NED HUBBELL discusses the results of the Project Outreach survey conducted in the Chelsea School District in November. Hubbell, director of the state's Public Outreach program, gave the presentation in the high school media center last Thursday.

Voters Generally Happy With Performance of Chelsea School District

Results of the Project Outreach public opinion poll of Chelsea School District voters conducted in November were explained in a public meeting last Thursday in the Chelsea High School Media Center.

Ned Hubbell, director of the state Project Outreach, released the results and discussed them with about 55 interested community members.

Chelsea School District Superintendent Joe Piasecki said he was pleased with the results. He said they didn't hold a lot of surprises, but do show a few areas where the district needs to improve. They also point out a couple of areas where future policy decisions are likely to be controversial, as well as an area or two where the district will need to educate its constituents rather than its students.

"We felt pretty good about the results," Piasecki said.

"Voters seem to be happy and satisfied with the job we're doing."

A total of 579 registered district voters were surveyed, 51 percent of them women. Each voter was asked 70 questions in a 20-minute interview.

More than 100 volunteers donated their time to conduct the interview and put in a total of about 600 hours, according to Jackie Rogers, who coordinated the survey locally.

It was a completely random interview process as five separate lists were generated. An interviewer could only jump to the second list if the person on the first list was unreachable.

"We had literally hundreds of callbacks," Rogers said.

Questions dealt with a wide range of topics, ranging from facilities, to major problems facing the district, to performance ratings of teachers, administrators and staff. The survey, Piasecki said, may be performed again in about three years.

Sixty-nine percent of the respondents were between 26 and 55 years old, with the largest group in the 35-45 group (32 percent).

Sixty-seven percent of respondents have had education beyond high school, 49 percent have gone to college, and 18 percent have post-graduate study.

"We thought that was extremely high," Piasecki said.

Ninety-two percent had at least graduated from high school.

Property owners accounted for 89 percent of the respondents, while only seven percent were renters.

There were two adults in 68 percent of the households, and three adults in another 15 percent. Only nine percent had one adult.

Survey questions themselves were broken down into three categories: all respondents, parents of public school children, and people with no children in school. Many were also rated by several levels of satisfaction, which makes it a difficult task to publish all the results in The Standard. A copy of the survey results is available through the school district. In addition, one has been given to McKune Memorial Library.

What follows are some of the highlights of the survey.

District voters show high levels of involvement with the district. For example, 74 percent of all respondents had been in a school district building in the last year, and 99 percent of parents had. In addition, 81 percent of school parents said they believe their opinions are respected, 95 percent said they feel free to approach teachers and make suggestions or voice complaints, 80 percent said the same of school board members or administrators, and 51 percent said they feel as though school people "really listen" to them.

Most district voters (48 percent) believe the quality of education here has not changed much over the last few years. However, 21 percent said it is improving, 6 percent said it is getting worse.

When asked to grade the job the district is doing, 75 percent of all voters gave an A or B (21 percent A, 54 percent B), while 85 percent of parents of district children gave an A or B (28 percent A, 57 percent B).

"Ned said it was one of the highest ratings he's seen in the 240 surveys he's conducted," Piasecki said.

State-wide, 7 percent give their district an A and 43 percent a B.

Parents were generally pleased with their children's classroom teachers as 58 percent gave a "very satisfied" rating and 37 percent gave a "somewhat satisfied" rating.

Satisfaction levels dropped gradually from elementary to high school. At the elementary level, 64 percent were very satisfied, while at Beach Middle school 50 percent gave the same rating, and at Chelsea High school level, 45 percent gave the top rating.

The same trend appeared in how voters rated the job of building principals, and the numbers were virtually the same as for teachers.

School district support staff was also highly rated. 60 percent of parents said they were very satisfied with the performance of bus drivers and 70 percent said the same about secretaries.

Several questions were asked that pertain to particular issues facing the district.

Voters were asked their opinions about changing the school day, so that classes begin and end about 20 to 30 minutes earlier. Although it was not stated in the question, the problem facing the Chelsea district is that high school athletes miss a lot of class time because Chelsea students are getting out of school, in some cases, 45 minutes later than the schools they compete against. That forces athletes to miss most of their final class when they compete on the road, especially in the spring when most events are held in the afternoon.

Piasecki said it's probably not economically feasible to have two bus runs, which is what would be required to start high school earlier than the other schools.

As might be expected, the majority of elementary school parents, 54 percent, oppose the idea, while the majority of high school parents, 58 percent, favor it. Middle school parents are almost equally divided, 43 percent in favor and 45 percent against.

Village Asks Townships To Share Landfill Costs Of More Than $550,000

Village of Chelsea has asked area townships to help pay for at least $550,000 in recent expenses associated with the village landfill.

Representatives of Lyndon and Sylvan townships met with village officials last Thursday to discuss the financial position of the landfill. Dexter and Lima townships, which were also invited to attend, did not send a representative.

Matt Zimmerman, the village's attorney on the matter, made the presentation. Village manager Robert Stalker said the townships were asked to decide whether they would contribute voluntarily. It's likely the village would try to force the issue in court if it can't get voluntary cooperation.

"The time has come for them to make a decision," Stalker said.

"The village is not in a position to go on by itself. Obviously, the revenue structure of the landfill is not designed to cover the kinds of expenses we're incurring."

The $550,000 figure represents most of the expenses incurred by the end of December associated with closing the old landfill. It includes covering the old landfill with clay, as well as legal and engineering expenses that have resulted from complying with the consent order the village signed with the Department of Natural Resources. It does not cover expenses associated with obtaining a new landfill license, as that is considered a separate issue, Stalker said. When those figures are included the total the village has spent on the landfill balloons to more than $770,000.

The number also does not include money for any clean-up costs, should the village be forced to purify the (Continued on page four)

Village Changes Connection Fees For Sewer, Water

Village of Chelsea has changed its method of calculating sanitary sewer and water connection fees.

The village agreed to take a look at the rate structure after potential business owners complained that the former structure was exorbitantly high in some cases. In addition, there were problems calculating the fees in multi-use buildings as the uses had to be defined.

The new structure is based simply on the size and number of water meters, a common practice in other communities. It will allow developers to make easy comparison between communities, allow easier adjustment of the rate structure in the future, and eliminates judgments that are necessary for mixed-use buildings, such as commercial buildings.

The new schedule begins at the ¼-inch size, which is typical of single family homes, and goes up to 6-inch size, which is typical for a fairly large business. Special consideration will be given for businesses with meters larger than 6 inches because those businesses will have a substantial impact on both the sewer and water systems.

The adopted schedule is as follows. The first fee is the sewer connection fee and the second figure is the water connection fee.

¾", $1,900, $950; 1", $2,400, $1,200; 1½", $3,550, $1,750; 2", $4,600, $2,400; 3", $6,500, $4,500; 4", $12,000, $6,000; 6", $20,000, $10,000.

Election Petitions Due Monday at Village Offices, Ritter Likely To Run

Former village president Charles Ritter has picked up a nominating petition for the annual March village elections and reportedly plans to run for village council.

Ritter has run for office several times since he served as president from 1980-1. He has been a long-time critic of village president Jerry Satterthwaite, who announced recently he will not seek a fourth term. Ritter has also been a critic of the village's monetary policy, saying the village spends too much money.

Ritter's apparent plans to run will likely make a wide-open village election even more interesting than it would have been.

Satterthwaite, and trustee Gary Bentley, have both said they will not run again. Trustee Phil Boham recently resigned, leaving a third seat up for grabs.

Trustee Richard Steele, in the middle of his fourth council term, is running for president and, as of press time, is the only confirmed candidate for the position.

Should Steele be elected, his trustee seat would be vacant. He would then be able to nominate his successor to fill out the remaining year of the term. The nomination would have to be approved by council. When Steele was in the same position in 1983, he said he would automatically nominate the person with the fourth highest number of votes for trustee.

Trustee Joe Merkel is the only incumbent up for re-election who has picked up a petition. Merkel would be seeking his sixth term. Virtually every time he runs, Merkel receives more votes than any other candidate.

Others who have picked up nominating petitions include John McKenzie, Harry L. Myers, and Keith (Continued on page two)

Area schools were closed as freezing rain fell on Washtenaw county, and much of the state, for the second time in four days. By 9 a.m. the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department reported more than 25 accidents county-wide as a result of the slippery conditions, most of them of the fender-bender variety. There were no estimates available as to how many of those accidents were in the western part of the county, although Chelsea Police reported many "cars off the road."

What started as a grease fire spread quickly when the resident tried to carry the flaming grease out of the house and spilled it between the kitchen and garage, igniting the door and frame. Chelsea fire fighters had the blaze quickly under control, but fire and smoke caused an estimated $15,000 damage, according to fire chief Bud Hankerd.

Chelsea's March 10 village election promised to be one of the most interesting and important local political events in recent memory. In stark contrast to the previous year's election, when there was only one candidate for each of five village positions, the year's event offered voters choices for all village government positions. Also, for the first time in five years, a major proposal was on the ballot. Voters were asked to approve a bond issue, of not more than $2 million for the village's estimated share of the proposed $4.7 million wastewater treatment plant.

Although April was the month officially designated by the American Cancer Society for the Cancer Crusade, Chelsea women were already busy themselves preparing for a Kick-Off Brunch to be held late in February and a Quilting Bee and a Fashion Show and Luncheon for the first two weeks in March. Co-chairpersons for the year's campaign were the successful team of Mrs. Robert (Marje) Daniels and Mrs. John B. (Nancy) Dunn. Together and with the help of many other area women, the pair more than surpassed their 1975 goal in 1976, raising some $2,691.

Reports Differ on Bridge Safety

A report issued recently by a House Transportation subcommittee indicates the conditions and structure of the Mackinac Bridge did not contribute to a fatal accident last year in which a car went over the edge.

But a report on the same incident released by the Senate State Affairs, Tourism and Transportation Committee said the bridge's outer guardrail should be raised and a new median should be installed to improve the structure's safety.

The special House subcommittee studying the safety of the 33-year-old bridge which connects Michigan's two peninsulas, said the one fatality which occurred against over 65 million cars safely crossing the bridge does not warrant significant changes to the bridge's safety barriers.

A State Police investigation of the September accident determined the vehicle driven by Leslie Ann Pluhar of Royal Oak was traveling too fast for conditions.

"The Mackinac Bridge did not cause Pluhar's accident," said subcommittee Chair Bart Stupak (D-Menominee). "You don't spend millions of dollars because of one accident. There were no structural failures or flaws which led to this one vehicle going off the bridge."

But the Senate report, signed by committee chair Sen. Richard Fessler (R-Bloomfield Hills), recommends the three-foot outer guardrail be replaced by one at least a foot higher and curves inward, and the 11-inch inner rail should either be removed or replaced with a curb no higher than three inches.

The report also recommends that to reduce the speed of an errant vehicle crossing over to an opposite lane, a lightweight median barrier should be installed.

"The evidence gathered over the past months has revealed fundamental safety flaws in the Mackinac Bridge, which have existed for more than a quarter of a century," the Senate report says, while noting that national highway standards have cautioned since 1964 against the use of inner curbs.

However, the House report says the current four inch median and 11-inch guardrail should be kept as they are. Stupak said he and members of the subcommittee agreed that had the Pluhar vehicle been traveling at 60 miles per hour in high winds and struck a railing under other conditions, it would have catapulted in the same manner.

The cost of the Senate proposals, Stupak added, would be about $2.5 million, against the $850,000 for House recommendations.

Robert Morris, the director of the Department of Transportation's Office of Governmental Affairs, declined comment until he sees the report and engineers study the proposals. "I'd like to see what the report says," he said, adding that the department will consider the recommendations. "I don't know if changes are necessary."

Walter North, administrator of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, also declined comment. "We want to wait until we get all the reports," he said.

The David B. Steinman Co., the engineering firm that designed the bridge, is also preparing a report.

Although citing "fundamental safety flaws" in the bridge, the Senate report praised the Mackinac Bridge Authority for a "remarkable record of safety and maintenance."

But it also noted that the September accident and another in November when a truck trailer tipped over requires modifications to the five-mile span. "The committee feels that with the recent accidents and the possibility of further loss of life, these safety modifications must be made as soon as possible," the report says.

Both reports recommended installing wind monitoring devices, digital read-out monitors for wind velocity and an appropriate speed limit, and closed circuit television cameras to monitor traffic on the bridge.

The Senate report also suggested the Mackinac Bridge Authority should adopt a written manual for use during inclement weather, including a mandatory shutdown of the bridge when wind gusts exceed 45 miles per hour.

The House report said the St. Ignace State Police Post should be moved to the north end of the bridge to heighten public awareness of the law enforcement on the bridge.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

With nearly a month of the last decade of the century behind em, the fellers were in a position Saturday night at the country store to look serious at trends on some of the fronts. Clem Webster got the floor first to wonder if Utah has room for everybody giving thought to moving there.

Clem had saw where folks in that state are the healthiest in the country, and they live nearly three year longer than the rest of us. You got to know, Clem said, that folks that looker gain without pain think all they got to do is take their bodies there. General, Clem said, we want to undergo good health, not undertake it. We want machines that exercise for us, so natural we won't read the part about Utah where folks there smoke one fifth as much and drink one third as much as the rest of the country.

Actual, Bug Hookum, said, Utah ain't got to worry about overflow. Folks might visit, but not many will want to live there. The truth is, Bug said, we go around once and most of us figger buying into life that's twice as healthy and 10 times as boring is a bad bargain. The way studies of lifestyles are moving, Bug said, we might first send in spies to see if there's more to Utah living than we're told.

Bug had saw where a couple in Santa Ana, Calif. is suing Nissan for invading their privacy with a boarder they didn't know was doing market research for Nissan. The next thing we hear, Bug allowed, will be children paid by the TV networks to report what their folks really watch in the bedrooms in the dead of night. This will be followed by nasty lawsuits where it comes out Pa was hired by Wal-Mart to send in monthly reports on Ma's buying habits.

Practical speaking, Zeke Grubb said, there's no limit to what is being done to figger how what folks want before they know they want it. For instant, he had saw where hotels are taking car telephones the next logical step. They're turning their rooms into offices away from the office. The salesman won't know when he checks in that he'd like to have dictating and fax machines beside the bed, but once he's got it he knows he can't do without it.

Furthermore, Zeke said, it's plain that the fax is figgering bigger all the time. He had saw where The New York Times now offers a edition that has all the news fit to fax. It's especial for American businessmen in Japan and lesser Far East markets, and for just $1,900 a year it gives em a four page digest of news the night before it comes out in New York. How would a feller bent on being first with the mokest know he needed that service before he got it, Zeke ask, and then how could he compete without it.

Ed Doolittle allowed that he's been reading about $10 million all-plastic houses with automatic lights, cooking and cleaning, and he had saw where a outfit in Canada is doing big business in rubber boots for cows that give more milk when their feet are warm and dry. Ed had even saw where new research shows that folks that like rock music were hard of hearing to start with, otherwise they wouldn't like it, so there's no proof the music hurts the ears.

Then Ed put the stopper in the trend jug with a report where nicotine eases symptoms of Allahimers and some other brain ailments. The trick now is to work it so the treatment ain't worst than the disease.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Net Cash Farm Income Could Top $50 Billion

U.S. Department of Agriculture economists are predicting that farmers' net cash income could top $50 billion this year for the fourth consecutive year. While cash returns, the difference between gross cash receipts and cash expenses, may top 1989 levels by 2 to 4 percent this year, net income—which also takes into account changes in the value of inventory, depreciation and other cost items—could be that much below the $45 billion earned in 1989, according to USDA.

The decline of direct subsidy payments to farmers also is likely to affect farm income. Costs of direct government payments rose to $16.7 billion in 1987, dropped to $14.5 billion in 1988, hitting about $11 billion in 1989. USDA projections put 1990 payments in the range of $8 billion to $11 billion.

State Announces Consulting

Access for Small Businesses

A new program to provide business consulting services to help manage growth has been announced by Department of Commerce Director Larry Meyer.

The program, entitled The Growth Margin, will provide state-subsidized consulting services for small to mid-sized businesses making professional private-sector services available to the continued existence of the business and as a job creator for the future.

Meyer said the program, sponsored jointly by the department and Michigan Small Business Development Centers around the state, targets 550 service and manufacturing-related companies with between 10-100 employees which are experiencing rapid growth and need assistance in managing this growth.

The program is a part of a $1 million growth management assistance package, announced last May as part of Governor Blanchard's Small Business Day, which was tested on a pilot project basis in the counties of Kent, Oakland and Saginaw.

Some 40 companies used the service during the pilot project.

Jeff Padden, the governor's small business advocate, said the program will provide the business management consulting services available to smaller firms at a discounted rate, usually at about 50 to 60 percent of the normal fee.

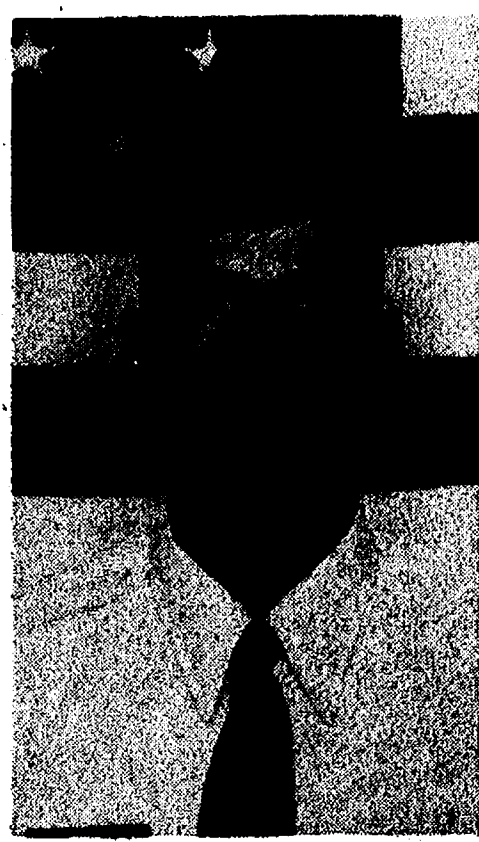

He said the average cost of the service is about $1,600 and the program offers a money-back guarantee to any firm not completely satisfied with the service.

Meyer called the program the most aggressive, innovative, market-driven service for growing small businesses anywhere in the nation, adding the state was using its buying power to make the services available to the smaller businesses at a smaller cost.

He added there is a "huge public payoff" with additional jobs and an increasing economy when small growing firms succeed rather than fail.

Some 20 Community Growth Alliances around the state will serve as the primary contacts for the client companies. The alliances will be responsible for matching the client with a pre-screened management consultant who has the expertise needed to meet the company's needs.

An over-all assessment is completed in the areas of general management, marketing, financial management, personnel and operations coupled with a plan outlining the company's strengths and weaknesses and recommendations to pursue maximum controlled growth.

Sunday Trail Walk Offered at U. of M. Botanical Gardens

If you like to unravel clues, follow a trail, piece together a happening from the signs around you, plan to join the Docents of the U. of M. Matthaei Botanical Gardens for a bit of sleuthing fun on the Sunday Trail Walk, Feb. 4, at 2 p.m.

The docents will be detectives searching for tracks in the snow. Help is welcome from all interested persons. Usually, one is not aware of the animals that are found on the Gardens properties until their tracks are seen. Many surprises may be in store.

In addition, some of the unusual growth patterns on woody plants will be pointed out. These patterns are most noticeable this time of the year. Because sleuthing takes time, plan to be outside for 1½ to 2 hours, and dress warmly with waterproof footwear.

Meet in the lobby of the Gardens' Conservatory.

The Matthaei Botanical Gardens is located at 1800 N. Dixboro Rd., approximately 1/4 mile south of the Plymouth Rd. intersection, on the east side of the road.

Michigan's new state speed limit law was to become effective Feb. 3 and a few reminders in connection were given by Sheriff Erwin Klager. The law placed an absolute limit of 55 miles an hour on state and county roads during daylight hours and 55 miles at night. For enforcement purposes State Police were to regard nighttime hours as those during which headlights were normally used.

A power reactor development company applied to the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission for licenses to build an atomic-electric power plant. Proposed location was on Lake Erie shore north of Monroe. Michigan companies in the new reactor development group, besides Detroit Edison were Consumers Power, Chrysler, Burroughs, Fruehauf Trailer, and Holley Carburetor. Twenty companies outside of Michigan also indicated their intention to participate in the project.

Deer with a yen for potatoes faced trouble near the town of Brethren in the northwest-lower peninsula. Whitetails near the farm of Mrs. Ann Asiala, three miles east and one mile north of the town, had opened a pit and caused damage to a supply of wintering seed potatoes. Mrs. Asiala said the raiders caused $180 in damage.

Village Wants Help With Landfill Costs

groundwater around the old site. Those expenses could far exceed the amount spent to date.

Under the tentative formula, the village would pay 40 percent ($220,000) of the costs, while Dexter township's share would be 21 percent ($115,500), Lima's 12 percent ($68,000), and Lyndon and Sylvan townships' share would be 13.5 percent ($74,250) each. Those numbers are based on each township's use of the facility.

Any money spent on clean-up would probably also be shared under those percentages, Stalker said.

Stalker said the village is willing to be "as flexible as it can be in light of our financial situation" concerning how the townships might structure their individual payments.

"It's a difficult situation for everyone," Stalker said.

In another landfill matter, it appears that the licensing dispute for the new landfill cell will take longer to resolve than the village expected.

The village is seeking an administrative hearing so it can appeal a stipulation in the new license, which says the village must put up cash bonds totaling $880,000, or $170,000 every six months of the license.

A pre-conference hearing has been set for late February, and the actual hearing might not take place until April. It's possible, but not likely, Stalker said, that an agreement might be reached at the pre-conference hearing.

"Capacity at the landfill could be an issue by then," Stalker said.

School District Voters Split On Earlier School Day

"On this question the survey didn't really tell us much other than it is going to be a tough issue," Piasecki said. He said the board of education will deal with the issue, and probably make a decision in February.

A majority of voters also favor adding a period to the high school schedule, creating a seven-period day. Of all voters, 69 percent favor the idea, and 77 percent of high school parents like it as well.

"The question was initiated by the students' focus group," Piasecki said. "We'll study the idea for 1991-92. Our job is letting the school board know how much it will cost as well as other concerns."

The extra period would be used for study hall or elective classes. Piasecki said that as graduation requirements change, fewer students are taking some of the elective classes.

The extra period idea is also likely to have an impact on when classes begin.

In perhaps one of the surprises of the survey, 74 percent of elementary school parents apparently believe the elementary schools are not overcrowded. The number swells to 85 percent when middle school parents were polled. That result could suggest that the district will have a selling job on its hands if it has to bond to build a new school or add on to present facilities in the next few years.

However, in a follow-up, fill-in-the-blank question, 77 percent of all voters favored either building another school (43 percent) or adding on to existing facilities (34 percent) once the schools reach capacity.

School district parents also rate alcohol abuse by students as a more serious problem than drug abuse. Of all respondents 32 percent rate drug abuse as a "very serious problem," as compared to 41 percent who gave the same rating to alcohol abuse. 35 percent of parents rated drug abuse as a very serious problem and 46 percent said alcohol abuse was very serious. 74 percent of parents rated alcohol abuse as a very serious or somewhat serious problem, compared to 67 percent for drug abuse.

The survey also dealt with educational philosophy, specific criticism and praise of the district, perceptions of major problems facing the district, use of school facilities, adult enrichment activities, activities for senior citizens, how well the schools deal with discipline and the special needs of children, class size, day care service, and where voters get their information about the district. Those results will be addressed in next week's edition of The Standard.

NOTES

DONALD A. COLE, Director

"Happiness is not a point to be reached... it is a way of traveling..."
—Schopenhauer

Many of us think of happiness as an elusive pot of gold at the end of a rainbow when, in truth, it is a state of mind within the reach of everyone. Working in anticipation of a point to be reached can often bring more satisfaction than the actual reaching of that point. The road we travel, the acquaintances we make and the experience we gain along the way are, for the most part, of our own selection. Therefore, our happiness usually depends upon the choices we make. In other words, happiness is a way of traveling. We hope that you will look upon us as your friend, always available to assist you in time of need, and willing to do whatever we can to help you during the difficult times.

Pre-Retirement Plans Offered By Extension Service

Are you ready to retire? Are you certain the Social Security payments, your pension and your savings will be enough to let you live comfortably after retirement?

According to the National Council of Aging, only two of every 100 persons are financially independent at retirement age. Seventy-five percent of retirees depend on friends or relatives or Social Security payments as their only source of income. Twenty-three percent of people use a mix of Social Security and other sources of income, such as pension, savings or investments and post-retirement employment to support their retirement. Which category will you fall into?

If you are within a decade of retirement, it's time to become actively involved in determining your retirement financial future. Don't leave something this important up to chance.

Chiropractic Health Care

Dr. J. Nicholas Koffeman

Research Considerations (Con't.)

Hello everybody. If you read last week's column you know we began to discuss research. Scientific studies, many agree, are increasingly important in today's complex world.

Recently many exciting studies have taken place in the research community, both in the U.S. and internationally. They are helping to prove what has been observed for 95 years in chiropractic and for 5,000 years in cultures throughout the world. Namely, that manipulation and especially its more specific application, the chiropractic adjustment, is beneficial for a very wide range of health problems.

A great many recent studies, (chiropractic, medical, worker compensation, etc.) have shown marvelous statistics pointing to the efficacy of chiropractic care, for neuromusculoskeletal problems. Indeed many people, when they think of chiropractic care, relate it to spinal conditions, especially of the lower back and neck.

However, a recent major study done in Denmark on infantile Colic ("colicky babies") found an over-all improvement in an amazing 96% of participants. Their findings were 60% cure and 36% improvement in just two weeks of treatment.

This finding will be a surprise to many. It will not be a surprise to doctors of chiropractic, especially the profession's more family-oriented practitioners.

Oh yes, one other interesting fact from this important study; 51% of these infants had been treated medically (usually with drugs) without any relief prior to being a participant in this study.

If you have any questions or comments or would like a copy of the Denmark study, please write to: Dr. J. Nicholas Koffeman, 138 East Middle Street, Chelsea, MI 48118; or call (313) 475-2088.

Contribution to An IRA Cannot Exceed $2,000 Maximum

Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA's) are savings plans that allow taxpayers to set aside money for their retirement. Anyone who has compensation and who is under the age 70½ is eligible to set up an IRA.

Since 1987, a taxpayer's annual deduction for contributions to an IRA has been limited. Individuals may deduct the least of the following amounts: (1) Your compensation that you must include as income for the year, or, (2) $2,000, or, (3) the amount actually contributed to your IRA for the year.

Married couples who file a joint return and who have only one spouse who receives compensation for a tax year may have that individual make contributions to an IRA of the spouse without compensation. If both spouses have IRA's and the compensated spouse has at least $2,250 of compensation, the compensated spouse may deduct up to $2,250 of combined contributions to his or her IRA and the IRA of the uncompensated spouse, provided that the contributions to neither exceeds $2,000.

If you contribute too much to your IRA there will be a 6% penalty on the excess. This penalty applies to taxpayers who contributed over $2,000 for an individual account or $2,250 for an individual and non-working spouse account. To avoid this penalty you may ask the institution where you deposited the money to refund the excess, plus any earnings on that amount to you before April 15.

In order for payments to an IRA to be deductible they must be made no later than April 15, 1990. If an individual has not made a contribution by this date they may still claim a deduction on a return, provided that it is made before the un-extended due date for filing.

WCSC Spring Tree Seedling Sale Underway

Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District has announced its annual tree and shrub seedling sale for 1990. Orders for planting stock will be accepted until March 30, on a first-come, first-serve basis while supplies last. Some species have limited supplies, so order early.

Seedlings will be distributed on Saturday, April 14, 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the Washtenaw County Road Commission garage.

Planting stock available this spring includes: Austrian Pine, Red Pine, White Pine, Blue Spruce, Norway Spruce, White Spruce, Douglas Fir, White Ash, Butternut, Whiteflowering Dogwood, Black Walnut, Imperial Carolina Hybrid Poplar and American Chestnut trees; Silky Dogwood and Honeysuckle shrubs.

Wildlife Packets, an assortment of 30 evergreen and 20 deciduous trees and shrubs; Crownvetch-ground cover seed, Wildflower Seed Packets, and Tree Planting Bars, a sturdy tool for planting seedlings, will also be available. Prices are reasonable for all tree and shrub seedlings which are two years old and range in size from two to 10 inches tall.

Purpose of the District's tree program is to assist landowners in obtaining planting stock at low cost for reforestation, windbreaks, erosion control and wildlife habitat improvement. Order forms containing information on trees available, site preference, uses and prices may be obtained by contacting the Soil Conservation District at 8101 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor 48103, Telephone (313) 761-6721.

Farmers Affected By Fewer Foreign Shipments

Unless Congress renews a farm bill provision which allocates some "Food for Peace" food aid shipments to Great Lakes ports, there could be fewer foreign ships on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway this spring, according to Michigan Farm Bureau economist Bob Craig.

Craig said that could mean money out of farmers' pockets.

"It could reduce our cash bids to growers, whether it's corn or wheat or various other exports, to a level that farmers would lose some money," he said.

Lawmakers from Great Lakes states are trying to reintroduce legislation to reserve 20 percent of Food for Peace shipments for Great Lakes ports. But they face stiff opposition from legislators representing states that have ports on the Gulf of Mexico, out of which much of the nation's food aid is exported.

Many Activities Planned for 'Love Your Library Week'

Plans are in full swing for the "Love Your Library Week," beginning Saturday, Feb. 10-17, sponsored by the Friends of the Library.

Many local businesses, clubs, and schools have volunteered to help with the activities planned.

If you have used books you would like to donate for the used book sale that takes place at the Library on Saturday, Feb. 17, please take them to McKune Memorial Library. Books are needed!

Registration for the "Overnight at the Library" for children in grades 3-5 is taking place now. To register, parents need to come to the Library. There is a limited registration of 25 children. Activities planned for Friday, Feb. 16, are a scavenger hunt in the Library, a movie, storytelling by Karen Chalmer, and pizza and pop for refreshments.

Artist Ben Bower has decided to donate a framed black and white print of the McKune Library, in addition to the original watercolor painting, for the Friends raffle. The print will be awarded as a second prize and is on display at the Chelsea Pharmacy. Raffle tickets are available at the McKune Library and Chelsea Pharmacy.

The Friends of the Library are looking for new members. If you would be interested in helping with projects like "Love Your Library Week" and other Library programs for the community talk with a "Friend." The Friends meet the first Wednesday of each month at 7 p.m. at the Library.

Parents of 8th Graders Urged To Attend Info. Night

On Tuesday, Feb. 6, at 7 p.m. in the high school cafeteria, parents of Chelsea School District's eighth-graders will have an opportunity to gain valuable information to prepare their children for the transition from middle school to high school.

Chelsea Grads Make Dean's List At Bowling Green

Chelsea High school graduates Timothy Mayer and Dawn Spade each made the Dean's List at Bowling Green State University for the fall semester.

Mayer, who carried a 4.0 average, is the son of Warren Mayer, 19839 Ivey Rd. and the late Linda Mayer.

Spade is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Spade, 2878 McKinley Rd.

A minimum 3.5 grade point average is required to make the list.

During the day on Feb. 6, high school counselors will provide eighth-graders with course selection and program materials and information on high school graduation requirements. At the 7 p.m. meeting, counselors, teachers and administrators will review, in addition to course offerings and graduation requirements, college requirements and school activities. Parents will have an opportunity to ask questions of these staff members.

Principals Darcy Stielstra and Ron Mead are enthusiastically looking forward to this opportunity to help the eighth-graders effect a smooth and successful transition in their educational experience.

Let's Go

Bulldogs!

Dogs Keep SEC Lead With Win Over Saline

Chelsea Bulldogs continued on course for their second showdown with the Tecumseh Indians in late February as they whipped the Saline Hornets on the road last Friday, 66-61.

In other action last week, Chelsea withstood a second-half rally by the Fowlerville Gladiators to take a 74-64 win at home last Tuesday, Jan. 23.

Chelsea ran its Southeastern Conference record to 7-0 with the win at Saline. Tecumseh, meanwhile, handed the Lincoln Railsplitters, 66-51, to move to 6-1.

"It was a good win for us," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

"Saline is not a bad team and they're a much better home team than they are on the road."

The Bulldogs threatened to blow the game open early as they held a 24-6 lead midway through the second quarter. Saline missed numerous easy shots under the basket and Chelsea scored the first nine points of the second quarter. In the first half alone, the Hornets were 7-27 from the field.

However, Saline came back to pull within 11 at half-time, 29-18.

Chelsea held its 11-point lead throughout most of the third quarter. The Hornets, in some respects, were their own worst enemy as turnovers, in particular ball-handling errors, added to their problems. They finished with 29 turnovers, including 13 ball-handling mistakes. They also had problems at the line as well as they hit 9-21 shots for the night.

But the Bulldogs were also able to handle the Saline press with relative ease and convert some easy buckets. Chelsea's Brian Burg scored 19 of his game-high 24 points in the second half.

In the fourth quarter, however, Saline was able to narrow the Chelsea lead to from 12 to six points as they began to hit three-point field goals, four of them within a little more than two minutes. Burg's lay-up, however, stopped the rally and allowed the Bulldogs to begin building their lead back to 15.

The Bulldogs had one of their best shooting nights from the field in recent games as they hit 56 percent 24-43. However, as well as they shot from the field, they shot equally poorly from the line where they also hit 56 percent (15-32).

Chelsea held a 31-26 rebound advantage and had seven fewer turnovers with 22.

The Bulldogs also had a season-high 15 steals, as Burg led with six.

Chad Starkey had a fine all-around game as he was 4-6 from the field and 8-12 from the line for 16 points, to go along with four assists and four steals.

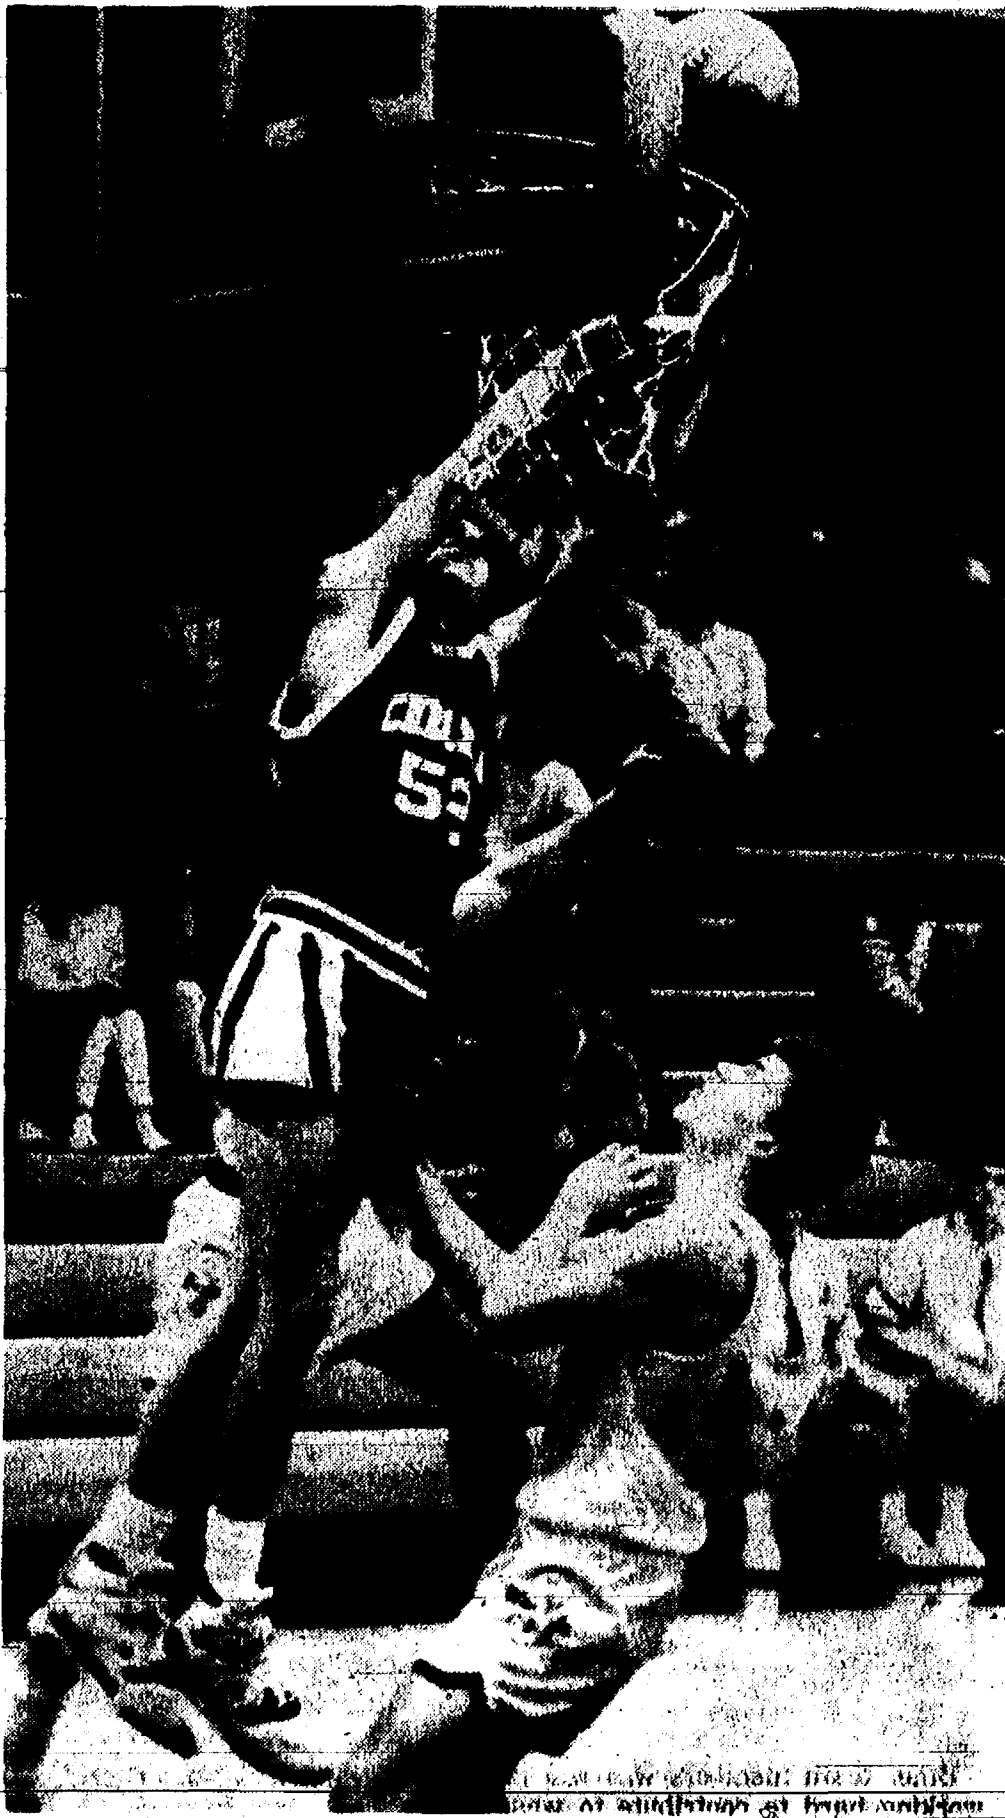

Kerry Plank scored 11 points, and had seven rebounds, three steals, and four assists.

Jon Royce and Kyle Plank each scored six points, and Chris Wilson scored three.

In the Fowlerville game, Chelsea held the lead throughout, stretching a 19-16 first-quarter lead to 36-25 at half-time, and 69-39 at the end of three quarters.

"We had a sluggish first half, but in the third quarter we got after the play a little better," Raymond said.

Chelsea's biggest lead was 22 in the fourth quarter and shortly afterward Raymond made wholesale substitutions. The Gladiators cut the lead to seven points, 66-61 with 1:20 left. "Our intention was to get everybody in and try some different looks and combinations," Raymond said.

"I also wanted to see them play under fairly close game conditions." Burg ended up fouling out late in the game.

Kyle Plank led the Bulldogs with 21 points, Burg scored 20, and Kerry

Plank had 15. Other scorers included Starkey with nine, Wilson with five, and Royce and Jeremy Stephens with two each.

Chelsea held a 37-27 rebound advantage. They shot 46 percent from the field (26-56) and 67 percent (20-30) from the line.

Chelsea was 11-1 for the season going into last night's game with Harland.

Dog JV Cagers Beat Fowlerville

Chelsea Bulldog junior varsity basketball team defeated Fowlerville, 60-42, but lost to Saline, 68-55, in action last week.

In Tuesday's game at home against Fowlerville, Chelsea jumped out to a 17-6 lead and simply kept pace most of the rest of the way.

"We were ready to play," said Chelsea coach Lonnie Mitchell.

"I was impressed with the way we jumped out to the early lead."

Chelsea had a balanced scoring attack led by Ben Hurst's 12 points. Other scorers included Aaron Tanner 10, Dan Stahl 8, Jake Rindie 8, Mike Wolpoff 6, Adam Tillman 3, and Rob Coelius 3.

In Friday's game at Saline, Chelsea may have played its best quarter of the season to start the game, Mitchell said, but couldn't sustain the lead.

Chelsea held a 15-12 lead in the first quarter, but Saline grabbed a 34-27 lead by half-time. Saline added three points to their lead in each the third and fourth periods.

The Bulldogs again had a balanced attack as Hurst scored 14, Stahl 13, Rindie 12, Wolpoff 10, and Tanner 6.

Chelsea has a 3-8 over-all record and 1-4 mark in the Southeastern Conference.

Dog Wrestlers Dominate Brooklyn and Tecumseh

Chelsea Bulldog wrestlers continued their domination of area opponents as they trounced Brooklyn Columbia Central 68-6 last Tuesday and Tecumseh 58-10 on Thursday.

"It was an excellent week for us," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"I'm getting used to the kids scoring a lot of points, which might not be good because sometimes you get relaxed as a coach. When we run into a team that gives us a hard time, it's going to be scary."

Chelsea's match against Brooklyn was supposed to be a quad meet but two teams cancelled out.

At 103 pounds, Vince Stahl got Chelsea rolling with a pin of Rich Stahl in 5:22.

Karl Wikman maintained his unbeaten streak at 112 with a 12-4 major decision over J.R. Hayes.

Pat Taylor, at 119 pounds, also remained undefeated with a pin of Eric Baker in 2:55.

Taylor's pin started a string of four straight for Chelsea.

At 125 pounds, Alan Hanna pinned Fred Beaurle in 3:21.

At 130 pounds, Eric Hanna pinned Derek Eberle in 2:18.

At 135 pounds, Rex Nye pinned Joe Mannor in 1:00.

Chelsea suffered its only loss of the day when Kevin McCalla was pinned by Mike Shovels in 1:10.

Jim Hassett came back with a pin at 145 pounds as he stopped Jim Kirk in 5:12.

Adam Taylor, at 152 pounds, and Matt Herter, at 160 pounds, each earned 15-0 technical falls as Ted Muck and Ed Yanor were defeated.

At 171 pounds, Pat Hassett pinned Brian Adams in 1:11.

Tim VanSchoelck at 186 pounds and Mike Terpstra at heavyweight each won by forfeit.

"Brooklyn had the wrestlers but for some reason didn't want to wrestle them," Kargel said of the final two matches.

Tecumseh didn't provide much more competition than Brooklyn, to the surprise of Kargel.

"I thought they'd probably score more points on us," Kargel said.

"They key for us was the lower weights. They started winning and we got on a roll."

Chelsea's Todd Watson was defeated at 103 pounds by Chad Dinius, 7-0.

However, Wikman came back to record a pin of Paul James in 2:46 and Pat Taylor pinned Steve Goe in 1:15 to give Chelsea the lead for good.

At 125 pounds, Alan Hanna won an 11-1 major decision over Jason Coury. Chelsea's Kelly Beard took a loss at 130 pounds as he was taken down in the last nine seconds and lost 14-13.

The Bulldogs then recorded three pins in a row. Eric Hanna stopped Tim Simpson in 3:26, Jim Hassett pinned Tom Dinius in 2:56, and Doug Wingrove beat Pino Jimines in 3:21.

Tecumseh's Kip O'Leary beat

Adam Taylor at 152 pounds, 7-0.

Chelsea's last four wins came by pins.

Herter, at 160 pounds, topped Ryan Cambus in 2:21. Pat Hassett whipped Buddy Allen in 1:52 at 171 pounds. VanSchoelck got to wrestle at 186 pounds and pinned Chad Markwell in :26, and Terpstra put Dave McCartney on his back in :46 in the heavyweight match.

Chelsea looks to win the Southeastern Conference title outright this Saturday as the league holds its tournament at Lincoln. Barring a collapse on Thursday against Pinckney, the Bulldogs figure to at least win a share of the title as they will go into the tournament undefeated. The Saline Hornets, who will finish second in the regular season, have the only team capable of upsetting the state-ranked Bulldogs at the tournament. Saline is 11-1 in dual meets, with their only loss to Chelsea.

The first machinery created to promote unionization and collective bargaining in the federal government was established by President John Kennedy in 1962, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U. S. Labor Department publication.

Chelsea Netters Win Invitational

Chelsea Bulldog volleyball team picked up their biggest win in two years as they knocked off Adrian in the finals of the Ypsilanti Volleyball Tournament last Saturday.

"I was worried that the girls were too tired to finish as strongly as they had been playing all day," said Chelsea coach Sue Steeves.

"Obviously, I was wrong. The girls were unstoppable and I am so proud of them."

Chelsea beat Adrian, 15-10 and 16-14 in the finals, to go 11-1 on the day.

To reach the finals, the Bulldogs beat Belleville, Airport, and Adrian, and split with Huron, to win their pool. They defeated Lincoln in the semi-finals to set up the re-match with Adrian.

Scharme Petty led the Chelsea attack with 30 kills. On defense she had eight blocks and 14 digs.

Lisa Park had 27 kills, 10 blocks, and 19 digs.

Barb Scriven had 38 assists and Jane Pacheco had 18.

In other action last week, Chelsea was trounced by Tecumseh last Thursday, 16-2 and 16-4.

"We were just no match for Tecumseh's fast attack," Steeves said.

Park and Petty each had four digs. "Unfortunately, digging is all we could do against them."

On Saturday, Jan. 20 the Dogs went 3-6 in the Clinton Invitational.

The best game for Chelsea was its last as it defeated Lenawee Christian, 15-4. Chelsea also beat Pinckney and Morenci one game each.

"We played really well at times, but couldn't seem to put a string of good games together," Steeves said.

On Monday, Jan. 22, the Bulldogs defeated Lincoln in three games, 12-15, 15-13, and 15-13.

"Lincoln served tough but we held on," Steeves said.

"Our attack really led us in this match. In all we hit 29 kills."

The Bulldogs were led by Park's eight kills and three blocks. Scriven had nine assists and five kills, and Jennifer Petty, Scharme Petty, Jill Nowatzke, and Jane Pacheco each had four kills.

Wild Turkey Hunting License Deadline Near

Feb. 1 is the deadline for hunters to send in license application cards for the 1990 spring wild turkey hunting season.

A total of 30,875 licenses will be available for the 1990 season, compared to 25,080 last year. Fifty hunt periods have been established in 20 hunting areas, a decrease from 24 hunting areas last year as a result of a DNR survey of turkey hunters conducted in 1989.

"Michigan's 1989 spring season produced a record harvest of turkeys," said John Urbain, DNR Wildlife Division. "While the number of hunting areas has decreased this year, the nesting season added to the turkey population in some areas. This has made possible the expansion of one area and the addition of three new areas."

Details on the hunt periods and hunting areas are provided in the 1990 spring turkey hunting guide.

The first turkey hunting period will start in most units on April 23, and the last hunting period will end May 27. Shooting hours in the Lower Peninsula will be 5:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and in the Upper Peninsula they will be 6 a.m. to 3 p.m. The bag limit is one bearded turkey.

Regulations for the spring gobbler season were approved by the Natural Resources Commission at its October 1989 meeting in Lansing.

The 1990 spring gobbler season guide and applications for resident and senior resident turkey licenses are available from DNR license-issuing offices, most license dealers and from the DNR Information Services Center in Lansing (517-373-1220). Non-resident applications will be available only at DNR Information Services.

Hunters may apply individually or with one partner and may select three specific periods to hunt, but only one period will be assigned.

To obtain an application card, everyone must pay a fee that includes the cost of the turkey license plus a $3 non-refundable processing fee.

Successful applicants will receive their 1990 wild turkey hunting license in the mail by March 15. Unsuccessful applicants will not be notified but will receive a refund by March 22.

Freshman Cagers Whip Lincoln, Manchester for 7-3 Record

Chelsea Bulldog ninth grade basketball team beat Lincoln 54-40, and Manchester, 64-41, in games last week.

On Monday, Jan. 22 at Chelsea High school, Eric Brown scored 15 points and Chris Dunham scored 13 to lead the Bulldogs past Lincoln.

"We started coming back in the second quarter after trailing 18-6 in the first quarter," said Chelsea coach Dave Quilter.

"In the second half we applied pressure on the ball at all times and gave up just nine points after giving up 31 in the first half. We also beat their press on offense. A lot of players contributed in a lot of ways."

The guard play of Brown and Dunham was one of the keys to the game, Quilter said, as was the rebounding of Jeremy Beauchamp and Nick McCalla, who had eight and seven, respectively.

Chelsea shot 70 percent from the free throw line and 40 percent from the field. The Bulldogs had a 33-24 rebound advantage.

Other scorers included McCalla 9, Colt White 8, J.D. Alford 3, Beauchamp 3, Brian Piasecki 2, and Ed Waller 1.

In the Wednesday, Jan. 24 game at Manchester, Dunham scored 14 and Brown scored 12 and 13 Bulldogs scored to take the easy win.

Chelsea led 51-21 after three quarters.

"We simply outmanned them and played very good team basketball with all 15 players contributing to a team victory," Quilter said.

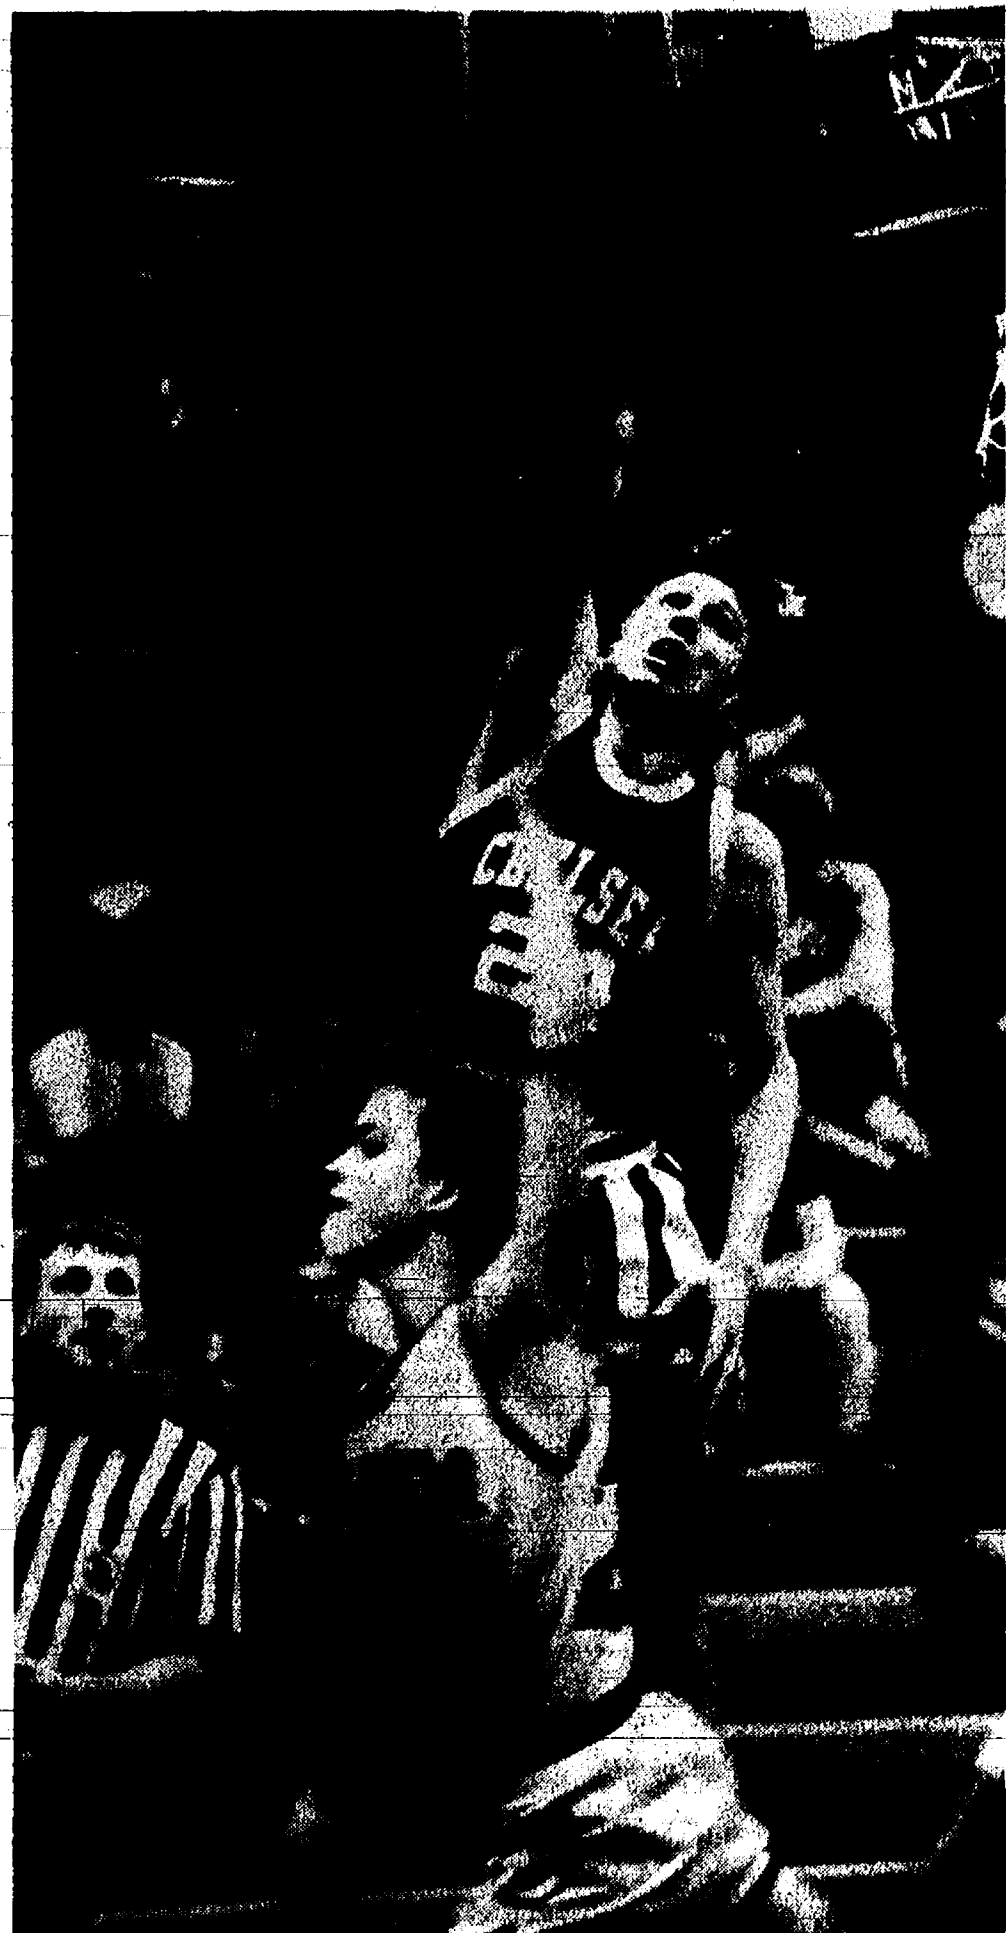

"It was satisfying to see us play well and to see what we are capable of as a team."

Chelsea shot 78 percent from the free throw line and 46 percent from the field. On the other hand, Manchester shot just 32 percent from the line and 40 percent from the field.

Rounding out the scoring for Chelsea were Waller 6, White 6, Tom Poulter 4, Mark Eder 4, Brian Horn 4, Hans Kemnitz 3, McCalla 3, Alford 2, Piasecki 2, Dana Schunk 2, and Scott Larson 2.

Poulter led Chelsea with six rebounds, while Dunham, Schunk, Kemnitz, and Waller each had four.

Chelsea has a 7-3 mark over-all and a 4-2 record in the Southeastern Conference.

LEAD STARKEY beats the Saline defender down court for a lay-up last Friday at Saline. Starkey scored 16 points as the Bulldogs won 66-51 to remain undefeated in the Southeastern Conference.

"What IS the Book of Revelation all about?"

Beginning in February, the Dexter United Methodist church will offer a seven-week study on the Book of Revelation called "A Common Sense Approach to An Uncommon Book." The series will be offered on Wednesday nights beginning Feb. 4 and concluding on March 21. The study will be led by the Rev. John E. Harnish, pastor of the church. The lectures will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Harnish's approach to the book is to ask two questions: First, "What did it mean for the original recipients?", and then to ask "What does it mean for every generation?"

In the Rev. Harnish's words, "We will look at the 'timely' message, which was appropriate to the first century, before we look at the 'timeless' message which is applicable to every era." The text for the classes will be "Revelation for Today" by James Eiford, a professor at Duke Divinity School, Durham, S.C.

In commenting on the study, the Rev. Harnish said, "Too many people treat the book of Revelation as if it were written only for the 20th Century. That completely distorts the meaning of this glorious book. I believe the best way to understand the book is to understand its original context, then see what can apply to us in our context. This study will try to get the 'horse before the cart' for a change."

The Rev. John Harnish has served the Dexter United Methodist church for the past 10 years. This summer he did extensive study of the book of Revelation in preparation for lectures at Bay Shore Camp, Sebawaing. He is a graduate of Asbury Theological Seminary, Wilmore, Ky., and has studied under Dr. James Fleming in Jerusalem, Israel.

This series of lectures and discussions are open to the public at no charge. The Dexter United Methodist church is located at Central and Fourth Sts., in Dexter.

For additional information, call the church office, 426-8480.

Substance Abuse Program Slated at Brighton Hospital

The topic of Brighton Hospital's next Community Education Program on Tuesday, Feb. 6, is "Cocaine, 'Ice' and Marijuana—What Everyone Must Know." The free program begins at 7 p.m. in the hospital's chapel. Reservations are not required.

At the meeting Stephen Bartholomew, PA-C, a member of the hospital's medical staff, will discuss the effects of these three drugs on the body. Bartholomew will also discuss the treatment options that are available for both the substance abuser and his or her family.

"Alcohol continues to be the most abused drug in our society," notes hospital president Ivan C. Harner. "But we realize that the public also needs to know about some of the other drugs involved in the substance abuse problems the community faces. That's why we are devoting this Community Education Program to a discussion of cocaine, marijuana, and 'ice'."

"Ice" is a smokable, highly refined form of methamphetamine, a stimulant that affects the nervous system. The drug is currently found in Hawaii and in several west coast states.

Although it is not currently in widespread use in this part of the country, the hospital decided to include information about it in its series of substance abuse awareness and prevention programs after receiving several inquiries from the community in recent months.

The facility is located on E. Grand River, just off exit 151 of the I-96 freeway.

For additional information, contact the Community Relations Department on weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. at (313) 227-1211, ext. 276.

Doll's Book on Frank Glazier To Be Published in Summer

Former Chelsea resident Louis Doll has received word that his book about Chelsea industrialist Frank P. Glazier will be published by the Historical Society of Michigan this summer.

Doll, who now lives in Bay City, finished the book nearly a year ago. "Late last week they selected an editor for the book," Doll said.

The original title, which Doll said is likely to be changed by editors, is "The Story of Frank P. Glazier of Chelsea, Michigan: Banker, Builder, Manufacturer, Inventor, and Politician."

Doll earned his doctorate in history from the University of Michigan in 1937.

Potential Groundwater Contamination Sites Mapped

Information on known and potential threats to Washtenaw county's groundwater supplies has been assembled in a comprehensive report undertaken by the Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner's Office in cooperation with the Great Lakes CEIP Fund, Inc. Report author Scott McEwen said that although the information has been available through separate various agencies in the past, this is the first time that it has been brought together into one report.

This report briefly reviews and plots the locations of eight common land uses known to have the potential of endangering groundwater.

These sites include commercial underground storage tanks, landfills and dumps, hazardous material spill sites, known sites of contamination, areas of sludge and septage application, facilities where hazardous chemicals are handled, junkyards, and salt storage areas.

In addition, the report includes a brief review of areas where groundwater is most vulnerable and suggests actions that local governments and citizens can take to protect groundwater.

Copies of "An Inventory and Mapping of Known and Potential Groundwater Threats in Washtenaw County, Mich." may be obtained at the office of the Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner, Room 318, Washtenaw County Courthouse, Ann Arbor, at a reproduction charge of $5.00 each, or will be mailed upon receipt of $6.55 for printing and postage.

Business Hotline

Cutting Red Tape

By: Dick Allen, Michigan Business Ombudsman

DO I NEED A BUSINESS LICENSE?

Q. I am a licensed residential builder in Michigan and would like to start my own business. Do I need a business license?

A. The State of Michigan does not issue an over-all "business license." There are many different types of licensing requirements depending on the nature of the business. In your case, you have fulfilled the licensing obligation for your particular trade. It is important to realize that although you are licensed, you also need to choose a legal structure and register the business accordingly. There are three basic legal structures; sole proprietor, partnership, and corporation. All three require that the name of the business be registered.

Sole proprietorships and partnerships are required to file a DBA (Doing Business As) through the county clerk's office in the county where the business is located. The only exception is the sole proprietor who uses his/her own full name and not an assumed name. Corporations in Michigan must file Articles of Incorporation with the Corporation and Securities Bureau in the Department of Commerce.

Frequently, people confuse licensing and registration requirements as being a singular process. If you have any questions concerning either of these requirements, please contact the Michigan Business Ombudsman, at 1-800-232-2727.

SOCIAL SECURITY TAX

Q. How do I report my income for Social Security when I am self-employed?

A. As a sole proprietor, the profits from your business are considered personal income. If your net earnings from self-employment amount to $400 or more in a year, they need to be reported at the time you file your federal income tax return. You must file form 1040 and Schedule SE. The self-employment tax rate is 15.02 percent for 1988 and 1989. Even if you do not owe any income tax, you are required to file.

For information on reporting, figuring your net earnings, tax rates, family business arrangements, etc., contact the Social Security office nearest you. The addresses to these can be obtained in the telephone book under "Social Security Administration" or U.S. Government."

Kentucky Mission Pastor Speaks Here

On Sunday, Jan. 28, the Rev. Jamie Brunk of the Red Bird Missionary Conference presented a program at the First United Methodist church here in Chelsea.

The Rev. Brunk gave a narrated slide presentation of the various activities of the Red Bird Missionary Conference which serves a seven-county area of southeastern Kentucky in the heart of Appalachia.

This area is quite remote and underserved in many areas including: medical, dental, pre-school education and pastoral care. In addition, the area has suffered economic difficulties due to its dependence on the coal industry.

The ministries of the conference include a broad spectrum of services to the people of the area. A medical clinic is operated which provides medical, dental and other services. The Red Bird Mission provides educational services, a bookmobile and a source of used furniture and clothing. The Henderson Settlement operates a farm which produces meat for the child care center and livestock for local residents in need. The Conference also provides Christian Education, Pastoral care and evangelism through 24-area church congregations.

The Rev. Brunk was accompanied by his wife, Susan, and their two sons, Joe and Jon. Chelsea United

Weight Loss Pill 'Baffles' Scientists

WASHINGTON—Scientists are baffled by a new weight loss formula that causes people to lose weight even though they don't change the way they normally eat.

Studies published in respected scientific journals such as The British Journal of Nutrition say that cyamopsis tetragonolobus, an ingredient often used to thicken ice cream, can cause permanent weight loss without dieting or exercise. Although several explanations for the weight loss are suggested, the most likely according to scientists, is that the ingredient seems to "trap" high calorie fat particles, decreasing their absorption in the intestines.

Scientists at National Dietary Research, an organization committed to the research and development of nutritional solutions to world-wide health problems, have successfully isolated and incorporated cyamopsis tetragonolobus into an improved formula that greatly enhances the potential for weight loss over the ingredient alone. Called Food Source One, the revolutionary new formula provides a three-way scientifically designed process to help prevent calorie absorption.

The mechanism by which Food Source One works to decrease body weight is a complicated process called nutri-bonding. When chewed and swallowed immediately before meals, high calorie fats are replaced with lower calorie nutrients, thereby providing optimum nutrition and a minimum number of fat calories as explained in an instruction sheet that accompanies the tablets. The instruction sheet should be followed for optimum results.

Food Source One is unlike any other product on the market and is available immediately because it is not a drug and only contains natural ingredients already known to be safe. Physicians and pharmacists are praising Food Source One

Alcoholism: A Treatable Disease

By Fred Prezioso, M.A.
(Addiction Counseling),
Certified Addictions Counselor (State of Michigan) and Therapist-Case Manager, Chelsea Hospital Chemical Dependency Unit.

Where does alcoholism come from? Why do people become addicted to alcohol or to any other drug? How is it that some people fall victim to addiction and not others? These questions have been around for some time. Their answers still elude us.

We do know that, on the average, one in 10 drinkers will become alcoholic. For some drugs, like cocaine, the percentage is likely higher. According to Alcoholics Anonymous, there is an "X factor" that is present in some people. It is this genetic factor that makes some people vulnerable to addiction.

Some studies indicate a physical or genetic basis for alcoholism, although the precise mechanism is still unclear. Other studies have identified important environmental influences, such as peer pressure, which may contribute to addiction as well. It is probably safe to say that alcoholism is caused by a combination of genetic and environmental factors. Both are strong influences that affect whether a person crosses the line into addiction.

One thing is certain. Alcoholism is a disease. We know what it looks like and how to treat it. We can identify when it begins, how it runs its course and its inevitable results.

Alcoholism is a primary, chronic, progressive and fatal disease. Primary means that it has its own symptoms. It is not a secondary symptom of some other disease. No matter what other problems a person has, or is treated for, if the alcoholism is left untreated, the person will continue to suffer from its effects.

Chronic means that this is a lingering disease. It stays with you, and the alcoholic must wage a constant battle to remain in recovery. This includes abstaining from all mood altering drugs, and changing attitudes and life style.

Progressive means that, left untreated, the victim will only get progressively worse. The physical, emotional, spiritual and psychological deterioration experienced is continuous. Even after a period of abstinence, for example, if a person starts to drink again, they will soon experience problems to the same degree as if they had never stopped drinking in the first place.

Finally, alcoholism is a fatal disease. If it is not arrested, its progression halted, the alcoholic will die.

This is a disease that lives up to its reputation as "cunning, baffling and powerful." It claims about 250,000 lives annually. It is unpredictable. The victim is never able to predict whether they can stop with just one drink or if they will end up in a drunken stupor. Will power is of little use. In spite of increasing negative consequences and deterioration, the alcoholic continues to drink or use other mood altering chemicals.

As people have learned more about the disease of alcoholism, there has been a dramatic improvement in the quality of care available to its victims. There is no longer the same stigma attached to the diagnosis, "alcoholic." Its victims are no longer viewed as outcasts, with a moral weakness or lack of will power. They are people who are ill and need to receive treatment in hospitals or specialized treatment centers. And, it is easier to enlist the support and compassion of those in the helping professions (doctors, nurses, social workers), as well as friends and relatives, in the treatment process. Moral judgments and critical attitudes are being replaced by understanding and acceptance. It comes as no surprise, then, that alcoholics are more likely to seek treatment today than ever before.

Knowing the physical and environmental factors underlying alcoholism has some predictive value. It helps investigators to identify those in our society who might have a predisposition to the disease. Those susceptible, therefore, can take preventive action, including abstinence and counseling. Also, since alcoholism is a chronic disease with an underlying genetic, biological or biochemical basis, this helps to explain the strong tendency toward relapse. That is, once a person becomes addicted, drinking or the use of any mood altering substance, will likely trigger or reactivate their addiction. This also helps to explain why a person who begins to drink again, even after years of sobriety, will experience the same level of physical and psychological deterioration as if they had continued to drink throughout those years.

Understanding the disease of alcoholism helps in knowing what kinds of treatment will work in combatting it. Since the disease is chronic and progressive, the prescription for recovery includes total abstinence and changing unhealthy attitudes and life styles. The goal is to treat the disease of alcoholism, not just the drinking which is but one of its symptoms.

Still, people look for easy answers.

Many are disappointed to find that there is no easy cure, nor a quick fix. Alcoholics must assume personal responsibility for their sobriety, and play an active part in any rehabilitative effort. And that effort is a life-long one. There is no solution that will allow the alcoholic to return to the ranks of the social drinker.

Another dangerous by-product of this disease is defeatism, a feeling on the part of some that alcoholism cannot be beaten. Some say that if the disease is chronic and incurable, and caused by many factors they do not fully understand, then they might just as well give up the battle and settle for making the casualties as comfortable as possible. Alcoholics might as well continue to drink. And treatment professionals should spend their energies and resources elsewhere.

On the whole, however, this disease can be treated effectively. Alcoholism is not a moral issue, as some believe, but a physical and spiritual illness. There are specific signs and symptoms of this disease, and clear prescriptions for treatment and recovery.

Leak Detection Program Required for Underground Tanks

Farmers who have underground storage tanks that were installed before 1985 and have a capacity of 1,100 gallons or more must implement a leak detection program on those tanks before Dec. 22.

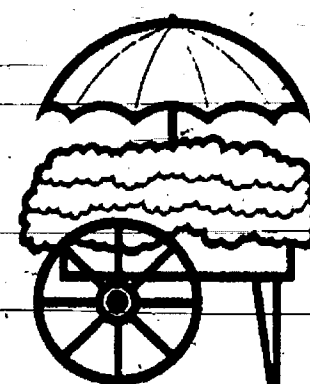

Al Almy, director of public affairs for Michigan Farm Bureau, said that eventually all large underground fuel tanks will have to have leak detection.

"Compliance for leak detection on tanks installed after 1985 will be phased in between Dec. 1990 and Dec. 1993," he said. "Farm tanks smaller than 1,100 gallons will be exempt from these requirements. Any farmer who does not know who enforces the regulations in his area should contact the Environmental Response Division of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources to obtain that information."

Almy said that violations of the law are punishable by fines of up to $10,000 a day.
