New Rating for Fire Department May Affect Insurance Premiums

Some commercial properties within the Village of Chelsea may see a decrease in their fire insurance premiums due to a changed rating for the Chelsea Fire Department.

The new rating, calculated by ISO Commercial Risk Services, Inc., is based on a study of the fire department and the village's water department.

According to ISO, the new rating, from class 7 to class 6, will not affect residential properties or commercial properties with sprinkler systems. Other commercial properties, depending on their type of construction, could save between 2.9 percent and 6.2 percent, and possibly more depending on various factors.

The estimates apply only for insurance companies that use the ISO calculations, and many companies use other ratings.

Tom Osborne, fourth assistant chief in the Chelsea Fire Department, said the best idea is for every commercial business within the village to notify its insurance company about the change in rating.

"We're kind of proud of the new rating," Osborne said.

"It's pretty rare for a volunteer department to have such a good rating."

Osborne said the department's two newest trucks, along with increased training levels, helped secure the new rating.

$2 Million Bond Issue Goes To Grass Lake Voters Monday

Grass Lake Public Schools will build seven elementary school classrooms, a junior high school gymnasium, and add a stage to the high school cafeteria if voters approve a $2,025,000 bond referendum next Monday, Sept. 25.

The district estimates approval of the bonds would require a 3.8 mill hike in property taxes. The bonds, which could only be used to finance the projects, would be paid off in a little more than 15 years.

According to superintendent George Erickson, the elementary school population has grown from 362 students three years ago to 461 this year, and more growth is projected.

"Our growth, like Chelsea's growth, seems to be coming from the east, Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti," Erickson said.

"People are either building here or replacing retired people. Plus, the children of baby boomers are coming into the system."

The fifth and sixth grade band students have to go to the high school to practice. They ride a bus during the winter and walk during the warmer months.

In addition, according to information supplied by the board, class size is above the maximum agreed to by the board and the Teachers' Association in grades 1, 4, and 5. Hallways, storage rooms, and closets are often

The district also wants to build a junior high school gymnasium. The high school gymnasium is in almost constant use and practices have sometimes ended as late as 10:30 p.m. There is little time available for community use or enrichment classes. Wrestling practice takes place in the cafeteria.

More Thefts Of Hood Ornaments Reported to Police

Last week's story about the arrest of four youths in connection with the theft of hood ornaments prompted four more people to report thefts that happened during the same time period.

The new reports say the thefts occurred in parking lots at Ames Department Store, Wolverine Food & Spirits, Heydlauff's, and St. Mary's school from October of 1988 through summer.

School Board Approves Ronald P. Mead As New High School Principal

A Delaware high school principal will become Chelsea High school's new principal beginning Monday, Nov. 7.

Chelsea Board of Education approved a two-year contract for Ronald P. Mead, 39, of Nassau, Del., at their regular meeting Monday night. Mead is principal at Cape Henlopen High school, a position he has held since January, 1988.

"Fifty-four applications were received and Ron Mead was selected because of his experience, dedication, and leadership ability," said superintendent Joe Piasecki.

"We expect that Ron and his family will fit into the community well and will be a real asset to the Chelsea School District and the Chelsea community."

It will be something of a homecoming for the Mead family. Mead was a math teacher and coach at Ring Lardner Junior High in Niles and held the same position at DeWitt High school. He first entered administration at DeWitt High school, where he served as assistant principal and athletic director from 1979-85. For two years, from 1985-87, he was principal at Montabella High school in Edmore, a town near Piasecki's previous home of Breckenridge.

Mead earned his master's degree at Michigan State University in 1979 and his Ed.S. degree from MSU in 1987. His bachelor's degree is from Adrian College.

Mead was one of three finalists for the Chelsea position. Piasecki traveled extensively to talk to candidates' colleagues and others before a decision was made.

"This is an extremely important position," Piasecki said.

"The high school principal is the most visible of all four principals and it was important to be careful to find the right person."

Mead is married and has two children. According to his resume, he enjoys camping, traveling, home remodeling, and gardening. The Meads will live within the school district.

Mead's first-year, pro-rated salary will be $53,000.

Parade, Game Highlight Homecoming Festivities

A parade sponsored by the Key Club will highlight Chelsea High school's annual homecoming festivities this Friday.

The parade will cap a week of events that includes theme dress-up days, lunch and after-school events, the crowning of the homecoming queen at half-time, a dance, and Friday night's football game with the Lincoln Rallies.

Friday's parade will start at 5:30 p.m. in the Municipal Parking Lot, turn down Main St., and end at the high school via Washington St.

The parade will feature floats created by various high school groups, the pep band, and football players riding in the back of trucks. The homecoming queen candidates will also ride in convertibles supplied by local dealerships, businesses and individuals.

DNR Rules Delay Start of Sewer Project

The village's plans to build a sanitary sewer force main on Freer Rd. have been delayed by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

DNR is requiring an engineer's analysis of the project and detailed construction plans before they issue a permit.

According to village manager Robert Stalker, DNR's requirements will delay the project until later this fall and increase costs by about $3,000.

DNR requires such information on projects valued at more than $10,000. The village estimates the force main project at about $30,000 using village labor.

and the groups they represent, include: Vicki Niethammer, cheerleaders; Allison Brown, basketball; Jill Nowatzke, swimming; Kim Roberts, cross country; Sheri Stephens, football; Dana Durst, golf; Nicole Pontz, tennis; Christine McLaughlin, freshman class; Becky Vetter, sophomore class; Sarah Musolf, junior class; and Debbie Webb, senior class.

The remaining dress-up themes include: strange shoes, Wednesday, totes, Thursday, and school spirit, Friday. Monday was beach attire and Tuesday was flower child.

Remaining lunch events include grape catching, Wednesday, chocolate chip stuffing, Thursday, and pie-eating, Friday.

Powder puff soccer will be featured after school on Thursday, along with a water balloon toss, and tug of war.

Friday night's dance will be a dress-up affair. Boys are being required to wear ties, dress shirts and slacks, a sport coat or sweater, and dress shoes. Jeans, tennis shoes, t-shirts, and golf shirts are forbidden. Girls are required to wear skirts and a dress blouse, or a dress. Tennis shoes and denim outfits are not allowed.

THE GRASS LAKE DEPOT as it looked earlier this century. Fire burned the old fieldstone building many years ago, and the Whistlestop Park Association is raising money to have the building restored. It would be used as community activity center.

Auction Planned To Benefit Grass Lake Depot Restoration

In the continuing effort to raise money for the restoration of the Grass Lake Depot, the Whistlestop Park Association is holding an auction this Sunday, Sept. 24 at the depot.

Auctioneer John Whelan will sell antique rocking chairs and quilts, crystal stemware, a stained glass window, a rototiller with snow blade, telescoping bicycle, custom doll house, motorcycle, Dale Fisher photographs, a Hammond organ, and a trip to the Holiday Inn in Ann Arbor, and many other items that have been donated by businesses and residents.

Once the renovation is completed, the depot will become a cultural and art exhibit center, an activity center, and a general focal point of the village.

Association member Rebecca Pavy reports that about $40,000 has been raised to date, not including a matching grant from the township (which has caused some local controversy) and a $50,000 Michigan Equity Program grant.

In addition, local building contractors are donating their talents to the project.

"Without them, this project wouldn't be possible," Pavy said.

The group also took a cue from the Chelsea depot renovation effort and has decided to sell engraved bricks that will ultimately be used in a sidewalk.

Some work on the project has already been completed, including window framing and plumbing and heating ductwork. Money raised from the auction will be used for a new roof.

Items will be available for viewing at noon and the bidding will begin at 2 p.m.

Several local artists exhibited their wares at the Country Craft and Folk Art Show. Pat Russell who made and sold Elizabethan herbs had been growing and working with herbs all of her life, but had only been doing it commercially for the past few years. Pat learned her trade by doing extensive research into early gardens and herbal uses during the 18th century and the Victorian ages.

The elder citizens of the hamlet of Jerusalem gathered down by Mill Creek, reached into their living memories and told many tales of the people who lived and died there. The occasion was the dedication of a historical marker commemorating the site of the dam and mills, established in 1831, which spawned and powered the economy of the all but vanished hamlet called Jerusalem.

A Chelsea area family combined its talents in creating a new science fiction role-playing game, "Traders of the Far Reach." Winton Riffe and son Wade, a 14-year-old freshman at Chelsea High school, wrote and illustrated the game and Myrie Riffe did the graphics, layout and covers. "Traders" is a galactic game of shipping and trading, exploration and development.

A retired school teacher, Ida taught in the one-room country school in Milan where both her mother and grandmother taught. She also taught in North Dakota, Pelston and Detroit. Ida said that she handled discipline by turning it over to the students, who couldn't stand disorder. Ida had a quiet celebration with her nephew, Howard Chapman of Bloomfield Hills, other relatives and friends.

State Leaders Await Details
Of U.S. Drug Plan

State leaders expressed general support for anti-drug strategies outlined by President Bush, while awaiting details on how specific proposals will be financed. In the meantime, plans are underway for a "united, bipartisan" effort in the state Senate this fall on several bills to get at the drug traffic.

And, Senate Majority Leader John Engler (R-Mt. Pleasant), whose call for a "war" on drugs includes state repeal of local ordinances providing small fines for marijuana use, said he will seek to keep the bills out of the control of Rep. Perry Bullard (D-Ann Arbor), who he called "the only stumbling block remaining in the entire Legislature."

Governor James J. Blanchard said he liked the co-ordinated approach taken by Bush, who outlined a $7.9 billion federal drug plan, and called for prompt action in Michigan on anti-crime proposals he has already made.

Those include life in prison without parole for repeat violent offenders, multi-county grand juries, anti-racketeering laws and wiretapping in drug cases.

The state anti-drug legislation, much of it reflected in a report this week by Drug Agencies director Don Reisig, complements several aspects of the Bush approach, which includes increased police efforts, stiffer sentences, creating more federal prison space, state actions against driver's licenses of drug offenders, adding funds for treatment programs for addicts and sending increased military and economic aid to countries growing most of the cocaine sold in the U.S.

The Bush plan represents a $2.2 billion increase in anti-drug spending, although most of that would not be spent until later years.

Blanchard said he hopes the President's proposals will lead to increases in drug education, treatment for drug abuse, and law enforcement resources.

"It's too early to tell how much these proposals will help, but we welcome an increased federal commitment—however modest—in these areas," he said.

Reisig said he was "pleased with the wide range of programming" put forth on the issue by the president, but he wanted to wait and see exactly how much money will be put in various programs before he judged Bush's proposals.

He also is hoping for quick action by Congress to pass key parts of the package: "I'd far rather see money available to us by Oct. 1 than have the debate go on and not have the money available until June 1," Reisig said.

Engler, who went to Washington for a briefing on the president's drug strategy, said he supports so-called "get tough" measures recommended by both Reisig and Bush because "there are no simple tactics to solve this problem. We are obligated to look at all facets."

He added that people may have to accept some reductions in individual civil liberties. "You have to understand the rules of the game, and the game has changed. It's no longer 'cool' to use drugs," Engler said.

One level Engler is looking to start with is the so-called "casual" drug user. He said the state should "move promptly" to override several local drug statutes that only call for relatively small fines for such things as smoking marijuana in public.

The new initiatives, if enacted, would call for an increase in state spending.

Engler was vague about coming up with more funds, saying "We'll review that." But he did rule out a tax increase: "That isn't the answer."

The governor said the money for the new federal initiatives should come from the defense budget.

"If there are budget problems in terms of where they get the money, I'd suggest they transfer some of the military budget to this effort. The war against drugs is just as important as the effort to keep peace throughout the world," he said.

Engler said that 12 of the 13 recommendations Reisig made in his report to the governor have been drafted in bill form, and he will meet with Reisig to co-ordinate strategy for the legislation when the Legislature returns later this month.

And he will also meet with House Speaker Lewis Dodak (D-Montrose) to discuss re-routing the bills from the House Judiciary Committee, headed by Bullard.

Bullard opposes measures such as wiretapping, anti-racketeering laws (RICO) and the "no-knock" warrant raids, all of which have been introduced in the Senate and recommended by Reisig to fight drugs.

"He's a conscientious objector in

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb told the fellows at the country-store Saturday night that he took some comfort from Forbes magazine's recent annual ranking of the world's richest people. He said he didn't find a savings and loan president anywhere on the list. They might have it well hid and they ain't likely to brag about it if they have, Zeke said, but he wants to think not all that $166 billion is going down rat holes.

Ed Doolittle took instant exception. In the first place, he said, Zeke don't know nothing about finance high or low and he gits that mixed up. In the second place, it ain't the S&L presidents that made off with the money in the first place. What to look fer, Ed said, are names of big operators that borrowed big. You put a S&L board hot to do business with a slick talker just as hot to git in on a risky deal with a fast and fat return, Ed said, you crank in farm failures, and oil gluts and you got a formula fer failure.

The fact is, Ed went on, the Federal Government guarantees depositors their money is safe, and the Government can't go back on its word. The hard and bitter reminder that all American taxpayers git from the S&L bailout, he said, is that we are the Government. And the hole idee behind insurance is to ease the pain by spreading it around.

Actual, Democrat Clem Webster said, there is somepun positive in the HUD mess, the S&L salvation plan, the pension plan raids and who knows what's next from the Rip Van Reagan years. It is that while we were lamenting em we missed the new national debt limit put in place recent. Right before members of Congress took August off and took off fer cool faraway places at Government expense they voted the debt past $3 trillion so the Government wouldn't shut down while they were out of the country. Clem had saw where interest on this debt fer the year that begins with October will be $176.9 billion, more than we'll pump into the savings and loans over the next 10 years.

Bug Hookum allowed that he had read the same magazine piece and he took note that six of the 10 richest are Japanese. The richest of the rich must feel bad about the balance of trade between our countries, Bug went on, because he got that way buying and selling American real estate with money he made selling Japanese electronics to Americans. The way he figgers, Bug said, is that he's putting back what he took out and turning a tidy profit in the bargain.

Zeke picked up on the real estate turnover. He had saw where American golf courses are primary Japanese targets. Folks over there are wild about golf, he said, but land is so scarce they play on top of buildings, with driving ranges stacked five high. Zeke had read where Tokyo country club memberships are so high it's cheaper fer golfers to fly back and forth to play on our public courses. When a country club course goes on the market here the Japanese are the first with the most, was Zeke's words.

Practical speaking, Zeke went on, American home prices are going the way of Japanese country club dues, so an idee out of California makes sense. Tie S&L rescue to low-interest loans to young people trying to buy their first homes. With the kind of public money going in, Zeke said, it ain't to much to tie S&L loans to developers that will help young families with home down payments.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew

Lima Extension Homemakers Group Fall Round-Up Held

Jumping mud puddles, with umbrellas in hand, the Lima Extension Homemakers held their September meeting at Lima Town Hall at 10:30 Wednesday, Sept. 13. As the 12 members and one guest enjoyed cookies and coffee provided by vice-chairman Janet McCalla, she and secretary-treasurer Donna Bradbury carried out the planning meeting for the year.

While paying dues, 12 members also paid for the Fall Rally Luncheon to be held in Dexter, Sept. 20.

This group decided, after considerable discussion, to take part in the County Extension, Dec. 2 bazaar and "white elephant" sale to be held at the Extension office basement on the corner of Washtenaw and Hogback Rds. Charlotte Ingalls offered fabric for home-made bazaar items. Bake goods also were talked about as a good item for a Christmas bazaar.

Charlotte will be taking the lesson titled "Do You Know Where Your Family Papers Are?" to be presented at the Oct. 11 meeting at the home of Fran Coy. The meeting was adjourned and members traveled on to the Pinckney Inn for a luncheon.

Case of Eastern Equine Encephalomyelitis Confirmed

Eastern Equine Encephalomyelitis, commonly called sleeping sickness, has been confirmed in a horse from southern Michigan by the Animal Health Diagnostic Laboratory (AHDL) at Michigan State University, according to Dr. H. Michael Chadcock, state veterinarian and director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA) Animal Industry Division.

"Eastern Equine Encephalomyelitis (EEE) viruses may cause acute encephalitis in horses and humans. And, in horses the fatality rate often reaches 90 to 95 percent," Chadcock said. Chadcock recommends that horse owners visit with their veterinarians concerning a vaccination program.

The illness is characterized by fever, signs of severe incoordination, stumbling, thrashing, and death.

EEE usually occurs in late summer and early fall because the virus is transmitted through fresh-water swamp mosquitos and several species of birds, Chadcock said.

In birds, the virus produces a period of high-virus blood which lasts from three to five days. If a mosquito drinks blood from an infected bird during this period, it may become infected.

Once infected, mosquitos remain infected for life. Birds, on the other hand, produce an antibody which eliminates the virus after a few days.

Although the virus can reproduce in mosquitos and birds, it does not kill or cause sickness in either one.

"Mosquitos which feed on birds and mammals are responsible for transmitting the disease to horses and humans. Horses do not develop blood viruses high enough to infect mosquitos and are not a source of the disease for humans or other horses. Therefore, horses and humans are considered dead-end hosts and are not part of the transmission cycle," Chadcock said.

Anyone with questions or wanting additional information, may contact Chadcock at MDA's Animal Industry Division, (517) 373-1077.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Reference is made to your publication of Aug. 18, 1989, captioned: "Vandals Deface Flag on Rock."

In the 1880's or 1890's either my great-aunt Jennie Parker and her husband, Bernard Parker, or great-aunt Josie Watts and her husband, Dan Watts, lived at this address and the couple which resided there had the field stone placed in their front yard and painted the United States flag thereon.

Aunts Jose and Jennie were daughters of Samuel G. Ives, an early pioneer of Chelsea and Stockbridge.

Grandfather Samuel Ives had homesteaded 80 acres at the farm named Hickory Ridge on the Stockbridge-Gregory Rd., east of Stockbridge about three to five miles. He built or had built the present brick house on the south side of the road, circa 1847. The original homestead was north of the road probably about 1/4th mile and he had walked, circa 1835, from Lansing, N.Y., to the homestead site, made his claim, built a log house, returned by foot to Lansing, N.Y., married his fiancée, Mary Heddon and returned to the homestead by ox cart.

Grandfather was a great farmer, was a fastidious savor, acquired probably about a section of land in juxtaposition with his original site, a local and state political leader (Chelsea village president), captain of the local Michigan guard, a financier and leader in the Methodist Episcopal church and other local social organizations, raised to maturity a splendid family some of whom became renowned in Michigan pioneer history, moved to Chelsea and built the house formerly occupied by the Foster family (Robert Foster's father—a plumber) on the southwest corner of Jefferson and Madison Sts. Across the street, probably the "Beach" house, and next door where the painted flag stone is, two of his daughters lived.

Uncle Bernard Parker was a butcher or meat market merchant. They had a big St. Bernard dog. Aunt Jennie would write a note telling Uncle Bernard what meat she wanted for dinner, put it in a basket which the dog grasped in his mouth, and send the dog with the basketed message to the butcher shop. Uncle Bernard would wrap the ordered meat and place it in the basket and tell the dog to take it to Aunt Jennie. The meat, though tempting, was never molested!

Both great-uncles died relatively young. Uncle Bernard died of cancer. Aunt Josie and Uncle Dan moved to Mason, where Aunt Josie was the church organist at the Methodist church for more than 50 years. Aunt Jennie and Uncle Bernard moved to Lansing, Mich. I remember hearing my father, Wirt G. Ives, tell these stories many times.

For local historical interest, I have related this information to you and your readers if you desire to include it in a future edition of "The Standard."

To the Editor,

What follows are quotes from Abraham Lincoln (A.L.) that seem appropriate in regard to information contained in a Friday, Sept. 8, Ann Arbor News article written by Marianne Rzepka (M.R.).

M.R.: "Dexter township, faced with an election that could sink a proposed sewage system for Portage Lake, may be looking at another way to finance the project through the county, according to township supervisor James Drolett. But that could only further enrage opponents of the system who forced the election."

A.L.: "Fellow citizens, we cannot escape history. We will be remembered in spite of ourselves. No personal significance or insignificance can spare one or another of us. The fiery trial through which we pass will light us down in honor or dishonor to the latest generation."

M.R.: "Earlier this week, Dexter township officials set an election date of Nov. 7 for residents to vote on whether the township can pledge its 'full faith and credit' behind bonds to build the wastewater system."

A.L.: "Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap; let it be taught in schools, in planted the seeds of despotism at your own doors."

M.R.: Although Drolett said he was confident the proposed system would be approved, he said proponents faced the prospect of trying to convince residents they wouldn't have to pay for the system, but still motivate them to go to the polls."

A.L.: "Let us faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us dare to do our duty as we understand it."

"These are not, however, the days of miracles, and I suppose it will be granted that I am not to expect a direct revelation. I must study the plain physical facts of the case, ascertain what is possible, and learn what appears to be wise and right."

M.R.: "I've had people say, 'If it doesn't affect me, I won't even vote,' he said."

A.L.: "I have said very many times that no man believed more than I in the principle of self-government; that it lies at the bottom of all my ideas of just government from beginning to end." "... that his nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Gregg Magnuson.

Bond Issue

The lack of a stage has severely limited the drama, debate, and forensics programs, and band and choir performances are limited to the gym and must be scheduled around other events, the district says. Portable, handmade stages must be built for play performances, which must be torn down daily and quickly wear out. There is no community facility for large group activities.

Steven Leith Chosen for Summer Chemistry Seminar at Hope College

Steven S. Leith, a teacher at Chelsea High school, is one of 46 high school chemistry teachers selected for participation in a five-week summer project at Hope College in Holland, Mich.

The program began Monday, June 26, and was attended by participants from 20 states and Costa Rica.

Purpose of the five-week program, which was sponsored through a grant from the National Science Foundation (NSF), was to provide recognition and support of high school chemistry teachers who have been selected by their school systems to teach first-year honors, second-year or Advanced Placement (AP) chemistry courses. The project had a strong emphasis on laboratory work and equipped participants with enhanced subject matter background related to the chemistry experiments.

"The teachers gained the ability to alter their laboratory programs and thus make their courses more stimulating to the students that they teach," said Dr. Eugene Jekel, director of the summer project and the Drs. Edward A. and Elizabeth Hofma, professor of chemistry at Hope College. "The teachers were also given updates in the field of chemistry education through attending the five-week program."

Jekel added that the opportunity to interact with colleagues was another advantage of the program. "There's a benefit for the high school teachers in interacting with their peers from all over the country—there's often an excellent information exchange among them," Jekel said.

Much of the instruction was done by the Hope chemistry faculty. Leith, having successfully completed the program, will be awarded graduate credit in chemistry.

Hope College is a four-year liberal arts college with an enrollment of 2,781 students. The college is affiliated with the Reformed Church in America.

STEVE LEITH, chemistry teacher at Chelsea High school, was chosen to participate in a five-week summer project at Hope College in Holland.

Ladies VFW Auxiliary Notes

The Ladies Auxiliary to Chelsea Post No. 4076 Veterans of Foreign Wars held their regular monthly meeting Monday, Sept. 11, with 11 members in attendance.

Reports were given on the MIA-POW parade and program held in Stockbridge on Sept. 9 and on the Sixth District meeting and school of instruction held at Auxiliary No. 1564 in Adrian, Sunday, Sept. 10. Attending the district meeting were Auxiliary members Lois Speer, Gertrude O'Dell and Eulahlee Packard. Hospital chairman Lucy Platt reported on the hospital party planned for October at Ypsilanti State Hospital, date to be announced later. She also reported on weekly volunteers and Friday morning treats on Seven-East at Ann Arbor VA Hospital. Mrs. Platt also reported on the Department cancer program, stating the Key pins for 1989-90 are moving very well. Proceeds are used for cancer research.

Two memorials were allowed in memory of auxiliary members' parents, who died recently. One went to the Chelsea Fire Department and one was sent to a Lutheran church at Sault St. Marie.

A total of 24 class room flags were ordered and will be presented in the near future to Chelsea schools.

The national president, Alice Hutto, will make her official visit to Michigan at the Pow-Wow being held at Boyne Mountain on Sept. 29-30 and Oct. 1.

The next auxiliary meeting will be Oct. 9. This will be the annual auxiliary inspection by the sixth district president. All officers and chairmen are requested to be present early, and bring their notebooks.

umn": Dresses for school girls are quite attractive this season. Plaid wools and corduroys are brightened by white collars and cuffs. Some cuffs resemble those on men's shirts and are buttoned. The men's collars may be of the Peter Pan type and may be plain or edged with laced.

Principal Charles Lane announced that Dave Wood, Chelsea High school senior, has been named a semi-finalist in the 1985-86 Merit Scholarship Competition. He is among the highest-scoring students in the state of Michigan on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, administered last March in more than 17,000 schools nation-wide. More than 14,000 semi-finalists were appointed across the country.

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Sept. 22, 1951—

Village President Maxwell G Sweet bought the first candy bar in a pre-campaign sale made by Olive Ann Reddeman, Chelsea High school band president. Official "kick-off" for a two-week campaign to raise from $500 to $800 for band uniforms and equipment is scheduled for tomorrow. Junior and senior high school band members will be divided into eight teams and each team will be assigned to a district for door-to-door sales the first week of the drive. The second week will find the youthful salespeople pushing sales at local factories and business places. The quarter-pound chocolate and almond bars, selling for 50 cents each, are expected to prove so popular that there will be many repeat sales.

Don Johnson, Washtenaw county agricultural agent, said this week that a complete list of awards at the State 4-H Show at Michigan State University the last week in August will not be available for several weeks. However, he did announce that two Chelsea area girls, Olive Ann Reddeman and Marlene Kuhl, had won first place in clothing demonstration and are being awarded a trip to Washington D.C., the second week in October. Johnson also said that Washtenaw county placed first in herdsmanhip in swine and sheep at the state show.

Chelsea Manufacturing Corp., which had been shut down the past three weeks because of the strike at International Harvester Co., started full production yesterday following settlement of the strike, according to an announcement by Louis M. Benkert, president of the local firm. Shipping of stored stock began Tuesday night. The shutdown affected 30 employees of the Chelsea plant where the major portion of manufactured output is for International Harvester.

Friday evening Dexter and Chelsea clashed head-on in this year's renewal of their traditional rivalry with Dexter pushing over a fourth quarter touchdown to win the close game. Dexter, led by Mike O'Malley, scored with about three minutes gone in the fourth quarter to cap a 60-yard march. O'Malley scored from the ten. Jack Pidd added the extra point. The Bulldogs were plagued throughout the game by their own mistakes. They were detected off sides six times during the game. These penalties, plus one for clipping, and one for illegal use of the hands, nullified a fair display of offensive power.

QUOTES

NOTES

DONALD A. COLE, Director

"Man should trust in God as if God did all, and yet labor as earnestly as if he himself did all . . ."

—Thomas Chalmers

Chalmers, a Scottish clergyman of the early 19th century, has expressed a philosophy we hear approximated as "God helps those who help themselves."

A positive interpretation might be to trust that God will not assign us tasks beyond our ability and strength; then to use our skills to perform those tasks diligently. Trust in God should never replace effort and those that "help themselves" do seem to get more accomplished.

Many people achieve peace of mind by specifying the details of their own funeral services, including financial aspects, well in advance of need. We are always available to discuss the possible benefits of such pre-planning with you.

CROP Walk Sets Goal of $7,500 for Hunger Relief

Please Notify Us In Advance of Any Change in Address

Two new features have been added to this year's Chelsea Community CROP Walk, scheduled for 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 8. The Holmes "boys," Dudley, Jr., Howdie and Bill, have agreed to lead the walk from its starting point at St. Paul United Church of Christ, Chelsea Milling Co., which produces the Jiffy baking mixes used all over the world, is owned by the Holmes family.

A second feature is the special way Chelsea's Cub Scouts will have to be involved. The Chelsea Scouts' families who are participating in the annual Fall Cub Scout Color Hike, scheduled at Camp Munhake on the same day, may choose to have that hike do double duty by collecting CROP pledges for that route, instead of the official route mapped out through the village.

CROP walks, held in many communities, are a project of Church World Service. They raise awareness and money for world hunger relief. Chairpersons in seven area churches are busy recruiting walkers from their congregations. Individuals may also sign on as walkers by contacting the Rev. Sondra Wilboe of North Lake UMC, at 475-7589.

This is the second year Chelsea will participate, and the goal is 200 walkers. Each walker will be soliciting monetary pledges from friends and neighbors for each kilometer (up to 10 K) they walk. Last year, 150 walkers raised over $5,000, and this year's goal is to increase that amount to $7,500. 15%—$1,125 if the goal is met—will be contributed to Chelsea Faith In Action, for use locally. The remainder of what is raised will be used in CWS hunger relief projects, mostly in third world countries.

Party Planned For Middle School Teens

The Recreation Group of Chelsea Together has turned its attention to the social and entertainment needs of the Beach Middle school teens of Chelsea.

On Saturday afternoon, Sept. 23 a party will be held for middle school-aged teens at Chelsea Lanes. In addition to dancing, the teens will be able to bowl and to play video games from 2 to 5 p.m.

Ed Greenleaf, proprietor of Chelsea Lanes, has donated the use of his facilities. Refreshments, consisting of pop and hot dogs, will be available during the event, free of charge.

Assisting a group of concerned parents to chaperone and to act as clean-up crew will be members of the new teen group, Chelsea Area Teens.

Everyone is looking forward to an event as successful as the Teen Dance held in August.

the war on drugs," Engler said. "I call on the Speaker to come up with an alternative committee to assure their passage. I imagine he'll (Dodak) have the governor's support for re-routing those bills."

The suggestion did not sit well with Dodak, who said Bullard is not an obstructionist. "I've never advised John Engler on the Senate committee structure, and he shouldn't be giving me advice on the House committee structure. I hope John Engler nor anyone else is playing politics with this issue, because the drug problem must be solved by a bipartisan effort," he said.

Jon Hansen, Bullard's legislative aide, was outraged by Engler's suggestion, calling it "election year opportunism." Engler has created an exploratory committee to look at running for governor next year.

Hansen said the Judiciary Committee will look at the legislation, but said Bullard believes the long-term answer to solving the drug problem is increased funding for education and treatment, along with providing an economic development base in urban areas which are hit hardest by drugs.

STOP HEATING THE TREE TOPS

Are you wasting energy dollars? Ordinary furnaces are only about 60% efficient, so nearly half your money goes right up the chimney. Why pay to melt snow? Amana's Air Command 90™ delivers 90% efficiency.

ADVANCED TECHNOLOGY CUTS HEATING BILLS
Air flows across the entire surface of the tubular stainless steel heat exchanger. Then, flue gases that normally leave the house at high temperatures pass through the Air Command's recuperative coil, where even more heat is captured. It's this kind of high-efficiency that makes the Amana Air Command 90 a big money saver.

If you want to heat your home for less, choose the Amana Air Command 90.

EDUCATION RESEARCH

Prepared by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP), Reston, Va.

★ Personalized Education Urged for Schools . . .

"Principals across this nation are accepting greater responsibility for developing the instructional programs in our schools," reported Scott Thomson, executive director, National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP).

To help them meet this responsibility NASSP has mailed Organizing for Learning: Toward the 21st Century to principals and assistant principals across the country. The report outlines several options for high quality instruction.

"Clearly, there's no single correct approach for curriculum and instruction," said Herbert J. Walberg, one of the book's authors and a professor at the University of Illinois at Chicago. "Our attempt is to offer a potpourri—a sampling of curriculum ideas that will meet future needs. They range from what could be called traditional, to state-of-the-art, to futuristic."

One of those ideas centers on personalized education.

"American schools are generally successful," wrote Dr. James W. Keefe, NASSP's director of research, in a chapter on that topic. "However, they are not always helpful and supportive for all students. Schools are not organized for personalization. They are geared to crowds."

Students who need considerable structure may be served well in a school featuring large groups and stringent practices. However, those needing flexibility are disadvantaged, according to Keefe.

"A single approach to instruction, whether traditional or contemporary, simply does not do the job," he indicated.

A personalized education approach is geared to the individual learner.

"Readiness and incentive, rate of learning, preferred methodology and content, all vary widely from person to person," Keefe wrote. "Every learner has unique abilities, experiential background, and learning styles. No two learners are necessarily ready to learn at the same time or to the same degree. Learning for each individual is, to an extent, unique."

He urged that when using a personalized approach, schools should accept students where they are intellectually, socially, emotionally, and physically, and they should help them to progress at their own rates and at an optimal level for their capabilities.

"To work, a personalized approach must be given a chance," Keefe urged. "It must have the support of teachers, administrators, parents, and politicians. And it must be given time to take root and to grow in classrooms and schools. Personalized education is a truly modern response to the need for a systematic renewal of schooling. It should become our next serious goal for American education."

In a survey conducted by the National Employer-Supported Child Care Project, published in 1984, 90 percent of the 178 companies responding said that the child care service their business offered had improved employee morale, 85 percent said their ability to recruit had been affected positively, and 85 percent noted more positive public relations, according to the U. S. Labor Department.

CHELSEA ADULT EDUCATION held a reunion last Saturday for every graduate in the 11 years of the program. More than 300 adults have finished their high school education in the program, sponsored by the Community Education Department. The program is directed by Jackie Rogers, front. Seated, from left, are Jim Scruggs, Lottie Curtis, Rose Burkes, Opal McNamara, Jan O'Dell, and Alecia Swanter. In the second row, from left, are teachers Roberta Kemp, Dee Dee Hurst, Elsie Swanberg, Mary Besso, Anne

Pilots Walk Away From Mid-Air Crash

A Skybold Biplane flown by Ted Cheevers and an Aeromaster Biplane flown by Tim Sullivan crashed while performing stunt maneuvers near Pierce Rd. on Sunday.

Cheevers was coming out of an outside loop and Sullivan was doing a snap roll when the two planes collided and went plummeting to the ground.

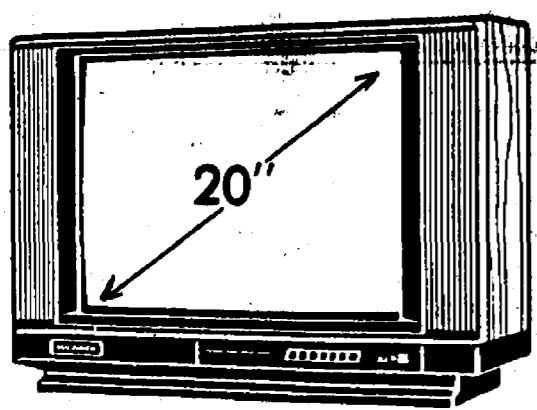

Fortunately, both men were operating their model planes from a safe distance and the only thing hurt were their egos.

Cheevers and Sullivan are members of the Chelsea Wild Goose Flyers, a local model airplane club. The planes were radio-controlled sport aviation models.

A survey of 8,121 workers in Oregon, conducted by Portland State University, found that the fathers and mothers whose children cared for themselves were the workers most affected on the job by missed days, lateness, interruptions, and early departures, according to the U.S. Labor Department. In fact, the highest absenteeism rate for all employees was for men whose children were in self-care.

Lioness Members Enjoy Meeting on Interior Design

Chelsea Lioness met Monday evening, Sept. 11 at Merkel's Home Furnishings Store to hear about interior design. Mary Louise Fishbach talked about different design styles, the colors popular in each as well as floor and window treatments. The group members appreciated her insights.

Two new members, Vickie Lawrence, and Anne Lightfoot, were installed and warmly welcomed.

Further planning was done for the annual haunted house. It will be held Oct. 27-28 at the UAW hall this year.

The next Lioness meeting will be Oct. 9.

School Board OKs Bid for Extension Of Parking Lot

Chelsea Board of Education Monday night approved a bid of $28,203.25 from Klink Excavating for the extension of the North school parking lot.

Work is likely to start as early as next week, according to superintendent Joe Plasecki.

"This should correct what has been a problem for some time," Plasecki said.

The North school parking lot has a single drive, which functions as both an entrance and an exit. Children are often dropped off there, which forces a driver to either back up or pull forward past another vehicle and turn around.

The lot will be extended south to allow a u-shaped drive to be constructed, with parking in the middle of the lot. It will also involve the construction of some curb and sidewalk.

"There will be all kinds of protections so the work does not conflict with all the things that go on at an elementary school," Plasecki said.

Money for the project comes from the district's maintenance millage.

In other board news, Beach Middle school gym teacher Ann Schaffner was approved as a part-time swimming teacher so that Dave Jolly could assume the position of pool director.

Schaffner's position is a 3/8 position, which makes her just short of full-time.

The board approved a request by the Washtenaw County Drain Commission for a right of way on the west side of South school. That will allow the county to clean out a storm drain necessary for run-off from the Bridgetown Condominium project.

Finally, the board approved a Sunday, Oct. 15 performance by The Contemporaries. Sunday performances require board approval.

Homecoming Parade Set For Friday

Chelsea High School Key Club, in association with other groups, has come up with an idea that we hope will unite the entire community. This idea consists of a parade for the Homecoming celebrations Friday evening.

Students of Chelsea High feel they have been cheated out of an experience by never seeing a parade during their high school careers. Well students, here's to our school.

The parade route starts at the Municipal Parking area, then to E. Middle St., only to turn onto Main St.

From Main the parade will travel to Park St., to Madison, to Washington St. and then end in the high school parking lot. The parade will begin sharply at 5:30 so they can avoid some traffic and be able to go straight to the game afterwards.

Last year's queen will ride in front of the parade. This year's candidates will follow, also in convertibles. Some of the classes, groups, and associations plan to enter floats (being pick-up trucks with students in the back and decorated) in the parade. The football players will ride in the parade along with the high school pep band.

The Key Club would appreciate all the help they can get! They aren't just doing this for themselves, but for the town. They believe that this parade will generate spirit and confidence in the team. Please, show up and encourage our boys to a victory!

There will be a dance for the students in the high school cafeteria after the game.

Webster Fall Festival To Feature Magician, Clown Mark Friesen

The Webster Fall Festival to be held on Sept. 23 from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the four corners of Webster Church and Farrell Rds. in Webster township will once again feature the talents of Marconi Friesen, clown extraordinaire, as a part of its continuous entertainment program.

Marconi, more widely known as Webster township resident Mark Friesen, playwright, actor, farmer and student, will delight festival goers with his own special brand of humor.

Marconi's eye catching face paint is designed to accentuate the contours of his face and make the eyes, nose and mouth readily visible. Mark's oversized clothing and combination of bright colors make him wondrous to small children.

Marconi the clown grew out of his originator's interest in juggling, unicycling and pantomime, and came to his current form when Mark attended the Ringling Bros. Barnum and Bailey Clown School in Venice, Fla., in 1979. For the following year he was employed by the Clyde Beatty-Cole Brothers Circus as a professional clown.

The entertainment that Mark provides annually at the Webster Fall Festival differs from traditional clowning-pantomime in that Marconi also entertains as a stand-up comedian. Visitors will want to look, shake hands and listen to a very entertaining man.

The festival, sponsored by the Webster United Church of Christ and the Webster Historical Society, will also include an antique/rummage sale, hayrides, old-time games and crafts for young folk, petting zoo, craft demonstrations, art exhibit and a display of antique farm equipment. Luncheon is available from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and the traditional Pig Roast will take place from 5 until 7 p.m.

New 4-H Club Organized in Chelsea Area Development Council Plans Open House

In an effort to expose our children to new experiences and opportunities a new 4-H Club called "Critters and Crafts," has been started. This club will be open to children of all abilities, ages five and up. It is hoped that club members will explore many different areas, some of which are gardening, needlework, nature, woodworking, assorted crafts, photography, collections, goats, rabbits, poultry and small animals such as guinea pigs, hamsters and gerbils. What is done will be determined by each child's interest and ability.

There are no set dues for 4-H, the members of each club decide how much if any will be required.

Some of the over-all goals for the club are to meet new people, encourage family participation and help the children develop their sense of responsibility and self esteem and have fun while doing it!

Anyone interested in learning more about "Critters and Crafts" is urged to attend the first meeting with your child/children, on Sept. 30 at 7 p.m. at the home of Martha Cieglo.

For more information call Martha A. Cieglo at 475-7855.

Washtenaw Development Council (WDC), is holding its seventh annual Open House on Oct. 11, from 4 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., at the newly built Radisson Resort Hotel in Ypsilanti township.

The Open House provides an excellent opportunity for local businesses who are interested in expanding, to meet the WDC staff and become familiar with their services. The reception is equally as advantageous for businesses who are not already located in the county but are interested in relocating.

The reception features the Washtenaw County Developer's Showcase. Developers and Realtors will be displaying models, marketing materials and brochures of their projects. The WDC expects a large turnout. Guests will include community, county and state government representatives and members of the local business community.

WDC is a non-profit, public/private corporation established to attract desirable new business and industry to Washtenaw county. The WDC also offers retention and expansion services to existing county businesses. The WDC's goal is controlled economic growth and increased employment opportunities through attraction and expansion of the business industry.

Businesses who are interested in expanding or relocating within Washtenaw county may contact the Washtenaw Development Council at (313) 761-9317 to receive an invitation. These requests will be considered on a first come, first served basis. Admission will be by invitation only.

Record Net Farm Income Forecast

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says 1989 net farm income will set a new record of around $48 billion to $53 billion to $790 billion.

High cash receipts which will likely be up $2 billion to $10 billion this year will more than offset the declines in government payments to farmers, the department said.

The state offers 470 public and private golf courses. Michigan has more 18-hole public golf courses than any other state in the U. S.

Dogs Rally But Big Reds Outscore Chelsea, 42-27

The points came in bunches for each team as the Milan Big Reds handed the Chelsea Bulldogs a 42-27 loss last Friday night in Milan.

Milan scored on their opening drive of the night and by late in the second quarter led 21-0.

Chelsea rallied to tie the game, only to see Milan running back, Jessie Walker dominate the game in the fourth quarter.

"Walker made us pay for our mistakes," said Chelsea coach Gene LaFave.

"If you miss him once, he's gone. In the second half he really gave us trouble, especially in the fourth quarter. I'll bet he picked up almost 150 yards in the fourth quarter."

Walker scored two touchdowns in the fourth period. However, perhaps his biggest play of the night came immediately after Chelsea tied the game. Milan took the kick-off and a penalty had them backed up to their 10-yard line. On the next play Walker had a big gainer off the left side to move the ball near mid-field. The run seemed to kill the Bulldog momentum.

LaFave said the Bulldog defense, dominated by sophomores and juniors, simply made too many mistakes in the form of missed assignments and missed tackles. The mistakes resulted in a 471-yard game for the Big Reds, which LaFave said was probably the highest total since he's coached Chelsea.

Walker's 280 yards (25 carries) and four touchdowns overshadowed another excellent performance by Chelsea running back Jude Quilter, who scored four times himself and ran for 170 yards on 32 carries. He also caught the longest Bulldog pass of the night.

LaFave praised the play of the Bulldog offense, especially the play of linemen Tim VanSchoick, Matt Herter, Mike Terpstra, and Craig Perry, quarterback Kyle Plank, and, of course, Quilter.

"If we had won the game I would have said we played an excellent offensive game," LaFave said.

"Offensively we played well enough to win. We ran the ball well, Kyle threw the ball effectively, and we're starting to give the ball to Rick Westcott a little more. Westcott had a 5.2 yard average carry. He's a good halfback who's going to get better. He and Jude are beginning to complement each other well."

The Bulldogs gained 283 total yards, including 41 by Westcott and 72 yards in the air on 49 passing by Plank.

However, defensively, LaFave said, it's "back to square one."

"We'll teach it again from the beginning," LaFave said.

"To be good, we have to play good defense. We have a lot of green kids, and it obviously shows. Fortunately, over the next several weeks we're not going to play outstanding teams every week. They won't have the running backs who can break it for 70 yards."

Herter, at linebacker, led the Dogs with 11 tackles.

Milan opened the scoring on their first drive, moving 61 yards in eight plays. Quarterback Shawn McIntosh passed 14 yards to Kelly Schultz for the score.

The second Big Red score was set up by Chelsea's only turnover of the game. A fumble set up a 22-yard Walker touchdown on a fourth-down-and-inches play.

Milan's third score came with 5:49 in the first half after Chelsea was stopped on a fourth down and two. Walker scored from six yards out.

Chelsea finally got on the board with :48 remaining in the half. The Bulldogs took the ball 70 yards in 12 plays. A 19-yard pass over the middle to Adam Taylor and a fourth-down-and-three conversion by Westcott highlighted the drive capped by Quilter's three-yard score.

The Bulldog momentum continued in the second half as they took the kick-off and drove 70 yards in less than three minutes. Quilter scored from one-yard and made the two-point conversion.

After holding Milan on the next series, Chelsea took the ball at the Bulldog 21. Eleven plays later Quilter scored again from five yards out with 3:14 remaining in the quarter. Ron Stacy kicked the extra point, which nearly hit the cross bar.

Walker kicked into high gear from then on. He carried almost every play of the next drive, but a reverse, with Walker handing off to receiver Pat Cooper, scored the tie-breaking touchdown from 20 yards out.

After Chelsea was forced to punt, a 40-yard pass play gave Milan the ball at the Chelsea 34. Walker scored on the next play.

Despite the quick scores, Chelsea had a chance to win. They drove the ball deep in Milan territory on the next drive, but a fourth down pass was tipped away with more than four minutes to go.

Walker scored on the next drive from 68 yards, and Chelsea took the kick-off and scored its final touchdown.

Chelsea hosts the Lincoln Railsplitters this Friday for homecoming. They'll be looking for their first victory of the season.

CHELSEA'S JUDE QUILTER tries to break a tackle during first half action in Milan last Friday. Quilter had 170 yards and four touchdowns.

Dog Tankers 6th At EMU Relays

Chelsea Bulldog varsity swimming team took sixth place in the 13-team Eastern Michigan University Relays last Saturday.

The Bulldog medley relay team of Melissa Thiel, Ericka Boughton, Michele Hollo, and Kelly Cross qualified for the state meet with a time of 2:03.98.

Cross also qualified for the state meet as she swam a :57.78 first leg of the 400 freestyle relay.

Other fine swims were turned in by Thiel in the 200 and 400 relays, Jennifer McEachern in the 400 relay with a time of 1:03.81, and Hollo in the 200 medley relay with a time of :35.96.

Chelsea swims state-ranked Milan on Thursday, Aug. 21. They were scheduled to take on Pinckney on the road last night.

MILAN'S JESSIE WALKER, left, had a big day for the Big Reds as he rushed for 280 yards and four touchdowns. Chelsea lost its third game in a row, 42-27.

Bulldog Cagers Rip Big Reds After Losing Big to Western

Coach Rahn Rosentreter saw the roller coaster ride continue with his Chelsea varsity basketball team last week as they lost to Jackson County Western on Tuesday, 68-46, but whipped Milan on Thursday, 62-29.

Jackson County Western, one of the state's best class B teams, battered the Bulldogs in the second half after holding a slim 32-29 half-time advantage.

"We didn't play much like a team," Rosentreter said.

"We played about one good quarter."

The second quarter turned out to be a key to the game as Chelsea missed five free throws including the front end of three one-and-one situations.

"Those free throws could have given us the lead at half-time, which might have let us look at the second half a little differently," Rosentreter said.

"But as it turned out, in the second half we stopped running our offense. Just stopped. There was no reason for it. It was disappointing that we couldn't have played better in the second half."

Colleen Scharphorn led the Bulldogs with 18 points, all on field goals. Allison Brown had 13 points, 10 on field goals. Mercedes Hammer scored four, Carrie Flintoft had three, and Shawn Losey, Tiffany Moore, Amy Thomson, and Scharme Petty each scored two.

In the Milan contest, the Bulldogs took a 20-8 first quarter lead and were never threatened.

"We didn't shoot well individually, but we played well as a team and had a good inside-outside game going," Rosentreter said.

"When they collapsed on Allison, we were able to go to Colleen or Carrie. They were so concerned about Allison early in the game and that helped."

A turning point came early as Brown's defender left the game with her second foul early in the first half. From there the Bulldogs went on a 19-3 run.

Brown paced the Bulldogs with 15 points, many of them coming off a little move in the pivot. Petty scored 13 points and grabbed eight rebounds in perhaps her best performance of the year. Flintoft scored eight points and had six rebounds, and Kristin Bohlender, in her first start, scored seven points. Christine Burg had six points, Hammer scored five, and Moore and Scharphorn had four each. "It was a lot of balance and a good team effort," Rosentreter said. The Bulldogs were 3-3 on the season and 1-0 in the Southeastern Conference after last week's play.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Grumpy, grumpy, grumpy.

A certain number of people seem to think that because I probably won't attend Chelsea High school swim meets, or golf or tennis matches means I somehow look down on those sports.

That is simply not true. Those kids work as hard and are as talented as any athlete.

Point number two. Some people apparently think that all I do is cover sports. I have to admit that it sometimes seems as though that's all I do considering the volume of material each week. But, I also cover village government, schools, police, business, and most everything else that goes on around here. I am also the primary photographer, and I spend most of Tuesday helping with the paste-up.

Point number three. Just because you're involved in a sport doesn't mean we OWE you coverage. We do the best we can with our resources, which is essentially me, and every coach who is willing to help out, which is the vast majority. The teams that receive the most coverage are generally the teams that have the greatest public following, with a few exceptions. One of those exceptions is cross country. And that's because coach Pat Clarke makes it easy and enjoyable to cover his sport. He provides as much information as I can possibly use in timely fashion.

Point number four. If you can find a newspaper that covers Chelsea sports more completely than we do, BUY IT.

On with Football Notes, as someone called this column last week.

Chelsea High school's new principal, Ron Mead, who'll be here in November, is a former football coach, which supports my theory that in order to be a successful administrator you almost always have to be a football coach first. And further, that explains...well never mind.

In fact, Mead was regional coach of the year in 1978 while at DeWitt High school.

It's also funny that one of the three finalists for the position was principal at a school where football was dropped this year due to lack of interest.

Well, Jude Quilter scored four more touchdowns Friday to bring his total to nine in three games. That's nine more than anyone else on the team has, and I doubt that anyone in the league has scored more points.

Chelsea fans have had the chance to see the two other premier running backs in the SEC, Saline's Branco Vulicevic and Milan's Jessie Walker, the last two weeks. Most of us would probably agree that Quilter is just as good a runner, and probably a better all-around offensive threat due to his return and pass-catching ability. However, Quilter probably won't be a first team all-league selection simply because he's a junior and because Milan and Saline will probably win more games. If he doesn't make it, it won't be due to lack of ability.

Friday's loss at Milan was absolutely heartbreaking. Down 21-0, the Bulldogs charged back to even the score, only to have Walker take over the game.

As lopsided as the 42-27 score was, the Bulldogs were still in the game with five minutes to go. With the score 35-21, a fourth-down pass deep in Milan territory was tipped away, and that was that. Complete that pass, score a quick touchdown, and the momentum may have shifted to Chelsea.

It was good to see junior Rick Westcott carry the ball a little more. Who knows, in time he may even score a touchdown or two. Sophomore Adam Taylor had a big catch to set up a score, another encouraging sign.

I love to watch Ron Stacy kick extra points. He usually clears the bar, but by no more than an inch or two. If I were the opposing team, I'd put a basketball player back under the upright.

Freshman runners Lisa Monti and Val Bullock are proving their success is no fluke. They are continuing to beat their teammates, as well as some of the state's best runners. They have both run well under 21 minutes and are closing in on 20 minutes on some courses. Imagine how good they could be by their senior year.

Basketball coach Rahn Rosentreter is still wondering just how good his team can be. When the girls play team basketball they are capable of beating almost anyone. The problem is, their team play has been pretty spotty so far, a lot of which can be written off to inexperience.

This is the kind of team that might finish second or third in the league but peak at the end and have a successful post-season.

This is also the first Rosentreter team I can recall, either boys or girls, where almost everyone plays at least a little in every game. His two championship teams utilized seven or eight players exclusively. By the end of the season, this team could have more depth than any team he's ever coached here.

ADAM TAYLOR tries to haul in this pass during the second half of Friday night's game in Milan. The sophomore had a big catch in the first half that set up a touchdown.

Beach School Runners Run Well in Big Invitational

Three Beach Middle school runners participated in the New Boston Invitational last Saturday, Sept. 16.

The meet included more than 120 boys and 60 girls in grades 6-8 and the course was a hilly 1.5 miles. The meet was run in pouring rain.

"They all ran well," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

Sixth grader Zac Ersten finished third over-all with a time of 7:52.

"The only two boys to beat Zac are two eighth graders from class A Monroe," Clarke said.

Eighth grader Sarah Henry took third among girls at 9:09 and classmate Emily Anderson finished 19th in 11:40.

"Sarah's time is an average of a six minute mile, which is excellent for her age," Clarke said.

The junior high runners are part of Clarke's managerial crew for the varsity cross country team. They help out with timing, handing out equipment,

Equestrian Team

Ties for Third In Milan Meet

Chelsea equestrian team took third place in a six-team meet in Milan on Saturday, Sept. 9.

The Chelsea team had the fewest competitors with five riders while other teams had as many as 16 members.

Chelsea tied with Manchester for third with 38 points. New Boston Huron ran away with the meet with 182 points. Saline was second with 53, Ann Arbor Pioneer finished with 33 points, and Belleville took sixth with 31 points.

Points are earned by placing in a class, with six points for first on down to one point for sixth place. There are 17 different classes. Each team member may enter no more than six classes, and each team may enter no more than four members in each class, which put the small Chelsea team at a disadvantage.

Members of the team are Lisa Bills, Amy Gillen, Robyn Gillen, Becky Kern, and Jill Nowatzke.

Chelsea JV Cagers Beat Milan, Whipped by Western

Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity basketball team won one and lost one in action last week at home.

On Tuesday, Sept. 12 Chelsea hosted undefeated Jackson County Western and were beaten easily, 58-30.

"It's probably been four or five years since we've been beaten that badly," said Chelsea coach Paul Terpstra.

"They outplayed us in every facet. They were quicker, stronger, and shot better."

The Bulldogs were down 10 points in the second quarter when three "crucial errors" gave Western a 32-11 half-time lead.

Jenny Bobo led Chelsea with 10 points, Sarah DeVine had six, Molly Dilworth, Heather McConeghy, and Ginny Flannery each had four points, and Theresa Hurst scored two. McConeghy and Dilworth each had six rebounds.

On Thursday, Sept. 14 Milan Big Reds fell to the Dogs, 46-31.

Chelsea outscored Milan in the second quarter, 13-2, as they were able to get some easy baskets.

"We were able to out-rebound them 40-24 which was probably the key to the game," Terpstra said.

Dilworth had her best effort of the season with a team-high 15 points and 13 rebounds. DeVine scored 14, Flannery, Michelle Beeman, and Mc-

Coneghy each scored four, Hurst and Erin Knott scored two each, and Bobo had one point.

The JVs are 2-4 on the season and 1-0 in the Southeastern Conference.

The first polo game in America was played indoors at Dickel's Riding Academy in New York City in 1876.

Girls Harriers Beat Saline, Finish Second at New Boston

Chelsea Bulldog girls cross country team whipped the Saline Hornets in their first Southeastern Conference meet of the season, 23-33.

Chelsea freshmen Lisa Monti and Val Bullock again ran a strong race to finish 1-2.

"The girls ran very well," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"Lisa Monti and Val Bullock ran a strong race and senior Kim Roberts is starting to round into form. Junior Christine Mignano ran a very consistent race and is improving daily."

Chelsea took three of the top five places and six of the top 10.

Chelsea results were: Monti, 1st, 21:20; Bullock, 2nd, 22:12; Mignano, 5th, 22:37; Roberts, 7th, 23:01; Carmen Smith, 8th, 23:02; Vicki Bullock, 10th, 23:14; Sara Brosnan, 12th, 23:38; Teddi Hauck, 13th, 23:53; Sarah Grau, 18th, 24:20; Beth Williams, 20th, 24:25; Stephanie Wagner, 21st, 24:30; Lauren Sparaco, 24th, 24:55; Tracey Wales, 33rd, 26:13; Charity Allen, 38th, 27:22; Sarah Franklin, 45th, 28:27.

"Saline is a fine team, and it was a good meet for us and a fine team effort," Clarke said.

At the 16-team New Boston Huron Invitational last Saturday, Chelsea took second place, just nine points behind Marysville, the state's top-ranked class B team.

"Our girls continue to improve despite adversity," Clarke said.

"Senior captains Sarah Grau and Kim Roberts were out ill, but our younger runners held us in. Lisa and Val both ran personal bests to finish 1-3. Carmen Smith ran her best time, and Sara Brosnan and Teddi Hauck, both running varsity for the first time, cut a minute off their personal best time. Junior Christine Mignano ran a fine time despite being ill. And senior co-captain Vicki Bullock is starting to round into form and ran her best time of the season."

Chelsea results included: Monti, 1st, 20:21; Val Bullock, 3rd, 20:54; Smith, 19th, 22:12; Mignano, 21st, 22:21; Brosnan, 23rd, 22:23; Vicki Bullock, 31st, 22:44; Hauck, 33rd, 22:50.

Marysville had 58 points to Chelsea's 67. The Bulldogs finished ahead of Southeastern Conference foes Milan and Dexter, among many others.

Hunters Should Note Deer Permit Changes

A bonus license permitting firearm deer hunters to take only an antlerless deer, which replaces the hunter's choice permit of past years, is one of the major changes in deer hunting regulations for the 1989 season.

The regular firearm deer license allows a hunter to take a buck, explains Michigan State University Extension wildlife specialist Glenn Dudderar. The $3 bonus license permits the taking of an antlerless deer in all Lower Peninsula counties except parts of Crawford, Roscommon, Otsego, Antrim, Kalkaska, Oscoda, Alcona, Iosco, Ogemaw, Gladwin, Clare, Missaukee, Lenawee, Monroe, Wayne, Oakland and Macomb. Most of the Upper Peninsula is bucks only, except for most of Iron, Dickinson, Delta and Menominee counties and part of Marquette county, which are bonus areas. An additional license to take another buck may also be purchased in any part of the state.

"If you send in your application and your fee by the Sept. 24 deadline, chances are very good to excellent that you'll receive the bonus license," Dudderar says.

The reason for the regulations changes this year is the unacceptably high numbers of deer in many areas and the threat from the herd to agriculture, motorists and itself. "The DNR wants to reduce the deer herd in many areas so that deer numbers and distribution are more compatible with human endeavors and the ability of the habitat to support them," Dudderar explains.

In 20 counties where agricultural damage has been particularly severe and the deer herd is excessively large, the DNR is also giving block bonus licenses for antlerless deer to landowners who apply for them. The landowners can then pass them along to hunters of their choice. The only requirements are that the landowner must have a history of deer damage that the DNR is aware of or that the landowner can document, and that the landowner may not sell the permits or deer taken with them. The landowner can, however, charge an access fee or lease fee.

The 20 counties are: (in DNR district 2) Iron, Dickinson, Menominee; (district 9) Oceana, Newaygo, Mecosta, Montcalm, Ionia, Kent, Muskegon, Ottawa; and (district 13) Calhoun, Jackson, Washtenaw, Lenawee, Hillsdale, Branch, Eaton, Ingham and Livingston. Landowners need to contact their district DNR biologist to request block permits. They are Jim Hammell, Crystal Falls, (906) 875-6622 in district 2; Becky Humphries, Grand Rapids, (616) 456-5071 in district 9; and Ralph Anderson, Jackson, (517) 784-3188 in district 13.

Dudderar encourages deer hunters to contact landowners now to arrange for permission to hunt antlerless deer on their land so they can apply for their bonus permits before the Sept. 24 deadline. He urges farmers who have suffered deer damage to apply for the block bonus permits in counties where they are available. In counties where individual bonus permits are available, Dudderar encourages farmers to urge their relatives, friends and neighbors to apply for bonus licenses, and to consider allowing other responsible hunters to hunt for antlerless deer on their property.

Dudderar notes that antlerless deer taken under a block bonus license can be taken in addition to any taken under the individual bonus licenses, though a hunter can still take only one deer per day. Though these rules apply to firearm deer hunters, bowhunters have their chance at an extra deer or two, also. In the Upper Peninsula, bowhunters can take a deer of either sex on their regular license and an antlerless deer on their bonus license during the December season. In the Lower Peninsula, bowhunters may take a deer of either sex on their regular license, an antlerless deer on their bonus license during December and a buck on a second buck license.

Through these new regulations, the DNR hopes to increase the total deer kill from 380,000 in 1988 to more than 450,000 in 1989. The antlerless-kill should increase from about 146,000 to more than 200,000.

These regulations are an experiment," Dudderar points out. "If they work and reduce the herd where it needs to be reduced, the state will probably consider expanding the program to other areas in the future. So hunters and landowners alike need to take advantage of it correctly and responsibly."

Correction

Last week's story concerning the theft of hood ornaments should have said the youths are being charged with larceny, not malicious destruction of property. The story should also have said the investigation was conducted by officer Chris Kruger.

She is the daughter of Robert and Virginia Schaeffer. She plans to major in psychology.

Straight Talk
Q: Do I need a referral from my family dentist to see an orthodontist?
A: No. While your general dentist may stress the importance of an orthodontic evaluation, a direct referral is not required. The best policy is to see the orthodontist as soon as you think a problem is developing.

Chelsea Area Teens Form Organization

On Sept. 7 Ernie Wilhoit spoke to a number of teens and adults concerning the need for activities designed exclusively for teens. He cited a number of depressing statistics concerning the lives of present-day teen-agers.

Fortunately, according to Wilhoit, there are remedies and means to improve their lives. He gave as an example the Teen Life Center in Stamford, Conn., which he was instrumental in founding. The center provides high quality, positive entertainment experiences for teens, in addition to opportunities for leadership training and community service.

He was particularly impressed by the adult support for such a center in Chelsea and by the progress that the teens and adults have made towards making a teen center in Chelsea a reality.

Acting on the enthusiasm generated by Wilhoit, Chelsea High teens have begun weekly Sunday afternoon organizational meetings aimed at establishing a Center. The meetings begin at 4 p.m. and alternate among the homes of participating teens.

One of the group's first acts was choosing a name, Chelsea Area Teens.

An executive board was also established to provide direction to the activities, however, any teen present at a meeting is considered a member of the board of directors with an equal voice in carrying out the business of Chelsea Area Teens.

For more information please call 475-3350. Those adults who have expressed interest or who signed-up after the meeting with Wilhoit will soon be contacted. As with any new project, much work needs to be done.

Chemicals Vital to Crop Production Says Fruit Grower

Fruit producers need to continue to find positive ways to deal with pressure by special interest groups to reduce the availability of pesticides, according to Les Dowd, a Hartford fruit farmer and chairman of the Michigan Farm Bureau fruit advisory committee.

"People need to understand that just doing away with pesticides doesn't do away with the pest," he said. "You don't lose a disease just because you've lost the means of controlling it."

Dowd urges farmers to keep emphasizing to consumers that our food supply is the safest in the world. "There's a tremendous amount of research that goes into the safety of each chemical as it's introduced. The risk factors are just very, very limited in our food supply," he said.

The Farm Bureau policy advisory committee provides fruit ideas and suggestions to the Michigan Farm Bureau board of directors.

Farm Export Value Up, But Volume Down

The value of U.S. farm exports will be up this year, to nearly $39 billion.

That's the good news. But the bad news is that the volume of exports will be down compared to last year. Part of that is due to reduced crop yields, according to Bob Craig, economist with Michigan Farm Bureau. However, he notes that another factor is the international debt problems of developing countries.

"Very frankly, with much of their savings and export earnings being used to service foreign debt, these countries have less to spend on the investment that would spur developments and encourage imports of U.S. farm products," he says.

Craig estimates that the foreign debt crisis since 1982 has cost U.S. farmers about $3 billion a year in lost exports.

Village Asking for Public Help To Lower Recycling Expenses

Chelsea's participation in the county-wide recycling program has proved to be more costly than it expected, but users of the station can help cut down costs by following a couple of simple guidelines, says village administrative assistant Barbara Fredette.

Dexter township has opted out of the program, but did not give the village a reason. What was anticipated would be a one-fifth share for the village and surrounding townships has turned in to a one-fourth share. The village, along with Sylvan, Lima, and Lyndon townships are paying for the cost.

In addition, each pick-up of the container at Polly's Market is costing nearly $200, rather than the expected $170. The bins is being emptied about three times per month.

And that's where the guidelines come into play.

Anyone who uses the container to recycle newspaper should place the newspaper inside loose, not bundled or in bags. Workers at Recycle Ann Arbor to have to take the newspapers apart when its not put in loose, thereby raising labor costs. The market for recycled newspaper is also growing worse as it is only commanding a price of $15 per ton.

However, before using the bin at all, users should check the Boy Scout newspaper recycling shed, located at the end of the big metal county bins. Use the county bin only if the scout bin is full.

The portion of the bin for cans is also filling up too fast, Fredette says, because cans are not being flattened first. Each can is supposed to have its label removed, each end cut out, and be flattened. Cans will then take up less room. She also asks that no aerosol cans be placed in the bin because they might explode.

"How well we handle newspapers and cans will determine the success of the station," Fredette says.

Nature from Your Backdoor

By Glenn R. Dudderar

If you've been involved in projects to bring the eastern bluebird back to Michigan, September is pay-back time. It's the time when you may see large numbers of bluebirds sitting on utility wires or fences along rural roads as they gather in flocks for the fall migration.

In areas where the bluebird population has increased in response to bluebird housing projects carried out under the aegis of the Co-operative Extension Service and the DNR's non-game program, the sight of dozens to hundreds of bluebirds alongside rural roads is new and welcome. The DNR non-game wildlife fund staff reports that observers have tallied more than 5,000 young bluebirds fledged from bluebird nest boxes.

Bluebirds are just one of the species you're likely to see, of course, and not the most common in many areas. More common are swallows, mourning doves and starlings.

Swallows—barn, tree, bank, rough-winged and, in some areas, cliff swallows—may be seen by the thousands as they sit shoulder to shoulder on hundreds of yards of phone lines alongside the road or in smaller groups—20 or 30, perhaps—around a barn popular as a barn swallow nesting site. More than 5,000 tree swallows fledged from nest boxes, according to observers reporting their results to the DNR.

Mourning doves are easy to distinguish because they're bigger than the other migratory birds and lighter colored with long, pointed tails. Also, their flocks number dozens rather than thousands, and they tend to scatter out along the roadside utility wires rather than sit wing to wing.

Starlings, with their short tails and black coloration, are equally easy to recognize, especially when they form huge flocks of thousands of birds and swirl in and out of cornfields and stands of trees to line utility wires and fences.

Other birds you may see perched alongside the roadway that will be interesting to watch are the hawks. The large red-tail hawk is the most common, but you might also see the much smaller kestrels (also called sparrow hawks). In the fall, you may see the adults that have been around all summer and their offspring, plus the migratory hawks just passing through. With luck, you might see a broad-winged hawk.

Foster Homes Are Needed for Children

Can you make time in your life for a child who needs you? Washtenaw County Department of Social Services needs foster homes to provide care for children who have been removed from the home of their natural family because of abuse or neglect.

Black and white homes for children of all ages are needed. They especially need homes for brothers and sisters to be placed together and families who understand drug abuse and sexual abuse. There is shortage of black families willing to do long term care or to adopt children of all ages.

A foster parent/adoption training program starting Wednesday, Sept. 27, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. is offered to interested families at the Department of Social Service, 2350 W. Stadium Blvd., Ann Arbor.

You're most likely to see the larger hawks perched on solitary dead or dying trees, tall trees at the outer edge of a woodlot or even fenceposts where they can keep a sharp eye on the grassy shoulders and median strips for mice and other small animals. Kestrels often sit on utility wires and wire fences. These "highway hawks" were unusually common last spring and may be very visible again this fall.

Though September is a little early for the fall foliage color tour, it's a great time to take in the migratory waterfowl displays in major wetlands around the state, as well as to enjoy the smaller perching birds along the rural roadways. Though you may have to travel a bit to see them—though perhaps no farther than the route you drive to work—these vast flocks are simply an extension of the wildlife you've watched all summer as you've studied and enjoyed nature from your backdoor.

African Missionaries To Be Hosted By Two Chelsea Churches Sunday

Two retired African missionaries will give a talk and slide show this Sunday, Sept. 24 at the First Congregational United Church of Christ. H. Eugene, Jr. and Natalie Johnson, who were missionaries with the United Church Board for World Ministries—United Church of Christ, will give the presentation following a pot-luck supper at 6 p.m. Their visit is co-sponsored by the First Congregational church and St. Paul United Church of Christ.

The couple began as medical missionaries in 1964. Most recently they served at Scott Hospital in Lesotho under assignment to the Lesotho Evangelical church, a partner church of the United Church of Christ. Gene was the executive officer for the hospital and Natalie worked in the pharmacy and laboratory.

Prior to service in Lesotho, the Johnsons worked in Zimbabwe, formerly known as Rhodesia until it became an independent nation in 1980. Their first assignment was to Pierce Hospital, where Gene was an administrator and Natalie set up a bacteriology lab and taught in the nurses' training school.

In 1973 they moved to Harare, then called Salisbury, where Gene was executive secretary of the Association of Rhodesian Church-Related Hospitals, composed of all the mission hospitals in the country. After helping establish "nutritional villages" and clinics for children under five, Gene's responsibilities were turned over to an African in 1977.

The Johnsons spent the next three years in the Philippines at Bethany Hospital, but returned to independent Zimbabwe in 1981 at the request of the United Church of Christ there. Gene served as projects director.

The couple returned to Pierce Hospital, in Mt. Selinda on the border of Mozambique, where Gene became administrator of Pierce and Buck Memorial Hospitals and six satellite clinics. Natalie supervised the pharmacy, taught anatomy and physiology in the nursing program, and worked as a bacteriologist.

Water Bills Flowing Trough Legislature

The Michigan House is in the process of putting together a package of five groundwater protection bills that would include a requirement that drinking water wells be tested for bacteria and nitrates before a home is sold.

"The testing prior to sale is really a safeguard," said Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau. "Water quality may deteriorate over a period of time without us realizing it. So the test prior to sale would alert the buyer and the seller if there is a problem with that water supply."

Nelson said the legislative package also provides for the closing of abandoned wells, and requires that a permit be obtained before a new drinking water well is drilled.

Gene is a native of East Weymouth, Mass., and earned his bachelor's degree in agricultural science and animal husbandry at Auburn University. He later earned an advanced degree in hospital administration from Yale University.

Natalie grew up in Hempstead, N.Y., and earned a bachelor's degree in bacteriology and zoology from Syracuse University. She also completed a course in medical technology at the Mandel School for Medical Assistants in New York City. Their home church is Union Congregational United Church of Christ in Montrose, Colo.

The United Church Board for World Ministries, founded in 1810, is the oldest overseas missionary agency. It has nearly 200 personnel in some 40 countries.

DISCOVERY MAY END OBESITY

National Dietary Research, an organization committed to the research and development of nutritional solutions to worldwide health problems, reported in a Washington, D. C. press release, "Obesity may be controlled naturally with a new type of pill, discovered by accident. In studies with potential cholesterol lowering agents, scientists noted an unusual side effect. Patients receiving an ingredient in what is now being called FS-1, all lost weight in spite of being instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, while body weight in control groups remained constant. Scientists say the mechanism behind the weight reduction is partially due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calorie rich dietary fats.

In a comparative study by NDR whose research topics have been the subject of articles published in recent Medical and Nutritional Journals, FS-1 was found to be most effective for weight loss and most acceptable to patients. Because FOOD-SOURCE-ONE contains only natural ingredients recognized as safe, it is available to the public immediately!

FS-1 is currently available in CHOCOLATE, VANILLA or STRAWBERRY flavors, from select pharmacies for $24.98 for 100 tablets with instructions for proper use and optimum results. Also available by mail, add $2.00 ship/handling to Nutra Health Company, 41630 Garfield Suite 567, Mt. Clemens, MI 48044.

INFANTS WHO BREAST-FEED ARE LESS LIKELY TO HAVE CROOKED TEETH

According to results of a Johns Hopkins School of Public Health study recently reported in The Journal of the Michigan Dental Association, breast-feeding may have another benefit besides making babies happy, healthy, and close to their mother—straighter teeth!

Using data collected on 9,698 children through the National Center for Health Statistics, investigators found that children bottle-fed or breast-fed for less than one year reported misaligned teeth 40 percent more often than children breast-fed for more than one year. Miriam H. Labbok, MD, MPH, reports that "breast-feeding, especially when prolonged, seems to protect against misaligned teeth . . . perhaps because it may cause a different growth pattern in the mouth."

Infants who breast-feed use their tongue differently than bottle feeders. As a baby sucks, the tongue sinks back in the mouth to draw in the flow of milk while swallowing but this forward tongue-thrust is unnecessary when nursing. Breast feeding requires infants to use mouth muscles more vigorously. However, children who are breast-fed for longer durations have a tendency to suck their fingers more, a habit known to cause misaligned teeth.

The MDA Journal reports that breast-feeding has had a resurgence of popularity since a national law in 1970, when less than 25 percent of mothers made that choice. Now an estimated 60 percent of mothers decide to breast-feed and more than 25 percent breast-feed for more than six months.

KIDS ACCEPTED AN INVITATION from Jim Crannie of Flint to climb in his well-maintained, one-cylinder 1906 K-model Cadillac, when he stopped in Dexter, enroute to the "Old Car Festival," held Sept. 9-10 at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, Dearborn. Owners of historic automobiles, bicycles and motorcycles were invited to join the 100-mile "1989 Lansing to Dearborn Run," open to one- and two-cylinder autos, motorcycles of model-year 1914 or earlier, and high-wheel bicycles. Starting early Saturday morning at the front of the R. E. Olds Transportation Museum, the route took participants past Michigan's capitol building before stretching out of Lansing's urban area to reach the quiet roads next to the Michigan State University farms, through Mason with its historic Ingham County Courthouse, along a former stagecoach route to Dansville. A hardy country breakfast at the Wooden Nickel was available to the travelers, after which they continued to Stockbridge, through rolling recreation territory dotted with lakes and rustic hunting lands to the Village of Dexter, with the trek continuing down Huron River Drive, cross-country toward Plymouth, following the Rouge River to metropolitan Motor City area. Pictured from left in the 1906 Cadillac with the Tulip Body, Chelsea young people Sarah Atlee, Aaron Atlee, Mike Fisher and Jason Atlee had a lot of questions for its owner. Jim Crannie told them he purchased the classic vehicle during 1978 from the Museum of Transportation in Princeton, Mass., and has thoroughly enjoyed his purchase. Parents of the kids are Cy and Rowena Atlee of Railroad St., and Marv and Shirrell Fisher of Lima Center Rd.

In old Scotland it was believed if February 12-14th were stormy, there would be good weather the rest of the year.
