ONE HUNDRED-TWENTIETH YEAR—No. 6

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JULY 4, 1990

24 Pages This Week Plus Supplement

CIVIC FOUNDATION OF CHELSEA has given $2,500 to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department Diving Team for the purchase of underwater communications equipment. The team is involved not only in rescues, such as the one recently at Cavanaugh Lake, but in recovering automobiles, evidence, stolen items, and inspections for pollution. Above, diver Jerry Evans accepts the money

Civic Foundation Gives $2,500 To Sheriff's Rescue Diving Team

The 11-member diving team of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department will soon be able to operate a little more safely thanks to a $2,500 grant from the Civic Foundation of Chelsea.

The money will be used for the purchase of underwater radiocommunications equipment.

The team is most often in the news when it searches for drowning victims. However, it also recovers stolen automobiles, crime evidence, and conducts inspections for pollution, among other activities.

"At best we usually have no more than a few inches visibility," said diver Jerry Evans.

"Communications is extremely important in improving safety and reducing the stress for the divers."

The group's primary method of communications has been with a series of tether ropes. A certain number of tugs, for example, tells a diver to return to the surface, or move one direction or the other.

"We really have no way of telling what a diver might have found without returning to the surface and telling us," Evans said.

"This way the diver will be able to tell us immediately."

Thus, the equipment will not only make the dives safer, but far more efficient.

Foundation board member Randy Musbach said part of the reason the foundation was interested in providing the money for the equipment is the high number of lakes in the area that provide ample opportunity for boating accidents and other problems where divers might be needed. The team was recently active at Cavanaugh Lake when a Detroit man drowned there.

"When the foundation became aware of the problem, it decided quickly to do something," Musbach said.

"It is really one of the most well-supported projects the foundation has had."

Jeff Daniels Appearing On National Talk Shows

Chelsea native son Jeff Daniels will be appearing on two national late night talk shows in the next few days.

Friday, July 6, Jeff will be a guest on the Johnny Carson show. Tuesday, July 17, he will be on the David Letterman show.

Both appearances will be publicized by Jeff's latest film, " chimpanzee," a Disney Studios production to be released in late July.

Currently, arrangements are being made to have a preview showing in an area theatre the night before national showings start.

The Standard will be reporting on the local showing as soon as arrangements are complete.

Wastewater Treatment Plant Open House Held Saturday at New Facility

A large number of Chelsea residents, men, women and children, visited the Village of Chelsea's Wastewater Treatment Plant during the facility's Open House, Saturday, June 30.

Village president Richard Steele was among the Chelsea village officials who helped greet dozens of interested visitors.

Steele explained in a statement included on the brochures distributed to those attending Sunday's Open House, "We are proud to present the people of Chelsea with this new wastewater treatment plant to replace the facility constructed in 1938."

Existing Plant Was Overloaded

"When it became obvious that the existing plant had exceeded its capacity, your council, with village manager Frederick Weber, worked diligently to develop the plans which put together a financing package, using United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) grant funds and local dollars to pay for this $5.53 million project."

The Chelsea facility was nominated for the 1989 Outstanding Engineering Achievement award.

Chelsea's local dollars amounted to $2.35 million of the total required to complete the project, while federal monies provided $3.18 million.

Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout, Ltd. of Toledo was the firm of consulting engineers which designed the facility, and contractors were Clark Construction Co. and Sargent-Weich Scientific Co.

Leach Helped on Tours
An affable tour director, wastewater treatment plant superintendent Melvin Leach conducted countless tours during Sunday's Open House at the plant.

Raw Sewage Enters
Beginning just inside the cyclone fence which encloses the plant, Mel Leach explained raw sewage entered the influent chamber, then was carried up one of four screw pumps to the oxidation ditch for secondary treatment.

In Case of Severe Storm
Immediately after a severe storm, there might be sufficient storm water entering the system to overflow the chamber, in which case, the overflow would be transferred to any of four equalization tanks designed to temporarily hold the excessive storm water.

Bacteria Added, Oxidation Ditch
Once the sewage reaches the oxidation ditch, it is mixed with air and a concentrated stream of bacteria is added.

The bacteria grow and reproduce. In the process, they convert the waste into carbon dioxide, water and more bacterial cell material.

The expanded plant was designed to treat an average of 910,000 gallons of wastewater per day.

Main Control Building

An immaculately maintained main control building houses the sludge pumps and giant blowers.

The function of the three giant centrifugal blowers is to aerate the sludge holding tanks, in which an air pipe fitted with air diffusers helps keep bacteria alive and working to in-

Barn Dance Slated at Fairgrounds

On July 14, from 8 to midnight the New Agricultural Barn at the Chelsea Fairgrounds will be filled with music and dancing. The Luke Schaible Band will be providing Country-Western music, but the toe tapping, feet moving, hands clapping will be provided by the people who have come to the Barn Dance.

Chelsea Area Players are sponsoring this night of family fun with the intention of everyone having a good time. There will be non-alcoholic beverages and other refreshments. This is a good way to mark the halfway point of the summer.

If you have never been to a barn dance, you are in for a real treat. Those of you that have been to a barn dance should encourage one and all to come to the fun.

Tickets are available at the Chelsea Pharmacy and The Parts Peddler. Tickets are also available at the door on the night of the dance. Any members of the Chelsea Area Players (Continued on page three)

Don't Pay Your Village Taxes Yet

Village officials are advising local taxpayers to not pay their tax bills yet. Tax statements have been mailed out but to and behold, an error has been discovered in the computations.

Figures on the bottom of the statement are correct as far as assessment and tax rate are concerned, but the computation of total tax liability is incorrect.

Unfortunately, the total amount will be slightly higher.

A corrected statement will be mailed later this week and we are sure the village will be glad to accept payment of these later bills.

Village Gets Signed Agreement from DNR On Landfill Terms

The village has received a signed agreement from the Department of Natural Resources accepting the terms of compromise worked out several weeks ago concerning stipulations in the village's new landfill operating license.

And the village has started using the new cell.

DNR and the village argued for months about a $680,000 bonding requirement when the license was issued late last year.

The compromise allowed the village to provide a $380,000 letter of credit instead, which the village secured through Chelsea State Bank.

DNR will use the money, if necessary, on the long-term maintenance of the facility. The letter of credit has to be in force for 30 years.

The village also has to put 25 cents per yard of garbage collected into a Perpetual Care Fund.

The village still does not know how long they'll be able to operate the facility under the license. It was issued for two years, but it is unclear whether the six months of arguing about the provisions will count as license time.

The facility was not meeting its permit limitations, because the flow arriving at the plant was greater than the design flow, and proper treatment could not be maintained.

The new Chelsea Wastewater Treatment Plant was designed to provide an orbital oxidation ditch secondary treatment facility that is easily operated and provides as much flexibility as possible for the operators.

Many processes were combined into the same structure to eliminate the need and expense of separate structures, also accomplishing a level of compactness to the six-acre site.

With these combinations, the plant operator can easily accomplish several maintenance tasks at one convenient location.

Sludge is disposed of by land application.

It's stored in aerated holding tanks, then transferred to the sludge truck fill station before hauling to the land application site.

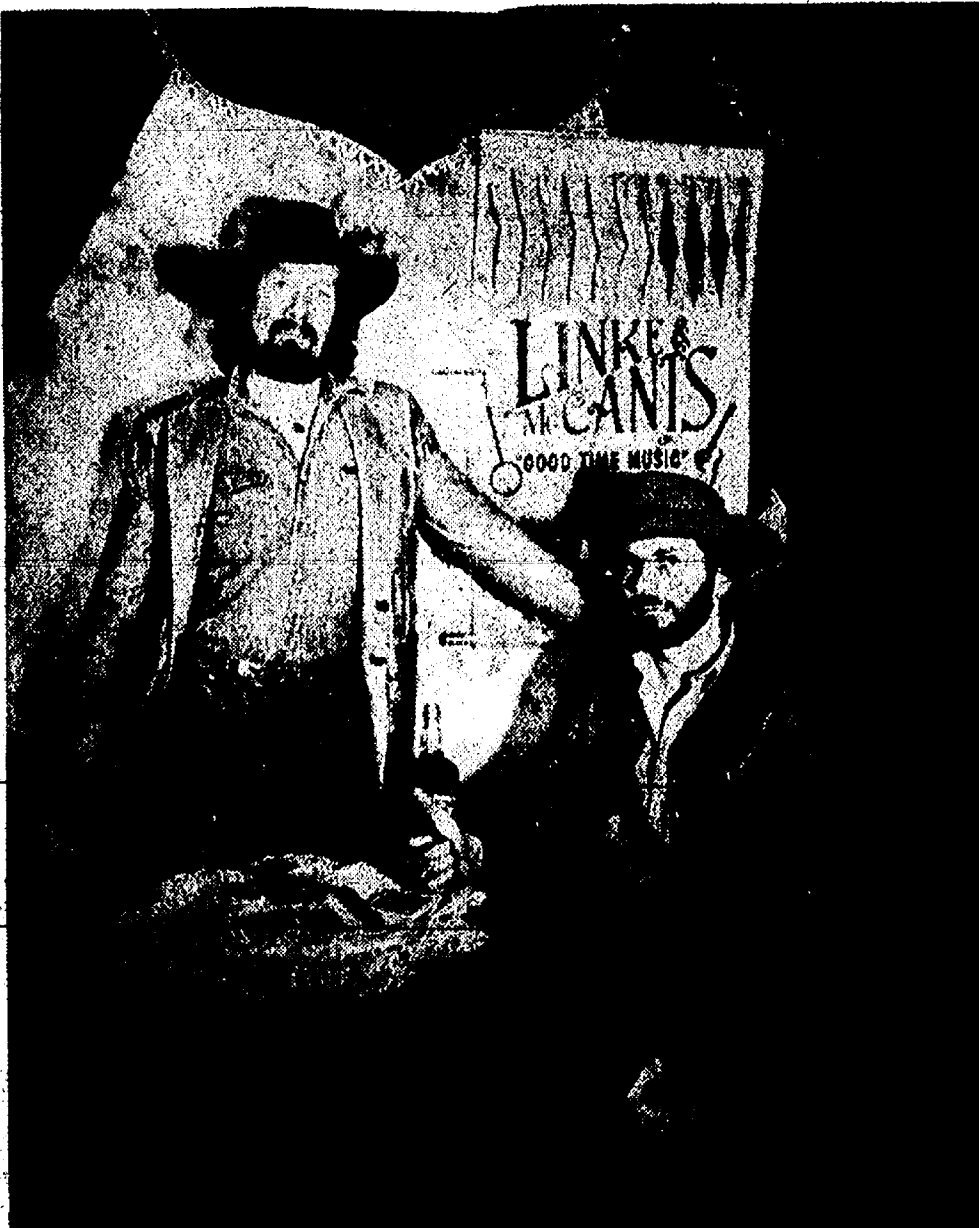

The plant is constructed of concrete tanks and concrete block buildings painted beige to blend with the surroundings.

The tanks are primarily underground. Any tanks which are above grade are no higher than the one-story buildings.

Dikes with pine trees are provided on two sides of the site to minimize the view of the plant from village streets.

Concert-in-the-Park Series Opens Sunday With Linke & McCants

LINKE & McCANTS, a combination of country, bluegrass, folk, jug band and pop music will open Chelsea's Concert-in-the-Park Series Sunday afternoon.

Chelsea's fourth annual Concert-in-the-Park series kicks off its summer schedule this Sunday, July 8 with the band Linke & McCants of Battle Creek.

The band, which plays a combination of country, bluegrass, folk, jug band, and pop music on a variety of instruments, has been the opening act for a number of major touring artists including Waylon Jennings, Juice Newton, Tammy Wynette, Ricky Skaggs, Jerry Lee Lewis, Donna Fargo, and Carl Perkins. They've performed at county fairs and other festivals, including the last two national Boy Scout Jamborees in Virginia.

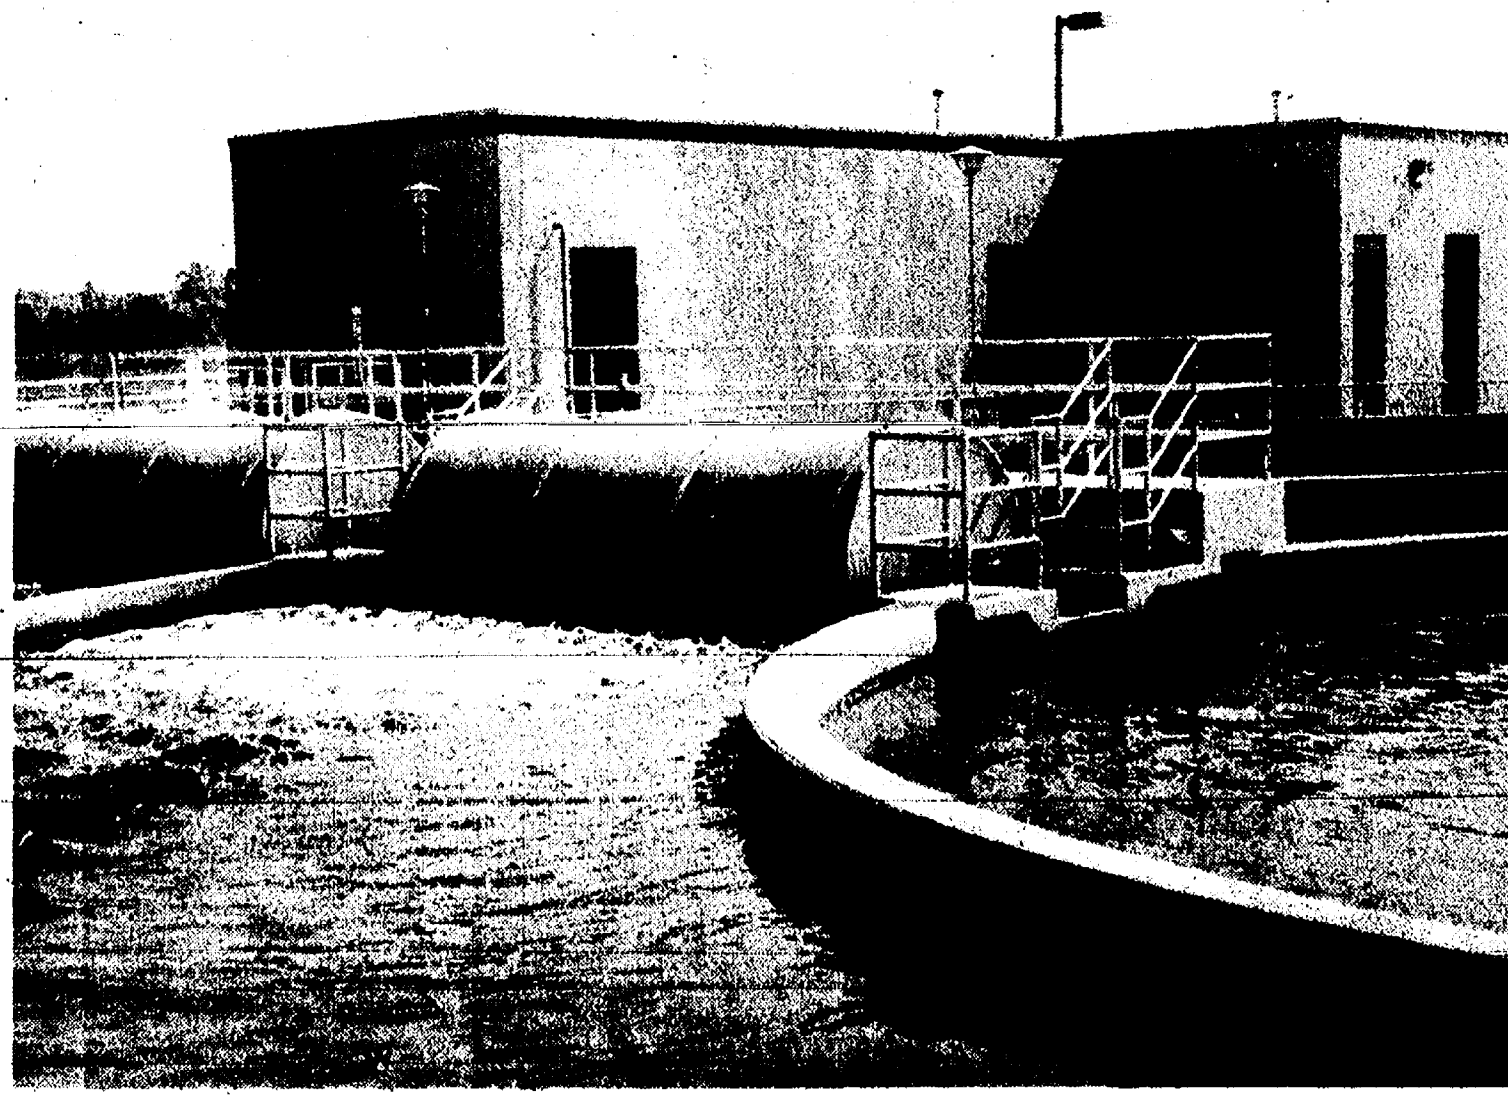

The free concert runs from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. in Pierce Park. Kiwanis Club of Chelsea will once again have its Kiwanis Kitchen on hand, providing sausage sandwiches and other refreshments. Chelsea High School Key Club staffs the wagon.

Concert-goers are also welcome to bring their own food, folding chairs, blankets, and other creature comforts.

Free parking is available on the Chelsea Community Hospital grounds.

Other concerts in the series include boogie-woogie piano player Mr. B on July 22; the Chenille Sisters of Ann Arbor, a vocal group, on Aug. 5; and the big band music of Al Townsend & The Ambassadors on Aug. 19.

The series is again being sponsored by the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce and the Chelsea Recreation Council.

SEWAGE IS SENT TO THE OXIDATION DITCH for secondary treatment. The wastewater is mixed with air and a concentrated stream of bacteria is added to it. The bacteria live on the oxygen in the air and the organic matter in the wastewater. The bacteria grow and reproduce. In the process, they convert the wastes into carbon dioxide, water and more bacterial cell material.

Prospects for a repeat of previous year's bumper crop was not good, according to Bill Ames of the Co-operative Extension Service. Ames said as much as 10 to 20 percent of some fields were diseased due to the wet conditions in spring and early summer. "The wet conditions created an environment good for disease," Ames said. Ames said that most common disease he saw was scab, which means the wheat kernels are not filled. He said rust and mildew were other common problems.

Village of Chelsea decided to hire a full-time police sergeant, a position which had not been filled since former sergeant Lenard McDougall became chief nearly two years ago.

An early morning crash on Cassidy Rd. sent the driver of a pick-up truck and his three passengers to Chelsea Community Hospital July 7. The injured were transported from the accident scene by Huron Valley Ambulance personnel. The driver stated a deer jumped in front of him and he jerked the wheel, losing control. Passengers in the vehicle stated they didn't observe any deer, the report continued. The driver was cited for careless driving.

The boy was apparently lying next to the railroad tracks, and had raised his head when he heard the train whistle, just before he was struck. He received severe head injuries on the right side of his head, and was semi-conscious and incoherent when the patrolman arrived at

House Subcommittee To Study "Polluters Pay" Issue This Summer
A House of Representatives subcommittee has been formed in a new attempt to develop a compromise this summer on the so-called "polluters pay" legislation pending before the Michigan legislature.

The negotiations within the subcommittee of the House Conservation, Recreation and Environment Committee will also involve three persons each from environmental and business interests, as well as the Department of Natural Resources.

The new attempt for agreement was supported by Sen. Lana Pollack (D-Ann Arbor) and Vernon Ehlers (R-Grand Rapids), whose competing versions of the legislation (SB 375) have been defeated in the Senate.

The bill went down under the weight of accusations from business that the Pollack bill imposes too high a burden and from environmentalists and the Blanchard administration that the Ehlers bill fatally weakens enforcement provisions.

The bill before the committee resembles the Pollack proposal. It would amend the Michigan Environmental Response Act to encourage voluntary agreements to clean up contamination.

It holds responsible parties liable for cleanup costs, sets procedures for allocating costs when several parties are responsible, and establishes a fund to pay for cleanups when no responsible party is identified.

"I am still committed to trying to get a bill out. I'm still convinced we can get everything back together," Ehlers said. "Not everyone's going to be satisfied but I can't see any insoluble issues here."

"It would do and accomplish all the things I set out to do seven years ago," Pollack said of the House bill. "Wherever possible, the legislation relieves the taxpayer of the cost."

Among the major points of difference between the Senate is the allocation process, in which potential polluters at sites which have been contaminated by several sources are determined to be responsible for a certain portion.

The Alley version requires the potential polluter to accept an allocation and sign an agreement approved by the DNR to be responsible for cleaning the specific portion according to Act 307 rules, with limited liability protections only if the cleanup is accomplished.

As considered in the Senate, polluters could still have the liability protections of the allocation process even while appealing the level of cleanup which they must accomplish.

Also, the Senate version calls for a binding arbitration panel to resolve any disputes between polluters and the DNR, while Alley's bill would leave the process up to the courts.

The DNR, represented by Anne Couture, acting chief of compliance and enforcement for the Environmental Response Division, said the House version "incorporates strong enforcement provisions to compel those responsible for environmental contamination to pay for cleaning it up. The bill represents the 'high water mark' of negotiations."

Special interest groups which had been involved in previous negotiations on SB 375, including the Michigan Manufacturers Association, the Michigan Municipal League and the Michigan United Conservation Clubs indicated they would like to participate in negotiations.

Committee Chair Thomas Alley (D-West Branch), who will chair the subcommittee, said he had declined to stay out of the Senate negotiations and is avoiding forming hard and fast opinions until the various interests have a chance to advance their arguments.

Other members of the subcommittee, which will meet July 16-17, Reps. Mary Brown (D-Kalamazoo), Thomas Hicker (D-Bay City), James Middaugh (R-Paw Paw), who is minority vice-chair of the committee, Ken Sikkema (R-Grandville) and Jan Dolan (R-Farmington Hills).

First Crack House Torn Down In Guard's Anti-Drug Program
Members of the Michigan National Guard recently demolished a ruined house in Flint that had been used by crack cocaine traffickers in the exercise of a new program designed to attack crime by tearing down abandoned properties.

The city had condemned the house, which had been the site of two police drug raids and had been severely damaged by fires which officials suspect were started by drug dealers.

The demolition involved 30 volunteer Guard members who used the project as a training exercise for the comprehensive program that is to begin this fall.

Governor James Blanchard said clearing the house for a small park area will send a message to drug dealers that "you can run but you can't hide. We are going to take back the streets, neighborhoods and school grounds that have been overrun by drug dealers and street crime."

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Bug Hookum told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that news is taking a refreshing turn in this country. Some reporters are moving away from the idea that good news is no news, he said, and they are showing you allus can find a few twigs of hope floating on the flood of gloom and doom. Bug said he, fer one, was thankful fer the twigs.

Recent, Bug went on, he had saw where a Davidson College sychology class had done a "Good Samaritan" survey at a church closet to the campus. In the test, a boy would stagger and fall in the church yard like he was a passed out drunk. Ever time, folks would come out of the church and try to help. Bug recalled 30 year ago when Life magazine showed a real passed out drunk on stairs in a big office building in New York. Fer a whole page of pictures, everybody that come by just went on by.

Actual, Bug said, people don't change, their situations change, and the worst that happens is that more situations git beyond our control. We see ads in magazines where we can send $3 a month to "adopt" a child starving in Ethiopia, and we do that because we can. But folks walking to work in Washington, D.C. don't stop to help folks sleeping on the sidewalk in cardboard boxes because they can't.

General, the fellers took interest in Bug's sermon. Ed Doolittle noted that the age of miracles has not passed. He had saw recent where a bank in Baltimore made money on a robbery. The robber made off with $4,998 in a bag, but when police started chasing him on the street he threw the bag away and money went flying. Ed said people passing by helped collect the loot, and when the tellers counted it they had a even $5,000.

Practical speaking, Ed said, it could of been a case of miscounting the first time, but breaking even in that situation would be a miracle if all that happened was somebody dropped the collection plate in church.

Clem Webster was disagreed. He said most people everywhere will do right when give half a chance. As fer gloom and doom, Clem went on, we got to keep in mind that time alius sides with the defense. That's how all the economic experts and palm readers git by, he said, if you don't believe what they say is coming to pass you just ain't waited long enough. And if they set a deadline fer disaster and we're still here after it goes, Clem explained, they alius say they misfiggered and they're redoing the numbers and rounding up new evidence.

Zeke Grubb got the floor to bring up what his preacher use to call situation ethics. He said that line of thinking got in bad favor with the church because it amounts to religion of convenience, but it still is in wide practice in everyday life. Fer instant, Zeke mentioned foreign cars from Tennessee and imported beer brewed in Wisconsin as ways we bring our thinking around to square with situations.

Our auto makers go in cohorts with the Japanese to build cars with Japanese names in this country, and then cry because folks buy foreign. What they know but ain't saying is that these situations provide jobs and taxes on property and sales, so it ain't all bad. On the other hand, restaurants charge imported prices on Milwaukee beer with borrowed German names because they say it's brewed like the import. And that, said Zeke, is all bad.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Lioness Enjoy Mystery Dinner Install Officers

Chelsea Lioness held a Mystery Dinner Monday evening, June 25, at the home of Christa Fischer. They had divided into two groups competing in bringing in the most new members. Team A lost and had to serve Team B dinner.

Team A got their revenge by requiring Team B to fill out 15 item menus. The listed items went by strange names: i.e. love apples meant tomatoes and chop mop meant napkin. Some people received their silverware for dessert since they weren't clever enough to figure out the meaning of the terms. It was a lot of fun and very good food.

Lu Kramer's chocolate cheesecake and Christa Fischer's ice cream cake were delicious finales.

The Lioness have six new members this year so this may be the start of a tradition.

A business meeting followed. Coming events include serving food for Spaulding for Children's ice cream social in July with the Chelsea Lions.

On June 2 the Lioness held their yearly Installation Dinner at Win Schuler's restaurant in Jackson. Lioness Dan Kaminsky installed new officers, including Margaret Murphy, president; Lorrie Chlebek, first vice-president; Betty Severn, second vice-president; Barb Selwa, third vice-president; Vicky Lawrence, secretary; Christa Fischer, treasurer; and Louise Likavec, tail twister.

Perfect Attendance Awards were received by Dorothy Pfitzenmaier and Louise Likavec (nine years), Betty Severn (six years), Judy Armstrong (five years), Mary Steele (four years), Anne Lightfoot and Margaret Murphy (one year).

Lioness of the Year for the club is Mary Steele. Not only has she served in various officer positions such as president but she exemplifies the spirit of Lioness, "We Serve."

ABWA Chapter Elects Officers For Next Year

Officers for the coming year were elected Tuesday evening, June 28, when the Chelsea Chapter of the American Business Women's Association met at Chelsea Community Hospital for their regular meeting.

New officers who will take office in August are: president, Shirley Enderle; vice-president, Diane Winter; recording secretary, Debbie Hutchinson; corresponding secretary, Robin Meloche; treasurer, Esther Kujawa.

Special guest and speaker for the meeting was Louise Graves who is owner of the Village Emporium in Dexter. Ms. Graves gave a very interesting and humorous talk on her experiences dealing with an antique business.

Linda Warren was welcomed as a new member.

Any gainfully employed woman who is interested in information concerning ABWA may contact Cindy Bear at 475-2041.

Webster Extension Visits State Capitol

Eight members of Webster Extension Study Group joined the Chelsea Senior Citizens on Tuesday, June 28 for a trip to Lansing. The group visited the Michigan Historical Museum and learned about Michigan's early years. They then took a brief tour of the Library of Michigan.

After a lunch at Serville's in the Radisson Hotel they went to the Capitol where they saw the newly refurbished House of Representatives. It is beautiful. Next they went to the Supreme Court offices and to the Senate.

They met Rep. Margaret O'Connor. She spoke to the group for several minutes.

It was a gorgeous day and members said they learned much about our Capitol and leaders in Lansing. They all agreed they are proud and happy to be living in Michigan.

THE MAIN CONTROL BUILDING houses pumps which transport sludge from the final settling tanks to the sludge holding tanks and other pumps which return sludge to the oxidation ditch for further treatment. Giant blowers are also housed in the facility, and a generator, which will provide power to operate the treatment plant, should a power interruption occur.

FOUR EQUALIZATION TANKS are ready to store excessive storm water until it can be treated, when severe storms or other emergency conditions dictate.

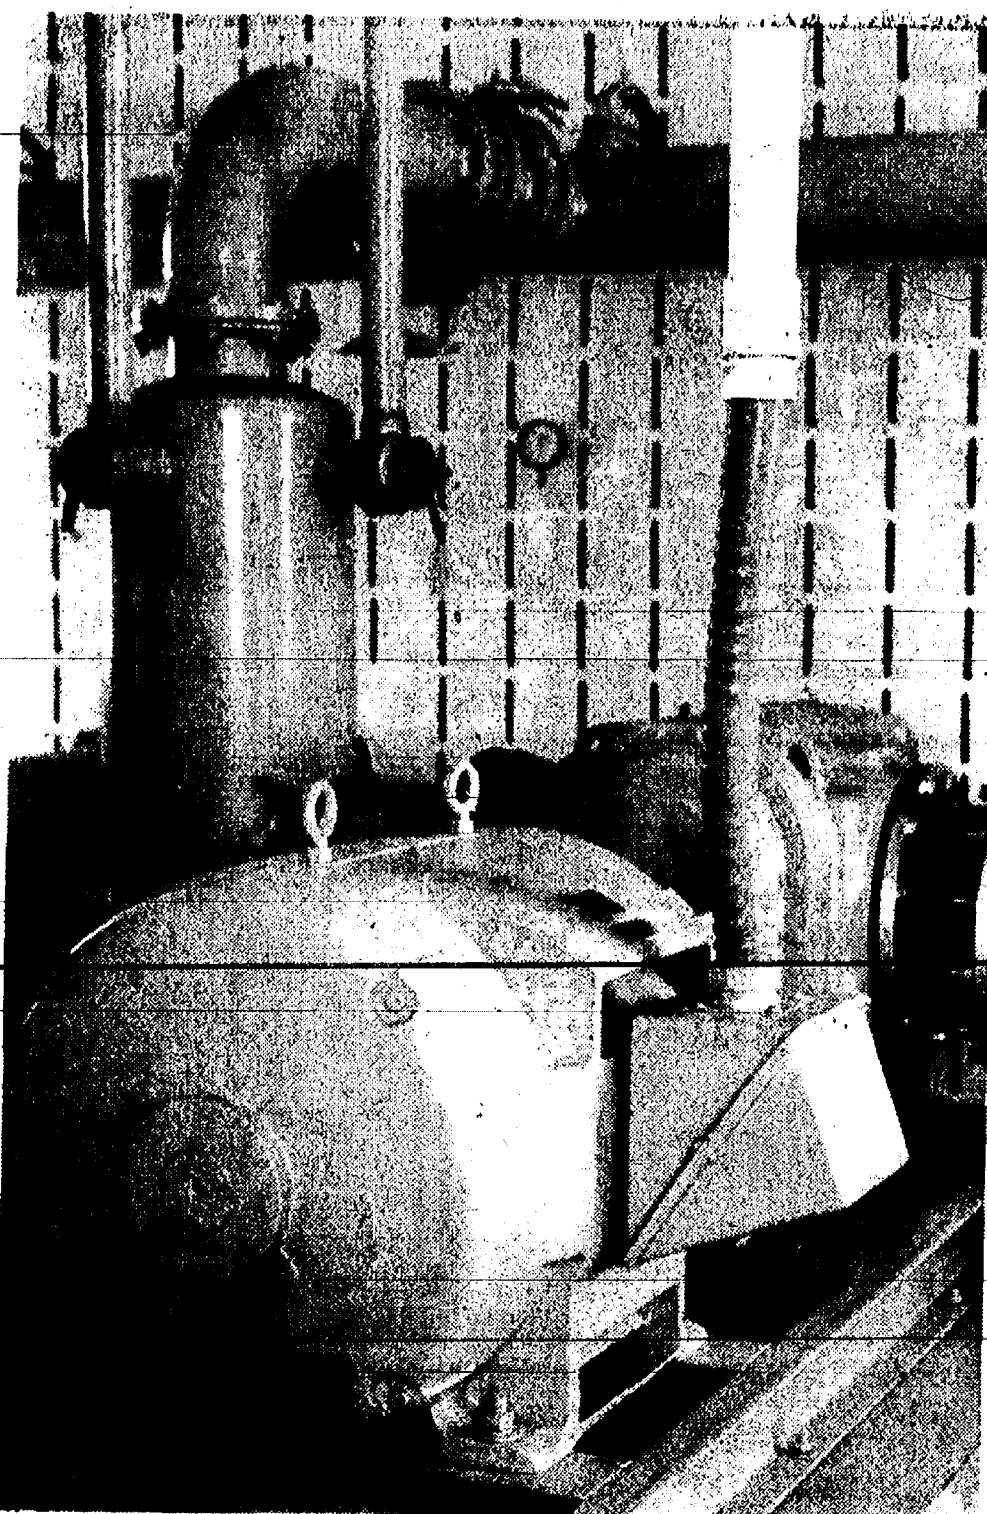

SLUDGE TRAVELS TO FINAL SETTLING TANKS from the oxidation ditch. The tanks separate the sludge from the treated wastewater. The sludge contains the bacterial cell material, and is continuously removed from the bottom of the tanks. Clear water is removed from the top.

CHLORINE CONTACT TANKS, of which there's two at the Chelsea Wastewater Treatment Plant, provide a site at which gaseous chlorine is mixed with water and is added as a liquid to purify the material being processed at the treatment plant. The liquid is later de-chlorinated by mixing sulfur dioxide into the water, before it continues to the cascade aerator.

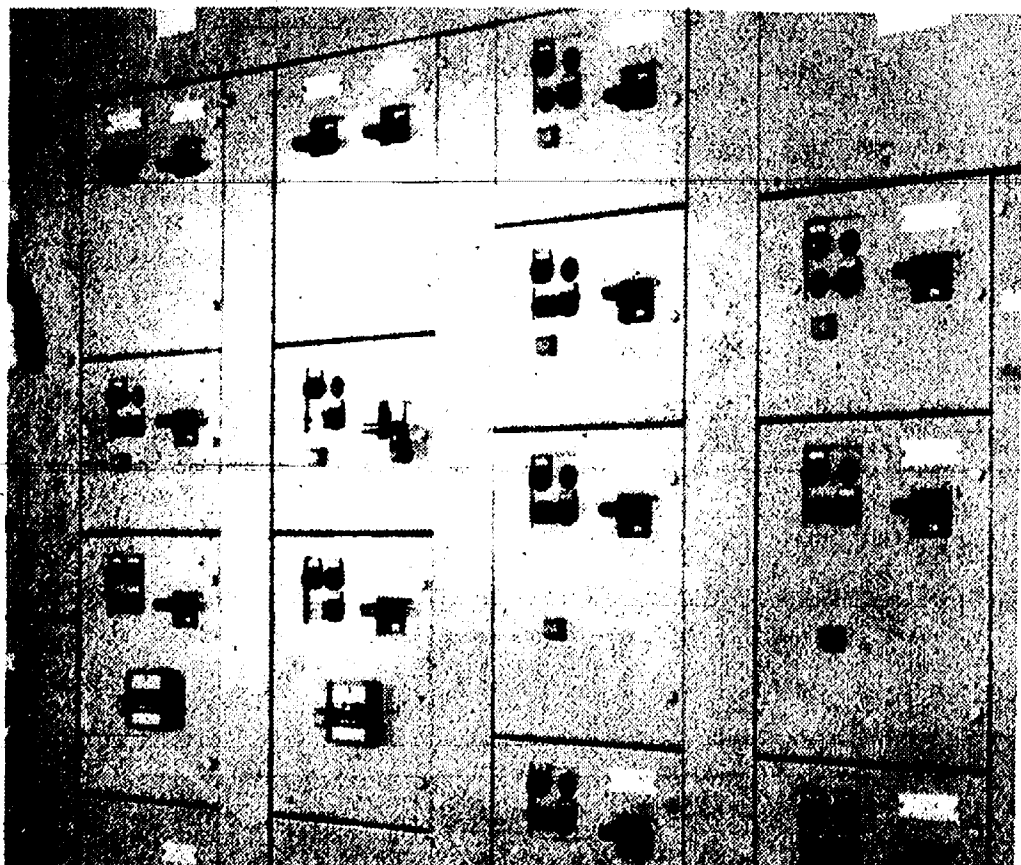

OPEN HOUSE TOUR OF NEW WASTEWATER TREATMENT PLANT

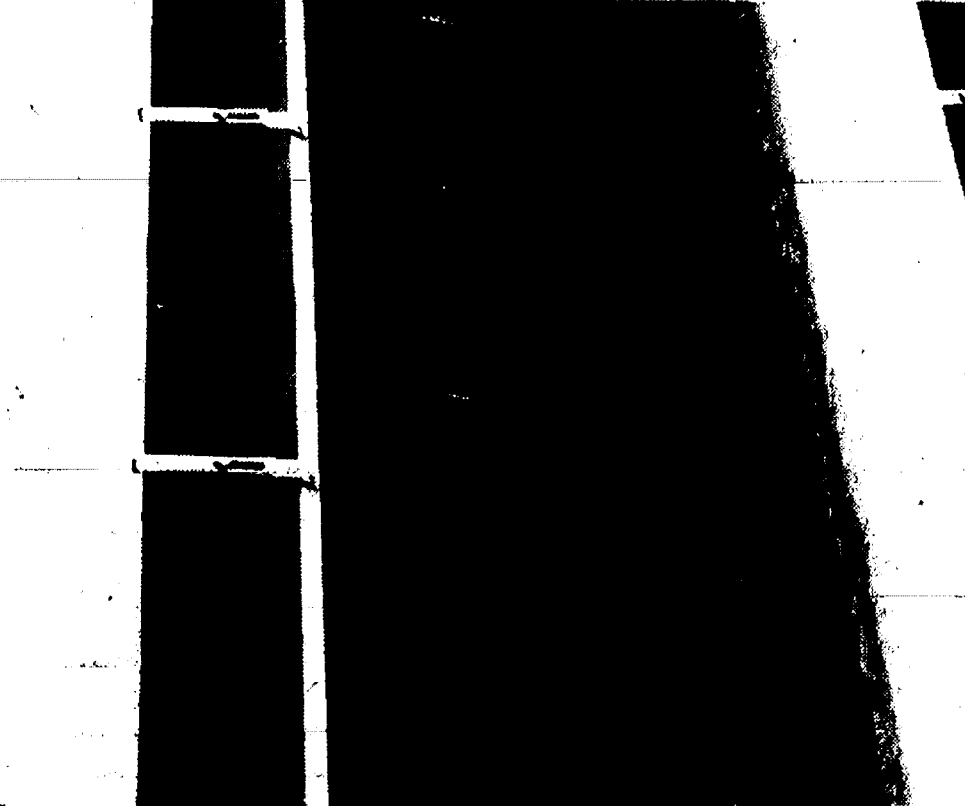

ONE OF THREE CENTRIFUGAL BLOWERS whose function is to aerate the sludge in the sludge holding tanks.

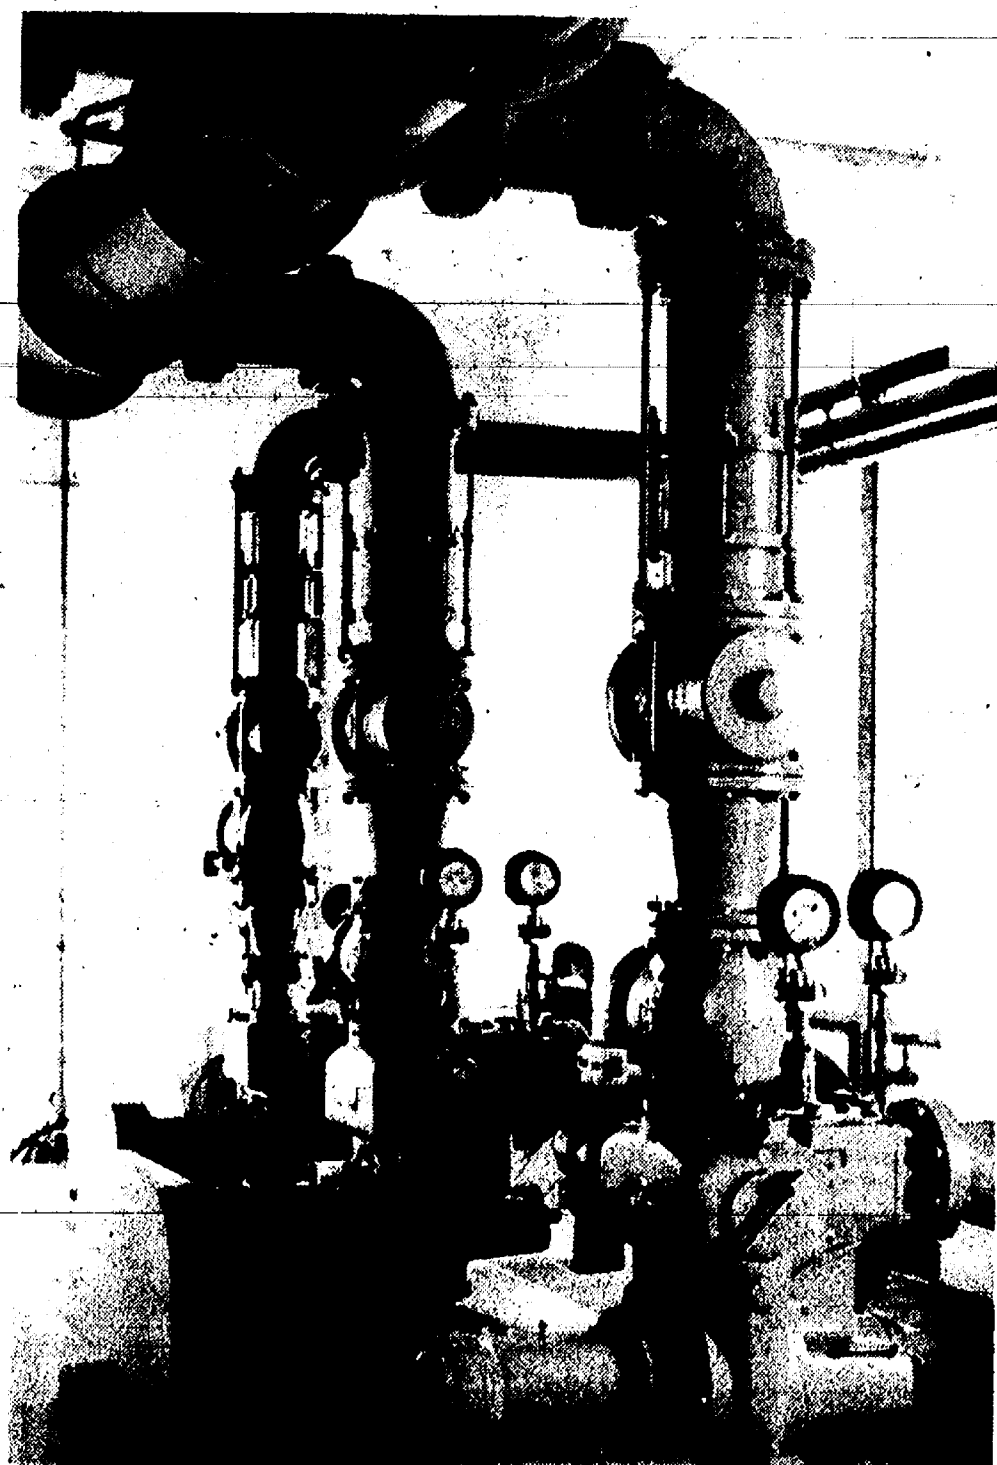

MELVIN LEACH HAS BEEN ASSOCIATED with the Chelsea Wastewater Treatment Plant for 30 years. He's superintendent of the plant, with assistant superintendent Jan Shackelford and lab technician Cal Penix to complete his staff at the facility.

THE CONTROL PANEL, nearly a full wall of electric switches, is housed in the Sludge Pumping and Blower Building.

SEWAGE IS CARRIED UPWARD by one of four screw pumps which transport the thick liquid either to the oxidation ditch, where secondary treatment takes place, or to the four equalization tanks which, after severe storms, hold the excessive storm water until it can be treated.

TWO BLACK PUMPS, THREE TAN PUMPS, transport the solids to the sludge holding tanks, and return sludge from the final settling tanks to the oxidation ditch for further treatment, respectively.

Thursday, July 5, 1956—
W. J. Cushman, bartender at the Wolverine Tavern on Old US-12, was robbed of $140 in cash and $268 in checks as he was locking the front door after closing the tavern. Reports of the robbery state that Cushman's assailant came up behind him put a hand over his eyes and seized the bag of change, striking Cushman over the head with it before fleeing on foot.

A record attendance of 1,370 was registered for the first week of activities of the Chelsea Recreation Council's summer program.

A rare sight is the Sandhill crane's nest. The Waterloo Area is the southeasternmost part of the country where these birds have been seen. Rare east of the Mississippi, there are now several pairs known to nest in the Waterloo Area. Ornithologists at the University of Michigan warn people to refrain from trying to see the rare birds at close range since they are very shy and could easily be frightened away. It is not known where the Waterloo Area birds go in the winter, but some of the Northern Sandhill cranes have been seen in Texas. They are quick and active and, strong in flight. There had been none of the species in this area until a few years ago.

The State Highway Department's construction "priority" list for the department's 1958-1959 program included a four-lane divided highway for US-12 between Ann Arbor and Jackson. Preliminary surveys by highway engineers indicated that the present stretch of highway from Ann Arbor to the Waterloo Area could be widened to four lanes but a 4.5 mile stretch east from Jackson would need to be relocated.

CHELSEA FARMER'S MARKET added a few more vendors last Saturday for a perfect day weatherwise, contrasting sharply from the miserable rainy day that greeted them on their opening day June 23. Customers seemed pleased with both prices and selections. All expect a wider variety as more produce comes into season.

CRAFTSPEOPLE participating in the Chelsea Farmer's Market have been well received and they in turn have expressed their approval of the market. Above is Ray Schaller of N. Parker Rd., Dexter, offering hand-crafted woodwork pieces, some of which are shown here.

Below are Charles and Lottie Curtis of Sager Rd., Chelsea, showing hand-sewn quilts and pillows and wood crafts. There will be a market July 7 and every Saturday, throughout the summer.

In God We Trust

O God, our Help in Ages Past,
our Hope in Years To Be,
Look down upon this PRESENT and see our need of THEE—
For in this age of unrest,
with danger all around,
We need Thy hand to lead us,
to higher, safer ground,
We need Thy help and counsel to make us more aware
That our safety and security
lie solely in Thy care—
And as we FIGHT FOR FREEDOM make our way and purpose clear
And in our hours of danger may we feel Thy Presence near.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on July 16, 1990, at 8:00 o'clock p.m. at the Board of Education Room, E. Washington Street, Chelsea, Michigan, the Board of Education of the Chelsea School District will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1990 of an additional proposed millage rate of 1.6550 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, Section 211.34, MCL.

The Board of Education has the complete authority to establish that 36.1577 mills be levied in 1990 from within its present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1990 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by 8.8604 percent (8.8604%).

In accordance with Act 5, The Base Tax Rate Fraction (BTRF), as calculated by the County Equalization Office, for 1990 is 0.8958. This BTRF would allow the Board of Education to levy up to 34.5027 mills (38.5161 x .8958) of the authorized 36.1577 mills without holding a hearing. The 1.6550 mills difference represents a 8.8604% increase in income for operating purposes for the 1990 tax levy. This total levy represents a reduction of 2.3584 mills from last year's levy of 38.5161 mills.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Education may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

Players Bringing Dogpatch to Chelsea

Dogpatch comes to town this summer when the Chelsea Area Players present "Li'l Abner" on July 20, 21, 22, 27, and 28 at the Chelsea High school auditorium. This year's musical comedy, written by Norman Panama and Melvin Frank, with music by Gene de Paul and lyrics by Johnny Mercer, will be directed by T. Newell Krings with Peter Rosheger conducting the orchestra.

Curtain time for Friday and Saturday evening performances is 8 p.m. while the Sunday matinee begins at 2 p.m. All seating is reserved. Advanced tickets at reduced prices may be obtained at Casual Sports, 103 N. Main St.

Li'l Abner made his first comic strip appearance in the New York Daily Mirror on Aug. 12, 1935, and came alive on Broadway at the St. James Theatre on Nov. 15, 1936.

As the story unfolds, the government has decided, after years of research, that Dogpatch is the most useless place in the U.S.A. and, therefore, suitable for the testing of atomic bombs. The Dogpatch folk feel that they can find somewhere else to live, but Mammy Yokum insists they find something unique about Dogpatch which may help save its existence.

All seems lost until Mammy comes up with Yokumberry Tonic, made from the fruit of the Yokumberry Tree. This tonic has made Li'l Abner the outstanding specimen he is and proves equally successful when tried out on a visitor to Dogpatch. With a government scientist in hand, Li'l Abner sets out for Washington for further testing of the tonic on six typical repulsive Dogpatch men, and the town seems saved.

Everyone returns to Dogpatch for Sadie Hawkins Day. On this fearsome date, Dogpatch women chase the men over a course strewn with obstacles, thereby trapping their mates. Abner agrees to let Daisy Mae catch him to save her from having to marry Earthquake McGoon, but in the ensuing race, he is trapped by Appassionata von Climax, an agent of General Bullmoose who wants to make a fortune selling the tonic to the government.

Abner and the six men return to Washington for further testing of the tonic. Plans proceed for the wedding of Abner to Appassionata. Daisy Mae fears Abner is in danger and enlists Mammy, Pappy, and many of the local residents to set out for Washington to rescue him. When the prospective wives of the men on whom the tonic has been tested see them, they are delighted to see such amazing physical specimens, but they plead with the scientists to "Put 'Em Back" as they were when they find out the tonic diminishes their men's interest in love.

Everyone goes back to Dogpatch where two events are about to occur: the dropping of an atomic bomb and the wedding of Daisy Mae to Earthquake McGoon, who has won her by helping to save Abner. The townspeople refuse to leave town without their beloved statue of Jubilation T. Cornpone, and as they are moving it, they uncover a tablet signed "A. Lincoln" designating Dogpatch a national shrine.

The bomb-carrying plane is called back, a plethora of Daisy Mae's relatives sufficiently dismay McGoon so that he withdraws from the wedding, and "The Matrimonial Stomp" brings Abner and Daisy Mae together.

Mammy's Yokumberry tonic, Evil Eye Fleagle, Marryin' Sam, Sadie Hawkins Day races, and romance make this a lively musical. The tunes of "Namely You," "If I Had My Druthers," "Jubilation T. Cornpone," and others contribute to make "Li'l Abner" one of the classics of American musicals.

Wastewater Plant Operations Told

sure mixture of the solids with the liquids.

Crane Used to Lower Pump
A moderate-sized crane is stationed atop one of the three sludge storage tanks.

It's used to lower a pump into the storage tank, from which the sludge is transferred to a sludge-hauling tank truck, which delivers the sludge to farm fields, where it is injected into the ground as fertilizer.

Chlorine Contact Tanks
While the solid sludge goes its way, the liquid effluent is sent to one of two chlorine contact tanks, where chlorine gas is mixed with water to provide a liquid to kill any bacteria which might be present.

The detention time in the chlorine tank is at least 30 minutes at the maximum flow.

When disinfection is complete, the water flows to the dechlorination chamber, where chlorine is removed by mixing the water with sulfur dioxide.

Cascade Aeration

During a final process of treatment, cascade aeration, the treated water splashes down a series of steps, picking up air as it splashes, to increase the level of oxygen in the treated water.

Effluent Discharge
The effluent, treated water, emerges clean and capable of supporting aquatic life.

The water is carried by a pipe to Letts Creek, from which it eventually finds its way to the Huron River and other streams.

Wastewater Plant Development . . .

over-all system, the Chelsea Wastewater Treatment Plant contributes positively to the improvement of the environment of the Great Lakes area.

The construction which ended during July, 1989, was accomplished quickly, in part because the Michigan Department of Natural Resources issued a consent decree imposing a restrictive completion date on the village.

As a result of close co-operation between the contractor, the village, and the engineering firm, start-up was about a month ahead of schedule.

Traffic Slowdown Noted in Ypsilanti

Work is under way to resurface one mile of M-17 (Washtenaw and Cross Sts.) in Ypsilanti, the Michigan Department of Transportation said today.

Traffic on eastbound M-17 (Washtenaw St.), from Summit to Hamilton Sts., is reduced from three lanes to one, daylight hours only. Work requiring the same lane closures on westbound M-17 (Cross St.), from Summit to Huron Sts., should start in about two weeks.

To accommodate traffic at major area events, no lane closures will be allowed during the Ann Arbor Art Fair, July 18-22; the Drum Corps North show at Eastern Michigan University, Aug. 2; and the Ypsilanti Heritage Festival, Aug. 17-19.

The $250,000 improvement project should be completed by mid-August. The contractor is Barrett Paving Materials, Inc., of Ypsilanti.

Two Area Residents Granted Degrees at Siena Heights College

Two area residents were among the more than 477 students graduated from Siena Heights College in Adrian, during the college's 69th commencement ceremony in May.

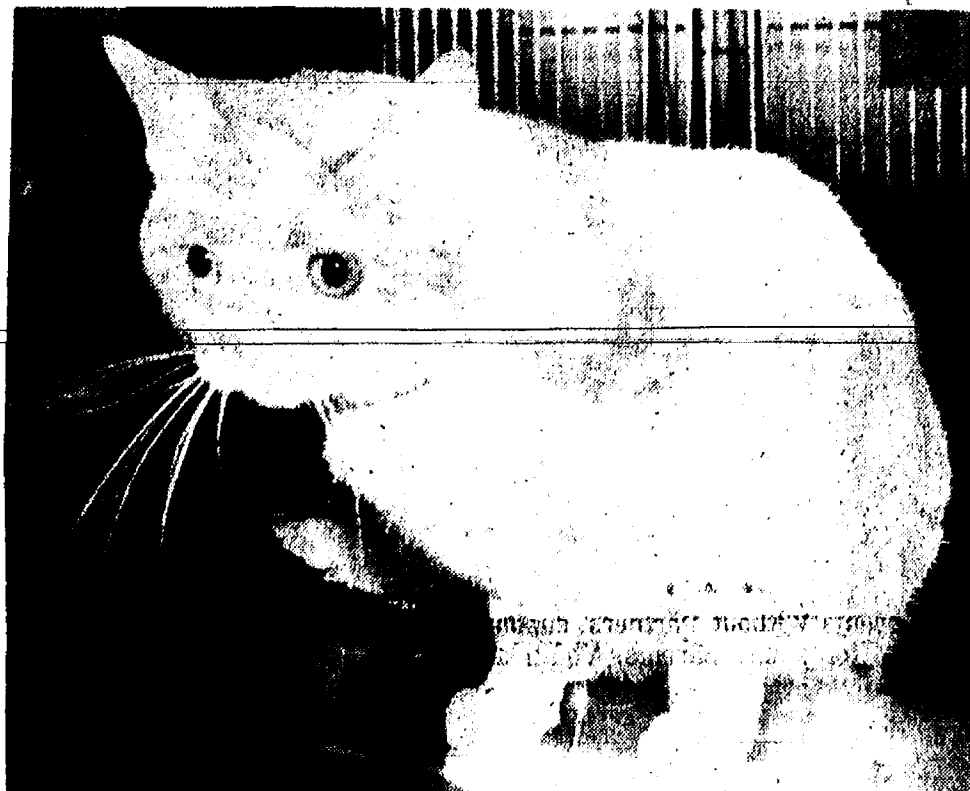

Jon Howard Goderis of Chelsea completed requirements for a bachelor of applied science degree, majoring in digital equipment technology, and Pinckney area resident Thomas Joseph McCarty earned a bachelor of arts degree in the field of business administration.

Siena Heights College is a private, Catholic, co-educational, liberal arts college which offers associate's, bachelor's, and master's degrees in more than 30 programs of study.

Pets of the Week

PETS OF THE WEEK are "Kit," an adult female shepherd mix dog and "Mickey," a domestic shorthair spayed, female cat. Kit is reddish brown with black and is very affectionate. She loves to hug and is smart. She was a stray. Mickey is 3½ years old, orange and white, and is a fat cat. Her front paws are declawed. She's an indoors cat only, she likes other cats, but definitely doesn't like dogs. Her owners moved out west.

National Organic Standards Needed

Farm Bureau is asking Congress to set national standards for organic foods. "We believe that if consumers want food with an organic label then that label should mean the same thing throughout the country," said Al Almy, director of public affairs for Michigan Farm Bureau.

Almy said that between 15 and 20 states have standards on organic food, but each standard is different from the other. The Senate Agriculture Committee approved an organic labeling measure as part of its 1990 Farm Bill discussions, but Almy says the provision is too broad. "It would impose penalties of up to $50,000 along with imprisonment and we believe that these are way out of line with the bill's purpose to encourage the production of organic foods."

Almy also said the federal government should not deliberately promote organic production over traditional farming.

FATAL CRASH ON INTERSTATE-94, just west of the Zeeb Rd. interchange, tied up traffic for miles in either direction, Thursday, June 28. Srikanth Duraiswamy, a 22-year-old Detroit resident, was killed at approximately 2 p.m. Thursday, when the 1990 Ford Taurus he was driving on westbound Interstate-94, one-half mile west of the Zeeb Rd. interchange, suddenly veered across the median directly into the path of an eastbound tractor-trailer. Just why the young man lost control of the vehicle is currently unknown.

Detroit Man Dies in Head-on Crash on I-94

A 22-year-old Detroit resident was killed at approximately 2 p.m. Thursday, June 28, when the 1990 Ford Taurus he was driving on westbound Interstate-94, one-half mile west of the Zeeb Rd. interchange, suddenly veered across the median directly into the path of an eastbound tractor-trailer.

Michigan State Police troopers from the Ypsilanti Post reported Srikanth Duraiswamy, 22, of Detroit, lost control of the vehicle, crossed the median and collided with the large semi.

Duraiswamy was pronounced dead at the crash scene by Dr. Riker, Washtenaw county medical examiner.

Trooper J. G. Shaw at the MSP Ypsilanti Post explained Friday morning the crash continued under investigation.

Just why the young man lost control of the vehicle is currently unknown.

The crash caused one of the most complex traffic jams in the memory of several veteran officers from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, which assisted the Michigan State Police with traffic control, after both the east and westbound lanes of I-94 were temporarily closed, following the crash.

By the time Thursday's rush hour traffic poured onto the roadways, motorists experienced extreme back-up and severe crowding along not only Jackson Rd. and Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd., but also Zeeb and Miller Rds., and many of the north-south connectors in the immediate area.

Patience grew thin as the traffic back-up continued for miles, and many motorists drove boldly down the lanes in the opposite direction to reach a side road on which they might exit.

Half Moon Lake Boating Accident

Daniel Wojciechowski of Romulus was injured in a serious boating incident which occurred at Half Moon Lake, and was reported to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, Sunday, June 30, at 9:28 p.m.

The injured man was a passenger, seated on the high pedestal seat in a Bass-style board operated by Luther Stephens, also a Romulus area resident.

He apparently fell from his seat as the craft was making a hard turn to the left as it approached the swimming area in front of Half Moon Beach. The boat's propeller impacted his leg, after he fell into the water.

WCSD marine division supervisor Jerry Evans explained, Monday afternoon, the man swam on his own after he re-surfaced, but the injury was severe.

He was transported in unstable condition from the boat launch site at Half Moon Lake to University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor, by Huron Valley Ambulance.

Wojciechowski was not wearing a life preserver when he fell from the boat to the water.

Summer Baseball Team Loses 1, Rained Out of 2

Chelsea's summer baseball team had a rain-shortened week last week as they lost to Cliff Keen 9-1 on Tuesday, June 26, but then were rained out of a doubleheader on Thursday.

On Tuesday, June 26 Chelsea met Cliff Keen and began the game's action with a very shaky first inning. Cliff Keen scored six runs on only two hits as Chelsea committed five errors and issued five walks.

The Bulldogs scored one in the second as Craig Ferry doubled then went to third on a wild pitch and scored on another wild pitch.

The game settled down then as there was no more scoring until the fifth as Cliff Keen scored one in the fifth and two in the sixth and Chelsea could get nothing else going and suffered a 9-1 defeat.

Chelsea managed two hits—a double by Ferry and a single by Steve Grau.

Adam Taylor pitched the entire game for the Bulldogs, striking out five and allowed only five hits but the disastrous first inning hurt him. "It was the first time he had pitched in a while and he did a good job," coach Akei Marshall added.

Chelsea is now 0-2 on the season and play at Vet's in Ann Arbor tonight and Thursday with each game beginning at 6:15 p.m.

Library of Michigan Now Offers Database Statewide

ANSWER, the on-line catalog of the Library of Michigan in Lansing, is now available to libraries and individuals by dial access through a microcomputer. Researchers can browse through the library's collection of 5.5 million items to locate within seconds materials on Michigan history and resources, state publications, genealogy and federal documents.

"Callers can use their home or office computer to contact the library's ANSWER catalog, get specific information about materials and their availability, then place a request at the closest library to receive materials through Michigan's inter-library loan network. Inter-library offices can also identify alternative sources for items, once the borrower has identified specific titles," explained State Librarian James W. Fry. "Most microcomputers equipped with a modem can link with the ANSWER database. Multiple lines for simultaneous use are provided, including an 800 number for long-distance callers."

Access to the database is available during all service hours of the Library of Michigan—8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays; 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. other weekdays; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays; 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sundays, and many evening hours. Remote access is not available on some nights when the system is being serviced.

"Electronic data services such as ANSWER can overcome distance and expand the information available to all state residents," Fry noted. "The on-line service has been available to legislators and state employees in the initial test phases, and the success of the system has enabled us to offer it to the public."

For an information sheet with specific information on how to access the ANSWER database, write to the Library of Michigan, P.O. Box 30007, Lansing 48909, or call 517-373-1383 to place your request.

We Can't Believe What Bush's Lips Are Now Saying

How do farmers feel about President Bush reneging on his promise not to raise any new taxes?

"Farm Bureau is quite disappointed," said Al Almy, director of public affairs for Michigan Farm Bureau. "We think it is very wrong for the federal government to attempt to balance the budget by raising taxes. Over history it has been shown that when taxes have been increased the revenue has not been used to offset the deficit or balance the budget but simply to use for higher and higher spending."

Almy says of the tax increase proposals being floated in Washington a boost in the federal gasoline tax would be one of the most damaging to agriculture.

Dexter Man Pleads Guilty In Arms Export Case

United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Michigan Stephen J. Markman announced that John Raymond Jarema, 53, of Dexter, entered a plea of guilty to one count of violation of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2778) in connection with the illegal export of military aircraft parts from the United States to England.

Jarema was indicted by a federal grand jury in Detroit in March, 1990, on one count of violation of the Arms Export Control Act, one count of conspiracy (18 U.S.C. 371), one count of wire fraud (18 U.S.C. 1343), and two counts of false statements (18 U.S.C. 1001).

The indictment followed an investigation by the United States Customs Service which establishes that in April 1985, Jarema, who then operated an aircraft parts sales firm, AMTREC Corp., of Ann Arbor, exported engine overhaul kits for F-4 Phantom military aircraft to AMTREC's office in the United Kingdom for delivery to Normair Air Supplies, Ltd., also in the United Kingdom, without the required export license.

Provisions of the Arms Export Control Act require an exporter of military articles to obtain an export license from the U.S. Department of State, Office of Munitions Control, prior to making an export shipment.

Norman's former manager, Jeremy Griffin, was previously indicted by a federal grand jury in Chicago, Ill., on charge of conspiracy to violate the Arms Export Control Act in connection with Norman's shipments of military equipment from the United States, via England, to Iran.

This case is the result of Customs' continuing efforts to preclude the illegal exportation of critical technology and munitions items contrary to the United States national security interests.

Under the terms of the plea agreement, Jarema faces a maximum fine of $100,000 and a maximum prison term of two years on the Arms Export Control Act count. The remaining charges in the indictment will be dismissed.

Senior U.S. District Judge John Felkens took Jarema's plea under advisement, pending completion of a pre-sentence investigation.

UNEXPLAINED WEIGHT LOSS PUZZLES SCIENTISTS

FINLAND — The unexpected weight loss experienced by members of a test group has puzzled medical researchers at a leading Finnish university. Scientists were testing a naturally-occurring compound for its ability to lower blood cholesterol levels when, to their surprise, they found that every person who took the formula had lost a significant amount of weight.

The formula was then tested at another prestigious European university hospital. Again, all patients lost weight even though they did not change their eating habits. The report detailing this study, published in the British Journal of Nutrition, stated: "Body weight was significantly reduced even though the patients were specifically asked not to alter their dietary habits."

This woman reportedly lost 134 pounds while on the formula.

While it is still not entirely clear how the formula induces weight loss, some scientists believe this compound actually alters the way the body digests food: when taken before mealtime it bonds with food and suppresses calorie absorption. Unabsorbed calories would pass through and out of the digestive system.

The formula is marketed in capsule form in the United States under the trade name Cal-Ban 3000. A firm located in Tampa, Florida has exclusive North American distribution rights to Cal-Ban 3000. A company spokesman reported that the formula is 100% natural and has been clinically tested for safety. Review of the customer files of this company revealed the names of hundreds of people who have lost as much as 20, 40 or 80 or more pounds overall with Cal-Ban 3000. This appears to be a golden opportunity for people who are plagued by fat and cellulite that they can't seem to lose by conventional methods.

Cal-Ban 3000 is reasonably priced at $19.95 for a 3-week supply and $38.95 for a 6-week supply. Postage and handling is $3. VISA, M/C, AMEX and COD orders are accepted. To order call TOLL-FREE 1-800-537-3723 or purchase locally at:

BEHIND THE HEADLINES:

Our Founding Fathers on the Fourth of July

By Philip C. Clarke

When Secretary of State Baker called on the Lithuanians recently to suspend their declaration of independence in order to facilitate talks with Moscow, it prompted an interesting question. How, asked one conservative critic, would our Founding Fathers have reacted if, say, the French had urged the Americans to rethink their Declaration of Independence in 1776? Thus far, the Lithuanians, who have waited 50 years to regain their freedom, are hanging tough. And judging by the character and temper of our patriots of 1776, we have reason to believe that they, too, would have stuck to their guns.

When the Declaration was signed 214 years ago, William Ellery of Rhode Island, 22nd of the 56 Americans to affix his name, stood where he could watch the others. "I was determined," he later wrote, "to see how they all looked as they signed what might be their death warrant. I eyed each closely. Undaunted resolution was displayed on every countenance."

Another signer, John Adams, noted in a letter to his wife, Abigail, "The Declaration was, in fact, an act of treason, and if it were not made good, those who had signed it stood a good chance to incur the penalty meted out to traitors." Indeed, Adams, like John Hancock, another signer and revolutionary leader, already were under sentence of death if captured by the British. Hancock's signature was, in the words of the Massachusetts patriot, writ large "so even King George, III, cannot miss it." Some years later, John Quincy Adams, who, like his father, served as president of the new-found republic, wrote: "Posterity! You will never know how much it cost the present generation to preserve your freedom. I hope you will make good use of it."

The War of Independence was already a year old when the Founding Fathers gathered in Philadelphia to pledge "our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor" in order to gain liberty for themselves and posterity. They were a diverse lot, these representatives from the 13 colonies who met to bring forth the historic document that to this day inspires millions hungering for freedom around the world. Twenty-five were lawyers or jurists, eleven were merchants, nine were farmers or plantation owners, and there also were doctors and educators. When, at a crucial moment in their deliberations, doubts arose, it was again John Adams who stiffened resolve by declaring, with inspiring candor, "If you imagine that I expect this Declaration will ward off calamities... you are mistaken. A bloody conflict we are destined to endure."

And endure they did, through countless hardships that for many continued long after the six-year conflict. Francis Lewis of New York, for example, had his home burned by the British. His wife was imprisoned for two years, dying soon after her release. Philip Livingston, also of New York, saw his estate confiscated by the British. But he continued to contribute his dwindling fortune to the cause until his health failed and he died in 1778. Richard Stockton of New Jersey was captured and thrown into prison, where he was repeatedly beaten and nearly starved. He died an invalid in 1781, the year the war ended.

And so it was for most of the 56, many of whom went on to help frame our Constitution. Later, Benjamin Franklin, the 27th signer of the Declaration of Independence, was asked by a curious citizen what kind of government had been created. Replied Franklin: "A Republic, if you can keep it." And keep it we shall, as long as brave Americans dare all to defend it.

St. Joseph Parish Plans Giant Summer Festival

This year at St. Joseph Catholic church in Dexter is their 150th Anniversary Year. The church dates back to the start of the Catholic community in Dexter when a small group of Irish settlers gathered at the home of Patrick and Rose Lavey for the first Mass.

The first St. Joseph Church was built on Dexter-Townhall Rd. at Quigley. After a fire in 1854, a second wood church was built within the Village of Dexter.

The present church is the third in the parish's history, being dedicated on Jan. 3, 1875, with interior work continuing for 15 more years. A final touch came with the installation of a pipe organ, costing $1,000, in 1889. The parish family community has continued its celebration faith these many years.

Summer Fun Festival, July 21-22, is the parish's biggest organized undertaking each year. This year's plans began back in January with the Festival Core Committee meeting to set the basic plans. From there, once each month there has been a Festival Meeting where members meet with the chairs of the many different areas to fine-tune ideas for this summer extravaganza.

Sure, there is a lot of effort involved, but the rewards are great in the parish community spirit shared with each other and to all the guests from the surrounding community. This year, chairs Linda and Dan Clark and co-chairs Ann and Jim Smart assure that well-rounded weekend of activities are planned for all to enjoy—starting Friday night with Joe's Steeple People Party July 20 planned for the community teens. In addition to a DJ spinning the hottest hits there will be games, food and other fun planned for this age group. Last year was the first for this type of teen night, and Ted and Pam Klaus, Mustard Seed leaders, guarantee an even better time for this special night.

There are many activities that occur festival week-end. A few samples of the activities include:

Small raffles will hold a silent auction offering goods and services provided by members of the parish and community to the highest bidder; plus, a special gift basket of handmade items to a lucky winner.

The Country Store has been holding workshops during the months of May and June producing such interesting items as stuffed animals, appliques, birdhouses and others.

The biggest and best Flea Market in the area is offered right here, and Carol Bevan advises that special item you're looking for will likely be waiting for you in one of the many aisles of merchandise.

Of course good food is an important ingredient to the Festival, and the menu varies from fast food items, pizza, sloppy joes, popcorn, fruit and more, to sit-down/take-out meals which means the famous St. Joe Chicken and Spaghetti Dinners. This year there will be 1,000 chicken dinners and 500 spaghetti dinners, and as usual they both will be sellouts. Plan to enjoy one or both.

The large raffle again offers all a chance to win the $2,000 first prize plus other cash prizes in the form of $150 this sesquicentennial year.

The parishoners of St. Joe extend a welcome to all in the community to "Come on down" and join in the fun, July 21 and 22.

BookCrafters Names Employee of the Month

BookCrafters recently introduced an "Employee of the Month" program for its Michigan Division. Both full- and part-time employees are eligible with nominations to be submitted by both hourly and supervisory personnel.

Prizes include an eight-hour personal day off, an award certificate, and a VIP parking space. A plaque, engraved with the recipient's name, will also be on display at the Michigan Plant.

June's "Employee of the Month" is Brian Cooper, who also has the added distinction of being the first winner of this on-going competition.

Brian, who is affectionately called "Animal" by his co-workers, has worked at BookCrafters for nine years. Starting as a Chelsea High school co-op student, Brian initially worked as a member of the maintenance staff. He has since become an expert folder and flat knife operator. When asked about his long-time association with BookCrafters, Brian said, "I like the people, and I like what I do." Quite obviously, the Michigan supervisors also like what Brian does. The vote was unanimous and included the following remarks:

"Brian takes the time to ask the casemaker when he has a problem on the BRD or printed cloth. He also learned the flat knife for the most part on his own."

"He is always willing to help when and wherever needed. He has a positive attitude toward his work. He is quality conscious of his work. He is always a pleasure to work with."

"I would like to nominate Brian because of his continuing loyalty and service to the company."

Outside BookCrafters, Brian enjoys working on cars, hunting, and fishing. He is a lifetime resident of Chelsea, and BookCrafters hopes he'll be a lifetime member of its team of professionals.

Professional Theatre Coming to Stockbridge

Live professional theatre is coming to Stockbridge in July, an original comedy for small fry and adults alike, "Fractured Mother Goose."

Stockbridge Area Arts Council and Stockbridge Community Education are sponsoring the performance by Marshall-based Pritchard Productions.

Only two performances are scheduled, July 20 and 27, both at the Stockbridge Township Hall at 10:30 a.m. Beginning Actors Workshops for students in kindergarten through sixth grade will be held from 2 to 3 p.m. on the same days at the Township Hall.

"Fractured Mother Goose" appeals to all age groups due to its broad comedy and wholesome approach. Written and designed originally for Kid Stuff Theatre Company as a touring production, the 50-minute play features audience participation sequences and no less than nine Mother Goose nursery rhyme characters.

Those characters come to Mother Goose demanding changes be made in their rhymes to make them more in step with the times. Mother Goose refuses to modernize her cherished rhymes and the whole group ends up in court, the court of Old King Cole that is.

Naturally, everyone has to live happily ever after, but there are lots of high jinks and pratfalls in between. Mother Goose could never stand for "Little Miss Muffet sat on a recliner eating a hot dog from a drive-in diner," and the results are hilarious.

Tickets are available at Stockbridge Community Education, (517) 851-8222 and Abbott and Fillmore Insurance Agency, (517) 851-7777.

"On Golden Pond," the heartwarming Ernest Thompson comedy will also be presented as part of the series. The professional acting company from Cornwall's Dinner Theatre will perform two Sunday matinees of the play, July 22 and 29, both at 2 p.m. at the Stockbridge Township Hall. Further information is available from the above locations.

EarthWords

By the Ecology Center, Ann Arbor

Welcome to the second introductory column of EarthWords, a clearinghouse for the latest information on the local environment. In this column, we will answer questions from readers and tell you the straight facts on current environmental issues.

EarthWords is written by the staff and members of the Ecology Center, your environmental resource center, based right here in Washtenaw county.

In our first column, we explained how carpenter ants can be controlled in your house without using harmful chemicals. But what can we do about environmental problems bigger than those we find in our homes? What about those front-page issues like global warming, oceanic oil spills, contaminated fish in the Great Lakes? These issues all seem like huge and insurmountable problems. What is one person to do?

Above all, do not give up! There is help out there. But you have to get informed, know where to turn, and be ready to take action. There are many people, organizations, and agencies working to improve the environment, but they need your help.

This week's questions deal with those issues:

* What do I do if I witness a pollution accident in the making?

First, find as much information about the accident as you possibly can: who is the polluter, what was spilled or emitted, when it was released, what natural resources may be affected, etc. Second, report the event to the appropriate agency for clean-up, legal action, or other response. To do this, and to avoid excessive red tape, you need to be aware of the responsibilities of different environmental agencies.

In Washtenaw county, spills that may affect the county's drains should be reported to the Office of the Drain Commissioner. Contamination of soils, groundwater, and other resources should be directed to the County's Environmental Health Department. If pesticides are being dangerously applied, then the correct office is the Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA). Major spills or dumping should be reported to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (MDNR). The MDNR has a toll-free pollution emergency hotline. The phone numbers of each of these agencies are listed below. And, if you get lost in the bureaucratic maze, call the Ecology Center to sort things out.

Drain Commissioner, 934-2025
Environmental Health, 894-2492
Michigan Department of Agriculture, 517-373-8762
Michigan Department of Natural Resources, 517-784-3188
Pollution Emergency Alerting System (P.E.A.S.), 1-800-292-4706.

* Why does it take so long to clean up sites of environmental contamination?

Mostly because our state clean-up law has no teeth. During the 1980's over 2,700 sites of environmental contamination were found in Michigan, containing toxic chemicals proven to cause cancer, birth defects, and organ damage to humans as well as serious harm to the environment. The price tag for cleaning up these known sites is from $3 to $8 billion. At the current rate, cleanups will take 200 years.

In 1988, Michigan taxpayers voted overwhelmingly for passage of the Environmental Bond, $425 million of which is reserved for toxics cleanup. But many polluters continue to refuse to pay their fair share. In 1988, 4 in 6 polluters refused to comply with DNR cleanup directives.

Unfortunately, Michigan's current toxic waste cleanup law, Public Act 307, is not strong enough to clean up these sites. Under Act 307, state agencies have no authority to order a polluter to clean up a toxic site; the state has been able to recover from polluters only a fraction of taxpayer dollars spent on cleanup and damage to the environment; people who live near toxic sites are not assured that the sites will be cleaned up to a safe level; and, the law encourages litigation instead of cleanup because it fails to clearly define who is responsible for paying the costs of cleanup.

This year, environmentalists attempted to pass legislation to clean up the mess. Senate Bill 375, the Comprehensive Cleanup Act, introduced by Senator Lana Pollack (D-Ann Arbor) would make polluters pay their fair share for cleanups and would force the State to spend its Environmental Bond funds efficiently. Specifically, it does the following: enables the DNR to issue cleanup orders to polluters and, if necessary, to enforce those orders in court; imposes strict joint and several liability on polluters responsible for contamination; allows the state to assess fines and penalties against recalcitrant polluters; and, it gives citizens the right to sue to enforce the Act.

The first proposal for federal legislation to provide old age pensions was made by Congressman William B. Wilson (D.Pa.), who became the first Secretary of Labor in 1913.

VOLUNTEER ANNE MANN provided village officials great support and all the charm anyone could ask of a village hostess when she helped serve coffee, cookies, yogurt cones and orange drink at the Open House held Saturday, June 30, at the Chelsea Wastewater Treatment Plant. Anne's youngsters were happy to attend, as evidenced in the photo. There were "Recycle Chelsea" balloons for the girls and boys, in addition to refreshments for all the visitors.

answer questions and distribute materials on recycling to Chelsea citizens attending the Open House, Saturday, June 30, at the Chelsea Wastewater Treatment Plant.

Bike Tour Starting from Fairgrounds

One Helluva Ride will begin and end, this year, at the Chelsea Fairgrounds.

The annual event is sponsored by the Ann Arbor Bicycle Touring Society.

Four loop routes will each take participants in the 1990 One Helluva Ride through Hell, Michigan.

A good loop for the neophyte bicyclists will be the 38-mile ride, but the 54-mile route will give week-end riders and families another option, depending on their physical abilities and the weather.

More endurance and time are required for the 80-mile ride, and the 104-mile route is designed for riders with the confidence and experience that several 50-plus rides instill.

All routes are clearly marked directly on the pavement, and each rider will receive a detailed map showing routes, water/food, and rest stops.

Cyclists are expected to obey all traffic laws, and are strongly encouraged to wear helmets as a safety precaution.

Registration has been completed, as of June 23, and no further applicants will be accepted. There is NO day-of-ride registration.

There are tons of reasons to recycle!

Metroparks Are Ready For July 4th

Huron-Clinton Metroparks, serving the citizens of the counties of Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston and Washtenaw, are ready for July 4th.

With the holiday celebrated on Wednesday, many area persons may take advantage of close-to-home recreation, according to William P. Sherman, HCMA director. If the weather is sunny and warm, the larger Metroparks may well attract crowds of 25,000 or more visitors for the July 4th holiday.

Huron-Clinton Metroparks include these recreation sites: (1) Metro Beach Metropark (770 acres) near Mt. Clemens; (2) Wolcott Mill Metropark (2,380 acres) in Ray township of Macomb county; (3) Stony Creek Metropark (4,461 acres) near Utica/Rochester; (4) Indian Springs Metropark (2,232 acres) near Clarkston; (5) Kensington Metropark (4,337 acres) near Milford; (6) Huron Meadows Metropark (1,540 acres) near Brighton; (7) Hudson Mills Metropark (1,624 acres), (8) Dexter-Huron Metropark (122 acres), and (9) Delhi Metropark (5 acres), each located near Dexter along the Huron River; (10) Lower Huron Metropark (1,237 acres) near Belleville; (11) Willow Metropark (1,531 acres) near New Boston; (12) Oakwoods Metropark (1,756 acres) near Flat Rock; and (13) Lake Erie Metropark (1,590 acres) in Brownstown township near Gibraltar in Wayne county.

Farmer Exemption from Commercial License Provided in House Bill

Legislation that grants farmers exemptions from commercial driver licenses (CDL) has passed the State House, an area lawmaker said today.

State Representative Margaret O'Connor (R-Lodi township), supporter of Senate Bill 705, said the measure corresponds to federal legislation allowing exemptions under the following conditions:

- the vehicle is controlled and operated by the farmer, a family member, or an employee;
- it is used to transport agricultural products, farm machinery, or supplies to or from a farm;
- the vehicle is NOT used as a common or contract (for-hire) carrier
- the vehicle is used within 150 miles of the farm.

"Persons driving combination vehicles with a gross vehicle weight rating (GVWR) of over 26,000 pounds such as semi-trucks, would have to pass a written test and obtain an 'F' endorsement," the Representative

Homemaker Candidates Should Plan Entries Now

The first berries are appearing, families are going on vacation, and notices about Fair Queen candidates are appearing, so it's time to seriously think about all the items you can make or use to qualify you for Senior or Junior Homemaker of Chelsea Fair.

Qualifications for queen candidates are as follows. The entrant must have entries in at least four of the following departments, which include antiques, floriculture, hobbies, food preparation, canning, machine sewing, and needlework. The winner will be the entrant with the most points on all of her or his entries. Points are given for each ribbon received in the previously mentioned areas.

The Senior winner receives a State Fair plaque, Chelsea Fair Banner, flower, and is eligible for prizes from the State of Michigan Fair. She will also represent Chelsea at the following year's State Fair Grand Champion Homemaker of the Year.

Past Senior Homemaker winners are Sue Eisenbeiser, Erna Schultz, Rose Reinhardt, Greta Picklesimer and Janice Martin.

Puppy, Kitten Food Drive Is Successful

Humane Society of Huron Valley has announced that the Puppy and Kitten Food Drive held during Be Kind to Animals Week in May was a great success.

More than 1½ tons of puppy and kitten food was collected during a two-week period as part of HSHV's celebration of Be Kind to Animals Week. This is three times the amount collected in last spring's drive.

Twelve area pet and grocery stores placed pet food bins in their businesses for food collection for the large number of young animals housed at the HSHV shelter each year. Scores of shoppers pitched in, depositing cans and bags of puppy and kitten food to replenish HSHV's supply which tends to rapidly dwindle in the spring as litters of unwanted puppies and kittens begin to arrive for care and shelter. This spring's donations should supplement the young animals' food supply well into the summer.

The residents of Alaska move from one home to another more often than residents of any other state.

Everybody's Science

★ Crop Enemies Cancel Each Other Out ...

By Sandy Miller Hays

Slimy, crop-damaging slugs may have met their match in an equally undesirable weed with the somewhat comical name "quackgrass."

A U. S. Department of Agriculture weed scientist has discovered, quite by accident, that when quackgrass is killed, it leaves in the soil a chemical substance that's a deadly nerve poison to the slugs.

Gardens and farm fields alike can harbor slugs. They are especially troublesome in humid areas and have caused major problems in West Coast strawberry fields and citrus orchards, as well as interfering with corn production in the East.

One of the world's most persistent weeds, quackgrass takes water and fertilizer away from crops. But gardeners and farmers may have a kind word or two about the weed, as a result of research on the slug-killing nerve chemical in dead quackgrass.

"The poison is highly specific to the slugs," said Roger D. Hagin, who works for USDA's Agricultural Research Service at Ithaca, N. Y. "It's been tested with no ill effects on three species of freshwater snails and it won't hurt mammals."

Hagin has successfully isolated and made a synthetic copy of the natural compound. It has been tested for two years in the field on snapbeans, alfalfa and other crops. He said snapbean yields were nearly doubled as a result of the reduced slug damage.

Applications are under way for a patent on the compound, which someday may be produced commercially as a lethal bait for slugs. The compound is not found in living quackgrass.

Chemical compounds to kill slugs are on the market, but are toxic to birds and mammals, according to Hagin. He said his treatment could be applied at much lower rates and would not be as expensive.

Hagin discovered the quackgrass-slug connection while growing corn. He'd used herbicides to kill the weeds in the field, including quackgrass. When the corn was but six inches tall, he noticed it was being attacked heavily by slugs. But in the areas where the quackgrass had lived and died, there was no slug damage.

Edible Wild Plants Program Slated at Hudson Mills Park

"Edible Wild Plants," an opportunity to learn how to identify and prepare some of nature's "free harvest," will be held at Hudson Mills Metropark near Dexter on Sunday, July 15 at 1 p.m. Participants should meet at the Activity Center.

Most programs are "free," some may have a nominal charge and advance registration and a vehicle entry permit are required. For information/registration, contact the Huron-Clinton Metroparks, Phone 1-800-47-PARK (toll-free).

Pinckney Men Plead Guilty To Mail Fraud Charges

Two businessmen and their corporations face an aggregate total of $1 million in fines as a result of guilty pleas entered in U. S. District Court on June 26. In addition to fines, James R. Proos, 41, and Robert Phipps, 34, both of Pinckney, face the possibility of six months in jail and five years probation.

Proos and Phipps each pleaded guilty to one count of mail fraud, and Proos entered guilty pleas on behalf of two corporations headed by him and Phipps, Proos Pharmacy, Inc., and Hamburg Pharmacy, Inc. Proos is the president of the two corporations and Phipps is the vice-president.

Both defendants admitted to submitting false claims to Michigan Blue Cross for reimbursement of prescription drugs, usually high cost antibiotics. The prescriptions that were claimed were, in fact, neither prescribed nor sold. These false claims were submitted by the defendants in response to the rejection of other prescription drug claims by Blue Cross. In most instances, Blue Cross had refused to pay for the prescriptions because the customers' coverage had lapsed or did not cover the prescription drugs in question.

The false claims, occurring over a three-year period from 1985 through 1987, totaled approximately $30,000.

As part of the plea agreements in these cases, Proos tendered a check in the amount of $30,000 to Blue Cross just prior to the plea hearing.

The pleas were entered before United States District Judge Anna Diggs Taylor. Judge Taylor did not set a date for sentencing.

The successful investigation and prosecution of this case was the result of a joint investigation of the U. S. Postal Inspection Service and the Corporate and Financial Investigations Unit of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan. Assistant United States Attorney Stephen Hiyama prosecuted the case for the United States Attorney.

House Bill Would Dedicate Lottery Money to Education

Michigan citizens could vote on a constitutional amendment to dedicate lottery money to education under a resolution, passed unanimously by the State House Tuesday, co-sponsored by an area lawmaker.

Representative O'Connor (R-Lodi township) said proceeds from State Lottery were intended to benefit education, a goal that never should waver.

"Michigan citizens have been told from day one that Lottery money would go to schools," O'Connor said. "I think that's important enough that we ought to guarantee it in our Constitution."

House Joint Resolution Q requires all net revenue and interest earned on net revenue—except for interest used for paying prizes—from the Lottery to be deposited in the State School Aid Fund beginning Oct. 1, 1991.

O'Connor noted that currently only Lottery revenue, not interest on revenue, is earmarked for the School Aid Fund.

"By adding interest from Lottery revenues, this amendment will mean an additional $3 million a year will benefit K-12 education in Michigan," she said. "And by including this in the Constitution, rather than mandating it by statute, we ensure that Lottery money can never be taken by this or future legislatures."

O'Connor cautioned, however, that even this constitutional amendment won't solve the 'shift-shaft' problem that has plagued the Lottery since it was created in 1972.

"While I support this resolution for increasing and guaranteeing the money that will go in the front door of the School Aid Fund," Rep. O'Connor said, "it still does nothing about money leaving through the back door as a result of reductions in General Fund contributions to schools."

If HJR Q is passed by the Senate, the constitutional amendment would go before voters in the general election this November.

Diapers Could Be Big Business for Nation's Farmers

A company in California is manufacturing a biodegradable diaper called Bunnies and that's good news not only for parents concerned about the environment, but for corn growers as well, according to Michigan Farm Bureau's agriculture economist Bob Craig. The exterior of the diaper is made using a cornstarch-based plastic similar to the product used to manufacture biodegradable garbage bags.

"Sixteen billion diapers are thrown into landfills each year—that's 10 billion square feet of plastic," said Craig. "The problem has been that typical disposal diapers don't decompose. Research shows that Bunnies, within a few years, will biodegrade in no sunlight, almost no oxygen and almost no water. They are also recyclable and compostable, so one doesn't even have to put them into landfills."

"If those 16 billion diapers put into landfills each year had been made with a cornstarch based plastic, a major environmental concern would be addressed—plus it would create a potential market for between 100 million and 150 million bushels of corn each year. That would be good news for corn growers," he said.

American Enviro Products, manufacturers of Bunnies, is currently running experiments on the absorbency of corn, oats and cotton. If successful, 80 percent of the diaper will be produced from farm products.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

May I express my sincere thanks to you for the privilege of addressing 157 columns to the readers of The Standard since October, 1985. I am also thankful to The Standard for publication of numerous news stories and photos which I have produced over the past 20 years on behalf of Chelsea civic and cultural organizations.

All this was brought to a sudden halt by the stroke which hit me on May 14. They tell me I am making a good recovery. For a while, however, I'll have to watch the action from the sidelines.

All the best,

Will Connelly.

Dear Editor,

I read in the Wednesday, June 27, 1990, issue of The Dexter Leader and Chelsea Standard that Mr. Drolett, the Township Supervisor was alleged to have shown contempt to public input at Township meetings.

I have been to numerous Township meetings over the last two to three years and have especially attended meetings since the sewer issue became a topic of discussion at the board meetings.

I have continually marveled at Mr. Drolett's ability to control himself while people in the audience have made cat calls, illegal motions from the floor, interrupted other speakers who were trying to address the board and been generally rude and disruptive.

Mr. Drolett has allowed nearly 50 hours of input by Township residents at both Township Board Meetings, Special Meetings and Sewer Authority Meetings. I have never seen Mr. Drolett rude or discourteous to anyone who wished to express their feelings to the Town Board and in fact he has gone out of his way to allow everyone who has wanted to speak the opportunity to do so.

I feel this recall effort against Mr. Drolett is an insult to him and to the good Township Government which is currently in place in Dexter Township.

Rosemarie A. Stauch.

To the Editor,

I called the Washtenaw County Clerk's Office and was informed that the reasons listed on a recall petition for demanding a recall of an elected official need not be true, they only have to be clear. In reading the reasons for the recall of Jim Drolett as Dexter Township Supervisor, I know for a personal fact that none of the allegations are true.

My attention was especially focused on the allegation that Jim uses his Office of Supervisor for possible personal financial gain. This allegation is completely ridiculous. My wife and I see Jim leave his house almost every night of the week to attend a meeting or go to work on some type of Township business. To top that off, Jim is also gone at least one day on the weekends. I was at the Annual Township Meeting where Jim's salary was approved by the citizens of Dexter Township and I can tell you I don't think he is being paid enough for the job he does.

It amazes me that someone would make up this type of story and then put it in print knowing it wasn't true and then use it as a reason to harass one of the best elected township officials we've ever had in Dexter Township.

Gerald Visel.

Dear Editor:

We moved to the Chelsea area in August of 1984. We were quite pleased by the ambience the village of Chelsea offered. The intense efforts to revitalize the downtown area and parks caught our attention. We now, however, question the judgment of village officials concerning one "improvement." The large painted rock which was moved from its former "out-of-the-way" location to one of prominence in our community, Pierce Park.

We cannot begin to understand the mentality which placed a graffiti laden rock at the entrance to our community. What signal does this send to the visitor? Do we want visitors to think we admire such signs of destructiveness? And what message do we send to our children? Do we tell them that painting objects to relay messages is fine and normal? Why has the painting spread to the smaller rocks at the parking lot? Will the painting spread to the new pavilion of which we are so proud? Have the many volunteers and contributors worked so hard and donated so much to have it defaced because it lies in close proximity to the entrance arch of Chelsea, the painted rock? We think not!

It is time the community addresses the stature of the glorified rock. Is it necessary to send the signal to ourselves, our visitors, and our children that destruction of private property and nature's property is alright? We've read with outrage the articles about the vandalism at Beach school, but what example have we as a community set for our young. We found the rock distasteful when it was on a side street, but are appalled at its new place of honor. Perhaps we should place a referendum on the next ballot concerning removal, or enshrinement of the rock.

We feel Chelsea should capitalize on its charm and uniqueness, not on its tolerance of vandalism and defacement. Let's get together as a community and move the rock from its location and replace it with a welcome to Chelsea sign which more closely represents the caring people of the village.

Zane & Phyllis Niesen.

To the Editor:

Attending my twenty-year high school class reunion has helped me realize the importance of my peers in making me the person I am today.

Although I had no control over it, I am proud and grateful to be a member of the CHS class of "70" and also of the close-knit subgroup of St. Mary's "kids."

Many people put down small towns, but having attended a Pioneer high reunion, with my late wife, I really appreciate the closeness and camaraderie of our class reunion as compared to the stiff, boring atmosphere of that reunion.

As usual, a small group of people in our class worked very hard to make the reunion possible. As a member of the larger group of people who just counted on it getting done and didn't get involved, I thank God for their efforts and applaud them all on another tremendous success.

TOWNSHIP OF DEXTERRECALL PROPOSAL*REASONS FOR DEMANDING RECALL OF JAMES L. DROLETT FROM THE OFFICE OF DEXTER TOWNSHIP SUPERVISOR

1. His contempt displayed to public input at Township Meetings
2. His continual attitude and claims that Dexter Township Citizens are not knowledgeable enough to vote on issues intelligently
3. His continual support of the implementation of a massive Septic Sewer System that would promise to financially devastate Dexter Township Citizens
4. His failure to answer legitimate Township questions completely and honestly
5. His use of the Office of Supervisor for possible personal financial gains
6. His continual disregard for the rights of Dexter Township Citizens
7. His personal behavior as Supervisor has caused unnecessary financial loss to Dexter Township Citizens and the Dexter Township Fund due to unnecessary legal actions.

STATEMENT OF JUSTIFICATION OF CONDUCT IN THE OFFICE BY JAMES L. DROLETT

This recall effort is the result of people opposed to the sewer system at Portage and Base Lakes. Opponents either object to the disposal site or they don't want to pay for a sewer. Many agencies including the DNR, Health Dept., independent environmental professionals and professors have reviewed and approved the project. Only those with a sewer will pay for the system. This recall is a personal vendetta as all five members of the Dexter Township Board voted to approve the project but only two are being recalled. The allegations made against Jim are unfounded and unsubstantiated. He has diligently maintained control of public meetings he has chaired. He has allowed all citizen input in over 50 hours of public debate over the sewer issue. Jim has no personal financial gain as he owns no property for development and his salary is set by the electors. Jim has supported the sewer system because it is needed to protect the health of residents, a duty to which he is sworn by oath of office. Jim has brought Dexter Township government out of the 19th Century and had the courage to go forward in spite of the personal assaults on his integrity.

TOWNSHIP OF DEXTERRECALL PROPOSAL*REASONS FOR DEMANDING RECALL OF H. DOUGLAS SMITH FROM THE OFFICE OF DEXTER TOWNSHIP TRUSTEE

1. His contempt displayed to public input at Township Meetings

3. His continual support of the implementation of a massive Septic Sewer System that would promise to financially devastate Dexter Township Citizens
4. His use of Office of Trustee for possible personal gains
5. His continual disregard for the rights of Dexter Township Citizens
6. His personal behavior as trustee has caused unnecessary financial loss to Dexter Township Citizens and the Dexter Township Fund due to unnecessary legal actions.

STATEMENT OF JUSTIFICATION OF CONDUCT IN THE OFFICE BY H. DOUGLAS SMITH

The recall petition charges Doug Smith with untrue and unfounded claims. The people who promoted the recall claim you against the proposed sewer project for the Portage-Base Lakes area are the same backers of this recall election. Their effort was achieved by misleading the electorate that the Township at large could be left to finance the sewer project. The truth being only those getting a sewer would pay for the project. Doug has actively supported cleaning up pollution in the lakes area. He has followed the desires of his constituents who want safe drinking water and clean lakes for everyone's enjoyment. This is a personal vendetta since all 6 Dexter Township Board members approved this project, but only two are being recalled. Doug's long and dedicated service to Dexter Township residents should not be distorted by unsubstantiated and untrue claims.

State unemployment insurance offices, operating under U.S. Department of Labor guidelines, make weekly cash payments to workers who lose their jobs through no fault of their own; these funds are an important revenue source in local communities.

Planners Vote Against Change In Zoning Laws for Car Wash

Two developers may have lost in their effort to build a car wash next to the Parts Peddler store on S. Main St. Dick Kolander, former owner of the Parts Peddler, and Charles Wilson of Charles Wilson & Associates, want to put the business next to the Parts Peddler where Wilson's business is.

However, Chelsea Village Planning Commission is not in favor of allowing the business in a C-4 district. A car wash is allowed in a C-3 district, or highway commercial district.

Village manager Robert Stalker said he supports the commission's recommendation that a zoning ordinance text change be denied.

"Generally it's not good to deal with the development of property by amending the zoning ordinance," Stalker said.

The commission took the action last Tuesday, June 28. Village council makes the final determination.

The commission received a first draft of proposed guidelines for a separate Zoning Board of Appeals. They said it needed further study.

The initial draft suggests a five-member board with at least one planning commission member, no more than one elected village official, and no village employees.

Village council now doubles as the zoning board, which Stalker said is extremely rare. The double-duty often tends to put the members in awkward situations.

In other planning commission business, developer Marvin Salyer withdrew his request for final site plan approval for a housing project off Wilkinson St. Consultants indicated they had concerns about drainage, extension of roads, and preservation of natural features.

The commission showed no inclination to amend the zoning ordinance to allow fences in front yards. Zoning inspector Rosemary Harook has received several such requests.

Site plans for the addition of a Jeep-Eagle showroom at Village Motors on S. Main St. were found to be lacking information necessary for final approval.

Site plans for developer Rene Papo's proposed office complex off Old US-12 near Chelsea Community Hospital were referred to consultants.

The commission has applications from half a dozen village residents for its two vacancies created by the resignation of Warren McArthur and the decision by Ismael Picklesimer, Jr. not to seek another term. The commission decided to ask for resumes or qualification statements from the applicants.
