ONE HUNDRED-SEVENTEENTH YEAR-No. 50

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, MAY 11, 1988

HAROLD ALLEN, left, is organizing his third Independence Day fireworks display this year. Village council told him last week that the show can go on if he can secure $3 million in liability insurance. With Allen is Colonial Fireworks Co. owner Charles Pick, of Ypsilanti. Here they show off some of the smallest fireworks that could be used during the show.

Teachers Union Files Second Grievance Over Transfer of Instructor

Chelsea Education Association has filed a second grievance that could result in the part-time employment next year of high school teacher Rahn Rosentreter.

Rosentreter, a social studies teacher and two-sport coach, has been officially laid-off for next school year.

Other delays have been caused by liability issues, which McMurtrie said have been mostly solved.

"Within the next couple of weeks we should have a firm opening date," McMurtrie said.

"The program is going to happen, but just not as quickly as we thought."

The county is working on a promotion plan. Enrichment Triad Director Ruth Stielstra is working with student Jessica Flintoft on a "Recycle Chelsea" promotion, which will include a poster contest.

"We want to keep it from getting personal."

The grievance is likely to be heard in closed session at the school board's May 16 meeting, Jones said.

"In trying to protect an individual, we have to try to represent everybody and that can be difficult," Jones said. "It's difficult anytime you talk about someone's livelihood." In a related matter, the administration has made a proposal concerning Rosentreter and English teacher Alice Leith that is being considered by the CEA, Jones said.

With Higher Skill Levels

Michigan employers are looking for workers with higher skill levels because of technological advances and increased international economic competition, a report released by the Governor's Commission on Jobs and Economic Development said.

The commission is co-chaired by Chrysler Corp. Chairman Lee Iacocca and retired United Auto Workers President Doug Fraser.

Governor James J. Blanchard said the report will be important to Michigan's education and training programs and ultimately Michigan's employers and workers.

"This skills profile is the first step in developing a skills assessment tool to improve Michigan's job training and education programs. These standards are critical to improving the quality of these programs to the levels needed by business and industry," he said.

State, Non-Public Schools Reach Reporting Agreement

An agreement between the Department of Education and non-public schools regarding the legally required reporting of information was announced recently.

The agreement, which resolves the eight-year-old Sheridan Road Baptist church court case, has been signed by both parties and will be filed with Ingham County Circuit Court Judge Carolyn Stell.

"I am very pleased that there now is a basic understanding of how the Department of Education can meet the legal requirements regarding reporting the certification of teachers, an agreement that accommodates the religious beliefs of nonpublic schools," said Gary D. Hawks, interim Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Hawks said the two non-public schools involved in the court case, Sheridan Road Baptist church and First Baptist church of Bridgeport, have provided the necessary information through a third party because, due to religious beliefs, some church schools object to reporting directly to the Department of Education.

The case began when the two nonpublic schools took the Department of Education to court contending the 1921 law giving the state superintendent some oversight responsibilities over non-public schools was unconstitutional.

The state Supreme Court was split 3-3 on its decision on the issue and the U. S. Supreme Court refused to hear the case, so a lower court ruling took precedence and the two schools were ordered to comply with the law and report information regarding enrollments of pupils, courses offered and qualification of teachers.

Pointed information: The spines of many cactuses, such as the hedgehog variety, help the plants shade themselves. According to International Wildlife magazine, most cactuses have very thick skin that helps keep life-giving water inside. But this thick skin also means the plants have a hard time keeping cool. That's where the spines come in. They cover the plant so thickly that their skins are always in the shade.

Grievance Filed By Teacher Union

The proposal is the result of an initial grievance filed on behalf of both teachers by the CEA. The grievance was rejected at all three local levels (principal, superintendent, and school board) but can still go to arbitration. Again, Jones would not discuss details of the proposals.

"If the CEA were to deny the proposal then we would probably go to arbitration," Jones said.

"If we accept the proposal, that would be the end of it."

It could not be determined whether the proposal was acceptable to either Rosentreter or Leith. Jones said his guess is that "it wouldn't be likely" that the CEA would accept a proposal if it is unsatisfactory to the teacher involved, although he wouldn't rule it

"The CEA was very pleased with the attitude of the board at their last meeting because they made an attempt to work something out," Jones said.

Jones admitted that "it doesn't look too good" for Rosentreter to be reemployed full-time under terms of the new grievance or the adminstration's proposal resulting from the first

Disease or Not-A Brighter Outlook For Alcoholics

A recent ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court viewed some pleas of alcoholism by veterans as "willful conduct" instead of an uncontrollable disease. This decision happened to coincide with the appearance of a book, Heavy Drinking-The Myth of Alcoholism As A Disease, authored by Professor Herbert Fingarette of the University of California.

No doubt a lot of people see the Supreme Court's decision as a way of discouraging frivolous, unmerited use of the alcoholism disease concept. Two veterans demanded the right to GI educational benefits after the 10-year time period had run out. The vets claimed they had missed the generous deadline because, under the Rehabilitation Act of 1974, they were handicapped. Ten years simply weren't enough to sober up and file an application.

Whether alcoholism is called an addiction, which is stigmatizing, or a disease, which holds the victim blameless, is a matter of semantics and what matters is the intent of the definition. Alcohol (ethanol), the responsible substance, is a poisonous drug. Drink enough of it at one sitting and it will be fatal. Consume too much over a long period of time and the result can be physical impairment, insanity or death. All are disease-related.

Designation of alcoholism as a disease is recognized by the American Medical Association, the American Psychiatric Association, the U. S. Public Health Service, Congress and Alcoholics Anonymous—plus millions of formerly desperate alcoholics and their families.

Prof. Fingarette scorns medical associations, hospitals and treatment centers as the marketing arm of the alcohol disease "industry." He sees Congress in cahoots with the National Institute for Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (known as the NI Triple A.)

The operative word for eligibility under medical insurance plans is disease, and the same is true of federal funding for alcohol research. If we were to disallow insurance payments for alcohol treatments, the whole national network of help for alcoholics and their families would be cut off at the knees. A possible, but not very satisfactory, solution would be to express alcohol related ailments in terms of the body parts affected—brain, heart, liver, digestive tract, reproductive organs and so forth.

Overcoming Habit the Natural Way

Five years ago a landmark study appeared under the title, The Natural History of Alcoholism: Causes, Patterns and Paths to Recovery. It was written by Dr. George Vaillant, a Harvard psychiatrist and it opened new vistas. of hope for professionals in alcoholism. Instead of controversy, it offered insights into natural processes of recovery which drinkers pursue on their own, sometimes with the help of professionals. Leaders in the alcohol treatment field have applauded this book as a major breakthrough by providing sensible answers to long-troublesome questions.

In 1967 Vaillant joined a group of researchers in the Cambridge Hospital Alcohol Program as they studied the lives of 200 Harvard graduates and 400 working-class men from the Boston-Cambridge area. The scientists had begun their observations of all these men in 1940 and followed them closely into the 1980s. During this time, 26 of the Harvard group and 110 of the blue-collar group became alcoholics.

Of equal significance in this 40-year study was continued close observation of the 290 blue collar men and 176 college men who did not become addicted. They comprised ideal "controls" for a scientific study because each came from the same socioeconomic background as those who had embraced alcoholism.

One solid conclusion to emerge from the study is something that many alcoholics have known all along. Alcoholics aren't born. They are self-made. They start drinking mostly because peer groups are doing it. It isn't because of a wretched childhood nor weak character or lack of self-control. Neither is it the impact of a mismarriage, a neurotic boss or unbearable stress. There is no such thing as a so-called alcoholic personality prior to indulgence.

After a while the drinking grows into a pleasant custom. Later on, it is accepted as a regular habit—but one which can be omitted at will. With some, however, it imperceptibly becomes a daily need---an addiction. The drinker can no longer control when he begins to drink, nor when it is time to stop. For the most seriously afflicted, the need to drink begins earlier in the day, oftener in the afternoon and longer at night. This is the point at which all sorts of personal and family troubles begin.

The burning question among professionals in the alcohol field, and their clients, is whether an alcoholic may ever hope to return to social drinking. Traditionally clinicians have been quick to say "No." The good news is that this outlook has been modified. Many laymen know of heavy-drinking friends or relatives who have worked their way back to moderation. Some have done it by themselves, others with the help of advisors. This is the manifestation of natural self-help which Dr. Vaillant has recognized in recovered alcoholics. In a clinical situation the patient must want to get well and must help in the treatment or nothing will happen. Vaillant makes the point that "alcoholics recover not because we treat them but because they heal themselves." Later he makes a similar observation, "In alcoholism, as in much of medicine, we dress the wound; the individual's own resources

Half of all alcoholics recover either by total abstinence or by reducing their drinking to moderate levels. Many manage by doing their drinking at home where they are not subject to the wide-open temptations of social drinking. Others may occasionally stop in at social affairs, have a limit of one, or a limit of two drinks, and leave early. But they know the sweet taste of victory as they say, "Thank you, but no."

There are numerous roads to recovery and an alcoholic should try them all, if necessary, to find the one that works. The first in a crisis is detoxification in a hospital, a treatment center or with the understanding guidance of Alcoholics Anonymous.

A drinker who is sober at the moment and seeks help can choose a hospital treatment center, a treatment clinic, a therapist, the local chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous, or do it alone. Experts in the field of alcoholism are almost unanimous in their praise of the AAs. Vaillant confesses, "Even though it's terribly unscientific, alcoholics usually do seem to need some kind of source of self-esteem, or religious inspiration—whatever you want to call it -- and that seems more important than hospital or psychiatric care."

Alcoholics Anonymous are in all phone books. The number of the Ann Arbor chapter, listed in the Chelsea directory, is 971-1958.

For individuals who must quit drinking, and would like to try it privately, there is a gentle, old-time remedy that very often works. The drinker establishes how many ounces per day of a favorite mixed drink, or ounces of wine or beer, he is averaging per day. The next day he drinks two ounces less, and the next day four ounces less, and so on. The process is gradual and avoids the pain of withdrawal.

It is evident from all the statistics that alcoholism is an immense national problem. It involves one out of three families but it concerns us all, including the millions who have always been abstinent. Alcoholism causes 30,000 highway deaths, 500,000 disabling vehicle injuries, 35,000 accidental deaths at home, work and play plus 14,000 suicides. Drinking during pregnancy can cause damage to unborn children. And the roll of drunken

People with the disease of alcoholism, and our network of health care providers, need all the help we can give them. But drinkers have responsibilities, too. Based on their potentiality for recovery, they don't deserve to be pampered.

"In this world there are only two tragedies. One is not getting what one wants; the other is getting it. The last is much the worse; the last is a real tragedy

We all scurry through life, engaged in a constant struggle to "succeed" . . . to achieve our goals, of which many are materialistic. Wilde suggests that it is perhaps just as well that most of us fail to obtain all of the goals we pursue.

We can all recall examples of this phenomenon. As children, it was a toy we simply had to possess. Yet, once obtained, the pleasure of possession fell far short of our expectations. The key to avoiding such a tragedy lies in setting goals which are more spiritual in nature, more difficult to achieve. Satisfaction will then come from well-spent effort.

You can spare your loved ones the burden of making painful decisions. Let us explain the benefits of arrangements made prior to need.

Dexter township zoning board is holding a public hearing on the proposed amendment to the township Ann Arbor zoning ordinance on Monday, May 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the township hall.

The township zoning board, consisting of chair Gerald Straub, Sheridan Springer, Ralph Rumsey, Ed Bouillion, and Ken Brooks, have been working on revising the zoning ordinance at their regular meetings for the last year and a half, reviewing alcoholism or other chemical it paragraph by paragraph, discussing changes, and listening to public comments.

The present ordinance was enacted March 27, 1973. According to Straub, the proposed changes are not controversial, but more in the nature of updates. Some of the alterations add detail, others bring the ordinance in line with changes in the law, while others give more guidance on growth.

After the hearing, the zoning board may decide to make some changes in the text. After they vote approval of the zoning amendments, they will send it to the county planning commission for review.

The township, board will then hold their own public hearings on the zoning changes. By the time they vote, they will have received input from the zoning board, the county planning commission, and the general public. A final decision on the zoning ordinance should be made in a few months.

The tentative text changes may be examined at the township hall, 6880 Dexter-Pinckney Rd. The office is open on Tuesdays from 9 a.m. to 4

Bulldogs KO Dexter, Take Second in Tourney

Chelsea Bulldog varsity baseball team finished one of their busiest and most successful weeks of the season last week.

The Bulldogs split a double-header with Howell, swept state-ranked Dexter in a Southeastern Conference double-header, and finished second in the 16-team Ann Arbor News/Domino's Tournament.

The Dogs finished the week with a 15-11-1 over-all record.

Chelsea opened the week on Monday, May 2 with a nine-run outburst in the first inning.

The Bulldogs had eight hits in the first inning, including doubles by Chris Acree, Junior Morseau, Greg Boughton and Mark Larson, and singles by Acree, Morseau, Tim Anderson and Bob Clouse.

Chelsea was never seriously threatened. Randy Ferry pitched all seven innings, gave up four hits and nine walks and struck out six.

Morseau had three hits for the game. Anderson, Ferry, Boughton and Acree each had two.

In the second game, Chelsea pitcher Rob Lyerla was victimized by six Bulldog errors as he gave up only four earned runs.

Chelsea scored both runs in the first inning on a walk to Boughton, single by Clouse, double by Morseau, single by Prentice and double by Larson.

Howell evened the game in the second inning and scored in each of the five innings played.

Howell was 12-2 before meeting Chelsea.

The game ended on an unusual play. Anderson, in right field, retrieved an errant throw by the catcher. He relayed the ball to Clouse at second who fired to Ferry at third to nail the potential tying runner.

Boughton went the distance on the mound in the second game, struck out 11, walked five and gave up five hits. Chelsea jumped out to a 5-0 lead with three runs in the second and two in the third.

One down and one to go. Chelsea Bulldogs moved a little closer to the Southeastern Conference softball title with a double-header sweep of previously unbeaten Dexter last Thursday.

Peggy Hammerschmidt won the opening game as her teammates staked her to a 7-0 lead after two innings. "We played great defense and hit the ball well off Doletzky who is a fine pitcher," said Chelsea coach Pat-

The Chelsea defense saved them on a couple of occasions. In the third inning, second baseman Enderle threw out a runner after the ball deflected off Alisha Dorow at shortstop. Her play stopped a Dexter rally. Later Dorow fielded a hard grounder to end a bases-loaded threat.

The Bulldogs scored three runs in the first inning on a Leah Enderle single, sacrifice by Kelly Stump, a walk to Ceia Murphy, a two-run double by Jenny Pichlik and an error.

In the second inning, walks to Laura Unterbrink and Chris Basso, and singles by Enderle, Alisha Dorow and Stump produced four runs.

Jenni Smith, in the second game, gave up a three-run homer in the first inning but was superb from them on. Clarke said.

Smith gave up five hits and struck out eight. She didn't walk a batter. Trailing 3-2, the Bulldogs put together a four-run rally in the bottom of the sixth inning for the win. Murphy and Pichlik singled to open

"We played very well defensively and it was a fine victory over good competition," Clarke said. In the second game against Bishop Foley, Chelsea collected 10 hits but had all kinds of trouble scoring against what Clarke called "a slow pitcher" who lobbed the ball over the plate.

Chelsea held a 3-0 lead after three innings. Murphy's single in the first scored Enderle, who had singled. Dorow later scored on a passed ball. In the second inning, Easton singled and later scored on a passed ball.

Beach Girls Win Trophy At Jackson

Townships Consider Landfill

May 3 meeting, discussed hiring an attorney to advise them on possible liability for their use of the Chelsea landfill. The DNR has stated that the Chelsea dump has a ground water contamination problem and they have refused to issue a license opening up a Dexter township board, at their new area for solid waste disposal until the problem is taken care of.

Attorney Peter Flintoft advised Dexter township to join with the other townships using the landfill to hire a specialist in the field. The village of Chelsea has already taken this step, hiring a law firm from Grand Rapids.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Chelsea Standard,

I am asking for some information. There is currently a movement to raise $150,000 to build a Faith in Action facility. That is a lot of money. I would like to know why is there a need for such a facility? There is a building which is used as a distribution point now. Is that going to be no longer used and if so why? What does Faith in Action do which could not be done by Chelsea Social Services? Is there a duplication of services? Is Chelsea much more needy than it has been?

Knowing that bureaucracy feeds on itself and a new facility will require caretakers, housekeepers and more staff, can this huge expense be justified by the services rendered?

I wonder if we really are looking to the welfare of Chelsea's poorer population or are we just supporting the great dream of some people who apparently did not believe Chelsea Social Service was doing a good job. Couldn't CSS have been reworked to provide the necessary assistance?

I am not complaining, I am only seeking answers to questions which really have bothered me.

I have had the opportunity to work at Faith in Action house and felt like the Maytag repairman whose phone never rings. I know there were so many clothing donations that clothes were sold by the bag to clear space. A little silly don't you think?

Chelsea is a great place to live but let's be prudent with our resources, both human and monetary.

Patricia Stoll.

Dear Editor,

I'm writing to you in regards to a section in your April 27, 1988 issue of The Chelsea Standard. The article on page 21 was titled "Girl Finds Two Flat Tires."

I am no relation to this girl or her ex-boyfriend, but I know of the problems involving them. I don't see how her hot-headed Italian parents can talk her into believing when anything goes wrong with her car it must be this boy and his friends. For example, this girl's tailpipe rusted off a while back and who got the blame.

I think this girl had better take a look at herself before she has a few complaints against her. As for her parents, just because they are Italians doesn't mean they are better than others, although maybe they are equal to the size of two or three per-

Dear Editor.

I am writing an article about the head-on collision on the electric line (D.U.R.) that occurred west of Chelsea on July 20, 1918, and I would like to include a picture of it. So far, I have been unable to locate one. Would anyone in the Chelsea area have one, perhaps a snapshot taken on a Brownie camera?

If so, please let Mr. or Mrs. Leonard of The Standard know, or get in touch At the same meeting, the board with me. discussed hiring the Washtenaw

VILLAGE OF CHELSEA NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

The Village Council of the Village of Chelsea will hold a public hearing at 7:30 o'clock P.M. on Tuesday, May 17, 1988 in the Council Chambers of the Municipal Building, 104 East Middle Street, on the proposed 1988 Village Tax Levy.

Because of an increase in the State Equalized Value of existing property in the Village, State law (Act 5 of 1982) provides that the base tax rate for 1988 village operations be reduced to 10.08 mills ($10.08 per $1,000. SEV).

In order to fund the Village's proposed 1988/89 Budget and to maintain essential village services, the Village finds it necessary to restore a portion of its levy reduction. Although the Village has complete authority, under its charter and State law, to establish the number of mills to be levied within its fully authorized millage rate, the Village proposes to levy an additional rate of only 1.68 mills ($1.68 per $1,000. SEV) above the 1988 base operating millage rate. This will provide an estimated seventeen percent (17%) increase in village general operating property tax revenues. Individual property taxes may increase greater than or less than the estimated average.

Public comments, oral or written, are welcome at the hearing on the proposed additional millage rate.

Breast Health

Awareness Month Set

Awareness is the best defense against breast cancer and can help to save the lives of many women. Early detection is a crucial factor of survival, with mammograms, breast self-examinations and other preventive measures, as well as breakthroughs in treatments, all helping to better a woman's chances.

May is Breast Health Awareness Month. The University of Michigan Medical Center's M-CARE Health Center at Northeast Ann Arbor, located at 2200 Green Rd., is sponsoring a special program on Breast Health featuring experts from the U-M Breast Care Center and Breast Cancer Detection Center. Program topics will include breast disease prevention, detection, and treatment. Breast self-examinations will be taught and radiology specialists will explain mammography and its importance.

The program will be held on Wednesday, May 18 at 7 p.m. at the M-CARE Administrative Offices located at 3601 Plymouth Rd. (directly across from the Health Center).

Participants will be able to tour the center and refreshments will be provided. A $2 registration fee is payable at the door. Enrollment is limited so call 344-1777 to pre-register.

HOSPITAL CHAPEL DEDICATION: The Rev. Christ, chapel campaign steering committee, stand at the lectern in the new Hospital Chapel to be dedicated May 15.

Chelsea Hospital's New Chapel Will Be Dedicated May 15

On Sunday, May 15, Chelsea Community Hospital will host the dedication of its new Chapel.

Completion of the Chapel is the realization of a dream for members of the communities throughout the hospital's service area.

The realization has been made possible through donations from over 600 individuals who collectively contributed in excess of $30,000.

The campaign to raise the funds to construct and furnish the Chapel began Oct. 18, 1987. This was designated Hospital Chapel Sunday. People of all faiths from area churches answered an appeal issued through their ministers that day to support the Chapel. This special effort was the beginning of the successful campaign which has now yielded the new Chapel.

The campaign was chaired by the Rev. Kathryn S. Batell, the hospital's chaplain, and a steering committee of hospital and community representa-

The Steering Committee provided direction on development of the fundraising campaign and included: Cindy H. Harrison, assistant director of human resources, Chelsea Community Hospital; Costas Kleanthous, M.D., medical director of substance abuse, Chelsea Community Hospital; the Rev. Erwin R. Koch, St. Paul United Church of Christ, Chelsea: the Rev. Robert B. Macfarlane, Emanuel United Church of Christ, Manchester;

John W. Mitchell, Sr., Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home, Chelsea: Jeanene Riemenschneider, Auxiliary, Chelsea Community Hospital; the Rev. Harry Shaefer, St. James Episcopal church, Dexter, the Rev. Ronald C. Smeenge, Covenant church, Chelsea; Janet R. Tupper, director of volunteers, Chelsea Community Hospital.

Community members are invited to join those celebrating the dedication in the Hospital's Chapel and main dining room at 2 p.m. on May 15. An inter-faith service will be held followed by a reception. For more information about the dedication contact the Rev. Kathryn Batell at Chelsea Community Hospital.
