Clinton School District. CATS was formerly primarily to assist transportation needs for the elderly and handicapped. Logos of some of its sponsors appear on the bus.

Papo May Try To Stop Pierce Lake Drain Project

Developer Rene Papo says he may go to court to stop a drain project proposed for the east side of M-52 near Polly's Market.

A Board of Determination has been set for next Monday, Sept. 26 in the village council chambers. Three Washtenaw county landholders, with no land interests in Chelsea or Sylvan township, will decide after testimony whether the project is necessary and should proceed. If approved, landowners who benefit from the project would be taxed to pay for it.

The drain would run behind Polly's Market to Pierce Lake and would handle much of the run-off from the east side of M-52.

"It looks as though we'd be paying for about 50 percent of the drain," Papo said.

"Why should we pay for 50 percent of the drain when our land drains naturally into Pierce Lake anyway?" Papo said he would wait for a decision by the board and would consult with an engineer before deciding whether to go to circuit court. He would have 10 days after the decision to appeal it.

In a related matter, Papo said he filed plans for Chelsea Square on M-52 so that he would be allowed to develop his land.

Chelsea Square, a 40' by 800' strip mall, has been proposed for land between Polly's Market and Village Motors on M-52. In order for the project to be built, however, a certain amount of wetland would have to be filled in to make room for the parking lot. A pond in the wetland already acts as a retention pond for Polly's Market and would do the same for Village Mall, which has been approved for land adjacent to Polly's.

"The way Village Mall has been approved, it would make my land undevelopable," Papo said.

"I just want to develop my land." Papo said he might be able to create wetlands somewhere else as a trade-off for filling in wetland. That would have to be approved by the Department of Natural Resources.

Assistant village manager Lee Fahrner said he would never recommend site plan approval for any project that does not address stormwater run-off for all the projects in the area.

"Chelsea Offcenter," is the name of the office development Papo wants to put on land between Chelsea Community Hospital and St. Paul United Church of Christ off Old US-12.

Papo has proposed that the village consider annexing 52 acres of Sylvan (Continued on page six)

Chelsea United Way Opens '88 Campaign With Dinner Tonight

Chelsea United Way will kick off its 1988 campaign tonight (Sept. 21) with a kick-off dinner at Chelsea Community Hospital.

School. They married, settled in Chelsea, and have been active locally while raising their five sons.

Jack is president of Merkels Home Furnishings, served as Chelsea Village President, is active on the Chelsea Community Hospital board, and is active in various committees at St. Mary's Catholic church.

Mary Ann is a charter member of Modern Mothers, a founder of the Dexter-Chelsea Co-op Nursery School, and founder of Chelsea Home Meals Service. She has also taken an active part in fund-raising for the St. Louis Center. She is a past-president of the Chelsea United Way.

Village Assistant Manager Lee Fahrner Resigns To Take Engineering Job

Assistant village manager Lee Fahrner has resigned his position in order to take a job with an Ann Arbor engineering consulting firm.

Fahrner informed village president Jerry Satterthwaite and the village council of his decision last week. His last day will be Friday, Oct. 21.

"I've really enjoyed my job," Fahrner said.

"I'm from Chelsea, and I like the community. But I was offered a job I couldn't turn down. I hate to go. It was a tough decision."

Fahrner's new position will be with Midwestern Consulting Inc., a company specializing in surveying, planning, and engineering, including municipal engineering. Fahrner is a civil engineer by training.

Fahrner was hired in early 1985 at a salary of $35,000 and was considered to be the person who would replace village manager Fritz Weber when Weber retires. However, Fahrner said his children, now 12 and 13, do not want to leave the Pinckney area until they have finished high school.

"To be the manager, you need to live in the community and be part of the community," Fahrner said.

It's likely the village will move quickly to replace Fahrner as he has taken over some of the workload of Weber, who for many months did not work full-time due to poor health. He still does not keep full office hours.

"Lee has been a godsend, especially with Fritz out," Satterthwaite said.

"Lee has not hesitated to work to 10 p.m. to get the job done. We're going to have to hire somebody, probably somebody with a strong engineering or strong financial background. My feeling is we should hire someone with a financial background because we can always contract the engineering out."

Fahrner was hired just as the current expansion of Chelsea was beginning to take shape. One of his first projects was the new wastewater treatment plant, which has been the major catalyst in the growth of the village. Ironically, the plant may be turned on the same week Fahrner leaves.

In his almost three years, Fahrner has been involved in a long list of projects that includes Chelsea Shopping Center, Bridgetown Condominiums, Belser Estates, Quiet Creek Condominiums, and Village Mall, as well as other projects that never materialized. He was also instrumental in helping guide the village through its recent problems with the Department of Natural Resources and the landfill. He's also been a regular contributor at village council and planning commission meetings.

Fahrner said he has definite ideas about how the village should deal with future expansion.

"I think we ought to slow down, but whether we will, I don't know," Fahrner said.

"We need to look at what's going on and see what kind of impact it will have on the new treatment plant."

Fahrner said that when the plant was designed there was a certain amount of capacity designed for village expansion. He said new projects will use about half of that additional capacity.

"You can study it to death, but you don't really know until you turn on the plant and see what happens," Fahrner said.

Fahrner said he also believes there's too much commercial development in the south part of town and that it threatens to change the character of the village.

Pollack Wants State To Fence Cassidy Lake Or Re-Form Police Team

By Brian Hamilton

State Sen. Lana Pollack says she plans to push for the re-establishment of the Prisoner Apprehension Team or the fencing of Cassidy Lake Technical School.

The number of escaped prisoners from Cassidy Lake Technical School, the minimum security prison on Waterloo Rd., has been on the rise since the apprehension team lost its funding last winter. Since May 1, 23 prisoners have walked away from the school. In addition, many of the escapees are serving time for assaultive crimes. The most recent was a 34-year-old serving 7-15 years for assault with intent to murder and 7-15 years for armed robbery.

This summer Chelsea police arrested an escapee who broke into a Pierce Rd. home and stole a loaded handgun, among other items.

And, as Washtenaw County Sheriff Ron Schebl said, some of those prisoners may be serving time for reduced charges in plea bargaining arrangements, which may hide the true nature of the crimes they committed in the first place.

Pollack said that when the apprehension team lost its funding, the state Department of Corrections was allocated money for the fencing of the prison.

"I'm a little irritated at the Department of Corrections," Pollack said last week.

"They were going to put a fence around (Cassidy Lake). Funding was made available to the corrections department. They should have designed and built the fence. That was the trade-off for getting rid of the apprehension team. We may have to get them to re-implement the apprehension team."

However, warden William Grant, who oversees the entire camp program, of which Cassidy Lake is a part, said he is not aware of any so-designated funds.

"If anything, my information is the opposite," Grant said.

"We have been told the area residents don't want it fenced," Schebl, whose department participated in the prisoner apprehension team along with law enforcement officers from Jackson county, said the team was effective and that he was "very satisfied with the results."

The team is widely credited with reducing the number of escaped prisoners because it was dedicated to catching them and prosecution of escapees was guaranteed. With the abandonment of the team, prisoners who escape are dealt with administratively in the prison system.

The number of prisoners in the state's entire camp program is growing, Grant said. He said the system

Auto Brokering Ban Amendment Opposed By Business Coalition
A coalition of business has joined together to oppose an amendment to a bill in the Senate Commerce and Technology committee that would make auto brokering illegal.

But an aide to the committee's chair said the amendment will likely be removed before the bill is reported to the Senate.

The coalition said if the amendment remains on the bill, 140 licensed auto brokers in the state will be out of business and tent sales similar to those offered by credit unions will no longer be held.

Tent sales allow credit union members to purchase cars from rental car companies. A previous effort by auto dealers to eliminate competitive buying services, such as tent sales, was thwarted in 1986 when similar legislation failed to pass the Legislature.

The coalition opposes the amendment because "it is anti-consumer legislation which eliminates the possibility of additional sales competition and restricts free enterprise," said Armando R. Cavazos, spokesperson for the coalition which includes AAA Michigan, American Automobile Brokers, Inc., Amway Corporation/Amway Auto Network, Car and Truck Rental and Leasing Association of Michigan, Michigan Credit Union League, and the Teachers Auto Club.

An auto broker is an individual or organization that makes an arrangement between an auto dealer and a purchaser. Mr. Cavazos said brokers not only provide freedom of choice, but "offer a good price that often saves the consumer money, a buying service that saves time and aggravation."

But Barry McGuire, executive vice-president Michigan Automobile Dealers Association, said, "We think the whole brokering system is a poor way of doing business. It (brokering) is anti-consumer, because the broker's money is not coming from the dealers' pocket, it isn't coming from the manufacturer's pocket, it's coming out of the buyers' pocket."

Frank Cusmano, legislative aide to Sen. Richard Posthumus (R-Lowell), chair of the Senate Commerce and Technology Committee, said the amendment will be stricken when the bill is taken up in committee, tentatively next week.

Cusmano said Posthumus is "philosophically opposed" to the amendment because it restricts free market trade and hurts consumers.

"I imagine the bill will come out of committee without the amendment, but the auto dealers will use their clout and fight to put it back on the Senate floor," Cusmano said. He said if the bill is not taken up next week in committee, it will be addressed sometime before the Legislature adjourns in December.

The bill (HB 4390) was originally drafted to upgrade the punishment for odometer tampering from a misdemeanor to a felony, and the House unanimously passed it in May 1987. The brokering ban amendment was added by the Senate State Affairs, Tourism and Transportation Committee before it sent the bill to the Commerce and Technology Committee.

State Population Figures Show Strong Growth

Gov. James J. Blanchard recently reported that Michigan is experiencing a population growth and a plus in migration growth.

He said new U. S. Census Bureau figures show the state's population grew by 61,000 residents in 1987, ranking the state 10th in total population among the 50 states. Further, the numbers showed 1,300 more people moved into the state than moved out, marking the first time in nearly two decades that in-migration exceeded out-migration.

The state's 1987 population was 9,199,871. The 61,000 gain was the best in the Midwest and Northeast. Nationally, the increase was exceeded only by California, Florida, Georgia, Virginia, Arizona, Texas, North Carolina, Washington and Maryland.

The governor said the growth is widespread throughout the state. In 1987, 42 counties grew at rates faster than the national average.

Five metropolitan areas—Ann Arbor, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Kalamazoo and Lansing—experienced faster growth than the national rate.

In non-metropolitan areas, those with the highest population growth rates were the areas around Traverse City, Roscommon and Ogemaw counties.

Based on current data, the governor said, demographers at the Department of Management and Budget expect continued strong growth throughout 1988.

On Sept. 12 Chelsea Lionesses began their 1988-89 year with a visit from the area district governor, Lion Lowell Maxson, and his wife, Lioness Sue Maxson, from Coldwater. He talked about some changes that will occur in the Lion-Lioness organization including leadership training at International Conferences.

Governor Maxson also spoke about some state-wide projects such as the Michigan Eye Bank and Transplantation Center located at University of Michigan Hospital, the Leader Dogs for the Blind program and Welcome Home; a specially constructed facility where the blind can live. The Welcome Home facility is located in Grand Rapids and has some openings. People may contact a Lion or Lioness if they know of a person in need of that type of living situation. The governor presented each Lioness with a gift and urged them to attend the next district meeting on Oct. 2.

Planning continues for the popular Haunted House. The ghouls and goblins Lionesses intend to present Chelsea with another terrifying Halloween experience.

Gayle Thompson attended the meeting as a guest and Vivian Michelson provided the refreshments.

The next meeting, on Oct. 10, will be the annual membership tea. Interested women may contact JoAnn Richardson at 475-9918 for more information.

Catherine Williams, Steven Opp Married at St. Mary's Church

Catherine C. Williams of Chelsea, and Steven K. Opp of Stockbridge, were married on Friday, May 27, at St. Mary's church in Chelsea by the Rev. Fr. Philip Dupuis. Mrs. Carol Gallas, friend of the family, was the organist and soloist.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Williams of Chelsea. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth F. Opp of Stockbridge.

The bride wore a gown of lace and chiffon with beading over the bodice. A full chiffon skirt fell from a basque waist and had lace detail on the front and on the chapel-length train. The sleeves were long with chantilly lace details at the wrists. Her veil was a wreath of silk roses with sparkling baby's breath. She carried a cascade bouquet of silk white roses, white carnations and baby's breath with touches of blue.

Mr. and Mrs. George Atkinson on 60th Anniversary

Alice, George Atkinson Observe Their 60th Wedding Anniversary

The Rev. Fr. Henry Van Dyke, pastor, was celebrant of the Mass for the wedding of George Elgin Atkinson and Alice Catherine Schanz, in St. Mary's church on Congdon St. in Chelsea, Aug. 30, 1928.

Attendants were Eileen Madden, life-long friend of the bride, and Kenneth Schanz, brother of the bride. The couple were honored on their 60th anniversary by an open house, Aug. 28.

The day began by attending 11 a.m. Mass at St. Mary's on Old US-12. As on their wedding day, the Communion hymn was the Ave Maria. Vocalist was Carol Gallas. During the service Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson stood at the foot of the altar, right hands joined, and repeated their wedding vows to their Pastor Philip Dupuis.

Greatest events in our lives? The birth of our daughter Nelly-Maree now Mrs. Cecil Cobb and three years later, our son, David Elgin. Saddest event? Death of our son at age 49.

For a happy marriage? Respect for each other's privileges, likes and dislikes. When the air clears after tempers clash, remember to say, "I love you always but, I don't always like you."

An open house was hosted by their daughter and grandchildren at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McCalla.

Guests came from Grand Rapids, Jackson, Stockbridge, Waterloo, Munith, Gregory, Detroit, Warren, Mt. Clemens, Novi, Pinckney, Manchester, Whitmore Lake, Dexter, Chelsea and Ann Arbor.

Cards of congratulations were received from, Japan, New Jersey, Arizona, Virginia, North Carolina and Michigan.

Wonder worm: A 12-foot long worm that makes a sound like a bathtub draining may not seem like much of a tourist attraction, but the bizarre giant earthworm has proved the economic salvation of one Australian town. According to National Wildlife magazine, after the local coal mine shut down, the townsfolk of Korumburra (pop. 2,800) turned to their one notable resource: the great Gippsland gurgling earthworm. Colorful toy earthworms began appearing in show windows, and the town launched an annual worm festival complete with parades and an earthworm queen.

Prison Camp Overcrowding

has been taking in about 300 more prisoners a month than it releases.

The prisoner count at Cassidy Lake stands at about 400, according to Grant.

"We have reduced the numbers some, but we have not been able to get the relief we had hoped for," Grant said.

"We've gotten the numbers down a little at Cassidy Lake, but not to where we wanted it, about 270."

The facility is designed to hold 266 prisoners. Older housing that was scheduled to be torn down is still standing. That's where the overflow of prisoners is being housed.

The recent move to have Cassidy Lake closed on a legal technicality will probably go nowhere, Pollack said.

The Washtenaw Board of Commissioners officially asked the state to close the prison because evidence shows the state violated deed restrictions on the land when it established the prison.

"There was nothing my office could do," Pollack said.

"I think it's unrealistic to think the state would give up a site. It would be a battle royale at a time like this."

"Few things are brought to a successful issue by impetuous desire, but most by calm and prudent forethought . . ."

—Thucydides

Nearly everything has changed except human nature since the time of this Greek historian. Each day, we can read of certain people and their "impetuous desire" to change the establishment for a utopian society. Apparently, it has been thus for 2500 years!

As in the centuries past, the progress and worthwhile changes which will certainly be made, will be the work of those more level-headed . . . if less than well-publicized . . . among today's youth, who are already investing the "calm and prudent forethought" toward a brighter tomorrow.

You can always depend on us for good advice, offered as a concerned and sympathetic friend would advise you.

township land that would be used for the office area and another development of garden apartments. No action has been taken either by the village planning commission or village council.

Papo said Chelsea Officenter would initially consist of one 40,000-square-foot, two-floor building, with as many as 15 individual medical and professional offices.

"If it's successful, we could have three or four other buildings in that area," Papo said.

He envisions a building with a central atrium area that's "nice in winter, it's like being outside." The eastern 20 acres of the parcel would be used for the apartment complex, which would be developed in 60-unit phases with 30 units per building, Papo said. Individual apartments would range in size from 1-3 bedrooms.

"We'll do anything the village wants us to do in regards to the zoning," Papo said.

Papo said he wants to develop the office area first and would be willing to consider putting the apartment project on hold, if the village wants to annex only part of the land. However, he said eventually he will build the apartments and provide his own wastewater treatment facility if village services are not available. He said the treated water would be dumped in Pierce Lake, which his partnership also owns, across Old US-12.

Neither project is likely to get started before the middle of next year, Papo said.

Arcus Corp., Papo's Ann Arbor company, manages office buildings in Ann Arbor, including one in Research Park, offices in Mt. Clemens, Chelsea Medical Center, and a shopping center in Tecumseh.

Papo is a 1977 graduate of Chelsea High school.

DENTAL EXAMS SHOULD START EARLY

Q: When is the best time to bring in a child for his or her first visit to the dentist?

A: Earlier than you might think! A child's primary, or "baby" teeth begin erupting on the average at 7 months of age and continue to erupt until he is about 2½ years old. The American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry recommends that children have their first dental examination at about one year of age. This first examination is to check for any significant developmental abnormalities or dental problems and to review oral hygiene and diet instructions with the parents. A child is usually able to cooperate enough to have a complete prophylaxis or cleaning by age 3.

It's often a good idea to introduce a child to the dental office gradually. His first visit may be just to watch mom or dad having their teeth cleaned and examined. This allows the child to have a pleasant non-threatening experience while eliminating much of the aura of mystery surrounding a trip to the dentist.

Parents' attitudes are very important in the child's perception of a trip to the dentist. It is very common for a parent to transfer his or her anxieties directly onto the child and this makes it all the more difficult to establish a bond of trust between the child and the dental "team." Watch what you say! A visit to the dental office may be viewed as a chance to show off a beautiful smile or how well the child has been brushing or even to show how "grown-up" the child is becoming as his permanent teeth begin erupting. These and other positive attitudes should be re-enforced daily at toothbrushing time.

Since the advent of fluorides the incidence of tooth decay has fallen dramatically. It is not unusual anymore to see teenagers and young adults without a single filling or cavity! Why start bringing your child to the dentist so young then? First, your family dentist is not just a technician who drills and fills decayed teeth but a professional trained to recognize and treat a multitude of oral diseases and problems. A child's baby teeth play a critical role in the development and alignment of the permanent teeth. An abscessed primary tooth can harm the developing permanent tooth which was to replace it and early loss of a primary tooth without proper space maintenance may result in insufficient room for the permanent teeth.

With regular six month checkups starting early the child becomes comfortable visiting the dentist and problems can be better prevented or corrected in a more relaxed and non-traumatic fashion. One of the best ways to make a child a dental "phobic" for life is to go to the dentist only when he or she is in pain. One of the best ways to prevent such phobias and develop sound life-long dental habits is to start your child early.

Stockbridge Teacher Strike Ends Sunday

The two sides involved in the Stockbridge schools' contract dispute are expected to ratify the tentative agreement which was reached Sunday night after a "fact-finding" report was presented, said Timothy Boos, school board president.

Students, who have missed 13 full school days because of the strike which was a first at Stockbridge schools, resumed classes Tuesday. Staff and support personnel resumed work Monday.

Boos would not comment on what role fact-finding played in the eventual agreement, but interim superintendent Don Pobuda said that it had acted mostly as a "catalyst" and had not played as big a role as many had expected.

However, the agreement was reached after the independent fact-finding counsel gave its report on Sunday afternoon. A meeting open to the public was held from 1 to 2 p.m. The tentative agreement was reached at 11:30 p.m.

The board has decided that the students will make up the missed days, Pobuda said, although by simply leaving the days off the calendar year the district could save $8,000 per day.

According to state law, students do not have to make up the missed days if the school district forgoes the state aid for those days, Boos said. Pobuda added that even after losing the state aid, the school could have saved about $104,000, but decided that too much valuable instructional time would be lost.

The calendar was one of the issues under negotiation, with the teachers arguing to extend the school year in order to receive salary for the days missed.

Fact-finding is the next step in the negotiating process after mediation fails. The Stockbridge schools went to fact-finding after the Ingham County Circuit Court ruled last week against the school board's request for an injunction to order the teacher's back to work.

Boos said Judge Brown gave as a reason for turning down the injunction request that missing school was "not detrimental" to affected students. Boos would not comment on whether the school board had based its case on the argument that migrant workers' children and handicapped children were suffering due to the strike.

Stockbridge townspeople have at previous school board meetings expressed concern that the strike was costing the already financially beleaguered district undue dollars. The lawyer hired to represent the board and the interim superintendents' salary were both of concern to Stockbridgers.

Boos was quick to point out that Pobuda has been paid $175 per day since July 1 when he replaced the former superintendent, who resigned. That amounts to about $44,000 per year, in contrast to his predecessor's salary of $55,000 per year.

Pobuda said he wasn't sure how many hours the lawyer, who charges $100 per hour, had amassed, but doubted that it was as many as 100.

"We don't know how many hours it was because he spent some time in his office doing preparation in addition to the hours he spent in mediation. He hasn't sent us his bill."

Charlotte Camp, owner and publisher of the Stockbridge Town Crier, was recently appointed to the school board after member Caroline Cook resigned.

Players Seeking Staff For Winter Production

The Chelsea Area Players is seeking persons for the positions of artistic director, technical director and other production staff for "Deadwood Dick" or "The Game of Gold" scheduled for production in February, 1989.

In this rootin' tootin' melodrama of the Gay '90s, long-lost daughters, stolen gold mines, kidnapped heroines and hairbreadth escapes abound! The cast of 14 characters, plus extras, includes Ned Harris, alias Deadwood Dick; Lily Blossom and her sister, Rose; Blackman Redburn, a true-black villain; Calamity Jane, owner of the "Man-Trap Saloon"; Teetotal Tessie, a Temperance Crusader; plus other assorted miners, toughs, barmaids and crusaders.

Let the lure of the Old West—of six shooter heroes (yes, the hero does really carry six shooters!) of redskins biting the dust, of lily-pure maidens and blackhearted gamblers, of the never-ending "Game of Gold"—entice you to call for more information.

The production will be staged true to old-time vaudeville tradition, offering a variety of family entertainment. The audience may cheer or boo and hiss, but Please Refrain from Throwing Peanuts!

Auditions will be held early in December.

VIC COVAL, equipment operator at the Hudson Mills North Territorial Rd. in Dexter township. A $900,000 golf Park, lifts one of the heavy boulders on the 200-acre site on course is under construction.

Construction Underway on New Golf Course in Dexter Township

Ground is being broken quite literally at the 200-acre site on North Territorial Rd. in Dexter township for a new 18-hole golf course currently under construction and scheduled to open next August, weather permitting.

Construction crews are moving dirt from one area to the other to prepare the golf course, said Gary Barstch, superintendent of the Hudson Mills Metropark. Boulders that are not needed by the golf course will be removed to other areas of the park.

Construction has been underway since May. The main landscape architect who designed the course is Susan Nyquist.

The golf course will cost about $900,000. It is being funded by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority. That price includes the 18-hole golf course, a parking lot and service yard. The course will temporarily work out of a trailer.

When the HCMA board of commissioners meets in December to approve its budget for the year, the amount to be spent on equipment and operational costs, as well as fees for all HCMA golf courses will be set. Two full-time staff members and six part-time seasonal workers will most likely be hired to run the course, Barstch said. The HCMA will also build a clubhouse on the site but not in 1989, Barstch added.

Meanwhile, the first nine holes at another HCMA golf course, Indian Springs, located in White Lake township, has been open since Labor Day. The golf course was originally scheduled to open in July, but the dry weather conditions of summer delayed it.

The grass is starting to grow on the nine holes that aren't yet open at Indian Springs. "It is a very beautiful golf course with rolling terrain, one that is challenging to golfers," Barstch said.

Stockbridge Athletic Boosters Give $30,000 To Salvage Sports

After the request for four mills for extracurriculars at Stockbridge schools was defeated this fall, parents of students who wanted to play sports found themselves in a pickle.

The only available option appeared to be to have parents pay relatively high sums of money to offset the costs incurred by sporting activities. But few parents probably would have paid the several hundred dollars to let their child engage in a sport, so it looked like sports would have to be cut completely out of the curriculum. That is, until the Stockbridge Schools Athletic Boosters agreed, per the school board's request, to contribute $30,000 to the sports programs. That cut the amount per child fee down to $125 per high school student and $100 per lower school student, said Athletic Booster member Marvin Cook.

For his daughter, who is a cheerleader and on the girl's basketball team, a total of about $380 would have been mandated, Cook said. And even that amount was assuming a large number of students would participate. The other students were going to have to pick up the tab for each student who dropped out.

Cook, like a number of other athletic boosters members, was opposed to giving the $30,000, which was earmarked for building a concession stand and bathroom to help the sports program.

"We had to cancel what we wanted to build just so the kids could play,"

Cook said. "We figured that there's no sense in building a concession stand if there are no games being played."

Cook doesn't think that the brunt of the funding for school sports should come from the athletics boosters, a "very active" group of 50 parents, although he is proud to have come through for the sake of the Stockbridge students.

The school board should have at least matched the amount the boosters are providing, Cook said.

"But the school board said, the people have spoken," Cook said, referring to the millage defeat.

Timothy Boos, president of the Stockbridge school board, said he recalls hearing the remark about the Stockbridge people having spoken, but stressed that the reason the school board has not contributed funds to the sports program is that none are available.

He added that it isn't yet conceivable to say whether the school board could squeeze a little money out of the budget for sports since the contracts for teachers are still being settled.

Cook worries that by instituting the pay-to-participate plan the schools will get into a pattern that will be difficult to get out of.

"Some of us are afraid that now we've got it, the voters will turn the millage down every time," he said, adding that he has heard of schools who are in their fourth year of the pay-to-participate program.

Two years ago, Stockbridge passed a millage for extracurriculars after a second vote. This year, the school board decided not to have a second vote.

Cook noted that many other programs such as the school newspaper, year book, honor society and plays, will all be eliminated as a result of the millage defeat.

The Athletic Boosters have spent about $200,000 on improvements to Stockbridge school sports facilities since 1981. Last year, they installed lights, a backstop fence, and $5,000 10-inch well on the football field, among other improvements.

W. Washtenaw Survey Is Completed

Nine out of 10 western Washtenaw county manufacturers responding to a recent survey gave the area high marks as "a place to conduct business." More than half said they plan to modernize or improve existing facilities, while a fourth plan to build new facilities.

"The Western Washtenaw Industrial Survey" was launched in May and is designed to help the communities of Chelsea, Dexter and Scio township retain and expand their industrial bases.

Survey findings represent the views of 70 manufacturing executives on the area's strengths and weaknesses as a business location.

"Over-all, manufacturing firms see the western Washtenaw area as a good location with a stable work force and positive attitudes toward business," said Marcia Buhl, Michigan Bell's local public relations manager.

Michigan Bell is one of eight study sponsors. Others are the villages of Chelsea and Dexter, Scio township, the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, Chelsea Community Hospital, Jackson Rd. Business Association and the Dexter Business and Industrial Council.

Among the survey findings were these:

- 87% of manufacturers rated the area "excellent" to "good" as "a place to conduct business";
- 59% said they plan to modernize existing facilities;
- 24% plan new facilities and 43% plan to expand facilities.

The survey was conducted by a team of 50 community volunteers trained by Michigan Bell. They interviewed executives in 70 of 137 manufacturing firms to get their views on sales, labor conditions, and community and governmental relations.

Project manager Philip R. Boham leads the task force that will use survey results to develop a set of recommendations. Study results and proposed action steps will be incorporated into a report that will be presented at a public meeting later this year.

Michigan Bell has completed similar studies in 35 communities across the state.

Milan Running Game Gives Bulldogs Fits In 35-10 Home Loss

By Brian Hamilton

It took the Milan Big Red just two plays to score their first touchdown Friday night and from then on they were never seriously threatened as they demolished the Chelsea Bulldogs 35-10 at Niehaus Field.

After Jessie Walker ran 24 yards to the Chelsea 46, sophomore quarterback Shawn McIntosh hit a wide open Ryan Brown down the middle for the score. It was one of only two passes he completed all night long.

However, despite the one passing TD, it was Milan's running game, in particular their outside game, that caused the Bulldogs problems all night long. The Big Reds ran for 270 yards and four touchdowns. Anthony Griffin had 102 yards and two scores on six carries, Jessie Walker had 81 yards on 14 rushes, and Robin Love added 61 yards on 10 carries.

By half-time the score was 28-3. "We played passively on defense," said Chelsea head coach Gene LaFave.

"The pass hurt us early and they were very explosive. We're not very explosive and when you get down early like we did it is very difficult. They are very fast, but when you have holes to run through like they had, they look even faster."

After the opening score, Chelsea moved the ball from their 32 and Junior Morseau eventually kicked a 24-yard field goal that was tipped at the line. Chelsea didn't score again until they were down 35-3.

As an indication of Milan's dominance, the Big Reds punted once all night and they faced only five third down situations the entire game, compared to the 23 faced by the Bulldogs.

Also, for the second straight game the Bulldogs gave up three interceptions. Each pick-off led to a Milan score. It was a tough night for quarterback Larry Nix, who completed 11 of 27 passes for 97 yards and one touchdown.

Senior running back Junior Morseau played a limited role in the offense although over-all Chelsea's running game was reasonably effective. Sophomore Jude Quilter had his first 100-yard game, picking up 101 yards on 18 runs, as the team rushed for a total of 162 yards. Morseau had 28 yards on 15 carries, but perhaps equally as important was he didn't catch a single pass.

Quilter also led in receiving with four catches for 35 yards. David White caught three for 25 yards. David Zerkel, who scored Chelsea's only touchdown, caught two passes for 25 yards. And Kerry Plank caught two for seven yards.

"We haven't played well all year," LaFave said.

"But we'll shore up some things and we'll get better. Our schemes and strategies have been good but our execution hasn't been good."

The Bulldogs will face their first opponent with a good passing game this Friday at Lincoln.

"We'll have a tougher task on defense," LaFave said.

"Lincoln's offense is more diversified, even though their best runner, Jeff Lafferty, is out with a broken ankle. They have two outstanding receivers. It's also never easy playing at Lincoln."

"We've got to do some things differently and stay positive."

Chelsea is 0-2 in the league and 1-2 over-all.

ANDY DEHRING looks for daylight after taking the pitch from quarterback Larry Nix. Dehring, a second string tailback, was part of a running game that picked up 162 yards. Chelsea faces Lincoln this Friday on the road.

SCRAMBLING OUT OF DANGER is Chelsea quarterback Larry Nix, while Milan defensive end Rod Carpenter turns in pursuit during last Friday's home game. It was a long night for the Bulldogs, who suffered one of their worst defeats in the last two years.

Hornet Girls Buzz By Chelsea Runners

Sarah Grau beat the pack by 19 seconds but it wasn't enough to get the Chelsea girls cross country team by the Saline Hornets last Tuesday, Sept. 13.

The Hornets took a 22-37 victory in the first Southeastern Conference dual meet of the year.

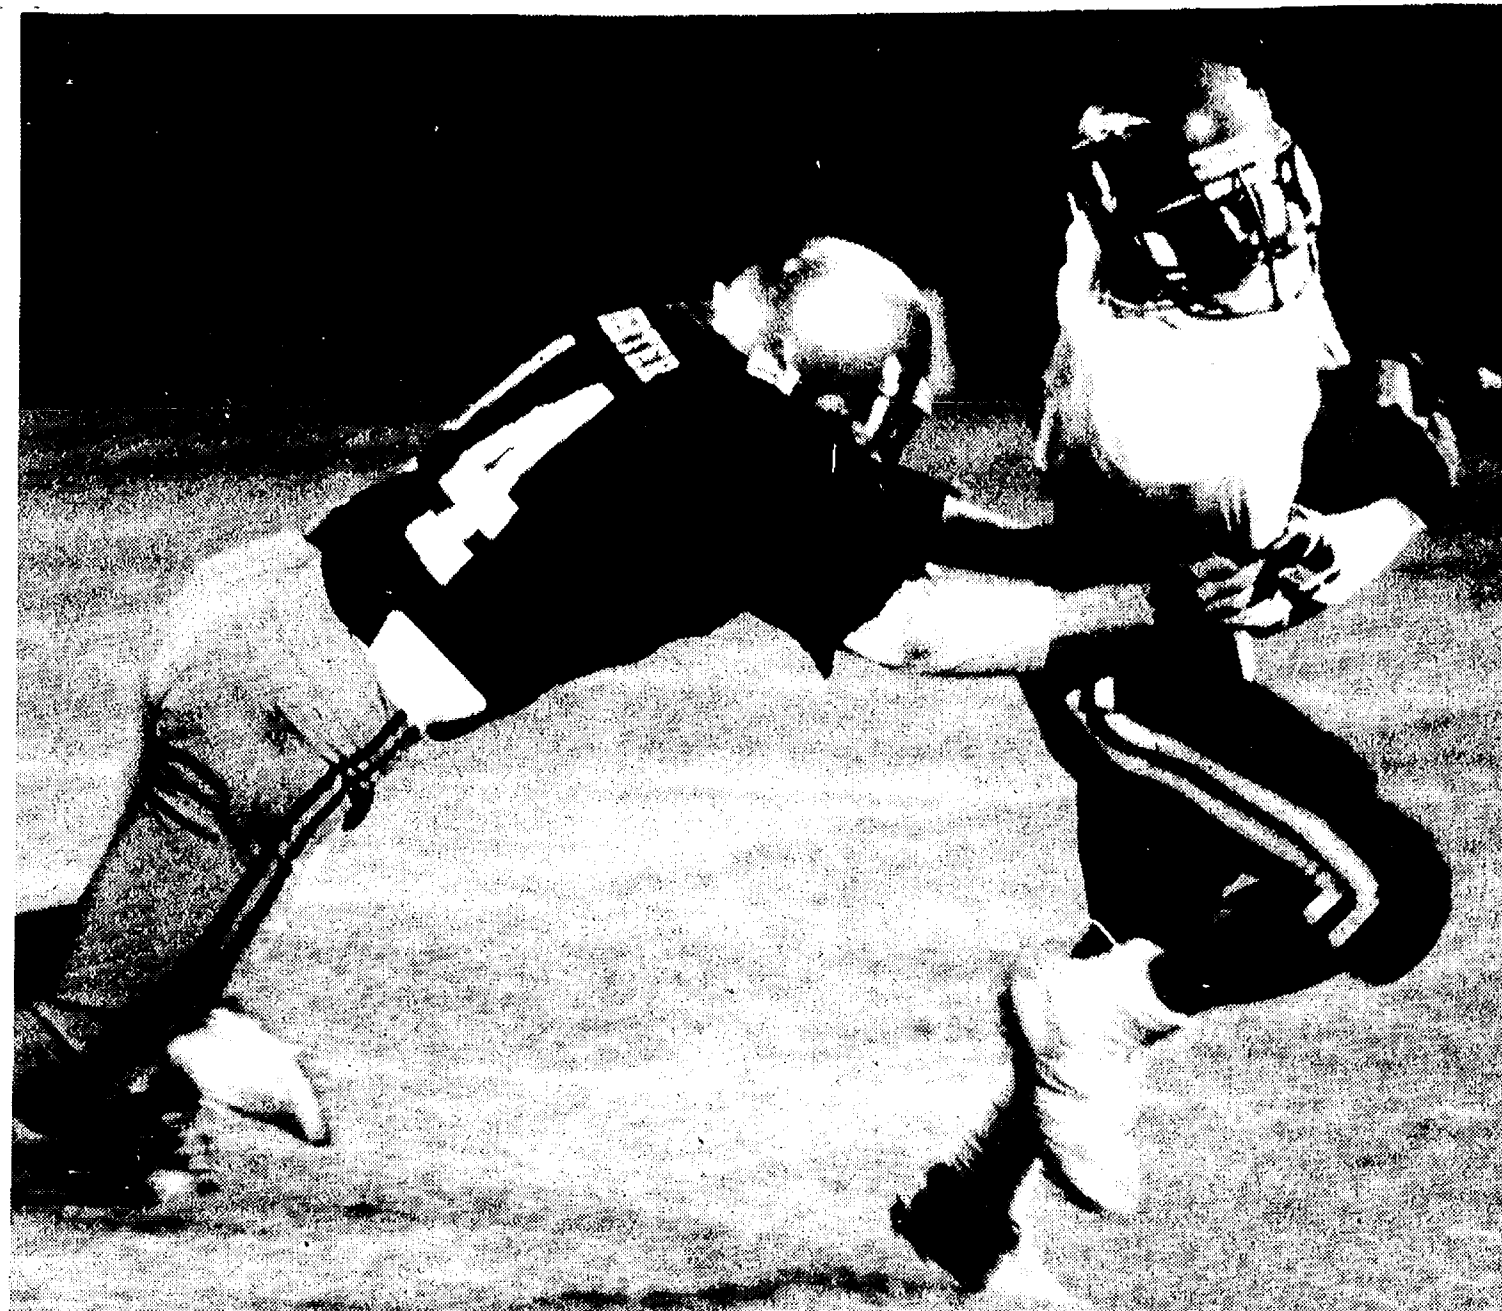

"Sarah Grau ran a very strong race," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke. "Christine Mignano and Vicki Bullock ran well, but our youth and inexperience showed through and the rest of the team didn't run very well."

Mignano and Bullock finished sixth and seventh, respectively, in 22:17 and 22:27. Rounding out the field were Debi Koenn, 11th, 22:50; Leisa Schiller, 14th, 23:42; Sheila Haab, 15th, 23:46; Carmen Smith, 16th, 23:49; Becca Burkell, 18th, 24:30; Brenda Brede, 22nd, 25:05; Stacy Gallagher, 23rd, 25:11; Martina Street, 32nd, 28:59; and Sarah Franklin, 34th, 29:28.

"We will improve on this effort," Clarke said.

"I have some talking to do before next week. I'm sure the girls will rebound strongly in our next meet."

MATT HERTER tries to tackle Milan's Jessie Walker during last Friday's game at Niehaus Field. Milan's outside running game took the Bulldogs to the cleaners as the Big Reds scored an easy 35-10 victory. Chelsea drops to 0-2 in the league.

Bulldog Cagers Whipped By Tough Jackson County Western

Tenth-ranked Jackson County Western showed the Chelsea Bulldogs what good basketball is all about as they handed the Bulldogs their first loss of the season, 48-28, last Tuesday, Sept. 13.

Chelsea fell behind 14-0 before they scored their first points early in the second quarter.

"We did not play well the first half and we did not execute our offense the way we had hoped," said Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter.

"We knew going in they would put a lot of pressure on us and would press us the whole time. But we came out and kind of sat back and weren't aggressive."

Jenni Smith and Allison Brown, who have carried the Bulldogs' inside scoring load this season, combined for just five points, by far their lowest total of the year. Chelsea was having trouble getting any shots at all, let alone any shots inside. They had 36 shots for the night, many of them toward the end as they began to get frantic.

"We need a game like that every now and then to knock us down a notch or two and make us realize we need to keep working to be a good basketball team," Rosentreter said.

Rosentreter was pleased with the Chelsea defensive effort, however. JCW had averaged 70 points going into the contest.

Heather Neibauer led the Bulldogs with 15 points. Smith scored five points, and Laura Unterbrink, Scharme Petty, Carrie Flintoft, and Tiffany Moore each scored two.

Chelsea begins Southeastern Conference play tomorrow at Milan.

JV Gridders Show Improvement In Defeat

Things are looking better for the Chelsea JV football team. The team still lost but the score was much closer.

The Bulldogs held an 8-7 lead at half time but were eventually beaten by Milan 27-16 in Milan.

T. J. Hackworth scored Chelsea's first touchdown and Rick Westcott got credit for the second.

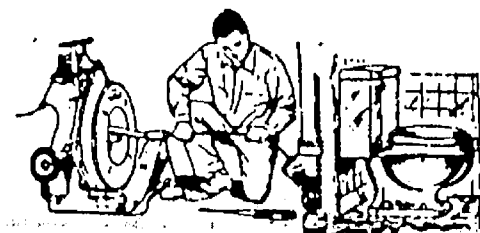

"We showed a lot of improvement," said Chelsea coach Mike Bohlender.

Bohlender praised the play of offensive guard and defensive tackle Greg Garen and cornerback Jeremy Mackinder.

ATHLETES OF THE WEEK are Chelsea High school seniors Heather Neilbauer and Chris Birtles. Heather is the daughter of Michael and Emma Neilbauer, 11131 Boyce Rd., and sister of Michael, 23, Keith, 21, and Kendra, 21. She is a co-captain and guard/forward for the varsity basketball team, and is one of the team's leading scorers. Heather, who's in her third year on the varsity, once scored 28 points in a game. Last year Heather was the team's Most Valuable Player, and was second team all-Southeastern Conference. Outside of school, Heather is active in St. Mary's Parish, where she teaches Sunday school to 3-4 year olds. In her spare time she enjoys playing other sports and socializing with her friends. She plans to attend college next year and perhaps continue her basketball career. Chris is the son of Melva and Tom Birtles, 13011 E. Old US-12, and brother of Shelley. He's a starting defensive tackle in his first full year on the varsity. In the winter, Chris is a member of the varsity swimming team and last year was the recipient of the Paul Schumann Memorial Award. He's been a member of the student council for three years. In his free time he enjoys swimming, and writing songs and short stories. Chris has already joined the U.S. Navy on a delayed entry program. He also plans to attend the University of Toledo.

Hedding Wins But Dogs Lose

Chelsea boys cross country team lost their first Southeastern Conference meet of the season last Tuesday, Sept. 13 to the Saline Hornets, 23-36.

Chelsea's Paul Hedding won the race by 36 seconds as he posted a 16:59.

"Hedding ran his best race ever at Inverness Golf Course," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"Holden Harris also ran well before fading on a little at the end. He will improve on that. The rest of our top five ran OK, but not well enough to beat a strong team like Saline. We are still looking for some sixth and seventh varsity runners."

Harris took fourth place in 17:42.

Also competing for Chelsea were Brian Zangara, 9th, 18:14; Matt Riemenschneider, 10th, 18:15; Jeff Latimer, 12th, 18:24; Erich Hammer, 19th, 19:35; Jim Hassett, 20th, 19:36; Rob Jacques, 21st, 19:37; Jason Allen, 22nd, 19:48; Kelly Beard, 24th, 20:01; Ben Vermeulen, 33rd, 21:06; Justin White, 39th, 22:32; Brian Address, 40th, 22:48; Jake Rindle, 42nd, 23:19; Kirk Hedding, 46th, 24:07.

The Bulldogs finished third at the 16-team New Boston Invitational last Saturday.

Hedding was Chelsea's top finisher, taking third place in 17:10. Harris wasn't far behind as he took seventh in 17:32.

"The top four boys ran a real nice race and are producing nicely," Clarke said.

"Holden Harris ran a super race," Other Chelsea finishers included Riemenschneider, 20th, 18:33; Zangara, 21st, 18:34; Hammer, 54th, 19:44; Hassett, 55th, 19:46; Latimer, 65th, 20:03. Jacques finished 20th for the JVs in 19:23.

"We are still looking for a consistent number five runner," Clarke said.

"If we don't find a consistent number five we could be in for a long season. We have some people working hard on it and I'm still hopeful."

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

The worst thing about last Friday's home football game with Milan is the lights didn't go out. Not once.

The athletic department took 25 percent of the lights out of action to keep fuses from blowing, and the strategy worked.

But there wasn't much worth watching on the field, unless you're a Milan fan. It took the Big Reds just two plays to score. It was all downhill from there.

Chelsea played by far its worst game of the year and maybe one of its worst since I began watching the Dogs three seasons ago. There were blunders at every turn. The Bulldogs looked like they had a bad case of what my old high school coach once called Cheerleader Brain, as in, "son, you're playing like all you can think of is those sweet little girls on the sidelines." Distracted, confused, tentative and anxious all at once.

In addition, Milan had three running backs who all seemed faster than anyone on the Chelsea defense. One step beyond the line of scrimmage and it was, "which way did he go, Kemo Sabe?"

Chelsea Head Coach Gene LaFave knows he has a better team than what he is seeing this year. The potential, however, is taking a little longer to develop than anticipated. The problem now, however, is to keep the kids convinced that they are good and they can win. A victory, or at least a good showing, at Lincoln this Friday would go a long way toward building a successful season.

The Southeastern Conference football race looks like it will go down to the wire, with or without the Bulldogs. Every other team in the league appears capable of a title run.

Unfortunately, if current conditions prevail the Bulldogs will be several lengths behind going into the home stretch. Lincoln, Tecumseh, Dexter, and Pinckney, four pretty good teams, are still on the schedule. If Chelsea can get by all four of those teams, teams that have a legitimate shot at the title, it will be a remarkable turnaround indeed.

In years past, even in down years, Dexter and Pinckney could be counted on to roll over and die. That is not the case, anymore.

Pinckney may be the team to beat. The Pirates wiped out Milan two weeks ago, the same Milan team that wiped us out last Friday. They edged Dexter last Saturday and play at Saline Friday. Saline whipped Tecumseh in convincing fashion last week to remain unbeaten. Pinckney-Saline should be a good battle. Personally, I like Saline because of tradition and their coaching staff.

Lincoln Railsplitters, who host our Bulldogs this Friday, may have the most balanced and effective offense in the league, led by all-league quarterback Noah Nagy.

Lincoln lost to Tecumseh in the first SEC game of the season, but had a strong showing against Willow Run last week. Chelsea hasn't faced a team with any sort of passing game yet, so this week should provide an interesting test.

Dexter could be the sleeper. They have probably the best athlete in the league in running back Andy Walsh. As good as Saline's Brian Bozo is, Walsh could probably gain 300 yards a game if he were running behind Saline's huge line.

Chelsea has proven to be vulnerable to any team that can run outside, as all three opponents have done this year. Walsh will be the fastest back the Bulldogs see all year and you can bet he isn't going to run off tackle much.

At this point the Bulldogs are odds-on favorites to finish last in the league since they haven't won a game. Then again, 4-2 could be enough to finish first considering the apparent balance in the league.

One thing is for certain. The Bulldogs can't worry too much about the other guys. They've got to quit making game-breaking mistakes. They've got to convince themselves they can win, and then go out and do it once.

The father of a player called last week to complain about what I said about the JV football team in this column last week. I won't repeat the column, but this man said I essentially told the JVs they should be ashamed of themselves.

That is not at all what I had in mind and I'm sorry if anyone else had that interpretation.

I would never suggest that any athlete should be ashamed of himself, no matter how bad his team is. There are many other things in life for more worthy of self-flagellation, such as not having the right clothes or the right hair style, or the right computer.

If we're going to be ashamed of something, let's make it something worthwhile.

Keiser Memorial Softball Tourney Nets $1,000

The first annual Nicholas W. Keiser Memorial Softball Tournament was held at Dana Field in Chelsea on Aug. 27 and 28. Thanks to all who participated and made donations, it was a great success. At the request of the family, $1,000 in proceeds from the tournament benefitted Spaulding for Children.

Seven teams took part in the event—BookCrafters, Broderick's Tower Shell, the Cavanaugh Lake

Clams, the Classics, Jiffy Mixes, R.A.T.S. and United Supply. Final standings found the Cavanaugh Lake Clams in first place, Broderick's Tower Shell in second and Jiffy Mixes in third.

Everyone is looking forward to the second annual Nicholas W. Keiser Memorial tournament and planning has already begun. Next year's tournament is scheduled for the last week in July, 1989.

JV Cagers Rally for Third Consecutive Victory

Chelsea junior varsity basketball team won its third game in a row last Tuesday, Sept. 13 with a 57-46 victory over Jackson County Western.

The Bulldogs fell behind 16-6 at the end of the first quarter, but had tied the game by half-time thanks to a three-pointer at the buzzer by Colleen Scharphorn. Chelsea scored eight unanswered points at the beginning of the third quarter which was the turning point of the game.

"We made some defensive changes in the second quarter due to foul trouble and were able to get some lay-ups from pressuring the ball," said Chelsea coach Paul Terpstra.

"After we got ahead, they had to start fouling us. Plus they began to put up long shots."

Scharphorn led the team with 23 points. Shawn Losey scored 12, Jenni

Bobo had seven, Mercedes Hammer scored six, Kristin Bohleider had four points, Kate Dilworth scored three and Christine Burg had two points.

"Our three freshmen showed a lot of improvement," Terpstra said.

"Bobo was 3 for 4 from the floor with seven rebounds, Burg played 28 of 32 minutes and had 11 rebounds, and Jenny Petty played more than she has."

Chelsea shot 21 of 63 from the floor for 33 percent and 15 of 34 from the line for 44 percent.

The JVs are 3-0 and begin league play at Milan tomorrow.

Jennifer Jelinek Reviving Aquatic Club Program

In the six weeks since Jennifer Jelinek, 22, has been with us as swim coach of the Chelsea Aquatic Club (CAC), it is clear that she has approached her new career with confidence, insight and a sense of adventure. She was hired by the School District to revive the community use of the Charles Cameron Pool and to breathe new life into the program of the aquatic club. What was once a community swimming program for 400 children and adults has dwindled to a tenth of that size. Jennifer has taken positive charge and is well into the process of turning things around.

The task is a mixture of planning and organization centered around the arts and sciences of aquatics. In addition to coaching, she is also manager of the school pool. In this position, she is a colleague of Dave Jolly, high school swimming coach.

In April Jen graduated from the University of Michigan with a BA degree in history and holds a Michigan secondary teaching certificate. She is also certified in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), water safety instruction and advanced lifesaving. She was co-captain of the swim team at Huron High and has worked as a coach for the Ann Arbor Swim Club building the skills of swimmers at all levels.

Watch her in the water of the Chelsea training pool teaching likes to swim and you can see that her love of children is fortified by a second kind of devotion—water safety. In common with all swimming instructors is the knowledge that most drownings occur within a few feet of safety and aquatic competency can't take place too early in life.

Coach Jelinek supervises three programs of the CAC during its fall swimming schedule. One group is for non-swimmers, three to five years old. Their sessions are Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 3:30 to 4:30.

Swimmers at all levels of ability are members of the Blue/Gold groups who work in skill-adjusted training sessions aimed at team participation. Workouts are Tuesdays and Thursdays, some from 5 to 6:30 p.m. and others from 6 to 8 p.m.

The Masters Program is for adults interested in physical fitness with workouts in aquatics. There is also the definite possibility of participation in regional U. S. Masters competition.

You can add an interested and talented friend to your life by coming to the Cameron Pool and saying hello to Jen Jelinek. You may also phone her for information (times and days) by calling 475-1425.

CHS Golf Team Ties Tecumseh

Chelsea varsity golf team tied the Tecumseh Indians 174-174 last Tuesday, Sept. 13 at Tecumseh Country Club.

Matt Forner had the low score for both teams at 41. Chad Starkey and Steve Emmert each shot 44 and Mark Larson had a 45.

Best shooter for the junior varsity was Chris White, who had a 52.

The first strike for a 10-hour day was by Philadelphia carpenters in 1791, according to the U. S. Labor Department.

SSC Commission Says Landowners Will Be Fairly Compensated

People who own property along the "stratified fee" areas of the proposed Superconducting Super Collider ring path in Ingham and Jackson counties will be treated "just as fairly and equitably as the 'fee simple' landowners," according to John Hanielski, executive director of the Michigan SSC Commission.

Hanielski said he was addressing questions and concerns expressed by some residents whose property would lie above the north and south quadrants and the "wing areas" of the SSC if the massive federal particle accelerator project comes to Michigan.

The "stratified fee" areas comprise about 8,000 acres (or roughly one half of the total land area of the SSC site) where the U. S. Department of Energy would need to have rights to a slice of underground property approximately 70 feet thick by about 1,000 feet wide at an average depth of 140 feet below the surface.

"We do not expect the passage of the SSC tunnel underneath to significantly affect the use of land or the quality of life on the surface," Hanielski said. "For most intents and purposes, the existence of the tunnel will have less effect than the presence of oil and gas pipelines which already cross this region in several locations at much more shallow depths."

Some wells that provide water to homes and farms along the ring path may have to be moved or alternate water sources found, depending upon the actual location of the 10-foot-diameter tunnel, he said.

"But the state has already guaranteed it will pay the cost of drilling new water wells, of hooking residents up to city or village water lines, or obtaining easements to place new wells on a neighbor's property if that becomes necessary," Hanielski explained. "And, of course, owners will be paid for the 'stratified fee' segment purchased for this project."

Public Act 274, which was passed and signed into law this summer, requires the state to buy underground rights for the SSC at a rate of at least $5 per 70,000 cubic feet, "or at a higher appraised value determined by the commission." The state is also required by the statute to offer $1 per 70,000 cubic feet of stratified fee land for an option to purchase that substatra, not to be applied to the purchase price paid for the land.

"There are some things we know, such as the minimum amount we will pay for underground rights," Hanielski said. "However, we will not know the precise location of the 10-foot SSC tunnel until DOE names a site and hires a design engineer to look at the geology of the specific location.

"While we have a fairly well-defined path for the 1,000-foot-wide zone, we won't know which well will have to be moved until the tunnel is situated exactly within that zone. This process could take a year or longer."

Hanielski said that the Michigan SSC Commission has asked its property acquisition contractor to gather information on the possible impact upon surface property values by the underground tunnel. Although nothing exactly like the SSC exists in the United States, a study is underway now to look at possible land value changes where similar underground easements or purchases have been made elsewhere. The much smaller Fermilab accelerator in Illinois is contained entirely within federally owned land.

"Appraisals of property values will be made according to the highest and best use of the land, and we are looking for any factors that may affect those values including reasonable projections of future use," Hanielski said.

"We are doing everything possible to ensure that every property owner in the path of this project will be treated fairly and equitably, whether they are in the 'fee simple' or 'stratified fee' areas of the ring footprint."

Chelsea girls took third place in the 16-team New Boston Invitational last Saturday morning.

Grau and Mignano finished 11-12 as the two top placers for the Dogs. Milan, the state's top-ranked team, won the meet.

"Christine Mignano ran her best race of the season," Clarke said.

"I was fairly pleased with the team effort, but we have a very long way to go."

Grau finished in 21:54, and Mignano's time was 22:01. Other finishers included Koenn, 22nd, 22:39; Bullock, 23rd, 22:43; Schiller, 29th, 23:05; Smith, 38th, 23:51; and Burkel, 53rd, 24:49.

Westside Gym Introduces New Energize Aerobics

Energize, the area's newest aerobic conditioning program, is being introduced to Chelsea in October and will feature early morning and evening classes.

The program, based in Spring Lake, is designed to cater to men and women of all levels of ability.

It is taught by certified, knowledgeable and enthusiastic instructors trained in group motivation, individualized goal setting and sound exercise principles, according to program director Deb Spicer, R.N.

Instructor Becky Allen, a member of the International Dance Exercise Association, invites early birds to join her in a 6:30 a.m. class on Tuesday and Thursday mornings, a 7:30 p.m. class Mondays and Wednesdays, and a 9:30 a.m. class on Saturdays.

Participants are encouraged to consult with their physicians prior to the beginning of class if they have a medical problem or have not exercised regularly in the recent past.

Pre-registration is encouraged to reserve a spot in the class. Walk-ins are welcome, space permitting. For rates, registration or more information call the Westside Gym, 475-1900.

Gym hours are 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 6 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Friday, and from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

A combination gym and aerobics package is available.

Ames Store Will Be Ready Before You Know It

Builders are installing store fixtures in the future Ames Department Store this week.

The Ames store is the anchor tenant for Chelsea Shopping Center, Rene Papo's project behind the Chelsea State Bank branch office at the corner of Old US-12 and M-52. It is a general merchandise store, similar to a Ben Franklin store.

The store is shooting for a November opening, just in time for the holiday buying season.

"The entire lot will be paved by the time the Ames store opens," Papo said.

"They should be starting on the rest of the mail this week."

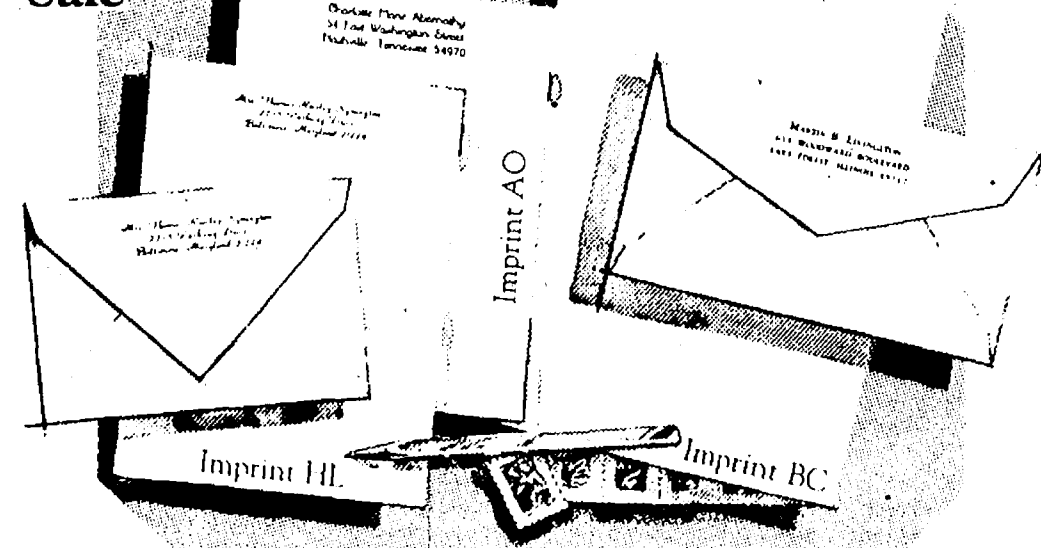

General contractors for the project are The Hamstra Group of Wheatfield, Ind.

ROAD WORK has begun for Belser Estates, the new subdivision on the eastern edge of the village off Freer Rd. New Vaccine Recommended For Infants

The Public Health Division of the Washtenaw County Human Services Department has received the new Haemophilus influenza type b vaccine from the Michigan Department of Public Health, and will be offering it after Aug. 19. The old vaccine is no longer available.

The development of the new vaccine is important for several reasons. Children under two years of age, the group most at risk for disease, can now be immunized. The vaccine previously used for Haemophilus influenza was not capable of producing effective one dose protection in children younger than 24 months of age (when given at 18 months a booster was needed at or after 24 months). A booster vaccination is no longer necessary with the new Hib vaccine.

It has been recommended that all children between 18-23 months of age be immunized with the Haemophilus influenza type b vaccine.

Haemophilus influenza type b, also referred to as "H flu" or "Hib," is a bacterial infection that primarily affects children under the age of five. Although "influenza" is a part of the bacterium's name the organism does not cause the "flu." The most frequent outcome of a child who has been infected with the Hib bacterium is meningitis. In the United States it causes approximately 12,000 cases of meningitis each year. Meningitis is an inflammation of the membranes that cover and protect the brain and spinal cord. Hib meningitis, which can be fatal (1 in every 20 cases), is also the primary cause of acquired mental retardation (1 in every 4 cases) in children. The Hib bacterium can also cause other diseases including pneumonia and infections of the ear, joints, blood, and the covering of the heart (pericarditis). This disease can be prevented through the immunization.

The Public Health Division holds free immunization clinics three times per month: the first Wednesday of the month at Public Health, Service Center, 4101 Washtenaw, Ann Arbor (1:30-7:30 p.m.); the second Wednesday of the month, Eastern Subcenter, 555 Towner, Ypsilanti (1:30-4:30 p.m.); and the fourth Wednesday, Department of Social Services, 2350 W. Stadium, Ann Arbor (1:30-4:30 p.m.).

No appointment is necessary. For more information call the Public Health Division at 971-3393.

Q. I'm just starting investing. In today's very volatile market would it be more profitable and safer to purchase Call and Put options rather than buying stock itself? There is much less money involved.

A. In investing it is difficult to purchase something that is both more profitable and safer. Generally the greater your chance for profit, the greater the risk you assume and the less safety you have in your investment. Theoretically, the potential for profit in buying Put or Call options is greater than in the direct ownership of the stock. This is because the option is purchased for just a fraction of the cost of the stock, but gives you the privilege of benefitting from the movement made by the larger holding of stock. For instance, you may buy a Call option on 100 shares of stock worth $50 a share or $5,000 for about 10% of that amount, or $500. If the stock goes up 10 points and you exercise the option, you will have made $1,000 on only a $500 investment. If you had owned the stock itself, you would have $5,000 invested and would have made $1,000. It would seem that the Call option in that case is much more profitable than the direct ownership of the stock.

However, it is important to look at what you own in each case. When you buy the option, the only thing you own is the right to buy 100 shares of the stock at $50 a share for a certain period of time, say three months. You have paid $500 for that right. If at the end of three months the stock is selling at $49 you would have no interest in buying it at $50 a share so you would let your option expire and your $500 is gone. If you had bought the stock outright you would still own the 100 shares. You could not sell it for more than $4,900 at that time, but you have not lost your money as has the purchaser of the Call option. The last figures I saw showed that only about 20% of Call options were exercised. That means that 80% of the people who bought them lost their money. That suggests the odds of making money in buying Call options are not in your favor.

I would not call purchasing Call options an act of investing. It is more a betting procedure.

A Put option is similar to a Call, but you pay for the right to sell rather than buy a number of shares of stock which you do not own at a certain price within a certain time period. In the use of the Put you are betting the price of the stock will go down.

If you own stock, you may sell options against it. In that case you are selling "Covered Options," and in such a case your risk is much less. You receive the premium from the person who has bought the option, the worst that can happen to you is that the option will be exercised. In which case your stock is sold, but you receive payment for it.

Sweet Adelines Preparing for Annual Show

Ann Arbor Chapter of Sweet Adelines has announced its 11th annual show entitled "In the Mood," at 8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 1 at the Power Center in Ann Arbor.

The award-winning local Sweet Adelines chorus will perform songs by Cole Porter, Irving Berlin and other popular composers of the 1940's. The chorus is directed by Jack Herr of Warren.

Also featured on the program will be two quartets, "Jubilant," the 1985 Queens of Harmony International gold medal winners, and "Accolade," the 1988 Region 17 Novice Award winners will present their sparkling renditions of favorite melodies.

Advance tickets are available at the Michigan Theater and Crown House of Gifts at Plymouth Rd. Mall in Ann Arbor. For more information on the show call 994-4463.

The Ann Arbor Chapter was formed in 1978 and since that time has won two regional competitions and competed in international competitions in 1983 and 1985. The local chapter is a small part of an international organization of over 31,000 women dedicated to performing the traditional art of singing barbershop style. Sweet Adeline choruses perform many types of music, sung in four-part harmony, with many numbers cleverly choreographed. The Ann Arbor one of over 700 Sweet Adeline choruses in the U. S., Canada, Panama, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, Sweden, England, and the Netherlands.

Besides its annual fall show and spring Regional Competition, the Ann Arbor Chapter has been invited to sing at many local events including the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair, the Ypsilanti Heritage Festival, Ann Arbor Downtown Christmas Days, and Domino's Farms.

The Ann Arbor Chapter chorus includes over 50 members from Ann Arbor and neighboring communities including Ypsilanti, Chelsea, Saline, Plymouth, Canton, Belleville, Westland, Dearborn, Redford, Trenton, Milan, Grass Lake, Jackson, Tip-top, New Boston, and Pinckney. The chorus is always looking for new members and hosts a number of "Guest Nights" throughout the year. Guests are always welcome at weekly Tuesday night rehearsals held at Glacier Way United Methodist church, 1001 Green Rd., Ann Arbor, at 7:30 p.m.

Any women interested in joining the Sweet Adelines may call 313-994-4463 for more information.

THANK YOU

Dear friends,

My first visit to the United States was most impressive, especially the warmth of the people of Chelsea. Also, the pleasure of meeting my namesake, Margaret Mary Steele (American).

Although my stay was short I was able to visit many homes and meet lots of Chelsea people. I will take home with me to Ireland many pleasant memories.

Because of the postal strike in the U. K. I will not be able to write, so I am taking this opportunity to thank you through the press. I will write when the strike is over.

A very special thank you to my dear sister and brother-in-law Pat and Mac (Clarence) Wood.

With love and best wishes to all. God bless.

Pinckney Updating Master Plan

At its Sept. 12 meeting, the Pinckney Village Council rescheduled several public hearings to Tuesday, Oct. 11.

Public hearings on two amendments to ordinances, one on a wetlands issue, the other a crime ordinance relating to restrictions placed on skateboarding in certain areas, will be postponed to the later meeting.

A third hearing on the board's recent updating of its "zoning ordinance and map" or masterplan will also be delayed. "We didn't get them into the paper in time for 15 days notice that you need before holding public hearings," said Pinckney village president Tom Reed.

The village has been reworking their master plan for the past eight years with help from the Livingston County Planning department over the past two years, Reed said. The new master plan is 170 pages long, whereas the old one, dating from 1974, was 40 pages long.

The board also heard a report from its engineer on the status of the village's new sewer project. The village is upgrading their lagoon system which has been under capacity for years, Reed said.

The engineer reported that the village had received some grant money from the EPA. Reed said that the village may get up to 60 percent of the whole project funded, whose cost is estimated at $1.9 million. The village isn't yet sure how it will handle the local funding. "We're hopeful that by spring of 1989 work will begin on it," Reed said. The village has had a moratorium on new hook-ups since 1978 to the system which dates from 1969.

At the meeting, it was also announced that Mark Tomasik would be a new Pinckney Village Planning Commission member.

The board also heard a complaint from a resident about Chemsico, a chemical sealants company which makes things for the automotive industry. The resident's complaint was that the business is messy.

Workers with more education are less likely to be unemployed according to the U. S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics. The unemployment rate in 1986 for workers with four or more years of college was 2.3 percent; for those with one to three years of college it was 4.5 percent. Workers with four years of high school had an unemployment rate of 6.9 percent, while for those with less than four years of high school the rate was 11.6 percent.

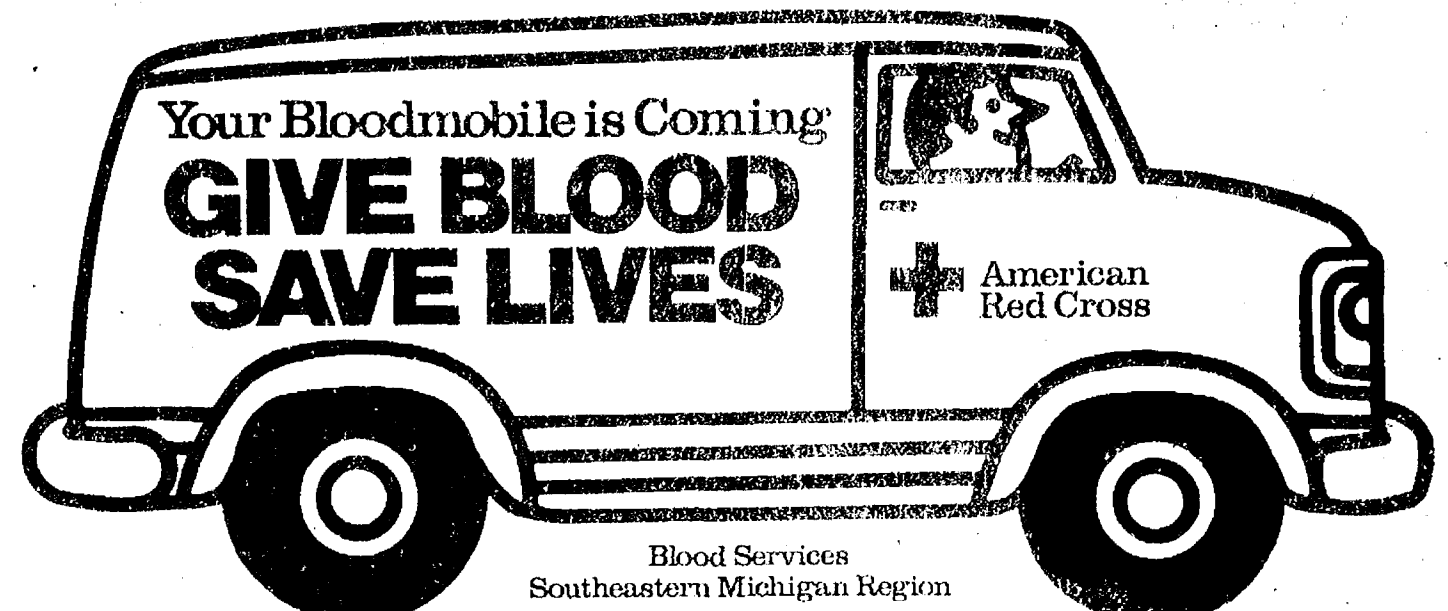

FATHER GUANELLA HALL IS THE NEW building, dedicated Sunday, Sept. 18, at the St. Louis Center in Sylvan township. It marks the 75th anniversary of Father Guanella's visit to the United States in 1913. The end result of the old building's renovation was the construction of six independent units. Where each unit is like a big family of 10, and includes a day room, recreation room, kitchen, dining room and laundry, there is an environment of privacy and family living. The Rev. Father Joseph Rinaldo, shown at far right in the photo, is the administrator at St. Louis Center. He proudly showed the center's latest addition to dozens of visitors and friends who gathered to share the joyful occasion. Distinguished guests attending Sunday's dedication ceremonies included the Most Rev. Kenneth J. Povish, Bishop of the Lansing

Diocese; James R. Fedewa, state deputy for the Knights of Columbus; the Honorable Michael J. Griffin, state representative from the Michigan's 50th District, the Honorable Philip E. Hoffman, state representative from Michigan's 23rd District, Sister Gertrude LaBarbera, provincial for the Daughters of St. Mary of Providence; the Very Reverend Nino Minetti, vicar general of the Servants of Charity, and the Rev. Father Cosmo Pedagna, director of Mexican activities for the Servants of Charity. Pictured with Father Rinaldo are the Rev. Father Raymond R. Schlunkert, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church, Manchester, Jeanette Woodard, associate architect for the new building, and Bill Brigham, construction superintendent for the project. Father Schlunkert gave the invocation during Sunday's dedication program.

"LET THERE BE LIGHT, so we can better see our qualities and our limits to make the lives of our boys even better and more valuable," the trio of priests at St. Louis Center, Sylvan township, asked. Dedication was held Sunday, Sept. 18, for the newest building, in which two boys share a bedroom in each of six independent units, and the whole program is designed to learn independence—by caring for their own room and belongings, cooking their own meals and washing their laundry. Shown from left, the Rev. Father Germano Pegoraro, the Rev. Father Joseph Rinaldo and the Rev. Father Enzo Addari, agree,

"The most important words we want to hear from our boys are: I did it all by myself!" St. Louis Center is a non-profit, nondiscriminatory and equal opportunity organization. In 1958, the late Cardinal Edward Mooney of Detroit called the Servants of Charity from Italy to operate the first Catholic boarding school for mentally retarded boys in Michigan. The priests and their staff at St. Louis Center say, "We strive to improve the lives of our residents. You gave us the energy to do it. This would not have been possible without the contribution of so many."

TAMMY BROWNING, president of Chelsea High school Key Club, was presented a gavel by Chelsea Kiwanis Club president Warren Atkinson at the Kiwanis meeting Monday night. Kiwanis is sponsor of the Key Club. At right is Kiwanis member and Key Club chairman Sam Vogel.

Ask the President

Village President Jerry Satterthwaite

Why doesn't the village provide some means of entertainment or activity for the youth of Chelsea?

A CHS student
This is not totally a governmental function, although we do sponsor some things to a certain extent through the Chelsea Recreation Department. It is more a civic function.

I tried it years ago when my children were in school. We had dances at the old high school, but we couldn't get any other kind of event chaperoned. We tried to get something for a teen center, but there didn't seem to be enough interest.

I suggest you go to the school board, and go to some of the civic organizations like the Kiwanis Club and Lions Club and present your story.

I agree, there isn't anything for teen-agers in Chelsea. But I don't think it's a function of government to provide it.

Questions for Jerry Satterthwaite may be addressed to The Chelsea Standard, 300 N. Main St., Chelsea, 48118, c/o Ask the President.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Assoc. of Investors Corp.
& Editor, Better Investing Magazine

Q. I talked to a broker about buying some stock, and he recommended that I start out by buying some shares of Bristol-Myers. He called it a good "total return" stock, and I could probably hold it a long time. Would you explain to me what total return means and also advise as to whether my broker made a good recommendation?

A. Total return is very important when you are buying stock. Return or profit from the ownership of stock comes from two things: dividends and appreciation in the selling price of the stock over time. The return from the dividend is fairly easy to estimate, but the return from appreciation is much more difficult to determine. Over the past 60 years the average total return on the 500 stocks in the Standard and Poor's 500 Index has been 9.5%, according to the Ibbotson Associates study. Only about one-third of that return was from dividends. The rest was due to appreciation.

The amount of appreciation that comes from an individual stock depends primarily on how much sales and earnings per share grow, how regular and predictable the growth is and how long it continues. Individuals who build their stock portfolios on companies with a strong record of growing sales and earnings per share generally enjoy a strong total return. Most individuals find that if they spread their holdings over five or more different stocks they reduce their risk and still receive an excellent performance.

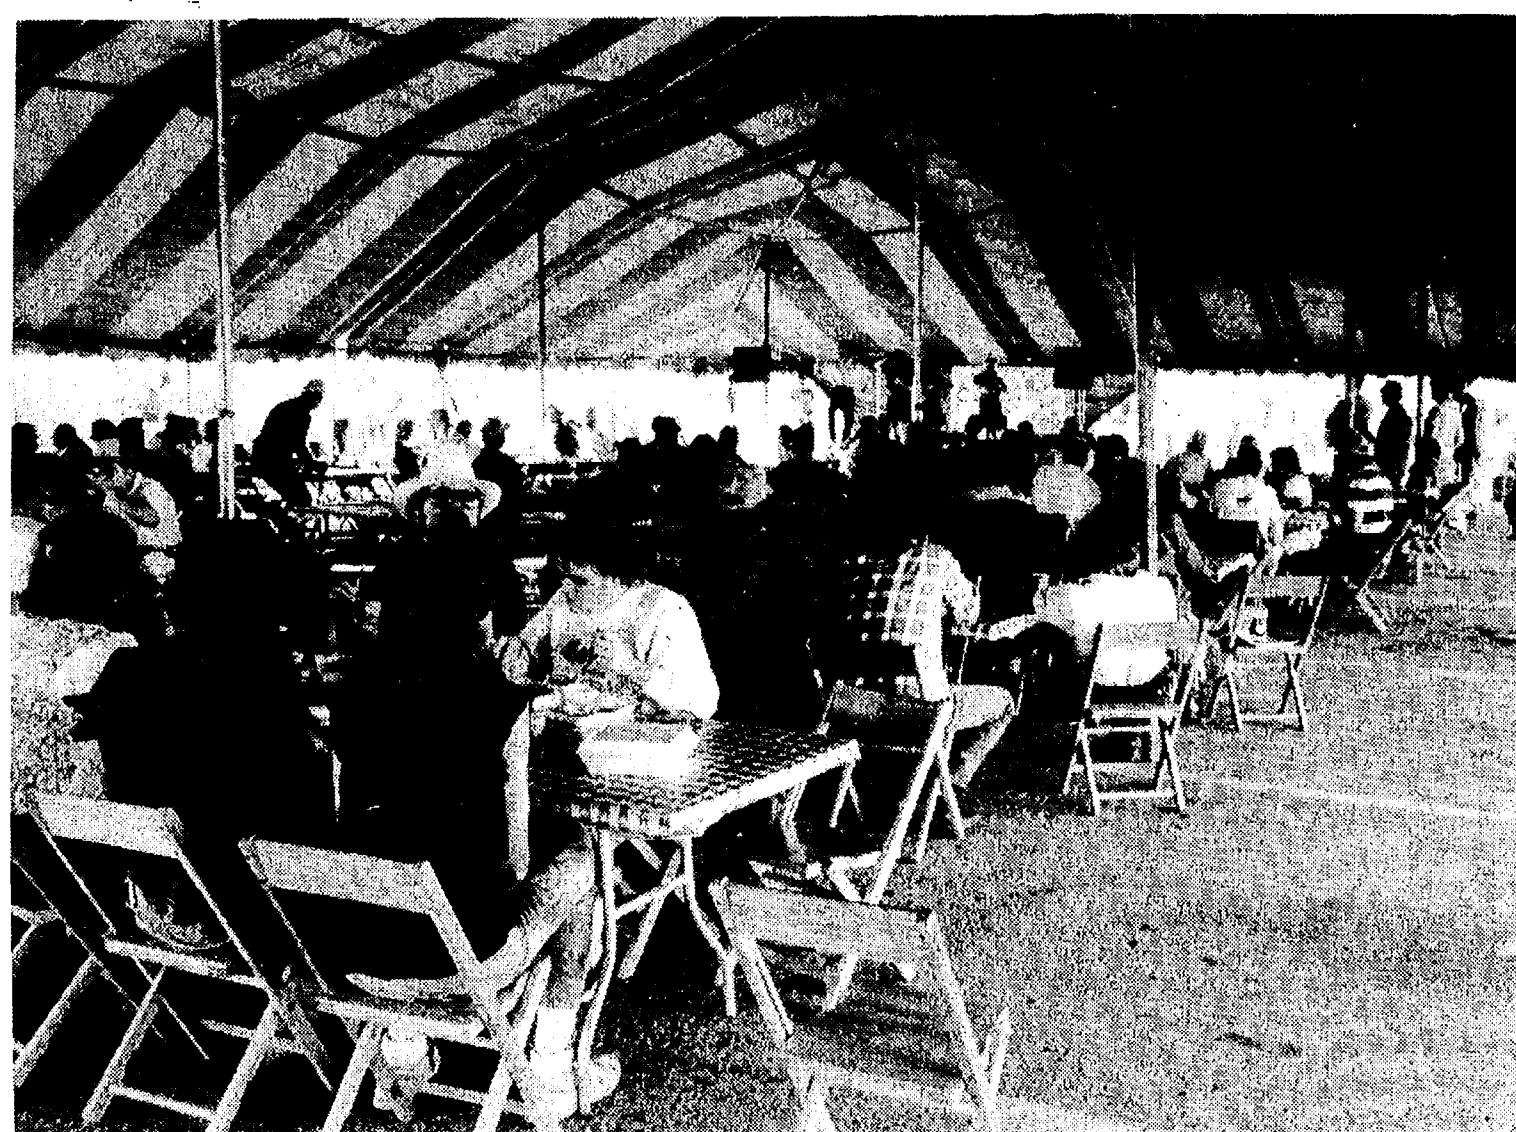

You seem to have an excellent broker. Bristol-Myers has had a record of increasing sales and earnings per share for many years. Earnings per share have grown at a compounded annual rate of 12% over the last five years, sales have grown about 9% over the same period, and dividends have been increased 24%. Growth, unless the company makes a major breakthrough in its cancer or AIDS research, is likely to show a slower rate of growth in the future, but it should continue to be a fine investment for a considerable time.

Mr. O'Hara welcomes your questions and comments but will answer them only through this column. Readers who send in questions on a general investment subject or on a corporation with broad investor interest and whose questions are used, will receive a complimentary one-year subscription to the investment magazine Better Investing.

A VERITABLE GLOBAL CROSSROADS PARTY was hosted by the Wolverine 76 Truck Plaza, celebrating its second annual "Customer Appreciation Days," Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 14-15, at the I-94 and Baker Rd. location. Wearing a white shirt as he assists on the serving line is Robert Berg of Chelsea, maintenance supervisor at the Plaza. Dr. Hergott is shown at far right in the photo, and observers are betting that's artist Bob Bailey from Dexter, near the center of the picture, and probably Mrs. Van Atta in front of him, but with her back to the camera.

COLORFUL TENTS MARKED THE PARTY SPOT at the Wolverine 76 Auto Truck Plaza, where the management conducted its second annual "Customer Appreciation Days," Sept. 14-15. A number of people are shown

"under the big top," enjoying the chicken dinner. Live music, a complete buffet including grilled chicken, dozens of displays by vendors from all parts of the country, drew a large number of party-goers.

Beach School Open House Set Tuesday

Beach Middle School parents, grandparents and adult friends of Chelsea 6th, 7th and 8th graders are invited to attend an open house on Tuesday, Sept. 27, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Beach Middle School Cafeteria.

Parents will participate in a "cap-sulized" version of their child's schedule with short visits to each classroom. The first hour class will begin promptly at 7:15 p.m. so parents are encouraged to arrive at Beach at 7 to obtain a copy of their child's schedule and report to class. There will not be a general session preceding the 7:15 first hour class. Students are asked to remain at home for this gathering so there will be ample room for adults in the classrooms. At the completion of this "school day," there will be a social gathering in the cafeteria. The sixth grade camp program will be introduced in the form of a slide presentation in the large group instruction room at 9 p.m. following the classroom visits.
