United Way Campaign Hits 84 Percent of Goal

Chelsea United Way Campaign had received 84 percent of the $35,000 campaign goal as of Friday, Nov. 10.

Industrial contributions, which make up the majority of each drive, totaled $15,056.84, with $22,989.50 in pledges to be collected. The total, $38,046.34, represents 45 percent of the campaign goal.

Individual contributions had totaled $4,495, with $2,612 in pledges to be collected.

Those numbers total eight percent of the campaign goal.

Business contributions had totaled $15,056.70, and $2,409 in pledges had yet to be collected. Those contributions and pledges total 21 percent of the goal.

Chelsea School District employees have given $670, with $2,809 in pledges to be collected. School district pledge and contributions total four percent of the campaign goal to date.

Civic groups and professional groups had given $100 and $500, respectively.

"I'm confident we'll surpass our goal by at least as much as we did last year," said campaign chair Blake Thomson.

Last year's pledges and contributions exceeded the goal by $4,382.07.

Chelsea Civic Foundation Holds Annual Meeting

The Civic Foundation of Chelsea held its annual general membership meeting last Thursday evening in the Woodlands Room at Chelsea Hospital. The meeting was better attended than last year and those who did attend enjoyed an evening of socializing with fellow members of the foundation as well as hearing a very informative speech by Ronald Demkowski, clinical director of Chelsea Community Hospital's Substance Abuse Program.

Following an hour of hors d'oeuvres and refreshments the meeting was called to order by Foundation president Willard Johnson. Johnson gave a brief overview of the actions of the Foundation during the past year as well as some historical background. The Civic Foundation of Chelsea, established in 1982, has as its purpose and objectives the "development and encouragement of the social, civic, cultural, educational, charitable, and community well-being of those who live in, and are employed in, or have an interest in the area generally defined as the Chelsea School District." The Civic Foundation Board has re-examined the mission statement during 1989 and determined that the Civic Foundation should continue along this pathway. The Foundation will examine grant requests and make available start-up funds for worthy projects.

Foundation treasurer Jeff Stommen gave the financial report outlining contributions to the Foundation thus far this year as well as disbursements made.

Grants made during 1989 include $2,000 to Chelsea Fire Department, $1,128 to Chelsea Together, and $1,500 to Chelsea Community Hospital.

Stommen was also largely responsible for assuring that the Civic Foundation is a certified Michigan foundation and, as such, contributors to the foundation will find that their gifts qualify for significant tax credits.

The State of Michigan has created a tax credit for 1989 to make Community Foundation gifts even better.

A 50% direct Michigan Income tax Credit, or Michigan Single Business Tax Credit applies to all gifts to certified Community Foundations up to: $100 for an individual taxpayer who is single, or married and filing separately; $200 for a married couple filing jointly; $5,000 or 10% of the tax liability before any credits (whichever is less) for a resident or trust; $5,000 or 5% of the tax liability before any credits (whichever is less) for businesses filing Single Business Income tax returns. In effect, stated Stommen, "this will allow most contributors to the Foundation to double their gifts this year."

Two board members whose terms have expired will be leaving the board this year. Membership chairperson Jackie Rogers and secretary Carol Kvarnberg have decided to make room for "new blood" on the board. Will Johnson announced that two new faces will join the board next year—they are Fred Mills and John Daniels. Officer nominations for next

BookCrafters Gives Plan To Village for Removing Silver from Wastewater

BookCrafters, Inc. has signed a consent agreement that details how the company will remove excess silver from its wastewater by the end of March.

Silver is a by-product of the photographic process used to manufacture books.

The village forced BookCrafters to sign the agreement after village technicians determined the company's wastewater exceeded the village's standard for silver discharge, sometimes by more than 200 times.

The danger, according to the village, is that too much silver will jeopardize the village's sludge program. Wastewater sludge, the material left after wastewater is cleaned, is applied to farmland as a fertilizer, but too much silver in the sludge could force the village to discard it in some other, more costly way.

According to data supplied to the village by BookCrafters, the company recovered more than twice as much silver in April of this year over May of 1988, from about 1,000 ounces to 2,000 ounces. However, in July of this year recovery increase to more than 8,000, before dropping back down to about 4,000 ounces in August and September.

In addition, the company said that "plant operating records indicate periodic unexplained releases of excessive levels of silver and cadmium. Similar findings have been reported by other printing companies. It has been theorized that these high concentrations of silver may be due in part to the build-up and break away of silver in the system."

According to a plan submitted to the village by the company, the primary remedial steps include the upgrading of silver recovery units on the company's three film processors (the principal source of silver), installation of dual cartridge filters on the silver recovery units, and the installation of a water filter panel on the rinse tank of each film processing unit.

The company has also ordered an automatic, continuous wastewater sampler to help determine the amount of silver leaving the building.

The company has also contracted with an environmental engineering firm to determine whether silver discharge standards can be met on a long-term basis.

According to John Evans, vice-president of manufacturing for BookCrafters, part of the problem is that the village's wastewater standards have changed substantially in the last five years. He said limits of silver discharge have been lowered by 10 times the previous allowable amount.

"In this business, we need to be 99 percent effective (in silver removal)," Evans said.

The company is also developing a monitoring program to determine whether the equipment purchases and other modifications make a substantial difference.

"Based on the preliminary engineering evaluation, it has been determined that additional data must be collected to confirm whether the equipment modifications that have been made will enable the facility to achieve compliance on a long-term basis," said the BookCrafters plan.

"As part of this evaluation, the facility will implement a 12-month monitoring program to confirm the efficiency of the silver recovery systems that have been installed; confirm that the operating modifications have reduced the silver in the developer and the rinse tanks; and study the plant's water balance and the impact the facility's discharge system has on the village wastewater treatment system."

Jeff Daniels Planning Local Chelsea Playhouse In Downtown Building

Local film actor Jeff Daniels has purchased the former Park St. home of Poma's Pizza, Park Street Produce, and various other enterprises over the years and plans to create a theater in the round for use by the community.

Daniels plans to manage the theater with Newell Kring, who has directed plays for Chelsea Area Players, and long-time friend Doug Beaumont.

Daniels said he envisions a theater of about 100 seats that would be used by Chelsea Area Players and many other area groups that might want to perform, such as ensemble comedy acts and "one-acts."

"The idea is to develop talent in the area," Daniels said.

"That's what I had when I started."

Basically, this would give kids out of high school or in their 20's a place to get started. This will be very off-Broadway. The Second City comedy troupe got started in an old Chinese laundry."

Daniels said he and his wife, Kathleen, started the project because "we were looking for something to do and we wanted to give something back to the community." Once they found the right building, and got assurances it could be renovated for handicap access and other concerns, he moved quickly on the purchase.

"You should have seen the paperwork flying," Daniels said.

Daniels plans to perform and write himself. In addition, he said it wouldn't be surprising if an occasional acting colleague shows up to perform with him. He said he'd like to have about six plays per year in the new theater, with the first one tentatively scheduled for next fall.

"Everyone keeps telling me that I should go back to New York and do plays because real actors do plays," Daniels said.

"That's crazy, and I hate New York. This will be great. I can drive to town, do a play, and go right home."

While the focus will be on the Chelsea community, Daniels said he won't limit the playhouse to Chelsea writers and performers.

Daniels said many of the plans for use of the building are still in the early stages. Physically, though, the theater will be located upstairs, and downstairs will be used for storage.

Former Chelsea Teacher Named Assistant High School Principal

Joseph Rossi, a former mathematics teacher in the Chelsea School District, will become the new Chelsea High school assistant principal.

Rossi, who has taught math at Saline High school since 1977, will begin work here as soon as his replacement is found. In any event, he'll begin work no later than Jan. 22, said superintendent Joe Plasecki.

Chelsea Board of Education approved the appointment Monday at their regular meeting.

Rossi, husband of North school teacher Jan Rossi, taught in Chelsea from 1969-77. He finished his educational specialist degree, specializing in educational leadership, at Eastern Michigan University last year.

The district allows spouses to work in the district as long as one is not supervising the other.

"I think a key factor for Joe is that he is familiar with the district and he lives here," Plasecki said.

The assistant principal is generally involved in disciplinary matters. Other areas of responsibility have included student activities, the calendar, planning, driver education, and working with the athletic department. Plasecki said some of those responsibilities could be modified after Rossi and new principal Ron Mead have a chance to review the position.

Community Thanksgiving Eve Service

A Community Thanksgiving Eve Service will be held at First United Methodist church, 128 Park St., on Wednesday, Nov. 22, beginning at 7 p.m.

Area ministers and laity will participate, and the sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Mark Weirauch, speaking on the theme: "Remember To Give Thanks!"

The service is sponsored by the Chelsea Ministerial Fellowship.

The Bell Choir from First United Methodist church will play several special selections, and worshippers will have an opportunity to "remember their blessings" during the service by writing down a few things for which they give thanks.

The offering has been designated for Hurricane Hugo Relief and for hymnals for the Cassidy Lake Technical School weekly services.

The community is invited to join together in giving thanks for all their gifts.

PROJECT OUTREACH, the recent survey of Chelsea School District residents, was completed last week by a team of 85 volunteers. 576 residents were questioned about their feelings and beliefs about a wide variety of school district issues. The results will be presented to the school board at their first meeting in January. Above, survey co-ordinator Jackie Rogers helps out volunteers Rita Neustifter, left, and Diane Johnson.

On the third day of Michigan's 1986 firearm deer season, two hunters were injured, one of them seriously, when they were shot in an open field near the intersection of M-52 and Waterloo Rd. near Chelsea. With darkness prevailing in the area designated as state-owned land in the Waterloo Recreation Area, the two hunters were hit by a single blast from a 16-gauge shotgun allegedly fired by a nearby hunter, who had come to the hunting area accompanied by his son.

An old-time street light was set up between Merkel's Home Furnishings and McKune Memorial Library as a kind of test of public reaction to plans by the Downtown Development Authority to install the light throughout the downtown area. Bob Merkel, along with John Mitchell, was investigating the possibility of replacing many of the downtown's street lights with the old-time lights.

Chelsea Community Hospital wanted to set up a community fitness center, complete with a swimming pool, exercise equipment, indoor track, racquet courts and aerobics classes among other features but it needed a little help. That was the conclusion that Phil Boham of the hospital's personnel department came to. He reviewed the responses sent in from a survey on the subject funded by the Chelsea Civic Foundation. The survey, which was included as the back page of the hospital's newsletter, "Echoes," was sent out as an insert in local newspapers. There were 623 responses from the 18,000 copies sent out.

Approximately 40 area residents greeted State Representative Mike Conlin Wednesday evening when he appeared at Sylvan Town Hall for some 2½ hours of discussion with his constituents. Much of the evening was taken up with discussion concerning the liquidation of the State Trust Fund for Veterans, which according to American Legion Commander Jim Knott amounted to $50 million. Representatives of both the Legion and the VFW and Ladies Auxiliary were present to voice their objections to the liquidation.

$106 in small change was taken from Foster's Men's Wear. According to Chelsea police reports, the missing cash was discovered by the store owner, Robert Foster, when he opened his store for business Monday morning. Police reported that entrance to the business was gained by pushing open two boards that covered a broken window located on the east side of the building. Once inside the store shed the rear doors to the store were pushed open.

One half hour later, the police had a lead that led them to a Sharon Township home where they found the suspect and arrested him.

Solomon Proposes Budget Cuts For Three More Departments

Three weeks after making controversial cuts to the Department of Social Services budget, Management and Budget Director Shelby Solomon has sent letters to directors of Corrections and Mental Health asking them to disclose underfunding and propose program reductions or transfers to cover expected shortages.

Also slated for reduction is the Public Health budget, which is currently being implemented. The department is reducing $2 million in programs that are funded annually by the Michigan Health Initiative, which is funded through taxes on cigarettes and computer software.

Solomon has said a shortfall in revenues from those taxes has resulted in the $2 million reduction.

Department of Mental Health Director Thomas Watkins said he received the directive from Solomon to review his budget and determine where shortfalls might be. But he said the letter did not indicate specific cuts would be made.

"I see it as we're constantly looking at where revenues and expenditures are. It's good solid management to be taking a look at revenues and expenditures. I view this as an ongoing planning document to assist the state and the department," he said. "I expect that Shelby and the department would hold us accountable to manage within our appropriation."

Watkins estimated between $8 million and $15 million worth of DMH programs, which represents between one and one and a half percent of the $1.2 billion budget, might be underfunded. And he did say cutting that budget might end up being one way to solve the shortfall.

Watkins added shortfalls within a budget are not uncommon, nor are the requests to address them.

"It shouldn't be perceived as unusual in any stretch . . . because we put the budgets together 12 to 14 months before we start operating with them. And things change," he said.

Watkins said Solomon requested the report be submitted by Nov. 17. Corrections director Robert Brown was unavailable for comment, but department spokesman Leo Lalonde said he was unsure where cuts would come from. "We're looking at it. We don't have any numbers," he said.

House Appropriations Mental Health subcommittee chair Joe Young Sr. (D-Detroit) questioned why only certain budgets were being reduced, and said the cuts should be across the board. "My position's got to be there's got to be cuts across the board in all agencies or there's going to be problems," he said.

However, Senate Appropriations Mental Health subcommittee chair Robert Geake (R-Northville) said he was going to reserve judgment until he sees where the budget cuts are made. "As long as they are of a general nature, such as a hiring freeze or delays in expansion of new programs," he would not challenge the reductions.

"But if (Solomon) tries to order specific cuts authorized by the Legislature, I believe the Legislature would object," Geake said.

Three weeks ago Solomon directed DDS Director C. Patrick Babcock to cut $45.9 million from the budget. The move enraged several legislators and caused the chairs of the House and Senate Appropriations Committees, Rep. Dominic Jacobetti (D-Negaunee) and Sen. Harry Gast (R-St. Joseph) to seek a ruling on the cuts from Attorney General Kelley. That ruling is expected in a week to 10 days, Geake said.

Higher Speed Limits Announced For Another 180 Freeway Miles

The Department of Transportation has announced speed limits on more than 180 additional miles of rural freeways in the state will be raised to 65 mph by early next year.

Transportation safety engineers said changes in the way federal highway authorities define an urban area will allow them to raise the limits. Freeways skirting the edge of metropolitan areas but that are rural in nature are most likely to see an increase in the speed limit, said William Lebel, department traffic operations engineer.

Lebel said the new definition will allow for more orderly, continuous speed zones that motorists will find more logical. The new speed limit on those freeway miles will not take effect until signs are installed, by the end of the current calendar year or early next year.

The department will continue to evaluate the safety of the newly designed 65 mph zones by continuing to monitor traffic volumes and accident data while working with the Department of State Police to ensure needed enforcement.

The department noted that approximately 1,175 miles of freeway in the state now operate under the 65 mph limit, including 750 miles of rural interstate and 425 miles of rural US-numbered freeways. The changes will increase the 65 mph mileage by almost 15 percent, to about 1,355 miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lee Paul Kristine Rose, Gary Paul Are Married in Manchester

Kristine Kay Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Rose of Manchester, and Gary Lee Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Paul of Manchester, were married Aug. 19 at Emanuel United Church of Christ in Manchester.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Paul Kuntzman. "Trumpet Voluntary" was played as the processional by Tammy Rhoades of Ann Arbor. Melanie Schneider and Robbie Schneider of Chelsea sang "Friends," "Perhaps Love," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride wore a white satin gown with a dropped basque bodice, accented with white hand beading. The dress also featured a rounded V neckline, ruffled sleeves, and a semi-cathedral train with lace and organza ruffle. She carried a cascading bouquet of peach roses, white mini-carnations, white freesia, baby's breath, and fresh ivy. Her veil was a wreath of silk flowers and pearls, with a waist-length veil.

Matron of honor was Cathy Ross of Crown Point, Ind. Bridesmaids were Debbie Walkow of Ann Arbor, Linda Segars of San Diego, Calif., Maro Petsch of Chelsea, and Heather Beech, cousin of the bride, of Portland.

The bride's attendants wore peach satin sheath dresses. They carried bouquets of peach mini-carnations, baby's breath, and miniature fresh ferns.

Best man was Bruce Paul of Manchester, brother of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Greg Lucas of Grand Lake, Allen Lee of Parma, and Mike and Kevin Rose, brothers of the bride, of Manchester.

The bride's mother wore a blush-colored, street-length dress of satin jacquard, with a stand-up collar and front panel of ivory Victorian lace. The bridegroom's mother wore a silver cocktail-length silk dress with an embroidered lace yoke.

A pig roast followed at the UAW Hall in Sylvan township. The couple arrived at the reception in a black 1987 Thunderbird convertible.

Lisa Sheats, friend of the couple, attended the guest book. Mary Ackerman and Judy Sorensen, godmothers of the couple, cut the cake.

The couple took a two-week honeymoon to the Canadian Rockies. They are residing in Manchester.

The bride is a graduate of North Sharon Christian school and the University of Michigan. She is a staff accountant for Deloitte, Haskins & Sells in Ann Arbor.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Manchester High school and is pursuing a degree in accounting at Eastern Michigan University.

Lioness Members Meet Lithophane Artist D. Jefferson

Manchester craftsman David Jefferson explained and displayed beautiful porcelain and china lithophanes at the annual Chelsea Lioness membership tea Monday evening, Nov. 13, at the TrustCorp bank.

Lithophane means "illuminated stone" in French. They serve as small lampshades, nightlights and ornaments and were displayed before candle flames in the 1800's. They prevented blindness back in those early days; the flickering of candles and fireplace light damaged the human cornea. To see the light through the china served to diffuse it and prevent blindness.

Lithophanes have detailed figures on them. They are almost 3-D, or photographic. It can take Mr. Jefferson a year to carve some of the master casts used to make them. He is only one of eight such craftsmen in the world and does work for Wedgwood and Lennox.

He has been commissioned by people all over the world, including our state governor; a limited edition of a decorative light was done in honor of our state's sesquicentennial.

Some of Mr. Jefferson's work may be seen at Greenfield Village, many museums and at his studio on Pleasant Lake Rd., or at the Village Shoppe in Chelsea.

The Lioness and guests appreciated the beauty of these fine collectibles and the opportunity to meet Mr. Jefferson. He is keeping alive a technical craft that dates from the start of the Industrial Revolution.

Guests attending the tea and lecture included Jane Brooks, Pat Tabaka, Lorrie Chlebek, Shirley Taylor, Anita Spears, Diane Satkovich Avery, Kathy Pratt, Karen Lentz, Sally Nicola, Jinx Bailey and Nancy Montagne. Refreshments were provided by Betty Severn, Judy Radant, Lu Kramer, Anne Lightfoot and Louise Likavec.

The Lioness' next event is a progressive Christmas dinner on Dec. 16. Different members will host hors d'oeuvres, the main course, and dessert.

Homemakers Club Enjoys Program on Gift Shopping

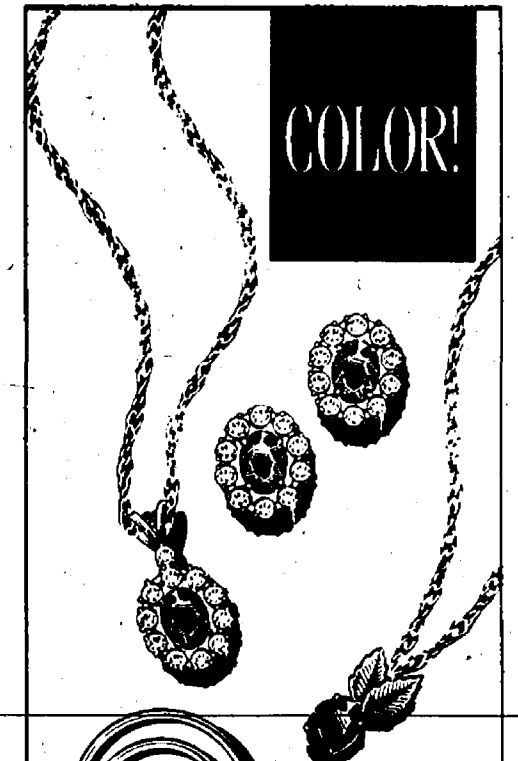

Shaded by cloudy skies, historic Lima Town Hall was the Nov. 8 meeting place of the Lima Extension Homemakers as they were greeted by their gracious hostesses, Alice Gardner and Adaline Stone. Sixteen members and two guests arrived between 10:30 and 11 a.m., carrying a luncheon dish special for a Thanksgiving meal.

Gift ideas from Daysprings were presented by Laurel Gravelyn as she unpacked what seemed like her whole store. Ideas were presented by Laurie for all occasions, and for all those folks we don't know what to do for.

A Thanksgiving luncheon, including a fresh baked turkey and all the trimmings, was enjoyed on festive fall decorated tables.

After lunch a business meeting was called to order to plan the Christmas luncheon Dec. 13 and to remind everyone of the Dec. 2 bazaar and "white elephant" sale at the extension office. Bazaar items will be accepted on Dec. 1 at Charlotte Inglis' and "white elephant" items should be delivered to Fran Coy before Dec. 1.

The Dec. 13 luncheon will be provided by Olive Wiseman at 12 noon in her home. Blythe Johnson, Myrtle Dancer and Katherine Reddeman will co-host.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Wayne Push

Susan Parrish, Anthony Push Marry May 20 in Ann Arbor

Susan Marie Parrish, daughter of Donald and Sally Parrish of Ann Arbor, and Anthony Wayne Push, son of Earnest and Emogene Push of Wolf Lake, were married May 20 in St. Mary's Student Chapel in Ann Arbor.

The Rev. William Stevenson performed the ceremony.

Readings were done by Cindy Downs of Ann Arbor and Betty Sullivan of Newbury Park, Calif.

The bride wore a white satin gown with a dropped waist and ruffled organza sleeves. The bodice was beaded with pearls and sequins. The gown had satin roses on the shoulders and skirt, and it had a cathedral-length train of organza ruffles. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, pink rosebuds, and baby's breath.

The maid of honor was Shelley Barnett of Ann Arbor. She wore a pink satin gown adorned with satin bows and lace. The full skirt draped over a satin underskirt.

Bridesmaids were Vicki Fullerton of Grass Lake, sister of the bridegroom, Lisa Miller and Anne VandenBelt of Ann Arbor, Pam Bullock of Kalamazoo, and Denise Barber of Trenton. They wore light blue gowns in the same style as that of the maid of honor.

The bride's mother wore a lavender Georgette gown with a dropped waist, sequined bodice and overblouse.

The bridegroom's mother wore an aqua Georgette gown with a jeweled neckline.

Flowergirls were Nicole Sullivan of Newbury Park, and Angela Fullerton, niece of the bridegroom, of Grass Lake. They wore white satin tea-length dresses with blue and pink satin bows.

Best man was Curtis Groll of Ann Arbor.

Groomsmen were Jerry Push, brother of the bridegroom, of Jackson, Steve and Mark Parrish, twin brothers of the bride, of Ann Arbor, David Cox of Chelsea, and Frederick Schneider of Ypsilanti.

Ringbearer was Michael Parrish, cousin of the bride, of Traverse City.

A reception was held at the UAW Hall in Sylvan township. Amber Fullerton, niece of the bridegroom, of Grass Lake, was in charge of the guest book. Cindy Downs and Denise Barber cut the cake.

The couple took a two-week honeymoon trip to Daytona Beach, Fla. They are residing in Ann Arbor.

Things To Be Thankful For

The good, green earth beneath our feet,
The air we breathe, the food we eat,
Some work to do, a goal to win,
A hidden longing deep within
That spurs us on to bigger things
And helps us meet what each day brings,
All these things and many more
Are things we should be thankful for...
And most of all our thankful prayers
Should rise to God because He cares!

—Helen Steiner Rice

Time for Bush To Play Hardball With Gorb

American newspapers and magazines are overflowing with "news" of economic stress in the Soviet Union. Actually the country has been in a mess ever since the Communist Revolution turned the nation into a slave camp in 1919. What is new under Gorbachev is the advent of public dissent, ethnic uprisings, miner's strikes, two-party elections and the opening of border barriers.

The continuing scarcity of foods and other consumer goods may at any time result in riots. Because of chronic breakdowns of Russian railroads, together with lack of usable roads to market, millions of tons of potatoes rot in the ground and grain crops stand unharvested in the fields.

Strangely enough, two percent of the land is allotted to farmers for their private use and profit. And it is this tiny splinter of free enterprise that manages to raise and deliver to market 25 percent of the potatoes sold there, plus one-third of other vegetables, meat, milk and eggs. Even so, these blessings are far too little for the mouths of 287 million people.

Across Soviet Europe and Asia hordes of citizens spend from one to two hours a day waiting in line to see what's left on the near-empty shelves of state-run stores. Elsewhere there are prime cuts of meat, choice foods, warm clothing, fur hats and a full range of necessities as well as luxuries. These are reserved for the four million men of the Soviet Army and elite members of the Communist Party hierarchy.

Hoarding is a national obsession and some goods such as soap, sugar and salt are rationed.

Black marketing is a giant industry operated by thieves and gangsters. They steal from state stores, often bribing officials and market employees. They also have hirelings who wait in line to buy choice items which are then black-marketed at substantial markups. The selling is done quite openly. U.S. News & World Report for Nov. 20 had a picture of a black market butcher on a street corner chopping a large chunk of beef with an axe. Another photo showed 17 people waiting in line at a state store; 15 were women. Although all Russian women work they are required by Soviet custom to do the shopping, run the household and attend to the children.

Soviet workers are one-half as productive as their American counterparts. This lack of productivity is caused in great part by layer upon layer of party bureaucrats who direct the state economy from the top down. Everywhere it is a story of management so befouled it would take a book to tell it all. Trains stand idle on sidings for months. Shipments are wildly misdirected. Factory orders are chronically balled up; a million shoes may be made for the right foot and none for the left. Heavy absenteeism due to alcoholism is rampant.

Currency is officially pegged at an exchange rate of one ruble for $1.60 but of late Soviet printing presses have been running day and night. The currency is so debauched that the actual value of the ruble is problematical, but the black market rate of exchange is currently 15 rubles for $1.

When it comes to the subject of communism, I am no Johnny-come-lately. Recruiters for the American Communist Party tried unsuccessfully to entice me (and other writers) during the Depression. Karl Marx, Friedrich Engels and Vladimir Lenin are all in my library. In 1946 it was my privilege to address the Park Ridge (Illinois) Chamber of Commerce where I delivered a sober but factual talk on the perils of communism, reported in The Chicago Tribune. Some readers may remember my column of April 16, 1986 in The Chelsea Standard on "Lenin: The Spreading Cancer." Today's subject, of course, is Bush and Gorbachev at Malta.

America's Demand on Moscow

Discussions on disarmament are a foregone conclusion and can wait until the next summit.

Early in their December conversations, President Bush should establish an American agenda priority of the greatest urgency. Using any kind of diplomatic language he chooses, he should tell the Russian leader, "The United States together with other democracies are fed up with Soviet attempts at world conquest by communism. Marxism is a disastrous failure everywhere it has been attempted. Communist revolutionaries are political arsonists on five continents causing America and its friends to waste lives and treasures putting out the fires.

"There is much that the United States can do for the Soviet people and we want to be of help. First, however, we have this demand and that is for the Soviet Union immediately to withdraw all support—financial, military and political—from Cuba, El Salvador, Nicaragua and the rest of Central and South America. The same demand applies to all other parts of the world but specifically to Ethiopia, Libya, Afghanistan, Cambodia and North Korea."

And how about the quid pro quo?

We and our trading partners will load the shelves of Soviet markets with food, sugar, salt, soap and cleaning supplies, medicines and sanitary needs, clothing, appliances and toys. We will deliver hundreds of billions of dollars worth until the Soviet Union becomes able to produce most of these needs for itself.

For free? No and not entirely on credit.

Those legions of consumers waiting in line across two continents have enormous amounts of unspent rubles hoarded in savings accounts and in mattresses. First, let these family billions come out of hiding to make payments as the original shipments of imports arrive. When those hoarded funds dwindle we would expect a portion of imports be paid in Soviet exports such as gold from Russian mines as well as oil and gas from Soviet wells.

American bankers are still licking their wounds from incautious loans to foreign governments in the '80's. Certainly credits to the Soviet bloc and Eastern Europe will be approached with more caution. We can renew the Soviet status of most-favored-nation as we have already done with Hungary. We can open access to the Export-Import Bank and pave the way for membership in the World Bank and other sources of international credit.

A New Beginning

After Canada and Mexico the Soviet Union is our third nearest neighbor. The boat trip across the Bering Strait from Alaska to Elen, Siberia is only 74 miles—less than the distance from Chelsea to Kalamazoo.

It is in our interest to help rehabilitate the economy of this neighbor which is the largest country in the world and a potentially profitable trading partner. It's just that we should watch our step. There is no point at all, for instance, in rescuing the Soviet Union from its current troubles unless they totally dismantle their behemoth central communist bureaucracy. This may involve the re-positioning of as many as 10 million managers and staff who have screwed up every requirement of an orderly economy. There are the unbuilt roads, stalled rail systems as well as unmanufactured trucks and farm tractors. Perhaps the old bureaucrats can be retrained for such activities but it won't be easy. For 70 years they were faithful followers of Murphy's Law: If anything can go wrong, it will.

Two-Vehicle Crash on Waterloo Rd.

A two-vehicle crash occurred at 4:28 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 11, on Waterloo Rd., just east of Cassidy Rd., when Renee Boykins of Detroit, proceeding southbound on Cassidy Rd. turned onto Waterloo Rd. and as she edged onto the roadway, failed to yield to an oncoming vehicle, driven by Sayre Clive Masten of Sugar Lake Rd.

Sgt. Joseph Yekulis, who investigated the crash for the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, explained in his report of the incident, the driver of the first vehicle suffered minor injuries for which she declined treatment at the crash scene.

The vehicle driven by Masten struck the other automobile, rotated right, and sustained secondary contact damage when its right side yawed into the left rear of the first car.

Yekulis cited Ms. Boykins for failure to yield to oncoming traffic.

Both vehicles were removed from the scene by Smith's Service.

Michigan Farmers Would Benefit from

Winter Seaway Shipping

The St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. is looking into the feasibility of adding a winter port in the hopes of boosting year round shipping on the Great Lakes. That would benefit Michigan farmers, according to Bob Craig, economist for the Michigan Farm Bureau.

"That would certainly allow us to be competitive in the export market in particular and would allow a more even flow and stability in our market prices," he said.

Now Great Lakes shipping is shut down by ice from about mid-December to the end of March. "We notice that bids do drop off once the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway shipping is closed down for the year," Craig said.

Albany, N.Y., has been suggested as a possible winter port, because it has deep water and good railroad connections.

CHS Class of '80 Slates Meeting for Reunion Plans

Chelsea High school class of 1980 will hold a third meeting to discuss plans for their 10th year reunion on Thursday, Nov. 30 at 7:30 p.m. at the Wolverine. Classmates interested in helping with preparations are encouraged to attend.

Organizers hope to have more detailed information in the mail to classmates by February, 1990. Again, anyone reading this article who has an address of a classmate that is no longer in the area is urged to phone Debbie Honbaum Bourdon at 878-3274 or Jamie Atkinson Seyfried at 475-2002, evenings.

There have been some changes in the preliminary plans and organizers would like classmates to be aware of them. The reunion will be held July 21, 1990 at Weber's Inn in Ann Arbor. A picnic will be held the following day at an as yet undecided location. These changes were necessitated by outside factors that organizers had no control over.

For those classmates who attended the second meeting, let this be a reminder to bring those addresses with you.

Let's Go

Bulldogs!

Dog Rally Falls Short As Titans Take District Title

Chelsea Bulldogs were eliminated from post-season basketball play last Friday in the finals of the district tournament as the Jackson Lumen Christi Titans took a 46-40 victory in the Chelsea gym.

Lumen Christi, the number two-ranked team in the state, trailed only in the opening minutes as the Bulldogs posted a 4-0 lead on two Allison Brown field goals. However, the Titans scored 15 straight unanswered points to lead 15-4 at the end of the first quarter and put the Dogs in a hole they couldn't quite climb out of. Chelsea didn't get closer than three points the rest of the way.

The Bulldogs appeared a little rattled early as they committed a variety of turnovers, and the Titans took advantage of them.

"We had the opportunities but we didn't take advantage of them," said Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter.

"I told the girls going in that Christi would be very streaky and they'd let us back in the game. We did a real nice job of getting back in it, but I've got to give Christi credit, they didn't break. I thought that if we could have cut their lead to one point, it may have been a different story."

Chelsea out-scored the Titans, 19-13, in the second quarter, capped by Carrie Flintoft's long jumper from the corner at the buzzer. From there on, the teams played virtually even basketball.

In the final 90 seconds, Rosentreter wanted his girls to send Christi to the line. However, the Titans managed to play keep-away effectively enough that it was difficult for the Bulldogs to foul. On offense, Rosentreter wanted the Dogs to take three point shots, but that didn't work out either.

"I was really proud of the way the girls handled getting behind early," Rosentreter said.

"They could have completely fallen apart in such a big game. I'm proud of their effort."

In the end, the difference in the game was at the foul line as each team had 18 field goals. The Bulldogs, who had problems all addition at the line, made 4-10 shots. The Titans made 10-18 tries, including 7-8 by all-state center Andrea Kimball.

Most other statistical categories were about even. Christi held a 35-29 rebound advantage, and Chelsea had one more turnover, with 14.

Kimball and Chelsea center Allison Brown led their teams with 23 and 20 points, respectively.

Other Chelsea scorers included Flintoft with nine, Scharme Petty and Colleen Scharphorn with four each, and Kristin Bohlender with one.

Flintoft had a team-high 10 rebounds.

Chelsea qualified for the finals by knocking off the Tecumseh Indians in the semi-finals on Wednesday, 35-32.

The Indians took the early lead, 15-12, but went dry in the second quarter as the Chelsea defense held them to two points.

Neither team played particularly well in the second half.

"In the fourth quarter it seemed that both teams were playing not to lose rather than to win," Rosentreter said.

Chelsea missed 6-9 free throws in the second half, including two one-and-one situations, and made 7-17 for the night.

The Indians shot just one free throw all night and missed it, which partly reflects the outside game the Indians employ.

Brown led the Dogs with 10 points, and Flintoft, Mercedes Hammer, and Shawn Losey each scored six. Scharphorn scored three, Bohlender had two, and Petty scored one.

Chelsea finished the season at 18-5, with three losses at home and two on the road.

ALLISON BROWN takes a tough jump shot in heavy traffic during last Thursday's district final game against Jackson Lumen Christi. Brown scored 20 points but the Bulldogs lost by six points.

COLLEEN SCHARPHORN takes a short jump shot with three Titan hands in her face during last Friday's district title game between Chelsea and Jackson Lumen Christi. Chelsea lost to the number-two ranked team in the state.

SHAWN LOSEY drives down the lane against Jackson Lumen Christi during first-half action last Friday night. Chelsea fell way behind early, which proved to be their downfall.

8th Grade Pups Take Two Wins

Chelsea Bullpup eighth grade basketball team topped Saline and Dexter in action last week.

Chelsea beat Saline 35-26 on Monday, Nov. 13. The Pups got off to a fast start, grabbed a 10-5 lead in the first quarter and never trailed.

"We were able to control the tempo of the game in the early going of both the first and second halves and our solid defense in the second half allowed us to maintain our lead with our scoring slowed down," said Pup coach Jim Tallman.

The Pups had a balanced scoring attack led by center Pat Steele's 10 points. Forward Gabe Bernhard, and guards Cory Brown and Colby Skelton each scored six points, forwards Chris Gibson and Nate Mackinder each scored three, and guard Matt Powell had one.

Tallman praised the defensive play of Brown, Bernhard, and Skelton.

In the Thursday, Nov. 16 game at home against Dexter, the Pups took an easy 53-25 victory. They out-scored Dexter 19-0 in the first quarter and had no problem the rest of the way.

"This was a game in which everything came together for one of our finest victories in two years," Tallman said.

"Our defense was spectacular."

The Pups scored 19 points in each the first and third quarters as the starting team had a field day.

Skelton and Steele led the Pups with 16 and 13 points, respectively. John Steffenson, Bernhard, and Cory Weid each had four points, Dave Brock had three, Dave Beeman, Mackinder, Powell, and Brown each scored two, and McVittie scored one.

Diver Debby Webb Earns All-State Honors at State Swimming Meet

Chelsea Bulldog senior diver Debby Webb became an all-state diver last Saturday as she took fourth place in the state swim meet in Grand Rapids.

Webb had her best 11 dives ever and scored the highest number of points for Chelsea in a meet marked generally by good Chelsea performances but little to show for them.

"Debby worked hard all year and it really paid off," said diving coach Eric Burris.

"She ends her high school career on a real high and possibly will start an even more impressive college career."

Head coach Dave Jolly said he had hopes his team could finish as high as 12th. However, that idea quickly vanished when the 200 medley relay team was disqualified for a false start. Melissa Thiel, Michelle Hollo, Erika Boughton, and Kelly Cross swam a time of 2:00.57, their best time by more than a second. Hollo cut nearly a second off her best time.

Boughton put herself in 12th place for the consolation finals of the 200 freestyle. In the finals she swam her season-best time of 2:07.26 for 10th place.

"Erika did not swim an impressive race on Friday but Saturday she looked like the swimmer I had seen all year," Jolly said.

Jolly said that Thiel swam well in both of her events but did not place.

"Melissa's swim was definitely a learning experience for next year," Jolly said.

Thiel clocked a 2:23.59 in the 200 individual medley for 13th place and a 1:08.06 in the 100 backstroke, a personal-best time.

Kelly Cross continued to improve, Jolly said, as she was the only double-scorer in the meet for Chelsea and set two Bulldog varsity records in the process. She swam a :25.66 in the preliminaries of the 50 freestyle and placed 12th over-all in the finals. She took 12th again in the 100 freestyle with a time of :56.10.

Sherry Dukes, next year's top diver, also participated in the meet and showed great improvement, Burris said.

"Sherry missed one dive and at the state meet level, that is all it takes to be bumped out," Burris said.

Jolly said he's already beginning to look forward to next year when, "I expect great things from these young ladies."

7th Grade Cagers Win First Two

Beach Middle school seventh grade basketball team opened the season on Monday, Nov. 13 with a 23-22 win over rival Saline.

Chelsea took an early lead and finished the first half with a 14-10 advantage. In the third quarter, the Hornets rallied to take an 18-16 lead.

However, a Chelsea half-court trap press forced a turnover and the Pups were able to regain the lead.

Josh Inwood was the leading Chelsea scorer with five points and the leading rebounder with six. Case McCalla and Matt McVittie each had four points. Coach Charlie Waller said Jim Tallman and Bryndon Skelton played strong defense for the Bulldogs, and Dirk Wales was excellent at point guard.

On Thursday, Nov. 17 the Pups hosted Dexter and took a 21-16 victory.

Chelsea trailed throughout the first quarter but took a 7-6 lead just before the buzzer. Chelsea led from there on. "The key to the game was tough defense," Waller said.

"Josh Inwood shut down the Dexter center with just two foul shots after he had scored six points in the first quarter. This clearly turned the game in our favor."

Tom Hubbell also was instrumental in Chelsea's inside defense. Skelton, Wales, Tallman, and Chad Brown provided good defense at guard.

Jon Michael led Chelsea in scoring with six points. Wales scored five and Skelton and Brown had three each. Hubbell and Tallman scored two points each.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Although the Chelsea Bulldog girls basketball team didn't quite make it to the regional play-offs this season, as they did last year, in my mind their accomplishments this year are just as impressive.

Coach Rahn Rosentreter had two returning starters in Allison Brown and Carrie Flintoft, a few varsity girls who saw little action last season, and a host of inexperienced though talented girls off last year's excellent junior varsity team. He had lost his starting point guard, the only girl who could reliably bring the ball up court. He had lost one of his leading rebounders and team leaders. And he had lost his leading scorer. This year's team was also beset by off-the-court problems.

Yet the girls won the Southeastern Conference championship outright for the second straight year, and made their third straight appearance in the district finals. They came close enough to make it an interesting game last Friday against Jackson Lumen Christi, the number two team in the state. A couple of breaks here and there might have given Chelsea an improbable upset. What primarily set Chelsea and Christi apart was experience. Most of the time the Bulldogs had four juniors on the floor, while Christi had four or five seniors.

Congratulations to the team on a fine season.

The success of the varsity girls basketball team the last three seasons is not only a credit to the girls and Rosentreter, but the entire program, from varsity down to seventh and eighth grade.

Ann and Jon Schaffner give the girls their first taste of competitive basketball at Beach Middle school, and Paul Terpstra teaches excellent fundamental basketball at the junior varsity level. Rosentreter would be the first to admit that by the time the girls get to the varsity, most of the basic work has already been done.

Anyone who is connected with the Chelsea basketball program knows about the controversy that has swirled around the JV program this year. Parents have called for Terpstra's head yet as of this writing, he is still the coach. I've heard some amazing stories about this whole business and I can't say that I'm positive any of them are completely, or even partially, true.

However, a couple of observations. Although I can't pass judgment on the way Terpstra coaches because I have never actually seen him coach, his record speaks for itself. By the time his girls get to the varsity level, they know basic basketball, but just as important, they know how to win. With the exception of this season, year in and year out his teams have won the majority of their games. I have also had parents of former players tell me their children now regard Terpstra as the best coach they ever had. I say "now" because sometimes these realizations don't become apparent until you can gain a little perspective.

I had a Spanish teacher in high school who was one of the most disliked people around because his classes were exceptionally difficult—on everyone, no exceptions. Every night he gave far more homework than anyone could possibly handle and he was universally regarded as being unfair. At one time or another, he made us all feel inept and told us we weren't trying hard enough. But, I'll tell you what. By the time we got through his senior Spanish class, most of us could take college-level tests and be exempt from much or all of the foreign-language requirement, even though most of us were making B's and C's in his class. There were almost no A's.

I don't know whether that analogy applies to Terpstra, but it's my impression that it does. He's a tough, demanding coach, and some people don't like it. He's trying to get the kids to reach hard for a goal, even if many of them only want to have fun playing basketball. Then the parents step in and all hell breaks loose, and some parents go to extremes.

I can't say I have an answer to this situation. But I hate to see it come down to a tussle between parents and the coaching staff, with the kids in the middle.

I guess my jinx-casting abilities can't stand the weather.

If you recall, sometime in October I mentioned that the girls cross country team had a realistic shot at a state title. I'm happy to report that comment did not cause the girls to fold up the tent. However, we all know what will happen if I write anything like that about the softball team. First crucial game that comes along, they are as good as shut out.

While the fall sports successes belonged to the girls, the winter successes will belong to the boys (partly, of course, because the girls only have one sport to choose from).

Let's see whether this jinx-casting ability is a warm-weather phenomenon.

Robin Raymond's varsity basketball team has its best shot in years to win the district title, assuming everyone stays healthy. And the funny part about it is, they may not win the Southeastern Conference. Pinckney and Tecumseh will both be exceptionally strong.

Kerry Kargel's wrestling team should also be strong, maybe one of his best teams ever. Prediction: a league title and a very strong showing in the post-season.

IT WAS ALL IN THE FAMILY for these local hunters who took four nice bucks on the first two days of firearms season last week while hunting together. From left are Lynn Mida, Roger Fry, and Robert Mida. Lynn shot his 10-pointer on Wednesday, Nov. 15 at 8:15 a.m. from about 80 yards and found the deer about two hours later. Fry took both of his 6-pointers on Thursday at about 7:20 a.m. and 7:40 a.m. from about 40 yards. He was gutting the first one when the other walked by. Robert got his 4-pointer on Wednesday about 7:20 a.m. from about 80 yards. All deer were taken on a farm north of the village.

Most Improved award went to the third doubles team of Julie Weiss and Becky Vetter.

Freshmen receiving awards were Vetter, who received a first-year varsity letter and numerals, and Erin Boyle, who received a junior varsity letter and numerals.

Palmer Ford Sponsoring Drive For Christmas Toys

Palmer Motor Sales, Inc. is sponsoring a "Toys for Tots and Teens" Christmas toy drive for children in the Chelsea area.

Toys collected will be distributed through Chelsea Social Services, which last year provided gifts for more than 25 families with children aged 13 and under.

Anyone who would like to donate to the drive, through Dec. 8, should bring new, unwrapped toys to the Palmer showroom at 222 S. Main St. Hours are Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday nights until 6, Monday and Thursday until 9, and Saturday until 1 p.m.

The goal is to fill the back of a pickup truck.

Senate Bill Hopes To Preserve Farmland At Waste Disposal Site

State Senator Nick Smith has introduced a bill that would encourage the re-establishment of agricultural land displaced by Michigan's proposed low level radioactive waste disposal site.

Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau, said the measure continues a trend in state and federal government recognition that farmland is a resource that needs to be preserved whenever possible.

"It's not just a land surface that we're talking about," he said. "In fact, when we do build in a community something that takes agricultural land out of production, there are some domino effects that occur. There can be one less farmer to purchase a tractor, or buy nuts and bolts at the local hardware store."

The bill creates a farmland equity adjustment program to encourage the continuation of agriculture in the disposal site area.

Penny Candy

NORTH SCHOOL CANNED FOOD DRIVE for Faith In Action was co-ordinated by fifth graders in Barbara Brown's class. Each student worked with other classrooms to collect the food and bring it to a central location. The school collected about two cans for every student. Students in the class include Jackie Bowling, Melissa Carty, Courtney Chamberlain, Ryan Chase, Barney Culver, Heather Dehn, Patrick Flynn, Kristin Gaunt, Amy Herrst, Sam Hunt, Andrew Kargel, Kyle McCalla, Jamelle Pierson, Jason Potter, Angela Pratt, Beth Redding, Brandon Renton, Paul Richards, Kevin Rodriguez, Jamie Roush, Jay Schick, Aaron Sporer, Nathan Taylor, and Beth Vogel.

MIKE BASSETT operates the Chelsea Milling Co. baler as Chelsea's milk jug recycling committee created two bales of about 6,200 milk, cider, and water jugs totaling 920 pounds on Saturday, Nov. 11. The committee estimates that it will be able to collect its first ton of jugs by Christmas. The plan is to use proceeds from the program to purchase a park bench manufactured from recycled plastics. Anyone participating in the school district program is asked to discard caps, thoroughly rinse, and crush each jug. Clear jugs are not acceptable because they are made from a different kind of plastic. ACO Hardware, Polly's Market, and Ames Department Store have donated garbage bags, but the many people who are donating their time and space for storage are the people who are making their program a success.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, Nov. 20, were Comeau, Wales, Feeney, Cherem, Eisenbeiser, superintendent Piasecki, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Mead, Stielstra, Benedict, Wescott, community education director Rogers, curriculum director Bissell, special education director DeYoung, athletic director Welton, guests.

Entered as an official communication was a letter from a district resident concerning recent letters to the Editor of The Chelsea Standard. Superintendent Piasecki updated the Board on the progress of the district-wide opinion survey which commenced on Nov. 13. Approximately 130 volunteers have called approximately 800 registered voters to seek their opinions on various aspects of the Chelsea schools. Results of the survey will be tabulated by Project Outreach and a report to the board is expected by early January.

Piasecki briefed the board on the proposed Patterson-Anderson Tax Limitation Amendment. This school finance proposal was drawn up following the failure of Proposals A and B, and a petition drive is expected to be conducted to have it placed on an upcoming ballot.

The board was apprised of a recent accident at a building trades site in Saline. Chelsea's instructor Dick Lutz is expected to be off the job for approximately two months.

Curriculum director Laurie Bissell presented a progress report of the work of the math curriculum committee. Several teachers were present to explain the committee's philosophy and goals and objectives in the teaching of math.

Superintendent Piasecki discussed with the board the recent school-ranking report of Public Sector Consultants, Inc.

The board approved the low-interest bid of Chelsea State Bank on the $600,000 tax anticipation loan, and authorized the board secretary and treasurer to sign the necessary documents.

The board approved eight mini-grant awards as recommended by the Central Curriculum Committee. The awards ranged from $100 to $648.

The board approved the appointment of Joseph Rossi as assistant high school principal.

HOWARD KEMNITZ of Chelsea headed the Consumers Power Co. United Way Campaign this year and company employees contributed $388,000, a 4.2 percent increase over last year with 203 fewer employees. Employee participation was 95 percent. Kemnitz is manager of hydro and system operations for the company.

WHO IS GOD? (part 4)

Through technology we have put man on the moon. Through medical research we have discovered the cure for many diseases, and can treat thousands of illnesses that would have been fatal 100 years ago. We now have personal computers that can process ten million instructions per second, formerly only large mainframe systems were capable of such power. Also, we see P.C. laser optic disk, on the horizon, that can store gigabytes, or billions of characters, on a single disk. No doubt man's technology has vaulted him to heights that 100 years ago were unimaginable, but if you want to think of something that is truly out of man's usurpation think of the omniscience of JEHOVA. As men tend to place themselves on a plateau for their impressive accomplishments 1 Corin. 1:29 should put man in perspective as it states, "Because the foolishness of God is wiser than men; and the weakness of God is stronger than men." There are times when we all should hear JEHOVA's rebuke to Job, in Job 38:4 "Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? declare, if thou hast understanding." It is amazing at a time when we have so many questions such as: who is man?; what does the future have in store for him?; and where is his final destiny?; we never seem to ask our heavenly Father, who according to 1 John 3:20 "...knoweth all things." Man, in his search for knowledge, becomes more and more self dependent, rather than God-dependent. It is important to learn from the example that Jesus Christ has left for us, in order to find the answers to questions that confuse us. He, being a man like you and I, had questions as well, for in Luke 2:46 we see him sitting in the temple "...both hearing and asking them questions." We also know he did not have an innate understanding of God's word, for according to Luke 2:52 he "...increased in wisdom and stature." Christ gathered wisdom and knowledge, but not earthly wisdom, but according to Isaiah 11:3 "the spirit of the Lord would rest upon him, and make him of quick understanding.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

Here we are, all of us, about to begin the Holyday Season with Thanksgiving Day. This is tradition of the forefathers of this beautiful America, and the flame is kindled within each of us this season each year. Hurrah for tradition!

Thanksgiving begins the celebration of the birthday of the Christ Child. Oh, we have called it under different titles but the bottom line meaning is still there, "giving, caring, sharing, reaching out and touching others." This special season is one where the spotlight on "self" is shut off, and the light shines on others in our lives in a very special way where each is surrounded with this wonderful sense of peace and joy.

Before, Jesus' birthday remembrance, we have this day set aside on the calendar that man calls "thanksgiving." What a neat idea. A time set aside to share with family, friends and a time to appreciate one another and a very particular moment to raise our eyes and voices and hearts to heaven and with all humility, say "Thanks, Father, for what is, and for all You have given to me since last Thanksgiving to live hand and hand with You."

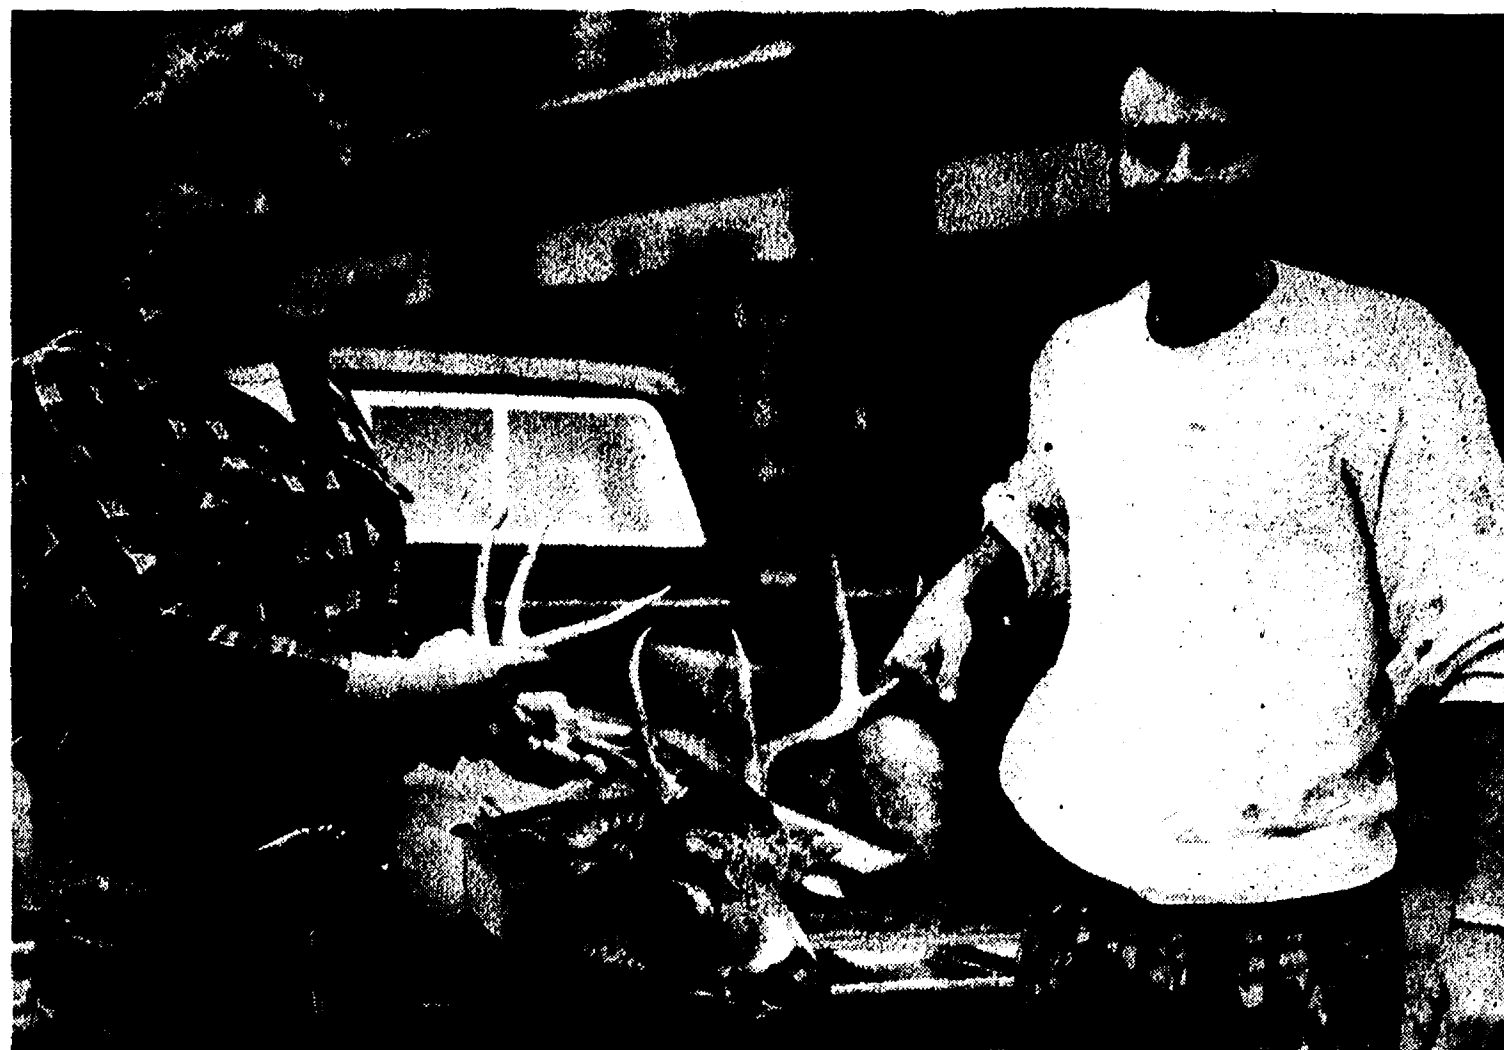

Some say the Hugo hurricane and the San Francisco earthquake are scientific phenomena, but for Christians it is the Hand of God touching us all due to the explicate television coverage. In just a mere 15 seconds all those things we hold as dear in lives was swept away and changed forever. Others will say "God is love, why does He permit tragedy to happen to His very own children?" Because, we are human, and sometimes our values are not in proper order, so our Loving Father stops a world in its tracks in just 15 seconds of time. Telling all of us "count your blessings."

Now is the time, not only Thanksgiving Day, but everyday fill your heart with Thanksgiving for all that happens each day. So many times, it's not so easy to look beyond a heartbreak or the loss of a loved one, or cancer, or loneliness, and say "Thanks, God." Maybe if we just talked to God, and said "Father we do not understand Your wishes in what is happening to us right now in this special problem we carry, but You know and see what human eye and heart do not, and You will bring good from all things that happen, so as Your child, thank you. Please give us patience and Your hand in our's and let us walk together."

For those readers, Mr. Editor, who may be addicted to drugs, or alcohol you have tried everything else, why not try God in your life, now? For you who have lost a loved one, this year since last Thanksgiving, and you find an empty chair at your table, remember this, that one you love so deeply is never any further away from you than a thought, and a prayer. No other human being can take that loved one's place ever, but God knows and loves as well, each of us. Your loved one is in His almighty hands and in your heart and thoughts forever. Give Thanks. Peace and joy will follow.

Happy memories, happy hearts, and a Blessed Holy Day Season to each and everyone. Let us make this special spirit of this season live and last each day till we celebrate another great day we call "Thanksgiving."

Mrs. Millie Warner.

ISHMAEL PICKLESIMER, JR., left, bagged this 8-point buck just north of Manchester on opening day last Wednesday at about 8 a.m. The animal dressed out at about 200 pounds. Right is hunting partner Jeff Starkey of Fenton. Ish's brothers went hunting in northern Michigan, hoping to get the first deer in a friendly rivalry that continues.

OF ALL THE DEER brought to The Standard this season, Gar DeVoe's 12-pointer is probably the biggest. He shot the animal in his back yard last Friday at about 5 p.m., about half a mile off Old US-12 west of town. It was his first deer, and it weighed 220 pounds dressed out.

THIS EIGHT-POINT BUCK was taken by Jim Hadley of Waterloo in the Waterloo Recreation Area last Friday about 5:15 p.m. He shot the 140-pound animal from about 90 yards. At the time, wind chill factor was about 10 below zero.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES:

What Is Future of The Panama Canal?

By Philip C. Clarke

As with Alice in Wonderland, events in Panama keep getting "curiouser and curiouser." Despite the outrage that erupted after October's bungled coup against General Manuel Antonio Noriega, the most critical issue of all remains hidden away like a skeleton in a Washington closet. That issue is the future of the Panama Canal.

Under terms of the 1977 Canal treaties, signed by then President Carter and Noriega's predecessor, the late General Omar Torrijos, the vital waterway is to be completely turned over to Panama on Dec. 31, 1999. That's just 10 years and a month from now. And under the gradual phaseout of U. S. control as required by the treaties, the chairmanship of the bilateral, quasi-government commission that manages the Canal will pass from an American to a Panamanian next Jan. 1. As things now stand, that Panamanian official will be named by Noriega.

Sooner rather than later, official Washington will have to face the alarming prospect of the U. S.-built Canal falling under the control of Noriega, or a successor who is as bad or worse. Even if the corrupt, drug-indicted Noriega goes, the likelihood is that another military strongman will be put forward by the 13,000-man Panama Defense Force, de facto ruler of the Central American country for the past 21 years. Meantime, the U. S. is treaty-bound to sever all involvement in the Canal and its operations by the year 2000.

The dilemma is largely of Washington's own making. In 1978, when General Torrijos balked at accepting the treaty amendment (by Arizona Senator Dennis DeConcini) giving the U. S. the unilateral right to defend the Canal, President Carter, fearful of an impasse, suggested that Torrijos add his own reservation. Accordingly, the treaties' Panamanian version now requires Panama's concurrence before the U. S. can act to defend the Canal, in effect nullifying the DeConcini amendment without which the U. S. Senate never would have voted for ratification. (It did so by only a one-vote margin over the required two-thirds.)

The fact that the U. S. Senate never had an opportunity to debate, let alone vote, on the Panamanian reservation calls into question the constitutionality of the 1977 treaties themselves. This and other controversial provisions are the focus of two carefully documented new books, The Panama Canal Treaties Swindle, by retired U. S. Coast Guard Captain G. Russell Evans, and Canalgate, by Samuel J. Stoll, a New Jersey attorney, and in the Senate and House of Representatives in recent months, nearly 50 lawmakers have co-sponsored resolutions asking for a debate on the legality of the 1977 treaties. Thus far, however, the resolutions have gathered dust in Congressional pigeon holes. For its part, the White House has refrained from any involvement. Meantime, the major news media have simply ignored the entire treaty issue, treating it as a non-story even as they lambaste the administration for bungling the coup against Noriega and comparing it to the 1961 Bay of Pigs fiasco.

The parallels do indeed appear striking. At the Bay of Pigs, the White House abruptly cancelled promised support for 1,500 U. S.-trained and equipped Cuban freedom fighters after they had been landed on the southern coast of Cuba. In Panama last month, troops of the 13,000-man

U. S. Southern Command were only 600 yards away while a rebel Panamanian unit surrounded Noriega's headquarters for four hours. But despite months of White House exhortations to Panamanians to "throw the rascal out," the U. S. failed to act decisively when help was needed.

Other U. S. foreign policy failures come to mind: In Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos in 1975 and, more recently, in Washington's abandonment of the Nicaraguan freedom fighters, or Contras. The turnover of the Panama Canal to a hostile regime could have even more disastrous consequences for American's national security interest.

Farm Bureau Ok's Administration Food Safety Plan

Farm Bureau praised the food safety initiative unveiled by President Bush, calling it a proposal "to make the world's safest food supply even safer."

Al Almy, director of public affairs for Michigan Farm Bureau, said the proposal is a major step forward because it will bring the prestige and the background of the President's office into the food safety issue. "However, there are still many political obstacles that will have to be overcome," he said. "Some of the opposing political party leaders in the Congress have already denounced the plan and it will be a touch and go issue until it is finally resolved by the Congress and something is signed into law by the President."

Almy said Farm Bureau supports Bush's provision that would eliminate current contradictions in federal law by imposing a negligible risk standard, ending the so-called "Delaney paradox." He also expressed support for the plan's call for national uniform tolerances for pesticide residues, guidelines for weighing risks and benefits of chemicals and the streamlining of the cancellation process for chemical products.

Farm Bureau is concerned about some aspects of the Bush plan, most notably its proposed federal record-keeping requirement and inspection provisions, Almy said.

Great Lakes Lighthouse 1990 Calendar Available

Lighthouses are part of the Great Lakes' maritime history, legend and lore. They excite curiosity and imagination by their lonely perch at land's end. In the Great Lakes, with 11 percent of the fresh water in the world, lighthouses continue their important role as beacons for ships and sailors. And those structures retired from this service have found renewed life as museums, restaurants and hotels, even though some languish and deteriorate.

The Historical Society of Michigan recently announced its seventh annual lighthouse calendar. Featuring the pen and ink drawings by artist Leo Kuschel of Taylor, "Great Lakes Lights" draws attention to the colorful maritime history of the Great Lakes and those sentinels that have marked the Lakes' routes for sailors since the early 18th century.

According to Thomas E. Jones, executive director of the Historical Society of Michigan, this calendar series has drawn attention to lighthouse history and prompted concerned citizens to support their preservation. The Society is Michigan's state-wide, membership-supported organization for the promotion and publication of Michigan's history. "The Society is particularly pleased to feature the work of Leo Kuschel whose own family heritage includes ancestors who sailed the Lakes. Leo's work," Jones feels, "reflects the lure of the Lakes and his love of their traditions."

The "Great Lakes Lights" 1990 calendar includes lights on all the great Lakes and in the states of Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio, Minnesota and New York, the province of Ontario and the state of Michigan. From Two Harbors, Minn., in the western reaches of the Great Lakes to Oswego in the east in Lake Ontario, the 1990 "Great Lakes Lights" calendar covers the full breadth of the waters that have been the key element in the region's history and development.

The calendar's 12 lighthouses are: Old Channel Front Range Light (Lake St. Clair) Seul Choix Point Light (Lake Michigan) Wind Point Light (Lake Michigan) Two Harbors Lighthouse (Lake Superior) Fairport Harbor Light (Lake Erie) Oswego Lighthouse (Lake Ontario) Port Dover Light (Lake Erie) Grand Traverse Lighthouse (Lake Michigan)

Lightship Huron (Lake Huron) Alpena Lighthouse (Lake Huron) Calumet Light (Lake Michigan) Caribou Island Lighthouse (Lake Superior)

The calendar is available directly from the Historical Society of Michigan, 2117 Washtenaw Ave., Ann Arbor 48104, at $9.25 (includes postage and handling, plus Michigan state sales tax.) Non-Michigan orders are $8.95, and Canadian orders are $10.35.

Gardener's Timetable Available from Extension Office

Looking for a stocking stuffer or special gift for a gardening friend or relative? Fortunately, some of the best gifts cost little, including the Gardener's Timetable.

This handy publication answers hundreds of common and not so common gardening questions. For instance, if you are planning to buy a live Christmas tree, did you know that you should be digging the planting hole right now? Or that there are several houseplants that not only tolerate but prosper in low humidity? Or that you needn't worry about abnormal weather patterns when setting out tomatoes next spring so long as you wait until the iris and peonies are in bloom?

These are just a few of the useful tips provided in the Gardener's Timetable, the newest publication from Michigan State University Extension Service in Washtenaw county. This handy reference is arranged in a calendar-like format so that gardeners will know when to do what. Specifically timed for southeast Michigan, advice is provided to enable other Michigan and midwest gardeners to adjust the information to their own area. Phenological and Degree Day information is also provided so that unseasonable weather or unexpected insect arrivals will not catch you unawares.

Each page in the Timetable is illustrated with attractive and informative ink drawings. More importantly to the gardener, however, are the concise descriptions and information on gardening chores and problems. All areas of gardening are covered—vegetables, lawns, houseplants, flowers, trees and shrubs and fruit. Information includes planting, pruning, fertilizing and propagation. Pest control includes special emphasis on what, when and where to look for problems. Innovative biological and other non-chemical controls are stressed.

The Gardener's Timetable is available for $5 per copy, mailing costs included. To receive your Timetable please send a check or money order made out to Washtenaw Co-operative Extension Service (no cash, please) to: Timetable, Washtenaw Co-operative Extension Service, P.O. Box 8645, 4133 Washtenaw, Ann Arbor 48107.

Layered Applesauce Cake Is Thanksgiving Day Treat

THANKSGIVING TREAT: Serve old-fashioned Layered Applesauce Cake for your Thanksgiving meal finale. Reminiscent of the cakes prepared by the early American settlers, the spicy layers and delicate browned butter frosting is sure to become a holiday tradition.

Perhaps more than any other holiday, Thanksgiving celebrates food. It was, after all, created to give thanks for the bounty that sustained the American colonists.

That's why, for many of us, our fondest food memories and traditions are associated with this holiday meal. Turkey roasting with Mom's special stuffing, yeast rolls baking, spicy desserts are all reminders of the special, traditional meal to come.

For our forefathers, puddings, pies and cakes were trademark desserts. They were often made with the spices the settlers brought from Europe because they knew these exotic prized flavorings weren't available in their new home.

Cakes, with fillings and frosting spread between the layers, were especially popular. They often were prepared with fruit preserves or applesauce that had been "put up" during the harvest.

Layered Applesauce Cake is reminiscent of those cakes that were served many years ago, but it has been streamlined for today. Using pumpkin pie spice, a convenient blend of cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg, allspice and cloves, is easier than measuring several different spices, and the applesauce can be "store-bought." Still, the flavor of this moist butter cake will evoke nostalgia.

The unique browned butter frosting lends an old-fashioned flavor achieved by melting real dairy butter over medium heat until amber in color; margarine simply will not work. For authenticity, spread the frosting between the layers and on top, but not on the sides of the cake.

LAYERED APPLESAUCE CAKE

Yield: One 2-layer 8-inch square cake

- Cake:
- 3/4 cup (1 1/2 sticks) butter
 - 1 1/4 cups firmly packed light brown sugar
 - 3 eggs
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 - 2 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
 - 2 1/4 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
 - 2 teaspoons baking soda
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 1/2 cups applesauce
 - 1/3 cup milk
 - 1/2 cup EACH: chopped pecans, golden raisins

Browned Butter Frosting:

- 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
- 3 1/2 cups confectioners sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- Dash salt
- 1/4 cup light cream OR half and half
- Fresh apple slices, if desired
- Pecan halves, if desired

Preheat oven to 350°F. For cake, cream butter and sugar in large mixer bowl until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs and vanilla until well blended. Combine dry ingredients; combine applesauce and milk. Add dry ingredients alternately with applesauce mixture, beating well after each addition. Begin and end with dry ingredients. Gently fold in nuts and raisins. Divide batter evenly between 2 well-buttered and floured 8-inch square cake pans. Bake 30 to 35 minutes, or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pans 15 minutes. Remove from pans and cool completely on wire racks.

For frosting, melt butter in 1-quart saucepan. Continue heating over medium heat until butter is light amber in color; stir frequently. Cool butter slightly. Combine melted butter, 3 1/2 cups sugar, vanilla, salt and cream in small mixer bowl. Beat until smooth and of spreading consistency; add additional sugar if necessary.

To serve, place one layer of cake on serving plate. Spread half of frosting over cake. Repeat with second layer. Garnish with fresh apple slices and pecan halves just before serving.

INCORPORATING

Q: I would like to open a sporting goods store and was told by a friend, who owns his own business, that I should incorporate. My business will be small at first, but I hope to grow to the point where I will be operating several stores throughout the Detroit area within a couple of years. Would incorporating be the best choice for me?

A: There are many factors that should be considered when deciding to incorporate or not, and most of those factors relate to your specific business. This is not the type of decision you should make based upon what your friend or neighbor has done. The important point I want to convey is that this decision is very important for your business and you need to get the best advice you can to help you decide. An attorney or CPA would likely be the most qualified pro-

If you decide that incorporating is the best choice for you and need the registration form, either call Corporation and Securities Bureau at 517-334-6302 or call the Michigan Business Ombudsman, toll-free, at 1-800-232-2727.

MILDRED HOPPER of Chelsea donated 32 dressed dolls and stuffed animals to Faith In Action Monday morning for distribution as Christmas presents to needy people in Chelsea, Dexter, and Manchester. Civic Foundation Hears Talk About Alcohol Abuse Problems

Ron Demkowski, clinical director of Chelsea Community Hospital's Substance Abuse Program, discussed the many-faceted problem of alcohol abuse at the annual meeting of the Chelsea Civic Foundation last Thursday. It was also Alcoholism Awareness Week.

Some of the points made in Demkowski's talk follow.

- We need, as a community, to refocus attention to alcohol abuse as the number one drug of abuse. Abuse of illicit drugs is less of a problem.
- 25,000 people in Washtenaw county are alcoholics or problem drinkers.
- 2,876 county teens show signs that may lead to alcoholism.
- 18 million adults nationwide are heavy drinkers.
- Fetal Alcohol Syndrome is the third leading cause of birth defects.
- Alcohol is the most widely used and destructive drug in America and is the most widely used among American youth.

• Key issues for the 1990's include:

—stronger and more legislation needed on drug abuse

—increasing numbers of women will become alcoholics or drug dependent as the population ages

—drug-related AIDS cases will rise sharply

—there will be more attention and interventions in the workplace in drug/alcohol abuse situations

• Attitudes toward alcohol and drug abuse have to change so that it's acceptable not to use and not to serve alcohol. More programs like Chelsea Together are needed for young people.

People believe if you hang a string of onions in your house, you will be healthy.

Milk Jugs Still Needed For Festival

Chelsea's Festival of Lights is still in need of milk jugs that can be used for luminaries for the Dec. 1 festival. Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, located in the Chelsea Depot, is collecting the gallon size plastic jugs. They'll be used this year, then put in storage for next year.

Anyone who would like to contribute jugs for the festival may bring them to The Chelsea Standard offices during business hours. Contributors are asked to rinse their jugs out thoroughly.

Last year luminaries lined Main St. from Old US-12 to Chelsea Industries from 5 to 11 p.m. This year organizers would like to extend the lights farther on Main St. and a short way down some of the side streets.
