ONE HUNDRED-NINETEENTH YEAR—No. 23

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1989

24 Pages This Week

THOMAS WARSTLER, right, the village's new assistant manager, was greeted Monday by his boss, manager Robert Stalker, left, and other village employees at a reception at village hall. Warstler will, for a while, make a 150-mile, round-trip commute from Clinton county, while three of his four daughters finish up the school year. Warstler has a background in community planning. He will be heavily involved with the planning commission and development activities, among other duties.

School Finance Reform Measures Go to Voters In Tuesday Election

Voters will go to the polls in Chelsea and state-wide next Tuesday to decide whether to change the way schools are funded in the state through a constitutional amendment.

Proposal A and Proposal B, as they are being called, are radically different from each other, although they are both designed to pump more money into education, especially into revenue-poor districts.

Proposal A, which has been endorsed by the state-wide teachers union, the Michigan Education Association, features a 1/2 cent increase in the state sales tax, and the additional money would theoretically go to in-formula districts. Chelsea is an out-of-formula district, which essentially means the district takes in too much money from local property taxes to qualify for additional state aid. The district would receive no money from the proposal.

Proposal B, which the Chelsea Board of Education has formally endorsed, would raise the state sales tax from four to six cents on the dollar and roll back school property taxes an average of 38 percent for residences and farms and 23 percent for businesses. Chelsea's total school millage would drop from about 39 mills to 22 mills.

According to calculations by Chelsea assistant superintendent Fred Mills, local school district revenues stand to rise about $423,000 the first year, or about four percent of the operating budget. However, by the fifth year the district could receive at least $1,200,000 in extra revenue, or about eight percent of the budget. Mills said his calculations are based on a number of assumptions concerning local standard equalized value, school district population, and the effects of likely Headlee Amendment rollbacks.

"A lot of school people have endorsed both proposals saying we really need something," Mills said.

"The proposals will certainly pump more money into education. However, they are revenue generators. Proposal B is not a tax reduction."

Under Proposal B, Chelsea's base millage would become 13.65 mills and could rise to a maximum of 17.65. Even if voters wanted to approve more millage, the legal limit would be 17.65. The rest would come from the state. In addition, there would be a nine-mill state assessment on residences and farms and a 14-mill assessment on businesses, which would go to a common fund and be redistributed throughout the state. Richer districts with a higher tax base would then share some of their wealth with poorer districts. The distribution method could be changed by a two-thirds majority of the legislature.

"We would go from being funded 88 percent by property taxes to about 50 percent funded by property taxes," Mills said.

"At this point nobody knows what effect that might have."

Some educators worry about the strings that might be attached to the additional money coming from Lansing in the form of standards and regulations, which could essentially amount to a loss of local control about how school money is spent. In addition, there is no cap on the growth in SEV, which means the 18 percent rollback could quickly disappear. And finally, the proposal could be amended by a two-thirds majority of the legislature.

Both proposals are regressive, especially Proposal B, which penalizes many poor people who own no property and cannot take advantage of the tax rollback.

The proposals are the only items on the ballot and Mills said he's fearful that only a few voters will bother to vote. The issue could be decided by a fraction of the eligible voters. He said he's also upset by the message the election is sending Michigan residents.

"The legislature is essentially saying that 'we can't make up our minds, why don't you decide.' I would like to have seen a little stronger leadership on the issue."

If both measures pass, the one receiving the larger number of votes is adopted.

Although the election is about school finances, it is not a school district election. Voters should go to their township voting places, between 7 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Papo Plans Apartments For Senior Citizens

Developer Rene Papo plans to propose a 50 to 75-unit apartment complex that would include a certain portion dedicated for use by senior citizens.

Papo said Friday that he wants to build the moderate-income complex east of his proposed office complex, which is planned for land between Chelsea Community Hospital and Old US-12. The $2 million complex would be situated in Sylvan or Lima township, or possibly in part of each, as the parcel crosses township lines. He said it is not likely to be built in the village because the cost of sewer connection fees and running a sewer trunk line to serve the development would be nearly $400,000.

"We could probably build a septic system for about $50,000," Papo said. "We need to keep the costs down in order to keep rent down." Papo said he wants to keep rent down to about $500 per month.

The village appears to be a stumbling block. Papo said he has requested a letter from the village stating the village can't service the complex, which the Washtenaw County Health Department needs before it will approve a septic system.

However, village manager Robert Stalker said the village is studying its options, including less expensive sewer system routes. The village has a big financial stake in the project in the form of utility charges and taxes.

Papo said he plans to apply for low-cost grant money for the senior citizen portion of the project.

Papo's office project is still at least temporarily on hold while he tries to avoid the annexation procedure all over again.

Washtenaw county legal counsel recently ruled that the 13 acres had to be re-annexed due to a clerical error in the legal description of the property.

Papo said his attorney has been told by the state that a resolution from the village and county that recognizes the mistake is all that should be necessary.

Stalker said it's likely the village would be willing to pass such a resolution but that the decision will be up to the county as to whether a resolution is even considered.

In other development news, Papo said he has begun the preliminary work to build a subdivision in the Pierce Lake area starting in about two years.

Papo said he wants to get a discharge permit from the Department of Natural Resources that would allow him to construct his own wastewater treatment plant. The treated water would be dumped into Pierce Lake.

Landfill License Could Be Ready By End of Month

Chelsea appears to be on its way to receiving a new landfill operating license by the end of the month.

Lonnie Lee, district director of the Waste Management Division of the Department of Natural Resources, said Monday that he has recommended approval of the license with a number of stipulations, mostly related to the recently-installed tracer system.

"Because Chelsea has a unique monitoring system for its new landfill cell, I had to recommend several stipulations," Lee said.

"These things are commonly written into the engineering plans. But because this system is so new, we're putting them into the license instead." Most of the stipulations, Lee said, involve testing and procedural obligations related to the bromide tracer system.

For now the application is out of Lee's hands and has been sent up to the regional office. He said the higher approvals should be a formality.

Any landfill license ultimately has to be approved by DNR Director David Hales. He will act on a recommendation by waste management director Al Howard.

DNR is obligated by law to have an answer by Nov. 22, unless they ask the village to apply for another one-month extension.

Dexter, Putnam Voters To Decide Lakes Sewer Plant Financing Issue

Voters throughout the state of Michigan will cast their ballots for the much-publicized Proposal A and/or Proposal B, Tuesday, Nov. 7, and voters in Dexter township of Washtenaw county and Putnam township in Livingston will also be casting their ballot on a third issue, Proposal C, a referendum which seeks voter backing for the $9.3 million in bonds to finance a sewer project proposed for parts of four townships.

Supporters of the sewer project urge a "Yes" vote from the citizens balloting in Putnam and Dexter townships, Nov. 7.

As argued by proponents of the project, "Concern yourself with two main points: 1) If you don't live in the sewer district, you won't have to pay for the sewer. It's as simple as that. 2) The only way you would have to pay for the sewer is if the special assessment payments fell through, and the chances of that happening are next to nil."

As far as The Dexter Leader and The Chelsea Standard have been able to ascertain, there are but half a dozen (if that many) citizens who are opposed to establishing a viable sewer system for the lakes area.

However, there are people who oppose the site location, and the manner in which the whole project has progressed.

Supporters urging the "yes" ballot, Nov. 7, say the wastewater disposal situation has become a true disaster, adding some people can't even do their laundry at home.

They explain, "When the lines are installed, life around Portage and Base Line lakes will again be tolerable."

The sewer district is made up of 1,289 properties surrounding Portage, Base Line and Tamarack lakes in the Livingston county townships of Hamburg and Putnam, and Washtenaw county's Dexter and Webster townships.

Veteran's Day Parade Set Sunday Afternoon in Dexter

The annual Washtenaw county Veteran's Day Parade will be held Sunday, Nov. 5 at 2 p.m. in Dexter.

The parade is sponsored by the Washtenaw County Council of Veterans and any veteran is invited to participate.

The referendum asks voters to allow Putnam and Dexter townships to pledge the full faith and credit of the townships behind the $9.3 million bond issue to finance the project. Such a pledge would enable the bonds to be sold at a lower interest rate.

The sewer will be paid for by a special assessment, with only those living within the designated sewer assessment district targeted to pay the costs.

At public meetings held recently, officials of the sewer authority and their advisers have proclaimed the proposed sewer project will not be halted, even if voters fail to give the referendum positive direction.

The project will go ahead, anyway. (Continued on page four)

A special reviewing stand has been set up near the gazebo in the village.

Veteran's Day, the day set aside to remember the sacrifices of the nation's veterans, is officially Saturday, Nov. 11.

Jeff Daniels Will Teach Acting Class

Local screen star Jeff Daniels will teach a one-day acting workshop on Friday, Nov. 10.

4 Years Ago . . .

Wednesday, Oct. 30, 1985—

When Scott Koscielniak, son of Ron and Kathy Herrst of Chelsea, came home three weeks ago, he didn't boast of the one that got away. He was carrying a 25-pound fish story. Scott was no novice to fishing, but going after Chinook Salmon was a new adventure. Just father and son jumped in the van and headed to the shores of Lake Huron near Alpena to catch the fall colors and do some serious fishing. When the nine-year-old hooked the 25-pound fish he had a real battle on his hands, but reeled it in with only a little help from his father.

The Chelsea varsity football team played well enough to win—no more, no less—in last Friday's match-up with the Pinckney Pirates. The Bulldogs in their 14-0 Homecoming victory could have been a little more tidy, should have displayed a little more offensive firepower, but couldn't have kept the Pirates out of the end zone more convincingly.

Five people escaped serious injury when a driver who failed to yield caused a four-car collision at the intersection of Werkner Rd and M-52 in the early evening. According to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, a car heading north on Werkner Rd., was hit by a car heading northwest on M-52. The force of the collision sent that vehicle into another vehicle that was stopped at the intersection. That vehicle was then pushed backwards into yet another car. Amazingly enough only two drivers sustained injuries, and more amazingly, this wasn't even a practiced stunt.

Confrontation Looms Over

$45.9 Million DSS Cuts

The Blanchard administration recently announced plans to cut social services spending by $45.9 million under state law never used before, but faced immediate deep objections from legislators of both parties who said the action may violate the constitution.

The cuts, implementing some policies not approved by the Legislature and dropping some other provisions included in the 1989-90 budget, are intended to bring the department's spending in balance with appropriated amounts.

Management and Budget Director Shelby Solomon ordered the budget reduction under authority of a 1984 law which requires a 15-day notice to the Legislature for budget cuts when appropriations policies would require more spending of available funds, but does not explicitly require approval for the action.

Previously, spending cuts were made only under the constitutional provision to balance the budget by executive orders which require approval of appropriations committees.

Solomon said he used the new authority rather than an executive order because legislators have told the administration to use its authority to deal with budget problems, and because he is skeptical the Legislature could solve the problem when it was unable to do so in the budget process despite warnings DSS was underfunded.

"The Legislature is vesting in us authority to assure expenditures do not exceed appropriated amounts. You can't have a system where the Legislature votes to spend money we don't have," Solomon said.

"The whole idea is to try to address the problem of expenditures conceivably exceeding appropriations to avoid the need for a supplemental," he added.

The budget cuts, which are in addition to $3.8 million vetoed by Governor James Blanchard when the budget was signed in August, include:

—$11.8 million in these Medicaid cuts: $1.9 million by limiting reimbursement of capital costs to 85 percent of actual amounts; $7.6 million in various pharmaceutical cuts such as a prescription reimbursement rates at 90 percent of the regular Blue Cross business rate, contracts with pharmacies in large metropolitan areas for lower prescription rates and elimination of provisions to pay for brand-name rather than generic drugs except for psychotropics; and $2.3 million by not implementing the health care access improvement initiative, which the governor had not recommended.

—$1.8 million from the Office of Children and Youth Services.

—$32.5 million in administrative reductions, including $8 million lapses from 1988-89 delays in filling vacancies and obtaining more federal funds.

When the $2.3 billion DSS budget was approved in July, the administration estimated another $65 million would be required to meet all the policy requirements because of unrealistically low caseload estimates for welfare and foster care programs and underfunded Medicaid programs.

Now, Social Services Director C. Patrick Babcock said a review of forecasts indicate these cuts will be sufficient.

Both Rep. David Hollister (D-Lansing) and Sen. R. Robert Geake (R-Northville), the chairs of House and Senate Appropriations DSS subcommittees, raised immediate doubts whether the action violates constitutional provisions for executive order cuts.

Hollister said the administration may illegally be trying to implement policies which the Legislature considered and rejected, such as capping hospital capital costs and limiting pharmaceutical costs, and refusing to implement the family support program provided in the budget.

"I think he (Solomon) has authority to cut across the board by 1 or 2 percent. I do not think he has the authority to do what he is proposing."

Geake called the cuts a "poor man's executive order" and said the Senate committee will have to review it carefully. "If DMB can get away with this, there's no reason for the Legislature to meet or to do a budget. A major confrontation is shaping up," he said.

Babcock said he respects the decisions in the budget process, but "the final act of the Legislature didn't solve the problem. I guess I go back to the original (governor's) recommendations on cost cutting. None are easy but on a scale of priorities, these are better."

He said pharmaceutical programs were targeted because it is one of the fastest-growing areas of the budget.

Babcock said no money is available for a supplemental, as has been customary in past years to cover overexpenditures, adding, "The message clearly is we have to live within the appropriated amounts."

Geake objected to cuts in the Medicaid area which he said are necessary to keep providers willing to serve poor people.

Hollister also said he fears DSS is being singled out, when Corrections, Mental Health, and Public Health are underfunded as well.

Solomon said no other departments will be cut in this fashion because he does not anticipate any others are underfunded, and "certainly not in the proportions as in DSS."

Second MET Enrollment Produces 15,487 Applications
Gov. Blanchard announced recently that 15,487 formal applications have been received during the second annual enrollment period for participation in the Michigan Education Trust (MET), the prepaid college tuition guarantee program.

The announcement came during a press conference held in the parking lot of the Okemos McDonald's restaurant to highlight the assistance of the Michigan McDonald's Operators Association offered to the program by making MET information available in their state-wide franchise outlets during the Oct. 2-6 application period.

Unveiled was a sign declaring "over 55,000 served" referring to the 15-plus thousand applications this year when combined with the 40-plus thousand who actually enrolled in the program in 1988.

Last year, MET's first, 40,409 children were enrolled out of 82,495 applications. The enrollees contracts built a fund of more than $265 million to guarantee tuition costs to participants.

State Treasurer Robert Bowman said the number of 1989 applicants exceeded expectations for the second year of the program. He noted the MET board expected between 5,000 and 10,000 applications this year.

Bowman said he was sure MET applicants have invested in the program rather than the stock market, especially after last Friday's 190-point drop. "Those who invested in mutual funds for four years of college now have three years of college," he said adding that MET guarantees against the ups and downs of the stock market.

The 1989 investment schedule for full participation in the MET program ranges from $1,941 per year for children under the age of one year to $3,663 per year for high school seniors.

Applicants have until Nov. 30 to return a formal contract with a tailored payment or financing plan for a child depending upon age and the number of years of tuition guaranteed at a state four-year college or university, a two-year junior or community college. While tuition is guaranteed under the program at a public institution, a student may attend any college in the nation, public or private with the funds being used toward tuition at that college.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle recalled at the session Saturday night at the country store where somebody had mentioned recent that there's no way we can build and fix roads in this country faster than we tear 'em up. Ed said he and his old lady are planning to ride a airplane to visit their daughter in the city at Thanksgiving, and he recent went to make arrangements with a travel agency.

From what he learned, Ed said, he is full convinced it ain't jest roads, it's everything we use to get from place to place. The veins and arteries of this country are so clogged the wonder is it ain't already had a stroke, was Ed's words. Lately, Ed said, folks don't want to go outside for fear of being hit by a falling airplane, partly because the jetliners are wearing out faster than they are being replaced. But the statistics still tell us flying is our safest form of transportation, so you got to worry about the other forms.

Fer sure, went on Ed, as long as we got plenty of oil and money to buy it we're going to stay on the move. We are building eight lanes where we had four lanes and we keep plowing up pasture to make interchanges. We got twin trailers on our long haul rigs, and now there's talk of three. All you got to do is look at the car ads to see bigger is gitting better all the time.

The fellers were general agreed that America needs to take a long, hard look at herself. Clem Webster said the people are going to have to do it because our elected leaders won't. The craving to get re-elected is so strong it blinds politicians to all problems they can't blame on somebody else, Clem said. As fer the rest of us, he went on, about all we've learned in recent months is that the Frenchman Tocqueville was wrong when he said our Government would stand "only until the people realize they can vote themselves the treasury."

Actual, the people that work fer our Government have found a shortcut, Clem allowed. They have learned they can steal the treasury—quicker and easier, and that there's no limit to what the Congress will impose on the people to recover the loss, as long as the Congressmen ain't called upon to hold to the same standard.

Fer sure, Bug Hookum said, change happens, and it brings the problems of progress. We are changing in this country in ways we don't like. We are final gitting use to not having the most and the best of everything, Bug went on. He took note that Sweden has more TV sets fer ever 1,000 people than we do. The Russians read more books, Canada has took over first place as the world's favorite vacation spot. Everybody in Japan can read and write, one in five Americans can't. Our Government still takes first place fer living beyond its means, but it still thinks no problem is so big it can't be solved by throwing enough borrowed money at it.

And nowhere, Zeke Grubb broke in, has change took more strange turns than in the law. In California recent a feller carrying a tool box stopped a feller on the street and ask if it was all right to take some parts off a car abandoned in a vacant lot. The feller looked at the car and said it was all right with him.

The police caught the feller removing parts from the car and then arrested the feller walking by. He didn't own the car, but he give permission to take the parts, which the law says is contributing to the crime.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Anne Schaible, Timothy Tatum Recite Vows in Chelsea

Anne Marie Schaible, of Dallas, Tex., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schaible, of Chelsea, and Timothy Barret Tatum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Tatum, of Theodore, Ala., were married Saturday, Oct. 14 at St. Paul United Church of Christ.

The Rev. Erwin R. Koch performed the ceremony. LaVonne Harris was the organist and Stephen Kane, of Oklahoma City, Okla., was the vocalist. He sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Trumpeters were James A. Alford, III, and Jeremy S. Guenther, of Chelsea. They played "Trumpet Voluntary" and "Rondeau."

The bride wore a chapel-length Victorian gown of champagne silk that featured a high neckline, a fitted bodice of appliqued lace flowers with seed pearls. The leg-of-mutton sleeves were topped with puffed silk and outside ruching followed by matching lace to the elbow. A crown of lace and pearls held a full-tiered illusion veil which flowed beyond the train. She carried a cascading bouquet of Miss Liberty white roses and orchids combined with ivy.

Matron of honor was Shelly Warren Sperling, of Rochester, Minn. She wore a teal taffeta dress with jewel neckline and drop back topped with puffed sleeves tufted above the elbow. The skirt was cafted with the soft pleats. She carried Sonya roses with fern and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Anne Webster, of Sacramento, Calif., Ondina Dubon-Kane, of Oklahoma City, and Belinda Galvanini, of Dallas. Their dresses were the same as the matron's of honor's.

The bride's mother wore a sash georgette gown featuring a tunic top edged with Venetian lace accented with tiny pearls and rhinestones.

The bridegroom's mother wore a tea-length suit of pale aqua accented with a sequined applique.

Best man was Roland Galvanini, of Dallas.

Ushers were Don Tatum, of Fayetteville, Ark., brother of the bridegroom; David Schaible, of Chelsea, brother of the bride; and Guy Charest, of Dallas.

Readers were William and Elizabeth Tatum, brother and sister of the bridegroom.

A dinner reception was held at the Berkshire Hilton in Ann Arbor. Deborah Schaible assisted with the guest book.

The couple took a honeymoon trip to Barbados.

Another reception was held last Saturday, Oct. 28 at the Brookhaven Country Club in Dallas. The couple is residing in Dallas.

Fred Lehman of Manchester, who worked for the People's Bank of Manchester completed 50 years of service with the organization and in observance of the milestone in his career, was honored at a party at the Tecumseh Country Club. Mr. Lehman was presented with a gold watch as a memento of the occasion.

One major case of vandalism reported to Chelsea police over the Halloween week-end was the smashing of 31 panes of glass at Canfield rural school. The broken windows were discovered when school opened Monday morning and police were notified at once. Stones had been pitched through the windows. Also found on the schoolroom floor was a large chunk of cement taken from the school foundation.

Winners of the annual window painting contest held in connection with the Kiwanis Halloween party were Scott Chaplin, Jerry Abdon, Mary Jane Harris and Judy Speer for the witch scene painted on Strieter's window. Second place for "Chelsea Spook School" on Schaible's window was won by eighth graders Ted Tubble, Beverly Brown, Barbara Bertke, and Dick Irwin, the prize was $3.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Harry Smith

Melanie Schneider, W. Smith Married at Dexter Gospel

Melanie Ann Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schneider, of Chelsea, and Wesley Harry Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Smith, of Allegan, were married Sept. 30 at the Dexter Gospel church.

Pastor Ronald Clark, of the Immanuel Bible church of Chelsea, and the Rev. Bradley Powell, of the First Baptist church of Allegan, performed the ceremony.

Rob Schneider and Robin Warner, cousins of the bride, sang "Our Love." Loree Capper, friend of the bride, sang "The Lord's Prayer." The bride sang "I Cherish The Treasure of You."

Organist was Marjorie Rowe, of Chelsea, friend of the bride.

The bride wore a satin ivory gown that featured a delicately beaded sweetheart neckline, basque waistline, puffed sleeves, and long satin sleeves. The train was elaborated with sequins, bows, and appliques. Completing the ensemble was the high fashion portrait veil featuring a v-shaped band of crystal and pearl flowers. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, tiny pink roses, stephanotis, and ivory.

Maid of honor was Kathryn Tolly, of Troy, friend of the bride. She wore a burgundy, satin gown, with puffed sleeves, sweetheart neckline, and high-low hem. It had a bow across the back like the bride's dress. She carried five pink long-stem roses with baby's breath and ivy.

Bridesmaids were Loree Capper, of Washington, D.C., and Phoebe Strong, of Chelsea, both friends of the bride. Cassandra Atkins, of Otsego, sister of the bridegroom, and Anne Marie Crittendon, of Owosso, friend of the bride. Their flowers were the same as the maid of honor's.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece pink lace dress with pink accessories, and a corsage of pink roses and burgundy accessories.

The bridegroom's mother wore a mauve tea-length dress with lace accents, and a wrist corsage of miniature orchids.

Other attendants included three nieces of the bridegroom, Liza Savannah, and Raven Atkins. They wore pink tulle gowns and circlets of baby's breath in their hair.

Best man was Steven Hough, of Allegan, friend of the bridegroom.

Ushers were Michael Bartz, of Allegan, friend of the bridegroom, Rodney Schneider, of Chelsea, brother of the bride, Gary Atkins, of Otsego, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Timothy Christman, of Allegan, friend of the bridegroom.

A reception was held at Holiday Inn West, hosted by Larry and Renee Geer, cousins of the bride, and Todd and Shells Tolama, friend of the couple. Debra Desmyther and Kelly Stebelton, friends of the bride, handled the guest book and gift table.

The couple took a honeymoon trip to Bermuda.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Chelsea High School and a 1986 graduate of Eastern Michigan University. She has a degree in business management and communications. She is an assistant sales manager at Holiday Inn West. The bridegroom is a 1980 graduate of Allegan High School. He works at BSS&G in Allegan.

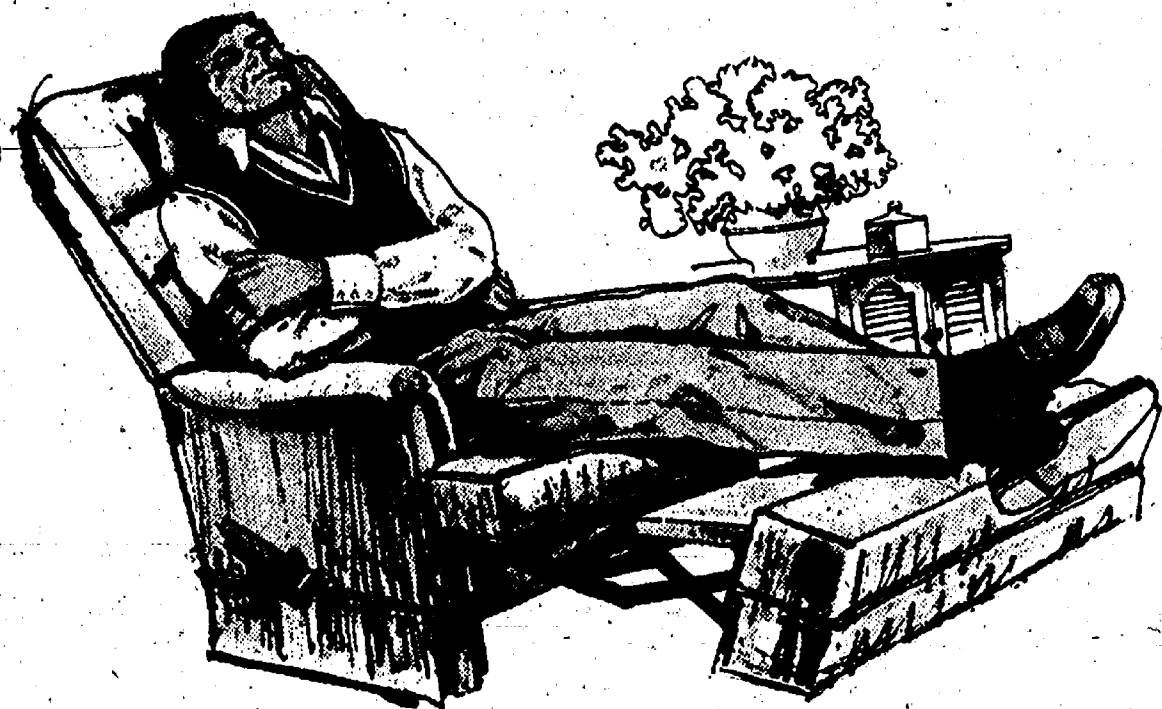

The couple is residing in Allegan.

Sewer Financing

according to explanations at several public meetings, with alternate plans for financing possible.

An interest payment amounting to at least $300 will be billed to land owners within the special assessment district for the period from Aug. 1, 1989, and citizens will have to pay that cost.

There is no way to avoid this, officials explain, since already approximately $500,000 has been authorized for items connected with the proposed sewer project.

A lot of "risky-tick" has clouded some of the real issues surrounding the proposed sewer system.

There is a group of concerned citizens expressing doubt that the proposed system will, in fact, accomplish what its supporters say it will.

What will it cost? Can people afford it? Can they afford to be without a sewer system, any longer?

These are questions asked by people on both sides of the coin.

Some say, "It's a shame that this is even being put to a referendum."

Others counter, "Let's give the entire issue a lot more thought before plunging into such an expensive proposition."

Unfortunately, the issue has blustered and boomed into a cloud seeded with a certain amount of distrust and a good deal of resentment, by both sides, the proponents and those who don't totally agree with them.

Name-calling and a depth of rudeness have spun a spider web on the original issues.

During recent gatherings, thinly veiled threats were voiced, such as "It's going to go ahead, no matter what you vote! The proposed sewer system as already designed will be constructed—and you in the special assessment district will pay for it, no one else."

No one else will be asked to pay the costs of the construction and operation of the proposed sewer system, proponents repeat.

Voters will have to decide for themselves just "how" to vote, a "yes" will apparently clear the way for the project to steam ahead.

What happens if the voters decide "no"? There have been a number of alternate opinions.

Some say the septic system can't handle a year's worth of waste.

Some say there isn't a reasonable chance of the special assessment payments falling through.

Some residents in Putnam and Dexter townships feel that if something should go wrong with the special assessment payments, they don't want to have to pay for it.

The people who live around the Portage Lake and Base Line Lake area will ultimately be the ones who may decide the results of the referendum, but county and sewer authority officials advise that won't settle the issue, so maybe the voters will not decide whether or not Putnam and Dexter townships will pledge their full faith and credit to back the bonds planned to finance the proposed system.

Is the proposed system feasible? Is it affordable? Low-cost loans are available for those on limited incomes, officials advise.

However, to qualify for one of those low-cost loans, land owners have found there's a lot of strings attached.

It's an issue everyone needs to give serious thought.

Tomorrow's Alternatives: Bikes Or Gas Rationing

In Chelsea and other communities it's almost automatic to think that most bicycles are for kids under 16 and the rest for adult physical fitness fans. Thus it may come as a surprise to realize that the 800 million bikes in use throughout the world outnumber automobiles by two to one. At this point we recall those scenes of Chinese students riding bikes by the thousand past TV cameras in Tiananmen Square. With that recollection, we begin to understand these two-wheeled machines in world perspective.

Most people on this earth are too poor to own automobiles and can never expect to ride in one, even in death. Despite the growth of the motor car, world production of bicycles is three times that of automobiles. In Asia alone bicycles transport more people than all of the automobiles in existence. What is more, 10 years from now, when the celebrations of Year 2000 die down, bicycles may become the preferred transport for getting American and European workers to work.

The genuine utility of the bicycle has been all but forgotten in western civilization. But this machine, energized by non-polluting human power, can and does operate on country lanes, city streets and highways. In many parts of the world it pulls a trailer loaded with cargo. With three wheels it becomes a conveyance for passengers or other burdens and is becoming known as a trikeshaw in the Orient and as a tridclero in the Dominican Republic.

The bicycle is an economical means of reaching the job or a transit point. For mobility and load-bearing capacity it multiplies walking by a factor of five. The bicycle involves a minimum of parking problems and, as great numbers of healthy employees have discovered, it supplies a daily program for physical fitness. Pedalling which benefits the heart, lungs and large leg muscles occurs automatically 10 times-a-week. (In adverse weather bikers resort to car pooling.)

Perhaps the greatest benefit of all is what biking instead of driving can do for a safer, more wholesome environment.

In newly-published Worldwatch Paper 90, The Bicycle: Vehicle for A Small Planet, we are told, "Cars and other motor vehicles create more air pollution than any other human activity. Gasoline and diesel engines emit almost half of the carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons, and nitrous oxides that result from all fossil fuel combustion world-wide." These include airborne lead, sulfur dioxide, particulates and known carcinogens.

There can be no doubt that American automobile manufacturers are striving their utmost to reduce dangerous emissions. How could they do otherwise when exhaust fumes are threatening the lives of their own customers? The automobile companies are (1) testing alternatives for fossil fuels and (2) working on the development of more efficient emission inhibitors. Carmakers are also experimenting continuously with electric cars equipped with batteries that can be recharged from electric outlets at home. So far, the electric car has two principal drawbacks: low maximum speeds and limited travel distances between battery charges.

If the day should ever come when tens of millions of electric cars must be recharged daily, we'll be back to square one. The source of power will have to be something other than oil or high sulfur coal. So far, energy experts have failed to come up with an acceptable answer. Among their research targets are practical forms of nuclear power, solar and wind power. They are also looking into more extensive use of hydropower including the immense potential of rising and falling ocean tides.

In the meantime, the problem of environmental pollution is becoming worse with each turn of the calendar. At least 24 billion tons of carbon dioxide gas (CO<sub>2</sub>) entered the world atmosphere in 1988 and is increasing remorselessly at 3 percent a year. We are not only forced to inhale CO<sub>2</sub>; as a world society we can be smothered by it. The gaseous CO<sub>2</sub> rises and stalls at a certain level in the atmosphere. There it forms a deadly blanket trapping the sun's heat close to the earth.

Now we turn to Worldwatch Paper 91 where Christopher Flavin tells us, "Some have suggested that 'greenhouse effect' and 'global warming' are mild terms for a coming era that may be marked by heat waves that make some regions virtually uninhabitable. Frequent droughts could plague areas of North America and Asia, imperiling their ability to meet food needs. Wetter, more violent weather is projected for other regions. Many forests could be at risk as climate zones suddenly shift. And many low-lying areas with dense population or extensive agriculture will be threatened by rising seas."

As vast ice fields of the polar regions turn to water and increase sea levels, Manhattan could be entirely submerged along with the whole peninsula of Florida.

The only way to stop our tailpipes from issuing lethal gasses into the sky is to stop using fossil fuels. Even now they supply 80 percent of the world's energy.

Admittedly, we can't totally discontinue use of these fuels completely or human existence, as we know it, would come to a halt. Trains, planes and farm tractors will have to be given priorities. Otherwise, our only realistic hope, until we find a replacement for fossil fuels, is to use as little of the stuff as possible.

Which brings us back to the bicycle whose handlebars may now seem like angel's wings. Consider this: If just half of the U.S. workforce, a legion 60 million strong, could ride bikes 14 miles a day, they would save 210 trillion miles of auto travel a year. That's close to 10.5 trillion gallons of fossil fuel no longer being burned and added to the ceiling of our greenhouse.

If Americans in Year 2000 were willing to ride bikes and leave their cars at home, would the motorists of other nations do likewise? We think so. The Netherlands and Denmark are already leading the way. Fifteen million Dutch people have 11 million bicycles which they use for transportation as well as recreation.

Henri vanderWaard, a neighbor who lives on McKinley Rd., was born in Holland. He and his wife Sue enjoy travelling in the Netherlands. They travel by bicycle over miles of cycle paths through picturesque landscapes and historic towns. This Dutch kingdom, ruled by a queen, is about the size of Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island combined and has 8,400 miles of cycle ways. These paths are royally enjoyed by bicyclists Queen Beatrix and Queen Mother Juliana, 70.

Local governments require private businesses and railroads to build ample parking for bicycles, and the central government shares in the cost of construction. In addition, Dutch authorities have created direct, uninterrupted cycling routes in many cities and towns.

The City of Delft provides underpasses and bridges across hazardous intersections. Cyclists are also allowed to ride against the traffic on one-way thoroughfares.

Denmark is close behind the Netherlands in accommodating cyclists and other European countries are awakening to the utility of these pedal-powered vehicles.

Worldwatch also reports cycling concessions in the U.S. The City of San Francisco pays its employees 7 cents a mile for business travel by bike and once a month sponsors a "Leave Your Car At Home Day." Other communities and employers are offering special incentives to bicyclists including parking security and showers.

There are die-hard motorists who resent and resist any consideration given to bicyclists. They may change their minds if our nation reaches the day when gas rationing becomes the only workable way to reduce fossil fuel pollution.

NOTES

DONALD A. COLE, Director

"He who neglects the present moment throws away all he has."

—William James.

We cross the threshold but once in this life, so why not make every moment a moment of satisfaction for ourselves and for those around us?

When the present moment has passed there is no way of recapturing the opportunities it offered. Neglecting to take advantage of an opportunity when it arises is, for all practical purposes, throwing it away. How much better to have the satisfaction of knowing that we made every moment count, rather than to live in regret for having sat back and allowed our chances to slip by.

We invite you to call on us whenever we can be of service to you. When tragedy strikes, your first call should be to us.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Since 1987, the Township Officials from Dexter, Webster, Hamburg and Putnam Townships have been working on and planning to install a sanitary sewer system around Portage and Base Lakes in both Washtenaw and Livingston counties.

It is a foregone conclusion that all of these properties which are very small in size, very close to the lakes with shallow ground water tables are in dire need of a sanitary sewer system in order to avoid continuing to pollute the lakes which are a valuable asset to both townships.

In October 1988, a Sewer Authority was formed by the four above listed townships and was charged with building and operating a sewer system to service the lakes area. The Sewer Authority was formed under Public Act 233 of 1955 as amended.

In June and July of 1989, the above townships signed a bond contract with the Sewer Authority requesting that the authority construct the municipal waste water system and as a part of the contract, the townships promising to repay the principal and interest on the bonds to the Sewer Authority. The repayment of those monies is to be done by specially assessing properties within the sewer district which were defined by the townships in April and May of 1989. NO ONE OUTSIDE OF THE SPECIAL ASSESSMENT DISTRICT WHO DOES NOT BENEFIT FROM THE SEWER WILL HAVE TO PAY MONIES TO THE TOWNSHIP FOR THE REPAYMENT OF THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST ON THE BONDS.

As a part of the bond contract, the township must also pledge its full faith and credit for the repayment of the principal and interest. This, however, does not mean that any of the townships are going to pay from their general funds or ad valorem tax revenues, monies towards the construction and repayment of the sewer system. What the full faith and credit pledge does is provide a guarantee to the agencies selling the bonds of the payment, thus allowing the local units to sell the bonds at a lower interest rate. This is a standard business practice and should not create any concern for any property owners outside of the special assessment districts around the lakes.

One of the provisions of Public Act 233 of 1955 as amended is a Right of Referendum on the part of all voters within a township which is going to pledge its full faith and credit behind a project. What this means, in simple language is that all of the voters have a right to vote as to whether or not the contract between the townships and the Sewer Authority shall become effective. In July and August of 1989, a few citizens in Dexter and Putnam townships collected enough signatures to require a referendum vote on the effectiveness of the contract. That vote is scheduled to be on the ballot on Nov. 7 in both Dexter and Putnam townships.

The simple truth is, the fate of the sewer project at Portage and Base Lakes is left up to a popular vote by all the residents in both Putnam and Dexter townships, even though they will not be affected by the project and will not have to pay for it. This situation leaves many of the residents around the lake who are more than willing to pay for their sewer system very uncomfortable. They fear that people who do not understand the seriousness of their waste water problems or who mistakenly think that somehow they will have to pay for the system even though they are outside the assessment district may forever harm their property values by a negative vote on the effectiveness of the contract. To be honest, this situation does appear to be a bit unfair; however, because it is a provision in the law it must be carried out.

As the supervisor of Dexter township, I can assure all of the residents of both Putnam and Dexter township that there is a crying need for the sewer system at Portage and Base Lakes and the people at those lakes are willing to pay for the entire project. All they need is your support at the polls on Nov. 7 by voting YES on Dexter Township Proposal Number One if you are a resident of Dexter township or the Portage Base Lakes Sanitary Sewer Bonding Contract Proposal if you are in the Putnam township.

Please do not let the people at Portage and Base Lakes down as their health, safety and welfare are at stake on this issue.

I urge you to go to the polls on Nov. 7 and vote YES on the Sewer Issue Proposals allowing the contract to become effective.

James L. Drolett, Supervisor
Dexter Township

To the Editor:

Thaddeus J. Cieslak apparently thinks letters to the editor of this paper regarding the proposed lakes sewer project are a "game," to be played and played. A few weeks ago Mr. Cieslak accused Gregg Magnuson of claiming he knew everything about this sewer project. Magnuson responded the following week saying, "I don't, by a long shot, claim to know everything about this situation. That is why I have the questions I do." Magnuson went on to say at that point, that at a recent meeting he wasn't permitted to ask questions of Mr. Smit about the mistake in "elevations" concerning the Ann Arbor plant, but then was criticized by Cieslak for not having the answers regarding that issue. Now, this past week, Cieslak writes with a predatory air that Magnuson admits to not knowing everything and clucks, "If someone does not know everything about a situation, should they make claims that imply the firm is not qualified to work on the project?" Cute technique Thaddeus, cute.

First of all, Magnuson claims there have been errors and oversights regarding permits. He pointed out an admitted responsibility by McNamee, Porter regarding the mistake in elevations concerning the long overdue Ann Arbor wastewater plant. If Mr. Cieslak determines from those facts that there is an inference that McNamee, Porter as an engineering firm is not qualified to work on this kind of project, that is his own conclusion. Magnuson claimed, and still claims, the permits from the county health department and the DNR had, and have, contradictions regarding this proposed sewer system which were pointed out in previous letters. McNamee, Porter has never claimed to be infallible.

Regarding another falsehood, I would like to know from Mr. Cieslak specifically who he thinks has been telling people in the townships they will have to pay for the system and/or their taxes will be raised. The only people we hear telling that fairy tale are proponents trying to assault our credibility by attributing it to us. Give us some names Thaddeus or put that garbage in the trash can.

The reason residents of the other two townships are not voting on this issue is because Dexter and Putnam townships are the two townships that will feel the greatest impact on their aquifers, their soils, and Little Portage Lake. We made no effort to circulate petitions in the other two townships. Mr. Cieslak dearly loves to ask about "documented" reports or "studies." I would like him to produce the research study that backs up the claim that "the residents of the other two townships associated with the project" "are in favor of the sewer." There has never been a vote on the questions in either of the other two townships. There was never even a questionnaire sent to every household. Again Thaddeus, cute; but undocumented.

Now, one formal, official study that Mr. Cieslak may like to see is a groundwater vulnerability map, prepared for the Michigan Department of Agriculture by Dr. David Wade, a toxicologist in that office. The map shows this Stinchfield Woods Road parcel to be an area having the "highest risk of groundwater contamination." Dr. Wade says it is unbelievable that township officials never even looked at such a map. He also says that this should have been done the very day this project was conceived. Interesting isn't it? And they want to have 10 million gallons of raw sewage sitting in two holding ponds in this kind of an area. An area that again, is a drainage divide, a water recharge area for wells along Big Portage Lake, with porous soils, and with a shallow aquifer. A game? This is no "game." This is life at its most serious.

Regarding the fact that Scott Ross, chief of the Ground Water Permits Section of the MDNR, is not inclined to change the decision of issuing the discharge permit, consider this: Scott Ross admits that the only thing his DNR office looked at was the hydro-geo study provided by McNamee, Porter, & Seeley. Also, for what it may be worth, Scott Ross did his Master's Degree work at MSU under the renowned Dr. Mokema, a gentleman who supports our concerns about this site, and who charted the soils on the proposed wastewater disposal parcel. Reason dictates that many of us have more faith in the expertise of the teacher than the student. Also, I would point out again how much and how often the PBLOA has criticized the decision making expertise of the DNR over the years. Now on this issue, the PBLOA and Mr. Cieslak would have us believe the DNR couldn't be wrong.

Finally, I must say the following. So all the reports and studies show that sewers will keep the lakes and rivers clean for all people to use, huh? Tell us, how will paying for sewers keep sewage from coming down the Huron River from up above Portage and Base Lakes? And how will ALL the people be able to use the lakes any more than they are able to use them now? And, when my drinking water has absolutely no nitrates at the present time, but the health department will allow "reasonable" levels of nitrates in my drinking water once this site is in operation, how is that water still as healthy for me to drink? And what about the 240,000 gallons per day based on only 200 gallons per household? Give us a break! And give the citizens of Dexter and Putnam townships some credit for common sense and native intelligence. I'm still voting "NO!" Thaddeus.

Gregg E. Magnuson.

Blossoming highways: Lawmakers have come up with a blooming good idea. Congress has required that a portion of funds allocated to landscape along federal roads be used to plant native wildflowers. According to National Wildlife magazine, wildflowers greatly reduce the need for mowing and watering and seem to deter people from littering.

Dear Editor,

Soap suds are becoming a common sight along our shore on Portage Lake. So are weeds. Most lots are too small for adequate drain fields and household wastewater finds its way directly to the lake.

Would you want to swim in this water?

On Nov. 7 the voters of Dexter and Putnam townships will be asked if their township should pledge its full faith and credit to sell bonds for the proposed sewer system. This method of financing is used to get a good interest rate on the bond, thereby reducing costs to the project. It is an insurance policy to the buyers of those bonds. But only residents of the assessment district (the users) will pay for the system. If you have not been notified by your township that you are part of the district, YOU WILL NOT PAY for the system.

We urge voters to vote YES on Nov. 7 for sanitary sewers at Portage and Base Lakes. Don't be misled by the misinformation campaign. We need a sanitary sewer. We'll pay for that sewer. Please help us clean up the lakes and vote yes on Nov. 7.

To the Editor:

On Tuesday, Nov. 7, the voters of Michigan are being asked to determine the fate of two school financing proposals placed on the ballot by the state legislature. Neither proposal offers a clear and reasonable solution to the dilemma of school property tax financing, and both are the result of the state legislature abdicating its responsibility in this matter and trying to place the burden of resolution on the taxpayers.

Neither proposal would be significant benefit to the Chelsea School District. We are already out of formula. Proposal A, a half-cent increase in the state tax, would bring Chelsea no new money nor would it alleviate any property tax. Proposal B is onerous. (Webster's New World Dictionary defines onerous as: "involving a legal obligation that equals or exceeds the benefits.") It would provide only token additional funds for our school district, but without any real or permanent offsetting benefit to the taxpayers, and in many cases, would wind up costing us MORE.

Both proposals would constitutionally dedicate lottery proceeds to schools. The lottery is already somewhat of a hoax. While indeed, money from the lottery goes to education, you are led to believe that lottery dollars ADD to educational funds. They don't! In reality, the lottery dollars that go to schools reduce the general fund obligation by a like amount from its requirement to support schools. The net result is that lottery money is substituted for state funding, and this actually increases the amount in the general fund pot which then can be spent in other areas. Lottery proceeds allow increased state spending in non-school areas!

Based on information obtained from Chelsea school administration officials, I calculated the financial impact that passage of Proposal B would have on my own household tax situation. On the surface, it would reduce my school property tax rate from approximately 40 mills to about 28.6

mills, a savings of about $450 per year. However, using my 1988 tax return as reference, it would INCREASE my net taxation by $189. Here's how:

The U. S. Internal Revenue laws no longer allow state sales taxes to be included when itemizing deductions on federal income tax returns. Using the most recent IRS sale tax tables (when still allowed) as the basis of calculation, the two-cent increase in sales tax would add $163 to my general annual sales tax. Additionally, assuming replacement of a household vehicle every three years, this would add another annualized sale tax bite of $80.

Because the $450 of property tax relief would reduce the basis for my Michigan homestead property tax credit, I would lose 60% of this, and wind up paying an additional $270 in Michigan state income tax. Also, the $450 property tax deduction on my federal income tax would be lost and cost me an additional $126 there. When added up, these additional new taxes ($163 + $80 + $270 + $126) total $639. That comes out to $189 MORE than the $450 savings that Proposal B offers!

The TV ads supporting Proposal A suggest that if we don't support this proposal, we're against education. That's nonsense! We have already gone the extra mile in Chelsea recently and supported a millage to ensure that our schools continue to provide top-notch education for our children.

Passage of Proposal B also relinquishes a portion of local control of our schools to Lansing. It would allow

STATE PROPOSAL A

A PROPOSAL TO INCREASE THE SALES/USE TAX FROM 4¢ TO 4½¢ PER DOLLAR AND CONSTITUTIONALLY DEDICATE FUNDS FOR LOCAL SCHOOLS

The proposed constitutional amendment would:

- 1) Constitutionally dedicate to schools:
  - a. ½¢ increase in sales/use tax;
  - b. Current statutory revenue sources, including lottery profits and some cigarette/liquor taxes;
  - c. Increased share of existing sales/use tax (51% to 68%) to substantially replace annual school appropriation.
- 2) Distribute dedicated funds to school districts as provided by law.
- 3) Activate increased statutory penalty to deny 100% of state funds to schools not adopting core curriculum and improvement plans.

Should this proposal be adopted?

YES ☐
NO ☐

STATE PROPOSAL B

A PROPOSAL TO INCREASE THE SALES/USE TAX FROM 4¢ TO 6¢ PER DOLLAR, REDUCE SCHOOL PROPERTY TAXES, SET PERMANENT SCHOOL OPERATING MILLAGES NOT SUBJECT TO VOTER RENEWAL, AND CONSTITUTIONALLY DEDICATE FUNDS FOR LOCAL SCHOOLS

The proposed constitutional amendment would:

- 1) Constitutionally dedicate to schools:
  - a. 2¢ increase in sales/use tax;
  - b. Current statutory revenue sources, including lottery profits and some cigarette/liquor taxes;
  - c. Increased share of existing sales/use tax (51% to 75%) to substantially replace annual school appropriation.
- 2) Reduce property taxes in most school districts. Replace school taxes with permanent statewide millage (9-mills on residential/farm; 14-mills on businesses) plus non-voted local millage not subject to voter rollback. Limit voter-approved increases to 4-mills.
- 3) Set per-pupil funding guarantees subject to change by law requiring ¾ vote.
- 4) Activate increased statutory penalty to deny all non-guaranteed state funds to schools not adopting core curriculum and improvement plans.

Should this proposal be adopted?

YES ☐

+ AREA DEATHS +

Frances M. Ladish

Formerly of Ann Arbor

Frances M. Ladish, of Ann Arbor, age 78, died Thursday morning, Oct. 26, 1989 at the home of her daughter in Chelsea.

She was born Aug. 30, 1911 in Detroit, the daughter of John and Frances (Lyczkowski) Mieczkowski. She was married to John J. Ladish who preceded her in death on Jan. 9, 1968.

Mrs. Ladish had been a resident of Ann Arbor since 1943 and was retired from Chrysler Corp. She was a member of St. Francis of Assisi Catholic church and an honorary member of the Moose Lodge of Ann Arbor and the Ann Arbor Senior Citizens Guild.

Surviving are her four children, John James Ladish of Denver, Colo., Carol Ann Hoffmann of Chelsea, Thomas Paul Ladish of Manchester, and Michael Dennis Ladish of Naperville, Ill., 13 grandchildren, Christopher, Timothy, Julie, Teresa, Philip, John, Catherine, Lisa, Wendy, Kristina, Cindy, Chad and Erin; six great-grandchildren, David, Rebecca, Jason, Brandon, Cory and Alexander; three sisters, Marie Owen of Detroit, Ann Coryell of West Union, Ill., Helen Rossiter of Tampa, Fla., and one brother, Raymond Mitchell of Sterling Heights.

She was preceded in death by a sister, Rose, and three brothers, John, Frank and Ed.

Mass of the Resurrection was held Saturday, Oct. 28 at 11 a.m. from St. Mary's Catholic church with the Rev. Fr. David Howell officiating. A scripture and rosary service was held Friday evening at the Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home.

Burial was made in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Chelsea. Expressions of sympathy may be made to Individualized Home Nursing Care.

Letters to the Editor

the state to "set per-pupil funding guarantees subject to change by law requiring a 2/3 vote." If the state can't figure out how to solve the school financing issues now, Proposal B surely won't give them any more wisdom—merely a bigger stick to hold over our heads!

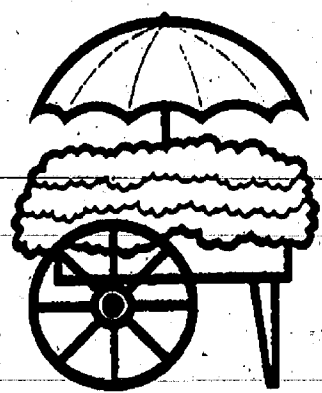

Proposal B offers no guarantee that future property taxes won't equal or exceed current figures. The Headlee amendment now places a cap on increases in property taxes by trying increases based on SEV changes to the rate of inflation experienced in the state. Under proposal B, there would be no cap and no protective guarantee against future rises in property taxes due to SEV increases. Within several years, in fact, it would be possible for property taxes to actually be higher than they would have been without B.

It is not a question of having to vote for one proposal or the other. There are THREE choices before you. You can REJECT BOTH Proposal A and B, but you have to go to the polls to do so. If you want to express your dissatisfaction with these proposals, you must actually go to the polls and vote NO. You can't stay home and expect that they will die for lack of support. In this election, the NO votes must exceed the YES votes. The only way that this can be accomplished is for you, the taxpayer, to let them hear your voice in Lansing! Tell your legislators that they haven't done their job. Tell them that you won't carry the burden for them!

Izora L. Foster

Sarasota, Fla.

(Formerly of Chelsea)

Izora L. Foster, 90, of Sarasota, Fla., formerly of Chelsea, died Oct. 24, 1989 at the Arbor Ridge Care Center in Galesburg, Mich.

She was born in Chelsea on Oct. 24, 1899, the daughter of Schuyler and Ella (Craig) Foster.

She is survived by her sister, Doris Walling, of Kalamazoo, and several nieces and nephews.

Ms. Foster was a math teacher for more than 40 years at Roosevelt High school in the Wyandotte Public Schools and she retired in 1963. She held a master's degree from the University of Michigan and was a member of the Michigan Education Association and the National Education Association.

Cremation has taken place. A memorial service will take place next spring in the Oak Grove Cemetery, Chelsea.

Arrangements were by Hoag-Switzer Funeral Home, Galesburg.

Car Vandalized At High School

A Waterloo Rd. resident told Chelsea police that someone deliberately scratched his pick-up truck while it was parked in the Chelsea High school parking lot on Friday, Oct. 27.

A six-foot long scratch was found on the driver's side of the car, apparently created by a sharp tool.

Bill Boosts Alternative Uses for Farm Crops

Legislation sponsored by state Senator Harmon Cosey would provide $100,000 for research into new products made from corn and other farm crops. Bob Smith, senior legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau, said the funding would go through the Department of Agriculture, which in turn would contract with the East Lansing-based Michigan Biotechnology Institute to do the actual research.

"There are so many things that can be made from corn," Smith said. "Of course we're all familiar with ethanol, but there's literally dozens of corn-based products that have been discovered in different areas."

Births

A daughter, Nicole Marie, Thursday, Oct. 28, to Steve and Cathy Opp. Grandparents are Chuck and Virginia Williams of Jerusalem Rd., Chelsea, and Ken and Shirley Opp of Stockbridge. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kelm and Mrs. Iretta Opp of Westland.

A daughter, Catherine Lucille, Monday, Oct. 23, to Robert and Linda Gray of Chelsea. Maternal grandparents are Jim and Shirley Gaken. Paternal grandparents are Jim and Delores Gray of Chelsea. Catherine has a sister, Heather, 7 and a brother, Bobby, 5.

A son, Jeffrey Thomas, Tuesday, Oct. 3, to Thomas and Kathryn Squires of Chelsea. Maternal grandparents are Donald and Donna Pierce of Dexter. Paternal grandparents are Glen and Ruth Squires of Manchester. Maternal great-grandmothers are Hilda Pierce of Chelsea and Nell Steeb of Penn Valley, Calif. Jeffrey has two sisters, Tracy and Kelly.

A daughter, Elizabeth Mae, Oct. 11, at U-M Hospital, Ann Arbor, to Burdette and Charlotte Gunden of Chelsea.

A daughter, Alyssa Mae, Monday, Oct. 16 to Ann and Jon Riemenschneider. Grandparents are Joan and Tom Eisele and Dorothy Riemenschneider, all of Ann Arbor, and the late Karl Riemenschneider.

A daughter, Caitlin Marie, Wednesday, Oct. 4 to David and Sally Wolf of Gregory. Maternal grandparents are Charles and Sally Hurst of North Lake. Paternal grandparents are Raymond and Marjorie Wolf of Livonia.

ADOPTION

A daughter, Elizabeth Jean, Wednesday, Aug. 9, adopted by David and Susan Heydlauff of Traverse City, Sept. 25. Paternal grandparents are the late Willis and Jean Heydlauff.

THE NEW HOME for Faith in Action is beginning to look like a finished project on the campus of Chelsea Community Hospital. The village planning commission recently required that the organization have a fire hydrant installed on the grounds, which will add about $9,000 to the cost of the home. The village did not want to force firefighters to use a hydrant on Main St. in the event of a fire. The building will also house the Chelsea Senior Citizens Center.

Substance Abuse Program Discussion Looks at Intervention

Brighton Hospital's series of programs on substance abuse prevention and treatment continues on Tuesday, Nov. 7 with a discussion on how family members, friends, and employers can confront and help a chemically dependent person.

The title of the free program is: "Intervention: The Direct Approach to Treatment and Recovery." Brian Duguay, an intervention specialist at the hospital, is the featured speaker. The program begins at 7 p.m. in the Brighton Hospital chapel. Reservations are not required.

According to Duguay, the family and friends of someone who is abusing alcohol and other drugs realize that they need to take some action but are not sure how to begin. In an intervention the group confronts the individual with the reality of his or her drinking or drug use in a factual, concerned, and non-judgmental manner.

In most cases, the person intervened upon will seek treatment, says Duguay. Another important result is that the individual's family and friends have begun to help themselves by taking some action toward resolving the problem.

Copies of several helpful brochures will be available at the Nov. 7 program. They include: "Intervening To Help Someone" and "A Dynamic New Approach to the Alcoholic."

Duguay notes that three videos describing the intervention process may be borrowed free of charge from the hospital's video lending library. They are: "Enabling/Masking Reality," "Intervention/Facing Reality," and "Back to Reality."

For additional information about the Nov. 7 program or the videos, contact Brighton Hospital's Community Relations Department weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at (313) 227-1211, ext. 276.

Women employees are twice as likely to stay home with a sick child (65 percent) as male employees (32 percent), according to the U.S. Labor Department.

Bulldogs!

8th Grade Cagers Win Final Two

Beach Middle school 8th grade basketball team closed out their season last week with wins over Pinckney and Milan.

The Bulldogs finish the season at 9-2.

On Monday, Oct. 23 the Pups defeated Pinckney, 29-20, in a game that wasn't as close as the score.

Chelsea was ahead by more than 20 points at the end of the third quarter. Chelsea scorers included Jenny Holzhausen 10, Tracy Patrick 7, Liz McLaughlin 4, Mara Smith 4, Jackie Crawford 2, and Erica Street 2.

Pup rebounders included Smith 8, Laura Carty 4, Nicki Piasecki 3. Stealers included Patrick 5, Holzhausen 4, and Jamie Collinsworth 3.

On Wednesday, Oct. 25 the Pups topped Milan, 32-6, as Chelsea played an excellent defensive game, according to coach Jon Schaffner.

Chelsea scorers included Smith 11, Patrick 8, McLaughlin 5, Crawford 4, Lindsey Johnson 2, and Maya Ponte 2.

Rebounders included Smith 18, Ponte 5, Johnson 4, Holzhausen 4, Collinsworth 3. Stealers included Smith 4, Patrick 4, Holzhausen 4, McLaughlin 3, and Collinsworth 3.

The first American to enter the Olympic Pentathlon was George Patton, later, General Patton.

VAL BULLOCK, center, took second place for Chelsea and seventh place over-all at the regional meet Saturday at Springport.

Dogs Are Region Champs, Go To State on Saturday

Chelsea girls cross country team looks as though it will be one of the powers at this Saturday's state meet as they won both their regional and league meets last week.

On Saturday at Springport the Bulldogs placed four runners in the top dozen to take the regional title by three points over Jackson Northwest and 10 other teams. Chelsea had 52 points and Northwest finished with 55. "The girls were just magnificent at the regionals," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"They pulled together and won a regional that included five of the top 10 teams in the state. Sarah Grau passed eight runners in the last quarter mile to finish 12th (21:16), which provided the margin of victory. However, we will have to improve on this performance if we are to be a factor at the state meet."

As had been the case all season, freshmen Lisa Monti (19:33) and Val Bullock (20:44) were the top two placers for Chelsea, taking third and seventh, respectively. However, senior captain Kim Roberts pushed Bullock as she finished eighth (20:45.6), just a second behind Bullock.

"Bullock and Roberts ran just super races," Clarke said.

"And Lisa Monti continued her fine season."

Senior Vicki Bullock took 22nd overall at 22:08.8; Lauren Sparaco was 46th in 23:04.9; and Christine Mignano placed 49th in 23:11.6.

On Tuesday the Bulldogs took the Southeastern Conference meet by a 25-point margin over second-place Saline. The score would have been more lopsided had number two runner, Val Bullock, not cramped badly and dropped out.

"It was an outstanding race for us," Clarke said.

"Kim Roberts, Lisa Monti, Sarah Grau, and Vicki Bullock all made the all-league team."

Chelsea placed four runners in the

SARAH GRAU, left, has the look of determination, while Vicki Bullock, right, keeps a nice, steady pace in the early going of the regional cross country meet at Springport last Saturday. Grau passed eight runners in the final quarter mile to give the Bulldogs the win.

Bulldogs Shut Out Crestwood In Final Contest of Season

Jude Quilter scored three touchdowns and had a fourth called back as the Chelsea Bulldogs shut out Dearborn Heights Crestwood, 22-0, in the final game of the season last Friday night on the road.

The Bulldog defense set the tone for the game after Crestwood's Chuck Reynolds ran for 89 yards to the Chelsea one on the second play of the game. The defense dug in and nose guard Tim VanSchoick stopped a third down sweep for a loss. The field goal try was wide.

"That was the key series of the game for us," said Chelsea coach Gene LaFave.

"After that they could not move the ball. And we were deep in their end the whole night. We only punted once the whole game."

The Bulldogs limited Crestwood to 170 total yards, which means they were virtually shut down after the first play of the game.

"The defense played very well," LaFave said.

VanSchoick finished with a team-high 11 tackles. Ron Stacy, from his defensive end position, had seven, and linebacker Matt Herter had nine.

The score would have been more lopsided but Quilter had about 150 yards worth of runs called back due to penalties. And the Bulldogs gave the ball away three times on two fumbles and an interception.

Chelsea didn't score until the second quarter, when Quilter took the ball in from the one. He also ran for the extra points and the Bulldogs had a 8-0 half-time lead.

CHAD STARKEY, a four-year golf letter-winner at Chelsea High school, was selected to the all-Southeastern Conference Golf Team. The senior was second in the voting on the 10-member team. Starkey was also nominated for all-state honors and has been the team's Most Valuable Golfer for the last two years. He had the number one ranking going into the regional tournament.

MATTHEW JOHN DUNCAN WEID: The Wind Beneath Our Wings!

*It must have been cold there in my shadow
To never have sunlight on Your face
You were content to let Me shine
That's Your way.*

*You always walked a step behind.
So I was the one with all the glory
While you were the one with all the strength.
A beautiful face without a name, for so long,
A beautiful smile to hide the pain.*

*Did you ever know that you're my Hero,
And everything I would like to be.
And I can fly higher than an eagle
For you are the wind beneath my wings.*

*It might have appeared to go unnoticed
But I've got it all here in my heart,
I want you to know I know the truth
Of course I know it. I would be nothing without You.*

*Did I ever tell you that You're my Hero?
You're everything, everything I wish I could be.
Oh, and I, I can fly higher than an eagle,
For you are the wind beneath my wings.*

*Cause You are the Wind Beneath My Wings
Oh, the Wind Beneath My Wings,
You, You are the Wind beneath My wings.
Fly, fly, fly away. You let me fly so high,
Oh You, the wind beneath my wings!*

*Fly, fly so high against the sky
So high I almost touched the sky
Thank You. Thank You. Thank God for You.
The Wind Beneath My Wings!*

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Southeastern Conference freshman girls were in the spotlight Saturday at the regional cross country meet in Springfield. The meet was won, of course, by our Bulldogs, who will take their act to the state meet this Saturday at Tyrone Hills Country Club in Linden.

At least three of the top seven spots in the meet were taken by freshmen. Tecumseh's Nicole Randolph, a freshman, won the meet by more than 20 seconds and nearly broke 19 minutes in an outstanding performance. Chelsea's two ninth graders, Lisa Morfi and Val Bullock, finished third and seventh, respectively.

These three girls have run well consistently all season long. And it's likely they'll all be among the top runners in the state for the next three years. Monti and Randolph, in particular, should know each other real well by the time they are seniors.

While freshmen were in the spotlight, seniors won the meet for the Bulldog girls and made the day a successful one for the Chelsea boys.

Monti and Val Bullock took the top spots for Chelsea and finished about where coach Pat Clarke probably figured they would.

The runners, however, who won the meet for Chelsea, the ones who put the three points between the Bulldogs and Jackson Northwest, were Chelsea's senior team captains, Kim Roberts (8th), and Sarah Grau (12th). They started off the season slowly but are now running well. Roberts had an exceptional race and Grau passed several runners in the last few hundred yards.

Chelsea boys, as a team, were disappointing to coach Pat Clarke.

However, seniors Brian Zangara and Holden Harris ran their best races ever to reach their goal of participating at the state meet. They are now among the elite runners in the state.

Most coaches will tell you that their season, no matter what the sport, depends on the performance of their seniors. Many coaches also know that attitude is often what separates a good athletic senior class from an average or poor one. Seniors have so many distractions that their sports often get lost in the shuffle—"senioritis" is the word often heard.

Zangara, Harris, Roberts, and Grau, in particular, pushed themselves toward a goal and achieved it, which is a credit to them and their coach. The biggest challenge is ahead Saturday and I'd guess they'll attack it with the same zeal.

I have never seen a group of parents who were more positive that their team was going to win it all than the girls' parents were. Even though five of the state's top 10 teams were there.

Route 99 from I-94 into Springfield had the finest collection of lawn ornaments I've ever seen on an eight-mile stretch of road. We saw everything from plastic and concrete deer, to black bears, to pigs, to windmills.

One of the unfortunate sides of high school athletics was on display as a Hillsdale runner almost collapsed near the finish line. Her legs were wobbly and it was obvious she was in pain and perhaps even in physical danger.

The girl refused help, as many competitive athletes in that situation will do, and no one, not even her coach, went to help her. Any coach who touches a runner automatically disqualifies her. The girl's brother was watching and crying from the fence.

So, how much is too much for the sake of competition? At that point the girl probably didn't know what was good for her and it was certainly impossible to tell what was happening just from looking. Was it heat prostration or leg cramps? I looked around and didn't see an ambulance anywhere nearby. I have the feeling that if she had been my kid I would have jumped the fence and tried to help.

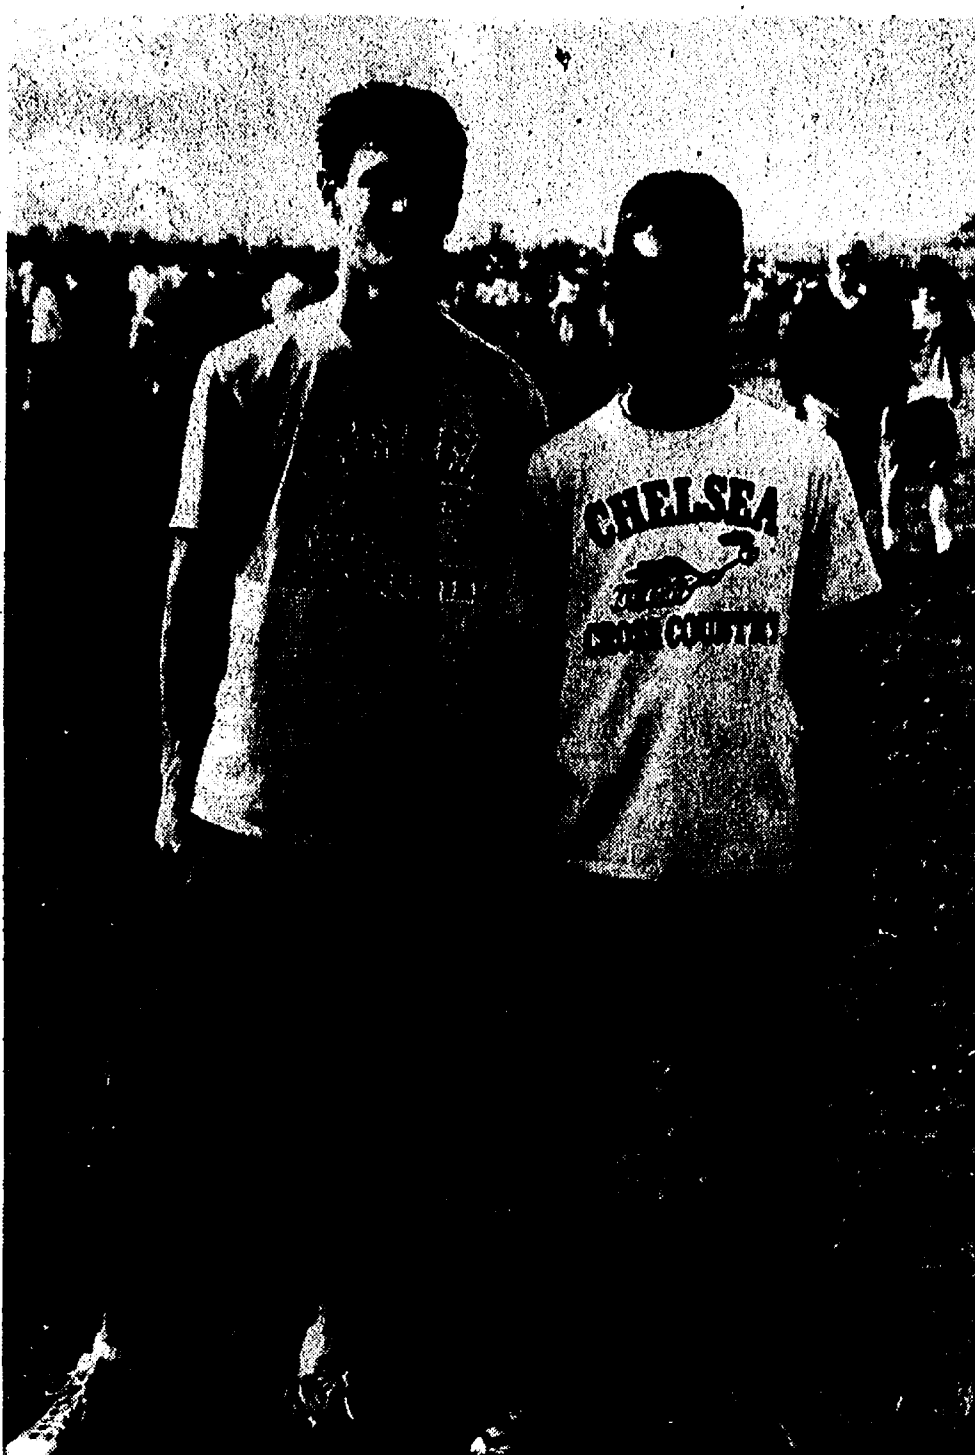

The Chelsea football team finished in fine fashion by defeating Dearborn Heights Crestwood, 22-0, on the road. Junior running back Jude Quilter set both a single-season touchdown mark of 26, including three Friday, and a single-season rushing mark of 1,277 yards, eclipsing Curtis Heard's 1986 mark. Little wonder he was a unanimous selection to the all-Southeastern Conference first team.

The Bulldogs finished 4-5, although they won four out of their last six games.

And now the speculation begins about next year. Who will be the quarterback? Tucker Steele and Ben Hurst are waiting in the wings. But last year at this time I never would have guessed that Kyle Plank would end up with the job.

There are some good, skilled kids returning, especially on defense, but there will be several big holes to fill with the departure of Plank, Tim VanSchoick, and others.

In addition, coach Gene LaFave, who said three years ago he is operating on a year-to-year basis, will soon be making a decision about next season. Should he decide to hang it up, he will end an 11-year Chelsea career, a fairly long stint.

STATE MEET QUALIFIERS for the Chelsea Bulldogs were Holden Harris, left, and Brian Zangara. They'll run in the individual portion of Saturday's state meet. They had their best runs of the season at last Saturday's regional meet at Springfield.

7th Grade Cagers Finish 8-3

Beach Middle school seventh grade basketball team beat Milan but lost to Pinckney last week to end the season at 8-3.

Pinckney won 18-15 in a game that was close all the way. Chelsea was ahead 9-8 at the end of the third quarter.

"We didn't have the intensity we needed in the final quarter," said Chelsea coach Ann Schaffner.

Kate Steele and Nancy Pidd each had four points and five rebounds to lead Chelsea. Lori Ritter had two points, four rebounds, and a team-high eight steals. Lynne Kalmbach and Amy Petty added two points each.

The 35-18 victory over Milan ended the season. Chelsea shot 30 percent in what Schaffner called a "good team effort."

Steele had a season-high 14 points and grabbed five rebounds. Pidd had six points. Petty scored four, Charlotte Ziegler, Kalmbach, Keri Kentala, Martha Merkel, and Ritter each had two points, and Danielle Clarke scored one.

Pidd and Kalmbach each had eight steals, and Sarah Schick and Laura Hodgson added six and four, respectively.

Program on Bog Slated at Waterloo

"The Bog and the Bogeyman" is the title of a presentation this Sunday, Nov. 5 by the Waterloo Natural History Association.

The exploration of the bogs in the Waterloo Recreation Area will start at 1:30 p.m. at the Eddy Geology Center.

For more information on the event contact the geology center at 475-3170.

KIM ROBERTS can see the finish line at the regional meet last Saturday. The senior ran an exceptional race to take eighth place and help put the Bulldogs into this Saturday's state meet.

Girls Take Region

top 10, although Tecumseh's Nicole Randolph, who was the top finisher in the regional meet, also won the league meet.

With the victory, the Bulldogs became league champs as they also went undefeated in league dual meets in the regular season.

Chelsea places and times included: Monti, 2nd, 19:41; Roberts, 5th, 20:41; Grau, 8th, 21:19; Vicki Bullock, 9th, 21:25; Lauren Sparaco, 19th, 22:25; Carmen Smith, 21st, 22:48.

The Bulldog JVs also won their portion of the meet fairly easily as they took five of the top six places.

JV results include: Mignano, 1st, 21:59; Jessica Holton, 3rd, 22:11; Beth Williams, 4th, 22:34; Teddi Hauck, 5th, 22:43; Sara Brosnan, 6th, 22:45; Tracey Wales, 11th, 23:28; Stephanie Wagner, 29th, 28:25; Sarah Franklin, 30th, 28:27.

Harris, Zangara Eye State Meet Saturday

Chelsea seniors Holden Harris and Brian Zangara qualified for the individual portion of this Saturday's state cross country meet with their performances at the regional meet last Saturday in Springfield.

Harris finished 14th over-all (17:14.4) and Zangara took 20th (17:29.4).

"Holden and Brian ran their best races of the season," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke, whose team finished ninth over-all among 17 teams.

"They both have worked exceptionally hard and are deserving of all the honors they have earned. They both had the goal of going to the state."

"Our team finish was very disappointing but that should not detract from our two fine individual efforts."

Chelsea places and times included Ben Vermeylen, 48th, 18:15; Kelly Beard, 62nd, 18:29.3; Jason Allen, 18:46.9; Jim Hassett, 78th, 18:49.8; Jeff Latimer, 94th, 19:20.1.

The best team news for the Bulldogs was their second place finish at the Southeastern Conference team meet on Tuesday, just eight points behind winner Saline with 23 points.

The boys finished in a third-place tie with Pinckney for the over-all championship, which is also based equally on dual meet performance.

"We ran an outstanding team race," Clarke said.

"I'm very proud of every one of them. Each of the seven runners ran his best race of the year. Holden was outstanding in running 18:56 to place seventh and make the all-league team."

Zangara also made all-league by finishing eighth in 18:59.

Rounding out the Chelsea field were:

Hassett, 18th, 17:34; Latimer, 19th, 17:35; Beard, 24th, 17:53; Vermeylen, 27th, 18:01; Allen, 31st, 18:07.

Bulldogs End Winners

Quilter's four-yard run and Ron Stacy's kick gave the Bulldogs a 15-0 lead after three quarters.

Finally, quarterback Kyle Plank hit Quilter with a 17-yard pass play in the fourth quarter. Stacy's kick was good again.

Plank was 14-23 for 180 yards. Quilter caught eight passes and wide receiver Adam Taylor had four catches.

Rick Wescott ran for 59 yards and Plank picked up 42 in the option offense. Chelsea had nearly 400 yards in total offense.

The Bulldogs finished 4-5 on the season.

"We had more hope for the season than what we showed," LaFave said.

"We had a tough start, going 0-3 and when you get off to that kind of start it does something to the chemistry. But the kids came back and won four of their last six games and I'm proud of them. They played hard all season."

Chelsea Tankers Show Improvement Despite Losses

Chelsea Bulldog girls swim team were defeated in three of their last four meets as lack of depth proved to be their undoing, according to Chelsea coach Dave Jolly.

All four meets came down to the last relay and in all but one case the Bulldogs came up short.

The Bulldogs lost to Dexter and Novi, each by the score of 91-81, and Adrian, 97-75. However, they beat Dundee, 102-71.

"It was a tough two weeks, but we had some excellent swims nevertheless," Jolly said.

"Through all four meets some new stars came out of the sky."

Sara McClellan, Jennifer McEachern, Erika Boughton, and Melissa Johnson each qualified for the state meet in the 400 freestyle relay with a time of 4:01.57. Boughton also qualified in the 200 freestyle with a time of 2:07.58, which Jolly said was a more impressive swim for her.

Kelly Cross also qualified in the 200 freestyle with a time of 2:06.54. Cross has now qualified in three individual events and two relays. In addition, she set a varsity record in the 100 freestyle with her time of :57.09.

Melissa Thiel also qualified in her second event with a 1:08.21 in the 100 backstroke in the Adrian meet.

"Wins are always nice and you can be disappointed when you lose but when you have constant improvement you can't be anything but happy," Jolly said.

Chelsea has two dual meets left before the important invitationals, including the Chelsea Invitational.

C. of C. Collecting Milk Jugs for Luminaries

After being assured by PTS President Dale Wright that we are not stepping on toes, the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce decided to collect empty gallon-size plastic milk bottles to use as luminaries for the Dec. 1 Festival of Lights. These jugs will be used this year, then kept in storage until next year's festival.

Ann Feeney, director of the Chamber, would like to have readers collect these bottles for the next week and bring them to the Depot. The Depot will be open Monday, Nov. 6 and Thursday, Nov. 9 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. If it would be impossible to come during those hours, collectors may call the office and Ann will pick them up this one week only. The phone number is 475-1145. There is only the need for 300 or 400 additional luminaries in order to extend the lights farther north on Main St. and a short way down the side streets. Also, it would be beautiful if the neighborhoods had the streets lined with their own lanterns.

Last year luminaries (cut-out plastic bottles containing sand and a lighted candle) lined Main St. from the Chelsea State Bank branch to Chelsea Industries from 5 to 11 p.m. during the Festival of Lights. It is a lovely sight, especially with carolers strolling down Main St. toward the central business district and the historic depot. All the merchants remained open, entertainment was heard at several spots and Santa passed out candy canes. There was hot cider and cookies at the depot while Sue Grau played the pump organ.

The ancient Greeks believed that drinking from certain springs or wells would give them prophetic powers.

Marty Tobin Elected Chairman Of Chelsea Planning Commission

Marty Tobin has been elected the new chairman of the Chelsea Village Planning Commission.

Tobin, formerly co-chairman, takes over for Frederick Belser, who will remain a member of the commission. Belser became chairman in July of 1983.

Bill Bott, a relatively new member of the commission, takes Tobin's place as co-chairman.

DISCOVERY MAY END OBESITY

National Dietary Research, an organization committed to the research and development of nutritional solutions to worldwide health problems, reported in a Washington, D. C. press release, "Obesity may be controlled naturally with a new type of pill, discovered by accident. In studies with potential cholesterol lowering agents, scientists noted an unusual side effect. Patients receiving an ingredient in what is now being called FS-1, all lost weight in spite of being instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, while body weight in control groups remained constant." Scientists say the mechanism behind the weight reduction is partially due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calorie rich dietary fats.

In a comparative study by NDR whose research topics have been the subject of articles published in recent Medical and Nutritional Journals, FS-1 was found to be most effective for weight loss and most acceptable to patients. Because FOOD-SOURCE-ONE contains only natural ingredients recognized as safe, it is available to the public immediately!

FS-1 is currently available in CHOCOLATE, VANILLA or STRAWBERRY flavors, from select pharmacies for $24.98 for 100 tablets with instructions for proper use and optimum results. Also available by mail, add $2.00 ship/handling to Nutra Health Company, 41630 Garfield Suite 567, Mt. Clemens, MI 48044.

World Community Day Slated Friday

World Community Day, to be observed on Friday, Nov. 3, is an ecumenical event, sponsored annually by Church Women United, that brings Protestant, Roman Catholic and Orthodox women together to focus on issues of the wider global community and to heighten awareness of the whole human family. By seeking to raise consciousness through prayer, World Community Day challenges churchwomen in the U. S. to make the critical connections between faith and prayer, politics and action to bring about justice and peace in the world.

This year's worship service, entitled, "To Pray Is To Risk," was prepared by a group of Korean-American women of faith who have lived as immigrants in the United States and suffered poverty and discrimination. They reflect both their own and the feelings of their sisters in Korea who have been grievously oppressed by the dictatorial government there. These are women who know the meaning of "risk" in their own lives. Special guest speaker will be Myung-Sun-Song, an Education Psychology student at the University of Michigan.

The World Community Day observance also undergirds Church Women United's Imperative, Assignment: Poverty of Women (a national, unified effort) to eliminate the root causes of the poverty of women and children, as it seeks to create a climate of solidarity with those in need and identifies Christian prayer as the act of seeking liberation and doing justice which, in today's world, is risktaking.

Missionary Couple Speaking at Chelsea Christian Fellowship

James and Betty Barnard of Springfield, Mo., are guest missionaries at the Chelsea Christian Fellowship, 337 Wilkinson St., Nov. 5 for the 11 a.m. service, according to the Rev. T. B. Thodeson.

James and Betty Barnard are Michiganders and served on the mission field for many years; first in Liberia, West Africa and in Brussels, Belgium. They are now residents of Springfield, Mo. The Rev. Barnard is now interviewing new missionary applicants in their homes. Later the applicants meet at the Assembly of God headquarters for intensive instruction, especially in how to work with nationals and cope with cultural aspects.

Notice to Church Secretaries

WHO IS GOD? (part 1)

It is the "New Age" religion that tells us that we are, or will evolve into being God. There are some that say "God is love," simply an emotional closeness that one feels with the universe. An even greater apostasy from the Bible questions if there really is a "God" that exist. As there are many conceptions and misconceptions about who or what God is, very few use the greatest, most accurate resource available to man in order to formulate their opinions. There is a bibliography written about who God is, and it is written by men who knew God personally. This resource is called "The Holy Bible," and you could say that the word "Bible" is short for bibliography; God's bibliography. Although, according to John 1:18 "no man hath seen God at any time," we find that through his work he has revealed to us many things about who he is, what he is like, why he created man, and what his plans are for mankind. For the next several weeks we will be spending time on looking at "Who is God?" We will look at many of his characteristics and many of the things thought to be characteristics, but are not scripturally founded. There is, however, a beginning note that must precede all thought concerning God, and that is found in Heb 11:6, "For without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him." No one has ever seen God, but that does not mean that he does not exist. Man has always tried to apply reason and theory to explain who God is: this is the exact reason there are so many misconceptions about God. The cornerstone of Christianity itself is having faith in those things that may not be tangible to us, in understanding who God is we must: 1) believe he truly exist as a living, thinking, tangible being, and 2) he rewards those who truly try to find out who he is; take his word on it!

Final Hunter Safety Class Is Held

The final hunter safety class of the year was held Saturday and Sunday at the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club. It is part of the Community Education Program of the Chelsea School District using educational materials provided by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Thirty-three youngsters and adults attended the two-day morning and afternoon training sessions. These include hands-on instruction with members of the club, all of whom are state certified in hunting safety. Instruction by the club is without charge.

Each trainee is provided with an 80-page DNR instruction manual consisting of four sections: 1. Hunting responsibility and ethics, 2. Firearms and shooting, 3. Wildlife identification and game care, 4. Survival and first aid. The manual includes information on bows and arrows but is also supplemented by a 40-page "beginners guide" on archery equipment.

Upon completing the instruction sessions, class members are given a true/false examination as well as a hands-on field test. All who pass become qualified for a Michigan hunting license.

Instructors for club safety education sessions are George Carter, president, Don Bell, Jim Moomey, Stu Kenewell and Jerry Craft.

Chelsea Rod and Gun Club has separate ranges for trapshooting, rifles and pistols, and archery. The club is a member of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and is affiliated with the National Wildlife Association.

In the year 2000, every group of 100 potential workers will include almost 50 women, according to the U.S. Labor Department. Many of these will be mothers; some, single mothers. This represents a major demographic change from one generation ago, when fewer than a third of all American women were employed and very few mothers of young children worked outside the home (19 percent in 1960 versus 54 percent today).

BEHIND THE HEADLINES:

Scenarios for Disaster

By Philip C. Clarke

In a gripping new screenplay entitled One Incoming, author Tom Clancy describes what might happen if a single Soviet ICBM should ever be tracked heading our way. On the hotline, Moscow claims the missile unfortunately was launched in error and gives the targets of its 10 nuclear warheads: military bases along the U.S. East Coast, plus Washington D.C. With 12 minutes to go before impact, the President is hurriedly evacuated from the capital aboard Air Force One, protesting to his aides, "You mean we can't stop it? We can't even stop one damned missile? All I can do is watch a million Americans die, or start blowing up the whole world. That's my only choice? How did we ever get into this fix?"

Of course, Tom Clancy fervently hopes such a disaster never will occur, as do all civilized people. But the best-selling author also believes, as do most concerned citizens, that such a ghastly scenario conceivably could occur—especially if the United States continues to remain undefended against incoming missiles, whether launched by accident or otherwise. Or fired off by the Soviet Union or some Third World madman.

Clancy's worst-case scenario opens a 20-minute public service film sponsored by High Frontier, the pro-space defense research group, and the American Freedom Coalition. Amid the euphoria generated by Mikhail Gorbachev's peace offensive, some viewers likely will dismiss the film as too far out to be taken seriously. But others may see it as an urgent warning. "As One Incoming painfully points out," says High Frontier, "it makes no difference if an ICBM targeted on the U.S. is launched by Moscow or by a smaller nation. And it makes no difference if the attack is accidental or the initial salvo of a first strike. When the missile begins its trajectory, the United States will have only minutes to . . . minutes to do what?"

The answer could determine our very survival as a nation. Under the self-imposed doctrine of Mutual Assured Destruction, or MAD, the United States since the mid-1980's has remained deliberately undefended against missile attack. MAD assumed that the Soviets would render themselves defenseless, too, thus insuring that neither side would attack the other for fear of being annihilated in return. There's just one problem: The Soviets never went along with MAD. Instead, they have continued, unannounced, and in violation of the 1972 ABM treaty, to develop an elaborate anti-missile defense system while, meantime, modernizing and adding to a force of monstrous strategic missiles capable of a devastating nuclear first-strike on undefended American targets.

It was to correct this suicidal imbalance that President Reagan in March, 1983, gave the go-ahead for the Strategic Defense Initiative, or SDI, which critics have mislabeled "Star Wars." Not surprisingly, Moscow has turned its biggest propaganda guns on SDI, misrepresenting the planned non-nuclear space shield as an offensive system threatening a new arms race. What is surprising is that so many influential Americans bought the Kremlin line.

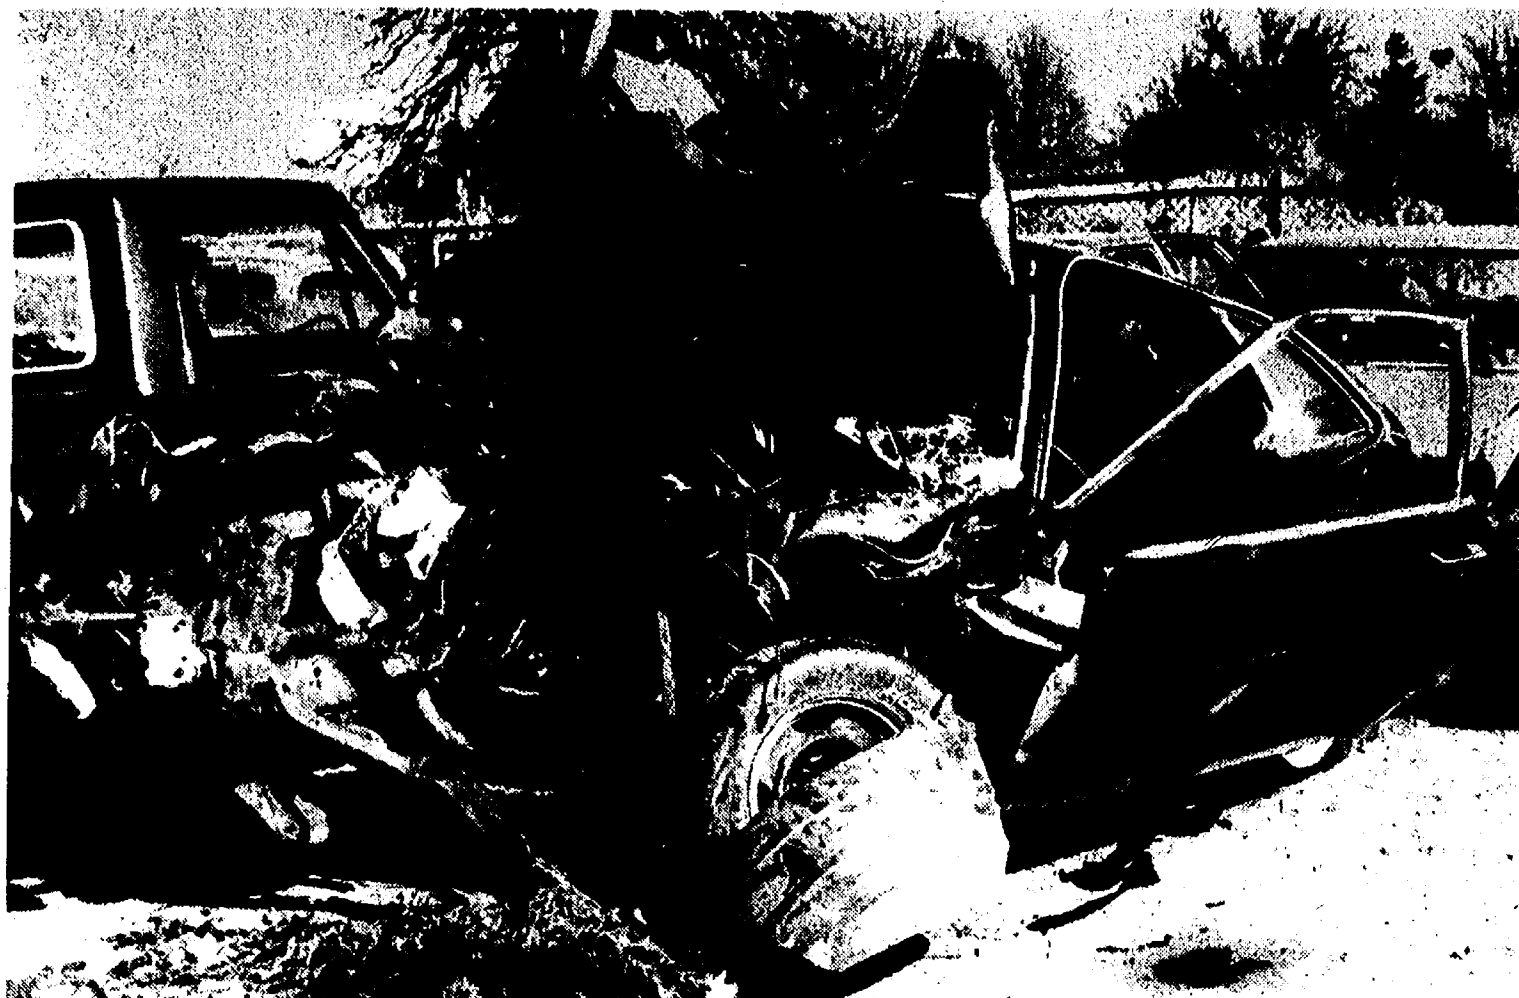

What Gorbachev is counting on is that SDI's critics in the U.S. Congress will keep the program grounded. Incredibly, many of our lawmakers, apparently swayed by Soviet-sweet-talk, seem determined to do just that.

INVESTIGATORS WERE MYSTIFIED as they attempted to target the cause of a fatal car-tree crash which Friday night, Oct. 27, claimed the life of Filiberto Martinez, Jr., a resident of Bunkerhill Rd., Pleasant Lake. What remains of the 1980 Ford Martinez was driving along North Territorial Rd., west of Dexter-Pinckney Rd., is shown above. No skid marks were evidenced at the crash site, leading Sgt. Harley Rider and his team of investigators from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department to theorize the driver may have fallen asleep. Martinez was transferred by Survival Flight from the crash site to University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Assoc. of Investors Corp.
& Consulting Editor, Better Investing

Q. My broker has suggested I buy some shares in a Master Limited Partnership for the purpose of obtaining higher income. He explained them a little bit, but I would appreciate it if you would make some comments about them.

A. MLPs are large limited partnerships, the interests of which are treated like shares of stock and traded on public stock exchanges just like shares of stock. They are an advantage because they allow the interest in large partnerships to be broken up into small pieces. The ability to trade them on an exchange gives the investment a liquidity that would not be possible if the interests were kept in large pieces.

Because they are partnerships, the organizations themselves do not have to pay an income tax like a corporation does and all the income flows through to the unit holders. This means the amount paid out to unit holders is larger than if the organization were a corporation. The investor should study an MLP just as carefully as he would any other investment before putting his money in it. The tax advantage is nice, but it doesn't guarantee the soundness of the investment.

Two MLPs were mentioned in Better Investing in October. Both were housing developers. One was Standard Pacific L.P. It is listed on the New York Stock Exchange. It has sold between 19 1/4 and 10 1/8 over the past year. In that year it has paid out $1.95 to unit holders. That has provided a 10.5% return to those at the high price end of the range. This company builds homes mostly in California. In 1988 it was building at 41 locations in California, eight in the Houston area and three near Dallas. I would not classify this as a retirement investment. We all know that home building is up and down and that means earnings will follow the same path.

Another MLP is UDC-Universal Development L.P. It develops and markets master-planned retirement and family communities in Arizona, California, Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas. Its recent price was 25 1/4 and for the past year it paid $2.40 or 9 1/2%.

If you want to obtain more information on MLPs including a summary of their main advantages as well as common investor concerns about them contact the Coalition of Publicly Traded Partnerships, Suite 200, 1825 K Street, N.W. Washington D.C. 20006.

Mr. O'Hara welcomes your questions and comments but will answer them only through this column. In several national surveys on employer perceptions of the benefits of child care programs, conducted between 1978 and 1983, an overwhelming majority reported an increase in productivity, morale, and loyalty, according to the U.S. Labor Department. The same studies showed a decrease in absenteeism, turnover and tardiness.

Physician's Shock-Absorbing Shoe Reduces Risk of Sports Injuries

Several years ago, a University of Michigan physician/bioengineer tried to develop a shoe that would provide the spring he needed to dunk a basketball.

Instead, he designed a new heel cushion for running shoes that dramatically reduces the high-impact forces that can cause injuries.

The cushion, which is used in several styles of athletic shoes, is a fluid-filled, two-chambered polyurethane pad built into the sole of the shoe. When the runner's heel hits the ground, the silicone-based viscous liquid in the rear of the pad is forced through two narrow channels into the front of the pad. The action dissipates the intense force generated when the heel strikes.

"Instead of just dampening the shock wave that travels up the leg, this pad actually redirects the shock wave so that it stays within the shoe," explains Daniel Barry, M.D., Ph.D., assistant professor of physical medicine and rehabilitation at the U-M Medical Center, who helped design the pad.

"The high-impact forces that have been associated with injuries in the knees and hips can be lessened by about 40 percent because this reduces the force that propagates up the leg and into the rest of the body," he says.

A runner lands with an impact about three times his body weight, Barry says. That jarring force, repeated over long periods of time, can result in a stress fracture, knee damage or back injury.

The fluid flow in the heel pad offers "custom cushioning" for different running styles: firmer cushioning for fast, high-impact running and softer cushioning for slower, easier running.

Barry introduced his idea for the heel cushion to biomechanical engineers at Michigan State University's Biomechanics Gait Lab. Working with the MSU engineers and the Michigan-based Brooks Shoe, Inc., research and design team, the idea came to fruition earlier this year.

The heel pad Barry designed for Brooks has received a positive review from "Runner's World" magazine and is available under the trademark HydroFlow in several styles of running shoes for men and women. Basketball, tennis, cross trainer/aerobic exercise and walking shoes with HydroFlow cushioning are now also available.

"Wasted" Energy Converted To A Spring Step

Barry also has been working on a system for Brooks, which may be available in shoes by the end of the year, that converts "wasted" energy from a runner's stride into additional spring in each step.

"The critical point about energy return is that the energy has to be returned at the right time. I think that the right time is not when the heel is still on the ground, but when you're coming off your toes," Barry says.

Barry came up with the energy return concept while a resident in the prosthetics clinic at the U-M Medical Center. There, prostheses are made with a carbon fiber material that provides shock absorption and energy return for amputees.

"The people who were using those prostheses would come back and say that their prosthetic limb performed better than their intact limb, and was there anything that could be done to put similar 'spring' in their good leg?" Barry recalls.

The carbon fiber is bonded with epoxy—a combination that provides durability in a thin, lightweight material which acts like a spring to return energy to the amputee.

Initially, carbon fiber layers were placed between an amputee's leg and the prosthetic device to provide shock absorption and energy return. Now the shaft of the prosthetic device also is made of carbon fiber material, which provides even more spring and cushioning at a much lighter weight.

"The carbon fiber material replaced the wooden fiber material about eight years ago," says James A. Leonard, Jr., M.D., associate chairman of the Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation and assistant professor of physical medicine and rehabilitation.

"Carbon fiber has spring in it and is very lightweight. Many prosthetic legs weigh 4 or 5 pounds; the use of carbon fiber material brought that down to under 3 pounds—a big difference for those who use prosthetic limbs," Leonard says.

One particular carbon fiber prosthetic leg for amputees who have lost a leg below the knee is being used in a clinical trial at the U-M Medical Center. Developed by CRP, Inc., in Salt Lake City, U., the Springlite leg has been used by eight patients, with more scheduled.

Barry's goal is to develop "a truly biomechanically designed shoe that gives an optimal interface between a person's foot and the running surface." Rather than selecting a shoe by size alone, buyers also can make a purchase based on how fast they run, the impact of their stride, their rhythm, their leg length and the way their feet turn while running.

But what about a shoe that will help the 6-foot-4 Barry get enough spring to dunk a basketball?

"I don't know what I'm going to do about that," he says. "It's the energy-return materials that I'm hoping will help me jump higher. It might work. I certainly haven't given up on it."

Is your health plan everything you bargained for?

You work hard. And you have a right to expect your health benefits plan to work just as hard as you do. It should be on the job when you're well, as well as when you're sick. And it should offer you the care of some of the best doctors in the area. That's why it should be Care Choices Health Plans, the health coverage plan that works.

Care Choices even works to save you money. Because with Care Choices HMO, you're covered for many kinds of preventive care, for only a small co-pay. That means your checkups are covered, and so are any immunizations, x-rays, or lab tests you or your family may need. And that adds up to a lot of good care, and a lot of savings over traditional health plans.

Of course Care Choices isn't just working to meet your needs today. You can count on it in the future, too. Because Care Choices also covers emergency care anywhere and hospitalization at some of the best hospitals around.

So talk to your benefits representative to be sure Care Choices is offered where you work. Or call 800-852-9780 or 313-489-6200 for more information. After all, you should have the security of knowing you'll get what you bargained for: a health plan that works hard for you today...and tomorrow.

Moore Life

By Barbara Moore

I wonder if genetic counseling is in order for my children and their potential mates. Members of our family are inclined to say and do strange things in the night.

It was late. I thought my 12 year-old was asleep when I went to tuck her in, so I was surprised when she spoke.

"Here, take my gum," Emily reached to hand me her gift. I opened my hand to receive the gum, but nothing landed in it.

"I fell asleep with it in my mouth," she said.

I thought I had missed the pass, so I began to pat the blankets, searching. It wasn't to be found. I tried to get Emily to get up and help me look, but she was too groggy to be any help.

My brain flashed images of gum stuck to sheets, blankets and hair, but I was exhausted, so finally I gave up and stumbled into the bathroom to get ready for bed myself. There, in the otherwise empty wastebasket, was a large, pink wad of gum.

The kid had been talking in her sleep.

It's a familial disease. We talk. We chatter. We speak gobbledeygook. Sometimes there is action involved. We have arm scratchers. We have laughers, who have been known to wake themselves and anyone else around, tickled by some delightful but nebulous dream that can't be recalled.

When the kids were babies, I used to dream that one of them was in bed with us (never true) and that the little tyke had gotten lost in the bedclothes. On several occasions I awoke, searching frantically through the blankets at the foot of the bed for a baby, who was sound asleep in his own bed.

The thing has continued through the years.

Not long ago my friend Linda was in town and since we're both single now, we had a lot to talk about. We were up late, discussing the conditions of our lives. I got sleepy beyond belief, but I didn't want to miss one of the rare opportunities we had to talk. I even nodded off once or twice, but I don't think she noticed.

Naturally the subject of men came up. I mentioned that the man I was dating had volunteered to play the piano accompaniment for a beautiful blond soprano in a local talent show, and that I was determined not to let any jealousy show. Yawn. Never mind that she had the face and body of a 25-year-old movie starlet. Yawn again. Prop open my eyes. Never mind that she had a voice like Barbara Streisand. I dozed, then shook myself awake. Never mind that she had a well-paying professional career. As I faded once more into the land of nod, I was barely aware that Linda was asking me what this Goddess of Golden Sound did for a living.

Now this nice lady is actually a clinical psychologist. Drat. But I knew in my heart of hearts what I wanted her to be.

Sound asleep, I told Linda matter-of-factly that she worked in a hot steamy shop, using huge presses to print slogans and pictures on T-shirts. That was all that I told Linda, but I can still remember the details of my dream: the singer's blond hair, with two-inch black roots, hung in wet strings over her face, her excessive eye makeup followed a river of sweat down the side of her chin, and as she raised her overly muscular arms to operate the press, it was evident that she adhered to European traditions regarding the shaving of one's underarms.

My comment describing this woman's job caused Linda to sit up and stare at me quizzically. "It doesn't seem like she would make very good money at that type of job. Does she own the company?"

I barely heard the question, but it was enough to wake me up. I groaned, and admitted that I had drifted off and had been talking in my sleep. I sheepishly told her the woman's real profession and then described the rest of my dream. It was good for a 15-minute howl.

In this age of enlightenment, I dare not conceal this strange affliction that affects our family. I'll just tell the kids not to bring it up on the first date.

Proposals A, B Are Topic Of Local Meeting Tonight

An information meeting on the two alternative school financing proposals will be held tonight, Nov. 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the Chelsea Board of Education Room.

The speaker will be Dr. Michael Emlaw, superintendent of the Washtenaw Intermediate School District.

Proposal A is a 1/2 cent increase in the state sales tax, and Proposal B is a 2-cent increase in sales tax and a reduction in property tax. A question-and-answer session will be held after Emlaw's presentation.

Chelsea School Board has officially endorsed Proposal B. Both proposals will be the subject of a special election Tuesday, Nov. 7.

THE SPIRIT OF HALLOWEEN was the topic of the day for children in the Enrichment Triad Program at South school on Friday and North school on Monday. Author Yvonne Sears, who wrote "Amanda's Halloween," was on hand to discuss her special interest in the day and her various projects that have evolved from it, including a game that featured pilgrims and witches.

"DISCOVER THE MAGIC WITHIN" was the title of a magic show presented to North school students by Jeff Waurzaszek of Mobile Education Productions last Friday. The magic show delivered a message about self-esteem and the dangers of drug abuse, using basic magic routines.

SPECIAL ED CLASS PRESENTS PLAY: Mrs. Gilbert's Special Education class, under the direction of Mrs. Yelsik, speech and drama teacher, presented the play, "The Dragon and the Princess," at Beach Middle school last Wednesday. Audience was Chelsea pre-school classes. Others were from Chelsea and Dexter High schools. The cast included Andy Lazorischak, Heather Parker, Tracey Keezer, Charlie Wiedman, Renee Laraway, Ben Gibson, Joy Gonyo, Benita Schnaidt and stage manager Chris Hainer.

Forest Floor Look Slated at Botanical Gardens Trail Walk

The Sunday trail walks at the Matthaei Botanical Gardens, on Nov. 5, will be exploring how and why plants grow where they do. Docents will be looking below the surface of the ground to relate various soil types with the plants which grow there. Various questions will be addressed, such as: Are there any ubiquitous plants which grow anywhere? Are there plants which are highly specific to the soils they grow in? How did a variety of soils develop in the first place?

All interested persons are welcome to join the walk. Meet at the steps to the Conservatory Building at 2 p.m. Dress for the weather and possible wet ground conditions. The walk will last approximately 1½ hours. Matthaei Botanical Gardens is located at 1800 N. Dixboro Rd., Ann Arbor, ¼ mile south of the Plymouth Rd. intersection.

Program Integrates Liberal Arts, Medical Education

The physicians of tomorrow can get a strong liberal arts education while pursuing a medical degree at the U-M, thanks to an integrated premedical-medical education program provided jointly by the Medical School and the College of Literature, Science and the Arts.

The seven-year program, called Inteflex, allows students to observe patient care at the beginning of their undergraduate education.

A special feature of Inteflex is a four-week course during the first year in which the student lives and works side-by-side with a physician. Since students are in medical school from the start, they have early opportunities to observe different health care systems and have a variety of clinical experiences that emphasize patient care.

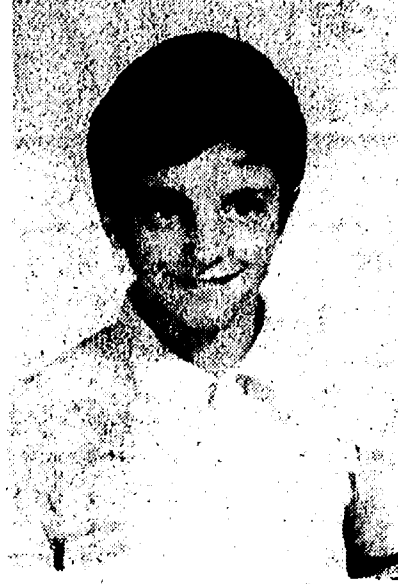

Inteflex, one of nine such programs in the United States, merges a broad selection of undergraduate studies with the sciences basic to medicine to provide an undergraduate degree with a biomedical sciences concentration, as well as a medical degree.

The first federal arbitration law was passed in 1888. It applied only to railroad workers and provided for voluntary arbitration by a presidentially appointed three-man board to arbitrate labor disputes, according to "Labor First in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

The skin is the largest organ of the body, accounting for about 16 percent of total weight.
