KIWANIS CLUB OF CHELSEA created "Kid Pix" as a public service the last two week-ends at Chelsea High school. Parents could have photo identification cards made of their children, complete with descriptive information about the child. The idea is to be able to help law enforcement officers in case a child is lost or abducted. Above, Ben Behnke, 5, poses for the camera while his mother, Mrs. Chris Behnke, looks on. From left are Kiwanis members Jim Kinner, Blake Thomson, and Warren Atkinson. Kinner and Thomson were chairmen of the project.

Lima Township Board Approves Initial Plans For Housing Project

Lima Township Board approved preliminary site plans and the concept of cluster development for a 20-home project just east of Harper Dr.

In a 3-1 vote, with one abstention, the board approved plans by Harris Homes Development Corp. for the 53-acre development between Trinkle Rd. and Old US-12, tentatively called Upland Hills.

The action came at the board's regular meeting Monday night.

"The developers complied all the way down the line," said township supervisor Leila Bauer.

"As much as we hate to see growth in Lima township, there was no reason we could turn them down. They have been very co-operative and have worked with us all the way."

Some of those concessions included scaling back the project from 28 to 20 homes, and eliminating a through road to Trinkle Rd. in favor of a cul de sac.

The board listened to a presentation by Don Pennington, a private planning consultant, on residents' concerns about possible groundwater contamination. Most of the area is designated a groundwater recharge area, meaning there are natural conduits to the groundwater. Some residents are concerned that cluster development will make it more likely that area wells will be contaminated by viruses or chemicals.

Cluster development will allow the builders to group homes in an area as long as the over-all density of the zoning is maintained. For example, in RR zoning, which allows one home on three acres, developers could cluster 10 homes on 10 acres as long as 20 acres are left open.

"(Don Pennington) gave a good presentation," Bauer said.

"He said there are so many unknowns about the area and it could be two or three years down the line before we have any answers. He said we'll have to rely on Barry Johnson's county health department to make sure there is enough protection. If we knew we would have answers within a few months, we could have delayed the project. But it could take years."

Bauer, clerk Arlene Bareis, and treasurer Betty Messman voted for the project. Trustee Robert Heller voted no, and trustee Charles Trinkle abstained.

"The board has spent more time on this issue than any issue before it," Bauer said.

"This is the first time we've been faced with this kind of development and that's why we've been real cautious."

Developers still have a number of approvals to obtain before they can proceed. Permits are needed for septic fields and wells. And the Department of Natural Resources will probably have to rule on whether the area is considered a protected wetland.

Grass Lake Organization To Restore Burned Depot

A citizens group in Grass Lake has begun an ambitious $250,000 project to restore the burned-out railroad depot.

Whistle Stop Park Association, a non-profit group formed this summer, has purchased the depot land from Napoleon builder Mike McKay, according to association member Rebecca Pavy. She and her husband own the Grass Lake business Architectural Salvage. The group represents a cross section of government, businesses, and interested citizens.

McKay purchased the depot parcel, and adjoining land, from Jim Leonard. He plans to hold on to part of the property to build a gas station/convenience store/delicatessen. The remainder he agreed to sell to the association. In addition, he plans to lend his expertise in the building project itself, Pavy said. She said McKay is perhaps the most prominent builder in Napoleon.

"We've been looking at this for about four years as a possible downtown beautification project," Pavy said.

"We've been watching very closely how Chelsea has restored their depot. Although we really don't want a gas station on the corner, it will be a nice gas station and it won't detract from the depot project."

The depot burned in 1979, a victim of arson. Only the fieldstone still stands. However, that portion apparently is structurally sound.

When the restoration is completed, the building would become Grass Lake's cultural center, Pavy said. Art shows, hands-on displays for children, festival shows, displays pertaining to railroads, and other features could take place there. Additional work would be completed on the grounds to turn the depot into the focal point of town.

"We're in the very early stages of developing our programs for the building," Pavy said.

The depot would have new public restrooms in one end, but the inside would remain basically an open area.

"We have very good photographs of the exterior," Pavy said.

"However, inside we're going on what people can remember. We'd like to find someone who has photographs of the interior."

An architect has created blueprints to replace the roof.

The association has applied for a Michigan Equity Fund Grant. Local citizens have pledged more than $15,000, Pavy said, "and we haven't really even tried to raise any money yet." She said foundations would be pursued, and Grass Lake township has pledged some money.

And the group is counting on area residents to donate their expertise. For example, the Pavys have agreed to reproduce the original stained glass.

"Now that we're going to go ahead and do this, we're interested in help from anyone," Pavy said.

"Right now we're going to get matching funds from Grass Lake township, the schools are getting involved, as are governmental bodies and a local builder. We hope everyone is going to help work on it."

The project will be spearheaded by Grass Lake resident Phil Willis, Grass Lake township supervisor Al Mollenkopf, and Napoleon attorney William Raymer. Mollenkopf's great-grandfather was the depot stationmaster.

Pavy describes herself as "the person who threw herself in front of the train," to keep the depot from being demolished.

"It came down to pay up or lose the building," Pavy said.

"It would have been a tremendous loss. It would have been a case of you don't know what you've got 'til it's gone."

The association plans to meet Tuesday, Nov. 22 to elect officers.

Seven Prisoners Leave Cassidy Lake In Single Week

Between Tuesday, Nov. 8 and Monday, Nov. 14, seven prisoners walked away from Cassidy Lake Technical School.

On Monday morning, Chelsea police captured James Brooks on I-94 near Pierce Rd. after a tip from a woman who was driving to work. Brooks was serving 3-5 years on drug charges and 2 years on firearms charges.

Brooks was captured even before he was reported missing by school officials.

As of press time the other six were still at large.

Tuesday, Nov. 8, Sean Martize Freeman, 18, was reported missing at 8:10 p.m. He is described as black, 6' 1", 170 pounds, with a scar on his right temple. Freeman, from Detroit, was serving 1-5 years for car theft and 1-2 years for receiving stolen property.

Wednesday, Nov. 9, Froney Holmes, 20, of Detroit, was reported missing at 1:40 p.m. He is described as black, 6' 2", 157 pounds. He was serving up to five years for receiving stolen property.

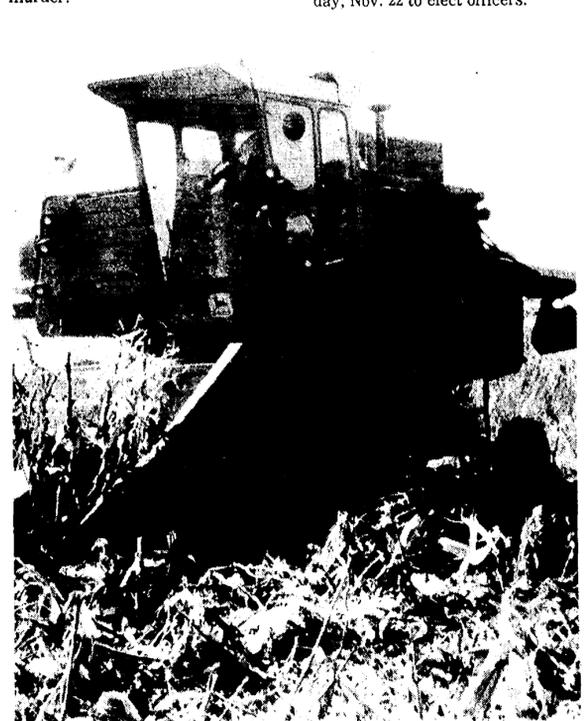

Friday, Nov. 11, Tyrone Reed, 19, of Detroit, Michael Lee Geverink, 18, of Oakland county, and Robert William Moore, 19, of Kent county, were reported missing at 10:49 p.m. Each man was serving time for armed robbery.

Reed is described as black, 6', 175 pounds. Geverink is described as white, 6', 140 pounds, with brown hair, brown eyes, a mustache, and a tattoo on his upper left arm.

Moore is described as white, 6' 3", 180 pounds, with brown hair, hazel eyes, and tattoos on each upper arm.

Sunday, Nov. 13, Lorenzo Cortez Colbert, 21, was reported missing at 9:14 a.m. He is described as white, with a scar on his left arm. He was serving time for carrying a concealed weapon, manufacturing and possession of a weapon, and assault less than murder.

TAKING ADVANTAGE OF ONE OF THE FEW recent sunny days, Tom Pierce stayed at the controls of the combine to harvest the field corn along the eastern edge of Chelsea, sweeping over the Downer property and additional nearby acreage, later sending wagon loads of the golden harvest along Dexter-Chelsea Rd. to Honegger's.

Papo Says Shopping Mall Will Be Done in January

The remainder of Chelsea Shopping Center is scheduled to be completed by Jan. 15, according to developer Rene Papo.

Footings and foundation have been completed. Structural work was to have started last Thursday but high winds delayed the work, Papo said.

Chelsea Pharmacy already has its sign below the Ames Department Store sign. The pharmacy plans to use 8,000 square feet, which is considerably more space than its location at Main and Middle Sts.

Other definite tenants, Papo said, include Gemini Family Hair Care, Especially Yours (women's apparel), Village Instant Photo (one-hour photomat), Cottage Inn Pizza, and a laundromat, owned by Papo. Space is still available, he said.

Papo still has several other projects in the planning stages.

Last night village council was scheduled to consider his request to have 52 acres between Chelsea Community Hospital and Old US-12 annexed. Village planning commission has recommended approval. Approval by the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners would be the final step.

The land will be used for a 40,000-square-foot office building and an apartment complex. Papo wants the land annexed contingent on obtaining the correct zoning.

"We'll have an annexation agreement," Papo said.

Chelsea Officer, as Papo is tentatively calling it, a two-story structure, would be built first, with the apartment units to follow. The apartments would be built 30 at a time, he said. How many he can build might depend on the capacity available at the village's new wastewater treatment plant.

According to consultant Lee Fahrner, the new metering system has not yet been installed, and it's likely to be several months before enough reliable data can be collected. Papo said he plans to commission a feasibility study on the apartment complex this winter and perhaps begin construction by late next spring.

Papo said he is also considering building single-family homes and perhaps multiple-family housing around Pierce Lake.

"The sewer is the big question," Papo said.

Papo's family owns 440 acres in the rectangle bordered by the hospital, Freer Rd., I-94, and M-52.

Papo said he still plans to follow through on his lawsuit to stop construction of the Pierce Lake drain. However, as of last Thursday a court date had not been set.

He said he also plans to follow through with his Village Square retail project, a 32,000-square-foot building between Polly's Market and Village Motors.

Village Still Working On Landfill License

The village is still hopeful the Department of Natural Resources will issue a new landfill operating license once the monitoring system has been approved.

DNR has told the village that a system to monitor the new landfill cell has to be approved before a new license will be issued. The system will require the village to inject a certain chemical in the cell to see whether the landfill liner leaks. If that chemical turns up in a monitoring well outside the cell, they'll know the cell is leaking.

The village had a number of tasks to complete before a final proposal could be taken to the DNR. That proposal is expected to be ready this week, according to former assistant village manager Lee Fahrner.

DNR geologist Barb Vetort said recently a license would probably be approved fairly quickly once the proposal has been received by DNR. However, she also said it would have strict guidelines which could cause the permit to be revoked if the guidelines are not followed.

One of those guidelines, she said, would be for the village to keep a certain level of tracing chemical in the cell.

Last night village council was scheduled to confer with their attorney in the matter.

CHELSEA DEPOT ASSOCIATION'S first Phone-a-Thon last Wednesday, Nov. 9 secured pledges for nearly 100 engraved paving bricks. The bricks, at $50 each, will be engraved with a name and used to landscape around the depot. Board members present to place calls from the Chelsea Milling Co. offices were, from left, Veretta Whitaker, Gloria Mitchell, Dudley Holmes, Jr., Mary Lou Rigg, Marge Hepburn, and Kathy Clark.

"It could all still change depending on what those other agencies do," Bauer said.

Any changes in the site plans will force the developers to go through the township approval process again.

Bauer said it was her understanding that the township could not be held liable if a pollution problem develops in the area.

S.F.A. Warns of Worsening Cash Problem

The state's general fund, while balanced on an annual budget basis, has fallen into a structural pattern of deepening cash shortages at certain times of the year, the Senate Fiscal Agency said in a report that suggested the state could profit by returning to short-term borrowing from private markets.

The report, which noted the general fund cash accounts had net losses on interest for the first time in five years, urged examination of revisions when certain payments would be made to local governments or to cover state programs.

The report by Deputy Director Gary Olson said the state will face a continuing loss of interest income on invested general fund cash and continuing problems in managing its cash resources unless a comprehensive review of cash flow is undertaken.

Treasurer Robert Bowman said he sees no reason to make basic changes in the system and opposes selling short-term bonds to cover the periodic shortages.

He said several one-time factors contributed to the interest losses last year and said the complete picture should include interest earnings by the Budget Stabilization Fund, which the SFA report omitted.

The general fund had a net interest cost of about $20 million in 1987-88 on money borrowed from other state funds, the SFA report said, marking the first time since 1982-83 it had to pay out more in interest costs than it earned on investments during periods when excess cash is available.

That compares to a net profit on cash investments of $11.2 million in 1986-87 and to $49.6 million in 1985-86, the last year the state floated general obligation bonds to cover the temporary shortages.

The report said the deterioration of the state's cash position should not be ignored. "The state has moved from an extremely strong general fund cash balance in 1985-86 to a position in 1987-88 that is in many ways similar to the cash deficits of 1980-81 through 1982-83," the report said.

The report said reasons for the worsening interest picture includes a declining annual surplus; required payouts for income tax overpayments when the rate was cut retroactively in 1986; $60 million more in payments owed to local governments (the one-time Wayne county bailout package contributed to this); reduced cash on hand to cover on-going capital outlay projects; and elimination of tax-exempt general obligation bonds, which for several years temporarily added $500 million to cash accounts and over the years allowed the state to more than offset the interest costs by making investments with higher returns.

The report also noted the federal tax reform act limits states' earnings on tax-exempt borrowing, although the impact on bonds is not yet clear.

Bowman said it is not necessary to float those bonds, and said the state is not in the business to earn a profit on tax-exempt issues. He said aside from the reasons cited in the SFA report, the interest costs in 1987-88 were af-fectured by the state's subsidized loan programs for farmers hurt by weather-related factors.

While the general fund/school aid fund cash accounts had a $180.2 million balance in September, their worst months were in April when $826.1 million had to be borrowed largely to meet income tax refund obligations and in June when $837.8 million had to be borrowed to pay more refunds for a school aid payment.

Operation Graduation Enjoying 98 Percent Success Rate

An anti-dropout program currently in its third year is enjoying a 98 percent success rate, leading one senator to believe Michigan's dropout rate can be cut in half by the end of the century.

Various educators from around the state, in a special hearing by the Senate K-12 Appropriations Subcommittee, praised the effectiveness of the Operation Graduation program.

The program, aimed at low-income students, offers summer employment and requires participating students to keep an 80 percent attendance record and passing grades.

Only nine of the 590 participating students in the nine pilot programs around Michigan have dropped out of school.

"That's a pretty good success rate," said Sen. Dan DeGrow (R-Port Huron), subcommittee chair. "I would have been happy with a 75 percent success rate." He added that the program's long-range goal is to cut dropout rates in half by the year 2000.

The program, which was budgeted at $700,000 its first two years, was expanded to 50 districts and $2.5 million this year.

Department of Education estimates show that 3,000 students can now participate in the program, but 8,000 students have applied. Lola Jackson, head of the department's Vocational Education office, said an estimated 28,000 students state-wide are eligible.

"Our ultimate goal is to have every student eligible in the program," DeGrow said. "I think it's reasonable to say we can get most of them."

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

You don't have to look for the big after Halloween Christmas sales to know that the holiday shopping season is heating up. Zeke Grubb told the fellers Saturday night at the country store. All you got to do is listen to parents wail and nash their teeth about the cost of everything their kids have been nagging em fer, especial clothes and toys. Zeke had saw a piece in the paper where a mother of two teenagers was lamenting that what she called planned obsolescence was driving her to the pore house.

The woman said it was hard enough to keep the children in shoes and clothes they wore out and outgrew, Zeke reported, but in recent years she has been buying shoes, jeans and shirts ever time they come out with a higher top or a new name on the front and back. Her younguns look like walking billboards, she went on, and they want to change their message ever three months. In her day, the woman wrote, young folks kept in style with a haircut and a new outfit twice a year. Now kids won't be seen in public without $100 sneakers and whichever soft drink, rock music star or save the world slogan is wrote on the kids' clothes this month.

Ordinary, the fellers would of moved on, since their idee of fashion is whatever their old ladies lay out fer em mornings. Bug Bug Hookum had heard a radio talk show where a sychologist said peer pressure on teens is causing family stress, and kids' clothes was a big part of it. Bug said if parents don't buy what the kids want to wear they git blackmailed by the kids that say they get blackballed at school. Birds of the same outfits flock together, and the rest git left out, Bug said.

Practical speaking, declared Clem Webster, planned obsolescence is as old as marketing, the only change is the cost of it. Everbody knows refrigeraters never wear out where they can't be fixed, Clem said, folks just git tired of looking at em after 10 year of seeing new and improved models. They redo the kitchen and the old icebox stands out like a sore thumb, Clem said, and besides, it don't have a built in defrosting microwave or even ice water on tap in the door.

Farthermore, Clem went on, peer pressure, blackbaling and blackmailing ain't limited to school kids. If you don't drive the right car and wear the right suit, you ain't likely to run with the right crowd in business, or be assigned the right cases in the big law firm. Social circles is even tighter, Clem declared, and all the pressure is just a higher priced way of forcing the parents of those teenagers to keep buying.

To accent the positive, Bug said, the only social pressure that's free is talk. People of all ages have their codes and them that don't use em among their peers are banished to the outer darkness. Fer instant, Bug said, he sees where the fad now with the up and coming types is to make verbs out of nouns. He had saw where a big insurance company was holding "articulation seminars" fer its salesman, and his best guess was they're trying to figger out what they're saying to one another.

Personal, I'm with Bug on the talk. I saw a item in the paper where a feller hurt in a car wreck was "ambulanced" to the hospital. And we are ferever reading where folks can "identify" with this political position or that kind of weather. If this is articulating, I need some translating.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

LARRY RUSINSKY of Chelsea is currently appearing in the Ann Arbor Civic Theatre production of "The Glass Menagerie." Three more performances are scheduled, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 17-19 at the MainStreet Theatre, 1035 S. Main St., Ann Arbor.

Chelsea Actor Appearing In 'The Glass Menagerie'

Chelsea actor, Larry Rusinsky, is appearing as "Tom" in Tennessee Williams' classic drama, "The Glass Menagerie," which opened last week at Ann Arbor Civic Theater. The MainStreet production, directed by Susan Morris, received high praise from critic Christopher Potter of The Ann Arbor News. Potter says, "Any production that can elicit even one sensational performance is a production to cherish. Such is happily the case with Ann Arbor Civic Theater's revival of Tennessee Williams' 'The Glass Menagerie'."

Civic Theater veteran Larry Rusinsky plays the role of Tom Wingfield in the play's depression era setting in St. Louis. Tom is a shoe factory worker desperately craving escape to the outside world from his dead-end job and his overly dependent family. In "The Glass Menagerie," Tennessee Williams immortalizes Tom Wingfield, Tom's domineering mother, Amanda, and his crippled sister, Laura, who is like a piece of her own glass collection—too exquisitely fragile to move from the shelf.

Other cast members of "The Glass Menagerie" include Anne Kolaczowski Magee as Laura, Carol Sheldon as Amanda, and Chris Korow as the Gentleman Caller.

This production of "The Glass Menagerie" marks Larry Rusinsky's return to the stage after a two-year break from theater work. Rusinsky was last seen as George Antrabus in AACT's Main Stage production of "The Skin of Our Teeth." Larry has also appeared in the Main Stage productions of "Look Homeward Angel" and "Bells Are Ringing," and in AACT's MainStreet productions of "Steambath," "The Bald Soprano," "The Lesson," "Charlie's Aunt," "The Rainmaker," and "The Clouds," which he also directed.

Larry's favorite roles in productions outside Ann Arbor Civic Theater include Renfield in "Dracula," Paul in "Barefoot in the Park," Pozzo in "Waiting for Godot," Adam in "The Devils," and Christopher Wren in " Mousetrap."

Larry moved to Chelsea in 1985 after he married musician Deborah Hinderer. The Rusinskys are working at restoring their 100-year-old house on E. Middle St. Rusinsky also works in the personal computer field for Personal Bibliographic Software in Ann Arbor. His wife plays in the Toledo Symphony Orchestra where she was recently featured as oboe d'amore soloist. In addition to their computer and arts activities, the Rusinskys enjoy the company of five cats and a big, black dog.

Look for Larry Rusinsky as Tom in "The Glass Menagerie" in three more performances on Ann Arbor Civic Theater's MainStreet stage on Thursday, Nov. 17 through Saturday, Nov. 19 at 8 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door on Thursday night. The theater is located at 1035 S. Main St., Ann Arbor. Feel free to stop backstage after the show to say hello to Larry.

Inside the $21 Billion Takeover of RJR Nabisco

A historic plateau was reached in a single business transaction that took place near the end of October. On the 21st, Ross Johnson, the maverick boss of RJR Nabisco, announced the intention of buying the huge company and going private. He and a management group offered to buy out the stockholders for $17.6 billion. Peter Cohen represented Shearson, Lehman and Hutton, the investment bankers who would assemble the capital. This offer to the RJR stockholders overshadowed a record $13.4 billion paid for Gulf Oil by Standard Oil of California (now Chevron) in 1984. It also eclipsed the very recent buyout of the Kraft cheese company by Phillip Morris Companies, Inc. for $13.1 billion.

Announcement by Ross Johnson of the alluring offer to the stockholders was barely a week old when Kohlberg, Kravis and Roberts muscled into the deal. KKR, an aggressive firm of takeover tacticians, blew everything sky high with a $20.3 billion offer to the RJR shareholders. This was the largest purchase price in American annals for anything. It made buying Alaska from the Russians for $75 million seem piddling.

From this time on, no corporation can consider itself safe from a takeover solely by virtue of its size.

KKR made the offer in the manner of an unfriendly takeover because they were miffed at Ross Johnson and Pete Cohen for not inviting them to the party. Johnson and Cohen reacted by asking Salomon, Inc. to join forces with them in upping the KKR ante. At the same time they mollified KKR by letting them have a confidential look at the RJR corporation books. Shortly thereafter, the two sides got together in direct negotiations.

Few people outside Wall Street had ever heard of KKR. Yet here they were making financial history with a $20 billion dollar offer in a leveraged buyout—known on The Street as an LBO.

This is a strategy in which the buyers invest 10% of the amount of their offer as earnest money. And they use the seller's capital as a lever to finance the remaining 90% of the purchase.

It works like this: A group of investors—sometimes including top executives of the target concern—decide to buy out the company. For a name, we'll designate it as XYZ Inc. The investors can offer to merge XYZ with another firm, which they own, or simply acquire XYZ and take it private. An investment banker aids in the transaction and acts as dealer manager. In a typical friendly takeover, the buyout offer is made by the investment banker to the stockholders with the approval of the XYZ board of directors. The XYZ stockholders, eager to sell out for a price well above the former market value, mail their shares to the investment firm. They receive payment in full by return mail.

The group of investors then begins the process of paying their investment banker for the capital, the accrued interest and expenses plus a fee or commission. The buyers of XYZ raise the money for this in any, or all, of four ways: 1. Credit for the "front money" which they put into the deal. 2. Cash from the treasury of the XYZ company. 3. Cash from the sale of some XYZ divisions. 4. Cash from the sale of bonds, secured by XYZ assets. The details of the transaction are more intricate but this outline is essentially how an LBO works.

KKR and other investment houses assemble the money for major transactions by borrowing it from such sources as state pension funds, including Michigan, as well as insurance companies and university endowment funds. The bankers pay interest for the use of the money and protect it every step of the way. Since 1985 KKR has made leveraged buyouts of Beatrice creamery, Safeway Stores, Owens-Illinois glass and Storer Communications. The deals have ranged in value from $6.2 to $2.5 billion.

Ross Johnson has alienated the RJR board of directors by his recent financial antics. The upset directors have opened the bidding to all comers with final bids deadline for the end of this week. A new entry, led by Forstmann Little & Co. along with Proctor & Gamble and Ralston Purina, is prepared to make a bid for all cash, no bonds.

Now consider this: The value of all outstanding shares of General Motors stock as of Oct. 25 was close to $24 billion. A buyout offer for GM suddenly seems feasible. Who knows? A $35 billion offer might appeal to the stockholders. If so, the group of investors making the offer would need $3.5 billion front money, and their investment bankers would have to assemble somewhat more than $31.5 billion. No doubt GM would fight and the defense might re-evaluate the great corporation at $50 billion or more.

Practically all firms listed on the New York Stock Exchange are now at risk to takeovers. Included are Chrysler with a 1987 market value of $5.4 billion and Dana, recently pegged as close to $2 billion. If a Chrysler buyout should take place, it is unthinkable that the Proving Grounds in Chelsea would be sold separately or that activities of the vast property would be moved elsewhere.

Chelsea Dana power take-off division is a self-contained operation. Over the years it has had several changes in ownership but has always continued with the same management and the same staff of skilled employees. I don't see how Wall Street can hurt Chelsea Dana.

When a company has been acquired in a leveraged buyout, the final purchase is usually well above the amount of the market price, especially where popular brand names are involved. On the Fortune 500 list, Kraft has a 1987 market value of $7.2 billion but it sold to Phillip Morris for $13.1. Surely this made sense with the presence of such proud brands as Velveeta, Philadelphia Brand cream cheese, Miracle Whip and Kraft Marshmallow Creme. The Kraft line will now blend with Phillip Morris' other subsidiary—General Foods—which features Cool Whip, Minute Rice, Stove Top Dressing, Miller Lite beer, Birds Eye vegetables and Kool Aid.

Now the company stockholders of Kraft must be paid off at a premium price of $106 per share. (And the shareholders will have to pay an income tax on their capital gains.) Phillip Morris has to come through with billions of dollars for its investment bankers. It intends to do this from the cash flow of the combined companies, and this is exceptional.

Many companies that have swallowed up others via the LBO route find themselves deeply in debt. What they do is to sell off some of their divisions. If this is still insufficient relief from their debt burden, they sell bonds secured by assets of the company.

As you know, bonds are IOU's issued by the corporation with some or all of the company's property offered as security. When the company, following a buyout, is heavily in debt, a downturn in the economy may find the firm unable to keep up the interest payments. The bonds go into default. It is because of this element of risk that bonds issued to support LBO deals have to pay a high rate of interest in order to sell to investors. These are known in the market as "junk bonds." A recent issue offered 17 3/4% interest.

An LBO firm such as KKR can earn a fee of 1 to 2% on the principal amount of a buyout. With a $20 billion transaction, the fee at 1 1/2% amounts to $300 million.

In 1976 the partners in KKR—Jerome Kohlberg, Henry Kravis and George Roberts—were salaried employees of Bear, Stearns investment firm. They left to found their own company as LBO specialists. Kohlberg dropped out a year ago rather than be involved in aggressive takeovers. Kravis and Roberts continued KKR. Messrs. Kohlberg, Kravis and Roberts are listed among Forbes 400 Richest Americans with fortunes estimated at $330 million each.

Leverage firms will continue to investigate, analyze and exploit target companies until no eligible prospects are left—which shouldn't take too long. They may be slowed by law. They will also be resisted successfully by targeted companies who will introduce new defense strategies.

In my opinion few LBOs are beneficial to the country or to the concerns or their employees. If they can, healthy companies will do well to steer clear of the LBO speculators of Wall Street.

Stockbridge Accepts Texas As SSC Site

The residents of Stockbridge had to take down all those "SSC, the Place to Be" signs, planted on the lawns of Clinton Ave. that seemed to proudly, as well as publicly, proclaim their willingness to be the host site of a world-class center for physics research.

Stockbridge Village president Wendell Barber received the news that Texas had been chosen over Michigan as the site for the Superconducting Super Collider with equanimity. "We got along without it before and we probably will continue as is," he said. But it was impossible to overlook the disappointment in Barber's voice. "I wanted it, sure," he said.

Barber, like most residents of Stockbridge, was hopeful that Michigan would be chosen as the site for the $4.4 billion experimental atom smasher.

Michigan tied with Illinois for fourth place, after Texas, Tennessee and Colorado.

The Energy Department cited the high ground water table and rock composition as reasons for rejecting Michigan as a site. But state officials, such as Senators Donald Riegle and Carl Levin, both alluded to the possibility that politics had played the major role in selecting the site. The chosen site was announced two days after the election of George Bush to the office of U.S. president, and Bush's "adopted home state" is Texas, noted the senators.

Barber said that he didn't know if politics had been the decisive factor in the site selection. "Michigan showed good cause. That's hard to say."

Stockbridge resident Judy Bastian said she didn't know whether she was happy or sad that Michigan had been rejected. "Who can tell," she said.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
We all in Chelsea had a new life experience this past week. We experienced death which only the living can do with a pain so deep words cannot begin to describe our feelings. As a family we knew Kristen was a special person but I could not begin to know just how special my niece was until you showered us with your flowers, cards, contributions and love. But what is most precious to me is all the stories you shared with us about Kris. You have added so much to our memories.

At first we wondered and cried, got angry that Kristen's life was cut short at 18 years. Many of you showed us just how much living Kris crammed into 18 years. Because we have experienced this pain of Kristen's leaving us, we can live a little more, a little better life. Maybe this is the reason God chose Kristen at this time, to remind the rest of us to treasure each day He has given us.

I did not want to turn this into a thank you letter as the family will be spending the next few weeks trying to personally thank each and every one of you. I have never in my life been surrounded by so much love from so many different directions. This is Kristen's legacy to us.

There are several special teenagers outside the family that personally helped me survive the last few days and to be at peace. To Robert Kornexel, Cris Gieske, Craig McCalla and Kevin Brock, thank you. Robert was with us from Sunday night on and was probably the only person able to smile through the service. Thank you for suggesting and finding the original sound track for "Stand By Me." Chris met me at the door Monday morning to comfort me. Craig came up with the idea of a horse-drawn carriage and worked with friends through half the night to prepare the horses. And Kevin was there with so many hugs I think I have bruised ribs.

Kristen was a hugger. I remember picking Kris up from a party in seventh grade. It took us half an hour to leave as Kris searched out each and every person to personally give them the Kristen hug. If you ever need a hug, think of Kristen and consider yourself hugged. If she could, Kris would give you all one.

Love,
Maggie Roberts.

Shoplifter Nabbed Leaving Store

A 19-year-old Gene Dr. resident may face shoplifting charges as the result of an incident at Polly's Market on Wednesday, Nov. 9.

According to police, the man attempted to leave the store with five bottles of beer and a package of butterscotch chips under his coat at 1:40 a.m.

When confronted by a store employee, the man reportedly put the items on the lane one aisle. Then he reportedly asked the employee to call his parents and not police.

When police arrived, the man denied trying to take the items. Police said the man appeared to be drunk.

Papo Has Big Plans

Papo wants to fill in a small pond next to Polly's as part of the project. However, Polly's has been draining its stormwater into the pond for years.

Papo said that the land where Polly's Market sits was originally lower than the pond. Construction of the market raised the land, forcing the stormwater to run south.

"The village is saying it's all right for Polly's to drain there, but I'm not sure that's legally permissible," Papo said.

"We're probably going to need a ruling from the Department of Natural Resources." Papo said his land naturally drains into Pierce Lake. He said if he fills in the wetland, he will create other wetland on his property under a state program.

The Gene Dr. housing project Papo planned to develop with local resident Harold Allen will not take place, Papo said, because there is too much wetland and the area is undevelopable.

Chelsea Baton Boosters Host Largest State Contest

Chelsea Baton Boosters served as hosts for the largest and most successful NBTA State Baton Contest ever held in the state of Michigan on Nov. 5. Held at Chelsea High school, with 190 competitors performing in over 850 events during the day, the contest brought over 600 people to Chelsea. Eight out-of-state judges came from Texas, Wisconsin, New York, Ohio, Illinois, and Pennsylvania.

Chelsea Baton Corps twirlers had a most successful day, producing 14 state champions in various events and placing 43 into the "top six" in the state.

Both Christine Dunlap and Laurie Honbaum qualified for the national championship in the advanced division by tying for third place. Chrissy also won the state title in intermediate strut while Laurie won the two-baton state championship. Both girls are teachers for the corps.

Little Erica Bloomensaat, 6, Winston Howard, 8, and Paula Diehl, 9, each captured three championships. Erica took the novice strut and novice solo as well as state duet with partner, Megan Morgan, 7. Winston won boys solo for the fifth year in a row and, competing against the girls, took the state flag and state two-baton trophies in the juvenile division. Paula won the state model title, won both military strut and beginner solo. Paula is from Flint and Winston is from Dexter.

Jennifer Fleck, 10, of Manchester, won the 10-12 novice state solo while Katie Sullivan, 8, of Dexter took the novice state strut trophy. Winning the flag baton title in the junior division was Yvonne Scaggs, 13, of Ypsilanti, drum majorette for the corps.

Village of Chelsea Industrial Park

THE VILLAGE'S INDUSTRIAL PARK on Sibley Rd. has officially become a Certified Industrial Park in the eyes of the Michigan Department of Commerce and the Michigan Industrial Developers Association. It is the 103rd certified park in the state and seventh in Washtenaw county. In order to become certified, a park has to meet an established set of criteria regarding its zoning, condition, size, roads, and utilities. Certified parks are at least 40 acres. According to Ray Schwemin, regional vice-president for the Michigan Certified Industrial Park Program, the state keeps a register of all certified parks and when a company goes to the developer's association looking for a place to move, certified parks are the only ones presented. Schwemin, left, presented plaques to the village on Monday. On hand for the village were president Jerry Satterthwaite and administrative assistant Barbara Fredette, center. Right is Carolyn Towsley, Michigan Department of Commerce state co-ordinator.

CD Player Taken from Car

A Farnsworth Rd. resident told Chelsea police that someone took a new compact disc player from her car while the vehicle was parked in the Municipal Parking Lot on Monday, Nov. 7.

The victim said the theft occurred between 4:30-4:45 p.m. Entry was gained to the 1980 Datsun through a sun roof, police said.

The disc player was new and was sitting on the back seat of the vehicle, the victim told police. Value of the player was $353.

THUMBSUCKING CAN ALTER JAW DEVELOPMENT

Q. I have a five-year-old child who still sucks his thumb—mostly at night. Should I be concerned or will he stop sucking by himself?

A. Sucking begins as normal, healthy, infant behavior. In the toddler years, sucking continues to be common and essentially harmless. As the child grows older, though, you should be more concerned and should discourage this habit.

The most visible consequence of thumbsucking is altered facial appearance. A daytime sucking habit also may adversely affect social development, speech, and physical health. Most children can benefit from parental intervention in sucking habits by age five.

An older child who still sucks regularly on a thumb or fingers is faced with a kind of addiction similar to adult oral addictions like smoking, drinking, and over-eating. Generally, children should not use pacifiers after age 3 or be sucking fingers after age 5.

In order to break a sucking habit the child must be motivated to do so and he will need lots of encouragement and positive support. A daily calendar with rewards for going a certain number of days without sucking might be helpful. Reminder devices like a bandage or popsicle stick taped to his thumb, or a sock or mitten worn on the hand at night has also been effective.

Ask your dentist or family doctor about other ways to alter behavior in a sucking child. If allowed to continue too long the child could require braces or even jaw surgery to correct the deformity caused by the sucking habit.

Human Services Department Has Supply of Flu Vaccine

Due to a nation-wide shortage of flu vaccine, no more is available through the Chelsea Family Practice Center.

However, the center says the Washtenaw County Human Services Department has a supply that is projected to last until the end of the month.

For the nearest location where the vaccine is available, call 971-3993.

The vaccines include Trivalent Types A and B. A $3 donation for the shot is requested.

Although immunizations are offered to anyone over 18, the aim of the department is to vaccinate people 65 and older. It is also recommended for people who are at risk for flu-related complications, including adults with diabetes, kidney disease, anemia, immuno-suppression or chronic disorders of the heart and lungs. Those who are under regular medical care are encouraged to check with their physician regarding vaccination.

Vaccinations will be available Thursday, Nov. 17 at the Burns Park Senior Center, 1320 Baldwin, Ann Arbor.

AATA Officials Optimistic That Local Bus Route Will Continue

Ridership on the Chelsea-Dexter-Ann Arbor bus route is up 36 percent over the same time last year, according to Ann Arbor Transportation Authority officials.

"The route is doing well in peak hours," said AATA's Chris White. "It's not doing so well in the middle of the day and on Saturday."

White said the round-trip routes leaving Chelsea at 7 a.m. and Ann Arbor at 5:20 p.m. are relatively full, while the rest of the trips average about three riders.

Average ridership for the day is four passengers per hour, White said. He'd like to see a minimum of six.

"We've got quite a few people who use it regularly for commuting so while we're averaging four riders per hour, many of the passengers are riding it twice a day. Some people are using it for shopping, but not that many. We're disappointed that more kids aren't using it on Saturday. One of the things we've also found is that ridership is high on days it snows."

The route will be re-evaluated next spring prior to the beginning of the third year of the state grant in May, White said.

In May, state funding drops from 100 percent to 75 percent. Fares and funding from Chelsea and Dexter would be used to make up the difference. Annual costs are now about $135,000, White said.

As far as White's concerned, current levels of ridership are enough to keep the route going. However, he said, the ultimate decision would probably be made by Chelsea and Dexter village governments.

"At most I think we'd need about $10,000 from Chelsea and Dexter combined next May. However, we could reduce the amount to almost nothing if we eliminate some of unproductive service times."

Since the route began, fare price has been dropped from $1.50 to $1 each way. In addition, the route stops at Maple Village Shopping Center.

"We can't attribute the increase in ridership to the reduction in fare alone," White said.

"But it has increased a lot since then."

White said a similar route has recently started between Saline and Ann Arbor and is experiencing the same kinds of difficulties.

Village, DNR Disagree About Grant Coverage

Department of Natural Resources has apparently gone back on its word and decided a small part of the wastewater treatment plant project is not eligible to be funded through the 55 percent Environmental Protection Agency grant.

The portion of the project, worth about $3,000, involves the demolition of what are called sludge digesters. The digesters are part of the old plant and are used to store the plant sludge before it is hauled away and applied to a field as fertilizer.

DNR has decided the digesters are not in the way of the new plant and, therefore, tearing them out should not be covered by the grant. The new plant has its own digesters. And the old ones have to be demolished to make room for a parking lot.

"I really don't understand their logic on this," said former assistant village manager Lee Fahrner, now a consultant on the project.

"It's standard procedure to leave the old plant running until the new plant is built. We could have gone ahead, torn the the digesters out, been reimbursed 55 percent, and then been fined $100,000 because we didn't have any place to store the sludge."

Fahrner said the village's engineering firm of Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout is trying to straighten out the situation.

The bulk of the plant is finished. However, a metering system has to be installed, roads have to be surfaced, a berm has to be constructed around the plant, and landscaping has to be completed.

Fahrner said the new plant has had no trouble handling the village's wastewater, "even with all the rain we've had lately." Infiltration of rain water into the sewer system has caused problems with the old plant.

That leaves Fahrner hopeful there will be plenty of additional capacity at the plant, which would allow most of the proposed developments in the village to be completed. He said the village will have a better idea of capacity once the metering system has been installed and data has been collected for a few months.

Village council also recently authorized a change order in the project calling for $5,000 additional electrical work. However, Fahrner said the village is still "well within" the contingency money allocated at the beginning.

Residents Sought To Help With Concerts

Concert in the park series co-chairs, H. K. Leonard, and Chamber of Commerce president Bill Nilan are seeking interested community members to get involved in the planning for 1989. It has been determined by the current membership that there will be at least as many concerts as last summer, but the high cost of sponsorship of these events, precludes the chamber from holding many more.

Leonard and Nilan hope there are musicians or entertainers in Chelsea who would have a genuine interest in helping to find musical groups which will appeal to a Chelsea audience. Also there is discussion at the committee meetings about looking into the possibility of constructing a permanent stage instead of having to rent equipment each week. The stage might take the shape of a gazebo or a structure appropriate to the community park.

Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, along with the Recreation Council, has sponsored the concerts. This year because of the increased costs, local businesses generously subsidized the over $7,000 it cost to present this summer entertainment series. The chamber would like to have its concert budget well established prior to the start of the concerts next June, to avoid the need to approach businesses after the fact.

Chelsea area residents or employees of local businesses would be a welcome addition to the concert committee and the chamber would be very pleased to hear from them. The chamber may be reached at 475-1145.

Pollution fighters: In cities around the world there's a growing appreciation for the role of trees as the guardians of fresh air. National Wildlife magazine reports that a healthy urban forest has awesome air scrubbing potential. Researchers estimate a single acre of sycamore trees could help capture 15 tons of pollutants a year.

Bulldogs Girls Clinch SEC Basketball Title With Wins Over Pirates, Saline

Chelsea Bulldogs clinched the Southeastern Conference basketball championship outright last week with victories over the Pinckney Pirates and Saline Hornets in the final league games of the season.

Chelsea was scheduled to play Manchester last night. They face Saline tomorrow night in the first round of the district tournament in Onsted.

"We were a little concerned going into the Pinckney game," said Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter.

"We didn't want to have a let down after the Tecumseh game and we wanted to make sure we weren't overconfident. The girls showed the intensity they had to and they were in the game the whole time. I have to give them all the credit."

Chelsea beat the Pirates in Pinckney, 45-33, after taking a 24-7 half-time lead, and 10-4 first quarter lead.

Pinckney cut the Bulldog lead to 11 early in the fourth quarter. However, their aggressive defense sent the Bulldogs to the line 12 times, where Chelsea was able to put the game away. Kelley Scott and Jenni Smith were each 6-6 from the line for the game, and Chelsea was 19-26 as a team.

"All year long, Pinckney has been a team that tries to play more physical basketball as the game goes on," Rosentreter said.

"We went to the line 14 times in the second quarter and 12 times in the fourth quarter. That made a big difference. It was important for us to keep our lead in double figures. It's all right if their crowd screams and hollers if we're up by 12. But if they cut the lead to eight or nine, their crowd can help get them back into the game."

Pinckney had trouble matching up against the taller Bulldogs early as Allison Brown, Heather Neibauer, and Jenni Smith combined for 10 points on inside shots in the first quarter. In fact, their dominance prevailed the entire game as Chelsea held a huge 37-21 rebound advantage.

The Pirates got their early baskets off steals on the press as their team speed beat the Bulldogs down court. However, a combination of good Chelsea defense and poor Pirate shooting held Pinckney to just 14 points through three quarters. They scored 19 in the final quarter as they hit three three-point shots.

Neibauer led Chelsea scorers with 17 points. Smith scored 12 points and Brown had eight. Scott, who played an almost flawless game at point guard, had six points. Laura Unterbrink scored two points on her only shot of the night.

Each team made 13 field goals. Chelsea was 13-34 and Pinckney hit 13-51. However, the Pirates were only 4-8 from the line.

"We didn't get to take a lot of shots because we were going to the line so often," Rosentreter said.

In the game that clinched the SEC title outright, Chelsea knocked off the Saline Hornets 68-40 last Friday at home.

The Bulldogs started out slowly, but put the game away in the second and third quarters when they outscored the Hornets 41-18.

"We were confident we would win the game, it was just a matter of how long it would take before we took control of the game," Rosentreter said.

"We were able to get the ball inside, and that was the difference in the game."

Nine points by Brown in the first quarter gave the Dogs an 11-7 lead at the end of the first quarter.

In the second quarter, everyone on the floor scored, except Scott, who was busy directing the offense. Neibauer led the 21-point surge with eight points, Smith had five, Flintoft scored four, and Scharme Petty, playing for Brown who had two fouls, also scored four.

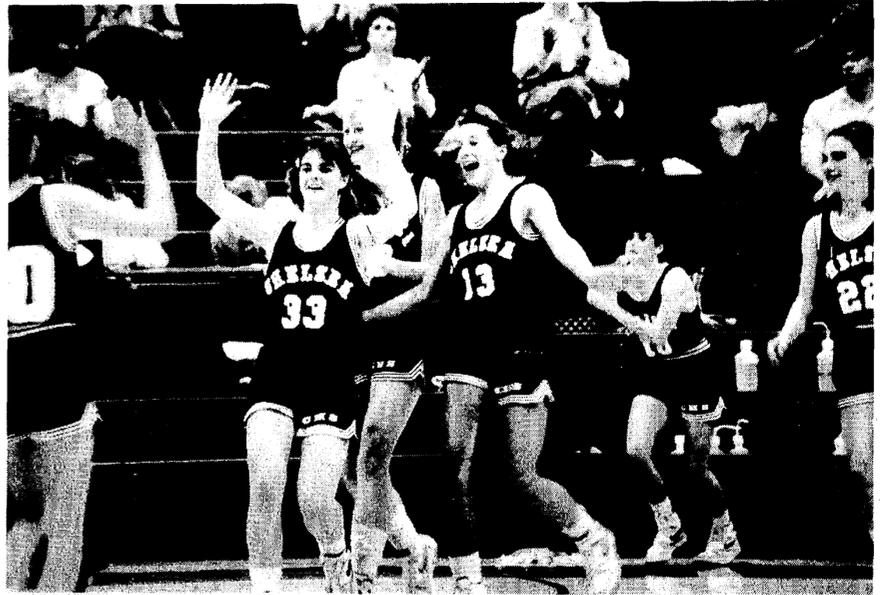

Chelsea had six steals in the second quarter, and most ended in lay-ups.

"It just seemed to happen all of a sudden," Rosentreter said.

"We were up by four points, then I looked up and we were leading by 19."

It was the same balanced attack in the third quarter that put the game away.

For the night, Brown led all scorers with 17 points as she hit eight field goals and was 1-1 from the line. Smith scored 13 and was 5-7 from the line. Neibauer and Flintoft each scored 10, Petty and Shannon Losey scored six each, Laura Unterbrink had four, and Scott scored two.

STARTERS EMPTY THE BENCH as the Bulldogs of the SEC title. They went on to defeat Saline on Friday to knock off the Pinckney Pirates last Tuesday for a share claim the championship outright.

JV Cagers Whallop Pinckney, Saline for Conference Title

Chelsea junior varsity basketball team won the Southeastern Conference basketball championship by smashing the Pinckney Pirates and Saline Hornets in the final games of the season last week.

Chelsea, 17-1, was scheduled to play Manchester last night.

Chelsea whipped the Pirates 76-14 on Tuesday at Pinckney, and the Hornets, 83-20, on Friday at home.

"We shot well and rebounded well in both games," said Chelsea coach Paul Terpstra.

"We were also able to establish our pressing defense early."

In Tuesday's game, Chelsea jumped out to a 19-4 first quarter lead and a 36-7 half-time advantage.

For the game, Chelsea was 31-74 from the field and 14-26 from the line. They also had 27 steals.

Christine Burg led the Dogs with 18 points, 12 steals, and nine rebounds. Colleen Scharphorn scored 16, Kristin Bohlender had 12, Mercedes Hammer had 10, Jennifer Petty scored seven, Jennifer Bobo and Kate Dilworth had six each, and Shawn Losey scored one point.

In Friday's match-up, Chelsea ran to a 41-10 half-time lead. The Dogs were 33-70 from the field and 17-32 from the line.

Scharphorn had the scoring honors with 18. Burg scored 16 and had 15 rebounds and nine steals. Bohlender had 15 points, Hammer scored 13, Petty had 10, Dilworth scored nine and Bobo had two points.

Chelsea had a 52-21 rebound advantage. Chelsea won the league with an 11-1 record. Dexter was second at 10-2.

Car vs. Deer Accidents Are Increasing Sharply

Upgrading the warning given Washtenaw county motorists by law enforcement officers, the newest advice is, "BEWARE THE DEER," as reports indicate "car versus deer" collisions are increasing in number. Approximately six to seven car-deer incidents are reported daily in the county, and many of the deer are large bucks.

As deer season approaches, the highway kill is already underway, and "vehicle kill" is leading the deer.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Chelsea Bulldogs went to Pinckney last Tuesday and grabbed the Southeastern Conference basketball title like a greedy baby grabs his favorite toy.

That's not meant to be uncomplimentary. The girls simply played as though the title was rightfully theirs, the way you want to see a championship basketball team play.

Chelsea played excellent team basketball in the first half and built a huge lead. The inside game of Allison Brown, Jenni Smith, and Heather Neibauer dominated the contest. Guard Kelley Scott played outstanding defense, made intelligent decisions throughout the game, and was 6-6 from the line.

Pinckney got more aggressive and physical in the second half, cut the lead, but were too far behind to make up the difference. Chelsea made a couple of key baskets down the stretch, and their free throw shooting was excellent.

As coach Rahn Rosentreter put it, the team had enough poise to handle a run by a good team. They didn't get rattled as the Pirates got excited and their fans got a little rowdy.

Rosentreter mentioned that a couple of people, including yours truly, said the girls seemed awfully subdued about winning a share of the title. In fact, they looked as though they weren't particularly enjoying themselves.

"They told me it's because they know they've got another challenge ahead of them and they don't want to start celebrating until those challenges are out of the way," Rosentreter said.

"A coach doesn't mind hearing that at all. However, they were under strict orders to smile all the way through the Saline game. They were told to have a good time if it killed them."

The big challenge for the Bulldogs in Friday's title-clinching game against Saline was to keep from getting too over-confident. The Bulldogs would have had to fall asleep to lose that game.

The first time Chelsea played the Hornets, several of the bench people scored more points than some of the starters. Shannon Losey was in double figures.

Chelsea heads into district tournament action tomorrow night in Onsted with as good a situation as possible. They open against the Hornets. The winner plays Dexter, who earned a bye, on Saturday. In the other bracket, Onsted and Tecumseh square off, and the winner meets Brooklyn Columbia Central in the semi-finals. Onsted and Tecumseh are two of the best teams in the tournament.

The championship game would be held on Tuesday, Nov. 22. Chelsea should reach the finals, unless the Dreadnaughts play their best game of the year, the Bulldogs play one of their worst games of the year, or one of the key Bulldogs is injured. Of course, any of those things could happen. But I like the Bulldogs' chances.

Chelsea headed into last night's game with Manchester with 11 straight victories and a 16-2 record.

Take away one bad half of play and the junior varsity cagers would probably have gone undefeated this year. They should have won last night to take their final record to 18-1.

JV coach Paul Terpstra deserves a lot of the credit for the success of this year's varsity team as he has always been a good teacher of the fundamentals.

However, a couple of people have mentioned this year that former varsity coach Jim Winter should also take a bow. Although his final varsity team suffered through a miserable season, his leadership helped get the talent in the basketball pipeline. As one person said, "when Jim left, the cupboard wasn't bare."

Any minute now, I'll have to take the office camera out into the parking lot, look into the back of a pick-up, and see the glassy eyes and limp tongue of another dead deer. Firearms season began yesterday.

State officials are predicting that more than 400,000 bucks and does will be shot by about 50 million hunters this season. About 200,000 of them will be shot within a 200-yard radius of Chelsea.

I have gathered some other facts and figures about deer hunting that you probably didn't know.

- 87.9 percent of the population has tried deer hunting at least once. An estimated 65 percent do it on a regular basis.
- Deer hunting is the greatest source of unexcused absences in the schools. The flu is second, and impending parental divorce is third.
- Deer hunting is the greatest source of loss in productivity in Michigan in the final quarter of the year.
- Sales of deer-hunting paraphernalia has reached an all-time high, and no end is in sight.
- Despite massive governmental efforts to control the deer supply, availability and purity is at an all-time high.
- Experimentation with deer hunting usually begins after trying out skills on rabbits, squirrels, and other "soft" animals.
- Vice-president elect Dan Quayle will be in charge of eradicating the deer population, thereby controlling the incidence of deer hunting. After Tuesday's election he said, "I have a special interest in this issue. Deer are starting to run wild on our golf courses, putting terrible divots in the greens. Pretty soon hunters will be in the sand traps. This has to stop. The only way to stop this problem is to halt supply. That means all-out war."
- Deer vigilantes are becoming a phenomenon. One vigilante recently told a congressional investigating committee that, "deer are destroying our crops, they're turning our kids into mindless gun-toting zombies, and it's becoming a hazard to go for a walk in the woods as you might get caught in crossfire. When the deer supply is plentiful, grown men do unusual things, like sit four in the front seat of a pick-up truck."

TOUGH DEFENSE by the Bulldogs helped them to Tuesday's game in Pinckney. Above, Scharme Petty (15) hold off the Pinckney Pirates in the fourth quarter of last covers the ball while Jenni Smith (13) handles the lane.

THESE FIVE "FRESHWOMEN" set two ninth grade records in relay events recently. They'll be competing tomorrow in the annual Chelsea Invitational at the Cameron Pool. The girls set records in the 200 medley and 400 freestyle relays. From left are Kelly Cross (both events), Jennifer Koch (200 medley), Erika Boughton (both events), Sara Nicola (both events), and Kristine Smith (400 freestyle).

Program Set On Sex, Drugs, AIDS

One of the topics of vital interest to all teen-aged young people is that of sex, drugs and AIDS. A program concerning this area of our life will be presented to our community young people, their parents and other interested people on Nov. 20 at 7 p.m. at St. Paul United Church of Christ on Old US-12 in Chelsea.

Speaking will be Cynthia Wrentmore, R.N., communicable disease co-ordinator for Washtenaw County Health Department. She also serves on the Wellness Network of Huron Valley AIDS Education and Support Board and recently spoke at Chelsea Community Hospital for a community forum. A chance for questions and discussion will be offered to teens and adults with additional resource people.

The public is encouraged to attend this important informative event. A free will offering will be accepted. Call Pat Stirling at St. Paul church for further information.

Deer vs. Car Accidents Rise

statistics by an impressive margin.

Insurance claims people are reporting an increasing number of claims, resulting from the car-deer collisions, with major damage to most vehicles, even in cases where the animal pranced off, unhurt.

Of course, all deer aren't so lucky as to proceed unscathed, and officials from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) confirm they are receiving an increasing number of requests for highway-killed deer permits.

Providing a serious road hazard to motorists, the deer have been evident in a great many locations throughout the county—and during many time frames, although the hours of dawn and dusk seem to be mentioned the most.

Thomas Edward Crisovan of Milan told deputies he was driving northbound on Saline-Milan Rd. near Judd Rd. about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 2, when a deer ran onto the road and he was unable to avoid striking the animal.

Mary Ann Pieske of Whitmore Lake told Deputy Steve Piatt, she was driving southbound on Nixon Rd., one-half mile from Warren Rd., about 6:20 p.m. Nov. 1, when a deer suddenly jumped out in front of her, and she had no time to stop.

Driving eastbound on Austin Rd., one-fourth mile from the intersection with Schill, about 8:50 p.m. Nov. 1, Dennis Charles Lenelin of Saline explained to Deputy Piatt, he struck a deer on the road at that location.

About 5 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 2, Dennis Robert Beaupre, 1711 N. Parker Rd., explained he was driving northbound on Zeeb Rd., just south of Jackson Rd., when a deer ran out and he hit it.

Lima Township Board Proceedings

Regular Meeting
 Nov. 7, 1988
 The regular meeting of the Lima Township Board was called to order at 8:00 p.m. on November 7 by Supervisor Bauer and opened with the Pledge to the Flag.
 Present were Supervisor Bauer,
 Clerk Bareis, Treasurer Messman, Trustees Heller and Trinkle, and several visitors.
 Zoning Inspector Burgess issued 2 permits and 21 citations.
 The treasurer's report was received.
 Correspondence was received from the Washtenaw County Road Commission regarding the action taken upon the presentation of a petition requesting paving of Fletcher Road.
 Reasons for not paving at this time were expense, re-routing the road and trees.
 Approved motion to release construction bond for Clear Cablevision.
 Motion approved to hire a consultant to provide input with regard to condo regulations at the recommendation of the Township Planning Commission, at a cost not to exceed $450.00.
 Approved motion to refer to the Zoning Commission a prospective zoning amendment to clarify and restate the definition of land, and scope and regulation, for public hearing.
 Approved motion to amend the elections budget not to exceed $300.00 from miscellaneous contingencies.
 Don Pennington of the Washtenaw County Planning Commission, retained as a consultant regarding the ground water recharge area in the Upland Hills Subdivision, addressed the problems and concerns regarding the proposed development. He stated that a one acre lot seemed to be a reasonable lot size in this development at this time. He stated the Washtenaw County Health Department will be looking for additional items due to the water recharge area in question. Mr. Pennington indicated that each lot would be examined by the Health Department. Mr. Pennington also stated even with all of the studies and research that have been done, there are still many unknowns with regard to ground water discharge areas.
 Approved the Cluster Development designation to the Upland Hills Subdivision.
 Approved the Preliminary Plat
 Plan for the Upland Hills Subdivision.
 Approved payment of bills as presented.
 Meeting adjourned at 9:55 p.m.
 Arlene Bareis, Clerk.

Rotarian Katie Chapman of 629 N. Main St. is receiving the donations made by local people, businesses and civic organizations. "It's gratifying that the response from our community has been enthusiastic," Katie said. "Businesses have been donating money for light bulbs so that their employees and customers will be honored, and people are remembering their departed and living loved ones."

The official tree lighting ceremony is scheduled to take place on Friday, Dec. 9, from 6 to 6:30 p.m. This will be the "kickoff" for the Chelsea Holiday Festival Lights Evening, which will include speakers and holiday caroling at the Tree of Lights, a candle walk to the downtown area, where entertainment and refreshments will be provided by the merchants, holiday sing-alongs, and much more. For more information about the Festival of Lights, please contact Ann Feeney at the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, 475-1145.

All contributions to the Tree of Lights will be donated to the Faith in Action Building Fund Drive and to Chelsea Rotary for various community projects.

Great American Smokeout Set For Thursday

The Great American Smokeout is Thursday, Nov. 17. This day is designated to challenge smokers to quit smoking for a day. If you are a smoker who wants to quit, here's what happens if you quit for a day:

—Within 12 hours after your last cigarette your body begins to heal itself.

—The level of carbon monoxide and nicotine in your system declines rapidly and your heart and lungs begin to repair the damage caused by cigarette smoke.

—Your sense of smell and taste improve.

—Your smoker's hack will become less frequent.

—Your digestive system will return to normal.

Feel the rewards of being a non-smoker, call 1-800-4-CANCER for a free booklet, "Clearing the Air."

Why do people quit smoking? Studies reveal that successful ex-smokers have usually tried to stop smoking several times and want to stop for health reasons above any other reason. To become a non-smoker a change in habits and lifestyle must become part of everyday living. This transition isn't easy and coping skills are needed when the urge to smoke strikes. The Cancer Information Service of Michigan has phone counselors who can provide information and support. Call 1-800-4-CANCER for a free booklet "Clearing the Air."

How Long Have You Been Suffering With The Same Painful Health Problem?

According to a recent booklet carried in Reader's Digest, Chiropractic has been successful in many cases where other health-care methods have failed.

Call for an appointment.

If you have a health problem, isn't it worthwhile to get a second opinion—to determine if you can be helped without drugs or surgery? Many illnesses are structural in nature, or so complex that they may not respond to traditional medical methods. In addition, many people find that they have adverse side-effects from medication.

Millions of Americans depend on their chiropractor as their family doctor. They utilize their chiropractor for treatment of a wide variety of health problems.

NIFTY FIFTIES DAY was held at North school last week to help first graders celebrate their first 50 days of school. School staff decided to get into the spirit of the day. At the end of the day, children watched tapes of "Leave it to Beaver," and got a 50's dance lesson from assistant superintendent Fred Mills, a pretty mean twister. At center is principal Bill Wescott. First grade teachers from left are Bev Peebles, Bernice Packard, D'Ann Gietzen, and Beth Vogel.

Youth Shoots Neighbor's Home With Paint Balls

A Chelsea youth admitted to pelting his neighbor's house with paint balls after the neighbor called police on Sunday, Nov. 13, according to Chelsea police.

A Dale St. resident discovered that his house was being hit by the paint balls, used popularly in a child's game, police said. Although he could not see who was shooting his home, he was able to follow the trajectory of the balls to a neighbor's home.

When police questioned the youth, he admitted to shooting the paint balls with a sling shot.

The youth apologized to the neighbor, and cleaned up the mess, police said.

WHO ? MAKES OUR LIFETIME ? GUARANTEE ON CAR REPAIRS POSSIBLE ?

RON SCHUYLER

KIM CARPENTER

MATT VILLEMURE

Because we offer the free Lifetime Service Guarantee on car repairs, make our jobs in service a little tougher. I have to make sure car repairs are done right the first time. Because if they're not, it's our problem, not yours.

Here's how the Lifetime Service Guarantee works. If you pay for any covered repair and it has to be done again, we fix it free. That's free parts and free labor. For as long as you own your Ford, Lincoln, Mercury, or Ford light truck.

The Lifetime Service Guarantee covers thousands of parts and repairs. And it doesn't matter how old your vehicle is, how many miles are on it, or even where you bought it. Add all this up and you've got the best car repair guarantee in America.

Ask us to see a copy of the Lifetime Service Guarantee. Then give us a chance to turn our guarantee into a lifetime reality.

As part of Ford Motor Company's commitment to your total satisfaction, we stand behind our repair work in writing with a free Lifetime Service Guarantee. And it's available only from participating Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers. No other car companies' dealers, foreign or domestic, offer this kind of security—nobody. Ask us to see a copy of the Lifetime Service Guarantee.

Farmers Cheer Passage of Tax Corrections Bill By Congress

The state's largest farm organization had high praise for the 100th Congress for passing the Technical Tax Corrections Bill in its final hours of business before adjournment. Al Almy, director of public affairs for the Michigan Farm Bureau, called passage of the bill, which included repeal of the excise tax on diesel fuel used off the highway and repeal of the "heifer tax," a victory for farmers across the nation.

Farmers were exempt from paying a 15.1¢ per gallon tax on diesel fuel for on-farm use for many years, but a provision in the 1987 budget law required collection of the tax on all diesel purchases. Farmers then had to keep records and file the necessary refund papers to get their money back.

"Effective Jan. 1, 1989, the tax-free purchase of diesel fuel for farming and other off-highway uses is restored. Tax-exempt diesel fuel must be purchased from a registered wholesale distributor," Almy said.

"The legislation provides for a one-time refund opportunity, with interest, for excise taxes paid by off-road users between April 1, 1988, and Jan. 1, 1989. The interest rate paid will be established by the Treasury Department."

Almy said the deadline for filing for the interest-bearing refund is July 1, 1989. Claims for tax refunds which have already been made under the quarterly refund procedure are not eligible for this one-time interest-bearing refund.

Repeal of the "heifer tax" means that cattle producers may now deduct production expenses the year they occur, rather than waiting to write them off against the income generated by the animals.

"Farmers here in Michigan and throughout the country made a major effort to communicate their concerns about the payment of the diesel fuel tax and the heifer tax, and it was very reassuring to see Congress respond in this positive manner," Almy said.

"Because the conference committee was having problems reaching agreement, we were very concerned that there would be no action on the bill before adjournment," he said.

"Our long, hard battle finally paid off and we consider it a major victory."

Local Voter Turnout Keeps Pace With 1984

Although lines were long at Sylvan Town Hall, fewer people voted in the township this year than in 1984.

Township clerk Mary Harris said 2,533 voters, or 68 percent of registered voters, went to the polls this year, compared to 70 percent four years ago.

However, in other areas, turnout was generally higher than in 1984.

In Dexter township, 1,794 voters went to the polls, or about 71 percent of the electorate. That's up a percent or two from 1984, according to clerk William Eisenbeiser.

Scio township had a turnout of 4,851, or 77 percent of registered voters, according to clerk Gay Konschuh.

In Lima township, 1,229 voters, or 76 percent of the registered electorate, voted. Election co-ordinator Betty Robbins said that turnout was the highest she could remember in several elections, including 1984.

Webster township reported a turnout of 1,494 voters, or 67 percent. That's down from 70 percent in 1984.

Totals were not immediately available for other area townships.

A round-up of races of local interest follows. Vote totals are unofficial.

Dr. Henry Schoch, associate professor of internal medicine at the University of Michigan and retiree of Ann Arbor Veteran's Hospital, was given the Hardee Bethea Award Friday, Oct. 28 for his contributions to the recovering community of chemical dependence. This prestigious award is presented annually by alumni of Kresge House, Chelsea Community Hospital's inpatient substance abuse recovery program.

Dr. Costas Kleanthous, medical director for Chelsea Community Hospital's substance abuse program, nominated Schoch for the award. "I respect him (Schoch) very much," said Kleanthous. "He is a firm believer in the disease concept. He is trying to help with the disease." Kleanthous expanded, "He is a firm believer in (self-help programs) and is a respected member of (those programs)." Kleanthous quipped that within those circles Schoch is known affectionately as "The Doctor."

Ron Demkowski, director of Chelsea Community Hospital's substance abuse program, noted that Dr. Schoch is a valued, long-time member of the program's advisory board having served several times as president and is on the steering committee for the self-help groups associated with Chelsea Community Hospital.

Barry Kistner, director of the Washtenaw Council on Alcoholism, reports that Schoch is an active member and has assisted in their men's therapy group.

THE CHELSEA DEPOT Jackson Street (3)

Chelsea Depot has recently been recognized as both a Michigan and National Historic Site. It has been carefully restored to an updated condition. This depot was built in 1880 by the Michigan Central Railroad Co., in the classic Victorian style with an excess of gingerbread added.

The depot's spaciousness and new warmth once again welcomes the bustle of crowds through its doors, this time to view a bright interior filled with a display of children's toys and furniture from the early 1900's. A large tree decorated to match the era stands in the center of the museum. Girl Scout Troops have hand-crafted the ornaments and garlands.

On December 11, 1985 it was purchased by the Chelsea Depot Association and today it is a pleasant resting place on your Christmas walk.

"For Christmas time—dear Christmas is the happiest time of the year."

MARY LOUISE FISCHBACH 302 Garfield (4)

Christmas has always been a special time in the Fischbach household, especially this year in their new old home (110 years). The many collectibles and treasures have found a place in this cozy country setting.

The ornaments displayed are "hand-me-downs" from parents and grandparents. Others are gifts from friends and some are hand-made ornaments from brightly colored calico. These help make Christmas very precious to the family. Samplings of the Fischbach Scandinavian heritage and rich traditions are found in the varied foods, baked goods, and in the many wooden ornaments. All this makes the holiday season a warm, cozy and cheerful atmosphere when the family comes together at Christmas time.

"Of all the seasons in the year Christmas is the coziest."
