increases bat speed and homer power. The ideal weight for obtaining the best bat speed is somewhere around 23 ounces. Unfortunately, a bat that size would break every time.

SPORT DETROIT magazine recently had a story about heroes, in particular sports heroes.

Someone took a survey of second graders in Detroit and asked them who they admired most. It turned out that professional wrestlers were admired more than athletes of all other sports combined. Hulk Hogan over Isiah Thomas. Andre the Giant over Alan Trammel. This is scary.

LOCAL TAXIDERMIST Jim Krichbaum won two big awards with this mounted bluegill at a state competition sponsored by the Michigan Taxidermist Association. Jim's entry won first place and Best of Fish in the professional division. Jim caught the fish just north of town. In addition, he also won a first place with his largemouth bass. Jim, who works at Chrysler Proving Grounds, handles the taxidermy at his home on Waltrous Rd. He and his son, Joel, entered five mounts between them. Jim said he wanted to mount the bluegill to show that big, trophy fish don't necessarily make the best subjects for taxidermy.

JOEL KRICHBAUM entered two deer heads in a state-wide taxidermy competition recently and won two awards for his efforts. The competition was sponsored by the Michigan Taxidermist Association. 77 whitetail deer heads were entered in the competition and 17 won awards. The mount Joel is holding is actually the rack of one deer and the hide of another. Judges pay particular attention to nose, eye and ear detail. Joel works with his father in Jim and Sons Taxidermy on Waltrous Rd.

Stockbridge Serviceman An 'Extra' in TV Show

Story by David A. Losleben
Honolulu—Army Spec. 4 Darrin E. Patrick has "gone Hollywood."

He doesn't have his name on the sidewalks of Hollywood Boulevard or have a home in Beverly Hills. His name doesn't jump out of theater marquees, television viewing guides, or movie reviews. Nonetheless, he has become part of an American dream—Darrin Patrick is in pictures.

The son of Burton and Loretta Patrick, 1051 Center St., Stockbridge, Patrick is an extra in the popular CBS television show about the Vietnam War, "Tour of Duty." Made with the technical assistance of the Army's Western Command units based in Hawaii, the gritty wartime drama offers real GIs a chance to work with their Hollywood counterparts.

"My regular job is a construction equipment repairman," said Patrick, a member of the 40th Supply and Services Company, based at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii. "I work on cranes, forklifts, etc."

The soldiers work on the set as extras to actors, technical advisors and suppliers of actual Army hardware that ranges from Jeeps and radios to weapons for the hour-long combat show. Some of the GIs are volunteers, while others are assigned to the filming set to issue and maintain equipment used in the series, and to offer the technical advice that keeps the show as realistic as possible. Most soldiers say they consider this "tour" with the television series good duty and a welcome change of pace from their normal Army roles.

"Right now, I'm playing an RTO—a radio-telephone operator—on the show," said the 1984 graduate of Stockbridge High school. "So far, I've just been working with the radios, but I'll probably get 'killed' too."

Billed as an action-packed drama, soldiers working in front and behind the cameras soon found the reality of television work wasn't quite as exciting as the show. However, even with the dawn to dusk production schedule and seemingly interminable waits between filming scenes, most troops said they were happy to have the experience.

"My unit's first sergeant announced the show needed stand-ins, and I guess the guys in my unit were picked because we were pretty squared away. I wanted to do it because I kinda wanted to see what filming a TV show was really like," said Patrick. "I've also got to talk to some people who were really in Vietnam."

While most of the Western Command soldiers working on the sets of "Tour of Duty" have never seen actual combat, the television show offers them the unique opportunity to experience war through the magic of Hollywood.

"Working on the film set and with the real Army are about the same—it's like a field mission on the set," said Patrick. "We've got to be alert, aware of what's going on and be quiet."

Being part of a popular television series is something most people can only dream about. But for Patrick and the other soldiers working on the set of "Tour of Duty," that part of the American dream has become reality.

TV SHOW EXTRA: Army Spec. 4 Darrin E. Patrick waits to appear in a background scene during filming on the set of the series "Tour of Duty." Reward Offered In Hit & Run Fatal Accident

Sheriff Schebil announced today that the Washtenaw County Sheriff Department is offering a $250 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for a hit-and-run accident which resulted in the death of 17-year-old Loretta Sue Hightower. The accident occurred Thursday, Jan. 28, on Holmes Rd., Ypsilanti township.

In addition, Sergeant Harley Rider of the Traffic Services Division who is working jointly with the Criminal Investigations Section on this accident, is also personally offering a $50 reward leading to the apprehension of the individual or individuals responsible for this unspeakable crime. Sadly, Sergeant Rider finds it inhumane that someone involved in an accident would not stop to administer aid to an individual who is injured.

There have already been a number of anonymous tips brought to the attention of the Sheriff's Department and it is believed that there may be others in the community who have valuable information relating to the accident. It is hoped that this reward will encourage those individuals to come forward.

Any individual with additional information regarding this investigation is requested to contact the Sheriff's Department immediately by calling 971-8400 or by dialing the confidential tip line at 973-7711.

Reward monies in relationship with this case are being collected by the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department. Sheriff Ronald J. Schebil requests that anyone wishing to make a donation toward this reward fund contact Sergeant Harley Rider at 971-7350.

The Hightower family has pledged $1,000 and several local businesses have sent in donations bringing the current total to over $1,500.

Chelsea Methodist Home Residents 'Visit' Japan

Residents of the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home flew off on an imaginary trip to Japan, March 9-11.

Their adventure began with a special oriental meal prepared by the dietary department at noon on Wednesday, March 9. Following the meal, they enjoyed Japanese music played on the koto by Alice Sano, while Yaeko Iwanaga performed the cherry blossom dance. Both performers wore their traditional kimonos, which they explained to the group.

The tour then led the travelers to the Kresge Nursing dining rooms for an oriental coffee hour featuring egg rolls and fortune cookies. The afternoon ended with a short film entitled "Women in Japan," one of several films provided to the Home by the Japanese Tourist Association.

On Thursday, residents who were nimble-fingered or just brave gathered in the main lounge for a session on origami, the Japanese art of paper-folding. This group was led by June Finnigan, a member of the Ann Arbor Origami Association.

Thursday afternoon featured an open house in the Home's Heritage Room with a special display of Japanese items brought together by resident directors Esther Kirm, Ruth Whale, and Pearl Bowden. Many of the articles were loaned by Willa Finch who traveled to Japan many years ago with her husband, the Rev. Laverne Finch.

A Japanese tea was the highlight of Friday's activities. Yukiko Yusada explained the Japanese tea ceremony to those in attendance. Staff then served the guests their choice of seven different kinds of teas along with almond cookies. The last stop on the trip was an interesting demonstration on the art of bonsai by Pat Hopkinson of the University of Michigan Botanical Gardens.

Describing the week, social services co-ordinator Sandy Schmunck said, "There are lots of ways to keep traveling—and it's a great way to beat the end of winter blahs!"

ESTHER KIRM, Ruth Whale, and Pearl Bowden, resident directors of the Heritage Room at the Chelsea Methodist Home, stand behind a display of Japanese articles they gathered as their contribution to the imaginary trip to Japan festivities.

MARY HARRIS, a volunteer at the Chelsea United Methodist Home, assists home residents Edna Learned and Florence Wheaton as they learn the Japanese art of origami. The art of paper folding was taught by June Finnigan, a member of the Ann Arbor Origami Association.

WILLA FINCH answers questions about her stay in Japan which took place many years ago with her husband, the Rev. Laverne Finch. She loaned items acquired during that trip to the Chelsea United Methodist Home's Heritage Room to use as part of their Japanese display.

Farmers Protest Diesel Tax Collection Law

A new tax provision, effective April 1, that requires the collection of diesel fuel excise taxes at the point of purchase is receiving strong objections from the farm community. The provision was included in the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act which Congress passed just prior to Christmas and, according to Michigan Farm Bureau's director of public affairs, Al Almy, lawmakers were probably not aware of the problem they created for farmers.

"This new tax provision changes the collection point for the diesel fuel excise tax from the retail level to the wholesale level. This means that previously tax-free purchasers of diesel fuel, such as farmers, will be required to pay the excise tax at the time they purchase it and then file for a refund either quarterly or annually, based upon the amount of refund due," Almy said.

"While the new law permits the refund of diesel fuel excise taxes, the requirement that the tax be paid at the time of purchase will increase the farmer's upfront costs of production. On a typical purchase of 10,000 gallons of diesel fuel, that's more than $1,500 up-front money. This, in turn, will cause cash flow problems. Additional operating funds may have to be borrowed to pay the taxes and this means added interest costs to the farmer," he said. "It also means an increased paperwork burden in terms of time and cost for farmers."

Almy said the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act gives the secretary of treasury the authority to exempt certain uses, such as diesel powered trains, commercial aviation, and state and local governments, from the taxation at purchase and refund provision.

"The large volume of diesel fuel used in agricultural production warrants a similar exemption for farmers. Most Congressmen are not aware of the problem they created for farmers with the change in collection of the diesel fuel excise tax," Almy said. "We are urging our members to contact their representatives and senators and ask them to support legislation to repeal the diesel fuel excise tax collection before April 1."

Consumers Power Co., the principal subsidiary of CMS Energy Corp., is Michigan's largest utility, serving almost six million of the state's nine million residents in 67 of the 88 Lower Peninsula counties.

ON PIANO at North school's talent show last Thursday were Kelly Kentula and McKenna Houle. The children played their number three times during the day for students and parents.

tenaw County Building in the City of Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, Michigan (that being the building where the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw is held), of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due, as aforesaid, on said mortgage, with the interest thereon at 9.92 percent per annum until April 1, 1988, and thereafter at the rate of 11.63 percent per annum, and all legal costs, charges and expenses, including the attorney fees allowed by law, and also any sum or sums which may be paid by the undersigned, necessary to protect its interest in the premises, which said premises are described as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of York in the County of Washtenaw, and State of Michigan, and described as follows:

All that part of the West 1/2 of the Northeast 1/4 of Section 24, Town 4 South, Range 6 East, described as beginning on the East line of the West 1/2 of the Northeast 1/4 of Section 24 aforesaid 1331.94 feet

South 87 degrees 47 minutes 37 seconds West (along the North line of said Section 24) and 1700.25 feet

South 91 degrees 15 minutes 11 seconds East from the Northeast corner of said Section 24; thence

South 01 degree 15 minutes 11 seconds East 150.00 feet (along the said East line of the West 1/2 of the Northeast 1/4 of Section 24); thence

South 88 degrees 49 minutes 54 seconds West 323.89 feet; thence North 01 degree 15 minutes 11 seconds West 150.00 feet; thence North 88 degrees 49 minutes 54 seconds East 323.89 feet to the place of beginning, being a part of the Southwest 1/4 of the Northeast 1/4 of Section 24, Town 4 South, Range 6 East, York Township, Washtenaw County, Michigan.

During the six months immediately following the sale, the property may be redeemed.

MORTGAGE SALE—Default has been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by EDWARD M. WILLIAMS & MARILYN R. WILLIAMS, his wife, to Ann Arbor Mortgage Corporation, a Michigan corporation, Mortgagee, Dated March 15, 1984, and recorded on March 19, 1984, in Liber 1919, on page 656, Washtenaw County Records, Michigan, and assigned by said Mortgagee to Fleet Mortgage Corp., a Rhode Island corporation, by an assignment dated March 15, 1984, and recorded on May 17, 1984, in Liber 1928, on page 961, Washtenaw County Records, Michigan, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date hereof the sum of Fifty Seven Thousand Three Hundred Sixty Six and 75/100 Dollars ($57,366.75), including interest at 12 1/4% per annum.

Under the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises, or some part of them, at public venue, at the west entrance to the County Building in Ann Arbor, Michigan, at 10 o'clock A.M., Local Time, on Thursday, April 14, 1988.

Michigan History Magazine Tells B-24 Bomber Story

The story of the B-24 Liberator bomber No. 11121, one of the few bombers built in Michigan that survived World War II, is featured in the latest issue of Michigan History magazine.

The nose-section of this B-24 bomber was recently discovered and returned to Michigan where it will be the focal point of the "Arsenal of Democracy" exhibit in the Michigan Museum. The museum is scheduled to open late this year.

"This B-24 was one of 6,792 Liberators produced at Michigan's Willow Run plant," said Sandra Clark, editor of Michigan History.

"The tremendous size of the nose-section required that it be placed in the Museum before final construction," said Clark. "Our magazine cover features a photograph which was taken as the construction crane hoisted the nose-section into the five-story Michigan Library and Historical Center last September."

Also featured in the March/April issue of Michigan History is the Mount Clemens Glass Works which was Michigan's first glassworks, a bold yet short-lived venture begun in 1835.

Two other articles harken back to Sault Ste. Marie and the Straits of Mackinac in the 18th century. Readers will journey with the Cadets, the first permanent residents in Sault Ste. Marie who were fur traders. Also featured is the saga of John Jamet, a British officer who served at several Michigan forts before his violent death in the 1763 uprising at Michilimackinac.

Michigan History is published by the Michigan Department of State six times each year and contains articles on history, history-related news and historic preservation. Single copies cost $2. A one-year subscription costs $9.95 and is available by sending a check payable to the State of Michigan to Michigan History, Michigan Department of State, Lansing 48918.

YOUNG SOUTH SCHOOL ARTISTS have their pencil drawings of shoes on display in a case at the front of the school. All sorts of shoes were chosen to be drawn, although athletic footwear seems to dominate.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, March 21, were Grau, Comeau, Redding, Satterthwaite, Feeney, Wales, Cherem, superintendent Van Meer, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Williams, Stielstra, Benedict, Wescott, community education director Rogers, curriculum director Bissell, guests.

Meeting called to order at 8 p.m. by President Grau.

Superintendent Van Meer entered as an official communication a letter from the Ministerial Fellowship Association. The letter indicated that school district officials would be invited to the Association's April or May meeting.

John and Mary Alice Hafer were present at the meeting to receive recognition for their many hours of labor in landscaping the North school courtyards. Principals Wescott and Benedict spoke on behalf of the Hafers, and president Grau presented a framed certificate of recognition.

Assistant Superintendent Mills indicated that he would like to activate a request to have the North school annexed to the Village. Three previous requests have not been acted upon favorably. The only advantage to this annexation would be that North school would become eligible for cable television.

The Board Finance Committee met to review a preliminary budget which is approximately $150,000 out of balance. Adjustments will be made to bring the budget into balance.

Superintendent Van Meer presented five-year enrollment projections. The figures indicate a continual decline at the high school.

Superintendent Van Meer shared information on the Facilities Committee meetings and the possible impact of building projects Quiet Creek (north of town), Belser Estates (Freer Rd.), Bridgetown (off Old US-12), North Lake Downs (near Inverness Country Club), and Harris Builders (east of Harper Dr., off Old US-12). All of these have potential growth for the district. Van Meer has contacted Okemos and will use two ratios to determine the number of potential students based on the housing starts. One of the members of the Facilities Committee has developed a computer matrix which will produce some data.

Curriculum Director Bissell, Marian Williams, and Tom Morrison were present at the meeting to present the Business Education Curriculum. Mrs. Williams reviewed the spectrum of 6-12 business courses, indicating that enrollments in the business department have been constant and that future programs will more than adequately serve the needs of the community.

Vice-president Comeau commented on the last Legislative Breakfast which was attended by Representatives O'Connor and Bullard and aides from the offices of Gary Owens, Lana Pollack and Carl Pursell. Discussion at the meeting centered around the Governor's state-aid bill and reform.

The board approved the borrowing of $3,400,000 in anticipation of operating tax collection for the year to end June 30, 1989, due and payable Dec. 1, 1988, to pay for operating expenses for the 1988-89 school year. Notes to be dated June 1, 1988, and payable April 1, 1989. The district will advertise as required by law, and authorize the assistant superintendent to file the necessary forms and authorize the officers of the board to sign the application forms and appropriate notes.

The board adopted the Professional Development policy.

The board approved a reduction in the work force of two teachers because of declining enrollment: Rahm Rosentreter and Alice Leith to be placed on lay-off status.

Assistant superintendent Mills indicated that the Syl Wojcicki memorial funds, which will go to South School Media Center, have reached $1,268.

Meeting adjourned at 9:35 p.m.

BOY SCOUTS

TROOP 425

At Troop 425 meeting on March 21, our opening was given by Vincent Stahl, Kevin Hafner and Doug Martell. The boys recited the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag.

The Boys went to their patrol corners collected dues and practiced tying their knots. The boys then had a contest to see which patrol did the best in knot tying.

Final preparations were made for the spring trip to Mammoth Caves in Kentucky on March 26-29.

The closing was done by the three boys that did the opening. They recited the scout law for the closing.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Assoc. of Investors Corp.
& Editor, Better Investing Magazine

Q. The company I work for has discontinued their retirement plan and I will receive a lump sum payment of about $8,000. I would like to roll this amount over into an IRA, to avoid paying income tax at that time. What I would like to do is take the money and buy Exxon common stock and have the dividends be automatically reinvested in additional shares. Will the dividends be tax free to me until such time as I retire, and would I be able to invest additional cash amounts from time to time?

A. Rolling your pension payment over into an IRA would be a way of avoiding an income tax payment on the funds you will be receiving.

To set up an account where you would choose what the funds are invested in is called a self-directed IRA. I believe you would have a problem using a company's dividend reinvestment plan. I talked with several IRA custodians who handle self-directed IRAs and they were not aware of any of them that were set up to participate in dividend reinvestment plans. There would be no problem reinvesting dividends in an IRA, but additional payments would be limited to $2,000 a year.

NAIC offers a plan where you can invest a small amount in 40 different companies, reinvest your earnings and make additional deposits periodically. There is a $5 fee to make your first purchase of each company, but after that there is no charge for additional deposits or for reinvesting dividends.

I would suggest that you consider spreading your money over three or four companies rather than putting it all in Exxon. Exxon is a fine company, but it is always wise to spread your risk over several companies. Since you seem to like the oil industry, you might like to put a little in Phillips. Since you are fairly young, you might also put some money in Schlumberger. Its dividend is small but the company is of excellent quality and should show steady progress out of the depression it has been having.

Methodist Youth Attend Seminar

Three area United Methodist youth, Julie Dukes of Chelsea, Kristi Jachalke of North Lake, and John Reisinger of Dexter, participated in a "New York-Washington, D.C. Seminar" from Feb. 27 to March 5. Chosen as representatives of their respective churches, they traveled with 40 other 11th and 12th graders from Michigan. They met with congressional staff from this area, toured the United Nations, worshipped at Riverside church in New York, went sightseeing, and participated in Bible study on the themes of "Shalom" and South Africa. They made new friends, grew in faith, and received a new perspective on world conflicts.

★ Are Research Findings Sex-Biased?

By Judy McBride

Vive la difference! is getting a new translation: Some U.S. Department of Agriculture nutrition studies show that the difference keeps females longer lived—and may make research findings sex-biased.

According to biochemist Merira Fields, most studies are done on male animals and men to eliminate the variable of female hormone fluctuations. "We may be making a big mistake by generalizing from these studies," she says, based on her research with both sexes.

In several experiments, female rats survived a copper-deficient diet that killed 40 to 70 percent of their male counterparts in just eight weeks. After five weeks on the experimental diet, the male rats began dying from enlarged hearts that ruptured. Other studies have shown that females can survive a year on this diet, says Fields, a research associate with Georgetown University Hospital who is based at the USDA's Agricultural Research Service Nutrition Research Center in Beltsville, Md.

"It's a well known fact that premenopausal women are not susceptible to heart abnormalities," she says. "Now we have the first experimental evidence that gender can protect against heart-related death."

How this happens is unclear. Fields says that both sexes had similar low readings in the conventional tests used to assess body copper stores—indicating that these tests "do not accurately reflect the greater degree of deficiency in males."

Both sexes also had elevated blood levels of cholesterol, triglycerides and uric acid—symptoms known to increase risk of heart disease. But, she says, only the male rats were anemic and had enlarged hearts, signaling severe damage.

All these indicators of copper deficiency were provoked by feeding the animals high levels of fructose—a natural sugar abundant in fruit and becoming increasingly abundant in the food supply as high-fructose corn sweetener. Rats that got adequate copper or got starch instead of fructose didn't have any of the symptoms.

"A copper-deficient diet is not enough," says Fields. "You need fructose to aggravate it." (Agricultural Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture.)

Atkinson Clinic Hosting Easter Egg Hunt

The Easter Bunny will pay a special visit to the Atkinson Chiropractic Clinic on Saturday, April 2. By 9 a.m. he will have hidden all his Easter Eggs at which time the hunt will begin. The hunt will be divided into three age groups; 1-4-year-olds, 5-8-year-olds, and ages 9 and older. The Easter Bunny will be awarding prizes in each category for those finding the most eggs and for those who find special eggs.

This is the third annual Easter Egg Hunt hosted by the clinic. "This year we will have over 700 brightly colored eggs well hidden over the clinic grounds. Our staff and several patients participate in the coloring of the eggs to help make this event memorable for kids of all ages," states Dr. Bubneriak, co-ordinator of the hunt.

The clinic is located at 7970 Clark Lake Rd. at M-52, 2 miles north of Chelsea.

Gun-Wielding Man Robs Union 76 Station

A woman clerk at Chelsea's Union 76 Station was robbed at gunpoint and tied up by the assailant last Thursday, March 24 shortly after 11 p.m.

According to Chelsea police, a man entered the store at 501 S. Main St., pointed a gun at the clerk and told her to lock the door and co-operate and she wouldn't get hurt.

The man, described in police reports as "possibly a Mexican male or light-skinned black male" with a stocky build, wearing jeans, a black jacket and white tennis shoes, told the woman to take the money out of the cash register. After she complied she was ordered to the back room, tied up, and told to wait five minutes before trying to get loose, police said.

Once the man left, the clerk waited five minutes before walking to Federal Screw Works across Main St. for help. There she was untied and a factory employee called police.

Police said the amount of money taken was unknown.

It was the second time in recent weeks that the station has been robbed by an armed assailant.

4-H Clubs

BLUE RIBBON LIVESTOCK CLUB—
Our third meeting of the year was held on Thursday, March 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the Webster Community Hall.

The meeting was called to order by vice-president Chris Kapp. The pledges of the American and the 4-H flags were said. Secretary Colleen Ehrnis gave roll call and read the minutes of the last meeting. Then, treasurer Julie Nixon gave the treasurer's report. There was no old business. New business is: 4-H Exploration Days will be June 22, 23, and 24. The Beef Club will be doing the demonstration at the next meeting on Thursday, April 28.

We then broke into our groups for about 15 minutes. Next was the demonstration given by the Swine Club. A movie on how to prepare and show your pig was shown. Swine Club members also each told about their experiences of showing pigs last year at the 4-H Fair.

Jaycee Easter Egg
Hunt Slated Saturday

The annual Chelsea Easter Egg Hunt will be held Saturday, April 2 at 11 a.m. sharp at the Chelsea High school. This year's sponsors are the Chelsea Jaycees and McDonald's.

The hunt will be divided into four age groups: seven- and eight-year olds, five- and six-year olds, three- and four-year olds, and ages two and under. The organizers state that sightings of the Easter Bunny have been reported at this event.

Eggs will be provided by McDonald's and each participant will receive a coupon for McDonald's french fries. There will be prizes donated by Dayspring Gifts and pictures for the winners of each age group.

Following the hunt, at 2 p.m., the Easter Bunny will be at McDonald's for picture taking.

All are welcome. Participants should bring their own Easter basket. For more information on the hunt or on the Jaycees, call 475-2368.

James Gaunt Elected to National Florist Position

Wholesale Florists and Florist Suppliers of America recently elected Jim Gaunt, president of Southview, Inc., of Chelsea and Romulus, to serve as WF&FSA first vice-president.

Gaunt was elected to the WF&FSA first vice-presidency at the association's convention in March, which was held at Walt Disney World, Lake Buena Vista, Fla.

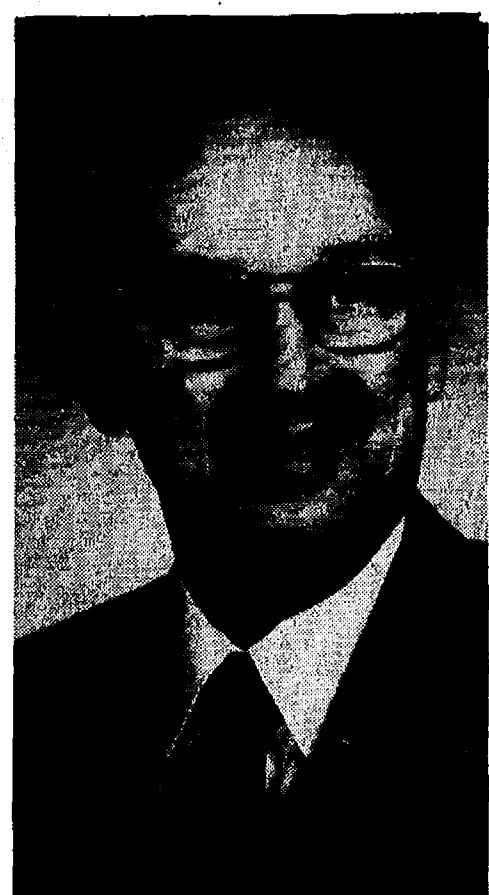

WF&FSA is a national trade association comprised of companies engaged in the production and wholesale distribution of fresh flowers, greens, plants and floral supplies within the United States and Canada.

Prior to this election, Gaunt served as WF&FSA second vice-president and the North Central regional director.

Active in the floral industry for many years, Gaunt was raised in the family business, Southview Gladiolus Farms, which was founded by his father in 1931. In 1970, Gaunt discontinued the production of glads and turned the company into a wholesale-only operation.

Gaunt belongs to several national industry organizations, including the Society of American Florists and the American Floral Marketing Council. A member of the Detroit Allied Florist Association for over 30 years, he has served on the board of directors and as vice-president, president and immediate past president. In the Michigan State Florist Association, Gaunt has served as president as well as on the board and executive committee. He was elected to the American Academy of Floriculture in 1984.

He graduated from the University of Michigan with a B.A. in economics.

JAMES F. GAUNT

In the community, Gaunt is active in the Chelsea First United Methodist church and has served on the advisory committee for Chelsea High school.

Gaunt and his wife, Donna, live in Chelsea. They have three sons, all of whom are involved in the family business.

Papo Re-designs Strip Mall,
Plans Will Need New Approval

Chelsea Shopping Center, the strip mall proposed for the corner of Old US-12 and M-52 behind Chelsea State Bank, has been entirely re-designed by developer Rene Papo to address concerns the village had over its initial plans.

Papo had already received final approval from the village planning commission for his first plans. However, the approval carried a long list of contingencies.

Because the plans have been changed, the planning commission will have to sign off again before construction can begin. The commission will likely consider the plans at their April meeting.

"It is a vastly improved plan," said assistant village manager Lee Fahrner.

"Everything about it is better." The original plan had the mall configured in roughly an L shape, with the anchor tenant, Ames Department Store, on the North at the top of the L.

The new plan shows the mall in a slight curve, with the Ames store in approximately the middle.

All truck traffic will enter into and exit from the mall on M-52 as the new design incorporates a turnaround in the back of the mall. One of the village's biggest concerns about the first set of plans was having trucks routed down Old Manchester Rd., which would require using the hazardous "Y" at M-52 and Old Manchester Rd. However, fire trucks will still be able to enter from Old Manchester Rd.

Traffic flow inside the mall has also been improved, Fahrner said.

The mall will add 80,000 square feet of sales retail space to Chelsea. The total mall, counting warehouse space and Meabon's Appliances, will be 97,000 square feet.

There will be 442 parking spaces, with 16 reserved for handicapped customers.

The mall will sit on 9.54 acres next to the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds.

The area east of the fairgrounds that has been used for free fair parking for years will become parking for the shopping mall.

In other shopping center news, developer Mike Kennedy has submitted another round of plans for his 46,000-square-foot Village Mall next to Polly's Market. However, Fahrner said there are still a few aspects of the plan that he predicted "the planning commission won't go for."

Kennedy said recently that he believes his plans meet all the village's concerns stemming from reviews of initial plans.

Kennedy's said his mall will have a 10,000-square-foot anchor store at each end, which he described as a drug store and general merchandise store. Part of the mall, he said, would be enclosed.

If that mockingbird won't sing... chances are he'll be without a mate. According to National Wildlife magazine, unmated male mockingbirds sing to attract the attention of females. And since there are more males than females, competition is tough. One study at the University of Miami found that single males sang louder and more often than mated males. Despite all the singing going on, 20 to 30 percent of the males fail to mate in any given year.

Townships Hold Annual Meetings, Approve Salaries

Spring is the season for township annual meetings. Dexter township held a meeting on March 21, Lyndon on March 22, and Lima on March 26. Sylvan and Webster have scheduled meetings for next Saturday, April 2.

The main business of the annual meeting is determining the salaries of the elected officials, with all township residents in attendance allowed to vote. Four attended Lima's meeting, 10 or 12 attended Lyndon's meeting, while 35 came to Dexter township's meeting.

Most townships also discuss the budget at that time, although the board, not the members of the meeting, has final approval.

Those attending Lima and Lyndon's meetings approved modest raises for their elected officials. Lima officials will receive a 5-percent raise, while Lyndon's salaries went up 10 percent. In Lyndon, the supervisor will receive $5,000 a year; the clerk, $8,050; the treasurer, $7,325; and trustees, $50 a meeting. Lyndon supervisor John Frances said he thought the salaries were appropriate for the township's size and SEV.

Lyndon also approved a new position, that of assessor at a salary of $10,000. Up until now, the supervisor has filled that position, serving a dual role.

Frances explained that the position was created because the township records have to be converted to comply with the 1986 tax manual as demanded by the state tax bureau. A separate assessor will be able to examine property more often and keep the books up better.

Dexter township, after a lengthy discussion, agreed to leave the salaries at last year's level. The salaries are $14,000 for supervisor; $9,000 for clerk; $12,000 for treasurer; and $2,400 for the trustees. The vote was yes, 25; no, eight.

One of the proponents of keeping the salaries the same was trustee Doug Smith, who explained that due to a 10-percent increase in taxes, that there had been a record number of appeals. He said, "It would be very unkind after that frustration to ask for a raise."

In discussing the budget, all of the townships agreed that their major expenses were fire department costs and road work. Increased fire costs are a result of the Chelsea Fire Department's plan to buy a new $169,874.30 fire truck to replace a truck which is 20 years old. They have also budgeted for $20,000 worth of equipment.

All of the townships intend to do road work this year and have worked out plans with the county road commission. The county pays for the work on primary roads and matches money for work on secondary roads.

Lyndon township plans to work on Beeman, Boyce, Island Lake, Lingane, and Mester Rds. In Lima they plan to work on Freer and Wylie Rds. as well as building aprons off Dexter-Chelsea, Lima Center, and Steinbach Rds. Dexter township has plans for Bell, Wylie, Toma, South Rainbow Dr., Noah Court, Hidden Lake Circle, Hidden Lake Court, and Stonehedge Valley Dr.

One area township did not hold an annual meeting this year. Scio township, because it has changed to charter status, is no longer required to handle business in this way. Their elected officials' salaries are recommended by a compensation commission with approval by the board of trustees. And their budget is dealt with in the fall because charter townships work on a fiscal year from January to December. A budget hearing will be held, probably next October.

Consumers Jackson District Pays $9.3 Million in Taxes

Paying taxes is a real chore for any taxpayer, but if you're Michigan's largest utility, your tax payments are never easy.

Consumers Power Co. will pay more than $107 million in real and personal property taxes for 1987. The utility's tax bit for the five counties that comprise its Jackson/Adrian District will total $9,306,563.54.

Chief beneficiaries of the tax payments are local schools and governmental units which provide needed human and social services.

Consumers Power is Michigan's largest utility in terms of customers, geography and revenue. Its tax payments play a substantial role in the state's tax structure. It pays taxes to 275 cities and villages in 61 counties in which it supplies electricity. Some of those communities are among the 215 cities and villages in 40 counties where natural gas service is provided.

Counties that make up the Jackson/Adrian District and the amount of taxes paid by Consumers Power in each are: Hillsdale county, $376,771.47; Jackson county, $4,383,976.88; Lenawee county, $935,147.86; Monroe county, $3,070,128.66; Washtenaw county, $540,538.67.

TWO SCIENCE DAY PROJECTS at North Elementary school last Tuesday, March 22 included displays by Scott Boughton and Beth Vogel, both students in Berta Stein's third grade class. Scott's project was "What Makes a Good Conductor," talking about various electrical properties. Beth's display, "Parts of the Ear," showed how sound waves travel.

INTRODUCING EACH ACT at North school's talent show last Thursday were announcer Jim Bergman and hostesses Kate Steele, above, and Heidi Stapula. Above, they introduce the lip-synching trio of Jenna Hall, Emily Taylor and Lisa Zimmerman.

New Ordinance Would Give Automatic Stay of Board Actions

Village of Chelsea may pass an ordinance providing an automatic 21-day stay of proceedings after the zoning board of appeals makes a decision on a variance, appeal or administrative matter.

The 21-day stay is designed to allow any interested party to file an appeal or complaint in the Washtenaw County Circuit Court regarding the decision. Under most circumstances, a zoning permit, building permit or certificate of occupancy would not be granted until after 21 days and there has been no appeal or complaint filed.

"We're not trying to hold people up for 21 days," said Village President Jerry Satterthwaite, who is a member of the board of appeals.

"What we're saying is you can start at your own risk."

After a variance is granted, the applicant may receive the necessary permits and start a project immediately if he or she submits a written agreement to the board of appeals that releases the village from all liability and costs with respect to any litigation that might arise from the decision. In addition, the applicant must provide a security of at least $5,000. If litigation begins after an amount of security has been set, the village would retain the right to raise the amount.

Village planning commission voted at their March 22 meeting to recommend adoption of the ordinance by village council.

Zoning board of appeals is composed of Satterthwaite and the six village trustees.

Chelsea-Area Man Uses Teeth To Assault Woman, Policeman

A Chelsea-area man has been charged with felonious assault of a policeman in connection with an incident at the SofSpra car wash on M-52 last Monday, March 21.

According to police, Kenneth D. Lindstrum, 25, punched Sgt. Frank Kornexl near his left eye and bit one of Kornexl's fingers as Kornexl attempted to arrest him shortly after 6:30 p.m.

Kornexl was called to the scene to break up an argument between Lindstrum and a Dexter-Pinckney Rd. woman in the parking lot of the car wash.

According to the woman's statement to police, she and Lindstrum and another person were driving into Chelsea when an argument began about the woman's daughter. The woman said that Lindstrum began pulling her hair while she was driving.

The woman attempted to get Lindstrum out of the car in the Taco Bell parking lot when a fight began. The woman said she lost a contact lens during the fight. She also said Lindstrum walked away with her money and sandwiches they had bought earlier.

The woman, reports said, approached Lindstrum in the car wash parking lot. Again the two started fighting and Lindstrum allegedly pulled her hair and bit her nose. The woman also sustained a black eye and chipped tooth.

When Kornexl arrived at the scene, Lindstrum was reportedly yelling obscenities at the woman. Kornexl separated them but Lindstrum tried to throw a rock at the woman. Kornexl managed to stop him and Lindstrum began walking away.

However, reports said that Lindstrum walked back to the car wash and began yelling at the woman again. Kornexl told Lindstrum he was under arrest and Lindstrum began to fight. Kornexl attempted to subdue Lindstrum with an arm lock but was unable to hold it, and Lindstrum turned and swung at Kornexl, hitting him near the left eye.

Kornexl reportedly was able to put Lindstrum in an arm lock again and that's when Lindstrum bit his finger and wouldn't let go.

However, Richard Conner, of Gregory, who had been a security officer for the metropark system, came to Kornexl's aid and eventually the two were able to get Lindstrum into handcuffs.

As Lindstrum was being placed in the squad car he allegedly told Kornexl that Kornexl was "gonna die from AIDS."
