Things To Do," which is printed in its entirety in this issue. At right is master of ceremonies Jim Knott.

Binding Arbitration Will Decide Grievance

The grievance filed on behalf of Chelsea High school teacher and coach Rahn Rosentreter will be decided in arbitration.

Executive Council of the Chelsea Education Association decided to pursue the case in binding arbitration after the grievance was denied at the first three school district levels; principal, superintendent and school board.

Rosentreter, a social studies teacher, girls basketball coach and boys tennis coach, was given his lay-off notice in March. The official reason given was declining enrollment at the high school.

The grievance contends that Rosentreter is being forced out of a part-time job in another department, where he is also qualified, due to the transfer of another Chelsea School District teacher.

According to CEA attorney Walt Benton, the two sides may be able to agree quickly on the selection of an arbitrator. He said the administration appears to want the case to be decided quickly.

However, if the two sides can't agree on an arbitrator, the CEA would go through the American Arbitration Association for the selection of one.

"AAA is so busy," Benton said. "I have grievances filed two months ago that are being offered hearing dates in October and November. If we have to go through AAA it could take until the middle of winter."

Benton said he's never had an arbitration case that took more than one day to decide. He guessed Rosentreter's case would probably take two or three hours.

"A lot of what I deal with has to do with interpretation of language in the contract," Benton said.

"We have to challenge the administration when we think they're wrong because once they start doing things it sets up a past practice. If we don't challenge them, what they've done becomes the accepted way to operate."

Once the two sides present their cases, the arbitrator has 30 days to render a decision. If the school district attorney chooses to file a brief, another 30 days can be tacked on.

CEA Grievance Chairman Phil Jones said, "we have a very good feeling of winning this grievance, this one seems very strong."

Village Planners Table Action On Home Occupation Ordinance

For the second month in a row, the Chelsea Village Planning Commission has tabled action on proposed revisions to the Home Occupations Ordinance.

Village planning consultant Carl Schmolt, Jr., has recommended extensive changes to the ordinance based on an initial suggestion by zoning inspector Rosemary Harook that changes are needed.

Home occupations would be permitted as special land uses only and would require approval by the village planning commission. They would be allowed in any single-family home, with the exception of mobile homes. In addition, any part-time occupation would also be considered a home business.

"It is the intent of this section that a home occupation shall be an accessory use that will be so located and conducted that the average neighbor, under normal circumstances, will not be aware of its existence," says the proposed ordinance.

Key features of the ordinance would be as follows:

- No one other than residents of the home could be employed in the business.
- Home occupation would clearly be an incidental use of the building and can't exceed 20 percent of the floor area of the building.
- No changes to the exterior would be allowed, including the placement of signs.

- Only items produced in the home could be sold.
- No more than one parking space could be provided for the home occupation.
- No exterior storage associated with the business would be allowed.
- No equipment or process which produces noise, vibration, glare, fumes, odor, or electrical interferences would be allowed. Any equipment that creates radio or television interference would also not be allowed.
- Hazard of fire, explosion, radioactivity or chemical contamination could not result from a home occupation.
- No more than 10 customers or

First Shopping Center Jumps Final Hurdle as Planners Give Approval

Shopping center developer Rene Papo was given final site plan approval by the Chelsea Village Planning Commission for his proposed project at the southwest corner of Old US-12 and M-32 behind Chelsea State Bank.

The 92,000-square-foot center would be the first such project in the area.

The approval was given at the commission's regular meeting last Tuesday, May 24. Papo only had to address several minor contingencies.

As of late last week, the only major missing piece of the puzzle was a letter from appliance store owner Leon Meabon indicating that he approved of easements and other concerns. Meabon's Home Appliances will be connected to the mall and essentially become part of it.

Papo said he plans to begin site work soon. Work may have begun by the time this story appears.

Some of the items that had yet to be furnished by Papo at the time of site plan approval included landscape and signing plans, elevation numbers of light poles and fixtures, plan and profile drawings of Old Manchester Rd.

In addition, a few minor changes were required concerning the size of driveway width, site grading, storm sewer sizing, and drainage.

Papo has said that some tenants in the new mall will include the 55,000-square-foot Ames Department Store (about half the size of a standard K-Mart), a drug store and a laundromat.

Planning commission approved a 4,200-square-foot addition to Roberts Paint and Body Shop in the village industrial park on Sibley Rd.

The additional capacity will allow the company to reduce the turnaround time on cars and trucks they service. The current facility is 7,000 square feet.

Palmer Ford, Inc. was given approval to construct a 180-square-foot office between the current building on S. Main St. and the UAW Hall.

John and Anne Daniels, who are renovating the old Sylvan Hotel into an office and retail complex, were given approval to retain a small building at the back of the main building for storage. The approval was needed because the plan was a deviation from the approved site plan.

The commission recommended in favor of a request to re-zone 2.96 acres on Cavanaugh Lake Rd. from mobile home use to residential use.

The petition, submitted by Robert and Laura Dyer, 1866 Mark Twain Ct., Ann Arbor, involves a parcel to the north and west of the intersection of Cleveland St. and Cavanaugh Lake Rd.

According to a report by village planning consultant Carl Schmolt, Jr., "the property in the petition is not a reasonable unit of land for zoning treatment. There is no apparent reason, in terms of zoning policy, for dividing the property from its parent parcel as described in the petition. It should either be developed as part of the parent parcel or, if it is to be developed individually, it should be divided and developed according to a plan for the larger parcel. The proposed zoning should, in that case, reflect such a plan.

The parcel in question is the only undeveloped land in the village that is zoned for a mobile home park.

However, only village water service is immediately available. The closest sewer service is 450 feet away.

Rose and Richard Borton of Chelsea were given approval for grading and excavation work for a proposed "Borton Clinic" on Taylor St. opposite Bridgetown Apartments and behind Heller Electric. Borton is a local dentist.

The proposed building is 3,635 square feet. As of last Friday, Borton would not give further details about his plans for the building.

Penskar vs. Village Delayed Until August

Robert and Audrey Penskar's law suit against the Village of Chelsea will not be heard in Washtenaw County Circuit Court until August.

Original trial date was May 23 in the court of Judge Henry Conlin.

The case was to be tried in Washtenaw County Circuit Court before Judge Henry Conlin.

According to Randy Musbach, attorney for the Penskar's, the delay was caused by criminal cases in the court that have precedence over civil cases.

The suit was filed June 24 after the village's Zoning Board of Appeals denied the Penskar's the opportunity to construct an apartment building behind the two-unit building they already own at 648-650 W. Middle St. The board turned down a request for a variance. The land is zoned correctly but the lot dimensions are apparently too small to allow an apartment building.

Silhouettes who will sing, "We Hold The Future."

Out-going superintendent Ray Van Meer will certify the graduates one last time.

Students will be honored in three basic ways. Students who have received scholarships from colleges and universities will be recognized. Winners of scholarships from the Chelsea Scholarship Fund will be announced. And departmental awards will be given honoring the brightest students in each academic discipline.

In addition, cum laude students will be introduced.

It all takes place in the high school gymnasium.

Van Meer, Piasecki To Greet Public

Receptions honoring Chelsea School District's in-coming superintendent, Joseph Piasecki, and out-going superintendent, Ray Van Meer, have been scheduled for tomorrow and Monday.

On Thursday, June 2 the public will have its first chance to meet Piasecki, who is finishing up as superintendent at Breckenridge schools. The open house will be held from 3:30-6:30 p.m. in the Beach Middle school cafeteria.

On Monday, June 6, Van Meer will be informally honored for his 10 years of service to the school district at an open house at Beach school from 3:30-6:30 p.m.

School district residents are invited to attend both events.

Public Hearing To Address Lima Variance

Lima Township Zoning Board of Appeals will hold a public hearing this Thursday, June 2 on a variance that would allow three developers to build four homes on N. Fletcher Rd. property.

Dennis Bauer, Dick McCalla and John Daniels want to build four homes on a parcel of land that is between 39 and 40 acres. Zoning requires homes to have 10 acres each.

The hearing is set for 7:30 p.m. in Lima Township Hall.

THIS WATERLOO RD. RESIDENT was doing a little gardening last Thursday morning when he turned around to see three llamas grazing in his front yard and heading right toward his garden. He called Chelsea police and later the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, who sent an animal control officer. However, before any officials arrived, the llamas wandered down Waterloo Rd. and apparently back where they belong behind this fence. The neighbor had no problem getting the docile animals back in the gate. And he said he had no idea anyone in the area was keeping the animals as pets.

EVEN YOUNGSTERS seemed to understand that Memorial Day is an important annual event. This young fellow did more than a little flag-waving during Monday's parade through the village.

Better Evaluation Needed for Human Investment Programs

Michigan has not done an adequate job of evaluating its human investment programs, such as the Youth Corps and Governor James J. Blanchard's proposed Opportunity Card, according to a preliminary study of the state's employment and training programs by University of Michigan professor Malcolm S. Cohen.

Findings of the first phase of the three-phase study were presented recently to the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The study was initiated by Sen. Doug Cruce (R-Troy), who said its purpose is to convince the Legislature and Blanchard of the need to better co-ordinate programs to get more out of money it spends on employment and training.

Cruce recommends that the Legislature, Department of Labor and governor's office join forces to find a common ground to establish goals and objectives for the programs.

"I've been concerned for some time that some of these programs are needlessly duplicating services. The initial findings reinforce what I've thought all along—that we must do a better job of co-ordinating these programs to get the most for the money the state spends," Cruce said.

Cohen reported that although over $800 million a year in government funds is being spent on 70 programs in the state, not a single impact evaluation has been done in the last 10 years to determine if the money is being spent effectively.

And, there does not appear to be any proposed initiative which will result in an adequate evaluation of the programs, the report added.

Blanchard had proposed a Human Investment System to streamline the systems.

Failure to carry out such an evaluation could lead to waste of hundreds of millions of government dollars over the next several years, either because of duplication of programs, inadequate targeting of programs, failure of programs to achieve intended objectives, or because the programs are not any longer relevant to current policy priorities, according to the report.

In addition, the report criticized the governor's Michigan Opportunity Card—intended to help individuals take better advantage of the myriad of programs—which could prove to be a data processing nightmare unless properly targeted.

"The $80 million already spent by the Michigan Employment Security Commission to automate its systems could seem like a bargain compared to the cost of standardizing all of the state systems at the state and local levels to achieve the ultimate objectives outlined by the administration for the Opportunity Card," the report said.

The Senate Fiscal Agency paid Cohen $30,000 for the five-month study, but Cruce said he had planned to include the cost of the study in the Department of Labor budget until House members balked.

"I don't see it as a partisan thing. I see it as a process to develop better government," Cruce said. "We're not on a witch hunt here, but if there is a witch there we want to find it."

Cruce said when contacted, House Speaker Gary Owen (D-Ypsilanti) opposed participating in the study because the problem has already been studied.

Cruce said the next phase of the study could result in legislation, or the report may force the bureaucracy to take a closer look at its programs.

He said the entire cost of later phases of the study will be about $100,000.

AIRMAN MICHAEL R. GREEN, son of Karen A. Innes of 7245 Gawley, Pinckney, and Billy R. Green of 35707 Brush St., Wayne, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex. He is a 1986 graduate of Pinckney High school.

President Grau presented a certificate of appreciation to Ed Greenleaf and Vicky Wurster, of Chelsea Lanes, for hosting the post-prom party. This annual activity has been a most successful event.

Substance Abuse Counselor Chris Dillon presented an update on the program she administers at the high school. She discussed the following groups: chemical awareness, decision making, concerned persons, and the divorce group. She indicated a desire to develop a support group and peer counseling. Chris stated that she has experienced more conferences with parents, indicating that her visibility is good.

Curriculum director Laurie Bissell reviewed with the board a proposed textbook adoption for the Business Education Department. The work of Marian Williams in the matter of textbook review was lauded. Laurie also reviewed the K-12 music curriculum, which was an information item, and a proposed textbook purchase for this subject area. June Warren also presented information on the music curriculum, and Ron Harris was present to answer questions.

Assistant superintendent Mills reviewed with the board the financial impact of the Headlee Amendment on state equalized valuation. The financial impact of the Headlee Amendment (and the calculation that we will be an out-of-formula district) will cause the district to have a shortfall of approximately $360,000, which would require an adjustment in the budget.

The board convened in executive session for Level III closed hearing on Grievance HS-2-87-88, then subsequently reconvened in public session and denied the grievance. The grievance was denied on the basis that in staffing for the 1988-89 school year, the most senior and qualified persons will be given assignments or moved to other positions.

The board approved a resolution honoring Lloyd A. Grau for his service to the board of education. As of June 30, president Grau will have completed eight years of service on the board. During that period he has served as trustee, treasurer, vice-president and president.

The board accepted, with regret, the resignation of Mary Schiller, Beach School cafeteria employee, who has served the district for 19 years.

The board accepted, with regret, the resignation of Connie Marshall, French/Spanish teacher at Beach school. Connie will be relocating to the Traverse City area.

MEMBERS OF TROOP NO. 144 recently posed for a picture in front of the Girl Scout billboard that was displayed on Main St. during National Girl Scout Week in March.

Junior Girl Scout Troop No. 144 Ends Busy Year

Junior Girl Scout Troop No. 144 ended a very busy year with a family picnic at Pierce Park on May 23. The girls were recognized for the badges and awards that they earned throughout the year.

As a troop, the girls worked on the Local Lore, First Aid, Theater, and Water Wonders badges. The girls and their leaders also earned Honor Troop recognition.

Many girls received badges that they had earned on their own. Thirteen girls were awarded the Sign of the Rainbow for their badge and service work this year.

The troop also thanked four parents for their extra help this year: Lisell Bowers and Debbie O'Connor, cookie chairpersons; Linda Dufek, badge mother; and Lynette Hand, snacks and workers chairperson. The troop also recognized its sponsor, Consumer's Power of Jackson county.

The troop participated in many activities this year. They attended a badge workshop, held a winter camping week-end, went on several field trips, hiked in Waterloo Recreation Area, cooked chili for Ronald McDonald House in Ann Arbor, and recently attended the Council-wide "Go for the Gold" games at EMU.

This summer they will be camping with all the troops from Chelsea for a week-end in June, and also going to Girl Scout Camp Linden for summer camp.

Tape Message Offered on Poison Ivy

Poison ivy and poison oak are not actually poisonous, but that doesn't mean they're harmless.

More than 60 percent of the U.S. population is allergic to poison ivy and poison oak. These plants are not poisonous, but they are coated with an invisible oil that can give people a blistering and itchy rash.

Contact with the oil occurs by touching the plants, by touching animals, clothing or tools that have been brushed by the plant or by coming in contact with the smoke from burning plants.

TEL-MED, a public service offering free tape health information over the phone, has a new tape dealing with poison oak and ivy—tape No. 568. This tape offers information on how to prevent coming in contact with the plant, on what you can do to try to avoid a rash if you do come in contact with it and how to treat the rash if it does appear.

To listen to tape No. 568 or any of the 296 TEL-MED tapes, call 688-1551 from the Ann Arbor/western Washtenaw county area, 434-6120 from the Ypsilanti/western Wayne county area or 548-2832 from Livingston county. Hours of operation are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Saturdays, noon to 8 p.m. The call and the information are toll free.

Dial-A-Garden Topics Listed

The following is a weekly schedule of Dial-A-Garden, the system of pre-recorded daily gardening tips sponsored by the Washtenaw County Cooperative Extension Service. The system is in operation 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Interested persons are invited to call 971-1122 at their convenience to listen to timely, up-to-date gardening information.

WMU Students On Dean's List

Rebecca Sue Finch of Chelsea and Kyle N. Menard and Julie K. Stanfill of Dexter have been included on Western Michigan University's dean's list for the winter semester of the 1987-88 academic year. To be eligible, students must have completed at least a 3.5 grade point average in at least 14 hours of graded class work.

Boundary Commission Members To Be Named

Chief Judge Judith James Wood is seeking two alternate members to be appointed to the Michigan Boundary Commission. The Boundary Commission acts on petitions to change municipal boundaries, most commonly cases involving cities wanting to annex land.

The Boundary Commission consists of three state appointed members, two non-partisan members and two alternates from each Michigan county. It is required that one appointee and his or her alternate reside in a township and one appointee and his or her alternate reside in a city.

If you are interested in being appointed to the commission, please send a resume to: Judith James Wood, Chief Probate Judge, 2270 Platt Rd., Ann Arbor 48104-5197, by June 15.

Nature from Your Backdoor

By Glenn R. Dudderar
Sometimes familiar animals do surprising things.

A case in point is the crayfish. Anybody who lives or spends much time near a river, stream, wetland, lake or pond has seen those roughly conical towers of mud that resemble stalagmites with holes down through the center. These same people are also familiar with the common stream crayfish, though they may call them crawfish, crawdads, or even crabs.

What's the connection? The architect of these sculpted mud castles is also a crayfish. The burrowing crayfish is a different species than the bottom-dwelling stream crayfish, but it takes an expert to tell them apart.

Stream crayfish may dig short burrows close by the water, but the burrowing crayfish excavates extensive burrow systems that may reach 100 or more feet from the water's edge. When it needs somewhere to put the mud from the tunnel, it burrows to the surface. It carries dollops of mud with its large front claws and deposits them on the ground. The conical chimney that it slops together from this mud may reach 10 to 12 inches in height. As you know if you've ever tried to kick one with a tennis shoe-clad foot, these mud chimneys dry to brick hardness, especially when they're made of heavy clay.

If you are familiar with the stream crayfish, you may find it hard to imagine how its identical cousin can burrow so extensively and sculpt its mud castles. For the digging, it uses its legs, and for earth moving, its broad front claws or pinchers.

Unlike the stream crayfish, which spends most of its time in the stream or lake and so is subject to the bass and other predators that lurk there, the burrowing crayfish lives in its burrow system. The tunnel is connected to the body of water and the lower part—or if the water table is high, the whole tunnel system—is filled with water. The crayfish goes into the stream or lake only to feed.

Another burrowing animal that tends to inhabit the same low, wet areas where burrowing crayfish are found also pushes earth up to the surface as it tunnels. The star-nosed mole, however, merely pushes loose soil into a volcano-shaped mound. Unlike the crayfish's mud chimney, this mound has no structure—you can't pick it up in one piece. In fact, you can spread it with a garden rake. You can't rake aside a crayfish chimney.

My decision to write about the crayfish came out of a workshop I did for teachers early this month. Crayfish chimneys were familiar to me because I prowled stream banks as a child and saw many of them. Then, as a zoology student in college, I learned that some species burrow extensively and others don't. I didn't realize everyone wasn't as familiar with them as I am until that conference, when I found out that some people readily confused crayfish chimneys with star-nosed mole mounds.

Something Better To Do

(Memorial Day Address by Bill Coelius)

Isn't there something better to do?

The sun is shining. The air is warm. A day of brief vacation calls us to play, to work in our yards, to relax with our families. Yet we are here. The very young perhaps have never visited a cemetery before. They see the peculiar looking stones and sense the changed quiet manner of their parents and wonder what it all means.

Our youth have played stirring music—marching tunes that have inspired men at war over time. But their concentration has been on keeping step, proper positioning of their instruments and are wondering even now how long this ceremony will last. The world and its wonders await the young. Isn't there something better to do?

The rest of us—well, we vary. Our families are here or await us—or perhaps live far away. Our minds are filled with plans of picnics and parties, preparations for summer, afternoon naps. Isn't there something better to do than spend time in a small town cemetery?

You are not the first to have those thoughts.

You know most living Americans have never been in battle—or even in military service. Many of us were too young for World War II, too old for Vietnam and never called to Korea. But most of us do know someone who did serve. Many of us know someone who died.

And if you visit Arlington National Cemetery or the Vietnam Memorial in Washington, D.C., as I did with my family this last summer, the sheer number of those who have died explodes into your consciousness—the hundreds of thousands who found "something better to do" and who gave their lives.

If you read the stories of the men who died in battle you read tales of heroism and sacrifice and you read of ideas worth fighting for—ideas like democracy, freedom, and liberty.

But a former soldier, now a Chicago businessman, put it this way, "The reason you storm the beaches is not patriotism or bravery. It is the sense of not wanting to fail your buddies."

Friendship brought it all together. Maxine Andrews, one of the Andrews sisters, told of their singing "Don't Sit Under the Apple Tree" to a loaded troopship in Seattle. She said, "All the mothers and sisters and sweethearts sang with us as the ship sailed off. . . . It was like everybody in the United States held on to each other's hand."

They fought for democracy—for freedom—for liberty. But they died for each other—for their friends and comrades and for the people back home who held each other's hands. And willingness to die for comrades and buddies becomes, in effect, a willingness to die for the rest of us as well.

We should think about that. It is awesome to contemplate that people have died for us. That nightmare-like sacrifices have been made. Sacrifices that call to us to do our part to preserve in any way we can, our liberty, our equality, our way of life. Sacrifices that call for a commitment to others. That we link our needs to those of our friends, our neighbors. That we join hands with—and care about—all Americans.

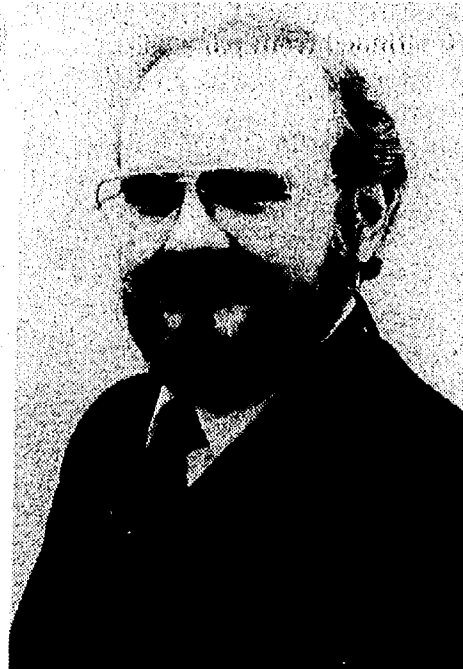

Do we have better things to do?

Of course we have.

For we are the living—the inheritors of the Democratic principles and freedoms for which they fought so hard.

And we have loved ones and friends to care for, and lives to lead, and decisions to make, and things to do that may in some way determine whether future generations may be able to have the same freedoms and liberties that we share.

But today—on this day of memory—Memorial Day 1988, we set aside those "better things" out of feelings of friendship, of respect, of gratitude, and take a few moments to honor those who gave so much with flags, flowers and thanks—and what finer thing have we ever done?

NEW YORK TIMES microfilm collection is a valuable addition to the Chelsea High school media center for students to use as a research aid. Above, Lisa Unterbrink searches through some film.

Library/Media Center Pilots New York Times Microfilm

By Sherrill Pryor

In the spring of 1986, Chelsea School District was offered the opportunity to receive the complete files of the New York Times newspaper (1851-present) from University Microfilms International (UMI). This was arranged through Ken Tillman, a member of our community and an employee of UMI.

The high school faculty was surveyed to determine the interest in this resource. In addition, the faculty was asked to suggest ways in which it might integrate New York Times use into the curriculum.

Results of the survey revealed an interest in utilizing the New York Times newspaper because it is a PRIMARY resource . . . that is, a first-hand account of what took place at that time.

During the summer of 1986, five large metal file cases were shipped to Chelsea High School Library/Media Center. The cases were filled with microfilm and were immovable without plenty of muscle!

It was decided to place the files in the hall across from the Library/Media office, the only wall space available. With the help of Rick Richardson, formerly of Richardson Painting in Chelsea, paint and time were donated to the Library/Media Center to prepare the area where the cases were to be placed.

The maintenance staff cleaned the shipping tape off of the file cases and placed them in their present location.

Each drawer was labelled with its contents, and everyone awaited the arrival of the microfilm readers to read the microfilm, and key to unlocking all of the information available . . . the microfiche index.

In November of 1986, six students and Library/Media Specialist Sherrill Pryor, participated in an advertising photography session for the UMI catalog. The six students were: Angie Alvarez, Maria Gallas, Curtis Heard, Brian Kidd, Phil Patterson, and Andrea Clem. The students obtained parental permission to participate in this activity, and learned about the careers of the UMI employees who organized the advertising campaign. Chelsea students still appear in the UMI brochures.

In January of 1987, all of the machines and indexes necessary to begin using this resource were on hand.

A survey was prepared to get feedback from students who used the New York Times microfilm.

Alice Leith's basic sophomore writing class was the first class to use the microfilm. Her students were cross-referenced into the New York Times newspaper from Current Biography, another Library/Media resource, and didn't need to use the New York Times index.

February of 1987 was the official introduction of the New York Times newspaper on microfilm and the New York Times index on microfiche. Students in Jim Bechtelheimer's elective government classes and in Jim Winter's elective history classes were taught how to use the index. Statistics were collected on the use of this resource, and lessons have been developed to increase the expertise in the use of the microfilms.

At this time, Sherrill Pryor is investigating ways to acquire additional equipment. Tim Fusco, a Chelsea resident, is the sales representative from UMI assisting in this process.

Chelsea High School Library/Media Center is fortunate to have been selected to pilot this educational tool. Classes and individuals in areas such as English, social studies, and business have discovered the vast amount of information available. Let's face it . . . where else can you find out what New Yorkers thought of those wild, uncivilized cowboys, but in the back files of the New York Times newspaper?

PAT AUSTIN is interested in geology and he showed off what he learned last Thursday evening during South school's Chelsea's Children Celebrate Live program. Pat collected information on all sorts of aspects of geology for his "interest center." Information was presented initially in the form of a live "commercial" and later children and parents had the chance to drop by each child's display and ask questions.

Triad Students Complete Year With Celebrations at Schools

Cartoonists, origamists, computer wizards and environmentalists were only some of the experts who invaded North and South Elementary schools last week to share their knowledge in the year-end event called "Chelsea's Children Celebrate Live!"

The program is the culmination of a year's worth of work by students in the Schoolwide Enrichment Triad Program, directed by Ruth Stielstra.

Advanced students in grades 3-5 spent at least one hour each week in the Triad Room learning the necessary independent research skills to study and investigate a particular interest that was chosen early in the fall. The students followed 12 steps in independent research and techniques for focusing on their interests, which enabled them to think of research questions and problems.

The students wrote to experts and interviewed them to find answers. Everyone discovered fascinating facts, created slogans and advertising posters. Then they each made their own interest center and created an original one-minute commercial to sell their interest. In addition to promoting independent research skills, students developed communications skills for speaking, promoting and presenting their topics to an audience, the "Celebrate Live" audience.

Many of the students became practicing professionals in their areas as they used their skills to answer a major research question or solve a major problem in their interest.

ENDANGERED MAMMALS was the subject of Rosanna Gray-Lion's interest center for the Enrichment Triad Program. Rosanna studied the topic throughout the school year and presented her knowledge during last Thursday's Children Celebrate Live, the year-end event for the program. Rosanna is a South school student.

THE HISTORY OF LIGHTHOUSES was the subject of interest for South school fifth grader Ryan Dunlap. The youngster presented some of his accumulated knowledge in a live commercial during Chelsea's Children Celebrate Live last Thursday evening at the school.

Hales Named New Director of DNR

Michigan Natural Resources Commission (NRC) has named David F. Hales, 43, of Lansing the new director of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

He will succeed Gordon E. Guyer, who was named director in June of 1986 but said at the time he would only serve until 1988.

Hales has been commissioner of the Michigan Radioactive Waste Management Authority since 1987, reporting directly to Governor James J. Blanchard. In that post, he has been responsible for policy formulation and executive leadership on radioactive waste issues and for directing and supervising the budget and programs of the agency.

"We are very pleased to have someone with David's extensive background in environmental protection and resource management taking over the leadership of this Department," said Commissioner David D. Olson, chairman of the NRC, "his experience at the academic, state and Federal levels will serve him well in his new post."

Hales said he is "honored and excited" by his appointment, which becomes effective June 1, 1988.

"It is my belief that State Government must play a leadership role in resource management and environmental protection," he added, "Michigan's DNR is well suited to playing that leadership role because of the professionalism and competence of its staff."

Hales was a Samuel Trask Dana professor of Natural Resources at the University of Michigan from 1981 to 1987. The Dana Chair, endowed by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, is a nationally recognized leadership position in natural resource policy and management with an emphasis on the behavioral aspects of the relationship between humans and the environment.

At the same time—between 1983 and 1987—he was director of the University's Center for Strategic Wildland Management Studies. As a university center, it serves the academic programs of the School of Natural Resources, integrating research, instruction, and field activities.

Hales served as Deputy Assistant Secretary for Fish and Wildlife and Parks, U.S. Department of the Interior (1977-1981) and was Executive Assistant to the Director of the Oklahoma State Park System from 1972 to 1975. In the latter position, he was responsible for law enforcement activities, Youth Conservation Corps, oil and gas regulation, budget and personnel management, and national and state liaison.

He holds bachelors and masters degrees in political science from the University of Oklahoma and Hardin-Simmons University, respectively, and has studied environmental law at the University of San Francisco Law School.

Hales taught graduate and undergraduate courses in International Relations and American Government at Stephen F. Austin State University in Texas in 1970-72.

He has three children—Lisa, 24; Nathaniel, 9; and Joshua, 7.

Smith in Phi Beta Kappa

Kimberly K. Smith of 18185 North Territorial Rd. was initiated into the University of Michigan chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. She was elected on the basis of high scholarly achievement, broad cultural interests, and good character.

Dogs Knock Off Lincoln In Pre-District Softball, Face Dexter on Saturday

Chelsea Bulldog softball team advanced to the district tournament next Saturday with an 11-2 win over the Lincoln Railsplitters last Friday at home in pre-district action.

Chelsea will square off against Dexter, who beat Pinckney last Friday. In the other game, Carleton Airport will face Monroe St. Mary.

Despite the relatively easy win over Lincoln, Chelsea appeared a little sluggish. The Bulldogs hadn't played in a week and the seven seniors weren't in school all week.

"I was concerned that we wouldn't be ready," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"But the girls did settle down and get the hits when they had to. Early they were impatient and were swinging at a lot of high pitches and hitting a lot of pop-ups."

Chelsea carried a 2-0 lead into the bottom of the third inning. In the first, Leah Enderle was safe on a fly ball error and went all the way to third. Alisha Dorow was safe on a fielder's choice, which scored Enderle. Kelly Stump's sacrifice fly later scored Dorow.

In the third, Chelsea scored seven runs with two outs. Stump singled and went to third on a sacrifice and ground out. Then Easton singled for one run, Jenni Smith walked, Beth Kenney walked, Laura Unterbrink rapped a two run single, Enderle walked, and Dorow and Stump followed with two run singles.

A solid Lincoln two-run homer in the fourth gave the Railsplitters their only runs.

In the bottom of the fourth, Pichlik walked, Smith reached on an error, and Kenney smacked a two-run single.

"We had no extra base hits and that's significant because that's what we have to do against a slow pitcher," Clarke said.

"When we face a pitcher like that we tend to hit a lot of fly balls because we're trying to smack the ball all over the place."

Chelsea had nine hits for the game, including two each by Dorow and Stump, and one each by Peggy Hammerschmidt, Easton, Smith, Kenney and Unterbrink.

"Stump had a super game," Clarke said.

"She made some great plays in the field and was very selective at the plate. She has been playing real smart and real well. All the seniors are doing a nice job. And I was real happy to see Laura Unterbrink get a hit. We're going to need her."

Hammerschmidt improved her pitching record to 16-4 as she threw a five-hitter.

Chelsea has a 30-8 record.

The district tournament will be held at Dana Field this Saturday and Clarke says this district will be as tough as most regional tournaments.

Dexter is 23-9, Carleton Airport is 22-7, and Monroe St. Mary is 28-1.

Chelsea has been shut out each of the last two years, 1-0, in the first game of the district tournament. Last year, Monroe St. Mary was the victor. The year before it was Pinckney.

"You can bet that Maryann Doletzky (the Dexter pitcher) is going to be tough as nails," Clarke said.

"She'll be rested and she'll be charged up. When Dexter is on they are capable of beating anyone. They haven't had much luck against us, so they'll be out to get us. There won't be any more easy games."

All four teams have excellent pitching. Carleton Airport and Monroe St. Mary each have one exceptional pitcher.

JENNY PICHLIK hits a grounder during Chelsea's victory last Friday over Lincoln. The Bulldogs face Dexter in the first round of the district tournament this Saturday.

CHELSEA COACH PAT CLARKE signals instructions to Beth Kenney during the Bulldogs' pre-district win over the Lincoln Railsplitters last Friday.

Junior Morseau Named Baseball MVP

Junior Morseau won most of the awards in last night's Chelsea Bulldog baseball banquet at the high school.

The junior pitcher/catcher was named the team's Most Valuable Player, Hitter of the Year, and Pitcher of the Year.

"Junior had just an outstanding year," Welton said.

"He'll give us a lot of options as to what we can do next year."

Senior co-captains Bob Clouse and Chris Acree were given the Coach's Award for their good leadership and hard work, especially in the off-season.

Clouse was also given the team's Most Improved award.

Senior Rob Lyerla was given the Dugout Award, which goes to the epitome of a team player.

PREPARING TO SLIDE is Chelsea lead-off hitter Leah Enderle during Friday's game at home with Lincoln. Chelsea won the game easily but looked a little sluggish in the early going. The Dogs will face Dexter and hurler Maryann Doletzky this Saturday in district action.

Baseball Season Ends With Loss to Pinckney

Chelsea varsity baseball team bowed out of the 1988 season with a 7-4 loss to the Pinckney Pirates in pre-district play last Tuesday, May 24.

Coach Wayne Welton's crew fell behind 4-0 in the first inning and had a tough time recovering. They were down 7-1 going into the final inning.

"Greg Boughton threw hard but they hit the ball well," Welton said.

"I said at the beginning of the year that Pinckney had some of the best talent in the league and they proved it even though they struggled during the regular season."

A hit, walk and error loaded the bases for the Pirates in the first. A double cleared the bases and a single scored the fourth run.

After Pinckney scored yet another run, Rob Lyerla's single in the fourth narrowed the gap to 5-1.

A series of Chelsea miscues in the sixth gave Pinckney two more runs.

The Bulldogs nearly made a game of it in the seventh. Chelsea scored three times and had runners at second and third but couldn't get the final big hits.

Junior Morseau had three hits for the game, Jeff Prentice and Bob Clouse had two each, Randy Ferry hit a double and Lyerla singled.

The Bulldogs ended 18-18-1.

"We had a good year and accomplished a lot of things," Welton said.

"We made it to the finals of the Ann Arbor News Tournament, which had 16 of the best teams in the area, and we were the top seed in our conference tournament. The kids played hard and had a solid season. I have to give an awful lot of credit for our success to Akel Marshall, our assistant coach. He's been with the program five years, and he coaches the outfielders. He knows the game. And the kids love him. But beyond that, he donates all his time. I don't know where we'd be without him."

Bulldog Girls Finish Fourth In Southeastern Conference

Chelsea Bulldog girls track team finished fourth in the Southeastern Conference meet with 51 points last Wednesday, May 25. Dexter won the meet with 91.

Kasey Anderson ended her SEC career by winning the 1,600 in 5:28.7 and the 3,200 in a school record 11:47.2. The 1,600 began with a slow pace and a group of six runners hitting the 800 mark in about 2:45. The pace quickened for the second half as Anderson, Mary Burke of Dexter and Wendy Hower of Milan began to pull away. Anderson put the race away on the final lap with Burke second in 5:31.5 and Hower third in 5:35.9.

The 3,200 was the same type of race, close for the first half with Anderson opening a big lead in the final stages. Hower was second, over 20 seconds back, in 12:08.5 and Burke third in 12:13.3.

The two wins capped an undefeated dual and SEC season in addition to regional championship in the 1,600 and 3,200 for Anderson.

There were two other double winners in the meet. Tecumseh's Jennifer Bechtol took the shot in 37' 8 1/2" and the discus in 122' 2". Kelly Olszewski of Saline won the 100 hurdles in 1:15.5 and the 300 hurdles in 4:48.2.

Chelsea had one other league champion. Danica Disbro, Tami Harris, Leisa Schiller and Anne Steffenson ran a season's best 1:49.6 to win the 800 relay, edging Dexter by :0.1 second.

Chelsea picked up third places from Disbro in the 100 in 12.9 and Harris in the 200 in 26.9.

The 3,200 relay of Anderson, Sarah Grau, Debi Koenn and Anne Steffenson was third in 10:15.3 as Anderson ran a 2:24 lead off 800.

Disbro added a fifth in the 200 and the 400 relay of Disbro, Jeanene Rossi, Schiller and Harris was sixth, in spite of some poor baton passes.

As she has done so often this season, Dena Stevens paced the Bulldogs in the field events, taking second in the shot at 31' 3 3/4" and sixth in the discus at 94' 11". Jeanene Rossi was fourth in the high jump with 4' 9" and Tammy Browning was fifth in the shot at 30' 5 1/4".

Their meet finish, combined with a 3-3 dual record put the Bulldogs fourth in the final SEC standings.

As assistant coach Bert Kruse put it, "It was disappointing because we didn't have enough people to cover everything like we would have liked, but pleasing because we got very good performance out of the people we had."

Triathlon Competition Slated June 5

A group of 600 athletes will be competing for $2,500 in prize money at the third running of the Great Lakes Triathlon Championship on June 5.

The triathlon combines one mile of swimming, 26 miles of biking, and a 6.8 mile run and will be held at Half-moon Lake Park in the Pinckney Recreation Area.

Along with the individual athletes, 50 teams (three members each) will be competing, bringing the total number of participants to 750.

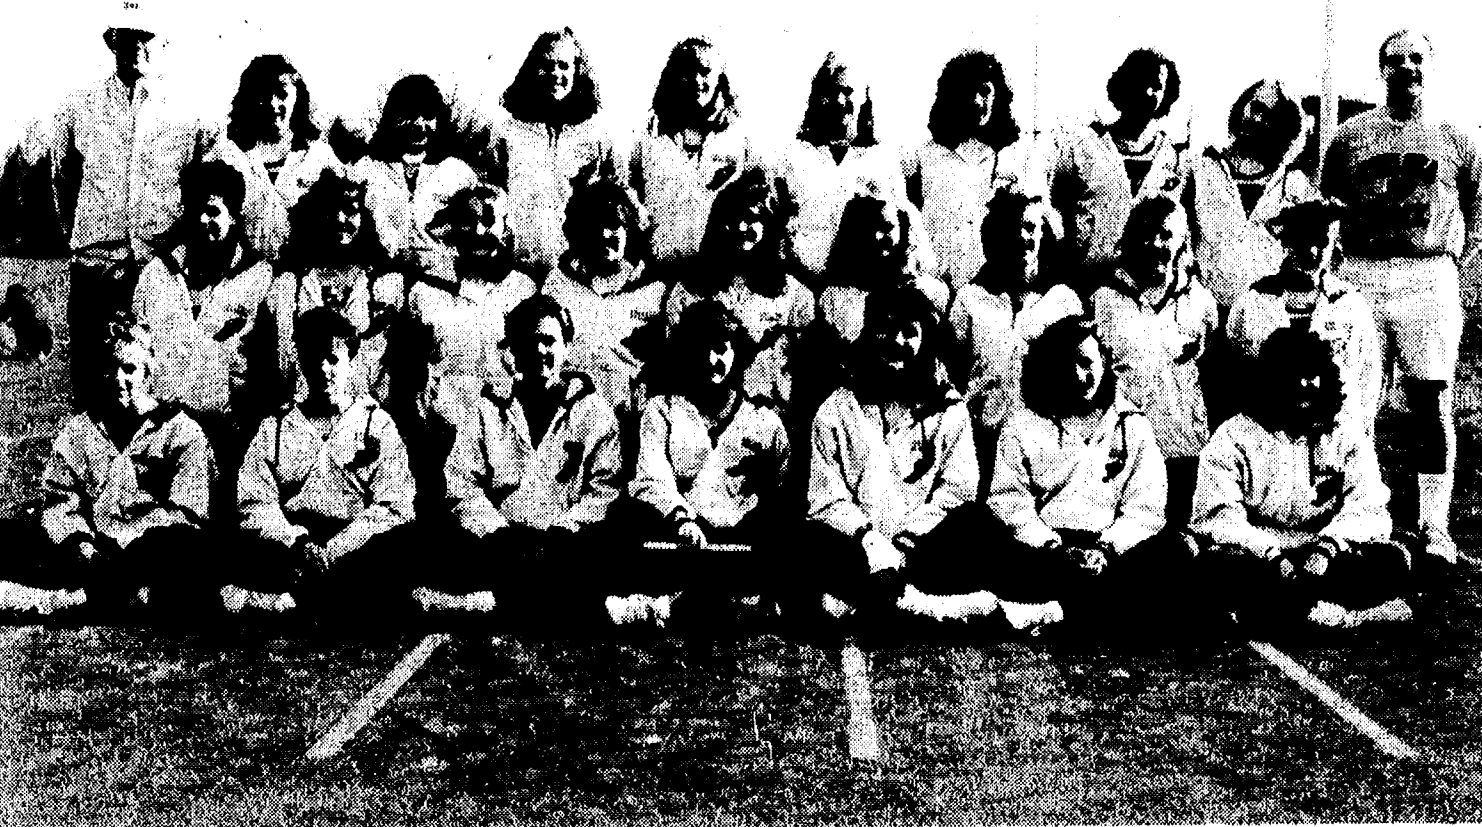

The GLTC is awarding its cash purse in a slightly different manner than traditional first, second and third placings. The men's and women's winners will win prize money, but $1,000 of the cash is targeted for the age group competitors. Age divisions are, usually broken into five-year groups (30-34, 35-39, 40-44, etc.). The person to beat her/his age division record by the most time will win top money ($400). The next best record breaker will win $300, third is worth $200 and fourth $100. A prize money structure of this nature gives older athletes a new motivation to train and compete.

The field of masters (over 40) athletes is quite extensive with three of the women's All American Team Members and six male All American's competing. The 60-64 male division with four All Americans should be quite a race. The All American Team was voted by the staff of Triathlon Today the largest subscription based, multi-sport magazine in the nation.

The most famous triathlon is the Ironman held in Hawaii. The GLTC does a shorter version of that test of endurance, starting the race with the swim at 8 a.m. The men's course record is held by Nick Taylor of Ontario at 2:00:28. The women's record is held by Paula Ehrle of Ohio at 2:23:13.

Registration and an equipment expo will be held June 4 from noon until 9 p.m. at the Sheraton University Inn on Boardwalk. The expo is open to the public at no charge.

Local athletes competing in the Great Lakes Triathlon Championship include Mark and Shelly Bentley, 13986 Dexter-Chelsea Rd.

CHELSEA BULLDOG GIRLS TRACK TEAM had a good season this year again under coach Bill Bainton. State Parks Open House Day Set Sunday, June 5, is Open House Day at all of Michigan's 86 state parks and recreation areas. Special events and festivities will be planned at nearly every park to celebrate the day, and motor vehicle entry fees will be waived at all parks.

"This is a great opportunity to pack a picnic lunch and head for the nearest state park in your area," said Ron Nagel of the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Parks Division. "Special events held that day will complement the parks' already natural and historic sights, which drew a record 24 million visitors last year."

State parks and recreation areas, situated throughout the state, are in close proximity to all Michigan residents, said Nagel, adding that all residents are within an hour's drive of at least one of the 86 parks.

Special events scheduled at some of the parks during the June 5 open house, are:

- Arts and crafts fair, chicken barbecue, free horsedrawn wagon rides, antique car show, coffee, ice cream and balloons at McClain State Park near Houghton.

- At Porcupine Mountains State Park near Ontonagon, dedication of the new Summit Peak Day Use Area and Overlook Tower, and the new boating launch on Lake Superior.

- Indian Lake State Park near Manistique has scheduled forest fire/fisheries and wildlife displays, a 4-H exhibit and barbecue, free door prizes and wagon rides and dunk tank.

- Island Lake Recreation Area, near Brighton, will host a hot air balloon race at sunrise and balloon flights three hours before sunset, with a family picnic sponsored at 1:30 by the Green Oak Township Historical Society.

- Arts fair, archery demonstrations, free paddle boat rides, half price on hot dogs and fountain drinks at South Higgins Lake State Park in Roscommon county.

- Wilson State Park in Clare county has scheduled an antique engine show, volleyball tournament, Boy Scout-arama event and exhibits, fire fighting and law enforcement displays, guided tours, free coffee and doughnuts.

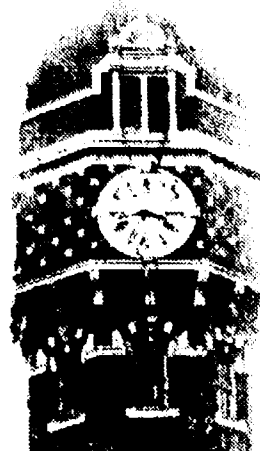

- Dedication of a new 181-site campground area of 181 sites at Sleepy Hollow State Park near Laingsburg in Clinton county.

For information on festivities occurring at other park sites on June 5, contact your nearest state park or recreation area. State park brochures are available at all Michigan state parks, DNR offices, or the DNR's Information Services Center, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing, (517) 373-1220.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Chelsea High school could see a slew of new coaching assignments next year. With what appears to be the almost certain departure of girls basketball coach and boys tennis coach Rahn Rosentreter, there will be two spots Athletic Director Larry Reed will have to fill.

I have no idea who might want to coach the tennis team, although Terry Curtis has done it before.

Paul Terpstra would be a logical choice to move up from the JV ranks to head the basketball program. His teams almost always have winning records and he is dedicated to the sport. Whether there are other qualified people in the area who might be interested is hard to know.

If Terpstra moves up, that leaves the JV job open.

Beach school football coach Jim Ticknor has decided to give up that part of his coaching life.

And that could present real problems for Reed. He does not want that job to go to someone who is marginally qualified. It's not fair to the kids, the over-all football program, and could be a liability hazard.

Freshman football coach Jim Tollman has also decided to limit his coaching duties and will not coach in the fall. That will be a real loss for the kids and the program in general.

Last fall the football program was understaffed. Gene LaFave and Wayne Welton did some junior varsity coaching, which is probably not the ideal situation. It will be fun to see who ends up where.

There are rumors of other departures from the coaching ranks.

The whole grievance situation involving Rahn Rosentreter has been fascinating to follow. However, as Chelsea Education Association attorney Walt Benton said, "it's the classic lose-lose situation."

Unless CEA wins the grievance in arbitration, Rosentreter will be gone next year. It's very likely he won't coach here no matter what happens. He is checking into coaching situations at other schools, including Pinckney and Dexter.

As I have said before, the loss of Rosentreter would be a big blow to both the sports and academic programs. He has the girls basketball program and boys tennis program on the right track. His teaching ability is admired by his students.

If the CEA wins, Welton will still only be a half-time teacher at the high school next year. If there was ever a guy who was meant to dedicate his life to high school kids it is Welton.

And it's the kids who will be the real losers here.

I have heard from more than one person the opinion that the district might have tried harder to keep Rosentreter here if he hadn't quit as boys basketball coach. I have absolutely no idea whether this is true. It would be dumb for anyone in power to admit to feeling that way.

I certainly don't want to believe it. Because what the school district would be saying, in essence, is boys basketball is more important than girls basketball. Not only would it be a vindictive action, but it would show that the district's priorities are all messed up.

Good luck to tennis player Kirk Lawton, distance runner Paul Hedding, high jumper Charlie Hosner, distance runner Kasey Anderson, and runners Sarah Grau, Debi Koenn and Anne Steffenson, who will all compete in their respective state meets this week.

If the softball team scores even one run this Saturday against Dexter, it will be the only run they've scored in three years in the district tournament.

Nature from Your Backdoor

By Glenn R. Dudderar

Bluebirds may become more common in Michigan if an extensive bluebird house building campaign succeeds.

The campaign, being conducted by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and county Co-operative Extension Service offices, has distributed more than 1,800 bluebird houses around the state. Building and putting up bluebird houses is becoming popular as people find they can have bluebirds where they live if they put up the houses in the right kind of location.

Unfortunately, a lot of people put bluebird houses in areas where bluebirds don't live. And therein lies an ecological tale.

The most common mistake people make is putting houses too close to their house or barn. Instead of bluebirds, they get English sparrows. The sparrows either take over the houses before the bluebirds get a chance or destroy the young after the bluebirds have nested and then take over the houses.

The second most common mistake is to put bluebird houses along the edge of a woods. That's not where bluebirds live, either. Those houses will be occupied by wrens, chickadees, titmice and other forest- and thicket-dwelling birds.

The best place for bluebird houses is away from buildings; out in the open but not too far from scattered trees or shrubs. Fifty to 100 feet is about right. Out in the middle of a wide open space, bluebird houses are more likely to be occupied by tree swallows.

The importance of the placement of bluebird houses points out the fact that the bluebird is a bird of neither the forest nor the broad, open meadow—it's a bird of the transitional area between meadow and woods. It does well where meadows have just begun to grow back into forests.

The bluebird is a bird of eastern North America, from Maine to Florida and the East Coast to the Mississippi. Before the European colonists arrived and started to clear the land, that whole area was largely forested. So where did the bluebird live before the settlers arrived? In the areas where fire, wind, flood, insects or disease, or native Americans had recently destroyed the forest and the first regrowth was beginning to invade the open areas.

The bluebird's tale reminds ecologists that any piece of forestland is in constant change as it goes through a cycle of destruction, rebirth, regrowth and maturity, with or without human influence. We can speed up the cycle, especially the destruction phase, but we cannot postpone it indefinitely.

What role we should play in it is a topic of hot debate.

Some people advocate cutting every tree as soon as it reaches maturity to make way for new, young growth. This would mean destroying the wildlife such as the piliated woodpecker that needs mature forest.

Other people advocate full protection of forests so that they will all grow old. This would surely destroy the birds that need the early stage of the forest to survive. The Kirtland's warbler is an example of a bird we've driven nearly to extinction by protecting the forest from fire and so breaking the cycle of destruction and regeneration that the bird depends on to create a suitable habitat.

The bluebird, as a creature of the transitional stage between open meadow and forest, can serve as a reminder that the truth in ecological arguments usually lies somewhere between the extremes, and that good management, if it's going to work for the future as well as the present, is not a simple either-or proposition. Computers, Career Changes Subject Of WCC Courses

Don't be computer shy. Washtenaw Community College and the Office of Continuing Education can help you take that first tentative step into the computer age.

For four Tuesdays, beginning June 7, WCC will offer "Computer Literacy for Mature Adults." This seminar will start with the basics and take the computer novice through word processing and spreadsheet software packages. The $40 fee for the 1:30-3:30 p.m. classes purchases plenty of hands-on computer time and supportive, individual instruction.

A mid-life career change doesn't have to be a crisis. Especially with WCC there to help smooth the transition. Continuing Education's "Mid-Life Career Changes" seminar on Tuesday, June 7 and Thursday, June 9 can help you explore the special characteristics of mid-life careers and ways to develop options for successful change. You can evaluate your interests and aptitudes and learn ways to keep up-to-date with emerging job market and career trends at the 6:30-8:30 p.m. classes. The course fee is $20. Ruth Eckstein, C.S.W., a specialist in career and vocational development and placement with 20 years of experience, will conduct the seminar.

For more information contact Julie Lavender at (313) 973-3668.

Unwary bathers seldom see Australia's box jelly before they bump into it—but they certainly feel it. According to International Wildlife magazine, many victims initially mistake the jellyfish's sting for a shark bite. But they barely have time to get to the shore. The venom stops the heart—ping! Death can occur in as little as 30 seconds. Oddly, for such a deadly animal, it is easily fooled. Lifeguards patrolling high-risk bathing areas wear pantyhose, which the jellyfish's sting can't penetrate.

Outdoor Report

From DNR
District Office in Jackson

May 23

Fisheries . . .

The Jackson Fisheries District will hold a public meeting in early June to discuss proposed changes in fishing regulations and receive public comment on these proposals. On June 2 at 7:30 p.m., a meeting will be held at the Hudson Center Grange Hall, one mile east of the village of Hudson on M-34. The purpose of this public meeting is to discuss proposed restrictions on musky fishing at Lake Hudson. The lake is very important to the statewide purebred and hybrid musky programs because of the population of purebred northern muskies. Therefore, Lake Hudson is under broodstock musky regulations. Currently, muskies have to be a minimum of 38 inches long before they can be legally kept at Lake Hudson. During the egg collection projects at Lake Hudson the last three years, we have noticed very few fish over 38 inches. Therefore, we surmise that the large muskies are being fished heavily and harvested quickly after attaining legal size. The largest fish, which are almost invariably females, are the most important egg source since both the quantity and the quality of the eggs produced is much higher than eggs produced by small females. Proposals to be discussed are: (1) raising the musky legal length limit from 38 to 45 inches, (2) making the musky fishing catch and release only (no kill), and (3) closing Lake Hudson to all fishing during the period of March 15 to the legal opening of musky season on the last Saturday of April. Before any of these options or a combination of them is implemented, we need public input and feelings of support or opposition. This is the purpose of the public meeting.

Wildlife . . .

DNR biologists, Pheasants Forever Club members and other volunteers are busy finishing up crowing cock pheasant surveys.

Routes will be surveyed in every township in Ingham, Jackson and Washtenaw counties. These will be completed by volunteers. Wildlife biologists will complete 1 or 2 routes in all other counties in the district.

Crowing cock counts are conducted over the same route each year. They start 40 minutes before sunrise and have 12 listening stops for 2 minutes at each stop. Numbers of pheasant crows heard can be compared with previous years and provide a good indicator of rooster pheasants in May. Routes are run between May 1 and May 31. Results of these surveys will be in a future report.

Instead of building their own nests, female European cuckoos lay their eggs in other birds' nests. According to Ranger Rick magazine, the female cuckoo usually lays her eggs in the nest of birds with eggs that look like hers. The other birds are often tricked into raising the cuckoo babies just as they would their own.

Aquatic Club Negotiating Meeting Set

In a meeting to be held tomorrow night, members of the Chelsea Aquatic Club will hear a progress report on current discussions between the CAC negotiating committee and administrative officers of the Chelsea School District.

The CAC proposal for an integrated school/community swimming program was well received but some issues remain to be resolved.

Negotiating on behalf of the club membership are Ron Montagne, Mike Cross and Alan Fischer.

The meeting tomorrow night will be held in the LGI Room of Beach school and will be called to order at 7 o'clock. At that time the negotiating team wishes to have membership feedback on steps that can lead to a mutually supported program.

Expected Record Deer Herd Size Worries Farmers

The record number of deer expected in Michigan this year is causing concern in the state's farm community. According to Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau, it's a "pocketbook issue" for farmers.

"It's pure economics. The increased deer herd is bringing in greater intensity on farm crops, so we're talking about a pocketbook issue for farmers," Nelson said. "When deer numbers increase, and the duration of their stay on the farm increases, crop damage becomes severe."

"Probably a farmer can afford to donate $100 to a few deer in terms of crops, but when they start donating $1,000 or $10,000, or possibly more to that herd of deer on an annual basis, it gets to be a severe economic problem."

Nelson said there are several possible solutions to the problem including using repellents to deter the deer from entering an area, or fencing. But reducing the size of the herd through the hunting season is the best and most workable solution, Nelson said.

"A number of farmers are going to a leasing arrangement with hunters. Farmers have had some concerns in the past about liability, but there are a couple of laws on the books now that give a great deal of protection to a farmer who allows hunting either under a lease compensation arrangement or without any remuneration. I think farmers are in a pretty good position to encourage hunters on their land to reduce that deer population," he said.

Motorists should be alert to the increased deer herd movement, Nelson said, because of the dangers of car-deer accidents.

"Car-deer accidents, at least, are an inconvenience; at worst, resulted in five fatal injuries to motorists in the past couple of years," Nelson said. "The economic loss is fairly substantial, too, and this translates into higher insurance rates because the damage to the vehicle is very expensive to repair."

Police Seek Escaped Prisoner

Police are searching for a 36-year-old white man who walked away from Cassidy Lake Technical School on Monday morning.

Bryan Erikson, 36, of Oakland county, was serving 12 to 20 years for manufacturing and selling illegal drugs. He was reported missing from the minimum security prison at 8 a.m.

Erikson is described as 6', 185 pounds with brown hair, hazel eyes, and a beard.

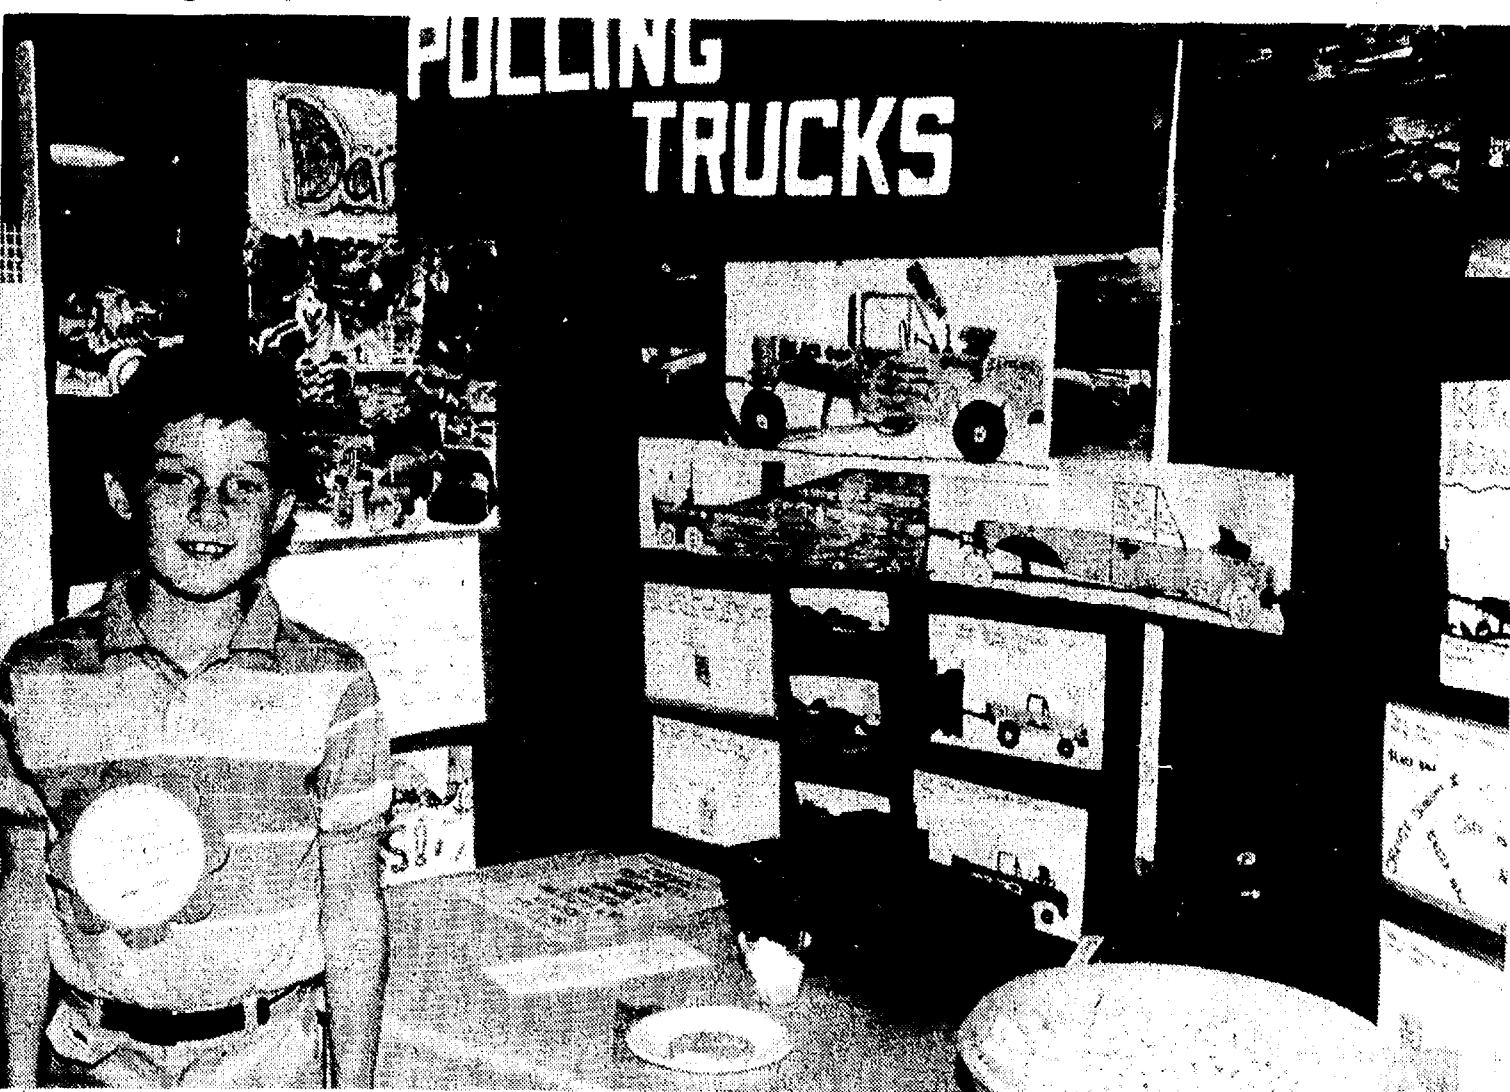

JEANETTE McDOUGALL, a South school third grader, wanted to find out which dog breeds make the best pets as her project for the Enrichment Triad Program. After her research she wrote and illustrated a book called "The Best Bone Beggars for Pets." Jeanette shared her knowledge with parents and fellow students at Chelsea's Children Celebrate Live at the school.

EVAN KNOTT, a South school fifth grader, became an expert in skateboarding as his project for the Enrichment Triad Program. Evan believed that too many people think skateboarding is dangerous. He wanted to show that when skateboarders keep safety in mind, the sport is a lot of fun. Evan created a brochure on the subject and even had a skateboarding video as part of his interest center. It was all on display at South school last Thursday night.

PULLING TRUCKS, the kind you'll find at mud bogs and other events, held a special fascination for South school's Dan Hinderer. The youngster studied the trucks as his year-long special project for the school's Enrichment Triad Program. Dan was on hand to show off his custom-made interest center and answer questions last Thursday night.

DENTAL IMPLANTS—A GROWING FIELD

Q. I've heard about dental implants as alternatives to dentures. What should I know about these?

A. Dental implants may offer solutions for patients who cannot function adequately with conventional dentures. However, not every patient is a candidate for implants. The decision should be made only after a careful examination by your dentist and discussion of the relative benefits and risks and what the procedure involves. Implants should not be considered routine alternatives to conventional dentures according to the American Dental Association.

There are four main types of implants. The endosseous implant is placed into the bone, typically with posts that project through the gum tissue. The replacement teeth are then attached to these posts. A subperiosteal implant is used for the patient who can't wear conventional dentures because of gum loss. This implant is a metal framework made to fit the jaw's shape and surface. The framework has posts that project through the gum tissue and attach to replacement teeth. Unlike the endosseous implant, which is embedded into the bone, the subperiosteal implant rests on top of the bone but beneath the gum tissues.

The endodontic implant is used to help retain natural teeth that are loose due to surrounding bone loss. It passes through the root of the tooth into the underlying bone, stabilizing the tooth. A fourth type, called intramucosal inserts, involves indentations made in the gum tissues with corresponding button-like projections on the denture which fit into these indentations.

Implantology is one of the fastest growing areas in dentistry and there is some effort being made to make it a recognized specialty. Since there is no single type of implant which will work for every patient and every situation it is important to search out a practitioner who is experienced at several types of implants.

Federal Officials Arrive To Inspect SSC Site

Governor James J. Blanchard today said Michigan is prepared to "present a winning case" during a final inspection by federal officials of the Stockbridge site for the Superconducting Super Collider (SSC).

The U.S. Department of Energy's SSC Site Selection Task Force arrives in Michigan May 31 to begin a three-and-a-half day tour of the 16,000-acre site in Ingham and Jackson counties.

The task force visit, the second this year, is expected to be the last before deciding the winner of the seven-state competition to site the $4.5 billion scientific research machine. The DOE decision is expected to be announced in November.

"I'm confident that the Stockbridge site, along with the tremendous community and state support, make this a winning proposal for Michigan to be the home of the SSC," the Governor said. "We are determined not just to be the host state, but to make sure this is a successful project."

The Governor will welcome the task force to Michigan at a news conference on the University of Michigan campus on Tuesday, May 31, at 1:30 p.m. Joining the Governor at the news conference will be U.S. Senator Donald W. Reagle, and Congressman Bob Carr, Paul Henry and Carl Pursell.

The Governor later will convene a four-hour presentation of "the case for Michigan," an illustrated summary of Michigan's nine-volume proposal to site the SSC. Subsequent presentations during the visit will focus on particular strengths, such as Michigan's ability to construct the huge research machine and transfer its research and technologies into the economy.

During its visit, the 25-member task force also will board helicopters for a low-level aerial survey of the "footprint" of the SSC's 53-mile accelerator ring, a 10-foot tunnel 120 to 140 feet below the earth's surface. One part of the tour includes flying over the entire southeastern Michigan region, including metropolitan Detroit, to chart traffic flows during morning and evening rush hours. The DOE inspectors also will take a motor tour of the Stockbridge area to inspect land features.

Also scheduled is a visit to the Superconducting Cyclotron laboratory on the campus of Michigan State University at 11:30 a.m. Thursday, June 2, and several presentations on the campus of the University of Michigan the following day, to conclude the visit.

Garland DeYoe Receives Energy Manager Award

Garland DeYoe, foreman I in the U-M plumbing shop, received the Governor's Energy Manager of the Year Award in the technician category at the spring meeting of the State Physical Plant Association.

DeYoe was recognized for his continuous diligence in energy management maintenance activities.

Back in 1982 the University of Michigan decided that it was time to establish a comprehensive steam trap maintenance program. Because of the scope of the project (it is estimated that there are over 25,000 traps on campus) it was decided that a team of skilled tradesmen would be formed and dedicated to the job. Garland DeYoe was chosen as foreman to head up what came to be known as the SWAT team.

DeYoe had his hands full from the very beginning. Some of the oldest buildings on campus were chosen as the first targets. While surveying traps it quickly became apparent to DeYoe that numerous other energy conservation measures could be taken by the team. The responsibilities of the team grew to include maintenance of control valves, coils, thermostats, and temperature controls as well as the traps. In addition, DeYoe and the SWAT team have identified numerous potential energy conservation measures that have been turned over to the engineering group for evaluation.

Through 1987 some 10,599 traps, 9,455 valves, and 1,078 thermostats have been repaired, rebuilt, or replaced by this team. Estimates of energy cost avoidance in now approaching a million dollars per year.

Murphy Appointed to County Consumer Mediation Committee

Dan Murphy, owner of the Chelsea Pharmacy, was appointed to the county's Consumer Mediation Committee for a term to run until the end of 1989. Murphy's name was submitted by the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce.

The Consumer Mediation Committee consists of six people who serve as advisors for the county's Consumer Services Department. The County Board of Commissioners, who appoint the committee, try to keep it evenly divided between consumer advocates and business people.

Of the three business representatives, one usually comes from the Ann Arbor business community and one from Ypsilanti. Murphy is filling the third slot which is reserved for someone from out-county.

Chelsea is also represented on the consumer side, since Virginia Webb, a volunteer at the Consumer Services Department, fills one of those slots.

The consumer mediation service is free and open to anyone in Washtenaw county. People with consumer problems which they cannot solve themselves, may take them to this department, where a volunteer mediator such as Webb will be assigned to investigate and see if a solution acceptable to both sides can be reached.

The Consumer Services department is located in the Co-operative Extension service building on Hogback Rd., near Ann Arbor. Their phone number is 971-6054.

"Treatment and Recovery from Chemical Dependence" is the topic of Brighton Hospital's next Community Education Program on Tuesday evening, June 7. The final program in the current series will begin at 7 p.m. in the hospital's chapel.

Hardee Bethea, M.D., a medical consultant at the substance abuse treatment center, will be the featured speaker. Dr. Bethea will discuss how alcoholism and other types of drug abuse may be treated. He will also cover the role of Alcoholics Anonymous and Al-Anon in recovery.

According to Ellen Ayers, director of counseling services at Brighton Hospital, the Community Education Program is an important opportunity for people to learn about chemical dependence. "Many of the people who attend the series are concerned about the drinking or drug use of a family member or friend but don't know about the help that's available," she says.

Brighton Hospital hosts the education series on the first Tuesday evening of each month. Reservations are not required for the free program. The hospital is located on E. Grand River in Brighton, just west of Kensington Rd.

For additional information, contact the Community Relations Department on weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. at (313) 227-1211, ext. 276.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

In regard to the lady seeking information about the movement to raise $150,000 for a new building to house Faith In Action, may I say there is a definite need. We have outgrown the present facility and are anxiously awaiting the time to move into our new location.

I'm not terribly sure what Chelsea Social Services do, but let me tell you a bit about Faith In Action.

Faith In Action is an interdenominational non-profit organization, established in 1981. It is run by about 60 volunteers. Volunteers contributed approximately 3,700 hours last year in the house alone, this is not counting the hours spent by our volunteers driving people to and from doctor's appointments, hospitals, and such. This also does not include volunteers working in the other programs such as Parent to Parent or our Outreach to Older Adults program, or Parents Anonymous or our Free Health Clinic, or Counseling and Crisis Intervention or our Youth-Senior Program. (We give emergency assistance: food, clothing, shelter, and financial aid.)

Our present building is not large enough to handle these programs and yes, volunteers have been opening their homes and facilities so they might continue.

We are funded by churches, individuals, and businesses in our area and Dexter, whom we also serve. Our building fund is not being put on the millage to vote on so only those who want to make a donation will. It will cost only those people that seek a blessing by giving to help others. We feel certain that our caretakers, housekeepers, and more staff will all be volunteers. We maintain our present facility and plan to do the same for the new one.

We are not in competition with Chelsea Social Service, CATS, or AATA. We can use all the volunteers we can get. In reference to clothing sold at a dollar a bag to clear space, we usually have these sales twice a year to alleviate our need to store winter things during the summer and summer things during the winter. Our new facility hopefully will allow storage room.

Last but not least, mention was made of the Maytag repairman. Let me remind you of the Packard car slogan, "Ask the man who owns one." Ask the people who have benefited by the services of Faith In Action, then ask yourself if we as a community can afford not to have this service.

Nadine U. Shaneyfelt
FIA Volunteer

Dear Editor,

This letter is long overdue. So many people have contacted me lately that I finally have to act.

We have NO parking spaces in downtown shopping for the handicapped save in the large lot behind Schneider's. There is NO access for a wheelchair at any corner and the double curbs make it difficult and painful, if not impossible, for a lot of us to step up or down if we do find a space close to where we wish to shop; or if someone is kind enough to take us uptown.

This is too caring a community, our merchants too considerate for a few to keep pushing us away. And WHY was the Post Office renovated and still NO way a handicapped person can enter. Now we have to drive several more blocks to use a drive-up mailbox and then the pick-ups are not the same as at the main office.

There are federal and state laws not being observed here. How can that be? Don't condescend to offer me free parking if I can't use it.

I ask two things: All concerned persons kindly write or attend a village meeting; the elderly and handicapped can't. The second thing is for the merchants to make a noise and help us spend our money in your stores instead of easier areas.

On behalf of the senior citizens and the young and other handicapped persons, I thank you for listening.

Cathie Parker.

Dear Editor:

Another year past and the problem just gets worse. There is enough talk pro and con about sports, politics, astronomy, etc., but what is being done to honor our Flag on Flag Day, June the 14th?

Granted it is just a piece of cloth but isn't it true the most important things in life have lousy resale value, like children, good health, Holy Matrimony, our Flag. This shameful travesty brings us all down to the level of animals or lower. Without our Flag we might as well be possums or insects!

People are fighting over fireworks when the real issue is our Flag. As usual the problem is money. Don't let anyone fool you, fireworks and insurance are big money. People are getting rich, buying Porches, Cadillacs, etc., from all those fireworks and insurance. The companies are in it together. You scratch my back (fireworks) I'll scratch yours (insurance).

What kind of example is this to set for our children?

Marlon Stitt,

To the Editor,

I read with pleasure and interest my letter to the Editor, regarding April 20 issue about Mr. Schenk. Only difference was you stated horses name people unhitched as "Debbie Instead of Dobbin"—my handwriting I confess isn't as good at 87 years as "it used to be." Anyway mistake only proves that in order for there ever to be any "Dobbins," male sex, there would have to be some "Debbie" "mamas" wouldn't there?

Also, I have read request of Dr. Louis Doll in this week's issue—knew him well back in school, and his brother, both real smart cookies, but I can't come up with his request although I remember the terrible accident vividly—on a Saturday evening—trolley car filled with soldiers (D.U.R.) and it happened west of Chelsea and on going out to the horrible scene. I'll never forget seeing a soldier lying in the ditch along side of the tracks with both legs severed.

I worked for two weeks for Mr. Leonard years ago when he was on Main St. I assembled some sheets of material—not newspaper sheets on a "jogging" machine or something similar. Don't remember how we made contact.

Wishing you the best of everything, I remain,

Wilhelmina A. Lonsway.

P.S. I knew Wm. Doll, older brother better than Louis. He used to bring sewing on Fridays when Sister used to let us have something special for recreation apart from classes. He was laughed at—but years later he turned out to be a fashion designer for TV gowns in New York. Not bad eh?

To the Editor,

Tuesday, May 24, several area residents and I saw a mature bald eagle eating something on the ground on a plowed field just west of Four Mile Lake. This bird was within 100 yards of Dexter-Chelsea Rd., on the ground at least 15 minutes at approximately 3 p.m.

Department of Natural Resources biologist Dick Wolinski said this is fairly late for a migrating eagle to be seen here.

Tom Northrup.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, May 2 were Grau, Comeau, Redding, Satterthwaite, Cherem, Wales, Feeney, superintendent Van Meer, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Williams, Stielstra, Benedict, Wescott, assistant principal Larson, community education director Rogers, special education director DeYoung, athletic director Reed, curriculum director Bissell, guests.

Meeting called to order at 8 p.m. by President Grau.

Board approved the minutes of the April 18 meeting.

Board approved the minutes of the executive session of April 18.

Entered as an official communication were (1) a letter from Dr. Charles Jaquith, Central Michigan University, regarding Beth Vogel's presentation; (2) letter from Bob Bullock, indicating his desire to return to his teaching position after a one-year leave of absence; (3) a communication from MASH pertaining to financial support of the SJRK plan.

The board expressed appreciation to Tom Dunlap, announcer for basketball games for the past three years, and presented him with a certificate of appreciation.

Board members volunteered for graduation assignments. All members will participate in the high school graduation on June 5, and board members Feeney, Wales and Satterthwaite will participate in the adult education graduation on June 9.

Doug Dault, counselor from the Chelsea Community Hospital, was present to share with the board the progress of the Employee Assistance Program. He passed out promotional material and indicated that the more publicity the program receives, the more employees will use it. It is his hope that the board will continue the program.

Assistant superintendent Fred Mills discussed the asbestos regulations and indicated that the district is following the regulations, and has trained custodians to recognize asbestos. Additionally, a maintenance person has been trained to not only recognize asbestos, but remove or encapsulate it. Mills indicated that Washtenaw county has passed a Right to Know Ordinance which is more stringent than Federal law, and that our listing of hazardous materials and alerting the Fire Department of the location of these materials has been completed. The district will probably be in full compliance by June 27.

At the CEA's request, the Level III hearing on grievance HS-1-87-88 was held in closed session.

The board convened in executive session to discuss personnel matters, and subsequently reconvened in public session.

The board approved continuing contracts for the following administrators: Frederick A. Mills, principals John Williams, Darcy Stielstra, William Wescott, Robert Benedict, assistant principal Ken Larson, community education director Jackie Rogers, special education director Henry DeYoung, athletic director Larry Reed, curriculum director Laurie Bissell.

The board denied the English Department's request for an additional teacher for the 1988-89 school year. The current high school staff ratio is 18:1. With a projected 40.5-member staff for 1988-89, the projected ratio would be 16:1.

The board approved the 1988-89 Washtenaw county common calendar.

Board approved the request of Robert Bullock, who was on a two-year leave of absence, to return from his leave in time to teach the 1988-89 school year.

Board approved the rescheduling of the June board meetings as follows: June 13 at Beach school (Annual Election); June 27, Board Room.

Board approved the holding of the Annual Public Budget Hearings for 7 p.m., Beach School Media Center, on June 13.

Board accepted, with regret, the resignation of Mary Kalmbach, food service employee. Mary has served the district for 17 years.

Board denied grievance HS-1-87-88. Board directed the Superintendent of Schools to reissue the grievance settlement previously offered by the superintendent on April 21.

Variety, Donations Are Kiwanis Features

"Variety is the keynote—along with gift donations of more than $5,000—of Chelsea Kiwanis Club activities for June. Individual program chairmen are George Heydlauff, Jim Alford, Dr. Ron Biedron, Don Cole, and Bill Rademacher.

A $2,000 donation to the Chelsea Area Transportation Service will be made June 6 at the annual steak fry hosted by George Heydlauff, followed June 13 by a "Progress Report on the Chelsea Depot Restoration" by a member of the Depot committee—Kiwanis will present $1,500 to the Depot project at this meeting.

Charles C. Cameron will present an illustrated "Grand Canyon Story" at the June 20 meeting.

The annual "Octogenarian Night" on June 27, as usual, will be handled by Bill Rademacher as master of ceremonies. Some 40 or 50 guests of 80-plus years—with some 90 or older—usually attend these dinner meetings with the Kiwanians.

At Chelsea High school's annual "Class Night" Kiwanis president Dr. Warren Atkinson presented the various Kiwanis scholarships to winners who collectively were awarded some $2,000 or more. This includes the annual Steven Edward Lewis Memorial Kiwanis Key Club Scholarship (four-year) of $1,500.

The Kiwanis Club meets every Monday evening at 6:30 at Chelsea Hospital.

In last week's edition was a photograph of a hay truck that crashed into a tree on Old US-12. The hay caught fire due to gas leaking from the carburetor onto a hot engine. The gas tanks were intact.

Waterloo Area Farm Museum Open for Summer

The Waterloo Area Farm Museum, 9998 Waterloo-Munith Rd., three miles northwest of Waterloo village, opened June 1 for the summer season. It is now open daily from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. except Mondays. There is an admission charge.

The museum consists of a farm house, log house, bake house, barn, and outbuildings which have all been restored by volunteer help over a period of 25 years. It is the only museum of its kind in Michigan and is listed on the state and national Register of Historic Places.

Dewey School Museum is a restored one-room country school house located at Territorial and Mayer Rd. It is open 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday only.

April and May have been busy months at the Farm Museum and Dewey School. A total of 600 students from third, seventh, and eighth grades have been visitors. The students were from Ann Arbor, Howell, Dexter, Chelsea, and Stockbridge schools.

Several craftspeople will be demonstrating at the museum on Sundays during the summer. The first demonstrator, folk painter Susan Lube, is scheduled for June 12.

Lube, who hails from Stockbridge, describes folk painting as "a simple, one-dimensional style of painting." The paintings may be done on wood, cloth, slate, or any surface. Patterns or pictures from magazines may be transferred to a surface using graphite. Acrylic paints are used.

Lube will also display her reproductions of 1909 antique teddy bears.

A variety of interesting classes will be offered at the museum in June. The list of classes includes herbal nosegay, chair caning, folk painting, gathering basket, lap quilting, antique teddy bears, wheat weaving, and herbal vinegars.

For further information on classes contact Chelsea Community Education (313-475-9830) or Nancy Kauffman (313-475-3692).
