THE SYLVAN building on Main St. as it looked last winter before renovation activities began, above, and as it looks today, below. After months of work on the facade, the building was unveiled to the public last week-end. Developers John and Anne Daniels have rented to tenants ranging from a gift shop to a photo studio. Some businesses have moved in, while others will this spring. This is the third major renovation project to be completed downtown in the last two years. The building was once the Sylvan Hotel, which burned several years ago.

Village Halts Mall Project Until Drain Question Settled

Village Mall developer Mike Kennedy has been told by village government that he will not be issued more building permits until he can come up with a way to handle drainage problems at the site.

Kennedy has received site plan approval from the village for the 43,000-square-foot mall next to Polly's Market. He has received permits for grading and foundation work only.

However, two weeks ago Chelsea Shopping Center developer Rene Papo had a pond filled in next to the site. That pond, which handles run-off from Polly's, Great Lakes Bancorp, and areas south, would also have handled run-off from the mall.

Zoning Inspector Rosemary Harook told Kennedy at the Feb. 7 council meeting that the action was taken on the advice of village attorney Peter Flintoft "to protect the village."

"We weren't too happy about doing it," said village president Jerry Satterthwaite.

"We felt we had to in case there wasn't a short-term solution. You're the one who was damaged and there's nothing we can do about it."

In order to continue the project, Kennedy will have to show the village planning commission that he has another way of dealing with the run-off. He's on the agenda for the commission's Feb. 28 meeting.

Kennedy said Friday that he has a solution which will be proposed to the commission. He plans to drain the water under M-52 into the recently approved Wilkinson St. drain. To ac-

A DINNER TO BENEFIT St. Louis Center was held at Chelsea Community Hospital last Saturday. The hospital donated their facilities and the food for 110 people. Dinners were sold for $100 per plate. In addition, there was a silent auction afterward. One of the items sold was a rifle

Robert Stalker Slated To Begin March 6 as New Village Manager

Tecumseh assistant city manager Robert Stalker III was officially hired as the new Chelsea Village Manager at last Tuesday night's village council meeting. Council unanimously approved a three-year contract calling for a salary of $37,500 for the first year.

"I feel real positive about the support of council," Stalker said Friday.

"I think they are comfortable about the appointment which should help build a good working relationship in the future."

Stalker, 27, will assume his duties on Monday, March 6.

"This is a new thing for all of us," said village president Jerry Satterthwaite.

"It's something to look forward to, a fresh idea. It's also a sad time to see the present administrator leaving because he has done a good job for the village."

Village manager Fritz Weber is retiring due to health reasons. He has been manager for nearly 20 years, and has been the village's only manager.

The new manager was formally introduced to the public at last Tuesday's meeting. Although the public was offered the opportunity to ask questions, none were put to him directly.

However, several people were concerned about a clause in Stalker's contract dealing with the use of a village automobile for personal business.

Once Stalker moves into the village, or the village limits, he will have the personal use of a village automobile, a fringe benefit Weber apparently has but never uses because he lives so close to downtown.

"The car was always available for Fritz," Satterthwaite said.

At least one person was concerned that Stalker might take a village car "up north," or on some other vacation.

"I think there's going to be reasonable use of the car," Boham said.

Boham added that the auto benefit was a "very small part" of Stalker's over-all compensation package. He said other department heads have the same benefit.

Zoning Inspector Rosemary Harook, speaking on behalf of herself as a village taxpayer, said she called managers in Saline, Ann Arbor, Tecumseh, Dexter, and Adrian, and found that none of them have the personal use of an auto as a fringe benefit. However, she said the Saline manager gets a $275 per month gasoline allowance.

Boham shot back, "did you ask about salary, did you ask about insurance, did you ask about vacation?"

Harook said she was only concerned about the personal use of the car.

Satterthwaite said Stalker would have the use of a "suitable car," not necessarily a new car.

Stalker, in his only comment all night, said that nation-wide about 45 percent of managers have the personal use of a governmental vehicle. "It's not uncommon," he said.

According to the contract, Stalker is to move into the village within a year. If suitable housing cannot be found, he can rent temporarily within the school district boundaries.

"(The council) felt strongly about him living in the village," Satterthwaite said.

Satterthwaite was asked if the village is going to hire a new assistant manager.

"We haven't crossed that yet," Satterthwaite said.

"Some of it is going to be (Stalker's) decision. We have to take a look at what direction we're going to go with it. We very well may look for an engineer."

The timing of the hiring of Stalker may create one problem, however. He was hired as manager, and Weber is already the manager. In addition, according to reports, Weber does not want to retire until June.

Satterthwaite said the council's personnel committee is scheduled to meet about the problem this week.

"Council's going to have to decide that one," Satterthwaite said.

Village, Townships To Meet About Landfill Study Costs

Village council has scheduled a work session with township officials tomorrow, Feb. 23 concerning the village landfill on Werker Rd.

Officials from Lima, Lyndon, Dexter, and Sylvan townships are likely to attend.

Discussion is expected to center on the landfill monitoring and clean-up studies, and how each township might participate in those costs, which are expected to be considerable.

Lima, Lyndon, Dexter, and Sylvan townships, along with the village, have been the primary users of the landfill. Michigan Department of Natural Resources has accused the landfill of polluting the groundwater and has forced the village to determine the extent of the pollution.

In a related matter, village officials are upset that Ann Arbor has been able to obtain a new landfill operating license even though their pollution problem is likely to be a lot worse than Chelsea's and even though Ann Arbor has conducted no hydrogeological testing and has not come up with a comprehensive program to monitor its new cell, as Chelsea was required to do.

DNR has, on several occasions, denied the village's application for a new license because its monitoring procedures have not been officially approved by DNR. The village is working on a bromide tracing system that is expected to be eventually approved by DNR.

The Ann Arbor and Chelsea landfills were in an almost identical situation. The DNR had identified both as groundwater polluters. Usable space in each landfill was almost gone. And each landfill has a new cell just waiting to be filled upon issuance of a new license.

"I think DNR realizes it has opened a can of worms," said Chelsea landfill operator Cecil Clouse at last Tuesday's village council meeting.

"We could have been issued a license a long time ago if they had used the same criteria."

However, Clouse said Ann Arbor, who's new cell is no bigger than Chelsea's, is being forced to install about nine new monitoring wells and will have to test samples far more often than Chelsea will, which will cost Ann Arbor about $40,000 more annually.

"Our consultant told us we should keep working on the bromide tracing system because it will be a lot cheaper," Clouse said.

Village Votes To End Participation In Solid Waste Surcharge Program

Village of Chelsea has opted out of Washtenaw county's solid waste disposal surcharge plan.

The village has paid $14,815 into the program from a 50 cent tipping fee per cubic yard on garbage brought to the landfill.

Money from the program was to be used for setting up the county-wide recycling program. In addition, a study was to be conducted on how the county might handle its solid waste program in the years ahead. That information, in particular, would be useful to Chelsea, one of the few municipalities in the area that operates a landfill.

According to landfill operator Cecil Clouse, the village was promised the report by Feb. 1. In addition, the village was promised quarterly reports about the program, which it never received, although it did receive an expense report.

So far, the village has received a $4,400 recycling container.

"I don't see what we've gotten out of the program," said village president Jerry Satterthwaite.

Mike Horgan, the county's waste management co-ordinator, said Friday that the report was "nearing its final stages of completion." He said the village should have the report by April.

Horgan said the report would address four major issues: programs and facilities that need to be in place; inter-governmental co-operation; educational efforts; and recycling incentives and regulations.

By contract, the village must give 90 days written notice to get out of the surcharge program.

CHELSEA AREA GIRL SCOUTS sold more than 20,000 boxes of cookies this winter, and the shipment arrived downtown Monday morning at Longworth Plating. Virtually all the cookies in the photo were sold to people in the Chelsea School District. Stacy Ersten of troop 420 was on hand to help sort them all out.

Blanchard To Support Unclaimed
Deposit Petition

Gov. James J. Blanchard, who two years ago asked the Legislature to pass a law seizing a portion of the unclaimed beverage container deposits, will help lead a petition drive for a voter initiated law channeling 80 percent of those deposits for waste cleanup.

The petition drive is to be launched in March by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, the Prime Driving Force behind the original initiated deposit law.

Blanchard's support of the drive was included in his State of the State message.

A published report also said the governor will propose to revise teaching approaches in public schools and give exceptional schools cash awards. A key Senate Republican said, however, much of the expected package is not relevant to most schools without significant new money through finance reform.

The MUCC proposal would put the unclaimed deposits escheated to the state into a trust fund, that would eventually total $500 million, with the $50 million in annual earnings targeted for solid, hazardous and toxic waste disposal and cleanup programs.

The group estimates $25-$30 million a year in container deposits are not refunded. The 20 percent not taken by the state would go to retailers who redeem more containers than they sell.

MUCC executive director Tom Washington acknowledged the proposed initiated law has been discussed with the administration, adding he "would hope (the governor) would support it."

Blanchard's 1987 legislative proposal would have designated $9.5 million of seized deposits for Great Lakes protection, parks and environmental permit programs.

Washington, who said details of the proposal amending the deposit law are still being worked out, said use of the money for waste programs of all sorts is a "natural tie-in" to the deposit law idea. And, he noted it will take billions of dollars to clean up toxic wastes.

A bond program passed by voters in November is also to be used for toxic wastes cleanup. The governor is expected to propose eliminating the $14 million a year in general fund money now used for that purpose as bond proceeds are utilized.

The DNR has estimated it would take over $1 billion to clean up identified sites.

Washington said his estimate of the money involved is based on an accounting system in New York, where the deposit is half Michigan's 10 cents, which indicates $45 million a year is unclaimed due to breakage, disposal or other factors.

The Michigan Beer and Wine Wholesalers Association, which to date has successfully opposed efforts by the state to claim the non-refunded deposits, says most estimates of the money involved is inflated, saying $12 million at most is at stake.

To reach the ballot, the petition drive needs to collect 191,726 valid signatures within a 180-day period.

Washington said he hopes 250,000 can be collected, coinciding the end of the drive with the State Fair in August.

Michigan '88 Highway Travel
Sets Record

Motorists drove about 78.7 billion miles on Michigan's network of highways, roads and streets, the Department of Transportation announced. The total is an increase of nearly 4 percent from the previous record of 75.7 billion set in 1987.

Transportation Director James P. Pitz attributed the increase to a good economy and steady growth in tourism and recreation. "There were increases in all areas of the state," he said. "Low gas prices encouraged people to travel, and so did the hot summer. But we also have noted travel increases in other seasons of the year."

The department calculates travel miles by keeping tabs on traffic at some 100 permanent traffic counters statewide and at more than 3,000 sites where counts are made periodically. Crossings at the Mackinac Bridge, considered a good travel barometer by the department, climbed 6.5 percent in 1988 to a record 3.23 million.

County and local road authorities also contribute traffic count data for the final travel figures.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Tobacco and alcohol are sold open everywhere, but companies that make em can't run ads on TV or radio. Beer and wine ads that have the same drug in em as whiskey are all over the tube, but people in the ads can't be seen drinking em. Television would have to shut down sports if it weren't for beer ads, and cigarettes are pushed on billboards, newspapers and told out, pop up sections in slick magazines.

One arm of Government does research that shows tobacco is killing us, and another arm shows farmers how to grow tobacco and supports prices. We make and import fireworks, but nearly all states have laws again firing em. We even got Government helping a North Carolina farmer that wants to grow organic tobacco because he thinks all that's wrong with tobacco is the chemicals put on it.

Like I allus say, I jest report em, I don't figger em out. But I could see where Bug Hookum was coming from Saturday night at the country store.

He told the fellers he was having trouble with this Kadoffie poison gas business. How come, he wanted to know, this country can make all flavors of chemical death and tell the world we got em ready to use, and then tell the world Kadoffie can't make em because he's crazy and would actual use em if he had em?

If we believe what we're saying, Bug allowed, we're telling the Russians and the rest of the bad guys we got chemical weapons we'd never use because we're good guys. We're saying we don't buy that part about where good guys finish, so the bad guys can go ahead and git in the first big lick. Then we turn right around, Bug went on, and say we need to go ahead with our star wars weapons because the only reason the Russians are agin em is that they ain't got em, and we ain't about to fall fer that old trick.

It ain't no wonder, Bug allowed, that President Bush said his Administration has started a "100 day offensive," but it's got no plans fer it. That's a way of saying he's jumped in the saddle and he's galloping off in all directions, which is just about par for the course we play in Washington.

The fellers let Bug wind down until Zeke Grubb took note that rules are hard to follow when everybody in the game makes up their own. Them West German businessmen didn't see no more harm in doing business with Kadoffie than the Reagan Administration saw in doing business with the Eyetollia. After all, Zeke said, business is business and politics ain't beanbag.

General speaking, Clem Webster noted, confusion always leads to trouble. He had saw recent where a waiter in a Norwalk, Conn. eating place stabbed two customers because he thought they didn't tip enough. The trouble with tipping, Clem said, is that nobody knows what's right because the system is wrong. The only winners are people that hire people and expect em to live off tips, was Clem's words.

Clem had saw where a outfit in Carnegie, Pa. is offering "tip table cards" fer 50 cent each that tell you how much to tip fer certain good and average services, like shoe shining and babysitting. The printer says knowing what's expected avoids being embarrassed or having a confrontation.

Fer his money, Clem said, he wants a card that deals with the "tip included" insult on the bill. That, he said, is a call to arms.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

High protein for high fliers: During the winter months many people put out an extra helping of birdfeed to fatten our feathered friends. An excellent cold weather bird feed is suet, a dense meat fat. More birds seek out suet in winter than any other type of food. But birds need heat-producing protein as well. According to National Wildlife magazine, you can "beef up" your suet cakes by adding high-protein items like canned dog food,

Mothers' Center Support Group Being Organized

Plans are in progress to organize a Mothers' Center in Chelsea. There are currently 60 centers located in 28 states across the country. They are part of a broad new movement of parent-initiated support groups.

The transition into parenting may be the biggest "occupational shift" that most women experience and self-doubt seems an inevitable spin-off. A new mother's isolation worsens fears and guilt which may lead to further family problems.

Throughout the last decade, experts have expressed concern that today's new mothers are increasingly isolated in their homes with their children, minus the support of other mothers, many due to job demands.

The Mothers' Center is designed to take the place of the vanishing extended family, a luxury of support and education which benefited former generations.

The common problems of loneliness and self-doubt are confronted forthrightly in two-hour discussion groups headed by peer facilitators, whose goal is to create an open, supportive, and non-judgmental environment.

The center in Chelsea will be called Mother Sense and the first 10-week cycle will begin Wednesday, March 1 from 7 to 9 p.m.

The first cycle will be centered around the theme of "Exploring our roles in motherhood." There will also be time each week for sharing individual ideas and concerns.

Cost for the 10-week group will be $10. Mother Sense also hopes to act as an advocate for mothers' needs in the Chelsea area.

Future topics will depend on group interest and may include: motherhood and self-esteem, expectation vs. reality, goal setting, and the good enough mother.

If you're interested in getting and giving support, meeting new people, having adult discussions, making new friends and having a night out, please call for more information and registration, Barb, 475-2713, or Heather, 426-5017.

Heart Healthy Desserts Tasted By Extension Group

Thirteen members of Lima Center Extension bunched up to face windy snow for their monthly meeting Feb. 8, 10:30 a.m. at the home of Bertha Molsinger. Mary Ann Burgess helped as co-hostess.

Janet McCalla started the lesson on "Heart Healthy Desserts" by teaching how to adapt recipes without major flavor changes. Samples of six different flavored breads and bar cakes were sampled while she discussed the fat, salt, sugar and fiber contents.

After a losing battle with her car on slippery roads, Fran Coy joined the group and continued the study lesson with a detailed explanation of cholesterol and how we should be thoroughly checked and studied.

When discussing too much salt intake, Lois Bradbury brought it to the group's attention that too little salt can also be a serious problem, especially when forcing fluids!

Margaret Sias called the business meeting to order after a pot-luck luncheon. The group's County Council delegate reported that the extension office is short of secretarial help and money to print and/or mail for the County Council or county groups. The Tri-County College Day is April 6 in Ida. "Savor Michigan" is the county lesson to be taught March 15 at 9:30 a.m. The Spring rally place and date is still in the making.

March 8, at 10:30 a.m. is the meeting on "Australia" at Fran Coy's. All members are to bring an Australian dish for lunch.

WILLIAM GRANT, director of the state's prison camp program, was the master of ceremonies for the second annual dinner and silent auction to benefit St. Louis Center last Saturday night. Chelsea Community Hospital donated the meal and facilities for the event, which organizers hope raised more than last year's $13,000.

There has been a significant closing of the gap between the educational level of white and black women workers, according to "Black Women in the Labor Force," a fact sheet from the Labor Department's Women's Bureau. The median years of schooling of black women workers was 12.6 years in 1983. The difference of 0.2 years that now exists between black and white women workers is down from 1.8 years in 1962, an achievement made in about a generation.

The chorus was a voluntary group of men from all walks of life who liked to sing. Their concerts, on occasion, filled Hill Auditorium. No longer active, they were a regular part of the local musical scene for many years.

After 35 Years, Century Plant Ready To Bloom

After what has seemed to be a hundred years, but has really only been about 35, the University of Michigan Matthaei Botanical Gardens Century Plant, Agave americana, is finally ready to flower. Originally, the Century Plant was believed to bloom every 100 years. In fact, the plant may flower after 10-40 years depending on the species.

When the flower stalk was first noticed in December, it was growing at a rate of two feet per week. When fully mature, the flower stalk could reach 35 feet, 10 feet higher than the greenhouse it is growing in. Plans are being made now to train the stalk to grow horizontally if this should happen.

The Agave americana is expected to begin blooming in March. There will continue to flower for months. There is one sad note about this exciting event, however. After the clusters of fragrant white or yellow blossoms have finished, the mother plant will die. Fortunately, there are several offshoots growing at the base, one of which will be selected to take its place.

To get to the Matthaei Botanical Gardens from the Detroit area take I-94 west to US-23 North and exit on Plymouth Rd. Turn right, take Plymouth Rd. east one mile to Dixboro Rd. Turn right. The Botanical Gardens is 1/4 mile on the left side of Dixboro Rd.

Nesting with big birds: When snowy owls fly south for the winter, they head for the open tundra back home. Apparently, a big-city airport fills the bill, because more snowy owls congregate at Boston's Logan airport than any other spot in Massachusetts. According to International Wildlife magazine more than 100 of the birds have been identified and tagged since the early 1980's. The airport grounds offer the birds an ample diet of rodents and small birds and the owls provide a valuable service by keeping flocks of birds off the runways.

COLORFUL ORIENTAL KITES were on display in the North school media center last week as part of the Chinese new year celebration. While media center specialist Barb Locks holds the kite, Genny Humenay tries a little Chinese rice while classmate Nikki Lane looks on.

DAR Good Citizen Awards Made for High School Students

Two area high school seniors have been selected by their respective schools to receive Good Citizen Awards from the Sarah Caswell Angell Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The awards will be presented at a ceremony to be held at the Gerald R. Ford Presidential Library in Ann Arbor at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 18. Professor Harm Buring from the University of Michigan Aeronautics School will provide a presentation titled "Update from Space."

Students selected are Anna Flintoft of Chelsea High School and Christopher Meloche of Dexter High School.

Flintoft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Flintoft, is secretary of the Chelsea High School National Honor Society. She is captain of the color guard and vice-president of the high school band. Miss Flintoft is an accomplished musician and plays both the French horn and piano. She received a 1 rating in the District Solo and Ensemble competition and the State Solo and Ensemble competition in her freshman, sophomore, and junior years. She is a French horn teacher, plays in the high school orchestra, and is an accompanist of her church's Children's Choir. She has also participated in the Michigan Youth Symphony and the Michigan Youth Arts Festival. She has been treasurer of her church's Youth Group and is presently secretary. She has been an academic letter winner in her sophomore and junior years. Miss Flintoft will attend college in the fall in a general liberal arts program.

Meloche, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Meloche, is president of the Dexter High School National Honor Society. For the last three years, he has competed in the National Science Olympiad at the regional level and has won awards in orienteering. He is also captain of the Quiz Bowl team and finished fourth in Michigan in the American Legion National High School Oratorical Contest in 1987. Meloche plays the French horn in the Dexter High School symphonic band and has had major roles in school musicals over the last several years. He is an Eagle Scout and a junior assistant scoutmaster in his troop. He holds varsity letters in cross country, wrestling, and track. He also serves as an acolyte in St. James Episcopal church in Dexter. Meloche plans to attend college to pursue a career in studying natural relationships.

Because our youth hold the future in their hands, the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, established a Good Citizens Contest in high schools in 1934 to recognize and encourage outstanding young people in the pursuit of high ideals. The DAR Good Citizens Contest is open to boys and girls in the senior classes of accredited public and private high schools in good standing with the State Board of Education. The student selected as the school's "DAR Good Citizen" must have the qualities of leadership—which includes personality; self-control, ability to assume responsibility; dependability—which includes truthfulness, loyalty, punctuality; service—which includes cooperation, courtesy, consideration of others; patriotism—which includes unselfish interest in family, school, community, and nation, to an outstanding degree. The faculty selects three seniors having these qualifications and from the three, the senior class selects one to be the school's "DAR Good Citizen."

All award recipients may enter competition for the DAR of Michigan Good Citizen Award, to be presented in April in East Lansing. The Michigan Good Citizen Award is based on a written examination and essay submitted by the local Good Citizens.

Village Ops Out

However, the action will not end the village's participation in the recycling program.

In a related matter, Clouse told council that the recycling program, so far, has not made much of a dent in the village's waste stream.

"When Bob's Hauling brings the trash from the village, we still see just as much newspaper and bottles as we did before," Clouse said.

"I'd be surprised if as many as five to 10 percent of village residents are putting much effort into it."

Clouse surmised that most of the newspaper that ends up in the recycling bins is coming from outside the village.

High School Will Present 'Oklahoma' on March 2-3-4

On Nov. 17 the cast for this year's high school musical "Oklahoma" was selected. Directed by Doug Beaumont, music director June Warren, and assisted by student director Chris Walters, "Oklahoma" will be presented on March 2, 3, 4.

"Oklahoma" has such musical number favorites as, "Oklahoma," "I Can't Say No," "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning," and "Surrey With the Fringe on Top." All the musical numbers will be directed by orchestra director Jed Fritzmeier and members of the high school orchestra.

"God planted fear in the soul as truly as He planted hope or courage. It is a kind of bell or gong which rings the mind into action on the approach of danger. It is the soul's signal for rallying."
—Henry Ward Beecher

Fear is seldom thought of as an asset. We sometimes associate fear with contemptible, cowardly people.

Kept within bounds, fear can be useful, as Beecher suggests. We have all known fear to some degree and, while we may not be proud of being afraid, it is nothing to be ashamed of, either. It sometimes provokes us to take precautionary steps which we otherwise fail to do.

When death occurs, the first person to contact should be your funeral director. He can advise you and actually handle many of the necessary details for you.

Merchandise Given for Monte Carlo Auction

More than $1,600 in prizes donated by Chelsea business people went to lucky winners in a midnight auction at the American Legion Winter Carnival. The bidding followed four hours of action Saturday night at Monte Carlo gambling tables. Members of the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club, along with Legionnaires served as dealers.

Monte Carlo play money was used by the gamblers for bidding in the spirited auction. All players began with $5 million. At the end of play, some were broke but a large number had tens of millions. Pearl Fouty, who had amassed $470 million by midnight, won gifts including a limousine ride featuring champagne for the passengers.

All of the gifts were contributed by merchants and business people as the result of efforts by just three rod and gunners: Tom Swift, Rick Monier and Dave Stoll. Donors and their gifts to the festive affair were:

compish that he'll have to install a lift station. He says he already has permission from the Michigan Department of Transportation.

"At least it'll keep Papo off my back."

Kennedy said he hopes he never has to resort to the lift-station plan. That would hinge on the final approval of the Pierce Lake drain, which Papo has challenged. However, county engineers are working on a plan they hope Papo will approve so the whole matter never has to go to court.

Harook said Kennedy would be issued a zoning compliance permit once the planning commission approves Kennedy's drainage solution and he pays sewer and water tap-in fees.

PORCELAIN VENEERS-AN ESTHETIC BREAKTHROUGH

Q: I've heard good things lately about porcelain veneers being used instead of crowns. How is the veneer held in place compared to a regular crown?

A: Porcelain veneers are an exciting development in esthetic dentistry. For the most part, porcelain veneers are used to improve the color and/or the shape of a person's front teeth when those teeth are otherwise healthy. Crowns are still the treatment of choice for badly decayed or broken down teeth that require the strength and support that a full crown provides.

Porcelain veneers are similar to bonding with composites and, in fact, they use much of the same technology. Usually a small amount of enamel is removed by the dentist on the front surface of the tooth which will receive the veneer. The enamel on front teeth ranges in thickness from 1-3 millimeters but only about 1/2 millimeter is removed to make room for the porcelain veneer. This small amount of tooth reduction does not require any anesthesia in most cases. A model is made of the prepared teeth and a thin veneer of porcelain is created in the laboratory to form the proper shape and shade. At a second appointment the porcelain veneer is "bonded" in place on the tooth using a very thin layer of composite resin material.

The advantages of porcelain veneers versus conventional bonding with composite alone is that the finished product has a higher shine and a more lifelike appearance. Unlike composite resin the porcelain veneer is almost impossible to stain and it resists chipping. It's true that porcelain veneers are more expensive than bonding but the longer lasting results are worthwhile. Due to wear and discoloration many bonded teeth have to be redone within 3 to 5 years. Early indications are that porcelain veneers stay in service much longer. Veneers are less expensive and much more conservative than full crowns which require 1 1/2-2 millimeters of tooth reduction instead of only 1/2 millimeter.

If you are concerned about poorly shaped or discolored front teeth then porcelain veneers might be right for you!

Milk Production Boost May Drop Consumer Prices

By next year farmers could be using a natural hormone that could boost milk production up to 25 percent per cow, according to Kevin Kirk, dairy specialist with Michigan Farm Bureau.

Scientists have found a way to add more bovine somatotropin, or BST, into a cow's body to improve production. BST is a protein in the pituitary gland of cattle that can now be made from genetically engineered bacteria.

"The recent controversy over use of hormones in beef cattle could make some farmers shy about using BST," Kirk says. "However, there is no risk to drinking milk produced from cows receiving BST since it is naturally in the cow's body anyway and not in the milk."

There would be little if any increase of BST in the milk, and even if there is, humans would break it down just like any other protein, he says. "Also, BST is specific to bovine animals and doesn't have any effect on other animals, including humans."

In other dairy news, Kirk says that based on a recent drop in wholesale cheese prices, the price of a gallon of milk could drop as much as 9 cents a gallon before May.

"Whether or not retail milk and cheese prices respond to the drop in producer prices remains to be seen," he says. "Some processors and retailers may choose to increase their margin instead of dropping prices. That doesn't necessarily mean more profit for retailers, since increased margin may mean reducing losses on milk, which is often sold at a reduced price to draw customers into the store."

AREA RESIDENT WILLIAM BURKEL talked to students in the Enrichment Triad Program at North and South schools on Friday and Monday about the human body. His talk, designed for youngsters with an interest in the subject, was entitled "Art? Architecture? Or is it Anatomy? Fascinating Facts About the Human Body." Above, student have a chance to look through a microscope under Burkel's direction. He also had several other props on hand, including bones.

The first American to enter the Olympic Pentathlon was George Patton, later, General Patton.

Burmeisters Receive Conservation Award

Leonard and James Burmeister, Saline, were presented the "Walter Wolfgang Memorial" Conservation Farmer of the Year Award for 1988 at the 40th annual meeting of the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District, Wednesday, Feb. 1, at the Freedom Town Hall, Freedom township.

The "Wolfgang Memorial" Award is presented to outstanding conservation farmers. The Burmeisters were recognized for their use of no-till, animal waste management and their good land stewardship ethics.

Sixty-one people in attendance at the meeting heard reports on Soil Conservation District activities: the 1985 Farm Bill from Gary Rinckenberger, Soil Conservation Service, District Conservationist; ASOS program from Susan Reid, county executive director, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service; the Pheasants Forever wildlife organization programs for 1988 from Steve Schneider, Pheasants Forever Washtenaw County Chapter; and introduction of Joanne Symons, conservation educator at Saline High School.

Two district directors were elected to three-year terms, with 43 votes cast. William Fishbeck, Superior township and Dennis Heuhl, Freedom township were re-elected.

Featured speaker for the annual meeting was Dr. Ted Loudon, from the MSU Agricultural Engineering Department. Dr. Loudon's topic was Agriculture and Groundwater Quality. A video was presented which outlined the topic and what farmers can do to reduce the potential for groundwater contamination from their use of fertilizers and pesticides. Dr. Loudon's comments were very enlightening and got many people thinking about this issue.

Library, Historical Center Plans Grand Opening

Formal dedication ceremonies for the new Michigan Library and Historical Center, located at 717 W. Allegan St. in downtown Lansing, are scheduled for Tuesday, March 7 at 12 noon in the center courtyard.

Legislative and state government executive branch leaders plus other officials will be on hand for the grand opening celebration. High point will be a fly-by with historic airplanes and other aircraft. Immediately following the ceremony will be a program of tours, performances by special entertainers from across Michigan and demonstrations for the public.

Two blocks long, the $43-million Center houses the Library of Michigan, Michigan Historical Museum, State Archives of Michigan and Office of the Great Seal. It has 312,000 square feet of space and has been under construction for three years. Copper, limestone, granite and white oak building materials were used extensively in the building, designed for at least 100 years of use. A glass-enclosed rotunda surrounds a Michigan white pine tree, with five-story-high atriums and a 260-seat Forum auditorium as other features.

Special events are planned the entire week of March 6-10 in honor of the Center's official opening. Monday, March 6 has been set aside as Media Day, for members of the press and broadcast industry to tour the new facility and talk with Library and Museum officials. At 6 p.m. that evening, tours and a social hour will lead off a black tie fund-raising Dedication Banquet.

On Wednesday, March 8, the Library of Michigan will host Library Day for librarians throughout the state. Featuring an opportunity to meet Michigan authors, the day will include special tours and presentations from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Writers interested in reserving a table to display their work should contact the Public Information Office, Library of Michigan, P. O. Box 30007, Lansing 48909, or phone (517) 373-4453.

Thursday, March 9 is Museum Day at the Michigan Historical Museum, with tours and activities planned for the public. All are invited to enjoy the sights and sounds of Michigan history from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Archives Day will wrap up the week's activities on Friday, March 10, when the Archives of Michigan sponsors a symposium entitled "The Role of Archives in the Communities They Serve." Noted archivists from across the U.S. will participate.

For more information about Dedication Week events, contact the Public Information Office, Library of Michigan, P. O. Box 30007, Lansing or phone (517) 373-5578.

JAN MURRELL, registrar of the American Holsteiner Horse Association, works with her foal, Calamus, at her home outside Chelsea. The Holsteiner is a relatively new, but growing, breed in this country.

National Horse Association Makes Its Home in Downtown Office

The former home of Accent on Travel over the Secretary of State's office on Main St. is the new central office of a fast-growing national show horse association.

American Holsteiner Horse Association, Inc., has moved into the pink, two-room office overlooking the corner of Main and Middle Sts. Boyce Rd. resident Jan Murrell, one of the few Holsteiner owners in the immediate area, runs the office as the association's registrar. The association moved from Webberville to Chelsea in November. It was founded in 1977.

Although there are only 325 members of the non-profit association, more than 125 were new in 1988 and Murrell expects growth to be even greater this year.

Holsteiners, a relatively new breed in this country, has been a popular horse in Germany for about 750 years.

It comes from the Schleswig-Holstein area of Germany, the same area as the Holstein cow.

Originally a carriage horse, the Holsteiner is primarily used for show jumping, cross country jumping (kind of a steeplechase for horses), and dressage, a complicated routine featuring horse dancing. Holsteiners have won numerous medals in Olympic competition. Horse owners can win sizeable amounts of money in some competitions, although most Holsteiner owners aren't in it for the money as much as the fun of competing. Others are in the breeding business.

"The people who do OK with it financially are usually independently wealthy anyway," Murrell says.

"It can be a rich man's sport. Maybe it shouldn't be, but it's whatever the market will bear."

The horses are expensive, ranging from $3,000-$4,000 for a foal to $20,000 to $50,000 for an older horse with training.

The horse is called a "warmblood," a cross between the "hotbloods," such as Arabians, and "cold bloods," such as draft horses. Although most people, including knowledgeable horse people, couldn't identify a Holsteiner by sight, the breed is known for its medium frame (64 to 68 inches), elegant beauty, and high, floating trot. Bay is the dominant color, although chestnut and gray appear occasionally.

Murrell's job includes keeping track of all the registered horses, and which horses have been officially "approved," by an association committee. Although a horse may have all the right blood lines, if it doesn't meet certain physical characteristics it won't get the official approval, which the association sees as crucial to maintaining the horse's unusual characteristics.

The association has an annual approval tour, in which a committee travels around the country to rate horses.

The association also provides educational information on Holsteiners and information on marketing and breeding.

All association money comes from registration and approval fees, and other services. Unlike the German Holsteiner association, it does not own any animals.

Murrell has been an association member for three years and its registrar for two. She owns an approved mare, a nine-month-old filly, and the mare has another baby on the way.

Bulldogs Whip Lincoln, Host Tecumseh Friday

Chelsea Bulldogs took over third place in the Southeastern Conference with a 72-66 victory over the Lincoln Rallies on the road last Tuesday, Feb. 7.

It was Chelsea's fifth straight victory.

The Bulldogs fell behind 14-10 at the end of the first quarter, but tied the game at 33 at half-time.

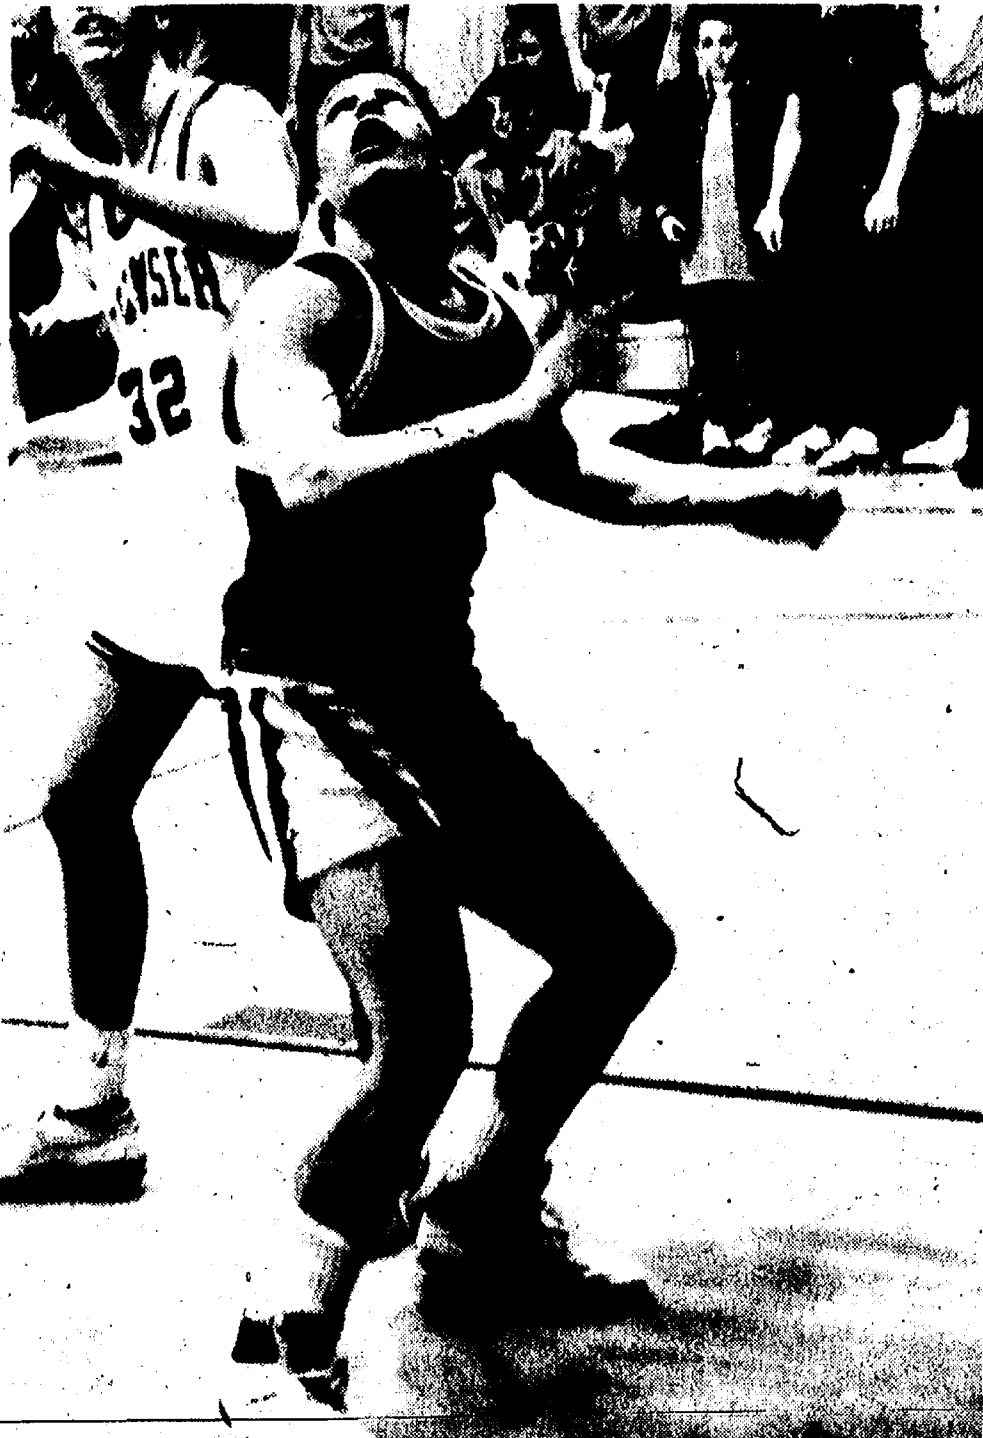

At half-time, Chelsea coach Robin Raymond installed a 1-3-1 half-court trapping defense to pick up the tempo of the game. By the end of the third quarter Chelsea held a 53-47 lead and did not relinquish that lead the rest of the way.

"We felt fortunate to be tied at half-time because we did not have a great first half," Raymond said.

"We wanted to pick up the tempo on defense because it helps us pick up the tempo on offense. Our defensive pressure forced a lot of turnovers and we got some easy baskets. However, Lincoln was well prepared for the press this time. I guess what it came down to is we made our free throws and they didn't hit some shots in the fourth quarter."

Chelsea shot the ball only 18 times the entire first half, but nearly doubled the output in the second half with 35 tries. They made 22 shots for 41 percent.

However, it was the shooting at the free throw line that swung the game Chelsea's way. The Dogs were 28-36 (Continued on page 12)

THINGS ARE LOOKING UP for the Chelsea Bulldogs, as Phil Eassa so aptly demonstrates. The Bulldogs play their final home game of the season this Friday against Tecumseh in what has the potential to be one of the best games of the season.

Freshman Cagers Top Dexter, Lose Big to Adrian

Chelsea Bulldog freshman cagers lost to Adrian but beat Dexter in action last week.

Adrian whipped the Dogs 62-44 in Chelsea last Monday, Feb. 6.

The Maples featured a 6'7" center, the tallest player Chelsea has seen all year.

Chelsea fell behind 17-0 and ended the first quarter trailing 24-6.

"Our main problem and concern was that we did not execute our offense at all," said Chelsea coach Dave Quilter.

"Outside of the first quarter, when we gave up so many easy baskets, our defense was not that bad. Their big guy was defended well and it was a challenge to the kids. But we gave up easy back-door plays."

Dan Stahl finished with 15 points to lead Chelsea. Rounding out the scoring were Ben Hurst with 11 points, Adam Tillman with nine, and Jake Rindle, Chris White, and Chris Wright with three each.

On Thursday, Nov. 9 the Bulldogs knocked off the Dreadnaughts, 59-53. Chelsea led the entire game as they used a 1-3-1 half-court trapping defense to cause numerous Dexter turnovers.

CHAD STARKEY led the Bulldogs in scoring in their win last Tuesday at Lincoln. Chelsea took its fifth straight win and was scheduled to play at Dexter last night.

PAT TAYLOR placed third in the regionals Saturday 112-pound wrestler was one of four Chelsea Bulldogs to qualify for his second appearance at the state meet. The qualify for the meet.

Four Bulldog Wrestlers Qualify for State Meet, Team Wins District Title

Four Chelsea Bulldogs qualified for this Saturday's state wrestling meet with their performances in the regional tournament last Saturday.

Pat Taylor (112), Doug Wingrove (140), Tim VanSchoick (189), and Mike Taylor (heavyweight), all have a shot at the state championship in their weight classes. They are now among the top 16 in their weight classes.

Pat Taylor and Mike Taylor each finished third, while Wingrove and VanSchoick each took fourth place.

Pat Taylor is the only one of the four with any state meet experience. He qualified two years ago as a freshman.

"They all wrestled well, and there were some extremely tough kids at each weight class," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"We always manage to sneak one or two out to the state, but this is the most we've had in a while."

Mike Taylor won three of his four opponents to finish 3-1 for the day. He pinned his Battle Creek Lakeview opponent in the consolation finals in 3:31. His only loss was to Chris Kleckner of Jackson County Western, a wrestler Taylor always comes within a hair of beating. This time it was a 4-0 decision.

Pat Taylor pinned three of his four opponents. He lost his second match to his Comstock opponent, 14-5, but pinned his Albion opponent in the consolation finals in 2:38.

Wingrove won his first match and lost his second. He dropped into the lower bracket and faced Jim Toby from Lincoln, whom he had lost to earlier. He stopped Toby 4-2. However, in the consolation finals he lost to John Freeman of Eaton Rapids, 6-0, a boy he had beaten in the districts.

VanSchoick lost 4-3 in the consolation finals on a controversial call. He was not awarded for an apparent takedown in the final seconds after one official scored it and the other official denied it. After huddling they decided against the takedown.

VanSchoick, who won two matches, also had one of the toughest opponents in the meet when he faced Tom Loukides of Albion, who pinned him in 1:37.

Reno Nye at 119 pounds missed qualifying by one point as he lost his third match 6-5.

"It was a real heartbreaker," Kargel said.

"I felt his opponent stalled a lot."

Dean Sutherland, at 152 pounds, was also a match short as he lost to Dexter's Rob Doletzky 8-2, a wrestler he had beaten three times this season.

The Bulldogs won the team district meet last Wednesday and kept their hopes alive for a possible team state championship.

Chelsea knocked off Hartland 41-23, Dexter 45-12, and Pinckney 53-13.

"We did a nice job," Kargel said. "I was concerned about Hartland, but it turned out to be an easier meet than I thought."

Chelsea faced Hartland first.

Carl Wickman (103) won by forfeit, Pat Taylor (112), and Reno Nye (119) followed with pins, Rex Nye (125) earned a technical fall, Craig McCalla (130) and Wingrove (140) each earned decisions, and VanSchoick (189) and Mike Taylor (heavy) each won by pin.

In the Dexter match, Wickman won by major decision, Pat Taylor earned a pin, Pat Pinson (119) and Rex Nye each won by forfeit, McCalla and Wingrove each earned major decisions, Jim Hassett (135) earned a decision, Pat Hassett (160) and VanSchoick each won by pin, and Mike Taylor won by forfeit.

In the Pinckney match, Wickman earned a technical fall, Pat Taylor won by decision, Reno Nye won by pin, McCalla won by pin, Jim Hassett won by decision, Wingrove won by technical fall, Sutherland won by technical fall, Matt Herter (160) tied, and Pat Hassett, VanSchoick, and Mike Taylor each won by pin.

Team regionals are today. From here on out, one loss and the team is finished for the season. Other teams in the regional at Jackson County Western include Western, Saline, and Jackson Northwest.

Solar bear: Polar bears come equipped with thick fur and a good helping of blubber but these big bears are also mobile solar collectors. International Wildlife magazine reports that the long hairs of the bear's pelt are transparent; they allow sunlight to penetrate all the way to the skin. And the bear's skin is black which absorbs the sun's heat.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Hey, we won five basketball games in a row, maybe six after last night. Is this a dynasty in the making?

Well, maybe they weren't the strongest opponents in the world. So there were no Pinckneys or Tecumsehs among the victims. Big deal. Robin Raymond's boys deserve all the credit in the world for having the mental tenacity to win all those games. Remember, this is a team that is far more accustomed to losing than winning. They had a solid foundation of losing ways coming into the season. They've lost several times this year to teams they should have beaten such as Brooklyn, Saline, Milan in the early part of the season. They know what it takes to lose.

And they may well lose all their remaining games as they play the league's two top schools, with a fine Jackson County Western team sandwiched in between.

Even if they do finish 7-13 (they were 7-9 before last night), anyone who has seen the Bulldogs play recently knows they are a different team now. The pain of last year and the early part of this season seems to have tempered this team. They're playing good defense and when their offense is running full bore they are capable of beating any team in the league.

But more importantly, they're winning the games they should win, even if they have to rally to do it. That doesn't sound like much but to me it's the most encouraging sign of the season. Last year they were getting whipped by teams that had less talent.

The next step toward building a great team is for the Bulldogs to win the games they probably shouldn't, like this Friday's home contest against Tecumseh. The Indians are tied for the conference lead with Pinckney, and they'll probably be itching to make up for last Friday's loss at Pinckney.

And that brings up another quality almost every championship basketball program has—a championship following. A chanting, cheering, boisterous crowd can make all the difference. Not only does it pump up the home team, but it intimidates the visitors. And that's what the home court advantage is really all about. Forget the familiarity of the court, it's the fans.

The Dawg Pound is showing signs of life, like they're starting to get the hang of this cheering thing. They should take a lesson from that mother(?) who climbed up into the student section and led them in a cheer during the Milan game. That was well above and beyond the call of duty. She should get an honorary set of dawg tags.

So it's all an encouraging sign for next season. Most of the team will be back, which should help keep the good attitude alive. The players who are leaving should be adequately replaced.

In the meantime, maybe the Dogs can win a couple they shouldn't.

Fans of the Pinckney Pirates should forget about watching their team this Friday and come to the Chelsea gym and scream for the Bulldogs. If the Bulldogs beat Tecumseh, the Pirates will just about have the SEC championship in their pocket. All they'll have left to do is beat the Dogs next Friday at home. Imagine the intimidation of having the Bulldog gym packed to the rafters with fans wearing blue and gold, and red and black. Sort of fan gang warfare.

The basketball program looks as though it will be in good shape for several years.

Next year's varsity should be a pretty good team. The JV's, although suffering through a dismal season, have some good players. The freshmen are coming into their own and have only lost one league game, the eighth graders won more than half their games, and the seventh graders won ALL their games.

Last names in the varsity basketball news in the years ahead should include Skelton, Steele, White, Beauchamp, Stahl, Hurst, Rindle, Royce, Quilter, and many others too numerous to mention.

Congratulations to Pat Taylor, Doug Wingrove, Tim VanSchaick, and Mike Taylor for qualifying for the state wrestling meet. It'll be a fitting end to a fine season.

I have nothing but admiration for kids who can make it that far in such a demanding sport. I said it a couple weeks ago, and I'll say it again—wrestling has to be the most difficult of all high school sports. And that's because it requires exceptional levels of both strength and endurance. A wrestler can't get very far unless he possesses both. Then he has to add timing, moves, and intelligence.

Also, congratulations to the wrestling team, which won the districts for the second straight year.

They're in a fairly tough regional, but one they're capable of winning. They have Saline, Jackson Northwest, and Jackson County Western.

Did I hear someone mention "softball"?

CRAIG McALLA, left, was one of six Chelsea district finals last Wednesday. The team takes part in the wrestlers to win all three of his matches in the team regionals this afternoon at Jackson County Western.

REX NYE works on a pin during the team district fall over his Hartland opponent as the Dogs had a relatively easy time of it, taking a 41-23 victory.

on the night compared to Lincoln's 18-27. Kerry Plank was 9-10.

The Bulldogs ended with an unusual point distribution. Brian Burg and Kyle Plank, who have had the hot hands for Chelsea recently, had 12 and three points, respectively. Chad Starkey led the way with 18 points, Kerry Plank had 17, John Collins scored 15, Junior Morseau had five and Jeff Marshall scored two. Morseau scored four of his points in the fourth quarter.

"They were two big baskets," Raymond said.

Burg finished with nine rebounds and Kerry Plank had eight.

Lincoln out-rebounded the Dogs, 37-35, and had three fewer turnovers with 18.

Before last night's game with Dexter, Chelsea was 7-9 over-all and 5-4 in the Southeastern Conference.

Friday the Bulldogs play their final home game of the season when they host the league-leading Tecumseh Indians. The Indians are tied with Pinckney for the SEC lead.

Next Friday the Dogs travel to Pinckney.

"We can have a big say in who wins the championship," Raymond said.

"If we play the way we have been, we could cause some problems."

Raymond said the key to Friday's game is how well Chelsea plays inside and, in particular, how well the Bulldogs rebound.

"Their inside game concerns me a lot," Raymond said.

"We don't match up well."

Gipson Bowls 824 Series

Mike Gipson, a 1982 graduate of Chelsea High school, bowled a 300 game at Saline's Maplewood Lanes on Monday, Jan. 3.

Gipson, who carries a 220 average in three leagues at Maplewood, also set the house record with an 824 series on Feb. 7. He had games of 287, 247, and 290—30 out of 36 possible strikes.

Gipson bowled an 814 series in April.

Gipson is manager and works in the pro-shop at the lanes.

WHEN BREATHING STOPS

IF A VICTIM APPEARS TO BE UNCONSCIOUS

TAP VICTIM ON THE SHOULDER AND SHOUT, "ARE YOU OKAY?"

IF THERE IS NO RESPONSE

TILT THE VICTIM'S HEAD, CHIN POINTING UP. Place one hand under the victim's neck and gently lift. At the same time, push with the other hand on the victim's forehead. This will move the tongue away from the back of the throat to open the airway.

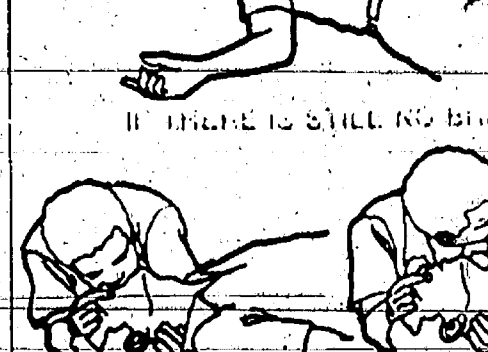

IF THE VICTIM IS NOT BREATHING

GIVE FOUR QUICK BREATHS. Maintain the backward head tilt, pinch the victim's nose with the hand that is on the victim's forehead to prevent leakage of air, open your mouth wide, take a deep breath, seal your mouth around the victim's mouth, and blow into the victim's mouth with four quick but full breaths just as fast as you can. When blowing, use only enough time between breaths to lift your head slightly for better inhalation. For an infant, give gentle puffs and blow through the mouth and nose and do not tilt the head back as far as for an adult.

If you do not get an air exchange when you blow, it may help to reposition the head and try again.

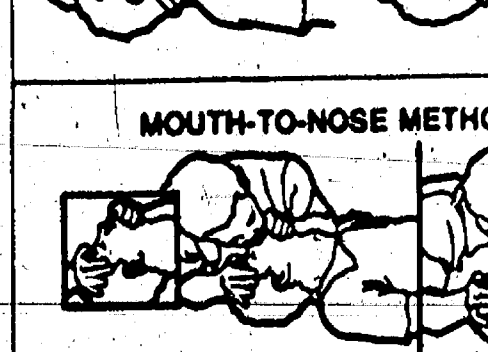

AGAIN, LOOK, LISTEN, AND FEEL FOR AIR EXCHANGE.

IF THERE IS STILL NO RESPONSE

CHANGE RATE TO ONE BREATH EVERY 5 SECONDS FOR AN ADULT.

FOR AN INFANT, GIVE ONE GENTLE PUFF EVERY 3 SECONDS.

MOUTH-TO-NOSE METHOD

The mouth-to-nose method can be used with the sequence described above instead of the mouth-to-mouth method. Maintain the backward head-tilt position with the hand on the victim's forehead. Remove the hand from under the neck and close the victim's mouth. Blow into the victim's nose. Open the victim's mouth for the look, listen, and feel step.

Beach Wrestlers Remain Unbeaten, Win Tournament

Beach Middle school wrestlers remained unbeaten after action last week.

On Jan. 24 at Dexter, the Pups took a 54-21 win.

On Jan. 26 in Chelsea, the Pup A and B teams both beat Dundee. A team won 50-11, and B team won 62-38.

In a rematch with Dexter on Jan. 30, the Pups used a lot of second and third string wrestlers and still came away with a 45-30 win.

"We had some kids in who haven't had much of a chance for a match this year," said Chelsea coach Mike Walton.

On Feb. 1 at home against Saline, the Pups took a 93-27 win in what was supposed to be a tougher match.

"This kids had heard through the grapevine that Saline was ready to get us," Walton said.

"I actually had to apologize to the Saline coach after the match."

Against Jackson Northwest on Feb. 7 the Pups won 57-47.

"If we hadn't had some terrific second, third, and fourth string wrestlers, we might not have pulled this win out," Walton said.

At the 14-team Jackson Northwest tournament last Saturday, the Pups beat the field. Chelsea wrestlers won 56 of the 87 matches they wrestled.

"After the first round we knew we were going to win," Walton said.

"The kids were wrestling so determined and staying so disciplined between matches."

Entered as official communications were: (1) notice of approval of Chapter 2 funds, (2) registration information for the National School Boards Association conference, (3) a thank-you note from the Ronnie Atkinson family, (4) notification that high school classes are 12 minutes short of meeting North Central standards, (5) notification from a student's parents that a Michigan High School Athletic Association decision will not be appealed, (6) a letter from a community resident recommending that sidewalks be installed on Mayer Dr., (7) notification of the County School Officers' Legislative Breakfast on Feb. 13, (8) letter from a parent objecting to implementation of the Michigan Model Health program.

The 12 inaugural-trip students presented superintendent Plasecki with a thank-you card, letter of appreciation, and a memento of the inauguration. They presented the board with a brief report on the trip, and expressed gratitude for the opportunity to witness the Presidential inauguration. They also expressed appreciation to the superintendent for his efforts in organizing the trip and to Sue Carter for serving as chaperone.

President Anne Comeau, on behalf of the North School staff, presented Bill and Sue Wescott with a Certificate of Appreciation for their untiring efforts on behalf of the school and its students. Janet Rossi indicated that it was time to officially thank the Wescotts for the many extra hours and contributions they have given North school. Many of the North school staff were present to witness the presentation.

Testing co-ordinator Sue Carter reviewed with the board the results of the recent California Achievement Test and the MEAP and PSAT tests. Over-all, Chelsea's scores surpassed or were equal to the State scores.

High school student Dennis Fowler and SADD president Chris Craig were present at the meeting to discuss the Safe Rides program. These students have laid the groundwork for a program which would involve a Washtenaw County Red Cross-sponsored Boy Scouts Explorer Post in Chelsea. Safe-rides Explorer posts are organized to provide confidential rides home on Friday and Saturday nights to students who are not in a condition to drive or to those who wish to avoid being passengers in such a situation. The Boy Scouts of America would provide training, resource materials and liability insurance.

The superintendent presented the board with a progress report on the 1988-89 Board goals, and provided the board with suggestions for an evaluation instrument for the superintendent.

Superintendent Plasecki briefly reviewed enrollment projections for the 1989-90 school year and indicated that the figures will be reviewed on a regular basis for the purpose of studying the impact on space and staffing needs.

The board accepted, with regret, the resignation of Beach school teacher Mary Powers, effective June 8, 1989. Mrs. Powers will retire after 13 years of service.

The board accepted, with regret, the resignation of elementary music teacher Ron Harris, effective June 8, 1989. Mr. Harris will retire after 18 years of service. Mr. Harris was present at the meeting and expressed appreciation for past board, administrative and community support.

Community education director Jackie Rogers reported that over 30 Super Saturday classes have been scheduled.

Assistant principal Larson reported that this year's senior prom, scheduled for Friday, May 12, will be held at McKenny Union, Eastern Michigan University. He expressed appreciation to Bill Gourley, Larry Reed and Cathy Vitek for their co-operation in developing the 1989-90 school calendar.

Board members had an opportunity to view the Channel 7 News interview held at Metro Airport on Jan. 18 prior to the inaugural trip students' departure for Washington, D. C.

The board convened in executive session at 10:04 p.m. to discuss personnel matters, reconvened in public session at 10:35 p.m., and subsequently adjourned at 10:40 p.m.

Four years and eight months is the average length of a new car loan, says the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association. Buyers finance an average $11,800 for a $274 monthly payment at an average 10.9 percent rate.

BLACKMAN REDBURN, played by Rob Rawson, left, and Wild Bill Hickok, played by Ken Beauchamp, are two of the principal characters in "Deadwood Dick or The Game of Gold," a production of Chelsea Area Players. Show times are Friday, Feb. 17 and Saturday, Feb. 18 at 8 p.m. A matinee will be held on Saturday at 2 p.m. as well. All performances will be at Beach Middle School.

DEADWOOD DICK OR THE GAME OF GOLD, a production of Chelsea Area Players, makes its debut this Friday, Feb. 17 at 8 p.m. at Beach Middle School. Some of the characters, from left, include Nancy Nye at Rose Blossom, Ward Beauchamp as Ned Harris, Susan Schmunk as Lily Blossom, and Mike Long as the Sheriff.

Deadwood Dick Still Remains A Mystery

The preceding episodes have just begun to scratch the surface of the complicated characters and intricate plots of Deadwood Gulch. There is one aspect of every Western that has to be considered at this point in our narrative. Every Western, if it is a true Western, must have at least one violent death.

This probability must be considered in the following questions. It is really possible for a young, innocent girl like Lily or Rose to remain innocent in the degenerate town of Deadwood Gulch? Would not death be better than dishonor? Is the love that Pong Ping has for Lily enough to make him sacrifice his life to protect her? Will Paloma find a new man, or let her jealousy bring about disaster? Will Calamity Jane continue her villainous ways, or see the light before it is too late? Can Ned and Black'n ever get through a conversation without gunplay? Will Judge Nix change his name to the Hanging Judge? Does Deadwood Gulch become Hanging Gulch? Is it true that justice will always prevail? Will the real Deadwood Dick please stand up?

Do you really expect this article to give you the answers? The only way you can get the answers is to visit Deadwood Gulch yourself. Take a journey back in time on Feb. 17 and 18. The time machine starts the journey at 8 on that Friday and Saturday night as well as 2 on Saturday afternoon. Tickets to take you back to the time of the Old West are available at the Chelsea Pharmacy. Don't wait for the last minute, buy now.

The entertainment provided at the Beach Middle School Saloon includes more than just the sophisticated populace of Deadwood Gulch. Between scenes other performers will mesmerize the audience. We have Fingers McGee (Art Finger), juggler extraordinaire; See-Saw Sam (Jason Eyster) a virtuoso musician; and Cal and Clara Kactis (Carolyn Schafer and Gary Goodson), the Warblers of the West.

The stage hands, who have nothing to do with stage coaches, have been working hard to pull things together, without the use of reins. Some of them are Don Paulsell, Allen Anderson, Debbie Olson, Betty and Steve Leeman, Jan and Marty Baltzell, Shelley and Ginny Wheaton, Diana Ipsen, Jeremy Beauchamp, Mary Jane and Dave Tiedgen, Susan Buck, Mary Alber, and the ruler of the house, Denise Martell. A special thanks to them and all the other people who help behind the scenes to make this the best show ever. We have the largest cast of any winter production of the Chelsea Area Players. All the people in the cast and crew are part of Chelsea either through past experience with the players or part of the Chelsea Community. This is truly a great group and one Chelsea should be proud of. Don't disappoint these hard working people by not attending their performance. Besides, it's the only way to find out "Who is Deadwood Dick, the masked rider of the Black Hills?"

See and Be Seen

Whether it's around the block or across the country, you increase the chances of an accident if you take to the road before you can see and be seen. The Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association offers these tips:

- Make sure all lights work. Don't forget the emergency flashers.
- Check windshield wiper blades; they wear out even when they are not being used.
- Be sure the windshield washer is working and the fluid reservoir is full.

State Farm Group Fights Proposed Reclassification Of Anhydrous Ammonia

Reclassification of anhydrous ammonia from a non-flammable gas to a poisonous gas would be devastating to the agricultural community, Michigan Farm Bureau president Jack Laurie told the U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT). The DOT has requested comments, to be filed by March 9, on possible alternatives to reclassifying the product, used extensively by American farmers as a fertilizer, to a poisonous gas.

"Farm Bureau strongly opposes the reclassification," Laurie said. "If a new classification is necessary, then we recommend that it be reclassified as a corrosive gas. Such a reclassification would more accurately reflect the characteristics of the product; it would be consistent with Canada, our largest trading partner in anhydrous ammonia, and would not cause significant economic disruption in the U.S. farm sector."

Laurie said the poisonous classification would produce higher transportation rates and soaring insurance costs for anhydrous ammonia dealers, costs that would ultimately result in higher production costs for the U.S.

farmer. Compliance with the proposal would cost the agricultural industry at least $1 billion per year, he said.

"Also, the psychological impact of a poison gas classification for anhydrous ammonia would be devastating to the agricultural industry. A predictable public reaction would be the prohibition of shipments of anhydrous ammonia through many cities, towns and communities. Such a product classification change would create a situation where farmers would eventually be regulated away from their ability to use the most cost-effective form of nitrogen for crop production," Laurie said.

A 1,000 YEAR EGG is always one of the centers of attention when North schoolers get together to celebrate the Chinese new year as they did last week. Some students are brave enough to try the black egg, which Kristi Lentz is displaying on her plate. Jeremy Feldcamp holds the egg as it looks before it is shelled. The egg is actually a duck egg that is packed in mud and rice hulls to keep it from cracking.

Wide Variance in Farm Subsidies Around the World

The way in which countries subsidize their farm commodities varies widely and those differences are reflected in the current round of world trade talks, according to Michigan Farm Bureau agricultural economist Robert Craig.

Craig said that while U.S. farm programs are largely supported through government payments, the subsidies in Japan and the European Community are paid largely through higher consumer prices.

"Budget constraints in the U.S. make reduced farm expenditures a high priority, but debates on farm subsidies in the European Community and Japan are less focused," he said. "Direct consumer subsidies in the form of higher food prices are a much more subtle method of supporting farm subsidies."

"Nearly 90% of EC's farm subsidies are the result of higher prices paid by consumers. Similarly, higher food prices in Japan account for over 70% of that country's farm subsidies. In contrast, direct consumer support of subsidies in the U.S., Canada and Australia represents approximately 30% of the total farm subsidies. In Japan, tariffs and restrictions on imports keeps the price of products such as beef and rice higher to the consumer. In Europe, consumers pay higher prices for wheat products and oil-based products. In addition, higher prices for animal feeds result in higher prices for red meats, milk and poultry products," he said.

Craig said that during the period of 1982-86, the average annual cost of all subsidies in the EC totaled $50 billion, while subsidy costs in Japan amounted to $36 billion annually. During the same period, all forms of subsidies in the U.S. averaged $34 billion. U.S. farm subsidies costs have fallen since 1986 by approximately $14 billion.

Village Votes To Pay for Damages Due To Sewer Back-up

The village will pay for sewer back-up damage suffered by three village residents as the result of an incident before Christmas.

Council voted 4-3 to reimburse the three residents after a lengthy discussion at the Tuesday, Feb. 7 council meeting. The homes, belonging to Loren Keezer on Claredale Ct., Larry Dietle on Washington St., and James Bauer on Flanders St. were all flooded when a water pipe broke, which forced sand into a sanitary sewer line, which, in turn, caused the back-up. The homes are at the lowest points of the sewer line in the area.

The residents claimed damages in excess of $4,000, mostly for ruined carpet in their basements. They said their insurance companies would not accept the claim.

At issue was a resolution passed in 1987 by council which said, "in no instance shall the village pay for damages due to basement flooding which results from circumstances beyond the village's control." The idea was to get the village off the hook in cases when the village has not shown negligence.

Trustees Phil Boham and Richard Steele, along with village president Jerry Satterthwaite, voted against a motion by trustee Joe Merkel to pay for damages, saying there was no evidence the village acted in a negligent manner. Trustees Stephanie Kanten, Dennis Hall, and Gary Bentley voted in favor of payment.

Comments by the residents indicated there was some doubt the village responded to a reported water leak as quickly as it could have.

After urging by Hall, council decided to treat the damage claims as an insurance company would. The village will pay for the damages over the amount of each resident's insurance policy deductible amount.

Village Adopts New Zoning Fee Rates

Village of Chelsea has adopted a new fee schedule for zoning procedures that should increase the amount of money the village charges developers.

Village council adopted the new fee schedule at its Tuesday, Feb. 7 meeting.

The new charges were devised by village manager Fritz Weber to keep the village in line with what other municipalities charge. Since township was used as a guideline.

A summary of the charges follows.

Special land uses (plus site plan review fees)	$200
Zoning appeal	$75
Rezoning requests	$500
Site plan review for industrial, commercial, multiple family, planned unit development, and condominium projects
Application Fee	$500
Over 4 acres—add $25 per acre plus $35 per unit if multiple housing or condominium units
Consultant Review
Planning, engineering, to 4 hours	$500
Over 4 hours
Planning/hr.	$50
Engineering/hr.	$75
Legal Work
Including conferences/hr.	$115
Re-Submittal of Site Plan
Application fee	$300
Consultants review, legal work	$250
Over two hours
Planning	$50
Engineering	$75

runoff or require other engineer review is $300.

Village Gets Sewer Easement But Price Still at Issue

The village has obtained its easement to run a sewer line across property owned by Art and Ruth Dils on N. Main St., village president Jerry Satterthwaite told council last Tuesday.

However, the value of the easement has not been agreed upon and will probably be decided in court, Satterthwaite said.

An appraisal commissioned by the village has put the value of the easement at $2,500. However, the Dilses have asked for $10,000 because they claim the vacant lot will lose that much in value.

When the Dilses did not accept the village's offer of $2,500, the village had to begin condemnation proceedings.

The sewer line is designed to serve much of the new development in the southern edge of the village.

THE FORMER HOME of Ralph Fletcher's Friendly Service is scheduled to become a new Domino's Pizza this spring. Owners Eugene and Becky Belknap have applied for a non-conforming use permit and have submitted site plans to the village. Construction could begin as early as March.

Site Plans Submitted For Domino's Store

The pizza wars are starting to heat up.

Site plans have been submitted for a Domino's Pizza, to be located in the former home of Ralph Fletcher's Friendly Service on S. Main St.

The plans will be considered by the village planning commission at their Feb. 28 meeting.

Eugene and Becky Belknap, owners of the store as well as all the Ann Arbor stores, have to obtain a permit for non-conforming use. The building is in an area zoned for residential use, but the service station was there before zoning went into effect. Zoning Board of Appeals will have to consider the application.

The current building will be remodeled and there will be no adding to it.

Carpenter John Stafford of Ann Arbor, who's handling the construction, said he hopes to have the store ready by June. Some work has already been done. The old underground gasoline storage tanks have been removed.

Cottage Inn has already announced its intentions to locate a store at Chelsea Shopping Center, directly across the street from Thompson's Pizzeria, the village's oldest pizza establishment. Poma's, on Park St., is the only other pizza parlor in town.

Papo Withdraws Annex Petition

If developer Rene Papo builds his office and apartment building complex, it apparently won't be within the village limits.

Papo has sent a letter to the village withdrawing his petition to annex 52 acres in Sylvan township into Chelsea.

Papo cited the unavailability of utilities, primarily sewer service, as the reason for changing his mind. However, he has not said whether he still plans to build the project on land off Old US-12 beside Chelsea Community Hospital and simply keep it in the township.

"If he's doing it to make us feel bad, it won't work," said village president Jerry Satterthwaite.

Lima Township Board Proceedings

The regular meeting of the Lima Township Board was called to order Feb. 6 at 8 p.m. and opened with the Pledge to the Flag.

The treasurer's report was received.

Black women made advances in many socioeconomic areas over the past decade, according to "Black Women in the Labor Force," a fact sheet from the Labor Department's Women's Bureau. Even so, black women are still more likely than white women to be unemployed, to be in low-paying jobs, and to account for a larger proportion of those living in poverty.

CHELSEA MILLING CO. has submitted site plans for a 7,000-square-foot office addition to their North St. facility, which will more than double its size. According to William Holmes, the company needs a little elbow room as the current office building is cramped. The new building will also contain a conference center, which will be moved from the main plant. Holmes said the big, old trees will not be cut down.

Congregational Church Marks 140th Year

The church was started on Feb. 21, 1849.

The original building caught fire and was rebuilt about 100 years ago. It is the oldest church in Chelsea.

Harold Jones' father was one of the first pastors of the church. Other pastors were the Rev. Wm. Skentlebury, the Rev. Thomas Toy, the Rev. Robert A. J. Livingston, The Rev. Philip Rusten, the Rev. Daniel Kellin, the Rev. Carl Schwarm, the Rev. Gerhardt, the Rev. Kenyon Edwards, the Rev. John Gibbon, the Rev. Gerald Bowen, and the present pastor, the Rev. Leland Booker.

The church is reported to be growing rapidly with many young couples and small children who will be the leaders in the future.
