Wednesday, Sept. 4, 1985—

"Let the Good Times Roll" was the theme of the float of the Class of 1985 that took first place in the youth division of the Chelsea Fair Parade. The fair queen of 1985, Susan Overdorf was seated squarely on the back of a mock 1957 Chevy.

Sinista Janicevic of Chelsea won the one-mile run of the reinstated Chelsea Fun Run. The 13-year-old's time was 9:14. The winner of the three-mile race was Arthur Ketelhut of Garden City with a time of 17:12. Race officials reported that there were more than 100 entries for the fun runs.

North School opened the school year with a "Vehicle Day." The playground was lined with different kinds of trucks and vehicles used in and around Chelsea. Students and teachers were able to view and explore the motor equipment.

Andy Fletcher and Dawn Murphy were the top two winners in the first night feature of the Cavalcade of Thrills Demolition Derby. In other Derby action, Elmer Diuble took first place in the combine heat.

"Rain, rain go away, come again some other day." The verse, while trite, was probably silently chanted in the heads of numerous fairgoers, exhibitors and parade marchers while waiting for the heavens to clear and the sun to shine in order that they might get on with the day that usually proved to be the climax of the Chelsea Community Fair.

The first horseshoe pitching contest was held at the Chelsea Community Fair sponsored jointly by pitching enthusiasts Jim Daniels and Fred Petsch. The pair said the contest was so well received, with a total of 30 entries, that they hoped to make it an annual event.

Paul Zahn of Chelsea was smiling proudly as the Grand Champion blue ribbon winner for his first place in the light-heavyweight division of the tractor pull held on the Chelsea fairgrounds. Zahn drove a 1961 830 Case. His tractor pulled 220 percent of its weight to win the award.

John Gurtner of Freemont, Ind., was hard at work days prior to the Chelsea Fair. He was busy training a sheep and a hog to pull his small wagon during the fair. The pair of Duroc hogs that he originally used became ill prior to the fair and had to be put to sleep, so Gurtner, like all showmen, insisted that the "show must go on" and trained two new animals.

24 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Sept. 9, 1965—

The Chelsea High school Senior Class float received first prize of $25 in the youth division of the Community Fair parade. The legend "War, Prejudice, Ignorance" on the sides of the float was concluded at the bottom with the statement, "We Shall Overcome." Queen candidate was Nancy Koengeter.

Following an example set by an older brother, Robert Koengeter, 13, showed his grand champion steer at the Chelsea Community Fair. His older brother won the honor at the 1960 fair. At the fat stock sale Koengeter's steer brought 67 cents per pound for its weight of 1,035 pounds.

Charlene Powers, 14, was named the 1965 Chelsea Community Fair Queen and Pat Guest, 16, was selected the runner-up in the queen contest. Miss Powers, who was the queen candidate of the CHS sophomore class, was crowned by the previous year's queen, Cindy Schumm, the tiara being a gift from the Jaycee Auxiliary. Other gifts presented to her were a blouse, slip, shift gown, circlet pin and a bath powder and cologne set.

Mrs. Belle LaRoe and Dennis Tallant had more zest for life than many people half, or even a third, their ages. Mrs. LaRoe was 78 years young and Tallant was 91, but that did not stop them from some new experiences. Mrs. LaRoe was delighted when E. G. Van Riper, second vice-president of the fair, asked her if she'd like to take a helicopter ride.

Tallant said he was a bit apprehensive before the ride, but added, "If another plane landed out there right now, I'd get in it!"

Thursday, Sept. 8, 1955—

Walter Trinkle displayed a giant sunflower he had grown in the garden at his home on Wilkinson St. The center portion, which bears the seeds, was 15 inches in diameter. With the petals outstretched, the measurement from tip to tip was 24 inches. The stalk, including the flower was 13 feet high.

Lawrence H. Ouimet, chairman of the Washtenaw county chapter of the American Red Cross, said that the Flood Relief fund for the benefit of victims in the northeastern part of the country had been oversubscribed and he had been notified to close the fund. A total of $6,500 was subscribed in the county, most of it coming from Ann Arbor.

Agriculture Commission Hopes To Name
New Director In September

Members of the Agriculture Commission say they hope to name a new department director in early September.

The commission is seeking to fill the post left vacant by Paul Kindinger, who left in mid-July after six years as director to take an appointment with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The five-member Agriculture Commission will intensify its selection process when it begins interviewing the final candidates, commission chair Elwood Kirkpatrick said.

Over 80 people applied for the $80,300 a year post, according to commission secretary Jean Valley, and Mr. Kirkpatrick said less than 20 candidates remain.

Kirkpatrick said commissioners intend to fill the director's job "shortly after the interview process. I would think by (early September) we would" have chosen a new director.

Commission member Vernon Kretzschmer said it is important that the commission choose a new director as quickly as possible. "We need a director," he said.

The commission will choose its new director based on an eight-part selection criteria that requires: a bachelor's degree or leadership experience in agriculture or a related field; an understanding of the food and agriculture industry, including a vision of the industry's role in the state and national economy and international markets; the ability to manage and administer the department and work with the governor and Legislature; the ability to represent the ability to develop coalitions between conflicting parties; understanding political issues; the ability to analyze the issues and situations; and the ability to co-ordinate and manage issues and strategies.

Kretzschmer said the commission is staying "pretty close" to the criteria during the selection process.

"We're looking for basically somebody that's got some management skills and knows how to move in government circles, an all-around kind of team player," he said.

Kirkpatrick said he has been in contact with Governor James J. Blanchard throughout the selection process and "early on" asked for his input.

"I've talked to the governor a couple of times. I think it's appropriate to keep the governor aware of what's going on," he said, but added "The commission is the one who has the responsibility" of naming a new director.

Kindinger had not been the governor's first choice, but subsequently was commended by the governor for working co-operatively with the administration.

The governor appoints the five-member commission, but Kretzschmer said the governor's office has "not put a lot of pressure" on commission members to choose anyone in particular.

"We feel we have to have someone that can work with the governor. He needs department heads in departments that he can work with," he said.

Kelley Joins Fight on Restitution
From Bankrupt Criminals

Attorney General Frank H. Kelley announced that he has joined with several other states in a U.S. Supreme Court brief opposing a lower court order that would allow criminals to escape their fines and restitution orders by filing for bankruptcy.

The issue arose out of a Pennsylvania case in which the Third Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals found that restitution ordered in a criminal case could be discharged by filing for bankruptcy.

The amicus brief filed by Mr. Kelley and Connecticut in support of Pennsylvania's position said in part that they view criminal restitution as an important sentencing option in their criminal justice system.

And, they argued the Third Circuit's decision, which construed restitution as a dischargeable debt in Chapter 13 bankruptcy proceedings, threatens to deprive states of this option in many cases.

With the option of seeking restitution significantly compromised, states will have greater difficulties in devising punishments to fit the crime and in meaningfully dispensing criminal justice, they argued.

"It is outrageous that criminals who are ordered to make restitution as part of their sentence in a state can then file for bankruptcy in federal court to avoid payment," Kelley said.

"If allowed to stand, this ruling will be a major setback in sentencing for crimes such as welfare, consumer, or business fraud in which the property of others is taken," he concluded.

going to stay well, you're betting you're going to get sick, and you hope he wins, Bug said, just like taking out life insurance.

The cost of staying well and getting sick moved Zeke Grubb to a report where doctors are buying into laboratories and sending all their tests to their labs at jacked up prices. This grab for a bigger piece of the action is another way to use the system, Zeke said, like what's happening in cable television and licenses for radio stations. For a feller that knows nothing about business Zeke was throwing stats around like he was the bull of Wall Street.

From what he reads, Zeke said, the economics of radio and cable TV is moving from providing service to permission to provide service. Like they say in sports, he noted, in order to win you got to be in a position to win. You don't need a FM radio station to win, he said, all you need is a Federal Communications Commission license for a station that you can sell to the highest bidder. If you got enough of em you got locks on the growth of the market, was Zeke's words.

Now that the FCC don't regulate cable TV, Zeke said, the cat is skinned another way. Invading companies string wire around cities with cable, and once the territory is staked out they are in position to prevent the city service from expanding unless it buys them out at their price.

Trail Walks Resume Sunday, Sept. 10 at Botanical Gardens

Monthly Sunday trail walks for the public at the Matthaei Botanical Gardens will resume on Sept. 10 at 2 p.m.

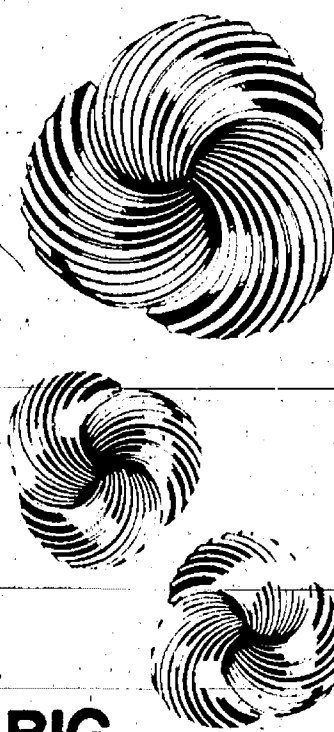

Topic for the walk is "A Look at Leaves Before They Fall." The similarities and differences between various leaves, and how these features help in leaf identification will be emphasized.

This walk is suitable for families and for anyone curious about plants. It is not a leaf collecting walk.

Meet the docents at the steps to the building. Dress for the weather and expect to be out on the trails for 1½ hours.

Matthaei Botanical Gardens is located at 1800 N. Dixboro Rd., Ann Arbor, ½ mile south of the Plymouth Rd. intersection.

CHELSEA ARTIST BEN BOWER stands next to some of the work in his garage studio. Some of Bower's best work is on display in the Michigan League through Sunday, Sept. 17.

Chelsea Artist Ben Bower Showing Watercolors at Michigan League

Chelsea artist Ben Bower, who's been drawing "ever since I could hold a pencil," is displaying some of his best work at the Michigan League through Sunday, Sept. 17. It's his first show in what is becoming a well-known, prestigious place to have art-work displayed.

Bower, who shows his work locally through the Chelsea Painters organization, uses watercolor pencils and until recently has concentrated on the reproduction of old or historical buildings on 7 1/2" by 11" cards.

The Ann Arbor show features mostly Ann Arbor-area scenes although several buildings from outside the area are also featured. Each drawing has an explanatory note as to where it may be found.

Lately Bower has begun adding people and other figures to his creations, which has given them an added dimension.

"I like doing people, especially anything where cloth is concerned," Bower says.

"I like working with the textures," Bower uses photographs for subjects, and his Chandler St. studio, located in part of a garage, is almost a small warehouse of various newspapers and magazines he has collected that contain photos he might be able to use someday.

"I can't draw a person out of my head," he says.

"That takes a special knack."

The Ann Arbor show contains work completed over the last two years. However, Bower has been working with watercolor pencils since he obtained his first set while stationed in the South Pacific in 1941. A friend, who wasn't particularly interested in the pencils, loaned them to him.

"He never got them back," Bower says.

Since then Bower has worked a little each day on what began as a hobby but is slowly becoming a part-time living. He's tried regular watercolors but the paintings, "just don't seem to come out right."

In the corner of his studio is a sign: "Begin, the rest is easy."

"I work a little each day, even if it's only a half an hour," he says.

"It's important because it keeps the rhythm going."

Bower retired from Department of Natural Resources in 1975, having worked at the Waterloo Recreation Area. Retirement has given him ample opportunity to pursue his hobby.

He shows and sells his work at various arts festivals, which always generates special orders.

Extension Service Publishes Book on Michigan Snakes

Few of us can relate to the fast-paced life of the adventuresome archaeologist Indiana Jones. But most of us share his revulsion for snakes.

Individual reactions to the sight of a snake range from a minor shudder to full-blown panic. The poor snake often pays a steep price for instigating this reaction.

Because of unrelenting persecution of even harmless snakes, combined with habitat destruction, some of Michigan's 17 native snake species are considered endangered or threatened. Snakes in general, however, are not rare, and encounters with snakes are common throughout the state, from vacant lots in Detroit to hayfields in the Thumb to Beaver Island and the Keweenaw Peninsula. In fact, anyone who spends time outdoors from spring through fall may encounter snakes.

To help people identify snakes and learn to at least tolerate if not appreciate them and their role in the natural scheme of things, the Michigan State University Co-operative Extension Service recently published Michigan Snakes, a one-

Musical Items Stolen from Local Garage

More than $2,000 worth of stereo equipment and guitars was reported missing from a Wellington St. garage on Aug. 22, Chelsea police reported.

Police found that boards had been pried off the back of the garage to gain entry to the garage. Police said the items had been removed from a shelf.

Reported stolen were three amplifiers, a reel-to-reel tape deck, a cassette deck, two guitars, and a set of speakers.

Police said the items were removed from the garage between 2 a.m. and 7 a.m.

Leaf Identification Help Available at Botanical Gardens

Do leaves have you stumped? Help is available!

Every year the fall season brings the assignment of leaf collections for many classes and scouting groups. The University of Michigan Matthaei Botanical Gardens Docents is offering help with identification of already collected leaves, from 2 to 4 p.m., on Sundays, Sept. 24, Oct. 1, and Oct. 8.

To facilitate the process, students are asked to attempt to identify their leaves before coming to the Gardens and to indicate what they think the leaf is. Notes with the following information are also helpful: Type of plant (tree or shrub or vine); age of plant (young or mature); arrangement of leaves on twig; type of leaf (simple or compound); color or characteristics of the bark; characteristics of fruit, if present; characteristics of the buds; and habitat (where the plant is growing).

Tree identification guidebooks and pressed, identified leaves will be available for comparison and use while at the Gardens.

Students should be aware that many of the trees and shrubs found in residential areas are horticultural varieties or exotic species, which are not easily identified with the commonly available guides to trees and shrubs.

Please remember that the Docents are volunteers at the Gardens, not experts in the subject; but, they are interested and willing to help as much as possible.

The Matthaei Botanical Gardens is located at 1800 N. Dixboro Rd., Ann Arbor, 1/2 mile south of the Plymouth Rd. intersection.

Straight Talk

Q: My child has an obvious orthodontic problem. However, several baby teeth are still present in the mouth, why start treatment now since these baby teeth will be lost anyway?

A: Correction such as dental arch expansion and repositioning may need to be early during the growing years prior to the eruption of all permanent teeth. If treatment is postponed too long, the patient may run out of growth before the problem is corrected.

AMY GILLEN of Chelsea competed in the National Pony Club Championships in Lexington, Ky., Aug. 5-7 and her North Central Region Team I placed second in the country in dressage. Amy had the highest score in the competition at 70.91 percent. She is the daughter of Larry and Julie Gillen and is a junior at Chelsea High school.

Young Son of Chelsea Couple May Make Medical History

A young Chelsea boy born Aug. 5 is on the verge of making medical history thanks to the efforts of a San Francisco specialist.

Blake Bryan Schultz, son of Rick and Beth (Wireman) Schultz, had to have surgery in June, while still inside his mother, to correct a diaphragmatic hernia. Dr. Mike Harrison in San Francisco is the only person in the world who conducts the surgery, which is still considered experimental.

A larger than normal hole in the diaphragm caused young Blake's stomach to move higher in his body than it should, which pushed his heart out of place and didn't give his lungs the room they needed to mature. This extremely rare condition was detected by a routine ultra sound.

"It sounded really scary," Beth said.

"The doctor told us that this kind of surgery has been done about 15 times and that our baby was the fifth with this kind of problem. The surgery had never been successful."

Surgery, which included removal and storage of the amniotic fluid, repaired the hernia and put the organs back into place. However, Blake was born premature, apparently a major risk of the surgery.

Since his birth, Blake has been on a respirator, as well as other kinds of support, at Mott's Children's Hospital. According to Beth, he stands a good chance to be the first baby ever to survive his kind of surgery. He's about to be taken off his respirator.

"Most of the time they do this kind of surgery after birth," Beth said.

"But they told us the chances were slim that he would have enough lungs and live long enough to have the surgery."

An obstetrician at Hutzel Hospital, Dr. Mark Evans, referred the Schultzes to Harrison.

Historical Society To Meet at Webster Blacksmith Shop

Washtenaw County Historical Society's monthly meeting will be held on Sunday, Sept. 10, 2 p.m. at the Wheeler - McMichael Blacksmith Shop on Webster-Church Rd. between Joy and North Territorial Rds.

A tour of the blacksmith-wheelwright shop, recently restored by the Webster Historical Society, will include a talk by Marjorie Smythe, president of the Webster Historical Society, on its restoration and artifacts.

Tours of the 1834 Webster Church, Cottonwood Farm, and the 1871 Webster Township Hall will also be available.

The public is invited. Free admission.

Michael Trester Attends 6-week ROTC Summer Camp Session

Cadet Michael K. Trester received practical work in military leadership at the U.S. Army ROTC advanced camp, Fort Lewis, Wash.

The six-week camp, attended by cadets normally between their third and fourth year of college, includes instruction in communications, management and survival training.

Successful completion of the advanced camp and graduation from college results in a commission as a second lieutenant in either the U.S. Army, Army Reserve or National Guard for the cadet.

Trester is the son of Kenneth G. and Mary L. Trester of 9456 Hidden Lake Circle, Dexter.

He is a 1985 graduate of Clarkston Senior High school.

Since the surgery, the Schultzes, as well as the hospital have been taking "one day at a time." Neither the Schultzes or the hospital has ever had to deal with this kind of situation before. Beth visits the child at least once every day.

"We're really pleased with his progress," Beth said.

"It looks like he's going to make it. He's really going through a lot. He has tubes in his throat and he has a hard time even crying."

Because the surgery is considered experimental, grants paid for the entire procedure, Beth said. In addition, Continental Airlines flew the couple to San Francisco free of charge, saving the Schultzes considerable expense. Insurance is covering the rest.

Everybody's Science

★ Nature Lends A Hand

Against Plant Diseases

By Sandy Miller Hays
Science is gaining new weapons from nature in its battle against plant diseases, but building up the arsenal takes time, U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists say.

The weapons include fungi and bacteria in the soil that work as biological controls to protect plants.

"I don't think biological controls will ever completely replace chemicals, but they will help reduce the amount of chemicals we use," said Deborah R. Fravel, a plant pathologist with USDA's Agricultural Research Service. "Twenty years from now, we'll have many more biological controls like fungi to use."

Fungi can fight disease-causing plant pathogens in several ways: by eating the pathogens, by competing with the pathogens for other available food in the soil, and by producing an antibiotic or other material that kills the pathogen.

Two promising weapons currently being studied are the fungi Trichoderma and Gliocladium. Jack A. Lewis, a soil scientist at the ARS biocontrol laboratory at Beltsville, Md., said work has recently begun to put these fungi in pellets. The pellets will be mixed into pathogen-laden soil to test the effectiveness of the fungi.

"The pellets contain food for the biocontrol fungi," Lewis said. "The organism grows out of the pellet and spreads through the soil, where it attacks the pathogen and kills it."

Trichoderma and Gliocladium might be used to combat pathogens implicated in the rotting of seeds and seedlings of cotton, sugarbeets and many vegetables and ornamentals.

"All of the biocontrol fungi are naturally occurring microorganisms," Lewis said. "They can be found pretty much anywhere, and have the ability to attack these pathogens to various degrees."

Lewis said biological controls do face some obstacles to widespread acceptance among farmers because they act slower than chemicals, they don't always provide 100 percent control of the pathogens, and the are vulnerable to environmental changes such as drought and heat.

But a better understanding of biological controls could allow scientist to manage or genetically change the natural organisms to perform more consistently, Fravel added.

"Biocontrols initially may be more expensive than chemicals," Lewis said. "But you may get a natural increase in them in your fields over the years because they will survive the winter and build up in the soil. Also, you have to consider the fact that biocontrols are non-polluting. You're not running the risk of harming the environment and you're also getting a commodity that's less exposed to chemical pesticides." (Agricultural Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture)

Trading Soil Conservation For Pesticide Contamination?

We all read and hear much about how we may be slowly poisoning our environment through unwise or indiscriminate use of pesticides. This is a legitimate concern. Lately, however, some people have asked whether there may be a trade-off involved with conservation and no-tillage systems which reduce erosion for bigger problems in pesticide pollution of our ground and surface water supplies.

Most everyone agrees that modern farming, in order to remain competitive, must put substantial reliance on pesticides to control weeds and insects. Are we in fact, using more pesticides with no-till and reduced tillage systems? The answer, from what research has shown thus far, is that occasionally more pesticide may be used with no-till. It has also been shown that about the same amount and type of chemicals used for conventional tillage also work for reduced tillage. Another revelation that for no-till systems, quite often, the type of chemicals used and not the over-all quantity accounts for the major difference.

Most of the corn and soybeans conventionally grown in Michigan today are grown with the use of herbicides that are incorporated into the soil. Reduced tillage, in many cases utilizes the same herbicides required in conventional tillage systems. Herbicides applied to surface residue in reduced tillage systems eventually reach the soil and that because of this, over-all increases in rates of herbicide use have not increased under reduced tillage systems.

No-tillage systems, in order to be effective utilize contact-kill herbicides in addition to a herbicide that gives a sustained kill similar to those used in conventional tillage systems. Since incorporation of herbicides with no-till is not possible, the contact-kill is essential. In many cases, however, the addition of a contact-kill herbicide poses no major over-all increase in the total amount of herbicide being used.

A study conducted in the western basin of Lake Erie showed that out of 1,850 no-till plots sampled, farmers used only 12% more herbicide than on the conventionally tilled corn. The total amounts of herbicide used on reduced tilled plots was nearly identical to that used under conventional tillage systems.

Though there may be some increase in over-all pesticide usage in no-till systems, research has shown that the over-all quantities of pesticides reaching surface water supplies is likely to be less than those levels measured under conventional tillage systems. This is primarily due to the average 50% reduction in water runoff experienced under the no-till system. Pesticides are introduced to surface water supplies largely through field surface runoff. Similar, but less dramatic reductions have been shown in reduced tillage systems.

Little research has been conducted on the movement of pesticides through groundwater. There is some evidence that more nitrate remains in the top foot of soil longer in no-till systems than in conventionally tilled soil. Loss of nitrate from the plow layer has been attributed to a breakdown in soil structure brought about through tillage which, in turn, promotes leaching. No-till and reduced tillage, on the other hand are said to improve soil structure and actually reduced chemical loss through leaching.

The Soil Conservation Service has adopted a policy to promote and encourage the use of no-till and reduced tillage systems in Michigan. This decision was based on the beneficial soil saving and water runoff reductions shown in no-till and reduced tillage research. More research will be needed to determine what effects no-till and reduced tillage have on pesticide leaching.

No-tillage and reduced tillage farming techniques still remain one of the most economical and beneficial pollution abatement and soil management conservation practices a farmer can apply to his cropland. Contact the Soil Conservation District Office at (313) 761-6721 to learn more about it.

Longest Day of Golf To Benefit Cancer Society

American Cancer Society's Washtenaw County Unit is planning a "Longest Day of Golf." Eight to 10 foursomes of golfers will play from sunrise to sunset on Sept. 11.

In Ann Arbor, the Longest Day of Golf will be played at the Ann Arbor Country Club. Funds raised from those pledging a donation for each hole completed by the participating foursomes will support cancer research and education in Michigan.

According to Carol Cunningham, Longest Day chairperson for the Society here, the golfers currently have between $3.50 and $4 pledged per hole. "By Sept. 11, we would like to be playing for at least $5 per hole," she added.

Last month, two teams played at the Huron Club, Radisson Resort and Green Oaks Golf Course in Ypsilanti, and raised approximately $1,500.

Cunningham urges anyone who wishes to support the American Cancer Society's cancer control programs, either by organizing a foursome or making a pledge to the Washtenaw County's longest day of golf teams by calling the local ACS office at 971-4300.

Botulism Shows Up in Strange New Places

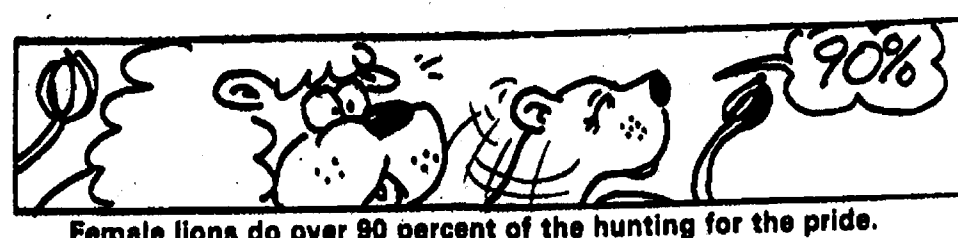

Until recently only home canned foods and the risk of botulism were linked. Lately, however, cases have occurred in restaurant situations from foods we don't usually associate with this dangerous micro-organism: garlic-in-oil and baked potatoes.

Some cases involved garlic bread served in a restaurant. The fresh garlic-in-oil mix was kept on top of a stove and used to spread on bread. The baked potato incident occurred when baked potatoes wrapped in foil were stored without refrigeration overnight and served the next day.

In both these incidents the conditions were ripe for the development of the botulism toxin which occurs as the spore "comes alive." This can happen where there is no air, where the food is low in acid and when the temperature is above 50°F. (Refrigerator temperature is 38-40°F.) The spore is very common in all soil and we eat it often with foods that come in contact with the soil but it causes no harm in the adult digestive system. Infants, however, have developed fatal poisoning from consuming honey which contained the spores of botulism. Apparently their digestive systems are too immature. There is an advisory issued to avoid feeding honey to infants.

When the spore changes into the live organism and produces its toxin the scene is set for sickness, and, in about a third of its victims, death. The toxin is inactivated by 10 minutes of boiling and suspect food should be boiled. But the spore does not die at 212°F, the boiling temperature of water.

Other cases of botulism poisoning have occurred when meat products that contained cooked vegetables were left out at room temperature for extended periods. A turkey loaf made from turkey, cereal, onion and green pepper and a beef stew made with unpeeled potatoes and carrots were the culprits. The spores are not destroyed by boiling, even for hours. It takes temperatures above 212°F to destroy them, temperatures that are achieved only in a pressure canner or cooker.

THE "TOOTH" OF THE MATTER

DID YOU KNOW?

• Next to the common cold, tooth decay remains the most prevalent disease in the United States, even though a third of all youngsters between the ages of 5 and 17 have no cavities.

• America's best-known author of western novels, Zane Grey, was a dentist before becoming a writer.

• A $250,000 mechanical mouth developed by dental researchers can duplicate a year's worth of chewing in 24 hours and take four bites per second, thus drastically speeding up the testing of dental materials.

• Summer is a good time for students to have their wisdom teeth removed before they get too busy with school. We offer gas or intravenous sedation to maximize your comfort—call us!

Fair Livestock Sale Hits Total of $69,486.50

FRED SWOPE of Grass Lake took second place in the best matched team category of the draft horse show at the Chelsea Community Fair. This event always attracts owners of some prized animals.

"IT'S FAIR TIME" took third place in the youth float division in the Chelsea fair parade, Saturday, Aug. 26. At front is Chelsea High school Key Club fair queen candidate Tammy Browning.

This year's livestock auction at the Chelsea Community Fair sold 130 lambs, steers, and hogs for a total price of $69,486.50.

That is $12,989.70 more than the total in 1988.

Only seven more animals were sold this year than last, but prices paid were generally higher.

Judy Bareis' grand champion lamb commanded $12.25 per pound, breaking the record of $11.50 set in 1979 and repeated in 1983. It was a full $5.25 per pound more than was paid for last year's champion.

Let's Go

Bulldogs!

JUDE QUILTER is off to the races on the first of his three touchdowns in the first half of last Friday night's game at home against Mason. Quilter proved to be almost the entire Bulldog offense, a situation coach Gene LaFave hopes to correct this week at Saline.

Dog Cagers Beat Manchester, Lose Opener at Stockbridge

Chelsea Bulldog varsity basketball team opened the season with a loss at Stockbridge last Tuesday, 43-36, but rebounded for a victory at Manchester on Thursday, 48-27.

"We made a lot of mistakes," Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter said of the Stockbridge game.

"They also had 14 offensive rebounds, and I think that was the difference in the game. You don't want to give a senior team that many extra shots."

Chelsea had a 25-22 lead with 3:35 left in the third quarter after outscoring Stockbridge 7-0 in the quarter. However, Rosentreter called a time out and after the break his team failed to score the rest of the quarter, while the Panthers were running off nine points in a row.

"We weren't executing very well and I thought if we could get the lead up to eight points or so Stockbridge would fade away," Rosentreter said.

"However, for some reason we stopped scoring."

Rosentreter said his team didn't handle Stockbridge's press very well, and didn't get the ball inside to senior Allison Brown very well. She only shot 11 times.

Junior Colleen Scharphorn led the Bulldogs with 11 points, all on field goals, including one three-point try. Brown scored 10 points on five field goals. Mercedes Hammer scored six. Shawn Losey had four points, Carrie Flintoft scored three, and Tiffany Moore scored two. The team shot 41 percent from the floor (16-19) and 3-8 from the line.

The Bulldogs had "the ugliest 21 point win I've ever seen," Rosentreter said of the Manchester game.

"It was a little hard to believe. We made so many mistakes yet still always had at least a 10-point lead." Chelsea won the game on the boards, where they had a 50-19 advantage, including 19 offensive rebounds. Brown and Scharme Petty each had 10.

The rebounding made up for poor field goal shooting as the Dogs made 15 of 54 tries.

"We missed so many easy shots inside," Rosentreter said.

On the positive side, the defense showed a lot of improvement, Rosentreter said. And, Petty and Kristin Bohlender were pleasant surprises. In addition to her rebounding, Petty scored 10 points, second on the team. Bohlender had five points.

"If Scharme continues to play like that, she's going to be a big help this year," Rosentreter said.

Brown led the team in scoring with 16 points on five field goals and 5-6 shooting from the line. Rounding out the scoring were Scharphorn and Losey with four each, Hammer with three points, and Flintoft, Moore, and Burg with two each.

"That will be the easiest game we play all year," Rosentreter said. Chelsea is scheduled to open their home season tomorrow against Adrian.

Pool Opens To The Public Next Monday

Chelsea's Charles Cameron Pool will be open to the community beginning next Monday, Sept. 11.

In addition, for $25 area residents will be able to purchase a pass good for 30 visits to the pool. The pass will be good for either adult lap swimming or family recreational swimming. Any member of the family may use it. Daily passes cost $1 per person, per visit.

Any questions about recreational or adult lap swimming can be answered by calling 475-1425.

This year the pool is offering an answering service, which will announce any time changes and other information. It will also allow anyone to leave a message.

In Battle of Bulldogs, Mason Tops Chelsea on Strong Fourth Quarter

An exceptional performance by junior running back Jude Quilter was not enough to overcome team inexperience as well as numerous defensive errors as the Mason Bulldogs rallied in the fourth quarter to take a 33-21 victory over the Chelsea Bulldogs at Niehaus Field last Friday night in the opening game of the season.

The lead changed hands three times in the first half and Chelsea managed a 21-20 lead at the intermission, a score that held up until the fourth quarter.

Quilter scored all three touchdowns on electrifying plays and gained nearly 100 yards in the first half and it looked as though he was on the way to his best performance ever.

However, Quilter was held to just 20 yards in the second half.

"We had a chance to win, but we don't have enough consistency yet," said Chelsea coach Gene LaFave.

"We also lost a couple of people up front during the game and it becomes very problematic to start shuffling people around, especially with as young a team as we have. It's just too early to be able to make massive adjustments."

Senior center and noseguard Tim VanSchoick, regarded as the team's best and most experienced lineman, was booted from the game after a personal foul in the second half, which forced LaFave to make numerous changes. It was also responsible, in large part, for Chelsea's ineffectiveness on both offense and defense in the second half, LaFave said.

Chelsea was unable to make the necessary adjustments and the Mason offense eventually dominated the game in the fourth quarter as they scored twice in the last 7:12 playing straight power football. They scored on runs of three and 23 yards.

The Bulldogs started three sophomores and nine juniors, many of whom played both ways and most of whom had no experience at the varsity level.

Chelsea senior quarterback Kyle Plank, who had a fine first half, also had his problems in the second half as he threw three interceptions, including one on the opening drive of the half. Plank finished the game 4-11 in the air for 117 yards.

Chelsea also accumulated much of its 100 total yards in penalties in the second half.

"The turnovers and the penalties set a tempo that was difficult to overcome," LaFave said.

"Also, when we got the stops on defense, the offense was not able to drive. We have to be able to drive. It was frustrating to the kids and I think that frustration began to set in late in the game."

Mason jumped out to the early lead as Darren Christian swept to the right side to score on a 25-yard run.

However, less than three minutes later, Plank hit Quilter on the left with a screen pass and Quilter outran everyone down the sideline for a 62-yard touchdown. Ron Stacy's line drive kick was good to give Chelsea a 7-6 lead.

A Chelsea mistake set up Mason's second score early in the second quarter. The Bulldogs were called for roughing the punter, a call hotly disputed by the Chelsea bench, which gave Mason a first down at the Chelsea 32.

On fourth down and three at the Chelsea 25, a completed pass to the left side gave Mason the ball at the Chelsea 11. On fourth down and eight at the nine, quarterback Mike Prater ran a bootleg and hit Darren Buck for a score. A two-point conversion gave Mason a 14-7 lead with 8:47 remaining.

Again, Chelsea struck quickly. Plank passed to Quilter over the middle, and Quilter outran the secondary for a 69-yard score at the 8:00 mark. The conversion failed and Chelsea trailed 14-13.

Less than two minutes later, Quilter, who had 103 yards rushing on the night, broke up the center of the line and scored from 54 yards out. He also ran for the two-point conversion to give the Bulldogs a 21-13 lead.

Mason completed the first-half scoring at the 2:31 mark when Prater ran from six yards out. The drive was set up by a 19-yard pass play.

The Chelsea defense had a couple of big sacks in the third quarter to stem the Mason offense.

However, early in the fourth quarter, a Mason interception gave Mason the ball at the Chelsea 37, which set up the go-ahead drive.

"The most positive part of the game was the experience we gained," LaFave said.

"Our inexperience showed, especially when the game got tight. The mental adjustments and intellectual parts of the game are so crucial and we basically just need to grow up and get older. We'll perform better this week. We'll make a few changes, but not wholesale changes."

The Bulldogs are sure to see another good power football team in the Saline Hornets this week in Saline.

CRAIG FERRY and another unidentified Bulldog were in on this sack of Mason quarterback Mike Prater during the second half, a play that at the time looked like it might change the complexion of the game. The Bulldogs lost 33-21.

Young JV Cagers Whip Manchester, Edged by Panthers

Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity basketball team split in their first two games of the season, losing to the Stockbridge Panthers, 35-34, on Tuesday, and beating the Manchester Dutchmen, 40-28, on Thursday.

The Bulldogs had a chance to tie the Stockbridge game in the closing seconds, but a free throw missed.

"It was a typical opening game," said Chelsea coach Paul Terpstra.

"We had poor shooting and inconsistent play. Our inexperience showed."

Chelsea shot 18 percent from the field and 29 percent from the line. In addition, they had numerous turnovers.

Jenny Bobo led Chelsea in scoring with 12 points. Heather McConeghy scored eight, Molly Dilworth and Ginny Flannery had five points each, and Theresa Hurst and Sarah DeVine each scored two.

Chelsea led all the way against Manchester as the team improved in all areas, Terpstra said.

"We were much more consistent in our scoring," Terpstra said.

Chelsea shot 25 percent from the field and 67 percent from the line.

DeVine scored 12 points, Bobo had 10, McConeghy scored nine, Dilworth and Flannery had four each, and Erin Knott scored one. Dilworth led the team with 15 rebounds, and Hurst had four steals.

Other members of the team include Angie Riley, Carrie Vargo, Michelle Beeman, and Tina Hassett.

200 meter dash: Danielle Longe, 3rd, girls 11-12, and Anna Daigle competed; Jim Irwin, boys 11-12.

400 meter dash: Matt Tuttle, 3rd, and Clint Shears participated in boys 11-12.

800 meter run: Zac Ersten, 2nd, and Clint Shears and Bryan Bloomensaat competed in boys 11-12.

Standing long jump: Matt Hand, 4th, boys 9-10, and Tom and Jim Irwin, Leif Mangelsen and Matt Tuttle also competed; Clint Shears, 4th, 11-12 boys; Anna Daigle also competed.

400 meter relay: Matt Tuttle, Mark Hand, and Tom and Jim Irwin, 2nd, 11-12 boys; Zac Ersten, Leif Mangelsen, Ryan Guenther, and Bryan Bloomensaat, 3rd, 11-12 boys.

50 meter dash: Matt Hand, 9-10 boys, and Stacy Ersten, 9-10 girls, participated.

Hunter Safety Course Offered

During the 1989 fall hunting season, will your household include a "first-time hunter"? If so, be advised, the Washtenaw Sportsman's Club is presenting a Hunter-Safety course, which all first-time hunters in Michigan under 18 years of age are required by the state to attend, to qualify for a Hunter-Safety certificate.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 8-9-10, the Hunter-Safety course will be presented by the Washtenaw Sportsman's Club at the club grounds on Ellis Rd. in Ypsilanti township.

Candidates successfully completing the course will be presented certificates.

To qualify as a class participant, students must be 12 years old by Dec. 31, 1989.

The cost will be $3, which includes lunch on Saturday and supplies for the field exercises.

Additional information may be obtained from Michael Harnisch at 897-9700.

Students are asked to phone for pre-registration, as the class will be limited to the first 75 students who apply.

TUCKER STEELE nearly intercepts this pass early in last Friday's season-opening game with Mason. The Bulldogs lost the game when Mason scored two fourth-quarter touchdowns.

JV, Freshmen Gridders Take Their Lumps Against Mason

Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity and freshman football teams had a rough time in their combined season-opener last Thursday as they lost to Mason, 56-0, at home.

"We were not ready for the game, and some of that is my fault," said new coach Russ McKenzie.

"But they also ran a lot of weird formations, such as an unbalanced line and a one-back offense that also gave us problems."

The freshmen and JVs had only practiced together four times as well.

The game was relatively close, 12-0, with three minutes left in the first half. However, after a long time-out for a Mason injury, the Bulldogs gave up two more touchdowns before half-time.

"We seemed to lose our spark," McKenzie said.

Dog Golfers Split in SEC

Chelsea varsity golf team took fifth place at the 18-team Tecumseh Invitational last Monday, Aug. 28 at Tecumseh Golf Course.

The Bulldogs shot a 353, well behind front-runner Adrian at 323.

Top five for Chelsea were Chad Starkey, 80, Doug Wingrove, 89, Brandon Murrell, 94, Steve Emmert, 90, and Chris White, 94.

Starkey took third place over-all. In the first Southeastern Conference action of the season last Thursday at Inverness Golf Course, Chelsea played host to Saline and Lincoln, and split the match. Saline shot a 168, Chelsea, 169, and Lincoln, 220.

Starkey shot a 36 to lead Chelsea. Other scorers for Chelsea were Emmert, 43, White, 44, Wingrove, 45, Murrell, 47, and Alex Hamerschmidt, 52.

Wolf Lake Open Sunfish Regatta Finds Light Breezes

Tom Katterheirich of New Knoxville, O., won the Wolf Lake Open Sunfish Regatta, hosted by the Wolf Lake Yacht Club and Sunfish Fleet No. 522, Aug. 26-27. His race scores of 1-2-1 were far superior as he won by 6.5 points over his next closest competitor. Conditions for the races were all under beautiful sunny skies, with only light breezes.

Wolf Lake Yacht Club's Fleet Captain, Jim Towler of Jackson, finished second over-all, and Paul May, WLYC's Rear Commodore, also of Jackson, finished third over-all.

Over half of the participants came from out-of-town, helping guarantee the success of the event. The hospitality on the part of club member is notable—food donations, kitchen help, registration help, race committee, crash boats—ensured a smooth running, fun regatta.

In spite of the extremely light wind conditions spirits stayed high and the competition was tight. Even the race committee was caught up in the fun—blowing the starting signal and then Regatta chairman Mel Nichols wishing out loud, "May the Gods be with you," hoping enough wind would materialize to allow the race to be completed. The regatta was declared a success and plans are being made for next year's Wolf Lake Open to be held in August, 1990.

FLAGS

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

I'm heading into my fifth year of Chelsea High school sports coverage. And, already, I can tell this is going to be the best yet.

I managed to upset part of the football staff, and at least one parent, before school started, before even one contest of any type was played, which is certainly a personal record. It also makes me probably two or three weeks ahead of schedule.

Also, someone wrote one of those ubiquitous anonymous letters to complain about too much football coverage, and, of course, not enough coverage of the non-Gene LaFave sports, such as any girls sport. I suppose the letter-writer was probably upset about the 20 or so photographs we ran of the blue/gold game a couple weeks ago and, perhaps, saw it as an omen. (It's strange that no one complains about too much bowling coverage, yet we donate about half a page a week to it throughout most of the school year. It's all that stuff on page 11 in teeny, tiny type.)

So, this fall I'll try something a little different. I'm going to tell you exactly what to expect in the way of coverage. You may not like it, especially if you have a daughter on the swim team. But here it goes anyway.

I will probably not attend any non-varsity games in any sport.

I will go to at least eight varsity football games, maybe all nine. I like high school varsity football.

I may hit a varsity basketball game or two or three, especially if they start looking like a pretty good team, which is very likely. I like basketball. In fact, basketball is by far my favorite high school sport. But, as I've said many times before, I wish the girls played in the right season.

I may get to a home cross country meet or two, although I can already hear coach Pat Clarke laughing about that one. Believe it or not, I like cross country. However, meets are tough to follow unless you're in a helicopter.

I'm virtually certain I won't see a single swim meet, golf match, or tennis match, since I haven't seen any the last four years. I'm not much of a golf, tennis, or swimming fan. Nothing against those sports. I don't like cauliflower, either, and I don't see any reason to eat it when there are so many foods I like.

The main difference between the games I attend and those I don't is that I take photographs, which accompany the stories. And that's why you'll see a lot of football photos. Simple as that. As I've said before, we'll accept photos of other sports taken by you, if the quality is reasonable. That generally means the subjects are in focus and there are no obscene gestures.

We print stories about ALL Chelsea school sports, whether I write them or not. In many cases, especially when it comes to golf, swimming, and tennis, I depend a lot on the coaches for information, since, presumably, they attend the contests.

A couple of notes to the coaches, and these can be applied throughout the year.

Please don't wait two, or three, or four weeks, and write a summary of the month's events. We want results the week they happen.

Note two: please don't include a lot of quotations that are obviously designed to motivate or communicate with your team. That means stuff like, "Our kids have to learn that dedication, commitment, and hard work are the qualities that make true champions." Yuck. Please stick to the facts.

Note three: please don't ORDER US to include anything in a story. That is almost sure to get it crossed out. You are certainly welcome, however, to suggest what you think the important points are.

Note four: please don't bring in information on Monday night or Tuesday and expect to get it in that week's paper.

The Bulldog varsity football team got a good, swift kick by Mason last Friday. It turned out to be the Jude Quilter show for Chelsea, at least in the first half. He was exceptional. He scored three touchdowns, the shortest play being 54 yards.

The second half was like a different game. Quilter couldn't get loose, and the offense generally had a tough time. Meanwhile, the defense looked terribly confused, especially in the fourth quarter.

Afterward, LaFave talked about the "intellectual" part of football, which to some may seem like a contradiction in terms.

He said his Bulldogs were playing a third down and nine situation with the same mindset as a first and 10 situation, the mark of youth and inexperience.

Those are the subtleties that only a coach could appreciate.

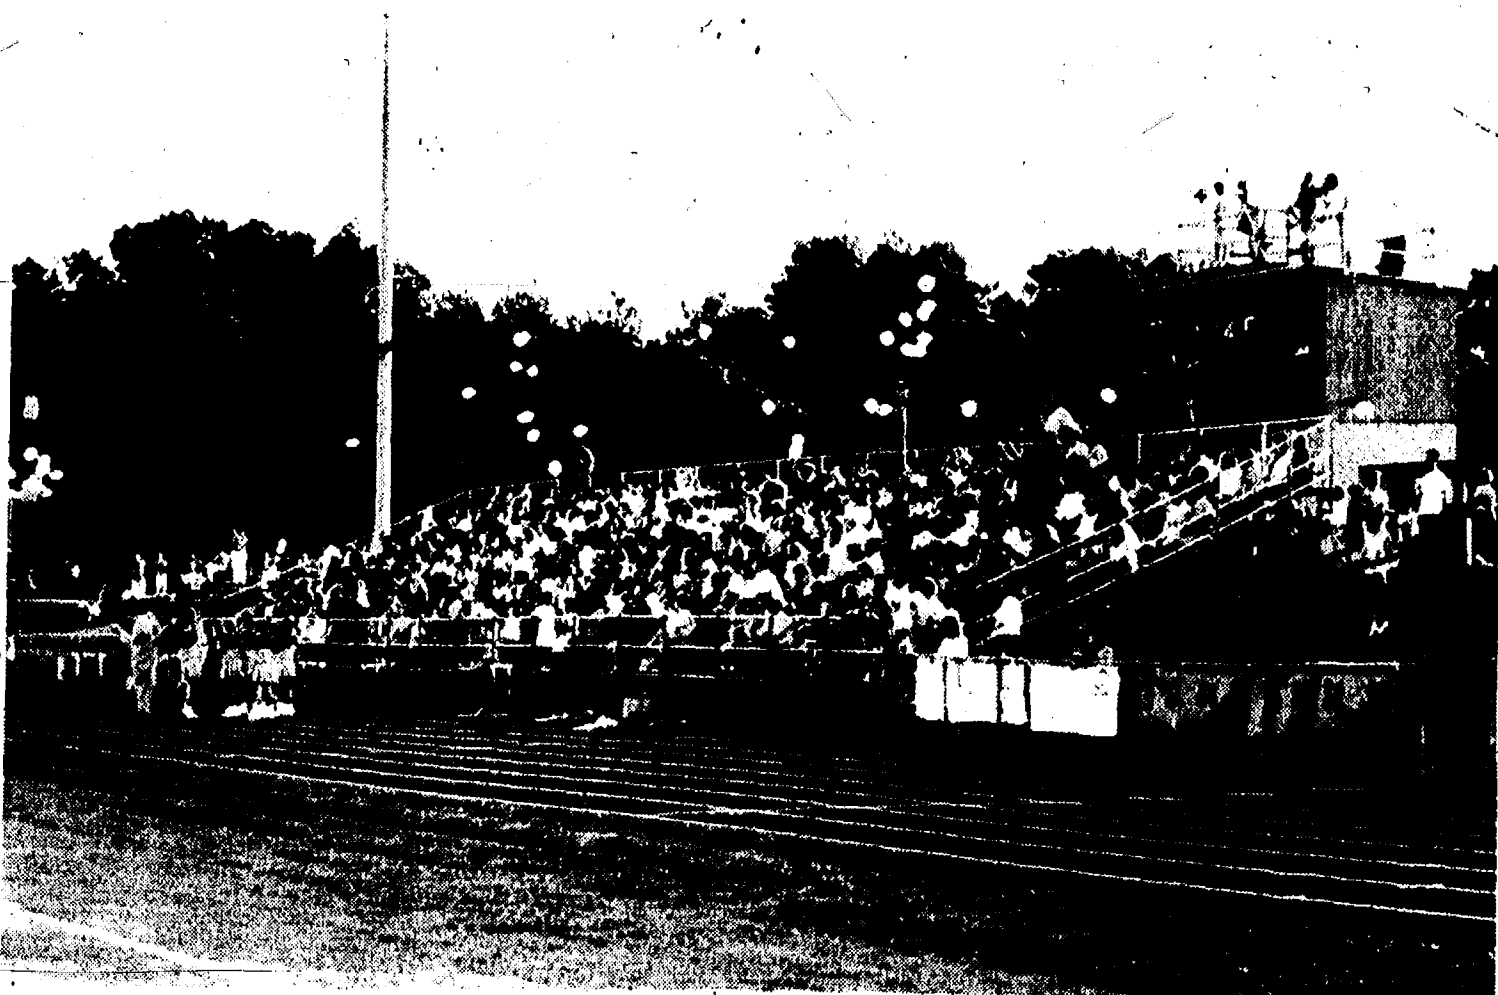

I have the feeling, too, that nervousness on the part of some of the younger guys, of which there are many, may have also played a part. You get so wound up that you forget what you're supposed to do and simply react, which is often exactly the wrong thing to do.

Anyway, the Bulldogs have another tough one at Saline this week.

We'll have a chance to see how quickly the Bulldogs learn their lessons. Michigan coach Bo Schembechler said recently that a team makes its greatest improvement between the first and second games. Let's hope that applies to the Bulldogs.

While a lot of people are focusing on the death of baseball commissioner A. Bartlett Giamatti and how the stress of the Pete Rose gambling case may have contributed, most people are missing a big part of the story: drug abuse.

Giamatti was a drug abuser. Doctors reported that he was an overweight CHAIN SMOKER. He was a chronic user of nicotine, a highly addictive and dangerous drug. While the link between Giamatti's heart attack and his smoking will probably never be proven, it's very likely he simply killed himself, just as my own father did. Giamatti, like Rose, gambled and lost.

BALLOONS WERE LAUNCHED Friday night at the first kick-off of the season, although not as many people participated as there might have been. It was also unfortunate the kick-off was called back due to a penalty.

KYLE PLANK nearly makes the interception during Friday night's home game against Mason.

SEAN DESARBO hangs on to the Mason running back during last Friday's contest with the Mason Bulldogs. Chelsea plays arch-rival Saline this Friday on the road.

An American naturalist once reported a mockingbird in South Carolina that imitated the songs of 32 different kinds of birds in ten minutes.

Community Ed. Provides Skills Needed for Jobs

Michigan's workforce will remain competitive. That is the theme heard around the state and is the impetus behind the Governor's new Job Opportunity Card program. The thrust is to insure that today's education upgrades Michigan workers.

Pinekey Community Education is providing a variety of offerings to help job seekers develop and improve skills needed to be successful in today's job market.

Included in the list of offerings are classes related to employment preparation in the areas of manufacturing, business office, retailing, and self employment.

The latest techniques will be taught on state of the art technology. Classes related to manufacturing include welding, CNC Machining, and CAD. In preparation for a business office, keyboarding, computer applications, word processing, business office procedures, and accounting are available.

These classes are designed to be thorough and to instill a sense of confidence in the students that they do possess the skills they need to find a job. Support classes are also offered to provide additional assistance to people who have not been working and plan to enter the work force.

These classes are free to adults without a high school diploma and graduates under 20 years of age.

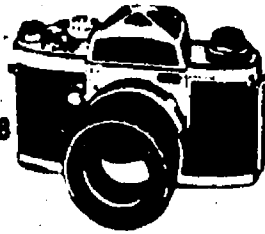

For further information, contact Pinekey Community Education at 878-3115, ext. 240.

Adult High School Completion— Sign-up for Adult High School classes is now underway at Pinckney Community Education. Students may complete their GED or High School Diploma and receive job training. Preparing students for the job market will be an important part of the program.

All Adult High School classes begin the week of Sept. 18. Course offerings include English, Science, Social Studies, GED Preparation, Learning Center, Mathematics, Business Education, and Industrial and Technological Education. Classes. Cosmetology will also be available again this year. Get your High School Diploma. Sign up now at the Pinckney Community Education office or call 878-3115 ext. 240 for information.

Enrichment Classes— Pinckney Community Education Department is excited to be able to offer expanded enrichment classes this year. Many of the offerings from the past are back this year as well as many new mini-sessions and enrichment classes. Introduction to 2D and 3D Computer Aided Design will be available again this fall. Classes begin Monday, Sept. 18. Other enrichment offerings include basket weaving, gardening, sewing, cake decorating, basic floral design, basic knitting, Image Improvement Through Color Analysis, scuba diving, karate, Builder's Licensing Seminar, dog obedience, hunter safety starting Sept. 25, and a variety of exercise classes.

Contact Pinckney Community Education or register now for any of these course offerings.

Special Events— Trailblazing in Michigan Rails to Trails Walk, on Sept. 16 at 8:45 a.m. The group will meet at the old Pinckney Train Depot for a walk down the old railroad tracks to Gregory, for lunch. If you're interested in taking this walk, you may contact Pinckney Community Education. You need to register by Sept. 7.

Great Lakes Lighthouses, Yesterday and Today— This will be a free program offered at the Pinckney Performing Arts Theatre on Tuesday, Sept. 17. To help celebrate the bicentennial of the U.S. Lighthouse Service, Dick Moehl, president of the Great Lakes Lighthouse Association will present Great Lakes Lighthouses, Yesterday and Today. The Great Lakes Lighthouse Keeper Association is a volunteer organization consisting of 12,000 members. Dick Moehl is a member of our community and you will find this program very educational and interesting. If you plan to attend, please call just to let us know you are coming.

Performing Arts— Peter "Madcat" Ruth will meet the group on Thursday, Sept. 21, at 7 p.m. in the Pinckney Performing Arts Theatre. He has established an international reputation through his work using the harmonica. He is an Ann Arbor resident and has traveled throughout the United States putting on performances. This is a very special performance for the Pinckney community. Ticket prices are $5 for adults and $3 for students 18 and under. Contact or stop by Pinckney Community education for ticket reservations.

If you have any questions about any of the programs, please call Pinckney Community Education at 878-3115, ext. 240, as they would be very happy to explain course offerings to you.

Lifeline Helps People Live Independently

To many elderly persons living alone, maintaining independence is very important. "Lifeline" is a personal emergency response system that provides 24-hour emergency assistance at the touch of a button.

A small personal help button is worn by the subscriber at all times. When assistance is needed, pushing the help button activates the "Lifeline" unit connected to the telephone.

The "Lifeline" unit sends a "help needed" signal to the Response Center located at the Chelsea Community Hospital. Emergency Room Professional staff will call to determine what type of assistance is needed.

If the subscriber is unable to answer the phone a responder—a neighbor, friend or relative will be sent to the home. Upon arriving at the home the responder resets the "Lifeline" unit. This sends a second signal to the hospital letting them know help has arrived.

"Lifeline" can provide peace of mind and the gift of independence to many individuals. The cost is $18 dollars per month. There are no additional installation or service fees.

For more information, contact Chelsea Community Hospital Social Work Department at (313) 475-3952.

The major fields of study of college graduates changed dramatically between 1970-71 and 1985-86, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics. Business and management increased from 13 to 22 percent. Other growing fields include health sciences, engineering, computer and information sciences, communications and general studies.

"America has become a society in which everyone is expected to work—including women with young children. But many of society's institutions were designed during an era of male breadwinners and female homemakers. What is needed is a . . . reform of the institutions and policies that govern the workplace, to insure that women can participate fully in the economy and that men and women have the time and resources to invest in their children."—from "Workforce 2000: Work and Workers for the 21st Century," a study by the Hudson Institute for the U. S. Labor Department.

Faith Lutheran Pastor Attends WELS Convention

Please Notify Us
In Advance of Any Change in Address

Pastor Mark Porinsky of Faith Evangelical Lutheran church, Dexter, was a delegate to the 50th biennial convention of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod (WELS). The five-day convention was held on the campus of Martin Luther Preparatory School, Prairie du Chien, Wis., Aug. 7-11.

During the week, Pastor Porinsky and the other 433 voting and advisory delegates heard reports from the synod's five divisions concerning the church body's activity for the last two years. The delegates also considered proposals for new programs and adopted a $39.9 million budget for the next two years.

The convention established a $16 million special offering during 1990-93. This special offering will develop a gift trust fund for mission expansion and for the on-going work of the WELS.

The delegates adopted a "Vision 2000+" statement to direct the synod's plans and growth into the 21st century.

After a two-year study called for by the WELS 1987 convention, the delegates decided not to change the church body's name. The 139-year-old Wisconsin Synod has always had the word "Wisconsin" in its name. The 420,000 WELS has congregations in all 50 states and three provinces of Canada.

Convention business included the election of officers of the synod for the next two years. The Rev. Carl H. Mischke, Milwaukee, Wis., was overwhelmingly re-elected to his sixth consecutive term as president.

Convention delegates heard the Rev. Gerhard Wilde, president of the Evangelical Lutheran Free Church of East Germany, express greetings from his church body. They also heard presentations from 15 overseas WELS missionaries representing 10 countries where the synod has developing mission churches.

Together with its 1,200 congregations, the WELS operates a school system of 370 Lutheran elementary schools, 20 high schools, 3 academies, 3 colleges, and a theological seminary. The synod does mission work in 12 countries located in Africa, Latin America, and Asia.

Faith Evangelical Lutheran church is a member of the Wisconsin Synod and is located at 9575 North Territorial Rd.

Does It Really Matter?

Humanity searches for fact and reason in almost every aspect of life. In religion; however (the one avenue of learning which offers things of eternal value), man's recurring response is: "It does not matter what you believe." Amid the controversy and confusion that exist in "organized religion" I can truly have sympathy toward those who feel that understanding the truth of God's word is an impervious task. I also realize the omnipotent feeling of infidelity that finally manifest itself in the question, "Does it really matter what I believe?" The answer is yes! There are two scriptural points that must take precedence in our thoughts toward this subject. 1) 2 Tim. 3:16 "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness." God gave us written words of his will not so those words could be ignored, or because it didn't matter, but we graciously supplied with the written word so that we would not forget, and so that we could study these words on an individual basis. There is not a scripture in the Bible that did not come from the inspiration of God; to simply say that it does not matter what these scriptures teach would be to question the very credibility of God himself. 2) 2 Thes. 2:12 "That they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness." Through the word of God it must also be recognized that belief of the truth is not just friendly advice, but a commandment from God. There are certain conditions that must be met in order to obtain eternal life, and although belief of the truth does not complete the entire spectrum of conditions, "we do acknowledge it as being essential to salvation. In fact to continue on in 2 Thes. 2:13 we understand that we are "chosen to salvation through sanctification of the spirit, and belief of the truth." It really does make a difference!

Chelsea Hospital Offers First Camp-Out for Recovering Patients

On Sunday a group of enthusiastic campers took off for a week of "roughing it" in northern Michigan. Their plans include the usual camping activities of cooking out, boating, fishing and singing around the campfire—all of the activities one would ordinarily expect. But this will be no orinary camping trip for any of the campers.

Up to 10 of the campers are survivors of traumatic head injuries, most of which resulted from automobile accidents. These campers will be accompanied on a one-to-one basis by health professionals from Chelsea Community Hospital. This year marked the first Traumatic Head Injury Camp-Out for Chelsea Community Hospital.

Under the leadership of Donna Douley, director of the hospital's recreational therapy department, a committee of professionals, including Tina Johnson, recreational therapist, Warren Clark, social worker, and Pam Van Buren, occupational therapist, made all the necessary arrangements for the trip.

"We wanted to offer our patients a unique recreational experience on a very therapeutic level," said Bouley, "it's providing something that isn't often available or attainable for recovering traumatic head injured patients."

The campers' destination is the beautiful Lake Louise Methodist facility located near Boyne Falls. The facility is accessible to the physically challenged. In addition to activities planned at the campsite, day trips are planned, including a trip to Mackinac Island and canoeing.

"Camping can be an alternative to therapy because it provides ongoing stimulation through 'real life' experiences. The camper has to generalize the lessons learned in therapy and cope with the day-to-day challenges. In doing so, the recovering traumatic head injured patient develops the skills needed to reintegrate into the community," stated Bouley.

The campers will stay at the "modern-rustic" Lake Louise facility from Aug. 27 through Sept. 1. Special thanks to Palmer Ford-Mercury in Chelsea for donating a Ford Taurus wagon to assist in transportation.

Spinners' Flock Fall Fleece Fair Scheduled Sept. 24

The Spinners' Flock, a Washtenaw county based handspinning's guild, will hold its annual fall Fleece/Fair at Matthaei Botanical Gardens, 1800 N. Dixboro Rd., Ann Arbor. Scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 24 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., the event will feature Michigan wool, mohair, and angora, as well as blends and exotic fibers.

In addition to fleeces, rovings, and batts for spinners, quilters and other fiberartists, there will be handspun yarns in natural and dyed colors. These unique yarns are prized by knitters and weavers for their special beauty and quality.

Finished goods including sweaters, mittens, hats and woven pieces will also be offered.

Demonstrations will take place throughout the day and individuals wishing to try their hand at spinning will be encouraged to do so. Experienced knitters will be available to give advice and recommendation on adapting handspun yarn to commercial knitting patterns. There is no admission charge.

Organized in 1979, the Spinners' Flock now numbers over 90 members. The guild draws its membership from throughout southeastern Michigan and northern Ohio. A second annual fleece fair is held in the spring of each year.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

WHERE DID THE FROST GO?
Aug. 12, 1988 our beloved pet fox Foxy, passed away.

Aug. 14, 1988 on our way to a family reunion we purchased Frosty, our second arctic blue fox. What a joy!

Spring 1989—Frosty is ill. Oh no! Off to the vet's. But he got better. Thanks to Lane Animal Hospital and staff. They did great work and the little guy got better. They knew how much we loved him.

Aug. 19, 1989—We went away at 8:30 p.m. after cooking for Frosty all day and doing laundry for an ill relative.

Aug. 20, 1989—Returned home at 12:30 a.m. He's gone! Our Frosty! Who could do such a thing? He was in a safe place. He didn't bother anyone. Yet someone released him from his safe place into the scary world. A little guy who had never hurt anyone. A well loved and cared for pet.

Aug. 20, 1989—We reported this terrible thing to Deputy John Phillips. Thank for your understanding Deputy. He reported it to the Ann Arbor News and we did get some information from helpful people. Thanks to them also.

Where did the Frost go?

We've had reports of him seen on Sunday, Aug. 20, 1989 close to Loch Alpine on Huron River Dr. Also, possibly seen in a field near Tubbs Rd., on Aug. 25.

If you see Frosty—his food is waiting and we would love to have him home. We are waiting—hoping—praying.

Please come home Frosty.

Where did the Frost go?

Joyce & Robert Grob.

To the Editor,

I am a Parade Goer from way back and haven't missed one since I came to this area back in the 30's.

It seems that each year we get more trucks and fire engines and less bands and music. Other towns, such as Clinton, seem to have lots of different things in their parades. I wonder why we don't.

Looking forward to 1990 Fair Parade.

An Avid Parade Goer.

To the Editor:

There was a Portage and Base Lake Water and Sewer Authority (PBLWSA) meeting Wednesday, Aug. 23. It was packed with supporters of the proposed sewer project, undoubtedly turned out by the PBLWSA, and also had perhaps 6-8 opponents of the proposed sewer system in attendance, one of whom was Gregg Magnuson, Stinchfield Woods Rd. resident.

The chief executive officer of McNamee, Porter, & Seeley, Inc., the engineers for the proposed project, gave a slide presentation, showing pictures of 5-6 various treatment facilities around the state, supposedly similar to what is being proposed for Stinchfield Woods Rd. No questions from the public were permitted until the end of the meeting during the designated agenda item of public speak time.

A file letter from Mr. Smit to Mr. Drolett dated Aug. 7, 1989 was read to the public by Mr. Smit. No questions from the public were permitted until the end of the meeting during the designated agenda item of public speak time.

A file letter from Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, the bonding attorneys for the proposed sewer system, dated Aug. 4, 1989 and addressed to Mr. Drolett, was read by Mr. Drolett to the public. No questions from the public were permitted until the end of the meeting during the designated agenda item of public speak time.

Attention was also given to other business items.

The "Call to the Public" finally arrived. The public was informed that each speaker would have only a "few" minutes, meaning five minutes or less. Each of four speakers supporting the system as it is proposed, rose and verbally assaulted—Magnuson, charging purposeful creation of confusion, lying, and willful misleading of the public with public articles in the newspapers. Other supporters of the system spoke regarding their concerns and opposition. Each had their "few" minutes.

Opponent Magnuson then asked the board if written questions, given to one of the board members after the last "no quorum" board meeting on July 24, 1989, had been passed on to each of them. The response was "No." Magnuson passed out copies of the questions, dated July 25, 1989, to each of the board members.

Magnuson then asked one question of Mr. Smit, was informed his time was up, and sat down. He later asked to be allowed to voice his questions regarding letters read earlier in the evening and was denied.

Magnuson had questions on the sites shown in Mr. Smit's slide show. They weren't asked. They weren't permitted.

He had questions on the two letters read to the public mentioned above, and two other letters recently acquired by him. They weren't asked. They weren't permitted.

He had questions on easements, assessments already paid to the sewer authority, and "elevations." They weren't asked. They weren't permitted.

He wanted to respond to the charges of each of the first four speakers in the Call to the Public who spoke prior to his own "five minutes." He never got the chance. They weren't permitted.

Question: Why would Mr. Drolett not let this guy ask all his opponent oriented questions in front of a fairly large, somewhat hostile audience of proponents, let all the "experts" who were present defend themselves or at least debunk Magnuson, and then be done with it? Do they fear his facts, or his logic, or his personality? I mean, what is it?

Answer: It seems it is easier for various supporters of the proposed sewer system to make broad and general verbal charges against him without giving specific examples to back up those accusations. The problem is, that tactic doesn't answer the concerns of Stinchfield Woods Rd. residents regarding potential polluting of the aquifer, soil permeability, underground nutrient flow, groundwater recharge, drainage divide flow, structure of subsurface strata, disagreements over figuring household gallonage, daily wastewater flow, probable eventual leaks in the pipeline joints, possible leaks in the raw sewage holding pond liners, odor or air pollution, etc., etc., etc.

Request: I'm Magnuson. Don't call me names. Don't make broad general accusations without giving the specifics and giving me a chance to respond. Just answer the questions. Just focus on the details. And, just direct your attention to resolving the issues that separate us. Otherwise, take this treatment plant to another site! Put it very close to your own well and property, and then let us Stinchfield Woods Rd. residents observe the questions you begin to ask and the concerns you begin to voice. If you are so sure of the infallibility of the "experts" and genuinely have no questions or concerns regarding their design data, just request a new site location near you, and let me go back to the quiet anonymity I enjoyed before all this sewage came my way. If not, expect me to persist in defending our concerns with questions, logic, observations, data, research studies, experts, etc.

Gregg E. Magnuson.

CHELSEA HIGH SCHOOL MARCHING BAND put on its usual fine show along the route of the Chelsea fair parade. They put on a different kind of show last Friday at half-time of Chelsea's first home football game.

THE SENIOR CITIZENS of the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home won third place in the adult float division of the Chelsea fair parade. The seniors always seem to win a prize.

IT WAS A MAD SCRAMBLE Tuesday, Aug. 22 as youngsters came away with a sizeable amount of change, but none of them vowed to save the money for college. youngsters had a chance to dig in the wood shavings for pennies and nickels during Kid's Day activities. Several CHILDREN made the mad dash for candy, pencils, apples, and even dog food throughout the route of the Chelsea fair parade as almost every vehicle in the parade had something to throw to the crowd. Many children went home looking as though Trick or Treat had arrived early this year.

The Russian Tsar and the German Kaiser took their titles from the Roman Julius Caesar.

ACTION WAS FAST AND FURIOUS in the sack races Chelsea Community Fair. It was one of the many events during Tuesday, Aug. 24 Kid's Day activities at the fair just for the children last week.

THESE CHILDREN produced a clever variation on a recent movie theme to take second place in the mixed ages category of the Children's Parade. It was also just in time for school.

Q. I bought 100 shares of Litton for under $400 many years ago. When the stock underwent changes, I stayed with the common stock after it quit paying dividends. Why do people keep buying it? Is it only to make a profit if it keeps rising and they sell? Will there ever be dividends again? Why does it keep going up if there are no dividends?

A. Litton is a company that has changed many ways over the past 30 years or more. At one time it had a reputation as an outstanding growth company, but as you look at the figures for the past 10 years, it is difficult to see why anyone has bought it. Sales-wise the company has not gone anywhere. Earnings per share, if they reach the $7.10 this year that is estimated by Standard & Poor's will be no greater than they were in the early 1980s. Percent earned on invested capital is much smaller.

The company says it discontinued its dividend to be consistent with its high-technology oriented business and its strategic plan. At the same time, the equity of the shareholder was halved and the company's debt was increased seven-fold. It looks like there could have been more than the stated reason for eliminating the dividend.

It is reported that the company has sizable military business and that its contracts are just beginning to come into production. If that happens and earnings and the price of the stock go up, I would be inclined to sell and put my money in more carefully chosen stock. If you want a good dividend, look at Unisys $3.75 Convertible Preferred. At the recent $45, it gives you a return of over 8% and the chance for some appreciation.

Teledyne owns 27% of Litton and institutions own an additional 45%. That shows some bright people have a lot of confidence in the company, but the figures have yet to indicate the value.

Mr. O'Hara welcomes your questions and comments, but will answer them only through this column. Hope in the War on Drugs

By Fred Prezioso, M.A.
(Addiction Counseling, Sienna Heights College)
and Certified Addictions Counselor,
State of Michigan.

It goes by many names, drug abuse, substance abuse, chemical dependency, alcoholism, addiction. But the problem is the same, and uncomfortably familiar to most of us. The cause of death among Americans aged 15-24.

The costs to our society and to individuals right here in our own community are numerous and the statistics are staggering. Whole families are destroyed, prisons are overcrowded, insurance rates are soaring and lost production time is reaching unacceptable levels.

It is said that alcohol related motor vehicle accidents are the leading cause of death among Americans aged 15-24.

Fetal Alcohol Syndrome suffered by some children whose mothers drank during pregnancy is the third leading cause of birth defects with accompanying mental retardation.

Children of alcoholics/addicts have a four times greater risk of developing addiction themselves or of marrying an addict, than the children of non-addicted parents.

Drugs are estimated to be involved in about 50% of spouse abuse cases, and up to 38% of child abuse cases.

While the problem might seem overwhelming, there is much that can be done by way of prevention, education and intervention. There are many ways you and I can have an effective impact on the problem of addiction. We can learn about the nature of addiction, its causes and effects, and become aware of the resources that are available to us.

We can remember that while not everyone who uses or abuses alcohol or others drugs will become addicted, each of us is at risk. While about one in 10 drug users become addicted, it is not yet established exactly what makes the one person susceptible. Therefore, it is important that we be familiar with the dangers and the warning signs of addiction.

We can remember that alcohol is a drug and respect its power. We can remember that prescription medications or over-the-counter drugs are no less dangerous when abused as the more familiar drugs like cocaine, heroin or marijuana. A drug is a drug, after all.

Just when does use become abuse or addiction? Alcohol abuse, for example, begins when we drink to the point of impairing our ability to function in a safe and appropriate manner. We are addicted to alcohol when we continue to drink abusively in spite of experiencing repeated negative consequences (drunk driving tickets, for example). This "loss of control" is one of the key symptoms of addiction.

The average citizen who suffers the expense and embarrassment of a drunk driving ticket vows never to drink and drive again, and is able to maintain his resolve.

The addict is arrested numerous times despite repeated promises to himself and others, and despite the increasing negative consequences.

Another indicator of drug use/abuse reaching serious proportions is job or school related problems such as habitual tardiness, absenteeism (especially on Monday following a week-end of drug use), using while at work or in school, at lunch time or during breaks.

Increasing tolerance, needing more of the drug to get high or to relax is a dangerous sign.

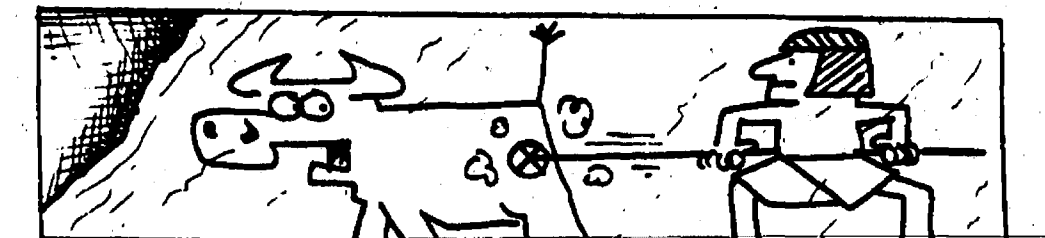

Rationalizing the need for a drug in order to relax, or as a reward for some task completed is a frequent occurrence for the addict.

Finally, increasing concern on the part of friends and family members about one's level of use, and repeated attempts to quit or to cut down are common indicators of addiction.

Knowledge and honesty are important in the war on drugs. The more we know about drugs and the process of addiction, the more hopeful we can be in effectively combating this growing epidemic.

CHELSEA BOY SCOUTS Matt Montage, left, and Brian Jester represented Troop 425 at the National Jamboree in West Virginia July 28 through Aug. 9. A former Eagle Scout, Steven Spielberg, opened the program on Space and Aeronautics. President George Bush addressed the more than 60,000 scouts attending the jamboree. The two boys also met with Senator Don Riegle and Congressman Carl Pursell.

Cattle branding was practiced 4,000 years ago. Old tomb paintings show Egyptians branding their cattle.

AFTER 22 YEARS OF SERVICE, Tom Parsons, center, retired from Dana Corporation of Chelsea on May 1. He was employed in the maintenance department. On the left is foreman Benny Daniels, and right is plant manager Tom Huetteman.

DONALD J. PASSOW retired June 1 from Dana Corporation after 30 years of service. He was employed in the preventive maintenance department. From left are Clyde Hogan, human resources manager, Harvey Morrell, union committeeman, Passow, and Tom Huetteman, plant manager.

FIREFIGHTERS' DUTIES PROVIDE a good deal of variety. The firemen hung fire extinguishers at many locations during the first day of the Chelsea Community Fair, helped water the track for the tractor pull and demolition derby, and stood by as the safety crew during the events. Andy Box perches on the back of a fire truck dispensing water at the fair site.

Farm Bureau Pleased With Choice for Dept. of Agriculture Director

Michigan Farm Bureau looks forward to working with the new director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, Robert Mitchell, according to Jack Laurie, president of the state's largest farm organization.

"The Michigan Commission on Agriculture has performed its function in selecting a director, a process which our organization strongly supports," Laurie said. "We believe Mitchell's administrative experience as chief deputy director of the Michigan Department of Transportation will certainly be beneficial as he carries out his responsibilities as head of the large, complex Department of Agriculture. His leadership in administering the laws and regulations that affect agriculture will have a great impact on the future of our industry. Agriculture faces many challenges in the 1990s and we look forward to working with Mitchell in addressing those challenges."

The MDA has been controlled by the commission system since 1945. The bipartisan commission, appointed by the governor and approved by the legislature, sets the policy for the department and hires the director. Laurie said the Michigan Farm Bureau supports maintaining the commission system, including authority for the commission to employ the director.

ACO Hardware Opening Soon In New Mall

ACO Inc., Michigan's largest retail hardware chain, will soon open their 74th store in Michigan. The new ACO outlet will be the fourth to be opened by the company in 1989.

The store, which will be located at 1103 M-52 in Chelsea, adjacent to a Polly's Food Market and Arbor Drug Store, offers an ideal site for an ACO Inc. store, according to William Aiken, chairman and chief executive officer of ACO Inc. The family hardware center, covering approximately 10,000 square feet will be stocked with more than 18,000 items in ACO's primary product lines of hardware, paint, tools, electrical, plumbing fixtures, housewares, garden supplies, sporting goods, and auto care products.

Mike Herman, manager of the new Chelsea store, has 12 years of retail hardware experience with ACO. He has served as store manager at several other locations including Lansing, Battle Creek and Brooklyn. Present and future staffing of the new ACO will be from the immediate vicinity under the direction of Herman.

The Chelsea store will be open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturday from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.
