RE-INSTALLING THE BELL at Sylvan Town Hall proved to be quite an undertaking last Tuesday morning and the event drew a number of on-lookers. The 450-pound bell, which had been repainted, had to be lifted to the top of the W. Middle St. building using the combination of a bucket truck and a piece of steel. If all had onlookers wondering how the original builders got the bell into the tower in the first place.

Chelsea School District Will Ask Voters To Waive Headlee Provisions

Chelsea School District voters will be asked to waive provisions of the Headlee Amendment in the June elections.

Headlee Amendment requires a rollback in millage if the amount of additional tax revenue collected exceeds the rate of inflation. For 1989-90 the required rollback would be 1.28 mills.

Monday night Chelsea Board of Education unanimously approved placing the language on the ballot.

If voters approve the measure, the district will collect approximately $292,000 more than if the amendment takes effect.

The figure is the equivalent of the district's heating and electrical bill for an entire year, according to assistant superintendent Fred Mills. If the school district were in the market, it could also purchase eight new buses. It is also roughly double the athletic budget.

"This is all an estimate right now because we don't have the (State Equalized Valuation) for this year," Mills said.

If the override is approved, district residents will see their tax bills rise 1.14 mills because the rollback automatically took effect this year. That rollback cost the district $235,000 this year.

Voters have previously authorized an operating millage of 38.52 mills. This year's tax levy is 37.376 mills.

"What we're saying essentially is that given the growth in the district, we can survive without additional millage," Mills said.

Mills has estimated the SEV in the district for 1989-90 to be $220,192,448. If that number is accurate, it would be a rise of $16,779,272 over 1988-89.

If the Headlee waiver is approved, district residents would have a tax levy of approximately 40.77 mills, including a 2.25 debt service levy.

In other business, the board approved asking voters to renew a 5.8 millage issue for three years.

The board also adopted a resolution to borrow $3,350,000 to provide operating money until winter taxes are collected.

In non-financial business, the board accepted the resignation of South school kindergarten teacher Sara Wilson, effective at the end of the school year. It also accepted the resignation of JoAnn Richardson, Beach school media aide, and Loren Winn as Chelsea High school boys golf coach.

Twps. Hold Annual Meets, Lima Talks About Growth

Development in Lima township was the primary topic of discussion at the township's annual meeting held last Saturday, March 25.

Residents and township officials voiced their concerns about the residential development in the western part of the township near the Village of Chelsea.

When discussion ended the township agreed to hold a special public meeting later this month with planner Don Pennington concerning the development issue.

"We need more input from the residents," said township supervisor Lella Bauer.

"What we want to try to do is get the over-all view of the people who attend the meeting. We want to know what they want to see in Lima township."

Bauer said there is concern as to how the Belser Estates subdivision on the eastern edge of the village will affect the township. In addition, a developer is seeking to have some acreage off Old US-12 just west of Harper Dr. re-zoned from agriculture to residential use.

Bauer also said residents want the township's zoning ordinance and General Development Plan updated.

In other business at the meeting, the township approved a 1989-90 budget of $355,232.41. That's a decrease of more than $14,000 from last year.

Township officials received five percent across the board raises. The supervisor's salary is $8,500, the clerk and treasurer each will make $9,300, and the assistant assessor's salary is $4,000. The two trustees will be paid $2,640 for the year, or $110 each per meeting.

The largest chunk of the budget, $88,000, was allotted to fire protection, with approximately $18,000 going to the Dexter Area Fire Department for the purchase of two trucks.

Road maintenance received a $30,000 budget.

About 50 people, many from the Portage Lake area, attended Dexter township's annual meeting Saturday, March 25.

The township board approved a 1989-90 operating budget of $341,690, a four percent increase over last year.

Much of the increase is due to anticipated expenses associated with the Village of Chelsea's landfill problems, as well as the anticipated remodeling of Dexter Town Hall, according to supervisor James Drolett.

"We hope the cost of the landfill is a one-time cost," Drolett said.

The township wants to remodel the downstairs of the building for office use and the upstairs for a meeting area. However, the meeting area will need central heat and air conditioning to make it usable.

An office for the Portage Lake Sewer Authority will be set up. The $9 million sewer project serves 1,300 homes.

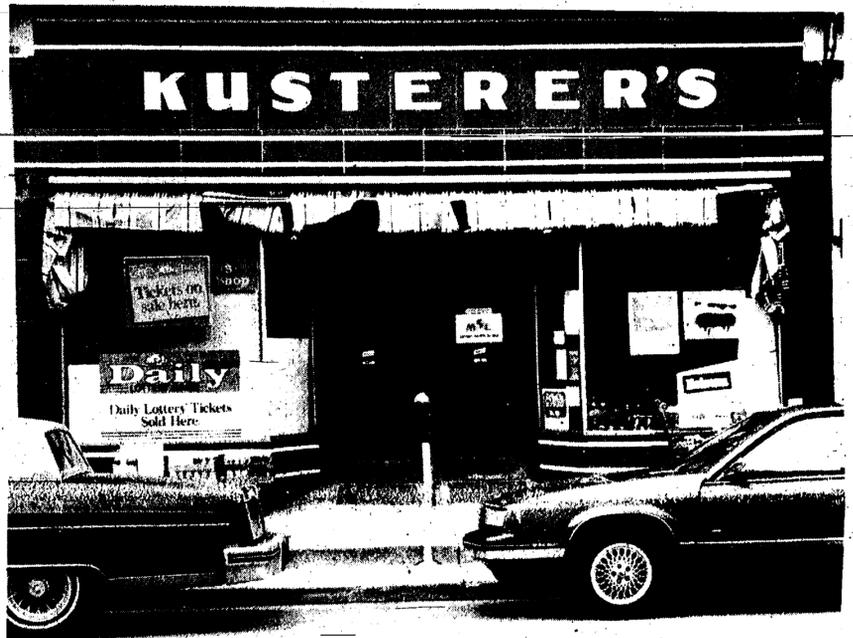

The township will eventually start opening the hall half days, Drolett said. Dexter township officials received raises as well.

The supervisor's salary was increased from $14,000 to $16,000; treasurer's salary rose from $12,000 to $13,000; clerk's salary was increased from $9,000 to $10,000; and each trustee's salary was raised from $2,400 to $2,600.

The township plans to spend $65,000 to $80,000 on roads this year.

The cost of fire protection rose from $60,000 to $72,000.

KUSTERER'S will soon become the site of another business. The long-time grocery store is liquidating its inventory and building owner Luther Kusterer plans to sell the building. There is no word yet on who the new owner will be.

Kusterer's Food Market Closing After Four Decades of Business

Kusterer's, one of village's oldest grocery stores, is closing for good this month.

Owner Luther Kusterer, after more than 40 years in business, has decided it's time to retire. The business will not be passed on. He plans to sell the building and enjoy himself, perhaps play a little golf. Bob Dorer, Kusterer's number one employee for 38 years, who seems to be a fixture at the front cash register, is planning a semi-retirement. He says he'll eventually get a part-time job.

Luther and his father, Waldo, opened the business in 1947. Luther had spent a short time at Chelsea Products (the site of Dana Corp.) as a "flunkie" as he called it. His father had been in partnership with Oscar Schneider in the grocery business, but the partnership was dissolved several years earlier. Waldo worked as a shipping clerk at Bowser in the interim years.

Luther approached his father about forming their own partnership and the rest is history.

"It's what I always wanted to do," Luther says.

"I used to go up (where Dad worked) and help during the noon hour." It's only due to liquor laws at the time that Kusterer's wasn't located one-building to the south.

The Kusterer family owned the building where the Woodshed Eatery is located. Owners of the restaurant owned the building where Kusterer's has done business all these years. The restaurant couldn't get a liquor license because it would have been within 500 feet of the Congregational church. So the owners swapped buildings.

Over the years Kusterer's built a loyal clientele, partly by services such as home delivery, and perhaps Luther's reluctance to collect bills.

"He just wouldn't collect them," said Luther's wife, Louise, who met him in 1947 when she came into the store for groceries.

"I guess that was his contribution to charity."

Several people have already called Luther to tell him how much they'll miss the home delivery as they've come to depend on it.

The store also supplied food to school camps during the summer, and has been the number one food supplier for the Kiwanis Kitchen. More than once Luther, a Kiwanis Club member, has been asked to go back to the store after closing and replenish the Kiwanis wagon.

Luther has also contributed to the community in other ways. For example, for seven years he served on the Chelsea Board of Education, where he wasn't afraid to speak his mind. He's also been as outspoken as anyone when it comes to the Downtown

Bush To Tap Rosenberg For High EPA Position

Chelsea-area resident William Rosenberg was expected to be nominated by President George Bush this week to become assistant administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Rosenberg, a Riker Rd. resident, would direct the Office of Air and Radiation, a staff of 1,600 people. He is now affiliated with the Investment Group, a real estate investment and development business in Ann Arbor and Washington, D.C.

The extensive FBI background check has been completed. Rosenberg's neighbors and business associates have all been grilled. Rosenberg said he has sold his interest in his business and other stocks to avoid any possibility of a conflict of interest. Only the formality of his nomination and approval remains. "This position will affect a lot of people, so nothing is certain," he said of the appointment.

Rosenberg plans to commute to Washington during the week, where he will maintain an apartment. However, he has no intentions of selling the home he purchased here in 1978.

"I wouldn't want to move," he said. "We like the area."

A graduate of Columbia Law School and Columbia Business School, Rosenberg held his first public office under Gov. William Milliken in 1969, when he was appointed administrator of the Michigan State Housing Development Authority.

From 1969-73 he served as chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission.

"In January of 1973 the Arab oil embargo hit and energy policy became a major issue," Rosenberg said.

President Richard Nixon appointed Rosenberg to serve on the Independent Advisory Committee in 1974. The next year he became assistant administrator in the Federal Energy Administration, the forerunner of the Energy Department. There he was charged with energy resource development, including the Alaska Pipeline issue.

Rosenberg's new position, still subject to congressional approval, would put him in charge of air quality issues. For example, his office would set the standards for the states' enforcement of air quality laws, including the Clean Air Act, among others.

One major issue he'll be working on will be acid rain control.

"It's basically an issue of what should older power plants do to con-

What began as a way to save money for a Chelsea family turned out to be an annual event that Marvin and Charlene DeWitt and their sons anticipate. The DeWitts and their sons processed more than 500 gallons of maple sap into 53 quarts of maple syrup this year. They began their maple tradition five years earlier and looked forward to it as an annual holiday.

A cross section of Chelsea community organizations was in the early stages of organizing a task force to deal with the issues of drug and alcohol abuse on all levels. The Substance Abuse Task Force was initially spearheaded by the Rev. Erwin Koch of St. Paul United Church of Christ.

A 28-year-old man and two juvenile boys aged 14 and 15 were arrested for breaking and entering at Beach Middle school after fleeing the scene and being tracked down by a police dog. An art exhibit of cast paper creations, photography and clay sculpture by Siena Heights senior Mary F. Boylan of Chelsea opened March 28 in the college's Little Gallery of Studio Angelico.

Fred and Lucille Lewis of Chelsea planned to send a birthday card to a woman they did not know after Fred found lying on his property a pink balloon with a neatly typed message. The note revealed that the balloon was released in Hubbard, Ia. in honor of Clara Larson who was celebrating her 80th birthday. It told that the finder of the balloon was welcome to send Clara a birthday card.

Vorhees Brothers Circus of Grand Rapids was to perform under the roof of the Chelsea High School gymnasium. Sponsored by the Chelsea Recreation Council, the two performances would feature American as well as European circus acts, including a circus atmosphere of popcorn, peanuts, clowns and candycorn. Locking up the championship title in the Men's Recreation Basketball League was the IPSCO team who played their final game in tournament action against Chelsea Lumber. The IPSCO team put the game away with a score of 71-50, concluding a perfect season for the fast playing high-jumpers.

Governor Proposes Program To Track Toxic Air Wastes

Following a new report showing Michigan among the worst states in terms of amount of toxic wastes emitted into the air, Governor James J. Blanchard is seeking approval of $354,200 to begin a program to identify and reduce the substances.

Also Michigan's natural resources director described the 1970 U. S. Clean Air Act—intended to attack six prime pollutants—as a failure.

Michigan ranked 6th worst in the country in the amount of air toxics emitted by industry, according to the first-ever survey by the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency. The data indicated Michigan emitted 106.2 million pounds of pollutants, or about 12 pounds per square mile.

The survey of data collected from industry covers 320 chemicals, 60 of them identified as carcinogens; the EPA regulates just seven of them.

Blanchard said the funds he is requesting to be approved by the Legislature would help identify sources of airborne toxics, assess their effects and identify ways to control the source of pollution.

"Our commitment is to see the Clean Air Act strengthened and improved," Blanchard said. But he said even without it, progress can be made.

Natural Resources Director David Hales, who called the numbers "misleading" said the Act "is a total failure when it comes to air toxins."

He said he does not think Michigan is doing that badly, saying the cancer risk is less than one in one million.

But Alex Sagady of the American Lung Association, who has been working with the Michigan Environmental Council and Sierra Club on air toxic issues, said the state has the weakest air pollution control provisions of any state in the country.

"We've done a very poor job in Michigan of keeping up with needed changes," he said.

Sagady said weaknesses in the state law include a lack of civil or administrative penalties, no requirement that air permits must be periodically renewed, and a limitation on the attorney general, who must prove criminal intent, to filing complaints only in the county in which the pollution source is located.

Sagady, a member of a DNR committee on air toxics policy, said a rules package should be ready within two months to set standards for new sources while a separate package dealing with existing sources is much farther away from completion.

At the Governor's Conference on Water, Blanchard said 50 percent of all new toxic substances entering the Great Lakes are believed to be from airborne sources.

Separately, the EPA said pollutants it does regulate (such as lead, sulfur dioxide, ozone and carbon monoxide) had fallen off between 1978 and 1987, but that levels of ozone and particulate matter had increased and nitrogen sources had leveled off.

Major sources of the pollutants are from chemical, metals and paper industries, all of which have major facilities in Michigan.

Federal health standards were exceeded for ozone in Muskegon, Flint and Grand Rapids and for ozone and carbon monoxide in Detroit.

In addition, the governor proposed improving the Lakes by: legislation authorizing a study of water use trends; an executive order requiring air and water quality standards to conform with goals outlined in the U. S.-Canadian water quality agreement and the Great Lakes Toxic Substances Control Agreement; making good on the state's commitment of $25 million to the interstate Great Lake Protection Fund; legislation to conserve 70,000 acres of shoreline sand dunes; and promoting the Lakes in education packets distributed to schools.

Omitted from the survey was air emissions by automobiles, toxic waste dumps and companies producing less than 75,000 pounds of substances a year.

Pitz says Gas Tax Isn't Only Solution to Road Revenue Needs
 Department of Transportation Director James Pitz said recently a state increase in the tax on gasoline is not the only means by which road improvements can be achieved, suggesting additional federal revenue should not be ruled out as a source.

Pitz said some increase in revenues is necessary, whether from state taxes or a share of state funds from a proposed federal tax, adding that the $109 million transportation package passed in 1987 is not raising enough money to meet needs.

Pitz said though he expects the House to consider a gas tax hike, since it is being promoted by Speaker Lewis Dodak (D-Montrose), the federal government has a significant amount of money which should be returned to states for the infrastructure needs.

Included in that amount is $14 billion in the Federal High Trust Fund raised from the federal gas tax which Mr. Pitz said is being held back to reduce the federal deficit numbers.

If that money was returned to the states, he added, Michigan would stand to receive $60 to $75 million per year for four years.

'A Blast of Broadway' Arrives April 8

"Something Wonderful," its "Perfectly Marvelous!" That's right, it will be "Some Enchanted Evening" when you come "Over the Rainbow" to the George Prinzinger Auditorium in Chelsea High school at 8 p.m. on Saturday, April 8.

Chelsea Area Players are exclaiming, "Let Us Entertain You." They want you to recall "Memory" after "Memory" from their past performances. "All They Ask of You" is a $5 general admission to benefit their building fund.

So they ask you to leave "The Street Where You Live" and join them in "Friendship" when they "Send in the Clowns" Saturday night. With a "Little Bit of Luck" after being amused in their "Cabaret" they hope you will "Consider Yourself One of Us" and go home "Singing in the Rain" the "Lullaby of Broadway."

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that he was searching the papers for word of a medical breakthrough that's bound to come. Somebody has got to figger out all over agin that asafedity is good for what ails you.

Zeke had saw where onions and garlic perfect agin stomach cancer, and the more you eat the better your chances. This latest study was done in China by the National Cancer Institute, Zeke said, but older reserch in this country showed the same benefits. Zeke said he allus had known that eating garlic would keep you from catching anything anybody else had, but he didn't know the stuff was actual good for you.

Maybe in medicine to, Zeke said, everything that goes around comes around. He said his Ma wore a chunk of asafedity in a little cloth bag tied to a string around her neck, and he could flat guarantee that nobody got clost enough to that dear lady to trade any kind of germs or viruses with her. If onions and garlic are good, asafedity would be wonderful, was Zeke's words.

General, the fellers took a interest in Zeke's report. Clem Webster said the medical news reminded him of a report he saw recent where this doctor said looking at a patient's tongue was a waste of time. Use to, Clem said, the doc would take your temperature and pulse and thump your back and stomach before he got down to the real serious business of laying that little wooden paddle on your tongue and taking a long look inside. We figgered that's where he read the state of our health. Nowdays, they hook us up to machines that draw squiggle lines across papers, but now we got to pay extry fer the machines and extry fer the specialist to come in and read the lines.

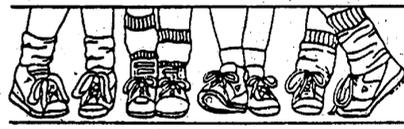

Farthermore, Bug Hookum pointed out, we got to remember that different doctors read different signs. Fer instant, Bug had saw where Dr. Everett Koop, the country's no. 1 doctor, ignores his best advice. After all his warnings about evils of alcohol and the need to keep a low colesterol, he said recent that he takes his drinks, his red meat and eggs on a regular base. He said he excused hisself from his rules because he believes he inherited good colesterol, so a little fat and firewater in the diet wouldn't hurt.

Practical speaking, Bug said, we can rationalize our ways anywhere. He had saw where a paper plant in North Carolina is polluting the Pigeon River that runs into Tennessee. North Carolina has jobs and taxes and Tennessee has brown, smelly water. So Tennessee sued to make the plant clean up its discharge and the company said it would have to lay off 1,000 people and close part of the plant. At last report, some joker in the North Carolina legislature had put in a spite bill that would outlaw sale of Tennessee whisky in his state. Maybe even more good will come of this when Tennessee boycotts North Carolina cigarets, was Bug's words.

Both states have right on their side, but both are colored by their interest. Like when Hoover come to the White House and said he was going to economize. One of his first savings was to move Coolidge's saddle horse from the capitol grounds to Fort Meyer. When Cal heard about it he broke his silence to ask if the horse would eat less hay at the fort.

There's always the savings. Remember pet rocks? Now I see they're paying their way working as weather rocks hanging from chains in yards. When they're wet it's raining and when they're dry it ain't.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Planners Approve Domino's Site Plans

Chelsea Village Planning Commission last week approved site plans for a Domino's Pizza outlet on S. Main St. at the location of the former Ralph Fletcher's Friendly Service.

The plans were approved subject to conditions in a report issued by village planning consultant Carl Schmutt.

have been the subject of some controversy. Schmutt recommended that a curb cut on S. Main St. be closed so that all traffic enters the parking lot via Lincoln St. In addition, he recommended seven parking spaces while zoning inspector Rosemary Harook said nine are required by the zoning ordinance.

Schmutt also wants developers to eliminate some pavement west of the sidewalk and landscape the area, thereby cutting down the Lincoln St. driveway by 11 feet.

The commission approved the plans with the provision that developers Gene and Becky Belknap could work with Schmutt to formulate a different traffic flow pattern, if desired.

The approval allows the developers to begin work on the building itself.

Four Men Charged In Deer Incident

Four young Chelsea men have been charged with malicious destruction of property for throwing a dead deer through the office window of the Chelsea High school assistant principal.

The four were charged with a lesser charge of destruction of property under $100. Police want the four to pay for the damage, which ran several hundred dollars, as well as perform community service for the school district.

Charged in the incident were Ronald J. Hafley, 20, of Pierce Rd.; Michael S. Zeller, 18, of Sugar Loaf Lake; Harold Polzin, 20, of Fletcher Rd.; and Paul Kennedy, 19, of Jerusalem Rd.

According to police reports, the four found the deer in a fence row. They took the deer to the school and it took at least three tries before the deer went through the window.

A telephone in the office sustained the greatest amount of damage.

Thursday, April 7, 1955—Members of the Chelsea High School Latin club gathered in the gym for their second annual Roman banquet. Dressed in appropriate Roman costumes, members dined while reclining on cushions on the floor. Mary Lou Ghidotti, club president, Sally Vogel and Lois Pierce helped the "slaves" prepare the meal. Students enjoyed the banquet in the manner of the old Romans.

Democratic Candidate Maurice Hoffman defeated the Republican incumbent, Elba Gage, for the post of supervisor of Sylvan township by the narrow margin of 20 votes.

Neil Buehler was announced to be valedictorian of the Class of 1955 at Chelsea High school. He attended St. Mary's school for his elementary school work before entering Chelsea High school where he had been prominent in sports, particularly basketball. He planned to study engineering at the University of Michigan.

A Chamber of Commerce committee attended the Village Council meeting in the interests of off-street parking in Chelsea and learned that village officials recognized that such parking was a problem. The public safety committee headed by Dr. Glen Hass planned to work with the Chamber of Commerce committee in the matter of finding a solution to the problem.

Washtenaw County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations met in Charles McKenny hall in Ypsilanti and elected officers. Mrs. Russell Bernath of Chelsea was named secretary.

A 1988 graduate of Pinckney High school, he joined the Navy in August 1988.

Trailer Stolen From Welding Co.

Police are looking for a man who stole a 5' by 8' trailer from Chelsea Welding Co. on Saturday morning, April 1. A witness described the man as about 35 years old and between 5'8" and 6' tall. He was driving a brown Jeep Cherokee with chrome and brass wheels. The witness saw the man in the act of taking the vehicle but didn't realize until later that he was stealing it.

CHELSEA SCOUTS held a paper drive last Saturday in the Chelsea Shopping Center parking lot. The newspapers are collected and sold to a firm that turns them into insulation. The scouts have approached village council about the possibility of installing a permanent newspaper drop-off point. They are worried that the recycling center at Polly's Market may help deplete one of the scout's major sources of income.

control their emissions of sulfur dioxide," Rosenberg said.

"There are problems in Illinois, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee where the older plants don't have scrubbers in them. It is going to cost a lot of money to clean these things up. You can say to the utilities, the least cost option is to change fuels. But that will cost a lot of jobs. We're not talking about closing them down and replacing them, but how to make them cleaner."

Air pollution in general is still a major cause for concern despite advances in automobile design and other areas.

Rosenberg said that 50 percent of all pollutants are caused by automobiles. Although catalytic converters and other devices have cut pollutants substantially, the number of miles driven is higher, which has caused pollution levels to remain about the same.

"There are still 61 areas in the country that don't meet ozone standards," Rosenberg said.

"The entire eastern seaboard is a problem as are Chicago, Detroit and others. The standards have not been met even though a lot of controls have been put in place. The question becomes what do we do next?"

Rosenberg said he'd like to see extensive use of ethanol as a motor vehicle fuel, which could give a big boost to the farm economy as corn is a major source.

"We've gotten 96 percent of all the reductions we're going to get from gasoline driven vehicles," Rosenberg said.

"We've done what we can to change the car. The other choice has to be an alternative fuel. The question of alternative fuels is one of the big issues."

Household cleaning solvents, paints, and lubricants are also a big source of pollution. Rosenberg said they emit three times the amount of organic pollutants that cars do.

"This is a very broad-based problem," he said.

Rosenberg said that pollution prevention is really the same thing as helping the nation to become energy efficient. By using cleaner, more abundant fuel in less quantity the air will become cleaner.

Rosenberg's wife, Mary Beth, is an active artist in the area. She also likes to participate in dressage, an equestrian competition.

The couple has three children. Seth, the oldest, lives in Oakland county, Laurence is a student in Connecticut, and Gabrielle attends Indiana University.

The Slightly Poisoned Grapes

On March 13 the U.S. Food and Drug Administration announced that poisoned grapes had been shipped into our country from Chile. Consumers were warned not to buy nor eat any kind of Chilean fruit until further notice. Two grapes containing potassium cyanide were concealed somewhere in a shipment of 400,000 boxes arriving at the port of Philadelphia.

As it turned out, the amount of poison in those two morsels of fruit was barely sufficient to make an infant mildly ill.

Nevertheless a nation-wide quarantine went into effect. Some $100 million worth of fruit was taken off the market and destroyed. Canada, Japan and West Germany quickly joined the ban.

There is a story behind this story. In the scenario which follows we have a collection of well-established facts. They are mingled with some assumptions which are fully as credible as deciding what's missing from a sequence such as 1245789.

The narrative, then—part fact, part surmise—begins with a pair of activists whom we will call Jose and Pedro. They are members of a cabal which we will designate as the Coalition for Human Justice. Theirs is a commitment for revenge against injustices by capitalist fruit growers, shipping magnates, fruit marketing corporations and American consumers who eat imported fruit while landless peons starve.

One night late in February of this year the two conspirators meet on a warm Chilean dock where the S.S. Almeria Star is waiting to be loaded with a shipment of grapes. While Pedro acts as a lookout, Jose expertly opens a container of seedless, red grapes. In the glow of a distant light he injects two plump grapes with a solution of cyanide previously stolen from a mining operation. The injection is done with a small syringe but each grape can only accommodate a few drops of the solution.

Knowing little about chemistry, Jose and Pedro are unaware of a basic scientific fact. The acid in the grapes will neutralize the alkali in the potassium, rendering the cyanide solution close to harmless. There is a further eventuality, unappreciated by the conspirators. The tainted grapes, reacting to the presence of the cyanide, will turn mushy and possess such an unappetizing appearance that the eater will leave them on the stem.

Yet, even if Jose and Pedro were to think of such a thing, it wouldn't matter. They want the injected grapes to be found, not eaten.

In the dim light Pedro makes a mark on the top of the container by spilling an ounce or so of black ink on the surface and letting it spread into a prominent blotch. The following morning, he and Jose join Eduardo, a loading foreman on the dock who is also a compatriot in Human Justice. With Eduardo's help the marked box is stored for its long journey to Philadelphia in a cargo space designated as 77-B. During loading, he makes sure that the box will be concealed by others placed on top. Later, as the containers slide down the conveyor during unloading the marked box, when it appears, will be plain to see.

While the Almeria Star is northbound, and perhaps on its eastward passage through the Panama Canal, Jose anonymously telephones the American Embassy in Santiago, the capital of Chile. It is March 2 and he tells an attache that a shipment containing poisoned Chilean grapes will be arriving in Philadelphia in less than a week aboard the Almeria Star. For purposes of verification, Jose continues, American inspectors will find some of the poisoned grapes in a box marked on the top with a large, black ink spot. It will be located in the hold in section 77-B. He hangs up.

News about the poisoned grape shipment is immediately relayed by the ~~Chilean~~ Embassy to the Chilean government. Soon thereafter it is phoned to the Santiago newspapers, probably by another Human Justice aficionado. The newspapers run the item but pooch-pooch it as a hoax. Furious, Jose again calls the embassy. He insists that they will believe him when Yankees begin dying from poisoned grapes. He repeats the warning for a third time on March 8.

The Almeria Star noses her way into a berth in the port of Philadelphia. No arrival date is mentioned in news dispatches but, to a writer, tracking the chronology of events it is essential. For this reason I call Susan Howland, spokeswoman for the Port of Philadelphia Maritime Exchange. She checks her records and comes back with the date: Thursday, March 9. However, she explains, they did not start "working the ship" (unloading it) until the following day.

At that time 50 FDA inspectors appear on the dock, set up tables and proceed with the inspection of 12,000 cases of grapes. They look for evidence of discoloration in the fruit, softness or signs that the skin had been punctured.

Nothing is mentioned in news releases by the FDA as to whether a separate inspection crew boarded the ship on the 9th or 10th though it seems probable in view of three warnings. Discovery of the two grapes was publicly announced by the FDA on Sunday the 12th.

The Sabbath notwithstanding, 150 additional FDA inspectors reported for duty on the Philadelphia pier. Men and women wearing FDA badges began a search of 12,000 cases of grapes chosen from every section of the ship. They definitely had two tainted grapes. Could they find ten or a frightening 100?

By Monday the 13th the answer was no and the FDA discontinued its search. The Food and Drug Administration warned the nation to buy no Chilean fruit. Not only were grapes quarantined but also Chilean peaches, blackberries, blueberries, melons, green apples, plums and pears.

Chilean seasons are mirror images of ours. When it's February, March and April in Chelsea it's warm in South America like our July, August and September. As a consequence of the quarantine, 200,000 Chilean workers were laid off at the height of the season.

Stunned, Chilean officials flew to Washington to protest the quarantine and demand that it be rescinded. They met with Secretary of State James Baker and Vice-President Dan Quayle. The diplomats from Chile were deeply disturbed at the economic damage done by the FDA's abrupt decision. And they got their message across. Responding to pressure from the State Department, the FDA quarantine was lifted on Monday, March 20. At the same time the FDA announced a system of inspection for future shipments of Chilean fruits. The agency also offered the Chileans assistance with security measures at their fruit packing houses and storage facilities.

Time magazine featured the Chilean grape incident on their cover March 27 with a headline, "Was the fruit-ban panic or prudence?" They appeared to reply by saying, "But rather than issue a warning to examine fruit carefully, the Food and Drug Administration impounded 2 million crates of fruit at airports and docks . . . a still life of waste—and advised consumers not to eat any Chilean fruit." The world's airlines handle bomb threats almost on a daily basis. By now they have a scale of values to guide them in various degrees of response. Our cyanide grape scare was unprecedented and caught both countries off balance. Their reaction clearly reflected shock and inexperience, but they'll be better prepared next time.

Middle Square

Mon. - Fri., 9:30 to 3:00
Sat. 8:30 to 12

You may be among the one in 15 Americans who is missing an important part of life because you can't hear as you once did. Or, you may be the friend or relative of a hearing impaired person.

Signs to look for which may bear out a hearing loss include the following:
• Straining to hear conversations
• Feeling that people mumble when they talk
• Needing to have the television, radio, or stereo turned up louder than others in the room.

So, if you experience any of the above or know of someone who does, call us today for a hearing evaluation.

"Don't miss out on a single word!"

All Imported Chilean Fresh Fruits And Vegetables Have Been Withdrawn From Sale.

POISON GRAPE SCARE: This sign in produce department of a Chelsea store was displayed late in March. Chilean fruits are now back after no further poisoned fruit was found in a search of the entire shipment.

Conrad Turner's 80th Birthday Noted in Congressional Record

Editor's Note: On Feb. 21 Congressman Carl D. Pursell made the following tribute to E. Conrad Turner and had it entered into the Congressional Record. This copy was forwarded to us by Turner's grandson, Dale E. Heydlauff, son of Jerry and Shirley (Turner) Heydlauff, long-time residents of the Chelsea-Dexter area. Turner was a long-time resident of Dexter.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to acknowledge a milestone in the life of one of my constituents, E. Conrad Turner of Jackson, MI. On March 5, 1989, Mr. Turner will celebrate the 80th anniversary of his birth. In honor of his birthday, I submit the following tribute written by his grandson and commend it to the attention of my colleagues.

In Praise of My Grandfather On His 80th Birthday

From even a casual examination, you can see that my grandfather is a very special man. He embodies the ideals we cherish in all human beings. A man of unquestioned integrity and an enduring conviction to the values we hold dear, Grandpa projects a vision of strength and optimism to all who are fortunate to know him.

Born on a small farm in rural Ballard county, Ky., into a family of humble means, Grandpa learned the value of hard work at a young age and in the process developed a myriad of talents. This work ethic and the skills he mastered have served him well throughout his life.

When he was 18, Grandpa moved to Jackson, Michigan to earn a living and at the age of 24 he made one of the best decisions of his life, he married Emma Lee Bugg. Even today, they are an inseparable unit bonded by the lasting love that only a lifetime of devotion and fidelity can cement. Together they raised two children; Shirley J. Heydlauff, a mother and wife whose innumerable achievements are due in no small way to the guidance received from her parents; and Captain James R. Turner, USN, whose keen intellect and fierce patriotism were molded in large part by the example of his father and mother.

In many respects, my grandfather exemplifies what is good and commendable in people. A man whose life is governed by Christian principles, Grandpa possesses a gentle and loving heart, abundant generosity and kindness, resourcefulness and a commitment to hard work. Always ready with a helping hand, Grandpa consistently exhibits fine moral character and high ethical standards. He resembles a beautifully woven cloth comprised of stitches of wisdom, decency, compassion, strength and peacefulness. He truly symbolizes what we should all strive to attain.

On behalf of his eight grandchildren, their spouses and seven great-grandchildren, I want to express our heartfelt appreciation for the many contributions he has made to our lives. We are grateful for his existence and elated at his achievement of this important event in his life. We honor him today with a celebration of the life he has had and to toast the years to come.

Dedicated to my grandfather with love and gratitude. Dale E. Heydlauff.

Jason Stevens in Air Force Delayed Entry Program

Jason C. Stevens, son of John and Barbra Stevens of 6735 Lingane Rd., Chelsea, has entered the United States Air Force's Delayed, Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to Staff Sergeant Janice Edmond, Air Force recruiter in Ann Arbor, Stevens' entry into the DEP allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for him to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area.

Stevens will be a 1989 graduate of Chelsea High school and will enter the Regular Air Force on July 25.

Following graduation from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., he will receive technical training in the mechanical aptitude area and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I just wanted to thank Harold Allen for once again putting a smile on the faces of the children in Chelsea.

I don't have any children of my own, but I went to the Easter Egg Hunt with my niece and nephew and everyone had a great time. It is really nice to see that someone cares enough to make sure events like this don't become a thing of the past.

Thanks again for the Easter Egg Hunt, and I hope everyone in Chelsea helps to support you with the fireworks.

DONALD A. COLE, Director

"If you have an important point to make, don't try to be subtle or clever. Use a pile driver. Hit the point once, then come back and hit it again. Then hit it a third time . . . a tremendous whack . . ."

—Winston Churchill

The "communication gap" might disappear if everyone followed Churchill's formula. Tact and diplomacy have their place, or course, but they should never interfere with the accurate, unmistakable meaning of what we say.

When what you have to say is important, make your point in a way that leaves no misunderstanding. You will be respected for your opinion, whether or not others agree with you.

When the need arises, call us first. We are able to take over most of the many details which must be handled promptly.

Family Asthma Program Begins Next Wednesday

The first Family Asthma Program of 1989 will be held Wednesday, April 12 at 7 p.m. in the EBA Club at Domino's Farms Prairie House, 30 Frank Lloyd Wright Dr., Ann Arbor. The speaker will be Martin Hurwitz, M.D., who will discuss "Childhood Asthma." A concurrent session for asthmatic children ages five years and up will also be held.

The Family Asthma Program is sponsored by the American Lung Association of Michigan and the University of Michigan Medical Center Division of Pediatric Pulmonary Medicine. It is an educational and support program for parents of children with asthma. Family members, child-care and health-care professionals are welcome. There is no charge for the meeting and no need to pre-register.

The purpose of the program is to give useful information to families with an asthmatic child in the hope of reducing the frequency and severity of asthma episodes and helping asthmatic children to maximize their potential to lead full and active lives.

For more information, or to obtain a complete meeting schedule for the coming year, please call the American Lung Association of Michigan at (313) 995-1030.

American Legion Is Nation's Largest Veterans Organization

The American Legion is a federal corporation chartered during 1919 by the Congress of the United States as a patriotic, mutual-help and community-service organization of honorably discharged war veterans.

It is the nation's largest organization of veterans. As of Oct. 6, 1987, the American Legion had 2,829,517 dues-paid members in some 15,500 American Legion posts, worldwide.

The posts are organized into 58 departments, one each for the 50 states, in addition to posts in the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Canada, France, Italy, Mexico, Panama Canal and the Philippines.

Each department has its own constitution, and holds an annual convention of delegates from posts within its jurisdiction.

American Legion policy is determined by its charter, by resolutions adopted at annual national conventions, and by the National Executive Committee (NEC), which meets four or more times each year.

Only the National Convention delegates can amend the American Legion constitution, and the resolutions they adopt constitute the mandate for the organization.

Each department is entitled to five voting delegates, plus one for each 1,000 members or major fraction thereof, as of 30 days prior to the convention.

In addition, all members of the NEC and all past national commanders are delegates to the National Convention, and exercise their votes with their departments.

The NEC sets the budget for the national organization. The 58 departments elect one representative each for a two-year term on the NEC, whose other members consist of the national commander and five national vice-commanders elected for one year by the National Convention delegates.

National officers and headquarters staff do not make American Legion policy.

Policy is determined by delegates at National Conventions, or by the National Executive Committee (NEC).

Posts and individual Legionnaires submit convention resolutions through their department conventions to the National Convention.

The NEC, or a committee of the convention itself, also may submit resolutions.

The American Legion has its national headquarters in Indianapolis, with offices in Washington, D. C.

In addition to thousands of volunteers serving without pay on the Legion's 12 national commissions, and committees assigned to them, the national organization has a regular monthly payroll of about 280 employees to assist the national adjutant, chief administrative officer appointed by the National Executive Committee.

The American Legion has an annual national budget of approximately $25 million, mostly derived from a per capita assessment of $5.50 on membership dues, which includes a year's subscription to The American Legion Magazine.

To be eligible for membership in The American Legion, a person must have served on active duty in the United States Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard or Air Force during one of the following periods of armed conflict: World War I, April 6, 1917 to Nov. 11, 1918; World War II, (Dec. 7, 1941 to Dec. 31, 1946; Korea, June 25, 1950 to Jan. 31, 1953; Vietnam, Dec. 22, 1961 to May 7, 1975.

There is no requirement concerning length or place of service, but it must have been unconditional and terminated by honorable discharge or separation.

IRS Deadline Nearing For 1985 Tax Returns

The IRS today reminded Michigan taxpayers that the statute of limitations for filing a corrected or amended federal income tax return for the 1985 tax year will expire on April 15, 1989.

"Some taxpayers may have under-reported federal income tax withheld for the 1985 tax year; especially if they received certain information documents, such as Form 1099, for that year," said IRS district director John Hummel. "If that is the case, they may be entitled to an additional refund for the 1985 year," he said.

"We are advising taxpayers to take a close look at their 1985 tax return to ensure they did claim all federal income tax withheld," Hummel added. "If taxpayers find that they did not claim all their withholding, they should file a claim with us by April 15," he said.

According to the IRS, taxpayers may make this claim either by filing Form 1040X, Amended U.S. Individual Income Tax Return, or by sending the IRS a statement explaining that they are entitled to additional withholding credits for the 1985 year.

"Taxpayers making this claim should write the following on the top of the statement or Form 1040X—'1985 INCOME TAX WITHHOLDING CLAIM'—and should be sure to include name, address and social security number," Hummel said. "The statement must also be signed and dated by the taxpayer; both taxpayers on a joint return," he said.

"The important thing to remember is that the claim must be filed by April 15," Hummel added. "We encourage any taxpayers with questions about amending their return to call us toll free on 1-800-424-1040."

Boys Flee When Approached by Man

In two separate incidents, someone approached three 10-year-old boys last Thursday, March 30, and may have been trying to pick them up.

A man in a dark color car began talking to two boys on McKinley St., near North St., at about 2 p.m.

The man told one of the boys, "you can get in trouble for shoplifting," and "the cops are looking for you." The boys, who ran home, described the man as having dark hair and medium sideburns.

The second incident, at about 5:30, involved a Dexter boy who was riding his bike on Congdon St. The boy said the man, with a deep voice, said "come here, kid."

Speed records: The fastest creature on land is the cheetah. This cat can run at speeds up to 70 miles per hour for a short distance. Ranger Rick magazine reports the fastest-moving animal of all is a bird of prey. A peregrine falcon diving through the sky was once clocked at 217 miles per hour.

Good Records Can Make Your Taxes Less Taxing

Good tax records can save taxpayers substantial time and money when preparing income tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Taxpayers can save themselves hours of searching for earnings statements or lost receipts and cancelled checks, if their financial records are in order. These records are not only necessary to prepare a complete and accurate return, but can save taxpayers money by making them aware of deductions they might have otherwise overlooked.

The types of records to save include income statements, such as Forms W-2 and W-2P, showing income from wages and from pensions and annuities, and Forms 1099-DIV and 1099-DIV, showing income from interest and dividends.

Parents who pay for the care of their children or dependents while they work or look for work should keep careful records of these payments if they want to claim a credit for the amount they pay. These records should consist of a week-by-week log of the name, address and, if required, social security number of the care provider, as well as the amount paid. Cancelled checks or receipts for cash payments will serve as substantiation of the amount paid. These records will enable taxpayers to accurately compute the child and dependent care credit, which can be claimed on either Form 1040A or the longer Form 1040.

Taxpayers who itemize deductions should keep receipts, cancelled checks, etc., for such things as medical and dental payments, contributions to churches and charities, and statements to substantiate mortgage interest. Records of the real estate taxes and personal property taxes paid during the tax year should also be kept. Other miscellaneous items to keep might include records of payment of union dues, unreimbursed employee business expenses, investment expenses, and tax return preparation fees — these can be deducted only to the extent that the total amount exceeds two percent of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income.

Taxpayers must have statements, worksheets, and receipts that document and support the income, deductions, and credits claimed on their tax returns, should IRS need to examine them. These tax records should be kept at least until the period of limitation expires for the return. Usually this is three years from the date the return was due or filed, or two years from the date the tax was paid, whichever is later.

Sometimes records must be kept longer than the period of limitation even though the tax return is correct and complete. Records of property transactions (including real estate, stock, machinery, etc.) should be kept for future reference. In addition, copies of old tax returns may be helpful in preparing future returns, so taxpayers may want to keep them with their other records.

The IRS publishes a free publication on recordkeeping for tax purposes. To obtain a copy of Publication 552, "Recordkeeping for Individuals and a List of Tax Publications," use the order blank in the tax return package or call 1-800-424-3876.

BOB DORER, who has worked at Kusterer's for 38 years, will be semi-retired once the store closes.

Supplemental Medicare Premium Should Be Included in Tax Estimate

The IRS reminded taxpayers today that the first estimated tax payment for 1989 is due April 17.

"Anyone who expects to have a tax liability of $500 or more must prepay their tax during the year," said IRS District Director John Hummel. "Individuals who do not pay their tax through withholding, or do not have enough deducted during the year, may have to make estimated tax payments to avoid a penalty."

Hummel also said that this year there is an additional calculation for most senior citizens and other taxpayers who are eligible for Medicare Part A for at least six months of the year. The Supplemental Medicare

Dr. James Peggs

Presents Lecture

James F. Peggs, M.D., director of the U-M Family Practice Center in Chelsea, presented a lecture on falls in the elderly at Detroit Osteopathic Hospital in Detroit. His talk was presented to family practice residents in training on Feb. 28.

Wrong Place, Right Time

A Lansing man went to the Chelsea Police Department recently to bail out his friend from Pinckney.

The Pinckney man told his friend to go to his apartment on Wilkinson St. and get the $100 in bail money. He also told him he didn't have a key and he'd have to enter through a window.

The faithful Lansing friend followed instructions, except he climbed in the wrong window. Once he realized he was in the wrong apartment, he left.

However, the resident complained to police that someone broke into their apartment.

The resident elected not to press charges.

Hospital Plans Benefit Auction

Chelsea Community Hospital will celebrate spring with a benefit auction. Lloyd Braun and Jerry Helmer of Braun & Helmer Auction Service will conduct this gala event on April 22 at the hospital. Trips, tickets to sporting events, art, and entertainment items will be among those auctioned that evening. The delightful duo of Braun and Helmer promises to make the evening memorable.

Auction proceeds will go towards the purchase of a Modular Vascular Laboratory.

Auction chairs are Archie and Cindy Bradbury. Co-chairs are Jeffrey and Sally Stommen, DDS. Ticket chairs for the event are Paul and Jean Mann. Auction committee members include Pauline Porath, gift chair; Patti Harris, Barbara Rose, Lyn Yarows, Bob Lyons, Janet Tupper, David Perkins, Thomas and Mary Kalleward, regional gift chairs; Madeleine Vallier, art chair. Bob Lyons will once again emcee the gala event.

Many other volunteers are helping to make the event a success. Gift donations have come from businesses, industry, and individuals throughout Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Grass Lake, Stockbridge, Ann Arbor, and Jackson. Area businesses have been very supportive of the event.

Stop Smoking Clinic Set By Lung Assoc.

Sign up for the American Lung Association's Freedom from Smoking Clinic that begins Monday, April 17 and you can stop smoking by Monday, May 8.

The clinic will be held at University of Michigan Hospital, Room 2C 108 from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. for a total of eight sessions over a seven-week period. The cost is $45, payable at the Orientation Session.

The Freedom from Smoking Clinic uses group support, behavior modification and relaxation techniques to "unlearn" the addiction to nicotine. It employs a very positive approach by looking at the reasons for smoking and devising strategies to deal with the urges to smoke. The sessions will be led by a trained instructor.

For more information or to pre-register, please call the American Lung Association of Michigan at 995-1030.

National Fitness Expert Will Talk To Elementary Schools Groups

"The Effect of Nutrition on School Performance" will be the subject of a talk on Monday, April 10 by nationally known aerobic fitness researcher Dr. Charles Kuntzleman.

The talk will be given at a joint meeting of the PTS/PTN organizations at 7:30 p.m. in the South school cafeteria.

Kuntzleman was the principal investigator in a study, "Feeling Good," which the Chelsea School District participated in from 1980-83. In the study, randomly selected students acted as experimental subjects for 13 weeks.

The students participated in four 30-minute aerobic exercise sessions and two 30-minute classroom sessions per week. In the classroom sessions, children learned the elements of a "heart healthy" lifestyle. The children's health parameters were monitored during the period.

At the conclusion of the study it was found that the children had significantly decreased their fat content, times in the mile run, total blood cholesterol levels, and sodium and simple carbohydrate intakes compared to children who had not participated.

Kuntzleman's research of one group of children found that 41 percent of the children had elevated cholesterol levels, and 29 percent had elevated triglyceride levels. Their diets were high in simple carbohydrates and saturated fats and low in fiber. The link between those dietary factors and heart disease is now well established. Kuntzleman's program aims to reduce risk factors in children while they are still developing their behavioral patterns.

Kuntzleman, a Spring Arbor resident, has written more than 70 books and 200 articles on fitness and health. He is the national director of the Feelin' Good Program and of Fitness Finders, Inc., a health promotion consulting firm.

The talk is free and open to the public.

NOW A HARDWARE STORE WHERE YOU CAN NAIL DOWN A GOOD PRICE AND GOOD ADVICE

Announcing the Grand Opening of the "HOW-TO Store" the hardware store for the rest of us.

Our new HOW-TO Store is for people interested in home maintenance and home repair. But who aren't always sure which is the best way to start. It's a "back-to-basics" hardware store where the advice you get is as good as the tools, hardware and prices. We'll help get your job done quickly and done right. Whether it's finding the right paint and brush for the exterior of your house or that certain piece of piping for under the sink, the HOW-TO Store is here to help.

we carry. They're the best in the business. And at a fair price. And if, for some reason, you can't find what you're looking for, just ask. Our sales people know where everything is.

Service a hardware store should have.

The other half of carrying quality merchandise is service. That's why at the HOW-TO Store you can expect service that fits your needs.

Prices that are lower than you'd expect.

There's a myth we'd like to put to rest - that so-called discounters have better prices than we do. That's bunk. Item for item, the prices on our merchandise day in and day out are just as competitive as theirs. Stop in and compare. When you consider the service you get from us, we've got them beat cold.

"HOW-TO Booklets" for more complicated projects.

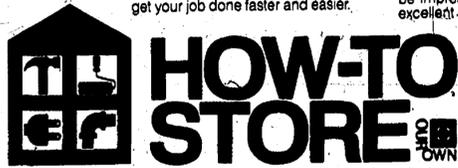

Want to re-pipe your home or add a new electrical outlet? And you're not sure where to start? For those more involved projects we have "HOW-TO Booklets" that walk you through your project in easy-to-understand English. Stop in and see what we've got in stock. And if you happen to get stuck in the middle of a project with a question, we're always just a phone call away.

We want you to be satisfied.

We'd like to introduce you to a way of doing business that never went out of style. Come in and browse. Frankly, we think you'll be impressed. Our goal is to offer excellent service and a broad selection of quality products. If a product is found to be defective in any way we will exchange it, repair it or refund your money.

5 complete hardware departments so you can find what you want.

It's easy to find what you're looking for at the HOW-TO Store. Everything is organized into big, bright departments including plumbing, electrical, paint, hardware and tools. You may recognize some of the name brands Bulldogs!

Distance Events Key CHS Girls Track Team

The numbers are down but the spirit is high on the Chelsea High school girls track team this spring.

"The girls realize that we don't have many people and have been working hard to compensate," said coach Bill Bainton.

Again this season Bainton will be assisted by coach Bert Kruse. In spite of the small turnout, they have some very versatile athletes who can run any race from 100 to 800 meters.

There are only three seniors on the team, led by standout sprinter Danica Disbro, a four-year veteran who can also run the hurdles. Disbro has been a leader since she was a freshman. Her experience will be a big factor for the Bulldogs this spring.

Amy Carley is a senior hurdler in her second season of track, but has improved greatly over last year.

"Amy spent time conditioning this fall and winter and it shows. She is emerging as a leader by example in workouts."

The third senior is exchange student Tine Jensen.

"This is all new to Tine. We're glad to have her out. She's a dedicated team member." Jensen is learning the shot put and discus and picking those events up quickly.

The Bulldogs have experience and talent in all areas, according to Bainton and Kruse.

In the throws, juniors Tiffany Moore and Tammy Browning return as the leading shot putters, and Moore and junior Marti Daggett head the discus corps. Daggett has worked hard in the off season to improve her strength for throwing.

Sophomore Mercedes Hammer is a newcomer who shows promise in both throwing events.

Sophomores Leisa Schiller and Deanna Richardson are the top long jumpers. Schiller was the team's top jumper last year and Richardson, who did not compete last season, was outstanding in junior high.

Junior Cory Tremper, another newcomer, rounds out the long jumpers.

The high jumpers are sophomore Jeanene Rossi and freshmen Erika Boughton and Martina Street. Rossi jumped well indoors this winter. Boughton was a good jumper last spring in junior high, and Street has the top vertical jump on the team.

For the first time in several seasons, there is some hurdle depth. Freshmen Charly Allen and Becky Erskine join Carley in a group that should be much better as they gain experience.

Disbro, Rossi, Schiller, Tremper, sophomore Christine Mignano, and freshmen Heather Hamilton, Amy Weir, and Angela Pace, if she recovers from leg problems, will do the sprinting.

Juniors Anne Steffenson and Cathy Broderick are consistent performers in the 400. Steffenson has had a difficult early season, recovering from leg surgery.

"We are pleased with Anne's progress and attitude. She is quite a competitor," said Bainton.

Both Steffenson and Broderick are capable of moving to longer or shorter races.

The distance runners are an experienced group consisting of juniors Sarah Grau, Vicki Bullock, Kim Roberts, and Stefanie Wagner. The only new face is freshman Carmen Smith.

Although a small group, they've been working hard to prepare for the major part they have to play. One key for the Bulldogs will be how far they can stretch this group.

Although there is talent in all areas the lack of depth will hurt in the tough Southeastern Conference.

"We have to make some choices and sacrifice in some areas to be good in others," Bainton said. Dexter, Saline and possibly Milan look like the top teams. The rest seem to shape up pretty evenly. Chelsea's first meet is Tuesday, April 11, at Fowlerville.

CHelsea HIGH GIRLS TRACK TEAM is short on numbers this year but could see some outstanding individual performances. Above, Anne Steffenson helps Amy Carley, right, and Tiffany Moore, loosen up for a pre-season practice.

Nature from Your Backdoor

By Glenn R. Dudderar

Is it spring yet?

At the time we wrote this (March 27) and in the place where we wrote it (East Lansing), if someone asked me, "Is it spring yet?" I would have said, "Yes, right now, right here, it does appear to be spring."

After all, the temperature was in the 70s, the grass was beginning to turn green, the goldfinches were starting to turn yellow, the sandhill cranes were back, tulips were coming up, the frog chorus had begun in marshy spots and robins had returned to suburban backyards—all signs of spring, right?

But to the north, part of Saginaw Bay was still covered with several inches of ice, and in the Upper Peninsula, winter hadn't even begun to loosen its grip. So, when someone wants to know when spring will arrive, so he can plant seeds, put up a bluebird house or an oriole feeder, or watch for woodchucks to come out of hibernation, it's hard to give a definite answer.

When spring arrives depends on where you are in Michigan and what the weather is like that specific year. If I give a definite date, it's very likely to be wrong for that particular person or in that year. If I qualify my answer with all the ifs and maybes that apply, it's likely to be so confusing that it's not helpful. Another possibility is that the questioner will decide I don't know what I'm talking about.

On the other hand, if I don't qualify my answer and I say that today spring has arrived, a resident of Hodunk, in Branch county, will probably agree, because there the frogs are peeping, the weather is balmy and it seems that every bush and fence post has a red-winged blackbird trilling from it. A resident of Herman, in Baraga county, might look out the window at the snow and ice and the thermometer and shake her head, wondering how I could be so far off base.

If I say the wildlife came through the winter in good shape, I'm right about southern Michigan, where it was another fairly mild winter. But in the northern Lower Peninsula and the Upper Peninsula, wildlife biologists are reporting that some deer and turkeys are dying from lack of food caused by the deep snows and cold of a lingering winter.

Of course, when people ask questions about topics like putting up bluebird houses, they want an answer they can use. So we rely on what's typical for that part of Michigan the questioner lives in.

In southern Michigan, for instance, male bluebirds usually arrive the second or third week of March, so I advise people to have their houses up by the 21st. Very faithfully this year, some male bluebirds, apparently newly arrived, were seen on the 15th. Then came the ice storm on the 17th, which turned their attention from pre-creation to survival until the ice melted. If your house was up by the 21st, it was ready when the bluebirds were. If you live in southern Michigan and you're just thinking about putting your house up, you're already late for the first nesting attempt.

In the Upper Peninsula, on the other hand, it appears there's still lots of time. But keep in mind that the recommendation is to have bluebird houses up there in the first week of April. It appears that that would be too early this year, unless the U.P. gets some of the 70 degree temperatures the southern counties have been enjoying. In that case, the first week of April could be just about right.

Bluebird house advisories are similar to such guides as planting zones on seed packets and in seed catalogs—they're based on averages and don't take into account the year-to-year variation in weather. The seed packet may say to sow outdoors April 15 in southern Michigan, but the weather may deliver 6 inches of snow on the 14th. So you have to temper that sort of advice with awareness of what's happening this year.

When you get involved with gardening or wildlife in your backyard, you learn that the human approach to scheduling doesn't always work with nature. You can make an appointment to get your car tuned up, for instance, and set your alarm so you're there on time. But nature doesn't work that way. It follows the same broad, general schedule each year, but the specifics are unreliable. You have to be prepared well ahead of time so you can take action—whether it's to plant seeds or transplant or watch for migrating songbirds—when conditions are right for your location.

That's why the answer to a seemingly simple question such as "Is it spring yet?" isn't all that simple. It really does depend on a host of qualifying factors. An equivocal answer often reflects not a lack of knowledge or information, but rather wisdom gained through continuing involvement with the vagaries of nature from your backdoor.

Heat treatment: Forget the pesticides. Researchers have devised an extermination technique that uses hot air to cook household pests on the spot. International Wildlife magazine reports they cover a house with tarps, then pump in heated air. During the half-hour heat treatment temperatures can rise to 180 degrees. The advantage is that the heat won't harm furnishings and people can move right back into the treated house.

JEFFREY A. YEAKEY

Pinckney Area Man Completes Training At Fort Benning

Pvt. Jeffrey A. Yeakey, son of Ray A. and Judy Yeakey of 11945 W. Shore Dr., Pinckney, has completed training at the U. S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

During the course, students received training which qualified them as light-weapons infantrymen and as indirect-fire crewmen in a rifle or mortar squad.

Instruction included weapons qualifications, tactics, patrolling, land mine warfare, field communications and combat operations.

He is a 1988 graduate of Pinckney High school.

Chile Grape Scare Points to Country of Origin Label Need

The scare over possible contamination of grapes from Chile should encourage Congress to pass legislation mandating country of origin labeling on food products, according to Michigan Farm Bureau President Jack Laurie.

During a satellite news conference on March 14 from Washington D. C., Laurie acknowledged that it would be very difficult to stamp the country of origin on fresh fruit.

"However, there has to be some method developed to indicate where that product comes from," he said. "I think the Chile grape scare emphasizes the fact that we need some type of identification of the country that the food or people are consuming really originated from."

Laurie said he hoped "if anything good comes of the current emotional food safety issue," it will be passage of country of origin labeling.

Laurie was in Washington D. C. with 125 other Michigan Farm Bureau and county Farm Bureau legislative leaders to discuss issues of concern with their congressmen and administration officials. Country of origin labeling was one of the priority issues on their legislative agenda. Other issues included "No to more federal taxes," keeping anhydrous ammonia from being reclassified as a poisonous gas, restrictions on farm market advertising, and pesticide legislation.

Charles Walters Completes Military Police School

Marine Lance Cpl. Charles K. Walters, son of Terry G. and Diana J. Walters of 7640 Grand, Dexter, recently completed Military Police Pre-Service School, conducted by the Military Police Battalion, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

During the course, Walters received instruction on paperwork, various types of police calls, operation of the Provost Marshal's office, emergency vehicle driving and the operation of Military Police gates.

A 1988 graduate of Dexter High school, he joined the Marine Corps in March 1988.

McKUNÉ MEMORIAL LIBRARY NEW BOOK LIST

"Smoke & Mirrors," by Barbara Michaels. When young Erin Hartsock joins the staff committed to electing Congresswoman Rosemary White Marshall senator from Virginia, she foresees nothing more than secretarial work for a slightly-more-interesting-than-usual boss. Soon, however, the campaign flares up in more startling and sinister ways. Here is a no-holds barred look at the highstakes game played by the powers behind the power, where murder is the ultimate trump card.

"Daddy," by Loup Durand. From the moment it first appeared in European bookstores, "Daddy" has become a literary phenomenon. It is an international best seller in the tradition of John Le Carre. A frantic manhunt across Europe, with the Nazis in pursuit. An eleven-year-old great-grandson of a Jewish banker holds the secret to $350 million dollars stashed away in banks. Thomas, an eleven-year-old with the mind of a genius, a mind that must outwit an entire army to stay alive.

"The Last Lion," by William Manchester. "Alone" is the second volume in Manchester's projected three-volume biography of Winston Churchill.

"Rainbow in the Mist," by Phyllis Whitney. Christy Loren has come to fear her gift of clairvoyance, an unwanted legacy from her mother, a famous psychic. Christy flees her home in Long Island to seek peace and safety in the foothills of Virginia's Blue Ridge Mountains but she finds even more threatening mysteries await her in the mountains.

"A Prayer for Owen Meany," by John Irving. In the summer of 1953, two eleven-year-old boys—best friends—are playing in a Little League baseball game in Gravesend, N.H.; one of the boys hits a foul ball that kills his best friend's mother. The boy who hit the ball doesn't believe in accidents; Owen Meany believes he is God's instrument. What happens to Owen after that 1953 foul ball, is extraordinary and terrifying.

"The Long Dark Tea-Time of the Soul," by Douglas Adams. When a passenger check-in desk at Terminal Two, Heathrow Airport, shoots up through the roof engulfed in a ball of orange flame, the usual people try to claim responsibility. No rational cause can be found for the explosion—it is simply designated an act of God. But what God? And why? Funnier than "Psycho," more chilling than "JEEVES TAKES CHARGE," shorter than "War and Peace," the new Dirk Gently novel gets your attention right from the first page.

Two from Chelsea Featured in Ann Arbor Junior Theatre Play

Two young people from Chelsea are featured in the Ann Arbor Recreation Department's Junior Theatre Company production of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

Both Dan Zatkovich and Beth Williams are students at Beach Middle school.

Performances will be Friday, April 28 at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday, April 29 and 30 at 1 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. at Pioneer Little Theatre, 601 E. Stadium Blvd. (across the street from U-M Stadium).

For ticket information, call the Recreation Department office at 994-2326. Call soon, because tickets are selling fast!

The Junior Theatre Company is a performing group for students in grades 7-12 anywhere in the Ann Arbor area. Under adult supervision, company members learn all aspects of theatrical production and pretty much run performances once they begin. The staff includes Rebecca Zarna, director; Andrea Berg, costume designer; Tod More, technical director; and Margaret Lewis, producer.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara

National Assoc. of Investors Corp.
& Editor, Better Investing Magazine

Q. My wife and I would like to provide some funds for the education of three grandchildren. I know the tax laws have changed, but there must be some favorable way to do this. Please give us some ideas.

A. Under the current tax law, a child under 14 may receive $500 of income from interest, dividends and other investments tax free and an additional $500 which is taxed at the child's tax rate. Any unearned income above $1,000 is taxed at the parent's rate until the child is 14. Then it is taxed at the child's rate.

You and your wife can give each child $20,000 a year, $10,000 from you and $10,000 from your wife without any federal gift tax consequence either to yourselves or the child. If you set up a custodian account under the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act, you may want to use someone other than the parents as custodians so as not to bring into question any expenditure of those funds that might be made.

If you are seeking to minimize taxes, you might consider making the gift in tax-exempt municipal bonds or you might choose good grade growth stocks which don't pay much in dividends but have good prospects of appreciating in value.

Zero coupon bonds are another option. You could purchase a $1,000 high quality 18-year municipal zero coupon bond paying 7 1/4% for about $285. If you purchased several of those bonds for each child each year for four years, you would be providing a nice fund.

Another gift that would not result in any current tax would be EE U. S. Savings Bonds. As long as these bonds are held five years or more, they pay 6% and the interest isn't taxable until the bonds are redeemed.

Once a child has reached 14 and income is taxed at a child's rate, you may want to give higher yielding investments. Stocks which have appreciated in value may be given. If the child sells them, the capital gains tax will be at a lower rate, and the funds can be reinvested.

If you have prospects of a high estate tax, annual gifts to the maximum allowed tax free may be a good idea regardless of what the respective income tax consequences may be.

Once the child is 14, if the tax on your income is 33% and his is in the bottom bracket, the total tax paid will be less if the money is transferred to the child rather than kept in your hands.

CASH REBATES AVAILABLE
6.5% FINANCING AVAILABLE
See Dealer for Details

Kubota's first lawn tractor is built for operator comfort and convenience. Its air-cooled 13.5 HP Kubota gasoline engine makes grooming large lawns easy. The G-Series tractors are the first of their size to be powered by a diesel engine. Five models from 10 to 16 horses run longer and use less fuel than any gas mower.

The tillers range from 2.2 to 7 horsepower and have air-cooled gasoline engines. There's also a diesel-powered tiller. The larger tillers have special counter-rotating tines that turn backwards to work hard-packed soil up from the roots.

Our portable generators have from 650 to 5,500 watts of power! And our pumps vary in capacity from 106 to 475 gallons per minute.

When it comes to breaking new ground, leave it to a tractor company.

George 'Ted' Wilson Named Mason of the Year in Dexter

A Chelsea man, George "Ted" Wilson, was recognized as "Mason of the Year" at the Saturday, Feb. 18, meeting of Washtenaw Lodge No. 65, F & AM, at the Masonic Temple in Dexter.

Speaker of the evening Richard Sands expressed his personal congratulations to Ted Wilson, and to the Dexter High scholarship finalists attending Saturday's dinner.

Jim Boyd, who interviewed the four scholarship candidates from Dexter High, said he and colleague Ted Wilson were faced with a tough decision, trying to narrow the field to two candidates.

He presented the $200 scholarships to Angie McCalla and Meagan McTasney, explaining the scholarships would likely receive matching funds from the state level.

Jennifer Daczka, a third scholarship candidate, was asked to submit her application for additional consideration.

As he reviewed the qualifications of the four outstanding Dexter High students, Boyd told his listeners,

"They are active in their school, active in their churches and active in their community. This country's going to be in good hands, after we're gone."

As featured speaker for the occasion, Richard Sands said it was particularly significant that "it's a Masonic occasion," because the first, free, compulsory education was instituted in 1763.

After asking his listeners if anyone knew where this took place, he told them—Prussia.

During the Middle Ages, he said the stone masons and other skilled workers were still much in demand, even though the Catholic Church no longer had the money to build its huge cathedrals.

Reviewing the American heritage, Sands told his listeners, as Americans, we can be very appreciative of the Free Masons teaching the equality of man.

Sands explained when John Hancock signed the Declaration of Independence, he made it known he didn't want King George to miss his signature, even without his glasses. Ted Wilson found that, in addition to the honor bestowed on him as "Mason of the Year," he was also the recipient, Saturday night, of a "roast."

Sands was one of the roasters, explaining, "It's embarrassing to know a man who's ashamed of his own name. This is Umpire Wilson, with You'r'r'r'r Out!"

Robert Sale told the group he believes, "One good turn gets most of the blame," then asked why farmers only go deaf in the left ear.

Asked to speak about Ted Wilson, Billy Anderson said his motto was, "Nice guys finish last, especially when they read and follow instructions."

Bob Rose stood to state, "Show me a man who walks with his head held high, I'll show you a man who's forgotten to use his bifocals."

Bud Wilson told the listeners he remembers Will Rogers saying, "I never met a man I didn't like," adding he also saw Will punch him in the nose!

ARCHIE BRADBURY was arrested on his farm last Tuesday, March 28 by Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department. Bradbury's major crime was a prank he pulled many years ago on friend Charlie Trinkle. The Trinkles had him arrested as part of a fundraiser for the American Cancer Society.

Bradbury Hauled Off to Jail In Prank for Cancer Society

Tuesday, March 28 was Pay Back Day for Chuck and Pat Trinkle.

The Trinkles had Easton Rd. resident Archie Bradbury arrested and jailed in the American Cancer Society's Great American Lock-up.

And the Trinkles got revenge for a Bradbury crime committed 13 years ago.

On Halloween of 1976, Bradbury dressed up as a gorilla and terrorized the countryside for two days. The rampage ended at 5 a.m. on Sunday when he followed several unsuspecting Holsteins into Chuck Trinkle's milking parlor where Chuck was hard at work, alone, and half asleep.

Chuck was literally frightened beyond words when he looked up and saw a gorilla standing in the doorway. Bradbury was arrested while working at his farm Tuesday morning. He was taken to jail in Arborland Mall. He had to go before a judge, who set bail. And Bradbury had to raise that amount, by telephone, for the American Cancer Society before he was released.

The Trinkles are pleased to report that justice has been served and their friendship with Bradbury survives.

Below is a poem written by the Trinkles for the occasion.

Methodist Home To Dedicate Newly Renovated Buildings

On Sunday, April 9, the newly renovated Ora C. Kimball and Sebastian S. Kresge Buildings will be dedicated by Bishop Jesse DeWitt.

The service will be conducted in the Chapel of the United Methodist Retirement Home in Chelsea at 3 p.m., and the public is invited.

The renovation of these buildings, including the dining room, is part of a multi-phase $20,000,000 building program.

Construction is scheduled to begin this year on a new 76-unit independent living apartment building. This new four-story structure will replace the original buildings constructed in 1905, 1916 and 1927.

Tours and refreshments will be available from 2 to 4 p.m. and transportation will be provided to the new building model apartment, located at 134 W. Middle St., Chelsea.

Archie was a naughty boy
Back in seventy-six
But finally he had to pay
For all his dirty tricks.

Charlie Trinkle was milking cows
A five o'clock in the morning
When Archie donned his gorilla suit
And entered without warning.

It took them years to pay him back
Of this he was deserving
The Great American Lock-Up
Proved to be most unnerving.

Neighbors come and neighbors go
But friendships are forever
So think twice on your next endeavor.

Dan Pennington Earns Internship At Ford Motor Co.

Chelsea High school graduate and Michigan State University senior Dan Pennington has been awarded an internship in communication with the Ford Motor Co.

Pennington, a telecommunications major, will work in Dearborn for nine weeks. He'll receive credits through MSU. He'll be directly involved with video production at the Ford Engine Division.

In addition to his classroom activities, Pennington has been the senior producer of "On Line Lansing," a television program produced by MSU that strives to inform the public of important issues both in the Lansing area and state-wide. Topics have included toxic waste, surrogate motherhood, and the minimum wage, which are debated by guest speakers. The program is broadcast on WKAR-TV.

First Assembly of God Church Hosting Hunter Video School

First Assembly of God church will begin hosting a video school on "How to Heal the Sick" by Charles and Frances Hunter on April 11. The Happy Hunters have traveled throughout the world with their healing ministry, praying for the sick. Charles and Frances are the well known authors of many books, such as "Angels on Assignment," "How To Heal the Sick," "The Healing Handbook," and their most recent book, "I Don't Follow Signs and Wonders—They Follow Me." The classes will be held each Tuesday evening for seven weeks. Classes will begin promptly at 7 p.m. and will be approximately two hours in length. Study books will be available to purchase at the school. A certificate of completion will be given to each class member completing the course. The class will also help prepare individuals desiring to be on the healing team at the Hunter's Healing Explosion at the Kellogg Arena in Battle Creek in August. First Assembly of God invites the public to attend these classes at no charge.

La Leche League Tells Who They Are

Today nearly 60% of new mothers breastfeed their babies. While that number falls short of U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop's goal of having an 80% breastfeeding rate in the U. S. by 1990, it is a long way from the 20% recorded in 1971. The resurgence of breastfeeding, not only in this country, but world-wide, has been attributed by some to an organization that is dedicated to breastfeeding, La Leche League International.

Breastfeeding itself is hardly new, yet documentation of the many benefits by medical and scientific researchers is a new field. La Leche League helped to amass this information which it now offers to mothers through practical sharing on a mother-to-mother basis.

Recently, La Leche League International announced the opening of its Center for Breastfeeding Information with computerized access to more than 2,500 articles from 500 professional journals. This service provides up-to-date breastfeeding information that may be obtained quickly and easily by health professionals, researchers, and breastfeeding counselors, as well as medical and graduate students.

Breastfeeding is the ideal way to feed and nurture a baby. Breast milk contains all nutrients babies need to grow and develop. It protects them from infection, allergies and common diseases. Human milk is uniquely suited to the needs of human infants. Each mother's milk is especially adapted to her own baby's needs.

Breastfeeding has advantages for the mother, too. The hormones that regulate lactation help the mother feel relaxed and enable her to enjoy her baby more. Milk production uses up calories so breastfeeding mothers find it easier to lose any excess weight gained during pregnancy. The milk is always ready and at the right temperature. With a little practice, mothers find that they can breastfeed discreetly almost anywhere.

Even though breastfeeding is an efficient and simple process mothers do need information and support. Since 1956, millions of mothers have turned to La Leche League for mother-to-mother help. Currently 8,000 accredited leaders offer mothers a series of informal education meetings covering the practical, physical, psychological and medical aspects of breastfeeding. In our area, La Leche League of Manchester holds meetings on the fourth Tuesday of each month. The next meeting will be held on April 25 at 7:30 p.m., 208 S. Clinton, Manchester. Call Marsha at 428-8831 for further information.

La Leche League is an international organization reaching 100,000 mothers each month in 48 countries. A wide range of publications are available.

What is the New Age Movement?

The public is invited to see the film "Gods of the New Age." This film explains why 60 million Americans have exchanged the certain hope of salvation for the hopeless cycle of reincarnation. Come discover why the New Age movement is a threat to our children. The film will be shown this Sunday night, April 16 at 6 p.m. at the Immanuel Bible Church, 145 E. Summit St.

Former Teacher Will Be Honored

Anita Eschelbach, who taught in three area one-room school houses in the 1920's, is to be honored at Covenant church, Sunday, April 9 at the 10:30 service. The church is honoring each of its octogenarians this spring by giving them a recognition day.

There are still a few students who remember Anita, as "Miss Gramer." She has kept in contact with Lawrence Waeker, Glen Wiseman, Douglas Kennedy and Lucile Finkbeiner, all who still live in the area. It is hoped there are others can also be located to help Covenant church create a reunion.

"I loved teaching," said Anita when asked about those early one-room teaching assignments. "I had to get to school first to start the wood stove and sweep the floors. But those days in the three Lima District schools I served, stand out as a wonderful memory. Anita taught every grade literally in one room. Often there were grades with but one student. One of the schools she recalls fondly was across the street from the Covenant church where she is a charter member. It was on property owned by the Freer family.

What does a retired 85-year-old former school teacher do to keep active? "I take care of this wonderful 120-year-old family homestead that Walter and I bought from my parents in 1940." Frank and Fredericka Gramer had first bought this home, then the Stevens Farm, soon after Anita was born May 28, 1904. "Actually," Anita added, "I have lived here with much of the same furnishings since I was an infant." The picturesque farm house sits on a hill just east of Freer Rd. on Jerusalem Rd. Walter J. H. Eschelbach married his "school marm" sweetheart Feb. 17, 1927. They both farmed this 160-acre homestead until his death in 1987. The entire farm is now being operated by Roderick Powers.

"Having had a good education, I have always tried to keep mentally active. In fact, I started a diary three years ago of the books I was reading." That diary lists 320 volumes in just three years! "I keep the staff at McKune Library busy lining up more and more books." This averages out at more than two books a week. Someone suggested she may have set a mark for Guinness Book of Records!

Friends and family agree that not many octogenarians are as sharp and spry as this gentle yet active former teacher and farmer. Beside her reading she tends to her own home chores, does some needle-work, drives her own car, does her own shopping and is active in her church.

Walter and Anita had one daughter, Kathleen, who married Claude Arnett. They live at 650 Flanders in Chelsea. Their two children are Bryan, of Manchester, married to Gail, and Jeanine Kay Frey who with her husband, David, live in Saline.

ANITA ESCHELBACH

The family is very close and all keep an eye on "Grandma" on the farm. "These grandchildren of mine are very special to me," adds Anita.

Anita is a graduate of Chelsea High school in the days when she drove a horse and wagon to classes. Later she graduated from Ypsilanti Normal College (now EMU). She was a lifetime member of St. Paul church prior to joining the Covenant congregation. She also worked at Gelman Instruments following Walter's illness and death. Although she retired from teaching, farming and from Gelman's she has not retired from living a useful life.

Friends, family and former associates are all asked to make this Recognition Day a special occasion in honor of Anita.

Sam Eisenbeiser On Dean's List at Coast Guard Academy

Coast Guard Cadet Samuel K. Eisenbeiser, son of John W. and Bonnie Eisenbeiser of 7750 Werker Rd., Chelsea, was selected for the Dean's List at the United States Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn.

Eisenbeiser earned placement on the Dean's List by attaining an overall academic average of at least 3.15, of a possible 4.0, as well as grades of "C" or higher in all courses.

He is a 1988 graduate of Chelsea High school.

Safety for Older Persons

By Gail Finch, R.N.

In 1981, more than 622,000 people over the age of 65 were treated in hospital emergency rooms for injuries associated with products used daily in the home. There are many hazards in the home. I will highlight only a few in this article.

Electrical Cords: Check all electrical cords. Cords should not be placed across walkways; they are easy to trip on. Possible fire hazards with cords include: Damaged or frayed cords, resting furniture on top of cords, placing cords under carpeting, and overloading extension cords.

Electrical Appliances: Check electrical appliances (hairdryers, razor, coffee pot, toaster, power tools, etc.) to make sure they are working properly. If they have a grounding plug (three prongs), use in three-prong outlet or use appropriate adapter for three- to two-prong outlets. Do not cut off third grounding plug; it is there to prevent shocks. Make sure all appliances are unplugged when not in use, especially those in the bathroom or near the kitchen sink. If they fall in the water, they can cause severe shock.

Rugs: Rugs, runners and mats that slide easily should be removed. Use rugs with rubber backing or use rubber matting (cut to the right size) under rug or two-sided adhesive tape. Many people are treated for falls due to slipping or tripping on rugs.

Lighting: Proper lighting should include using the maximum wattage bulb allowed for fixture (if unsure use 60 watts). Add extra lighting if needed. Reduce glare by using frosted bulbs, indirect lighting, shades on light fixtures or partially closing blinds or curtains. Proper and good lighting should be available in all areas of the home, but especially in hallways, bathrooms, stairs and kitchen (especially over counter top where food is sliced or cut) and in the work area where power and hand tools are used. Light switches or fixtures should be close to bed, near the entrance to the bathroom, storage area and work area. If it is not possible to have light switches in these areas, have a working flashlight available for using before entering these areas. This will avoid tripping over unseen boxes or clutter.

Stairs: Stairs are also hazardous. Proper lighting is important here. Light switches should be on each end of the stairs, if possible. If not, have a flashlight available. Always use handrails when using stairs. If handrails are not there, have them installed. Be sure carpeting is not loose on any step. Be sure steps are in good condition and have no loose boards or nails protruding. A light-colored paint or carpeting makes it much easier to see steps, especially the edges. Be sure nothing is stored or left on stairs.

Bathroom: Have handrails installed near or on the tub if you have difficulty getting in or out of the tub or shower. Use non-skid mats or abrasive strips or appliques on the bottom of the tub or shower to reduce your chances of slipping. To avoid burns, check the water temperature of bath or shower before getting in. Reduce temperature setting on hot water tank to below 120 degrees.

Kitchen: Many people are burned or scalded in the kitchen each year because of loose-fitting long sleeves. Sleeves can catch on fire or catch handles of pans and cause spilling or scalds. Roll back long, loose sleeves or fasten them with pins or elastic bands while cooking. Have a good step stool in the kitchen to avoid standing on chairs or boxes.

Smoke Detectors: Each home should have smoke detectors on each floor. Special precautions should be taken if using space heaters, small wood-burning stoves or fireplaces. Make sure they are working properly.

Telephone: Have at least one telephone located where it would be accessible in the event of an accident that leaves you unable to stand.

Medications: Medications should be stored in the containers labeled with contents, doctors instructions, expiration date and patient's name. Dispose of outdated medications and those the doctor told you to stop taking. Remember when grandchildren come to visit, be sure all medications are out of reach, including those in your purse.

As I said in the beginning, I have highlighted only a few problem areas in the home that may cause accidents, especially to the older consumers. Information in this article was obtained from brochures presented by the United States Consumer Products Safety Commission. More information on home safety may be obtained by contacting them.

Chelsea Day in Florida, 1989

... and some of those who attended the annual event in Hudson ...

Chelsea Day in Hudson, Fla., was enjoyed by 99 Chelsea snow birds on Feb. 11. People Attended from Eustis, Hudson, Port Richey, Spring Hill, Sarasota, Gibsonton, Altona, Holiday, DeBary, Bayonet Point, Lakeland, Ulmerton, Ft. Lauderdale, Brooksville, Clermont, Nokomis, Zepherhills, Punta Gorda, Geneva, DeLand, and West Palm Beach.

A pot-luck dinner was enjoyed and a surprise gift of Jiffy Mix was placed at each place. Sent to the group from our own Chelsea Milling Co.

Everyone enjoyed a "Star-Spangled Review of Music" and "Dancing down Memory Lane," presented by 22 of the Golden Girls of West Pasco.

Dora Combs played a very important part of the program with several solos along with several dance routines.

Chelsea Day in Florida will again be held at the Hudson Community Center the second Saturday in February, 1990.

So A Chiropractor Is Really A Family Doctor?

Yes. HERE'S WHY...

Most people think of doctors of chiropractic as specialists in treating health problems of the back and spine. And they are, for chiropractors have been extremely effective in relieving pain and getting people back on their feet without drugs or surgery. But doctors of chiropractic do more. They diagnose to determine whether other illnesses may be related to structural problems, which often is the case. Chiropractors take an interest in your total health and well-being. And if a problem is indicated which requires specialized treatment, the doctor of chiropractic will refer you to the appropriate health specialist.

Satellite Photos Are Key Feature Of Grube's Products

A Hamburg township man and his daughter are using satellite photography in a variety of products they are marketing to the tourism and education industries.

Karl and Kathryn Grube are purchasing satellite photos from the Environmental Research Institute of Michigan that will show up on playing cards, posters, and even a game board.

Karl has been an associate professor of education at the University of Michigan, and most recently in the travel home rental business in Dexter.

Their first product using the photography was called Lake Superior Cribbage. The game uses a satellite photo of the lake on the playing board. Around it are the 121 best tourist stops around the lake. The game uses standard cribbage rules, although the playing pieces are a nut and a bolt in reference to the iron ore industry in the Lake Superior area.

The game was an outgrowth of the travel business. He had put together a seven-day, six-night tour of the lake and became extremely familiar with the area.

The Grubes are marketing the game at the various tourist spots around the lake. In addition, they come with travel packages available at motor home rental businesses. Lloyd Bridges Traveland in Chelsea has them available.

"Motor home people are great board game players," Grube said. Another version of the game, complete with detailed historical and geographical information about each tourist stop, is being marketed to schools.

The idea is for kids to learn a little about math and probability, which cribbage naturally teaches, as well as a little about Lake Superior.

Another cribbage game dealing with the Hawaiian Islands is now in the works, Karl said.

The games have also been used as door prizes at events sponsored by the American Cribbage Congress.

An outgrowth of the game was the card business. The Grubes plan to sell "The Ultimate Souvenir," a set of quality playing cards with the Lake Superior photo on the outside. That product is being sold at gift shops and other stops around the lake.

The Grubes have also designed high-quality posters using the photography, which will also be sold at gift shops. Another version, containing information strips at the bottom, will be marketed to schools.

For more information about Lake Superior Cribbage or other satellite photo products write to Grube & Grube, P.O. Box 2118, Ann Arbor 48106.

Portage-Baseline Lake Level Will Be Raised

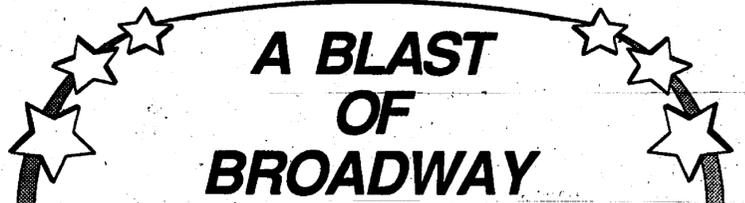

The lake level at Portage Lake will be raised approximately one foot beginning on April 12, according to Janis A. Bobrin, Washtenaw county drain commissioner.

Bobrin said that each winter the lake level is lowered to reduce frost damage and erosion on the shoreline. In the spring, homeowners in the Portage and Baseline Lakes area are cautioned to prepare for the raising of the lake level, which is co-ordinated with the opening of the boat launch facilities.

Kevin E. Sullivan, deputy drain commissioner, will answer inquiries and may be reached at 994-2525.

Randy Coleman comes to Palmer Ford-Mercury with over 6 years sales experience in the Washtenaw-Jackson county area. Originally born in Pikeville, Kentucky, Randy, who is single, resides in Jackson. He likes the hometown feeling of Palmer Ford-Mercury and feels welcome to the hometown spirit Chelsea offers.

Over the last few years, Palmer Ford-Mercury has expanded their New Vehicle operation a great deal. Working from a large, well-balanced inventory, Randy is able to offer Big City value at small town prices and extremely competitive bank rates.

We at Palmer Ford-Mercury welcome Randy to our Sales Department.

SPEERS CRUMRINE

Many of you already know Speers Crumrine. Recently retired from the Ann Arbor Public Schools after 32 years of Band and Orchestra work, 20 of those years in Ann Arbor.

Speers and his wife Barbara have three grown children, Lisa, Jonathan and David. Barbara teaches at the Ypsilanti Ford Plant with the Eastern Michigan University Reading Academy Adult Literacy Program.

When joining the Palmer Ford-Mercury staff, Speers turned 40 years of home auto work into a new and exciting sales career. Palmer Ford-Mercury, just minutes away, in Chelsea, welcomes Speers to its fine Sales Staff, and invites you to let him help with your next new car purchase.

MARK W. PENNINGTON

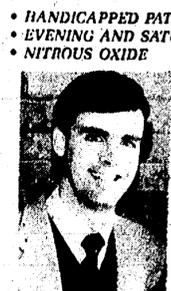

Palmer Ford-Mercury welcomes Mark W. Pennington to its Sales and Leasing Staff. Mr. Pennington, formerly with Art Moehn Chevrolet in Jackson, joined the Palmer staff in February. A native of Lenawee County, Mark lives in the Irish Hills with his wife, Judy, and daughters Shawna and Kendra.

Mark has been in the automotive related business for 18 years and prides himself on his customer satisfaction. "I am proud to be a part of Palmer Ford-Mercury, Michigan's oldest Ford dealership. This dealership concentrates on customer service and has an award winning Service Department to show for it. Service is our baby, and in the car business today, that's a key issue," says Mark. "Is a new Ford or Mercury in your future? Give Mark a call at (313) 475-1301."

Rena Walworth

Royal Oak
(Formerly of Chelsea)
Mrs. George (Rena) Walworth, formerly of Chelsea, age 97, died Saturday, April 1, 1989 at Wm. Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak.

She was born March 22, 1892, the daughter of Frederick and Alice (Mills) Roedel on Harrison St., Chelsea, and lived there nearly all of her life. On Nov. 16, 1917 she married George W. Walworth in Chelsea, he preceded her in death on June 23, 1970.

Mrs. Walworth graduated from Chelsea High school, was a member of Chelsea First United Methodist church and the Sarah Circle, a charter member of the Woman's Club and held a life membership in the Friends of the Library organization. She was one of the founders of the McKune Memorial Library in 1932 and was the first librarian and held that position for 25 years until her retirement in 1967.

Survivors include her daughter and son-in-law, Joan and Robert Paul, of Royal Oak; two grandsons, Richard Paul of Granger, Ind., and Daniel Paul of Grand Rapids; two great-granddaughters, Sheryl and Jessica Paul. She was preceded in death by two brothers, Max D. Roedel and Dr. D. F. Roedel.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, April 4, at 1 p.m. at the Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Dr. Jerry Parker officiating. Burial followed at the Oak Grove Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the Chelsea First United Methodist church.

Mary Gold Ish

805 W. Middle St.
Chelsea
Mary Gold Ish, 805 W. Middle St., Chelsea, age 93, died Wednesday, March 29, 1989, at her home. She was born Sept. 24, 1895 in Newaygo, the daughter of William and Esther (Elphick) Gold. On Oct. 12, 1922 in Pontiac she married Adrian Ish and he preceded her in death.

Mrs. Ish retired from Huddick Clothiers, Pontiac in 1968 after 40 years of employment as their bookkeeper. She had been a resident of Chelsea for 10 years and was a member of the Zonta International Women's Club, Pontiac Chapter, Pontiac General Hospital Auxiliary and Federation of Women's Clubs.

Surviving are two sons, Paul Ish of Drayton Plains, and Kenneth Ish of Birmingham; five grandchildren, six great-grandchildren, and one sister, Fanny L. McIntyre of Lowell.

Services and burial has taken place in the Newaygo Cemetery, Newaygo. Arrangements were by Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home.

Melanie O'Connor

10655 Scio Church Rd.
Chelsea
Melanie Brenna O'Connor, 10655 Scio Church Rd., Chelsea, age 10, died March 31, 1989, at Sparrow Hospital, Lansing.

Melanie was born Sept. 10, 1978 in Ann Arbor, the daughter of Daniel and Deborah (Frew) O'Connor. She was a fifth grade student at South Elementary school, a member of the Girl Scout Troop of South school and a member of Chelsea Community Fair Lamb Club.

Surviving, in addition to her parents, are two brothers, Benjamin and Nathan O'Connor, both at home; her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil O'Connor of Port Sanilac, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Frew of Mason. Also surviving are several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Mass of the Resurrection was held Tuesday, April 4, at 11 a.m. from St. Mary's Catholic church with the Rev. Fr. Philip Dupuis officiating. The scripture service was held Monday evening at the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home where the family received friends. Burial followed in Oak Grove East Cemetery, Chelsea.

Neva Funderburgh

Seneca, Kan.
(Formerly of Chelsea)
Neva M. Funderburgh, 57, of Seneca, Kan., formerly of Chelsea, died of cancer March 24, 1989 at Santa Barbara Hospital in California.

She was born Sept. 21, 1931 in Nemaha county, Kan., the daughter of Clarence and Margaret (Fraser) Maelzer. On May 28, 1949 she married Richard "Dick" Funderburgh in Kansas City, Mo., and he survives.

Other survivors include a son, Michael, of Honolulu, Hawaii; a daughter, Gina Funderburgh, of Santa Barbara; her mother, of Seneca; a sister, Shirley Scott, of Denver, Colo.; and a grandson.

Mr. Funderburgh and her husband lived in Chelsea for 13½ years while he was a pilot for United Air Lines. She was a member of the First Congregational church of Chelsea. The couple also lived in Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti while in Michigan.

Funeral services were held Thursday, March 30. Burial followed in Centralia Cemetery, Centralia, Kan.

Wives in the labor force contribute substantially to family income, according to the U. S. Labor Department. In March 1987, 56 percent of married couple families had wives in the paid labor force as compared with 40 percent in March 1972. In 1986 the median income of a married couple families with the wife in the paid labor force was $38,346 compared with $25,803 for those without the wife in the paid labor force.

EDUCATION RESEARCH

Prepared by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NAASP), Reston, Va.

★ Student Activities Valuable in Education

Communities may be ignoring an important aspect of a student's education.

"Unless we provided the appropriate emphasis to student activities in middle level and high schools, we are cheating young adults of an essential part of learning," contends Dale Hawley, director of student activities, National Association of Secondary School Principals (NAASP). "If communities focus just on the academic lessons taught in the classroom, they are keeping students from learning lessons that will make them better human beings."

Hawley made his comments in conjunction with National Student Leadership Week April 23-29, during which schools across the country will be focusing upon the importance of student activities.

"The current call across the nation is to strengthen our academic offerings for students, and that certainly is an appropriate challenge," he said. "English, mathematics, social studies, and other academic courses are essential to a quality instructional program. However, they are only half the picture."

"Students also must be taught such skills as leadership, how to follow when appropriate, how to work cooperatively with other people, how to listen, and other skills. Those talents are not necessarily learned in the academic classroom. It's much more likely they are learned through student activities."

Hawley indicated student activities included student government, band and orchestra, clubs, the National Honor Society, interscholastic sports and intramurals, student newspaper and yearbook, and committees which run student programs at schools.

"It's in these settings where young people learn to make decisions, be held responsible for those decisions, work with other individuals, and similar lessons which they will carry throughout their lives," Hawley contends.

"Student leaders may have to develop a budget for a school dance or other activity, raise the money for that budget, decide how the money is spent, and be held accountable by their peers to produce an enjoyable event."

While working on the school newspaper, young journalists will have to produce a publication which is interesting to their peers but also within the bounds of acceptable journalism. They will have to meet deadlines, work with adults in collecting information, and make decisions as to which stories are the most important and get the most space."

Hawley also urged that more schools offer leadership development classes where leadership skills can be taught and students can participate in activities to practice those skills.

"These are all important lessons," Hawley said. "In some communities these lessons are being overlooked while parents and educators rush to improve the academic program. But we must remember that a quality education is a total education. Academics plus activities equals excellence."

National Organ Donor, Tissue Awareness Week

April 23-29 is National Organ Donor and Tissue Awareness Week.

In Michigan, transplant centers across the state are banding together for the first time to invite physicians, transplant candidates, recipients and living related donors to gather April 29 at the University of Michigan Medical Center Hospital courtyard for a special "Thank you, Michigan!" salute at 2 p.m., with a balloon release at 3:30 p.m.
