School Board Ratifies Three-Year Contract With Teachers Union

Chelsea Board of Education approved a new three-year contract Monday night for the district's 145 teachers, social workers, and psychologists.

The contract had been ratified more than a week ago by the Chelsea Education Association, the Chelsea teachers union.

The contract raises most teaching steps at the bachelor's and master's level from seven percent up to 14.9 percent. The highest raises are at the low end of the pay scale, where Chelsea teachers were said to be at a disadvantage over teachers at the same levels in other districts.

School district officials were not available for comment or clarification Tuesday morning.

A statement released by superintendent Joe Piasecki Monday night read, "It is a good contract for our employees, it is a good contract for the school district, and allows for the schools' operation through June 30, 1992. The contract places Chelsea in a competitive position with districts in the county who have negotiated or are negotiating contracts for 1989-92. We are extremely pleased that the contract was negotiated in a timely fashion that will allow for the continued orderly operation of the Chelsea School District."

Step one of the 10-step system has received the biggest jump. New teachers at the bachelor's level will be paid $21,211 in 1989-90, a jump of 14.9 percent from 1988-89; at the master's level, $23,050, up 15.1 percent; and at the Ph.D. level, $28,942, up 35 percent.

In 1990-91, step one will rise 12.9 percent at the bachelor's level, 13.1 percent at the master's level; and 4.9 percent at the doctorate level. The percentages for 1991-92 are 11.5 percent, 11.6 percent, and 4.6 percent, respectively.

By contrast, teachers at the highest level, step 10, will essentially receive seven percent raises across the board in each year of the contract. Next year a bachelor's degree holder will earn $35,166, a master's degree holder will earn $40,202, and a Ph.D. holder will receive $43,661.

While most steps will be raised from seven to 15 percent over the life of the contract, individual raises in many cases will be considerably higher.

For example, a bachelor's level teacher moving from step one in 1988-89 to step two next year ($18,463 to $22,779) will receive a raise of 23.3 percent. A bachelor's level teacher moving from step nine to step 10 in 1990-91 will receive an 11.5 percent raise. A teacher rises a step after each year of service.

No figures were available Monday as to the over-all cost of the contract to the district.

In other school board business, the 1988-90 budget was approved, with income of $10,094,227 and expenditures of $10,091,188.

Piasecki's contract was extended for a year. Salaries for administrators were also approved.

The Michigan Model Comprehensive Health curriculum was approved for grades K-8, with the eighth grade to be a pilot program.

School Board Approves Extensive Budget Cuts For Next School Year

Chelsea School District has decided to call a special election in August to ask for an additional 2.1 mills to offset more than $490,000 that was lost through the Headlee rollback.

School district voters turned down a district request in the June 12 elections to waive the provisions of the Headlee Amendment.

The Board of Education Monday night approved cuts across the board totaling $493,500 in the event that the new request for millage fails. No one will be laid off. In the process, a number of extra-curricular activities will be eliminated including all middle school and freshman sports teams; the Beach Middle school and Chelsea High school newspapers; the high school musical; and the middle school yearbook.

Car Stolen from Methodist Home

A car was stolen from the parking lot of the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home on Monday.

The 1982 Oldsmobile, which belonged to a home employee, was parked on the north side of the complex. Police said the vehicle had been left unlocked.

The largest cuts will come in capital outlay, where $75,000 has been eliminated from the purchase of computers and $80,000 has been taken from school bus purchases.

"It was really difficult," said board president Anne Comeau.

"We are too good a district to lose all those programs."

Other areas that will be eliminated include the gifted and talented program in the elementary schools, formally known as the Enrichment Triad Program. Teacher Ruth Stielstra will be retained, although as a regular classroom teacher. She will fill a spot that would normally have been filled by a new teacher.

Chelsea High school will lose $43,000 in teaching supplies and textbooks, capital outlay, and a media center position. Beach Middle school will lose the same items, totaling $34,000.

Elementary school staff and programs are being cut $83,000. Fringe benefits and conference travel has been cut $7,000.

Special education loses one position and supplies totaling $34,000.

Community education is cut $15,000, including cuts in secretarial services, supplies, texts, program brochures, and senior citizens services.

Administrative services, which includes items such as mini-grants and postage, was cut $23,000.

Maintenance loses $36,000, including one custodial position, supplies, and $5,000 from the maintenance millage.

Field trips and elementary swimming have been cut, saving $20,000.

The pool manager's position was cut, saving $9,000.

California Achievement Tests will not be given, saving $6,000.

Man Arrested After Accident For Drunk Driving

A Texas man was arrested for drunk driving early Sunday morning after his car hit a tree and a telephone pole as he was northbound on M-52.

According to police, Arturo C. Ortiz, 28, of Mercedes, Tex. drove across Main St., hit the tree and pole, and stopped three feet north of Lincoln St. He then drove across Main St. into the Union 76 parking lot, where he was arrested.

Stereo Equipment Stolen from Car

Stereo equipment was stolen from a car parked on Grant St. during the night of June 12.

Packed Hall Hears Plans For Grass Lake Project

More than 100 people turned out for an informational meeting last Thursday night on a proposed $400 million development in Grass Lake Township.

The meeting, which lasted about an hour, featured presentations by employees and consultants of Agee & Associates of Ann Arbor, the developing company.

Only questions entertained by the developers were from the township's planning commission. One question, which was not answered specifically, is where the money is coming from to support such a massive project.

The project, to be built on 1,400 acres in Jackson county, is nearly three times the size of the original proposal of a 500-acre development. However, an accountant on the project, Sherman Harrington, said the inclusion of water and sanitary sewer systems required that the scope of the project be expanded.

Unlike several recent housing developments in the Chelsea area, the Grass Lake project would try to keep house prices in the $90,000 to $130,000 range. Saline architect Michael Pogliano said the developers are trying to provide affordable housing.

The scope of the project is enormous for the Grass Lake area. Included would be 1,321 single-family homes, 832 cluster homes, 940 condominiums, 240 rental apartments, a five-story condominium tower with 200 units and a five-story retirement tower with another 200 units.

The plans also call for a nursing and convalescent home, a medical building, pharmacy, social services and minor emergency clinic. There would also be adult and child day-care centers. There was also land set aside to build additional school buildings.

"They are aiming about 40 percent of the development at an elderly or empty-nest population," said township supervisor Al Mollenkopf.

"The rest will certainly attract a lot of school-age children, which will have a big impact on the school system."

The commercial needs of the area would be met by a $50 million commercial center, containing 285,000 square feet of space. That would be built in the third or fourth year of the project. It would include a hotel, supermarket, health club, theater, post office, mini-mall, and recreational building, among other things.

Al Mosseri, president of the developing company, said the idea is not to compete with Grass Lake merchants. He said those merchants would be given the first chance to open a store in the development.

Mollenkopf would not speculate as to the chances of the development succeeding.

"We're trying to keep an open mind," Mollenkopf said.

"We'll review their proposal when the time comes and follow our procedure. However, I haven't had anyone come to me and say this development is the greatest idea since sliced bread."

The township has not accepted the developer's application for a zoning change from agricultural to residential because the township is reviewing its zoning ordinance and a moratorium on changes is in place.

However, a July 6 public hearing has been set on the changes and the township board could approve the changes at their July 13 meeting depending on the outcome of the hearing.

The developers said groundbreaking could take place as early as September if the moratorium is lifted.

"We want to get the moratorium lifted, not just for these people," Mollenkopf said.

"It is having an impact on everyone."

Most of the people in the audience Thursday night were area residents. Adjacent landowners had been notified of the meeting by the township.

"We didn't want them feeling like something was going on that they weren't aware of," Mollenkopf said.

Chelsea's softball team earned the title of State Champions at Lansing's Ranney Park with a hard-fought 7-4 victory over Richmond in the final game of the state tournament. Ace pitchers Kelly Hawker and Beth Unterbrink combined to close down a fine Richmond team that did not know the meaning of the word "quit." The Blue Devils hung tough all the way, but Chelsea powered through in the end.

The new Nursing Center at the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home was ceremonially consecrated. Public tours of the building, the major part of a $7.6 million expansion and remodeling project, were open for the day.

Cavanaugh Lake Store at Cavanaugh Lake and Glazier Rds. was held up and robbed at gunpoint. The gun-wielding robber fled with $155 cash. The crime remained under investigation by the sheriff's department. Possible suspects had been questioned, but no arrests were made.

Bobby Pratt, a sophomore at Chelsea High school, left for five weeks with David and Yvonne Roller, Free Methodist missionaries, on a trip to Mexico. Pratt planned to help the Rollers in the care of their young son as they travelled throughout the country. During the trip he also hoped to take part in work projects with a team of U. S. college students.

Balistrere said the idea was to clean the area and make it a useful park for the community.

Hyang Joo Kim and Timothy Stubbs attended the All State Piano Camp. Both young pianists would be sophomores at Chelsea High school in the fall and studied piano with Betty Rasmussen.

Chelsea and Dexter seemed to have born the brunt of a storm on Sunday. Although there had not been confirmed reports of a tornado ripping through the area, numerous trees were down following the shower and high winds. It was reported that a funnel cloud was sighted near Brighton in a continuation of the line of damage through the area, which uprooted and broke off various trees.

The Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Whitehead were welcomed home on furlough after a four year term of service in Hong Kong. They were presented at Bethel United Church of Christ at the Mission Festival. The scope of their work had included the transformation of an older village congregation into an industrial mission on the outskirts of the rapidly expanding city of three and one-half million. They worked with a group of nurseries for children of working mothers in addition to various educational projects for youth and adults.

White rats are rarely seen outside the scientific laboratory or an occasional pet shop, but a Chelsea man caught them in his garage. Mike Frey put a trap inside his garage door to get rid of some bothersome chipmunks. He expected to find some of the tan little critters in his trap, but what he found was a white rodent.

Pupils of the Susan Deanne School of Dance presented their first annual dance recital in the gymnasium of Chelsea Junior High school. The program was also a benefit performance for the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults in Lansing.

Blanchard Continues Pledge for Increased State Police Patrols
Gov. James J. Blanchard said he is committed to adding 100 State Police troopers to freeway patrols, fulfilling a pledge made in 1987 when a surcharge was imposed on speeding tickets to boost traffic enforcement. Top aids said the additional patrol force should be in place by next spring.

While saying the department has been hampered by attrition through early retirement, Blanchard said he was surprised the additional troopers were not added—and in fact, trooper strength is now lower than at that time—and was surprised he was not told about it earlier this year before he read news accounts of the issue.

"What we need is 100 more real live patrols on freeways," the governor told reporters.

Management and Budget Director Shelby Solomon said transfers would be sought this year to free up sufficient funds to begin hiring more troopers, and said a schedule will be developed based on attrition due to early retirement and "ensure there will be 100 more troopers on the road than the (1987) benchmark."

State Police had 1,139 troopers assigned to patrol duties in 1987, and 130 vacancies were reflected in the current year when numbers were slightly below that, despite hiring 211 persons over the last two years.

No Decline in Sight for State's Prison Population
Michigan's prison population is expected to rise dramatically through the end of 1991, leading to a projected shortage of over 7,400 beds by then, according to updated automated prison population projections released by the Department of Corrections. The problem will be eased somewhat in 1992 when four new prisons add 2,104 beds to the system.

The projections indicate end-of-year prison populations will rise from 28,806 this year to 38,560 by the end of 1991.

With prison expansion leveling off in early 1990 through 1991, the shortfall in prison beds is projected to fluctuate between 3,500 and 6,000 until the second quarter of 1991 and then grow to a shortage of 7,413 beds by the end of that year.

The number of prisoners is 5,345 more than the department's last projection of October 1988, and the bed shortage is worsened because the four 1992 prisons were expected to be ready in 1991.

Terry Murphy, chief of the research division for the department, said the projections are up from last year's forecast because there has been no slowdown in admissions as was previously expected.

The 69-bill crime package passed by the Legislature last year is expected to increase admissions, and the state's demographics do not suggest a decline in the prison population "over the next several years," he said. The new forecast abandons an assumption that admissions will decline.

At the present rate, the state will take in 12,700 prisoners this year, up significantly from the 10,700 admission rate in 1988 when the last record was set.

"At this time, it is difficult to explain the continued increase in the prison population because of several potentially significant 'unknowns' that may influence commitments," Murphy said.

These include effects of the "crack down" on drugs and jail overcrowding and the rise of "short-termers" with sentences of 12 months or less, he said.

The report showed 25.7 percent of the admissions during 1989 were of prisoners with minimum terms of 12 months or less, nearly double the 14.5 percent rate of 1987 when 1,025 prison inmates had such terms.

Corrections Deputy Director Leo Lalonde said the projection "shows we have to come up with creative ways to deal with prisons."

One of the things which will help, he said, is the governor's proposal to give counties money to build jails for state prisoners with minimum sentences of 12-24 months and to charge counties to put those offenders with sentences of under 12 months in state prisons.

Lalonde said the community corrections act with alternative programs for probations and increased use of such things as tether programs should also help.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Recent, the fellers talked about June being marrying month, and how only them that has done it has paid the dues to bad mouth it. Zeke Grubb must of mulled over matrimony all last week, because he come to the country store Saturday night with a followup report.

Since August usual ain't fit fer much but to hold the rest of the year together, Zeke said, we ought to make it divorce month in the spirit that not much else is going right either. Zeke told the fellers the idee come to him when he read recent that a Kansas preacher's "divorce ceremony" was backfiring. He has been holdin em regular at church to remind his flock how couples have to work at staying married, and how much they lose when they don't. Now it turns out that the divorce rate in his church has gone up sharp, so Zeke figgered the ceremony reminds em what they've been missing.

Fer instants, there's the nagging and the griping they could do without. Zeke said the preacher's ceremony reminded him of the feller that was ask how he and his old lady was doing with the marriage counselor. He said they were gitting along better now that the counselor had em sleeping in different rooms and eating at different times. He said they were planning to go different places on vacation because they wanted to do everything they could do to stay together.

Since the fellers were out of earshot of their old ladies they egged Zeke on. Ed Doolittle said "Silent Cal" Coolidge has helped his marriage. Cal noted that a feller never has to explain or take back what he never said. The fall back position, Ed went on, is that if you got to say it, don't let the wimmen hear it. Trying to figger wimmen, Ed declared, is trying to fathom the unfathomable and scrut the unscrutable. Actual, said Bug Hookum, he stays married by reminding hisself that if you give a wimen a inch she thinks she's a ruler. They try to keep their men in check the way the old optomist told his young partner how to sell eyeglasses. When a customer asks the price of a pair of glasses, say $50. If he don't bat a eye, say "fer the frame." When he wants to know how much the lenses cost, tell him $20. If he still don't squawk, say "fer each." The idee, Bug said is to find out up front how much what you want to do is going to cost in later aggeravation.

Contrary, declared Clem Webster, the best plan is the one politicians use when making budgets. Basic, they offer the kind of relief you git from a judge that reconsiders your case and changes your death sentence to life in prison. Politicians list all their needs, and they lament they got to raise taxes 15 percent to meet em. Then they study their budgets up one side and down the other and announce the good news. All their hard work, trimming, cutting and sacrificing has pulled the increase down to only five percent.

Final, Bug reported a radio call-in talk show where a feller was ask if he would marry the same person he's married to agin. He answered that he tried not to let the same snake bite him twice. Another feller on the show was ask if his old lady nagged him. He said no, that he could stay out all night and she wouldn't say nothing, sometime fer a hole month.

Personal, I see boredom now is a disease called repetitive motion syndrome. I figger that is as epidemic in marriage as in factories.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Lima Homemakers Tour Ella Sharp Museum in Jackson

The excitement and fun of hands on experience with color was shared by a dozen Lima Extension Homemakers, June 14 at the Ella Sharp Museum in Jackson. A 45-minute drive in the rain repeating the expression, "Rain Before Seven, Stops By Eleven," brought dry weather while touring the historic property and going back into history.

At the Victorian Print Shop the press was printing book marks to be handed out while the printer explained how the press works.

In the barn one could hear extension sisters talking about where Dad once took us in a buggy like this. The Rev. Thomas Wehringer of St. Joseph Catholic church and Dr. Joseph Hara of the First Christian church of Sylvania, O. co-officiated the ceremony before 300 guests.

The matron of honor was Kathleen Eikost, sister of the bride, of Toledo. She wore a wine-colored, full-length satin gown with 2/3 length gathered sleeves with puffed shoulders and a sweetheart neckline. She carried free-form crescent bouquets with the same flowers as the bridal bouquet.

The bridesmaids were Caryn and Andrea Skorupski, sisters of the bride, of Toledo, Bethany Frendt, sister of the bridegroom, of Gregory, and Mary Jo Zaleski and Diana West, of Toledo. Their dresses were the same as the matron of honor's.

The bride's mother wore a frost-gray, floor-length gown with softly draped "V" neckline, gathering at the waist and accented by a sequined center inset.

The bridegroom's mother wore a mauve floor-length gown with softly draped neckline, long sleeves, double peplum from the waist, and a satin waistband.

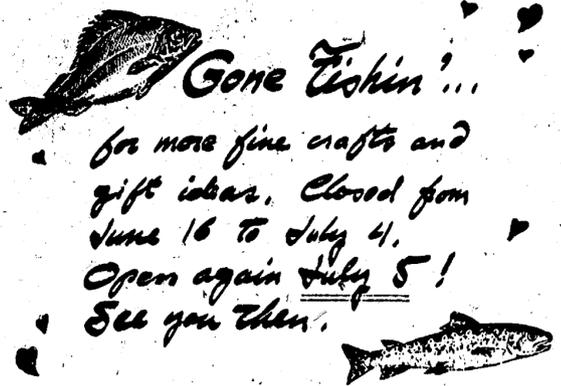

Jenna Rose Eikost, niece and god-child of the bride, was an attendant. Best man was David Chavalia of Toledo.

Serving as ushers were James Braswell, Jeffrey Henning, Gary Peters, Bruce Barber, and Phillip West, all of Toledo. They each wore a silver-gray, cut-away tuxedo with wine-colored bow ties and cummerbunds.

A reception for 300 guests was held at Meadowbrook Place in Toledo, hosted by the bride and bridegroom and their parents.

Motorists on M-92, just north of Baxter's Food Market, received the impression that a riot call had been turned in when, within a matter of a few minutes, four officers came to the assistance of a fifth who encountered resistance in making drunk driving and drunk and disorderly arrests.

Chelsea Independents defeated Stockbridge, 5-0 on the local diamond with Phil Bareis pitching a beautiful one-hit shut-out. He struck out 17 men in seven innings. George Heydlauff led the team in hitting with a double and a single in three trips to the plate.

Police Chief George Doe warned that anyone tampering with the parking meters on the downtown streets was liable for prosecution. Sticks or other obstructions jammed into the coin slots had caused considerable trouble in recent weeks.

ANNETTE MICHELLE WURSTER
Manchester Girl Wins State Title

On May 27, Annette Michelle Wurster, daughter of Ray and Vicki Wurster of Manchester was crowned Miss Michigan American Crowded Hostess 1989.

The pageant was held at the Clarion Hotel and Conference Center in Lansing. Annette competed against 73 other girls from across Michigan for the title. Annette received a cash award, official crown and banner, trophy, flowers, an all-expense paid "Dream Vacation" to Waikiki Beach to compete in the National Finals, and the honor of representing her state for the next year.

Annette will return to the pageant next year to crown her successor, and help produce the pageant. Annette also received a trophy for most photogenic semi-finalist.

Annette's sponsors in the State Pageant were the Manchester Business Men's Club and Ed Greenleaf of Chelsea Ladies. Many local businesses and friends supported her through Pageant Book ads.

Annette is a 1989 graduate of Manchester High School and will be attending Eastern Michigan University in the fall. Throughout the summer Annette will be traveling to Pennsylvania, New York, and Texas as visiting hostess. She will be helping with the state pageants and seeing the sights. She will also be active in Michigan in various parades and summer festivals.

Merchant Area Increased for 1989 Fair

More merchant display area has been provided for this year's Chelsea Community Fair due to high demand. Every year a number of vendors are turned away.

That was one item of business at the June meeting of the fair board.

In other business, plans are moving ahead for the construction of an addition to the Fair Service Center. However, even though all permits have been obtained, work will not begin until after this year's fair.

This year's fair will host another mud bog and 4-wheel-drive pull.

Drainage and sewer lines crossing the fairgrounds, as well as the changing of the curb and problems of run-off were discussed.

Work parties have been planned for Thursday, June 22 and Thursday, July 6 at 7 p.m.

NOTES

DONALD A. COLE, Director

"You can teach a student a lesson for a day, but if you can teach him to learn by creating curiosity, he will continue the learning process as long as he lives."

—Clay P. Bedford

Now that school is out for the summer months, many of us will be spending more time with children or grandchildren. This will provide an opportunity to give a child a priceless gift... something that will be of incalculable value as long as he lives.

The creation of curiosity... a thirst for knowledge... is not an easy task. Professional educators often lack the ability to do this, but perhaps YOU can do it, if you try.

We realize that every service we conduct is unique in the life of a family, and we make every effort to make the ceremony a source of beautiful memories.

CROWNS: A WAY TO SAVE BROKEN DOWN TEETH

My dentist recently suggested that some of my teeth would need to have crowns done on them in the near future. Crowns are very expensive—why won't a silver filling do the job?

At Chelsea, caps (as some people call them) are the treatment of choice to restore and protect teeth which have become so broken down that a silver amalgam or composite filling would be impossible or ill-advised. Amalgam (silver) fillings depend on mechanical retention within the tooth to hold them in place. The dentist provides small undercut areas for retention of the filling when he or she drills out the cavity. Sometimes when there is not as much tooth structure as he would like your dentist may use special pins which are like tiny little screws to help hold a filling in place.

A crown on the other hand, does not usually depend on retention within the tooth but rather strengthens the tooth by encompassing it and helping to hold it together. Part of the cost of a crown lies in the materials and labor needed to make it. Some crowns are made of gold or another precious metal, some crowns are made of porcelain-like materials, and other crowns are made of a combination of porcelain and metal. Crowns also take much more of your dentist's time to prepare and to finish than dental restorations, usually two appointments. At the first appointment your dentist will shape the tooth so that there will be room for the crown to fit over it. He will then make an impression or mold of the prepared tooth from which a model is made. This model is an exact duplicate and is used to make a crown which will fit precisely on your natural tooth. It may take a few weeks for the permanent crown to be made in the laboratory so in the mean-time your dentist will fit you with a temporary crown to wear until the permanent one is ready. At a separate appointment your dentist will remove the temporary crown and replace it with the permanent one.

Other indications for crowns include teeth which have had root canal or pulpotomy treatment, malformed or poorly positioned teeth (for both esthetics and function), or for teeth which are being used to anchor a fixed bridge or a removable partial denture.

Although crowns are more expensive than other types of dental restorations you are getting true value for your money when you consider that they are designed to withstand years and years of tough daily use. When was the last time you bought an automobile that had a realistic chance of lasting 20 years or more?

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
I am one of those dreaded "city people" that Mr. "Bud" Klink wrote about, and I now live in Chelsea. I've been familiar with Chelsea for many years since my grandpa was born and raised here. Unlike Mr. Klink, I didn't move to Chelsea to get away from Humanists—I came here because I felt this is a good place to live.

Mr. Klink may be surprised to know that even though I lived in the city most of my life, I have never been a drug user. And, working two jobs must have prevented me from getting onto welfare like so many other city dwellers, according to Mr. Klink. I can't seem to find that "fat cat" friend that Mr. Klink thinks is on my side. Perhaps if he would be kind enough to point out my fat cat friend, I could demand drugs from Mr. Fat Cat (free prescriptions from Chelsea Pharmacy?). Maybe my fat cat friend could reimburse me for the parking tickets I paid, or better yet, lower my taxes to what I paid when I still lived in the city.

Like Mr. Klink, I find the controversy over abortion and gun control ironic. Mr. Klink sees nothing illogical about supporting legislation to prohibit abortion, yet he doesn't understand why we should support legislation to prohibit easy access to guns. Even as a former Marine Drill Sgt., he can't figure out that guns are made only to kill.

Unlike Mr. Klink, I am in favor of any legislation that takes away easy access to handguns that make it so convenient for our young people to shoot each other over something as stupid as wanting the jacket that someone else is wearing. Mr. Klink even goes so far as to "wish they would murder more politicians, not gun owners!" As long as I live, whether in Chelsea or in the city, I will never wish murder on anyone.

The pilgrims came here to escape religious persecution. Nowhere in any history books does it state the policy of pilgrims "telling the freeloaders to shake a stick." However, I do know that they strongly believed in the commandment "Thou Shalt Not Kill" and came to America to practice that belief. Like Mr. Klink, I am proud to be American. It's the attitude of the Mr. Klinks in the world that scares me.

D. Hinderer
A former City Slicker who keeps a dog, not a gun.

Dear Editor,
We have been reading your newspapers for, I think, many years. We must commend you for your refusal to pander to your readers' base instincts. Other newspapers such as the Enquirer or Weekly World News publish photographs of amply endowed young women in revealing swimsuits for no other purpose than to titillate and arouse their readers. Even closer to home, newspapers such as the Free Press and News publish sexual advice columns and interviews with foul-mouthed comedians such as Eddie Murphy and Robin Williams. Here again the intent is to titillate and arouse. This is degrading and insulting to the public. At our age we frankly do not wish to be titillated or aroused. We much prefer your approach to the news. Long after moving away from Chelsea, we continue to read your newspaper because we can count on you for uplifting stories of the human spirit, brave dog stories, and the like. Every now and then you slip up by publishing photographs of young female athletes in revealing swimsuits or leotards. We know that the human body is nothing to be ashamed of—we all have those parts, after all. But we don't see any need to titillate or arouse your readers with unnecessary displays of exposed flesh. If we see too many of those sorts of photographs and find ourselves becoming titillated or aroused, we must warn you, we will stop reading your newspaper.

A friendly warning from two loyal, long-time readers,

Despite an increase in the proportion of women in managerial occupations, since 1970 their salaries in relation to men's have remained at about the average earnings differential for all women workers compared with that for all men workers, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Women's Bureau. In 1984, the average weekly earnings for women in executive, administrative, and managerial occupations was 63 percent of that for men employed in similar jobs.

Celebrating 40
Years of Marriage

The children of Lorenz and Sonja Wackenhut invite all of their friends and family to an open house on Saturday, June 24 beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the UAW Local 1284 Hall, 2795 Chelsea-Manchester Rd., Chelsea, Mich.

BOB BARDEN, SR., Ann Arbor businessman and veteran stunt flyer, will be thrilling spectators again this year as he pilots his red and white Pitts Special upside down at treetop height and goes into a vertical climb.

Air Show, Fireworks Have Local Flavor

The Ann Arbor News and Domino's Pizza, Inc., have formed a new organization to assure continuation of the popular airshow and fireworks display, July 4, at the Ann Arbor Municipal Airport.

The Ann Arbor Independence Day Celebration, Inc., a non-profit corporation will produce the 1989 event.

This year's event features an airshow, entertainment, plenty of food and beverages, and a fireworks display choreographed to music and produced by Pyro Spectaculars of Rialto, Calif.

Two personalities, both well-known to citizens of both the Chelsea and Dexter communities, will be providing a lot of input for the July 4th activities, this year.

Marie Ritz's nephew, Danny Clis-ham, an Ann Arbor native who flies big planes for a living, and small ones for relaxation, is bringing his Can-Am Airshow to his hometown for the Fourth of July celebration.

Danny was graduated from St. Thomas High in Ann Arbor.

His Can-Am Airshow has appeared at a score of sites around the country.

He has logged in more than 18,000 flying hours in two decades of commercial piloting, and gets a lot of fun flying from a Pitt Special, small 200-h.p. sport plane, which he and his uncle, Jim Myning, a United Airlines pilot from Chelsea, built as a family project.

Myning's regular run is from Chicago to Hawaii and return.

He's one of the precision flyers in the Can-Am show.

Another area resident featured in this year's airshow is Eddie "The Grip" Green of Pinckney.

Green is a Ford Motor Co. executive, who can be described as a modern-day daredevil from the old school.

His stunts include wing-walking, skydiving, and boarding a runway-skimming biplane via a rope and ladder dropped to a speeding convertible. Winds reach 160 mph when Green is atop the wing of a plane.

Ann Arbor businessman Bob Barden, Sr., a veteran stunt flyer, will be flying when Eddie Green is picked up from the speeding car and performs his wing-walking feats.

In addition to his work with Green, Barden will be roaring his red-and-white Pitt Special upside down at treetop height, and climbing the slick aircraft straight up, leaving behind a trail of smoke from his tank.

Bob Lyjack, a research manager for the Environmental Research Institute of Michigan (ERIM), has won a string of national and international awards with his 1930 Waco Taperwing, the stunt plane of the Depression Days.

Lyjack will be among the Washtenaw county pilots featured at the July 4 airshow.

The Yankee Air Force, located at Willow Run Airport, will fly in a World War II C-47 transport plane, and a B-25 bomber, from the Force's collection.

Ann Arbor vocalist Jennine Leslie will sing the national anthem to open the airshow.

Gates will open at 3 p.m. for the event at the Ann Arbor Airport location.

The entertainment begins at 3:30 p.m. with Morris Lawrence and his popular Big Band Jazz from Washtenaw Community College, followed by demonstrations of radio-controlled airplanes, scheduled at 5:15 p.m.

The airshow begins at 6 p.m., and gates at the airport open for the fireworks display at 7:30 p.m.

The People's Choice Band is an eight-piece group, which plays everything from modified rock to near-gospel and almost country.

The day will be climaxed by a brilliant fireworks display, synchronized to music especially chosen for the Ann Arbor show.

Credits of the show's producer, Pyro Spectaculars, include Mickey's 60th birthday for Disneyland in Anaheim, Calif., the Chinese New Year Hong Kong fireworks of 1988, Macy's Fourth of July celebration of the Golden Gate Bridge, the Statue of Liberty week-end activities in 1986, and the opening fireworks for the 23rd Olympiad ceremonies in Los Angeles during 1984.

Admission to the 1989 program at the Ann Arbor Airport will be $150 for tour buses, $25 for motor homes, $20 for vans, $15 for cars, $5 for motorcycles and walk-ins.

The price will be $10 per car after 7:30 p.m., for fireworks only.

To reach the Ann Arbor Municipal Airport site, take I-94 to the State St. exit, drive south to Ellsworth, then west.

Census Bureau Reports 2-Plus Million Farms

Early data from the 1987 Census of Agriculture show that the U. S. had 2,087,759 farms, 1,059,573 of which had annual product sales of $10,000 or more. Land in farms totaled 964,470,625 acres, 86 percent of them in farms with $10,000 or more in sales, the Commerce Department's Census Bureau reported.

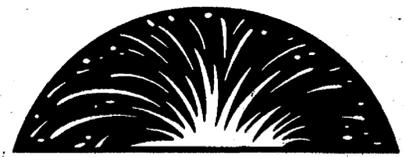

The census showed that the U. S.'s farmers and ranchers sold $138 billion in agricultural products and that farms with $10,000 or more in sales averaged $125,187 per farm.

Other findings: $58.9 billion or 43 percent of total agricultural sales were for crops, while $77.1 billion or 57 percent came from the sale of livestock, poultry, and their products.

The agricultural census obtains information on all identified farm and ranch operations in the United States. The Census Bureau defines a farm as any place where $1,000 or more of agricultural products were produced and sold or normally would have been sold during the census year. Sampling is used to collect data for selected items and to account for non-responding farm operations.

Reports for individual states may be obtained by writing the Information Office, Agriculture Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, D. C. 20233, or by calling (301) 763-1113. The printed reports also are available from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

Federal Mogul Gives $5,000 Gift to WCC

Washtenaw Community College recently received a renewable $5,000 pledge from the Federal-Mogul Technical Centers of Ann Arbor. The gift will be added to the college's current Capital Campaign.

"The gift was awarded because of WCC's strong presence in the community and for its training opportunities that have benefitted Federal Mogul employees," said Charles Downing, Federal Mogul manager of manufacturing development and research.

WCC's $1 million Capital Campaign is privately funded and supports the college's construction and renovation project. This project includes a new building, the Job Skills and Campus Events Building, and additions to two existing buildings, a Computer and Electronic Facility and an Automotive Service Facility. The Federal Mogul Gift brings the campaign total very close to $800,000.

The WCC Foundation, which is a group of local citizens who have the responsibility of raising and overseeing Foundation Funds, sponsors the Capital Campaign.

Overflow Crowd Attends Hearing on Joslin Lake Dredging By Landowner

By Will Connelly
A gathering of 200 determined citizens overflowed Lyndon Township Hall last Wednesday night to make a double-barreled protest to the acts of an area landowner. First, they oppose his attempt to suck water from Joslin Lake to irrigate his farm. Second, they deplore his efforts to violate adjoining wetland which has been a breeding and nesting ground for wildlife since time immemorial.

His business outlook soon became evident when he explained that under his scheme for draining water from Joslin Lake, he could anticipate four or five hay crops a season versus a mere two or three at present.

Lee added that if he is not permitted to use the water of Joslin Lake for the production of hay, he might turn all or part of his 400 acres into a development for homesites.

As the meeting progressed it was further disclosed that drainage efforts would be implemented by a pump which would be operated from 18 to 24 hours a day. Such a condition, environmentalists at the meeting stated, would make the land uninhabitable for a number of species, some of which are on the endangered list. Michigan United Conservation Clubs protested Lee's application in writing and also made a statement for the record during the tape-recorded session.

A letter citing eight specific objections to Lee's drainage attempt was (Continued on page 24)

The first person called upon to testify was Todd Lee of Gregory, owner of the wetland in dispute near the southern shore of Joslin Lake. Lee had filed an application with the DNR for a permit to drain water from the lake to provide irrigation for hay crops on his 400-acre property. The application has not been granted and came into public question after property owners in the vicinity discovered construction activities for a sizable drainage ditch near the lake. A large dredging machine was at work digging a ditch in the wetland and truckloads of 8-inch pipe had already been delivered to the drain-site.

This was why a hearing was scheduled and why 200 neighbors and deeply concerned environmentalists showed up.

At the meeting Lee admitted the beginning of digging without a permit and justified it as a long-standing right of any farm owner. He cited a former owner of the property, Sunny Crest Farm, which had done "the same thing" 15 years ago. (Local residents on Joslin Lake do remember 15 years ago when a drought plus Sunny Crest drainage brought the lake water level to its lowest point in history.)

Lee also dismissed protests of environmentalists, conservationists and lake property owners as irrelevant, stating that "I am a businessman." In the audience were a number of substantial businessmen who couldn't see the point in Lee's reasoning.

Todd Lee Prepared To Go to Court Over His Dredging Project

Area farmer Todd Lee says he'll go to court if he loses his battle to build a ditch across his property to irrigate his crops.

Lee wants to use water from Joslin Lake to irrigate his Lyndon township farmland, where he grows alfalfa, corn, and small grains. His dredging has caused an uproar among lake residents who are concerned that his plans could drain too much water out of the lake. Lee was forced to apply for a license due to wetlands in the area, and the Department of Natural Resources held a public hearing due to the controversial nature of the project.

Lee says he simply wants to make sure he doesn't lose his farm. He wants to build a typical farm ditch, about 175 feet long. It is, he said, something he has always wanted to do.

"I'm not going to eat the interest I'm paying on the land," said Lee, whose farm will have been in his family for 125 years next year.

"I'd be staring at the scenario of a lot of other family farms you've heard about."

Lee said he understands the concerns of people who are worried that too much water will be drained, but "I don't think that will happen." He said he had Washtenaw County Deputy Drain Commissioner Kevin Sullivan at the meeting to tell residents how to establish a legal minimum lake depth, but that no one seemed interested.

"I can't believe the controversy this has caused, especially when another farm irrigated out of there years ago," Lee said.

"When you go through a drought period, suddenly this becomes a big deal. To me, this is not an unrealistic practice. It's not a major project."

Lee also said that using a well was not a good solution, partly because it's prohibitively expensive and partly because "we're dealing with water you can't see and what are people going to say if I dry up their wells?"

Lee, who said he "is sick of the situation," has turned the entire matter over to his attorney.

Meanwhile, Richard Schramm, who represented the DNR at the public hearing, said the public has until June 29 to file any comments about the project. Schramm said he'll make a personal inspection of the site sometime after July 4 and hopefully have the entire matter resolved in July.

Joann Tobin Is All-American at West Florida

Former Chelsea High school softball pitcher Joann Tobin recently finished her season at the University of West Florida by pitching her team to a third-place finish in the NAIA National Tournament.

The tournament was played in Midland and many of Tobin's friends and former teammates went to watch her pitch.

Her only loss in the tournament was to Kearney State of Nebraska, 3-0. However, she beat Northwood, 7-0, Missouri Southern, 1-0, and Oklahoma City, 2-1 in nine innings.

Tobin also earned several postseason honors for herself. She made the NAIA Coaches Association All-American First Team, the NAIA All-

American First Team, and was district 27 player of the year. She was also on the district 27 All-District Team.

Chelsea Woman Accomplished In National Triathlon Events

A Chelsea-area woman has compiled an impressive set of credentials as a triathlete.

Shelly Bentley, 31, recently finished fifth in her age group at the President's Triathlon in Los Calinas, Tex. The race was a qualifier for the World Triathlon Championships in Avignon, France. The top two in each age group qualify, and she was competing against 59 other athletes in her bracket. The race was a one-mile swim, 25 mile bike ride, and 6.2 mile run.

Bentley also finished second in her age group, and was the eighth woman over-all in the Dexter-Ann Arbor run.

In May, Bentley won her age group and was the second woman over-all in the Starker-Mann Blathlon in Gaylord. The race included a six mile run and a 31 mile bike ride.

Last September she placed third in her age group at the Wilkes-Barre Triathlon in Pennsylvania. The race was the national championship of the Triathlon Federation for the Olympic distance of a one mile swim, 25 mile bike race, and 6.2 mile run.

Last June she won her age group at the Great Lakes Triathlon Championship at Half Moon Lake, which consisted of a one-mile swim, 31-mile bike ride, and six-mile run.

Outdoor Report

From DNR District Office in Jackson

June 5 Fisheries...

Bass fishing season began last week-end with mixed results. According to the conservation officers, some lakes produced good catches while other lakes were unproductive. Fishing success should improve when the weather pattern finally stabilizes.

The following list contains the lakes in our area that we consider the best largemouth bass fishing lakes: Branch county: Coldwater Lake, Marble Lake, Lake George, Randall/Craig Lake Chain, Union Lake, Matteson Lake; Calhoun county: Duck Lake, Goguc Lake, Gordon Lake, Nottawa Lake, Prairie Lake, Wabasson Lake; Hillsdale county: Baw Beese Lake, Lake Dianne, Long Lake (Reading Twp.); Jackson county: Michigan Center Lake Chain, Clark Lake, Crispell Lake, Gillett's Lake, Big Portage Lake; Lenawee county: Devil's Lake, Sand Lake, Wampler's Lake; Washtenaw county: Big Portage Lake, Ford Lake, Four Mile Lake, Independence Lake, Sugarloaf Lake.

In this portion of the state, smallmouth bass are generally found in the rivers. The best are the Battle Creek River; the St. Joseph River in Branch and Calhoun counties; the Kalamazoo River in Calhoun county and the North and South Branches of the Kalamazoo; the River-Raisin near Manchester in Washtenaw county and the Huron River in Washtenaw county upstream from Ann Arbor. Several lakes in the district also contain good populations of smallmouth bass. The best smallmouth bass lakes are Branch county: Coldwater Lake; Calhoun county: Duck Lake; Hillsdale county: Hemlock Lake Chain; Lenawee county: Sand Lake, Wampler's Lake; Washtenaw county: Baseline Lake, Big Portage Lake, Ford Lake.

Wildlife...

Wildlife biologists are completing planning and bid specifications for game area improvements. New shooting range benches and steel swing gates will be constructed and put up this summer. Parking lots and trails will be upgraded to provide recreational users reliable and safe access to state game areas.

Canada Geese have hatched their goslings and are becoming evident. Some folks love these birds and some don't appreciate them as much.

WHEELER-McMICHAEL BLACKSMITH SHOP, a marvelous rural structure restored by the Webster Historical Society over a period of several years, will be shown to interested citizens during a series of Open House events planned by the society during the summer. The first of these Open Houses will be Saturday, June 24, 1-4 p.m. The Historical Society has been working for several years to restore the blacksmith shop, originally built on the farm purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Beaugrand. The Beaugrands donated the historic structure, and members of the Historical Society arranged to purchase a new site for the blacksmith shop from May Mast. An interesting assortment of blacksmith tools and machinery will be available to inspect during the Open House events. Additional dates for touring visitors will include Saturday, July 8, and Saturday, Aug. 12, with the hours the same as those on June 24. Questions may be addressed to Gloria Brigham, 426-4892.

Open House Slated at Historic Blacksmith Shop

The Webster Historical Society is planning a series of Open House events during the summer at its restoration project, the Wheeler-McMichael Blacksmith Shop.

The first Open House is scheduled Saturday, June 24, 1-4 p.m. Historical Society members have been working on the restoration for several years.

The Wheeler-McMichael Blacksmith Shop was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Beaugrand at the time they purchased the farm on which the shop was originally constructed.

The Webster Historical Society arranged to have the blacksmith shop moved to a new location, a site which May Mast agreed to allow the society to purchase.

Most of the restoration work was accomplished by a group of Amish carpenters, who did a remarkable job.

The structure stands proudly at its new site on Webster Church Rd., looking very much as it did more than 100 years ago.

A chestnut tree was planted at the site, last year.

Webster Historical Society has been very fortunate to acquire an interesting assortment of blacksmith tools and machinery, given by various donors.

The list includes many of the original items from the Wheeler family.

Future dates for the Open House events include Saturday, July 8, and Saturday, Aug. 12, the final day of the Dexter Daze-89 celebration.

The structure may be visited from 1 until 4 p.m. on either of the listed dates.

The historic blacksmith shop is located on Webster Church Rd., south of North Territorial Rd., five miles west of US-23, between Joy and North Territorial Rds.

Anyone with questions about the Open House events, or about the blacksmith shop, may contact Gloria Brigham, 426-4892.

100 Wild Horses To Be Available for Adoption in August

On Aug. 11-13, 100 wild horses recently rounded up from fragile western rangelands will be available for adoption at the St. Johns Horse Auction 8 1/2 miles north of St. Johns. The adoption event to be held in St. Johns is sponsored by the U. S. Department of the Interior's Bureau of Land Management.

Since the program began in 1973, over 90,000 animals have been adopted to more than 35,000 people in the United States, and over 600 animals have been adopted by the residents of Michigan.

To qualify to adopt up to four animals, applicants must have a sturdy corral at least six feet high, shelter, transportation, and means of caring for the animals. The adoption fee of $125 per horse is payable in cash or money order at the time of adoption. The fee helps the Federal Government recover some of the costs of roundup, veterinary care, transportation and administrative expenses.

Most wild horses are found in Nevada, Wyoming, California and eastern Oregon. The animals reproduce at a rate of 15 to 20 percent annually and must compete with native wildlife and domestic livestock for survival. Each animal rounded up by BLM is thoroughly checked by a veterinarian, coggins tested, wormed, and vaccinated for various equine disorders before being shipped out for adoption.

After an animal has been adopted, BLM personnel will halter and load the animal for the adopter and provide information on health care, feeding and training of wild horses.

For applications and more information about this event, contact John Winnepenninx, Bureau of Land Management, P. O. Box 631, Milwaukee, Wis. 53201-0631, or call (414) 291-4417.

THE MAGIC OF CARING:

A Look at Teen Suicide Prevention

By Stacy L. Denney
Senior English
Grass Lake High School

As people, we would like to believe problems like suicide do not exist. We also would like to believe that no one we know would be so desperate that they would even consider taking their own life.

When we look at the statistics on our country's teen suicide rate, however, we begin to realize that as a society, we have a problem when 7,000 of our youth commit suicide every year and 400,000 try unsuccessfully.

Suicide is now the second leading cause of death among our youth. In America, in other words, every 90 seconds a teen will try to take their life and every 80 minutes one will succeed. American society must begin to look at what is causing the teen suicide epidemic and work to educate everyone in the area of suicide prevention.

In recent years our teen suicide rate has increased dramatically. The suicide rate for teen-age boys has increased by 300 percent in only 25 years. We now have the highest suicide rate among teen-age boys in the world.

What's worse, experts think the actual numbers are far higher than what's reported, because in some states a death isn't classified as suicide unless a suicide note is found. Suicides also are mistaken for accidents and in some cases, are not reported as suicides to save the family from some pain.

Obviously, something about our modern society has helped trigger the teen suicide epidemic. In recent years the number of single parent homes and the number of homes where both parents work has increased, therefore, in some cases, causing a lack of parental involvement in their child's development. Child abuse, whether verbal or physical, also affects the child's emotional development.

Even families with good relationships are not immune to the suicide epidemic. Teens often become suicidal due to a sudden crisis such as death or divorce.

Other factors that can cause a teen to become suicidal are suicide of a friend or family member, alcohol/drug abuse by parent or teen, rejection by boyfriend/girlfriend, and the media's glamorization of teen suicide.

But the only clear, consistent factor is depression, coupled with some triggering event. The triggering event in teens can almost always be tied to a sense of loss or failure. With such a wide variety of problems facing teens today it is easy to see why teen suicide is not attributable to one cause alone.

Granted, we can't prevent all the youth suicides, but we can certainly do much better than we are now. Suicide education must start by teaching everyone the three deadly signs of depression, which are: 1. Viewing things in only negative terms. 2. Avoiding friends and social activities. 3. Changing daily patterns dramatically.

Our responsibility does not end there, we also must teach everyone how to deal with a depressed friend. First of all, listen to what the person is saying, "if their feelings scare you tell them, do not be afraid to be honest. Sharing some of your experiences with depression can sometimes help. Most importantly let someone know if you think there is a chance that the person may be suicidal."

Parents greatly influence a teenager's life, therefore there are ways a parent can help keep their child's self esteem high. Parents need to let their children know that it is okay to make mistakes. Why shouldn't we share with our kids the times we've been humiliated or lost our jobs and felt we couldn't go on?

It is also important to make sure teens feel valued for what they are and not what they do. Parents sometimes are so busy working hard to provide material things that they are neglecting what the child really needs—time, attention, love and affection. It is important that parents make time to talk to their children and to know what is going on in their lives.

Certainly, schools also play a big role in the life of teen-agers. Good support programs in the event of a suicide are crucial in minimizing the copy cat effect. The following is a sample crisis action plan. 1. The principal or another school administrator should contact the victim's family to get the facts straight. 2. The principal should call a meeting of the staff to inform the staff of the situation so they can better deal with students' questions and a plan for working with students should be established. 3. Student support crisis centers should be available for at least five days, after which student close to the victim should be identified and monitored appropriately.

Schools can also do a lot to prevent teen suicide by providing periodic workshops for staff on suicide prevention, and relating better with adolescents. Schools should also try to offer classes that would teach students how to improve their self-esteem, bolster their confidence and increase their coping skills. Schools are forced to deal with the issue of teen suicide because students who commit suicide are usually identified as a student at Central High school. But teen suicide is not exclusively a school problem but rather a community concern.

Concerned communities also can make efforts to help prevent teen suicide. Community efforts are important because dropouts, runaways, and recent high school graduates can't always be helped through schools. To reach this high risk group we need to work closer with police, probation departments, rock music stations, record stores and bartenders. Current community efforts include crisis hotlines and support groups like "Survivors" which helps people cope with the tragedy of suicide. Survivors members tell what brought them to the group, pledge confidentiality and offer one another moral support.

The long range solution to teen-age suicide, of course must come from society as a whole. Clearly, suicide among our youth is a dramatic and drastic form of communication and that tells us something about ourselves and our society. Never in human history have we lived so close together and yet so far apart. Making time to talk to teens is often difficult in a chaotic world but listening and actually hearing what teens are telling us can help us get in touch with their feelings.

Taking the time to talk may not stop a suicide from happening but it can help end a temporary crisis and provide the necessary time to seek help and bring hope back into the lives of those who walk among us in despair.

The teen suicide issue is something we would rather not look at because of what it says about our society. But if approached with the proper training and attitude, dealing with the threat of teen suicide can become a way to celebrate life and all the opportunities kids have before them. When teens fail to see the opportunities ahead of them, they sometimes seek a permanent solution to their temporary problems. The permanent solution truly closes the door to all successes.

This paper is dedicated to a close friend of mine who took his life, in hopes that his vision of people caring about one another might be fulfilled.

Movie Company Sets Up In Rockwell Building

By Brian Hamilton

Imagine the movie "Night of the Living Dead" with a touch of Jack Nicholson's mania and a liberal dose of The Three Stooges and that's about what you may have the chance to see when "Wendigo" makes its debut this fall.

"Wendigo" is the first feature-length film for Excalibur Motion Pictures, a film company that set up shop two weeks ago in the Chelsea Industries Annex building next to Sullivan Plumbing Co. Company owner Tom Chaney, who is also the film's screenwriter, director, and co-producer, hopes the movie will eventually become a cult classic.

"If it achieves cult status, that would be great," said Chaney, 25, of Jackson, a former Eastern Michigan University student and veteran of Detroit-area commercials and low-budget movies, including "Evil Dead II."

"It's not obviously campy. There are some real shocks, and horrifying elements, but two minutes later the audience will be laughing. It is really a comedy of horrors."

The movie will be completed for about $125,000, Chaney says, and everyone associated with the picture owns a piece of it. No one is being paid a salary. Chaney, co-producer Dave Thiry of Ann Arbor, sound man Eric Pascarelli of Ann Arbor, and even lead actor Ron Asheton, have all had multiple jobs on the project. Asheton, guitarist for Destroy All Monsters and one of the originals in Iggy Pop & The Stooges, composed the music. Chaney was even a stuntman. Chaney and Thiry worked on the film out of their homes for more than two years before deciding to find an office space, which they stumbled upon while driving through town.

"I had an editing machine set up in my living room," Chaney says.

"Wendigo" is about a group of hunters on snow-covered Manitou Island who accidentally "break the circle" and are haunted by an ancient Indian spirit. They, of course, cannot escape the island until a shuttle plane comes the next day. All sorts of special effects are used, many of them on the order of the old Sinbad movies, where the monsters walk around in jerky fashion. It also has plenty of decomposing flesh, chopped off hands, burning bodies and other gore that will never be confused with the spectacular effects of a movie like "Aliens." However, the dialog is often planted firmly in cheek and the actors use exaggerated facial expressions, ala The Three Stooges. Chaney, Thiry, and Asheton all admit to being big Three Stooges fans, and Stooges photos are about the only thing resembling art work in the offices.

ERIC PASCARELLI begins work on sound effects for the film "Wendigo," which is going through its final rounds of editing in the Excalibur offices in the Chelsea Industries Annex building. Wendigo is a horror-humor, low-budget movie.

In one scene, which appears in their two-minute promotional clip, one of the hunters has been killed, with some flesh ripped from his body. One of the hunters suggests burying their comrade, but his buddy objects. Then the first hunter says in a panic worthy of Moe Howard, "What do you want to do? Let it sit here and lose his body fluids all over the floor and stink up the entire cabin, making us all sick 'til we're out of here?"

The campiness of the movie, Chaney says, comes primarily from its low-budget nature.

"It's the movie's shortcomings that make it campy," Chaney says.

"You can't intentionally make a campy movie."

About 90 percent of the film has been shot, most of it in places like Dearborn, Livonia, Tecumseh, and Dexter. Chaney, Thiry, and Asheton, in fact, met in another small town, Manchester, on the set of "The Carrier," a low-budget horror movie.

Most of the remaining work is in the hands of Pascarelli, who will dub in the sounds of everything from a hatchet hitting a skeleton to Asheton's music. Deadline is October, for the MIFED Film Festival, an Italian festival on the order of Cannes, where all kinds of influential movie people gather.

Chaney has almost worked out a deal with a distribution company, which has shown the promotional clip of the film overseas to apparently enthusiastic audiences.

Ideally Chaney hopes the movie will make enough money to simply allow him to continue making more movies with the group of people he has used on this project. He knows the chance are small that Wendigo will make it in theaters in this country, although he says optimistically that "it's out of the ordinary and quirky enough that we may have a chance."

But with television, in particular cable television, or extensive overseas distribution, there is always a chance for a reasonable return.

"We have a large project planned next that would be shot in Michigan," Chaney says.

"Even if Wendigo failed completely, we'd do another little project. But we're confident this film will make money, we just don't know how much."

In some parts of the country it is believed that if a butterfly lands on you, you will get a new dress.

K & E SCREW PRODUCTS CO. offers citizens of the area an opportunity to tour the industrial facility, which has recently completed an expansion of the plant located at 8763 Dexter-Chelsea Rd. on Sunday afternoon, June 25. Owner Eric Knisely continues the work begun in 1945 by his father, Holton Knisely, and Paul Ellsworth. Tours will begin at 2 p.m. and continue through 5 p.m., with 33 employees who have volunteered to conduct the tours, to explain to visitors what they do and how the plant operates.

K & E Screw Products Showing Off Expanded Plant at Open House

K & E Screw Products Co. will provide plant tours for citizens of both the Dexter, and Chelsea communities, their friends and neighbors, Sunday afternoon, June 25, for a three-hour period, beginning at 2 p.m.

The long-time business was established by Paul Ellsworth and Holton Knisely, whose son is the current owner of the industrial plant, located west of Dexter, at 8763 Dexter-Chelsea Rd., in Lima township.

When Ellsworth and Holton Knisely opened their original operation, it was in space leased from J. Art Lovell, who operated a service station at Main & Broad Sts. in Dexter, and who served as fire chief for the Dexter Fire Department for a lot of years.

Eric Knisely explained, "It was in 1945 that my father and Paul Ellsworth rented part of the building and installed a screw machine in the back of Mr. Lovell's business.

For nearly three years, the two partners worked opposite shifts at Federal Screw Works in Chelsea, while putting in hours at their own business.

They constructed a 20 x 40-foot wooden frame building at the Lima township site during 1948, at which time they moved the business to that location.

In the years following, they added two 12 x 40-foot wings to the plant. Further expansion was dictated by 1952, and a 5,500 sq. ft. block building was erected adjacent to the original plant, located at 8763 Dexter-Chelsea Rd.

The structure remains a part of today's industrial facility.

About this time, Eric Knisely advised, K & E began supplying Aeroquip Corp., then a small company located in Jackson, but which has since grown to become a world leader in the manufacture of hydraulic hose fittings and other components, with its industrial division re-located to Van Wert, O.

During 1963, Paul Ellsworth retired. Eric came to work with his father in early 1964, and later that year, Holton Knisely filed to incorporate.

When his father retired from the business, four years later, Eric Knisely and two other men were named the new corporate officers for K & E Screw Co.

Ellis Boyce, an employee who had been with K & E for 15 years, and Harold "Jim" Eberts, who came from the King-Seeley Thermos Plant on Scio Rd., joined Eric Knisely to head the manufacturing operations at K & E.

The trio continued the plant growth by expanding with an additional 20 x 50-ft. unit.

The addition housed the oil and chip processing system, which increased the efficiency of recycling steel and oil.

A 3,500 sq. ft. expansion during 1977 allowed the plant more machine space and much-needed office space.

Next, the company's first computer was put into service, in 1978.

In 1980, Ellis Boyce retired. Two years later, Eberts left, heading north to take over operation of the Tawas Motel, which to this day, keeps him occupied.

Eric Knisely advised, K & E's most recent plant expansion began in 1987, bringing an additional 11,500 sq. ft. of floor space, producing a total square footage of 25,000.

Monday's downpour allowed a great deluge to nearly swamp Knisely's office at the K & E facility, but a quick in design was quickly corrected, he said, to avoid future "underwater" operations.

The firm manufactures hose fittings for both the industrial and agricultural markets, in addition to supplying a few parts for the automotive suppliers.

For more than 35 years, K & E Screw Products Co. has supplied hose fittings for Aeroquip Corp.

Of the 53 employees at the plant, Knisely said 33 have volunteered to assist at the Open House, Sunday, June 25, to offer visitors a plant tour, to show what part they play in the manufacturing operation, and to answer questions people may have about K & E Screw Products Co., its employees and operations.

Knisely commended the employee volunteers for their offer, and said it was just one of the many fine characteristics exhibited by the employee work unit.

"We've tried to blend with the neighborhood which surrounds us, as we expanded our plant's operations," Knisely added.

The neighborhood is primarily an agricultural district, with K & E an industrial island.

"We hope a lot of people will take advantage of the opportunity to tour the K & E plant, and to learn more about the manufacturing operations and the people who make it such an interesting plant," Knisely said.

"With many years of operation behind us, we look forward to a future with many more," he concluded.

Weber's Tops Michigan Hotels in Sales

Eleven Michigan hotels were judged to be among the 400 top performers in the nation, according to a study released by Lodging Hospitality, a leading hotel-industry trade magazine. Rankings were based on total sales per room. One hundred hotels each were identified in center cities, resorts, suburban locations, and on the highways.

Weber's Inn of Ann Arbor is ranked No. 4 in the nation among the 100 suburban properties with sales per room of $45,506. It heads the list of Michigan Properties. Michigan's top ranked hotels in the suburban and highway categories included; Weber's Inn of Ann Arbor, with $45,406 total sales per room.

Novi Hilton, with $42,373 total sales per room.

Dearborn Inn, with $35,609 total sales per room.

Kingsley Inn of Bloomfield Hills, with $33,333 total sales per room. Other top performers included the Vally Plaza Inn, Midland, with $30,875 total sales per room; Holiday Inn Holidome, Ann Arbor, with $28,412 total sales per room; Sheraton Fashion Square, Saginaw, with $24,115 total sales per room; and the Holly Inn, South Haven, with $21,677 total sales per room.

In the resort and airport categories, only two Michigan hotels made the top 100 list: Crystal Mountain Resort, Thompsonville, with $38,769 total sales per room; and Centennial Park Hotel, Grand Rapids, with $31,558 total sales per room.

All of the 400 hotels also operate restaurants and meeting/convention facilities, and all operations must be well managed and very popular with the public. Top performers also have more employees per room than does the industry average.

Receiving this highest business performance ranking among all Michigan hotels capped a very successful year for Weber's Inn. Weber's recently celebrated their 50th year in business and their 18th anniversary in the hotel business.

Some Residents Seek Sewer District Tax Relief

Dexter township is facing several challenges to its actions, or what many citizens regard as no action, relating to public outcry on the site selection for the proposed sewer system, and the manner in which several property owners within the township were allowed exclusion from the sewer district.

Joe Boltach is one of 13 Dexter township residents who have filed a petition with the Michigan Tax Tribunal, asking relief from the $7,000 assessment they understand will be placed on July tax bills from the township.

Boltach explained he has constructed three duplexes on the parcel of land he and his wife own, and it's his understanding that each of the additional six residences will be assessed $7,000, in addition to the $7,000 tap-in fee for the home he and his wife occupy on Dexter-Pinckney Rd.

The Dexter township citizen says after county officials checked his septic system, he was informed it was operating efficiently and should continue to do so for many years.

Yet, with the advent of the proposed sewer system, Boltach says he and his wife face momentous tap-in fees for their home and the duplexes they have added to provide what they planned to be some retirement income.

Another home they hoped to build on their property is now facing turn-down on a building permit, Boltach stated.

"We just don't think it's fair. Other property owners in the township requested to be excluded from the sewer district, and their requests were granted, but we were informed we 'had' to be in the sewer district," he said.

"We're pursuing the situation by petitioning the Michigan Tax Tribunal to grant us some relief," Boltach said, early this week.

At least a dozen other people in Dexter township are following a similar path, seeking relief from what they consider an unfair financial bind imposed by Dexter township.

Petitions filed with the Michigan Tax Tribunal outline the citizen concern.

"Common Allegations" charged on behalf of the 13 petitioners seeking relief through the Michigan Tax Tribunal include the following:

"(6) The Portage Lake community is comprised of the fringes of Putnam, Webster, Hamburg and Dexter townships, and is on the edges of Wash-tonaw and Livingston counties.

"(7) Prior to 1988, Dexter township desired to preserve the character of the neighborhood, and particularly the relatively pristine nature of the lake.

"(8) To that end, the township board opposed development of lakefront area, opposed further lot subdivision, and enacted zoning ordinances which prevented residents from establishing a sewer connection, in lieu of using a septic system.

"(9) Past decisions of the township board were against constructing, operating and maintaining a sewer.

"(10) The primary reasons against building a sewer were that it cost too much, it would encourage unwanted development, there would be no significant improvement in the lake water quality, and there was no acceptable site for a treatment facility.

"(11) In early 1988, one or more township board members learned the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority (HCMA) had decided not to develop a parcel of land it owned near Little Portage Lake, and that the land was available for possible purchase and construction of a wastewater treatment facility.

"(12) On June 3, 1988, without public discussion or debate, the Dexter township board hired McNamee, Porter & Seeley, an engineering firm, to assess the HCMA land.

"(13) The township board's liaison with McNamee, Porter & Seeley is Mr. Ray Smit, who owns property in the Portage Lake community which will be affected by the decision to construct, or not to construct, a sewer.

"(14) Mr. Smit has stated publicly that the HCMA property would be suitable for a two-stage sewage treatment facility, but that a tertiary treatment facility would be too expensive.

"(15) On April 7, 1987, the township board awarded a contract to McNamee, Porter & Seeley to do a hydro-geological study.

"(16) On May 19, 1987, the township board decided to contact Putnam, Webster and Hamburg townships regarding use of possible excess wastewater treatment capacity.

"(17) On July 21, 1988, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources issued a groundwater discharge permit to Dexter township.

"(18) The permit established, inter alia, a flow rate limit of 240,000 gallons per day, and established particular effluent condition requirements.

"(19) The life expectancy of the system is estimated by the Department of Natural Resources to be between 13 and 17 years, while Mr. Smit estimates the life expectancy to be 44 years.

"(20) From approximately mid-summer, 1987, until November, 1988, individual lot owners in all but Dexter township were asked if they would like to be hooked up to the sewer system.

"(21) Those who declined to participate were apparently excluded. In contrast, individuals in Dexter township were not consulted, but were included or excluded by decision of Mr. Smit.

"(22) It appears from the record, that Mr. Smit has been delegated the responsibility for deciding which properties will be included in the sewer assessment district and which will not.

"(23) Mr. Smit has claimed that the flow rate limitation of 240,000 gallons per day means that the system can handle the waste from at least 1,300 sources. He has also claimed that the treatment facility can be built for approximately $9 million, which equals $7,000 per assessed property, if there were 1,300 properties.

"(24) Until October, 1986, it appears that the major planning on the township level was done informally by the township board, and without significant community involvement.

"(25) On Oct. 24, 1988, Webster, Hamburg and Putnam township representatives joined with the township board and formed Base and Portage Lake Water and Sewer Authority, a municipal corporation, (hereinafter 'Sewer Authority').

"(26) In November, 1988, members of the public were informed about the general sewer proposal, and about some of the more specific plans about the proposed wastewater treatment facility. Public response to the proposed system was presented informally, partly because the public was not aware of the private commitments of their elected officials, and partly because the first public hearing concerning the proposed assessment district was not held until March 8, 1988.

"(27) Public criticism of the proposed system is based upon the following substantive concerns:

"A. The two-stage treatment facility will not alter the amount of lake pollution, if it performs perfectly, but will instead concentrate pollutants in the most pristine and most overgrown portion of the lake.

"B. The treatment facility discharge will likely contaminate nearby shallow water wells.

"C. The actual cost for start-up will far exceed the assessed amount.

"D. The system is based on gross underestimates of the amount of waste generated per tap.

"E. The system is designed to be at full capacity—1,300 properties—the day it is made operational, although many properties will be required to come into the system at a later date.

"F. The system cannot be regenerated or repaired, so that if it fails, the district will be required to build a tertiary treatment facility, no matter what the cost.

"G. The Michigan Department of Natural Resources predicts that the system will fail before the bonds have been paid off.

"H. The system will not conform to the pollution control requirements of the federal or state environmental laws.

"I. The necessity to pump the thousands of gallons of sewage uphill, in a remote community that experiences occasional power failures, will create a hazard of a sewer back-up far worse than occurs when an individual septic system fails.

"J. Although the cost of the system has increased, the planners have not altered the estimated cost.

"K. The sewer plan does not conform to the township's zoning ordinance, because it will encourage development in some areas, while destroying the natural beauty and interrupting the wild life in one of the lake's most natural areas.

"L. The decisions about who will be, and who will not be, able to connect to the sewer are being made arbitrarily, and without reference to any plan, ordinance, or public opinion.

"(28) The township board did not respond to the dissenters until they were presented with signed petitions.

"(29) Rather than encouraging robust public debate, and working toward an ultimate, public decision, the township board resorted to cutting off public comment at public meetings, stepping up the time table for official action, presenting the public with information that is contradicted by information available to them from the board's own engineering consultants, and the Department of Natural Resources, and by using the official forum to embarrass, harass and accuse those who would question them."

The petition, which seeks relief by action of the Michigan Tax Tribunal, separates the issues into two counts, the first of which re-alleges the 29 paragraphs listed above as paragraph 30, also includes eight additional paragraphs:

"(31) The township board has exercised its power to make this 'improvement' previously described pursuant to MCL 41.721 et seq.

"(32) MCL 41.724 requires the township board 'to fix a time and place to meet and hear any objections . . . to the improvement, and to the special assessment district.'

"(33) No hearing has been noticed or held concerning the opportunity to voice objections to the improvement, as required by MCLA 41.724.

"(34) The only notice of public hearing which the plaintiff actually received makes no reference to an opportunity to voice objections to the improvement. It, instead, only provided notice of a hearing 'for the purpose of reviewing said special assessment roll and hearing any objections thereto.'

"(35) Written objections to the improvement were filed by the record owners of land constituting more than 20 percent of the land area in the proposed special assessment district within the time limits set forth in MCL 41.723(1a). That statute requires that the objections be filed prior to the hearing for objections to the improvement. As was stated, such hearing has never been held. Petitioner is one of the owners who filed the written objections.

"(36) Petitioner has not been granted the opportunity to attend a township public hearing to voice objection to the improvement, notwithstanding the significant objections which exist to the project.

"(37) Because written objections were filed, the township board is precluded from proceeding with the improvement unless and until a petition is filed with the board, signed by record owners of land constituting more than 50 percent of the total land area in the special assessment district.

"(38) No such petition has been filed as required by 41.273 (3a)."

The second count outlined in the petition requesting the Michigan Tax Tribunal grant relief to the 13 Dexter township petitioners re-alleges the initial 38 paragraphs as paragraph 39, then lists additional paragraphs to a total of 50.

"(40) If the sewer system is constructed, petitioner will be assessed $7,000 per included property, and will be denied use of their septic system.

"(41) McNamee, Porter & Seeley, the system designers, have warned the township board that: 'a) because of the Discharge, Permit language, the critical design criteria for the disposal system is the total volume of wastewater discharged into the groundwater system; b) because the disposal system sits on a drainage divide, the discharge from the treatment system may move toward the northeast and toward a potential useable aquifer; c) a mechanical plant will probably be required if the current wastewater treatment lagoon system increases the total organic nitrogen level in the useable aquifer above five milligrams/liter.'

"(42) Dr. Delbert L. Mokma, professor at Michigan State University, Department of Crop and Soil Sciences, has warned the township board that 'these soils (where the disposal system discharges) have very limited ability to adsorb undesirable materials from effluent, therefore, the nearby lakes and Huron River could, and probably will, become polluted.'

"(43) Professor Eckhart Dersch, from Michigan State University, Department of Resource Development, reviewed the proposed sewer system and advised the township board that 'it would be wise to not proceed until other safer, and more environmentally sound alternatives are explored.'

"(44) Even if the sewer system performs as well as the township board hopes, it will still not perform as well as the ordinary septic systems it will replace.

"(45) In spite of being warned of the serious health and environmental risks which the proposed system will create, Dexter township supervisor James L. Drolett wrote a letter to the property owners in the proposed assessment district, alleging, 'as you know, the protection of our drinking and recreation waters are our prime concerns in implementing this system.'

"(46) The township board has made the following decisions without either expressing or having a rational basis:

"A) The township board decided to establish the number of taps at 1,300. This number is not based on system capacity or expected use, or the number of properties the sewer line will pass. The board, instead, arrived at this number merely by dividing the early estimated total system cost of $9 million (dollars) by an assessment of $7,000, the latter figure being the maximum amount of money the board thought that an individual property owner would find palatable.

"B) The township board has allowed random property owners who are within 200 ft. of the proposed sewer lines to not be assessed, even though these owners will be required to connect to the sewer by operation of state law on the day the sewer becomes available. These owners will thereby get a sewer hook-up at no cost to themselves, but at a cost to petitioner and others similarly situated. The board has also not considered that these additional hook-ups will further overtax the system capacity.

"C) The board has decided to build a sewer system which has a shorter life expectancy than that of an average septic system.

"D) The board has decided to build a sewer system that has less capacity than that of the septic systems it is designed to replace.

"E) The board has decided to build a two-stage treatment facility (a large septic system) when only a tertiary treatment facility will reduce lake pollution.

"F) The board's decision to give some property owners the right to decide whether or not to be included in the system was made arbitrarily and without regard to whether the property is polluting a lake or a neighbor's well.

"G) The board has decided to build some branch lines of the main sewer line, even though none of the involved properties emit harmful effluents. The purpose of this sewer branch is not to eliminate pollution, but is instead to generate revenue for the Sewer Authority.

"H) The board has decided to build a sewer system knowing it will cost much more to build than the proposed special assessment will provide, and will cost even more to recondition when it exceeds the MDNR effluent limitations."

"I) The board has decided to build a sewer system with a life expectancy of only 13 to 17 years, which is shorter than that of the 15-year bonds used to finance it, and shorter than the septic systems it will replace.

"J) The board has decided to build a system that will discharge its effluent into the most threatened portion of the entire lake.

"K) The board has decided to finance the sewer by distributing the expense among record owners of the involved properties, arbitrarily, and without regard to the benefit the owner may receive, if any. There are certain lots which are currently unbuildable because they are too small to accommodate a septic system. The owners of these lots will be unfairly benefited because they will become buildable, but the owners will not be assessed any differently than petitioner, who is getting no benefit.

"L) The board has stated that the purpose of the sewer system is to reduce pollution in the lake for the benefit public, and not to confer a special benefit on particular property. Therefore, their proposed action is a condemnation, and not a special assessment.

"M) The board committed itself to providing 881 non-township properties with a sewer connection before it gathered the information necessary to properly establish system specifications and capacities.

"N) Because the township board has no rational basis for condemning petitioners septic system, and has no rational basis for requiring petitioner to contribute money to the Sewer Authority, the township board lacks authority to proceed with its proposed special assessment.

"O) Because the township board has no rational basis for treating this petitioner differently than other property owners who are similarly situated, the township board's proposed special assessment is unconstitutional and contrary to the equal protection clauses of the Michigan and United States Constitutions.

"(49) Because the township board will take petitioner's money and condemn petitioner's septic tank without providing petitioner a benefit of equivalent value, the township board's proposed assessment will be a taking without just compensation, contrary to due process guaranteed by the Michigan and United States Constitutions.

"(50) Because the township board is taking petitioner's property primarily to confer an alleged benefit on the general public, the board's attempt to levy a special assessment is fraudulent."

Each of the 13 petitioners asks the Michigan Tax Tribunal to provide the following relief:

"A) Enter an order declaring Dexter Township's Special Assessment Roll Resolution No. 3 and related resolutions to be void.

"B) Enter an order requiring Dexter township to vacate any plan to build a sewer that is based on a two-stage treatment facility located near Portage Lake or Little Portage Lake.

"C) Enter an order declaring that MDNR shall not issue a construction permit to Dexter township, nor to the Portage and Base Lakes Sewer and Water Authority, for construction of the proposed treatment facility and sewer system.

"D) Enter an order declaring that any contracts which Dexter township has made in furtherance of obtaining easements or performing construction based on the proposed sewer system plan are void due to illegality.

"E) Enter an order declaring that Dexter township may not include petitioner's property in this or any future special assessment to construct a sewer without first presenting a preponderance of the evidence that either: 1) harmful effluent is being emitted from the petitioner's property, or 2) the sewer line is reasonably going past the petitioner's property as a means to provide sewer service to a property that is emitting harmful effluent.

"F) Enter an order declaring that Dexter township may not contract to make potentially available excess wastewater capacity available to other townships until Dexter township has determined with certainty, following the appropriate administrative procedures, which Dexter township properties will be served, and which will not be served.

"G) Provide any other relief, including equitable relief, damages, costs, and any attorney fees, that the Tribunal deems necessary and equitable."

"H) Enter an order declaring that Dexter township may not contract to make potentially available excess wastewater capacity available to other townships until Dexter township has determined with certainty, following the appropriate administrative procedures, which Dexter township properties will be served, and which will not be served.

"I) Provide any other relief, including equitable relief, damages, costs, and any attorney fees, that the Tribunal deems necessary and equitable."

Rotary Club Installs New Officers Tuesday Evening

The President's gavel was extended to incoming Chelsea Rotary Club president Mark Cwiek by current president Frederik van Reesema, M.D., at the Chelsea Rotary inaugural dinner held in the dining room of Chelsea Community Hospital on June 13.

New officers for the 1989-90 year include Mark Cwiek, as president; Susan Carter, president-elect; the Rev. Mearl Bradley, secretary; Phyllis Lebel as treasurer; and Father Joe Rinaldo and Charlie Burgess, co-sergeants-at-arms. Sue Carter served as toastmaster and coordinator of this elegant affair, and the Contemporaries from Chelsea High school provided singing entertainment.

Highlights of the function included a keynote address by Rotary district governor Merle Loch and wife, Jan, on the recent Rotary International Conference in Seoul, Korea, and various other recent developments in the Rotary World. Governor Loch expressed his enthusiasm over the development of Rotary clubs in Hungary and Poland, which will bring to 167 the number of countries worldwide with Rotary actively involved.

Developments in the highly successful Polio Plus Campaign were also related, in which Rotarians worldwide have generated over a quarter billion dollars to eradicate polio and five other childhood diseases from the face of the earth.

A touching and fond farewell was bid to Swedish exchange student Helena Mimer, who had been sponsored by the Chelsea Rotary as she attended Chelsea High school over the past year. Special thanks were extended to John and Gloria Mitchell of Chelsea who "adopted" Helena during her stay here, and Helena promised never to forget her Chelsea friends and valuable experiences in Michigan.

Presented as a complete surprise to the recipients, Rotarians Robert Thornton and Frederik van Reesema, M.D., were each given the Paul Harris Fellowship Award, the highest honor bestowed by Rotary International. Thornton and van Reesema were thanked for their leadership in the initiation of the Chelsea Rotary Club (which represents western Washtenaw county), for serving as the first two presidents of this organization, and for their active involvement in the many special community activities sponsored by the club. Katie Chapman, club historian, noted for the record that both gentlemen were as close to being speechless as anyone could recall.

Incoming president Mark Cwiek promised to continue the good work of the club and touched upon some of the goals for the next year, including the hope the Rotary Club will be able to work closely with the Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis Club and Lions Club to have a gazebo erected in Pierce Park, for the benefit of all local residents.

Today's Investor

Q. I am near retirement and concerned about taxes. In addition to retirement payments and Social Security, I have an IRA, several growth stocks and quite a bit of savings. It looks like the interest will mean some heavy taxes. Any ideas?

A. It looks like you have planned nicely for your retirement. One thing I'm pleased to see is that you hold some growth stocks and from the cost, it appears you've held them for some time. While the current yield is not high, those companies tend to increase dividends regularly, giving you a hedge against inflation.

With the large amount of cash available to you, perhaps some municipal bonds should be considered. With the Tax Reform Act of 1986, municipals are now one of the few ways to earn tax-free income.

One surprise you may have upon retirement will be an additional surcharge for Medicare which is based on taxable income. With your potential income, half of your Social Security benefits may also be taxable.

Most investors purchase municipal bonds because of their tax-exempt yield, but there could also be another advantage. The number of new issues has dropped in half from 1986 to 1988 and that lower level may continue. The demand is higher than the supply.

If tax rates increase in years ahead and the supply remains the same, there could be a possibility of price appreciation, giving the investor the prospects of a good total return.

Don't go overboard. A combination of income producing instruments, including growth stocks, is preferable. Some of that money you have in savings should be kept there, too, in case of emergencies requiring liquid assets.

Waterloo Farm Museum Observing Log Cabin Day

June 25 has been proclaimed Log Cabin Day in Michigan.
Begun as a sesquicentennial activity, this has become an annual event. On that day, Waterloo Area Farm Museum, 9998 Waterloo-Munith Rd., 3 miles north of the Village of Waterloo, will join the celebration by showing its log house, as well as their 10-bedroom farm house and all the outbuildings.
First noticed by former president, Joseph Hanna of Stockbridge, this log house was acquired about 10 years ago and moved to its present site by members of the Waterloo Historical Society. "It stood on a little-traveled back road," recalls Hanna. "It was a two-story house at that time." The building was being used as a sty for prize pigs owned by Roy Tutthill of Webberville, this being a common use for old structures that no longer had any other useful function.

Dating back at least 150 years, the log house was donated to WAFM and society members took it apart and reconstructed it roughly to 18'x24', using the best logs and replacing the floor with oak boards donated in memory of Cliff Coolbaugh of Jackson. Such a planed floor and trim and the glass windows could have been possible in the late 1840's and 50's. Hubbard's 1846 sawmill in Waterloo made planed lumber a possibility here.

The structure at the farm museum is properly called a log house because it is constructed of hand-hewn logs, squared. In contrast, a log cabin rightly used round logs. Some authorities state that cabins were temporary structures; log houses were permanent.

The house is furnished for a family with small children, a family that worked hard to equip their home in the Michigan wilderness, while they were also clearing their farm. The rough-cut log table is set with a few

Farmers Fighting Too Much Rain

A year ago farmers looked in their fields and saw a corn crop that in many instances hadn't come out of the ground yet due to the searing heat and drought conditions.

This year many farmers are having the opposite problem—too much rain all at once. In some areas, more than half of the total rainfall for the year has fallen in the last two weeks.

"In many cases we have almost a reversal of the problem we had last year," said Washtenaw County Extension Agent Bill Ames.

"The rain has caused a number of different things, depending on the crop and the situation. Some places won't have as many plants. In other places crops were drowned out. We're also seeing places where farmers tried to replant. It's getting to the point where it's almost too late to plant corn if it's going to be harvested for grain. It's even getting to be too late for soy beans. Of course, many vegetable people plant in low-lying areas anyway, and they've been hit, real hard.

"In some areas there was so much rain all at once that we've had quite a bit of erosion."

Ames also said the area may have its worst alfalfa weevil infestation ever, partly because the wet conditions are favorable for the pest's life cycle. And while the weevil is eating the crop and lowering its protein content, farmers are often waiting for dryer conditions to get their equipment in the fields.

"Farmers ought to be making hay like crazy, but they can't get in to get it cut," Ames said.

"And that pushes back the next cutting."

Ames said some farmers may be more inclined to take advantage of farms programs.

Cottage Inn Plans To Open Next Week

Cottage Inn plans to open in Chelsea Shopping Center early next week.

Unlike some other Cottage Inn restaurants, the only item on the menu will be pizza. The restaurant will have four tables inside but owner Tasso Eleftheropoulos said most of the business will be via delivery.

Eleftheropoulos owns the franchise with Sam Romanis and Jim Velis. The trio owns stores in Howell, Brighton, and Ypsilanti.

Manager will be the current assistant manager in Brighton.

Eleftheropoulos said the store would employ between 15 and 25 people, including some career people and some part-timers.

Cottage Inn started business in Ann Arbor in 1948.

presented at the hearing by the Concerned Citizens of Joslin Lake and signed by 112 persons. Other support came from accredited representatives of the Sierra Club, Ducks Unlimited, the Ellsworth Lake Association and the Unadilla Hill Association. Members of the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club were present and so were managers of the Presbyterian Childrens Camp which is situated on the shore.

Joslin Lake of 187 acres has one deep spot of 30 feet and another of 18 feet but the average depth of the lake is normally five feet. During years of drought it can get as low as two feet. This is a matter of concern not only to lake residents but to large numbers of people who use the public access of the lake for fishing and other kinds of recreation. All such persons, as well as those concerned with the situation are urged to write to the DNR regarding Permit Application No. 89-13-104 submitted by Todd Lee. The address is:

Michigan Dept. of Natural Resources
Land and Water Management
3333 Lansing Ave.
Jackson, Mich. 49202

Letters must be in the mail no later than Wednesday, June 28. Some time after that the DNR will announce its findings and decision.

Lime deposits may be removed from pots and pans by boiling vinegar in them.
