Former Manager Weber Dies Friday at Home

Life-long Chelsea resident and former Chelsea Village Manager Frederick "Fritz" Weber died last Friday morning at his home after a long illness. He was 58.

Weber, who served as village manager from 1969 until shortly before his death, was the village's first manager. Upon being elected village president in 1989 he was appointed manager and promptly resigned as president.

He had worked part-time at his home for more than a year, primarily on financial matters. One of his final official acts was to create the village's current budget, as well as help new manager Robert Stalker adjust to the job.

Weber had planned to retire officially June 1 and had been eagerly anticipating his daughter, Shelley's, wedding. Arrangements had been made for the Chelsea Fire Department Rescue Squad to take him to the ceremony.

"I feel very bad," said village president Jerry Satterthwaite.

"Other than his family, he put the village foremost in his life. I guess his major accomplishment was that he made sure the village was on solid financial ground. He was very conservative and he made sure money wasn't squandered."

Satterthwaite said that Weber was instrumental in making sure the village's electrical utility was not sold off to Consumers Power Co. in the 1970's, and that stands as perhaps the wisest decision the village has ever made.

Weber's colleagues and friends almost invariably use the word "dedicated" to describe him. They say he was dedicated to his family, the village, and softball. Three of his four daughters played softball for Chelsea High school and Weber spent many afternoons watching them play. In addition, he was the driving force behind the establishment of Dana Park, where area softball teams play virtually every night of the week.

A Fritz Weber Memorial Softball

FREDERICK "FRITZ" WEBER

Award has been set up at Chelsea High school.

One of Weber's closest friends, Johnson's How-To Store owner Sam Johnson, said being village manager was more than just a job to Weber.

"He was personally interested," Johnson said.

"I think that's why he used to get so upset when the village was criticized. It wasn't just a job to him and I think he had a hard time separating his personal feelings about the village. Personally, I'd like to see him honored by having one of the fields at Dana Park named Weber Field."

As part of his job, Weber was also instrumental in forming the Michigan Public Power Agency, which has helped the village purchase electricity at reduced rates. That, in turn, has translated into a reserve of more than

$2 million, which the village borrows against to finance major repairs and other projects.

Weber served as MPPA commissioner in 1978, as secretary-treasurer from 1983-85, and vice-chairman from 1985-88. He was also elected to the board of directors of the Michigan Municipal Electric Association in 1978 and served as its president in 1980-81. Weber was also a member of St. Mary's Catholic church and Knights of Columbus Council 3092. He was a veteran of the U.S. Army during the Korean Conflict.

He is survived by his widow, Sandra, and four daughters, Joan, Michelle, Anne, and Karen, all of Chelsea. Other survivors are his brother, William, of Chelsea, and brother Robert, of Owosso, and two sisters, Mary K. and Phyllis Weber, also of Chelsea.

Beach Art Show To Feature Work Of Chinese Youths

An art show featuring the works of children in 12 Chinese provinces will be displayed in conjunction with the Beach Middle school art show this Thursday, June 1 from 6:30-8 p.m. The exhibit, whose theme is "Children for World Peace," was collected by Clague Middle school art teacher Madeline Conboy. Her goal is to create a better understanding of the culture. Several national award winners are among the collection. The works are from the Fe-Fe Art School in Shanghai and the Guanyuan Cultural Center for Children in Beijing.

The show will include water color, wood cut, pen and ink, tempera, and calligraphy.

Robert and Judy Ward will also give a slide presentation of their experiences in China.

Thieves Loot Shoemaker Farm Home

The Shoemaker Farm on Old US-12 in Sylvan township was the site of a breaking and entering, Thursday, May 25, sometime between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Deputy J. J. Marshall from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department explained in his report that evidence supported the suspect(s) had used a forced entry, by way of a bedroom window.

The unwelcome intruders took a pillow case, which they apparently filled with an assortment of jewelry, including a class ring identified as Belleville H. S. Class of '78, a remote control mechanism for a large television and dozens of other items.

Seven or eight long guns, some muzzle-loaders included, were removed from the premises, as well as a new Magnavox VCR, valued at $400, a collection of tapes, Columbia House stereo speakers, a 13-inch screen portable color TV and additional items.

Investigation continues on the break-in at the Sylvan township farm.

Anyone with information concerning suspicious people or vehicles observed in the vicinity on May 25 is asked to contact the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, where deputies continue to urge residents of the area to secure vehicles, homes and out-buildings.

Springtime brings out all sorts of unwanted individuals, who seem to wander about, helping themselves to the contents of other people's homes.

Citizens must be sufficiently alert to the danger posed by the unscrupulous to report suspicious incidents, vehicles or individuals.

Coelius' talk is entitled "Takeshakegrinango."

The high school orchestra will follow with "Les Miserables."

Superintendent Joe Plasecki will preside over his first certification of graduates in the Chelsea School District.

Principal John Williams will present the graduates.

Diplomas will be presented by Board of Education members Joseph Redding, Barbara Cherem, Anne Comeau, John Eisenbeiser, Ron Satterthwaite, Ann Feeney, and Craig Wales, as well as Earl Heller, Herman Koenn, assistant principal Ken Larson, and teacher Bill Coelius.

Planners Want Village To Pass Two Ordinances

Chelsea Village Planning Commission has recommended that the village raise its zoning violation fines and adopt another ordinance governing what are called "site condominium projects." The commission took the action at its regular meet last Tuesday, May 23.

If village council agrees with the first recommendation, the village will raise its zoning violation fines from $100 to $500. The current fine doesn't come close to meeting the village's expenses, according to zoning inspector Rosemary Harpok.

The site condominium ordinance, which is being considered by many of the townships around Chelsea, does not necessarily cover what are traditionally considered to be condominiums. A site condominium project establishes a series of home sites and can be virtually undistinguishable from a regular subdivision project.

However, according to Washtenaw County Planning Commission Chair Thomas Fegan, site condominiums are becoming popular because the governmental approval process is severely restricted and in some cases may be non-existent.

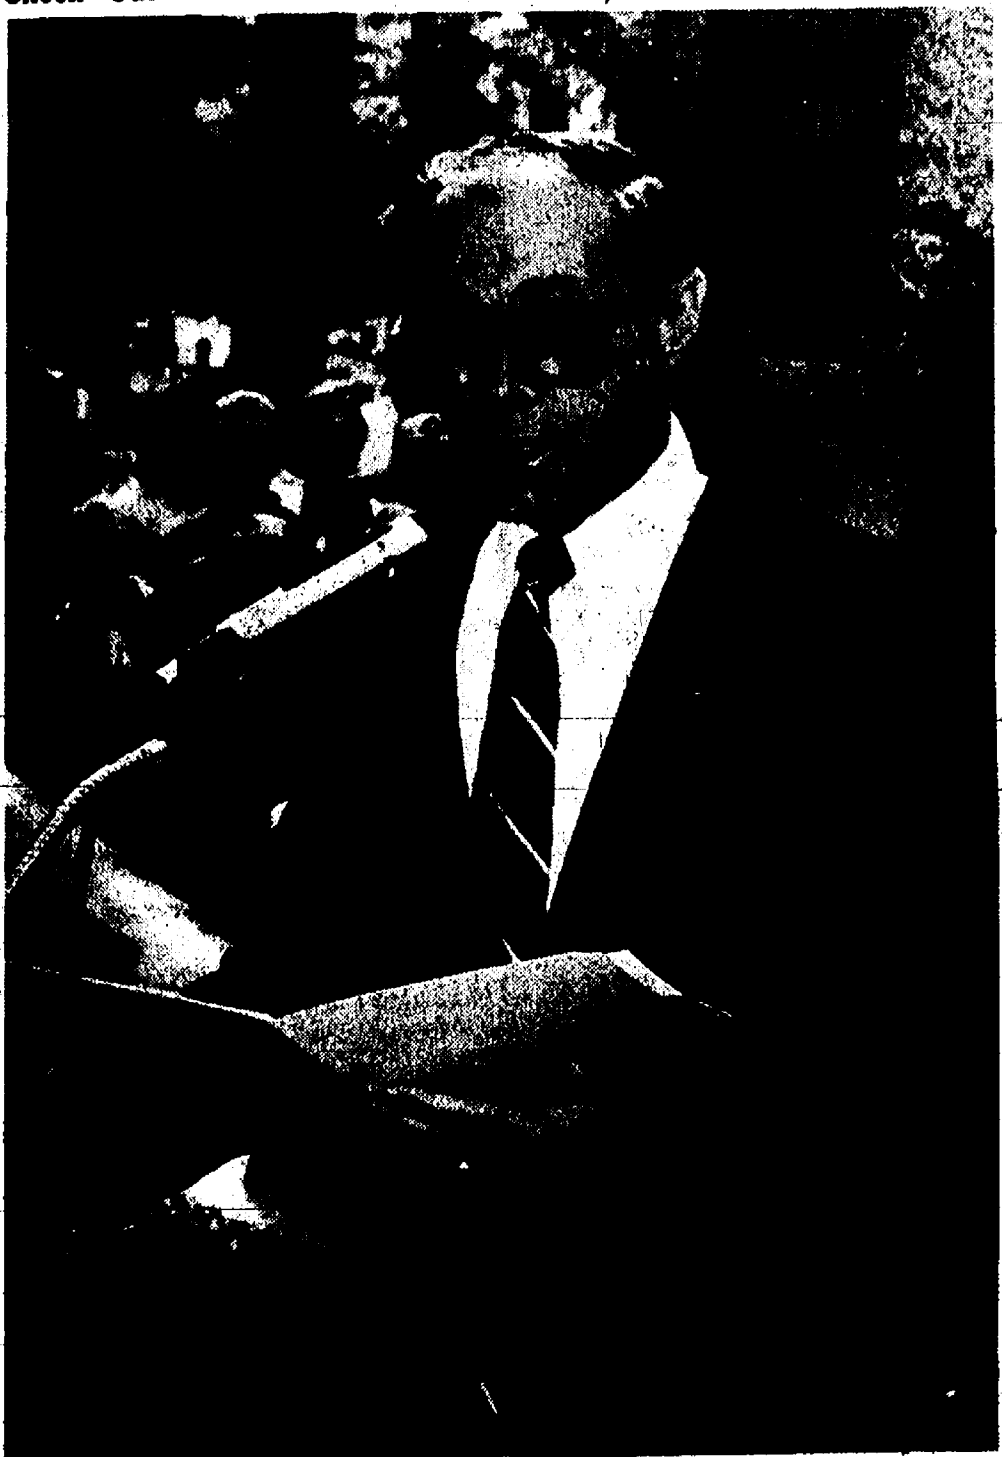

"A more timely approval process is an admirable goal, but a local unit of government should have input when such a project is planned," Fegan said in a letter sent to area planning commissions.

"Citizens expect local government officials to adequately protect their rights as residents and property owners."

In other planning commission business, Village Mall developer Mike Kennedy was allowed to keep a stand of trees in front of his Polly's Market store and move a row of handicap parking spaces to the front of Polly's Market. Under original site plans for

Pinckney Man Drowns In Little Portage Lake

The area's first marine tragedy of the season occurred Sunday afternoon, May 28, at Little Portage Lake, where Anthony Vincent Rosati, 26, of Pinckney failed to re-surface after he fell from the bow of a ski boat.

Deputy Keith Dietrich, who currently heads the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department Marine Safety Unit, explained Monday afternoon, the department was advised at 5:25 p.m. Sunday of a possible drowning at Little Portage.

Dietrich explained deputy Dave Egeler had earlier been dispatched to Portage Lake to investigate a complaint unrelated to the drowning incident, and was talking with a citizen in that area when the emergency call was received.

He proceeded immediately to the accident scene, and the WCSD divers were notified.

Divers Keith Dietrich and Don Hemming were dispatched to Little Portage Lake, where they continued a fruitless search for Rosati until approximately 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

Witnesses told the investigating officers the 1989 inboard-outboard 18½-foot Baja was pulling a water-skier at the time of the mishap.

Owner of the watercraft, Mark Barrett, 26, of Pinckney was operating the boat, and passengers, in addition to Rosati, included Charles Smith, 27, Roxanne Kania, 27, both of Pinckney, deputies reported.

The skier was identified in the report as Lakeland resident, Jack Swalla, 28.

Deputy Dietrich said the driver and passengers of the boat told him the skier fell, the boat made a turn as it started back for the skier, and Rosati, who witnesses said was riding on the side of the boat, fell into the water and never re-surfaced.

Monday morning, WCSD divers Mike Rodery and John Saren joined Dietrich in the continuing search.

They located Rosati's body about 1:21 p.m. Monday in 20 feet of water. Indications suggested he was struck by the craft after falling, Dietrich said.

Deputies said Rosati was not wearing a personal flotation device at the time of the fall, although an inspection of the boat confirmed the boat and its required safety equipment were up to standard.

Dexter Area Fire Rescue workers John Bova, Troy Maloney and Loren Yates were on the scene by 5:40 p.m. Sunday, with firefighter Kathy Raus arriving just moments behind them, followed by Brett Wiseley and Rick Chabot of the DAFD.

A fisherman on the lake said he

4 Years Ago . . .

According to statistics prepared and published by the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission, Chelsea, in 1984, went through its sixth successive year without a new residential building permit being issued. Chelsea had increased its population by just 15 since 1970.

After nearly 10 years as chaplain of the Chelsea Methodist Home, the Rev. Ira Wood had retired. He planned on retirement to the Port Huron area where he would be able to do "supply preaching," speaking to other churches when asked. "Working at the Chelsea home has been one of the most enjoyable experiences of my ministry," the Rev. Wood commented.

Third grade students in Mrs. Sallie Hamilton's South school class celebrated Pioneer Day during Michigan Week by making and pulling taffy. The group included Randy Hurst, Brian Dufek, Rebecca Flintoft, Michelle Mast, Boone Gegenheimer, Robbie Frost, Elizabeth McLaughlin and Lorin Nelson.

A Michigan timeline was depicted by students at South school during their celebration of Michigan Week. Children drew scenes that illustrated certain years in Michigan history and displayed them in the halls.

Morris the mouse created by seventh grader Lisa McGlinnen and a bigger-than-lifesize Gummy produced by eighth grader Scott Sheffield were just two of the literally hundreds of art pieces of all kinds that were submitted by Beach school students of all ages for the annual show.

Environment Groups Demand Changes Or Withdrawal from Waste Compact
Plans to identify a site for low-level radioactive wastes took another step forward with approval of final criteria and appointment of an advisory committee to assist in the site selection process. But, environmental groups issued a list of changes they said must be initiated by July 1 or they would demand Michigan withdraw from the waste compact.

Many of the changes to the regional compact were already demanded by Governor James J. Blanchard and the interstate commission is to review some of those issues at a meeting.

With the exception of how to handle nuclear accelerator-produced radioactive material (NARM), James Cleary, commissioner for the Low Level Radioactive Waste Authority, said he supports the thrust of most issues raised by the Michigan Environmental Council.

The council wants the Midwest Compact amended to ban NARM from the low-level site, while Cleary said state law, which does include the ban, should be amended to permit such disposal if a proper site is identified.

David Stead, executive director of MEC, said Michigan has a "fairly stringent" process to establish a site for the seven-state midwest region, but said, "It has been driven by a national and regional siting process based on political and not environmental or economic grounds."

He said the process is based on an inadequate review of the environmental impacts and inaccurate assumptions on volume of waste generated, concerns Blanchard raised earlier this year when he demanded changes in the compact.

Among the issues raised by MEC and on the agenda of the interstate commission is related to shared liability and division of benefits from a 20 percent fee required under the Michigan law (but not in the compact) on low-level radioactive waste.

Blanchard won an agreement in principle from other governors in the compact on sharing the financial liability of the waste site, but Cleary said the mechanics of implementing that are proving troublesome.

"The key is changes to the compact. The governor clearly indicated he wants an agreement by July 1. I am confident we will have it worked out," Cleary said.

MEC called for changes in the compact to provide financial guarantees to Michigan as the host state for all aspects of site costs with protections that general taxpayers not pick up the burden; identify waste by category and guarantee volume of waste in each category (through reduction incentives such as graduated rates) which would affect the size of the site; give the host state discretion to set safety features; require states to remain in the compact, take turns as hosts and support disposal research; and bind states to compact agreements for 40 years.

The Low-Level Radioactive Waste Management Authority has established the advisory committee to primarily evaluate the impact of a waste site on natural resources and inhabitants of the nearby area, as well as review geographic information and other data.

The committee's work will begin after the authority's announcement, expected within 60 days of areas of the state excluded from consideration as a waste site based on the final criteria adopted. The criteria are substantially the same as in a draft document issued earlier.

The advisory committee's input is to be used by the authority in identifying three potential sites.

The committee includes the League of Women Voters, whose representative would be chair, and other groups to study specific aspects: Michigan United Conservation Clubs (wildlife/endangered animals); Michigan Nature Conservancy (endangered plants); Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council (wetlands/surface drainage); Farm Bureau (soils and land use); and the Michigan Archaeology Society, Indian Affairs Commission and Michigan Folklore Society (cultural resources).

Blanchard Announces Auto Theft Detection System

Blanchard recently announced initial use of an electronic tracking system allowing police to discover stolen cars before they can be stripped or sold.

The system, by the LoJack Corporation of Braintree, Mass., employs the use of in-car computers to help officers track vehicles equipped with hidden transmitters. The tracking equipment will be donated by LoJack and transmitters are sold and installed by automobile dealers.

Blanchard said the state has made dramatic advances in reducing auto theft over the past several years, citing State Police statistics indicating a 14 percent reduction since 1985 while the national average has increased by 25 percent.

"This innovative new system gives us another weapon in the fight against crime . . ." the governor said.

LoJack will donate nearly $2 million in computer hardware, software, transmitters, training and consulting services to Michigan to make the program operable for a fee of $1 for the first five years. The state will then pay $1 for each year the system remains in operation thereafter.

When a car is stolen, the owner calls the nearest law enforcement agency which, in turn, notifies state police. An electronic homing signal is then activated from that vehicle which can be detected by patrol cars equipped with tracking devices. Officers can then follow the signal to the stolen car.

The system has been in operation since 1985 in Massachusetts. Through February, 359 stolen vehicles equipped with the transmitters had been recovered by Massachusetts state police in an average time of less than two hours. One car was recovered within a 7-minute time span.

Roughly 25 percent of cars stolen and equipped with the transmitters result in the arrest of a suspect, compared to a reported level of less than 5 percent nationally.

Peter Connor, vice-president of governmental affairs at LoJack, said use of the devices in Massachusetts has resulted in comprehensive insurance rate reductions of 25 to 35 percent.

He said the state's insurance commission has recognized the importance of anti-theft devices and the recovery devices have led to another rating category with the combination of anti-theft and recovery devices producing the greater reduction.

Connor said the company is expected to be in the marketplace by the first part of 1990. He said it is too early to talk about marketing in Michigan, but most sales in Massachusetts are through auto dealers. The devices, which have a battery back-up should the power of the car be disrupted, retail for $595.

The homing devices become a unique part of the car and are included as part of the vehicle identification number.

Stethoscope Taken From Offices

A fetal stethoscope was reported stolen from Chelsea Family Practice Center on May 10.

Family practice employees originally thought a physician might have taken the instrument home, but a check showed that was not the case. The stethoscope was valued at $300.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that he had no idea how far behind he was till he saw where Kellogg had quit putting out cereals in their little box bowls. Clem said he was a stick to the ribs eggs and meat breakfast eater long before cholesterol was invented, and still is, so he never paid much mind to dry cereal boxes. But he said he went on church campouts up to a few years ago, and he allus saw children eat from boxes they opened and poured milk in. Now he has saw by the paper where bowls in a box have been off the market 14 years.

Zeke said he learned that backward like he does a lot. The item actual was about Kellogg bringing back the bowl in a box, this time bigger and better, like everything that was now is. The paper said the big cereal company had done research to find out folks, especial young folks, want convenience above all else and that means anything they can use and throw away. Kodak must of read Kellogg's report, he went on, because he sees where it has brought out a disposable camera.

Bug Hookum said he knows Zeke's feeling. He said time is like a accordion and you never can tell if it's being squeezed or stretched. And this is going on while most of us older heads is working on whuther life is just one thing after another or the same thing over and over. Serious, Bug went on, it does seem like the more you read the papers the more you git the idea that we're caught up in some never ending rerun.

Fer instant, he said, a recent report on national reading levels said the aim of public education is to turn out high school graduates that can read at least at a eighth grade level. Bug said he's still working on that one, and he sees no cause fer hope. You got to know more to understand a education program like that, was his words, but he kept wondering what grade the folks are in that say what reading level goes with what grade and compared with what.

But, fer sure, broke in Clem Webster, the more things stay the same the more they change. He had saw where have come out with "talking pictorial" television. This is bigger and better than the one fer folks that lose their imagination and have to look at a solid grey screen and think about what they hear. And it is different from closed caption fer deaf persons. This improvement lets blind people hear what they ain't seeing, Clem said. A voice recording that runs with the show tells what's happening on the screen, and viewers that can see can turn down the sound separate from the regular TV.

What has happened, Clem said, is this invention is catching on with everybody. Wimmen can turn up the picture talk on the soap opera while they go check the baby or the roast. And men can hear all the way to the icebox and back and not miss a pitch or a putt. The next advance will be to do away with the picture and reinvent the radio, was Clem's words.

Fer sure, Ed Doolittle allowed, we see reports ever day that remind us of the psychiatrist that said the trouble with most folks is they burn $10 worth of energy on a 10 cent problem. Ed had saw where folks worry about where to will their bodies. The big name medical schools git more than they can use, and the little ones ain't got enough to go around. It seems we'd rather say Pa died and went to Harvard than to Podunk, and Ed says that choice ain't worth a dime.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew

Faith Lutheran Church Invaded By 60 Bears

Over 60 bears invaded the recent Mother and Daughter Banquet of Faith Lutheran church on North Territorial Rd., in Dexter township.

Upon arrival at the festivities the guests and lady members of Faith Lutheran church were surprised to be greeted by a collection of 60 bears along with their owner, Margaret Jackson, and her assistant, Moses, a bear puppet known for his world travel and wisdom and wit. Moses, by the way was named for a governor of Michigan, Moses Risher. Margaret, is not a new guest in the Dexter area. She and Moses have entertained visitors at the Dexter Historical Society Bazaar and Margaret is the sister to Dexterite Mary Rush.

Traveling from Drayton Plains, where Mrs. Jackson is an assistant to her husband, an attorney, an active member of the Oakland County Historical Society, and founder of the Teddy Bear Picnics at Drayton Plains. She also sings heartline (aha!) in the Sweet Adelines. She really does! Mrs. Jackson entertained the guests at the banquets with vignettes of the lives of her various bears from her collection which were very wise, worldly and full of lessons in tragedy, happiness, child behavior, and ending with a moving, but heartwarming lesson when one of her bears had a transplant of his heart to renew it with love and compassion for his fellow man. The captivated audience joined in singing "Put a Little Love in Your Heart," while the little bear's calico heart was passed around and lovingly blessed by the youngsters in the group.

A lovely dinner preceded the program which was prepared by Don Maybee and Pat Ditmar and served by the men and boys of Faith Lutheran church.

Table decorations were made by various members of Faith Lutheran church along with members of Faith Lutheran Ladies Aid Society. Mistress of ceremonies, Sarah Frank, introduced Pastor Mark Portinsky who led the evening in prayers, followed by Mrs. Jackson and her "Bear With Me" program. It was a delightful evening, full of bear facts and trivia and door prizes for almost everyone present.

the mall, no parking was going to be allowed in front of the market for traffic flow reasons, and the trees would have to be moved or cut down.

Also, the commission waived site plans for Chelsea Community Fair Board, which wants to build an addition on the Fair Service Center.

Auto dealer George Palmer got the same consideration for a mobile office he had installed in his used car lot on S. Main St.

STAPLES-SCHAEER: Howard and Carol Staples of Dexter have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dawn, to Jeff Schaeer of Chelsea, son of William Schaeer of Chelsea and Sandy Schaeer of Belleville. The prospective bride is a 1984 graduate of Dexter High school and of Washtenaw Community College with a degree in Early Childhood Education. She is now employed as a pre-school teacher at Wee Wisdom Child Development Center of Ann Arbor. The prospective bridegroom is a 1984 graduate of Chelsea High school and is also a graduate of Motech with a Master Mechanic degree. He is now employed as an automotive technician at Ann Arbor Buick. The next community blood drive is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 20 at St. Paul United Church of Christ.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Will Connelly had a valuable insight in reminding Chelsea sportsmen of their right to bear arms (despite what Bush wants to do). But we must remember that guns are not only for sports, but also for self-defense. In fact, this is really what the Founding Fathers had in mind when they gave us the right to bear arms.

People from Detroit on their way West to Chicago (or where ever) will often stop at our freeway exits. It is only a matter of time before they see our beautiful town and realize how many valuable things they can steal from us (to buy drugs). This is no joke. My wife was harassed at Briarwood last week. I will not let her go there any more. Ames is better any way.

Guns are the best defense. Some people say Kung Fu, but not even a black belt can stop a semi-automatic. Besides, what about handicapped people, women and the elderly? Do you really expect them to throw a drop kick at a 300-pound former linebacker armed to the teeth with a rod under his belt and drug lust in his eyes?

Guns are instant justice. There is a theory of unintended consequences that has been proven time and time again. Give poor people welfare and they just get poorer. Take guns away and crime only gets worse. On the other hand, if you gave every one guns, crime would probably disappear. Instead of welfare we should be giving these people guns.

Bush can't make up his mind what he wants to do about this issue. One day he likes guns, the next day he is a wimp. Laugh all you want at Dan Quayle, but at least we know where he stands on guns. Just pray that Bush doesn't do anything crazy before Quayle gets the office.

Bills Would Prohibit Searches By Guards Of Opposite Sex

Two area legislators have introduced legislation prohibiting body searches of prisoners at, or visitors to, state correctional facilities by prison guards of the opposite sex.

House Bill 4867, introduced by State Representative Philip Hoffman (R-Horton) requires every person involved in a "strip search" of inmates to be of the same sex. House Bill 4868, sponsored by State Representative Margaret O'Connor (R-Ann Arbor) requires every person involved in a "pat down" search of visitors to be of the same sex.

"My legislation is similar to a bill I introduced in 1987, which was prompted by an inmate's objection to being searched by a female guard," Hoffman said. "A struggle ensued with corrections officers, resulting in the inmate's death."

"The Department of Corrections policy currently prohibits strip searches by members of the opposite sex under most circumstances, but it is allegedly often ignored. If we are going to provide an environment for rehabilitation, the department must show some basic respect for human dignity," Hoffman said.

Violators of the Hoffman bill would be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by up to two years in prison and/or a maximum $500 fine.

The O'Connor legislation is a result of failed assurances by the Corrections Department to search female visitors with female-only corrections officers.

"House Bill 4868 would have been unnecessary if department officials had complied with requests from several legislators to adhere to same-sex pat-downs of visitors as they agreed to, both verbally and in writing," O'Connor said. "Obviously, department officials need this legal mandate to follow the procedure."

"I've had many complaints from female visitors about being searched by male guards. Visits with prison inmates are traumatic enough without having loved ones subjected to the indignity of pat-down searches by corrections officers of the opposite sex," O'Connor said.

The bills were referred to the House Corrections Committee.

Memorial Day 1989

Address By Donald Cole

Today we stop, as we should, to remember the Risk Takers—Peace Makers who have served our country so well. Those who fought the wars and have given so much for us. They have given an important time of their life, a part of their body because of injury, or yes they have given their very life.

So often on this day, Memorial Day, we stop to remember those who during WWI, WWII, Korea, Vietnam and other wars, have made the supreme sacrifice by giving their lives for their beloved United States of America. Each one of us are so grateful for each one of those men and women.

As it says in the Bible, for everything there is a season, a time for war and a time for peace. Today let us also stop and remember, the "Peace Time—Peace Keeper" and thank them for the freedom we enjoy today.

These past few months we have, again, been reminded of how even during times of peace lives are given, as we have seen sailors from three ships being returned home under the flag covered casket, having given their lives to keep the peace. Yes, they, too have given their lives for our beloved United States of America.

Let us remember the mothers, fathers, wives, families, friends and others, who have over the years supported those who serve.

Often times, the person who serves in a support group, or the so-called peace time forces, is given no credit for the tranquility we all enjoy, and yet, we all know that if it were not for them, we would not have peace.

On this Memorial Day we look to the leadership of the new administration under President Bush. We pray for a continued time of peace as we have experienced during the past administrations. May the guidance of this commander-in-chief exemplify the Risk Taker—Peace Maker. May his vision for a more gentle nation be experienced in the days of the coming generation.

I think the Prayer of St. Francis is appropriate for this service today.

"Lord, make us an instrument of Your peace.

Where there is hatred, let us sow love;

where there is doubt, faith;

where there is despair, hope;

where there is darkness, light;

and where there is sadness, joy.

O Divine Master, grant that we may not so much seek to be consoled as to console;

to be understood as to understand;

to be loved as to love;

for it is in giving that we receive;

it is in pardoning that we are pardoned;

and it is in dying that we are born into eternal life."

Lord make us all instruments of thy peace.

As we remember this day The Risk Takers—Peace Makers I believe it is very important that each one of us—yes You and I be Peace Enjoyers. For if you and I do not enjoy the peace we have been given, then the Risk Taker—Peace Makers have given so very much in vain. We, the American people must prevent this from happening.

Today, on this Memorial Day, let us stop and remember and yes, to thank God for the men and women who have served and are serving. Whether during times of war or during times of peace, whether it be 20 years or two years, whether it be the general or the recruit, for they who have given of their lives, we are grateful. Let us go in peace.

I-94 Ramp at Baker Rd. Closing For Two Days

The westbound I-94 entrance ramp at Baker Rd. in Washtenaw county will close for two days beginning Saturday morning, June 3, as resurfacing continues along 12 miles of freeway.

Traffic will be directed along Jackson Rd. to the on ramp at Zeeb Rd., two miles east of Baker Rd.

The two-day closure also will involve reducing the two westbound lanes on I-94 to one lane at the intersection. Occasional traffic slowdowns are expected.

Repaving operations began earlier this month from Freer Rd. in Chelsea to the I-94 Business Loop (Jackson Rd.) in Ann Arbor.

The $4 million project is scheduled for completion in November. The contractor is Thompson-McCully of Belleville.

Middle Square Office Building Fills Quickly

Started in April of 1988, Chelsea's new office building opened for its first tenant five months later. Now, just eight months after completion, the Middle Square Building at 134 W. Middle St. has filled all but 800 of its total 8,700 square feet.

Chelsea area's first structure to be planned and erected as a commercial office building is designed as an arcade style building with a clearstory at the central hallway. Natural lighting floods the area and greenery hangs above.

Located in the new building already are:

Chelsea Hearing Aid Centre is located in Suite A. Harry Thurkow, owner, was the first tenant to occupy the Middle Square building. Thurkow tests hearing and sells hearing devices and accessories. His office is open Monday through Friday from 9:30 to 3, Saturday mornings from 8:30 to noon and evenings by appointment.

Suite B contains 800 square foot and is available for immediate rental.

Chelsea United Methodist Home is occupying Suite C. They have an entire model apartment, complete with furnishings, built for your viewing. Their staff is available to explain the rental arrangements and the benefits of living at Chelsea United Methodist Home. Grace McCalla and Carol Benedict are available from 8 to 4 Monday through Friday.

Washtenaw Community College Western Regional Center is operating from Suite D. The office hours are 4 to 9 Monday through Thursday afternoons, Friday mornings from 9 to 1 and Saturday mornings from 9 to noon. The staff will help you register for all Washtenaw Community College classes and will provide you with a schedule of classes offered right here in Chelsea at the Middle Square Building classroom. Stop in and see Mary Picklesimer.

Mary K. Barkley, D.D.S., orthodontist, is working on the interior of Suite E and expects to move in early June. She is moving her practice from 1200 S. Main to the Middle Square Building and will continue seeing her Chelsea patients there. Her office is open Mondays and Tuesdays.

Chelsea Glass, which shares a common north-south wall with the new building leases the back one-third of the building for storage.

Chelsea Eyeglass Co., owned by Irv Tabaka, is also expanding the services he offers. Tabaka located his Eyeglass Co. in the attached Chelsea Glass building when it was expanded three years ago. In the near future Chelsea Eyeglass will be offering eye examination in addition to their present services. Chelsea Eyeglass is open Monday 9:45 to 8, Tuesday through Friday from 9:45 to 5 and Saturday from 10 to noon.

Construction of this building involved Jerry Picklesimer's Frontier Mechanical Co., Pat Milliken Interiors, Chelsea Glass, Ron Krull Masonry, Sugar Bush Farms Excavating, John Klink Asphalt, Jim Bancroft Painting, H & G Steele, CEI, Midwest Roofing, Saline Construction, and Design by Mike Corby, A.I.A.

The building is owned by Marty and Cathy Kimball, whose Chelsea Glass Co. is in the structure used by the late Ted Balmer for his brake shop. They expanded the original building in 1985 to hold their growing firm and now use one-third of the Middle Square Building also. Both Marty and Cathy are committed to downtown Chelsea. "We like it here."

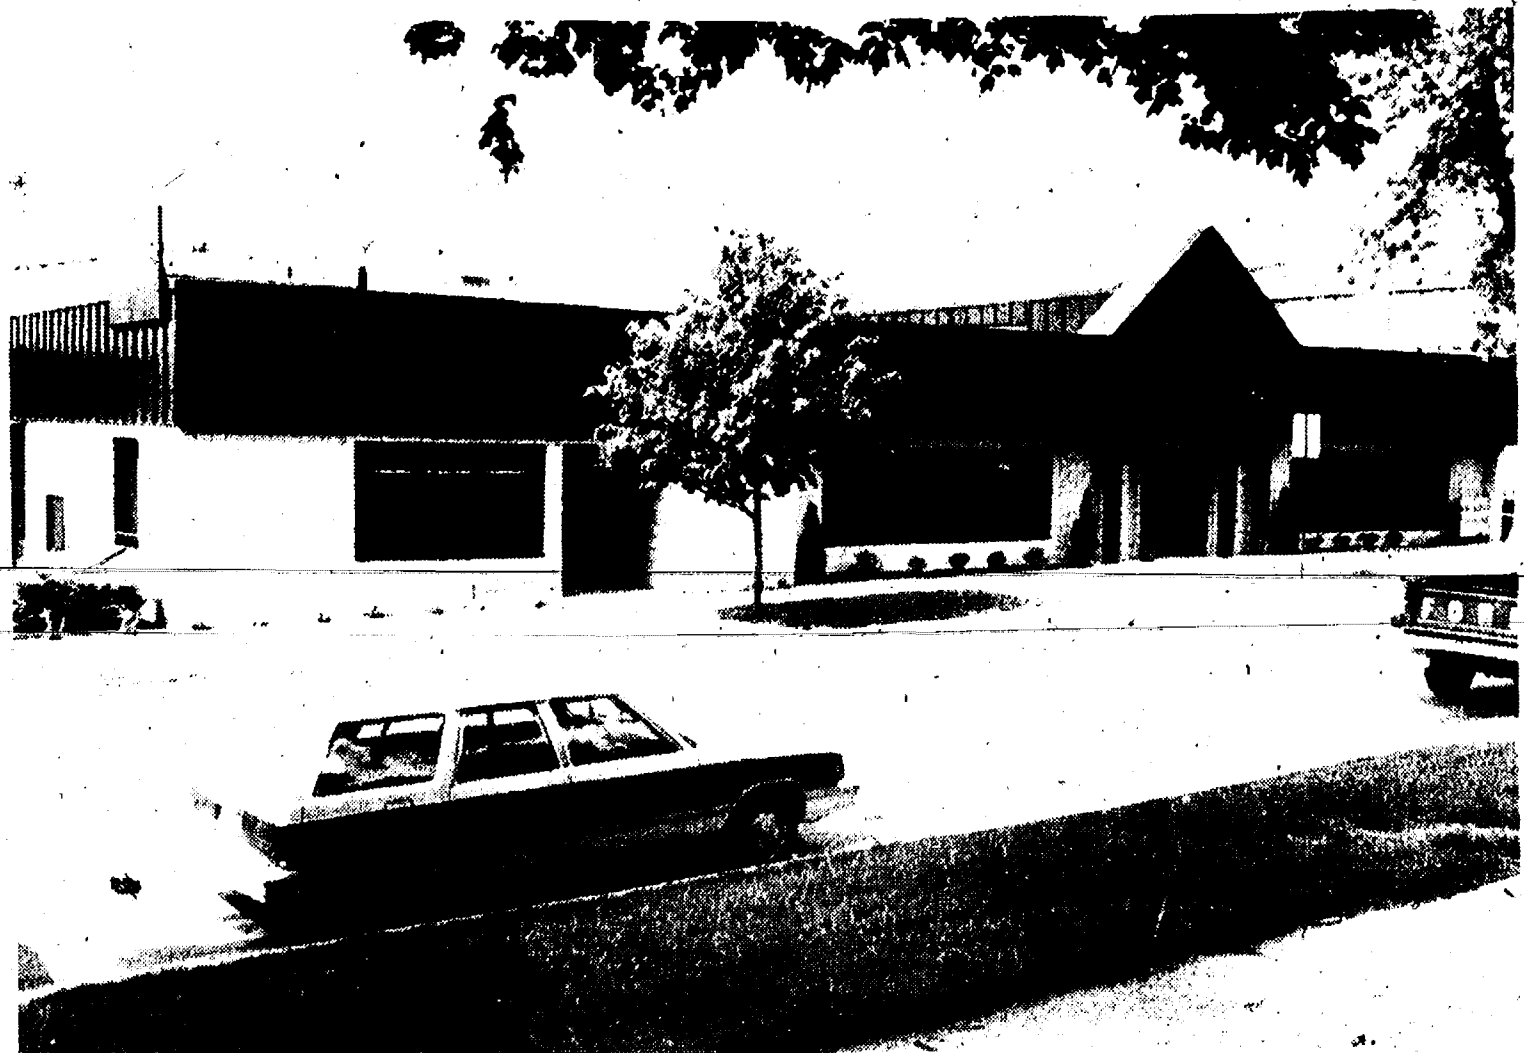

Parking surrounds the building. A village lot is immediately east of it, and next to the fire station, and there soon will be a new long-term village lot to the north.

Chelsea Baseball Ends Fine Season With Loss to Mt. Morris

Chelsea Bulldog baseball team ended their season with an 11-1 loss at Mt. Morris last Friday in pre-district tournament action.

The Bulldogs finished at 24-12. "We didn't play very well, and Mt. Morris has a little more experience than we do in these kinds of games," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

Mt. Morris took the lead in the first on a wind-aided grand slam.

"I think Doug Wingrove (pitcher) was a little nervous," Welton said.

"He walked six batters and he had only walked 11 all year long."

Rob Clem and Junior Morseau also pitched.

The Bulldogs picked up just four hits, including a homer by Wingrove and singles by Junior Morseau, Kerry Plank, and Jude Quilter.

"We hit the ball hard and we only struck out three times, but Mt. Morris played well," Welton said.

"They should do all right in the tournament."

Mt. Morris, which features several excellent base stealers, had no steals in the game.

In other action last Tuesday, Chelsea swept Brooklyn Columbia Central 5-2 and 12-5.

Clem pitched a two-hitter in the opener. BCC runs scored on a two-run homer in the fifth. He struck out seven and walked one.

"Rob pitched very well," Welton said.

Big hits for the Bulldogs included a run-scoring double by Morseau and an RBI-single by Quilter.

Morseau pitched the second game and struck out 11 for the win. Kyle Plank was scheduled to pitch, but the junior jammed his finger between games and couldn't go.

BCC pitchers allowed 11 walks and the defense had a couple of timely errors.

Jeff Prentice had the only two-hit game for Chelsea.

"We had an excellent season," Welton said.

"We had three guys who each won seven games (Morseau, Wingrove, and Clem), and that hasn't happened since I've been coaching. We also won the league and we won the Rawlings Tournament. We also had a lot of help from three guys who volunteered their time to the program—Todd Starkey, Randy Brier, and Akel Marshall. They had a lot to do with our success."

Chelsea High school's postseason hopes were dashed in improbable fashion last Friday as senior pitcher Jenni Smith tossed her second no-hitter of the season in a 2-1 loss at Hartland in a pre-district match-up.

The Bulldogs had trouble picking up the clutch hit against a pitcher coach Pat Clarke described as "mediocre."

"We should have hit the ball all over the park," Clarke said.

"Plus a lot of things happened that wouldn't normally happen. They made some amazing plays."

Chelsea had runners in scoring position in each of the last three innings and in four innings over-all. It looked as though Chelsea might tie or go ahead in the sixth inning as they had runners on second and third with one out, one run in, and the heart of the order due up. However, a pop-up and strikeout ended the inning.

The Bulldogs had runners at first and second with one out in the seventh. However, the third baseman speared a bouncing line drive by Lisa Unterbrink and dove for the bag to record the third out. She threw to first over the head of the first baseman but eventually a Chelsea runner was tagged out trying to go back to third.

Chelsea had five hits for the game and no one had more than one.

Hartland scored both runs in the fifth on a walk, error, and a pass ball. Smith struck out eight.

In other action last week, Chelsea swept Brooklyn Columbia Central at home on Tuesday, 4-0 and 15-4.

In the first game, Smith struck out 13 and allowed three hits to record her 19th win.

The Bulldogs scored all four runs in the first as Heather Neibauer bunted, Shannon Losey was hit by a pitch, Smith corked a two-run triple, and Laura Unterbrink hit a one-run single. The final run scored on an error.

Chelsea had six hits in the game, two by Smith.

The second game featured one of Chelsea's best offensive displays of the year as they collected 13 hits, including home runs by Smith and Colleen Scharphorn.

Losey had three hits, Easton, Smith, and Laura Unterbrink each had two hits, and Carrie Flintoft hit a three-run single.

Laura Unterbrink improved her record to 13-2 as she allowed seven hits and struck out four.

Chelsea was scheduled to finish out the season yesterday. After last week they had a 34-6 record.

Bulldog Girls Take Third In Conference Track Meet

Chelsea Bulldog girls track team finished third in Wednesday's Southeastern Conference track meet to give them a combined third-place finish in the SEC.

The Bulldogs got off to a good start by placing in all four field events. Leisa Schiller became the second Bulldog girl ever to long jump over 16 feet. Her 16'4" effort, netted third place. Deanna Richardson added a sixth at 14'5 1/4".

Marti Daggett finished third in the discus at 97'7".

Tammy Browning took fourth in the shot with her season-best of 32'10".

Erika Boughton tied for fifth in the high jump at 4'9".

Chelsea was fourth with 13.5 points after the field events. Milan held the lead with 26.

Sarah Grau, Vicki Bullock, Carmen Smith and Christine Mignano put together their best 3200 relay of the year, 10:32.7, to finish a surprising third. "We hadn't been under 10:40 all season, so this was the right time for everything to come together" said coach Bill Bainton.

"It turned out to be a key race," Hurdlers Charity Allen and Amy Carley both got to the finals, but only Allen scored, finishing second in :16.9. The Bulldogs fared better in the 100 as Danica Disbro was third and Jeanene Rossi, sixth.

Chelsea survived some poor baton exchanges to edge Saline for fourth in the 800 relay as the team of Disbro, Rossi Schiller and Richardson ran 1:51.0. They looked smoother in the 400 relay as Rossi, Amy Weir, Schiller and Richardson again edged Saline to finish fifth.

Saline and Chelsea were battling it out for third. Saline took the lead with a second place in the 400 but the Bulldogs edged up by a point in the 300 hurdles on a courageous performance by Charity Allen. Allen fell clearing the last hurdle, but scrambled to her feet and over the finish line in fourth place.

"Charity was challenging for the lead when she went down. It was a great effort to get up and finish so well," Bainton said. Allen was less than .1 seconds from third.

Mignano, with Grau running a fine race at her heels, earned the only points in the distance races for Chelsea as she finished sixth in the 800 at 2:39.4. Grau clocked her season-best 2:39.7.

Disbro wrapped up her SEC career with a second-place finish and a season-best time of :26.7 in the 200.

Going into the final event of the night, the first five places were up for grabs. Dexter led Milan 96-91 in the battle for the meet championship, and Saline with 44 held a slim lead over Chelsea with 42.5 and Lincoln with 38 in the battle for third.

Dexter locked up the championship by running away with the 1600 relay. Schiller, Weir, Allen, and Richardson ran a season-best for the Bulldogs of 4:13.7 to grab second. With Lincoln in fifth and Saline sixth, Chelsea secured their third place in the standings.

"We knew it would be a close meet and that we needed some outstanding performances and some pleasant surprises," Bainton said.

"The girls rose to the occasion and gave them to us. They earned this finish."

Bainton also mentioned looking back, how important it was to have edged Saline in all four relays. "That says a lot about our girls ability to pull together when they needed to."

AMY CARLEY, right, reached the finals of the hurdles at the SEC meet last Wednesday but didn't place. The Bulldog girls finished third.

CHRISTINE MIGNANO kicks into high gear in the 3200 relay as her team of Sarah Grau, Vicki Bullock, and Carmen Smith recorded its best time of the season to take third place at the Southeastern Conference track meet last Wednesday.

Prentice, Morseau Named Bulldog Baseball Team's Most Valuable

Seniors Jeff Prentice and Junior Morseau were co-winners of the Most Valuable Player award for the 1989 Chelsea Bulldog baseball team.

The announcement came at last Thursday's baseball awards banquet.

Prentice, the right fielder, also won the Slugger Award. He hit .500 in the league and .450 for the season. He set a single-season mark for RBI with 38 and stole 23 bases. He also had 13 extra-base hits. He struck out just eight times in 95 plate appearances, an excellent mark for a power hitter.

"Jeff had quite a season," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

"He was quite an asset to the team and played a major part in our success."

Morseau, who also won the Defensive Award as the team's catcher, threw out 17 of 21 potential base stealers and picked five runners off base by himself.

"Junior is a tremendous force and he handled our pitching staff very well," Welton said.

"Our opponents either didn't run or were sorry when they did. He had a great impact on the team. He also had a good offensive year."

Morseau hit .340 with 31 RBI.

Doug Wingrove was named Pitcher of the Year. At the time of the banquet, Wingrove was 7-0 with an earned run average of 1.33. In 52 2/3 innings he struck out 52 batters and walked 11.

Most Improved award was shared by seniors Mark Larson and Matt Forner.

Larson, the first baseman, hit .306 and led the team in homers with three. Like Prentice, Larson also broke the team's old single-season RBI record with 35.

"Mark totally changed his stroke and became an excellent hitter," Welton said.

"In eight games he had three or more RBI."

Forner, an outfielder, hit .266 and had 18 RBI. But he received special recognition for having been hit by a pitch 12 times during the season.

The Coach's Award, for dedication to the sport beyond the call of duty, went to Prentice, Morseau, and Forner.

"Our other seniors, Mike Kushmaul and David Adams also had nice roles on the team," Welton said.

"I take my hat off to all six seniors."

In 1984, women sales workers' weekly earnings were only 52 percent of men's weekly earnings in the same field, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Women's Bureau. One explanation is the difference in areas of sales: men are more likely than women to be selling expensive items such as cars, large appliances and jewelry, and thus make larger commissions; women are largely employed in sales of non-durables such as apparel and food products.

Wolfgang Has Fine Season On Alma Track Team

Former Chelsea High school athlete Amy Wolfgang is among the top performers on Alma College's women's track team which captured the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA) championship for the fifth consecutive year.

At the 1989 MIAA Championship Meet, which was held at Alma, Wolfgang and teammate Tupper Jysaght of Birmingham tied for first in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles, setting a new MIAA record with a time of 1:04.2. Wolfgang was the defending champion in the event, winning it in 1988 with a time of 1:06.79. The 1989 performance qualified Wolfgang and Jysaght for NCAA Division III national competition at Naperville, Ill., May 24-27.

Wolfgang also is the MIAA champion in the 1,500-meter run with a 4:50.11 performance at the league championship meet. She was fifth in the 3,000-meter run with a time of 10:45.99.

Named to the All-MIAA First Team in women's track for the second consecutive year, she is Alma's 1989 Most Valuable Runner and also recipient of the team's Leadership Award.

Coached by Bill Bainton at Chelsea High school, Wolfgang is the daughter of David and Barbara Wolfgang of 2340 S. Fletcher, Chelsea. She has completed her junior year at Alma where she is majoring in exercise and health science.

JV Softball Team Ends With Two Wins

Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity softball team finished its season with a double-header sweep of Brooklyn Columbia Central on Tuesday, May 23.

The Bulldogs won 18-2 in five innings in the opener and took the second game 11-0.

Chelsea pounded out 14 hits in the first game to back the four-hit pitching of Sara Musolf.

"We played a solid game in all aspects," said Chelsea coach Ken Sullins.

"The only misplays were on a couple of tough plays."

Chelsea scored in every inning but the third as each starter had at least one hit and six had two hits.

Jenny Bobo hit a two-run single and Heather Pulley cracked a three-run triple for the Dogs.

In the second game, BCC gave the Dogs a scare in the seventh as they scored five times to make it relatively close.

"We played six very good innings, then slipped a little in the seventh and had to hang on," Sullins said.

Eight of nine starters had at least one hit. Kathy Issel had three hits, and Shawn Losey and Angie Riley each had two hits.

"Danielle Taylor did a good job behind the plate and Jennifer Petty pitched well," Sullins said.

Chelsea finished with a 24-31 mark.

Building To Start Soon
In Upland Hills Development

Developers of Upland Hills subdivision in Lima township have received all their permits and approvals and plan to begin building homes in June.

Lima township board approved the final plat earlier this month. Road work has been going on for several weeks.

Harris Homes Development Corp. of Livonia plans to eventually build 20 homes between Old US-12 and Trinkle Rd. east of Harper Dr.

"We'd like to start five to eight houses this year," said developer George Riedel.

A local realtor is already advertising a model home in the subdivision for $265,000. Riedel said he anticipates that will be a mid-range price.

Riedel said he plans to work with individuals who want a particular kind of home as well as build a few homes on speculation.

The subdivision will initially have all private roads that will be built to Washtenaw county specifications. The main entry from Old US-12 will end in a cul de sac near Trinkle Rd.

"Our hope is the county will eventually take the roads over," Riedel said.

Though women make up only a small proportion of workers in farming, forestry and fishing occupations, they have the lowest wage differential compared to other occupations, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Women's Bureau. In these industries women earned 86 percent as much as men in 1984, compared to only 64 percent in other fields.

Covenant Church Hosting Olga Widmayer Day

A long-time Chelsea resident returns to Covenant church for a day of recognition and reunion, June 4, in the 9:30 service. Olga Widmayer moved from the area in 1980 to live near her daughter, Janet Johnson in Pickford, in the U. P.

Covenant church has been honoring octogenarians this spring and invited Olga to return. She is a charter member of the congregation and continues her interest in the church and community. She reads The Chelsea Standard weekly and keeps very much aware of her friends activities in this, her home area.

Born to Samuel and Flora Heselshwerdt in Sharon township, Olga taught school in the local Clinton, Irwin and North Lake one-room schoolhouses. She is a graduate of Michigan State Normal (now EMU). Students who studied with or under Olga are asked to contact the church (475-2508) or Marge Wiedmayer (475-9091). It would be a nice gesture to help Olga recall those early years.

After teaching several years, Olga married Harold Widmayer June 1, 1931 and together they lived at 2577 Hayes Rd. for 49 years. In the early years they farmed. Later Harold was employed by Chrysler Proving Grounds from which he retired. Harold died in 1980. During all of her life, Olga was active in the local County Extension program and in church activities at St. Paul then later at Covenant church. Her life now is filled with Senior Citizen activities in the Pickford area. She provides transportation for many who no longer drive. Olga believes that success in life comes from a lot of "give and take." Her active 80 years proves the validity of her philosophy.

Daughter Janet and husband, Dick, recently took Olga with them on a several week tour of Western and Southern United States. "I never thought I would have adventures like this when I became 80," Olga recently wrote to a friend.

Jan and Dick Johnson have given Olga three step-grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren. Olga enjoys the closeness of her family in Pickford and the young lives of these new generations, many of whom continue to live in the U. P. Dick and Janet retired from educational careers and though they travel extensively, keep a close eye on Mother next door. Olga keeps in contact with many members of her family, including nieces Irene Hogan and Donna Lane, nephews Duane and Lynwood Noah, Harold's cousin Mildred Tucci and sister-in-law/friend Nina Heselshwerdt. She counts as good friend, Lorene Baird, a neighbor on Hayes Rd. She has a host of friends from her years at St. Paul and Covenant churches.

To help make this day a special one in the life of Covenant church and Olga Widmayer, friends and relatives are asked to attend the service this coming Sunday at 9:30. (This is the first Sunday of the new summer church schedule.) The children of Covenant are commemorating all octogenarians with a "Balloon Life-Off," after the service.

Interest Revived In Opening Building Dept.

The idea of setting up a building inspection department to service much of the western part of Washtenaw county has been revived.

Local electrical contractor Earl Heller and others approached Chelsea village council about the idea some time ago. However, Sylvan township supervisor Don Schoenberg has apparently decided to pursue the matter now.

A meeting is planned for tonight, May 24, at 7:30 in Sylvan Town Hall to further discuss the idea.

Village manager Robert Stalker said there appears to be a fair amount of interest among people in the village and surrounding townships in establishing a department.

"However," he said, "there is significant liability attached to it." Tentative suggestions have called for the department to be run by an authority.

The establishment of a department poses a host of problems, including where to house it, how to finance it, and how to find qualified people to operate it.

Stalker said the state has adopted new regulations regarding the training of inspectors.

The idea came about initially because Heller and others were dissatisfied with the service provided by Washtenaw county.

BRIAN JESTER, an Eagle Scout candidate from Boy Scout Troop 425 of Chelsea, has recently completed his Eagle Project. For his project he made stuffed animals to be given to the Chelsea Community Hospital. The hospital will give the animals to children who come in for medical treatment. Pictured is Brian giving the animals to Wilma Picklesimer, a representative of the Chelsea Hospital. Along with his project Brian had to complete 21 merit badges to obtain the rank of Eagle, Boy Scouting's highest rank. This summer Brian will be serving as Troop Scribe for the Wolverine Council's contingent to the 1989 National Scout Jamboree, at Fort A. P. Hill, Va.

Patriot Award Made to The Late Henry Conlin

Remarks by Judge George Alexander introducing the late Judge Henry T. Conlin for the WCBA's Patriot Award, awarded posthumously at the 1989 Law Day dinner.

I am extremely honored to make this presentation. There are numerous others in this room with strong ties and long association with Henry Conlin. Probably every member of the Washtenaw County Bar has fond memories of their association with Judge Conlin and we all realize that our lives have been enriched because of that association. I therefore, make this presentation on behalf of all members of the bar collectively and individually.

A brief history of the Patriot Award would seem appropriate. The Washtenaw County Bar has for numerous years awarded the Liberty Bell Award as established by the American Bar Association to a person outside of the legal profession. A few years ago the Washtenaw County Bar Association decided that it would be appropriate to supplement that award with an award for a member of the legal profession. Hence, the Patriot Award for unselfish rendering of outstanding services to the legal profession and to the community. Maxine Virtue was the first recipient in 1987 and William Delhey was so honored last year. It should also be noted that Henry Conlin's name as this year's recipient of the Patriot Award will be nominated for a similar award, the Robert P. Hudson Award, presented by the Michigan State Bar to that member who best exemplifies that which brings honor, esteem and respect to the legal profession.

The Patriot Award, Webster's Dictionary defines patriot as one who loves, supports and defends one's country. A short, concise definition. Undoubtedly not drafted by a member of the legal profession. Therefore, in the tradition of our profession, I will expand upon that definition: "Loves, supports and defends their country." The term "their country" encompasses all that this nation stands for. The Bill of Rights and all of the liberties and freedoms which we cherish and enjoy. The word "patriot" conjures up mental images. Not only of deeds and sacrifices in defense of those freedoms from the Revolutionary War through later conflicts, but also images of the staunch defense of those liberties in public service and in that arena that is, perhaps, the final and ultimate defense against the erosion and weakening of those liberties—the courtroom.

I cannot list the many, many ways which Henry T. Conlin exemplified the term "Patriot" under any definition or expansion thereof. From his service in World War II; through his service on the Ann Arbor City Council and on the commission which drafted Ann Arbor's present City Charter; through his many years of a practicing attorney to his service on the bench of the 22nd Judicial Circuit. This list of such services to our profession and to the community as a whole exemplifies one—whose life brought true meaning to that phrase—Honor, esteem and respect to the legal profession.

It is with a great deal of humility and pride that the members of the Washtenaw County Bar Association present this award to Judge Henry T. Conlin, a true patriot.

HOWDY HOLMES, vice-president of Chelsea Milling Co., is honorary chairman of a fundraising drive by the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home. The steps he is standing on, along with the building behind them, will be demolished and replaced by a new facility.

Campaign Starts To Raise Funds For Methodist Home

For the first time ever, Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home is undertaking a community-wide fundraising campaign.

Howdy Holmes, Chelsea Milling Co. vice-president, is honorary chairman of the drive. A goal of $250,000 has been established by a committee of Chelsea residents and business people in co-operation with the home.

The drive is part of a $7 million campaign to replace and renovate the accommodations on the campus. To date, $6 million has been raised in gifts and pledges, including a $500,000 challenge grant from the Kresge Foundation. Distribution of the grant is subject to the home raising the remaining $1 million by the end of the year.

Members of the fundraising committee include Dan Murphy, co-owner of Chelsea Pharmacy, Ann Feeney, past-president of the Chelsea Civic Foundation, John Mitchell of Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home, the Rev. Dr. Jerry Parker of the First United Methodist church, and Arlene Howe, local resident and member of the retirement home's Board of Trustees.

Other people from the village, as well as home staff members and trustees, are also involved in the campaign, which will run through the summer months.

Q. I have always considered the restaurant industry as a good place to invest. Would you give me some suggestions of companies you think would do well?

Leonard Reiser who writes a column for Betting Investing has a good answer to your question. Lenny prefaces his remarks by pointing out that the restaurant industry is no longer the glamor industry it was considered to be 10 years ago, but there seems to be a good bit of growth left and it is now easier to recognize the sound, well-managed companies.

Reiser points out that according to Value Line the industry on the average earns 15% on net worth. On the average it pays 20% of net profits as dividends. The price-earnings ratio the market has been paying for restaurant stocks is 20% to 30% above the average. The bad thing is that the industry is below average for quality and safety.

Having said that he names three stocks which he believes could gain 50% and which have good quality and safety ratings.

The first one is Luby's Cafeterias. I have followed this company for about 10 years and it has had an excellent record. The company seeks exceptional management and in each unit 40% of net operating profit goes to the management team. From 1978 to 1988, sales increased from $64 million to $254 million and earnings per share went from $.32 to $1.51. Luby's operates in the Southeastern part of the country. It has 120 cafeterias which are in shopping malls or other shopping centers. Reiser estimates its market price could rise to between $40 and $50.

Reiser also likes the biggest restaurant chain, McDonald's. With its more than 10,000 fast food restaurants in many countries, McDonald's has brought America's fast food habits to the rest of the world. Even Moscow now has a McDonald's. To Americans traveling overseas, an occasional McDonald's is a welcome change from foreign menus.

Recently McDonald's stock has been trading at a price-earnings ratio of about 13. All of McDonald's quality-indicating figures tend to run well above market averages. Earnings per share for this year are estimated at $4, and if the stock sells at its customary 12 to 17 times earnings, it should sell between $48 and $68. Reiser estimates the stock can rise to between $58 and $86 longer term.

The third restaurant stock that Reiser likes is TGI (Thank Goodness. It's) Friday's. Its figures do not have the consistency of the other two, but Reiser points out that his technical study and Value Line rate it over the other two for price appreciation in the next 12 months. With its below average profit margins and higher than average price-earnings ratio, I'd be inclined to place my money on the other two.
