MONEY AND KEYS exchanged hands last Thursday outside what will become a playhouse for local aspiring performers and writers next fall in Chelsea. At left, local actor Jeff Daniels accepts the keys to his new Park St. property, the former home of Poma's Pizza, from former owner Karen Johnson of Ann Arbor. She and her husband, Jim, have also donated an antique pump organ, which might be useful for a local production of Phantom of the Opera. In the middle, Helen Lancaster, of Spear & Associates, who handled the sale, gives checks from both her and her company to Jerri Cole of Chelsea Area Players. The money will be used to offset production costs of the first play the group performs in the new playhouse. Right are Judy McDonald and Jim Anderson of Spear & Associates. Renovation of the building is scheduled to begin soon.

Village To Contest DNR Bonding Requirements on New Landfill License

Village of Chelsea has decided to contest the bonding stipulation attached to the new landfill operating license by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Last Tuesday, Dec. 5 village council voted to authorize attorneys to file for an administrative hearing on the matter. Council also voted not to begin filling the new cell until the hearing is held.

According to village manager Robert Stalker, a hearing could be held within six weeks or so.

DNR is requiring that the village post a $170,000 cash bond every six months during the two-year life of the license, or a total of $680,000. That works out to $20,000 for each of the 34 acres of the entire landfill, even the portions that have not been in use for a number of years.

The village, which has recently spent nearly half a million dollars on testing at the new portion of the landfill and closing the old landfill, views the bonding stipulation as unnecessarily harsh, as well as a major financial headache. They also believe the 8½ acre site currently in use should have been separated from the older portions.

Stalker said last week that the village's electric fund balance could be virtually eaten up by the bonding requirement.

"It's discouraging," Stalker said. "We try to do everything they want us to do and then something else comes up."

Stalker said the landfill will be completely out of room within about two months, although the village has been saying "a few more months" for more than a year. Stalker said an area is now being filled that had been reserved for demolition materials. The village had planned to accept area demolition, for a charge, which would be hauled to a landfill in Jackson. With that service essentially eliminated, for at least the short term, the village is losing even more landfill revenue.

"I guess if we had known what we were getting into, we might have closed the whole thing up and said the heck with it," said village president Jerry Satterthwaite.

Whether or not the administrative hearing is the end of legal wrangling remains to be seen.

Should the village lose its appeals, it will have to decide whether keeping the facility open is worth the price of bonding. One option is simply to close it down.

Even if the village eventually obtains a license with stipulations it can live with, village officials are predicting that the new license will be the last one.

B. Pearson Returns To Perform At Annual School Holiday Concert

Chelsea High school graduate Byron Pearson will be the featured guest performer at the annual holiday concert of the Beach Middle school and Chelsea High school music departments on Thursday, Dec. 21 at 7:30 p.m.

Pearson is professor of trumpet and director of the Brass Guild at Oberlin College Conservatory of Music in Ohio. He performs throughout the country and is featured on two albums of music for trumpet and organ.

Pearson has held the position of associate first trumpet with the New Orleans Philharmonic, assistant principal trumpet with the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, featured soloist with the U.S. Marine Band. He has also performed as a member of the St. Louis Symphony.

Pearson will perform a trumpet solo, "Dramatic Essay," with the high school wind ensemble.

The concert will also feature more than 400 band, orchestra, and choir students. A variety of music will be presented, ranging from concert music to Christmas selections, including the annual sing-a-long.

The concert will have an international flair. Rolf Schumacher will guest conduct the wind ensemble in Friedmann's Slavonic Rhapsody. Schumacher is the director of the Musikgesellschaft of Osturmundigan, Switzerland, and directs the youth band of Bumpitz, Switzerland.

Chelsea director Bill Gourley conducted many of Schumacher's students when they attended Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp. Schumacher hosted the Blue Lake International Band in Switzerland the year Gourley conducted the group.

"Rolf visits every summer and occasionally attends a music conference in Chicago every December," Gourley said.

"When we were together last summer, I urged him to extend his visit and guest conduct at our concert."

The holiday concert has become one of the local highlights of the holiday season and one of the best attended. A crowd of more than 1,000 is expected to attend.

Handicap seating will be available. The concert will be held in the high school gymnasium.

President Didn't Vote For Variance, Contrary To Published Report

Village president Jerry Satterthwaite was accused publicly last week of acting improperly in his capacity as chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals in a vote of the board in July of 1985.

The accusation, made during the Tuesday, Dec. 5 village council meeting by W. Middle St. resident Lola Campbell, and supported by her sister-in-law, Betty Navin, concerned a variance that was granted that allowed the construction of an eight-unit apartment complex at 682 W. Middle St.

Satterthwaite was not present at the meeting. Half of the members of the current council (also the zoning board) were not serving when the variance was granted. The three who were on council in 1985, Richard Steele, Joe Merkel, and Stephanie Kanten, seemed to be taken by surprise by Campbell's remarks.

"If there was any wrong-doing, we want to know about it," said mayor pro temp Merkel.

Campbell accused Satterthwaite, who at the time denied having any financial interest in the property, of supporting and voting for the variance even though he owned the property in question. According to zoning department records, builder Jack Thams applied for, and eventually received the variance. Merkel acknowledged that Thams "was rumored to be" the owner at the time the variance was granted. Essentially, the variance was needed because the lot was 13 feet too narrow for the proposed use. Village ordinances do not require the property owner to request the variance.

Campbell's accusation that Satterthwaite owned the .52 acres at the time of the July 16, 1985 variance is supported by documents in the Register of Deeds office, which show he sold the property to George and Gloria Hynes of Ann Arbor on Aug. 15 for $25,000. Hynes and Thams are business partners.

However, Campbell's accusation that Satterthwaite voted for the variance, published in a story in the Dec. 6 edition of the Ann Arbor News, is not supported by the official minutes of the meeting, which show that a roll call vote was taken and that he did not vote at all.

A story in The Standard on July 24, 1985 quoted Satterthwaite as saying he had no financial interest in the vacant lot and for that reason he "felt comfortable" supporting the variance.

In the Ann Arbor News story, Satterthwaite said "it's news to me," that he owned the property at the time of the variance. However, Monday he said he believes he had a firm sales agreement on the property at the time. He said all his records regarding the sale were destroyed in the fire that burned down his gasoline station in Waterloo a few years ago. He also said that Thams, who has recently moved, had not been able to track down a copy of the sales agreement.

"I guess maybe I should have stepped aside again during the discussion," Satterthwaite said.

"I wasn't going to make any money on the sale so I guess I didn't see any harm in staying."

Satterthwaite admitted that his ownership of the property in 1984 may have contributed to the defeat of the variance.

Records show that Satterthwaite obtained a mortgage for $24,000 (plus $1,000 down, he said) on the property early in 1985 to settle a lawsuit with Ashland Oil Co. He apparently sold the property a few months later at no profit.

Campbell forwarded a set of documents to council that she claimed had been reviewed by an attorney who concluded Satterthwaite had likely acted improperly. Village manager Robert Stalker said the packet would be forwarded to village attorney Peter Flintoft.

Campbell, who lives next door to the apartment complex, told council that her privacy has been severely disrupted by the complex.

Campbell's accusations do raise a couple of questions.

An identical variance request by Thams was unanimously turned down in 1984. The board said there was no evidence the property owner, Satterthwaite, would be denied use of his property or that a hardship existed. Thams had planned to purchase the property if the variance was granted, a common practice. Satterthwaite left the room during discussion and did not vote.

A year later, the variance was unanimously granted. The make-up of the board had not changed, and the circumstances of the property hadn't changed. Why did everyone on the board, with the exception of Jim Finch, who wasn't present, change his mind, despite the objections of several area property owners (although Campbell was not among them, records show)? The minutes do not state a reason for granting the variance.

Steele said he can't point to one thing that made him change his mind and that it was probably a combination of the need for apartment housing in the village, as well as a reconsideration of the best use of the land. He also said perceived change in ownership might have played a part.

Why did Lola Campbell wait more than four years to bring the matter to the board's attention? She told council that it took her that long to compile it. However, Village officials have noted that Navin and the village are locked in another bitter zoning dispute that will apparently be settled in court in January. Officials say Campbell's actions may have been an effort to discredit the village before the trial.

Chelsea Juniors Score Higher Than Grade On California Test

Test scores of Chelsea High school juniors on this year's California Achievement Test were virtually unchanged from last year's scores.

Scores indicate that Chelsea's 138 students are achieving at levels higher than their grade level in every subject tested, including reading, spelling, language, math, study skills, and science.

The test is given annually to juniors in October.

The lowest score was in total language, a result of their performance in the language mechanics section, according to a report issued by high school testing co-ordinator Sue Carter.

However, even the lowest score was slightly above grade level, and was an improvement over last year.

Scores on the tests follow. A 12.9, for example, equals the 9th month of the 12th grade, the highest score possible.

Scores were: reading, 12.9; spelling, 12.0; total language, 11.7; total math, 12.9; total battery, 12.6; study skills, 12.9; science, 12.9.

Only spelling achievement was slightly lower than last year's score, 12.3.

"Total language . . . has been a weaker area over the past couple of years and is an area which is receiving a great deal of attention during our curriculum review," said the report.

Chelsea students were also ranked nationally according to percentile. Students here ranked highest in total math, 68.8, and lowest in spelling, 54.3.

4 Years Ago . . .

Wednesday, Dec. 11, 1985—

A woman who was singing in a Christmas choir at Cassidy Lake Technical school had her automobile stolen by two of the inmates, who later abandoned the vehicle in Chelsea, police reported. Obviously someone overlooked the good will and cheer part of Christmas.

Somebody seemed to be in desperate need of some outdoor Christmas decorations. Twice during the night of Dec. 7 thefts occurred. Two 14-inch wooden reindeer and a 18-inch plastic Santa Claus were stolen from Meadow Lane. In another part of the village, 100 feet of Christmas lights and an extension cord valued at approximately $125 were taken. Yet another example of lack of Christmas spirit.

How about this? Santa Claus came to town to check the lists of the children in Chelsea. Many area children were present for his visit to welcome him to the community and to let him know what they wanted for Christmas. Finally, the epitome of Christmas.

At a meeting of the Sylvan Township Board, Donald Schoenberg was appointed Sylvan township supervisor. The 47-year-old Schoenberg replaced Maurice Hoffman who tendered his resignation to the board last month for health and personal reasons. Hoffman served as supervisor of the township for 20 years. Schoenberg who was employed with Pierson & Son, local contractors, had served on the township Board of Review for one year. He had lived in Sylvan township for 10 years.

A man charged with manslaughter in the traffic death of a Grass Lake couple, was sentenced to not more than 15 years and not less than five years and two months by Judge Leo B. Bebeau, of the 8th Judicial Circuit. The man, 17, had been jailed since June. He was to be given credit for time already served. He threw a rock that caused Lloyd and Frances Walz to crash their motorcycle into a tree, according to witnesses. The Walzes were survived by two small children.

A desire to be their "own bosses," coupled with the fact that they enjoy "this kind of work" was what brought Jerry and Jim Roberts together early last fall when they opened Roberts Painting and Body Shop. Located on Old US-12 next to Thompson's Pizza, the two brothers had officially been doing business since the first day of September.

Mrs. Patricia Guest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Guest, was selected as the recipient of the DAR Good Citizen award. She was notified of her selection in a letter from Mrs. Harry Langem, chairman of the NSDAR (National Society, Daughter of the American Revolution) Good Citizens Committee of the Sarah Caswell Angell Chapter in Ann Arbor. In the letter, Mrs. Langem said Miss Guest had been selected for the award because she possessed qualities of dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism, to an outstanding degree.

Several area hunters discovered that the law does not rest while the guilty go unpunished. Conservation Officer Donley Boyer discovered a freshly killed doe deer at 2 p.m. in Lima township and waited for 10 hours until the hunter returned at midnight. The hunter pleaded guilty to killing and possessing a doe deer when he appeared before municipal Judge Francis L. O'Brien.

Re-enacting an age-old rite, youngsters from the Congregational church and St. Paul United Church of Christ learned about the eight-day Jewish festival commemorating the rededication of the Jerusalem Temple to the Faith of Israel in 165 B.C., after the Maccabees had defeated the armies of the Syrian Greeks in a war for religious liberation. Kenneth Kusterer lit one of the eight Hanukkah candles, with the central candle lit by the Rev. Robert A. J. Livingston. The candle holder, shaped like ancient oil lamps, symbolizes the miraculous oil lamp placed upon the new altar in the Jerusalem Temple more than 2,000 years ago.

The Washtenaw county Health Department announced that it had completely run out of Salk polio vaccine and had no assurance as to when a sufficient amount would be available to continue the vaccine program on a general scale. State Health Department sources stated that a limited supply of the vaccine was expected either later in the week or early the next week. The amount would be so small, however, that Washtenaw county's share would be negligible.

Salaried employees of Chelsea public schools received the $200.00 per year raises made possible by the additional state aid program, it was announced. Regular employees who were paid by the hour received an increase amounting to 10 cents per hour. The salaried group included the teachers, administrators, secretaries, and chief custodian.

Pamela Kuhl, in a Christmas angel costume pushed the switch to officially turn on the lights of the municipal Christmas tree on the lawn of the post office Friday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Kuhl.

Higher Beer, Tobacco Taxes For Health Programs Criticized
A governor's task force proposal to increase taxes on beer, wine and cigarettes, a key aspect to try to reduce health care costs through promoting healthier lifestyles, has been met with immediate criticism.

The report, prepared by the Departments of Commerce and Public Health, also called for greater efficiency in the health care system, a halt to new mandated benefits, and a national universal health care program.

The task force was appointed by Governor James Blanchard to examine what he said are unacceptably high health care costs which are hurting businesses, eroding personal incomes and leaving the uninsured without access to adequate care.

Blanchard will review the report before endorsing any of the 33 recommendations, including the tax increase, a spokesman said. Press secretary Tom Scott noted the governor has not proposed, and has not yet endorsed, such a tax.

The report urged the governor and Legislature to jointly support a "significant" increase in beer, wine and tobacco taxes and changing them to a rate based on the value of the product, rather than on units of sale.

Pat Laughlin, lobbyist for the Michigan Beer and Wine Wholesalers Association, said the tax increase proposal reflects a "neoprohibitionist" attitude toward alcohol and a naive approach to dealing with abusers. And he said the industry already more than pays its way through taxes and its impact on the economy.

"The notion that when you increase the tax, it will cure somebody who is abusing the product is naive," Laughlin said. "Trying to blame the alcohol industry for the abuser is like blaming the supermarket for fat people. We should educate people to make responsible choices," he said.

Although the beer tax has not been raised since 1966, he said it is double and triple the rate in adjacent states which already get significant business from Michigan residents avoiding higher costs attributable to the taxes and impact of the bottle bill.

And, he opposed changing to a value-based tax, even if the burden were not increased immediately.

The report said increased beer and wine taxes are justified because of the societal costs by abusers ($117 billion a year nationally) and because the rate does not currently discourage consumption. Cigarette taxes, last increased two years ago in a Wayne county assistance package, should be raised because of the "enormously destructive" effect on human health by smoking, it said.

"The most effective way to control these costs is to target prevention," the report said, adding public opinion strongly supports such tax increases when proceeds are earmarked for health-related purposes.

Public Health director Raj Wiener and Commerce Business Climate Development director Larry Tokarski said the report reflects a high level of agreement never before seen from such a broadly represented group on "Issues of such importance and complexity.

Among the recommendations are: —national universal health care involving multiple systems to provide and finance services, and while not endorsing such a system at the state level, at least exploring the feasibility of doing so.

—strengthened policies against alcohol and tobacco abuse, not only with the taxes, but public advertising, and to combat drug abuse by encouraging businesses to provide treatment services in health care plans.

—declaring family planning services as a basic health service.

—mandatory use of back seat shoulder harnesses in cars.

—a two-year moratorium on licensing additional categories of health care professionals.

—encouraging schools and businesses to become smoke-free.

Michigan Hospital Association president Spencer Johnson, a member of the task force, criticized the report for failing to examine inappropriate utilization of health care services, an omission which he called a "major shortcoming." He said the responsibility of employers and consumers needs to be examined to determine how health care benefit packages and costs paid directly by individuals could reduce the demand.

Johnson also opposed a recommendation to establish in the Medicaid program a capital reimbursement system not based on capital costs of hospital facilities.

He said it is inappropriate to add that requirement to the certificate of need program already designed to control capital costs. And, he said reductions in Medicaid reimbursement for capital costs will exacerbate a shift to commercial insurers which already exists for patient care.

The Michigan State Medical Society supported the recommendation only if it could be implemented without deepening "the inadequacy of state payments" for Medicaid services or worsen the shift to commercial insurers.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb wondered out loud at the country store Saturday night wether a decision had come down in the case of Flossmoor vs. Pickups. He told the fellers he had saw by the papers where the bedroom community near Chicago had passed a law agin the trucks parking in public view anywhere in town, and the matter had gone to higher court on appeal.

You would think a town that can outlaw mobile homes can outlaw pickup trucks, Zeke said, but you would worry that if a town can ban trucks it can ban muddy cars and old men in overalls. Flossmoor's pickup problem probable is nothing more than old heads that run the town trying to teach upstart recent arrivals some manners, he went on, but the outcome could say somethin' about where one feller's right to swing his arm stops and the other feller's nose starts.

The fellers picked up quick on Clem's report. Ed Doolittle said the reason fer setting standards is to uphold values, and it applies to social, property, religious and all the rest. A restaurant can refuse to serve a feller unless he's wearing a coat and tie, it can use the shirt and shoes rule or it can feed all comers, Ed said, whichever it thinks will do it the most good in drawing the customers it wants. So a neighborhood that says ever house has to be built on the lot of at least 70 percent brick at a cost of not less than $300,000 can have strong say in what the place looks like.

As usual, broke in Clem Webster, Ed was 90 degrees right on target. It is the usual and proper thing, Clem allowed, fer private people to get together and decide somapun under terms they all agree to going in. It is another thing altogether fer Government to step in and set standards that suit some, upset some and have nothing to do with what Government is about. Fer instant, Clem went on, a town council can say ever vacant lot in town has to be cleaned up at least twice a year in the interest of public health. But that some council better not say a feller can't whitewash a old tractor tire and make a front yard flower bed border out of it, ugly as it would be.

General, the rest of the fellers stood foursquare with Clem. Bug Hookum, fer one, said a man's home still is his castle and his pickup ain't far behind. If the Flossmoor fathers git this inch they'll think they're rulers, Bug went on, and then they'll rid ever yard of spirital fences that harbor all kind of insects. Fer sure they'll banish all the plastic pink flamingos and assorted artificial yard animals to the outer darkness. Mad with power, Bug said, they'll go on to order all the BMWs and Volvo station wagons out of sight and decree a Buick in every driveway.

Practical speaking, Bug said, Flossmoor better let well enough alone. He said a friend of his lives in the country out from Clarksville, Tenn., hard by the Kentucky line. He has a painting in his den that he done a few years back. It shows two foot tall grass around a ramshackle house, with a busted washing machine on the front porch and a junk car up on blocks in the front yard. The painting is called "Gone to Detroit" and the scene it shows is a mile up the road toward town.

Bug said his friend first saw a eyesore, but he kept looking til he saw true American art. There's a lesson fer Flossmoor on that den wall, was Bug's words.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew

Local 17-Year-Old Girl Rider Preparing for Olympic Trials

For 17-year-old Jocelyn Cooch, horseback riding is far from casual recreation. Jocelyn is part of a small group of serious riders who represent our country's brightest hopes for competing in future Olympic equestrian events. The group is called the "Young Riders," and it's composed of the nation's top riding hopefuls between the ages of 16 and 21.

"I've been riding since I was six years old," says Jocelyn who is now a veteran of several international competitions. "I got my first horse when I was nine years old, and now have three, which allows me to compete in more events."

Jocelyn became a member of the Young Riders in April of this year, after successfully meeting the group's tough qualifications. She was required to prove her abilities in several events during competition. Her skill won her a position on the four member Young Riders team for this region; one of 14 regional teams nation-wide.

Even though Jocelyn devotes large amounts of her time to the Young Riders, she hasn't ignored other parts of her life. She is an honor roll student and varsity hockey cheerleader at Pioneer High School in Ann Arbor. Although much of her school work must be completed while traveling, she is consistent in completing her assignments on time. For recreation, Jocelyn shows her horses as part of 4-H, and has been in the State Finals for the last four years. With so many activities to keep her occupied, does she ever have time for boys? "Oh, sometimes," she smiles.

Standing only five feet in height, Jocelyn is often the smallest rider in what can be very dangerous events. Jocelyn's mother, Carolyn, who accompanies her to all events as a groom and personal coach is very much aware of the possible hazards which confront her daughter. "Jocelyn always wears protective clothing which includes a helmet, vest and boots," Jocelyn's father, local real estate developer John Cooch, says. "The most we can do is combine Jocelyn with the best trainers available. Her dream is to one day ride in the Olympics; but she knows that won't happen without hard work and some risk."

JOCELYN COOCH, 17-year-old area equestrian successfully jumps an obstacle in a recent competition.

DONALD A. COLE, Director

"The heart of the giver makes the gift dear and precious . . ."
—Martin Luther

During the Christmas season, an untold number of gifts are purchased and given out of a sense of duty . . . because it is expected or because gifts are customarily "exchanged".

We can only achieve the finest spirit of Christmas when we make our gifts dear and precious . . . as was God's gift to mankind on that first Christmas . . . by giving of ourselves, from the heart, and perhaps to those who neither deserve nor expect our gift.

We wish for you and yours a merry and meaningful Holiday Season.

Heart attack symptoms put you in a race against time.

Winners head for the emergency room as if their lives depended on it.

Dramatic new ways to save lives and stop permanent damage from heart attacks are available to you and your family in our emergency room. These treatments must be given in a hospital setting.

More importantly, the treatments must be given AS SOON AS POSSIBLE to be effective.

Even if you're not sure it's a heart attack, you should be seen by a doctor. We can help you with the race against time, but you have to get here first.

Call an ambulance, or, at the very least, call our emergency room.

Chelsea Community Hospital provides state-of-the-art care for heart attacks. Through its link with the Cardiac Emergency Network, a coordinated life-saving support system sponsored by the Michigan Heart Institute and Catherine McAuley Health Center in Ann Arbor, Chelsea Community Hospital can offer comprehensive cardiology services. The physicians of the Michigan Heart Institute are among the most experienced cardiologists and cardiovascular surgeons in Michigan. They are "on call" to our emergency room 365 days a year, 24 hours a day. Medical tests can be telecopied (FAXed) whenever the need arises for additional consultation.

All of this means that for the people of the Chelsea area, the closest hospital is now the best hospital.

Know the symptoms of a heart attack.

- Pressure, tightness and aching in the chest.
- Nausea, sweatiness or weakness that may come and go.
- Shortness of breath.
- Numbness or pain in the left arm or left side of the chest or neck.

Blood Drive Collects Total Of 122 Pints

Of the 131 donors who came to the Dec. 7 blood drive at St. Mary's school, 122 were able to give. In a community function of this nature every single person participating is important to the success of the drive.

There were seven first-time donors. Donors who reached their one-gallon mark (8 pints) were Paul Cole, Gary Kiaka, Heidi Kiaka, Sandy Miller, Alex Roekowski and Emanuel Toubeaux. Donors reaching the two-gallon mark were Sr. Sally Callahan, Daniel Kaminsky, and Arthur Sias.

Gary Packard made the four-gallon mark and Dorothy Hafner five gallons. They each received a pin with the number of gallons on it.

Of the churches participating, St. Mary's had 36, First Methodist 12, Our Savior Lutheran 10, St. Paul's UCC 8, Free Methodist 4, Congregational 3, Covenant 2, Immanuel Bible 2, Zion Lutheran 2, Chelsea Full Gospel 1, and North Lake Methodist 1.

Many donors read about the drive from The Chelsea Standard, or heard about it from the various recruiters, church bulletins, newsletters and posters.

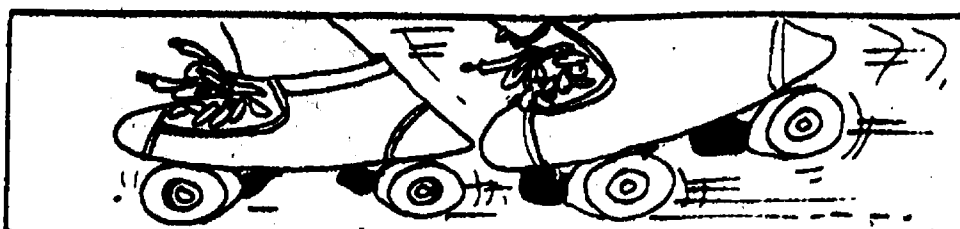

Recruiters were Don Cole, Carolyn Darling, Joanne Fredal, Chris Harris, Marion Kerns, Dorothy Mielke, Sandy Miller, Jane Montero, Georgia Myers, Nadine Shaneyfelt, Judy Staebler, Nancy Tandy and Jill Warren.

Volunteers during the drive were Ellen Batzdorfer, Doris Blanchard, Kathleen Chapman, Bonnie Eisenbeiser, Joanne Fredal, Margaret Graham, Kathie Gourley, Catherine Guinan, Wayne Harvey, Marilyn Haug, Milan and Kathryn Hermon, Betty Herrst, Marion Kerns, Margaret Kuhl, Willie Liebeck, Sandy Miller, Joyce Schneider, Arlene Schroen, Dick and Nadine Shaneyfelt, and Ann Wood.

If you missed this drive and would like to give before the end of the year, you may go to Chelsea High school Friday, Dec. 22 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for a drive sponsored by the National Honor Society.

The next community blood drive will be Thursday, March 22, at Our Savior Lutheran church, 1515 S. Main, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Chiropractic Health Care

What Causes Subluxation?

This week we will address the cause of subluxations. Subluxations, you will recall if you read last week's column, are slight misalignments in bones, especially of the spine, which cause joint problems and neuro vascular compression syndromes ("pinched nerves").

Subluxations come about in the body due to imbalance within the nervous system brought about by dis-STRESS to the body.

The stress to the body can be in the form of structural, chemical or emotional stress. The founder of Chiropractic, Dr. Daniel David Palmer, described these at approximately the turn of the century as "strains, poisons, and psychic aberrations." Today the model may have slightly different names, but the understanding is the same.

Some structural stresses include (but are not limited to) strains and sprains, poor posture, falls, long hours in one position, bouncing up and down in a tractor or truck cab and repeating the same motion over and over (as in some jobs.)

Everyone can relate one or more of these structural stresses to his or her own life.

We said that the types of dis-STRESS to the body that caused the subluxation were structural, chemical and emotional. Having touched now on structural causes, next week we will discuss chemical stress to the body which causes subluxations and many related health problems. As always, if you have questions or comments write to: Dr. J. Nicholas Koffeman, 138 E. Middle, Chelsea, MI 48118, or call (313) 475-2088.

"THE DINING ROOM," a series of plays within a play, will be presented Thursday, Dec. 14 for the general public by the Chelsea High School Stage and Drama Class. Tickets for the show are available at Chelsea Pharmacy. Above, Mercedes Hammer, left, and Anne Steffenson rehearse a scene from the play.

Let's Go

Bulldogs!

Bulldog Cagers Defeat Saline in Home Opener

Although they appeared a little ragged around the edges, the Chelsea Bulldogs went on to defeat the Saline Hornets at home last Friday in their Southeastern Conference opener, 66-54.

In other action last week, the Bulldogs opened the season on the road last Tuesday, Dec. 5 at Brooklyn Columbia Central and took a 66-57 victory.

Chelsea took command early in the Saline game and never let go, although the Hornets were a tougher team than Chelsea coach Robin Raymond had anticipated.

"They played a combination man-to-man and match-up zone defense," Raymond said.

"Sometimes they switched and sometimes they didn't, which gave us problems reading their defense. I thought they played very well for a young team. I also think our kids were a little nervous opening at home against Saline since it's such a big rivalry."

Chelsea's defense was also extremely effective. The Bulldogs would probably have won by 20 or more points had Raymond not made wholesale changes late in the game.

Saline guard Richie Marion, who was held scoreless in the first half by junior Kerry Plank, scored 12 points in the second half.

"That was probably the key to the game," Raymond said.

"I told the kids at half-time that the only way Saline would win the game is if Marion scored a whole lot of points. Kerry did a great job on him in the first half."

Chelsea took a 30-19 lead by the intermission, but the Hornets scored the first four points of the second half. But the score didn't get much closer, although the Hornets made several of their seven three-point goals in the second half.

The intimidating Chelsea defense forced several key turnovers in the second half, and the general pace of the game tired the Hornets.

Two steals turned into two missed slam dunk attempts by Kyle Plank, the first slam attempts by any varsity Bulldog in recent years. He was called for hanging on the rim on the first try, which drew a technical foul. After the second try, the rebound was put back by Brian Burg.

In addition, the Bulldogs found their stride on offense and ran their plays effectively. Sophomore Jon Royce had two big assists for easy lay-ups. In addition, Burg dominated the inside and had several easy baskets.

The Bulldogs played well in most statistical categories. They shot 52 percent from the field, although only 55 percent from the line. They held a 33-26 rebound edge and committed only 18 turnovers, a good number for the Bulldogs' hectic style of play.

Burg and Kyle Plank had the hot hands for Chelsea with 22 and 20 points, respectively. Rounding out the scoring were Kerry Plank 8, Chad Starkey 7, Jude Quilter 4, Erich Hammer 2, Tucker Steele 2, and Royce 1. Burg had a team-high 11 rebounds, Kerry Plank grabbed eight, and Starkey had five.

Chelsea's passing game was in high gear last Tuesday as their 17 assists accounted for numerous easy baskets and an easier-than-expected victory.

"We also had some nice passes that we didn't catch," Raymond said. The victory was even more impressive because Burg spent most of the game on the bench in foul trouble, and Kerry Plank had foul problems.

"I was very pleased with the way we played," Raymond said.

"We had so many easy lay-ups, and our defensive pressure was excellent."

PAT TAYLOR, top, pinned all three of his opponents last Saturday on his way to winning the 119 pound weight class at the Temperance-Bedford Invitational last Saturday. Chelsea fared well in one of the most competitive tournaments in the state.

Wrestlers Take Fourth At Temperance-Bedford

Chelsea Bulldogs placed eight wrestlers in the highly-competitive Temperance-Bedford Invitational last Saturday.

The Bulldogs placed fourth among eight teams in a meet that was dominated by class A schools and numerous class A state qualifiers a year ago.

Temperance-Bedford took the meet with 203½ points, Lake Orion was second at 162.5 points, Plymouth-Salem placed third with 145, and Chelsea scored 125. All schools ahead of Chelsea were class A. Other schools in the meet included class A Huntington-North (Illinois), Hazel Park, and Monroe, and class B New Boston Huron.

"Everyone wrestled well," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"I can't complain about any match. I told them I was taking them there so they'd all get beat. They made me eat my words."

Kargel, knowing he would have a strong team this season, wanted his boys to face the best competition he could find early in the season.

"Sometimes it's not the best thing to face such good teams right away," Kargel said.

"But when you have a good team it's good to see tough competition right away because it shows them how hard they need to work."

Chelsea had three finalists and two champions. Junior Karl Wikman won at 103 pounds, senior Pat Taylor won

Tankers Open With Fine Effort At Eastern Michigan Relays

Chelsea Bulldog swim team opened the season with a fourth place finish at the 13-team Eastern Michigan University Relays last Saturday.

"Quality and depth are two items the Bulldogs have lacked in past years but that is not the case with this year's squad," said Chelsea coach Dave Jolly.

"There is desire and intensity and that is refreshing." Novi won the meet with 130 points, Alma was second with 114, Milan took third with 103 points, and Chelsea was fourth with 94.

Chelsea opened with a win in the 200-yard medley relay. The team of Brett Paddock, David Oesterle, Von Acker, and Wally Schmid qualified for the state meet with a 1:45.79.

In the 800 freestyle relay, Garth

Girard, Joe Huettnerman, Rob Totten, and Greg Garen placed fifth.

Paddock, Acker, Brian Brock, and Oesterle placed second in the 400 individual medley relay in 4:02.81.

"Paddock and Acker really did the job all day," Jolly said.

"They are worth their weight in gold."

Chelsea's only mistake of the meet came in the 200 freestyle relay as the A team was disqualified.

Jolly said the diving relay did much better than expected with their fourth place finish. Richard Barnes, Brett Salamin, and Jamie Basso formed the team.

"I wasn't quite sure what to expect from diving this year but I'm excited about the progress they are making," said Chelsea diving coach Eric Burris.

Girard, Totten, and Huettnerman swam the 1500 freestyle relay in 16:15.08, good for fourth place.

Steve Brock, Brian Brock, Girard, and Paddock placed fourth in the 200 backstroke relay.

"Steve's only a freshman, but he impressed both coaches," Jolly said.

With two events left, Chelsea had not placed lower than fifth in any relay.

The breaststroke relay of Oesterle, James Alford, Brock and Garen placed sixth, as Oesterle had an exceptional time, Jolly said.

"David looked great all day and seems ready for a great year," Jolly said.

In the 400 freestyle relay, Schmid, Acker, Dirk Colby, and Garen placed third.

"We finished the meet on a high note," Jolly said.

"Schmid and Acker have to be two of the best sprinters in the state. With hard work there is no telling what they might accomplish."

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Football coach Gene LaFave may have done basketball coach Robin Raymond a favor this fall when he installed Kyle Plank as his quarterback.

It may be a bit premature to judge his year's varsity basketball team, but Plank proves to be as valuable to the team as anyone—even if he doesn't make a slam dunk all season long.

Plank, the 6-4, thin and wiry guard, has matured so much as an athlete this year that he almost looks like a different kid on the court. And I'll bet his experience in guiding the football offense—making the quick decisions—this fall didn't hurt any. LaFave knew Plank had the smarts and savvy for leadership and he helped Plank develop that skill.

It'll pay big dividends this winter.

Plank was also forced into a lot of court time last season when several Bulldogs were injured early on. That experience has also obviously helped.

Friday night, against Saline, which probably can't be called one of the best teams in the league, Plank played an excellent all-around game, with the exception of the questionable technical foul called on him for hanging on the rim. He did a little of everything. He ran the offense, played excellent defense, and shot the ball well in critical situations. In the opening game against Brooklyn last Tuesday he tied with Chad Starkey for scoring honors and led the team in rebounding.

After two games he's leading the team in scoring, and he's near the top in rebounding and field goal percentage. But more important is his court presence. He seems to know exactly what to do in any given situation and he doesn't seem the least bit phased by pressure.

I'll probably be singing the praises of the varsity basketball team a lot this winter. Even though their play was a bit uneven last Friday, the only game I've seen as of this writing, I'm convinced the Bulldogs will be exceptional, and a whole lot of fun to watch. On nights when they're in the groove, they'll be capable of blowing out almost any team around.

The Bulldogs literally have the capability to leave their opponents gasping for breath. The sheer intensity of their trapping defense is exhausting to watch. They never let up, which means the only rest the opposition gets is on the bench. Opponents have to watch every move they make or the ball will be swiped or they'll end up throwing the ball away. Saline found out all of that the hard way. It was obvious which team was in better physical condition in the fourth quarter.

Chelsea played the same sort of defense last year, but the intensity level seems higher this year. Kind of like having five John C. Williams on the court at one time.

On offense, it looks as though the Bulldogs won't do much scoring from beyond 15 feet. There aren't many long-range shooters this year, but, then again, they probably won't be needed. Raymond wasn't fibbing when he said this team will probably be his best passing team ever. Sometimes the passing is even too sharp and catches the receivers by surprise. Nonetheless, the Bulldogs are scoring a lot of points in the lane, an especially good sign for a team that has only average size.

Chelsea also has the one great intangible—senior leadership. In addition to Plank, center Brian Burg is a confident, experienced player with good quickness and a fine touch inside. Starkey is a three-year varsity starter who has become an excellent defensive player to match his offensive capability. Any one of them can perform in the crunch, a nice luxury for Raymond.

Junior Kerry Plank, who plays more like a senior, also wouldn't be a bad choice for crunch time. He has that instinct for the ball that is almost impossible to teach. And when he chooses to concentrate on offense he can be tough to stop.

The bench may not score a lot of points this year, although they have the ability. Their biggest contribution will probably be their ability to keep the defensive pressure on to wear down the opposition.

All in all, it should be a fun winter if everyone stays healthy.

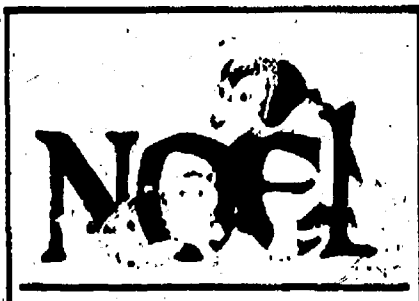

Last night's game with Milan at home may have been one of the early key league games of the season. Last Friday the Big Reds knocked off Pinckney, one of the top teams. If Milan turns out to be a strong team, we could see a four-team dogfight for the league championship among Chelsea, Tecumseh, Pinckney, and Milan. It may be a season in which three league losses could win a share of the title.

7th Grade Cagers Topple Saline

Beach Middle school seventh grade basketball team pushed their record to 5-2 by defeating Saline on the road last Thursday, Dec. 7, 35-14.

It was the first win at Saline for a seventh grade team in three years. Chelsea took a 23-4 lead by half-time and was never seriously challenged.

Kevin Coy, Bryndon Skelton, and Kevin Kolodica led the scoring with five points each, while Jon Michael and Case McCalla each had four points. Calvin Poe and Matt McVittie had three each, and Nathan Young, Jim Tallman, and Tom Hubbell each scored two points.

Hubbell and Josh Inwood rebounded well and played strong defense along with McCalla and Chad Brown, said coach Charlie Waller.

In the previous week, the Bullpups lost to Tecumseh, 31-29, but beat Lincoln, 28-24.

In the Tecumseh game, Chelsea was held scoreless in the first quarter thanks to tough Tecumseh half-court trap defense.

The Pups made a strong comeback attempt as McVittie scored seven points in the fourth quarter. Other scorers for the game included Michael with six, Skelton with five, and Brown and Adam Beauchamp with four each.

In the Lincoln game, McVittie scored six points in the fourth quarter as the Pups rebounded from a five-point deficit.

KERRY PLANK, 50, goes up for a rebound during last Friday's home varsity opener against the Saline Hornets. Chelsea won the game relatively easily.

Bullpups Rally To Defeat Saline Eighth Grade Cagers

Beach Middle school eighth grade basketball team jumped out to an early lead and eventually knocked off Saline, 45-35, last Thursday, Dec. 7. The victory gives the Pups a 6-1 season record.

Chelsea got off "to a typical fast start," coach Jim Tallman said, thanks to the hot shooting of Pat Steele and Colby Skelton.

Chelsea had a 16-8 advantage after the first quarter, but trailed by two points at half-time, 22-20. The Pups took the lead for good in the third quarter and led 32-26 going into the final period.

Tallman praised the play of Steele, Skelton, and Gabe Bernhard on offense and John Steffenson, Cory Brown, and David Seltz on defense.

"We had the chance to try different combinations of players to replace our center, Chris Gibson, who was out with a broken wrist," Tallman said.

"Several players like Jason McVitie, David Beeman, and David Brock at 119 pounds, and Tim VanSchoick was runner-up at 189 pounds.

Wikman beat Louis Tibal of Bedford in his first match, 9-6, and Matt Henry of Lake Orion, a state qualifier last year, 11-4 in the finals.

"Karl didn't hesitate, he went right after it," Kargel said.

Taylor pinned all three of his opponents. He stopped Wayne Cupp of Hazel Park in 1:36, Charlie Henley of New Boston in :56, and Fred Schumaker of Bedford in 1:09.

"Pat went through the meet like butter," Kargel said.

"And two of those kids were tough wrestlers."

Van Schoick lost 5-3 in the finals to Brian Burlison of Plymouth-Salem. He won his first match over Matt Loraine of New Boston with a pin in 1:21. He pinned Jeremy Reetz of Lake Orion in the second match in 4:12.

Third-place finishes went to Alan Hanna at 125 pounds, Doug Wingrove at 145 pounds, and Mike Terpstra at heavyweight.

Fourth place finishes went to Jim Hassett at 140 pounds and Adam Taylor at 152 pounds.

Hanna won in the consolation finals over Jason Nagy of Hazel Park, 6-2.

"Alan did a nice job," Kargel said.

"The one match he lost we gambled with six seconds left in over-time. He could have been in the finals." His loss was against the eventual champion.

Wingrove won a 3-0 decision in the consolation finals over Matt Tzuch of Huntington-North.

"That was a really tough weight," Kargel said.

"It had several state qualifiers."

Terpstra pinned Scott Burtlett of New Boston in the consolation finals in 1:44 the second time he pinned him during the day.

Hassett finished with a 2-2 record and lost 10-3 to Marcus Manz of Bedford in the consolation finals.

Adam Taylor lost a 14-3 decision to Charlie Agrasian of Plymouth-Salem in the consolation finals.

Other Chelsea wrestlers who participated included Vince Stahl at 112, Rex Nye at 130, Kevin McCalla at 135, Matt Herter at 160 and Pat Hassett at 171.

Frosh Cagers Top Western, Dexter, To Open Season

Chelsea Bulldog freshman basketball team won their first two games of the season last week, 83-36 over Jackson County Western and 52-51 over Dexter.

In the opener at Western on Monday, Dec. 4 the Bulldogs outscored Western in the second half 34-16, featuring the strong point-guard play of Eric Brown. Chelsea also had a strong defensive second half.

"For the first game of the season it was a strong defensive showing by the entire team," said Chelsea coach Dave Quilter.

Brown led the Bulldogs with 13 points. Other scorers included Ed Waller 10, Chris Dunham 9, Nick McCalla 9, Colt White 5, Dana Schmunk 4, Brian Piasecki 2, and J.D. Alford 1.

McCalla led the Dogs with nine rebounds and Waller had six.

In the Dexter game Thursday, Dec. 5, strong Chelsea man-to-man defense helped the Bulldogs overcome a 10-point deficit in the last four minutes of the game.

Jeremy Beauchamp made the game-winning free throw at the end to secure the victory.

"We got a strong performance off the bench by Nick McCalla and J.D. Alford," Quilter said.

"It was a very exciting comeback and the team found a way to win after falling behind."

McCalla led the scoring with 14 points. Other scorers included Dunham 11, White 8, Waller 6, Alford 5, Beauchamp 4, and Brown 4.

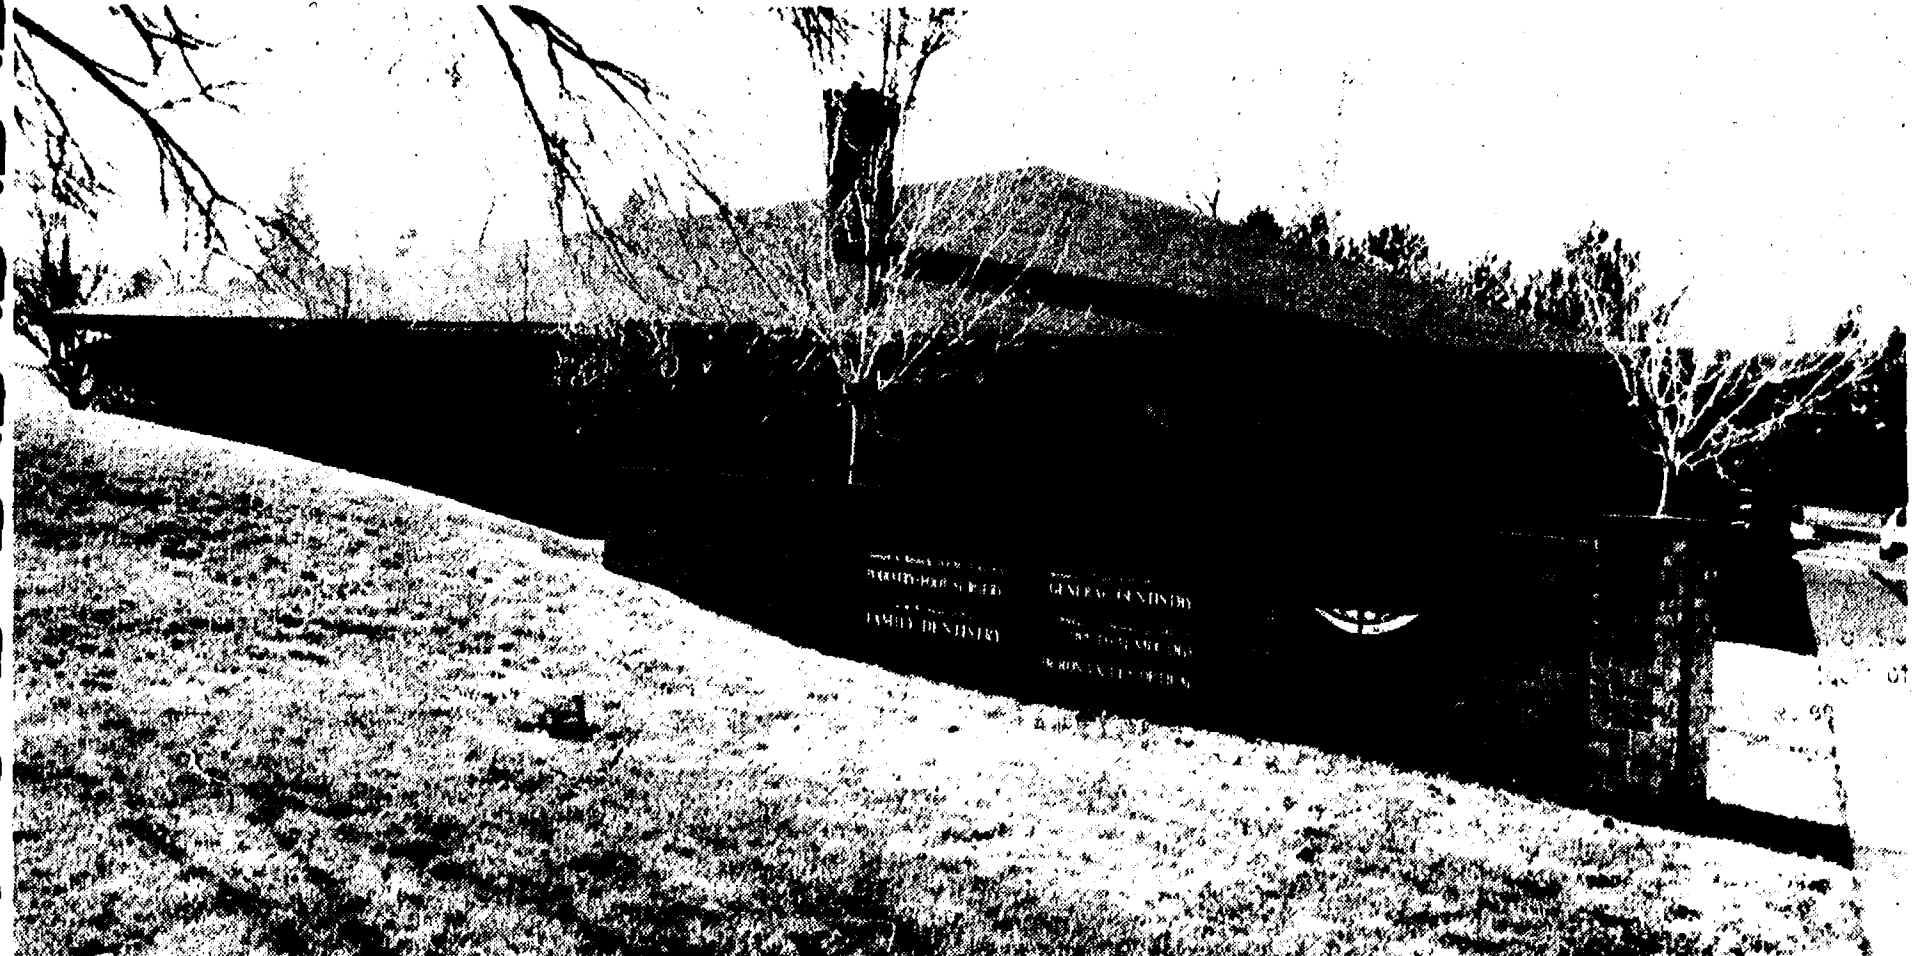

Waller had a team-high nine rebounds, Dunham had eight, and Beauchamp grabbed six.

KEN OWENS, left, presented an oil painting to Dr. Howard Reznick, right, and his staff last week. Owens, at the time, severely injured in an auto accident exactly seven years ago, has made a recovery that virtually no one anticipated.

Painting Becomes Big Part Of Ken Owens' Rehabilitation

Ken Owens of Grass Lake presented an oil painting he created to Dr. Howard Reznick and his staff last week.

That, in itself, may not seem like a great feat. But exactly seven years ago, Dec. 13, 1982, Owens' family was told Ken probably wouldn't survive his one-car crash, and if he did he would probably need constant attention throughout the rest of his life, and probably couldn't function on his own.

Owens, who had just returned home from a 48-hour shift on the U.S. Coast Guard, took the family pick-up truck and went for a drive with his pet dog. Ken, who was not wearing a seatbelt, fell asleep and drove off the road. His pelvis was fractured, he fractured his leg, permanently dislocated his left knee, lacerated his liver and colon, and his brain stem was damaged extensively. Today he is classified as having a traumatic brain injury.

The dog suffered only a cut lip. Ken's recovery has been nothing short of remarkable. For nearly a year after his accident, he couldn't speak, uttering his first words on Mother's Day, May 10, 1983. For many months he was only able to communicate via a communicator, similar to a small, hand-held typewriter.

He's also able to do limited walking, thanks in part to Reznick and his staff. Ken occasionally goes charter-boat fishing and is able to reel in his catches.

But just as remarkable is his ability to paint, something he didn't even try until after his accident. His detailed rural landscape, framed in oak, is now on the wall of Reznick's office, a constant reminder to the staff of Ken's progress. Ken's presentation last week prompted cheers and even a few tears of pride among the family and staff.

TYSON is a 7-month-old Doberman who was put up for adoption because his owner lived in an apartment that was too small. Tyson is very energetic and is a fast learner. He has a sweet temper and is housebroken. However, he's not real good around cats. Tyson needs a lot of exercise and attention.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

To whom it may concern:

Every year when the snow starts coming there are a few people who do not have the courtesy to clean off their sidewalks.

One thing I have noticed this year is that the merchants who want you to shop in town are some of the worst offenders.

How about it folks, there are those of us that do walk on these sidewalks.

Tax Planning Now Can Mean Dollar Savings

"Some year-end tax planning now can mean a dollar savings for taxpayers when they file their federal income tax returns in 1990," said IRS district director John Hummel. "It's not too late to make a difference, even in December," he said.

Hummel gave these tips:
1. Pay off consumer loans, such as credit card bills. Personal interest expense is 20% deductible for the 1989 year. In 1990, only 10% will be deductible; and, in 1991, the deduction will disappear completely.
2. Clean out the attic and make contributions of old furniture or clothes to your favorite charity. The fair market value of such items is fully deductible.
3. Check how much tax was withheld from your paycheck so far this year and make an estimate as to the total that will be withheld through the end of December. If that amount is not at least as much as your total tax of 1989, or at least 90% of what you expect to owe from 1989, you could get hit with a 10% or 12% penalty. You can minimize any difference by making an estimated tax payment in January 1990 for 1989 tax year.

Hummel also gave this advice: "Remember, for 1989, you must have a social security number for any dependent age 2 or older; down from age 5 or older for 1988. If all your dependents do not have a social security number, it's best to check with the Social Security Administration now and get the ball rolling."

"Finally, it's never too early to start looking for a tax return preparer, if you're going to use one," Hummel said. "The earlier you call, the earlier you can make an appointment, file your return and receive your refund," he added. "And this year, you'll want to ask your preparer about the electronic filing option. By using this method, you can receive a refund in as quickly as two weeks (compared to six to eight weeks when filing in the conventional manner)," he said.

"Start your taxes and tax planning now to make your taxes less taxing this year," said Hummel.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Assoc. of Investors Corp.
& Consulting Editor, Better Investing

Q. I have been a long time shareholder of AT&T. I went through the period of the divestiture and have done very well with the stocks I received. I also have the basic AT&T stock. It hasn't done real well, but it hasn't been bad either. Now I read in the paper that AT&T will report a substantial annual loss for the first time in history. Do you think this would be a good time to sell the stock?

A. I suspect this might be a good time to buy the stock. As I look at the reports from the analysts, this move should be very constructive. It mostly represents an immediate write-off of expenses that have already been planned to be written off over a longer period of time. It is important for us to recognize that this is an accounting write-off and not a loss of cash or a change in cash flow. The company anticipates this write-off will have no effect on its ability to pay its dividend.

The amount of the charge is huge, $6.7 billion. AT&T will report a loss of $3.3 billion in the fourth quarter. When taken against the whole year, the loss will drop to $1.6 billion. What AT&T is doing is writing off now all the material it was planning on scrapping and replacing over the next five years.

In the past AT&T used analog equipment to operate its lines. That equipment is being replaced with digital equipment. That change has been taking place for some period of time. AT&T's competitors, MCI and Sprint, seem to have been ahead of it in this move. It is reported that it costs AT&T eight or nine cents a minute for every 200 miles a call travels on its old analog lines. On the new digital lines it only costs 2 to 5 cents per minute to carry the call. The digital switching equipment is also more economical, is more trouble-free and provides clearer transmission.

The digital equipment also increases operator efficiency. AT&T has estimated that over the next five years it will be able to reduce operating personnel by 18,000 people. It hopes to do most of this through retirements and attrition. Obviously this will translate into large savings and tremendously enhance AT&T's competitive position. It also should enable it to earn more money and pay bigger dividends.

It is interesting to note that the rating services which rate the quality of companies' bonds and commercial paper have not changed AT&T's high rating since this move was announced.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to offer my praise to the children of North and South schools for their wonderful singing. Although they had to perform under the most trying conditions; dull and archaic music, crowded conditions, long periods of trying to sit still, they stuck it out and did a fine job. I can't help but question June Warren and Patricia Pedersen's ability to relate to the younger children, did you really expect them to sit quietly while the other grades sang four songs each. Although leaving the concert was complete chaos, the gym was filled far beyond its capacity. I do wish the parents who left early would have thought about how rude they were being to the young singers.

Martha Clegio.

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to the article placed on the front page of The Chelsea Standard on Nov. 15, 1989 pertaining to the Navin suit. While I believe it is an editor's responsibility to report information to our community, I believe there is also a need to report the information correctly without withholding pertinent factual information. Specifically, there are 12 violations for which the Village of Chelsea Council members and Zoning Ordinance Committee members should be held responsible. I will take this opportunity to outline these violations as I believe it is necessary to inform our community of the mishandling of zoning ordinance laws by the people who represent our community. They are as follows:

1. The fence in the front yard is 18" high in the center. Three feet is minimum allowed on any fence.
2. The fence in the front yard is not allowed.
3. The fence along lot line is a commercial fence and extends into the front. According to Zoning Ordinance Laws, this fence should be decorative. The definition of decorative does not mean "decorative in the sense of 'in the eye of the beholder'."
4. There is a 7 ft. fence (1x12 boards) located from one building to another in the back yard. According to Zoning Ordinance Laws, this fence should be decorative and should not exceed 6 ft.
5. The 7 ft. fence encloses a storage area which is in violation.
6. The buildings located on this property are higher than 12 ft. which is against Zoning regulations.
7. The walls alone are 12 ft.
8. There is a fence located on this property which is higher than the lay of the land. This fence is 6 ft. It is actually 6 ft. 6" in areas.
9. How it is allowed the JL Porcelain, Inc., a business establishment of Mr. French's (see yellow pages of your local phone directory) be conducted on property zoned RS-2 residential.
10. With the establishment of JL Porcelain, Inc., semi trucks have been able to deliver materials to the RS-2 residentially zoned property. Under the "Home Occupation Ordinance Law" you are only allowed a light one-ton delivery van for home occupation. JL Porcelain has three trucks parked at times.
11. How can these deliveries exist under zoning laws when the business of Jan Taylor can only accept deliveries by UPS.
12. Under the "Home Occupation Ordinance Law" only the people that live on the property can work in that business. How was it accomplished for approval of others to work there? I believe it is the Village of Chelsea Council members who need to address

"Whose Birthday Is It, Anyway?"

In the land of Puzzling Tales there lived an eight-year-old boy by the name of Jason. Now in this land and in the neighborhood where Jason lived, the unexpected always happened. Instead of football they played kneeball; instead of the children "going to school" the teachers were busy "going to homes".

In the summer time it was not uncommon to see water and in the winter time leaves grew on trees. It was a funny, strange place.

One incident in the land of Puzzling Tales stands out. When it was time for Jason's ninth birthday, as usual, the unusual happened. Jason's grandparents came from their home across the state to help celebrate, but of course when they got to Jason's neighborhood they went immediately to the Brown's down the street and visited and stayed there. When Jason's mother baked the birthday cake she gave it to the letter carrier to eat. And when all the neighborhood kids heard it was Jason's birthday they exchanged gifts with one another and, of course, Jason got none. There was a blizzard of birthday cards. Of course, in the land of Puzzling Tales the expected was the unexpected and all the kids, the moms and dads, grandparents, even a couple of dogs and a parakeet got cards, while poor Jason got none.

Finally, in a fit of frustration and anger, Jason went out of his house, borrowed the school cheerleaders' megaphone, rode up and down the street on his unicycle and shouted at the top of his lungs, "WHOSE BIRTHDAY IS IT, ANYWAY?" And the night was so silent that all night long echoes bounced off the mountain sides. "Whose birthday is it, anyway?" "Whose birthday is it, anyway?"

The baby Jesus will be kidnapped again this year and held ransom for millions of dollars. This year Americans will surrender more than thirty billion dollars to stores to buy gifts to swap. But it is Jesus' birthday! Jesus ought to receive the gifts. Jesus said, "Inasmuch as you have done it to the least of these my brethren, you have done it to me."

We give to Jesus when we give to the poor, the weak, the hungry, the homeless, the refugees, the prisoners.

It will be a great birthday celebration when God's people begin in earnest to give once again to Jesus. For after all, it is His birthday, isn't it?

994-0423 WHO IS GOD? (part 6) 426-4078

Believe it or not, it is already here again. Scenes of the Nativity, cedars and pines of every shape and size come to life when decorated with a dazzling spectrum of lights and beautiful hand-crafted ornaments, retail outlets packing in customers in realization that their success or failure for the entire year hinges on business transactions completed within the next few weeks. All these things remind us of the season that our lives seem to revolve around, the season called Christmas. So what does Christmas have to do with God? you may ask. Considering the true meaning of Christmas, it has EVERYTHING to do with God, for it is God who is responsible for Christmas coming into existence by causing a Virgin named Mary to conceive a child whose name is Jesus. Indeed! God is the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. By what manner did God become a Father? many ask. What exactly happened in this miraculous conception? Through reading Luke 2:1-35 we understand that the power of the Highest, being the Holy Spirit, would cause Mary to conceive in her womb and bring forth a child named Jesus. It is important to understand that everything commensurate with the birth of Jesus took place in the womb of Mary. Jesus first came into existence in Mary's womb, not before. It is also important to understand that according to the scriptures the only thing that came upon Mary was the power of God. The actual process of the miraculous conception explained in biological terms is that: God caused an ovum, egg, or seed of a woman, as the scriptures infer, to become a fertilized, or become a zygote. We take this conception further to see that the actual manifestation of Jesus' first existence was brought about by Mary, not by God, for in Gal. 4:6 we read that Christ was made of a woman. Assuredly, God did send forth His Son, but he was sent from the womb of Mary, not from heavenly pre-existence. The only part that God played in the birth of Christ was that he caused an egg of Mary to become fertilized; he did not even create the ovum, but set in motion the natural process of child birth, just like every father, the only difference being it was his power, rather than his gamete, that induced Mary to bring forth a child whose name would be Jesus.

Downtown Merchants Sponsoring Area Holiday Decorations Contest

Chelsea Downtown Merchants are once again sponsoring prizes for the best area Christmas decorations this holiday season.

Tomorrow night, Thursday, Dec. 14, Chelsea Lioness Club members will be touring the area in the CATS bus to judge Christmas displays. Prizes of gift certificates of $50, $35, and $25 will be given for first, second, and third places.

Gift certificates will be redeemable at any downtown store.

Holiday displays will be judged on creativity, theme, and originality.

Homes within the village limits will be judged by the Lioness Club, although homes outside the village limits are also eligible. However, residents outside the village who wish to have their displays judged need to call 475-8188 by noon Thursday.

Resident Reports Theft of Trap

A W. Middle St. resident told Chelsea police that someone stole a trap, last Thursday, Dec. 7 that he was using to trap rabbits alive and relocate them.

The trap, valued at $60, was placed just outside his home. The thief's shoe prints led to Chandler St.

GIRL SCOUTS of Troop 719 are second grade Brownies attending South school. They are presently writing histories of their "big sisters" who are members of Troop 777 and residents of the Methodist Home. Above, Autumn Koch is working on the history of her big sister, Mrs. Jones.

Brownie Troop Working With Methodist Home Troop

Girl Scouts of Troops 777 and 719 are busy working together on badges. That's normal. What isn't normal is the fact the members of Troop 777 are residents of the Chelsea Methodist Home and the members of Troop 719 are second grade Brownies at South school. The troop leaders brought them together through a mutual desire to help another troop.

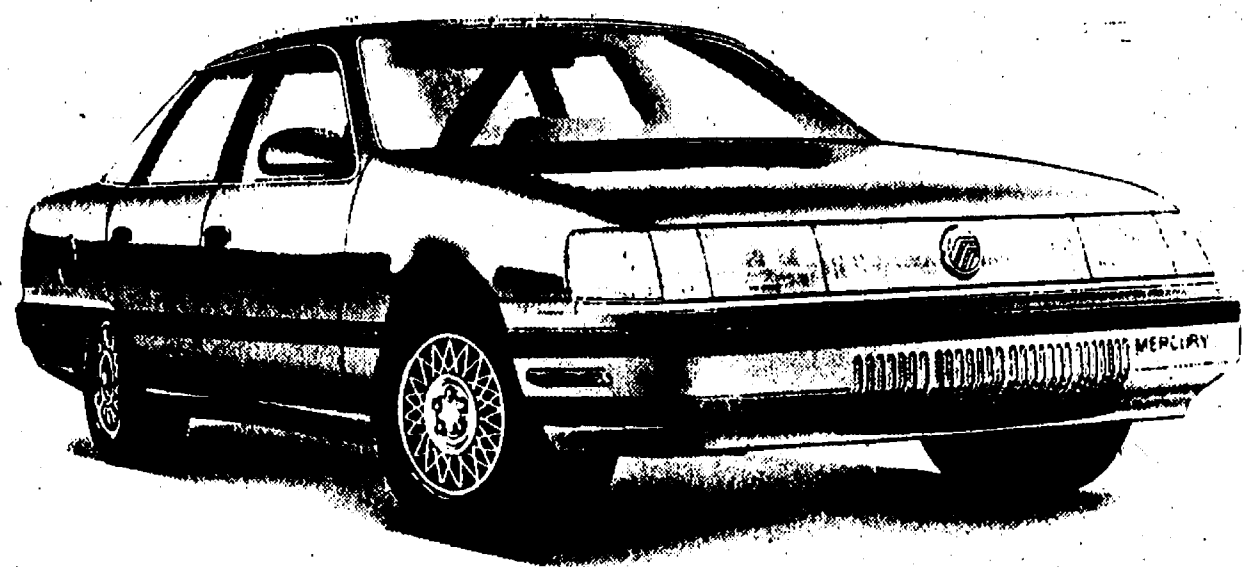

Small groups or patrols meet once each month for badge work. They are currently working on a history badge.

Each Brownie is writing a history about her "Big Sister." Later a copy will be given to the "Big Sister."

Several events are being planned together. In December they will set out bird feeders on Home property. They will also have a caroling party. Other events include the Father-Daughter Banquet in March and setting out bird houses.

Both troops are enjoying each other's company. They are really learning how things have changed over the years.

Village Ends Membership in Washtenaw Development Council

Despite a lengthy plea by two members of the Washtenaw Development Council, Village of Chelsea has voted to drop out of the organization.

Village council voted 3-3 last Tuesday, Dec. 5 to pay the $2,122.24 membership fee for next year. A 4-3 vote at the previous meeting was also determined to defeat the motion as an unbudgeted expense was involved.

Village council was not swayed by arguments that the services provided by WDC cannot be provided by any municipality, including Ann Arbor, for itself at a reasonable cost. Waters also said WDC has a greater commitment to its member communities, although it will continue to assist the business community of Chelsea but will not work directly with government.

"(WDC) is the best example in the state of a private and public partnership for economic development," Waters said.

At various times over the past year or more, council members have expressed their dissatisfaction with the WDC and have wondered what the village has received for its membership dues. They have pointed repeatedly at the lack of activity in the Chelsea Industrial Park, as well as a lack of information on WDC activity on the village's behalf. They have also been skeptical of Detroit Edison's relationship with the WDC, to which it contributes. Edison, in a sense, is in a competitive situation with the village, which has its own electrical utility.

"What Edison wants is not relevant," Waters said.

Waters told council that WDC has been working with two companies that are interested in purchasing land in the industrial park. Village manager Robert Stalker confirmed the news, but declined to elaborate.

Wigwagging is a method of signaling with one flag. The three motions used represent a dot, a dash and the end of a word or paragraph.

GERRY REITH was recently appointed Lyndon township treasurer to fill the term of Janis Knepper, who resigned. Gerry has lived in the area all her life. She attended Chelsea High school, and Cleary Business School. She worked for Fast-Morrow Buick, Oldsmobile, Chevrolet for 23 years and retired as office manager to take the treasurer's position.

Albion College is a private, coeducational, liberal arts college located in the south central Michigan town of the same name.
