Area Voters To Decide Human Services Millage, Local, State Offices

Area voters will cast their votes in the general elections next Tuesday, Nov. 6.

In addition to electing a governor, secretary of state, attorney general, United States senator, and various other state positions, voters will also be asked to decide whether the county should levy one-quarter mill for human services.

One local race of interest will be for district I Washtenaw county commissioner. Manchester-area potato farmer Michael DuRussel won the Republican nomination from incumbent Ellis Pratt in August and will face Democrat Marcia Hancock of Milan.

Republican Martin Straub is running unopposed for district II county commissioner.

The only other county race affecting western Washtenaw voters is for clerk/register of deeds. Incumbent Peggy Haines, who was appointed to fill the term of Robert Harrison, faces Democrat Eula Tate. Haines is a Republican.

Chelsea-area farmer Bill Van Riper is running unopposed for Lima township supervisor. Unless a substantial write-in campaign is mounted, Van Riper will take over for Carol Steffenson, who was appointed to fill the term of Leila Bauer, who resigned in May.

Incumbent Lyndon Township Treasurer Geraldine Reith is running unopposed.

Incumbent Scio Township Supervisor Robert S. Tickle is running unopposed. George H. J. Smith is running unopposed for Scio trustee.

The human services millage would raise about $1.5 million each year for the next five years. Funds would support and expand programs in job skills development and training, substance abuse treatment and prevention, child and adult abuse and prevention, infant mortality reduction, aid to the mentally ill and developmentally disabled, and services to senior citizens.

The county estimates that a home with a State Equalized Value of $50,000 would pay about $12 each year. Since 1987 the county has not received federal revenue sharing funds, which the county says amounted to about $1.5 million.

In state races, Democrat James Blanchard is running for his third term as governor. Olivia P. Maynard is his running mate for Lt. Gov. They are facing Republicans John Engler and Connie Binsfield. William Roundtree and Brenda Kirby are running as Workers World party candidates.

Democrat Richard H. Austin is running for another term as secretary of state, facing Republican Judy Miller.

Frank J. Kelley is running for another term as attorney general. The Democrat is facing Republican Clifford W. Taylor.

In the race for the U.S. Senate, Democrat Carl Levin is facing challenges from Republican Bill Schuette and Workers World candidate Susan Farquhar.

Incumbent Republican Carl Pursell is running for second district U.S. representative against Democrat Elmer White and Paul S. Jensen of the Tisch Independent Citizens party.

In the state senate race, 18th district, Democrat Lana Pollack is being challenged by Republican Rich Birkett.

State Rep. Margaret O'Connor is the Republican candidate for 52nd district. She faces Democrat James Douglas.

There are eight candidates for two spots on the State Board of Education. They are Democrats Rolfe Hopgood and Barbara Roberts Mason, Republicans Dick DeVos and Lowell Perry, Tisch Independent Citizens Payanne Kaufman and Robert E. Tisch, and Libertarians Mary J. Ruwart and Gwendoline Stillwell.

There are seven candidates for two seats on the University of Michigan Board of Regents. They are Democrats Philip Power and Donald F. Tucker, Republicans Marvin L. Esch and Shirley McFee, Libertarians James L. Hudler and David H. Raaflaub, and Workers World candidate Jerry Goldberg.

There are five candidates for two seats on the Michigan State University Board of Trustees. They are Democrats Lawrence P. Doss and Lawrence D. Owen, Republicans Dee Cook and Jack Shingleton, and Tisch Independent Citizens Donald D. Schneider.

Wayne State University Board of Governors has two available seats. Candidates include Democrats James K. Robinson and Brenda Scott, Republicans Elizabeth Hardy and Laura Reyes Kopak, Tisch Independent Citizens James Kaufman, Libertarians Denise Kline and Maureen (Continued on page five)

Village Planners Get Petition Against Papo's Proposed Housing Project

A petition against Rene Papo's proposed housing project off Old US-12 was presented to the Chelsea Village Planning Commission last Tuesday, Oct. 23 at the group's regular meeting.

The petition, containing more than 200 signatures, called for the commission to reject the 42-acre project.

The project is likely to be discussed in detail at the commission's November meeting.

Area residents Carolyn Pierre-Todd of Kalmbach Rd. and Mary Jane Eder of Orchard St. circulated the petition.

Todd and Eder said the major concerns are the impact of the development on the wastewater treatment plant, the Chelsea School District, as well as village services and area roads.

Tim Eder suggested to the commission that the project be delayed so that other development proposals and their impact can be considered together.

"It concerns me that the village really has no plan for how to use the limited capacity at the sewage treatment plant," Eder said.

Eder suggested a moratorium on all development proposals until the village updates its General Development Plan, which has been discussed for several years.

Planning commission chairman Marty Tobin, who is also a member of the Chelsea School District's facilities committee, said the district already has a space problem and that the one project would not have much effect on the district's building plans.

The village has discussed an update of its general development plan for several years. However, little has been formally accomplished.

Planning commission member Fred Barkley said it would be a good idea for the village to update its general development plan in conjunction with the formation of an area-wide plan that is being pursued by planning commission members Bill Bott and Deborah Olson.

Papo has proposed a housing project which calls for a combination of 136 multiple and 72 single-family homes, as well as a daycare center.

According to a study the village had performed in the last year, the wastewater treatment plant is operating at about two-thirds capacity. The study concluded there is enough remaining capacity to handle all proposed projects.

In other planning commission business, Papo's Chelsea Offcenter project received final approval from the commission. The project is scheduled for land adjacent to Papo's proposed housing project.

The approval was given subject to an approved development agreement between Papo and the village.

Papo's project includes two buildings of 6,864 square feet each. Plans show that eventually six identical one-story buildings could be constructed.

Marvin Salyer's proposed single-family housing project between Wilkinson and Pierce Sts. was given preliminary site plan approval.

Salyer's project includes a 21-lot development. A main road, Bent Tree Dr., would service the project from Wilkinson St.

Salyer has dropped plans for a proposed adult foster care center.

Money Stolen From Restaurant

Someone broke into DB's Restaurant last week and stole approximately $100 in cash, according to Chelsea police.

Police said someone used a pry bar or similar device to gain access to the store through the back door.

The theft was discovered by an employee on Monday, Oct. 22.

Village Gets Off The Hook In Navin Zoning Dispute Lawsuit

A circuit court judge has dismissed the Village of Chelsea from the lawsuit filed by George and Betty Navin over alleged zoning violations on the part of their next-door neighbor, Leonard French.

The Navins, 406 Wilkinson St., have contended that French has violated the village fence ordinance by erecting a six-foot chain-link fence on the property line between the homes. They claim the fence is not ornamental in nature, as the ordinance requires.

They have also charged French with illegally operating a business out of his home, although French says he went out of business more than a year ago.

Zoning inspector Rosemary Harook has never issued a citation for any zoning violation on the part of French, although she has inspected the property several times.

The Navins have appeared at several village council meetings to complain that the village is violating their rights by not enforcing the ordinance.

Parties in the suit included former village president Jerry Satterthwaite, deceased village manager Fritz Weber, Harook and French.

Judge Kenneth Bronson's ruling dealt primarily with whether or not the court has the jurisdiction to force the village to begin criminal proceedings in a zoning matter. It did not address whether violations had occurred.

"I don't think that a district court should be ordering prosecutions of cases without clear statutory authority," Bronson said, noting that "who has the discretion to determine prosecution of local ordinances" was one of the primary questions in the case.

Bronson said the village "is not quite sure whether (the fence) is a violation," and that Bronson should not be "replacing (the village's) discretion with my discretion in enforcement of the ordinance."

Thomas Manchester, attorney for the Navins, says he believes there are clear zoning violations but that the village is choosing not to enforce them.

"The point we're trying to make is it's not the duty of a citizen to go to court to have a neighbor obey the ordinance," Manchester said.

Although the village has been dismissed from the suit, the question of whether there are zoning violations has not been settled. Bronson noted that it may be up to the court to decide whether the fence is a violation. That could happen when the Navins take French to court, in an ironic twist, next Feb. 14, Valentine's Day.

Royalty Limousine Can't Stop Village

Village of Chelsea has been authorized to continue to pursue its zoning case against Royalty Limousine Service of Chelsea.

The company, which is run out of a private home at 747 Flanders St., sought a temporary restraining order against the village, which has tried to stop the business from operating with outside employees.

The village's home occupations ordinance does not allow a home business to employ people other than occupants of the home.

The village may also continue to ticket the business if it continues to use outside employees. Each offense carries a maximum fine of $500 and 90 days in jail.

Zoning inspector Rosemary Harook said she has been told by business owner Gene Haab that Haab is attempting to locate another place from which to operate the business.

The business came to the attention of the village after neighbors complained about late-night noise and other problems associated with the two-limousine business.

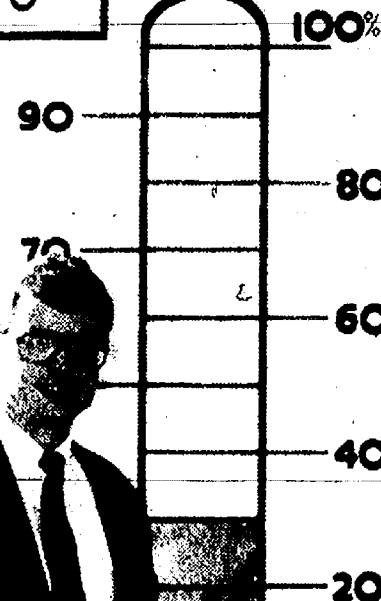

DRAWINGS of proposed downtown beautification projects were on display last Thursday afternoon at the Chelsea Depot. The plans represent the culmination of several years work by the Downtown Development Authority. Interested onlookers above are Fred and Marian Zuidveld of Werkner Rd. in Chelsea.

Schools 4th Friday Count Is 2,405

Chelsea School District's official student count taken on the fourth Friday in September is 2,405.

By schools the numbers are South Elementary school 570, North Elementary school 583, Beach Middle school 588, and Chelsea High school 664.

For the first time, the numbers have also been separated by gender. There are 1,246 boys and 1,159 girls.

The numbers make little difference to Chelsea because the district is out-of-formula. The numbers play a major role in funding for in-formula districts because they determine the amount of state aid received.

The breakdowns by grade are as follows.

	boy	girl
K	118	97
1	108	88
2	94	83
4	85	108

CHELSEA SCHOOL DISTRICT, represented by superintendent Joe Piasecki, right, presented a check to Chelsea United Way, represented by John Mann, last week. The amount of $4,551 was the total of donations by all school district employees. Piasecki said the contribution was an increase over last year.

A Chelsea man stationed at U.S. Air Force base in Pentwaters, England, was severely beaten by a drunken crowd in nearby Saxmundham as he and three companions were walking to a pub, according to his mother. Don DeVoe, a 1985 graduate of Chelsea High school, and son of Dean and Nancy DeVoe, suffered a cracked jaw, broken nose, broken fingers, cuts and had some teeth knocked out as a result of being attacked by more than 50 people.

Dave Bulson, a long-time Chelsea village employee, was named Superintendent of Public Works at an annual salary of $27,000. According to the village's official job description, Bulson would be responsible for around-the-clock safe and efficient supervision of repair, maintenance and improvements of the streets, sidewalks, alleys, bridges, drains, culverts, sewers, street-signing systems, parks and parking lots.

The retaining wall in front of the Chelsea post-office collapsed. The wall collapsed during a project in which the steps were being repaired so they wouldn't be so slick during the winter.

A 26-year-old Manchester man was listed in fair condition at University of Michigan Hospital after he rolled his motorcycle on M-52. Shayne Whitaker was found unconscious near Grass Lake Rd. According to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, Whitaker was apparently southbound when he left the road, traveled about 75 feet before going back on the road, then traveled 38 feet and rolled the cycle as he missed a curve in the road. Police said that Whitaker had apparently been lying unconscious for quite a while because the motorcycle was cold.

The state-wide campaign by proponents of Proposal A reached a personal level in Chelsea with the appearance of four walkers who paused for a rest locally before resuming their 230-mile trek across lower Michigan to raise support for the issue. Proposal A called for the adop-

Mr. and Mrs. George Shaw suddenly acquired another daughter, 17-year-old Leena Karhunaki of Finland, who arrived in the United States under international student exchange program administered by Youth For Understanding. Leena, who was a CHS senior, remembered marveling at America's "Big cars" when she first stepped of the plane at Metro Airport. Strongest among her impressions was the amazement over the size of Chelsea. "In Finland," she said, "there are no small cities." She continued to add, "Here the houses are wonderful! Every house has something different from others. In Finland, there are no stone houses."

Legislators To Review Delinquent Tax Report

A nine-page audit revealing Michigan delinquent taxpayers owe the state $1.1 billion sparked concern from House Taxation Committee Chair Lynn Jondahl (D-Okemos) and Senate Finance Committee Chair Norm Shinkle (R-Lambertville). The congressmen said they will take up the issue when the Legislature reconvenes in November.

Treasurer Robert Bowman called the report misleading because much of the uncollected money is tied up in litigation and said Michigan does better than most states in getting the money it is owed.

Auditor General Thomas H. McTavish's report on the Department of Treasury's Collections Division said "the amount referred for collection was rapidly increasing while the monthly amount collected remained fairly constant" during the 41 months audited.

The amount owed increased an average of $12.5 million a month from April 1, 1986 to Oct. 31, 1988 and an average of $25.1 million the last 11 months up to Aug. 31, 1989.

The 128-employee collection division, which collects delinquent taxes and unpaid accounts other state agencies and universities cannot collect, spent $14.5 million for its operations in 1988-89.

"The question here is whether the collection agency is being used efficiently," said Sen. Norm Shinkle (R-Lambertville), chair of the Senate Finance Committee. "Something's not working out there. The administration has known about the increasing problem and has been unable to cope with it. We will definitely take a look at this."

Jondahl agreed, adding it surprised him to hear the collections division is not doing enough to collect taxes. "If there is inadequate enforcement and staff, we ought to address that. We must take the report seriously enough and determine if it's reporting requirements or if we have a bunch of people who are ignoring their taxes."

The report recommended upgrading collection efforts, following standard departmental collection procedures, monitoring and following up installment payment agreements and keeping more accurate records. It found the division:

—Took up to five months to process tax clearance requests, thereby delaying sales transfers of businesses.

—Allowed 13 of 25 randomly selected accounts to fall two to 23 months behind in installment payments.

—Failed to send out monthly statements, collection letters or requests for financial information needed to initiate installment agreements.

While the amount owed has doubled since the 1986 Tax Amnesty program began permitting individuals and businesses to pay back taxes plus interest without additional penalty, Bowman said the report failed to show that the department has collected 75 percent more in back taxes under amnesty, from $152 million in 1985 to $265 million this year. "There are three omissions I find inexplicable," said Bowman, who has called the report "misleading." In the past year, he said, the amount owed has dropped from $1.34 billion in 1989 to $1.1 billion (Sept. 30).

Bowman said the report ignored that the agency has increased collections, detected more delinquent taxpayers than ever before, and has not been able to recover 55-60 percent of the $1.1 billion because it is tied up in litigation.

Until less people contest their tax bills, Bowman said he does not expect a downward trend in the amount owed. "We did collect more but more is owed to the state because we have detected more," Bowman said. "We're well-ahead of other states in detection and collection."

Only 5-10 percent of Michigan taxpayers are delinquent, compared to 20 percent on the federal level, Bowman said. To reduce the amount owed the state, the agency would have to detect fewer delinquencies or deny people due process, Bowman said, adding he does not plan to take such action. "We've had great relations with the Auditor General in the past and reports have been very, very helpful," Bowman said. "But I have never seen a more shallow report, we don't know what he wants," Bowman said he plans to ask for a more detailed report.

While noting the state's $11.5 million investment in computerized systems to speed up delinquent tax collections may have made it easier to identify more delinquents, Rep. Jondahl warned the Legislature may have to "go back to square one" if the amnesty and computer initiatives are not working.

Bowman said both have been effective.

"If Bowman needs higher penalties, and I am not of the opinion he does, we should look into that," Sen. Shinkle said. "The state cannot legislate a solution to recover money tied up in litigation," he added.

Jondahl said letters he has received, as well as a Republican legislative task force on a taxpayer's bill of rights complain Treasury has been "too aggressive" in collecting delinquent taxes.

Shinkle said reports the agency has been "too aggressive" refer to instances where delinquent taxpayers have been treated "ruthlessly."

The report also found the collections division failed to submit reports of collection activity to legislative committees and the Department of Management and Budget in a timely manner.

Bowman said legislators have looked the other way when the agency has not met deadlines to turn in reports because the agency's books close up to six months afterward.

Jondahl, chair of the House Taxation Committee, said he does not know how regularly his committee receives such reports. The division has not submitted a report on collection activity that was due in 1988 and missed the 1986 and 1987 deadlines for submitting reports to appropriations committees.

While Bowman said $600 million of the money owed is tied up because of taxpayers contesting delinquency charges, Mr. Shinkle said the remaining amount that should be collected is "The silver lining . . . that would cover the deficit." House and Senate Fiscal Agency estimates disputed by the administration forecast potential budget deficit of at least $450 million in the current year.

Jondahl said he is curious what the disputed cases involve and whether people who do not pay their taxes are delinquent to protest them. "One dispute in court for $400 million is regarding the capital acquisition deduction in the single business tax," Jondahl said.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Clem Webster told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that he went to town last week to talk to his insurance agent. He noticed a sign on the wall behind the feller's desk. It said "Babe Ruth struck out 1,330 times."

Clem said he liked that idea. He knew it's the nature of salesmen to convince themselves the next home run is walking in the door or waiting in the next office he walks into. The insurance agent don't make a sale ever time he goes to bat, but he's swinging. What counts is staying in the game and giving ever trip to the plate your best shot, was Clem's words.

The fellers commended Clem on his philosophy, and they took up his comments. Zeke Grubb said he was struck by a piece he saw recent in one of his farm journals. It was a list of famous folks that nobody thought would amount to anything.

Fer instant, Zeke said, F. W. Woolworth was 21 year old when he got his first job in a store. He couldn't wait on customers because the manager said he didn't have enough sense. Walt Disney once was fired by a newspaper editor that said Disney never had a "fresh" idea. Batscheva's music teacher said as a composer he was hopeless.

As fer overcoming handicaps, Bug Hookum said he allus liked the story about the feller that stuttered and got a job selling toothbrushes on the street. He couldn't git nobody to stop and look at his wares until he set up a table offering free crackers and dip. When folks sampled the snack they would gag and say "this stuff smells like cresote." "It is," the salesman would say, "want to buy a tooth-brush?"

Zeke's preacher had stopped by the store to pick up some pipe tobacco, and he picked up on the discussion. He said everybody is handicaped one way or another, and dealing with it is what living is about. Fer instant, the preacher said he had been trying to quit the pipe, but he found it was like a baby pacifier. When he started worrying, he needed to pull on his old pipe, and he never run out of worries.

Then the fellers started teasing the preacher about his education being a handicap. Bug Hookum said he allus heard that ignorance is bliss, but the preacher got him right back. He told Bug no wonder that when he starts worrying he falls asleep. The preacher said he heard that when Bug got promoted from the second to the third grade he was so excited he couldn't shave that morning. Bug allowed that was a lie cause he didn't spend but one term in the second grade, Calvin Coolidge's.

Serious, the preacher said, folks need a few worries to keep them organized. He said some folks have pets fer no other reason to worry about em, and others have pet worries like losing hair or finding pounds. Worrying about what needs worrying about is a sign of good mental health, he said, and figuring out what is worth worrying about and what ain't had become one of his pet worries.

The preacher said a feller came by the church one morning last week. He said he was doing a survey and ask how many folks the church could sleep in case of emergency. The preacher said that was no worry. He would make a count Sunday morning during his sermon and git back to him.

Personal, I think worrying is like a blotter. When you soak up a worry you get it backward.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Woman's Club Members Learn About Elderhostel

The Oct. 23 meeting of the Woman's Club of Chelsea was held at McKune Library. Eighteen members and two guests were present.

Sylvia Gilbert, a club member, presented a program entitled "Traveling With Elderhostel." She enthusiastically described Elderhostel as a program for elder citizens on the move, travel-wise and intellectually. It was founded in 1975 by Marty Knowlton, an educator and an activist, for adult education in residential settings at modest cost. Colleges and Universities offer their best programs, of which there are international as well as domestic, to the Elderhostel students. The courses are non-credit and are taught by experienced faculty. Participants must be 60 or older. A younger spouse or companion is permitted.

No formal educational requirement is needed — just an adventurous spirit which Sylvia, an Elderhostel member, obviously has.

At the business meeting, an announcement was made that the Christmas party will be at Weber's Inn instead of the Chelsea Hospital. Reservations must be made before or at the Nov. 12 meeting. Vaughan Lippert,

"We knew the look we wanted for our family room, but not how to achieve it. The Dexter Floor staff worked with us from the design right through to the finishing materials. They really know their products - how they'll look and how they wear. We ended up with a combination of carpet and vinyl flooring, and a room we love. The installation was excellent. And Vaughan was involved in every step of the project. These are truly carpet experts!"

Gary L. Minix, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnel Minix, sustained a bruised ear, a cut on the forehead and a broken rib when he ran in front of a car near his home. Chiropractic Health Care

Steroids
Cont'd.

Dr. J. Nicholas Koffman

Last week's column began our discussion of the growing use among young people of anabolic steroids. These powerful and dangerous drugs are used to increase strength and muscle mass. They were first used by doctors to treat rare medical conditions. Now they are sold on a "black market" network that includes trainers, gyms and other athletes. The chiropractic profession has always been against the irrational use of drugs and with the severe side effects of anabolic steroids (including death) this constitutes one of the most irrational uses I can think of.

Let's look at some possible tell-tale signs of steroid use. Parents, teachers, coaches, managers, etc., must become aware of the signs of possible steroid users. These include: yellowing (Jaundice) of skin or eyes, bruising easily, increased blood pressure and heart rate, nose bleeds, blood in urine, decrease size of testes, dramatic increase of muscle mass over a short time, headaches, joint pain, profuse sweating, joint swelling, puffiness, especially in the face ("moon face"), hyperactivity or irritability, increased aggression or other changes in personality including even psychotic or manic behavior.

Next week I will report on what to do if you suspect anabolic steroid use.

Please address all questions and comments to Dr. J. Nicholas Koffman, 138 E. Middle St., Chelsea, MI 48118. 313-475-2088.

Nature Events Slated At Hudson Mills Park

Several nature events will be held at the Huron-Clinton Metroparks during the period of Nov. 3-4.

"Feeding the Birds This Winter," a program learning how to attract birds to your yard, will be held at Hudson Mills Metropark near Dexter on Sunday, Nov. 4 at 1 p.m. Persons should meet at the Activity Center.

Most programs are "free," some may have a nominal charge and advance registration and a vehicle entry permit are required. For information/registration, contact the Huron-Clinton Metroparks, phone 1-800-47-PARKS.

1990 Poster Dog Contest

The dog days of August may well be over, but for the Humane Society of Huron Valley (and more than 900 shelters nation-wide), they never end. On behalf of these shelters and the more than 13 million dogs that end up homeless each year, Meaty Bones Dog Biscuits and Jerky Treats Dog Snacks are sponsoring a search for the 1990 poster dog to promote Adopt-A-Dog Month held in October each year.

This month-long effort draws attention to the large number of perfectly healthy puppies and dogs that end up at shelters each year—4,554 at HSHV alone last year. The contest winner will appear on posters across the country to publicize this special month. HSHV would like to encourage anyone in the area who has adopted a dog from the Humane Society of Huron Valley to pick up an entry form at the shelter located at 3100 Cherry Hill Rd., Ann Arbor, as the owner of the winning dog will receive a $5,000 cash prize and a year's supply of Meaty Bones and Jerky Treats. Also of great importance is the fact that a matching cash grant of $5,000 will be awarded to the shelter from which the dog was adopted.

All poster dogs must have been adopted from an animal shelter to be eligible. The deadline for all entries is Feb. 15, 1991; so, there is plenty of time to apply.

Remember, the winner will not only serve as an example of the types of wonderful pets available in the shelters throughout the states, but will also be doing a great deal to help the shelter from which he/she came.

To obtain a contest entry form for your pet, visit the Humane Society of Huron Valley—open 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily—or contact Jan Wahl, adoption co-ordinator, at (313) 662-5585.

Women are more likely to be managers in areas where there are already more women employees at lower levels, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Women's Bureau. For example, women are 81.3 percent of managers in medicine and health, 49.2 percent of personnel and labor relations managers and 48.9 percent of administrators in education and related fields. On the other hand, women are only 17.9 percent of administrators for protective services and only 24.2 percent of purchasing managers.

The decision you make on November 6 for state representative will be based on what is important to you. I share your views, and they will be my priorities as your representative.

CRIME AND DRUGS

I have 20 years of law enforcement experience. As the police chief of Saline, I have been on the front lines of the fight against crime and drugs. We need a tougher stance on crime and more effective anti-crime efforts.

THE ENVIRONMENT

I support Michigan's "polluters pay" law, which forces polluters -- not taxpayers -- to clean up their messes. As your state representative, I will support other legislation aimed at environmental protection.

LOWER PROPERTY TAXES

We've been paying too much in property taxes for too long. I support immediate tax relief, so that working families can afford a good home.

MICHAEL J. DuRUSSEL
COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Dear Friends,

I, Michael J. DuRussel, will be running in the General Election on November 6th to represent you on the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioner for District 1.

As a fifth generation farmer who has lived in the Western Washtenaw out county area for the past 20 years, I can understand the concerns of my fellow residents. If elected Commissioner I will be able to address those concerns. Some of the issues that need to be addressed are: the Environment Re-cycling Programs and Water Quality, Economic Development, Substance Abuse, Integrated Human Service Concept, Out County Infra-structure, our Seniors, and our Youth.

These are important issues and if elected commissioner, I will work closely with Chelsea, Manchester, and Milan, along with the townships of Lyndon, Sylvan, Lima, Sharon, Manchester, Freedom, Lodi, Bridgewater, Saline and York.

Your vote in November is a first step towards better leadership and representation.

I look forward to representing you as a County Commissioner.

Sincerely,

Michael J. DuRussel

You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift.

Novice Debaters In First Competition

Chelsea High school novice debate team took part in a competition at Chippewa Valley High school last week-end.

This year's topic is, resolved: the United States should significantly increase space exploration beyond the mesosphere.

Students arguing the affirmative included Jenny Bobo, Howard Brooks, Sara Devine, Carrie Flintoft, Amy Mitchell, Jane Pacheco, and Martina Street.

Students arguing the negative included Preston Gustine, Matt Postiff, Tara Roehm, Mike Terpstra, Carey Wallace, and Julie Weiss. Terpstra and Wallace each receive a walnut gavel for being the ninth best speakers.

The team's traveling coach is Jeff Koepele.

Economic Breakfast Club Hears How To Encourage Industrial Growth in Area

Members of the Economic Breakfast Club of Chelsea met Wednesday morning, Oct. 17 at Chelsea Community Hospital to hear Sue Southan, Association Service Liaison from Michigan Department of Commerce, and Gretchen Waters, executive director of the Washtenaw Development Council. Sue traced the state's experience from James Blanchard's first days as Governor, eight years ago.

In 1982 Blanchard's administration looked carefully at a number of industrial sectors which were growing, such as the furniture and office products in Grand Rapids, and the state-of-the-art hi-tech area of Washtenaw county. "What are they doing right?" and "What can Lansing do to encourage new companies to locate and grow in Michigan?" It was necessary to face squarely what were the advantages and weaknesses of doing business in Michigan.

Sue spoke extensively regarding various approaches Blanchard is taking, such as unincorporating the Small Business Tax and reducing other employee related costs. Michigan Strategic Fund was established to provide seed monies for new ventures; the Capital Access Program enabled lenders to provide loans which otherwise might have seemed to be risky; the Commercial Growth Alliance facilitates local alliances for capital formation; the Rural Development Planning Grant Program has benefited 40 Michigan communities.

Southan spoke rapidly and finished by advising communities to draw up a plan, just as Michigan did a few years ago, outlining where it wanted to go economically and determining what it would take to get from here to there, then take the first step.

Gretchen Waters, who is known to many Chelsea business owners, reviewed the history of the Washtenaw Development Council. In many ways it parallels the state's, originating in the early 80's forming during the post-recession period. The council is a non-profit, county-wide independent organization whose entire focus is on economical development. It functions with three "arms," the Area Development Office, Small Business Counseling and Local Procurement.

Using the retention and expansion of Hatch Stamping Co., Gretchen illustrated how the Development Council operates. It was able to show Ron Hatch, who was considering expanding to Jackson, that the long term costs of remaining in Chelsea would be less, even though the original land costs were greater. Of course Chelsea is fortunate to have the award winning industry such as Hatch Stamping in the industrial park, employing residents and paying taxes.

The Washtenaw Development Council has assisted in the creation of 4,500 new jobs in Washtenaw county, as well as the retention of another 4,500. Of the $2 billion in new capital investment, it was directly involved in securing $225 million. Gretchen urged the audience to continue its support of the Council during the coming years and not punish its success by withdrawing financial support.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Bulldog Girls Capture Second Straight Region Cross Country Title

Chelsea girls ran their grittiest meet of the season last Saturday as the Bulldogs edged Jackson Lumen Christi to take the region championship at Springport, 52-54.

This Saturday the Bulldogs will attempt to defend their state championship at Tyrone Hills Golf Course in Linden, the course where they captured the title last season.

Lumen Christi, the state's top-ranked team going into the meet, had beaten the Bulldogs twice during the regular season by margins of 25 and 28 points. The 28-point loss came just two weeks ago.

Sophomore Lisa Monti won the race easily in 19:00, while Val Bullock finished third in 20:01. Chelsea took 15th through 18th places as tri-captain Charity Allen ran 20:55, Tracy Wales 20:57, Jessica Holton 21:01, and Beth Williams 21:01. Sarah Henry finished 55th in 22:51.

Monti, Bullock, and Allen were named all-region for their performances.

"We obviously ran an outstanding race, easily the best of the season, in the toughest region in the state," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"I was surprised by how much Lisa won by. Val ran the outstanding race of her career. Jessica has really come along the last two weeks, and, of course, Tracy and Beth have been running well all season. The big difference, the X factor, was Charity Allen. Two weeks ago she wasn't even on the varsity and since then she has cut 1:20 off her time. I've known all season she had the potential to run the way she did Saturday. I was just real pleased with the entire team. They're running with a lot of heart."

Clarke noted that this year's times of the 15th through 18th runners would have put them in the top 10 last year.

"As good as we were last year, this year's team would have crushed last year's team," Clarke said.

This year's score was almost identical last year when Chelsea won 52-55 over Jackson Northwest.

The Bulldogs were also running without one of their top girls, Sara Brosnan, who has been injured. She should be available for this Saturday's race.

Clarke still figures that Lumen Christi will be perhaps the Bulldogs' biggest obstacle in their quest for the state title.

"Believe me, those Catholics will be back," he said.

Other top contenders include Fremont, the team Chelsea edged for the title last season, Caledonia, Petoskey and Lakeville.

"There are really four or five teams

LISA MONTI took first place at the region cross country championships last Saturday by a wide margin as she finished in 19:00. She'll be one of the favorites to win the team race this Saturday at the state meet.

who could win it," Clarke said.

"At the state meet, it's a different game."

The girls are scheduled to run at 11:30 a.m.

In other action last week, Chelsea secured its sixth Southeastern Conference title in the last eight seasons as they won the league meet with 37 points. Other team scores were Milan 71, Tecumseh 82, Saline 86, Dexter 94, Lincoln 160, and Pinckney 199. Chelsea was also 6-0 in league dual meets.

Monti, Bullock, Williams, and Allen were named all-league for finishing in the top 10.

"Winning the league was one of their top goals for the season," Clarke said.

Monti set a Tecumseh course record with a time of 18:48. Behind Monti were Bullock, 7th, 20:07; Williams, 8th, 20:07; Allen, 10th, 20:28; Holton, 11th, 20:30; Wales, 12th, 20:39; and Brosnan, 13th, 20:42.

JV Gridders Lose Last Game

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity football team lost their final game of the season, 46-31, to the Stockbridge Panthers.

After Tim Wescott kicked a field goal to give the Bulldogs the early lead, Stockbridge scored three straight unanswered touchdowns and eventually took a 32-11 lead into halftime.

Chelsea had several fine performances, according to coach Wayne Welton. Quarterback Pat Steele passed for 250 yards, Aric Dougherty rushed for 131 yards, Jay Westcott caught three passes, and the offensive line played a solid game.

"Even though we don't have a lot to show in the win column, this team improved tremendously throughout the season and was competitive in every game after the first one," Welton said.

"We have many good players in this group who should eventually be good varsity players."

7th Grade Cagers End Season 8-3

Beach Middle school seventh grade basketball team wrapped up their season with a 24-19 win over Pinckney and a 37-8 victory over Milan.

In the Pinckney game, Ann Terpstra scored nine points, grabbed 10 rebounds, and had four blocked shots; Chrissy Morse had four points; Danielle Longe had four points; Chrystal Orr had three points; Michelle Orr had two points; Beth Blevins had one point and four rebounds; Jessica Inwood had one point; and Suzy Steele had four rebounds.

In the Milan game, Terpstra had 19 points and 20 rebounds; Blevins had four points; Heidi Wehrwein, Longe, Nikki Lane, Steele, Chrystal Orr, Kyle Kentala, and Morse each scored two points; Carrie Buss had five rebounds; and Morse had six steals.

"I believe this team has good basketball potential," said coach Ann Schaffner, whose team finished 8-3.

"I hope they'll continue to play basketball and develop their skills. Other members of the team included Lisa Beard, Heidi Kemnitz, Chrissy Vargo, Angie Bell, Katie Spink, Katie Morse, and Sara Petty.

The proportion of employed Hispanic women managers increased in 1988 to 6.7 percent, up from 6.6 percent in 1987 and 5.9 percent in 1986, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Women's Bureau. Women of Hispanic origin, however, represented only 1.6 percent of all employed managers in 1988, slightly higher than 1987's 1.5 percent.

Dogs End Football Season With Win Over Panthers

Big plays by both teams highlighted the Chelsea Bulldogs' season-ending 50-34 victory over the Stockbridge Panthers last Friday night at Niehaus Field.

Jude Quilter took the opening kickoff about 80 yards to the Stockbridge two-yard line and two plays later quarterback Tucker Steele ran for the touchdown. That sequence set the tone for the entire game.

Chelsea's third drive of the game covered 59 yards in four plays, capped by the second of Steele's three touchdowns.

And the Bulldogs' fourth drive covered 61 yards on one play, a bomb from Steele to split end Adam Taylor, who scored twice on the night. At the 1:59 mark of the first quarter, Chelsea held a 22-0 lead.

Stockbridge dominated the rest of the half and by the intermission the Bulldogs led 28-20.

"Our worst fears were realized when we jumped out to a 22-0 lead," said Chelsea head coach Gene LaFave.

"We got the big lead, and it was pretty easy. You really leave the door open unless you keep pouring it on."

The Panthers, who run a wing-T offense featuring a lot of deception, piled up big yardage on the ground after falling so far behind. They never got closer than eight points, but they had little trouble moving the ball.

A 59-yard Stockbridge run with :52 remaining in the first quarter, and the extra points, cut Chelsea's lead to 22-8.

After a fake punt failed on the next Chelsea drive, the Panthers drove 38 yards in five plays and Joe Edwards scored with 8:25 remaining in the half.

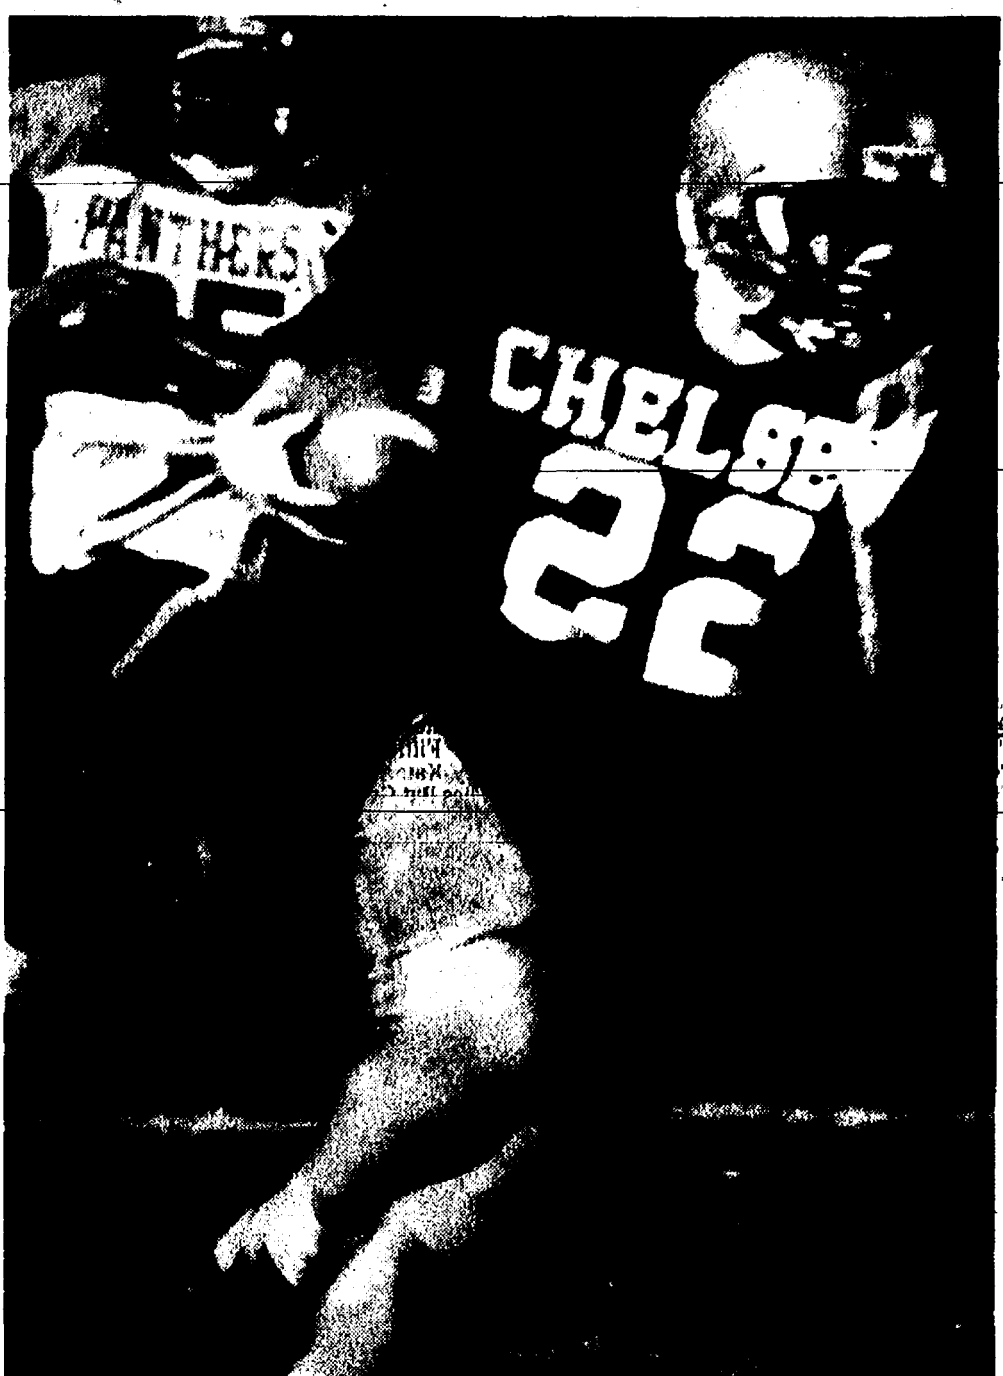

After Steele scored his third touchdown of the night, this one from seven yards, Stockbridge came back in three plays for another 59-yard touchdown run.

The Panthers rushed for 379 yards, the highest total the Bulldogs allowed all season.

The rest of the scoring was in the fourth quarter. The Bulldogs began a drive at the Stockbridge 43 after a short Panther punt. Big play of the drive was a 29-yard pass from Steele to Quilter to the Panther one. Quilter scored on the next play with 10:14 to go and Steele passed to Ben Hurst for the two-point conversion.

The Panthers next mounted a five-play, 69-yard drive to score with 8:56 to go. Chelsea's lead was still 10 points, 38-28.

The Bulldogs put the game away on the next drive, which covered 58 yards

JUDE QUILTER takes off upfield after a short screen pass for one of his two touchdowns last Friday night in Chelsea's final home game. Quilter led the team in both rushing and receiving in his final game as a Bulldog as Chelsea won the game over Stockbridge, 50-32.

Cagers Head into Home Stretch Of Conference Championship Race

Chelsea Bulldogs girls basketball team tightened their grip on first place in the Southeastern Conference with a 55-32 victory over winless Lincoln last Tuesday.

Heading into last night's critical game at Dexter, the Bulldogs held a two-game lead with four games remaining.

Dexter Dreadnaughts and Tecumseh Indians figured to be the Bulldogs' biggest obstacles. Unless the team collapses entirely the Dogs are almost assured of a tie for the SEC title.

In addition, senior Colleen Scharphorn, the team's high scorer who has been out much of the season with a knee injury, was due back last night.

The Lincoln game was a runaway almost from the beginning as Chelsea held a 13-6 lead at the end of the first quarter and a 29-13 lead at half-time.

The Bulldogs hit 21 of 58 shots from the floor and 13 of 22 from the line. Three Bulldogs finished in double figures, led by Christine Burg's 19 points. Carrie Flintoft scored 12 points and Mercedes Hammer scored 10 points and had a team-high 11 rebounds.

Other scorers included Sarah Devine and Kristin Bohlender with six points each and Shawn Losey with two points.

The victory was the Bulldogs' 11th in a row. They are 14-2 on the season and 8-0 in the SEC.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

If Pat Clarke has his prayers answered Friday night, there'll be snow on the ground Saturday morning.

I don't know that the coach is really all that anxious for fall to end. But he does know that his girls cross country team performs well in what you and I would probably consider less than ideal weather conditions.

Chances are if I'm freezing my behind off this Saturday at the state cross country meet, he'll think it's just dandy.

That's what happened last year. Temperature was in the 40s and there was a 210 mile per hour wind blowing straight at the starting line. There was standing room only in the Tyrone Hills Golf Course clubhouse, the line for hot chocolate looped around like one at a Disney World attraction.

When the race finally began, Chelsea's Lisa Monti sprinted to the lead and won handily. And the Bulldogs took home their first state title by a couple of points.

They could make it two in a row, if... Yes, it's a big if.

The Bulldogs won the region title last Saturday, their second in a row, because they performed like a team at its peak, and because one Jackson Lumen Christi runner was about 20 seconds short of her usual time. Something equally dramatic will have to happen this week-end. Maybe a couple of Bulldogs turn in astounding performances. Maybe a Christi runner or Fremont runner cramps up. That's the beauty of these races. The teams who are there to win it are all trying so hard that something dramatic, good or bad, is bound to happen. You can also bet that the winning team will have run its best race of the year. There's too much talent to get by with an average performance.

Last Saturday, two Chelsea runners looked as if they were about to die at the finish line. One girl was helped by two concerned fathers. Another girl had a hard time even standing up. It was the price they paid for pushing themselves. I'm sure they'd do it again, and they'll have to Saturday if the Bulldogs are to win it all again.

If the pieces fall into place, the Bulldogs have a shot. They proved it Saturday by edging the number one team in the state.

The Bulldogs won the region title with seven underclassmen, well all right, underclasswomen.

That's right, there were no seniors in the line-up. This week Clarke is guaranteed to have at least six non-seniors in there.

In fact, five of the top six, Monti, Val Bullock, Beth Williams, Tracey Wales, and Jessica Holton, are all sophomores. Charity Allen, the only non-soph, is a junior.

So, to say the least, the future looks bright for girls cross country. You can bet there are a lot of envious coaches out there.

And just as amazing is Clarke says this group is already better than last year's state championship team.

What you may not realize is Clarke's girls program has been perhaps the best and most consistent in the state over the last eight years.

How about these almost unbelievable numbers. Since 1983, Chelsea has finished second in the region four times, '83, '84, '86, and '87, and been region champion three times, '85, '89, '90. They placed 8th in the state in '83, 4th in '84, 3rd in '85 and '87, 2nd in '86, and, of course, 1st last year.

That is a remarkable record by any measure.

The secret is very simple. He has a way of getting his teams to peak at the end of the season. I'm not sure even Clarke could tell you precisely how he does it. He did tell me that it's a process that begins in the pre-season with goal-setting. It also involves a lot of patience. He also looks for certain qualities in each girl he recruits (in-school) for his team, and one of them is intelligence.

Whatever Clarke's method is, it has made him one of the finest cross country coaches in the state.

This is the week the varsity girls basketball team can win at least a share of their third straight Southeastern Conference basketball title.

At best, the Bulldogs could have a three-game lead with three games to go after tomorrow's home game with Tecumseh. At worst, they could be tied with Tecumseh, Dexter, or both, depending on what happened last night at Dexter.

It should be a fine week of sports for Chelsea High.

TUCKER STEELE keeps the ball for one of his three touchdowns last Friday against the Stockbridge Panthers. Steele also passed for 300 yards to end his career with his best game.

Boy Runners Finish 10th in Region Meet

Chelsea boys cross country team placed fifth in the Southeastern Conference and 10th in the region to close out their season.

The Bulldogs finished fifth in the SEC meet at Tecumseh last week with 127 points. Pinckney won with 50 points followed by Tecumseh 58, Saline 76, and Lincoln 88. Dexter was sixth with 132 and Milan was last with 145.

Every Chelsea runner set a personal record.

"I was very pleased with fifth place," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"You can't ask for more than to have everyone on the team run his best time in the last meet."

Senior Kelly Beard was Chelsea's top finisher as he placed 13th in 17:03. Bulldogs behind him were Chris White, 23rd, 17:25; Jim Hassett, 28th, 17:34; Joe Blough, 32nd, 17:40; Dan Zatkovich, 33rd, 17:42; Ben Vermeylen, 38th, 17:48; and Mike Reese, 38th, 18:10.

In the region meet at Springport on Saturday, Chelsea had 216 points.

MARCIA HANCOCK

NORTH SCHOOL STUDENTS in Mrs. Gillingham's third grade class were invited to decorate McDonald's here in Chelsea. The decorations were for the entire month of October. World Community Set for Friday, Nov. 2

World Community Day, Friday, Nov. 2, is an ecumenical worship event, sponsored annually by Church Women United, that brings Protestant, Roman Catholic, Orthodox and other Christian women together to focus on issues of the wider global community and a mutual search for justice and peace in the world. "Women for Justice/Justice for Women" is the theme for 1990's observance that raises consciousness to the condition of women of all races and cultures who are oppressed. It lifts up for support and prayer the groups and individual women who are working for justice.

Service and resource materials for this World Community Day event were written by a diverse group of Christian women from Arizona who are deeply involved in justice issues within their own communities. The resources reflect the joy and pain, the insights and faith each has gained as she journeyed toward justice in her own life. The WCD experience they created challenges women to build community as women and to erase barriers of age, sex, race, culture and ethnicity in their relationships with one another.

The 1990 World Community Day theme, "Women for Justice/Justice for Women," undergirds CWU's commitment to its Imperative, Assignment: Poverty of Women, a national effort to eliminate the root causes of poverty of women and children. The WCD offering makes possible in part the mission of Church Women United: to continue its work on the Imperative, to support women's development projects (in the U.S. and abroad) through the Intercontinental Grants program; to prepare and distribute celebration materials for World Community Day, World Day of Prayer and May Fellowship Day, to produce such publications as "Churchwoman" magazine and "Wellsprings" Bible Studies.

Church Women United was born in the midst of struggle — a struggle for justice. Perhaps, better than most, women understand the need for justice. Whereas some races and cultures are oppressed by other races and cultures, the women in each race and culture are usually the most oppressed, even among their own kind. It is the very qualities considered "feminine" that will bring about justice for all people: nurturing, compassion, caring, creativity and non-aggressiveness. Let us look to guidance from those women who actively sought and seek justice in order that we may more clearly seek justice in our own lives.

In Chelsea, World Community Day, will be celebrated at St. Paul United Church of Christ, 1400 Old US-12, on Friday, Nov. 2, starting at 10:30 a.m. All women of the Chelsea/Dexter area are invited to join in this day so that together they can come to understand how others have experienced oppression and ask themselves why it exists.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
COULD YOUR PROPERTY PASS AN ENVIRONMENTAL AUDIT? OR IS EVERYONE A POLLUTER? OR WHY DID THE POLLUTER'S PAY BILL PASS?

State Representative Margaret O'Connor wants polluters to pay for problems they create. She voted against the polluters pay bill because she realized it ignores the simple fact that just about everyone pollutes.

As an environmental scientist, I could become wealthy utilizing the tattle-tale provisions of the act which allows me to collect $10,000 each time I report a polluter, or a potential polluter.

The bill makes you responsible, even if you're just a home owner, for pollution which occurred on your property while you own it, or even before you owned it.

Home owners now have a problem. Here are just a few examples.

If you have a septic tank and use a water softener to which salt is added, the ground water or soil is probably polluted and you could be held responsible.

If you live on a lake and copper sulfate or arsenic was ever used in the lake to control weeds or algae, the part of the lake bottom you own is now contaminated, and you could be held responsible.

Were papers ever burned on your property, and the ashes allowed to spill on the ground? If so, the soils are probably contaminated with metals from the inks and you could be held responsible.

Were railroad ties ever used in landscaping on your property? If so, the soils are probably contaminated with creosote and you could be held responsible.

Was fuel oil ever used to heat your house? If so, you could be responsible for polluting the soil if some of the oil was spilled on the ground when the tank was filled.

Do you have members of your family embalmed before you bury them? If so, the potential exists for polluting the cemetery soils if the embalming fluid leaches into the soil and since you own the lot, you could be held responsible.

Was your house ever repainted, and the painters allowed the paint they scraped from the building to fall on the ground? If so, the soils may be polluted with lead from the paints and you could be held responsible.

If the Ann Arbor recycling center (run by the Ecology Center) allows oil to soak the ground at their oil recycling facility (which I think they already have) they could be held responsible.

Sheep need higher levels of selenium than is usually found in local soils, so farmers add selenium to the feed. If higher than normal levels of selenium are later found in their soils, they could be held responsible.

If you're a picture painter and dispose of unwanted paintings by burning them in a back yard burner, the soils could be contaminated from the metals in the paints, and you could be held responsible.

These are just a few examples, but should give you some idea of the problems the bill can cause you.

I suspect if I conducted an environmental audit on Lana Pollack's property, it would not pass. In fact I'll do this for her at no charge (except for the several thousand dollars worth of analyses which will need to be done on the soils) and publish the results, if she is agreeable. I might even be eligible for the $10,000 tattle-tale payment.

Why am I so picky? If I don't conduct a complete and extensive environmental audit and report everything I find or suspect, I could be held responsible for something I missed, and have to pay for cleaning it up.

I think State Representative Margaret O'Connor was wise to vote against the polluters pay bill. As you can see, anyone, including you, could be held responsible under its wide-sweeping provisions. That is what she was concerned with.

To the Editor,
This is an open letter to Jim Douglas as you are running for state representative. You recently distributed a flyer criticizing your opponent, Representative Margaret O'Connor's recent vote against the clean air bill. You say that Rep. O'Connor is against polluters paying for their own pollution and that she wants the taxpayers to pay those clean-ups. You couldn't be more wrong.

Have you even read the bill, Mr. Douglas. Is that flyer just campaign rhetoric or are you being led down a path by those who would turn Michigan into one big state park and send all the manufacturing out of state? If you read the bill you might discover some of the reasons Rep. O'Connor voted against it.

Under this bill, business owners who have not polluted can be saddled with clean-up costs for pollution caused by previous owners. Many times that pollution was caused by operations that were even authorized by the state and at the time were thought to be sound business and environmental practices. There are many instances where the DNR has given advice that they later reverse and now the business that followed that advice is saddled with the resultant pollution. The problem with the Chelsea Landfill is a perfect example of a community that has been trapped by this bad advice.

As recently as 1983 I sought advice from the Washtenaw County Solid Waste Department on what to do with a distillation residue from my own business. I was told to mix it with "kitty litter" and take it to the landfill. Thank goodness times have changed and advice like this is no longer being given out and such wastes are being recycled instead of polluting our landfills.

There are a great many flaws in the "Polluters Pay" bill which Rep. O'Connor recognized and therefore voted as she did. It took a great deal of courage not to jump on the band wagon of those who wished to pass this bill before the election so that they could champion themselves as "environmentalists." Maybe she voted as she did because one very important part of the bill has still not been passed. Did you know, Mr. Douglas, that no funding has been passed for this "wonderful" bill? Our so-called friends of the environment are waiting until after the election to drop that little bit on the citizens of Michigan.

Rep. O'Connor does want polluters to pay for their pollution. The difference between her and you, Mr. Douglas, is that she wants justice and fairness in such legislation.

ROADSMART

Presented by Huron Valley Traffic Safety Committee

- Q. How much can you drink before it's unsafe to drive?
A. Only one or two drinks may make it unsafe. A 150-lb person who drinks 4 beers in only a few hours would likely become impaired or intoxicated.
Q. Can my parents let me drink at home if I'm under 21?
A. Legally, no. There is no exception to the 21 or older law.

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON—A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete, "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Researchers in Europe found that an ingredient in the aptly named product Food Source One actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.

While the development of Food Source One, a product of National Dietary Research, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the discovery has been a windfall for overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds, but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 15 days on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One is available through physicians and pharmacies without a prescription because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients already known to be safe. Copies of the referenced study are available free from National Dietary Research, Suite 553, 1377 K St., Washington, DC 20005, however please include $2 postage & handling for each request.

Food Source One is available in chocolate, vanilla or strawberry. A 100 tablet supply only $24.98.

Food Source One is available at:

A Tribute To Christine Dresselhouse Heydlauff

HON. CARL D. PURSELL
OF MICHIGAN
In the House of Representatives
Wednesday, Oct. 17, 1990

Mr. Speaker, throughout history, man has paid tribute to women who have led their families with a combination of strength, intellect, love, and undying commitment to strong moral values. These matriarchs are revered for their individual accomplishments as well as the achievements of those who lives were molded and guided by them. I rise today in honor of just such a woman on the occasion of her 80th birthday, Christine Heydlauff of Chelsea, MI. This is not a woman you will read about in your newspaper or view on the evening news. Yet, she symbolizes the kind of person that has made this country great in much the same way that more celebrated matriarchs have been shining beacons for their families to learn and prosper from. In celebration of this event, her grandson, Dale Heydlauff, has written the following accolade to her. I ask that it be made a part of the RECORD:

A HOMAGE TO MY GRANDMOTHER
(By Dale E. Heydlauff)

Christine Caroline Dresselhouse was born in her family home in Sharon Township, Michigan on October 28, 1910. The youngest of four children, Christine was raised to respect the land and the bountiful fruits it could provide with hard work and perseverance. She was also instilled with a strong belief in the value of a good education. She walked a mile and a half to school each day, sometimes facing severe temperatures, so that she could learn the basic skills needed to excel in rural Michigan. When not studying, her parents taught her the myriad jobs required to run a farm and household. These lessons would prove invaluable to her later in life when she continued in the tradition of the German immigrants who had settled in this area by becoming a farmer's wife and mother.

On November 23, 1932, Christine married Clifford Heydlauff, a farmer from Grass Lake, Michigan. Throughout their life together, Christine and Clifford toiled with the land, carefully culling all the land would offer in order to feed their family and earn a modest living. Over the years, Christine gave birth to four children, Gerald, James, Ned and Ann. Each of her children would grow to embrace the same values of hard work and dedication to the land and the family that had shaped her life as a child and adult.

Christine Heydlauff is a strong-willed woman who has overcome considerable adversity in her life. She has had to bury all of her siblings and her loving husband, whose difficult death from cancer in 1973 was a crushing blow. These painful experiences have not tainted her love for life or dimmed the sparkle she shares with those around her. Her talents are many and varied. She makes the best pies, cakes and cookies of anyone I know. She can create anything out of cloth. She can complete a crossword puzzle faster than anyone alive. She is well read and keeps current on world events, which contributes to lively discussions and debates when we get together. Her life has been governed by a commitment to Christian values and a fierce devotion to her family. She has been and continues to be a radiant example to those who are fortunate to know her, and displays a solid resolve to face life with a stubborn confidence that she can conquer anything in her path.

Despite this tough veneer, Christine has a heart of gold and a real softness for children. She is patient and kind. She is generous and a faithful friend. She is a beautiful woman, both physically and spiritually. These admirable characteristics would serve us all well if we could only acquire them. And our lives would be enriched by emulating her ways.

Happy Birthday Grandma. I love you and am proud to be your grandson.

Neil Simon's Broadway Hit Play

"GOD'S FAVORITE"

Friday & Saturday, Nov. 2-3

Neil Simon's Broadway hit play, "God's Favorite" will be produced by the Saint Philip's Players, Friday, November 2 and Saturday, November 3 at 8:00 pm at Saint Philip's Church, 272 N. Hewitt Road, just south of Ypsilanti High School. The curtain rises at 8:00 pm. Tickets for the play are $6.00 and $3.00 for Senior Citizens and children under 12.

The play, a hilarious adaptation of the story of the biblical character, Job, takes place in the Long Island mansion of Joe Benjamin and his family. Sometimes poignant, often thought-provoking, and constantly funny, theater-goers will recognize that unique sense of comedy which belongs to Mr. Simon, one of America's most well-loved playwrights.

Neil Simon, the author of such hits as The Odd Couple, Sweet Charity, The Goodbye Girl, Chapter Two, and his autobiographical trilogy, Brighton Beach Memoirs, Biloxi Blues, and Broadway Bound, has created an evening of great entertainment for the whole family in God's Favorite. Since 1960, a Broadway season without a Neil Simon comedy or musical has been a rare one.

The cast of eight players has produced an ensemble cast which brings the audience right into the action of the play. The intimate setting at Saint Philip's, seating only 250, allows the audience to feel at home with the Benjamin family and their mysterious visitor from God.

Tickets may be reserved by phoning the church at 485-2510 during office hours (9am - 1pm weekdays) or purchased at the door.

Why I support Jim Douglas For state representative

Jim Douglas, police chief of Saline, is challenging Margaret O'Connor, incumbent, for the 52nd District seat in the House of Representatives on November 6. Douglas would be a more effective spokesperson on a wider range of issues than O'Connor.

Douglas favors stricter drunk driving laws. He supports living will legislation. Douglas would eliminate the property tax to fund education and substitute either a sales tax or an income tax. According to Douglas, we need change in education financing and an open mind to facilitate change.

As the Ann Arbor News so succinctly stated in their October 25 issue, "That's more than anybody is likely to hear from O'Connor, whose role in the legislature has been to oppose bills introduced by others and generally serve as a fiscal scold to her colleagues."

Douglas has a good grasp of Michigan's problems and prospects. He says we need a comprehensive health care policy based on a partnership between private enterprise and government. On the economy, he says we need to improve our reputation as a bad business state while working on property tax reform.

With Douglas, we hear potential solutions to problems and a willingness to put things on the table for teamwork discussion. With O'Connor, we get property tax relief funded with savings from pork barrel spending. Not too effective!

For a voice in Lansing, elect Jim Douglas.

Why Your Bank Needs Your Correct SS Number

Does the name and social security number on your bank account match the name and number on your social security card? If it doesn't, the IRS says you will receive a letter soon requesting the corrected information.

"Banks and other institutions who pay interest, dividends, brokerage transactions and other types of payments will be sending notices to individuals and businesses whose taxpayer identification number (TIN) do not match Social Security Administration and IRS records," said IRS district director John Hummel. "It is very important that taxpayers provide correct information promptly."

Hummel said the taxpayers who receive the notice must respond to the financial institution (not the IRS) within 30 days, providing their social security number or employer identification number and certifying it as correct. Hummel added that if taxpayers do not return the TIN certification form, the payer will begin withholding federal income tax at the rate of 20% from future payments.

"The withholding will continue until the correct information is provided," said Hummel. "Taxpayers may then claim the amount withheld as a credit on their federal income tax return."

The IRS uses the taxpayer identification numbers to cross match information documents against income tax returns. "It ensures that all income is reported, on tax returns and that the proper amount of tax is paid," Hummel said.

Additional information about providing TINs to payers of interest, dividends and other types of payments is available from the IRS by calling, toll-free, 1-800-829-1040.

Substance Abuse Intervention Discussed at Nov. 6 Program

Brighton Hospital's series of programs on substance abuse prevention and treatment continues on Tuesday, Nov. 6 with a discussion on how family members, friends, and employers can confront and help a chemically dependent person.

The title of the free program is: "Intervention: The Direct Approach to Treatment and Recovery." Brian Duguey, an intervention specialist at the hospital, is the featured speaker. The program begins at 7 p.m. in the Brighton Hospital chapel. Reservations are not required.

According to Duguey, the family and friends of someone who is abusing alcohol and other drugs realize that they need to take some action but are not sure how to begin. In an intervention the group confronts the individual with the reality of his or her drinking or drug use in a factual, concerned, and non-judgmental manner.

In most cases, says Duguey, the person intervened upon will seek treatment. Another important result is that the individual's family and friends have begun to help themselves by taking some action toward resolving the problem.

Brighton Hospital serves communities throughout southeastern Michigan. It is located on E. Grand River, just off exit 151 of the I-46 expressway.

For additional information about the Nov. 6 program, contact the hospital's Community Relations Department weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at (313) 227-1211, ext. 276.

Heldt Urges Reservations for Veterans Parade

Heldt may be reached at 475-8855.

The decision you make on November 6 for state representative will be based on what is important to you. I share your views, and they will be my priorities as your representative.

CRIME AND DRUGS

I have 20 years of law enforcement experience. As the police chief of Saline, I have been on the front lines of the fight against crime and drugs. We need a tougher stance on crime and more effective anti-crime efforts.

THE ENVIRONMENT

I support Michigan's "polluters pay" law, which forces polluters -- not taxpayers -- to clean up their messes. As your state representative, I will support other legislation aimed at environmental protection.

LOWER PROPERTY TAXES

We've been paying too much in property taxes for too long. I support immediate tax relief, so that working families can afford a good home.

Legislators Don't Change Michigan Truck Weight Limits

A subcommittee of the state House Transportation Committee has decided not to make any changes in Michigan's truck weight limits, according to Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau. "The subcommittee heard testimony from transportation experts who said that, when it comes to pavement damage, the number of axles and types of tires on a truck are more important than the weight of the vehicle," he said. "As for bridges being adequate, the Michigan Department of Transportation testified that most of the bridges are built to handle current weights."

Nelson said the subcommittee found that there would be no safety benefits from reducing truck weights because the result would be a greater number of trucks on the road.

ELMER WHITE A DEMOCRAT FOR CONGRESS

• Economic Development — The Cold War is over. We don't have to send Federal money to the Sunbelt defense industry. The new American economy will call upon Southeast Michigan to provide the needs of peacetime markets.

Michigan can meet the market; we have the skilled work force and our state Commerce department, under the leadership of Governor Jim Blanchard, has a matrix in place to support economic development. Recognizing that we need strong conventional military forces, ELMER WHITE will work in Congress to cut the defense budget and send Federal peacetime research investment to the Second District.

• Housing must be within the reach of working Americans. The government must audit and regulate the mortgage banking system so loan money is available for housing. In 1946 housing was made a priority. With the end of the Cold War ELMER WHITE will work in Congress for tax credits for first time homebuyers.

• Health Care must be available to all Americans, regardless of station in life. The ill health of any American is the concern of every American. The health care system of the 21st Century will encourage prevention. Health Care policy in the 90's must move us toward this goal.

• Environment of the Great Lakes is vitally important. 20% of the surface fresh water of the entire planet is found in the Great Lakes. The Congress must be made aware of how important maintaining and improving the biosystem integrity of the Great Lakes is to America's future.

• International Justice — The opportunity is present to find peace throughout the world. If we can find peace in the Middle East, we can find peace anywhere in the world; therefore, it is our greatest challenge. International justice requires that chemical and biological weapons be abolished. This is an old theme going back to the League of Nations; the time is now to insist upon abolition.

LANA POLLACK

Michigan State Senator

Lana Pollack, Michigan's hardest working State Senator, believes that our most precious resource is our children. From pre-school to university, her name is synonymous with education. She works both to free education from its reliance on property taxes and to increase its financial support.

Lana Pollack is the legislature's foremost environmentalist. After six years of hard work, the "polluters pay" bill has finally passed in both houses of the Legislature, and awaits the signature of the Governor. This is a milestone in the environmental effort in Michigan.

Lana Pollack fights those who are trying to take away freedom of choice with regard to birth control, abortions and living wills.

Farm Bureau Urges Amendment to Polluters Pay Bill

The innocent as well as the guilty will be held responsible for polluting the land under the polluters pay bill, said State Representative Margaret O'Connor at the Washtenaw County Farm Bureau annual meeting held Thursday, Oct. 4, at the Farm Council Grounds.

If a farmer is accused by the DNR of polluting the land, the farmer is guilty unless it can be proven he followed label directions exactly for pesticides, herbicides and fertilizers. Farmers also must prove they followed generally accepted farming practices.

Farm Bureau feels the bill should exempt farmers that follow Right-to-Farm guidelines.

In addition, another provision of the bill says if a landowner sells property to another person on land contract, he is responsible for clean-up if the person he sold it to pollutes the land then breaches the contract. The innocent person in this case is exempt only if he can prove that he did not know and had no way of knowing the buyer would pollute the land and the seller would have made every effort to see that the individual he sold the land to would not pollute the land.

Clearly, the polluters pay bill, as presented, will hurt many people, including the farmer.

Washtenaw County Farm Bureau passed a resolution Thursday evening urging State Legislators to amend the polluters pay bill to exempt farmers who follow Right-to-Farm guidelines and farmers should not be held guilty unless they are grossly negligent.

St. Joseph Hospital Nurse
Recalls Her Vietnam Years

Life is full of coincidences. In a rural Minnesota hospital in 1972, nurse Trudy Eck delivered a baby while waiting for the doctor to arrive. Moments later, Eck met the proud father. They both realized at once she had taken care of him four years earlier in Vietnam, where he had served as a soldier and she had been a military nurse. Now she had delivered his baby.

It was an emotional moment for both of them. Eck, now a labor and delivery nurse at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, still becomes teary-eyed when she talks about that night.

"When I think of Vietnam, these are the kinds of things I like to remember," says Eck. "I continue to have very ambivalent feelings — both positive and negative — about my Vietnam experiences."

Eck is a highly experienced obstetrical nurse who joined SJMH in September. She and her family live in Brighton.

Eck spent the early years of her career as an Army nurse and served in Vietnam. She recently appeared on the local talk show, Kelly & Company, to discuss her experiences and the effort of Vietnam War nurses to create a national memorial in Washington, DC.

"There's been a real movement over the last few years to establish a Vietnam Nurses Monument," says Eck. "When the Vietnam veterans memorial was being built, we said, 'We need a monument too.' It would help the healing process. Nowhere in this country is there a monument giving credit to women for their military contribution, not just Vietnam nurses, but all women who have ever served. It's been a battle. Finally it's approved and now we're in the fundraising/public relations stage."

Eck served in Vietnam from 1967-68, right after graduation from the Methodist Kahler School of Nursing (affiliated with the Mayo Clinic) in Rochester, Minn. "About that time, people I knew were beginning to go to Vietnam," she recalls. "The hospital and the community 'adopted' a Vietnam division and sent them supplies, letters, all sorts of things."

Eck was enrolled in the military student nurse program so she knew she would serve in the military after graduation but never imagined she'd be a wartime nurse. "I had the idea it would be my gateway to Europe," she says. "I'd get to see Germany."

But things turned out quite differently. Her first assignment was in Fort Carson, Colo., where she met her husband-to-be, Gary, also in the military. His division would soon be shipped out to Vietnam. Trudy made up her mind to volunteer for Vietnam duty despite her husband's attempts to dissuade her. They were married in Vietnam and ended up being stationed six miles from each other. "We were able to get together sometimes," Eck recalls.

"Being there as a nurse I learned as much as I could ever learn here. I developed even more respect for human life. I was awed at how strong and recuperative the human body is. I was also devastated by the losses people suffered, the horror of it. I came out of Vietnam with some feelings that probably will never be resolved. I have a lot of anger for the political and economic situations that caused our involvement there. The war was stupid, ugly and never should have happened. But I know I did the right thing going over. I must admit that I am nervous about the present situation in the Persian Gulf. I don't want another Vietnam-type conflict."

Until recently, Eck could not bring herself to watch any movies or television programs dealing with Vietnam. "About two years ago, it became important for me to see how they portrayed that experience. 'Born on the Fourth of July' reflects the frustration, hurt and anger that so many of us felt upon our return. Recognition has been a long time coming. And very few films deal accurately with the female role and perspective. My children (Tamara, 22 and Melissa, 19) got me to watch 'China Beach' (a television drama series focusing on Vietnam nurses). Some of the episodes are accurate but others a bit extreme."

Eck and her husband talk to each other and their children about their experiences. "Our salvation was we were both there. People ask me would I do it again. I don't know."

Today, Eck is convinced that she went into obstetrics nursing because of its life-affirming qualities and the daily drama it entails. "You find many ex-Vietnam nurses in the 'high-adrenaline' areas like Emergency, the Operating Room and Labor & Delivery," she acknowledges. "We found regular hospital routine frustrating after Vietnam. We were used to more responsibility and it was difficult to fit into a limited, structured role."

"One area that has never gotten publicity is the phenomenal job the American medical community did, not just for the military but for the Vietnamese as well," Eck says. "We took care of many Vietnamese aside from the casualties of war. Off-duty hours were often spent going on calls to orphanages and performing orthopedic and cataract surgeries, especially for children. Those are the things I like to remember."

Garage Theatre Benefits From Sunday Fund-Raiser

It was an afternoon of fun and excitement for those of you who participated in the Garage Theatre fund-raiser at the Chelsea Shopping Center on Sunday, Oct. 21. Free pizza was served by Cottage Inn and many people took advantage of a hot slice of pizza on a somewhat chilly afternoon.

Gail Bauer, director of the Garage Theatre Foundation, was on hand all afternoon selling raffle tickets. The winner will receive two opening night tickets to a production of the Purple Rose Theatre Company at the Garage Theatre this February. Mrs. Bauer was also selling Purple T-shirts all afternoon. Raffle tickets and T-shirts are available at Village Instant Photo in the Chelsea Shopping Center.

Other entertainment consisted of Linda Warren as a clown. She was a big hit with the kids, passing out balloons, giggles and lots of smiles.

The Chelsea Baton Corps, featuring nine of its members, thrilled the crowd with their control and poise. All the people were captivated to watch the girls of various ages perform.

The highlight of the afternoon was Boyer and Fitzsimmons comedy magic, who more than pleased the crowd with their amazing illusions and tricks. The crowd went home pleased with the excitement of the afternoon and happy to participate in the Garage Theatre fund-raiser. For those of you who missed Boyer and Fitzsimmons, they will be performing, along with other groups at Chelsea High school on Sunday, Nov. 11.

The performances and donations of everyone who participated in the fund-raiser were gratefully accepted. Also, appreciation was expressed to those who got the fund-raiser off the ground, especially Ailsa Bauer and Wendy Beaumont, who organized the event. Anyone wishing to make a donation to the Garage Theatre to help reach their goal may stop by or call Village Instant Photo at 475-5920.

Secretary of State Branch Office To Close for Holidays

In observance of Veterans Day, branch offices will be closed Saturday, Nov. 10, and Monday, Nov. 12. They will re-open for business as usual on Tuesday morning, Nov. 13.

Branch offices will be closed for three days over the Thanksgiving holiday: Thursday, Nov. 22; Friday, Nov. 23; and Saturday, Nov. 24. They will re-open on Monday morning, Nov. 26.

Motorists whose driver licenses or license plates expire during these holidays are encouraged to renew early. Waiting times in branch offices are usually shortest on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Secretary Austin urged all motorists to buckle up and obey posted speed limits, especially during the upcoming holidays.

Book Printers Challenge Issued in Collecting for Huron Harvest Food Bank

For the past two years the employees of Thomson-Shore, Inc., a book printer in Dexter, collected 3,372 pounds of food for the Huron Harvest Food Bank. To involve everyone, challenges were made between departments which was a great success.

To make this year's collection more interesting Thomson-Shore, Inc., at 7300 Joy Rd. in Dexter has challenged McNaughton & Gunn, 980 Woodland Dr., a book printer in Saline. The challenge is to see who can collect the most food pound per pound.

The challenge began Oct. 22 and continues until Dec. 3. Employees from each company will collect canned and boxed goods (no glass) during this time and will be taken to the Meijers parking lot on Ann Arbor-Saline Rd. WJQB Radio Station of Ann Arbor annually collects food for the Huron Harvest Food Bank by "Rocking for the Hungry" at this Meijers.

All the food collected by Thomson-Shore and McNaughton & Gunn will be delivered to the parking lot. These donations will be put into trucks for distribution throughout the local area to feed hungry families. WJQB will announce during their broadcasts how much is collected and who donated. It is hoped this will encourage other companies throughout Washtenaw county to contribute towards the food drive.

WJQB Radio Station would like everyone to know they are collecting from Dec. 3-8 at Meijers Parking Lot. Their goal in '89 was 15 tons which was reached. For 1990 they hope to collect even more for the Huron Harvest Food Bank.
