1989: Chelsea's 10 Top News Stories

Chelsea's continuing landfill problems rated as 1989's top story.

Village officials had hoped to have a new operating license months ago, but the Department of Natural Resources had other ideas.

The license was finally granted in November contingent on the village providing four cash bonds over two years totaling $680,000. The village considers that stipulation intolerable and is contesting the decision. However, as of this writing, no date had been set for an administrative hearing.

Meanwhile, village manager Robert Stalker said the landfill may run completely out of room before a decision is made.

In addition, the landfill is turning into a municipal money pit. Consulting costs have skyrocketed to more than $125,000, and the village spent $322,000 to cap the old landfill, an expense that came far earlier than the village had planned. Garbage pick-up fees were doubled to bring in additional revenue. DNR turned down a grant request for more than $300,000. A plan to generate some revenue through collection of demolition materials had to be scrapped when the area was needed for regular garbage.

The village may soon have to face the cost of cleaning up groundwater contamination at the old site.

The Changing Face of Downtown
Three long-time businesses, Kusterer's Food Market, Chelsea Hardware, and Village Lawn & Garden, ceased operations this year.

Luther Kusterer, whose store served the village for more than 40 years, retired, leaving Schneider's Grocery as the only downtown grocery store. The building was sold to Maya Place, an importer of goods from Mexico and the southwest. They plan to open on the main floor in the spring. The upstairs is scheduled to be turned into two apartments.

Across Main St., it was a different story for Chelsea Hardware and Village Lawn & Garden, the first victims of increased competition in the area, primarily from Ames Department Store and ACO Hardware. Chelsea Hardware had been in business for 102 years.

Chelsea Office Supply is moving north into the former Chelsea Hardware building and Chelsea Motorcycle Supply will open soon in the former Lawn & Garden building.

Opening of Village Mall
Chelsea's second shopping mall, Village Mall, opened next to Polly's Market with the arrival of chain outlets ACO Hardware and Arbor Drugs. It continues the penetration of the Chelsea market by major chain stores begun last year by Ames Department Store.

ACO Hardware provided the first major local competition for downtown, family-owned, hardware retailers. Arbor Drugs has done the same to Chelsea Pharmacy, previously the only drug store in town.

Death of Frederick "Fritz" Weber
Fritz Weber, the first village manager, died May 26 after a long illness.

Weber probably had as much impact as anyone on the way the village operates. His guidance, from 1969 until this year, enabled the village to accumulate a large surplus in its electric fund. That, in turn, is helping the village through its landfill problems. It has also helped the village finance major purchases throughout the years.

Weber was also responsible for the establishment of Dana Park, now known as Weber Field, where hundreds of people play softball during the summer.

New Village Administration
Robert Stalker, II, formerly assistant city manager in Tecumseh, started as village manager in March. In October, Thomas Warstler, of St. Johns, who has a background in community planning, was hired as assistant village manager.

The appointment of Stalker and Warstler is significant, not just because they hold key positions, but also because they came here as outsiders. Former manager Weber and former assistant manager Lee Fahrner were life-long area residents.

Stalker and Warstler have the chance to instill a fresh point of view in Chelsea government based on their experiences in other municipalities, as well as their formal training.

Their arrival, too, comes at a key time in Chelsea's developmental history. There is pressure to annex new land for housing, there is pressure to help the downtown to stay viable and productive, there is pressure to bring new business to the dormant industrial park, the village's zoning ordinance needs an overhaul, and work has stalled on the revision of the general development plan. The village faces many key issues and leadership by the administration will be essential.

So far, Stalker seems to have been well-received by village council. Most of his ideas and proposals have been supported. He has also been put in the unfortunate position of having to recommend a variety of steep utility and service increases, not usually a

FAITH IN ACTION volunteers put together packages of food, toys, clothes, candy, and cookies for more than 80 needy families in the Chelsea-Dexter-Manchester area last week at Our Savior Lutheran church. Donors of the items included individuals, classes, scouts, and Sunday school classes. Each basket included enough food for a Christmas meal. Parents from each family came in and "shopped" for their children from hundreds of wrapped

Chelsea Civic Foundation Approves Three Grants For Community Projects

Civic Foundation of Chelsea Board of Directors approved three grant proposals at their final meeting of the year last Thursday, Dec. 21.

The board voted to give $519 for the purchase of an expensive analytical balance for the Chelsea High school science department. Frank Hammer, a concerned parent, arranged to purchase the balance for a reduced price of $1,200 through business contacts.

Although it was not an official fundraising effort by the school district, the district does stand to gain financially. The science department will be able to purchase less expensive bulk chemicals for certain experiments rather than costly pre-weighed ones as they can be weighed on the balance.

The board also voted to give $3,000 toward the construction of a gazebo in Pierce Park. So far the Rotary Club of Chelsea has pledged $2,000 and the Chamber of Commerce has pledged $1,500. A total of $15,000 is needed for the purchase of materials.

The final contribution was awarded to the Senior Chore Program. Faith in Action was given $5,000 to initiate a formal program to help seniors who have occasional need for household help. The money will be used to subsidize the difference between the cost of the service and what the recipient can afford to pay for it. VISTA has agreed to provide funds for a coordinator and future funding is expected to be provided by other sources. The board agreed to provide $2,500 now and $2,500 later as the need arises.

The Civic Foundation has given more than $11,000 in grants this year, according to treasurer Jeff Stommen. Stommen said that contributions should be increasing this year due to the favorable tax credit which applies to community foundation donations.

"Once people realize they can double their contribution from last year and the state will pay the difference, we hope to see a surge in contributions," Stommen said.

So far, 42 percent of the 1989 members have renewed their memberships, according to membership chair John Mann. A total of 66 persons, including several new contributors, have sent in their dues. 1989 membership totaled 127.

In order to receive a tax credit for this year, contributions need to be made before Jan. 1.

1990 Chelsea Fair Slated Aug. 21-25

The 1990 Chelsea Community Fair will be held from Tuesday, Aug. 21 through Saturday, Aug. 25. The dates were finalized at the Chelsea Community Fair Board's regular meeting Dec. 14.

In other business, Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner Janis Bobrin, deputy commissioner Kevin Sullivan, and Chuck Kijak discussed the Wilkinson St. drain, which is scheduled to cross the fairgrounds. Reuben Lesser, Jr., John Klink, Richard Bollinger, and Lloyd Grau were appointed to a committee to work on the matter.

The board also voted to seek a variance to locate the new 60' by 100' agricultural building next to the existing cattle barn.

Slippery Roads Blamed for Several Auto Crashes

Gary George Paxton of Roepke Rd. was issued a careless driving citation after the vehicle he was driving eastbound on Old US-12, one-fourth mile west of Chelsea, left the roadway and traveled approximately 200 yards across a lawn, before coming to rest against a pine tree, Friday, Dec. 22.

The incident took place shortly before 7 p.m., and an arrow-type sign placed at the location by the Washtenaw County Road Commission was damaged, according to the report filed by deputy Platt.

Deputy L. G. Thayer explained in his report that Christine Applin Ameen of Parkgrove had stopped to turn left onto the entrance ramp to westbound Interstate-94 in Scio township at 8:04 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 19, when her vehicle was struck from behind by one driven by an Ypsilanti motorist, Thomas Darrell Lovett, who departed the vehicle at the scene and fled on foot.

In another report filed by deputy Thayer, a Manchester citizen who resided on Sharon Valley Rd. explained to the deputy at 9:15 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 17, an unknown driver drove through his yard fence, damaging it, in addition to damaging his mailbox.

Florence Szymanski told deputy Tom Spies her husband started her 1980 Dodge, which was parked in the garage at their Scio township home, one morning, last week, but when she went out to the garage to leave, she found the vehicle engulfed in flames, and called the fire department.

Upon arrival, officers found the fire had spread to the wooden garage structure.

Scio Township Fire Department personnel arrived to quench the flames.

Deputy Spies filed a report involving a crash which occurred on W. Liberty Rd., east of Wagner in Scio township, at 11:55 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 19, when a vehicle driven by Ernest Alfred Krause pulled out of a private drive into the path of a second vehicle, whose driver, William Stephan O'Donnell of Ypsilanti, was traveling westbound on Liberty Rd.

Both O'Donnell and Anna Krause, a passenger in the first vehicle, suffered minor injuries but sought their own medical treatment, according to the report.

Mary Josephine Nicholas of Pinckney told deputies she'd seek medical assistance on her own after she received minor injuries in a car-tree crash reported at 2:43 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 19, on Dexter-Pinckney Rd., north of Island Lake Rd.

The motorist explained she lost control of the vehicle she was driving, after hitting a patch of ice in the road, after which she spun around and struck a large tree.

Frieda Alice Young reported to deputy L. G. Thayer she lost control on snow-covered Roe Rd., spun out, and struck a tree at 9:20 a.m. Monday, Dec. 20.

Village Plans Precautions at Council Meetings

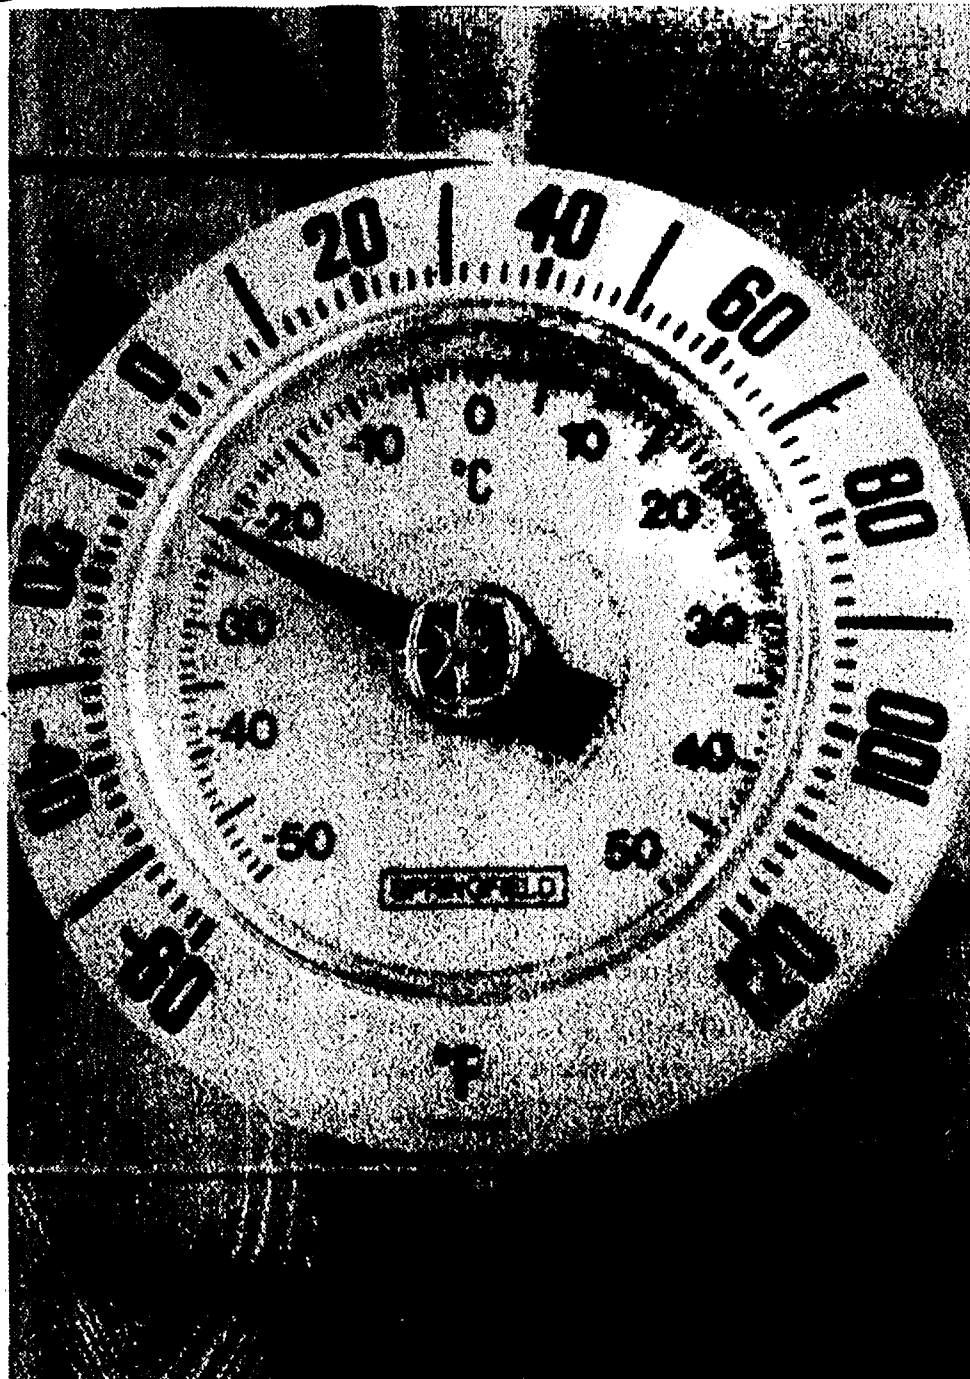

A public outburst by Chelsea resident George Navin that some village council members considered threatening has prompted the village to take some unusual measures.

Navin, who along with his wife, Betty, is involved in a law suit against the village, threatened during the public participation portion of last Tuesday's village council meeting, in so many words, to get the village. He accused village officials of lying, called trustees a "bunch of fools," and made several comments about testimony earlier that day regarding the law suit. He also directed a personal accusation at one council member.

The village has asked its attorney, Peter Flintoft, to seek a restraining order to keep Navin out of council chambers. Flintoft was provided a recording of the meeting.

In any event, village president Jerry Satterthwaite said he has asked that a Chelsea police officer be stationed at council meetings at least until the law suit is settled.

The trial is scheduled for January. Navins contend the village is not properly enforcing its zoning ordinance in regard to a fence built by their neighbor Leonard French. They also contend French is illegally operating a business out of his home.

RRRRRRR! Record-breaking temperatures hit the Chelsea area, as well as much of the country, last week. Friday morning temperatures reached -10 degrees and area road service companies had more work than they could handle jump starting cold vehicles. Wind chill factors made the weather feel like -50. Pet owners were warned not to leave their animals out for more than five minutes.

H.O.S.T. Program Ready
For 1990 Investors

The state will open applications in January for a program to help first-time home buyers accumulate a down payment by making monthly purchases in denominations as small as $100 in tax-exempt state bonds.

The applications, due after Jan. 2, will be limited with about $5-7 million expected to be made available for the program at that time.

Details of the Home Ownership Savings Trust program, which has been under development for about a year, were announced recently by Governor James J. Blanchard.

Up to $40 million, or 5 percent of the $800 million in environmental/recreation bonds approved by voters last year, will eventually be sold through the H.O.S.T. program.

Additional application periods will be offered again as subsequent bonds are sold to provide revenues for environmental/recreation projects approved by the Legislature.

Blanchard said the savings assistance will help "young families save for their down payment, which is the first step in making the American dream of home ownership come true."

The program guarantees interest on the bonds will keep pace with housing inflation rates, but does not ensure the eventual savings will be sufficient for the down payment on a particular home if it is in an area where rates have risen faster than the state average.

The Michigan Association of Realtors reports that price increases for sales of existing homes has averaged 6.5 to 7 percent annually over the past few years.

The minimum interest rate that would be equal to rates paid on one-year tax exempt notes, which is also the rate paid to persons who withdraw from the program early to use the money for other than a home purchase.

Officials have no estimate on the number of applications they expect, but said 500 inquiries have been received about the program when it was still in the developmental stage.

Applicants will have to determine in advance the location, price and approximate date they will purchase a home, and establish a projected down payment in order to determine their monthly payments to the Department of Treasury.

Treasurer Robert Bowman said the state's guarantee for interest rates equal to housing inflation is not a higher risk since historically, tax-exempt interest rates have about equaled the rise in housing costs.

And, he said the program assures young people "their hard earned savings will not be eaten away if the price of housing rises faster than normal savings rates."

Don Freels, executive vice-president of the Michigan Association of Realtors, said changes in the plan over the year overcame the group's initial opposition.

"It provides incentive for people to save which is good for the state and the country," he said. "The greatest obstacle to purchasing a first home is saving for the down payment."

Among the changes in the program from what was initially outlined by the governor is that persons no longer have to specify the community where they will purchase a home and the state will not be guaranteeing an amount sufficient to cover a down payment in those specific communities.

Instead, the guarantee will simply be linked to the state-wide average increase in housing prices, and persons who are targeting to purchase in a faster-growing market would simply make larger monthly payments.

The average price for existing homes is $77,000. Freels said a first-time buyer may be paying around $50,000 although no data is available specifically on that issue.

He said an estimated 15 percent of the homes sold in the state are to first-time buyers.

Freels said "there is no question" it takes longer for young persons to reach an income level to qualify for a mortgage and to save for a down payment.

But the program does have its detractors. Sen. Nick Smith (R-Addison), whose bill to provide state income tax deductions for home purchase savings in private accounts, criticized the program as an inappropriate enterprise for state government.

"It (the H.O.S.T. program) makes for better speeches than it does an incentive to people to buy a home. My bill offers a true incentive to save by reducing a state tax," he said.

Smith did, however, welcome the program's aspect of providing small investors an opportunity to buy the bonds, saying he and other legislators had early on urged that be part of the bond program.

The first batch of bonds sold by the state were purchased at an average interest rate of about 7 percent.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Clem Webster had some encouraging word for the fellers at the country store Saturday night. He reminded them the country is safer now that Congress is not in session. Clem went on to say now is the time for all good taxpayers to bend the ears of their Congressmen.

We don't have to start with the pay raise they voted themselves, Clem said, but it ought to be on the agenda. Before the poor things make their way back to Washington they need to understand there is a way to put a end to their suffering. It certainly is true that the surest way to get in Congress is to be in Congress, Clem said, but these people ain't serving life sentences.

When you think about the $3.1 trillion debt ceiling just raised by Congress, Clem said, you realize you might as well think about the stars in the heavens, including that sizable section discovered last month. But the more you think about Congress raising its wages from $89,500 to $125,000 a year the less you think of it. Clem said he wants to know what happened to the cursed and discussed tax break on capital gains. The last he heard action had been delayed, and a financial expert explained that we need to understand there are two times when Congress does no work. They are before holidays and after holidays, which would include the August layoff.

Accenting the positive, Zeke Grubb reported that he had read of a new angle on cutting defense spending, and he was going to brief his Congressman on it. What we do, Zeke said, is lower per-unit cost by building volume. He had saw where this will work especial good in the sale of the M-1 tank to other countries. Zeke had a clipping that showed if the tank maker sells $3 billion worth to Saudi Arabia it would lower prices and trim the Pentagon's tank tab by $150 million over the next five years.

Practical speaking, Zeke said, the best deal would be to sell the M-1 to the Russians. This is the tank that breaks down so much it is followed by truckloads of parts and mechanics. This is the tank that has computer aimed guns that can't hit moving targets. If we can outfit the Red Army and get Iran to buy in with some of them unfrozen assets, we can get our tanks free and promote world peace in the bargain. The aim in battle, Zeke noted, is to wound the enemy so it will take four more enemy to look after him. Think of the manpower the M-1 would need.

Furthermore, the beauty of this volume selling is the more we sell the more we need, Zeke went on. If Saudi Arabia has 200 M-1 tanks, what about Israel? Of course we'll give em to Israel, but we'll make it up in per-unit savings. Then we can work the same wrinkle with missiles, planes, ships and submarines. The more overseas sales the State Department makes the lower the Defense Department's costs. If we can arm the rest of the world to the teeth, Zeke said, we can cover our defense budget with referral fees from our contractors.

Before they come in their white jackets and take Zeke away, I'll have to say stranger fictions have been offered as truth. Recent, I saw where a eye doctor in Des Moines was called before the state board on charges that he required wimmen to strip to the waist for examinations. He explained he needed to check the curve of their spines in order to check their eyes. We need that feller selling tanks.

Yours truly,

Uncle Lew.

politically popular idea for the new guy on the block.

Playhouse in the Making
Actor Jeff Daniels' purchase of the 128 Park St. Property, until recently the home of Poma's Pizza, is one of this year's top stories because of its potential for the downtown area.

Daniels plans to turn the building into a playhouse with approximately 100 seats. It will serve as a proving grounds for local performers, actors, and writers. It will also be a badly-needed source of local entertainment.

It's not such a great stretch of the imagination to see how such a facility could become an off-the-beaten-path tourist draw. If nothing else, it should draw many more people to the downtown area.

Fencing of Cassidy Lake
After years of complaints by area residents and law enforcement agencies, Michigan Department of Corrections decided to erect a 12-foot, chain-link and concertina fence around Cassidy Lake Technical School.

The minimum-security prison had long been a sore point because of the number of prisoners who routinely walked away, in some years more than 100. In addition, more prisoners there are serving time for major crimes. Escapists occasionally broke into cars or residences looking for transportation or clothes. Chelsea Police Department and Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department spent many un-reimbursed hours tracking down escaped prisoners.

State Sen. Lana Pollack's office was credited with pressuring the correction's department to undertake the $200,000 project.

Death of Charlie Cameron
Retired Chelsea school superintendent Charlie Cameron died Oct. 11. Cameron devoted his entire career to the Chelsea School District, beginning as a teacher in 1937 and serving as superintendent from 1952 to 1978.

Cameron was regarded by many as the most influential person in the history of the district. He completed the job of the consolidation of the outlying schools into what is now known as the Chelsea School District. Most of the current buildings were constructed during his tenure as superintendent. It was also during his tenure that Chelsea began to gain its state-wide reputation as a quality program.

New High School Administration
Ronald Mead, of Nassau, Del., became Chelsea High school's new principal Nov. 6. He took over for John Williams, who accepted a position in Ingham county.

Former Chelsea teacher Joseph Rossi is scheduled to start work as assistant principal Jan. 8. His predecessor, Ken Larson, is now principal at Stockbridge High school.

Mead became the second major appointment by superintendent Joe Piasecki, now in his second year. His first was the appointment of athletic director Wayne Welton.

The high school principal is in the public eye more than any other principal, partly because the high school is the largest school in the district. For that reason, he also has the chance to be one of the most influential people in the area.

State Cross Country Championship
It's not often a sports story would make this list, but a state championship in anything doesn't happen very often.

Coach Pat Clarke's girls team, led by freshman Lisa Monti, won the class B title Nov. 4 at Tyrone Hills

Golf Course in cold, windy weather. Virtually every girl on the team ran her season-best or career-best time. They beat several teams who were ranked ahead of them all season long.

There were many other stories that could have made this list.

Some of them include:
• Passage of a two-mill operating levy for the school district, thereby eliminating a host of dramatic cuts.

• Ratification of a three-year teachers contract calling for an over-all seven percent raise.

• Major area businesses, Honegger's, Inc. and W.A. Thomas, are sold. Honegger's was purchased by Proviso Big-H, and W.A. Thomas was purchased by Detroit-area investors.

• Downtown Development Authority parking program gets underway as the group's first project.

• Chelsea Methodist Retirement Home enters the final phase of its $20 million expansion program and announces it will replace the historic front building of the complex.

THE CRATCHIT FAMILY has Christmas dinner together in a scene from "A Christmas Carol" presented last Thursday and Friday by fifth graders in Bob Bullock's class at South school. The children created the props and organized the show. From left are Jeanette Walter, traveling northbound on Struthers Rd., one-half mile south of Grass Lake Rd. about 7 a.m. Wednesday, Dec. 20, the motorist explained he was unable to avoid hitting the animal.

Deputy John Russell investigated a report by Robin Lee Tompkins that she was traveling eastbound on Old US-12 on Monday, Dec. 18, when a deer ran out in front of her vehicle and she was not able to avoid hitting the animal.

Karl Robert Shuler of Portage Lake Rd., Munith, told WCD's sergeant Westrick he was unable to avoid striking a deer which appeared from the south side on westbound Dexter-Chelsea Rd., east of McKinley, at 6:45 p.m. Monday, Dec. 18.

Mallissa Marie Morley of Scio Church Rd., Chelsea, was westbound on Scio Church Rd., a few days ago, when she hit a doe which ran suddenly in front of her vehicle.

THE Welsh national flower is the leek—a vegetable that closely resembles the onion.

THE GHOST OF CHRISTMAS YET TO COME, right, was played by Adam Daniel in "A Christmas Carol" presented last week by South school fifth graders in Bob Bullock's class. Melanie Hava, left, played Ebenezer Scrooge.

Award Winning Motivator To Hold Three Programs Jan. 10

Motivational speaker Mark Scharenbroich will be the featured guest for three programs for Chelsea students and the community on Wednesday, Jan. 10.

Scharenbroich has worked as a speaker, as well as an author and director of several leadership training courses and motivational films. He is featured in the film entitled, "The Greatest Days of Your Life . . . (so far)," which has been seen by more than 6 million students world-wide. He has personally spoken in more than 800 high schools throughout North and Central America.

Scharenbroich is also the author of two award-winning courses entitled "One of a Kind," which deals with positive self-image, and "Pathways to Performance," which is aimed at reaching top levels of performance.

Scharenbroich will hold a leadership workshop with all student council members of the Southeastern Conference from 10 a.m. to noon. From 1:20-2:10 p.m. he will speak to all Chelsea High school students in a general assembly. And from 7-8 p.m. he will talk to interested high school and middle school parents, and their children. All programs are in the high school auditorium.

Scharenbroich, an honor graduate of St. Cloud University, is described as a positive, wholesome, and entertaining speaker.

More Than 200 Attend Benefit Dance for Teens

More than 200 people attended a benefit dance sponsored by Chelsea Area Teens for the families of Joe Eassa and Bryant Beard on Saturday, Nov. 25.

The dance, held at St. Mary's Hall, raised money to help defray medical expenses resulting from last summer's automobile accident in which both boys were severely injured. Area businesses also contributed.

Middle school and high school teens, and adults, danced to music played by Thompson & Thompson DJs. Several members of Eassa's and Beard's graduating class were also able to attend.

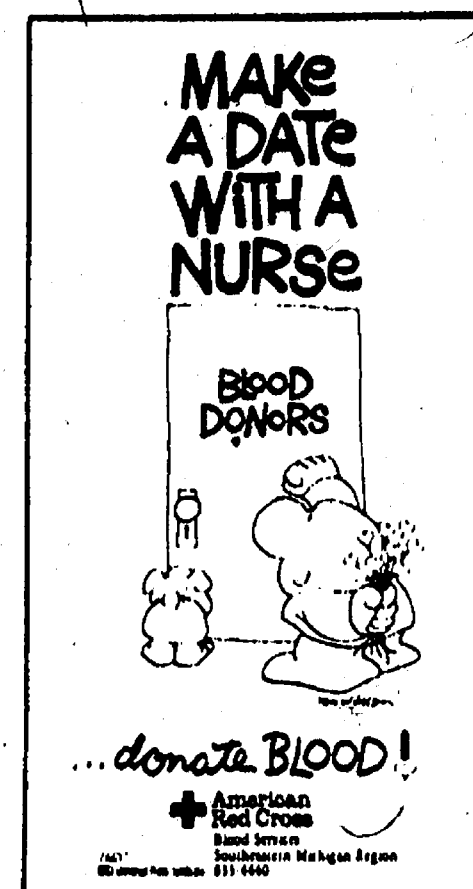

The dance was the idea of Chelsea teen Amy Mitchell.

CHELSEA LIONS CLUB held their Christmas party on Tuesday, Dec. 19 at Chelsea Community Hospital. Santa Claus made a special appearance and Leah and Eli Gerstenlauer, children of Tom and Diane Gerstenlauer of Chelsea, were two of the many children who had a chance to tell Santa their wish list.

Trustee Phil Boham Plans To Resign

Two-term village trustee Phil Boham is likely to submit his resignation from the village council by the end of the year.

Boham, and his wife, Lynne, have sold their East St. home and plan to move to the North Lake area.

Boham, one of the most outspoken trustees, had been frequently mentioned as a likely candidate for village president when Jerry Satterthwaite's term expires this March. Boham confirmed last week that he had considered a shot at the presidency.

"If we could have found a house in the village we would have stayed," Boham said.

"We've been looking for quite a while."

Boham's term expires in March. Satterthwaite said he probably won't appoint a successor for the interim unless he can find a well-qualified candidate. There are five more council meetings before the elections.

The next election will mark the first time since 1986 that an incumbent has decided not to seek re-election. That year Jim Finch opted out of the race.

DONALD A. COLE, Director

The tune of Auld Lang Syne so frequently heard on New Years is probably the oldest custom attached to the "old times." It is a good custom unaffected by changing times from one year to another. Every New Year poses problems unheard of in the past and the fact that we have problems should give us a challenge — and hope. Shortages in many things, especially in energy, indicate the extent of past mistakes. But the past is over with. The present exists. The future is coming. And both the present and the future reflect the need, the absolute necessity to change the changing times.

This thought is beautifully expressed by an unknown author — "Another year behind us, into the toils of time. Another year will find us; Far upward in our climb . . . So, friend set high your banners, unfurl your colors bright. — Your march is ever onward. Success shall crown the fight" . . . To which we add a personal hope — with the help of God may you all have a Happy, Healthy and Prosperous New Year.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

When my wife, Mrs. Navin, appeared before the Zoning Board on Sept. 6, 1988, she had already informed Mrs. Harook, the Zoning Inspector, of several zoning violations which Mrs. Harook refused to address and correct.

Mrs. Navin asked for aid and support from the Council in correcting those matters; instead the Council chose to support the Zoning Inspector's inability to understand and apply the Zoning Ordinances in question, and then invited us to sue them. Mrs. Harook had also challenged us to sue.

We have at this time invested over $16,000 in trying to have our rights as citizens upheld, and I am sure the village attorney does not mind taking the taxpayers' money to try this case, win or lose.

Let me state here our decision to fight for our rights are from times in the past when we had to accept other violations of our rights and we had no finances to fight them with. Our hopes now are that others, as we were, will hopefully benefit by this action we are taking.

It has been proven by testimony that all the zoning violations exist and with the approval of village officials at the time.

Mr. Flintoft, the village attorney, on Dec. 19 informed us he will present to the Village Council a proposal to change the wording of the Fence Ordinance so as to make our case moot.

We believe this to be a form of blackmail, and as a result we have contacted both State and Federal organizations for aid.

This Council is not above the law.
George Navin.

Dear Editor,

After reading in the paper about the children's Christmas program, I agree there weren't enough Christmas carols. What is this event all about? We can hear cowboy, Wizard of Oz songs other times. We have forgotten what this season is about.

When I was a kid we had Christmas carols and a program about Joseph and Mary and a new-born babe and everybody could come and see it.

Also, North school should have been one night and South school have their program another night. There are four grandparents, and two parents for every child.

Also, the children were so crowded you could not tell one child from the other.

For the songs they had to sing I wouldn't blame them if they tried to hide behind each other.

Thanks, Sue, for speaking out. I thought I was the only one who thought like that.

Millie Fields.

Rental prices were discussed and some changes were made.

Board members in attendance included Bill Stoffer, Maryann Guenther, Mark Stapish, Grau, James Robbins, Harold Gross, Harold Trinkle, Mark Lesser, John Klink, Richard Bollinger, Reuben Lesser, Jr., Steve Trinkle, Jerry Heydlauff, Ken McCalla, Earl Heller, and Jeff Layher.

The first federal mediation service for labor disputes outside the railroad industry was created in 1913 by the act which created the Labor Department, according to "Labor First in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication. The legislation authorized the Secretary of Labor to act as mediator in labor disputes. In 1948 the U.S. Mediation and Conciliation Service was made an independent agency.

Chiropractic Health Care

Last week's column dealt with the chemical causes of subluxations; those slight misalignments in the spine that are behind a great many health problems. The week before we touched on the structural causes. The third and last general cause of subluxations is emotional stress to the body.

Emotional dis-STRESS to the body comes in many forms. Problems with job or family, deaths of people close to us and psychological abuse to name just a few. It's usually harder to understand how this can cause physical ailments, via subluxations, than structural or chemical stress to the body. But in a general way people know that emotional stress can cause stomach upset, emotionally traumatized children may be night bed wetters and the scientific literature speaks to "emotional back ache."

These types of problems and others come about because emotional changes are physical changes, through the nervous and biochemical systems of the body. This is why subluxations can be produced by emotional stress. Because of this physical change many times the chiropractic adjustment (a true physical therapy) can bring about better emotional health and a sense of well being.

As future columns are printed we will discuss this topic in greater detail. Should you have questions or comments about this column please send them to Dr. J. Nicholas Kofeman, 138 E. Middle Street, Chelsea, MI 48118, or call (313) 475-2088.

Cub Scouts

DEN 7, PACK 455— The boys of Cub Scout Den 7, Pack 455 of South Elementary school were awarded their Bobcat patches in ceremonies at the November pack meeting. Boys receiving the awards were Dennis Watson, Ryan Sullivan, Jason Silverthorn, Andrew Houle, Matt Hicks, Ben Hicks, David Hamilton, Timothy Day, and Kyle Dangler.

During the month of December, Den 7 adopted the country of Nigeria. They learned a few facts about the country. They made the green and white striped flag of the country and learned to play Icho, a game as common in Nigeria as checkers is in the United States.

Happy New Year!

Our toast to you this New Year: May you experience health, wealth and happiness in 1990! It has been our great pleasure to have served you this past year. We hope to continue to satisfy your needs and remain loyal to your high standards.

FRIGID WEATHER didn't stop some people from working outside last week. Here Dan Rac, right, of Rac Construction, and Brian Woodman, work on an overhang on a home under construction in Belser Estates. The home, Rac said, is one of several in the development that will be included in the Ann Arbor Home Show next summer.

The fastest stock rise in history occurred on December 10, 1985 when a share of Pennzoil went from 19-3/4 to 83.

Reminiscing 34 Years Ago...

and Mrs. Charles Bell, of Portage Lake, near Pinckney. The family had recently moved from East Summit street. Douglas is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Vickers.

Predictions for 1986...

1) If no unforeseen event happens, President Eisenhower will be re-nominated and re-elected.

2) The Republican party has an excellent chance of winning with President Eisenhower making a few key speeches and promising to be an active part of the Administration.

3) Competition will be very severe in 1986, and with few exceptions will cause business profits to be less in 1986 than in 1985. Too many manufacturers, not satisfied with their present good business are starting to make other products and undercut standard prices.

4) Russia will keep out of war with us during 1986.

5) There will be one or more small wars during 1986. Both sides of the conflicts will try to secure help in the form of munitions from both Russia and the United States, but none of these will develop into serious conflicts.

6) The "Cold War," now existing between Russia and the United States, will continue through 1986.

Santa Claus was to deliver cash Christmas gifts totaling more than $61,788.00 to employees of the Kroger company in this area, it was announced. Every employee with six months or more service, with the exception of those who participate in a company incentive program, received the checks.

Pinckney Woman Serving With Peace Keeping Unit in Egypt

By Cecil B. Newberry
Sinai, Egypt—Across the great hot sand of the Sinai desert, Moses and the children of Israel wandered aimlessly for 40 years, searching for the promised land.

Today, a Pinckney woman is walking along the same paths the freed Israelis took as they fled Egypt and the wrath of King Ramses. Her goal in this war torn and ravaged land is peace.

Army Specialist Sandra L. Church, 32, is a member of the 11-nation Multinational Force and Observers responsible for keeping the peace and enforcing the 1979 Treaty of Peace signed by the leaders of Egypt and Israel.

Church, the daughter of Earl E. and Gloria M. Church, 2520 Baseview, Pinckney, is a refrigeration repair specialist at El Gorah, North Camp, with the 1st U.S. Army Support Battalion.

While the soldiers at North Camp are responsible for supporting many of the units in the Sinai, the Army also has soldiers at Sharm El Sheikh, South Camp.

"I work on the refrigeration equipment we have here, to include the walk-in freezers and the refrigeration units on the tractor trailers," said Church.

Located between Cairo, Egypt and Tel Aviv, Israel, soldiers assigned to the MFO are free to travel to either country, or to visit other regions of the "Holy Land."

"I've visited the Dead Sea, Tel Aviv, Beer Sheva, and Jerusalem in Israel. I enjoyed Jerusalem the most, because of all the historical points of interest the city has to offer. I also traveled to Cairo, Egypt, where I found the shopping to be very cheap," said Church.

For Church this is a one-year remote tour in a land of 100 degree temperatures and blowing sand. Besides being without her family and friends, she must do without many of the conveniences that most Americans are used to.

"Being here is like being in a prison. I really want to be able to sleep in my own bed, drive my own truck, and hang around people I want to be with when I get off work. I also miss driving my truck and going fishing," said the 1978 graduate of Community High School, Ann Arbor.

Church is married to Richard B. Kilgore.

Nature from Your Backdoor

By Glenn R. Dudderar

With the increasing popularity of bird feeding, a lot of people are branching out from the more common seed-eating birds to feed other species, such as hummingbirds. Each year in October, I get more calls about when to bring in the hummingbird feeder. People are concerned that continuing to feed after early September will cause the hummingbirds to overstay the time they should have left Michigan to migrate south.

We know that bird migration is influenced by three things: day length, weather, and the availability of food and water. And we know that all three factors are interrelated. Decreasing day length means that birds will migrate within a certain period; weather determines the date within that time; and food and water supplies interact with weather to determine when, how far and how fast the birds travel.

For instance, waterfowl will linger much farther north than usual if the food and water are there. This poses a problem for the folks who manage waterfowl refuges. These refuges are supposed to be stepping-stones down through the continent. They provide a rest and feeding stop for migrating waterfowl. The trick in managing these refuges is to provide enough food to provide for the birds' needs as they travel but not so much that we shortstop the birds. If we make the living too good there, they will tend to stay until the water freezes and food is locked in ice or snow. Then they depart.

Something similar seems to happen with hummingbirds. In September, the reduction in day length tells them it's time to leave, but if the feeder is still there and they can get lots of food from their favorite flowers, they may linger until the frost wipes out their feeding flowers. Then they head south.

They may not have to go too far. A flight of a couple of hundred miles can put them in an area where the flowers are still blooming. But if they have to, they can fly hundreds of miles without rest.

It appears that the only problem with leaving the hummingbird feeder out as long as there are hummingbirds around to use it is that encouraging them to linger might mean they'd be exposed to cold, rainy, windy weather that they might not have experienced if they'd gone south earlier. A long period of cold, wet weather can be harmful to them—it prevents them from migrating and also makes it difficult for them to feed.

So there's that argument for taking the feeder down. On the other side of the coin is the fact that the hummingbirds, like other birds that migrate, need to build up fat reserves to sustain them on their travels. The longer the hummingbirds can stay here and build up their fat supplies, to a point, the better equipped they will be to handle migration. Taking the feeder in in early September may mean that the birds have two to three weeks less of easy access to an abundant, nutritious food source that would allow them to accumulate more fat reserves vital to them during migration.

I am reluctant to take my feeder down until the frost kills off the trumpet creepers around it. When that happens, the birds take off and the feeder comes down.

Because so many factors interact to determine when the hummingbirds start their migration, the best time for bringing in the feeder can vary from year to year. Using the trumpet creeper as a cue works in my situation. For other people, I suggest the time to take the feeder down is when they are ready. Chances are that the natural processes that regulate migration will probably continue to work for the majority of hummingbirds, regardless of what actions we humans take.

What is more important in the long run is understanding the process and enjoying the opportunity to observe and speculate about the effect of this factor or that one. That opportunity to watch and wonder is a big part of nature from your backdoor.

1989 CHELSEA HISTORY: Year-End News Summary

January . . .

4—Chelsea Police Department has sent a bill for $1,800 to the State of Michigan for time spent in pursuing prison escapees in 1988. Most of the escapees were from Cassidy Lake Technical School.

4—A survey conducted by the Food Marketing Institute indicated that 78% of the public thought pesticide residues in food were a serious problem. But according to Michigan Farm Bureau's Promotion and Education Department that public concern is largely misplaced.

5—Four men faced charges for possession of crack cocaine and marijuana possession after an incident near the Village Mobil station.

11—A Chelsea police car was stolen from in front of the police station early Sunday morning by four young men ranging in age from 18-22, according to police chief Lenard McDougall.

11—The Village of Chelsea spent $13,195 to purchase additional memory for its computer system.

11—Three new members of the Civic Foundation were Dr. David Swan, John Mann, and Randy Musbach.

11—A deer crashed into the side of a Chelsea Community school bus which was carrying the varsity and JV basketball teams. The bus suffered $250 worth of damage, but nobody was injured, except the deer, of course.

12—The Village accepted a bid of $13,210 from Environmental Pollution Control to clean out asbestos in the basement of the village office building.

13—Chelsea high school students were "back in the balcony," according to a press release from the high school publicity department.

18—A delegation of students and school officials left for Washington, D.C. to attend the inauguration of President-Elect George Bush, who became the 41st president.

18—A scholarship fund in the name of Chelsea resident Dortha Pielemeier was set up at the World Peace University in Eugene, Ore.

18—The Chelsea area suffered a blackout for more than an hour. Approximately 1,500 customers of Consumers Power Co. lost power.

25—As one village employee put it, the Mail Wars were beginning. On a Saturday night, after dark, an excavating and grading crew filled in a pond and marshland just south of Polly's Market off M-52. For years the pond had served to handle Polly's storm-water run-off.

25—Chelsea area police reported the theft of more than 30 hood ornaments over a week's time. Most of the thefts occurred in the vicinity of the Chelsea Methodist Retirement Home.

25—State of Michigan Department of Corrections refused to pay a bill submitted by the Chelsea Police Department for the capture of 15 escaped prisoners.

February . . .

1—Leonard and James Burmeister, Saline, were presented the "Walter Wolfgang Memorial" Conservation Farmer of the Year Award for 1988 at the 40th annual meeting of the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District.

1—The Chelsea Downtown Development Authority put together a "Chelsea Consumer Survey" aimed at collecting a variety of information about how area residents used the downtown area and what they perceived as its strengths and weaknesses.

3—The Hammerschmidt home on Ridge Rd. at Cavanaugh Lake suffered approximately $50,000 worth of damage when fire broke out in a sauna.

4—Chelsea fourth, seventh, and 10th grade students equalled or surpassed state averages on nearly all phases of the 1988-89 Michigan Educational Assessment Program according to a report by high school counselor Sue Carter.

5—Michigan Department of Corrections announced that it would construct a fence around Cassidy Lake Technical School in the spring.

7—An earth home, the first of its kind in the county was being constructed on Trinkle Rd. by Tom Mindel of Ypsilanti.

9—After months of renovation on the facade of the old Sylvan Hotel, it was unveiled to the public. The Sylvan will now house shops ranging from a deli, to antique stores.

15—Chelsea area Girl Scouts sold more than 20,000 boxes of cookies; the shipment arrived downtown at Longworth Plating.

15—Village of Chelsea opted out of Washtenaw county's solid waste disposal surcharge plan.

15—The former home of Accent on Travel over the Secretary of State's office on Main St. was the new central office of a fast-growing national show horse association.

15—Beach Middle school eighth grade quiz bowl team competed at Lincoln against other Southeastern Conference teams and had a fine showing. The team represented the school based on a school play-off.

15—Chelsea bus drivers bowled on behalf of Muscular Dystrophy Association at Chelsea Lanes, where they challenged Dexter bus drivers to a roll-off. The bowlers, who all collected pledges, raised $933 for MDA. Dexter bus drivers raised $1,800.

22—Chris Dillon, Chelsea School District's substance abuse and mental health counselor, resigned her position, effective at the end of the school year.

23—The Village of Chelsea began work on the transfer of the administration to new manager Robert Stalker, II, who was to begin work on March 6.

Let's Go

Bulldogs!

Bulldogs Stay Unbeaten With Win Over Richard

Chelsea Bulldogs ran their record to 5-0 with a 62-53 victory over Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard at home Friday night in a non-conference contest.

The Bulldogs, who looked as though they would run away with the game after half-time, saw a 37-17 lead at the intermission dwindle to 48-41 early in the fourth quarter.

However, Chelsea center Brian Burg tipped in a missed shot and a short time later hit a lay-up to give the Dogs an 11-point lead. From there on Richard never got closer than the final score.

"In the first half I thought we played extremely well," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

"Defensively it was the best we've played for a full half this year. Richard was easily the best defensive team we've played this year but I thought we handled it fairly well."

Richard, Raymond said, was the only team to contest every pass the Bulldogs made.

The game was sloppy at both ends of the court as each team committed 27 turnovers. However, the defensive pressure by both teams had a lot to do with the high number of steals and bad passes.

Chelsea led 16-7 at the end of the first quarter before putting together a solid second quarter in which they shot 9-12 from the floor while holding Richard to 3-16 shooting. Chad Starkey scored all 14 of his points in the first half.

In the second quarter, Richard tried several times to break the Chelsea press with a long pass, only to throw the ball away three straight times.

In the second half, Richard picked up their intensity, especially on defense. In addition, Richard's Keith Winters hit two three-point field goals within the first two minutes to cut Chelsea's lead to 41-26. After Kerry Plank stole the ball for an easy lay-up, Richard ran off eight unanswered points.

That's when Brian went to work. "I thought Brian dominated the inside in the second half," Raymond said.

"When we really needed a basket, he got it for us."

Although he didn't make the splash Burg did, Kerry Plank had an excellent over-all game. He scored 12 points, grabbed 10 rebounds, and had six steals and four assists.

Other scorers included Chris Wilson with six, Jon Royce with four, including a smooth, left-handed jump lay-up, and Kyle Plank with two. Kyle Plank was sick much of the week and for Richard.

Chelsea has a couple scrimmages lined up over the holidays, but gets back into action on Friday, Jan. 5 at Dexter. They are tied in the Southeastern Conference with Tecumseh at 3-0.

spent most of Friday night on the bench in foul trouble.

Chelsea hit 59 percent from the field (24-41) compared to 38 percent for Richard. The Bulldogs had another so-so day at the line with 14-25 shooting, compared to 10-13 shooting

BRIAN BURG goes up for two of his game-high 24 points as the Bulldogs pushed their record to 5-0 with a 62-53 victory over Gabriel Richard at home Friday night.

State-Ranked Bulldogs Break Even in Quad Meet

Chelsea Bulldog wrestlers beat Portland, tied Eaton Rapids, and lost to Fenton in a quad match last Saturday featuring three state-ranked teams.

In other action, on Thursday, the Bulldogs stayed unbeaten in the Southeastern Conference with a 65-12 win over the Milan Big Reds.

In the quad, Chelsea, the state's top-ranked team going in, beat Portland 41-25, tied Eaton Rapids, the number-three ranked team, 31-31, but lost to Fenton, the state's eighth-ranked team, 28-36.

The loss to Fenton came in the first match of the day.

"I thought we were real lethargic in the first one," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"Fenton simply outmuscled us. They didn't out-slick us in moves. They were just strong kids."

Chelsea started off well against Fenton, taking three of the first four matches. However, beginning at the 130-pound class, they lost seven matches in a row.

Todd Watson started with a 12-0 loss at 103 pounds.

After that, Karl Wikman won a 13-5 decision at 112. Pat Taylor pinned his opponent in 4:35 at 119 pounds, and Alan Hanna won by pin in :50 at 125 pounds. Wikman and Taylor are undefeated this season.

From there Fenton took control. Kelly Beard (130), Kevin McCalla (135), Jim Hassett (145), Doug Wingrove (152), and Pat Hassett (170) each lost by decision. Eric Hanna (140) and Matt Herter (160) each were pinned.

Tim VanSchoick, at 189 pounds, ended the skid when he won by forfeit. Heavyweight Mike Terpstra was pinned to end the match.

Eric Hanna was locked in a close match before he was pinned at the 5:00 mark.

"It was a close match, Eric made a mistake and paid for it," Kargel said. Wingrove, one of Kargel's steadiest wrestlers, lost 4-1 on three penalty points.

In the Portland match, Chelsea again started out strong as Wikman and Taylor earned pins in 2:16 and 1:30, respectively, after Watson was pinned at 103.

Taylor pinned last year's number four state finisher.

After Alan Hanna suffered a rare 12-2 loss at 125 pounds, Beard took a 15-6 decision at 130.

McCalla lost a 4-2 decision at 135 and Jason Szostak was pinned at 140. Jim Hassett earned a 10-0 win at 145 pounds, and Wingrove won a 5-3 match at 152.

After Matt Herter was pinned at 160, Pat Hassett, at 170, and VanSchoick, at 189, each pinned his opponent in 5:26 and 1:16.

The team pattern continued in the Eaton Rapids match as Chelsea won early, lost in the middle weights, and split in the upper weights.

After Watson was pinned, Wikman took revenge on the boy who beat him out for state last year with an 8-6 win. Taylor won a decision and Alan Hanna pinned his opponent to give Chelsea a healthy lead.

Beard, McCalla, and Eric Hanna each lost his match before Jim Hassett and Wingrove took consecutive wins.

Herter and Pat Hassett each were pinned before VanSchoick won a decision and Terpstra won by forfeit.

"In a way it's good to be rated number one and go into a tough match and lose because it just proves that you have to work harder," Kargel said.

"We'll go back, and analyze what we did wrong, and go from there. We've had some tough opponents so far, and that's good for the kids."

Chelsea won all but two matches against Milan as the Big Reds virtually gave the match away by voiding four weight classes.

Stahl at 103 and Szostak at 140 were each pinned.

Wikman, Wingrove, Herter, and Terpstra each won by forfeit.

Pat Taylor, at 119, won by pin in :46; Alan Hanna, at 125, won by pin in 1:15; Beard, at 130, won by pin in 2:55; McCalla, at 135, won by pin in :49; Jim Hassett, at 145, won a 15-0 decision; Pat Hassett, at 172, won by pin in 3:53; and VanSchoick won by pin in 1:25.

Freshman Dogs Defeat Tecumseh

Chelsea Bulldog freshman basketball team beat Tecumseh, 49-44, last Monday, Dec. 18 on the road.

Chelsea had its best shooting night of the season as the Dogs hit 50 percent from the floor and 65 percent from the free throw line.

In addition, coach Dave Quilter was pleased with his team's defense.

"We played good pressure defense for four quarters, which is what we asked of the kids before the game," Quilter said.

"This game was much like the Western game in that we had a very good team effort."

Colt White led the Chelsea scoring with 16 points. Eric Brown, Chris Dunham, Nick McCalla each had eight points, and J.D. Alford, Jeremy Beauchamp, Dana Schmunk and Ed Waller each scored two points, and Matt Jachalke had one point.

Dunham had a team-high four rebounds, while White and Brown had three each.

"We had good patience on offense in re-setting and running plays," Quilter said.

"And Eric Brown did a good job of running the offense."

Eighth Grade Pup Cagers Finish Season at 7-3

Beach Middle school eighth grade basketball team lost their final game of the season, 42-39, to Milan last Monday, Dec. 18.

The Pups finish the season at 7-3.

"We ran into another cold shooting night from the floor," said Chelsea coach Jim Tallman.

"Most of the game was played with neither team holding more than a two-point advantage."

Milan's inside game also played a key part as their tallest player got hot.

Chelsea was down 20-16 at half-time but pulled to within one point at the end of the third quarter. However, the teams combined for 28 points in the fourth quarter, with Milan scoring 15.

Pat Steele, Colby Skelton, and Matt Powell keyed the Chelsea offense while Cory Brown and Nate Mackinder led the defense.

"We just weren't able to score the big baskets when we needed them," Tallman said.

Steele scored a team-high 15 points. Other scorers included Powell 8, Skelton 7, Mackinder 4, Dave Brock 3, Dave Stimpson 1, and Brown 1.

CHELSEA'S KERRY PLANK plays tough defense on his Gabriel Richard opponent Friday night as the Bulldogs cruised to their fifth straight victory. Plank scored 12 points, one of his largest totals of the season.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

The two single most impressive athletic feats at Chelsea High school in 1989 were performed by freshmen.

Jon Royce, now a sophomore, set the CHS high jump record last spring with a leap of 6'6½". It's hard to imagine how he could improve much on that mark, but I'll bet he does.

Lisa Monti finished first in the team portion of the class B state meet and led the Bulldogs to their first state cross country championship. She won the race rather easily, too, in horrible weather.

The most consistent performances at a high level in 1989 were by softball pitcher Jenni Smith and football running back Jude Quilter.

Smith just overwhelmed batters with probably the best fastball in the state. She never had a bad game. She was also an exceptional hitter.

Quilter, of course, ran around and through opponents all fall. He set records for yardage and touchdowns as a junior. Chelsea's offense would have been dismal without him.

The feats of Royce and Monti are just a reminder that this district has quite a number of fine athletes in the lower grades.

You don't have to look much further than the Beach 8th grade football and basketball teams. The football team went undefeated, and the boys basketball team lost three games, but probably shouldn't have lost more than one. Both girls basketball teams also had excellent seasons.

The varsity basketball team finished what I always think of as the pre-season (the stretch before Christmas) with a 5-0 mark. Can't ask for much more.

Their first games of 1990 will go a long way to determining the success of the season.

They open at Dexter on Friday, Jan. 5, always a difficult place for the Bulldogs to win. On paper, they should beat the Dreadnaughts by 20 or more. Marty Walsh is the only guy who should cause any big problems for the Bulldogs, but I'd bet Kerry Plank will keep him from becoming a major factor.

After a Saturday, Jan. 6 non-conference game, they host Tecumseh on Friday, Jan. 12, in what might be the pivotal game of the season. A loss would just about force Chelsea to win later at Tecumseh, perhaps the toughest gym in the league. A win could put the pressure on Tecumseh, a team that was rated in the state last week.

Milan doesn't look as though it will be a major factor, although it is capable of an upset, as is Dexter. Same for Lincoln and Saline.

Pinckney is the great mystery in that no one seems to know what to expect. They have a lot of athletic ability but so far have lost two league games.

Senior Brian Burg may be the best Chelsea basketball player since Mark Bareis, although their games are not the same. Burg is kind of a blue collar player, while Bareis had the moves and the beautiful long-distance shooting touch.

Burg works as hard inside as any high school player I've seen. He gets great position, is relentless on the offensive boards, dives for balls, catches tough passes, blocks shots, gets out on the fast break, and literally never stops until the play is dead. Any youngster who wants to see great basketball work ethic should check out Burg's play.

And one great thing, too, is that Burg always looks like he's having the best time of his life. That's one quality I always love to see in a high school athlete.

Michigan coach Bo Schembechler will beat USC coach Larry Smith in the TV Exposure Bowl, 245-7.

I happened to stumble on a little poetic tribute to Bo from one of his players. Here it is.

"B" is for the BRUISES we got with every game.
 "O" is for his OBSTINANCE that we could never tame.
 "S" is for the SCHOLARSHIP he gave to me that day.
 "C" is for the grade point he insisted I maintain.
 "H" is for the HELL of practice at the crack of dawn.
 "E" is for the EMPTY feeling we'll have when he is gone.
 "M" is for the MEMORIES of tantrums on the field.
 "B" is for his BOLDNESS, a coach that wouldn't yield.
 "E" is for his EMPATHY when mama passed away.
 "C" is for the CONFIDENCE he had in me each day.
 "H" is for the HECKUVA time we had in basket weaving.
 "L" is for the fancy way he told us he was LEAVING.
 "E" is for the EDUCATION that football gave us all.
 "R" is for the RASCAL we'll really miss next fall.
 In case you haven't guessed, it all adds up to "Bo", a man who will be missed by each and every foe.

Here's to you, Bo Schembechler, a man of football zeal,
 Sit back for just a spell and let Moeller take the wheel!

IT WASN'T THE MOST BEAUTIFUL shot in the game, but nonetheless it counted for two points for Chelsea guard Chris Wilson last Friday night. Wilson finished with six points and the Bulldogs took a 62-53 victory.

Year-End News Summary

$230 as well as other miscellaneous tools.

5—Someone used a Chelsea Lumber Co. truck to steal more than $7,000 worth of windows, doors, cabinets and other building materials from the store.

6—Kusterer's, one of the village's oldest grocery stores, closed for good. Owner Luther Kusterer, after more than 40 years in business, decided to retire, and he also decided not to pass the business on.

9—Anita Eschelbach, who taught in three area one-room school houses in the 1920's was honored at the Covenant church.

12—Kerry Plank was the winner of a free lunch for two at the Woodshed Eatery with his guess as to how many hardbound books were in the Chelsea High school media center. The contest was part of Reading Month activities.

12—The Chelsea Community Players hired the critically acclaimed Newell Kring to direct their summer musical "Singing in the Rain."

12—Chelsea Village Council met in executive session with village attorney Peter Flintoft to discuss how to deal with payment for a sewer easement.

14—A new sign for the Chelsea Children's Co-op Preschool was donated by Dan Roberts of Ingenuity Woodwork. The Co-op changed its name from the North Lake preschool last year.

19—Chelsea Kiwanis Club celebrated its first 65 years of community service in the Holiday Inn, according to Dave Donovan who was the club president during the anniversary year.

19—Most of Chelsea High school's forensics team participated in a region tournament as a result of their performances at the district tournament.

19—The Department of Natural Resources placed two stuffed turkeys at strategic locations to aid them in nabbing illegal hunters.

22—A donation from Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary was to be used toward the purchase of a modular vascular laboratory.

KYLE PLANK looks for an open teammate during last Friday night's home contest against Gabriel Richard. Plank spent most of the game on the bench in foul trouble, but the Bulldogs rallied to pick up the slack.

7th Grade Cagers Win Final Game

Beach Middle school seventh grade basketball team posted a 32-29 win over Milan last Monday, Dec. 18 to finish the season with a 6-4 record.

The Chelsea attack was led by Matt McVittie, who scored eight points in the second quarter and 12 points total. Bryndon Skelton paced the Bullpups in the second half with seven points.

However, it was Dirk Wales that finally put the Pups ahead to stay. With the score tied at 29, Wales sank both shots of a one-and-one. Skelton finished the game by making another free throw.

Chad Brown played an excellent game defensively, according to coach Charlie Waller, while nine players contributed to the scoring.

Tom Hubbell and Josh Inwood dominated the boards for Chelsea in a tough game in the lane. Case McCalla, Jon Michael, and Jim Tallman also played strong supporting roles on both offense and defense, Waller said.

GIRL SCOUTS

THE GIRL SCOUTS
As Great As You Want To Make It

This is the new Girl Scout slogan. We in Chelsea plan to make it GREAT!

Now, for some troop news. We would like to recognize and applaud each Girl Scout troop for their dedication to scouting and to our community. And, so, each month we will have "Troop News." Please enjoy!

This year Chelsea has three new "Troop Service Directors." Kathy Kimbal at Beach school, Jan Doherty at South, and Nancy Monpetit at North. These ladies put in a great deal of time to make sure the leaders have all the information possible on upcoming events, service projects, and much more.

Our newest scouts are the Daisies of Troop No. 188. Daisies are kindergartners. They had their investiture on Thursday, Dec. 7. There were five Daisies and eight guests in attendance. The Daisies were Joenna Haas, Danielle Monpetit, Andrea Doane, Megan Schlenker, and Brittney Williams. After the ceremony, the girls served hot spiced cider and Christmas cookies to their guests.

Troop 58 has been very busy. In November we went camping at Camp Hilltop. We were joined by a second grade troop and a great time was had by all. Troop 58 is third grade. Brownies that have been hard at work on "Try-its." We have completed "Manners" and "Caring and Sharing." Both of these pertain to everyday situations. Learning to be a good friend is not easy. All the girls now have a "secret pal." We think this will be a lot of fun.

Last week we collected new toys and baby items to send to North Carolina for some of those devastated by Hugo. These girls are very giving and want to help.

This week we are baking cookies for the Red Cross. They have asked if scout troops could help them out by donating holiday cookies. Those of you who donate blood over the holidays will have a special kind of Girl Scout cookie.

Q. I have accumulated a substantial amount of money and plan on leaving trust funds of equal amounts to my two children, to my church and to the Salvation Army. I would like to provide that neither my children or the charities be able to use anything but the income earned by the trusts for the first 20 years. I have talked to my bank trust department about how the money in the trusts should be invested and they tell me that they would probably invest 60% of the funds in stock and 40% in bonds or other items that would pay a fixed rate of interest. I have argued that as I read the statistics, the funds are likely to earn more money and be worth more at the end of 20 years if they are fully invested in stocks. The bank people argue for the split between stocks and bonds. What would you advise me to do?

A. If your purpose is to have the greatest amount of income and the greatest principal value at the end of 20 years, then I would favor the all-stock fund. In the 60-year study by Ibbotson Associates, the average compound annual return of stocks in the S&P 500 Index was 10%, and for top grade bonds it was 4%. That difference in rate of return will produce a tremendous difference in value at the end of 20 years. I was in a meeting with a group of trust officers this past week in which they advised their clients that they expected stocks to provide a 13% total return over the next two years and bonds to provide a 10% return.

The cash return from an all-stock portfolio will be substantially smaller to begin with than from one with a mixture of stocks and bonds. The return from bonds is fixed and occurs with the periodic dates on which interest is paid. The immediate pay-off from stocks is the range between 2 1/2% to 7% a year. With that kind of increase, you will eventually reach the point where the dividend income will be greater and still increasing from the all-stock portfolio, compared to the income from a portfolio of both stocks and bonds.

It is important to keep in mind that stock prices fluctuate and in a 20-year period there are likely to be times when the price at which the portfolio could be sold would be less than some peak it may have reached in the meantime. Also, if the 20-year period ends and a recession is in progress, the value of the portfolio may be depressed. But historically an all-stock fund should provide higher returns than a combined stock and bond fund, for investors willing to assume the higher risk.

"Gold Through the Fire"

The film is the story of Peter Smyslov, who at age 17 performs a daring escape out of the Soviet Union that frees him from the religious persecution that still imprisons his family. Eventually, Peter fulfills his dream of living in the United States, and begins the amusing struggle of adapting to the lifestyle of his new American host family, the McBrides.

Peter learns some tough lessons about being a Christian in America when he experiences persecution instead of freedom at his new high school, and compromise instead of conviction from the Christians he meets. But Peter perseveres in his faith and launches a lunchroom Bible study and reaches out in love to the McBrides' cynical 12-year-old son, David. Then Peter becomes an overnight soccer success at school and discovers a new formula for popularity from his girlfriend. He must now face a battle even more dangerous than the trials he experienced in Russia.

From the producers of the award-winning film, "Never Ashamed" comes this action-packed, humorous feature-drama, filmed on location in Russia, Western Europe, and the United States. This 79-minute motion picture was produced by Edward T. McDougal Films, Glencoe, Illinois. Winner of four Crown Awards from the Christian Film and Video Association, including Best Film, "Gold Through the Fire" is a heart-warming movie with a challenging message for all age groups.

"Gold Through the Fire" will be shown at the

is an evangelical, inter denominational church with positive features of faith. We stand for and believe:

1. That the true church is composed of believers who have confessed Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord, and have a changed life style consistent with their confession. 2 Tim. 3:16, 2 P. 1:20, 21.
2. That abortion, except where the life of the mother is in great danger, is sin. Luke 1:39-45.
3. That the Bible is flawless, inerrant in the original autograph. 2 Tim 3:16, 2 P. 1:20, 21.
4. That the homosexual life style is abhorrent and is destructive to society. Rom. 1:21-32.
5. That the literal return of the Lord Jesus for His Church can take place anytime. Luke 21: 28,36.
6. That no one is beyond the saving grace of Christ. Heb. 7:25.
7. That the true believer is among those who love one another and keep our Lord's commandments. Jn. 15: 10, 17.
8. That we live a spirit filled life. Gal. 5:16. This life style will give you confidence when you stand before the Lord Jesus on the day of accounting.

CREATED FOR WORSHIP

Do you ever wonder if there is more to life than what we presently experience in our day to day routine? Are we born, trained, worked, and buried meaninglessly with only the hope that things will continue through a never ending course of eternity? Just what is the purpose of man upon this earth, and if he successfully achieves this purpose is there a divine system of reward and punishment? These are a few of the questions that we will approach within the next few weeks, and appeal to the Word of the creator of all these things himself, God Almighty, to find the answers. Today we find more and more people who want to be in touch with "their purpose in life," and to do this they further their education, change jobs, alter relationships, change residences, and all this is done to better help them find their "purpose in life." These are not things which should be condemned by any means, for it is wonderful to broaden one's horizons and better develop ourselves morally and intellectually, but, as many have found, you always seem to come up short; with a feeling of emptiness inside. We must realize that God has created man for a purpose, but it is not to become more highly educated, or to get a better job. As related in Ecclesiastes 1:18, 2:14-11 "... and all the labor that I labored to do, there was no profit under the sun." So what is our purpose? Above and beyond all else, it is to worship the Almighty JEHOVA through his Son Jesus Christ. Rev. 4:11 reads "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour, and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created." Our heavenly Father deserves our worship, and praise because: 1) This was the entire purpose for our existence and the very reason for which we were created; and 2) It is, according to Isaiah 43:12, The Holy One, being JEHOVA, who can thank for our very existence as well as the existence of the earth on which we live.

1—A fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn owned by the Dan Schmalz family. Children: playing softball at Chelsea Free Methodist church were the first to see the flames from the barn.

3—Linda Alber of Chelsea won the 5,000 meter cross country run at the State Special Olympics Meet at Central Michigan University.

5—About 450 people attended a community-wide meeting at Chelsea High school that dealt with the issues of grief and teen suicide.

6—The Village of Manchester and the surrounding areas continued to clean up in the aftermath of the worst storm to hit the area in more than 50 years.

7—Chelsea artist Ben Bower was among the many Chelsea-area painters who sold their works at the Chelsea Painters exhibit.

7—Debbie Webb, a junior at Chelsea High school, was the year's winner of the McClure Essay Contest sponsored by the Chelsea Kiwanis Club.

8—Kerry Kargel, Chelsea High school art teacher and wrestling coach, was named Exemplary Employee by the district. Teachers and other district employees are nominated by their peers for the annual award.

8—A Chelsea man was charged with indecent exposure in connection with his actions at the Union 76 station. A witness told police that the offender was drunk at the time of the incidents.

14—A gathering of 200 determined citizens overflowed Lyndon township Hall to make a double-barreled protest to the acts of an area landowner.

21—More than 100 people turned out for an informational meeting on a proposed $400 million development in Grass lake township.

21—Someone spray painted three cars as they were parked on Wilkinson St. The cars were colored with yellow paint.

22—Annette Michelle Wurster, daughter of Ray and Vicky Wurster of Manchester was crowned Miss Michigan American Coed Hostess 1989.

22—Area farmer Todd Lee said he'd go to court if he lost his battle to build a ditch across his property to irrigate his crops.

23—Cottage Inn Pizza planned to open in Chelsea Shopping Center. Unlike some other Cottage Inn restaurants, the only item on the menu was to be pizza.

23—Last year farmers had a major problem with a lack of rain that almost destroyed their crops. This year they are having the opposite problem—too much rain.

28—Due to increased load on its electrical system, the village spent about $70,000 to $80,000 to upgrade its substation on Garfield St.

28—Chelsea Community Fireworks was planning to stage by far its largest show ever, according to president Harold Allen.

28—Hi-Tech Ware, a company specializing in custom computer programming, construction estimating, and networking, opened on the top floor of the Sylvan building downtown.

July . . .

1—Revised plans submitted by Domino's Pizza were approved by the Chelsea Village Planning Commission, clearing the way for a store to be built at the corner of Lincoln and Main St. at the former site of Ralph Fletcher's Friendly Service.

2—Chelsea Rotary Club presented their first annual Outstanding Community Business Achievement award. John and Anne Daniels received the award from the club president, Fred Van Reesema, for their efforts in renovating the Sylvan Building in Downtown Chelsea.

4—Chelsea American Legion roasted 500 chicken halves at their annual Fourth of July Chicken Barbecue at the post home at Cavanaugh Lake.

5—Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary scholarships were presented by auxiliary member Sue Starkey, to Melinda McCalla, Patricia Clemons, and Kim Collins. The young women were all nursing students.

5—U.S. citizens were shocked by the turn of events in China, but an American grain embargo against that country was not the answer to the situation, according to the Michigan Farm Bureau.

5—Elephant rides were a big hit among the younger set at the Kelly Miller Circus. The event was held at the Chelsea Fairgrounds as a fund-raising event for the Chelsea Lions Club.

12—Chelsea's largest Fourth of July fireworks display could well have been its last. The display featured almost 1,500 explosions, nearly half the number of fireworks in the Detroit celebration, and pretty well exploded Chelsea's funding for next year in the process.

14—Someone stole the license plate from a car belonging to village manager Robert Stalker.

16—Mark Bullock performed some of his World of Illusion during a Concert in the Park in Pierce Park. His performance, was well as that of the Ross Southern Band and the Children's Square Dance Club, was sponsored by the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, Chelsea Recreation Council, Ames Department Store, and the Chelsea Community Fair.

19—Chelsea's recycling program, which began late last year, was on the edge of going out of business by the end of the month unless local governmental agencies came to its rescue.

19—Jed Fritzemeier and his wife, Nancy were honored after the Beach Middle School Orchestra's summer concert. The couple was headed for South Dakota, where Fritzemeier had accepted a position in his home town of Sioux Falls.

19—Thomas Segall, state geologist of the DNR Geological Survey Division, was one of the many dignitaries on hand for the dedication of the Gerald E. Eddy Geology Center in the Waterloo Recreation Area.

20—Chelsea Area Players completed the first week of the musical, "Singin' in the Rain," to overwhelming response from local audiences.

20—A new handicap access fishing pier at Crooked Lake was dedicated to the memory of Jim Dittmar, an avid Crooked Lake fisherman.

23—The lunch-hour concert series for Chelsea Community Hospital employees, patients, and visitors continued through the summer months with good results. It provided the atmosphere for people to enjoy a relaxing lunch hour.

28—Luther "Bud" Kusterer received a long-overdue award from the Chelsea Kiwanis Club. The plaque recognized his "long, continued dedicated service to the club" spanning a period since 1982.

28—An art scholarship was set up in the memory of Joe Beaudoin, to help other art students who need support to achieve their goals in the field of art.

28—For some farmers the rains were a mixed blessing. The rain went a long way to help ensure big corn and soy bean crops, but it came at the wrong time, as it threatened a good wheat crop.

August . . .

2—What Chelsea village officials had hoped would be a meeting that would mark the beginning of the end of the landfill license squabble with the Department of Natural Resources turned out, instead, to leave the village even more exasperated.

2—County 4-H Youth Show entries hit an all-time high. Many young 4-H'ers were at the Saline Community fairgrounds all week tending to and showing off their exhibits with pride.

3—Chelsea's famed Kitchen Band, introduced as the Chelsea Philhar-

All Children Above Age 2 Must have SS Number

All children who are at least two and who are claimed as dependents on their parents' 1989 Federal tax return must have a Social Security number. Applying for a Social Security number requires filling out Form SS-5 at the Social Security Administration Office and it is now mandatory. A $5 penalty will be applied if the appropriate Social security numbers are not included on a return.

If the child is a U.S. citizen, the child will be required to show proof of age, identity, and citizenship when filling out this form.

File your application early enough to make sure you receive the number by the date your return is due. If you do not receive a number by the due date, file your return anyway and write "Applied for" in the space provided for the number.

The new requirement has been put into effect to stop individuals from claiming more dependent exemptions on their returns that they are entitled to. Since the personal exemption has nearly doubled to $2,000 under the new tax law this problem needs to be solved to save the U.S. Treasury money.

Parents of children who are under two may claim the dependency exemption without obtaining or reporting a Social security number or "Taxpayer Identification Number" (TIN) for them.

Q. Every year I hear about tax selling. That is a mystery to me and I wish you would explain it.

A. Tax selling is a procedure that often starts as early as September and continues until the end of the year. Tax selling occurs when a stockholder has a security for which he has paid a high price and it is currently selling at a lower price. The stockholder says, for example, I can sell this stock which I bought at $8,000 for $3,200 and establish a tax loss of $4,800. If I can find another stock which I feel has an equal or greater potential to appreciate in price as the one I own, then I might just as well sell the one and buy the other. I will establish a loss of $4,800 to reduce my taxes, and at the same time I will still have a stock with the potential to rise substantially in price.

That procedure is usually used by selling one stock and buying another, but it can be used with the same stock. For instance, I recently had a letter from a reader who said that early in the year he had bought Unisys' $3.75 Preferred at $57 a share. Recently this stock was selling for $38. The reader said that if he sold 400 shares of Unisys he would have a $8,400 tax loss.

However, he added that he really wanted to continue to hold the stock because he felt Unisys was a leader in the computer industry and would recover from its current troubles in a year or two and go on to new highs. He explained he had bought the stock because he thought Unisys would be doing very well in three or four years and by that time he thought Unisys' common stock would be selling much higher and that he would be able to convert his preferred into common and sell it for a substantial capital gain. In the meantime, he felt he would enjoy the higher income provided by the $3.75 Preferred.

Recently, when Unisys' current problems proved to be more severe than thought to be earlier, the stock dropped sharply. He looks upon this drop as temporary and believes the chairman's statement that the dividends will continue, so he feels continuing to hold the stock is what he wants to do.

He sold his shares in late November and plans to buy them back in 31 days. That length of time is required by the IRS to recognize a loss when the trade is in the same stock. He hopes that the stock will continue to sell near its current price so he will be able to buy it back near where he sold it. Since stocks which have experienced that kind of price action in the year are likely to be subject to the same kind of tax selling through the end of the year, it would seem likely he will be able to follow his plan.

RESOLUTION

Variance Grantee - Ivan and Jerri Cole

WHEREAS, an application has been filed by Ivan and Jerri Cole for a variance from the Zoning Ordinance to allow the construction of a deck and porch in the required sideyard setback in a RS1, Single Family-Low Density Zoned District, located at 800 Darwin Court and described as Lot 29 of Belser Estates, and

WHEREAS, a hearing has been held as the Zoning Ordinance provides, now,

BE IT RESOLVED, that Ivan and Jerri Cole be and are herein granted a variance from the Zoning Ordinance to construct a deck and porch which will project 8 feet into the required side yard setback area at 800 Darwin Court for reason of practical difficulty and contingent upon the presentation of a letter from the adjoining property owner - Mr. Charles Belser stating that he has no objections.

Motion by Bentley, supported by Hall, to adopt the above Resolution as read. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried. Resolution adopted.

RESOLUTION

Variance Grantee - Donald A. Cole

WHEREAS, an application has been filed by Donald A. Cole for a variance from the Zoning Ordinance to reduce the number of required parking spaces from sixty four (64) to twenty six (26) in an Office Zone (01) District situated at 214 East Middle Street and specifically at the property described as follows: The Westerly 69-1/4 feet in width of Lot 2, in Block 11, according to the Plat of ELISHA CONGDON'S FIRST ADDITION to the Village of Chelsea, Washtenaw County, Michigan as recorded in Liber 39 of Deeds, on Pages 116 and 117, Washtenaw County Records, (contains 7497 sq. ft.)

WHEREAS, a hearing has been held as the Zoning Ordinance provides, now,

BE IT RESOLVED, that Donald A. Cole be and is herein granted a variance from the Zoning Ordinance to reduce the number of required parking spaces from sixty four (64) at the aforementioned location for reason of undue hardship.

Motion by Bentley, supported by Hall to adopt the above Resolution as read. Roll call: Ayes all. Motion carried. Resolution adopted.

Memoriam 20

EDWARD HERBERT PAUL

Ed or "Herbie" as we so lovingly called you, has been five long years that our New Year turned into a nightmare. You were so wrongly accused and we can't repair it, even to this day it has me so confused, to what really happened on that terrible night. I sit up at nights and wonder what we would be like if you were still here today. I see things so happy and gay. You brought joy to so many. I hope you are happy up there and I hope to see you there. I miss you very much.

Your Loving Sister.

Moved by Doletsky, supported by Knight, to table the appointment of the Citizen Committee members until after the 4 townships have met. Carried.

Moved by Doletsky, supported by Smith, to pass the resolution requesting a determination of the availability of assistance from the D.P.W. as a possible alternative for the acquisition and financing of the Sewer Project. Yea-all. Carried.

Moved by Smith, supported by Eisenbeiser, to remove one Sewer tap on Lot 04-021-01-006 owned by Clare Miller, and direct the Treasurer and Assessor to adjust the roll. Reason—The lot is unbuildable. Yea-5, Nay-0.

Moved by Doletsky, supported by Knight, to adjourn the meeting. Carried.

Meeting adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
William Eisenbeiser,
Dexter Township Clerk.

Special Meeting of the Dexter Township Board

Place: Dexter Township Hall.
Present: Jim Drolett, Julie Knight, William Eisenbeiser, Doug Smith, Earl Doletsky.

1989 CHELSEA HISTORY:

Year-End News Summary

monic, delighted those attending the Kiwanis Club meeting. Guests for the evening were 23 of Chelsea's lovable Octogenarians.

7—Chelsea area farmers seemed to be having a problem with their sheep being killed. Coyotes or wild dogs were the suspected culprits.

9—The final installment of the 1989 Concert in the Park series in Pierce Park promised to be one of the most unusual events in the three-year history of the series. The headliner was Mr. B, a blues and boogie woogie piano player.

9—Chelsea Drill Team captured the Grand National and World Championships in drill teams at America's Youth on Parade competition at Notre Dame University.

8—"Sirab," a local Middle Eastern dance troupe that specialized in Folkloric Dance Orientale, performed during the intermission of a concert in the Park at Pierce Park. Members of the group were Karen Mirochna, Judy Blanchard, Amy Powers, Denise Powers, and Marie Tenpenny.

16—Chelsea Police Chief Lenard McDougall was given a big hug by his favorite canine, Saffeyup, as the pooch made his first visit to the department. Saffeyup made his public debut at the Chelsea Community Fair.

16—Lisa Unterbrink accepted a scholarship to Columbus College in Georgia to play softball. Although she only pitched one game her senior year at CHS, spending most of her time at third base, the College coaches were impressed enough to recruit her as a pitcher.

23—The Chelsea Community Fire Department marked its 100th year of service.

23—The 1989 Chelsea Community Fair officially got underway after the official ribbon cutting took place. 1988 Fair Queen Jennifer McAfee cut the ribbon.

24—The Teen Dance offered by Chelsea Together and held at the Wolverine was reported to be a rousing success. The dance was attended by an estimated 200 to 300 Chelsea teens.

25—Knights of Columbus in Chelsea distributed money from its annual Tootsie Roll Drive to benefit mentally retarded citizens in the area.

28—Holly Kosielniak was crowned the 1989 Chelsea Community Fair Queen as she beat out six other contenders. She was the Chelsea High school sophomore class candidate.

30—Joan Ernde and her daughter Karen, discussed scarfs, how to care for them and how to tie them, during Ladies Day at the Fairgrounds.

30—Scott Otto took third place in the feature events both nights at the Cavalcade of Thrills Demolition Derby. He also won the first heat on Tuesday and the second heat Wednesday night, for a total purse of $350.

30—"Cruisin' through CHS," the junior class float won first place in the youth float division of the fair parade.

"Up, Up, and Away With Chelsea," took top honors in the adult float division. The float, entered by Chelsea Community Hospital, featured fair queen candidate, Melissa Johnson under the ornate gazebo.

30—Tammy Browning sang "Love in Any Language" during the Chelsea Community Fair Queen program. The song incorporated the use of sign language. Browning was sponsored by the Key Club.

September . . .

6—Ernie Wilhoit, the originator and driving force behind the successful Teen Life Center in Stamford, Conn., was invited by Chelsea Together to speak with area teens and adults about forming a local teen center.

6—Despite a few delays caused by uncertainty over the millage situation, Chelsea School District superintendent Joe Piasecki reported a "very smooth opening of school" at the district's four buildings.

6—A young Chelsea boy may have made medical history when he had to have surgery while still inside his mother.

7—Money paid for professional services related to the village landfill this year could well be more than 20 times higher than what they were in fiscal year 1988, according to figures supplied by the Village of Chelsea.

7—Ernie Wilhoit spoke to a number of teens and adults concerning the need for activities designated exclusively for teens. He cited a number of depressing statistics concerning the lives of present-day teen-agers.

8—A field of 54 candidates for the Chelsea High school principal's job was narrowed to three finalists by two interviewing teams.

9—This year's livestock auction at the Chelsea Community Fair sold 130 lambs, steer, and hogs for a total price of $69,488.50.

13—Police Chief Lenard McDougall had 53 hood ornaments that were confiscated by police from four juveniles. Two were from Chelsea and two were from Dexter.

13—The village's plans to build a sanitary sewer force main on Freer Rd. were delayed by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

13—Grass Lake Public Schools were to build seven elementary school classrooms, a junior high school gymnasium, and add a stage to the high school cafeteria if voters approved a $2,205,000 bond referendum.

14—Some commercial properties within the village of Chelsea were warned that they might see a decrease in their fire insurance premiums due to a change rating for the Chelsea Fire Department.

20—Chelsea men's cross country team were champions of the 15-team new Boston Huron Invitational. The Bulldogs took the top spot with 91 points.

27—The village's oldest hardware store, Chelsea Hardware, went out of business. Lack of expansion was a major consideration in the decision and sales were decreasing also.

27—Kim Roberts was crowned the 1989 Chelsea Homecoming Queen during half-time festivities. Last year's queen, Julie Stacy, crowned Roberts and presented her with roses. Roberts represented the high school cross country team.

27—Chelsea Bulldogs scored more points last Friday than they have in the last several years and topped the Lincoln Railsplitters, 50-12, for the first victory of the season.

October . . .

2—An old penny weight scale was brought back to the Chelsea Depot by Floyd Balmer. The scale was patented in 1900, distributed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and was used by passengers as a novelty to pass the time while waiting for the train.

4—A South school girl told Chelsea police that a man in his mid-20s tried to lure her into his red station wagon.

4—A line extended around the corner as Chelsea Hardware began its going out of business sale. The store was crowded for most of the day as area residents looked for bargains.

4—Chelsea Bulldogs emerged as the team to beat for the Southeastern Conference basketball title as they rolled past Dexter and Tecumseh in action.

8—Due to a clerical error, developer Rene Papo may have to repeat the entire annexation procedure for 13 acres between Old US-12 and Chelsea Community Hospital.

11—Two 13-year-old Chelsea girls were approached by a flasher as they walked home from the Chelsea-Dexter football game. The girls were near the high school when a man got out of his car and dropped his shorts.

11—Larry L. Meyer, Michigan's newest Commerce Department director, presented nine area businesses with the Governor's Building the Future Award. Three of the nine were located in the Dexter-Chelsea area.

11—Some underground utilities were installed in the second phase of Belser Estates subdivision without a development agreement in place and without financial guarantee that the utilities would be completed.

12—Three Chelsea Bulldogs were inducted into the Chelsea Football Hall of Fame. David Zerkel, Luman Strong, and Junior Morseau were all Southeastern Conference performers.

14—The hour grew late and patience wore a bit thin, but Sewer Authority chairman James Drolett explained he felt a lot had been accomplished at the meeting.

18—Brighton Hospital opened a center for teen-age substance abuse treatment. The new facility provided a 42-day adolescent program that worked through individual and group counseling.

18—Chelsea High school had a completely new administration in November as assistant principal Ken Larson accepted the principalship at Stockbridge High school.

18—Chelsea High School Marching Band received a superior first division rating at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association's District 12 festival.

18—Chelsea School District Board of Education approved a revised 1989-90 budget of $10,639,196 in revenues and $10,638,465 in expenses at their regular meeting.

18—Three Chelsea men and one Dexter man, who were allegedly caught processing four pounds of marijuana, face felony drug charges in what has turned out to be one of the biggest drug busts in the village in several years.

23—The village doubled its home garbage collection fees and raised most of its landfill fees by about 20 percent to try to offset a projected shortfall of about $365,000 in the landfill fund this fiscal year.

24—Rotary Club president

Frederick Van Reesema headed the committee to plan, construct and finance a permanent structure in Pierce Park which would be used as a pavilion where summer concerts would be staged.

26—Barbara Zaret, assistant director of the Washtenaw County Council on Aging was to speak in Chelsea on "The Medicare Maze: Facts and Future." She was to give an up-to-the-minute report on changes in Medicare and tips on how to use the system effectively.

November . . .

1—Chelsea appeared to be on its way to receiving a new landfill operating license by the end of the month.

1—Developer Rene Papo planned to propose a 50 to 75-unit apartment complex that would include a certain portion dedicated for use by senior citizens.

1—A Northville Police car was ticketed for parking at an expired parking meter on Park St. An officer was apparently in town for a trial at district court, when the incident occurred.

4—Don Dancer of Chelsea, was presented a Certificate of Appreciation for his 13 years of service to Chelsea Social Service organization. He continued to serve as a board member as well.

4—Brighton Hospital's series of programs on substance abuse prevention and treatment continued with a discussion on how family members, friends, and employers can confront and help a chemically dependent person.

NOTICE OF
PUBLIC HEARING
ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTSto the
SYLVAN TOWNSHIP
ZONING ORDINANCE

Hearing To Be Held
TUESDAY, JANUARY 9, 1990

7:30 p.m.

SYLVAN TOWNSHIP HALL

112 W. Middle St., Chelsea Mich.

Subject of Public Hearing:

To review an ordinance to amend the Sylvan Township Zoning Ordinance and to provide for the application of yard measurements.

THE TOWNSHIP OF SYLVAN ORDAINS:

Section 1. Section 3.08 (Compiled Ordinances 15.068) is amended by deleting Paragraph B, 6, Yard Measurements, and substituting in its place and stead the following provision:

Section 3.08, B, 6, Yard Measurements. Yards shall be measured from the exterior faces of a structure to the nearest right-of-way line of any public or private street, driveway, or road, the nearest right-of-way line of any exclusive easement, or the nearest lot line, which ever is the shortest distance. Roof overhangs and cornices which project one (1) foot or less from the exterior face shall not be included in the yard measurements. Yards shall be measured from the outer roof of a overhang or cornice, if the roof overhang or cornice extends more than one (1) foot from the exterior face of the structure. Corner lots fronting upon public or private streets or roads shall have two front yards and two side yards. All required yards shall be measured parallel to and lie adjacent to the nearest right-of-way lines, exclusive easement right-of-way line, or lot lines. An exclusive easement means the grant to a person other than the owner of the subject lot or for the benefit of another lot of an above ground use or interest in, on, or over the subject lot. Easements which grant the right to construct above ground structures or for the purpose of vehicular ingress and egress, shall not be used or included in the computation of any required yard of the subject lot. Non-exclusive easements are those which allow the subject lot owner to build or construct above ground structures in the easement area or to retain exclusive use of the surface, except for repair and maintenance, such as, underground sewer and pipe line easements. Such non-exclusive easements may be used for required yards of the subject lot.

Section 2. Section 2.02, (Compiled Ordinance Section 15.042), Yard, Front; Year, Rear; and Yard, Side, are hereby deleted and the following provisions substituted in their place and stead:

Yard, Front: An open unoccupied space extending the full width of the lot, and situated between the exterior face of the front line of a structure, and the nearest public or private road, driveway, or street right-of-way line, right-of-way line of an exclusive easement, or the front lot line, which ever is the shorter distance.

Yard, Rear: An open unoccupied space extending the full width of the lot, and situated between the rear line of a structure and the nearest public or private road, driveway, or street right-of-way line, exclusive easement line, or the rear lot line, which ever is the shorter distance.

Yard, Side: An open unoccupied space on the same lot with the principal structure, situated between the side line of a structure and the adjacent side line of the nearest public or private road, driveway, or street right-of-way line, exclusive easement, or the side lot line, which ever is the shorter distance.

Section 3. Section 2.02, (Compiled Ordinance Section 15.042), Easement, is hereby deleted.

Northwest Airlines Chosen For Michigan Promotion

Passengers on Northwest flights world-wide will have something new to read while they enjoy a beverage—hard facts about Michigan.

Blue and white beverage napkins printed with facts, such as Michigan leading the nation in total new manufacturing investment in 1988, will be distributed beginning this month on all domestic, European, and Asian Northwest flights.

"This is an unusual way of telling Northwest's many business passengers, many of who are the decision-makers for their company or industry, something about Michigan," said Michigan Commerce Director Larry Meyer.

In 1988, Northwest served nearly 30 million passengers, with 66 percent of them traveling for business.

Nearly 30 million napkins will have been distributed by the time the promotion ends late next year. This is the first time the Michigan Department of Commerce has used this form of promotion. It also is the first time Northwest has promoted a state in this way.

"On a plane we have an audience who would be receptive to something unusual," said Meyer. "While we hope they remember the fact, we know they won't forget Michigan's creativity."

The $75,000 cost for the promotion comes from the Yes! Michigan budget.

Business Hotline

Cutting Red Tape

By: Dick Allen, Michigan Business Ombudsman

Remitting Sales Tax

Q. I am planning to start a retail clothing store and understand that I will charge sales tax and remit it to the Michigan Department of Treasury. How often will I be required to remit the sales tax?

A. Based upon your anticipated sales tax liability, the Michigan Department of Treasury has three different schedules to remit your sales tax. If you anticipate that your sales tax liability will be less than $200 for the entire year, then you are only required to file annually. If you estimate that your obligation will be $200-$1,400 for the year, then you are required to file quarterly. Any amount exceeding $1,400 for the year, you are required to report monthly.

Q. When do I let Treasury know how often I plan to report my sales tax?

A. You will report your estimation on the Sales Tax License application (form C-3400) when you register with the Michigan Department of Treasury. If you need the application form, call either Treasury or the Michigan Business Ombudsman, toll-free, 1-800-232-2727.

Q. What if my actual sales are either under or over what I estimated on the registration form?

A. Whenever you realize that your estimation will be different from your actual sales tax obligation and it will change your reporting schedule, simply write to Treasury and notify them that you wish to change your reporting schedule. Then begin to remit the tax on the appropriate schedule.

MESC Wage & Separation Forms

Q. I just received a form called a Request for Wage and Separation Information (Form 1555) from the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) for someone who used to work for me. This person quit, so he cannot get unemployment from me. Do I still need to fill out this form?

A. Yes! The form you received is the means by which MESC learns your side of the story. If you feel that the claimant should not receive benefits, it is important that you provide MESC with all of the information needed to decide in your favor. You are required to fill out this form and return it to the MESC Branch Office within 10 days of the date it was mailed to you. If MESC does not receive this form within 10 days; they will use the claimant's (your ex-employee's) statement regarding not only wages earned, but also the reason for leaving your employment. Your account will be charged for benefits, even if they are improperly paid, if you do not return the Form 1555 within 10 days of the mailing date.

Q. What kind of information should I include on this form?

A. First, you should verify that all of the information preprinted on the form is correct—your company name and employer identification number, the dates of employment, name, and social security number of the claimant, and the reason for leaving given by the claimant. Next, you are asked to provide wage information—how many weeks during the last 52 weeks did the claimant work for you (there are limits so you should read the form carefully), how much did the claimant earn (gross wages) during the most recent 35 of those 52 weeks. Then, you have a small space to fill in why the claimant no longer works for you. Here is where you tell your side of the story. Be as clear and complete as possible! If you need more space, attach another sheet. Send copies of any supporting documentation you may have. If you can prove that the claimant quit "without good cause attributable to the employer," then benefits should not be paid. Whatever your case is, return your statement immediately; otherwise, you may find that benefits will have already been charged to your account and you will have to go through the appeal process and wait for credits to be issued several months later.

Q. I received a Request for Wage and Separation Information form for someone who never worked for me. Can I throw it away?

A. No! If you do not notify MESC of the error, your account may be charged for benefits paid to this claimant. Call the branch office to let them know of the error and send the form back indicating that the claimant never worked for you. Remember, if you received the form, the correct employer did not. Delays in resolving the situation can cause headaches for everyone involved, you, the real employer, the claimant, and MESC.

If you are having trouble clearing up the confusion with MESC, call us and we can help you. We can get in touch with the right people or get you the information you may need to resolve this kind of error. Call us, toll-free, at 1-800-232-2727. We are happy to help in any way we can.

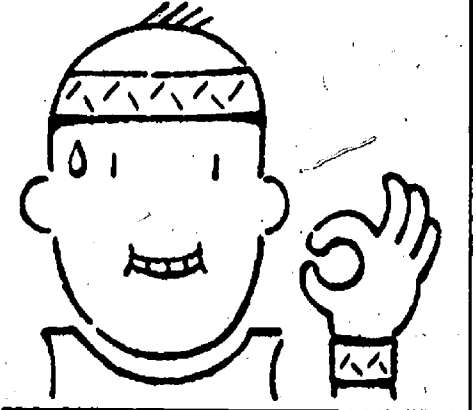

Soviets, U.S. Would Both Benefit from Freer Trade Policies

The Malta Summit between the United States and the Soviet Union has moved the Bush administration much closer to granting most favored nation trade status to the Soviets. Michigan Farm Bureau public affairs director Al Almy says there's also a chance that the Soviet Union may be allowed to participate in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) on an observer basis.

"This would certainly help to improve upon the Soviet Union the opportunities for improvement not only in its agricultural economy, but in terms of being able to receive greater quantities of agricultural products that it is now deficient in," he said. "All of these steps would be positive for the United States."

Farm Bureau policy support granting a waiver from the Jackson-Vanik amendment on Soviet immigration policies in order to allow most favored nation status for the USSR.

Winter Safety Tips Provided

Winter sports enthusiasts who enjoy tobogganing or sledding at the Metroparks in southeast Michigan—or elsewhere throughout the state—should observe several rules of safety according to Howard F. Chanter, chief park ranger at Kensington Metropark near Milford.

These safety tips are:

1. Inspect the Area Before Use: Check for hidden hazards. Snow may hide logs, stumps and stones. Do not go down any hill when you cannot see the entire length of the ride.

2. Inspect Your Equipment: Check your toboggan or sled for broken or cracked boards and rudders after each trip.

3. Put Safety First: Protect your face and hand with ear muffs, gloves and a scarf. Do not overload toboggans or sleds. Overloading makes steering difficult. In heavy use areas allow the group ahead of you sufficient time to get out of the way before starting downhill. Use marked returns when provided. Do not walk up a hill when others are sledding. Read and obey posted rules and signs.

Metroparks offering facilities for tobogganing and/or sledding include Stony Creek Metropark near Rochester/Utica, Indian Springs Metropark near Clarkston, Kensington Metropark near Milford/Brighton, and Willow Metropark near New Boston.

Most Metroparks have facilities for cross-country skiing and ski equipment rentals available, others offer ice fishing, ice skating and hockey rinks, plus trails for winter nature hikes.

For winter facility conditions at the Metroparks contact Huron-Clinton Metroparks - Phone 1-800-24-PARKS (toll-free). Vehicle entry permits are required (Annual: regular-$10 or senior citizen-$5 or daily-$2.)

Year-End News Summary

Happy New Year

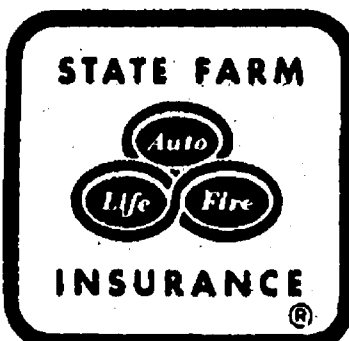

From all of us to all of you... Have a great '90!
