RAILROAD TRACK that used to service the Chelsea Industries complex has been torn out as part of the Main St. resurfacing project by the state. Track within the complex, however, will not be torn out. It took workers more than two days to remove the section of track that crosses the road.

Robert Thornton Sells Real Estate Company To Spear & Associates

Chelsea's largest real estate company, Thornton-Thornton/Dalitz Inc., has been sold to Spear & Associates Realtors, Inc., of Ann Arbor for an undisclosed amount of money.

Robert Thornton, who owned the company since Dec. 1, 1970, will remain an associate broker but will no longer have a part in the management or ownership of the company.

The sale took place Sept. 30 and became effective Saturday, Oct. 1.

Monday morning, telephones were being answered, "Spear & Associates, formerly Thornton-Dalitz."

According to Thornton, all the company's sales agents will retain their jobs. Company employees reportedly had no knowledge of the impending sale and were surprised.

One Thornton employee said, "You could have heard a pin drop when Mr. Thornton told us."

Although officials are calling it a merger, the company will operate as Spear & Associates. Spear now has 85 agents and five offices in Washtenaw county and is the largest real estate company in the western part of the county.

"Real estate is a dynamic business and the company was more dynamic than one Robert Thornton could handle by himself," Thornton said of his reason for selling.

"I had to make a decision," Thornton said his son, Gary, who had helped him manage the business since 1984, decided he wanted to go back to the agriculture industry.

"When Gary left I needed somebody to carry on in his place," Thornton said.

"I could have gone out and hired a general manager, but I decided that probably wouldn't be a good idea since I didn't want to spend as much time with the company as that would require."

Thornton said Spear & Associates first contacted him about buying the business.

"There is a very good mesh between the two companies," Thornton said.

"There are a lot of common threads. The company is not an institution leaving town. It's simply changing colors and flying under a different flag."

Thornton opened the company at 105 N. Main St. in 1970. Helen Lancaster was his first sales agent. In the fall of 1972 the company moved to its current quarters at 323 S. Main St. In May of 1985 he bought Dalitz Realty of Ann Arbor, and in 1986 he opened his office in Dexter. As of last week the company had about 32 employees.

In addition to his work with Spear, Thornton said he'll continue other real estate pursuits.

"I'll be able to take a little time to smell the flowers," Thornton said.

"I won't be working 12 hours a day."

Local realtor Paul Frisinger said it was too early to tell how the merger might affect the real estate industry in Chelsea.

"If people here continue to support local businesses we'll be all right," Frisinger said.

"But if they don't I guess we'll just become an extension of Ann Arbor."

Downtown Traffic Snarl Will Likely Get Worse As New Project Begins

If you think traffic downtown is bad now, wait for a couple more weeks.

The village plans to begin work on the resurfacing of E. and W. Middle St. beginning next week.

Unlike the Main St. project, the village does not plan to replace any curb. However, the asphalt will be milled off between the curb lines.

Parts of Middle St. will be closed to through traffic. Local traffic will be maintained although the road will be a little bumpy during construction.

E. Middle St. will be resurfaced all the way to McKinley St. W. Middle St. work will run from Main to where the road narrows. The final cap will probably go to Hayes St.

The Middle St. project will take about 2-3 weeks.

On Main St., the state is replacing all curb from Orchard St. to the Chelsea Medical Center. North from Orchard, there will only be selective replacement, according to assistant village manager Lee Fahrner.

Fahrner said as far as he knows, no curb is scheduled to be replaced in the downtown business district. However, curb cuts will be made at both major intersections to allow handicap access.

In addition, the state is planning to take off all the old asphalt down to the concrete from the hospital on the south to Sibley Rd. on the north.

The village and state are arguing about driveway cuts. The state is cutting driveways back to three feet behind the curb. The village wants the cuts to go back all the way to the sidewalk before a new driveway is poured.

"I don't know if they'll agree to it or not," Fahrner said.

Fahrner said the state has not designated a detour route because Wilkinson St. probably can't handle the traffic and would probably be damaged.

Landfill License Extension Runs Out Friday, Village Awaits DNR Plan Review

The village hopes to wrap up negotiations with the Department of Natural Resources this week for a new landfill operating license.

The village has submitted plans for a new tracing system that would be used to monitor any groundwater contamination from the new cell. The administration is waiting for any comments the DNR might have.

The new chemical tracer system had to be developed because DNR changed its policy only recently. The village had proposed a fluorescent dye system which the DNR has approved in the past.

"They studied it for a while and decided the dye doesn't persevere through the soils," said assistant village manager Lee Fahrner.

Fahrner said he expects a meeting to be held with the DNR this week.

Also, the fourth landfill license extension runs out this Friday and Fahrner said it's not likely the DNR will issue another extension. Whether the license negotiations would be resolved by Friday was not known as of press time.

Another issue that will have to be addressed shortly is who will pay how much for the landfill studies. Anticipated expenses have risen to at least $110,000, which prompted the village to raise most of its landfill rates by 50 percent, effective last week.

The village is counting on financial help from Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon and Dexter townships, which, along with the village, were all exclusive users of the old landfill. But how much each township will pay has not been decided. Each of the four townships can only levy up to one mill in taxes.

"I suspect we'll get out some sort of report to the townships," Fahrner said.

"But first we want to get this other business straightened out."

The village is also hoping the DNR will allow the landfill to take demolition materials for an interim period under the new license. The new license does not specifically allow the village to accept that material. However, the village wants to use the asphalt, concrete, and other inert building materials to fill in parts of the old landfill before the final cap is applied. Fahrner said the DNR has allowed that to happen in other communities.

"It doesn't really make much difference whether we use sand or concrete to fill it in," Fahrner said.

CIVIC FOUNDATION OF CHELSEA has pledged $5,000 toward the building of a new home for Faith in Action, the local human services organization. The new home, which will also house the Chelsea Senior Citizens Center, will be located on the grounds of Chelsea Community Hospital. Rev. Jerrold Beaumont, director of Faith in Action, center, accepted the pledge from Bill Nuffer, chairman of the distribution committee for the civic foundation. Also pictured is Ann Feeney, president of the civic foundation. Beaumont had requested $3,000 from the group, who decided $5,000 was a more fitting offer due to the fact that the senior citizens organization would be located there. Faith in Action has received pledges totaling $125,000 toward the goal of $180,000. Civic foundation will conduct its annual membership drive in December to replenish funds available to organizations for start-up grants.

CAFETERIA LINE at the Country Crafts and Folk Art Show last Saturday was staffed by Chelsea senior citizens. From left are Stella Davis, Madelyn Stoker, and Geneva Bolton. The ladies offered a diversified menu for anyone who wanted to eat lunch at the event, held annually to benefit Chelsea senior citizens. Local civic organizations sponsor the show.

Property Taxes Outpace Inflation in Last Decade

Higher school taxes outpace property tax revenues to outpace inflation over the past decade, although the increase in all property taxes in 1982-86 was the smallest for any four-year period since 1939-43, the Department of Treasury reported recently.

The report by the Taxation and Economic Policy Office also noted property taxes as a percent of personal income have been declining sharply since the 1980-82 recession to where the 1986 rate of 4.33 percent equalled the prior low-point during the last 10 years in 1978.

"We have slowed the growth of property taxes over the past few years, but local governments are still very dependent on property taxes as a source of revenue," Treasurer Robert Bowman said. He said "a lot of work" must be done to relieve that burden.

Property taxes increased at a quickening rate over the past three years, when measured against inflation following an inflation-adjusted decline in 1983, and in 1986 alone, outpaced inflation by 3.2 percent, the report said.

It noted the 1986 increase was due to a growth in property value of 3.4 percent in conjunction with a tax rate increase of 1.2 percent.

The revenue growth over the 1976-86 period was 3.7 percent higher than inflation.

The nominal growth in property taxes in the 1982-86 period was 13.1 percent. School millages were the only segment of local tax rates to increase over the 1976-86 decade, with the average of 38.65 mills 9.9 percent higher than the rate 10 years earlier.

At the same time, county millages dropped .3 percent to 6.14 mills, townships dropped 2.5 percent to 3.18 mills, cities dropped 9.2 percent to 16.52 mills and villages dropped 4.6 percent to 12.31 mills, the report said.

The report notes property taxes, which produced $5.85 billion in 1986, remains the single largest source of revenue to governments at all levels as its revenues are more than income and sales taxes combined.

Planning Commission Can't Get Quorum

Chelsea Village Planning Commission couldn't come up with a quorum for its regular meeting Tuesday, Sept. 27 much to the chagrin of several members of the audience.

Consequently, September business has been postponed until Tuesday, Oct. 25.

Present for the meeting were Frederick Belser, Ishmael Pickelsimer, Marty Tobin, and Warren McArthur. Absent were Jim Knott, Harriet Hamilton, John Yelsik, and Jack Thams.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle got the floor first at the session at the country store Saturday night, and he waved a clipping he said proves once again that everything that goes around comes around. He said the Japanese are growing a variety of kudzu to grind up and make a protein rich powder for use in food products. Here's hoping they need more than they grow, Ed said, so we can work out a kudzu export program, get the trade deficit under control and bring the farm economy back to life in short order.

If memory serves, Ed said, we brought kudzu from China or Japan to the South for erosion control, and it sure did that. Trouble is, it controls everything, trees, fields, roads and houses. If you don't fight it back it'll smother the country, Ed said, and for all its aggravation nobody here has been able to get any benefit from it. The best thing we can do for kudzu is send it back where it came from, was his words.

Clem Webster said he doubts that Japan will be importing American kudzu because you can pull the stuff up and wait two hours and pull it up again. But Clem had saw where we got plenty of soybean else the Japanese can't get enough of. A company in Alaska has been licensed by the state to "harvest" up to 1,000 tons of glacier ice a week. Japan will buy all the company can cut, chip and get over there at two pounds for $6. Not only is glacier ice pure and free of chemicals, Clem said, it is packed so hard it keeps drinks cold five times longer than regular frozen water.

What we got to keep in mind, Clem went on, is Japan is the same country that has set up oxygen bars because the air is so bad. Now it is bringing in ice because they don't want to pollute their drinks with ice made from their water. When we get around to putting colonies on Mars, Clem declared, they are the people to do it. They could keep on doing what they're doing, importing food, air, water and energy and exporting everything they make.

You got to know, Zeke Grubb said, if the Japanese take to glacier ice the style setting Californians are going to. If California can convince the rest of the country that has good water to pay good money for little green bottles of water from France, you got to know Alaska is on to somepon big, was Zeke's words.

Practical speaking, went on Zeke, exporting glacier ice reminds us that America has a few good marketing ideas, and soybean ink is another one. Zeke had saw where more newspapers are using ink made with a base of soybean oil instead of petroleum, and they're liking it. The report said soybean ink costs more, but it prints cleaner, smells better and doesn't rub off on readers' hands as easy. And if more papers use it the price will come down.

Actual, Clem said, this ain't the best year to push soybean ink. The drought has been so bad in much of the country we're going to have to dip heavy in our corn and soybean reserves. Fer sure, though, he said, when the American farmer and nature get back in balance they're a wonder to behold, and the farmer will stay at it until they do.

Personal, I want to believe Clem is right about the farmer and nature more than I can see he is. The number of farmers drops ever year, but the number of folks living in the country keeps going up. It looks like to many folks want the country life but can't stand the country livelihood.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

ABWA Fall Enrollment Event Scheduled Oct. 25

For thousands of working women, the American Business Women's Association is a better way to advance, in their self-confidence, in their education, in their business, and in their personal lives.

Since the Association's founding in 1949, ABWA has been helping women become a significant part of the working world. As women have assumed more demanding business roles, ABWA has continued to encourage the development of the leadership qualities and personal skills necessary for a successful career.

Chelsea Charter Chapter will hold their Fall Enrollment Event on Tuesday, Oct. 25. This will be an excellent opportunity for gainfully employed women to learn more about the local chapter and its events. Please call Cindy Bear at 475-2041.

With more than 2,100 chapters and a membership exceeding 110,000, ABWA offers women the opportunity to exchange information and ideas with other working women in all types of businesses and professions. Working on a chapter project, serving as an officer, or attending regional meetings and national conventions, each ABWA member makes the unique contribution of her knowledge and background. Belonging to ABWA is a learning, growing experience, in which a woman may discover her own hidden talents and abilities.

ABWA also offers very tangible assistance for women aspiring to successful careers by investing in their education. Since the Association's inception, chapters have sponsored scholarships for women seeking to further their education. The amount awarded annually by chapters has grown to more than $2,500.

On a national level, the Stephen B. Memorial Educational Fund was started in 1953, and has provided more than $3 million in financial aid for women continuing their education. ABWA chapters, corporations and interested individuals contribute to SBMEF; candidates for grants and interest-free loans awarded through the fund are recommended by chapters.

ABWA helps women realize their potential outside the classroom as well. Each fall, the ABWA National Convention is held, at which members attend workshops and seminars concerning business practices and career-oriented subjects. National officers are elected, chapter awards presented, and members have the opportunity to exchange ideas with business women from all parts of the country.

In the spring, 12 regional meetings are held. Workshops geared to both personal and professional development are presented; social and cultural events provide a change of pace and an opportunity for members to become better acquainted.

Every ABWA member receives the Association's official publication, "Women in Business." The magazine, published every two months, contains articles on business and social trends, as well as information on ABWA events. Members also are eligible for special rates at selected hotels, group rates for insurance plans, group tours designed especially for ABWA, and discounts on car rentals and prescriptions.

Locally, chapters meet each month to discuss chapter business and projects. Business and community leaders are invited to speak on a variety of subjects of interest to members. To promote good employer/employee relations, a special event is held each year to honor the members' business associates and to acquaint them with ABWA and its objectives.

Another annual event at the local level is the election of the chapters' Women of the Year, who are selected on the basis of career achievement as well as participation in community and chapter activities. From these accomplished women, an independent panel of judges selects the Top 10 Business Women, and the American Business Woman of ABWA.

Today's business world challenges women to achieve as never before. With more options and choices available to them, women are realizing their potential as a vital force in the work place. As women move ahead in the 1980's the American Business Women's Association will continue to help women develop the skills and abilities they need to make the potential a reality.

Village To Address Retail Sales in Chelsea Industries Area

At least two tenants in the clock tower building want to sell their products on their premises, and several others tenants in the Chelsea Industries complex are interested in holding occasional warehouse sales.

That may not sound like much of a problem, but it is—the area is zoned for industry, and commercial sales are prohibited.

In fact, one warehouse sale this summer was stopped by zoning inspector Rosemary Harook.

Nancy Dunn, manager of the buildings, has asked the village if the problem can be solved, which has prompted the village to get planning consultant Carl Schmult, Jr. involved. Dunn, understandably, wants to keep her tenants.

"If we had talked to Carl Schmult before, we wouldn't have this problem," Harook said.

"This is something that's new to all of us."

Village council granted a variance to allow office space in the both Chelsea Industries Annex (the old Rockwell building) and the Clock Tower building. At that time Schmult was not asked to issue a report.

The problem at the Chelsea Industries complex is one that is unique in the village. The complex was built long before zoning laws took effect. When Rockwell moved out, much of the building sat vacant for years. It was probably unrealistic to think a major industry would once again inhabit the space.

So far the village has bent to allow offices to take up some space. Much of the space is rented to warehouse users as well.

Whether the village will allow what amounts to retail sales in an industrial area remains to be seen. Rental space in an industrial/warehouse area is cheaper than what is offered in other areas downtown where retail sales are permitted. And at least one village official believes it is unfair to landlords in a commercial district to allow that kind of undercutting to take place.

"Too low they build who build beneath the stars..."
—Edward Young

Who can guess how many people might have achieved greatness had they but aspired to great accomplishment? There may be some so gifted that they excelled without consciously aiming for the top. Certainly they are outnumbered by the thousands who fail to live up to their potential.

Nothing is lost by aiming high. The disappointment of falling a little short of difficult goals is more than overcome by the satisfaction of knowing that we have done the very best we could with what we had.

CROP Walk For Hungry Slated Sunday

Plans for the first annual Chelsea Area CROP Walk for the Hungry are almost complete as the day of the walk nears. The walk will be on Sunday, Oct. 9 at 2 p.m., beginning from St. Paul United Church of Christ on Old US-12.

Three hundred sponsor envelopes have been distributed throughout the community. Members of the Chelsea Area Corps will lead off the walk, along with area clergy in their liturgical robes. The Chelsea High School Key Club has chosen the walk as one of their projects.

Arrangements chairperson Charles Schunk is preparing signs to guide walkers through the 10 kilometer route. "We're praying, NO RAIN," he says. But the walk will proceed, rain or shine.

Donations from the CROP Walk will benefit Church World Service, a hunger relief and development agency that responds to crises (like Hurricane Gilbert) all over the world. However, 10% of the money collected will stay in our community to support Faith in Action.

If you would like to walk or support a walker, contact Anne Williams (475-3865) or the Rev. Sondra Willobee (475-9348) immediately.

The walk is sponsored by the Chelsea Area Ministerial Fellowship.

Developers of Arbogate Inn, Chelsea's first motel, have pulled clearing and grading permits and plan to begin work within the next couple of weeks.

Bill Weber, one of the developers, said with the late start weather becomes a factor as blackout companies don't work after November.

"It might have to be postponed until spring if we don't start soon," Weber said.

Nielsen had traveled to Denmark to visit a sister.

Nielsen was originally scheduled to return to Chelsea last Friday. However, airlines will not allow him to fly until two or three weeks after his hospital release.

Meanwhile, Farmer's Supply is maintaining its normal hours, according to Allen Broesamle, who is having to work a few more hours than usual. Broesamle said he didn't know when Nielsen would return.

MARILYN GUENTHER, an East St. resident, holds up a painting of her house created by Chelsea resident Sue Craig. Craig was one of the many artisans who sold their work at the Country Craft and Folk Art Show at Chelsea High school last Saturday. Guenther had no idea the painting existed until she attended the show. Much of Craig's work focused on Chelsea landmarks.

CHUCK AND GWEN JOHNSON of Chelsea own a company called "My Wife and I Crafts" and the couple displayed their work at last Saturday's Country Crafts and Folk Art Show at Chelsea High school. The Johnsons are South St. residents.

Dollar for dollar, natural gas holds a three-to-one price advantage over electricity. And because that price advantage is expected to increase in the future, you could save even more in the long run.

BOB LYTLE drove this 1929 Model A Ford all the way in Texas but otherwise made the trip in relative ease, all by himself. He had a couple of problems with ethanol in Nebraska and with a generator

Local Man Drives Cross Country In His Restored 1929 Model A

Clear Lake Shores resident Bob Lytle drove his 1929 Ford Model A all the way to San Jose, Calif. and back just so he could have the pleasure of escorting a new bride and her husband from the wedding to the reception.

The wedding was actually more an excuse to take the trip, which his wife, Phyllis described as "his dream." However, 27 years ago Bob used another Model A to escort the parents of the bride in the same manner. Bob drove the entire distance by himself as Phyllis preferred to fly instead.

The 5,800 mile trip went largely without incident, although the car did break down in Texas on the way back. "Everywhere I went, people were so nice and so courteous," Bob said of the trip.

"People would toot their horn and wave, and a lot of people wanted to follow behind me. It was that way in every state."

The car, which Bob calls his "fun car," has original equipment or replica equipment. He's a member of a Model A restorer's club and has owned the vehicle for six years. However, it's not his first Model A. He's also a Ford employee.

Bob was able to maintain a speed of about 50 miles per hour, averaged about 450 miles a day and 17.1 miles to the gallon—not bad for a piece of antique equipment. He'd have to stop to get gas about every two hours as the tank only holds about 12 gallons. During big rainstorms he'd also have to stop as the tiny windshield wiper wasn't adequate.

The biggest problem Bob had driving out was in Nebraska, where only ethanol fuel was available.

"With that kind of fuel, you get vapor lock a lot quicker," Bob said.

"Plus, it was about 100 degrees out there. At first, I stopped at a rest area and cleaned out the carburetor, but about two miles down the road I had the same problem. The car still wasn't running good. Then I realized what was going on. I just opened up the hood and tied it down. It started to run cooler and the problems started to clear up."

On his way back, he had generator problems in Texas. A spare generator he took along didn't solve the problem.

While sitting at a counter in a truck stop and trying to figure out what to do, he started talking to three truck drivers.

"I said I got a heck of a problem, the generator went out," Bob said.

"Then one guy says, 'you ain't got no problem.' He told me about a place one exit up the road that fixes generators. One driver offered to ride shot gun."

Bob and the mechanic at the shop were able to make one usable generator out of the two he had, with the addition of some parts. He got all the way to Ft. Wayne, Ind. before running into more problems. From there he decided to run on the battery.

Next year Bob hopes to drive to Maine and down the coast to Florida. He's thought about driving to Alaska, but decided he probably tear the car up if he attempted that drive.

Bulldogs Gridgers Rally For 15-12 Homecoming Victory Over Western

By Brian Hamilton

Chelsea Bulldogs scored two touchdowns in the final 5:06 of the first half and held on for a 15-12 homecoming victory over the Jackson County Western Panthers last Friday.

The victory gave the Bulldogs a 3-2 record heading into Friday's annual showdown with the Dexter Dreadnaughts.

"The bottom line is we're happy to get out with a win," said Chelsea Head Coach Gene LaFave.

"We were not very consistent, but we did see some good things out there. We had a number of breakdowns including a mix-up in the backfield late in the game when we should have been able to take the ball in for a touchdown. That gave them a chance to win. But over-all we think our running game is solid and our passing game is solid. We had seven or eight kids play very well, especially Jeff Prentice at center, Luman Strong and Dean Sutherland at guards and Lance Satterthwaite at right tackle."

Chelsea had to hold the Panthers, who made it all the way to the Bulldog 10 before running out of time. The Panthers took the ball at their 16 with 2:35 left. Quarterback Derek Wirebaugh completed several key passes, including one on fourth down at the Chelsea 38 that was batted around and tipped to a Panther receiver away from the play.

The Bulldogs got off to a sluggish start. They took the opening kick-off to the 40, but after a holding penalty they fumbled the ball at their 28.

After a holding penalty on JCW, Panther running back Marty Fortress ran left into the line, cut right, and outran the Bulldog secondary for the first score of the game. The extra point try hit the cross bar.

Toward the end of the first quarter, the Dogs had their first scoring opportunity. Quarterback Larry Nix scored an apparent touchdown from 12 yards out but the play was called back for holding. A subsequent field goal try missed to the left.

The Panthers began their second scoring drive after a punt to the Chelsea 48. A pass play took the ball to the 35, and a draw moved it to the 20. Wirebaugh then completed a short pass in the flat to Dan Haney, who ran for the score. The try for two points failed.

Jude Quilter's kick-off return down the sidelines gave Chelsea the ball at the Panther 41. Nix passed to receiver David White for 29 yards. Quilter eventually scored from the one.

The Dogs held JCW on four plays and after the punt took the ball at midfield. Runs by Nix and Quilter moved the ball to the 36. Three plays later, Nix took aim and a perfect spiral landed in Quilter's arms as he was sprinting down the left sidelines. Nix then passed to Junior Morseau for two points to give Chelsea a 15-12 lead.

Quilter and Nix were the Bulldogs' players of the week. Quilter had 106 yards on 24 carries, caught four passes for 51 yards, and scored both touchdowns. In addition, he led the team in tackles with eight. Nix was 10-20 for 125 yards.

White had three catches for 48 yards to account for most of the rest of the offense.

On defense, linebacker Eric Frisinger had six tackles, and defensive back Kerry Plank, lineman Tim VanSchoick, and back Matt Herter each had four tackles.

Chelsea had 254 total yards and the Panthers picked up 310, including 181 in the air.

Dexter Dreadnaughts, otherwise known as the Andy Walsh Show, host the Bulldogs this Friday. Dexter has beaten Chelsea once in the last 10 years.

LaFave calls Walsh, "easily the best back in the league. I have a lot of respect for him. The first time we let up, he'll score six points. There are not many runners anywhere you can say that about."

Walsh, the Southeastern Conference 100-yard dash champion, will be easily the fastest player on the field. Not only is he a top-notch runner, he can catch as well as anyone. His brother, Marty, will be throwing him the ball. He also has a 6-6, 270-pound horse of a lineman to run behind.

Dexter defense has also played well this season. They've given up one touchdown in two games and no touchdowns in a third.

"They get up for this game every year and they'll have a big crowd," LaFave said. "It's also their homecoming."

LARRY NIX looks skyward after launching a pass deep downfield during last Friday's homecoming game. Nix was 10-20 for the night and was one of the team's players of the week as the Bulldogs ran their record to 3-2 with a 15-12 victory.

Girls Swimming Team Shows Improvement in Rough Week

It was another tough week for the Chelsea girls swimming team, but coach David Jolly said individual improvement was his major concern.

"In a rebuilding year it is difficult to come into a program and turn it into a winner in terms of wins and losses," Jolly said.

"I believe the hardest thing for a team to understand is where the coach is coming from and have trust in him, especially when the team is comfortable with the old system. I believe our girls are starting to come around. About 80 percent of them have had season best times and about 30 percent have had career best times. To me, this is where a program begins and is the basis for the future."

Okemos beat the Bulldogs on Tuesday, Sept. 27.

A season best time was turned in by the medley relay team of Jennie Anderson, Christine Young, Kelly Cross and Ericka Boughton, who took second place in 2:08.23.

In the 50 freestyle, Cross and Jennifer McEachern had season best times. Cross' time was :26.97, .05 off the freshman record.

Jill Nowatzke swam a season best time in the 100 freestyle by 1.5 seconds. Cross won the event.

Maria Kattula, Shana Vosters and Tricia Colby all dropped their times in the 500 freestyle.

"I believe the best time drop of the meet came in the 100 breaststroke where Christine Young dropped an unbelievable 3.74 seconds, bettering her previous best time to 1:18.64," Jolly said.

Albion beat the Dogs on Thursday in what Jolly called a "heartbreaker."

"I really felt we had a chance to win this one but Albion was just one person deeper than us," Jolly said.

One of the highlights of the meet, Jolly said, was Cross' record-setting performance in the 50-yard freestyle, as she beat Susan Schmunk's 1983 freshman record with a time of :26.87. That put her in line for going to the state meet.

Another highlight was Boughton's performance in the 100 freestyle as she swam 1:01.37.

"That was a nice surprise," Jolly said.

The Bulldogs swim at home tomorrow against Ypsilanti.

CHS Golfers Win 2 Matches

Chelsea varsity golfers won two matches last week.

In a match Tuesday, Sept. 27 at Inverness Golf Course, the Bulldogs (157) whipped Milan (170) and Lincoln (180).

Chad Starkey was the top scorer for the day with a 37. Matt Forner shot 38, Mark Larson had a 40, and Doug Wingrove shot 42.

On Thursday Chelsea beat Lincoln at Hickory Woods Golf Course 153-165. Forner's 36 led the Bulldogs. Larson and Brandon Murrell each shot 38 and Starkey finished at 41.

JV Chris White was the top JV scorer both days as he shot a 48 in Tuesday's match and 46 in Thursday's play.

JUDE QUILTER has turned into a jack-of-all-trades last week. Here he recovers after losing his footing for the Chelsea offense this season in only his sophomore against Jackson County Western. Quilter scored both year. Quilter led the Bulldogs in rushing and receiving touchdowns in the game.

Bulldog Cagers Stomp Lincoln, Beat Panthers at the Line

Clutch free throw shooting in the second half gave the Chelsea Bulldogs a 49-40 victory over the Stockbridge Panthers last Thursday, Sept. 29.

In other action, a strong first quarter was enough to beat the Lincoln Railsplitters, 47-23, on Tuesday. Both games were at home.

In Thursday's game, Kelley Scott was 4-4 and Heather Neibauer was 6-6 from the line in the fourth quarter as the Dogs outscored Stockbridge 16-11. The Panthers had scored the first four points of the second half to tie the game and from there on it was a tough game.

"I give the girls a lot of credit," said Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter.

"They were struggling at the end but found enough poise to do what they had to do."

Forward Allison Brown carried four fouls into the fourth quarter, which caused problems for the Bulldogs defensively. However, she didn't foul out.

"It was tense," Rosentreter said.

"Stockbridge played a physical game and we knew we didn't want to lose Allison."

Brown had nine blocked shots in the first half, but tighter officiating in the second half turned several potential blocks into fouls.

Neibauer led the team with 12 points, 14 rebounds and five assists.

Three other Bulldogs scored in double figures. Scott and Jenni Smith each had 11 points, and Brown had 10. Rounding out the scoring were Carrie Flintoft and Laura Unterbrink with two points each, and Scharme Petty with one.

In the Lincoln game, the Bulldogs scored more than half their points in the first quarter and were never seriously challenged by the winless Railsplitters.

"Fortunately, we had one good quarter and that was enough," Rosentreter said.

After the opening period, Chelsea held a 24-9 lead. They managed to increase the lead by half-time, even though they only scored four points in the second quarter. They made 12 of 23 field goal attempts.

"We shot well in the first quarter, but after that we couldn't make much of anything," Rosentreter said.

Six of those first-quarter baskets came from the inside.

Smith led the Dogs with 14 points, and Neibauer had 10. Brown scored seven, Flintoft, Scott and Tiffany Moore had four each, and Lisa Unterbrink and Petty scored two each.

"Everyone had the chance to play, and that's always a plus," Rosentreter said.

Chelsea ended last week with a 5-1 over-all record and 2-0 mark in the Southeastern Conference.

Netters Have Successful Week

Chelsea tennis team took a 5-2 win over Monroe Jefferson in Monroe on Monday, Sept. 26.

First, second, and fourth singles, and second and third doubles all won their matches for the Bulldogs.

At first singles, Angel Lawton won 6-3, 6-4; Nicole Ponty blanked her opponent at second singles, 6-0, 6-0; Amy Mitchell was defeated at third singles, 6-2, 6-0; and Lissa Hamrick earned a shutout at fourth singles, 6-0, 6-0.

In doubles play, Laura Comeau and Jennifer Robinson were beaten at first doubles, 2-6, 6-1, 6-1; Jane Pacheco and Leslie Manning won at second doubles, 6-0, 6-3; and Sara Musolf and Sarah Gegenheimer won by default at third doubles.

On Tuesday, Sept. 27, Jackson Lumen Christi shut out the Bulldogs, 7-0.

Only one match went as far as three sets. Manning and Pacheco won their second set 6-1, but lost the third, 4-6.

According to coach Terri Curtis, the Bulldogs did "better than expected at the Pinckney Invitational on Thursday as they took third place, two points behind second place Williamston.

The host team won the tournament. Lawton was the top first singles player of the tournament as she beat her Pinckney opponent 6-4, 6-2 and then her Howell opponent, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4.

Chelsea's third doubles team of Musolf and Gegenheimer also went undefeated for the day as they beat Howell 6-2, 6-4 and Williamston 7-5, 6-4.

A fourth doubles team was allowed to play in the tournament and Helena Mimer and Amy Carley played for Chelsea. They won their first match over Williamston, 7-6, 4-6, 6-4, but lost in the second match, 2-6, 2-6.

With one win and one loss they played Howell in an eight game pro set and won 8-5 to take second place medals.

Freshman Gridders Whip Hornets, Lose to Northwest

Chelsea freshman football team knocked off Saline earlier this season, 46-28, for their first win of the season.

The freshmen rallied from a 22-6 half-time deficit.

"Defensively, it wasn't a pretty game," said coach Tom Hardin.

Dan Stahl took the second half kickoff 65 yards for a touchdown to set the tone for the second half. Adam Taylor, Shawn DeSarbo and Ben Hurst all scored in the game. Hardin said the team got outstanding defensive play from defensive tackle Mike Terpstra, outside linebacker Adam Tillman, and strong safety Neil Klink.

In other freshman action, Jackson Northwest beat the Bulldogs 14-8. Chelsea scored on the last play of the game.

Hardin said Ben Hurst and Adam Taylor played well on offense, and the entire defense played one of its best games of the year.

The number of jobs that require four or more years of college education will increase by more than 50 percent over the years between 1986-2000, according to the U. S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Jayvee Cagers Still Unbeaten

Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity basketball team maintained its unbeaten streak last week with convincing victories over the Stockbridge Panthers and Lincoln Railsplitters.

In the Tuesday, Sept. 27 home game with Lincoln, Chelsea walked away with a 69-33 win with their highest point total of the year.

Four girls scored in double figures and the team scored in double figures in every quarter.

"We were able to get the ball inside most of the time," said Chelsea coach Paul Terpstra.

"Our full court pressure was good and we put good pressure on their half-court offense. We converted a lot of steals into easy baskets."

After holding a 30-21 lead at half-time, the Dogs outscored Lincoln 21-9 in the third quarter to put the game away.

Kate Dilworth played her best game of the year as she scored 14 points and grabbed 15 rebounds. Mercedes Hammer scored 14, Colleen Scharphorn scored 11, Shawn Losey had 10 points, Christine Burg had eight, Jenny Petty had five, Jenni Bobo had four, and Kristin Bohlender scored three.

Chelsea was never threatened in Thursday's match-up with Stockbridge at home as they won 57-22.

"Stockbridge had a lot of trouble with our pressing defense," Terpstra said.

"We were able to get the ball up court quickly and make a lot of easy baskets."

The Bulldogs led 14-4 after the first quarter, and 32-7 at half-time.

Hammer led the team with 14 points. Burg and Bohlender each scored nine, Dilworth, Scharphorn and Petty each scored seven, and Losey had four. Burg, a guard, had 11 rebounds and Hammer had 10. The team had 22 steals.

Chelsea finished the week with a 6-0 over-all record, and 2-0 mark in the Southeastern Conference.

Outdoor Report

From DNR District Office in Jackson

Wildlife . . .

Ruffed grouse and woodcock season opens Sept. 15 state-wide. In District 13, woodcock are present, but in relatively low densities all summer. Old overgrown fields with thick shrub growth and wetland edges are favorite woodcock habitat in September.

Ruffies are widely scattered during the first half of the hunting season. They are likely to be flushed from upland wooded areas, lowland hardwoods and swamp edges. Grouse food sources are widely scattered in September as are the birds.

A survey last week of mast crops in the Waterloo and Pinckney areas showed:

- Wild grapes—better than average (good food sources after a frost of two),
- silky dogwood—better than average—bluish-white berries common this year,
- grey dogwood—poor, some clumps have adequate food production, but most clumps produced few berries
- black cherry—good, open grown trees produced well
- thornapple—poor, scattered fruit on a few shrubs
- autumn olive—poor to fair, many of the shrubs will produce only small berries that will not ripen
- hazel—fair, some catkins, some seeds, very scattered food source
- elderberry—poor, few berries on most plants
- white oak—poor, almost non-existent
- black and red oak—poor, widely scattered. A few acorns found on some trees—poor quality nuts or none at all.

Squirrels . . .

Fox and squirrels will be concentrated during this dry year. Traditional food sources like acorns are scarce. Ridges or edges that have acorn producing oaks will have more squirrels. Alternative food sources like pines, black cherry and wetlands will have more animals around. The best time to hunt squirrels is during the first and last hour of daylight each day.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Chelsea High school is facing a dilemma that high schools nation-wide are also trying to solve.

How do you attract coaches? And more importantly, how do you keep coaches coaching?

It's a terribly complex problem. According to superintendent Joe Plasecki, the district plans to form a committee this year to study the question.

The one point that everyone agrees on is that it's a much better situation when coaches are on-staff, meaning the coach is an employee of the school district, preferably a teacher. That way the coach can talk up the sport to kids, can be found easily for a quick meeting for the athletic director, and has hours that coincide with the students' schedule. Those are only a few of the reasons.

In the Chelsea district, 28 coaches are on staff and 24 are off, according to athletic director Larry Reed. Those figures include intramural coaches.

In some ways the figures are misleading because there are a number of two-sport coaches. Of those 28 on-staff coaches, there might only be 20 different people.

However, Reed says the percentage here is higher than in most districts, but is still a cause for concern.

So, how do you raise the ratio? The most obvious way is to hire teachers who are also coaches, although some might say hire coaches who are also teachers.

This is not as easy as it sounds. Suppose you need an English teacher. And suppose you need coaches in several sports.

Twenty applicants are interviewed. One is an outstanding teacher, clearly much better than any of the others. Do you immediately offer that candidate a job, or do you hire a teacher who may not be quite as good but is also a coach. Suppose you have a candidate who is probably better than any of the others, but has no coaching experience? Where do you draw the line and say forget the coaching spots, this person is too good a teacher to pass up?

And that brings up another whole series of questions. Just how important is coaching to a school district? Are sports an integral part of an education, or merely a way to keep kids out of trouble before the parents get home? If you ask parents, then you ask kids, you'd probably get different answers. And you'll probably get different answers from kids who participate in sports than from those who don't.

For many kids, sports make the difference between an awful high school experience and a good or tolerable one. Some parents don't follow a single thing their kids do in school except go to games and look at report cards.

The second part of the problem is coach retention. Plasecki promises the committee will interview Chelsea staff members who are no longer coaching in order to find out why they quit and what it would take to get them back.

If you look around the Chelsea district, there are numerous teachers who used to be coaches.

Money isn't going to do the trick. It's like asking a reporter if he or she got into the business for the money. With the exception of maybe Dan Rather, any reporter who says he did is either lying or didn't think much about the profession before entering it.

It's all those other variables that knock coaches out of the ranks. Probably the two greatest factors are the pressure to win and the headache of dealing with parents, which are often two facets of the same problem. Everybody expects the team to win, and everybody expects their kid to play. The two are often mutually exclusive. But try telling that tactfully to a parent.

And when a team wins, and wins consistently, the pressure increases dramatically, sometimes from within the coach.

Then there are problems dealing with administrators, availability of facilities, and the lack of commitment by the school district to improve a particular program. For instance, a head coach might want more competent assistants or more competent coaches in lower levels.

There are also the changing circumstances of life. A coach's priorities change.

I have never, and I mean never, talked to an ex-coach who told me he quit because of the kids.

My theory is that most coaches have a built-in breaking point, the same way most automobiles seem to have a useful life. Occasionally you'll find a coach who is still running after 20 years, but those are the exceptions.

Pioneer Day Slated Sunday At Waterloo Farm Museum

Waterloo Area Historical Society's 28th annual Pioneer Day is being planned for Sunday, Oct. 9 at the Waterloo Farm and Dewey School Museums. By popular demand, extended hours are in place this year. Festivities will run from noon to 5 p.m., with the additional hour giving early-birds the advantage.

Chairperson Betty Turner of Stockbridge says, "We will be featuring old and new exhibits. Visitors look for familiar favorites, but they also like to see some new things each year."

Among the new demonstrators will be Bill Darwin of Chelsea, experienced artisan of stained glass work and donor of a window valued at $650, which is among three of the prizes being raffled at a later date. Tickets are available for purchase. Darwin will be displaying many of his works and will be available to answer questions about his craft, learned from his grandfather.

Spinning wool on the "walking wheel," the clanging of the blacksmith's hammer, the whinny of the Belgian horses used to pull wagons, the floating sound of the dulcimer as its tunes spill across the farm yard—these are but a few of the familiar sounds that speak of the Pioneer way of life.

Herman Hoffman, retired cabinet maker known as the Waterloo Farm Woodcarver, will bring practical toys and intricate display items from his basement workshop in Jackson. Many of his toys will be for sale.

Pioneer Day activities coincide with harvest festivals of yesteryear. It's a time to celebrate the joys of fall harvest, especially the surviving harvest of a summer drought. This year, especially, reminds us that 19th century Michigan farmers also gambled with Mother Nature and her elements. Cider and honey and corn may not be as plentiful as in past years, but the good smells of baked beans and molasses cookies, as well as home baked cakes, pies, and breads will prevail.

Under the direction of the Waterloo Area Historical Society, Waterloo Farm Museum is located at 9998 Waterloo-Munith Rd., three miles northwest of the Village of Waterloo, in the heart of the Waterloo Recreation Area. Dewey School Museum is at the corner of Territorial and Mayer Rds., off M-106. The two museums are within three miles of each other and may be reached from Jackson or Ann Arbor by exiting I-94 at Clear Lake Rd. (Exit 153) and driving north to Waterloo Village, where signs with arrows will direct the discerning driver. Free parking is available at both museums.

Tours of the 10-room 1880's farmhouse will be available, while taking a break from viewing the exhibitions. A real live "school marm" will greet guests at Dewey school, where Pioneer Day is the culminating event to celebrate the school museum's 25th anniversary year. There is no admission to the grounds, but a modest fee is asked for touring the house and a free-will offering is asked at the school. The museum gift shop will be open and will feature made-in-Michigan gifts.

Proceeds from Pioneer Day will be used to maintain the two museums and to offer educational programs to the public.

Log Splitter Reported Stolen

Ralph Wheeler of North Territorial Rd. reported a missing log splitter to deputies at the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department about 3:45 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 1.

Wheeler explained the log splitter, conservatively estimated as a $700 value, had been located beside his barn, and he noticed Saturday, it was missing, although it was there a week ago.

Deputy John Russell took the report.

Chelsea Boy Runners Lose to Railsplitters

Lincoln Railsplitters edged the Chelsea boys cross country team 25-30 in action last Tuesday, Sept. 27.

Seniors Paul Hedding and Holden Harris took first and second, respectively, but Lincoln took the next five places for the win.

"Paul Hedding and Holden Harris both ran super races," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"Harris cut 25 seconds off his previous best time. Freshman Rob Jaques cut 18 seconds to break into the 18 minute range for the first time. He's really improving every day. But Lincoln just had too much depth for us."

Open House Set at Veterans Ice Arena

The public is invited to preview the 1988-89 skating season at Veterans Ice Arena on Saturday, Oct. 8 from 12:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. Registration will be accepted for the Department of Parks & Recreation Instructional Skating Program and representatives will be available with membership information for Adult Hockey, the Ann Arbor Figure Skating Club, and the Ann Arbor Youth Hockey Association.

Visitors can enjoy refreshments and skating admission is free for those who would like to skate to 60's rock & roll with a professional D.J. Skates may be rented for $1.25 per pair. Members of the Ann Arbor Figure Skating Club will also perform in a skating exhibition.

Veterans Ice Arena is located on the corner of Jackson Rd. and North Maple Rd.

For more information, call 769-9140 (recorded message) or 761-7240.

Michigan's Autumns Always Awesome

Visitors can harvest fruits and vegetables at various upcoming events, with peaches, pumpkins and potatoes for the picking, and wine, applebutter and cider for the making.

Hankering for hands-on harvesting? Visit a variety of festivals where butter-churning, corn-shelling and plowing are the order of the day. These include Marquette's County Fair, Sept. 15-17; Ionia's Fall Fest, Sept. 18; Whitehall's Whitelake Octoberfest, Sept. 29-Oct. 1; Dearborn's Autumn Harvest Fest, Sept. 30-Oct. 2; Alpena's Fall Harvest Day, Oct. 1; and Copper Harbor's Oktoberfest, Oct. 10-11.

Apples are happening at Bangor's Apple Fest, Oct. 14-17, and at Belding's Apple Festival, Oct. 2. An Open fire turns apples into applebutter at Lansing's Applebutter Festival, Oct. 29-30.

The longest unbroken apple peel wins a prize at Niles' Four Flags Apple Festival, Sept. 23-25. Competitive chefs will find that anything baked with apples goes over well at Rockford's Harvest Festival, Sept. 30-Oct. 2.

In Bloomfield Hills, visitors can pack apples by the sack and press cider by the gallon at the Autumnfest, Sept. 17-18, 24-25 and Oct. 1-2.

Peaches and potatoes are prime for picking this season. Fruit fanciers pick to peaches can sample tarts, cookies and cobbler at Romeo's Michigan Peach Festival, Sept. 1-5. Potato patches produce pancakes at Posen's Potato Festival, Sept. 9-11.

Leaf-pressers can add to their collection and enjoy fall color tours under trees with multi-hued leaves.

In Grand Haven, a harbor steamer takes travelers up the Grand River to Spring Lake where fall leaves dance during Octoberfest, Oct. 7-9.

At Flint's Fall Harvest Jubilee, Oct. 15-16, travelers ride the rails as orange, red and gold leaves greet Huckleberry Railroad passengers.

Grand Ledge visitors can cruise along the Grand River and view crisp fall colors and enjoy pioneer craft demonstrations and cider making at the Color Cruise and Island Festival, Oct. 7-9.

Antiques flourish in Jackson, Ludington and Frankenmuth. At Jackson, visitors can witness an 1875 hand-powered corn sheller operating on Fall Harvest Day, Oct. 2.

In Ludington, a wood-burning stove turns corn meal into muffins Oct. 8-9 at the White Pine Village Autumn Festival.

Horse-drawn wagons carry passengers to turn-of-the-century harvesting demonstrations at Frankenmuth's Antique Harvest Festival, Sept. 17-18.

Since dates may change or events may be cancelled, check before going.

Hamburg Area Residents Disturbed Over Zoning

Citizens are seething in Hamburg township. A number of groups opposed to development in the rural community have sprung up, accusing the township of everything from complacency in the way it administers zoning to general incompetence.

But it remains to be seen whether there is something to the citizens' claims, or whether a fight over preserving the rural nature of the township has turned nasty.

In any case, the township air is thick with threats of legal action.

A group called "Citizens For Concerned Development" formed to oppose a 165-unit condominium project to be developed on 385 acres bounded by M-36, McGregor and Whitewood Rds. by Brighton developer Donald Moon. Another group, the Hooker Rd. Home Association, has been battling a development on the road the association is named after. Also, a couple of citizens are considering suing the planning commission for their failure to administer zoning properly in the case of Zukey Lake Tavern co-owners Charles Plante and Rick Glazer.

For his part, township supervisor and planning commission member Frank Vosnik, thinks there is something to the argument that the planning commission is not functioning properly. But he paints a picture of developers as the predators whetting their appetites on a weak planning commission.

"They (the developers) can do anything they want," Vosnik said.

Vosnik takes the case of the Zukey Lake Tavern co-owners' recent rezoning approval, recommended by the planning commission, as an example. The building in question was originally approved for use as a boat storage garage, he said. But the co-owners put in a road, septic tank and drainfield and finished a room inside the "shed" without petitioning the planning commission and going through the necessary site plan review. After "hell was raised" and the co-owners were ordered to halt work, Vosnik said, the co-owners came in and sought approval for rezoning. The planning commission granted it last Tuesday. Vosnik cast the only dissenting vote, giving as reason that it would set a dangerous precedent. "What happens in the future if someone comes up with a request for boat storage after yielding and yielding," he said at the Sept. 28 meeting.

The former boat storage garage will soon be opening as a "health-o-rama" Vosnik said.

"The gutless board members, including myself, are granting these things, and the people living here are gritting their teeth," he said.

"They just said (to Plante and Glazer) 'oh you're nice boys,' so they went merrily on their way."

The zoning is being done backwards, Vosnik said. Owners change their property in whatever way they will, then come to get approval for it from the planning commission. They should go through a site plan approval before they make the changes.

Hamburg township resident Ron Clore and Ann Arbor township assessor Charleen Grenzy, who both live near the Zukey Lake Tavern, are investigating with an attorney whether they can sue the planning commission over the way it handled zoning issues surrounding the expansion of the tavern.

"We've been fighting this for a year. There are kids who live on this street. The dust, noise and drunks coming in there makes for a bad environment," Clore said.

Clore contends that Grand Trunk Railroad property, which Plante and Glazer recently bought and built the new driveway on as part of the health-o-rama improvements, is state property which adjacent owners should have had the option to buy.

Grenzy also argues that Zukey Lake Tavern has expanded, when it should not have due to the fact that its lot is zoned a "non-conforming use." There is a codicil on expanding lots designated non-conforming in order to minimize commercial expansion in residential regions.

Grenzy says the co-owners removed recreation equipment such as ping pong tables and replaced them with tables.

"I can't prove it, but the number of seats went from 75 to 95," Grenzy said, "and they added a full kitchen."

Plante says that Grenzy is telling "outright lies" and that there has been no expansion whatever of the tavern.

"Removing vending machines and putting in chairs does not (add up to) expansion," he said. A kitchen was not added, he continued, the grill was simply moved into a separate room.

Plante said that he is considering filing a lawsuit against Grenzy.

As for criticisms that he made improvements to his "commercial storage facility" which Vosnik refers to as a "boat storage shed" without going through the proper procedures, Plante said that he had the necessary building permits from the county. He did not know that a new township site plan review was necessary in order to make changes to the facility.

"I had permits to do everything I did," Plante said. He had a permit from the county board of health to make a septic field, and a building permit to complete a room in part of the storage facility.

Grenzy doesn't think the permits should have been issued prior to the submission of a new site plan.

"Why dig a well and put in carpeting to finish a storage building," she said.

Plante said that midway during the construction, the township approached him and told him that he would have to get approval for an amended site plan before proceeding with the paving of his driveway.

Grenzy also worries that there is no hope for preserving the character of the neighborhood because Plante and Glazer are buying out the potential opposition to their plans.

The co-owners have purchased eight houses adjacent to the tavern, Grenzy said.

Plante argues that the buying of the houses is unrelated to the tavern and the storage facility, and does not amount to expansion.

Grenzy's claims are "nothing but verbal diarrhea," Plante said. "That is the mentality we are dealing with." He said that he is considering suing her for telling "outright lies."

Plante and Glazer in early summer were turned down in their request to rezone the Zukey Lake Tavern lot from waterfront residential to neighborhood services. The waterfront residential zoning was given to the area years ago when there were few residences around it.

Plante claims that he wanted the switch to a commercial zoning designation in order to make the bathrooms handicap-accessible (he is being sued right now by someone who slipped on the narrow stairs that lead to the bathroom), and make a 12-foot-wide addition for six no-smoking tables and some added "wet and dry" storage.

Grenzy fears a "total commercial development" will materialize in her neighborhood.

"This is where we're coming from as residents on Gerard Dr.," she said.

For another township resident, who asked that his name be withheld, fighting developer Don Moon has become a passion.

For over a year, Wayne (not his real name) has been doing his best to get the Whispering Pines development stopped.

Wayne has contacted about 15 state agencies about Moon's project. Wayne made so much noise, in fact, that Moon, an attorney, has threatened to sue Wayne for slander "when it's all over," Wayne said.

"There are two or three of them who precede me wherever I go," Moon said.

Moon claims that Wayne once called the DNR to complain that he had been doing some work on the land without a permit. "They went up there and found the state highway commission putting up a guard rail," Moon said.

Wayne, who lives on a property near a subdivision Moon completed last summer, Crystal Beach, says he sees himself as "the guy in the white hat." Of Moon, he says, "He's like a czar, you know, a little hard to take. He's got them (the planning commission) buffaloed."

After attending every planning commission meeting since last April, Moon finally received approval for "Phase I," which involves 50 condominium units, in mid-September.

Moon has chosen site plan condominiums for Whispering Pines, a type of development that does not need to get state or county approval. Site plan condominiums need only pass through the township board, which cuts the time of the review process necessary by about one-third.

Neither the developer nor the township have any jurisdiction over the owners in a site plan condominium who form an association, or board. The board is responsible for upkeep of commonly owned property from a fund it must raise from the condominium owners. The board can sue members without taking them to court.

The township stalled over Moon's project when it was noted that no commonly owned property had been included in the site plan. The lots were divided like those in a subdivision.

Although Phase I of the plan was approved in mid-September, it was only a week ago last Tuesday that the planning commission received formal clarification from the township attorney as to the difference between a subdivision and a site plan condominium.

Wayne carries a thick file of the letters he has written about the zoning, health and safety ordinance violations he has noted in Moon's Crystal Beach subdivision.

Recently, as he drove around the subdivision, he pointed out a number of the faults he has observed.

Taking out a copy of the 1924 site plan that was used to develop the site, he points out that purple magic marker lines were made to indicate which roads would be developed, most of them short, unconnected, stubby dead-ends.

"There's no official seal or nothing and this is what they approved," Wayne says, in disgust. Adding from his perspective as a former fireman, he says, "and there are no fire truck turn-arounds."

A group called "Citizens for Careful Development" was formed by Melissa and Don Pettijohn to try and stop the Whispering Pines development. The group is concerned about increased traffic flowing onto the already dangerous, winding M-36.

They are also concerned about the impact the 18-hole golf course Moon plans to build will have on the environment. One of the township's main arteries, Hay Creek, runs through the lot, which raises the possibility of fertilizer run-off getting into area lakes that the creek flows into.

Mark Mitchell, of the Huron River Watershed Council, said he has no objections to Moon's other developments, such as Arrowhead condominiums, but from a personal standpoint sympathizes with residents who want to limit development.

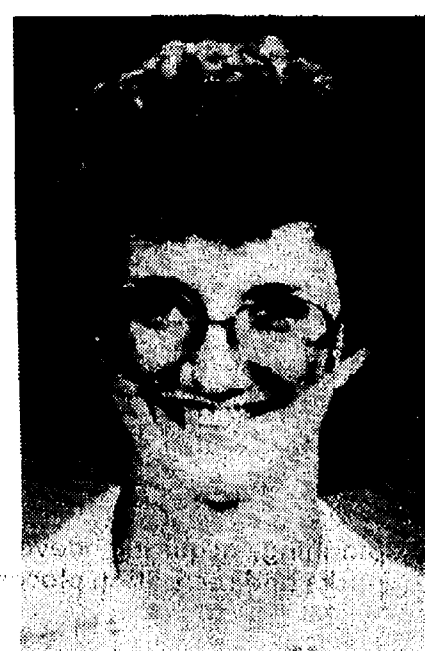

"From a personal standpoint, I hate to see development like that along a creek. But as a watershed person, I have no power to stop it. You feel a little bit helpless (as a resident)," he said. "So I understand where Wayne is coming from. But by being involved you can make some demands on the PASTOR RETIRING: The Rev. Andrew Bloom, left, who is retiring from his post as pastor at the St. Jacob Evangelical church after 43 years, stands next to his successor, the Rev. Thomas Johnston.

St. Jacobs Pastor Retiring After Same Area Church Since 1945

During his long tenure as minister at St. Jacob Evangelical Lutheran church on Reithmiller Rd., west of Waterloo, the Rev. Andrew Bloom adhered steadfastly to the traditional, conservative side of the Lutheran faith.

With his replacement, the Rev. Thomas Johnston, Bloom can remain assured that the church will continue along the same lines.

A liberal trend in Lutheranism, which dates back to 300 A.D., has been gaining strength in recent years, particularly with the finalization of the merger of three churches last year. The American Lutheran Church, the Lutheran Church in America, and the Evangelical Lutheran Church and Missions formed the ELCA which has become a unified front for liberal thought in Lutheranism. Liberals, who rely more on human reason and philosophy to interpret the Bible, do not believe that Christ was a deity, that he had a virginal birth, or a bodily resurrection.

The conservative biblical interpretation favors sticking closely to the Bible without using much human interpretation. The way this is done is by using scriptures related to the passage in question to interpret it, versus using human reason. "By the Lord's blessing, our Wisconsin senate is still holding its conservative position," Bloom said. "If he had been challenged to adopt the liberal view, he would have refused to follow it, Bloom said."

Johnston said if he were met by the same challenge, he would also refuse to obey.

Bloom was born in Toledo, O. He studied at the Michigan Lutheran Seminary in Saginaw and Northwestern college in Watertown, Wis., as well as the Wisconsin Lutheran Seminary in Mequon, Wis.

The major change that Bloom said he noted over the years is that more parishioners work in factories whereas previously they were mostly farmers.

The number of parishioners has also fluctuated. The congregation was largest from about 1950 until 1968 when the St. Luke's church in Jackson opened. "We had 225 souls at the highest and then we lost 35 souls to Jackson," Bloom said. The church now has 146 individual members.

Bloom's first assignment was in Detroit at a congregation that no longer exists, the Jehovah Zion. Assignments in Toledo and Dexter followed before he came to St. Jacob in 1945.

The major change at the church was its renovation in 1950. The interior was remodelled, and an addition and new basement were made.

Bloom said he isn't sure how many weddings, baptisms and funerals he has performed over the years. "I started counting baptisms the other night and lost track somewhere after 200," he said.

Records of all sacraments since

1858 are kept in four volumes at the church. Records from the church's inception in 1841 until a permanent pastor was put in place in 1858 were lost.

The church was started by the Rev. Frederick Schmidt who was called by the congregation to the area around 1831. The Rev. Schmidt was a circuit rider which meant he traveled from place to place according to demand for services. He was responsible for starting all the Lutheran churches in the area as far away as Marshall.

Bloom said he isn't yet sure how he will spend his retirement which he has been looking forward to for the past two years, but he expects he will be doing "a lot of yard work." He and his wife will move, on Oct. 15, to a new house they are renting in Waterloo township. What about travel? "That's in the future," Bloom said.

Parishioners have expressed that they are sorry to see him go, but no one has tried to persuade him to stay. "It wouldn't work," Bloom said, with a laugh. Bloom may occasionally still perform a service. Already a local Lutheran minister has asked Bloom to fill in on New Year's Day. "He wants some vacation," Bloom said. "I said I'd think it over."

As Bloom ends his career as a minister, Johnston is just beginning his.

Johnston was born in Australia where he lived for two and a half years. He attended St. Joseph Michigan Lutheran High school and followed the same college curriculum as Bloom, at the same schools.

His total training period was eight years, four years at each of two institutions, Northwestern college and the seminary. The third year at the seminary was his "Vicar Year" during which he got practical experience assisting a pastor. In college, Johnston learned German, Latin, Greek and Hebrew. At the seminary, he focused on the languages the Bible was originally written in, Hebrew, for the old testament; and Greek, for the new.

Johnston came to Waterloo after church members called for a graduate of the Wisconsin Lutheran Seminary. He was ordained and installed about 10 days ago.

This summer, Johnston, his wife Lori and JENNIFER ROSSI, Chelsea High school's 1987 homecoming queen, returned last Friday with escort Kevan Flanigan to crown the 1988 queen during half-time of the football game.

JOSIE KRZECZKOWSKI, left, of Chelsea, and Robert Kozicki of London, England, were among a group of 153 Polish dancers from around the world who spent six weeks this summer in Poland. The first four weeks was an intensive study of Polish history, customs and culture while the remaining two weeks were for touring the country.

Centennial Dancers from Plymouth Tour Poland

Not only an education, but an experience! That's what a group of young adults from the Polish Centennial Dancers of Plymouth had this summer in Poland for six weeks.

Josie Krzeczowski of Chelsea, Michele, Elaine, Karla and Juli Ygeal of Livonia, members of the Polish Centennial Dancers, along with Mary Filus, Mike Ozog, and Hilda Hernandez of Warren, attended the Course for Instructors of Polonian Folk ensembles held in Lublin, Poland at the Maria Curie-Skłodowska University. Mike Ygeal (the official translator) and Joanne (director of the Polish Centennial Dancers) accompanied the students.

Four weeks of intense study was done at the University and for two weeks, Poland was toured. 65 hours were spent in instruction each week; classes were from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. except for lunch and then evenings were spent in rehearsing dances. Sunday was no exception. A full schedule included a tour of castles, concentration camp, villages, or museums in the morning and classes in the afternoon.

Course work included the theory of music, singing, rhythm, traditional and contemporary Polish culture, techniques of teaching and the intense study of the national and regional dances of Poland (Krakowiak, Oberek, Kujawiak, Lubelski, Kaszub, Slask, Wielkopolska, Opoczno, Zywiole, Sadeckie and mountain dances). They also attended concerts to critique, analyze and learn from various dance groups of Poland as well as groups from the Soviet Union, Bulgaria, Spain, Finland and the Ukraine.

The ultimate experience was living together, 24 hours a day for a month, with 153 Polish dancers from 16 different countries (Australia, Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, England, France, Holland, Italy, Russia, Czechoslovakia, West Germany, Denmark, Romania, Belgium, Canada, U.S.A.).

Eating, studying, and partying with these students made them aware of different cultures. The students learned how other countries partied; what were their top tunes, and best of all, made lasting friendships.

Learning to adjust to Polish food was a task, breakfast was often a boiled egg, tomatoes topped with onions and bread-butter. A few times they even had marinated herring for breakfast. A full course meal complete with soup was served at 1 p.m., while supper at 7 p.m. was light. The only salads served were cucumber and slaw. Dessert was a sweet roll or an apple. Meat served mid-day was chicken, duck, lamb, turkey, pork, fish, seldom beef. Each student received their plate of food, no cafeteria or family style. Extra of your favorite food could be had from the kitchen.

When the students got home they kissed the ground to thank God they lived in America and then headed for Burger King, Taco Bell and McDonald's.

Disco is very popular in Poland with the young people, so each Saturday night, the students went to the Disco with its seven-cent (100 Zloty) cover charge, predominate American music, and warm Pepsi.

The course concluded with a "Gala Concert" in which each student performed to show the dignitaries of Poland the success of the program. A huge banquet with champagne, the best of Polish food, and a live orchestra opened and closed the program of study.

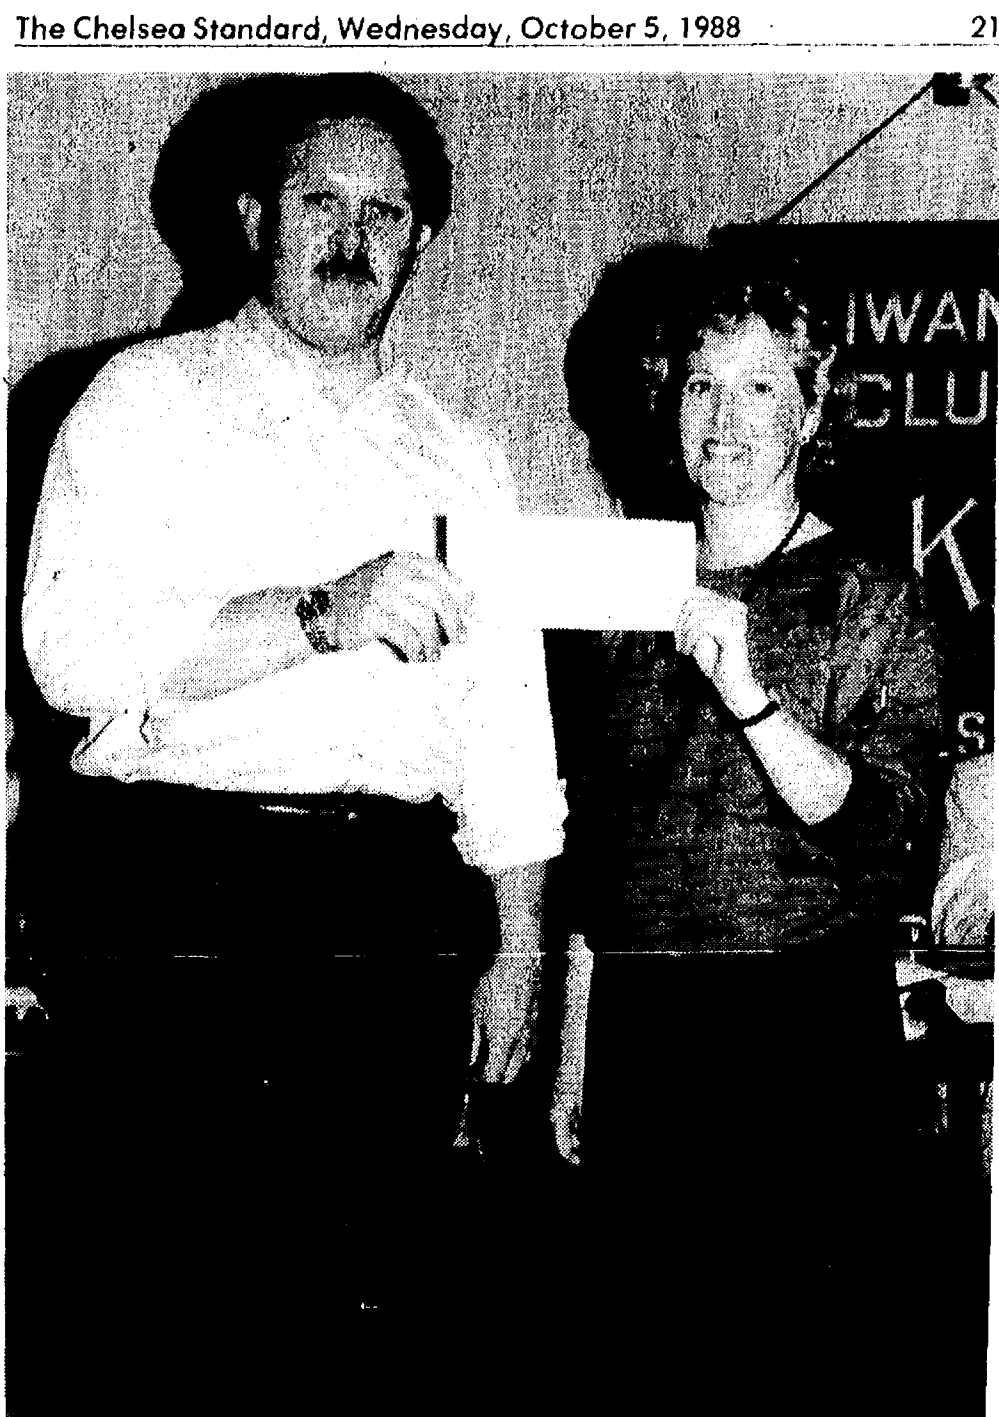

For two weeks, the students traveled throughout Poland. In Warsaw, they lived with two Polish families. They lived as the Polish people did, they ate their food, rode the overcrowded buses, shopped at the market, and walked the streets of Poland, hoping to look like they belonged. But Americans are easy to spot. Polish girls wear dresses during summer, no shorts or slacks, (a dead give-away). The young people learned quickly to look for the Pewex in each city, it's the store that sells a lot of American products (Pepsi, candy, cigarettes, tapes, videos, etc.) and you buy it with American money.

The students loved Krakow, the most historic of cities. The marketplace with a multitude of pigeons, an abundance of folk art and beautiful flowers for sale, and strolling musicians. Plus every few minutes someone accidentally bumped you and said in their English with a Polish accent, "change money." They wanted to change money at the black market rate of 1,500 to $1 compared to the legal rate of 441 zloty to $1.

$1.50 per person bought dinner at the best restaurant complete with cocktails, soup, salad, steak, dessert, linen tablecloths, candles, and a full service waiter.

Voted most scenic was Zakopane, a tourist town in the south of Poland with chalet style homes nestled among the mountain side of the steep granite Tatry mountains. A train trip to a mountain top saw a multitude of sun bathers and picnickers on the mountain side and Gorale (mountainers) in their authentic costumes carving your name in any wood souvenir.

The Polish people were very warm, hospitable, and sincere. Extremely helpful when asking directions, buying train or bus tickets, or just plain lost.

SPAULDING FOR CHILDREN, the local adoption agency for children with special needs, was given $200 by the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea to be used for general purposes. It was the annual donation by the club. On hand to receive the money from club board member Blake Thompson was Marilyn Chasteen, Spaulding director of development.

Apparent Suicide Claims Life of Chelsea Teen-ager

Doug Harden, an 18-year-old Chelsea man, was found dead late last Friday in a wooded area near Mester and Waterloo Rds. north of the village.

According to Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department Detective Lt. James Fink, evidence indicates Harden died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Two 10-year-old boys who were taking a walk in the woods found Harden's body. Harden's car was parked nearby, Fink said.

The boy's parents told Chelsea police earlier in the week that he was missing.

"It's very sad," said Gene LaFave, Harden's high school counselor.

"I knew him and I liked him a lot." Harden was member of the Chelsea High school class of 1988. He spent much of 1987-88 working for a relative.

During his freshman and sophomore years, Harden was involved in football and wrestling.

High school mental health and substance abuse counselor Chris Dillon said she never met Harden but has since talked to several of his friends. She said she plans to start a series of meetings to help them deal with and sort out their feelings.

"Obviously, it's hard for them to deal with something like this," Dillon said.

"Often times it comes as a complete shock, especially with teen-agers."

Lounge lizards: Some 100 species of animals at the San Diego Zoo are luxuriating on the latest innovation in Zoo habitat... waterbeds. According to International Wildlife magazine, the zoo models are basically the same as human waterbeds, except they are covered with claw-proof aluminum. Unlike heat lamps, they provide an even temperature similar to warm rocks or beds of leaves where animals sleep in the wild.

More Deer Appear On County Roads

Increased numbers of deer are appearing on the roadways in the western portion of Washtenaw, and in Livingston county, and drivers are warned to use special caution.

There seems to be no hour which is free from the chance a deer will pop on the road, forcing the driver to try evasive action, which usually proves futile, anyway.

Deborah Marie VanderHaagen reported an encounter with a deer at 6:45 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 29, as she drove south on Dexter-Pinckney Rd.

The deer left the area after it was struck.

In a similar incident, driver Jose Guadalupe, 47, told deputies he tried to avoid a deer on Pleasant Lake Rd., lost control and struck a tree with his vehicle.

Ruth Aranda, 14, Lorena Rubio, 15, received minor injuries in the incident, which occurred about 6:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 26.

Mark David Makara, 22, was driving east on North Territorial Rd. near Jennings, about 7:37 a.m. Sept. 20, when a deer ran into the vehicle he drove.

The deer was killed. William Earl Taylor told deputies he was unable to avoid hitting the doe which ran on the road in front of him at 9:45 p.m. Oct. 1.

He was driving on Huron River Dr.,

approximately one-half mile west of Mast Rd.

Timothy Paul Borden of Ypsilanti was eastbound on North Territorial Rd. at 1:55 a.m. Oct. 1 when a deer appeared without warning.

Borden said he swerved to avoid hitting the deer, but subsequently was unable to avoid rolling his vehicle into the ditch.

Deputies explained no injuries, no citations issued.

Deputy Bill Maloney took a report from John Frederick Seyfried, documenting a deer encounter on Dexter-Pinckney Rd. at 8 a.m. Friday, Sept. 30.

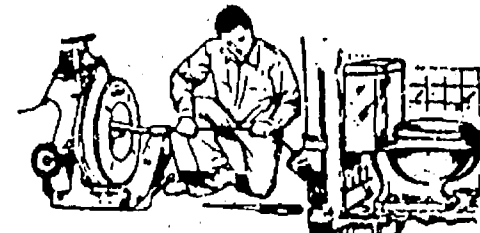

The deer entered the southbound lane of the highway, from the west.

A highway-killed deer permit was issued.

Smokeless Tobacco Gains Popularity Despite Health Risks

Since the early 1970's, there has been an increase in the use of smokeless tobacco for the first time since the turn of the century. The sales of smokeless tobacco in the United States has increased about 11% each year since 1974 with an estimated 22 million users nationwide. Most alarming is the fact that many of the new users are male high school seniors and likely involved in athletics. This population has been the target of advertising by the tobacco industry using sports figures and other role models in an effort to produce smokeless tobacco habits are safe and not harmful.

Smokeless tobacco can produce significant effects on the soft and hard tissues of the mouth, including bad breath, discolored teeth and fillings, excessive wear of the teeth, decreased ability to taste and smell, gum recession and advanced periodontal disease. The National Cancer Institute regards the use of smokeless tobacco as a "dangerous practice that may increase a person's risk of getting cancer of the mouth, pharynx, back of the throat, and the esophagus." The U. S. Surgeon General, the World Health Organization, and the Centers for Disease Control have all recently concluded that snuff in North America causes cancer in humans.

Smokeless tobacco comes in many forms. Snuff is powdered tobacco that is often flavored or sweetened which can cause the additional harmful effect of tooth decay. Smokeless tobacco may come in a loose-leaf form or with the leaves folded together into a "twist" or pressed into a cake to form a "plug." Between 6 and 12 million adolescents in this country have tried smokeless tobacco and the ratio seems to be highest in rural areas.

Obviously, one should think twice before placing a "pinch" of such a harmful substance between his "cheek and gums!"
