GROUND HAS BEEN BROKEN for a 41-acre industrial park at the Clear Lake Rd. exit of I-94 in Grass Lake township. Coy Laboratory Products of Scio township plans to move to the park early next year. Owner Dick Coy plans to sell lots to other light industrial companies.

Coy Laboratory Products Building Industrial Park In Grass Lake Township

A 41-acre industrial park is under construction at Clear Lake Rd. and I-94 on the eastern edge of Jackson county in Grass Lake township.

Chelsea-area resident Dick Coy, owner of Coy Laboratory Products of Scio township, owns the land and plans to move his business there by February. He plans to sell four other parcels to other light industrial firms that won't have to rely heavily on water and sewer facilities. The area is serviced by wells and septic systems.

For many years the land was owned by Boron Oil Co., Coy said, but was later sold to two men who wanted to build a truck stop. Coy bought the land late last year. The land was re-zoned from agriculture to light industrial and Coy was on his way.

"Grass Lake township has bent over backwards to help me," Coy said.

Coy plans to build a 20,000-square-foot building for his business, which employs 25 people and will probably employ another 15 over the next few years as he expands his product line. The company makes specialized equipment for microbiologists and molecular biologists, including equipment for genetics research.

"There are basically two reasons [for developing in eastern Jackson county]," Coy said.

"First, the cost of developing is far less than it would be in Scio township. Second, we have a lot of employees from the western Washtenaw, eastern Jackson county area and the driving distance makes a difference to them. We also tend to get better employees from that area."

Coy also said the site was "incredibly cheap," compared to Scio township land, and he will have direct trucking access to I-94, a high priority to his business. He said he believes that within a few years the cost of doing business in Scio is "going to be considerably more than it is now," and referred to Scio, in particular, and Washtenaw, in general, as a "high-rent district."

Coy said he is "reluctantly" getting into the industrial park business. He has not sold a single lot, but said he would be "inclined to build someone else a building," in the park.

Coy began his business, he said, literally in his back yard. A physics

Facilities Committee Suggests New School, Extensive Renovations

Chelsea School District's Facilities Committee reaffirmed Monday night its earlier recommendation to build a new elementary school, renovate the existing elementary and high school, and expand and upgrade outdoor facilities.

The committee held a work session with the board of education Monday night and showed near unanimous support for the general building concepts, said assistant superintendent Fred Mills.

The next step, Mills said, would be for the board to study the recommendations and "become at ease with what they think is needed," Mills said.

"It was pointed out that what we need and what we want are not necessarily the same things," Mills said.

"We've looked at all the wants."

The board has set an informal deadline of Jan. 1 to make a decision about the needs of the district. Mills said it's questionable whether there would be time to get a bond issue on the ballot for the June general election.

"We've got a lot of homework to do first," Mills said.

"We'd like to do it at the annual election, but things may not fall in place by then. We are, however, guaranteed that almost two years will pass from the time a bond issue is approved to move-in."

The next steps will be for the board to make some decisions about needs, and hire an architect and financial consultant. Then some dollar figures can be generated.

"We have to strike some balance between what we need now and what we think we'll need 10 or 15 years from now," Mills said.

"That is an extremely difficult thing to do."

Mills said it's likely the district will grow from about 1,152 elementary school students today to 1,400 by 1995.

Open House Set Tuesday at Beach School

Beach Middle school parents, grandparents, and adult friends of Chelsea 6th, 7th and 8th graders are invited to attend an Open House on Tuesday, Oct. 9, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Beach Middle School Cafeteria.

Parents will participate in a "capsulized" version of their child's schedule with short visits to each classroom. Teachers will be on hand to explain their curricular program and classroom expectations. The first-hour class will begin promptly at 7:15 p.m. so parents are encouraged to arrive at Beach at 7 p.m. to obtain a copy of their child's schedule and receive directions for the class visits. Students are asked to remain at home for this gathering so there will be ample room for adults in the classrooms.

At the completion of this "school day," there will be a social gathering in the cafeteria. The sixth grade camp program will be introduced in the form of a video/slide presentation in the library at 9:05 p.m. following the classroom visits. School support groups will be available to discuss their programs with parents.

and the number could easily be higher.

"We'll be two years in the building process and we still have the dilemma of how do we house those students in the meantime," Mills said.

How the recommendations will finally take shape is a matter of some speculation. If the district decides to upgrade ball fields, for example, the new elementary school may not be located near the bus garage because that could be the logical place for the fields. That would force the district to purchase from 10 to 15 acres with access to village water and sewer services.

In addition, the new school might not necessarily have all six elementary grades, Mills said.

Renovations at the high school have been discussed primarily in general terms, Mills said. One idea is to create a student services area which would house all counseling and related activities rather than having many functions scattered around the school. There is a lot of interest in upgrading facilities for orchestra and band.

The one virtually assured part of the plan is the mechanical renovation of North and South schools. Both schools need new wiring, plumbing, and upgrades to heating and cooling systems.

Mills said he is not worried that the eventual plan will be voted down if it is conceived properly.

"The bond issues that have failed here are ones that didn't meet the needs of the people," Mills said.

"If we determine what those needs are, the community has historically supported the district."

Council Moves Parking Spaces To Help Out Country Rose

Village council agreed to help out a downtown retail store by relocating two parking spaces that for many years have been reserved for village vehicles.

Country Rose recently moved from N. Main St. to E. Middle St. next to the village offices. The spaces sit directly in front of their business. Owners of the business recently wrote to village president Richard Steele to ask for the change, characterizing themselves as "struggling merchants trying to optimize our business potential."

The dedicated spaces are being moved to the Municipal Parking Lot. The space reserved for police vehicles will remain in front of the offices.

Another request for a parking change was submitted to the Downtown Development Authority for consideration.

Dr. Anthony M. Sensoli, an ophthalmologist in the Middle Square Professional Building on W. Middle St., asked that the parking in the village lot immediately east of his building, as well as the public lot immediately east of the Chelsea Fire Department, be changed to two-hour parking from long-term parking. He said many of his patients are elderly and cannot walk a great distance to his office.

"Everyday by 9 a.m. I see the same cars parked in the lots that are adjacent to my building that would be most convenient for my patients," Sensoli wrote in a letter to village manager Robert Stalker.

"People that need long-term parking, presumably the merchants and the employees, should park in the long-term parking behind the fire station."

Sensoli said the long-term success of his business at the location is dependent on his patients' access to the building and that many times there are no close parking spaces.

The lot to the east of the Middle Square building may soon belong to Harper Pontiac, if DDA discussions are fruitful. DDA wants to swap lots with the car dealer to provide parking next door to what would become the new Secretary of State office.

Separate Zoning Board Gets Endorsement of Planning Commission

Chelsea Village Planning Commission has recommended that village council establish a separate zoning board of appeals consisting of at least five village residents.

The proposal, which has been discussed for several months, was formally adopted by the commission at their regular Sept. 25 meeting. Village council will make the final decision.

Village council currently doubles as the zoning board, which has, on occasion, caused conflicts.

Zoning board members would serve three-year terms. However, the initial appointments would be for one, two, and three years so that term expirations would be staggered.

Council would also be able to appoint two alternate members to serve when regular members are absent.

The board would rule on all requests for variances and interpretation of ordinances. In addition, it would hear appeals regarding decisions of the zoning inspector or anyone else who enforces the zoning ordinances.

A zoning appeal would have to be filed within 21 days of the ruling or dispute, and the board would have 45 days to consider the matter after the appeal is filed.

A majority vote of all members of the board would be necessary to reverse a decision, but a two-thirds vote would be needed to grant a variance. With a five-member board, four votes would be needed for a variance. If an appeal is upheld, the board may attach conditions.

In other planning commission business, developer Rene Papo will have to wait at least another month before starting his Chelsea Offcenter project south of Chelsea Community Hospital off Old US-12.

Open House at North School

Chelsea North Elementary school's annual open house is scheduled Thursday, Oct. 4 from 8:30 to 8 p.m.

This will be a great opportunity for families to meet the teachers, visit the classrooms, and walk through the halls of North school.

The book fair will be taking place during the open house in the North school media center.

Refreshments will be served throughout the open house in the cafeteria.

The open house concludes at 8 p.m.

Papo, who had asked for preliminary and final approval at the same time, had his site plans tabled due to several engineering concerns.

Problems included how water and sewer service will be provided on a temporary basis until major lines can be constructed; how stormwater will be handled; where fire hydrants will be located; securing a utility easement on the north side of the project; and restoring some landscaping deleted from previous plans.

Papo also presented plans for his adjacent housing project involving single-family homes and apartments, including low-cost housing for senior citizens, and a daycare center.

The project would be developed as a planned unit development. A public hearing was set for the next planning commission meeting Oct. 23.

Final site plan approval was given to Hatch Stamping Co. for its new facility in the Village Industrial Park, and Quiet Creek for a small development of single-family homes adjacent to the condominiums project on the north end of the village.

The commission reviewed plans submitted by Marvin Salyer for a housing project, including adult foster care homes, on vacant land between Lincoln and Wilkinson Sts.

No formal action was taken. There are, according to assistant village manager Deborah Kuehn, several zoning concerns. The land, recently rezoned to single-family residential, could not accommodate a group home without a zoning change and a special land-use permit. In addition, the zoning Janice Martin, of Chelsea, was the first runner-up in the Michigan State Fair Homebaker's Competition held at the fair in Detroit on Aug. 27. Martin entered 96 items and won 71 ribbons and one rosette. Martin was named Homebaker of the Year at the Chelsea Community Fair in both 1983 and 1985.

A North Elementary school girl was upset and bruised but not seriously injured after a van rolled over her in the parking lot of the school. According to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, Regina Horn, 8, was being dropped off at school by a 16-year-old boy at the time of the accident. Police said the girl stepped down from the van onto wet pavement, slipped and fell under the van near the rear tire, and the van lurched forward, running over the girl's left leg. Police said the girl was taken to Chelsea Community Hospital by her mother as a precaution. School officials said the girl was back in school the next day.

Robert H. Thornton, Jr. of North Lake, received the highest honor awarded by the Ann Arbor Board of Realtors when he was named 1976 Realtor of the Year. The official announcement came at the group's membership meeting.

Rodney Satterthwaite, 9, of Scio Church Rd. submitted an original joke-riddle to The Electric Company magazine which was consequently published in their October, 1976 issue. His joke was, "Q. What did one eye say to the other eye? A. Between me and you, there is something that smells." Rodney was a fourth grader in Mr. Ticknor's class at South school.

Two escapees from the Washtenaw County Juvenile Home in Salem township were apprehended by Chelsea Patrolmen David Peebles and John Detling following a five-mile chase through Chelsea in a stolen automobile. The two adolescents were part of a 23-member mass escape from the corrections facility on Sept. 10. When captured, both were in possession of a 1969 Pontiac, which had been reported missing from Salem Airport.

"Housecleaning" in the Sylvan Township Hall brought to light an unexpected treasure of ancient township records, many of them more than a century old. The old records were discovered when Maurice Hoffman, township supervisor, Claribel Hoppe, township treasurer, and Gerald Roberts, Washtenaw county examiner, decided to go through the large walk-in safe to see what records needed to be saved. Included in the find were records of the Michigan State Legislative acts dating back to 1851-52. Hoffman commented, that pending approval by the township board, the records would be turned over to the McKune Memorial Library historical collection.

Blanchard To Push Great Lakes Spill Center

A meeting between Governor Blanchard and a Congressional delegation took place in Bay City to promote Michigan as a site for a regional spill center. The spill center would oversee cleanup of accidental discharges in the waters of the Great Lakes.

The delegation was there to review the handling of the gasoline tanker fire on the Saginaw River, which was extinguished after burning for two days. Blanchard said he was concerned about the lack of equipment to fight that fire, and said some center needs to be established with the requisite equipment to deal with such emergencies. He said Michigan has 13 major sites on the Great Lakes where terminals load or discharge oil products or hazardous substances.

The governor said the state may have to mandate additional measures for private businesses transporting petroleum and hazardous substances on the lakes. Private parties should pay for the cost of stocking such equipment, he added, and many details need yet to be worked out. Assuming it would be an adjunct of the Coast Guard, he said it would be an over-all federal responsibility.

Engler Urges Environmental Balance With Economic Growth

Republican gubernatorial candidate John Engler recently called for state incentives for recycling and regional solid waste operations. Recruiting "clean" industries in an environmental agenda he said would balance protection with economic growth. Another in his series of issue papers, Engler's environmental proposals also embody the essence of the polluter's pay legislation nearing completion in the Legislature.

Engler also proposed commensurate welfare recipients and some non-violent criminals for litter cleanup in cities, repair of deteriorating housing, lumbering and new tree planting, and beautification projects.

On specific points, the Mount Pleasant legislator:

— opposed giving the governor direct appointment of the director of the Department of Natural Resources, a principle he supports for choosing heads of some other departments, saying the current system of commission-appointment works well. He proposed splitting the department into separate divisions for environmental protection and for conservation and wildlife.

— supported incentives for recycling, with tax credits for business use of recycled products and surcharges on nonrecyclable products, and a requirement that some state contracts be awarded to manufacturers who use a percentage of recycled materials.

— proposed establishing regional rather than county-based solid waste systems backed by state financial incentives, with actual operation of collection, transportation and disposal of waste encouraged to be handled by private bidders.

— promised to pull Michigan from the Midwest Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact if other members states refuse to recognize Michigan's "unique" environmental situation as being unsuitable for a dump. Such a move would mean Michigan would still have to build a dump to handle its own wastes.

— promised to develop a plan to finance the rebuilding of waste water treatment systems to separate storm sewers from sanitary sewers, and build retention basins to provide at least primary treatment for overflows occurring during heavy rains.

— proposed a Risk Assessment Center — run by scientists and environmental experts — in the Department of Public Health to respond to any environmental or food safety problem.

Adds Lack Access to Methadone Treatment: O.S.A.S. Reports

Too few methadone treatment programs are available to Michigan residents willing to use the treatment to end use or addiction to drugs, according to a report released by the Office of Substance Abuse Services.

The report suggested the failings of the treatment programs could raise the risk of spreading AIDS among intravenous drug users. Without more programs, transportation, inconvenience and inaccessibility will continue to plague the treatment method, the report concluded.

OSAS recommended new methadone treatment services, additional medication units from existing sites and strategic geographic placement. "The use of opiates continues in Michigan, but the most effective treatment for many opiate users and addicts — methadone maintenance — is too little available," said OSAS Administrator Joan Walker in the report. "The threat of AIDS among needle users make the need for access to effective treatment everywhere in Michigan all the greater."

The number of methadone treatment programs throughout Michigan has declined from 18 to 12 sites, compared to 58 in the early 1980's. Methadone is used to prevent withdrawal symptoms over a 24-hour dosing interval, drug-hunger and euphoric effects of narcotics.

Major problems in methadone programs cited in the report include inadequate geographic availability of treatment, low retention rates in many treatment programs, gaps in the types of services offered and a need for primary medical care.

To improve retention rates, the OSAS report recommended:

- thorough assessments for every client;
- carefully defined program services with specific goals;
- individual service planning;
- referral of clients to resources from other service organizations;
- aftercare as a standard part of treatment planning and assignment.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night must of had the changing seasons on their minds. They got to talking about adjustments folks have to make, leading off with ways to handle the slow but sure breakdown of working parts caused by time pressing on a feller's body.

But Bug Hookum moved quick to the sorry state of packaging. He said everthing has gone downhill since they quit putting nails in wooden kegs and starting using cardboard boxes. Government policy at all levels was judged and local issues were give fair hearings by fellers everywhere perched on nail kegs around the stove in winter and propped against the wall outside in summer. Bug said after he got use to setting on the edge of a pop bottle crate packing went from bad to worst. The pop people switched to cans and plastic bottles held together with plastic bands nobody can set on.

The fellers were full agreed that no consideration is give to tradition nowadays. Zeke Grubb noted that nail kegs now are flower pots at flea markets where painted pop crates filled with old timey bottles sell for more than a week's groceries not all that many years back. Zeke said he is thankful he still can enjoy a slab of cheese cut off the big round one under the glass by the cash register, because most everwhere cheese comes in slices wrapped in cellofane.

Practical speaking, Clem Webster declared, they ain't much left in this country fer a feller to set on in comfort. We give up solid porch swings and rockers for folding metal frames and strips of plastic. Clem said, but you got to give it to most folks, they usual got a big stuff chair fer sleeping in front of the television.

Turning to Government policy, Ed Doolittle has saw where a log export law being talked about shows how the more things change the more they stay the same. Right now, Ed said, 25 percent of logs cut in our Northwest go out of the country, and most of the products made out of em come back as imports. The law would only apply to logs cut on State and Federal land, but 88 percent of exported logs are from private land. So what the law would change is not made clear, Ed said, and our history in trade policy says it ain't likely to be.

Actual, Ed said, confusion is standard policy all over. He said when he and his old lady flew to visit their daughter a month back he learned there's no way airlines will tell you their best deal on tickets. Fer instant, he found he could of drove 100 miles to another airport and saved $100 on the round trip because the closest airport was a hub for the airline promoting rides from the other one. Then two days before he was to leave he saw a ad fer another airline offering the ride to the same city fer $175 under what he paid three weeks earlier.

Fer sure, declared Clem, there's no confusion about the change in Federal taxing policy. It is plain the Bush Administration is dead set on switching the burden to states and counties and taking credit fer holding the line. Clem had saw where more than half the states have had to raise taxes this year to pay fer services dropped by the Federal Government. The same pattern holds fer school systems all over the country, and to put the stopper in the jug Washington wants to halt Federal deduction of state and local taxes.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

A fire of undetermined origin broke out at approximately 12:19 p.m. inside a closet in an apartment located above the Kusterer Food Market. The Chelsea Fire Department responded by sending three fire trucks to the scene, according to Fire Chief James Gaken. The Chelsea Fire Department quickly brought the blaze under control but stayed to mop up water and clear the apartment of smoke. The clothes were removed from the closet to prevent any further fire.

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Oct. 4, 1956—
Sunday afternoon the newly-formed Sheriff's Mounted Division saw its first official action as a posse when the outfit was called to this vicinity to assist state police and local officers in a hunt for an escaped convict from Southern Michigan Prison and for two youths who walked away from the Cassidy Lake correctional camp.

Thousands of Michigan and Washtenaw county people attended the dedication of the new Washtenaw County Building, located at the corner of Main and Huron streets in Ann Arbor. In addition to bands from all public high schools in Washtenaw county, there were many other units, some musical, some civic and others representing organizations. Both Chelsea and Dexter were represented by several units that helped make the parade attractive and proper.

In a letter to the Board of Supervisors and addressed to the chairman, Edward W. Frederick, James Hendley announced his resignation as a member of the Washtenaw County Road Commission.

Woman's Club Hears Talk on Topic of Revitalizing Chelsea

Mark Heydlauff, representing the Downtown Development Authority, presented an interesting and informative program to the Woman's Club of Chelsea at their Sept. 25 meeting held at the McKune Memorial Library.

Mark is trying to bring everyone up-to-date on plans for Chelsea's future.

The D.D.A. was started in 1984 with $100 donations from merchants. This netted $4,000 to begin the study, and in 1985, they went to the Village Council. In 1987 they looked at property values, increments, and determined that any raise in SEV would allow improvements.

Some major changes were occurring with stores closing on Main St. Deardorff Design of Lansing was engaged to study, with the D.D.A., the area between Chelsea Milling Co. and the Chelsea State Bank. Mark shared these ideas with drawings of the proposals.

The goal is to invite travelers to downtown with several signs or billboards depicting a Victorian setting with a Clocktower logo.

The D.D.A. wants to soften the area and make it pedestrian oriented. There are plans for the empty Pump and Pantry, a parking lot from South St. to W. Middle St., behind the stores, and a hope of keeping the Secretary of State's office downtown.

The members appreciate the time and materials that Mark shared with them and are grateful to the D.D.A. members for their interest in Chelsea's future.

President Jinny Johnson called the meeting to order and the short business meeting found 23 members and one guest, Rose DeGrow, present.

McKune Memorial Library has placed "Oxford Companion to American Theatre" by Gerald Bordman, on its shelf in memory of Edith Hoffman.

Program committee members Betty Oesterle and Billie Zenz arranged the program, and Janet Harrison and Betty Schenk were hostesses.

All women in the area are welcome. For further information call Lois Moore at 475-8743.

"Heal the Children" will be the topic for the Oct. 9 meeting.

There is nothing to be gained by a refusal to face up to a situation which should be changed. Sometimes, in the vain hope that our problem will go away or our situation will change itself, we delay a confrontation with the unpleasant facts.

Such a course merely postpones the inevitable. If something needs changing, face it and do your best. If it can't be changed, at least you'll have the satisfaction of knowing you have done whatever you could.

AN ODE TO A "MICHIGAN" MAN

One-O-Three Main Street -
If you've ever been there
You can attest to the fact
That its walls are not bare.

Those walls are adorned
With yellow and blue
For its proprietor "young" David
Is an "M" supporter thru and thru.

Saturdays in autumn, Chelsea residents will declare
Is a terrible time to have to shorten one's hair.
Although a barber of notoriety the rest of the week
The poor customer of Saturday will exit a freak.

David's preoccupation with Bo
On past weekends in fall
Netted him a job
A task not so small.

He was given a stick
To mark the progress of the U. of M. man
And reveled in his job
To the cheers of the fan.

Then in the winter of '90
Came the announcement by Bo
His coaching days over
He'd be replaced by Mo.

Eager to serve his new general on opening day
Murphy was off to Ann Arbor to beat UCLA.

He arrived at the stadium
amid cheers and chants
But was barred from the field
He had FORGOTTEN HIS PANTS!

But David's loyalty to Michigan is solid and true
For as his replacement took the field
He issued a mighty GO BLUE!!!

Armyworm Infestation Could Be The Worst in Recent Years

The armyworm is on the march throughout much of central lower Michigan. And it may be on the verge of reaching outbreak proportions. Uncontrolled, armyworms can destroy an entire field of corn or other crops, says Doug Landis, Michigan State Extension entomologist.

"We are advising farmers to be checking all of their crops immediately for armyworms and their damage," Landis says. "In some counties, such as Eaton, it is already at an outbreak level."

Environmental conditions during the past few months—a cool spring followed by warm weather—have been ideal for the development of the armyworm. It had not been a serious threat to Michigan crops for several years.

"Armyworms are usually held in check by several natural enemies, including parasitic flies, wasps and diseases, but this year the armyworm population has apparently escaped its natural checks and balances," Landis says.

Depending on the population level and the vulnerability of the crop to armyworm damage, farmers may have no choice but to apply an insecticide to their crops, Landis says.

He says that, for the most part, farmers will use their own equipment to apply insecticides, but if a crop is being ravaged, aircraft may have to be used.

Currently the armyworm is feeding predominantly on plant leaves in wheat fields, but as the leaves dry the worms will migrate to other fields or begin chewing the heads off the wheat plants.

Landis advises farmers not to spray wheat fields unless the wheat heads are being clipped.

As the wheat crop matures, the armyworms will "march" to other fields. If the population is large enough, they will eat almost anything. Landis says the time to treat corn at whorl stage is when three or more armyworms are found per plant.

Treatment of soybeans should be done if the armyworm has destroyed 40 percent of plant leaf surface, unless the soybeans are in bloom—then treatment should begin if 15 percent of the plant has been defoliated.

In dry beans, treatment should be made if 25 percent of the leaf surface has been removed; in alfalfa and oats, treat if four or more armyworms are present per foot of row.

Landis says that the armyworm adult (a moth) lays its eggs in dense grassy areas and that the emerging larvae feed primarily on grasses, including grains and corn.

When they are small, armyworms are hard to detect because they feed primarily at night, hiding during the day at the bases of plants in the upper layer of the soil.

When the armyworm population is high, however, the caterpillars may also feed during the day. The larger armyworms get, the more they eat and the harder they are to control.

In addition to wheat fields, Landis says that farmers should be checking fencerows and other dense grassy areas around fields for evidence of armyworm feeding. Armyworm larvae usually feed on the margins of the leaves. Ragged edges on leaves, holes chewed in leaves, clipped heads of small grains and the pellet-shaped, dark green frass (excrement) are all signs of armyworm feeding.

It may be, Landis says, that early detection—while the caterpillars are small—will mean that just the border of the field will need to be treated.

The armyworm is a cylindrical, hairless caterpillar with a brownish head, three pairs of small, jointed legs just behind the head and five pairs of fleshy legs. Their bodies are usually dark brown or greenish with a broad, light stripe down the middle of the back. The caterpillars may be up to 2 inches long when fully grown.

In Michigan, two to three generations of armyworm occur per year, but Landis says it is the first generation which feeds during June and July, that is the most damaging.

Farmers should check with their county Co-operative Extension Service office for recommendations for treating armyworm-infested fields.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, BLAKE!

The 50th Anniversary of your birth
Gives your friends and family cause for great mirth.
As your forehead gets higher with thinner curly flannel,
It also exposes more of that beloved solar panel.
I will not tell all in this little rhyme.
This space costs money and writing takes time.
But to honor your birthday please don't order cheese and triscuits,
I would much prefer WE celebrate with some special doggie biscuits.
You drive the van and I'll sit on your lap,
Give me your pillow and I'll take the nap.

Postal Dept. Gives Tips on Mailing To Persian Gulf

The Postal Service has some helpful hints for Americans mailing parcels or packages to military personnel deployed to Operation Desert Shield. Following these guidelines, your packages will get there promptly and efficiently.

— Use sturdy carton, large enough to accommodate the contents.

— Use some form of cushioning to protect the articles inside. Seal the parcel securely. Use pressure-sensitive tape. Avoid using brown wrapping paper, cord or string on the outside.

— Print the service member's name and address on the lower right portion of the package on one side only. It should include the service member's name, rank and service number, military organization or unit, and the APO/FPO address. It's important to have the current APO/FPO address, which should be available from the service member's base in the United States.

— Put your return address in the upper left hand corner of the package. Also, include your return address on a piece of paper on the inside of the package.

— Remember the hot temperatures and heat of the Saudi Arabian climate when considering what to send to the troops there. Temperatures in the desert exceed 100 degrees regularly.

— Items to send which are popular with the troops include audiocassette tapes, newspaper clippings, gum and hard candy.

— Make sure to attach a parcel post customs declaration form (Form 2960-A, available at local post offices) on all your packages.

— The fastest way for packages to get there is Priority or First-Class Mail which allows for a 5-10 day delivery.

Everybody's Science

★ Elm Tree Mystery Organism Unmasked . . .

By Sandy Miller Hays

Dutch elm disease may be getting a bum rap.

So says Ing-Ming Lee, a U.S. Department of Agriculture plant pathologist. Lee contends that some American elms supposedly felled by Dutch elm disease actually may have been victims of elm yellows, an entirely different ailment.

Elm yellows specializes in sneak attacks, according to Lee. A tree infected with elm yellows may show no signs of a problem until the tree is beyond saving.

But a scientific tool devised by Lee offers new hope of early warning. The true culprit behind elm yellows is a mycoplasma-like organism, or MLO. Lee has created a probe made from a fragment of DNA from the elm yellows MLO. This probe can indicate whether a particular plant or tree has been infected by the elm yellows MLO.

Lee isn't the first to develop a DNA probe, but his is the first for elm yellows. It could reveal whether seedlings are infected before they are ever planted.

This could open the door to new markets overseas. That's because elms in Europe are plagued with a similar disease associated with an MLO. No one knows whether it's the same MLO that's behind elm yellows in the U.S.

But the Europeans are taking no chances—imports of living elm materials into European and Mediterranean countries from the United States have been prohibited.

The uncertain relationship between the American and European organisms is only one of the mysteries of MLOs. For example, scientists know MLOs can be spread among plants by insects. But for many MLOs, they are not sure which insects are responsible.

To further complicate matters, the same MLO can cause different symptoms in different plants. This raises the question of whether the same MLO could be causing more than one plant disease.

Scientists know more than 300 plant diseases world-wide are associated with MLOs, but they are uncertain how many MLOs exist. Lee's elm yellows probe and other similar tools may someday help uncover the truth about MLOs and their activities.

Food-Borne Illnesses To Be Discussed at Lecture

When people get sick they think it's fate. Indeed many illnesses are unexpected, influenced by heredity, or not preventable.

But, there are millions of cases of illness that could be prevented. These are not results of fate; they result from improper food handling.

Learn how to prevent food-borne illness from striking your family by understanding which foods are the frequent carriers of germs that can hurt you. Learn the proper storage and cooking procedures that can make your kitchen "fall safe."

Learn about botulism in unusual places, the mayo myth and a new threat to food safety, Listeria. These facts and more will be discussed at a free public lecture at the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service office, 4133 Washtenaw, Oct. 4 at 10 a.m. The speaker, home economist Marion Prince Holt is a registered dietitian.

Booster Immunization
Shots Offered for Children

Seventh grade children (12-13-year-olds) who received only one dose of measles-mumps-rubella (MMR) vaccine should receive a second dose, according to a recent recommendation issued by the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Washtenaw County Public Health Division, Human Services Department, will provide booster MMR immunizations to this group of seventh graders during their regularly scheduled Immunization Clinics. Clinics are held at the following times and locations:

Service Center, 4101 Washtenaw, Ann Arbor. Wednesday (1st) 1:30-7:30 p.m.

Eastern Subcenter, 555 Towner, Ypsilanti. Wednesday (2nd) 1:30-4:30 p.m.

Social Services Building, 2350 W. Stadium Blvd. Ann Arbor. Wednesday (4th) 1:30-4:30 p.m.

To prevent unnecessary revaccinations, parents should review their seventh graders' immunization records before bringing their children to the Public Health Clinics.

Private physicians are also available to provide revaccinations. According to Dr. Dennis Chernin, interim medical director of Washtenaw County Public Health, boosters are recommended because of recent outbreaks in Michigan and across the country. In Michigan, in 1989, there were 359 confirmed cases of which 62% occurred in children 10 to 19 years of age. In 1990, 478 cases were confirmed, 50% occurring in 10- to 19-year-olds.

Village Starts Legal Action Against Royalty Limousine Co.

Village of Chelsea is going to court to try to stop Royalty Limousine service from operating under current conditions at 747 Flanders St.

The village's zoning board of appeals ruled in August that the village's home occupation ordinance does not allow home occupations to have employees who are not residents of the home. The business was red-tagged after neighbors complained that some drivers for the company do not reside at the Flanders St. residence.

However, since the ruling there have been complaints that the business continues to operate in much the same fashion.

The owner of the business, Gene Haab, through her Manchester attorney, is seeking a temporary restraining order so she can continue to operate. The suit contends, among other things, that the village agreed to allow the business, is enforcing the home occupation ordinance unreasonably and arbitrarily and has disregarded other similar businesses, and that one of the neighbors who issued a complaint has a personal vendetta against a resident of the home.

A court date has been set for Oct. 11.

In 1987 women made up 46 percent of the work force, and by the year 2000 they will account for nearly half of American workers, according to the U.S. Labor Department. Men will not be immune to the problems associated with this trend. Well over half of working men have wives working full or part time, and an estimated 25 percent of working parents have some responsibility for an aging relative.

State Grant Would Expand Recycling Here

The Chelsea-area recycling program could be significantly expanded if the grant proposal submitted by Chelsea and Manchester is accepted by the state.

The grant would provide an average of two drop-off sites in the village as well as Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, and Dexter townships, or about 10 in all. Village of Manchester would have one drop-off site and the surrounding townships would also each have one drop-off point.

The grant would also provide a plastics baler for Chelsea, allowing easier handling of milk jugs. The program here has used a baler at Chelsea Milling Co.

In addition, the curbside recycling program could be expanded in Chelsea and one would be started in Manchester.

The proposal also includes a variety of advertising and promotions, and training programs.

Other items in the proposal include a processing building, as well as various bins and vehicles.

Chelsea is now considering ways for recycling white paper and cardboard, although planning is in the beginning stages.

Homecoming Events Start Next Week

Chelsea High school homecoming festivities will be held the week of Oct. 8-13 at the high school.

In keeping with tradition, there will be an alumni gathering in the high school cafeteria after next Friday night's football game with Tecumseh. Light refreshments will be available for former students.

Other activities will include a Friday afternoon homecoming parade, and the crowning of the queen at half-time of the football game.

On Saturday, Oct. 13, various afternoon activities will be held from 1-3 at the high school. Events include co-ed volleyball and a tug-o-war.

A homecoming dance will be held Saturday night in the high school cafeteria from 9-11:30. Dress code is semi-formal.

LITTLE PEOPLE AND THEIR PETS was the subject of a talk by Dr. Linda Griebel, an Ann Arbor veterinarian, birds. The program was repeated Monday at North last Friday. Griebel discussed various kinds of pets and how to care for them. Here she talks about one of her pet school.

U-M Campus Employees Using Bikes

The Plant Operations Department at the University of Michigan is coasting these days. On bikes, that is.

Supervisors, sporting black-and-white helmets to match the bikes, zip across campus on one of several mountain-type two-wheelers to check on jobs or go to meetings.

Not particularly stylish or lightweight, the bikes provide cheap, fast transportation, riders say.

University Forester Marvin D. Pettway and Michael S. Gaubatz, assistant manager of Grounds and Waste Management Service, are among the supervisors regularly pedaling across campus.

Pettway says the bike patrol gives him a different view of the more than 5,000 trees on the U-M central campus. If a low-hanging branch brushes his helmet, the tree needs a trim, he says.

The bikes are a boon during rush hour, says Gaubatz, who reports he can get from his office to another cross-campus operations unit in less time on a bike than it takes to drive a car.

Pettway, who regularly rides his own touring bike more than 12 miles to work from his home near Ford Lake in Ypsilanti, says the bikes free up University vehicles for crews that need to carry bulky or heavy equipment to work sites.

The supervisors plan to use the bikes at least nine months of the year. The two-wheelers should be particularly handy during peak traffic periods—when students return in September and during home football game week-ends.

Most campus pedestrians don't realize the bike riders are University employees. However, when Pettway and Gaubatz told one student that they were riding on University business, she said she was glad they were not contributing to traffic congestion or air pollution.

"Uproarious laughter" is another response, admits Pettway, who adds that in general his crews think the bikes make sense. Both he and Gaubatz confess to catching some ribbing from other U-M employees.

One staff member asked how they figure mileage charges.

In calories, perhaps?

Bring A Bike Program Set To Teach Safety

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital announced today that Ms. Mareli van Reesema with Chelsea Community Hospital Children's Center has agreed to conduct a "Bring A Bike Day" Trike-A-Thon with their pre-schoolers on Oct. 12.

This unique event was developed by St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, with the help of early childhood development specialists.

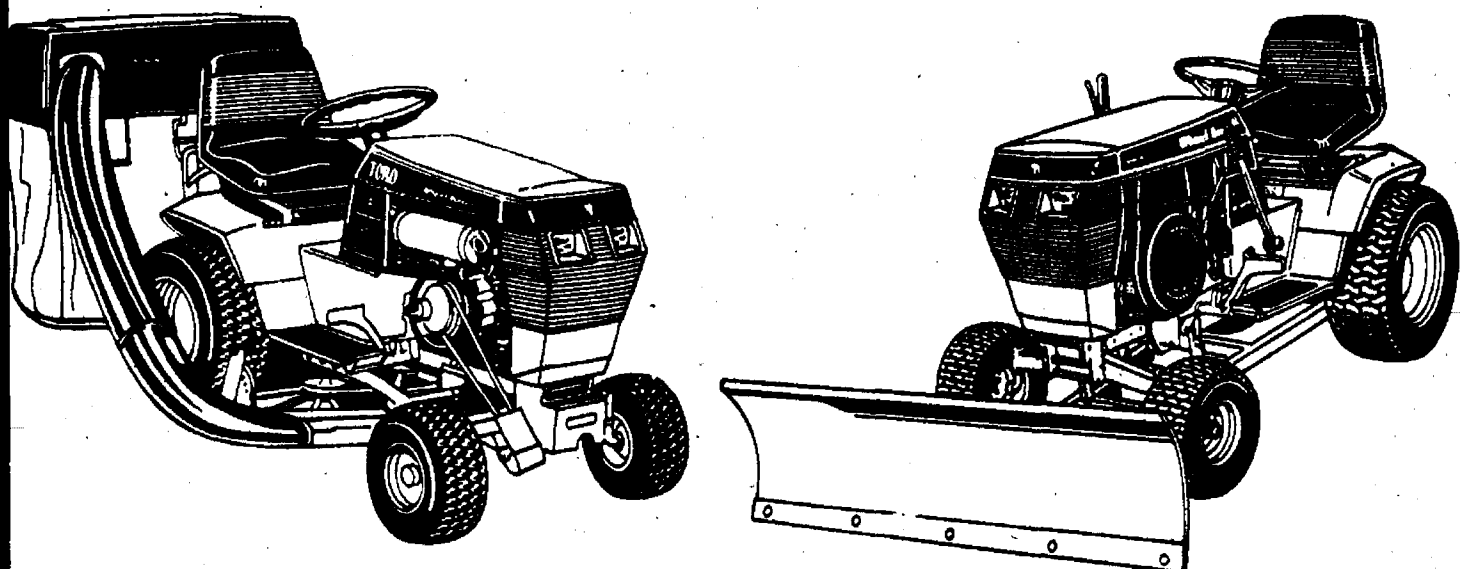

The "Bring A Bike Day" Trike-A-Thon raises funds to continue the Hospital's programs of research, patient care, and education into childhood cancers and other catastrophic diseases. What makes this event so unique is that it is designed to expose pre-schoolers to using riding toys safely through a week-long fun activity, and provides a parent-awareness program that involves the parents in safe behavior practices to help ensure their child's well-being.

Cancer is the leading disease killer of American children, and St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is the leading cancer center for the conquest of these killers.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Bulldogs Rout Panthers For Third Victory, Face Dreadnaughts Friday

Five different Chelsea Bulldogs scored touchdowns last Friday night at Niehaus Field as the Bulldogs ran past the Jackson County Western Panthers 32-7 in non-conference action.

Running backs Jude Quilter, Rick Westcott, and Adam Taylor, quarterback Tucker Steele, and receiver Ben Hurst each crossed the Panther goal line as Chelsea exhibited its best offense of the year in gaining 411 total yards.

In addition, the Bulldog defense had its stingiest performance of the season, allowing 78 yards rushing and 86 yards passing.

"We dominated the game," said Chelsea head coach Gene LaFave.

"We had a better punting game, our kick coverage was better, our offense was better, and we dominated the defensive line. We stopped their big fullback and even though they had Derek Wirebaugh, their scheme couldn't beat us. It was by far our best defensive performance. We needed a game like that, one that wasn't a nail-biter."

Perhaps the telling statistic of the game was Chelsea ran 66 plays to Western's 30. The difference wasn't due to turnovers, either, as Chelsea had one pass picked off and Western gave up an interception and a fumble. The difference was strong defense. Western had one drive in the first half longer than three plays and a punt.

After Jeff Holzhausen recovered a fumble on Western's opening drive, Steele guided the Bulldogs on a nine-play, 59-yard scoring drive. Chelsea got a break when Westcott broke loose for a 15-yard run, fumbled the ball, and a Bulldog recovered it another eight yards upfield at the Western 27. Three plays later from the 16, Quilter sprinted outside and dove across the corner of the end zone for the first Bulldog score.

The Panthers' next drive ended in four plays and after a punt the Bulldogs went to work at their 39. They moved to the Panther 15 before an interception at the goal line ended the drive.

Chelsea again ended the next Panther drive in four plays and took over after a punt at the Western 46. Three plays later, Steele hit receiver Colby Skelton on a 12-yard pass to the Western 29. After a holding penalty on

THIS PASS over the middle was complete to receiver freshman Colby Skelton (background right) during the second quarter of Friday's home contest against Jackson County Western. Quarterback Tucker Steele completed 9-15 on the night, including two to Skelton.

Chelsea, Quilter took a short pass and ran to the Western 24. A facemask penalty on the next play gave Chelsea the ball at the Panther 11. Steele then scored on the option over the right side.

Again, Chelsea had problems on the extra point try and the score stood at 12-0.

Western's next drive, which began at their own 31, ended in their only touchdown of the night as Wirebaugh connected on a 25-yard pass with 5:34 remaining in the half.

The Bulldogs responded with their longest scoring drive of the night. The 12-play drive started at their own 11. Quilter ran five times, including a 27-yard scamper from the Bulldogs 35. With :46 remaining in the half, Steele hit Hurst over the middle for the touchdown.

Chelsea scored two more times in the second half. Westcott's 21-yard touchdown run came with 4:08 in the third quarter. Skelton caught the two-point pass from Steele.

And the final touchdown of the night came on Adam Taylor's nine-yard run in the closing seconds.

Quilter had 21 carries for 138 yards and led the receiving corps with five catches for 27 yards. Westcott had 115 yards on 16 carries, Steele ran 48 yards in eight carries, and Taylor picked up 31 yards in five carries.

Steele was 9-15 passing for 78 yards. Skelton had two catches for 15 yards and Hurst and Ferry each had catches for 18 yards.

Chelsea travels to Dexter Friday as the Bulldogs attempt to even their Southeastern Conference record at 2-2.

In order for Dexter to win, LaFave said, it will have to be a low-scoring contest.

"Dexter has trouble offensively but defensively they're tough as usual," LaFave said.

"I don't think they're capable of scoring a lot of points on us. On the other hand, we'll need to get three or four touchdowns to win." Chelsea's record stands at 3-2.

7th Grade Cagers Win Two Games

Beach Middle school seventh grade basketball team easily beat Dexter and Pinckney in action last week.

The Bullpups topped Dexter 34-17 on Monday as eight girls scored. Chelsea scorers included Lisa Beard 8, Ann Terpstra 8, Danielle Longe 4, Beth Blevins 4, Heidi Wehrwein 2, Chrissy Vargo 2, Jessica Inwood 1, and Kyle Kentala 1.

At Pinckney on Thursday, Chelsea won 34-17 in their first road game.

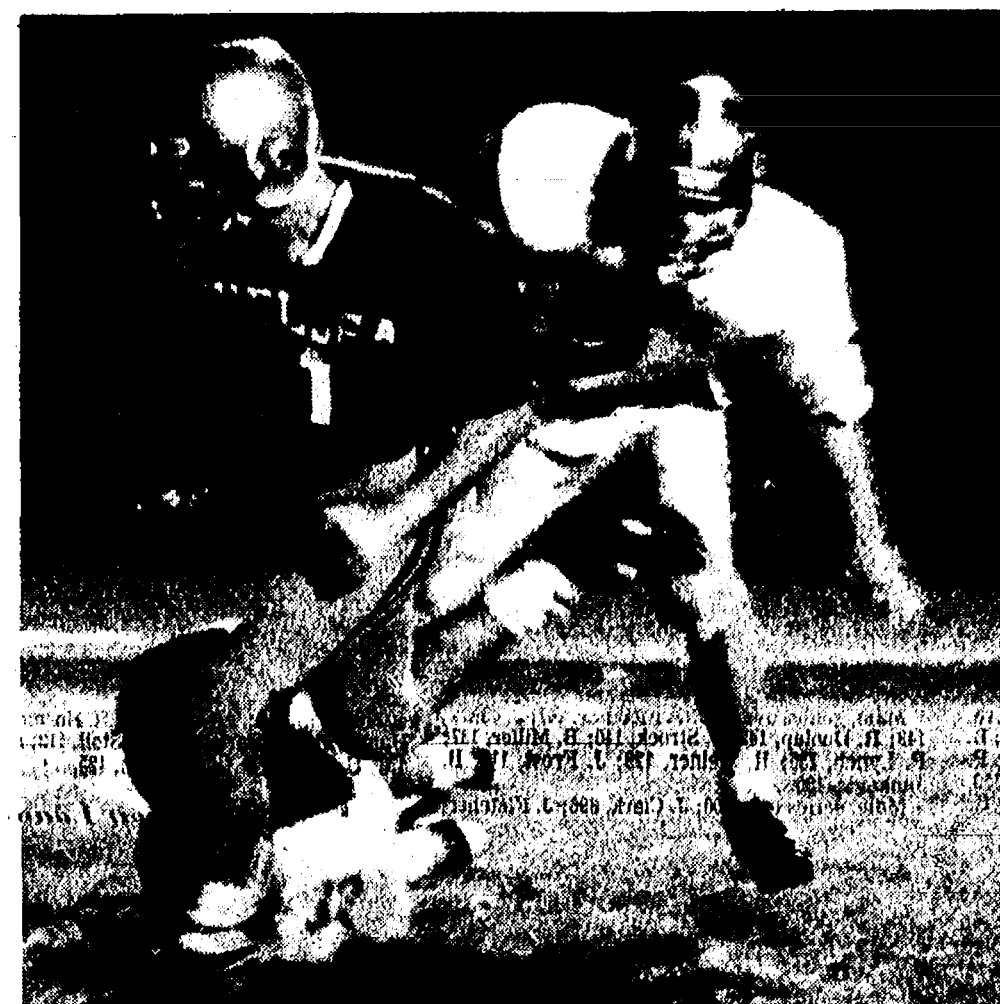

"Our domination of the boards was an important factor in the win," said Pup coach Ann Schaffner.

Terpstra had 25 rebounds and Longe had 8.

Chelsea scorers included Terpstra 8, Longe 7, Kentala 5, Blevins 4, Inwood 2, Wehrwein 2, Nikki Lane 2, Suzy Steele 2, and Katie Spink 2.

JUDE QUILTER looks to cut inside behind tackle Mike Terpstra during last Friday's game. Quilter rushed for 138 yards on the night, one of his best performances of the season.

TUCKER STEELE runs into the end zone untouched last Friday for the second of Chelsea's three first-half touchdowns. The quarterback had one of his best nights of the season as the Bulldogs won handily, 32-7, over Jackson County Western.

Bulldog Cagers Trounce Lincoln

Chelsea Bulldogs varsity basketball team was still undefeated in Southeastern Conference play going into last night's game with Dexter.

The Bulldogs defeated Lincoln at home last Tuesday, 38-21, with their lowest point total of the season.

Chelsea jumped out to a 9-0 lead but by half-time the game was tied at 13.

"Lincoln wanted to slow the game down, and we were very sluggish," said Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter.

"It seemed like everyone missed her first shot and didn't want to shoot after that. I had a few choice words at half-time."

Rosentreter's pep talk resulted in Chelsea outscoring the Railsplitters 25-8 in the second half.

Chelsea hit just 13 of 59 shots from the field. They also had 18 offensive rebounds and out-rebounded the Railsplitters 42-20.

Mercedes Hammer led Chelsea with 17 points, and Carrie Flintoff scored 10. Other scorers included Christine Burg 7, Shawn Losey 2, and Kristin Bohlender 2. Burg and Flintoff had 14 and 13 rebounds, respectively.

Thursday's game at Tecumseh should be one of the toughest games of the year for the Bulldogs.

JV Gridders Lose to JCW On Conversion

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity football team lost a tough contest to Jackson County Western last Thursday in Parma, 15-13.

All the scoring was in the second half, although the Bulldogs had many scoring opportunities in the first half, said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton. A 35-yard touchdown was called back, three touchdown passes were dropped, and the Bulldogs fumbled at the JCW 25 yard line.

JCW scored first in the third quarter on a 35-yard draw play on fourth down and five. The extra point gave the hosts a 7-0 lead.

Chelsea came right back with an 80-yard scoring drive, featuring the running of Jay Westcott and Aric Dougherty. Westcott scored the touchdown and Tim Westcott added the extra point.

The Bulldogs took the lead on their next drive as Dougherty scored from one yard. A pair of penalties on the extra point try put the ball at the six, the eventual kick missed, and Chelsea led 13-7.

Late in the fourth quarter, JCW drove to the Chelsea 25. On a fourth down and four, JCW ran a sweep and scored with :59 remaining. They faked a kick for the two-point conversion.

"This team has shown a lot of improvement, it's just a little frustrating that we haven't been able to win," Welton said.

Welton praised the play of his entire offense, especially the line play of center David Brock, guards Casey Schiller and Jim Sarna, tackles Ed Greenleaf and Ed Waller, and tight end Steve Grau.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

The Michigan High School Athletic Association is finally starting to make some sense out of girls sports.

Next year, girls swimming becomes a winter sport in what is anticipated as the first of several moves to put more equity in girls sports. And it's about time.

Next winter, girl athletes will be able to choose between volleyball and swimming, rather than volleyball and volleyball. Later on, boys swimming may be moved to the fall, but best of all, girls basketball may be moved to the winter, where it should have been from the beginning.

Swimming coaches may have some scheduling problems at first, and winter may become a prolonged period of non-sleep for coaches like Chelsea's Dave Jolly, who coaches both the boys and girls teams. Imagine doubling the number of meets, or perhaps doubling the length of meets by having boys and girls swim at the same time. So it probably makes a lot of sense to flip-flop the boys and girls seasons.

Michigan is one of a small handful of states in which girls play basketball in the fall. Many players and coaches like it that way for reasons ranging from the lack of competition for court time to increased availability of officials. Good officials are hard enough to find as it is.

Chelsea coach Rahn Rosentreter also says Michigan players get increased attention from college scouts, although that wouldn't have much impact in Chelsea.

As I have written before, though, the best reason to move basketball is to show Michigan values girls sports as much as boys sports. Basketball is traditionally a winter sport. That's when it should be played, regardless of which sex is on the court. Discrimination doesn't end when girls and boys have the same opportunity for practice, games, and uniforms.

And if some sports do have to be shifted to different seasons for pragmatic concerns, let's move boys sports for a change.

Friday was one of the finest all-around nights I can remember at Niehaus Field in quite some time.

The Bulldogs won easily and finally looked like a solid football team. Five different Bulldogs scored.

We got, perhaps, a glimpse of the future when Adam Taylor was inserted as a running back late in the game. The junior showed some moves, and seemed more than willing to take a hard hit.

Jackson County Western provided some of the comic relief when they demonstrated to perfection a play guaranteed to lose 10 or 15 yards on a kick-off. A receiver took the kick, ran backwards, then tossed the ball even further back to a teammate, who ran out of bounds. It was a performance worthy of Elmer Fudd, who, incidentally, along with Bugs Bunny and a rather large carrot, made an appearance at half-time.

The annual half-time show featuring Beach Middle school musicians is always my favorite of the season. This year was no exception. The kids played "Sing, Sing, Sing" as though they were born listening to Gene Krupa. They may miss a beat or a step now and then, but their sheer numbers and enthusiasm more than make up for the glitches. It seems like half the youngsters in Chelsea are on the field at once.

Believe it or not, a tune by New Kids on The Block generated a few boos from a few kids in the crowd. Were they hoping for a number from the new AC/DC album?

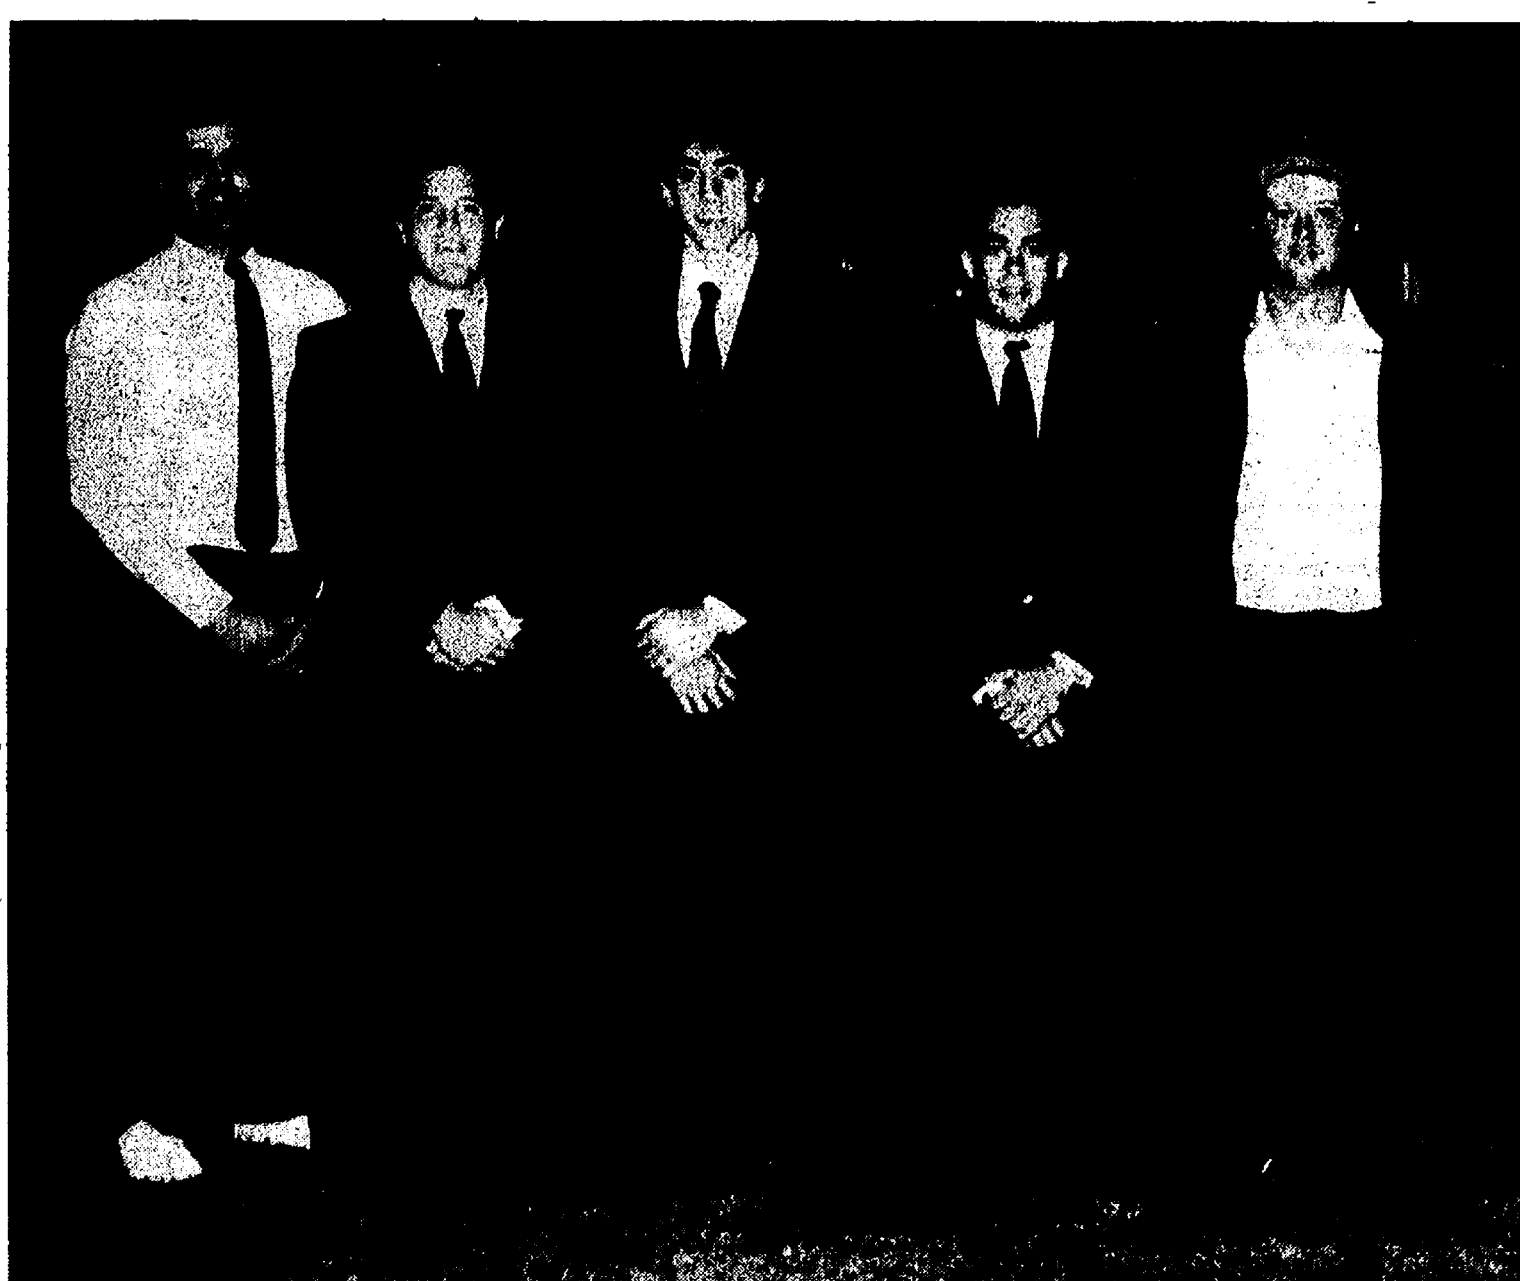

Kyle Plank, Lance Satterthwaite, and Matt Herter, three most deserving young men, were also inducted into the Chelsea Football Hall of Fame.

So we had good football, a little tradition, a little comedy, and some fine musical entertainment all in one night. It'll be a hard act to follow.

I hate to get overly optimistic, but I think Chelsea could win its last four football games to end the season with a six-game winning streak.

Pinckney looms as the toughest remaining opponent.

However, with the Dexter Dreadnaughts, anything is possible. Rich Grannis' team would love to pull an upset Friday.

Bulldog Netters Drop Match to Tough Ann Arbor Greenhills

Chelsea Bulldogs tennis team lost to Ann Arbor Greenhills last Tuesday, Sept. 30, 1-6.

"We had some tough luck because we had to shift three places in the line-up due to the illness of second singles player Sara Musolf," said Chelsea coach Terri Curtis.

The first doubles team of Jane Pacheco and Lissa Hamrick picked up Chelsea's only point by defeating Kristy Kosta and Jennifer Hill 7-5, 6-2.

In singles play, Amy Mitchell lost to Rani Nanda, 4-6, 1-6; Sarah Gegenheimer lost to Tricia Cox, 1-6, 2-6; Katie Neal lost to Braden Wilhelm, 2-6, 2-6; and Erin Boyle lost to Sha Sha Ang, 0-6, 0-6.

In doubles play, Becky Vetter and Julie Weiss lost to Shabnum Mehra and Juliet Hatcher, 0-6, 0-6; and Becky Dehring and Christine McLaughlin lost to Sara Loppnow and Audrey White, 1-6, 4-6.

In junior varsity play, Theresa Hurst and Monica Hanson beat Hanna Miller and Monja Holland, 8-3 and Becca Flintoft and Tracy Haas beat Vicky Rotberg and Alexa Grundelman, 6-2. Heather Wynn, playing singles, lost to Alex Bohlander, 4-8.

Thursday is parents night for the team, which hosts Brooklyn Columbia Central in its final home match.

In other action, on Saturday, Sept. 24 the Bulldogs took fifth place in the eight team Saline Invitational Tennis Tournament.

"The girls did very well considering the odds against them," Curtis said.

"They went from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. in a tournament well above their skill level. However, they managed to take eight of the 18 matches they played to three sets."

Mitchell lost to Lauren Zimmermann of Ladywood, 2-6, 1-6, and Shannon Teal of Riverview, 6-3, 4-6, 6-7.

Musolf defeated Cyndy Maloit of Riverview, 7-5, 6-7, 6-4 but lost to Bridgette Moore of Ladywood, 3-6, 2-6.

Gegenheimer lost to Shannon Kaye of Allen Park Cabrini, 6-7, 3-6 then won by default over Mary Zonowski of Ladywood.

Neal lost to Asli Segun of Jackson Lumen Christi, 6-3, 6-7, 0-6, then beat Mary Manglapan of Cabrini, 0-6, 0-6, and Candi Lewis of Novi, 1-6, 3-6.

Pacheco and Hamrick defeated Butler and Vanderhoff of Novi 7-6, 6-2 but lost to Sullivan and Brilantes of Lumen Christi, 1-6, 6-1, 1-6.

Vetter and Weiss lost to Konna and Teal of Trenton, 2-6, 7-6, 0-6, and Gerbeb and Gefetos of Riverview, 1-6, 6-7.

Dehring and McLaughlin lost to Martindale and Little of Saline, 1-6, 0-6, and Kadar and Willard of Novi, 6-3, 1-6, 1-6.

Hurst and Hansen lost to Hwang and Crepeau of Novi, 3-6, 7-6, 4-6 then beat Moore and Fajas of Riverview 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, and Ozuh and Fazula of Livonia, 1-6, 2-6.

Saline won the tournament.

8th Grade Cagers Drop Two Games

Beach Middle school eighth grade basketball lost to Dexter, 20-15, and Pinckney, 38-32, in action last week.

Chelsea was outscored 8-0 in the third quarter of the Dexter game, which coach Jon Schaffner said was the key to the game.

Bullpup scorers included Lori Ritter and Amy Petty with four points each, Kate Steele with three points, and Keri Kentala and Nancy Pidd with two points each. Petty led Chelsea with six rebounds and Charlotte Ziegler had seven steals.

Eleven Bullpups scored in the loss to Pinckney. Petty scored five points, Ziegler, Kentala, and Ritter scored four each, and Cindy Tripp, Jessica Flintoft, Jayma Spears, Hailey Orr, and Nancy Pidd scored two each, and Martha Merkel scored one.

Petty led with six rebounds, and Ziegler had four steals.

"It was the third straight game we've had a nice lead at half-time only to play poorly in the second half."

Chelsea Bulldogs girls swim team moved its record to 3-2 last week with a 95-44 win over the Lincoln Railspitters and a close 94-91 loss to the Brighton Bulldogs.

Most of the girls got a change from their usual events in the Lincoln meet. Highlights included a four-second drop in the 100 butterfly by freshman Ninete Vermeylen, and a first-place finish by junior Kristi Smith in the 500 freestyle.

Coach Dave Jolly said good swims in the Brighton meet were turned in by freshman Maya Holleman in the 100 freestyle at 1:07.46, and junior Erika Boughton in the 500 freestyle. Jolly said the backstroke was a strong event for Chelsea as freshman Erica Street swam a lifetime best of 1:15.63 for third place and Shana Voster finished fourth in 1:16.45.

"Both meets were a little slow as the middle of the season rolled in," said Jolly.

"Lackluster performances and at times not pushing to the fullest prevented us from swimming up to our potential. I'm not sure what has prompted the swims we have seen lately although one reason could be sickness. The drive to win was absent Saturday. No excuses, we got beat."

The girls face Milan tomorrow in one of their toughest meets of the season.

Fresh Silage Contains Potential Death Threat

As farmers prepare equipment to harvest corn for silage, they need to be extremely wary of silage's lethal threat.

Fresh silage (including haylage) naturally produces nitrogen dioxide—silo gas—which can accumulate in the silo at a concentration that can cause permanent injury or death.

"The highest concentrations of nitrogen oxides usually occur 48 hours after the silo is filled, but no one should go into an upright silo for four to six weeks after filling," says Howard J. Doss, Michigan State University Extension agricultural safety specialist.

Nitrogen dioxide is heavier than air, so it may form yellowish layers of mist above the silage or drop down the silo chute. The strong silage odor can mask nitrogen dioxide's bleachlike odor. It may be present even if you cannot see or smell it, Doss says.

When silo gas is highly concentrated, he warns, it can kill a person in a matter of seconds, along with anyone who attempts a rescue.

"In low concentrations, silo gas damages the respiratory system when the nitrogen dioxide combines with moisture in the lungs to form nitric acid," Doss says. "This acid eats away at the lung tissue and can cause permanent damage."

The symptoms include severe irritation that may lead to inflammation of the lungs, though the victim may feel little pain or discomfort. Exposure symptoms—shortness of breath, a faint feeling and flu-like illness—can be delayed for several days.

Frequently, a relapse with symptoms similar to those of flu or pneumonia occurs one to two weeks after initial recovery from the exposure.

"The majority of people who develop initial silo gas exposure symptoms could also develop secondary ailments," Doss says. "For this reason, it is extremely important that anyone exposed to silo gas seek medical attention, regardless of the degree of these symptoms."

"A person may inhale silo gas for a short time and notice no effects," Doss says. "But he or she may go to bed several hours later and die while sleeping because of the fluid that has collected in the lungs."

Silo gas begins to form almost as soon as silo filling begins.

"It is most likely to develop one to three days after the corn is chopped into silage," Doss says. "If a mechanical breakdown occurs or the silo filler pipe clogs, the problem should be corrected immediately. Waiting overnight to do the task adds to the risk of silo gas buildup in the silo."

Only if there is a dire need should a person consider entering a silo that contains fresh silage, and then only if he/she is wearing a self-contained breathing apparatus.

"Wearing anything less could be suicide during the first four to six weeks after silo filling," Doss says.

To locate a suitable self-contained breathing apparatus, work through the local fire department or a safety equipment supplier.

"Locating a suitable unit may be frustrating and may take some time, but it is far better than losing a member of the family or paying for impatience with permanent injury the rest of a person's life," Doss says.

Anyone who must enter the silo during or just after filling should follow these procedures:

—Put on the self-contained breathing apparatus.

—Open a silo door above the silage or allow any silo gas present to drain out of the silo.

—Run the blower at the base of the silo 15 to 30 minutes before entering to let fresh air in above the silage.

—When entering the silo after that recommended waiting period, be sure to ventilate the silo chute for 10 to 15 minutes beforehand and open several hatches to move out any pockets of gas.

No one should ever work alone in a silo. Always work in pairs so someone can go for help in an emergency.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I read the letters to the editor last week and am responding to them today. It is very obvious that Rev. Sondra B. Willobee has completely missed the point of "Desert Shield," and it is also very obvious that she does not have a son in Saudi Arabia. It is my prayer that Patrick Flannery and my son, Jared, as well as other servicemen and women, would not see Rev. Willobee's critical and uncompassionate letter. My son, Jared Bradley, 82nd Airborne, has been in Saudi Arabia since August 15, 1990. Since his departure, red, white and blue ribbons have hung on the old oak trees in front of the Chelsea Free Methodist church telling the whole world that we are praying for a speedy, "bloodless" resolution to the Middle East conflict.

Today I "faxed" a letter via AT&T to Patrick Flannery and another of many to my son, Jared. That was my response to Pat's letter to the editor, and I would encourage all who read Pat's letter to do the same. Also, I will include Jared's address at the close of this letter.

Last Christmas my son, Jared, gave me a photograph of himself in his "battle fatigues" with Psalm 27:3 written beside it:

"Though an army may encamp against me,
My heart shall not fear;
Though a war may rise against me,
In God I will be confident."

Patrick closed his letter asking all who read it to pray for him. I, too, encourage each and every one of us to "pray without ceasing" for peace on earth. The words of Scripture call to us as a nation today... May we heed these words:

"If My people who are called by My name will humble themselves, and pray and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven, and will forgive their sins and heal their land."

Dear Editor,

I'd like to respond to Sondra Willobee's Letter to the Editor, which was published in the Sept. 26 issue of The Standard. In her letter, Mrs. Willobee objected to our country's military presence in the Middle East, apparently believing that our "addiction" to "gas-guzzling cars" and "large, expensive homes" is the motive behind our military involvement.

I find it curious that Mrs. Willobee's letter never mentions the unprovoked invasion, and subsequent annexation, of Kuwait by Iraq. To attribute our military actions to "greed," while completely ignoring Iraq's blatant seizure of the Kuwaiti oil fields, is not only a gross distortion, but in fact a complete reversal of the facts.

Did it never occur to you, Mrs. Willobee, that the basis for our involvement is the protection of the freedom of neighboring countries, and a desire to restore the freedom of the people of Kuwait? Doesn't even the most casual overview of the "value of our pioneer forebears" include a love of freedom so strong that they willingly gave their lives in defense of it? Don't you think that, if our military involvement were based solely on preservation of low oil prices, we would have invaded the Middle East during the previous "energy crisis" and forceably dismantled OPEC?

I applaud our President for the action which he has taken, and I stand 100% behind our military forces in the Middle East. It seems to me, Mrs. Willobee, that America's willingness to spend billions of dollars, and risk the lives of tens of thousands of our military personnel, in defense of freedom in the Middle East should be acclaimed rather than condemned. The most precious thing I possess as an American is not my "dishwasher, washer, dryer, television, VCR, and Jacuzzi," it is my freedom. I thank God for the military men and women who are defending it in the Middle East.

Mark R. Foeller.

To the Editor,

As a word of warning to village residents and visitors, I am sending you this copy of my letter to Chief McDougall:

Dear Chief McDougall,
Today, I had the "pleasure" of being reinforced for putting money into village parking meters—a mistake I guarantee to never make again. I had no idea your meter maid had so much free time as to watch meters expire so as to write tickets.

I parked on Middle St. to run into Country Rose to purchase 3 cards. I deposited a penny into the meter and left my three young children in the car waiting. Unfortunately, I was in the store approximately 14 minutes rather than the allotted 12 minutes, and lo and behold, there's a ticket. No wonder people hesitate to shop downtown Chelsea. With vultures like Mr. Ringe around, there isn't much incentive.

My children now think they got a ticket for wearing Ninja Turtle hats. What a nice lasting impression to leave on a child.

Gail Tomaka.

ORAL HYGIENE SHOULD START VERY YOUNG!

Q: What can I, as a parent, do to help my baby fight plaque problems?

A: Plaque is a sticky colorless film of bacteria that continually forms in the mouth. The bacteria has the ability to form acids which, ultimately, cause tooth decay. Plaque is also responsible for bad breath (halitosis) and gum disease (periodontitis).

For the most part, plaque problems begin with the eruption of the first tooth. On the average this occurs around 6 or 7 months of age. As soon as the first tooth erupts the time has come to begin oral hygiene. This means keeping the teeth healthy by removing plaque daily and, therefore, protecting the baby's teeth from decay.

As the new teeth erupt, parents find that rubbing with a moistened gauze pad or a soft, clean wash cloth is helpful in removing plaque and keeping the teeth clean. This important step—aimed at a lifetime of dental health—is great help in getting your infant used to a "clean mouth" feeling.

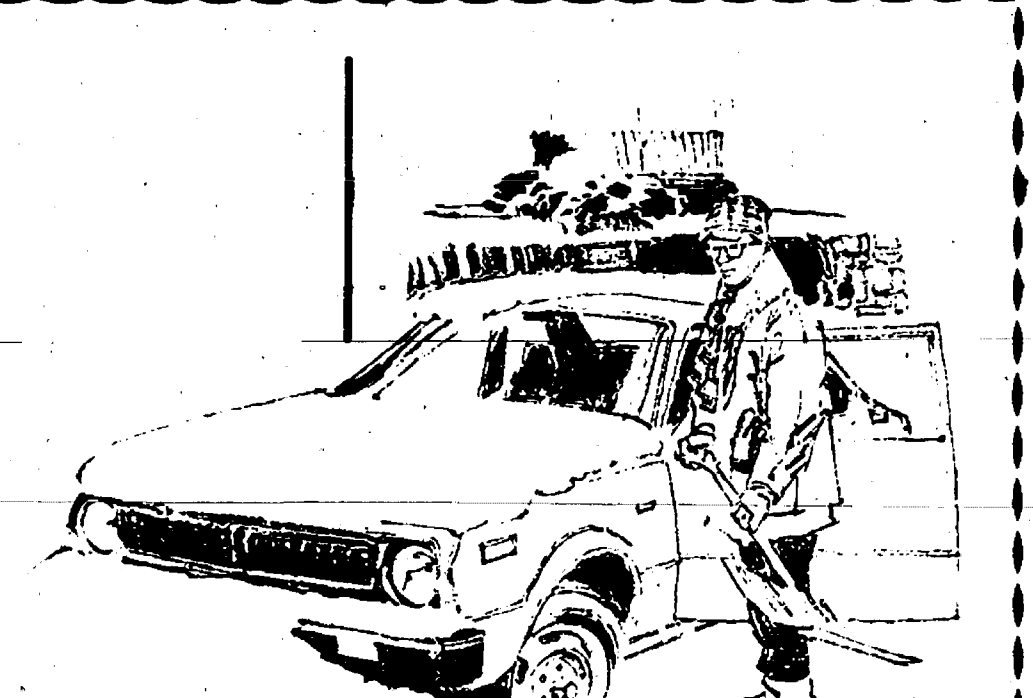

Later, when the child is about a year old parents should start brushing their child's teeth with a small, soft, children's size toothbrush after meals and before bed. Even though many children quickly learn to "brush" their own teeth they lack the proper coordination and dexterity to do so properly until they are 4 or 5 years old so parents should supervise and aid their children in brushing their teeth until that time.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES:

Politics and the S & L Calamity

By Philip C. Clarke

As the November elections approach, not surprisingly both Democrats and Republicans are trying to use the $500 billion Savings and Loan debacle as a political weapon. For example, Democrats point to the activities of Neil Bush, the President's son, when he was a director of a now failed S & L in Colorado. And Republicans say that former Speaker Jim Wright and former Democrat Whip Tony Coelho delayed action on the S & L problem in exchange for political contributions. Actually, there's enough blame to go around, and most of it should fall squarely on the shoulders of Congress. So, let's try once again to sort out what really happened, and why.

Prior to 1980, Congress had mandated both the interest rates—usually on the low side—and the kinds of loans S & L's could make. But with the soaring inflation of the late 1970's, depositors were pulling their money out of S & L's and putting it into money market accounts and other more lucrative investments. The S & L industry then came to Congress for help in repealing or modifying these interest and lending restrictions. As a result, Congress in 1980 passed a deregulation act which freed up S & L's to make different kinds of loans and to offer competitive interest rates. As such, this deregulation made S & L's more competitive and depositors started coming back.

Congress also increased the government insurance on deposits from $40,000 per account to $100,000. This in effect told S & L operators: "do whatever you want, the federal government will cover any losses." But Congress didn't stop there. In 1982, it passed another deregulation bill which allowed S & L's to do even more. Concerning deposit insurance, Congress said, "We need to study it."

Over the next four years, separate studies by the F.D.I.C., and F.S.L.I.C., the General Accounting Office and an interagency working group, all called for reforming the deposit insurance system. More specifically, they all advocated introducing the concept of risk into the insurance scheme. The idea being, as with regular insurance, the more risks you take, the higher the premiums you'll have to pay for insurance. But Congress ignored all four studies.

By 1989, when the horrifying costs of S & L failure were too big to ignore, Congress passed the bailout act. However, there was no reform of the deposit insurance system. Instead, Congress called for yet another study which isn't due until 1991. By that time, taxpayers will already have coughed up tens of billions of dollars to bail out troubled S & L's. And there's more. In the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981, Congress enacted tax incentives to invest in so-called income-producing properties, such as apartment houses and shopping malls. With their new found freedom, many S & L's did just that. But then in 1986, Congress came back and changed the rules via the Tax Reform Act. One estimate put the resulting loss in value of these income-producing properties as high as 35 percent. As one economist put it, S & L's that had invested in such projects were "left holding half-empty bags."

By such actions, Congress is clearly the main culprit in the S & L scandal. By whipsawing S & L's with changing tax rules and increasing deposit insurance to provide a "safety net" for scoundrels, Congress set the stage for the taxpayers to bail out the S & L industry. And no amount of campaign blame-the-other-guy rhetoric can change this.

Hospital Observing Physical Therapy Week

Physical Therapists at Chelsea Community Hospital are celebrating National Physical Therapy Week. Oct. 1-7. This year the theme is "Physical Therapy for Everybody That Moves."

Over the past year, the hospital's Department of Physical Therapy has expanded its hours and services. This is due to the increasing need for Physical Therapy services throughout the hospital's service area.

In addition, treatment techniques are being utilized which promote rapid recovery from musculoskeletal injuries. These include sophisticated muscle testing and strengthening apparatus and conditioning equipment such as treadmills and stairmasters.

On Oct. 5, Patricia Pande, director of physical therapy, will present, "Effects of a Chin Piece on Fatigue During Prolonged Violin Playing" at the Michigan Physical Therapy Association's annual conference.

As a service to the community, the Physical Therapy Department offers these helpful tips on exercise:

Be realistic. If you haven't exercised regularly since you were a kid, don't attempt to pickup where you left off. From age 20 on, bodies lose a little muscular flexibility and strength each year.

Warm up, cool down. Start exercising slowly. You should be perspiring lightly before you begin strenuous exercise. End your workout with a period of slower activity.

Listen to your body. If you feel pain, stop exercising and seek help. The sooner your problem is treated, the sooner you can get moving again!

Mix it up. Practice several activities instead of one. You'll decrease the chances of injury caused by repetition, increase the number of muscles you condition, and help stave off boredom.

Consult a health care professional to help you design the program that fits your body.

Senior Chore Program Offers Maintenance Help

Senior Chore Program is a cooperative effort of Chelsea Community Hospital, Chelsea Senior Citizens, Inc., and Faith in Action. A coordinator matches needs and skills and materials to provide to seniors a means to assist in enabling them to remain in their own home as long as is reasonably possible.

Seed monies were provided by Chelsea United Way, Chelsea Civic Foundation and Dexter Area Service Association.

The program is sponsored by Faith in Action, Chelsea Community Hospital and Chelsea Senior Citizens. The program has been designed to meet such unmet needs of Chelsea/Dexter Seniors as:

- Outside Maintenance
- screen or storm repair
- Minor or light maintenance
- replace door knobs, etc.
- House Cleaning

Yard work
Heavier maintenance
ie. eaves repair.

The recipient will reimburse Faith in Action (the program administrator) based entirely upon ability. This means if a person is unable to contribute, there will be no charge. Any person who is elderly, living alone, without a means such as family to provide for the service required will be eligible.

To request assistance or to learn more about Senior Chore, call Nadine Shaneyfelt, FIA, 475-3305, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Veterans Reemployment Rights (VRR), law enforced by the U.S. Department of Labor, has been in effect since 1940. It applies to those men and women who leave their jobs for voluntary or involuntary military service in war and peace.

CROP Walk Sunday Fights World Hunger

Christine Dunlap, 1990 Chelsea Fair Queen, and Laurie Honbaum, 1987 Chelsea Fair Queen and current Miss Michigan U. S. Teen, will lead the third Chelsea CROP Walk on Sunday, Oct. 7.

The Chelsea Ministerial Association sponsors the walk to enable Chelsea area citizens to combat world hunger.

Walkers, including Laurie and Christine, will gather pledges for each kilometer of the 10k walk. All money collected goes directly toward hunger relief.

Chelsea Faith in Action will receive 15% of the total collected and the other 85% will go to Church World Service (or other international relief agencies, if desired by the contributors).

The walkers will leave at 1:30 p.m. from St. Paul United Church of Christ on Old US-12. It usually takes about three hours to complete the walk, including rest stops with nutritious snacks.

Ten kilometers (5.6 miles) is about the distance many third world women walk to get the daily water needed by their families. CROP walk money might help their village dig a well.

This year, walkers will participate from eight area churches: St. Mary's Catholic, Emmanuel Church of Manchester, First Congregational, St. Paul United Church of Christ, North Lake United Methodist, Chelsea First United Methodist, Zion Lutheran, and St. Barnabas Episcopal.

Walkers-at-large are also welcome to participate, and should call Linda Dufek at 475-8187 or the Rev. Jerry Parker at 475-8119 to register.

Laurie and Crissy are both looking forward to the walk. Laurie, who has walked before, says "It was fun, and it helps a good cause."

Anyone wishing to make a pledge for Laurie or Chris should call the above numbers.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, Sept. 17 were Comeau, Redding, Satterthwaite, Feeney, Eisenbeiser, Diesing, McCalla, superintendent Plasecki, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Mead, Stielstra, Benedict, Wescott, assistant principal Ross, curriculum director Bissell, special education director DeYoung, athletic director Walton, guests. Meeting called to order at 8 p.m. by President Anne Comeau.

Entered as official communications were (1) letter from a community resident regarding band uniforms and (2) letter from the Intermediate School District requesting a board member to represent Chelsea on the Educational Work Consortium Task Force.

Beach school principal Stielstra introduced Karen Schiff, Spanish/French teacher who has been hired to replace Debra Butler.

An overview of the proposed Student Assistance Policy, which will be an action item at the next meeting, was presented by principal Ron Mead. In addition to pulling together many procedures, policies and services which have been operable for some time, the policy will speak to training and in-servicing of K-12 staff. Assistant superintendent Mills presented a brief overview of the 1989-90 audit.

Superintendent Plasecki reviewed with the board his recommendation that the position of Substance Abuse/Mental Health Counselor become a full-time position in order to better meet the needs of students at all grade levels.

The board selected Anne Comeau, Jane Diesing (delegates), and Ann Feeney (alternate) to represent Chelsea at the MASH Conference in Grand Rapids in October.

The board approved the appointment of Robin Robinson to the position of speech therapist; she will replace Jean Meconi, who recently transferred to a general education position.

The board formally accepted a donation from the Knights of Columbus for Nancy Cooper's special education camping program.

The board convened in executive session at 9:20 p.m. to consider a personnel matter.

The board reconvened in public session at 10:10 p.m.

The board voted not to approve a resolution which would revoke tenure status previously granted to Debra Butler, former Beach school teacher who failed to give proper notice of resignation.

Superintendent Plasecki reminded board members of the Oct. 1 meeting of the Facilities Committee at 7 p.m., and stressed the importance of their attendance. John Sanders of Kingscott Associates will be present at the meeting to share his expertise.

DR. DAVID J. BROPHY

Economic Breakfast Club Hears Finance Professor

University of Michigan finance professor Dr. David J. Brophy was the guest speaker Wednesday, Sept. 19, at the monthly meeting of the Chelsea Economic Breakfast Club, co-sponsored by Society Bank and the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Brophy presented a comprehensive overview of today's venture capital market and its impact on financing new business.

Today's economy is moving from the traditional large size companies to an abundance of smaller companies ripe for entrepreneurial ingenuity. According to Brophy, the service economy is growing at a higher rate than the manufacturing sector.

Regrettably, this transition has a bad effect on our communities. It causes dislocation and unemployment. This makes the development of the entrepreneurial type of life very important to the lifeblood of our communities, explained Brophy. An interesting note is that two out of every three ventures are formed by women. He reviewed the pattern of an emerging growth company: their first need will be for funding. Sometimes venture capital comes from within a community itself through a similarly experienced associate, partner or investor. In other instances, an entrepreneur will frequently seek financing from within the professional community. Most often venture capital comes from institutional investors and professional investors through limited partnerships.

The largest economic gains have come from successful application of technology to business applications. Frequently high tech companies depart Michigan to the tech centers in California, Massachusetts, etc. The cyclical nature of economics will bring more technology to Michigan in the future. One program offers some hope. This will be the 20th year for the "New Enterprise Forum," which brings together individuals, inventors, entrepreneurs, investors, and other funding sources. To date this Ann Arbor program can be credited with having a hand in raising over $170 million in venture capital alone for numerous ventures. "Enlightened self-interest is the key," claimed Brophy. "With it successful new ideas will happen."

The next breakfast will be held at 7:30 a.m., Oct. 17 at the Chelsea Community Hospital.

For further information contact Mark Bally of Society Bank at 475-9154 or Ann Feeney of the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce at 475-1145.

EDUCATION RESEARCH

Prepared by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP), Reston, Va.

★ All-Out Fight Urged Against Illegal Drugs . . .

"The bitter truth is that this nation is not winning the fight against illegal drugs."

That's the assessment of the chief executive officer of the nation's largest school administrator organization, the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP).

"While the use of pot and cocaine may be down among high school youth, significant numbers of adults under age 40—including physicians, lawyers, truck drivers, salesmen, and many others—indulge in drugs for recreational purposes," explained Scott Thomson, NASSP executive director.

He called the problem "disastrous for American society," citing the fact that 60 percent of the world's illegal drug supply is consumed in the United States.

The U.S. faces an annual drug bill of $100 billion for health care, law enforcement, and lost productivity, according to The American Agenda, a report written by former Presidents Carter and Ford.

Drug education programs in school can help, but cannot solve the problem, said Thomson, who has called for a society-wide war against drugs.

"We face full-scale chemical warfare against American society, not just a few isolated campaigns," he charged. "Wars are not won easily. Nor are they won without a full commitment from the public. The lonely tactic of schools teaching the dangers of drugs must be replaced with a comprehensive strategy engaging all institutions in the nation."

He urged principals to "lobby aggressively" for action by legislators, business and labor organizations, civic groups, sports figures, and churches.

"Our responsibility as citizens living close to the problem requires us to move sharply beyond our role as educators to become citizen-soldiers in the fight against drugs."

Thomson called for tougher penalties for drug dealers. He cited work of the National Coalition for Drug Free School Zones, which is attempting to create a drug-free perimeter around all schools by raising penalties for drug use or sale inside those perimeters.

"Penalties must become more severe and must be enforced by the courts," Thomson urged. "While rehabilitation is legitimate, it clearly falls as the answer in the deadly evolution of drug abuse."

America will not win this chemical warfare if the only weapon is the classroom lesson, according to Thomson.

"For a decade now we have heard the cry for drug-free schools. While that effort is useful, education clearly does not possess the muscle to win the contest alone. What we really need is a drug-free society. All of us must enlist in that fight for 365 days a year on all fronts. That is the only way to win this deadly contest of chemical warfare."

Chiropractic Health Care

Applied Kinesiology Con't.

Dr. J. Nicholas Koffman

Over the last couple weeks this column has discussed the specialty within chiropractic called applied kinesiology. I said that applied kinesiology was a system for getting diagnostic and therapeutic answers about the body by testing muscular function.

This week I wish to talk about emotional health. If you read my earlier columns you will recall that the cause of spinal problems is stress to the body in the form of chemical, structural and emotional.

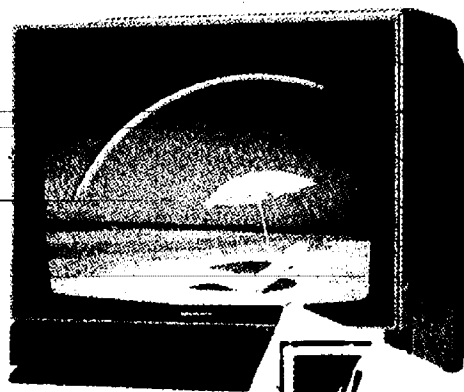

Because of the complexity of the brain, emotional problems have traditionally been misunderstood. But the brain is an organ with the same needs as the rest of the body. It's affected by chemicals (both external such as sensitivities to food additives and internal such as hormone changes due to negative emotions), low blood sugar (hypoglycemia), and a host of other things.

In next week's column we'll get into this with more depth as well as find out what all this has to do with the spine, chiropractic and over-all health.

If you have any questions or comments please call or send them to Dr. J. Nicholas Koffman, 138 E. Middle St., Chelsea, MI 48118. 313-475-2088.
