Faith in Action Reveals Plan To Build New Home

A group of more than 100 friends and supporters of Chelsea's Faith in Action gathered in the Chelsea Community Hospital's main dining room Saturday evening to enjoy dinner and to hear the Rev. Fr. William Cunningham speak about the need to work with those in need regardless of where we happen to live.

Fr. Cunningham is the founder of Focus Hope which has grown from the idea and work of two people (Fr. Cunningham and a housewife from Taylor, Eleanor Josaitis), to become one of our country's largest private social agencies.

In addition to hearing a very moving message of work, sacrifice and love in Detroit, diners were reminded in spite of great differences between Detroit and Chelsea one fact is constant, the need to reach other people whose lives are in shambles, helping them to regain a sense of dignity and purpose.

Mark Cwiek, Douglas Dault (chairman of the board of Faith in Action) and the Rev. Dr. Jerrold F. Beaumont (president and founder of Faith in Action) announced the beginning of a capital fund drive to build a new Faith in Action House on the Chelsea Community Hospital Campus.

The new FIA House Building Fund has a goal of $150,000 with construction to begin this summer. The facility will be used to provide services continuing in the spirit of FIA's motto, The Warmest House in Washtenaw County.

Mrs. Kathleen Chapman, chairwoman for the Benefit Banquet Committee, thanked Sherry Lawton for her piano entertainment during dinner, Walt and Sandy Zeeb for their flower centerpieces and Ron Yonkowski and his staff for their excellent dinner.

Fr. Cunningham drew the names of the winners of the various door prizes for the evening: Paulette Lieska, a radio donated by Heydlauff's; Kuakini Prible, two dinners donated by the Wolverine Food & Spirits; Gertrude Drouyer, two dinners donated by the Woodshed Eatery; Beth Fornor, a get away week-end donated by Weber's.

Landfill Space Dwindling As DNR, Village Attorney Work on New Agreement

By Brian Hamilton

Village of Chelsea's landfill on Werkner Rd. is rapidly running out of space.

As early as next month the village may be forced to decide to close the landfill to everyone outside the village limits if the village and Department of Natural Resources can't work out some sort of licensing agreement.

The landfill is closed to all commercial haulers except the village's contractor. Individual residents in the surrounding townships are still allowed to use the facility.

Assistant village manager Lee Fahrner said last week that he didn't know whether or not an agreement could be reached before landfill space runs out.

The village and Department of Natural Resources are waiting for the results of the latest round of tests for contaminants in monitoring wells at the landfill. As of Friday, neither the village or DNR had received their results on the split samples.

The DNR has said it will not issue a new landfill operating license unless the village agrees to take total responsibility for cleaning up groundwater contamination. The village has a new, approved landfill cell but cannot use it until a license is issued.

The village has balked at taking total responsibility for the clean-up and refused to sign a consent agreement drafted by the DNR.

The village's law firm of Varnum, Riddering, Schmidt & Howlett of Grand Rapids is negotiating a new consent agreement on behalf of the village. Fahrner said Friday that the law firm's proposal has been sent to the DNR for their review but the DNR has not responded.

Deborah Mulcahey, chief of enforcement for the Waste Management Division of the DNR, said Tuesday morning that she is optimistic an agreement can be worked out before space at the landfill runs out.

"I can't give a time frame," Mulcahey said when asked when DNR's review of the latest draft of the consent agreement might be completed.

"There needs to be some revision, both technical and legal."

Mulcahey said Matt Zimmerman, the village's attorney from the Grand Rapids firm, told her he wanted to have the issue resolved in two months "rather than dragging it out for nine months."

"I give him a lot of credit for that," Mulcahey said.

"What he submitted was a good first draft."

Any agreement would require approval of the village council to take effect, Fahrner said.

Business Owners Upset That New Utility Pole Is Downtown Eyesore

A tall utility pole that was planted in front of Longworth Plating on N. Main St. last Thursday in order to aid the renovation of the Sylvan Hotel has caused an uproar in the local business community. Business owners and others have complained that the pole is an eyesore and is a setback in the movement to beautify the downtown business district.

Assistant village manager Lee Fahrner said that he had received at least half a dozen telephone calls about the pole. Several people called The Standard offices to complain and at least one business owner complained in person.

The wooden pole is about 60 feet tall. For drivers traveling north on Main St. it stands in the middle of the view of Chelsea's prime landmark, the clocktower. And the tower and the Chelsea Milling Co. silos are about the only things downtown taller than the pole.

"I don't blame the people who called for being upset," Fahrner said Friday.

"When I saw it I nearly fainted myself."

The pole was erected due to a combination of factors, Fahrner said, but mostly to accommodate the Sylvan Hotel renovation project.

A pole with switching equipment, located within a couple of feet of the north wall of the hotel, is in the exact location that developers John and Anne Daniels plan to place an elevator for the building. That pole has to be moved in order for the project to proceed. In addition, Fahrner said, he could find no records to show that the village has an easement to the pole.

The second factor is the village is planning two other electrical system projects that will eventually move the switching pole from the downtown area altogether. Those projects, involving the E. Summit St. area and the area around the site for the new shopping center at Old US-12 and M-52, will be bid together in order to save the village money, Fahrner said.

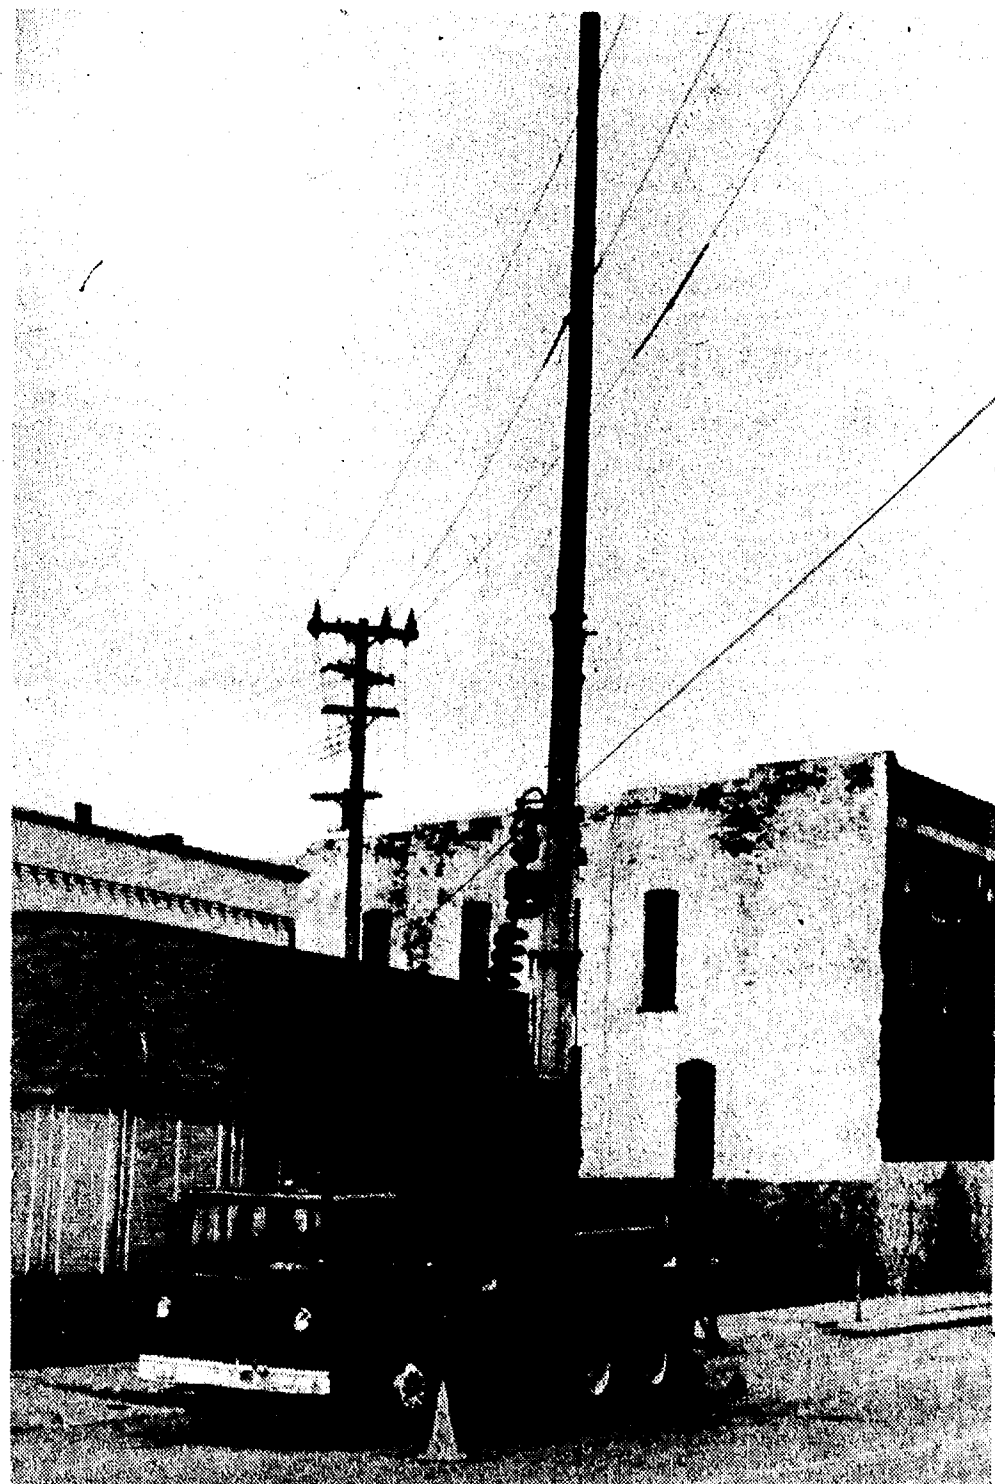

The Summit St. project has been approved by village council. Preliminary plans for the shopping center area project have been put together and will be presented to council soon, Fahrner said.

"We hope to have that ugly pole out in a year or less," Fahrner said.

"I don't like it but it's about the only alternative we have."

Fahrner said that utilities superintendent Bug Hafner and the

THIS 60-FOOT POLE caused an uproar in the business community last week as business owners complained that it is an eyesore. The pole, which should be removed within a year, according to assistant village manager Lee Fahrner, will serve the function the pole behind it is serving now. The pole next to the old Sylvan Hotel has to be removed so that developers can complete the project.

Only Two Candidates File Petitions For School Board

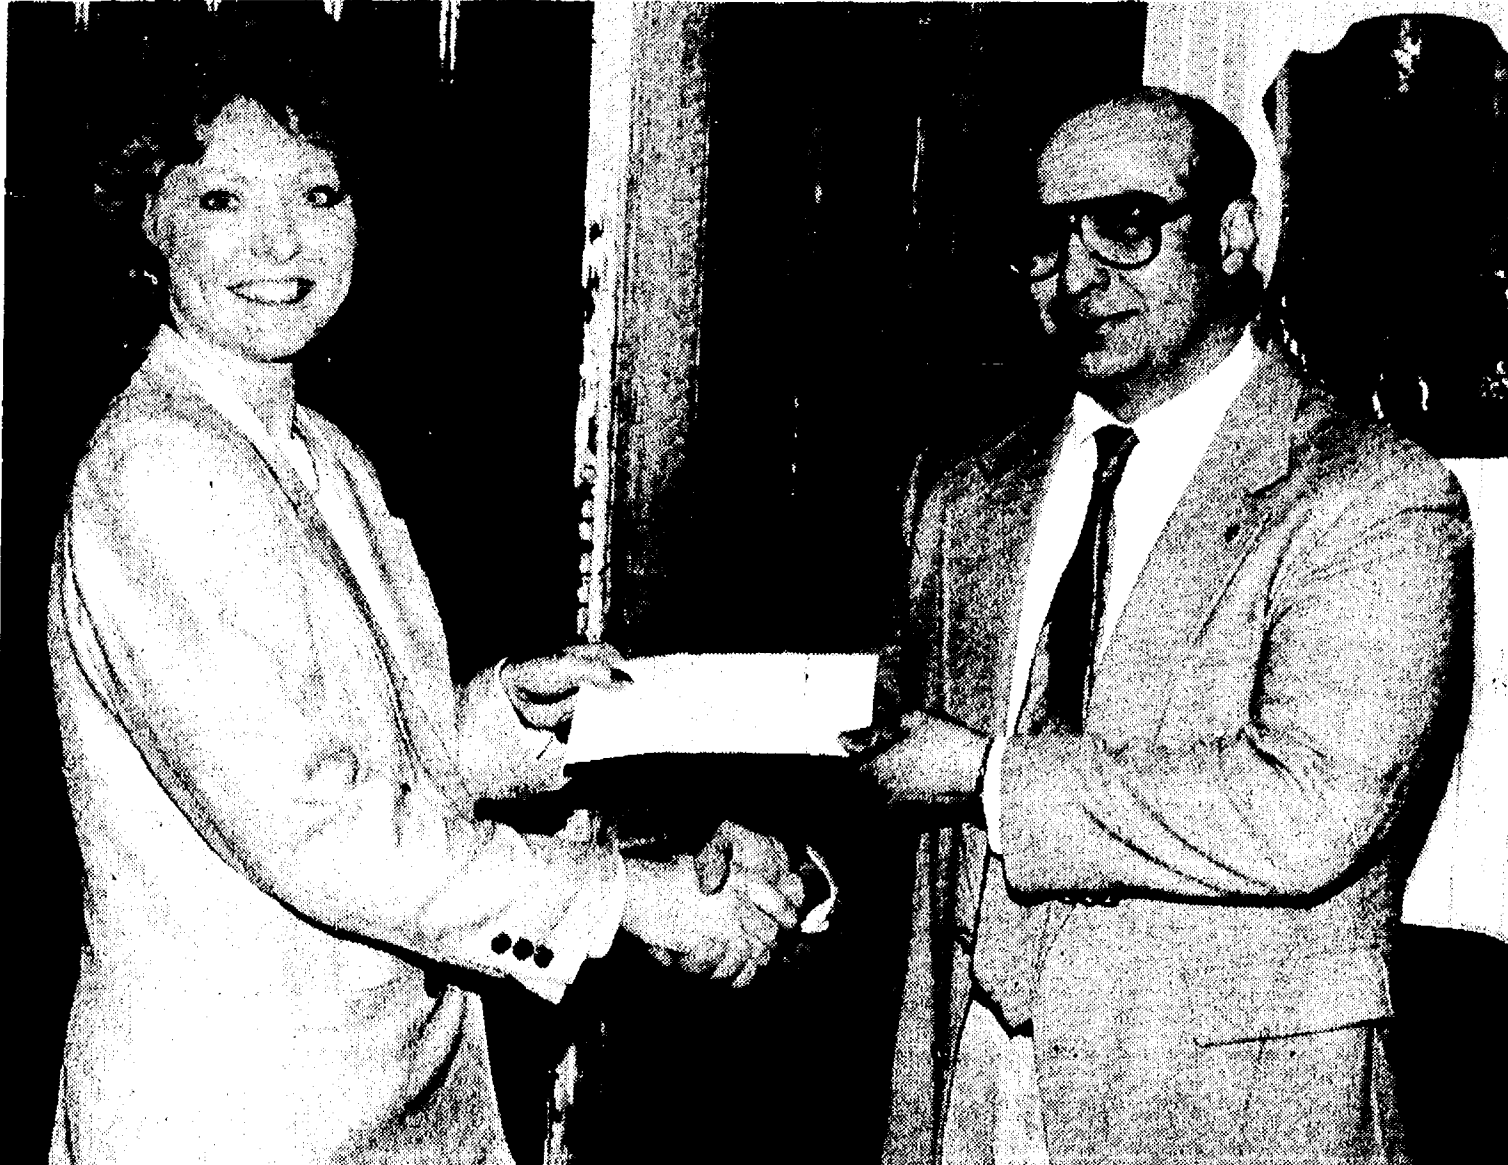

Unless someone mounts a substantial write-in campaign, incumbent Joe Redding and John Eisenbeiser will be elected to four-year terms on the Chelsea School Board in the June 13 elections.

Redding, of 46 Chestnut St., and Eisenbeiser, 7750 Werkner Rd., were the only two district residents to file nominating petitions by the April 11 deadline.

Two board seats, one now held by board president Lloyd Grau, are available.

School board election will be the only item on the June ballot. There will be no millage issues on the ballot, according to assistant superintendent Fred Mills.

MODERN MOTHERS STUDY CLUB has donated $500 for a scholarship to be presented to a Chelsea High school senior this spring at Class Night. Presenting the check to scholarship committee chairman Sam Vogel is Denise Long, president of the club. The scholarship will go to a needy student based on his or her academic standing, leadership, character and service to the community. Money for the annual award came from the club's craft auction last fall.

State Gets Clean Audit
Opinion for First Time

The state's financial accounts have been given a "clean opinion" for the first time by auditors, after getting qualified evaluations for more than two decades, Management and Budget Director Shelby Solomon reported.

Solomon said the fact that all accounts in all parts of state government now follow generally accepted accounting principles will enhance Michigan's reputation in credit markets.

"This marks the end of a five-year effort to erase creative bookkeeping," he said.

During the last recessionary period, officials ordered a series of accounting changes that on paper transferred revenue from the next fiscal year to maintain a balanced budget, but the moves eventually built up an accumulated deficit of $800 million and caused repeated shortages of available cash.

However, the last change, which permitted all state accounts to be kept according to generally accepted principles, was in the unemployment insurance trust fund, where computer errors, not cash problems, had prevented proper accounting before.

The accounting shows the fund still has a federal debt of $11,220.6 million, a reduction of $166.4 million from the prior year.

Solomon said Michigan is one of no more than 10 states which received a clean opinion from auditors in the 1986-87 fiscal year. The Michigan audit was conducted by Auditor General Albert Pinkelman and reviewed by the private firm of Deloitte, Haskins and Sells.

The annual financial report should send a strong signal to Wall Street, Solomon said, but added no plans have been firmly made to seek an upgrade on the state's long-term credit rating.

A rating will be sought if voters approve the governor's proposed environmental/recreational/economic development bond program. The state's short-term credit rating is already at the highest level.

Senate Fiscal Agency Deputy Director Gary Olson also said the report is "good news" for the state, and said few other states meet the same accounting standards.

Although some legislators believe the bond program should be higher than the $800 million recommended by the governor—at least $1 billion—Solomon said the lower amount is what the administration believes can be repaid with the revenue sources identified to date.

The report showed the state's general obligation debt decreased to $155.3 million in 1986-87, or $16.86 per capita, down from $192.3 million and $20.99 per capita the year before.

That marks a steady decline from 1977-78 just after the last general obligation bonds were approved by voters, when the bonded debt was $523.1 million, or $56.87 per capita.

And, the report noted the pension funds increased by $2.1 billion to $15.1 billion, but that was as of Sept. 30. The November stock crash erased $1.5 billion of the pension value, although a modest recovery had put the funds back to $14.5 billion by the end of December.

Consumer Advocate Coalition Saves
Utility Customers $58 Million

A coalition of five consumer advocate organizations was successful in winning refunds or resisting rate increases for utility customers totaling $58 million in 1987, according to the Michigan Citizens Lobby.

Another $29 million in consumer savings may be added to that if the recommendation of an administrative law judge is adopted by the Public Service Commission.

The consortium also played an active role in securing $77 million in early customer refunds of overcharges from Michigan's three largest gas utilities in 1987.

Using a $249,000 grant made available through charges paid by residential utility customers, the Residential Ratepayer Consortium targeted both electric and gas rate proposals by several utilities.

The $29 million plus interest in potential savings would be paid if the PSC follows a law judge's Feb. 29 recommendation that Consumers Power should bear costs caused by alleged negligent maintenance and operation of the Palisades nuclear plant in 1986.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Bug Hookum told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that April Fool's Day ain't near enough to go around in this country. Bug was of a mind that we ought to have at least one ever month to consider the real crazy stuff going on.

For instant, Bug said, he had saw by the papers where the Navy is spending $100 million to clean, paint, fix, equip and otherwise git five warships ready for battle. The boats have been decommissioned, and the Navy says it wants em in tiptop shape when they go in storage. Instead of asking the Navy, Bug allowed, we ought to ask congressman in districts that have the shipyards that got the contracts to do the make work.

General, the fellers run hot and cold on Bug's call for more Fool's Days. Bug Hookum, fer one, said we do enough fool things without having special days to call attention to em. Bug said he was thinking of full-grown men discussing heartbeats on television the other night. Bug said he first thought it was a comedy show, but he learned the two doctors were real.

One said ever person is give a quota of heartbeats, and the faster the beats the sooner you run out. What we got to do, he said, is exercise so the heart muscles will get stronger and beat slower. The trouble is, argued the other, exercise makes the heart beat faster so the more we exercise the sooner we use up our allotment. The best plan, he said, is to eat careful and keep the pipes clean so we get the most good out of ever beat. Bug said he turned off the set where the one strong fer exercise declared statics prove that long term gain in slow beats by a strong heart more than makes up fer short spells of fast beats from exercise.

Instead of going into the Bible side of numbered days, Clem Webster said, he was fer noting that statics can make fools out of the best of us. As exhibit A, Clem used statics that show ever school child in America is above average. He had saw where 50 states claim their children score above average on national achievement tests. Bug said you had to read between the fine print to learn all the states were comparing last year's scores with three-year-old averages.

Since all states keep improving, all new grades are above the old average.

You got to wonder, Bug said, how much of what we're told comes from such mirror tricks. Fer instant, all these numbers are trotted out about Russian weapons, crime, school dropouts, illiterate adults, and the homeless, hungry, sick, lame and lazy, but we don't have the foggiest what they're compared with when. It could be, he allowed, that we just keep fooling ourselves.

Practical speaking, Ed Doolittle declared, the more we learn the more we learn we don't know. Ever time you pick up a paper you see where we're updating our knowledge, Ed said. French and Israeli scientists found recent where man evolved to his present shape 50,000 year earlier than they had thought. Some scientists and preachers said the other day they can prove the capture and escape from Egypt couldn't of happened the way Exodus reports.

Personal, I can't argue with Exodus, but I know we can fool ourselves. We had a preacher onct that said he first thought the Lord called him to our church, but he found out quick that the Lord had sent him.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

New Superintendent, Joseph Piasecki, Visits Town, Seeks Housing

Chelsea's new superintendent of schools, Joseph K. Piasecki, made two visits to Chelsea last week. Monday, April 4, he came with his wife, Marlene, and two children, Nicole (Niki), 11, and Brian, 12, to house hunt (with no success) and show them around their new community. On Wednesday, April 6, he returned, this time alone, to tour the school facilities and meet personnel.

The family now live in Breckenridge, where Piasecki is superintendent of schools. Marlene is a teacher of the learning disabled in the Alma Public Schools, 10 miles west of Breckenridge.

Niki and Brian play basketball and baseball and contend in Odyssey of the Mind, a type of academic game. Niki is also in the sixth grade band.

Breckenridge's school population is 1,200, about half of Chelsea's which is around 2,300. Piasecki describes the area as mainly a rural community with farming and agricultural spin-offs such as grain, elevators, seed places, and implement companies as the main employment. In addition, re some commuters such as Dow Chemical employees and workers from auto shops in Saginaw.

Piasecki says the move to a bigger district will be "challenging and interesting" and not without advantages. For instance, in Breckenridge he did virtually everything himself, while in Chelsea he will have the help of support staff such as the assistant superintendent to do the budget work and a full-time curriculum director.

Piasecki is pleased to learn of the support the Chelsea schools have in the community, citing as an example the millage for maintenance which he says "makes it possible to do things other districts don't have the funds for."

Piasecki is used to working with seven-member school boards, Breckenridge also being a fourth-class school with the same governing system. He approves of the direction the Chelsea board is going in, particularly their emphasis on curriculum review.

On a more personal level, Piasecki likes fact that he will be closer to his mother and his sister, both of whom live in the Detroit area. He is also looking forward to attending more cultural events with Ann Arbor so near. In Breckenridge he was about 40 minutes from Midland, Mt. Pleasant, and Saginaw.

Asked why he applied for the Chelsea job, Piasecki replied that due to Ray Van Meer's position as president of the Michigan Association of School Administrators he had been hearing about Chelsea for four years and was aware of what a good job was being done here. He said when he saw the job posted, he did not hesitate to apply for it.

Asked what changes he would make, Piasecki said he would take his time and look around. "If changes come they will be slow. First I need to get a good feeling for what is going on."

Piasecki plans to hold an administrative workshop in July to get to know the staff, to find out needs, and to make projections. He hopes to hold a similar workshop with the school board sometime this summer.

Piasecki's biggest immediate problem is housing. He hopes he can find a home before the end of June, since he takes over as superintendent on July 1. The worst case scenario is that Piasecki would move to Chelsea alone, while the family stayed in Breckenridge for the summer.

After they move to Chelsea, Niki and Brian will attend Beach Middle school. Marlene will seek employment in the area, but not in the Chelsea schools, both her husband and the Chelsea school board agreeing that that would not be a good idea.

Piasecki says he has 30 days before he gets in a panic about housing. Looking at the bright side, he said, "It's a very desirable area as shown by the fact that I can't even find a house here."

Police Find No Driver At Accident

Chelsea police were asked to assist the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department at an accident at Old US-12 and Pierce Rd. on Friday, April 1 at 3:12 p.m.

When police arrived they found a van upside down in a ditch. They also found blood on the steering wheel. But they couldn't find a driver.

Police are still trying to find out who owns the van.

The Scrappy Libertarians

In 1925 John Thomas Scopes, a schoolteacher in Dayton, Tenn., taught his pupils the forbidden theory of evolution—the biological development of the human race. This was in defiance of a Tennessee law which prohibited the teaching of any doctrine contrary to the Bible. Scopes was taken to court and William Jennings Bryan, a lawyer-politician, famed for his oratory, joined the prosecution. The charge against Scopes, equivalent to heresy, attracted the sympathies of a noted trial lawyer, Clarence Darrow. He volunteered to join the defense. Because Scopes had taught evolution of humans from the primates, the newspapers labeled the courtroom affair, "The monkey trial."

Joining the defense was the fledgling American Civil Liberties Union which hotly asserted that the Tennessee schools were in violation of the first amendment to the Constitution, separation of church and state. The ACLU was very sure that Adam and Eve had no place in the classroom.

The spectacle of two legal giants locking horns in a mountain town of 4,500 attracted the press of the nation. After three long weeks in the sweltering courtroom, John Scopes was found guilty and punished with a fine of $100.

The outcome was what could be expected in a rural Tennessee court, but the trial was far from a triumph for the fundamentalists. Darrow subjected Bryan to humiliating cross examination which exposed Bryan's ignorance of scientific discoveries. Beyond this, Darrow's adroit legal strategy prevented Bryan from an hour of oratorical glory, a thundering speech which he had prepared in anticipation of victory over the Darwinian theory of evolution. He was suddenly stricken by a heart attack and died in Dayton five days after the trial.

The Scopes trial was the first of many hard-fought battles in courts and legislatures for the ACLU, which continue to this day. The organization was established in 1920. Its founders included Jane Adams and Helen Keller, along with socialist leaders Eugene Debs and Norman Thomas. With them also was the distinguished jurist Felix Frankfurter. They believed then, as their successors do today, in the aggressive defense of the civil liberties contained in the Bill of Rights.

At least once a year I try to send a contribution so I will be aware of their activities and have their reports in my editorial reference files. Nominally, I am a member but their positions on some issues leave us miles apart.

Last year the ACLU spent hundreds of thousands of dollars investigating Judge Robert Bork and his candidacy for appointment to the Supreme Court. The Civil Liberties Union supplied the U.S. Senate all of Judge Bork's writings and speeches in addition to all of his judicial decisions. What these pages contained convinced the senators that Bork did not belong on the Supreme Court.

As of November, 1987, the ACLU had 17 cases before the Supreme Court. Among them were these questions:

Can foreign speakers, seeking to address American audiences, be denied visas because their ideologies are objectionable to the government?

Can the State of Illinois require notice to both parents, plus a 24-hour waiting period, before a daughter of minor age can obtain an abortion?

Can New Jersey require public schools to set aside a minute of silence for "quiet, private contemplation or introspection" when perhaps the real intent is to encourage prayer?

Can a high school principal remove several pages from a newspaper published by a journalism class based on his objection to articles dealing with teen-age pregnancy, marriage and divorce?

The civil libertarians say NO to all four of these questions. What do you think?

In Michigan the ACLU Fund and the NAACP have shared in successful litigation against the City of Dearborn. Their attorneys have struck down as unconstitutional a city ordinance excluding non-residents from the use of 40 city parks.

In another suit, the Fund has halted the Michigan State Police from establishing certain roadblocks. Police proposed to stop and search all motorists at such points in hope of catching ones who might be intoxicated. The court decision affirmed the Fourth Amendment right not to be stopped and searched unless citizens are specifically suspected of an illegal activity.

Two other ACLU lawsuits have enabled a federal judge to order major improvements in the health and safety conditions of Michigan prisons.

Invasion of Privacy

The ACLU is renewing campaigns to stop or restrict activities that reveal intimate details stored in computers of a citizen's social, professional and financial life. These include data in the records of government bureaus, private corporations and investigative agencies, such as:

- Student, military, employment and medical records.
- Personal and work habits.
- Friends, acquaintances and business associates.
- Neighbors' opinions of the person.
- Youthful indiscretions.
- Credit rating, bank transactions and indebtedness.
- Political and religious affiliations.
- Books purchased or rented.
- VCR tapes purchased or rented.

The ACLU adds, "Even your sexual preferences are ready to be released without your knowledge and consent."

A person may have experimented as a youth with marijuana and admitted it on an application form. This sort of thing resulted in the flat-out rejection of President Reagan's second 1987 choice for the Supreme Court, Douglas Ginsburg.

Some kind of legal restraint is certainly necessary to prevent indiscriminate access to such information. And the same principles, of course, should apply to the results of drug and AIDS testing. Confidentiality is the critical issue.

Congress is now considering an ACLU bill to outlaw the vast majority of polygraph tests, some of which are admittedly erroneous. This is dubious legislation. Instead of prohibiting lie detector tests, how about cleaning up the errors? How about strict adherence to confidentiality? Whatever the method of testing may be, we don't want to fly with airplane pilots who are looped on drugs or alcohol. We don't want bank employees with felonious values, and we shouldn't have to put up with blabbermouths who have access to our medical histories.

Over the years the American Civil Liberties Union has intervened ably in many major trials involving civil rights. Among them are the Sacco and Vanzetti trial, Scopes trial and the Scottsboro trials. There have been the rights of Jehovah's Witnesses (who refuse allegiance to the United States and acknowledge only the Kingdom of Jesus). Plus cases involving violation of constitutional rights by means of white-only primary elections. All subjects in this paragraph are referenced in the Funk and Wagnalls Encyclopedia.

One of the strangest ACLU cases occurred in 1987, and was headlined, "Court forces dying woman to undergo cesarean." It concerned Angie, a woman of 27 who had suffered from cancer since she was 13. Her disease had resulted in the amputation of a leg, but for three years prior to her pregnancy she appeared to be in remission. She married and soon became an expectant mother. All was going well until the 26th week when a tumor was identified in her lungs. Her doctors told her that she had only weeks—perhaps only days—in which to live. They also determined that the fetus was too small to survive. Physicians, family and patient determined on a comfortable course of treatment for her remaining time.

A cesarean delivery to save the fetus, proposed by the hospital's attorney, was not even considered by Angie, her family or her doctors. At the urging of the hospital lawyer, however, a judge arrived unannounced at the hospital and an emergency hearing ensued, in the interest of the fetus. A cesarean delivery was authorized and performed. It was done over the protests of the patient, her family and her physicians as well as the entire hospital obstetrical staff. The baby died during the operation and the mother followed in death two days later.

SHOSHANA VOSTERS, right, was the winner of this huge jar of candy in a contest to benefit Chelsea High school students and the media center. Students bought guesses as to how many pieces of candy media center director Sherrill Pryor, left, put in the jar. Money raised from the contest was used to purchase the students' favorite books, as indicated in a poll. Among the books purchased were "Dune" by Frank Herbert, "The Hobbit" by J.R.R. Tolkien, "Flowers in the Attic" by V.C. Andrews, and "Gone With the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell. The jar had 1,241 pieces of candy. The winning guess was 1,210.

The ACLU and Angie's family are now fighting for a legal decision that will reverse this ruling and henceforth prevent the taking of one life in the interests of another. The lawsuit has the active support of 40 organizations including the American Medical Association.

For readers who might wish to join the ACLU, here is their address and phone number: American Civil Liberties Union Fund of Michigan, 1553 Woodward Ave., Detroit 48226. Phone (313) 961-4662.

How very true! Shakespeare exhibited his true genius in his ability to spotlight human traits concisely, as in this example.

We have all witnessed the efforts of a well-meaning friend to gloss-over or excuse some fault in another, only to make matters worse. It is better to let faults go unmentioned and unexcused. Our friends don't need excuses and our enemies won't believe them, so why bother?

Families of any faith or creed can be fully confident of appropriate services when they place their trust in our ability and experience.

'Temporary' Utility Pole . . .

village's electrical consultant worked for several days to come up with another site for the pole but were unable to find one. In addition, the pole had to be big enough to handle the switching equipment.

The movement of the pole is a small part of an $85,000 project that will also upgrade service to Lanewood and, ironically, help provide power to the Quiet Creek Condominium project, which is owned by John Daniels' father, Bob.

"It doesn't matter who is doing those projects," Fahrner said. "We're a public utility and have to provide service to our customers. And considering the mess they're cleaning up downtown, we can't very well say, 'you'll have to wait a year to do your project.'"

Fahrner said that in the second phase of the Summit St. project the village plans to re-route a circuit down E. Summit St. to East St., then north to Jackson St., and west to the Chelsea Railway Depot. He said that would allow the overhead wires on the west side of Main St. in the business district to be removed.

Fahrner said the pole, and all the cable and materials from the project, can be salvaged and reused, and what the village is essentially paying for is labor.

"This work we're doing is an investment and it will be recouped in power sales," Fahrner said.

"It will be an improvement for the whole system. There's a lot of expansion and new things are being built. We have to make capital improvements to the system."

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Chelsea Softball Team Impressive in Four Wins At Webberville Saturday

Three pitchers earned their first wins of the season for the Chelsea varsity softball team last Saturday as the Bulldogs won four straight games at Webberville on the opening week-end of the season.

Peggy Hammerschmidt gave up one earned run in 14 innings of work and recorded 9-2 and 8-1 victories over Webberville and Lansing Eastern in the first and third games.

Jenni Smith held sixth-ranked Portland to two hits in a 3-1 win in the second game.

And Laura Unterbrink yielded one earned run in an 11-2 decision over Webberville in the fourth game.

"I thought we would have to play exceptionally well to win all four games," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"And we did play well, especially defensively. We hung together as a team and supported each other. When somebody messed up, we picked up the slack. We also played all four games without our first and second catchers. So it shows we have pretty good depth."

In the season opener with Webberville, the Bulldogs, ranked seventh in class B in the pre-season polls, scored eight runs in the top of the first inning to cruise to the 9-2 win.

In that first inning, Leah Enderle, Alisha Dorow and Kelly Stump all bunted safely to start the game. Ceia Murphy, Hammerschmidt, Kim Easton, Smith and Unterbrink all followed with singles. Beth Kenney reached on an error and Enderle sacrificed to score the final run.

Easton's RBI triple in the fourth inning provided the only other run.

Two Bulldog errors scored two runs in the sixth inning.

Murphy, Hammerschmidt and Easton each had two hits in Chelsea's win at Webberville. Hammerschmidt struck out 10 and walked no one.

Webberville was ranked fourth in class D.

Portland threw Jan Kihn, their top hurler, who finished last season with a 23-4 record.

Chelsea scored two runs in the top of the first inning without the benefit of a hit. Enderle walked, Dorow's sacrifice bunt was misplayed and Stump bunted them over. Murphy sacrificed the first run home and Hammerschmidt walked. On a steal attempt by Hammerschmidt, Dorow scored from third.

In the top of the seventh, Chelsea added an insurance run when Dorow's single scored Unterbrink, who had singled.

Portland's only run came in the bottom of the seventh on a triple and a bunt.

"We were able to execute the bunt and it seemed to shake them up," Clarke said.

"Portland has an excellent outfield and robbed us of at least three hits. It was a well-played game by both teams."

Like Hammerschmidt, Smith struck out 10 batters.

Chelsea again got a quick start in the third game against class A Lansing Eastern as they scored six runs in the first two innings.

Murphy's triple in the first inning scored Enderle for the first run of the game.

In the second inning, Easton, Unterbrink, Kenney and Enderle all singled, Smith and Dorow sacrificed and Murphy knocked home two runs with a double.

Stump's fielder's choice scored a run in the fourth, a double steal by Easton and Smith set up another run in the fifth, and two runs scored in the sixth on a hit and steal by Dorow, a walk to Stump and a bunt by Murphy.

In the fourth game, a seven-run outburst by the Bulldogs in the bottom of the fourth inning broke the game open and allowed Unterbrink to cruise to her first varsity win.

Webberville helped the Chelsea cause in the fourth with three errors. In addition, Enderle's double scored a pair, and singles by Dorow, Ham-merschmidt, Unterbrink and Smith produced runs.

The Bulldogs scored a pair in the first and single runs in the third and fifth innings.

A double steal by Enderle and Dorow set up set up a sacrifice by Murphy and single by Hammerschmidt for two runs. In the third a single by Hammerschmidt scored Easton. Dorow's single in the fifth produced the final run.

KELLY BELLUS watches a pitch hit the dirt in the opening JV game last Saturday against Webberville at home. The Bulldogs took both games under new coach Ken Sullins.

JV Softball Squad Opens With Two Wins

Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity softball team picked up where it left off last season with two easy victories over Webberville at home last Saturday in the opening games of the season.

The Bulldogs won 20-10 in the opener behind the 10-strikeout pitching of Scharme Petty. Chelsea won 14-1 in the second game behind the one-hit pitching of Heidi Boyer.

"I'm pleased with our over-all performances," said new JV coach Ken Sullins.

"All 13 girls did something to help us win. This week's games should be a good indicator for expectations."

In the opener, Chelsea collected 18 hits in the five-inning mercy rule victory. The Dogs started off strong, scoring seven runs in the first and five in the second.

Petty's two-run triple, scoring Sara Musolf and Heather Bro, highlighted the seven-run first inning.

In the second, Kelly Bellus collected an RBI with a triple. Singles by Bro, Petty, Becca Burkel and Colleen Scharphorn produced the other runs.

Three walks and singles by Scharphorn and Bellus produced three more runs in the third inning.

Chelsea scored five more times in the final two innings. Carrie Flintoft tripled and Lisa Park singled to key a KYLE PLANK was thrown out at third on this play during last Saturday's junior varsity game in Chelsea against Pioneer High school. Chelsea went on to rally for five runs in the fifth and take a 6-5 victory.

Bulldog Baseball Team Loses A Pair to Pioneer

Chelsea High school's inexperienced Bulldog baseball team dropped a double-header at Ann Arbor Pioneer last Saturday in the season opener for both teams.

Chelsea senior Greg Boughton gave up just seven hits in a 5-2 loss in the first game. Chelsea pitching surrendered the same number of hits in the second game as the Bulldogs lost 5-1.

"We struck out 17 times on the day and that's an indication of where we are offensively," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

"Our pitching was good enough to win, but a couple of mistakes hurt us."

In the opening game, Boughton struck out eight batters. The big blow for Pioneer was a two-run homer in the third inning.

Bobby Clouse homered in the first inning, and Junior Morseau hit a 400-foot shot in the fourth inning as the game was tied going into the fifth inning.

Chelsea had a chance to have a big inning in the fifth as Larry Nix was up with the bases loaded. A line drive back to the pitcher resulted in a double play. The next batter flied out.

Pioneer scored three times in the sixth inning on a couple of singles and an error.

"The first game was a good game for us although we only had four hits," Welton said.

"We played well defensively and Morseau had a heck of a day behind the plate."

In the second game, Bryant Beard's single in the second inning produced the only Chelsea run.

18 Wrestlers Qualify For Tournament

Eighteen members of the Chelsea Wrestling Club earned a chance to go to the regional meet this Saturday in Kalamazoo with their performances in last Saturday's district meet at Dexter.

First place medal winners were Cameron Farmer, Brent Young, Jordan Dyer and Tim Nutt.

Second place winners were Mike Alber, Jeremy Feldkamp, Rourke Skelton, Brandon Skelton, Kevin McCalla, Matt Hand, John Bobo and Kevin Bloemensaat.

Third place winners were Colby Skelton, Andy Kargel and George Rosario.

Fourth place winners were Mike Montagne, Ian Dyer and Tim Wescott.

Other wrestlers who participated were Dan Aiber, Gary Farmer, Jason Middleton, Jason Szostak, Chris Kargel and Jeff Montagne.

"I was proud of all my wrestlers for having such a successful day," said coach Howard McCalla.

three-run fourth inning. Petty's triple, scoring Musolf and Bro, ensured the mercy-rule win in the fifth.

A Bulldog throwing error set up a three-run fourth inning for the Spartans. They scored six more times in the fifth inning on six walks and two hit batsmen.

Musolf and Petty led the Dogs with three hits each and two triples each. Scharphorn also had three hits. Park, Bellus and Bro hit safely twice each. Missy Griswold hit a three-run homer for Webberville.

In the second game, Chelsea scored nine times in the second inning to put the game away.

Park's three-run homer was the big hit in the inning, although Burkel, Bro, Boyer and Cory Tremper all singled as well.

Park's two-run double in the third inning gave the Dogs a 13-1 lead. Bro and Park each had three hits for the game, while Petty, Boyer and Stephens each collected two hits.

Sullins said defense by the Bulldog infield was a key to the victory.

"The players and the coach are getting to know each other and learning what we can do," Sullins said. "One of our goals is to put the ball in play and we did that well. We struck out only once in the first game and twice in the second game."

Can't sing, but can dance a little: International Wildlife magazine reports that, in the jungles of Panama, one kind of male katydid became silent to avoid being eaten by bats who used the insects' love songs to home in on a meal. The problem was that their silence also made them harder for female katydids to find. So, the males substituted music with ballet, dancing to send vibrations through the leaves and wood of tree trunks and branches.

DOUG WINGROVE pitched an excellent game Saturday for the Chelsea Bulldogs JV squad in their 6-5 victory over Pioneer High school.

Five-Run 7th Inning Gives JVs First Win

Chelsea scored five runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to take a 6-5 win over Pioneer High school in the season opener last Saturday at Quilter.

Quilter, Plank and Wingrove each had two hits in the Bulldogs' 11-hit attack.

Wingrove pitched all seven innings. The youngster showed good control as he struck out nine batters and walked one.

In the second game, Chelsea fell behind 8-0 going into the bottom of the second inning. Although the Bulldogs had just two hits for the game, they had base runners in most innings.

"We couldn't get the key hit to start a big inning," Ticknor said.

Chelsea scored all three runs in the second inning on two walks, an error and an RBI single by Plank.

Castleberry, Tom Mesnard and Plank all pitched for Chelsea.

Ticknor praised the defensive effort of third basemen Rob Stofor.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Last year my lovely wife and I, and our unborn son, took our vacation in early June. As the day of departure neared I wondered whether we might come home to find out the Bulldogs had made another trip to the state softball play-offs.

Fortunately, or really unfortunately, they lost well before reaching that level and I didn't miss all the fun.

This year, though, I'm not taking any chances. At the risk of jinxing the Bulldogs, I'm planning to spend a week-end in Lansing this June.

Coaches don't like to see this kind of stuff in print so early in the season. A million unforeseen things can happen to derail a team. Injuries, or an off day, or an umpire's call on a ball hit down the line can ruin everything. It's like a child spitting sweet potatoes all over your ironed shirt as you're about to charge out the door for an appointment. (The shirt, however, is usually salvageable. The softball season is not if you're talking about the play-offs.)

However, the Bulldogs seem to have it all this year.

Take last week-end at Webberville. When was the last time Chelsea had three different pitchers win games on one week-end? Senior Peggy Hammerschmidt won two games and Jenni Smith and Laura Unterbrink each won one. Had Jenny Pichlik been available, it might have been four girls.

In recent years Chelsea has always had good pitching. But this is ridiculous. Only one game was close. Smith stopped sixth-ranked Portland, 3-1, for her first varsity win. What a game to pitch your first time out.

All three pitchers showed excellent control. Hammerschmidt walked a team-high four in one game. But she also struck out nine in the same game. Unterbrink gave up a team-high six hits but didn't walk anyone.

It's hard to imagine that any team in class B has a deeper pitching staff. In addition, the Bulldogs bunted the hide off the ball Saturday. They showed an ability to manufacture runs that has been missing in the last couple of years. Lead-off hitter Leah Enderle and number two Alisha Dorow were on base constantly. Dorow swiped several bases. Ceia Murphy hit with power. The Dogs scored two runs in one inning without a single hit against one of the top pitchers in the state.

The Bulldogs scored 33 runs Saturday. That's more than they scored in some weeks last year.

And Clarke says he was thrilled with the team's defense even though the top two catchers, Chris Basso and Shannon Losey, were not available. Bulldog opponents had runners on base but the Chelsea defense tightened when it had to.

How well the offense performs may be the key this season. The Bulldogs should have little difficulty keeping their opponents from scoring many runs. If Clarke's team can score even as few as four or five runs per game they'll win far more often than they lose.

When the Bulldogs lose, the score will likely be 1-0, just as it was the last two years in the district play-offs.

If Chelsea can avoid those scoring droughts, they're going to be a tough team to beat in the play-offs.

In the meantime, I'm planning on visiting Lansing this June.

Speaking of vacations, Westside Gym owner Jon Oesterle has the perfect suggestion for the outdoorsman or outdoorswoman. He's planning to visit the National Fresh Water Fishing Hall of Fame & Museum in Hayward, Wis. this summer. This is not a made-up place.

The brochure shows a fish (a muskie, I think) about half a city block long with people standing in its mouth and pointing to something off in the distance. Kind of makes you drool with excitement wondering what must lurk in the bowels of that lunger.

"25,000 square feet display space covering 7 acres of landscaped grounds," reads the brochure.

"The History of Fishing on Display." I didn't think there was much to it other than a spear, a fishing rod and an occasional stick of dynamite.

The brochure is actually a plea for members. But if you join, for a mere $15 per year, you'll actually receive a free pass for you and your family (except children over 18). You'll also receive the newsletter, "Splash," which will keep you up-to-date on the latest world fresh water fishing records, among other fishing fancy. You'll also get a calendar filled with Hall of Fame scenes. Wow, where do I sign!

Oh, and let's not forget the colorful patches.

All I can say is, Orlando better be in it, or it ain't no fishing Hall of Fame.

This does give me an idea, though. Maybe the time has come for a Deer Hunters Hall of Fame & Museum near Chelsea. Imagine a buck as tall as the Jiffy Mix silos out in "10 acres of landscaped farmland." This could be the perfect attraction if the state decides to build a Chelsea bypass to the supercollider. In fact, it would be the perfect solution if it works like the fishing museum. Donations would be tax deductible, and we, Chelsea-area residents, would get most of the benefits in increased tourism and the like.

Golly, there could be a newsletter, perhaps called "Blammo!" amusement rides, a cheap motel and even a calendar with venison recipes and hunting tips. An idea whose time has come. Any organizers out there?

SCHARME PETTY gets both feet off the ground on a delivery to the plate in last Saturday's junior varsity game at home against Webberville. Chelsea won the doubleheader easily.

Young Tennis Team Should Be Improved

Chelsea varsity tennis coach Rahn Rosentreter has another young team as he begins his fourth, and what may be his final, year as the Bulldog head man.

"Even though we're still young, we have a lot more experience than we did last year," Rosentreter said.

"This is probably the most experienced team I've had here. I'm looking forward to a successful season although I don't know what to expect when it comes to competition. It should be a good test for our kids."

Rosentreter admits it's difficult for the team to set a goal as it doesn't play in a league and it doesn't know where it will play in the post-season. The Bulldogs have dropped the Saline Hornets from their schedule. Last year Chelsea twice played Saline, who finished fifth in the state last year and have their starters back. River Rouge has been added.

Chelsea's only state qualifier last year, Kirk Lawton, returns to play first singles. Lawton is one of the few boys on the team who plays tennis year-around.

Sophomore John Rigg is at number two singles.

Junior Craig Maynard, who's play-

Michigan Ranks First in Child Support Collections

According to the State Court Administrative Office, Michigan led all states in the collection of child support for the year 1986, bringing in $424.6 million.

Michigan also ranked No. 1 in overdue child support collections per dollar spent. Michigan collected $8.33 in overdue support payments for every administrative dollar spent, more than double the national average.

During the prior year Michigan had ranked second in total collections to the State of Pennsylvania, which dropped to second place in 1986.

ing his first year of varsity tennis, is at third singles.

Juniors Jason Overdorf and Adam Heeter are battling for the number four singles spot. Overdorf played singles last year and Heeter played doubles.

Junior Eric Worthing and senior Bob Pratt will play first singles.

Senior Larry Moore and junior John Collins will compete at second doubles.

Third doubles was up for grabs as of Monday. Junior Jason Richardson and senior Mike Mitchell are challenging sophomore Shaun Capper and freshman Chris Wilson.

Overdorf or Heeter could also wind up playing doubles.

Other members of the team are senior Steve Favers and junior Marty Heller.

Matt McVittie Ranked No. 1 in State Swim Assoc.

North school fifth grader, Matt McVittie, recently completed an extremely successful 1987-88 swimming season by winning the United States Swimming Association, Michigan State Championship. It was Matt's second state championship. During the three-day meet held at Oakland Community College, Matt placed first in the six events he swam and was awarded the individual High Point Award.

Over the course of the season, representing the Ann Arbor Swim Club, Matt traveled to Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, Chicago, and Milwaukee to compete. At the Milwaukee, Wis., meet, teams from 17 states, including Florida, Texas, Tennessee and California, were represented. Matt won the High Point Award for his age group, broke three meet records, and established a new state of Michigan record in the 50-yard backstroke with a time of :30.77.

According to Matt's coach, David L. Johnson, Matt's times during the 1987-88 season have earned him a number one ranking in all 11 events in the state of Michigan, for 10-and-under boys. His times in the 50 free (:26.89), 50 back (:30.77), 100 free (:59.73), 100 back (1:09.11), 100 IM (1:08.27), 100 fly (1:08.69), 200 free (2:08.97), and 200 IM (2:27.08) should rank him in the top 10 in the United States for the 10-and-under boys age group, when the final results are completed and published.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, April 4, were Grau, Comeau, Redding, Satterthwaite, Cherem, Wales, Feeney, superintendent Van Meer, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Williams, Stielstra, Benedict, Wescott, assistant principal Larson, community education director Rogers, athletic director Reed, special education director DeYoung, curriculum director Bissell, guests.

Meeting called to order at 8 p.m. by President Grau.

Board approved minutes of the March 21 meeting.

Entered as official communications were: (1) letter from WISD pertaining to elementary counseling. A program on this subject will be held Monday, April 11 at 7:30 p.m.; (2) letter from Elizabeth Hammer, expressing her appreciation to the board for extending the position of curriculum director.

Dr. James Peggs and his secretary, Betty Mull, U. of M. Family Practice Center, were present at the meeting to receive recognition by the Board of Education. For a number of years, Dr. Peggs has co-ordinated the physical examinations for all student athletes. The board expressed appreciation for this service.

Superintendent Van Meer indicated that with the change of leadership, the board may want to consider waiting until the new superintendent comes on duty to have the board goals workshop. The board indicated they certainly would want input from the new superintendent and from Van Meer; Van Meer was asked to contact Mr. Piasecki to determine his availability for the board goals workshop session this spring.

Heather Neibauer and Kelly Stump, representing students, were present to discuss the pending teacher lay-offs. Kelly, a 12th grader, spoke on behalf of Mrs. Leith. Heather, a basketball team member, indicated that she had collected approximately 500 student and adult signatures to retain Rahn Rosentreter.

English teacher Pam Holmes and several members of the English Department were present to address the teacher lay-off issue. Pam spoke about Alice Leith's lay-off having a negative impact on the remedial program, a lack of continuity when other teachers have to take a class of remedial English students, and the ripple effect that it would have in the English Department.

Van Meer indicated that the Washtenaw County School Officers dinner meeting will be held April 27, 6 p.m., at Lincoln.

The board established the date of April 18 as due date for board evaluations.

The board convened in executive session at 8:59 p.m. to discuss personnel matters, reconvened in public session at 10:53 p.m., and subsequently adjourned the meeting.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I understand that someone wants to know "what right the track team has planning a bottle and can drive two weeks before the Cub Scouts." I'd like to know what difference it makes!

Should the Lions Club not sell candy because the band is doing it next month? Should the National Honor Society not have a bake sale because the cheerleaders are having one in two weeks? Should the church youth fellowship not have a car wash because the track team is having one next week?

This community is very supportive of ALL organizations and contributes to each group that is trying to better themselves and are willing to work for it. Better organizations mean a better community reputation. Thanks to the caring residents of our district, Chelsea has a well known reputation for being a great community to live in.

The track team's bottle and can drive was NOT planned just because the Cub Scouts publicized theirs in The Standard. This project began over a month ago and much organization and preparation has gone into it. However, that is not important. What is important is that both groups are willing to give their time and effort to a project that will benefit both of them.

The track team passed out flyers one week before the collection date. They'll get my bottles and cans on the 16th, but the Cub Scouts will get my bottles and cans on the 30th. If we couldn't share and support each other we wouldn't have such a "great community to live in."

Marge Wilson.

Dear Editor and Chelsea Citizens

My first letter to the editor was when I was 80. I said I had bought a 357 Magnum revolver because so many prisoners were escaping from northwest of Chelsea.

Now, I am concerned with the 50-foot monstrosity just put on N. Main St. It will have a Christmas tree of wires, cables, insulators, etc., on top of it. It will also block the sight of the landmark clock tower for people coming to town from the south.

A little while ago a small young woman, Helen K. Leonard, persuaded a huge Amtrak railway to build an iron structure away from N. Main St. The merchants have spent a lot of money to beautify uptown. Can this same girl persuade LOCAL people to place the 50-foot pole somewhere else? Across the street between the railroad property and the parking lot would work and not cover up the clock tower landmark of Chelsea. Think about it.

John J. Wellnitz.

HOW TO GET
BEHIND THE WHEEL AND GET AHEAD OF THE PACK

Step one. Contact Schwan's and learn all you can about a company that's created a world of difference in food distribution.

Step two. Decide for yourself that the best way to earn better money is to earn on the basis of performance—instead of hours worked.

Step three. Get in touch with Schwan's this week and interview for our Route/Salesperson position.

Schwan's is a leading food company distributing direct to the consumer's home. We hire individuals with excellent driving and work records and train them to sell our full line on full commissions. It's a step into self-management.

Full benefits offered. Find out more. Interviews will be held on Tuesday, April 19, at the Howard Johnson Motel, 2380 Carpenter
Road, Ann Arbor, MI. Call 1-800-3EMPLOY to set up an interview.

State Treasury Extends Telephone Assistance Hours

The Michigan Department of Treasury has expanded operator assistance hours for taxpayers waiting help in filling out their 1987 state income tax forms. Treasury representatives are available to answer state tax questions from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m., Monday through Friday, for those who call the toll-free Treasury telephone line at 1-800-292-MICH (6424).

"We are expanding our telephone service to help Michigan taxpayers with questions about their state income tax forms," state treasurer Robert A. Bowman said. "We want to do everything possible to improve service to our taxpaying clients."

Taxpayers who have already filed their State forms and want to check on the status of their 1987 income tax refund may call the same toll-free telephone line and use Michigan's Computerized Refund Information System (CRIS). Callers may enter their Social Security and adjusted gross income numbers, and the computer will automatically report the status of their refund. Taxpayers who file their 1987 returns now may expect to receive their refund within three weeks.

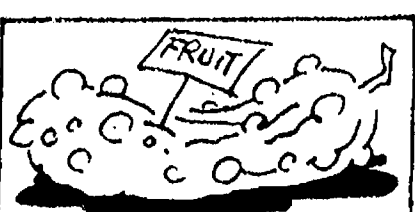

Michigan residents with questions regarding the Michigan Education Trust (MET) college tuition guarantee program may call a new toll-free telephone hotline number, 1-800-MET-4-KID (638-4543). Since the IRS issued a favorable ruling on the tax-exempt status of the program and Governor Blanchard announced the establishment of the MET telephone number just over a week ago, a team of 10 treasury operators have answered nearly 5,000 calls. Operators are standing by to handle MET calls from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Chelsea High Forensics Team Dominates District Competition

Chelsea High school's forensics team dominated district competition held last Tuesday at Chelsea High school.

Eighteen of Chelsea's 28 entries qualified to move on to the regional meet on Saturday, April 23 at Pioneer High school.

Chelsea competed against Ann Arbor Huron High school, Pioneer High school, Ann Arbor Greenhills, and Ypsilanti High school. Pioneer qualified four students for the regionals, Huron qualified three and Greenhills qualified two. Ypsilanti had no qualifiers.

Chelsea took first place in 11 of 14 events and second place in eight events. Those students qualified for the regional meet.

Judges for the meet were connected with Eastern Michigan University's forensics program.

"We take this program seriously at Chelsea High school," said coach Bill Coelius.

"Kids here have to compete for spots on the team while at some schools they can barely find enough people for the team. That internal competition helps us a lot."

JEREMY BRADBURY, left, and Jason Fox, right, took a trip to a local maple syrup operation. After gathering the sap and enjoying an old-fashioned pancake supper, they heard a story about the Indians' first discovery of maple syrup. They also listened to an explanation of how the sap is filtered and boiled down into syrup. Organizers said "No 'bones' about it, everyone enjoyed their romp in the sugar bush."

DANIEL WATSON, right, and Gabe White, left, helped gather sap on a trip with their Cub Scout troop to a local maple syrup operation. After helping filter the sap into a 300 gallon evaporator, they were invited inside, along with the other scouts Jeremy Watson and Gabe White, to enjoy an old-fashioned pancake supper of blueberry pancakes, waffles, link sausages, eggs, juice, fresh farm milk, and, of course, homemade maple syrup. They finished the evening with a lively game of hide and seek.

GABE WHITE, a member of Cub Scout Den 6, Pack 455, empties sap from a maple tree during his visit to a local maple syrup operation. Three other boys from the troop, Jason Fox, Daniel Watson, and Jeremy Bradbury, accompanied him.

Manchester Resource Center Benefit Banquet Slated April 20

On Wednesday evening, April 20, a Benefit Banquet will be held on behalf of the newly created Community Resource Center, located at 122 W. Main St., Manchester. Chelsea Community Hospital has graciously offered their main dining room and food costs for the evening fund-raiser, which will begin with hors d'oeuvres at 7 p.m., a surf & turf banquet at 8 p.m., followed by entertainment.

The Community Resource Center's main initial reason for existence has been to provide help and training and support to the Double A employees recently laid off from work. Two full-time employment consultants work at the Center, offering job training, interview skills, employer searches, and small group support.

Washtenaw-Ann Arbor-Livingston Training & Employment Center (WALTEC), has lent their enthusiastic support to the Manchester program, with the aid of counselors Cheryl Elford and Cleo Guster. Director Vickie Hutchens of WALTEC has praised the work of the placement service and the community volunteers who have made the Center possible. The Private Industry Council headed by Kay Ford, was one of the leaders in identifying help for the Double A employees over a year ago. Manchester has also appreciated the guidance and support of Washtenaw County Community Mental Health, especially Director Lucy Ann Howard, Ruth Schelkun, and Anne Beale.

The Benefit Banquet will help the Center to stay open, and continue to serve the needs of the unemployed. Beyond that, the Center has become an "umbrella" home for a number of social service agencies in Manchester. Finally, a new vision is taking shape, that of beginning a satellite of Ann Arbor's Interfaith Counseling Service, led by therapist Jocelyn Pyett.

Banquet committee members David Little of Great Lakes Federal Savings, Richard Kuntz of Double A Products, Thomas Gorney of E. F. Hutton, and the Rev. Robert Macfarlane of Emanuel United Church of Christ in Manchester, encourage major businesses to help sponsor the banquet, and individuals to purchase tickets to the event. For further information, please call the Center, 428-7722, Mon.-Fri., 9 to 4 p.m.

Saline Man Faces Charges Of Shoplifting from Polly's

A Saline man has been charged with shoplifting in connection with an incident at Polly's Market on Tuesday, April 5.

David Anthony Rorai, 33, of 1315 Bemis Rd., Saline, was stopped by Chelsea police at the Baker Rd. exit of I-94 at 12:28 a.m. after police were alerted to the incident by a store employee.

Stolen were eight cartons of cigarettes valued at $94.80.

According to police reports, Rorai went through the checkout line at the store and paid for food but did not pay for the cigarettes he had hidden in his coat.

Rorai was confronted by store employees outside, police said. He began throwing cartons of cigarettes and ran to his vehicle. A store employee tried unsuccessfully to grab Rorai's keys.

Police were called to the scene and they tracked Rorai to the Baker Rd. exit. Rorai was also charged with having an open quart bottle of beer in the car.

A companion in the car, James Oliver Lawrence, 38, of Ypsilanti, was not charged.

At 7:30 a.m., Wednesday, April 6, 120 students, 32 chaperones and two directors loaded up the busses at the high school to start their four-day tour. They made a stop at Oberlin College later in the day. There they had a chance to tour the college and eat lunch at a favorite college hang-out. They stayed at the Marriott Hotel in Gaithersburg, Md., while in the Washington, D.C. area.

On Thursday they were scheduled to attend the rehearsal of the famous Washington Army Band and later that day toured the Kennedy Center for Performing Arts. Thursday afternoon they performed at the U.S. Capitol Building and Thursday evening they had another performance at the U.S. Post Office Pavilion, which is a center for shopping, eating and performing arts two blocks from the Capitol Building.

Friday the groups performed at the Jefferson Memorial and then spent the rest of the day sightseeing.

Friday evening they returned to the Kennedy Center to see a performance of the play, "Edwin Drood," in which the audience takes part in determining the final outcome.

Saturday's schedule was left free for last-minute sightseeing and shopping. After a final banquet on Saturday evening, the group left Washington, D.C., and traveling all night, arrived back in Chelsea on Sunday.

Choir director June Warren and orchestra director Jed Fritzemeier, stated that they were extremely pleased to be taking such a talented group of students on tour. Both groups have had especially rewarding seasons, winning No. 1 ratings in their divisions for performances this year.

Spring Community Education Classes Start April 18

Chelsea Community Education Department's spring season starts the week of April 18. The schedule reflects the changing of the season with such offerings as boating safety classes, sign-ups for baseball and softball, and the availability of amusement park tickets. Preparation for next fall is also urged with kindergarten round-up and registration for after-school care.

The boating safety classes will be taught by instructors from the Marine Safety Section of Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department. Classes will be held in room 118 of Chelsea High school and will include watercraft laws, principles of water safety, selection and maintenance of equipment, an understanding of sailboats, and first aid.

Washtenaw Community College is also teaching classes through Community Education. In addition to a math lab, which they have taught before, they are adding an English composition class. Classes begin May 9, with registration on April 27 in the high school teacher's lounge.

Chelsea residents who do not want to leave their home to learn have the choice of nine home study programs which may be enrolled in through the Community Education Department. Most of the offerings are of a self improvement nature such as communicating with teenagers, getting things done, improving memory, owning your own business, planning retirement, estate planning, computers, and writing.

Students wanting to use the summer to improve their academic standing should take advantage of the Learning Center which will be open again this summer to provide professional tutoring services. This year they are adding instruction in French and Spanish to their curriculum.

To keep students reading through the summer, McKune Memorial library will offer a program for readers and another for listeners.

For those more interested in excursions, the Community Education Department has access to reduced rate tickets for Cedar Point, Sea World, King's Island, and Bob-Lo Island. They should arrive in the office early in May.

As is their practice, Community Education is offering a series of health care classes in co-operation with the Chelsea Community Hospital. New this session is a forum on AIDS which will be presented May 23. A panel of community representatives including a physician, teacher, clergyman, and an employer will present information about the impact of AIDS on society.

Looking ahead to next fall, parents with kindergarten age children should plan to take part in the kindergarten roundup April 18 to April 22. And those with children who will need day care in the fall, should register now for the before and school care program.

To find out more about the classes mentioned, as well as a host of others, people should pick up a Community Education catalogue at the Community Education Office on Washington St. in the high school.

A COMMITTEE of Chelsea senior citizens accepted a $2,200 check from Chelsea Kiwanis club president Dr. Warren Atkinson, left. On the right is Merle Davis, chair of the Kiwanis senior's committee. The money, which the Kiwanis Club raised with community projects such as the knockwurst sale, flower sale, and travelogues, will be used to buy equipment. Shown taking the check is senior center director Ruth Smith surrounded by seniors Gert Pototzki, Rita Collins, physical education instructor Sylvia Kleanthous, Cecile Bernath, Ann Wood, Irene Buss, Henry Buss, Erna Schultz, Mary Malott, Louise Altenberndt, and Dorothy Dietz. John Dietz is kneeling in front.

Chelsea Seniors Keeping Busy With Parties, Trips, Preparing Cookbook

March was a busy month for the Chelsea Senior Citizens with the Seniors Prom, St. Patrick's Day lunch, and the monthly birthdays. In between partying, they took trips, participated in sports, and began a new project—the preparation of a cookbook.

St. Patrick's day was celebrated Thursday, March 17 by the nutrition program with an Irish meal and green punch. The usual fare on St. Patrick's day has been corned beef and cabbage, but this year a special Irish stew was served. Seniors wearing green were allowed to go first in line.

The festivities continued with drawing for "the pot of gold" which turned out to be lottery tickets.

Two days later, Saturday, March 19, the Seniors Prom was held at Beach Middle school. Seniors dressed in appropriate prom apparel and danced to the music of the Saline Big Band. The event was sponsored by the Chelsea Lions and Lioness clubs.

The Lionesses also provide the monthly birthday cakes for the senior center. March senior birthdays were celebrated Friday, March 11. In addition to cake, the birthday people were given carnations from the Chelsea Greenhouse. After the meal, they enjoyed playing bingo.

March trips included a visit to the Ice Capades on Wednesday, March 16, and to Ypsilanti to hear country music on the following Wednesday, March 23.

Nutrition program director Arlene Larson was able to organize the trip to Ypsilanti to see the International Country Spectacular at Pease Auditorium thanks to a gift of tickets from the Ann Arbor Kiwanis club. The seniors left by van at 5:15 p.m., eating at the Westgate Bill Knapp's before arriving at the show. The only cost for the seniors was the meal.

Ruth Smith, the new director of the afternoon program, has been busy organizing day trips for the upcoming months. For April she has arranged a trip to the Gibraltar Trade Center in Taylor, stopping first at the Lee Wards store, and eating brunch at the Holiday Inn at Metro Airport.

The May excursion will be to Jackson to visit the Space Center and Ella Sharp Museum and will include lunch. June's offering is a trip to the balloon festival in Howell and August is the Polka festival in Frankenmuth. A July trip is still in the planning stages.

As well as being intrinsically interesting, day trips are also a way of getting exercise. However, seniors do not have to leave Chelsea to get exercise, since local programs include bowling and swimming. The swimming program is a new offering. Every Wednesday from 9 p.m. to 10 p.m., seniors may swim in the Beach school pool, either doing their own thing or participating in group exercises.

A longer standing program is the bowling. About 30 seniors meet on Wednesdays at 1 p.m. at the Chelsea Lanes for this sport. Organizers say all are welcome, no matter what skill level they have or have not reached.

For seniors who enjoy more sedentary activities, the senior center shows a movie the first and third Fridays of the month at 1:15 p.m. On March 4 they saw "The Man from Snowy River," starring Kirk Douglas. On March 25 the offering was "The Witness," starring Harrison Ford.

An exciting new project that the seniors will be working on through the summer is the production of a cookbook. Instead of sending the book out to a publisher, the seniors plan to do all the work themselves: collecting the recipes, producing the art work, typing, and collating. They will be aided with advice and materials by the Community Education Department.

The result should be a unique Chelsea product. At present they are holding a "name the recipe book" contest. The person who suggests the winning title will receive a free book.

Another upcoming event is a series of seminars for seniors on feeling good about yourself being organized by the Community Education Department. Details will be announced after they are finalized.

Achievement Test Results Received By Beach Students

On April 13, Beach Middle school eighth graders will receive the results of their California Achievement Tests which they took in February.

During their English class, each student will receive an individual report form with a written explanation of their scores. After a general discussion on the meaning of the scores, the students will be directed to take the report forms home and discuss them with their parents.

If any students or parents would like a more indepth explanation of the results, they may call or make an appointment with Mr. Warburton, counselor at Beach Middle school, 475-3717.

Congress passed the Fitzgerald Act in 1937 which resulted in the establishment of a Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training. The bureau is a part of the U. S. Labor Department's Employment and Training Administration.

Scouts Learn Flag Disposal Procedure

Euhalee Packard, the flag lady of Chelsea, and Virginia Boyer, community services chairman of the VFW auxiliary, enjoyed attending Girl Scout Troop No. 676's meeting on April 4 with the visitors from Girl Scout Troop No. 301. During the meeting, the two VFW representatives explained how the American flag was to be handled including saluting, carrying, flying, standing, pledging, folding, and proper disposal.

Contrary to what was published in the Chelsea Standard last week, that a "flag burning ceremony" was being held, Packard stated that the government of the United States passed two private acts to govern the treatment of our American flag. Public Act No. 914-344, dated July 7, 1976, and Public Act No. 90-381-STAT-291. These govern that the disposal of a worn flag should be done by fire and in private.

If anyone has a worn flag, the VFW suggests they fold it, place it in a container, and give it to the VFW or American Legion. They will dispose of it properly.

Pedestrian Escapes Serious Injury In Accident

A 73-year-old Chelsea woman escaped serious injury Saturday when she was struck by a car as she tried to cross S. Main St.

Mary Weinmann, 216 Harrison St., was hit by a car driven by a 30-year-old Pinckney man as he tried to turn south onto Main St. from Middle St., police said.

Police said Weinmann walked to the Chelsea police station, where she was examined by Huron Valley Ambulance personnel.

CAROL STRAHLER, kneeling, helped children in JoAnn Thornton's first grade class at South school learn about paleontology recently. She buried chicken bones in plaster and had children in the class dig them out and assemble them. The children had to decide whether it would be a two-legged creature or a four-legged creature, much as modern paleontologists do. The children came up with a "chickapaurus." Some of the children who worked on the project are, from left are Marisa Kanitz, Erik Strahler, Matthew Jones, Melissa LeFurge and Chris Strahler.

Coat, Speakers Taken from Auto

A Pinckney man told Chelsea police that a leather coat and two speakers were stolen from his car while it was parked at the Village Mobil Station on Monday, April 4.

The gray coat was valued at $206 and the speakers were valued at $50. They belonged to Timothy DeLeruyelle.

The theft took place between 4-11 p.m.

ANN FEENEY, representing the Civic Foundation of Chelsea, presented Bill Wehrwin, the physical education teacher at South Elementary school, with a $450 check to provide awards to participants in the South School Mileage Club, a non-competitive means of promoting physical fitness. The money will be used to pay for ribbons, certificates, medals, and a small party for the classes which accumulate the most miles as a group.

South School Mileage Club Receives $450

On April 11, Ann Feeney, representing the Civic Foundation of Chelsea, presented Bill Wehrwin, the physical education teacher from South Elementary school, with a check for $450. The money will provide awards to participants in the South School Mileage Club, a non-competitive means of promoting physical fitness. This is in keeping with the school district goal to include "feeling good" in the curriculum.

A feeling good program is defined as a minimum nine to 12 week program which includes 30 minutes of continuous exercise, three days per week. Because of staff constraints, the schedule allows for only two classes per week and the walking club is an excellent means of providing a third day.

Many schools in the Jackson area, through the Jackson Wellness Committee, are including Feeling Good Clubs in their curriculum. Research has shown that aerobic exercise three times weekly lowers risk factors which contribute to coronary heart disease. The Gilliam study at the University of Michigan determined that 75 percent of the students had one risk factor (high blood pressure, overweight, elevated cholesterol levels, heredity, lack of exercise, smoking). Fifty percent had two risk factors and 25 percent had three or more contributing factors.

Wehrwin felt it was imperative for the health of the children that the schools provide an opportunity for additional aerobic exercise. A mileage club will promote not only physical exercise, but a sense of accomplishment and responsibility. The $450 will pay for ribbons, certificates, and medals, and for a small party for the classes which accumulate the most miles as a group.

Valuable Ring Missing from Methodist Home

A diamond engagement ring valued at $1,750 was reported missing from the finger of a 90-year-old resident of the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home on Wednesday, April 6, Chelsea police reported.

Police said they didn't know whether the ring had been stolen or if it was lost. They said the woman is not always aware of her actions.

However, police said another ring that was put on over the diamond ring was also missing.

Higher Education Has Vital Role in SSC

Higher education will play a vital role in the Superconducting Super Collider (SSC) both before and after it opens, educators have said.

Michigan's excellent collegiate physics programs make the state an ideal site for the SSC, said Homer Neal, chairman of the physics department at the University of Michigan.

"The state's universities are extremely critical in this whole business of providing an intellectual environment for the laboratory," Neal said.

Should Michigan win the $4.4 billion physics research facility proposed to be located near Stockbridge about 30 minutes from Michigan State University, a "unique partnership" would be created, said Jack Bass, chairman of the physics department at MSU.

Currently, several MSU and U-M physicists conduct research at Fermilab in Illinois. Having the 53-mile SSC accelerator in Michigan would mean that "anybody who wants to research high-energy physics would be at the center of the action at MSU," Bass said.

A Michigan-based SSC would generate an excitement about science that would reap many benefits for students, Neal said.

The facility would allow them to have nearby a place to carry out research and meet with world-class physicists.

"It wouldn't be unusual to see two or three Nobel prize-winning scientists eating lunch in the SSC cafeteria," Neal said.

"Both universities have superb reputations," said John Hanieski, executive director of the SSC Commission. "MSU has the largest single-campus environment of any college or university in the nation and is the site of the National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory. U-M has a world-wide reputation in the physical, engineering and mathematical sciences."

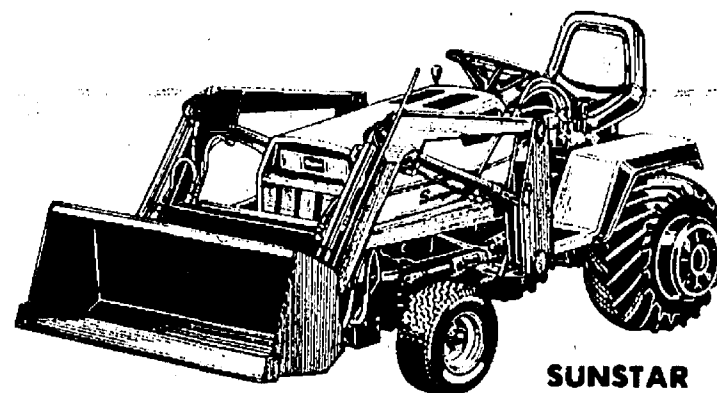

Michigan is one of seven finalist states competing for SSC, an underground, oval-shaped tunnel that would collide sub-atomic particles at nearly the speed of light. The federal Department of Energy is expected to announce the preferred site for the physics research facility by the end of the year.

Survival of the fittest: a 14-year study of finches in the Galapagos Islands shows that there is definite relationship between climate and bird size. National Wildlife magazine reports that, during droughts, more large finches survived because they had the strength and big bills necessary to crack open the large, hard seeds that remained after smaller seeds had been consumed. Small birds thrived in rainy years, because the dampness fostered growth of plants that produce small seeds. Larger birds couldn't eat small seed fast enough to keep up with their energy demands.

The Auxiliary's main objectives are to protect and preserve nature and to participate in the goodwill and beautification of the community. Monthly meetings are held the second Thursday of the month at 8 p.m. at the clubhouse.

In the past year, the Auxiliary has sponsored a dance, a booth at the annual Chelsea Community Hospital flea market and three euchre tournaments. The Auxiliary also helps sponsor some events in conjunction with the men's Rod & Gun Club.

Present members of the Auxiliary hope to make this year their best year ever through increased membership and fund-raising. If you are interested in having a lot of fun while doing a little work, please plan to attend the meeting on Thursday, April 14.

This notice also serves as a reminder to present members about the early arrival time for the spring sprucing.

Kiwanians Anticipate Interesting Programs

During the next six weeks, Chelsea Kiwanis Club programs will include presentations by a scientist, a Fulbright exchange teacher, a historical society official, Chelsea High students, and an educational program on "AIDS."

Bill Coelius and the Chelsea High School Forensics Team will present a demonstration at the April 18 meeting, followed on April 25 by Dr. Nina I. McClelland, president of the National Sanitation Foundation of Ann Arbor, who will explain the benefits of the NSF to the public, as well as some of the problems encountered in devising and carrying out the NSF's multi-faceted program.

"The German U. S. Education Systems Compared and Contrasted" will be the topic of Gila Schmidt when she speaks to the club May 2. Ms.

Schmidt is a Fulbright exchange teacher from Germany who is teaching this year in the Manchester schools. Tom Davis is chairman of this program.

"The Waterloo Historical Society Story" will be told by Mrs. Betty Turner at the May 9 meeting, of which Gordon Archer is chairman.

Members of the Kiwanis-sponsored Chelsea High School Key Club will present a "Convention Report" at the May 16 meeting. Kiwanian Sam Vogel is the Key Club advisor.

"A Realistic Look into the AIDS Problem" is the subject for the May 23 program, chaired by Warren Atkinson, who is president of the club.

"Breast Cancer" was the topic of Jay K. Harness, M.D. director of the University of Michigan Hospital Breast Care Center, at the April 11 meeting. Dr. Harness is principal editor of the newly published book, "Breast Cancer: Collaborative Management."

Five Area Students Earn MSU Degrees

Michigan State University placed five area students on their winter degree candidate list. Undergraduate degrees were awarded March 12 in Munn Ice Arena. The Rev. Jesse Jackson was commencement speaker.

Flower & Garden Club Forming in Chelsea

The first meeting of the Flower and Garden Club will be Wednesday, April 20 from 10 a.m. until noon at the home of Doris Hammel, 509 Wellington, Chelsea. The first meeting will cover the importance of soil, soil preparation, and seeds as well as a viewing of Hammel's garden.

Hammel has been gardening for 25 years, learning mostly by trial and error although she has taken a few evening classes. She has planted in her own garden almost every kind of flower and plant that grows in the area including annuals, perennials, herbs, everlastings, and shrubs. She also knows how to make artistic objects out of flowers and plants such as wreaths, wall pictures, cards, and dry flower arrangements.

Acting on a quote from a gardening book, "the next best thing to gardening is other gardeners," she decided to share her knowledge with others by forming the club. While she has lots of ideas for subjects to cover, she is also open to ideas from members.

The club is open to all and has no membership fees. For more information, call Hammel at 475-7107.

Biological treasures: Amber is fossilized plant resin that takes about five million years to form. Many pieces of amber contain the remains of insects, other animals or plants. The oldest known amber-preserved insects date back 130 million years. According to International Wildlife magazine, some researchers say that such insects may help explain the course of evolution. They may even help scientists better understand dinosaurs, what they looked like and how they acted.
