LORINE ELLENWOOD is retiring after 23 years at Wolverine Food & Spirits, and as many as 300 people are expected to turn out for a party in her honor this Sunday. Lorine had, at one time or another, handled virtually every job the establishment had to offer. She was a waitress, bartender, cook, caterer, and food orderer. Lorine and her husband, George, have lived in the Chelsea-Dexter area all their lives. They moved to Chelsea from Dexter about 38 years ago. Lorine was formerly employed by the Dexter Bakery. Her six children, Dan, Susan Kiner, Sharon Biggs, Sandra Ellenwood, Sally Ellenwood, and Paula Clark are throwing the party, along with Joe and Judy Merkel, owners of the Wolverine.

Ellis Pratt Retains Seat As County Commissioner, Heller, Lesser Elected

Washtenaw County Commissioner Ellis Pratt was elected by a wide margin in last Tuesday's general primary election.

Pratt, who represents the western half of the county, knocked off fellow Republican David Little, 944-641, to gain the right to run this November unopposed in the November elections. Voters in Scio township ousted incumbent trustees Ken Collica, Robert Bliss, Spaulding Clark (also planning commission chairman), and Terrance Conlin in an apparent mandate for slower growth in the area.

Elected were Robert Tickle (828 votes), Janet Gerson (801), Kathi Boyle (825), and Charles Ream (816). Bliss had 439, Conlin 377, Collica 373, and Clark 349.

The four earned the right to run unopposed in the November elections. The following is a rundown of election results. Numbers of votes are given in contested elections only. No Democrat ran in any of the elections.

Dexter township
The entire Republican slate was unopposed: supervisor, James Drolett; clerk, William Eisenbeiser; treasurer, Julie Knight; trustees, Earl Doletsky and H. Douglas Smith.

Webster township
The only race was for constable, where Carl Koch defeated DeWight DeRoo 77-57. Everyone else was unopposed including supervisor Donald Zeeb, clerk Wana Baldus, treasurer Janis Keogh, and trustees Hugh Mosher and Paul Kleinschmidt.

In other races of local importance, Lana Pollack beat Dean Baker in the Democratic primary for U.S. House of Representatives, 2nd district, 12,051-5,049. She will face Carl Pursell, who ran unopposed in the primary, in the November elections.

County Circuit Judge Patrick Conlin lost in his bid for appeals court. He finished sixth in a field of eight candidates seeking four nominations. Conlin was the only candidate outside Wayne county.

Nancy Francis (6,363) and Melinda Morris (5,928) received the highest vote totals for circuit court. They will face off this November.

Drain Commissioner C. Delores Sigal, who was appointed to replace James Murray when he resigned, was beaten in the Republican primary by

Three Recent Grads Face Felony Charges in Rash of Pipe Bombings

Three Chelsea teen-agers turned themselves in to police last Wednesday morning in connection with a series of pipe-bombing incidents in the Chelsea area through July.

The three, who face three felony charges each, are Joel Boyer, 17, of Chandler St., Chris Cheng, 18, of Wellington St., and Thomas Bennett, of Watt Rd., North Lake, Gregory. All three are 1988 graduates of Chelsea High school.

The young men, who have confessed to more than a dozen bombings in the rural Chelsea area, face a maximum of 10 years in jail on the combined charges.

The three are scheduled for a pre-trial exam this Friday, Aug. 12 at the Chelsea 14th District Court.

All three were released on personal bond.

According to police, most of the bombs were used to blow up mailboxes. However a green at Inverness Golf Course was damaged, as was a soft drink machine. Two other live, unexploded bombs were found in the countryside.

One bomb, which turned out not to contain explosives, was found on the steps of The Chelsea Standard last Sunday, July 31 with a letter to the editor attached to it. Shortly after that, the three confessed to the incidents.

All are charged with possession of explosives, which carries a maximum penalty of four years in prison and a $2,000 fine; possession of bombs with unlawful intent, which carries a penalty of not less than two years in jail or more than five; and sending a bomb with intent to frighten, which carries a maximum penalty of four years in jail and a $2,000 fine.

Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department Det. Paul Wade and officer David Detling of the Chelsea Police Department worked on the case as a joint project.

Lindley Rd. Closed Due to ORV Damage

Lindley Rd. in the Pinckney Recreation Area was closed last Wednesday and will remain closed indefinitely, according to park officials.

The main reason is the illegal use of off road vehicles in the area, which have caused damage and soil erosion. In addition, according to park director John LeBassiere, there have been numerous parties in the area and trash has become a problem.

"We're trying to stop traffic," LeBassiere said.

"But we want people to keep using the area for fishing at Gorman Lake, mushroom hunting, and other activities."

A gate has been installed that will be locked. However, fishermen will be able to obtain a key at the park office to gain access for themselves. Anyone in the area illegally will be ticketed, LeBassiere said.

The damage by off road vehicles has been extensive, LeBassiere said. Some of the ruts created by the vehicles are more than six feet deep.

"Once the erosion starts it's hard to stop," LeBassiere said.

"As soon as one area gets rutted up, they move over and start again. They've gone through areas where there are food plantings for wildlife. This isn't the only place, but it's one of the worst places."

Village Gets Extension On License, Recycling Center Planned at Polly's

Village of Chelsea began its fourth landfill license extension last Sunday and village officials hope it will be the last.

Assistant Village Manager Lee Fahrner told village council last Tuesday that the village and Department of Natural Resources are close to an agreement for cleaning up alleged groundwater pollution at the landfill. He said he was reasonably confident an agreement would be ready to sign by the time the current extension runs out Sept. 7.

"We're just trying to preserve our legal rights under Act 245," Fahrner said.

The law would allow the village not to clean up pollution if the amount is so close to the legal standards that a clean-up would not be economically feasible. The village wants to make sure it does not waive their right to a variance.

The village, Fahrner said, has also agreed to submit three plans to the DNR by the end of the month. One for closure of the old landfill, another for a soil study, and a third for a hydrogeological study.

Once the village and DNR sign a clean-up agreement, the DNR has promised to issue a new landfill operating license, which would allow the village to begin filling a new landfill cell.

In other council business, Washtenaw county recycling consultant Tom McMurtrie told council that Chelsea's recycling program could begin within 30 to 60 days once all contractual language and other concerns are finalized.

McMurtrie said the county may lose its state funding for the program. However, he said he is optimistic an extension will be granted.

Council agreed to locate the recycling containers at Polly's Market, although there were concerns that the site would be difficult to keep clean.

There was some sentiment to have the containers at the landfill, where they could be more easily monitored. However, the convenience of Polly's became the primary factor.

Area resident Carol Strahler, who has worked on the program as part of a project in the schools, objected to the landfill as being too inconvenient.

"It's going to be hard enough to get people to change," she said.

McMurtrie also said the program had to be as easy to use as possible in order to be a success.

"I have no objection as long as it's not a nuisance for (the village) or for Polly's," said Village President Jerry Satterthwaite said.

McMurtrie said the containers are scheduled to be completed this week and that Dexter and Northfield township will be the first communities in the county-wide program.

Council unanimously agreed to a lease arrangement with Chelsea Milling Co. for land behind the fire department on Middle St., where a long-term parking lot will be constructed.

In addition, council agreed to formalize a lease agreement with the mill for the parking lot next to Heydlauff's.

DDA chairman Paul Frisinger distributed a list of ideas the DDA has concerning how parking should be divided downtown.

The suggestions include:

- turn about 25 spaces in the Municipal Parking Lot into two-hour limit spaces and designate two spaces for handicapped parking
- put a two-hour limit on one half of the lot between Harper Pontiac and Chelsea Glass on W. Middle St., a total of about 10 spaces, and create one handicapped spot
- put a two-hour limit on spaces next to the Heydlauff's building (15) and create one handicapped spot.
- create two-hour parking on South St. from Main St. to Garfield
- make all metered spaces two-hour spaces
- mark tires and have fines start at $5 for violation of two-hour parking.

Fahrner told council that the final plat of phase I of Belser Estates, the proposed subdivision on the eastern edge of the village, would probably be ready for approval at the Aug. 16 council meeting.

Belser indicated he would probably go ahead with construction at his own risk. He is waiting for a determination by the DNR about an area of land he is proposing to use as a water retention basin.

Homicide Attempt Fizzles When Booby Trap Fails To Explode

A Sylvan Rd. man is lucky to be alive after a home-made booby trap that was set to explode when he entered his front door failed to detonate early last Friday evening.

"It's a stroke of luck that he's alive," said Det. Sgt. Jerry Boyer of the Michigan State Police.

"I believe it would have killed him if it had exploded."

The man, in his early 40s and on disability, returned home Friday about 5:45 p.m. and noticed the bomb after he opened the door. Sometime after he realized what it was, he called police. However, police didn't arrive on the scene until about 9:30 p.m. Boyer said he doesn't know what caused the delay.

According to Boyer, if the man had even attempted to move the bomb, it would have exploded.

Boyer said police don't have a good motive or a good suspect. However, he said there had been accusations by the man's neighbors that he had been selling drugs.

"If we had seen any evidence that he had been selling drugs, we would have arrested him," Boyer said.

Police are also investigating what the Chelsea Fire Department termed "a suspicious fire," at another hunting shack on the same Sylvan Rd. area on Aug. 3. The uninhabited shack belonged to a part-time Chelsea police officer. Police believe there may be a connection between the incidents.

Boyer said they don't believe there is a connection between recent pipe bombings in the area and the Sylvan Rd. incident. However, he said it's likely the publicity surrounding the pipe bombings "led to it."

Repairs Won't Affect Parade

The Chelsea Community Fair Parade apparently will not have to be re-routed after all.

Assistant Village Manager Lee Fahrner said the Michigan Department of Transportation has delayed its plans to work on M-52 until September, which avoids conflict with the fair.

That also means the Children's Parade can follow its traditional course down Main St. on Tuesday, Aug. 23.

The state plans extensive roadwork from the Chelsea Medical Center through town to Sibley Rd. Much of the road will be milled down and re-capped, and several thousand feet of curb will be replaced.

One lane of traffic will remain open at all times.

'Riverboat Shufflers' To Play Final Concert

The "Riverboat Shufflers," featuring Ragtime Charlie and Sister Kate, will bring their brand of dixieland, traditional jazz, and oldies to the finale of the 1988 Concert in the Park series tomorrow in Pierce Park.

The concert begins at 6 p.m. and concludes at 8.

Ragtime Charlie, a.k.a. Charlie Rasch, is a piano player from Birmingham. Sister Kate is Kate Ross, a banjo player from Ann Arbor. The pair has made three record albums.

Other members of the band include Howard Schumann on drums, David Ross (no relation to Kate) of Ann Arbor on trumpet, Ed Sugar of Jackson on clarinet, and John Teachout of Ann Arbor on trombone, tuba, banjo, and guitar.

Their music, which is all instrumental, includes tunes such as "Sweet Georgia Brown," "Five-Foot-Two," and "Somebody Stole My Gal."

Concertgoers are encouraged to bring picnic dinners and beverages, or patronize the Kiwanis Kitchen for sausage sandwiches and refreshments. Bring lawn chairs, blankets, or whatever is comfortable.

The concert series is sponsored by the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce and the Chelsea Recreation Department.

RAGTIME CHARLIE AND SISTER KATE will bring the "Riverboat Shufflers" to Pierce Park tomorrow evening for the final installment in the Concert in the Park series. They promise a blend of dixieland, traditional jazz, and oldies.

Gilberto Martinez, Jr., 27, of Chelsea, drove his 1974-model station wagon onto the Conrail tracks at the East St. crossing at 2:55 a.m. last Wednesday, where the vehicle stalled. A couple of minutes later warning lights and bells began to flash and ring, and the crossing gates came down. Martinez did the smart thing, he bailed out of the wagon and left it there. A few seconds later an east-bound freight train hit the vehicle and demolished it.

Governor Seeks Drought Aid; Threatens Insurer's License

State officials have announced they have high expectations that most, if not all, 83 counties will qualify for a drought disaster determination by U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng. And, insurance regulators declared they would file a suit to force a New Jersey company to make good on drought policies sold by its agents and would revoke its license if necessary.

Governor James J. Blanchard asked Lyng for the determination, which would trigger low-interest loans, based on an assessment by state experts which show "extremely large losses" in many crops.

The governor said he will approve $600,000 in supplemental appropriations approved by the Legislature for the Co-operative Extension Service and Agriculture Experiment Station for emergency services to farmers.

To qualify for a secretarial determination, a county must have suffered a 30 percent loss of normal dollar value of all crops or a 30 percent loss in a single enterprise.

Agriculture Director Paul Kindinger said $400-$600 million in direct crop losses have been incurred this year due to the drought, and the effects will be felt for several years in some commodities, such as Christmas trees, where 10 million of the 13 million trees planted this year have died.

Insurance Commissioner Herman Coleman said the state will file suit against Federal Insurance (a member of the Chubb Group in New Jersey), which accepted applications from 1,100 farmers for drought insurance before the policy was approved by state regulators and then refused to issue the policies, saying it could not afford to underwrite potential losses.

The suit will allege misrepresentation, use of unlicensed agents and violations of rate and form requirements.

Coleman said he will not accept Federal's proposal to refund double premiums to farmers who elect that option or to let farmers share in $10 million it has allocated for this region.

Unless it comes up with a more satisfactory response to provide coverage farmers expected, Coleman said he would revoke Federal's license.

The company says the applications were accepted by agents who had no authority to sell the policies.

Nursing Home Study Results Released By Public Health Department

The Department of Public Health has released the results on the relationship between the quality of care provided in nursing homes and the cost of care.

The report, entitled "Identifying Cost-Effective Nursing Homes: A Benefit/Cost Tradeoff Analysis," was a joint effort of the department and Michigan State University's Office of Medical Education Research and Development.

The report declares a need to better define quality of care as it applies to the long-term care setting and provides a framework for the development of a nursing home quality score that can be used to compare all Michigan-licensed nursing homes, said Raj Wiener, acting director of the Public Health Department.

"Historically, we have evaluated nursing home quality based on how good the medical care is. This study demonstrates the need to expand our perceptions and focus on quality of life issues as well.

Offering a patient a comfortable environment to visit with friends is as important as giving the correct pain medication," Wiener said.

The research further reports that cost and quality of care are not necessarily related.

Findings showed that the cost/quality relationship appeared to be random association with a number of homes deemed high cost/low quality and a number of homes low cost/high quality, Wiener said.

"These findings make the framework for quality outlined in the study even more important. We will aggressively pursue their development as part of the department's ongoing activities in improving the care residents get in Michigan nursing homes," she said, and noted the department would work with MSU, industry representatives and consumers to implement the report's recommendations.

Minorities will be a larger share of new entrants into the U. S. labor force in the next 12 years, according to the U. S. Labor Department. Non-whites will make up 29 percent of the new entrants into the labor force between now and the year 2000.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle told the fellers at the country store Saturday night he is waiting for the other shoe to drop. You got to know, Ed said, that the Federal Government is going to do whatever it takes to get that Nevada rocket fuel plant back in production. If Lockheed is worth a $250 million loan and if Chrysler and New York City are worth a heap more, how can we put a price on what we got to keep our space program alive, was Ed's thinking.

It may be, Ed went on, that this defense contractor stink will smell so bad so long someone good will come off it. We might decide the military can get a better deal by dealing direct with the Pentagon and by the Pentagon ordering direct from Defense Department factories. For sure, Ed declared, taxpayers could cut a better deal by putting the Government in the rocket fuel business than the Government can by bailing out the company that owned the plant that blew up.

It is true, Clem Webster allowed, that our Government moves in mysterious ways its wonders to perform. And it is true that some good can come from bad. Clem saw by the papers recent where Max Smelling, the German prize fighter, said he could see the good in getting beat by Joe Louis in their second fight. If he had won, Smelling said, he would of gone home a hero of the Third Rike. He would of been used for recruiting and money raising and after the war he never would of had the chance to get rich in the soda pop business.

But, went on Clem, it also is true that the military way allus is the most expensive way, for the simple reason the politicians won't leave it alone. We might not be able to privatize the common defense, Clem said, but he couldn't think of another solitary thing we can turn over to the Government without making a bigger mess.

For instant, Clem recalled some years back when the Marines wanted some British Harrier airplanes that can land and take off like helicopters. The Marines and the Defense Department wanted to buy em ready to fly, but that would of been the easy way. Politicians and businessmen got their heads together and figgered how, for $110 million extra in the deal, we could buy the Harrier parts in England and put the airplanes together over here. This way, we make jobs for Americans and a nice chunk of change for American businessmen.

Bug Hookum spoke for the rest of the fellers by noting that as odd a couple as they are, Ed and Clem had said somepun solid about what makes this country tick and what makes it skip a beat ever now and agin. It's that tough tightrope act between public and private that sets us apart and ahead of the pack, was Bug's words.

Still, Bug went on, he allus has thought this time of year how he'd like to be able to read 20 or so languages and subscribe to local papers of exchange students that git back home after a year in America. We're allus seeing in our papers what they think when they come and when they go, Bug said, but what pictures of us do they paint when they're back among their people.

Personal, I'm with Bug. We know better, but we think of Switzerland as mountains where everybody yodels and makes watches. Swiss students come here expecting what they see in the movies and on TV. How much of our image is really us?

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.During Dexter Daze . . .

The Rev. Fr. Joseph Rinaldo of St. Louis Center celebrated a Mass to commemorate the deceased members of the families.

Five generations were represented with Wilhelmina Burg Lonsway of Adrian at 87 as the matriarch of the group and Shaun Rowe, son of Darrin and Michelle Rowe of Chelsea, at age three weeks as the youngest member.

A pot-luck dinner was served to the 91 members attending from Michigan and surrounding states.

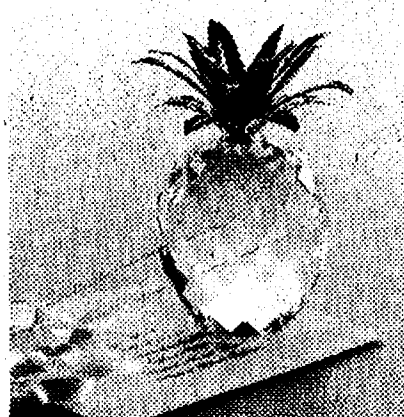

Swimming, volleyball and horse-shoes followed as well as the annual Bocci Ball tournament, won this year by Jerry and Tom Guirey, Jr., sons of Tom Guirey, Sr., of Berkley, who originated the tournament and who died last March.

Plans are being made for next year's reunion, always held the first Sunday of August.

The bridesmaids wore matching blush peach silk jacquard long-sleeved dresses, with key hole neckline and accented with pearls.

Timothy Traxinger, of Los Angeles, Calif., was the best man. Brothers of both the bride and bridegroom were groomsmen: Matthew Feeney, of Boston, Michael Feeney, Mark Feeney, and Thom Schumann.

Honored guests were Margaret Groves of Traverse City, Ellen and Charles Halpin of Kalamazoo, Helen Schumann of Birch Run, who are grandparents of the bride; Evelyn Feeney, of Milwaukee, Wis., grandmother of the bridegroom; and Iris Ehrsam, of Thervil, Switzerland.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at The Earle, Ann Arbor. An open house was held later in the evening at the home of Ann and Michael Feeney. The couple honeymooned in Colorado before returning to their home in Chelsea.

Deer Crop Damage Increases

Farmers whose drought-stressed crops are being gobbled up by deer will find that the Michigan Department of Natural Resources has a more liberal policy this year on shooting permits for crop damage.

"The drought has moved larger populations of deer into croplands," said Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau. "Farmers can request shooting permits for crop damage from their area DNR office."

Nelson said farmers can also help reduce crop damage by inviting hunters onto their land.

Recommendations for increased harvest of deer during the normal deer season will be considered at the Natural Resources Commission meeting, Aug. 3-5, in Marquette. The recommendations will concentrate on areas of high deer population which are experiencing crop damage and increased car deer accidents. If approved, the recommendations will provide for antlerless permits for those areas with the most damage. The bonus concept was tried in a limited number of areas last year and may be expanded this year.

BOY IT WAS HOT AGAIN last week as temperatures approached 100 degrees again. High humidity didn't help, either. A storm Friday night moderated temperatures. However, the forecast is for more hot weather this week.

Gene Overholt Elected President at Convention Of Kiwanis International

Delegates at the 73rd annual convention of Kiwanis International at Seattle, Wash., July 3-7, elected Gene R. Overholt of Plymouth, retired executive with Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and panelist at seven Kiwanis International conventions, president for the year which officially begins Oct. 1.

Other officers elected at the gathering included International vice-presidents, John D. Morton, Sr., and Robert A. Wagner; International treasurer, Wilbur J. Blechman, MD; International trustees, A. S. "Buddy" Ammar, Andrew "Andy" Batsis, DMD; Don Miles, JD; Kenneth W. Smith, DC, and Arthur D. Swanberg. Eyjolfur Sigurdsson was specified trustee by constitutional provision, for Europe.

Perhaps, the readers in both Chelsea and Dexter would like to know the ladder up to president for Kiwanis International is a little different than one might ordinarily expect.

A Kiwanian first gets elected a trustee. After continuing to serve a few more years, the person seeks a position as vice-president, an office to which "two" people are elected.

The pair compete the following year to see who will be elected treasurer.

Once the treasurer is elected, successive steps to the offices of president-elect and International president are uncontested.

Newly-elected Kiwanis International president, Gene Overholt, is well-known to members in both the Chelsea and Dexter Kiwanis Clubs.

Spanning 21 years, his Kiwanis career originated with the Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth, Michigan, where he is currently director of the Plymouth-Kiwanis Foundation and ex-officio member of all club committees.

Currently serving as International president-elect, Overholt is counselor to the Iceland, Norden and Texas-Oklahoma Districts, while serving as an ex-officio member of all board committees.

A life fellow, sustaining member, and charter George F. Hixson fellow of the Kiwanis International Foundation, he is the recipient of the Distinguished Kiwanis Award, a life member of Michigan District of Kiwanis, and has attended 17 International conventions.

Other members of the Overholt family include Gene's wife, Jane; daughters Carole, Barb and Jodi; sons-in-law, Bill and Howard, and grandchildren, Jason, Kristin and Megan.

During World War II, he served with the United States Army.

His educational training includes studying computer science at Stanford University, with the Bell System and Information Services.

Busy as he is, he still finds time for golfing, and enjoys both fishing and hunting, as well.

Overholt has shown his dedication and ability to achieve at all levels in Kiwanis, because of his firm belief in Kiwanis and its ideals.

The belief, coupled with his leadership ability, has characterized his competence on the International Board.

He possesses a logical and analytical mind, well-trained in problem-solving, equipping him to use his administrative and technical skills to resolve the many changing issues of Kiwanis.

Overholt was a township trustee for 10 years, is a former member of the 35th District Court advisory board, a three-year member of the Civil Service Commission, former chairman of the Northwest Wayne County Sanitation Authority, and has served in many posts with civic, philanthropic, professional, church and community organizations.

Champion Rodeo Clowns To Appear at Saline

"Rodeo isn't rehearsed, not by a long shot," says two-time "Rodeo Clown of the Year" John Gilstrap.

And this Nashville, Tenn. athlete should know as he makes his living working some 150 rodeo performances a year.

Slapstick comedy and pratfalls are all a part of a lot of hard work as this long, tall cowboy puts on his clown face and baggy pants that transform him into a hat-slapping, joke telling, barrel rolling, wild and crazy guy.

This veteran of some 25 years in rodeo isn't only there for the laughs, however. He's also there to keep 2,000 pounds of angry, charging bull away from the cowboy competitors who have been tossed to the dirt.

1986 and 1987 "Rodeo Clown Bullfighter of the Year" J. W. Snyder of Waco, Tex., likes the bullfighting best. "The comedy is alright," says Snyder, "but the biggest thrill for me is being able to help a cowboy to safety. It's just a good feelin' knowin' you have done a good job."

Snyder and Gilstrap travel together for most of the rodeos they work during the winter months. The summer finds them heading in different directions covering the U.S. from coast to coast.

"These cowboy bull riders are out there to win money and world championship points," Snyder said. "If you see blood on a rider, you can bet it ain't ketchup. They're serious about what they do."

Snyder's primary job sometimes includes grabbing a bull's head to force the charging animal away from a downed rider—one reason why his job is so very dangerous.

Snyder, the younger of the two... 22 years young, hasn't experienced as many hospital visits as the seasoned Gilstrap. "Well, let's see... a couple years ago, I got my back broken... I've got a pin in my right shoulder... got a bunch of busted ribs along the way, too," says Gilstrap.

"Some of these bulls are real grouchy," says Snyder. "And when he throws the rider, I've got to move in to distract him—sometimes let him hit me—'cause if I don't, there's fixin' to be a wreck."

Rodeo's half-time entertainment at this year's Saline World Championship Rodeo will be in the capable hands of John Gilstrap. The "King of Comedy" himself will have you holding your sides from laughing so hard... plus he plans to debut a new act in Saline this year. He's been keeping it a secret for the past few months so not even the contestants know. "I've been working on this new act for quite sometime," replied

Gilstrap. "There are still a few 'bugs' in it, but that will be straightened out by the time I get to Saline."

This year's Saline World Championship Rodeo will certainly be a once-in-a-lifetime experience... to see both the "Rodeo Clown of the Year" and the "Rodeo Clown Bullfighter of the Year" appear during the same rodeo.

In addition to the world champion rodeo livestock (many past and present "Bucking Horses" and "Bucking Bulls of the Year") plus world champion cowboys and cowgirls both past and present are expected to compete for more than $18,000 in prize money and world championship points.

Make plans now to see this award-winning rodeo this Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Saline Fairgrounds on the Ann Arbor/Saline Rd., near Saline.

Friday night at 8 is "Bargain Night." All tickets (adult and children) are only $5.

Regular ticket prices for the Saturday, 8 p.m. and Sunday, 3 p.m. performances are: Adults $8 and children (12 and under) $5. Save $1 on adult advance tickets by purchasing your tickets before 12 noon, Friday, Aug. 12.

Dewey School Items Shown at Jackson Fair

This summer, Dewey School Museum celebrates its 25th anniversary! Quite significant in itself, 25 years is a short time in comparison to the total history of this rural one-room school.

A nostalgic bit of our Michigan education, this museum was begun in 1963, after the state-wide movement to close one-room schools. Helen Hannewald, director, reports that a display of Dewey School Museum memorabilia may be viewed at the Jackson County Fair, on Saturday, Aug. 13 when members of the Waterloo Area Historical Society will be on hand to answer questions, in the area opposite the log house, on the fairgrounds.

Named after Solomon Dewey, a pioneer in Waterloo township, Dewey School had its beginning in 1844 in a log building, near the intersection of M-106, Territorial Rd., and Mt. Hope Rd., in northeast Jackson county.

A brick building was erected prior to 1850, but the floor of that structure collapsed on the last day, during final activities. Even though the room was filled with parents and students, they were only badly frightened, not injured. Residents of the Dewey District School held a "bee" to salvage what they could, especially the bricks, and they built the present structure, in which school was taught until 1958. Berta Mathews was the last teacher.

Former students and former teachers were among those early folks who thought of preserving their beloved school as a museum, so that all could enjoy the taste of 19th century education.

Committees found pupils' and teacher's desks, pendulum clock, kerosene lamps, pictures of Lincoln and Washington, an American flag, records and books, slates, lunch pails and numerous other items. The list is long showing the many kind persons who donated needed items, as well as time, skill, and dollars.

In addition to local things, many pictures, books and other memorabilia from other closed district schools were given to the Dewey School Museum.

At the present time, Dewey School Museum is visited by young and old, alike. School groups come regularly from Lansing, Jackson, Stockbridge, Mason, Grass Lake, Munith, Gregory, Chelsea, Plymouth, Dexter, and Ann Arbor. Usually, they spend a half day at the Dewey School learning about living, working, and playing. Teaching is done by interested and eager adults, some retired teachers. This living symbol of one-room country school in Michigan is open to the public on Sundays from June-August and on week-ends in September. Hours are 1-4 p.m.

A picnic celebration for Historical Society members and guests is being planned. For additional information, contact Helen Hannewald, director, at (517) 851-8247.

Proposed Field Sanitation Rules Are Withdrawn

The proposed state field sanitation rules, which were more restrictive than the federal standards, were officially withdrawn today (July 28) at a meeting of the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules. The Michigan Farm Bureau had urged the committee to reject the proposed rules.

According to Howard Kelly, farm labor specialist for the Michigan Farm Bureau, the process will now start over again. Negotiations will take place between the joint committee and the Michigan Occupational Health Standards Commission. A new set of proposed rules will be presented at the commission's Aug. 29 meeting.

Chelsea Girl Scout Meets Guides of England

Sonya Osinski of Chelsea was one of 12 Huron Valley Council Girl Scouts to join 175 Canadian and English Girl Guides for a tour of England the last two weeks of July. They stayed at West Yorkshire in an international encampment.

The girls and their three adult advisors were given home hospitality by families of the Girl Guides. In return, the English families requested some items that are not available in their country, including unsweetened Kool-Aid, miniature marshmallows, and bacon bits.

Some of the sights the girls toured in Manchester include Chatsworth House, Woodhead Pass, Ladybower Reservoir, and Blue John Mines.

The girls also spent three days touring London. On their itinerary were the Tower of London and the Crown Jewels, an evening performance of the Phantom of the Opera, the changing of the guards at the palace gates, the Girl Guide Headquarters, Westminster Abbey, House of Parliament, and a boat trip to Tower Bridge.

The last leg of the trip was a five-day trip to Paris. They took a hovercraft across the English Channel.

The trip was a culmination of a year of planning, including a request by the Girl Guides to demonstrate something specifically American. The girls chose the Virginia Reel, American Folk Songs, and a gymnastic demonstration to Stars and Stripes Forever. The girls also wrote a rap song that began, "We're from America, couldn't be prouder, if you can't hear us, we'll yell a little louder."

The trip was a continuation of five years of international friendship between London, Ontario Girl Guides and the Girl Scouts of Huron Valley Council.

Sonya is the daughter of John and Judy Osinski.

Electrical Project Will Remove Pole

Kent Power Services was the low bidder for an electrical project that will eventually remove the controversial utility pole from Main St. near the old Sylvan Hotel.

The village will pay the company $94,899 from its electric fund for several improvements to the system. Village council authorized the expenditure at their Aug. 2 meeting.

The project will include work in the area of Chelsea Shopping Center and the Sorensen Subdivision. In addition, it will include work on E. Summit St., which will allow removal of the pole.

Kent's bid was nearly $4,000 lower than its only competitor.

COMPUTER-MADE CROWNS: QUICKER, MORE ECONOMICAL

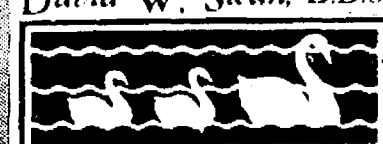

For the impatient patient, researchers at the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis have created computer software for making dental crowns within an hour, right in the dental office!

Using computer-aided design and manufacturing (CAD/CAM) technology, a photograph of the teeth is transformed into a computer image, taking into account information about adjoining teeth, and making precise measurements. The computer then communicates with a milling machine which shapes the crown in the dentist's office. Because it no longer has to be cast, the crown can be made of less expensive materials.

The system should be available within a year but it won't be cheap: initial cost will be between $150,000 and $200,000.

Chelsea Football Squads Begin Practice With New Faces in Coaching Ranks

Chelsea High school football program will have a number of new faces in the coaching ranks this fall.

Gene LaFave is still head coach and Wayne Welton his number one assistant.

Tom Hardin, who coached defensive backs last year, also returns. He'll also be one of two junior varsity coaches.

Joining Hardin on Wednesday nights will be Lonnie Mitchell, a new math teacher and coach from Texas. Mitchell will also be an assistant on Friday nights.

Chris Woodruff, a social worker living in Chelsea, will also be a varsity assistant this season. Woodruff played at Pioneer High school and Western Michigan University.

The freshman head coach will be

Dave Quilter. He'll be assisted by CHS grad Mike Bohlender and "an assortment of former players," Welton said. Bohlender is student teaching in the Chelsea district this fall.

School district symphony director Jed Fritzmeier has volunteered to take over the Beach Middle school program. He'll be assisted by former CHS players Sandy McLaughlin and Rich Conner.

Varsity practice officially begins today. The traditional varsity camp begins Monday and will conclude Friday, Aug. 19 with the annual Blue-Gold game.

Welton said the staff is anticipating a varsity team of about 35 boys.

JV practice gets underway with a meeting tonight at 7 in the high school gym. Equipment will also be issued.

Each boy should bring $12 to cover the cost of a practice jersey and mouthpiece.

The first JV practice will be Thursday, Aug. 11 from 7-9:30 p.m.

"We had 17 boys sign up last year but we'd like to get that number up to about 25 or so," Welton said.

All prospective freshman players should report to the high school gym on Monday, Aug. 15 at 6 p.m. Practices will start the following day 6 p.m. and last to about 8:30.

Each player should have had his required physical exam before starting practice. Any player who recently completed his exam should bring his certificate to practice.

GARY WONDERS of Chelsea, owner of the Country Mudders 4x4 Club, was deeply mired in the mud when this picture was taken. The action was in last year's Mud Bog in Stockbridge. This year's Mud Bog will take place Sunday, Aug. 14 at Stockbridge High school grounds.

Mud Bog 88 Slated Sunday in Stockbridge

"Mud Bog 88," to take place Aug. 14 at Stockbridge High school, promises to be the most exciting ever.

Some of the fastest machines from indoor events, such as the Pontiac Silverdome, will be making three- to four-second trips across the mud pit. These machines literally "skip" over the mud, with tire speeds up to 100 mph.

Also on hand are the various pickups, Jeeps, mud buggies, etc. digging their way through the 6" to 8" deep goo.

These vehicles, with basic highway type tires to the 6-foot tall tractor tires, are all trying to go the farthest or fastest.

Competitors and spectators come from all over Michigan and other states to make Stockbridge Mud Bog the biggest and best event of its kind in the entire state.

To help alleviate the crush of "standing room only" crowds of past years, bleachers have been brought in from Williamston schools and Fowlerville Fairgrounds, to assure that everyone will have a seat close to the action.

Proceeds from the event support Stockbridge school bands, flag corps and cheerleaders in their various competitions, training camps, special trips, etc.

Highlights of the day are the ATV competition from 10 a.m. to 12 noon with a "Powder Puff" ladies only class added this year and the popular "Human Race," one male and one female class.

Four-wheel drive competition begins at noon.

"FRIDAY" and his handler, Geoffrey Flohr of the Michigan State Police, captured an escaped convict from Cassidy Lake Technical School on Sunday. The pair completed training school on Aug. 5, two days before the incident.

Prison Escapists Have Tough Time with Dog, Construction Workers

A massive group effort by the Chelsea Police Department, Michigan State Police, Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, two construction workers, and a recent graduate of canine tracking school led to the capture of three Cassidy Lake Technical School walkaways Sunday afternoon near Quiet Creek Condominiums on the northern end of the village.

An off-duty corrections officer notified police that the three escapists, Darin Rice, 18, M.C. Rhodes, 22, and Jeffrey M. Jones, 28, were on foot on M-52 south of Werkner Rd. and headed east into the woods. The trio had been reported missing at 9:06 a.m.

Two of the escapists were captured by construction workers at the Quiet Creek project after the workers had been alerted by police that the men were in the area.

"Friday," a tracking dog from the Michigan State Ypsilanti post and his handler, Geoffrey Flohr, were on the scene, along with other tracking teams from the Brighton and Jackson posts. The pair was following a trail with searchers on McKinley Rd., due east of the construction project, when Friday suddenly stopped and began to lift his head. Flohr saw the third man in a tree.

Flohr, and Friday, had completed their training Friday, Aug. 5. It was their first apprehension and only their third call.

Chelsea officer John Dettling and county deputy Ed Swope made the arrest.

Rice, from Detroit, was serving 1-20 years for manslaughter, Rhodes, also from Detroit, was serving 7-15 years for armed robbery, and Jones, from Detroit, was serving 2-20 years for vandalism.

The average age of the U. S. population and the workforce will rise by the year 2000, and the pool of young workers entering the labor market will shrink, according to U. S. Labor Department projections. The average age of the workforce will climb from its present 36 to 39 by the turn of the century.

'Two By Two' Proves To Be Entertaining Fare

By Russell L. Ogden
Drama Critic & Professor at EMU
Witnesses have reported strange happenings at Domino's Farms these past few days! Of course, Mr. Thomas Monaghan's Domino Pizzas are regular tasty fare. But nightly these same witnesses report the destruction of the earth in the Exhibition Center and the saving of mankind by a 600-year-old man, his three sons, three daughters-in-law, and an adoring wife through a secret covenant, code named "Two By Two."

The birth of "Two By Two" happened at the Belasco Theatre on Broadway on Dec. 29, 1954. Little did famed playwright Clifford Odets know that his "The Flowering Peach" would be musically shaped by the wealthiest composer in the United States, Richard Rodgers. Neither did Noah (yes, Noah of Genesis, Old Testament) have any idea that a pre-Annie Martin Charnin would take his words and apply them to Rodgers' score.

From a 14-character comedic drama, Peter Stone fashioned a book around eight people; a former dancer in "West Side Story"—Char-nin—Charmingly scalloped some of the funniest and sentimental lyrics about a biblical ship captain—Noah—who saved the earth for mankind:

The late Danny Kaye starred in Rodgers' 1970 "Two By Two," a musical version of Clifford Odets' "The Flowering Peach." The original play retold the Old Testament story of Noah in Yiddish terms. The Rodgers version was as Jewish as apple pie.

If the Broadway production had been as well received as the Pritchard Production of "Two By Two" at Domino's Farms Summer Theatre, its short run would have indeed been much longer.

Perhaps 1970 theatre patrons compared "Two By Two" with other Rodgers and Hammerstein previous productions. "Two By Two" at Domino's absolutely glows with humor and sentimentality with Noah and an extremely professional cast exuding enthusiastic musical excitement before appreciative audiences.

Noah (David Karsten), a renowned servant of God, sits writing the Chapters on his 600th birthday. In thunderous claps, God speaks to him about the sins and evils of mankind. Noah is ordered; religiously accepts God's demands. The command: to build a three-tiered ark of gopher wood and gather his wife, three sons, respective wives, AND two members, male and female, of every living animal, bird and creeping thing onto the ark. Forty days and forty nights of torrential rain with the destruction of all living earth occupants!

Noah retorts musically with "Why Me?" and calls his family to the dining table for a discussion. Eldest son Shem (Danny Norris) and his wife, Leah (Cindy Horsman-McKeen), middle son Ham (Don Blanchette) and his wife, Rachel (Sarah Paola), the virgin son, Japheth (Thomas Cooch) and Noah's wife (Gail Betts-Trader) enjoin Noah at the table.

Their reaction to building an ark and the destruction of the earth is raucously espoused in the musical number "Put Him Away." And you know immediately that this extremely talented cast is going to give you an especially enjoyable evening.

David Karsten creates a memorable Noah. Karsten combines a believable human: one capable of sadness and happiness, of making and causing of mistakes, but obedient as God's protector of the world. As Noah's wife, Gail Betts-Trader emotes with a tender sensitive performance.

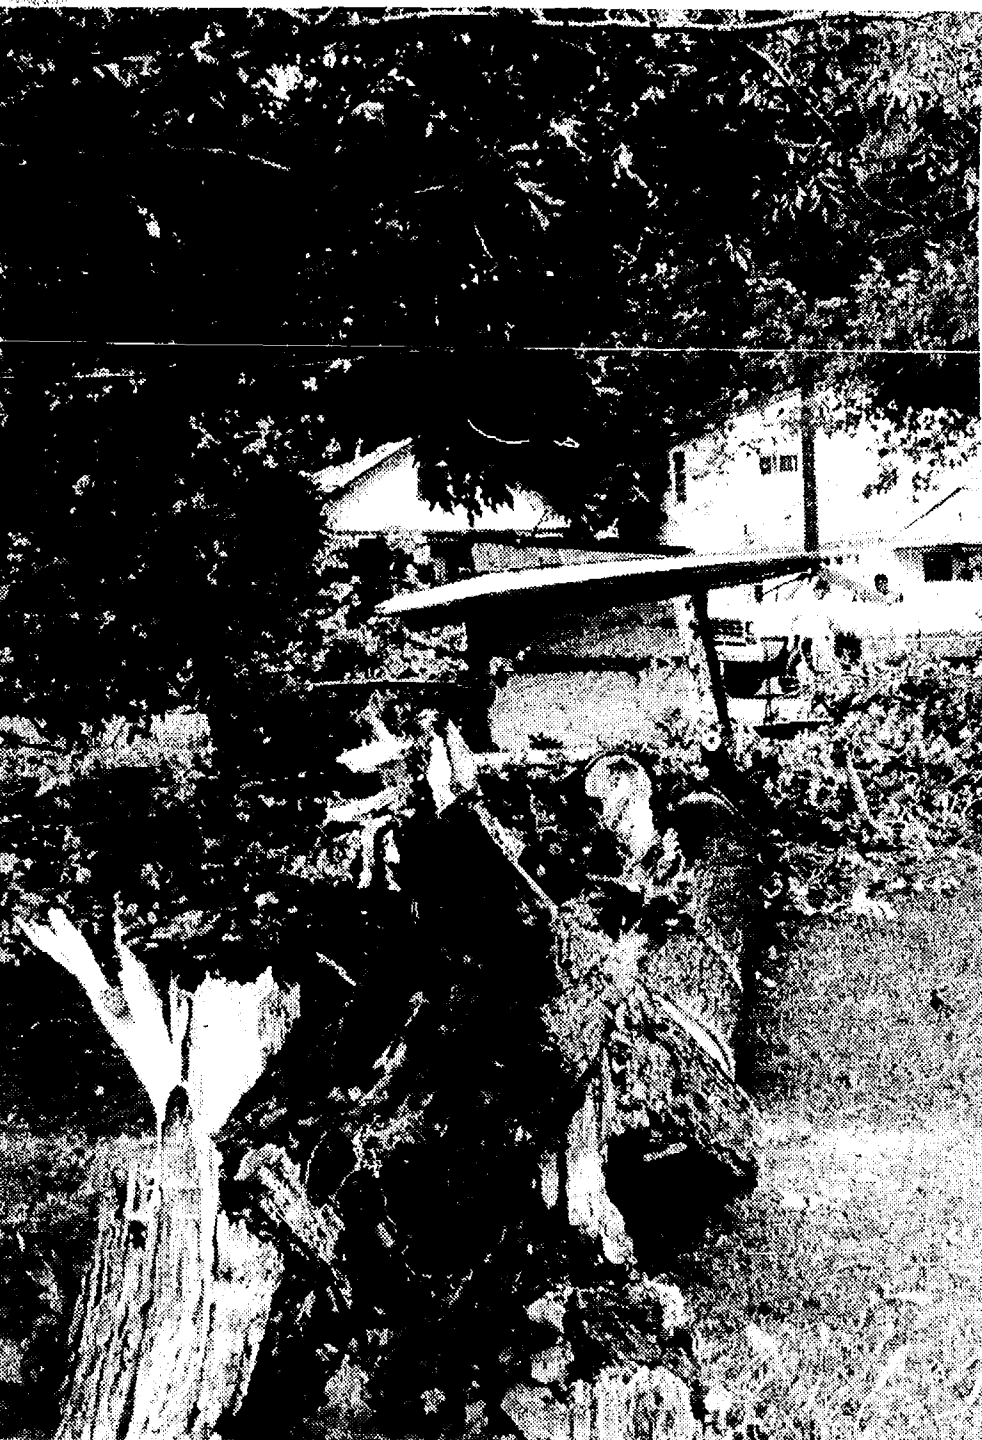

Don Blanchette, the sex starved "lazy one," perfectly molds the role of the middle brother; Danny Norris as "the miser Shem" has a terrific strong voice and his interaction with Cindy Horsman-McKeen as his wife, Leah (who gives a superb characterization of the loving shrew) is a continual laughable duel. Thomas Cooch as the young philosopher and father's favorite is faultless in his portrayal of the innocent stubborn idealist. Cooch completely captures the audience with his beautiful tenor voice as he sings "I Do Not Know a Day I Did Not Love You" to Sarah Paola (Rachel).

Paola (owner of a soft operatic soprano voice) makes a very believable innocent Rachel yearning for Japheth's love.

Making a striking and breathtaking entrance as the beautiful Golden Girl from the temple of the Golden Ram, Suzanne Ogden enraptures the audience with her rendition of "The Golden Ram."

Kate Hudson's costuming is attractive and appropriate; sets by Gregory Checketts, believable and serviceable; and musical direction by Kim-cherie Lloyd (piano and synthesizer) accompanied by Gregg Emerson Powell on bass is superbly delivered.

To see one of the funniest musicals of the Domino's Farms Summer Season, "Two By Two" should not be missed. Performances are matinees on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, 2 p.m.; evenings Wednesday through Saturday, 8 p.m. Other information may be obtained by calling 930-PLAY.

BEFORE THE TORNADO STRUCK, Thursday afternoon, Aug. 4, this was a trampoline and fiberglass sailboat on the lawn beside the lakefront home of the Fletchers on Winston Dr. at Portage Lake. Only tattered shreds of the boat remain, and the lawn shows evidence of the damage caused by felled tree limbs, one of which damaged a portion of the roof.

Young Man Steals Can Of Tobacco

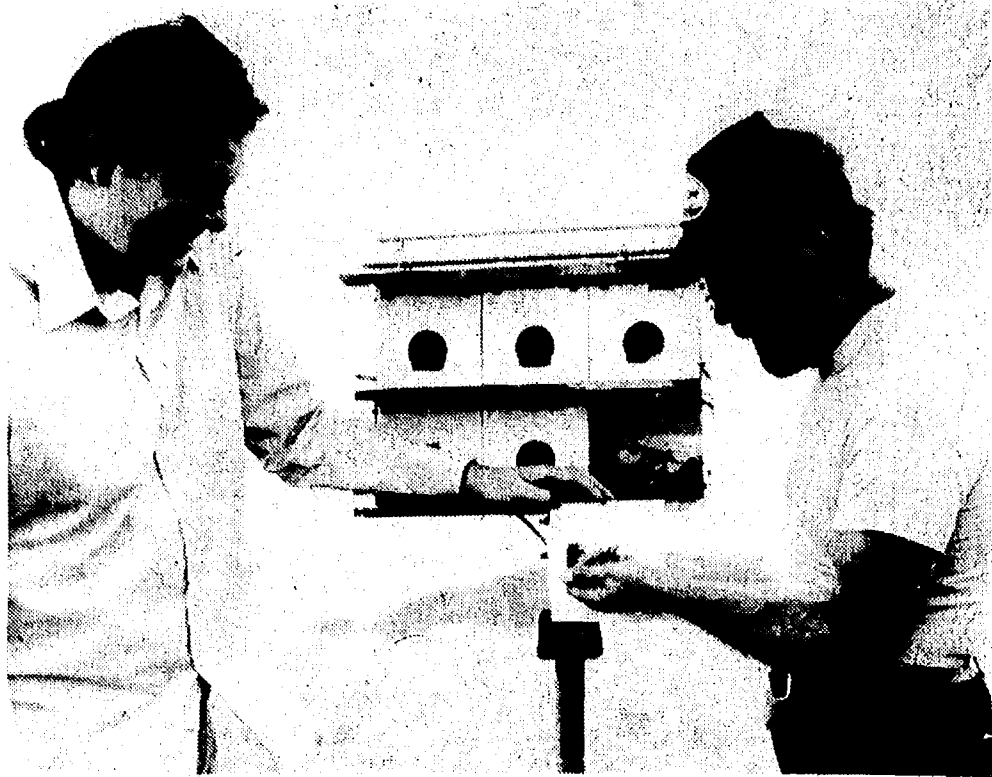

A young white man reportedly stole a can of chewing tobacco from the Hop-In store early Saturday morning while the clerk was working in the cooler.

According to Chelsea police, a man about 24-years-old, 5' 8" tall, and 145 pounds put the canister in his pants but paid for a soft drink.

The attendant recognized the man as someone who had struck up a conversation with her earlier in the night at the store and purchased a can of tobacco. He reportedly told her he lived in apartments nearby.

According to reports, the man was wearing a green hospital shirt with the word "Memorial" on it, and white shorts with palm trees.

Purple Martin Project Helped by Father, Son

Chelsea High school student Rob Northrup has been awarded a Budding Naturalist grant to provide nesting compartments for purple martins. The award is given by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources through the Nongame Wildlife Fund. Working with local nongame biologist Dick Wolinski of Dexter, Rob and his father have placed two houses near Dexter and check them several times a week.

One of the sites suggested by Wolinski was on Thetford Corp. property south of Dexter. After talking with Jerry Wireman, manufacturing manager at Thetford, it was agreed that houses could be placed on the property. In addition, the company wished to pay for one of the houses as well. Wolinski says of the project, "The spirit of co-operation displayed by the management at Thetford is outstanding. I hope we have a similar response at the other sites I have in mind."

Despite the decline in numbers of this species state-wide, the houses have attracted three pairs of martins this first year. Two of the pairs have been successful in raising young. Rob, upon seeing the first martins exclaimed "So that's what martins look like." Wolinski was also surprised to have martins occupy the houses the first year. "Proper site characteristics are an important ingredient in attracting martins," says Wolinski. "It appears that we did a good job the first time around." Rob, his father and Wolinski hope to add to the total number of houses in the future as they attempt to learn more about the martins and their behavior.

AN ENTIRE NEIGHBORHOOD PITCHED IN to help clear the debris in the aftermath of a tornado which felled several trees to damaged dwellings on Winston Dr. at Portage Lake, Thursday, Aug. 4. Chain saws, axes, wheelbarrows, brooms, shovels, and a lot of hard work, as temperatures soared to record highs, helped clear the storm damage. Miraculously, there were no fatalities or major injuries resulting from the violent winds. Witnesses said the "sky turned black" as the tornado passed through the area.

Heidi Ratzlaff of Napoleon township recently graduated from Hawkeye Hill Racing School, Inc., in Comiskey, Ind.

Her studies were exercise riding which included: detecting lameness, sense of pace, how to rate, balance, working with thoroughbreds of different temperaments, tough pulling horses, and schooling in the starting gates.

The second course was stable management, which offered general health care, understanding thoroughbreds, hands-on nutrition, bandaging, grooming, conditioning horses, treatment of injuries, anatomy and conformation, handling stallions, veterinary medicine subjects, and other specific skills and studies related to race horses.

Heidi completed her courses by passing her three-mile jogging test, a five-mile galloping test, a hands-on barn test for trainer and exercise riding proficiency skills test, and finally her over-all written exam in which she scored 100%, taken at the end of the month.

the Charles Reinhart Co. Realtors

You have chosen to live in a small, friendly community. So have we. Why should you deal with the county's largest real estate company when you buy or sell? Here are two of many reasons:

1. Each Charles Reinhart sales associate is a full-time professional, on top of today's market, and working with extraordinary support services within the company.
2. Many buyers who work in Ann Arbor prefer to live in Chelsea. When they think about real estate services, they think about Reinhart.

We are residents of Chelsea and we represent Reinhart here. We would like to help with your real estate needs.

Card of Thanks 19CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all who remembered us on our 60th Wedding Anniversary with cards and other thoughtful ways. A special thanks to our son, and sister, Dorothy Hale, for making arrangements for our family dinner at Schumm's Restaurant.
Bruce & Emily Peabody.

THANK YOU

We want to thank all who prayed, visited, cared, sent cards, flowers, food, gave hugs, or simply said I am here what can I do, during the time our Mother was sick at home and in the hospital and after her death.
We are so thankful and grateful for all your expressions of love shown us during this time in our lives.

To the members of our family, thank you for your support, and sweet love, and caring. We love each one of you.

To our Mother's neighbor, Ann Borders, a special thank you for your watch care, food, and visits every day, and your love and friendship.

A special thank you to our dear friends, George and Rosie Jordan, for simply staying by our side, praying, looking out for any way to comfort and help. We praise the Lord for you. Also Elliot and Alice Lounsbury, and Gene and Nadine Gornzielski for your steadfast love and support, your phone calls, to say, could we come by and help? You are special people, and we thank the Lord for people like you.

To the professional people who provided loving care and help during a time of physical need in Mother's life. Drs. Virginia
Johnson and Thomas R. Gravelyn, thank you. Also thank you to Kathy Batell for your comforting words and visits, to our Mother while she was in the hospital.

Thanks to all who donated money to North Sharon Christian Schol, in memory of our Mother during her sickness and for us after her death. Your message from the Bible of assurance of an eternal home in heaven by trusting Jesus as Savior, was so comforting to our hearts, to know there is a sure place for all who put their trust in Christ shed blood on the cross for their sin.
We praise and thank God for you dear Pastor. Keep on Preachin'!

Thank you Don Cole for your sensitive care and kind sweet help to us when it came time to say "good-by." God bless you all.

business in the TOWNSHIP OF SYLVAN, WASHTENAW COUNTY,
MICHIGAN for a period of thirty years.

The Township of Sylvan Ordains:

SECTION 1. GRANT TERM. The Township of Sylvan, Washtenaw County, Michigan, hereby grants to the Consumers Power Company, a Michigan corporation, its successors and assigns, hereinafter called the "Grantee," the right, power and authority to lay, maintain and operate gas mains, pipes and services, and to construct, maintain and commercially use electric lines consisting of towers, masts, pole, crossarms, guys, braces, feeders, transmission and distribution wires, transformers and other electrical appliances on, along, across and under the highways, streets, alleys, bridges and other public places,

The Village of Chelsea Ordains:

The Uniform Traffic Code, Ordinance No. 72, is amended by the addition thereto of the following:

SECTION 1. Production of Evidence of Vehicle Insurance upon Request of Police Officer. An owner or operator of a motor vehicle who fails to produce evidence under this subsection when requested to produce that evidence is responsible for a civil infraction.

SECTION 2. Certificate of Insurance as Prima Facie Evidence of Insurance. A certificate of insurance, if issued by an insurance company, which states that security meets the requirements of Section 3101 and 3102 of Act No. 218 of Public Acts of 1956, as amended, and is in force, shall be accepted as prima facie evidence that insurance is in force for the motor vehicle described in the certificate of insurance until the expiration date shown on the certificate. The certificate, in addition to describing the motor vehicles for which insurance is in effect, shall state the name of each person named on the policy, policy declaration, or a declaration certificate whose operation of the vehicle would cause the liability coverage of the insurance to become void.

SECTION 3. Surrender of Operator's License. If an owner of a motor vehicle is determined to be in violation of Section 1 herein, then the Court in which the civil infraction determination is entered may require the person to surrender his operator's license unless proof of insurance is submitted to the Court. If the Court requires the license to be surrendered, the Court shall order the Secretary of State to suspend the person's license and shall forward the surrendered license and a certificate of civil infraction to the Secretary of State.

SECTION 4. False Evidence, Penalty. An owner or operator of a motor vehicle who knowingly produces false evidence under section one is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for not more than one (1) year, or a fine of not more than $500.00 or both.

This section does not apply for a motor vehicle being driven as a truck, bus, school bus, hearse, taxi cab, moped, motorcycle, or any motor vehicle not required to be equipped with safety belts under Michigan Law or Federal Law regulations.

Another Worker Needed for Plant, Manager Says

The village plans to hire another wastewater treatment plant worker before the new plant comes on line.

Village Manager Fritz Weber made the suggestion at the Aug. 2 village council meeting.

"If you take a look at the layout of the new plant, there's no way two people can operate it," Weber said.

"I suggest we hire someone soon."

The new plant is scheduled to go into operation this year.

Tax Provisions Would Help Ease Farm Pressures

The technical tax correction measures moving through Congress contain two provisions that should help ease some of the financial pressure on farmers, according to Al Almy, director of public affairs for the Michigan Farm Bureau.

"Farmers are undergoing a great deal of stress from the drought right now and costs of production are going up," Almy said. "The action in the technical bills to repeal the excise tax on diesel fuel for off-road use, and repeal of the 'heifer tax' which would require capitalization of all the preproductive costs of animals until they start producing, will be very helpful."

Both the House and Senate committees bills include the diesel fuel excise tax repeal. However, the Senate version was reported before amendments could be offered on repeal of the "heifer tax." An amendment could be offered by the Senate Finance Committee chairperson on the Senate floor.

Almy expects final congressional action on the measures by early to mid-Fall.

Demolition Soccer Returns to Fair

Demolition soccer proved to be so popular last year that organizers of the derby have decided to try it again this year at the Chelsea Community Fair.

Demo soccer is a rough game pitting two teams of five cars working to push the soccer ball/foreign car into or over the opponents' goal.

The game will start at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 23 in the main arena. It will be followed by five heats of demolition derby and a feature event.

Ag Economist Urges Farmers To Wait For Market Recovery

The nosedive in the commodity markets reflects a view that the drought is over, but that may not be an accurate outlook, according to Michigan Farm Bureau economist Bob Craig.

"It's my opinion that the market is overreacting right now and is likely to go a little bit lower," Craid said. "I think there will be a recovery, and hopefully farmers will hold off selling at these lower prices and wait for a recovery."

Quilt Show, Sale Slated at Waterloo Farm Museum

A kaleidoscope of shapes and colors will greet the eye when Waterloo Area Farm Museum is the setting of an annual Quilt Show and Sale on Sunday Aug. 14.

In the outdoor setting of the museum's Victorian atmosphere, it will be easy for the mind's eye to envision a 19th century quilting bee, where ladies and girls sewed through an afternoon, piecing or appliqueing designs while others stretched a finished cover over a frame to begin making tiny stitches with loving hands and fingers.

A favorite art-form in colonial and frontier homes, the practice of quilting still serves function, as well as beauty. Although quilting is traditionally used for bed coverings, it also makes warm linings for winter clothing and quilts are often thrown over backs of chairs and fireside benches as a protection against drafts of cold air.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Assoc. of Investors Corp.
and Consulting Editor, Better Investing Magazine

Q. I read your article where you suggested General Motors as a good investment. As an investor who has owned General Motors, I want to tell you I heartily disagree with you. General Motors is not paying as much this year in dividends as it did 10 years ago, and while the total stock market as measured by the Dow Jones Industrials has advanced 2 1/2 times, the price of General Motors is only up about 20% in those 10 years. I have long felt General Motors was operated as a cozy partnership of management and the union, and I have steadily reduced my holdings. I would like to know where you see any possible benefits for General Motors shareholders.

A. I can not disagree with what you say about General Motors's performance over the past decade, but there are two additional facts you should consider. The first is that a shareholder would have received over $40 in dividends for each share held over the last 10 years, and if those dividends had been reinvested, he would have a lot more than a 20% increase in his investment. The second is that, as an investor, we should try to look forward and ask the important question, "What happens from here?"

It has been popular to criticize General Motors in recent years, and it has been clear to everyone that the company did not cut costs as quickly or deeply as its competitors and that it has lost market share. These negatives, however, should not blind us to the good things that are taking place. The company is still the largest automobile manufacturer in the world and one of the world's largest employers. As such it is bound to contain some very able people, and their efforts to turn the corporation around are beginning to show. The company has done a massive job of rebuilding its production capacity and its production efficiency. In the past seven years it has constructed eight all-new plants in the United States. Twenty other manufacturing or assembly plants have been completely rebuilt. Many investors expect a terrific payoff in lower costs and greater profit as these plants begin to be utilized.

In addition the company has the greatest new product development program in its history. In North America it has 11 all-new vehicles and 21 major redesigns in the 1988 and '89 model years. The company is acting aggressively on both the quality front and on the pricing front. While it took some heat when it introduced its 1988 models for seeming to have increased prices, General Motors actually reduced prices as far as comparable equipment is concerned.

The best laid plans of men do not always work out as intended, but it looks like General Motors is in a good position to enjoy lower costs and greater product appeal in the years immediately ahead. The Value Line service estimates that over the next five years earnings per share could be $14 and the stock price could rise as high as $125-$150.

Three Area Students Named to Dean's List

Three area students, Alison L. Chasteen, a freshman from Chelsea, and two from Dexter, sophomore Elizabeth R. Brickman and freshman Elizabeth A. Lundy, were among more than 200 students named to the Dean's List for the most recent academic quarter at Kalamazoo College.

To achieve the honor, students must earn a 3.5 grade-point average or better, on a scale of 4.0.

Alison Chasteen is the daughter of Ms. Marilyn R. Chasteen of Sycamore Dr., Chelsea, and Dr. Joseph E. Chasteen of Littleton, Colo.

Elizabeth Brickman is the daughter of Ms. Elizabeth S. Brickman of Gregory Rd., and Elizabeth Lundy's parents are Dick and Ellen Lundy of N. Parker Rd.

Founded in 1833, Kalamazoo College is among the 100 oldest colleges and universities in the United States.

The excellence of its academic programs has earned Kalamazoo a "highly competitive" ranking in Barron's Profiles of American Colleges.

The college offers 22 majors to its students, leading to a bachelor's degree, and five areas of concentrated study.

Noted for its innovative year-round Kalamazoo Plan, which combines off-campus study in three categories, Kalamazoo College offers a rigorous complement of on-campus courses, as well.

The three special categories include: 1) career development internships; 2) foreign study; 3) a senior individualized project.

More than 85 percent of the Kalamazoo College students participate in the foreign study program.

Decision Due Soon In CEA Grievance

The grievance filed on behalf of Rahn Rosentreter by the Chelsea Education Association was heard in arbitration by Alan Walt on Monday, Aug. 1.

Rosentreter was laid off from his high school history teaching job this year. He was also a girls basketball and boys tennis coach.

According to Michigan Education Association attorney Walt Benton, the arbitrator promised a decision by Aug. 19.

Benton presented the case for the teachers union. His only witness was CEA President Jan Rossi.

Testifying for the school district were former superintendent Ray Van Meer and high school principal John Williams.

Rosentreter attended the five-hour session but did not testify.

CEA contends that Rosentreter was laid off wrongfully because another teacher was moved to a position that Rosentreter was qualified to teach.

Rosentreter has said he plans to continue coaching basketball no matter what the outcome is.

Ethanol Industry Now Facing Tough Times

These are tough times for ethanol producers, but farm leaders say ethanol is critical to the economic well-being of agriculture and deserves the support of the entire farm community. According to Michigan Farm Bureau's agricultural economist, Bob Craig, increased use and promotion of the product must begin with farmers themselves.

"Surveys show that less than 30% of the nation's farmers use ethanol-blended gasolines," Craig said. "Farmers must become better users and more enthusiastic promoters of the product. Only then will we be perceived as a credible source when we tell the other 97% of the public how good it is for them."

Farm Bureau, along with the National Corn Growers Association, Successful Farming magazine, and the Renewable Fuels Association, sponsored a conference in Nashville, Tenn., recently to examine the critical issues facing the ethanol industry.

"Higher raw product cost, caused by the drought, is the latest hurdle for the industry," Craig said. "Corn, the primary fuel stock for ethanol, has nearly doubled in price. Highway user groups have been lobbying to end the product's tax exempt status and a number of major oil companies have waged campaigns against the use of the product."

"But in spite of all these challenges, industry leaders are determined not to quit now. It's too good a product, too important to the agricultural economy, too important to the nation's energy security, and too important to the nation's air quality to give up on now," he said.
