Voters Face Few Choices In Monday's Elections

A light turnout is expected as village voters go to the polls Monday to decide whether or not to ouster one. of three village trustees.

Incumbents Stephanie Kanten, Richard Steele, and Dennis Hall face a challenge by former village president Charles Ritter. It's the only contested position on a short ballot.

The positions are for two years. The election is non-partisan.

Impact of Proposed Tax Plan On Chelsea Schools Is Not Clear

Chelsea School District officials are Oxender-Nye School Financing Program that may be passed by the state legislature this week.

The plan, sponsored by Rep. Glenn Oxender, R-Sturgis and Rep. Michael Nye, R-Litchfield, would reportedly slash property taxes an average of 33 tax from four to six percent.

The idea of the plan is to redistribute tax money so that poorer districts would get more money.

"Until we know all the details, we're not in a position to say if this is good or-bad for the Chelsea School District," said Chelsea assistant superintendent Fred Mills.

Kennedy Mall Gets Nod From Village Planners

Mike Kennedy will have his Village Mall finished by summer if no more obstacles are thrown in his way.

At its Feb. 28 meeting, Cheisea Village Planning Commission approved Kennedy's plans for a temporary stormwater run-off system to service the 41,000-square-foot mail next to Polly's Market.

Changes to the run-off system had to be made when the pond south of Polly's Market was filled in one Saturday night by excavators hired by developer Rene Papo. The pond, which had been in existence for as lông as anyone here can remember, handled the run-off from Polly's Market as well.

Papo owns the parcel to the south. He is also the developer of Chelsea Shopping Center across M-52 from that no more permits would be issued minute. until the question was settled.

In order to solve the problem, Kennedy had to enlist the help of the Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner and the Michigan Department of Transportation.

The solution, which Kennedy characterizes as "too expensive," involved running a pipe under M-52 near the intersection of Old US-12. The water would run into a wet well near the mall parking lot, be pumped into a pipe that would travel north along M-52, and go under M-52 near the intersection. From there is would travel along Old US-12 to Old Manchester Rd. and into the Wilkinson St. drain, a new drainage district already approved by the county. The pump has to be

The village had notified Kennedy capable of pumping 480 gallons per

Another part of the solution involves constructing an asphalt curb along the south and east property lines to keep the water from running off the site onto property next door.

Kennedy was also required to submit a $50,000 letter of credit to the

In the meantime, Kennedy said Friday he has about two-thirds of the mall rented, and other possible tenants he still has to talk to.

Kennedy also said that he has received a letter from Papo saying he believes the details of the proposed Pierce Lake Drain can be worked out between them. The Pierce Lake Drain, which would handle Polly's, Village Mall, and other parcels to the south on the east side of M-52, has been legally challenged by Papo.

Meet Your Candidates

Four candidates are competing for three seats on the village council in next Monday's village elections.

The following is presented by The Standard as a public service to help village voters make a more informed choice when they go to Sylvan Town Hall. The Standard does not endorse any particular candidate for office.

Charles Ritter, 509 Maywood St., is a 50-year resident of the village. He is a manufacturer's representative for MacDee, Inc.

Ritter was village president from 1980-81. Since then he was defeated in the 1986 election for village president and in the 1988 election for village

If there is one thing Ritter can be counted on to do, it's speak his mind on the issues. When he attends council meetings as a resident, he will often challenge council on its actions. He's also considered by some people in government to be a trouble-maker who will challenge people just to start an argument. Ritter has been known to investigate all sorts of issues on his

Ritter said he's running again because he was asked to by his sup-

"They want someone to find out what's really going on up there," Rit-

"If I get elected, I'll do the job. I've got the time for it."

Ritter has been consistently against the growth in government. He opposed the hiring of an assistant manager when Lee Fahrner was hired and he opposes re-filling the spot.

"I don't see why a village of 4,000 people needs two people to do the job that one man has done for 20 years," Ritter said.

Ritter said he's also against building a new village hall, particularly where it is being proposed on Park St. because there is not enough parking.

In terms of development issues, Ritter said he is not against the village expanding its boundaries.

'The village can't stagnate," he

--- If it doesn't go forward, pretty soon it'll go two steps backward.' On other issues, for instance the landfill, Ritter said he doesn't have enough information to know which direction the village should go. However, he is critical of the way the village has handled the licensing squabble with the Department of Natural Resources.

"I didn't see anyone going up to talk to any representatives," Ritter said. 'That's what we did before.'' seeking his fourth council term. Steele works at St. Joseph Mercy

Probably more than any other council member, Steele will vote against the majority. However, he votes with the majority on most issues. Over the next year, Steele said he'd like to see the village come up with some kind of plan pertaining to the building of a new village office building.

"Unfortunately, we have a lot of big money issues facing the village with the landfill and the whole solid waste, from them," she said. question," Steele said.

chamber on the second floor. We need to start to plan the project.'

On the solid waste issue, Steele said he'd prefer the village work with the county than go at the problem itself. "They've got a much better chance said. to get grant money than we do," he said. However, if the county can't help, Steele said he'd like to see the village take steps to make people aware of recycling as part of an over-all plan.

RICHARD STEELE

DENNIS HALL

"No one alternative is going to fix strictions she's content with the our problem," he said.

"It's going to take several activities which are all part of the same package.'

Expansion of the village is another major issue for Steele, and he'd like development plan and zoning orthe village to take its growth one step at a time.

"I'm not in favor of taking in big chunks of land unless there is a plan so that we know when parts will be phased in and we can grow accordingly," Steele said.

"If we jump in and try to do it all at once, it'll be more expense for the village than we're willing to bear. We have sewer and water as well as other services like police and fire protection to think about."

Steele called the updating of the village's zoning ordinance, "a priority." He said once the new definitions are in place, he'd like the village to the most-used parts of the ordinance. Richard Steele, 211 Lincoln St., is particularly ones that are out-dated.

> Stephanie Kanten, 560 Chandler St., has served on village council for most of the decade. She's a lifelong resident of the area. She's a second grade teacher in the Dexter Community Kanten said she decided to run again partly because she believes the new village administrator, Robert Stalker, "needs some consistency," on the council.

"He's familiar with the people who hired him and knows what to expect Kanten said her biggest concern

"But we are getting squeezed for over the next year or two is having the space and it's not good to have council village's General Development Plan, and zoning ordinance, updated.

'West of Ann Arbor, especially down Jackson Rd., is growing and 10 years from now I can see it as one long business corridor to Chelsea," Kanten "The village should be able to have what it wants to have here, not what it's forced to have." Ideally she'd like to have the zoning ordinance modernized all at once. However, considering budget con-may have grown too much too quickly. For the reason she'd like to see the dinance worked on before much more growth occurs.

"I think we ought to re-group a lit

Another project she'd like to see the village move on is mandatory recycl-"We should do as they do in other cities," she said. "We should have an inspector who goes out and almost goes through your garbage to see what you're putting in She also wants to make sure the village works with the DDA to "keep the downtown viable." 'DDA probably needs more help but financially I don't think it can be afforded. Also within the next year, Kanten said she'd like the village to begin planning for the new village hall.

Dennis Hall, 46 Butternut Ct., is running for his second term on village council. He is employed at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Hall had the best attendance record of any village trustee during 1988. Hall's biggest priority for the next year is for the village to start a mandatory recycling program, probably by a big boost in garbage service

"Waste disposal is a very serious problem," he said. 'The village is going to have to take some recycling steps, whether at the landfill or somewhere else." However, Hall said he is not yet willing to make a commitment to staying in the landfill business once available space is filled.

"Personally, I don't know if we want to go through the headaches," Hall said.

Supreme Court Refuses To Hear Appeal on Sobriety Checklanes

Gov. James J. Blanchard's proposed sobriety checklane proposal was stymied again Wednesday when the Supreme Court refused to review lower court decisions which declared such programs unconstitutional.

In standard language issued without explanation, a 5-2 majority said it was "not persuaded the questions presented should be reviewed by this court."

The State Police operated just one checklane pilot project—in which all drivers at a specific location were stopped and checked for indications of intoxication-in May of 1986, pursuant to the governor's order before the project was enjoined under a suit brought by several legislators.

Two of 126 drivers were given sobriety tests; one was arrested for drunken driving.

The Court of Appeals and the Wayne County Circuit Court had ruled the state's interest in curbing drunken driving did not outweigh individual protections against unreasonable searches and seizures under both the federal and state constitutions.

Chief Justice Dorothy Comstock Riley and Justice Patricia Boyle said they would have heard the appeal (in Sitz v. State Police, docket 83992).

Assistant Attorney General Marion Morton said she could not yet comment on what the next step will be, but said the state could seek a rehearing before the Supreme Court or ask the

U. S. Supreme Court to hear the case, Bianchard press secretary Tom Scott said the governor had not had a chance to review the order and would want to look at the options before deciding what to do next. But he added, "It's important to point out that the governor's efforts to improve traffic safety didn't rest totally on the check point proposal."

He noted Blanchard's support of ad-4 ditional State Police troopers as part of his acceptance of a higher speed limit.

Groups such as the Michigan Council on Alcohol Problems and Mothers Against Drunk Driving had backed the checkpoint programs. The American Civil Liberties Union had described such programs as "illusory solutions to real problems."

In his recent proposals to improve traffic safety, Secretary of State Richard Austin urged drunken driving be attacked with stricter license enforcement measures.

And last week, Senate Judiciary Chair Rudy Nichols (R-Waterford) said he expects approval of a package imposing a mandatory 30-day license suspension for first-time offenders and for minors who have open containers in a car.

to the U.S. Constitution that allows for federal officials' salary increases only after Congress produces a balanced budget. The resolution, SJR A. was approved 21-16.

The proposed amendment would also prohibit members of Congress from receiving honoraria.

If a constitutional convention is called, it would be for the "specific and exclusive purpose" of proposing such an amendment.

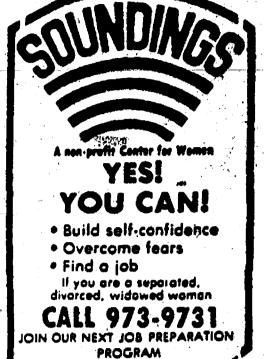

Sen. Harmon Cropsey (R-Decatur), sponsor of SJR A, said he is "convinced" that there never will be a constitutional convention, but said the joint resolution was important because it sends a message to Congress that the federal deficit is becoming too large.

SJR A was opposed mainly by Democrats, several of whom voiced concern that a constitutional convention would open up the entire U.S. constitution for revision and possibly change the country's form of govern-

80TH BIRTHDAY OPEN HOUSE for Mercedes DeLaTorre will be held this Sunday, March 12 from 2-4 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hali, 20750 Old US-12. Mrs. DeLaTorre was born March 9, 1909 in Guatelahara, Mexico. She moved to Michigan with her husband, Frank, in the late 1920s. She lived in Dexter and had three children. Edward (deceased), Frank, and Lola. In 1961 she moved to Chelsea. She's a member of St. Mary's Catholic church. Her hobbies include making hand crafts, which she has donated to St. Mary's Christmas Bazaar. She has entered doll-making contests and has taken first place on two occasions. The open house is being given by her daughter and her son and daughter-in-

William Schatz was elected president of the Chelsea Rod & Gun club at the regular meeting held at the American Legion Home at Cavannaugh Lake.

There were 162 members and guests present at the annual Kiwanis Farmers' Night program held in the Methodist church. The Rev. S. D. Kinde, pastor of the church, gave the invocation and, during the after-dinner program period, Kiwanis Sixth Division Lt.-Gov. William Myers, of Milan, presented an award to the Chelsea club for 100 percent attendence in January.

The Rt. Rev. Archie H. Crowley, Suffragan Bishop of Michigan, was present at St. Barnabas Episcopal Mission to confirm a class of five persons. The class was prepared by the Rev. Robert A. Murray, acting vicar for the Mission.

Village Files Charges In Filling of Pond

Village of Chelsea has filed nine misdemeanor complaints against developer Rene Papo in connection with the filling in of a pond near Polly's Market off M-52.

Papo had the pond filled in on Saturday night, Jan. 21. The complaints cover the period from Jan. 23-31, one for each day.

Zoning inspector Rosemary Harook said she'd like to file even more complaints since the problem has not been

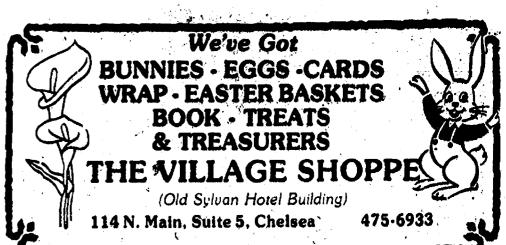

The village contends in the complaints that Papo was required to have a site plan approved before he could fill in the pond.

Papo had submitted a site plan for Village Square, a retail center, but the planning commission tabled action due to a lack of information.

Conviction could carry a sentence of 90 days in prison and a $100 fine.

Crocodile tears: If you don't want a crocodile to spot you, you're better off in the water than on land but be sure to keep still. International Wildlife magazine reports that crocodiles enjoy good vision on land but underwater everything is a blur. Yet in experiments, crocs were able to catch fish in total darkness. It's thought the animals can locate their prey by sensing movement in the water.

High Cost of Exterminating Soviet Bugs

Diplomacy between nations in the western world has flourished since the 15th century. Early discussions between monarchs were conducted in an atmosphere of suspicion, often in the center of a bridge with both ends barricaded so that one royal negotiator could not kidnap the other.

After a while envoys were exchanged and eventually the custom of having foreign ambassadors living "in residence" became acceptable. Heads of state were willing to be spied upon in exchange for away-from-home espionage privileges of their own.

Inevitably the theft of state secrets by both sides led to the use of unintelligible codes, a military practice that had been in European use for at least 20 centuries. For example, the ephors of Sparta—five magistrates who held the king under their control in the 6th century BC—used coded messages to communicate with their generals in the field.

Embassies around the world employed great numbers of cipher clerks to encode and decode messages with pen and ink, one alphabetical character at a time. Now intricate code machines encipher messages at lightning speeds and hurl them instantly from one hemisphere to another via satellite. Sad to say, their message systems are rarely more than one jump ahead of enemy code-breaking equipment:

Early in World War II American cryptologists broke a master code of the Japanese, and later a supersecret cipher system of the Nazis. Almost 50 years later we are still intercepting and cracking secret codes from adverse sources. Unfortunately, they have their triumphs too. Recently the Russians invaded us by "reading" and transmitting sounds of the type-ball elements on 13 IBM Selectric typewriters used in Moscow. As the spherical type elements clicked away, microphones hidden in the typewriters relayed the sounds by radio to a KGB listening post. The reproductions of the messages were letter-perfect, complete with the identities of CIA agents on secret assignments in Europe.

Perhaps you were watching television late last year at a time when President Reagan rested his arm congenially on the shoulder of Mikhail Gorbachev as they emerged from the White House. They smiled into the TV cameras while they appeared to be unaware of one of the most disreputable episodes in American diplomatic history.

Tale of Two Embassies

In 1977 the United States and the Soviet Union leased sites to each other to build new embassies in their capital cities. For the Russian complex of apartments and embassy building our State Department awarded a 12.5-acre tract of prime land high above Washington, known as Mount Alto. It was situated so that the Soviet spy apparatus had unobstructed reception of electronic signals from such sources as the White House and the Pentagon.

For the new embassy in Moscow our State Department was content to settle for 10.2 acres of low-lying land along the Moscow River, a site hemmed in by military and KGB intelligence posts.

In Washington construction proceeded immediately for the apartments on Mount Alto. Built by able American contractors under eagle-eyed Soviet supervision, the apartments were ready for occupancy (and espionage operations) by 1979. During the same span of time, the new American embassy remained on dead center—no plans, no contracts, no nothing. The only way we could get the Soviets to stop dragging their feet was to deny permission for them to occupy the apartments on Mount Alto until ton-struction was beguntor our embassy in Moscow,

At last in June 1979 the Soviets signed a contract. Plans were drawn by Innerital architects for an embassy, consular offices, apartments, a school and recreational facilities. Completion was scheduled for 1983, Unfortunately, we permitted the Soviets to draw new plans so that the Russians were able to produce a structure to their own corrupt specifications. Large components of the embassy building were constructed off-site and richly embedded with microphones. A steel girder was found to be a giant antenna. One U.S. senator who inspected the site declared, "The KGB was our general contractor in Moscow."

In August 1985 our State Department, at the direction of President Reagan, called a halt to the construction of our incomplete Moscow embassy. By then it was three years behind schedule and six years after the Soviets had begun operations on Mount Alto. Aside from all the spy apparatus, the roof leaked so that puddles were apparent four floors down, or all the way to the basement if you inspected the elevator shafts. There were holes and gaps glaring from the inside walls and fragments of concrete which had fallen from the ceilings. Abandonment of the unfinished Moscow embassy cost us $192 million.

Just 120 yards from the American embassy project, is the closed, boarded-up Church of The Nine Martyrs. American intelligence officers noted that there were strange goings-on during the night in the old Russian Orthodox church. Large amounts of soil were being hauled away that could only have come from inside the church. All sorts of wires and cables were being snaked in. Further investigation proved that the disused sanctuary had been converted into a KGB espionage center. Tunnels were already established to give the KGB permanent, subterranean access to the American compound.

Descriptions of activities in the new embassies in Washington and Moscow, cited here, were first presented in earlier articles by John Barron, a senior editor of Reader's Digest stationed in Washington. He is an authority on the machinations of the Soviet spy network and author of "The KGB Today," published in 1983. In his writings John Barron makes it clear that KBG hatred and contempt for American diplomats is nothing new.

For years the Soviet government has conducted a campaign of harassment and intimidation against U.S. diplomats and their families in Moscow. While the American tenants are away, their apartments are invaded and robbed of food, liquor, clothing and other possessions unobtainable in the bleak economy of Russia. Windows are left open in the dead of a Moscow winter. Toilets are used and left unflushed. Hard-to-get 110-volt appliances are plugged into 220-volt circuits and destroyed. The American living quarters are ringed by Soviet garrisons to maintain an oppressive presence.

There is no way that years of overt hostility, thievery and vandalism by the KGB, plus the electronic poisoning of our new embassy, could have remained unmentioned by Mssrs. Reagan and Gorbachev in their conversations. At some moment during their tete-a-tete discussions in the Oval Office, the suave Russian leader must have given our president some kind of assurances. Perhaps he mentioned personal plans to bring the KGB under control. Whatever it was, don't believe it. Gorbachev looks like the Communist from Wall Street but he is still a Communist and they are all self-confessed liars. Lenin said: "any lie, any deceit, etc... justifies the means." George Bush understands that.

Until the KGB and the entire Soviet diplomatic corps clean up their acts, let's turn the old U.S. Moscow embassy into a consulate for passports, tourists and trade matters. Let us conduct bilateral diplomatic negotiations "in the middle of a bridge"—someplace like the United Nations Building where the CIA can make sure the KGB has no chance to foul the nest.

P.S. Some of us are bound to wonder now how all of these disturbing events fit in with the behavior of our Marine guards in 1987 at Moscow. One comment should suffice: There were 206 Soviet nationals working in our embassy at the time of the Marine betrayals. Russian employees actually outnumbered the American employees and, as far as we know, things haven't changed. Obviously the Soviet workers will include trained female agents skilled in the art of seduction. The Russians never permit American employees to work in their Washington embassy. Isn't it time we woke up

"What makes temptation difficult for many people, is that they don't want to discourage it completely"..."

-Franklin P. Jones

We all have daily bouts with temptation ... some we win and some we lose, and we may conclude that this is the way of the world. Jones wry comment suggests a different conclusion.

When we really want to resist temptation, we can succeed by "discouraging it completely" that is, by making an unshakeable resolution not to be tempted. We should not rely upon the absence of opportunity either, for if we continue to look, some opportunity will always appear and once again prove that our resolution was not as unshakeable as we would believe.

We regard each call for our help as an opportunity to provide the sympathy and understanding that bereaved families find so comforting

Feared yet fragile: The great white shark is perhaps the most respected and feared animal below the waves. But the great white shark is also a fragile animal. International Wildlife magazine reports that sharks captured for research live only a few days in captivity. Biologists believe that keeping the animals in a confined area may be killing them. They've found a shark's swimming motion keeps its blood pumping. Constant movement through the water compensates for the animal's low_blood pressure and small heart.

Tree Seedling Inventory Going Fast

Several tree seedlings species of-fered through the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District's annual Soil Conservation District's annual tree and shrub and seedling sale have been sold out. The District's inventory of Red Pine, Northern White Cedar, European Larch and Red Oak tree seedlings has been depleted. The remaining hardwood species, White Ash, White Oak, Tulip Poplar and Black Walnut are also going fast. Evergreen and shrub species being offered are still available at this time, while supplies last.

Orders for tree and shrub seedlings will be accepted until March 31 for the District's Spring Tree Sale.

According to Dennis Rice, district manager/conservationist, "a statewide demand for hardwood tree seedlings, plus the severe drought conditions in 1989 have created shortages at seedling nurseries throughout the state." Rice went on to say that "because of these shortages demand for our hardwood seedling inventory has been tremendous. The remaining hardwood species will not last long, so anyone who is considering placing an order for tree seedlings should get it in soon, to have a better chance of getting what they want. Most evergreen species however, are still in good sup-

All seedlings are offered on a firstcome, first-serve basis while supplies last. All planting stock will be available for pick-up on Saturday, April 15, from 8 a.m. to 12 noon at the Washtenaw County Road Commission Garage on Zeeb Rd., Ann Arbor.

For more information on the tree sale, what species are still available and to obtain an order form, contact the Soil Conservation District Office. 6101 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor 48103. Telephone: (313) 761-6721.

Bill Proposed To Restrict Hiring Convicted Felons

State Representative Margaret O'Connor (R-Lodi township) has introduced legislation which would greatly restrict the number of convicted felons who could work in the state prison system.

The O'Connor bill (HB-4218) is similar to one (SB-155) sponsored in the Senate by Jack Welborn (R-Parchment).

The O'Connor-Welborn proposal would allow ex-felons to be hired by the Department of Corrections only after five years following their final release from corrections supervision and an extensive investigation of the individual's background.

"Talk about the fox guarding the chicken house," O'Connor said. "Ex-convicts should be the last people we hire to guard present convicts."
Recent published reports indicate that the State Corrections Department currently employs over 100 exfelons. The O'Connor-Welborn proposal would allow current employees to keep their jobs.

Bulldogs!

Bulldogs Knocked Out Of District Tournament By Columbia Central

Chelsea Bulldogs were eliminated from post-season play by Brooklyn Columbia Central last Thursday, 65-56, in a game played at Siena Heights College in Adrian.

The nine-point difference at the end, however, was not indicative of the game. Chelsea was down by one point at half-time and the game was tied at 45 at the end of the third quarter. The teams swapped leads throughout the game and Chelsea led by as many as eight points in the third quarter.

Two intentional foul calls, along with a technical foul on Robin Raymond in the waning seconds produced the winning margin.

We are disappointed," Raymond

"We thought we had a good chance to go to the district finals. After getting off to a great start, we had trouble with their defense in the second quarter. They were putting pressure on the point and denying the pass to the wing, and we kept trying to force the pass to the wing. When we got confused on offense, it seemed to take away our concentration on defense. Defensively it was probably one of our worst games of the year, certainly over the last 10 games."

Chelsea took a 17-10 lead after the first quarter, but the Bulldogs were out-scored in the second period, 19-11.

Chelsea scored the first six points of the second half, including three on a three-pointer by Junior Morseau and two on a tip-in by Brian Burg. Eventually the Dogs built a 43-35 lead.

However, BCC went on to score 10 straight unanswered points to take a 45-43 lead. A lay-up by Burg at the end of the quarter tied the game.

Brooklyn opened the fourth quarter with four unanswered points, two on foul shots and two on a breakaway lay-up. In the meantime, Chelsea was called for traveling, one of the Bulldogs 26 turnovers for the game.

Kyle Plank fouled out with 6:26 left. ... The teams traded the lead until the 3:51 mark when John Collins hit the front half of a one-and-one situation to tie the game at 54.

Shortly thereafter, Collins hit another free throw to cut the BCC lead. to 56-55. That was the last time Chelsea scored until Morseau hit a foul shot with 10 seconds left.

Down the stretch, Morseau missed a three-point attempt, and Kerry Plank took a rare three-point try that rattled around the rim. In addition, Burg fouled out.

With BCC ahead 59-56, the officials began calling intentional fouls as Chelsea tried to steal the in-bounds passes. Raymond protested the calls and was whistled for the technical. BCC made six straight foul shots to end the game.

"I thought we were over our doldrums when the second half began. but Columbia came back and played with confidence. They played a good game. No one had a better than average game for us."

According to Raymond, the most disappointing statistic of the game was that BCC held a 41-28 rebound advantage. The teams matched up fairly evenly in terms of height.

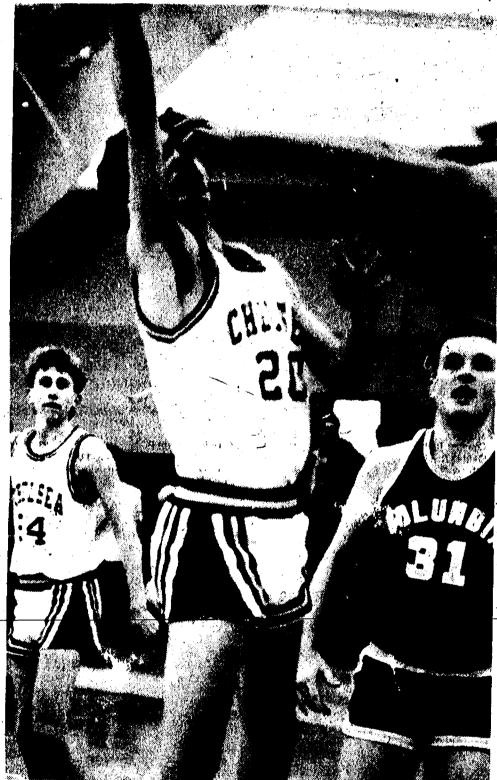

The Bulldogs also had 26 turnovers against a half-court defense.

Although Chelsea shot 43 percent from the field (21-49), they were also uncharacteristically weak at the line where they made 9-17 shots.

Chelsea also did not have the balanced scoring they have shown in recent games. Burg led Chelsea with 24 points and 13 rebounds. Morseau added 17 points, nine on three-point shots. Collins had seven points, Kyle Plank scored four, Chad Starkey had three, and Kerry Plank had one.

Chelsea finished with an 8-13 record, although they won six of their last 10 games.

"We had a good second half of the season, and we have a lot to look forward to next year." Raymond said.

JOHN COLLINS literally has a hand in his face as he tries to shoot a short jumper during last Thursday's district tournament game at Siena Heights College. Chelsea lost 65-56 to end the season.

Knocks Out Water Supply

A short circuit in the pump station control panel left much of the village without water early Saturday night for about an hour.

The village was forced to use a gaspowered pump to force water from underground tanks into the system. The short caused a fuse to blow repeatedly. Since then the fuse has been bypassed and a specialist has been working on the problem.

How Long Have You Been Suffering With The Same Painful Health Problem?

According to a recent booklet carried in Reader's Digest, Chiropractic has been successful in many cases where other health-care methods have failed.

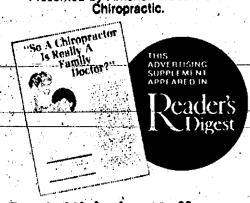

Call for an appointment.

If you have a health problem, isn't it worthwhile to get a second opinion-to determine if you can be helped without drugs or surgery? Many illnesses are structural in nature, or so complex that they may not respond to traditional medical methods. In addition, many people find that they have adverse sideeffects from medication.

Millions of Americans depend on their chiropractor as their family doctor. They utilize their chiropractor for treatment of a wide variety of health problems.

MY DOG

By: Joanna Wells, Kindergarten, Mrs. Plank

My dog likes to get out of her kennel. She comes to our door, and then she barks. We take her back, or sometimes we play fetch with her. She is six years old. She is a big black Lab. She jumps up on my daddy, and almost pushes him down. There is hay on top of her house to keep her

MY SISTER

By: Anna Walton, Kindergarten, Mrs. Plank,

Her hair sticks up on top, and there is a short curl, on the bottom, in the back She is two years old, and she is small. I helped her wash her hands this morning. She will be a bear on Halloween.

THE COLORFUL MONSTER By: Conar Gleespen (Dictated to: Emily Danforth) A.M. Kindergarten, Mrs. Klink

Once upon a time there was a colorful monster and he got caught in smoke and he couldn't walk because he was stuck in the mud too. Then he saw some balloons floating by. Then a storm came up. A very, very -big-storm.—Then he had an idea. He grabbed the balloons and he floated away from the storm. He forgot something while he was floating away

INDIANS

By: Amy Huetteman, Second Grade, Mrs. Harris

Indians lived in teepees. They hunted for their food. They killed many deer for food more than any other animal and made fur coats. Indians had long hair and they had to braid it. Indians were reddish instead of peach. Indian's made clothes out of animal skin. Indians fought for the land. They didn't like peach colored people until the Pilgrims came. The Pilarims lived with the Indians for a long time. Soon more Pilgrims came Indians made cances with birch bark. Indians shared everything they had and the Pilgrims shared everything they had too.

Indians and Pilgrims became good friends. Indians and Pilgrims died over 100 years ago. Indians had babies, they were either a boy or . girl Indians sometimes got in bad fights and killed each other. Indian's were loved by God as much as we people are. Indians still live but not that many. The Indians that still live are important to God. Indians cared about-the Pilgrims and the Pilgrims cared about the Indians.

Seattle kicks-it-deep-in the end-zone and Jerry Rice receives the burning ball. Jerry gets tackled at the 45 yord line of the destructive Seattle Sea Howks.

Joe Montana goes back and throws that unforgiving ball deep into the roaring end, zone. Carter catches the ball. Touch down! The fans are We're in the 4th quarter with 1:00 left on the clock. The score is 57-64, the 49ers are winning. Seattle throws it deep and it's a touch down. Seattle misses the field goal and the 49ers win the championship.

THE DINGO

By: Henry Heim, Fourth Grade, Mr. Laczo Once there was a Dingo who lived in Australia. He was like a vam-

One day he decided he would come out of the cave. When he was about ten yards out of the cave he heard some leaves crunching. He looked around and saw a man with a gun. The man took a shot at the Dingo and missed. Well by now the Dingo got the point. He wasn't going to stick around and eat hot lead. So he ran to the cave and he couldn't believe it happened. There was that man in front of the cave. "Jumpin" Jumm Bucks!" thought the Dingo, and he high-tailed it out of that

THE CREATURE

By: Sara Walters, Fifth Grade, Mrs. Stevens

-Oh, what a surprise! I jumped out of bed, ran to the window, and saw a big, scafey two-headed creature that was purple with yellow polka dots. It had six feet with four toes on each foot. On its! face it had one enormous eye on each head that was one foot long! Each eye was red on the inside part and orange on the outside part! It had four arms with one finger on each arm. Its' fingernails were pink. I screamed so loud my aunt in Plainwell heard me. When it heard me scream, it ran to Dexter.

MY SECRET PLACE ---

By: Katle Spink, Fifth Grade, Mrs. Brown

I have a secret place in the woods at my new house. It is very comforting to lie there in the soft new grass just-looking up at the trees and the blue sky with fluffy white clouds. The wind blows slightly. You can hear the squawk of the birds off in the distance. I feel very calm when I'm there. I will never forget this place because of the grass. It makes me feel happy when I think about it I can feel the wind blowing even in my imagination. When I'm mad, I can go there to relax. I can get away from everybody, and nobody will ever even know I'm gone! in the winter, there's a little ditch that turns to ice! It's fun to slide on! The reason I'll never forget this place is because of all the happy and wonderful feelifigs I have when I go there

FRIENDS

By: Andrew Rendell, Fifth Grade, Mr. Bullock Friends are people you can trust.

Friends should never, never lie. They should comfort you when you're ill. Friends should always come through. they should care and share with you.

They do this in return for the love they get from you! They don't care if you're rich or poor.

Do you spend more time planning your vacation than your finances?

Few people would think of going on vacation without having planned first. Yet many people spend little or no time planning something even more important; their financial future: If you're one of these people, maybe it's time you started giving more thought to what's ahead. You can start by talking to us the investment specialists of Integrated Resources Equity Corp. We believe your financial future deserves careful planning - and we'll listen closely to your needs and goals before recommending appropriate investments for you. So make sure any itinerary you plan includes a visit to us. After all, isn't your future worth as much preparation as your vacation?

THANK YOU

We would like to thank our families, friends and all others, who have showed their love, kindness and prayers to Chris and us during her recent surgery and illness. Everybody and everything, gifts, meals, babysitting, etc., has helped so much and is greatly appreciated.

Dan & Chris Cobb and family.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Hazel Dvorak would like to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to all of those friends and relatives of Hazel's who extended their sympathy and shared in our grief of her sudden passing. We would like to extend a special thank you to John and Gloria Mitchell, the Rev. Fr. Dupuis and Sister Pat in guiding us through a most difficult time. God bless you all.

CHŞ Class of '69 Continues Plans for 20th-Year Reunion

Chelsea High school Class of 1969 will continue plans for their 20th-year reunion with the next meeting being Thurday, March 9 at 7:30 p.m., at Chelsea Christian Fellowship church, 337 Wilkinson St.

There are still many plans to complete, according to Marilyn Mast, so all class members who can attend are urged to be present.

Ann L. Travis Miller, daughter of William and Marjorie Travis, 16 Sycamore Dr., Chelsea, was recently appointed administrative assistant of the Fourth Freedom Forum, Inc., Goshen, Ind., as announced by Howard S. Brembeck, president. Her responsibilities include assisting Marc A. Hardy, executive director, with the daily operations of the Forum, as well as making contacts with other foundations to cultivate their interest in the work of the Forum for possible grant contributions. She will be attending seminars and conventions that focus on national security issues.

Ms. Miller formerly was associated with manufacturing concerns in the Elkhart, Ind. area in an administrative capacity. She has been affiliated with Professional Secretaries International, serving in officer positions and as committee chair, and active with the YWCA Women's Committee for several years.

A cum laude graduate of Olivet College, Olivet, with a BA in Business Psychology, she is a member of Arete Mortarboard Society and Soronian Sorority. The Fourth Freedom Forum is a private operating foundation dedicated to the development and communication of a method for international security by use of alternatives to mass destructive weapons.

Ms. Miller and her family reside in Elkhart, Ind.

The first half of the feature adventure and dreams, while more romantic episodes will be featured during the latter portion.

One of the specialty numbers which promises a few giggles will be the 'Dance With the Animals," as Tarzan and Jane are surrounded by a bevy of skaters, clutching cuddly stuffed animals.

An added attraction will be the youngest skaters, beginner classes, who will skate just before each of the regular performances, demonstrating their newly-learned individual skills for the show patrons.

Saturday's show starts at 7:30 p.m., while Sunday's show time is 2 p.m.
The precision-skills class will perform, as will the novice Arborettes, and Hockettes, senior class participants. Take an hour or two to treat yourself to a great show, a once-ayear spectacular, "Melody on Ice," at Veterans Ice Arena on Jackson Rd., at the western edge of Ann Arbor.

Mike Park Earns Agri Scholarship

Michael B. Park of Chelsea has been awarded a scholarship from the Michigan Agri-Dealers Association.

Park is enrolled in the Ag Tech Elevator and Supply Program at Michigan State University. He also works part-time for McCalla's Feed Service of Chelsea.

The award was for the 1989 winter term and was based on grade point average, attitude, determination, and potential in the pursuit of a career in agriculture.

Park is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Park of Chelsea.

Off-Duty-Officer Nabs Shoplifters

A Munith boy and a Munith man face shoplifting charges in connection with an incident at Polly's Market on Wednesday, March 1.

According to Chelsea police reports. an off-duty officer who was shopping in the store noticed unusual activity. When he went to his car parked outside, the man and boy were in the vehicle next to him. One of them was pulling cans of smokeless tobacco out of his coat pocket.

The officer asked to see a sales receipt and the suspects couldn't produce one. They later admitted they stole the merchandise worth $7.50.

MARGARET WARREN

Margaret Warren To Be Honored By Covenant

The congregation, friends and family of Margaret Warren will recognize her as one of Covenant's distinguished senior citizens this Sunday at 10:30 worship service. She is a life-time resident of the Chelsea area and has lived for many years on Congdon St.

A contribution will be made in her honor to the Building Fund, a "Senior Citizens Chair" will be presented and others will join in tributes honoring her many years of dedicated service.

Margaret Warren was born Dec. 10, 1901 in Freedom township to John and Mary Schiller. Responsibility for a large family soon came to Margaret after the death of an older sister and her mother. Her work also took her Methodist Home, Hoover Ball Bear- nurse. Bell (then located above State Farm Margaret met and married Jack Warren, a barber who eventually opened his own shop, Jack & Son, which is still a part of the family, thanks to Douglas, one of two sons. Margaret had given years of care and love to Douglas following a serious hip injury. Son, Ronald is a school teacher in Gardner Junior High of Lansing.

Hard work and love for family had brought Margaret many joys ... and' she continued her efforts in making sure her sons received good educations. The family took vacations in Florida, bought a summer home near Chelsea and Margaret pursued her personal interests in gardening, knitting and crocheting. She continues her own housework and gardening and is regular in attendance at Covenant. She has always been one of the first to volunteer for church dinners and special occasions. -

Her two grandchildren by Ronald and step-grandchildren by Douglas now keep life full and active. Her sister Norma is an invalid and beyond her home to Studebaker, the Margaret would wish she could be her ing, Chelsea Milling and Michigan Pastor Smeenge of Covenant church says this is one of the spriest 87-year-old parishioners he has ever known. Though Margaret Warren has outlived most of her peers, those that still remember her are invited to share in this special service honoring this notable senior citizen.

One-Man Play 'Vincent' Offered at Webster Church

The life and times of the Dutch impressionist painter, Vincent van Gogh, will be dramatically presented when the Community Guild of Webster United Church of Christ produces the play, "Vincent." Local playwright Mark Friesen, will be directing the production of Leonard Nimoy's adaptation of the original play by Philip Stephens.

The Dessert Theatre is scheduled for March 10-11, with dessert being served at 8 p.m. and the show beginning at 8:35 p.m. The one-man show will be performed by the Rev. John P. Gardner who will portray both Vincent van Gogh, the passionate and often misunderstood artist whose life ended in suicide, and Vincent's younger brother, Theo van Gogh.

It was through Theo's support and restricted diet.

encouragement that Vincent was able to discover, nurture and fully develop his artistic genius. Using Vincent's voluminous correspondence with Theo as a vehicle, the play traces Vincent's three great passions in life: his love of God, his reckless and misfortunate love of love, and his intense devotion to art.

Tickets for the Dessert Theatre are $5 for adults and $3 for children. They are available for sale at Webster church or may be reserved by calling 426-5115 or 426-5235. The featured desserts, determined by a vote of the congregation of Webster church, will include: Cheesecake, Carrot Cake, Chocolate Mousse, Torte and Fudge Cream Hearts. In addition, a special dessert is available for those on the annual Grass Lake Community Choir's Easter Cantata.

The choir will be re-performing the very first musical presentation, "Can It Be?" by Larry Mayfield, on Palm Sunday week-end. Two performances will be held in the Grass Lake United Methodist church, 449 E. Michigan Ave., Grass Lake. The first performance will be held on Saturday, March 18, at 7 p.m., and the second will be on Sunday, March 19, at 3 p.m.

The community choir is comprised of members of Grass Lake area churches, members of the Grass Lake school choir, and area residents who love the opportunity to participate in a mass choir.

Under new direction this year, the choir is benefitting from the teaching and conducting skills of Titus (Ty) King. Ty has a bachelor's degree in music, and taught vocal music in Saline for 10 years prior to teaching American History and Geography, for which he recently received an award as one of four outstanding American History teachers in the area. He has also been active in vocal music and hand bells at the Napoleon United Methodist ehurch. He brings to the chorus a varied musical background, and a fresh new spirit! Narration for the performance will be done by Barb Bleyaert, and the accompanist is Elyse Hensel. The Rev. William P. Walbridge will be conducting the or-
