ONE HUNDRED-NINETEENTH YEAR—No. 2
CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7, 1989
24 Pages This Week 2 Supplements

SCENES LIKE THIS were common around Manchester last Wednesday morning after a storm passed through the area and knocked over trees all over the village and outlying areas. Although most streets were nearly impassible Wednesday morning due to the number of fallen trees, there were no reports of major damage to homes or other structures and no one was seriously hurt.

School District Voters Will Elect Two to Board, Decide Millage Issues

Chelsea School District voters will go to the polls Monday to decide the fate of three millage issues and which of three candidates will be denied a seat on the Board of Education.

In perhaps the most controversial issue, the district is asking voters to waive the Headlee Amendment, which would allow the district to collect its full authorized operating millage of 38.52 mills.

The Headlee Amendment was designed to protect property owners from rapidly rising assessments by adjusting millage rates downward when the increase in assessment is higher than inflation.

This year Standard Equalized Value (SEV) of land in the district rose from $196,014,545 to $221,541,491. About $11.4 million of the rise came in new construction and the rest came in increase value of existing property.

Without the Headlee waiver the district will only be able to levy 36.42 mills for operating expenses. The 2.1 mills translates to $488,292. The tentative budget for 1989-90 is $10.1 million, a seven percent rise over the 1988-89 budget of $9.4 million.

"It's the compounding that's the problem," said assistant superintendent Fred Mills.

"If there wasn't compounding I doubt that anyone would be talking about a waiver."

By compounding, Mills was referring to the formula which determines the tax rate. Last year's factor, .9703, is multiplied by this year's factor, .9643, to arrive at a final factor of .9357. That is the percent of the millage, under the Headlee Amendment, that can be levied, which means the district loses nearly 6.5 percent of its authorized millage.

That translates to a drop of about 2.1 mills.

If the waiver is approved, the board could levy a part or all of the additional 2.1 mills.

This year the Headlee Amendment reduced district revenues 1.14 mills or $230,000.

According to Mills, every school district in Washtenaw county, with the exception of Ann Arbor and Milan, is asking voters for a Headlee waiver.

The rise in SEV, however, will lower the district's debt retirement millage about .5 mills, Mills said, to about 2 mills.

On the ballot the district will also ask voters to approve a renewal of 5.8 mills in operating millage. That millage, if approved, would not be subject to Headlee provisions this year.

Finally, voters will be asked to approve $8.6 million in general obligation bonds for remodeling and re-equipping the High Point Special Education facilities at the Washtenaw Intermediate School District. This is a county-wide proposal which means Chelsea could vote it down but still be subject to an increase in taxes. According to WISD, the average homeowner would see an increase of .22 mills.

John S. Ruhlig, 249 Park St., is challenging incumbents Anne Comeau, 5480 Conway Rd., and Ron Satterthwaite, 10505 Scio Church Rd., for one of two available four-year terms on the Board of Education.

Comeau was first elected to the board in 1981 and her involvement in education has steadily grown since. She is this year's board president and has served as vice-president and secretary. She is also the past-chair of the curriculum and personnel committees.

Comeau also served for eight years as a member of the Central Curriculum Committee. In 1986 she was elected to the WISD Board of Education and is now serving as vice-president.

Comeau has also been active in conferences of the Michigan Association of School Boards and has participated in the National Conference of American Association of School Boards.

Her youngest daughter, Laura, graduated from Chelsea High school this year. Her other daughters, Sarah, Meg, and Cynthia, are either in college or have graduated and are employed outside of Chelsea.

Unlike the other candidates, Comeau is not employed outside her home, which has given her ample time for school board business.

"I am just firmly committed to the education of our young people," Comeau said of her extensive involvement on the board.

"If we don't educate our kids, we're in trouble."

Comeau said she'd like to see the board become more politically involved on the issue of school financing. She said all the proposals that have been discussed over the last year are "better than nothing at all."

"I'd like us to become more active in contacting our legislators and letting them know how we feel."

Comeau also said she'd like to see the school district bring more computers into the system.

"Our kids must be computer literate but that's difficult to do with just enough computers for a lab," Comeau said.

"This is the information age and our kids have to be ready to deal with it."

Satterthwaite, a life-long Chelsea-area resident, is running for his second board term. He has served as treasurer and secretary, and has been actively involved in the finance and public relations committees.

Satterthwaite, co-owner of Smith's Service station, almost decided not to run again, due to the amount of time required to be a board member.

However, he said he has enjoyed serving and sees himself as the "common man's liaison" on the board, a board that has several professional people.

Satterthwaite also said he wants to see the board try to do more for what amounts to be the common student.

"We need to do more for the kids who are not gifted academically, athletically, or in band," Satterthwaite said.

Manchester Cleans Up After Powerful Storm

Village of Manchester and the surrounding area continue to clean up this week in the aftermath of the worst storm to hit the area in more than 50 years.

Although no one reported seeing a funnel cloud last Tuesday, May 30, according to fire chief Mike Sculley, damage was extensive and the storm itself was frightening to residents. The storm, shortly before 8 p.m., was brief but intense. Residents reported that heavy rains reduced visibility to zero.

"I saw the damage from the air and it was incredible," Sculley said.

The damage was mostly in the form of fallen trees, hundreds of them. Wednesday morning after the storm, virtually every road in the village had trees lying across it.

"If we had had an emergency and had to get out of the village, we would have had to take a front end loader with us," Sculley said.

Trees with rotten centers were snapped in half, and many trees were simply uprooted.

However, miraculously, the storm caused no fires, no one was seriously hurt, and no homes or other buildings in the village sustained major damage. However, there were reports that several outbuildings on farms west of the village were toppled and that a silo was cut in half.

School was not in session Wednesday or Thursday in Manchester, and electrical power to the area was not completely restored by Consumers Power Co. until Saturday. The primary tower west of town had been blown over. Many people complained that the contents of their freezers were destroyed.

Neighbors were out in force with chain saws to remove the branches and trees, many of which were taken to a pile near the water tower. By noon Friday that pile was about 15 feet high and more than 50 feet across.

Chelsea Fire Department helped make more than 3,000 sand bags as officials were worried that the Raisin River might pass flood stage as nearly four inches of rain fell on the area. The bags were not used.

"I thank God for mutual aid," Sculley said of the agreement between fire departments within the county to help each other out.

Fire Destroys Waterloo Rd. Barn

A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn owned by the Dan Schnaidt family on Thursday, June 1.

Children playing softball at Chelsea Free Methodist church were the first to see flames from the barn on Waterloo Rd. at about 7:30 p.m.

By the time Chelsea Fire Department arrived the barn was not salvageable, according to fire chief Bud Hankerd.

No livestock was lost in the blaze. A neighbor who boarded her horse in the barn was able to remove it unharmed.

The barn contained about 200 bales of hay, along with bicycles and miscellaneous tools, Dan Schnaidt said.

"It was an old piece of Americana and it makes me sick every time I see what happened to it," Schnaidt said.

It was a full-size barn with a loft and basement and a stone foundation.

Firefighters were on the scene for about four hours. Smoke from the blaze could be seen for miles.

THIS ACCIDENT on Adams St. last Saturday afternoon drew a lot of attention but nobody was seriously hurt even though the car's occupants, Michael Ryan Spears, 17, and Jayma Spears, 12, were taken by ambulance to Chelsea Community Hospital. The road was wet when the car slammed into the tree. The driver, Michael, told police he fell asleep. No charges were filed.

The Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners held a special meeting to consider the problem of escaped state prisoners from Cassidy Lake Technical School and Camp Waterloo. "We want to get into this problem in depth and try to work out a solution," said county commissioner Martin L. Straub of Dexter township. "Something has to be done."

The closest thing to a Depression-era duststorm occurred in west Washtenaw county. Winds gusting up to 40 miles per hour whipped clouds of dirt into the air and turned the sky a sickly yellow-gray. Despite recent rains, which had been spotty, west Washtenaw farmlands had been generally dry. Winds had been taking up the moisture as fast as it fell.

The fifth annual Chelsea Charms "Family and Friends Night" was held at Chelsea High school auditorium. Kori White won the award for Outstanding Student of the Year. Student teachers of the Charms included Michelle Graffund, Susan Schmunk and Mintia Van Reeseema. Tiffany Scott won the Beginner Teachers Award and Lindsay McHolme was runner-up.

Chelsea's 3,200-meter relay team of Kasey Anderson, Amy Wolfgang, Salie Wilson and Laura Damm placed first in the girls state track meet beating out defending state champion and record-holder Wyoming Park in a photo finish. The Chelsea girls finished in 9:45.8 a tenth of a second ahead of Wyoming Park.

Michigan To Prepare Marketing Proposal for Great Lakes Region
Michigan will propose a strategy to market the Great Lakes region to North America and the rest of the world at the next meeting of the Council of Great Lakes Governors, Governor James J. Blanchard has announced.

The governor said Michigan was asked to prepare the marketing proposal, for presentation in July, at the recent meeting of the Council of Great Lakes Governors and Ontario Premier David Peterson in Toronto. The proposal is to encompass strategies for tourism and business development and will incorporate themes and materials already developed for Michigan's Celebrate! The Great Lakes program.

Michigan Travel To Set Another Record, Savich Predicts
Michigan travel is expected to set a record for the fifth consecutive year, pumping as much as $17 billion into the economy, Travel Bureau director John Savich reported.

The increase in Michigan is based in part on a report by the U. S. Travel Data Center which predicts a 7 percent increase in travel in the Great Lakes states, compared to 3 percent expected for the nation as a whole.

Savich said the travel bureau had anticipated a 4 percent increase in Michigan for the year, including a 6 percent increase during the summer.

Chemical, Transportation Groups To Build Training Center

A group of chemical and transportation interests recently announced the donation of $300,000 for the construction of a hazardous materials training center for the training of public safety and industry personnel in the proper response to and handling of chemical incidents.

When completed, the center will be donated to the Department of State Police.

The facility, the first privately built and publicly owned facility of its kind in the nation, will be located adjacent to the State Police Training Academy near Lansing.

Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton), chairman of a House Transportation sub-committee on rail safety, said 300-350 persons have been identified as needing advanced training and the center would make Michigan's state of readiness to handle such emergencies excellent.

The center would train industry and paid and volunteer fire and police personnel on four separate levels as currently used by the State Police and the industry.

The industry partnership is headed up by the Michigan Chemical Council. Council Executive Director Andrew

Such said $180,000 of the needed $300,000 has already been committed.

More College Students Qualifying for Aid

The number of Michigan college students qualifying for state, federal, private and institutional financial aid increased by 80 percent between 1974 and 1986, the Department of Education reported.

During the same time, total undergraduate enrollments in Michigan increased by 14 percent.

Michigan public and independent colleges reported that 170,486 undergraduates, more than one-third of all undergraduates, were eligible for aid and demonstrated a need for financial assistance in 1986.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Wherever two or more local Government leaders are gathered together this time of year, Ed Doolittle told the fellers Saturday night at the country store, chickens are coming home to roost. Ever elected public body that has to come up with a budget is mulling over how to pay the fiddler for all the dancing folks have been doing and want to keep doing.

Folks that have been asking and receiving are getting painful reminders about bills coming due, Ed declared. Part of it is that Washington is wearing local Governments, and part is that folks want to keep getting public services in the manner to which they have been accustomed. The sum of them parts, Ed said, is all them chickens coming home to find somepon to eat.

Practical speaking, Ed said, when all else fails, the feller at the end of the line picks up the tab. Not long back, a town that wanted a bigger and better sewer treatment plant put in a request to the Federal Government and back come the funds like ordering out of the Sears catalog. Now towns borrow or do without until they can save up what they need. When a local Government borrows, Ed allowed, the name of ever taxpayer it looks after is on the note. So when budget making time rolls around, Ed went on, ever taxpayer is reminded where Government charity begins.

As usual, Democrat Clem Webster took strong exception to Republican Ed's notion that shutting off the pipeline from Washington puts some grit back in the local character. If that was the case we could deal with it, Clem said, but the Federal Government ought to look first at stopping some of the leaks in the pipe. A Government that can dump billions down Savings and Loan ratholes, instead of locking up the white collar crooks that stole em blind, ought not to have the gall to call in loans to hard up and hard working farmers, was Clem's words.

Furthermore, Clem said, Washington is playing double jeopardy with local Governments by ordering them to keep up all the programs it quit paying for. The Federal Government keeps living beyond its means, Clem said, and it keeps forcing Governments under it to live by its high standards by whatever means they can scrape up.

General, the fellers favored Clem's camp. Bug Hookum said fer outlandish waste his vote goes to the supercollider that will cost $4.4 billion to build and $270 million a year to run. The thing about this 53 mile long circle of pipe, Bug said, is that nobody will ever know if it works because nobody will ever see the atoms that is supposed to collide in it.

Practical speaking, Zeke Grubb said, that's the thinking behind most Washington programs. It ain't whether they work, it's whether they bring jobs and money to the right places. Fer instant, Zeke went on, it looks like we're going to throw in with Japan to build a fighter plane fer no better reason than Japan says it will swap a little of the work fer all we know about building fighter planes.

Personal, I'm with Clem on this one. It is pure, plain fact that the Washington bureaucracy feeds on itself, and we keep putting back some of what it eats. This is because the lawyers keep updating what is right in the eyes of Washington, and Washington keeps hiring more lawyers, and the green grass keeps growing round and round.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Chelsea's Sewage Plant To Spur Community Growth

The new Chelsea Sewage Disposal Plant is finally complete and running like a top. Mel Leach, now in his 29th year as plant superintendent, began his interview for this column by declaring, "This plant is so much bigger and better than the 1937 installation it has replaced. It has been in operation six months since we kicked the plant on line Oct. 31 and we are putting out excellent effluent."

"Of course, at the end of a multi-million dollar project there are still some odds and ends—cleaning here, painting there—but the finished job is all that our Village hoped for; it had earned the approval of our late village manager, Fritz Weber."

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION FOR CHELSEA New $5.7 million Waste Treatment Works $3,200,000 Federal Dollars $2,500,000 Local Dollars

Sometime this summer there will probably be a formal opening for the 3 1/2 acre project, perhaps with dedication ceremonies and welcoming tours for the public. The event will be a milestone for Mel Leach who began with the plant in 1960 after training in wastewater treatment technology and being licensed by the State of Michigan. Similar feelings will be shared by Cal Penix, manager of the wastewater testing laboratory, whose career goes back to 1971. A relative newcomer to the staff is assistant superintendent Jan Shackelford. His skills with computers and electronics match the high-tech requirements of the new operation.

As most older residents know, Chelsea actually has two drainage systems, one for storm water and the other for sewage. The storm water system, which handles the run-offs of rain and snow from the village streets, has been in existence for decades. (Roman stormwater ducts built before the birth of Christ are still in service.) Chelsea stormwater empties into Letts Creek. The new wastewater plant does likewise after the raw sewage has been treated.

Wastewater arriving from the Village is first screened to remove large objects such as sticks or pieces of metal. The inflow of raw sewage is then lifted by screw pumps to a height of 15 feet so it can flow by gravity through the treatment process. Sand, gravel and other mineral matters are removed and the organic solids are then pulverized in a grinder. The wastewater next passes through a series of three oval oxidation ditches. It is here that live bacteria are maintained in the sewage to convert organic matter into substances that will be suitable for disposal. At this stage the sewage is part liquid and part sludge. Each goes its separate way.

The liquid is routed to final tanks where it is first treated with alum so that fine suspended solids are coagulated and removed. The resulting liquid is next treated with chlorine so that disease organisms are killed. Then, following de-chlorination, the clear effluent is released to Letts Creek. This output, now on its way to the Huron River and Lake Erie, is continuously monitored by the Chelsea wastewater testing laboratory. Constant vigilance makes sure that it is well within public health standards of state and federal governments.

Sanitized sludge is a harmless and valuable form of humus which is used as a fertilizer. A contracting firm hauls the sludge away from the Chelsea plant and delivers it to farms. There it is injected beneath the top soil for the raising of general crops.

Chelsea's original wastewater plant which was built a half century ago had a design capacity of 600,000 gallons of raw sewage per day. It could actually pump 800,000 gallons daily and sometimes did. There were times when heavy rains and infiltration strained the wastewater plant beyond its capacity, causing an overflow of untreated sewage to pour into Letts Creek. "With our new plant capacity, and repairs we have made to the system," Leach says, "such an event is unlikely to happen again."

This observation is understandable in view of the fact that the capacity of the new plant is 1,200,000 gallons per day—twice the capacity of 1937. Then again, history has a way of repeating itself. We'll just have to wait another half century and see. Here is the picture of Village population as seen over 50 years:

Year	Population
1940	2,240
1950	2,580
1960	3,310
1970	3,858
1980	3,816
1990	4,000 (est.)

Figures from 1940 to 1980 are from the Washtenaw County Planning Commission. Estimate for the 1990 population was provided by Barbara Fredette, Village administrative assistant.

The period of 1950 to 1970 was one of substantial growth. 1970 to 1988 was a slack period due partly to population shifts in favor of the Sunbelt and partly to strains on the sewage system of the Village. During the early '80s, cracks in the sewer tiles and other defects permitted ground water to invade the system and diminish its capacity. This actually was an ongoing condition, but in recent years there were times when the village had to declare a moratorium in granting new sewage permits.

The approaching completion of the new $5.7 million sewage plant brought new life to housing entrepreneurs. As a result we now have the Belser Estates to the east of Freer Rd., Bridgetown Condominiums on Old US-12 and Quiet Creek Condominiums north of Lanewood. Tickets for admission to ownership of new homes in the Chelsea area are $100,000 and up.

Arrival of Chelsea Shopping Center and Ames Dept. Store has clearly magnetized Chelsea as a trade and residential attraction. And the new Chelsea Pharmacy next door is nothing less than a glamorous pharmaceutical/personal care showplace.

Down Manchester Rd. stands the Chelsea Lumber Company's expanded headquarters building, doubled in size and offering a galaxy of display rooms for designer kitchens, bathrooms and cabinetry. In addition to its lumber business, this company has grown into a regional merchandiser, financier and construction partner for owners who are building or improving their homes.

These ventures, plus the continuing development of two shopping malls, are clear evidences of growth in the village. And, of course, we have seen rural residential growth radiating on the roads which reach out into the townships.

Friends and neighbors with whom I have talked appreciate these developments and look forward to newcomers who will fit naturally into the community. What local residents would abhor is urbanization with its squalor, violence, porn, concealed weapons, public housing for single-parent families, crack houses, school dropouts and street gangs.

The village has no stated policy for our against aggressive development of its population. It is the custom of the village to consider one building application at a time on its merits without favor and without prejudice. You can decide for yourself how a motion for a topless bar would be greeted by Council.

Members of the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce are clearly in favor of growth as long as the character of the community remains intact. They are looking for the kind of market growth which can provide jobs and opportunities for the sons and daughters of tomorrow.

MEL LEACH, superintendent of the Chelsea wastewater treatment plant, stands beside the new 250 kilowatt standby generator which automatically takes over in event of a power failure at the facility.

GUARDIAN OF EFFLUENT QUALITY is Cal Penix. Biological tests are conducted for four hours a day 365 days a year to fulfill public health requirements.

Food Prices Hold Steady in April

Consumer food prices in April were up only fractionally compared with the previous month, according to a retail food price survey conducted by the American Farm Bureau Federation. The largely steady prices followed a 2 percent jump recorded in March.

The Farm Bureau report was based on a 20-state survey, including Michigan, with monthly comparisons of 16 frequently purchased food items. The average market basket totaled $28.49 in April, compared with $28.44 in March.

The survey showed foods falling in price in April included sirloin tip roast, bacon, eggs, whole milk, cereal, flour, vegetable and soybean-based cooking oil. The average price paid per dozen eggs dropped 13 cents.

Pork chops, cheddar cheese and potatoes recorded the sharpest price increases. Whole fryers and mayonnaise also rose in price. Red apples, bread and chuck roast remained unchanged.

The fastest animal is the cheetah. The large cat has been clocked at seventy miles per hour.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Since when is walking off the job and leaving the building a way of showing concern for the people you are caring for?

I was sad and angry when I read the letter from Janet Carpenter on May 24th regarding the care of the people who live at the Chelsea United Methodist Home. I sympathize with the difficult job the nurse's assistants must do every day, and the fact that it is made harder when co-workers call in sick. However, I also know how hard the nursing administrative staff work on recruiting and training new nurses assistants ('34 people since March), arranging and rearranging schedules, making telephone calls to cover call-ins, and working out policies and procedures to make sure that the residents in our Home are taken care of.

The Administrative staff of the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home is one of the most dedicated and caring teams you will find anywhere. Judith Williams, our Administrator, has an open door policy for all employees and I have personally seen some of those who walked off the job going into her office for conferences on other occasions.

The four employees who were discharged made a conscious choice about their job - and about what position they were leaving their co-workers, supervisors, and the Chelsea Home Residents in that day. I have to question their definition of "caring."

Sandy Schmunk

Concerned Chelsea resident and Chelsea United Methodist Home employee

Kiwanians Will Hear Recycling Director

Tom McMurtrie of Resource Recycling Systems will be the main speaker at the June 12 Kiwanis Club meeting. Tom was instrumental in setting up the recycling bins throughout the county, including the one at Polly's Market. Tom Davis is the program chairman.

On June 19, Nancy Cooper, Special Education teacher at Chelsea High school, will talk about her program and her involvement with the Special Olympics. The club has assisted her County Fun Runs for the past three years at Hudson Mills Park. Norm O'Connor is the program chairman.

Paul Schaible will chair the Kiwanis yearly program on June 28 honoring our police and firemen. These men devote much time and energy to keeping Chelsea a pleasant and safe place to live.

Spic and Span and buckets of water were the order of the day last Monday evening when the Kiwanians rolled up their sleeves to prepare the sausage wagon for the coming summer season. This year the wagon will be at the Concerts-in-the-Park starting June 20, sidewalk days and the Chelsea Fair. The sausage wagon is the major fund-raiser for the club.

A partial list of community service projects that have benefited from the Kiwanis fund-raisers include: the CATS Bus, Senior Citizen Center, Chelsea Fair Bleachers, Boys and Girl Scouts, Coats for Kids, Faith in Action, Halloween Party, SADD, Farmer's Night and the Kid's Pix Program.

School Election

"Probably thirty or forty percent of the students are not gifted in any of those areas. We need to pay more attention to them. In the end they are going to be an important part of the world."

Satterthwaite's wife, Jean, works at the Washtenaw Intermediate School District. His youngest son, Lance, is still at Chelsea High school. Oldest son, Rodney, is a Michigan State University grad and middle son, Curtis, just completed his freshman year at MSU.

Efforts by The Standard to interview John Ruhlig were unsuccessful.

Polls will be open at Beach Middle school from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Absentee ballots may be picked up at the superintendent's office in the administration building at Chelsea High school. Final day to pick up a ballot is Saturday between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Hospitals Unite To Regulate Emergency Medical Services

In response to a state statute, six area hospitals have united to fund and operate the Washtenaw/Livingston Medical Control Corp. (W/LMCC), which will operate emergency medical transport in the two counties.

The corporation will replace the current structure operated by county government. The change was mandated by a 1981 state law, Public Act 79, and put into service by the Michigan Department of Public Health in January 1989.

The hospitals forming the corporation are Beyer Memorial Hospital, Catherine McAuley Health Center, Chelsea Community Hospital, McPherson Health Center, Saline Community Hospital and the University of Michigan Hospitals.

The corporation has appointed John McCabe, M.D., medical director of the Emergency Medicine Department at Catherine McAuley Health Center, as its medical director. A board of directors, composed of one representative from each hospital, is being formed.

The W/LMCC will oversee three ambulance companies and two medical helicopter services. The ambulance companies are Huron Valley Ambulance, Livingston County Ambulance and South Lyon Ambulance; Midwest Medflight and Survival Flight are the helicopter services.

Ellen Marszalek-Gaucher, senior associate director of the University of Michigan Hospitals and a member of the corporation's board of directors, said the joint effort fills a much-needed void for area residents who need emergency medical transport.

The corporation will provide transport and medical direction for persons needing emergency service.

The operation of the emergency medical services will not be affected by these administrative moves. The only difference will be that the hospitals will regulate the services and fund the corporation.

"This has been done to comply with state statutes, but it also shows the level of collaboration present among area hospitals," said Bill Fileti, vice-president of planning and development at McAuley and a corporation board member.

Hunting, Fishing Video Cassettes Given Library By Rod & Gun Club

McKune Memorial Library has suddenly become the permanent repository of a collection of colorful video cassettes on hunting and fishing. There are 19 separate subjects each recorded by nationally-recognized authorities. The recordings are 30 to 60 minutes in length and may be enjoyed by any library patron who owns a VCR.

Jo Ann Walter, McKune librarian, accepted the donated collection of tapes from Chelsea Rod and Gun Club. Rick Monier, past president, and Charley Fredette, club treasurer, made the presentation Saturday morning at the library.

There are individual tapes on how to catch particular varieties of fish such as bass, walleye and trout. In addition there are videotapes of such special subjects as trolling, fly fishing and one entitled "Kids + Fishing = Fun."

The wide range of subjects covered in a single videotape is illustrated by "How to Catch Bass." Two pros team up to cover:

- *Live bait
- *Soft plastic lures and jigs
- *Crankbaits and spinners

- *Where to find bass
- *What to look for in a boat
- *Selecting equipment the pros use
- *Choosing the best rod and reel
- *Casting and retrieving
- *Roger Moore's private secrets.

The collection includes an excellent array of hunting subjects. Fowl include wild turkeys, pheasants and ducks. Animal game subjects, all in color, include white tail deer, black bear and elk. One videotape is devoted to archery tactics and another to muzzle loading.

Anyone who has a McKune Library Card is entitled to free use of these films. If you do not have a library card, the McKune Library will issue one to you free if you are a resident of Chelsea Village or any of the following townships: Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, Waterloo, Dexter, Sharon and Freedom.

70-Piece Summer Symphony Needs Musicians

Ann Arbor Summer Symphony has announced it will perform three free concerts in Ann Arbor in July and August. Announcement was made by Jon Krueger, music director of the 70-piece orchestra, who is auditioning qualified musicians for the all-volunteer group at this time. To arrange for an audition, musicians are asked to call the orchestra's manager, Linda Carpenter, 313-428-2471. Players are needed on all instruments, especially strings, bassoon, french horn, trumpet, and tuba.

The first concert is Sunday, July 2, in the Power Center as part of the Ann Arbor Summer Festival, followed by a performance at Briarwood on Sunday, July 23. The season finale will be at the Power Center on Thursday, Aug. 3 and will be under the direction of guest conductor Robert Pazur. Rehearsals will be held at Huron High school, Ann Arbor, on Tuesday evenings from 7:30 til 9:45, beginning June 6.

Ann Arbor Summer Symphony was founded in 1974 to provide an orchestral experience for musicians who might not otherwise be able to perform during other seasons, and to offer the community a series of free concerts with content ranging from light classics to traditional symphonic works.

Funding for the entire season was made possible by a gift from the Briarwood Merchants Association.

MACBETH was performed by Suzanne DeVries' fourth graders at South school last week as the students got an early taste of Shakespeare. The witches were played by (from left) Angie Crandell, Rianne Jones, and Abby Brown.

THE PROPS were not very elaborate but students in Suzanne DeVries fourth grade class at South school nevertheless had fun performing "MacBeth" last week to a crowd of students and parents. From left are Ashley Coy, Cara Heltman, Stacey Radka, and Erin Dougherty.

Michigan Farm Values Increase

The average value of Michigan farmland and buildings on Feb. 1 was up $28 an acre from a year ago, according to the Michigan Agricultural Statistics Service. Michigan Farm Bureau's agricultural economist, Bob Craig, credits the increase to stronger farm income, reasonable interest rates, and farmers' optimism about the future of their industry.

"Farm income has been very strong the last couple of years, and is expected to go up again this year," Craig said. "Another key reason for the increase is that interest rates, while higher than they have been for a year, are competitively priced and lower than they were for a number of years, making financing more available. Plus the fact that farmers have more confidence in the future of farming."

Across the United States as a whole, farmland values rose for the second consecutive year after five years of declines.

New Field Sanitation Law Effective June 7

Michigan's new field sanitation law, which applies to agricultural employers who hire one or more seasonal workers, goes into effect on June 7. The new law spells out requirements on the availability of water and toilet facilities to employees involved in hand labor. According to Michigan Farm Bureau legislative counsel Howard Kelly, it applies primarily to employees who perform hand labor in fruit and vegetable operations.

"Those who are specifically exempt are logging operations employees, those who work in the care and feeding of the livestock, or activities that are conducted in permanent structures, such as canning facilities or packing houses," Kelly said. "Family members and their spouses, going down to spouses of second cousins, are also exempt."

Kelly advises farmers with questions about the complex regulations of the new law to contact the Michigan Department of Public Health, Division of Occupational Health, in Lansing.

Fever in Children

By Toni Wilson, R.N.

In many cases parents can trust their own judgment about their child's illness because they know their child's health, moods and habits. However, parents should call a physician if the child looks or acts much different from normal, especially if fever is present.

The average body temperature is 98.6 degrees. Generally speaking, a fever is present if the temperature taken under the tongue is above 99.5, the temperature taken by rectum is above 100 or the temperature measured under the arm is above 99 degrees.

Fever itself is not an illness, but a sign that something is wrong. Fever is the body's way of fighting an infection. Most fevers are due to viral illnesses that last for two or three days. The fever may range from 101 to 104 degrees. Teething does not cause a fever. A common cause of fever in small children is ear infections. Children can be comfortable and even playful with temperatures of 104 degrees. On the other hand, they can be seriously ill and have only mildly elevated temperatures. The key to determining the seriousness of an infection is not body temperature but the way a child looks and acts.

Fevers are often accompanied by shivering or sweating. Many children with mildly elevated temperatures have no other symptoms. As the temperature rises, however, the fever becomes more apparent; breathing becomes faster and the skin appears flushed. When fever approaches 104 degrees a child is likely to become listless and uncomfortable. Uncomplicated convulsions from fever are believed to be harmless and happen in approximately four percent of children, but a doctor should be called if this happens.

An electronic thermometer is recommended for children because it is safer, faster and easier than a glass mercury thermometer. Forehead strips are not very accurate and sometimes fail to detect fevers. If you are unsure about how to take your baby's temperature, the nurse at your doctor's office will be happy to show you.

Children with a fever should be given extra clear liquids to drink to prevent dehydration. Popsicles, gelatin, gelatin water and cold drinks are good choices. Dress your child in light clothing. Children over two months old can be given Tylenol or Tempura to help bring the fever down. Follow dosage directions according to age and weight. If the fever is still elevated over half an hour after anti-fever medication is given, sponge the child with lukewarm water. Do not add alcohol to the water.

You should call the doctor if your child:

1. Has a temperature higher than 104 degrees
2. Is less than two months old and acts ill
3. Is difficult to awaken
4. Is confused or delirious
5. Is crying unconsolably
6. Is acting very sick
7. Has a seizure
8. Has difficulty breathing
9. Has ear pain
10. Has burning or pain with urination
11. Complaints of abdominal pain
12. Has a fever for more than 72 hours
13. Has a fever for more than 24 hours without obvious cause or location of infection
14. Has a fever that ceases for more than 24 hours, then recurs

During a baby's first few months of life it is important to seek your physician's advice if your baby seems sick even if there is no fever. Your physician should also be contacted if an ill child has not improved with home treatments or if you do not feel confident that you can handle the situation yourself.

Chelsea High Junior Debbie Webb Wins McClure Essay Contest

Debbie Webb, a junior at Chelsea High school, is this year's winner of the McClure Essay Contest sponsored by the Chelsea Kiwanis Club. A panel of three judges selected her entry, "Why Is Chelsea Special?", as the winning essay. A $100 cash prize will also be awarded.

The McClure Essay Contest is an annual event for Chelsea High school juniors and seniors. The contest originated in a bequest made by Mrs. Hilda McClure to honor her late husband, M. W. "Mac" McClure, a longtime civic leader in Chelsea and a former owner/publisher of The Standard. Mr. McClure was also a charter member of the Chelsea Kiwanis Club.

In addition to her academic pursuits, Webb maintains an active role in extra-curricular activities. She was tri-captain of the swim team this year while competing as a diver. She also served on the Student Council as vice-president. Her enthusiasm for school and other people is widely recognized by her classmates and teachers. After graduation, she plans to continue in competitive diving while majoring in the field of science, possibly earning a degree in medicine.

Her decision to enter this year's contest was an outgrowth of her interest in writing. She finds writing enjoyable because "creativity can be expressed." She finds the grammatical aspects of writing to be the most challenging, but her personal style of writing compensates for this uncertainty.

Webb has lived in Chelsea since 1984 when her family moved here from Iowa.

She and her family moved to Toledo in 1988, but returned eight months later when they realized that they "liked Chelsea so much." Webb's parents are James and Mary Sue Webb of 4201 Conway Rd.

DEBBIE WEBB of Chelsea High school was named the winner of the annual McClure Essay Contest, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea. With Debbie is Kiwanian Ed Lewis. The contest is named in honor of the former publisher of The Chelsea Standard.

Why Is Chelsea Special?

By Debbie Webb
Class of 1990, Chelsea High School

Mark Twain once said, "A small town is one, where you can walk to the local drugstore and call all the dogs by name." The German Shepherd next door is named Spuds and the Black Labrador up the street comes to the name of Licorice. A ways beyond that, a Doberman called Duchess usually comes running out to playfully attack any passing joggers. Chelsea (the name of many local dogs) represents a small community with the local drugstore on the corner and the fields of green grass barely outside the city limits. Not too crowded, with plenty of room to enjoy the outdoors, Chelsea is a quiet, peaceful town.

Chelsea's friendly atmosphere welcomes many visitors. Walking down Main Street, citizens are often greeted by name with a warm smile. People can be observed standing on the street corners talking about local events and their week's activities. The sound of a car horn can occasionally be heard—usually a driver wanting to say hello to someone he recognizes. Chelsea citizens are very hospitable.

Another advantage to living in Chelsea is the size of the school system. Students are given more personal attention in smaller classes. The advantage of smaller classes over larger ones is an overwhelming difference for the learning environment. Concepts can be grasped much easier when students are allowed to work with hands on, not just receive a demonstration by the teacher like in city schools. Another point made by a local student is that he enjoys having a basic acquaintance with everyone in the student body, where no one is a real stranger.

Besides an excellent school system, the community has pride. Efforts toward downtown improvement indicate that the people of Chelsea care about their town's appearance. The rebuilding of the Sylvan Hotel into a store with a clean appearance has enriched the downtown area by giving it zest and color. Hopefully, the Domino theory will prevail. Revitalizing the area stores isn't the only clue that Chelsea citizens have pride in their town. Large attendance at high school sporting events shows that the townspeople take pride in their town and Chelsea athletics. Supporters consistently rally to cheer on the athletes. A state-ranked softball team and a regional-qualifying basketball team make Chelsea proud.

Another advantage that Chelsea citizens have is that Jackson, Ann Arbor, and Detroit are easily accessible. These cities are located close enough to benefit from the excellent opportunities offered by them. Yet the distance allows Chelsea to retain its rural appearance. Cultural opportunities such as Greektown, the Fisher theatre, the Detroit Symphony, and ethnic celebrations are just a short drive away. The University of Michigan in Ann Arbor presents many lectures and cultural series. Sporting events are another opportunity within reach. Hockey, baseball, basketball, and football events create local interest and activity. These opportunities are available without having to cope with large city problems.

Chelsea is located close to many recreational areas. The local residents have a chance to enjoy the fresh air and freedom of living in a rural area. Parks are within a short driving distance for family gatherings, and many beaches are close by for those who like the water.

Just as close proximity of the recreational areas is an added plus, so is the fact that our residents have friends in Chelsea. Being where they feel comfortable and being where people care about them create special bonds that make people want to stay here. Chelsea is special to me because I have friends who care about me that live here. Having people say hello to me on the street is important to me, also, and I enjoy the relaxed attitude of Chelsea.

Chelsea is special for a variety of reasons. Whether it be the warm friendly atmosphere, the community pride, the location, or the friends, the result is a unique, hospitable, caring community. Although there are many small towns like Chelsea in this state and nation, only one is as special as Chelsea.

Dog Softball Team Ends Season With 36-6 Record

Chelsea Bulldog softball team finished its season with a 36-6 record after a double-header sweep of Howell on Tuesday, May 30.

Jenni Smith tossed a two-hitter in her final game as a Bulldog as Chelsea won a five-inning mercy-rule contest, 14-1. She finished with a 20-4 record.

The Bulldogs scored four runs in the first inning. Heather Neibauer and Shannon Losey bunted safely, and Kim Easton drove them home with a double. After Smith and Laura Unterbrink walked and Kelly Dale was hit by a pitch to score one run and Lisa Unterbrink walked to force the final run.

Chelsea scored three more in the second as Easton doubled again, Smith and Unterbrink walked to load the bases, Christy Petty walked to force a run, and Scharme Petty was safe on an error to score another run. The final run scored on a passed ball. Smith's double in the third scored two more runs.

A five-run fourth-inning completed the mercy win. Walks to Scharme Petty and Neibauer were followed by a Losey single for an RBI. Later, with the bases loaded, Easton walked to score a run, Smith singled home two runs, and Christy Petty hit an RBI single.

Easton, Smith, and Losey each had two hits in Chelsea's eight-hit attack. Laura Unterbrink won the second game to improve her record to 14-2. She threw a three-hitter in the Bulldogs' 16-0 victory.

Chelsea scored 10 runs in the first to take control early. Again the Dogs were aided by numerous walks. The first four batters all walked before Amy Thomson singled home the second run of the inning. Carrie Flintoft promptly walked to score another run. The big hit of the inning was a three-run triple by Kelly Bellus.

In the second inning Sarah Musolf tripled home two runs, Shawn Losey singled in the third run, and Colleen Scharphorn's triple drove in the fourth run of the inning.

The Bulldogs scored two more in the third as Flintoft singled, Laura Unterbrink was safe on an error, Christine Burg grounded out, and Heather Bro filed out.

Scharphorn and Musolf each finished the game with two hits.

Morseau, Prentice, Wingrove, Quilter on SEC First Team

Chelsea Bulldogs baseball team placed four boys on the All-Southeastern Conference First Team. A vote of the league coaches determined the team.

Chelsea senior co-captains Jeff Prentice and Junior Morseau were each unanimous selections to the team. Prentice was the Bulldogs' leading hitter with a .500 average in the SEC. He also had a good defensive year in the outfield.

Morseau was named as a catcher, even though he was also Chelsea's number one pitcher.

"There were some good catchers in the league, but Junior earned great respect around the league," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

Morseau threw out 17 of 21 runners who tried to steal. He also hit .340 for the season.

Junior Doug Wingrove was also a unanimous selection as a pitcher. He finished 6-0 in the league.

Chelsea's final member of the first team is sophomore second baseman and lead-off hitter Jude Quilter.

Quilter broke the team record for steals with 31 and walked 17 times in the league alone.

"He has become an offensive threat, although he really didn't learn how to hit until the second half of the season," Welton said.

"Defensively he has improved so much. It got to be a lot of fun to watch him and Kerry (Plank) play the middle infield."

Chelsea outfielder Matt Forner was selected to the SEC Second Team. Forner hit .266 for the season and had 18 RBI.

Senior first baseman Mark Larson, junior designated hitter Steve Emmert, and Plank were all Honorable Mention selections. Emmert hit .338 on the season and struck out just seven times. Plank hit .247 but was selected as much for his defensive ability. Larson hit .306, had 35 RBI, and led the Bulldogs with three home runs.

Other first team members included Warren Manchurian and Jeff Poore of Saline, Jeff Hiatt and Adam Spiess of Dexter, Kevin Wanty and Mike Karr of Milan, and Joe Charder of Pinckney.

Other second team selections included Marty Walsh of Dexter, Scott Baker, Lance Cadmus, and Steve Bailey of Tecumseh, Pat Cooper and Wayne Wasilewski of Milan, Shannon Frece of Pinckney, and Mike Fingler and Chris Lafferty of Lincoln.

Bulldogs Dominate All-SEC Softball

Five Chelsea Bulldog softball players were named to the All-Southeastern Conference First Team in a poll of the league's coaches.

Pitcher Jenni Smith and second baseman Kim Easton were unanimous selections. They were joined by seniors Shannon Losey, catcher and outfielder, Laura Unterbrink, pitcher and first baseman, and Heather Neibauer, shortstop.

Smith was named as a pitcher, Easton and Unterbrink were infielders, Losey was an outfielder, and Neibauer was an at-large selection.

For Easton it was the third year in a row on the first team.

No Bulldog was named to the second team, but Lisa Unterbrink, Amy Thomson, and Kelly Dale made Honorable Mention.

Joining the Bulldogs on the first team were pitcher Kim Kurzyniec, catcher Chris Kennedy, and infielder Kris Russell of Tecumseh, outfielder Jenny Ohren of Milan, and infielder Cheryl Schlickemayer of Pinckney.

Second-team members included Tara Webb and Linda VanDeventer of Saline, Allison Millar of Dexter, Rene Bacholzky and Dana Lemke of Lincoln, Inge Schoeff and Carolyn Karr of Milan, Lerrie Ellison and Cori Kastle of Tecumseh, and Julie Hall and Jennifer Yeakey of Pinckney.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Well, the local high school sports season is done once again, although a few weeks sooner than I had anticipated.

I figured this is the season I'd be going to Lansing, or wherever, for the state softball tournament, or at the very least Milan, for the district tournament.

More than one person has accused me of jinxing this year's team, primarily with a column I wrote a couple of weeks ago that detailed how good the team actually was. One unsigned letter accused me of jinxing the team "again," which means I must have caused their downfall over the last several years since I tend to be pretty complimentary of Chelsea softball teams in general.

Talk about power of the press. Maybe if I say nice things about the Bush administration he'll be out of office by this time next year.

Actually, now that I think about it, it's all starting to make sense. It was just about two months ago that I had a few kind words for actor Rob Lowe and look at the mess he's in! His lawyers will be pounding on my door any day. And it was just last August that I was telling a good friend that the Democrats made a mistake and should have nominated Texas Democrat Jim Wright. Sorry, Jimbo.

Best I can figure is I must have unwittingly cast the "one-run curse." That, of course, is because ever since I've been following the Bulldogs their final game of the season has been decided by one run. In '86 it was Pinckney, in '87 it was Monroe St. Mary's, in '88 it was Dexter. This year it was Hartland.

This year the curse may have reached its peak. Jenni Smith, probably the state's best pitcher, threw a no-hitter and still lost. If I were going to design the ideal curse, that would be it. Chelsea had their best hitters coming to bat with runners on base and couldn't get the key hit against a "mediocre" pitcher, in coach Pat Clarke's words.

Not only that, the Bulldogs didn't even win the Southeastern Conference, with perhaps their best over-all team of the last four years. They won 36 games and lost 6.

That is some curse, eh?

I feel bad that I may have cost Smith a chance at first-string all-state honors since she won't have the exposure of post-season play. Sorry, Jenni, but that won't stop you from having a great athletic and academic career at Wayne State University. Oops. I better shut up or she may be waiting tables for a living in six months.

Maybe I can do something about this curse right now. The Bulldogs are losing every infielder, two of three outfielders, both starting pitchers, and their number one catcher.

Looks like a rebuilding year to me. Twenty, twenty-five wins tops.

On the other diamond this spring Wayne Welton's baseball team put together a better-than-expected season, probably because I didn't say enough good things about them. They won the league and the competitive Rawlings Tournament.

Chelsea has a pretty good nucleus coming back for next season. Jude Quilter and Kerry Plank will anchor the middle infield; and all-conference pitcher Doug Wingrove will return. Pitchers Rob Clem and Kyle Plank will give the rotation some depth.

Catcher Junior Morseau will be the hardest guy to replace, more for his defensive ability and competitiveness than anything else. The bats of Jeff Prentice and Mark Larson will also be missed. And with Matt Forner gone, who will there be for pitchers to aim at? He got hit by pitches 12 times this season.

I've also heard some criticism for having Smith and Morseau as the subjects of so many photographs this spring.

I admit, those two did show up more often than other players. But I don't apologize for it. They were the best players on their respective teams and they were always in the middle of the action. When I aimed the camera at them, I could almost always count on action worth photographing.

Disbro Is MVP Of Girls Track

Twenty-five Chelsea High school girls received varsity track awards Monday evening.

Earning first-year varsity letters were freshmen Charity Allen, Erika Boughton, Becky Erskine, Heather Hamilton, Carmen Smith, Martina Street, and Amy Weir; sophomores Deanna Richardson, Mercedes Hamner and Sarah Gergenheimer; junior Stefanie Wagner; and senior Tine Jensen, an exchange student from Denmark.

Second-year awards went to sophomores Christine Mignano, Jeanene Rossi, and Leisa Schiller, juniors Marti Daggett, Kim Roberts, Vicki Bullock, Cathy Broderick, and senior Amy Carley.

Earning third-year awards were juniors Sarah Grau, Tammy Browning, Tiffany Moore and Anne Steffen-son.

Senior Danica Disbro was the team's only four-year letter-winner. Disbro and Allen shared the scoring lead with 101.5 points each for the season.

Most improved award went to Amy Carley. Carley, in only her second year of track, was one of several athletes who spent a great deal of time in the off-season conditioning and training. She developed into a solid hurdler and a contributor in the 1600 relay.

The most valuable athlete was Danica Disbro, the team's leader and captain, and one of the area's top sprinters. She was an All-Southeastern Conference performer and qualified for the state meet in two events, the Bulldog's only individual qualifier.

The team finished the season with a 5-2 record and a third-place finish in the SEC. Head coach was Bill Bainton and assistant was Bert Kruse.

Outdoor Report

From DNR District Office in Jackson

Wildlife . . .

The first wild turkey season in south central Michigan since the turn of the century ended last week. Wildlife biologists set a harvest quota of 75 bearded males to be harvested during the three hunt periods. Actual harvest was about 65 gobblers. Most birds were taken from public land in the Waterloo and Pinckney Recreation Areas. Average weight was slightly over 20 pounds.

Even hunters who were unsuccessful were enthused about seeing and hearing turkeys. This transplanting of wild turkeys that started in 1982 has been extremely successful. Biologists estimate a flock-size of 1,200 birds during the winter of 1988-89 in Area X. After hatching has been completed this summer, that number could double in size.

Crowing cock pheasant surveys have been partially completed. Numbers of roosters crowing this spring have been as high or higher than last year on most routes. Actual numbers of pheasants in our district this fall will be determined by reproductive success this spring and summer.

The Jackson Chapter of Pheasants Forever held its annual grains sorghum seed give-away last Saturday. Planted food patches, set-aside weedy fields and several easy winters have allowed pheasant numbers to increase steadily.

This year a new state law requires registration of all canoes and kayaks, even if not motorized. All non-motorized boats over 12' must also be registered.

Remember: newborn kits, fawns, pups and other wild animals survive much better in their own home than in yours.

Fisheries . . .

The prime fishing time of the year is just around the corner. In late May and early June, the bluegills and other sunfish come into the shallows, make depressions called beds in the lake bottom, and spawn. At this time they are very vulnerable to angling. Fly fishermen have excellent success with sponge rubber spiders, popping bugs, and dry flies tied for trout. Wet flies are also very productive when they are retrieved slowly through the spawning area.

The following list gives some of the better bluegill lakes in this six-county fish management district: Branch Co.—Cary, Craig Chain, Coldwater, Marble, Lake George, Gilead, Randall, Silver, Calhoun Co.—Duck, Lee, Lane, Wabascon, Prairie; Hillsdale Co.—BawBeese, Bear, Bird, Cub, Hemlock, Long (Reading Twp.), Long (Camden Twp.); Jackson Co.—Big Portage, Big Wolf, Clarks, Swains, Vineyard, Round (Liberty Twp.); Lenawee Co.—Devils, Sand, Allens and Wolf, Wampers; Washtenaw Co.—Big Portage, Baseline, Independence, Sugarloaf, Crooked, South, Four Mile, Ford, Halfmoon, Cedar, Silver, Bruin.

Maps of these and other lakes in the state are available from Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) at a cost of $1 each. An index and order blank may be obtained by writing MUCC, Great Lakes Map Center, P. O. Box 30235, Lansing 48909.

Recent fisheries survey data and information is available from specific lakes by contacting the Jackson District DNR Office at (517) 784-3188 or writing DNR Fisheries Division, 3335 Lansing Avenue, Jackson 49202.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

Cranberries are as American as apple pie but when the pilgrims arrived in the new world they had no name for the tart fruit. According to National Wildlife magazine the colonists believed the plant's flowers vaguely resembled the heads of cranes. They soon dubbed the plant the "craneberry." In time the name was shortened to cranberry.

THE CLEAN-UP IN MANCHESTER continues this week as area residents haul away trees and branches knocked to the ground by a storm last Tuesday night. By Friday afternoon a pile of brush more than 15 feet high had been accumulated on Ann Arbor Hill. Many of the village's oldest trees were toppled. Some that were rotten were broken in half while others were simply pulled up by the roots.

Michigan Floriculture Is 'Blooming' Industry

A "blooming" future is what Michigan Farm Bureau's agricultural economist, Bob Craig, predicts for the state's floriculture industry. Last year, farmers with 25 million square feet of greenhouse cover produced over $100 million in wholesale value, giving Michigan a fourth in the nation ranking in sales of floriculture products.

"As our national economy continues to grow, that should bode well for floriculture," Craig said. "I believe that given the fact that we saw a lot of drought damage last year, a number of commercial growers are doubling their efforts this year to make up for some lost sales. That will mean continued strong growth this year and probably next year."

Michigan leads the nation in the production of potted Geraniums grown from seed, and ranked second in the production of cut Gladioli, potted Easter Lilies, and flats of bedding plants.

GOOD VIBRATIONS

Not all sharks rely on their sense of smell to locate prey. Many sharks have a highly acute sense of hearing. National Wildlife magazine reports many sharks pick up sounds through a series of vibration detectors along their sides. These detectors allow sharks to sense movement several hundred feet away.

MICHAEL "AIR" JORDAN was one of the stars of the Beach Middle school art show last Thursday. The plaster figure, created by sixth graders James Dlesing, Pat Lynch, and Lloyd Eddy, was suspended by strings from a light fixture to give the appearance of reading for a slam dunk. The students paid attention to detail as they even had Jordan sticking his tongue out on the drive.

Q. Please explain the difference between the Discount Rate, Prime Rate, Federal Funds Rate and Treasury Bill, Note and Bond rates?

A. The Discount Rate as an interest rate is what the Federal Reserve charges member banks for loans, using government securities or eligible paper as collateral. This provides a floor on interest rates since banks set their loan rates above the discount rate. Borrowing from the Fed at the Discount Rate is not something banks do every day. They only go to the Fed when they are short of reserves.

While the Discount Rate only applies to banks, the prime rate is one which affects us more as individuals. The Prime Rate is set by each bank as the rate at which it will loan to its most preferred customers. While the individual bank sets its prime rate, the market is very competitive and when a major bank makes a change, most others quickly follow suit. If a lead bank makes a change and others do not follow it, it will probably be forced by competition to get back in line with the majority of banks.

When banks have excess funds above their reserve requirements, they deposit these funds at the Federal Reserve and these funds become known as Federal Funds. Banks lend these funds to one another, and the interest rate on them is the Federal Funds rate. The rate changes daily and is the most sensitive interest rate. The textbooks say the rate is a free market rate set by pressure on the banks for funds. While that is true, the Fed can affect the rate by the reserve requirement it sets for banks.

Treasury Bills are issued weekly for 91 days, 182 days or occasionally a one-year period. An offering announcement is issued on Tuesday and the auction is the following Monday. Individuals usually pay the price set by the larger bidders. The bills sell at a discount from face value and the "interest" is the difference between the selling price and the face value. Individuals buy Treasury Bills from their nearest Federal Reserve Bank. They pay a fee if they purchase them from a regular bank or broker. The rate is determined by the discount from face value at which the Bill is purchased.

Treasury Notes are also issued by the Treasury and have maturities of one to 10 years. The denominations are from $1,000 to $1,000,000 or more.

Treasury Bonds have maturities of 10 years or more and are also available in units of $1,000 or more. The rates on both Treasury Notes and Bonds are determined, like Bills, at the auctions at which they are sold.

Covered Truck Load
Law Being Considered

A House committee in Lansing is working on legislation to provide farmers expanded exemption from having to cover truckloads of farm commodities being transported on public roads.

According to Michigan Farm Bureau legislative counsel Ron Nelson, the covered load law is designed to prevent material from flying off a moving truck and damaging cars, but farm loads are a special case.

"The problem is that agriculture transports many products, often seasonal commodities that, even when they escape from the truck, there will be minimal or zero damage; for instance, onion skins or feathers," he said.

Nelson said that even if farmers get an exemption from covering loads, they will still be liable for damage caused by material that falls off their trucks.

Consumers Demand
Get Leaner Beef

Consumer demand for leaner ground beef and table cuts with less external fat has changed the beef market, according to Michigan Farm Bureau livestock specialist Kevin Kirk. Responding to that demand means increased processing services are being performed to supply leaner, higher valued beef cuts.

"More value added processes are shifting from retailers to packers because of widely adopted box beef technology, reduced transportation costs, and economies of processing and marketing fat, trim and bone," Kirk said. "Because more trimming is taking place before retail sale, fewer pounds of the new, leaner beef can be sold per carcass. Therefore, the price per pound is higher."

Methodist Home Youth Volunteer Program Set

The 1989 Summer Youth Volunteer Program at the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home will begin Monday, June 12 under the direction of Julie Dukes.

Julie is a 1988 graduate of Chelsea High school and is presently attending Albion college with studies in health and human services and pre-law.

An active student and volunteer, Julie recently represented Albion College at a Washington Seminar focusing on Mozambique. She has been appointed by the President of Albion college to serve on the Internal Committee on South Africa.

Along with making the Dean's List both semesters, Julie's other special activities this year have included being treasurer of Wesley Hall government, a member of the Ford Institute for Public Service Special Events Committee, a student orientation leader, a WLB radio disc-jockey, working in the Student Volunteer Bureau tutoring Albion High school students and serving on the Senior Citizen's Committee.

Julie volunteered last summer at three different church camps with junior high age youth and is excited about working with this year's youth volunteers.

Miss Dukes' position as director of the summer program is sponsored by the Detroit Conference of the United Methodist Church through their Vocational Intern Program, the Chelsea Methodist Home Resident Council, and the Chelsea First United Methodist Women.

Young people in grades 6 through 12 are invited to join the summer youth volunteer program at the Chelsea Methodist Home. Volunteers help with group activities, help wheelchair-bound residents go to appointments within the building or outside to enjoy the sunshine and visit with residents individually. Training sessions will be held the week of June 12-18.

Anyone interested in this program may contact Julie Dukes or the Methodist Home receptionist between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m. daily.

Cast Chosen for CAP Summer Production

Newell King and Chelsea Area Players have announced their cast for this summer's production of "Singin' in the Rain."

The part of Don Lockwood will be played by Joe Diederich, veteran of many CAP performances. Cosmo Brown will be played by Ron Lytle. Ron is new to CAP, but has previously acted with Kalamazoo Civic Players. Roxy Kring will be playing Cathy Selden and Ruth Kenney, Lina.

John Williams will be putting aside his direction of Chelsea High school this summer to play the part of R. F. Simpson, the head of the movie studio. Norma Graflund will announce all of Hollywood's top stars when she puts on the role of Dora Bailey. Jerri Cole will have no problems playing Zelda, the beautiful friend of Lina Lamont.

The Chelsea area and is portentous of wondrous things to come in the upcoming production numbers in "Singin' in the Rain."

All has started now. Plans are being put to use as sets are being built; rehearsal schedules are in full swing; sewing has started. CAP is busily working to open the doors for you on July 14, 15, 16, 21, and 22. Joe Diederich says that we have a "gem" in CAP, one of the best theater groups in the area, and he hopes that everyone comes to see the shows.

Pioneer Demonstrations Offered During June at Waterloo Farm Museum

Waterloo Area Farm Museum, 9998 Waterloo-Munith Rd., 3 mi. north of the Village of Waterloo, will host early pioneer craft demonstrations on several Sundays during the summer.

Sunday, June 11, brings the 5th Battery of the Michigan Light Artillery. Today's Battery carries on many of the traditions of the original organization, mustered into service in 1861 at Marshall. The present membership of 40 has two original cannons that they use for demonstrations and competition.

The 5th Battery "E," Michigan Light Artillery, as it is now called, strives for authenticity in both uniform and equipment. Visitors will enjoy watching their demonstration and talking with the men and their wives and daughters, who also wear their colors.

Plan to visit early in the afternoon, shortly after 1 p.m.
Later in the month, on June 25, Log Cabin Day will be celebrated when a natural basket weaver will be present.

Waterloo Farm Museum may be reached off I-94 at Exit 153 and following Clear Lake Rd. to Waterloo Village, where it joins Waterloo-Munith Rd. at the Mill Pond.

The historic farm, as well as Dewey School Museum, is a memorial to the pioneer farmers of Michigan and offers a taste of family living in the 19th century. Tours are available and admission is charged.

The farm is open every afternoon, except Monday, from 1-4 p.m. Dewey School is open Sundays, only.

For information, call 313-498-2191 or 313-769-2219.
