TWO PEOPLE PERISHED IN A FIRE which destroyed this Dexter township house at 8318 Thurston Dr., just off Dexter Town Hall Rd., Saturday, Jan. 5. Dexter Area Fire Department was advised the structure fire had been reported in a telephone call from one of the residents, who said she was in the house. The dispatcher advised her to immediately leave the house, and fire investigators weren't sure why the woman and her husband didn't leave. The bodies of William Howard Adams and his wife Bernice were discovered inside the burning house. When firefighters arrived, the flames were already through the roof of the 2½-story residence. Responding to a mutual-aid request, Putnam Township Fire Department sent two trucks and eight men to assist, and Chelsea Fire Department stood by the Dexter station.

Dexter Township Couple Perish in House Fire Early Saturday Morning

A fatal fire, Saturday, Jan. 5, claimed the lives of two Dexter township residents when flames engulfed their home at 8318 Thurston Dr., just off Dexter Town Hall Rd.

According to Lt. Craig Swenson of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, Washtenaw central dispatch received a 1:32 a.m. report of a house fire at the Dexter township location.

It was the first fatal fire experienced by the Dexter Area Fire Department since 1977 or 1978, department historian and assistant fire chief Dennis Betz explained.

Swenson explained in a press release, "It's believed at this time that the call came from the female occupant of the home, while she was still in the house. The Dexter Area Fire Department was dispatched to the address, and found the home in flames."

Dexter Area firefighters said the dispatcher told the woman she and her husband should immediately leave the house, after she explained there was smoke and a wall was burning.

It's not yet determined whether the couple left the house, but returned, or whether they were unable to find a safe exit.

Captain Rick Chabot was first to arrive on the scene, followed by Dexter Area fire chief Fred Schmid.

Both men reside in the immediate area of the residence at which the fire was reported.

The home is owned by William Howard Adams and wife, Bernice, and although positive identification had not yet been confirmed by Sunday, Jan. 6, they are believed to be the victims whose bodies were discovered in the structure.

Assistant chief Betz explained that firefighters had a difficult time determining the entrances to the home.

"We were there 45 minutes to an hour before we were able to locate an effective entrance to the house, a 2½-story, rambling residence," Betz said.

He added, "One fire crew went through the basement, and had to knock down a lot of fire. Another fire crew tried to enter the first floor, but the fire had gained such headway in the walls, they found it very difficult to proceed."

"When we arrived on the scene, fire was burning in the southwest corner of the house and was already through the roof."

"The site is located near the northwest corner of the fire district."

"Putnam Township Fire Department arrived with two units and eight men on a mutual-aid assist, and Chelsea firefighters assisted by standing by the Dexter Fire Station."

Detective Sgt. Gary L. Mihalek from the Michigan State Police fire marshal's division was summoned to the scene, as were investigative personnel from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

Swenson explained, "Preliminary indications are that the fire may have started in the southwest corner of the home, possibly in the basement. At this time, there are no obvious signs of arson, but a final determination of the fire's cause will be made upon completion of the investigation."

Apparently, the home's only heating system included three wood-burning stoves.

PTS To Hear Piasecki, Roberts

South Elementary school's parent-teacher organization, PTS, will hear a presentation on facilities needs for the school district at a meeting Monday, Jan. 14 at 7 p.m. in the school's media center.

Superintendent Joe Piasecki and facilities committee member Jan Roberts will discuss the proposed new elementary school and renovations.

This meeting was originally scheduled for December.

South school parents, as well as the general public, are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Unusual Expenses Pose Major Challenge for Village in New Year

1991 promises to be a tough year for Chelsea village government as it deals with major expenditures involving the landfill, public works garage, and the sewer system, according to village president Richard Steele.

Steele talked about the expenses, as well as other challenges facing the village, in an interview with The Standard last Saturday.

"If we can cut those expenses down so we're not faced with the question of raising taxes, that will be a major accomplishment," Steele said.

The public works garage, which is likely to be built at the industrial park, is estimated to cost about $250,000. In addition, a portion of the old building on North St. has to be demolished and gasoline contamination at the site has to be cleaned up. The extent of those expenses are unknown.

A portion of the sewer system on McKinley St. needs reconstruction, which could cost up to $100,000, Steele said. It's a major line.

The village and Department of Natural Resources recently agreed on a landfill study, projected to cost $30,000 to $35,000, Steele said. Plus, the village and townships have not agreed on how to divide more than $700,000 that has already been spent on closing out the old landfill and obtaining a new landfill license. There is also no estimate on the remedial work necessary.

It all adds up to a murky financial picture for the village.

"We're dealing with several situations, any one of which would be difficult in a normal year," Steele said. "Unfortunately, they've hit us all at once."

Steele said the village needs to handle as much of the work internally as possible, especially in regards to the construction of the new garage.

"There are certain things, like electrical work, that we have the capability to do," Steele said.

Steele said he does not favor building new village offices at the industrial park along with the garage.

"If you want to be practical about it, we could do it," Steele said.

"But to me, it doesn't seem to be the swiftest thing to do. Here we just passed a $1.1 million bond issue to revitalize the downtown and help keep business here. Then we go and move out? Philosophically it doesn't make sense. Plus, I don't know what we'd gain out there."

Steele conceded the village will probably need to make a decision soon about the new village hall, partly because of handicap accessibility laws which will require government buildings to be barrier-free.

The village may, for the first time in its history, consider levying millage dedicated for trash removal in light of the scope of the landfill expenses, Steele said. Governments can levy up to three mills without a vote.

"I don't know if we'll get into it this year or not," Steele said.

"We want to have our bond counsel come and explain it to the whole council."

Another challenge facing village government is to improve communications with Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, and Dexter townships, Steele said.

Steele proposed that representatives of the governments simply meet informally on a regular basis, perhaps quarterly, to discuss common concerns.

"I'm real hopeful of greater communications, and we'd want to make sure that we don't leave the impression that we want to usurp anybody's authority or take over anything," Steele said.

"Communications will be especially important if we get the recycling grant from the state. If that happens we'll have 10 units of government (Chelsea and Manchester villages, and their four surrounding townships) working together and that will take a lot of co-operation."

In other matters, Steele said details of the departure of village manager Robert Stalker are not final. Village council asked Stalker for his resignation in November.

"I've gotten some comments about the situation, but I haven't responded to them," Steele said. He didn't elaborate about the comments.

Steele said council will probably go through much the same hiring process it did when Stalker was hired. He said it's likely village would look for the same general qualifications.

"When it comes down to the fine

School Board Chooses Grand Rapids Architect For Building Project

Chelsea Board of Education has selected the architectural firm of Greiner, Inc. of Grand Rapids for the first stages of its proposed school construction and renovation project.

The board took the action Monday night in their first regular meeting of 1991.

The district will spend a maximum of $8,500 with the company for their services up to a bond issue in either June or September.

"They'll help us focus on exactly what we want to do and give us the various options," said superintendent Joe Piasecki.

"Hopefully we'll be able to make some decisions in a timely fashion but we won't rush it."

The board wants a workshop session with the company on Saturday, Jan. 19.

Piasecki said the first stages of planning may include some sketches and schematic drawings. Details such as numbers of classrooms, their size, and their proposed use will also be known, as well as estimated costs. Actual architectural drawings won't be completed until after the bond issue.

"We have a couple of months of real intense work ahead of us," Piasecki said.

In other school board business Monday, the board re-instated one of three boys involved in last summer's vandalism at Beach Middle school. The boys were originally suspended for the entire year.

"He met the requirements the board set last August so there was no reason not to re-admit him," Piasecki said.

One requirement included a good report from a probation officer. The second requirement was that courses taken during the fall in another school district would blend with courses he can take here.

In another matter, the board also supported the administration's recommendation not to make changes in the controversial bus route 17. The route serves areas west of the village off Old US-12. Parents have complained about the length of the trip. School officials are concerned about the safety of students walking across Old US-12.

"We looked at every angle," Piasecki said.

"The parents still want changes but we just can't make them."

Village Requests Meeting With State

The village has requested a meeting with the state concerning the apparent decision to close Chelsea's Secretary of State branch office in February due to budgetary problems.

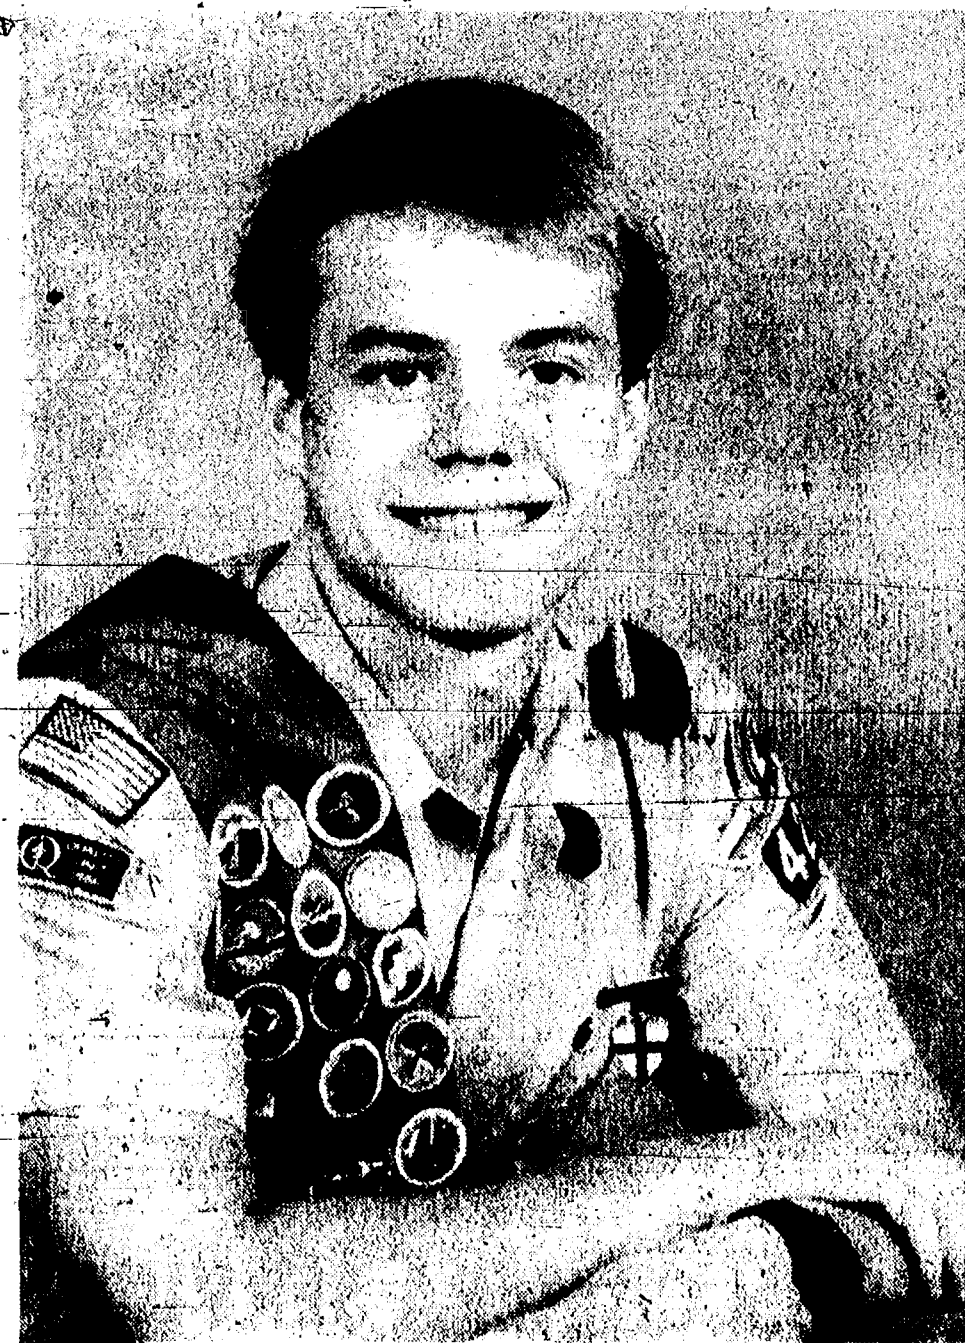

Village president Richard Steele has written a letter requesting a meeting within a couple of weeks.

Steele said he wants a unified effort involving Chelsea and the surrounding area, as well as the Manchester, Stockbridge, Dexter, and Grass Lake areas.

"We need to let those people know how many people their decision affects," Steele said.

"The office draws people from the entire western part of the county, as well as eastern Jackson county and even western Ann Arbor. People in Manchester will either have to drive all the way to Ann Arbor or Adrian."

DIRK COLBRY of Chelsea became an Eagle Scout at a Court of Honor held at the First United Methodist church on Sunday, Jan. 6. Colbry, 17, is the son of Norman and Alberta Colbry. He's a junior at Chelsea High school, a member of the high school band, the National Honor Society, and the varsity swim team. He's also a member of the First United Methodist church, where is an active member of the Bell Choir. His sister, Tricia, is a sophomore at Ferris State.

96 PURPLE SEATS were installed this week at Chelsea's Garage Theatre, which has set an opening date of Thursday, Feb. 7. Artistic director T. Newell Kring, left, and marketing director Alan Ribant were on hand as the Grand Rapids company installed the seats, which maintain the theme of the Purple Rose Theatre Company. The non-profit theatre company is still in need of both monetary contributions, as well as a wide array of basic equipment, from a refrigerator to typewriters.

Papo submitted the plans along with an application to rezone a portion of the property to allow the shopping center to be built. The land is located behind Broderick Shell, Schumm's Restaurant, Chelsea Big Boy and Taco Bell and is bordered on the south by Brown Dr.

Thursday, Jan. 12, 1967—

Jan. 12-21 would be Jaycee week, Chelsea chapter president Ron Branham announced. The purpose of the week is to focus attention on young men and the work they are doing in the field of community development and leadership training. The week celebrates the founding of the Jaycees nationally in 1915 when Henry Giessenbier saw a need for a young men's civic group and organized the first chapter. The Chelsea Jaycees were formed in 1954.

Work was underway on a new testing device at Chrysler Corporation's Chelsea Proving Grounds which would simulate and evaluate crash effects on passengers and vehicles.

Ed Akin was named president of the Chelsea Area Recreation Commission for 1967 at the monthly meeting of the commission. Other officers were vice-president, Arden Musbach; secretary, Mrs. George L. Palmer; treasurer, Thomas Eisele; and director, Richard Barels.

In the summer of 1924 you could drive into Merkel's and have your car's tank filled from the single pump in front of the station. Ferd Merkel could repair a tire or he would be glad to sell you a new one. 1924 was the year F. W. Merkel started his business in a building owned by his father on Main St. The gas pump was in front of what is now the south section of the hardware store. 42 years after their hardware business began, Merkel Brothers was closing out its hardware departments.

Short-Term Borrowing May Solve State Cash Position Problems: Engler
Governor John Engler said his budget people are looking into possible short-term borrowing to solve the state's immediate cash flow problems. Although the research is part of continual budget balancing measures, any final decision will be deferred until the state's true cash position is confirmed next year. He said there are no specific guidelines for future borrowing but added they would be looking for the best deal for Michigan taxpayers.

Asked whether this could include borrowing from Japanese banks, as in the final budget year—fiscal 1982-83—of the administration of former Governor William Milliken, Engler said he hoped Michigan was a good risk for lenders in this country.

Department of Treasury Director-designee Doug Roberts confirmed that short-term borrowing was under consideration as a solution to cash problems. He would not venture to say what amount is needed until after he is officially placed in the office of state treasurer next year. "It's an alarming issue. We'll need to deal with it immediately," Roberts said.

He noted as director of the Senate Fiscal Agency, however, he had made a presentation to the Appropriations Committee reporting that during fiscal 1988-90, the average negative monthly cash flow of the general fund/general purpose/school/aid funds was $314.6 million. The months with the highest spending were April and June at $738 and $759 million, respectively.

The state last sold short-term notes in September of 1984 totaling $450 million at a 7 percent rate on the notes plus $1.8 million for a line of credit arranged through New York's Citibank. In 1983, the state borrowed $500 million in short term notes at 8.15 percent rate, following the fiscal 1982-83 note sale, which was backed by a number of Japanese banks.

Headlee Gains Ground on Petition Certification

The State Board of Canvassers has increased its revised estimate of valid signatures, making it more likely Taxpayers United for Assessment Cuts will be able to force a vote by the Legislature or voters on a petition to cut property taxes by 20 percent over two years.

The board increased the number of signatures it accepts as valid to 185,427, from 184,219, halfway through the 60-day period it gave the group to prove it gathered enough signatures on the proposal.

The canvassers ruled late last month found the proposal was short of the 191,726 signature requirement by about 7,500 signatures, but leaders of the group now say they are optimistic they will reach the threshold.

Jerry Sutton, representing Headlee, said the group has until the January meeting to prove that 7,250 signatures that were thrown out for consideration are actually valid because the people that signed them were registered at the time and place they signed and were registered in Michigan during the 180-day petition circulation period that started March 15. Validation of those would give the proposal sufficient signatures to press the issue.

While the board raised its estimate of valid signatures, it did not give into numerous requests from Sutton to stray from its established standards under substantial compliance and refused to consider proofs of registration to correct defects in signatures that did not meet the substantial compliance standard.

Polluters Pay, Right To Die Top Campaign Year Achievements
Despite operating in a year bogged down by campaign politics and an impending budget deficit, House and Senate leaders claimed the 1990 session was a success, citing passage of polluters pay and durable power of attorney legislation—a so-called right to die issue—as two of the top accomplishments.

A compromise budget-balancing plan to whack $538 million from departments to help cover falling revenues and $340 in unbudgeted expenditures was also claimed as a victory although the adjustment is forcing layoffs and reduced services in many areas.

Among the unfinished items was an increase in the state's minimum wage, property tax limitation, school finance reform, reforms of the unemployment compensation system, auto insurance cost controls and tackling of health care costs.

Resolution of the durable power issue, resulting in provisions allowing persons to give their power of attorney to guardians or conservators to make medical treatment decisions for them if they become incapacitated, ends a 16-year battle between Right to Life and pro-choice forces.

A compromise agreement includes restrictions on medical decisions for pregnant patients which involve the withholding or withdrawal of treatment that would result in the death of the patient.

The polluters pay revisions mark a co-operative effort between business, industry and the Department of Natural Resources, resulting in increased enforcement powers and incentives for responsible parties to conduct cleanups on a voluntary basis.

But facing a deficit which could top $1 billion, House Speaker Lewis Dodak (D-Montrose) and Senate Majority Leader-elect Dick Posthumus (R-Alto), consider the post-election passage of a 9.2 percent cut in the state's budget, with some exemptions, as one of the most significant accomplishments.

The $538 million reduction, in which only K-12 was exempt from cuts and reductions for higher education was limited to 2 percent, was viewed by legislators as the first step to balancing the current-year budget.

However, the Blanchard administration notes the availability of the budget stabilization fund in asserting that no further cuts will be necessary.

House Minority Leader Paul Hillegonds (R-Holland), who anticipates Engler may offer "revolutionary" ideas relating to the budget, is hopeful the unresolved fiscal crisis will be the first issue on the agenda in January.

A significant number of other issues he expects the Legislature to address, including a reduction in property taxes, hinge on the financial picture.

"I think a lot of the issues we will be looking at in the coming years will relate to the budget," he said. He believes Engler will move towards changing state policy, rather than just deal with dollars, and he cited privatization of services as an example.

"I don't think we'll get out of the budget fix we're in without policy changes. I expect we'll see some very radical changes," Hillegonds said.

Dodak declined to speculate on further reductions, saying "the budget is in good shape but we don't know the revenues." However, he added, "If they (the revenues) stay on the downside, there will be additional cuts."

Should cuts be necessary, Miller favors a continuation of across the board slashes, while Posthumus agreed with Engler administration officials that budget cuts will not be across the board next year.

"(Department of Social Services) is an easy target," Miller said. He said people who cannot hold a job because of mental or physical disabilities should not have to bear the brunt of the budget cuts and that cuts do not dig the government into a deeper hole by having to replace necessary programs.

Decisions as to how individual departments will make their reductions that have already been ordered are expected to vary, with final proposals not due until Jan. 15.

Pointing to the failure to implement a school finance reform package, leaders said Michigan citizens will be looking towards Governor John Engler to follow through on campaign promises of property tax relief and a higher priority for education.

The session was marked with political struggles over several pieces of legislation because of the election, Posthumus said. "A lot of difficulties were a reflection of an election year."

"General election pressures on all sides made it impossible to get a property tax cut through," Posthumus said. "Our top two priorities for next session will be cutting (property) taxes by 20 percent and continuing prioritizing with education the top priority."

"Nobody thought we would get much done," Dodak said, referring also to the election issue. He said he expects "property taxes will be an item that will reach the forefront early on" and could be resolved if the revenue to provide a cut can be found.

"Far and away my biggest disappointment is the unfinished business of school finance," Hillegonds said, referring to it as "the beginning of the end for Jim Blanchard."

In addition, the Senate Majority Caucus with support of the Engler administration will push efforts to restructure the state government to deal with "downsizing," Posthumus said.

Long-term health care costs and education-related issues should come to the forefront as well, such as school finance reform, to reduce inequity between rich and poor districts and improve the quality of programs, Posthumus said.

Although all sides could point to accomplishments, election politics was blamed for the Legislature's failure to resolve a number of issues, including a rollback of automobile insurance rates and a judicial pension package.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

You can't fool all the people all the time, Clem Webster reminded the fellers at the country store Saturday night, but if you can fool 20 million people once you're ahead of the game. Clem said he wasn't talking politicians and voters, what he had in mind was folks willing to pay for vacations from hell and to hell.

During the slack between holidays, Clem said he had done some extra reading. After a shaky launch, an outfit in Houston at last report is going ahead with a national lottery to pick an American to spend a week in space with some Russians late next year. All you got to do to get in line to be the victim, Clem said, is to pay $3 to call a 900 number. The company expects to pay the phone bill and have more than enough left over to buy the ride.

In hopes even sensible folks will call, Space Travel Services says the winner can take $1.5 million and stay home. The company said its market surveys show that more than 20 million civilians would jump at the chance to go into space. NASA quit taking civilians when the Challenger blew up five years ago, but the Soviets sell trips to other countries, and they sure ain't shy about taking Yankee dollars.

There are a heap of reasons why he won't pick up the phone and give me a call, Clem said, first of which is the odds of getting any return on that $3. In the second place, if it means leaving the ground, he don't want to do it in the first place. Furthermore, Clem said, his reading on the air and space safety record of the Russians stops short of encouraging.

The fellers give Clem's stand solid support, and Bug Hookum said whatever else you might say about the space ride lottery the timing of the selling couldn't be worst. Bug noted that a Japanese television network recently paid $12 million for a newsmen to ride with the Russians, and another $25 million to put his reports on the nightly news. From items in our papers, Bug said, the feller spent all his air time being air sick, telling about trouble going to the toilet and begging for cigarettes, a decent cup of coffee and clean underwear.

You got to know, Bug went on, that ever newsmen everywhere gripes about everything. Still, you would expect that one holding the other half of a round trip ticket would of found some way to say a kind word about the only folks that could get him out of his misery, was Bug's words.

Actual, Ed Doolittle said, what Space Travel ought to do is offer a one-way ride to the person of the winner's choice. Americans can work up a quick rocket load we would like to see out of this world permanent. We could defuse ticking bombs in far off places and clean up the Noraygo mess in a hurry.

Final, Clem got the floor back to tell what he meant by vacations to hell. He had saw where some rumormongers called the Biblical Archeological Review reported hell has been discovered a few miles under Siberia by scientists drilling for core samples. When they hit hell, the piece said, they got 2,000 degree readings and heard such terrible human screams they left and won't go back.

Which says, if nothing else, Ed said, that when you tell a feller where to go, now he knows the way.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

points, council will have a lot of input as to what they want," Steele said.

The appointment of a new manager could take two months or more, Steele said, which means it will probably take place after the March general elections.

"I don't want to put a deadline on ourselves," Steele said.

"We have an excellent group of village employees and department heads who can help us through this time."

Steele also discussed some of the village's accomplishments of the past year.

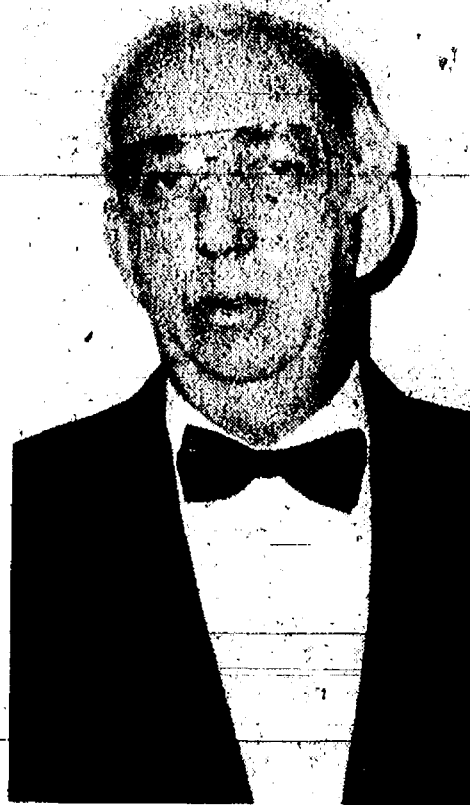

Number one in his mind was the Downtown Development Authority's effort to get its plan off the ground.

"Early in the year there were plenty of chances for the village to fold up with businesses closing and things of that nature," Steele said.

"There were also people who knew this was coming, Mark Heydlauff in particular." Just when things looked the bleakest DDA took advantage of three or four golden opportunities for property purchases and Chelsea's stock just soared. It was just a tremendous effort by DDA, some members of council and many citizens to keep it going."

Steele said he was also pleased that the village was able to deal reasonably effectively with the DNR regarding the landfill.

"They made certain demands and we responded in the best way we could and now it looks as though certain pieces of the puzzle are falling into place."

34 Years Ago . . .

Wednesday, Jan. 10, 1957—

Edward J. Wengren suffered cuts, bruises and back injuries when his car was involved in a collision with a tractor-trailer truck. Both vehicles were headed east when the accident occurred. Wengren's car was hit by a truck being driven by Marvin Harkins. The crash occurred near Fletcher road. Wengren's car was overturned. Harkins told sheriff's men that an empty car hauler had passed him and was in front of him. Suddenly the car hauler swerved to the right and a car quickly appeared in front of his truck, Harkins said. He added that he swerved his vehicle but that the right front of it caught the left rear of Wengren's car.

Forty-three young people were present for the opening of the Jaycees-sponsored Youth Center. The young people danced, played ping pong and cards, or watched television programs and all seemed to be having an exceptionally enjoyable time.

Pipe-Bombing Incident Reported to Sheriff's Dept.

CHELSEA MEADOWS, a project by Ann Arbor Builders, Inc., has begun to sell lots and package deals for the development, now located about 1/2 mile east of Freer Rd. off Trinkle Rd. The main road into the project will be constructed off Freer Rd. opposite Washington St. this spring. The development consists primarily of 10-acre lots. However, builders are re-approaching Lima township about re-zoning the western parcel on Freer Rd. into three, three-acre lots. Developer Alex deParry says he will build a 2,200-square-foot home (lot included) starting at $185,000. Lots start out at $49,000. Charles Rinehart Co. Realtors is marketing the property.

Hopefully, the pipe-bombing incidents which seem to be on the increase, recently, will cease in western Washtenaw county BEFORE someone is SERIOUSLY injured!

There seem to have been a number of these situations reported during recent months.

Deputies Anuszkiewicz and Deacons were called to investigate such an incident at 3:28 a.m. Friday, Dec. 21, when malicious destruction of a mailbox was reported on Jerusalem Rd. near Parker Rd.

Snowy roads were responsible for an increase in crashes along rural roadways in the days preceding the Christmas holiday.

Becky Lynn Marshall of McGregor Rd., driving on M-14, just west of Whitmore Lake Rd., applied her brakes but was unable to stop in time to avoid sliding into the rear of a vehicle driven by Diana Ruth McArthur of Brighton.

The crash was investigated by deputy Zakrzewski prior to 7 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 20.

Just after that crash, South Lyon motorist Mary Beth McCarthy found she was unable to stop her vehicle before it slid into the left rear corner of the Marshall automobile, after which a third vehicle struck the Marshall auto and left the scene.

Kevin Bruce Gallatin of Ann Arbor told deputies Anuszkiewicz and Deacons he was traveling eastbound on I-94 near Pierce Rd. about 12:25 a.m. Friday, Dec. 21.

Deputies explained Gallatin moved to the left lane to pass three semis, pulled back into the right lane, lost control of the vehicle he drove and was seriously injured in the resulting crash.

Huron Valley Ambulance transported him to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Deputies theorized Gallatin apparently fell asleep.

Deputies Skidmore and Trester filed a report on the 6:15 a.m. crash they were dispatched to investigate, Thursday, Dec. 20, on M-14, near eastbound US-23.

A report of the incident listed Cynthia Patricia Kenney as the driver of a vehicle which went out of control due to the icy road, and hit a guard rail on the south side, then spun around and struck a second guard rail on the north side of the roadway.

Deputy Tom Reed investigated a two-car crash which was reported on westbound M-14, near the Main St. exit, at 6:46 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 20.

Grace Eleanor Hanselman of Troy was driving in the curb lane along M-14, and Cordell Warrick Allen of Mt. Morris was traveling in the lane adjacent to the median, Reed explained in his report.

As the truck Allen drove overtook Ms. Hanselman, her vehicle veered into his lane, making contact with his trailer.

She told deputy Reed she was lost, and didn't realize her car veered into the other vehicle.

Joni Lynn Dankert told deputies Skidmore and Trester she was traveling east on Old US-12, near Hoppe Rd., about 7:20 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 20.

The deputies explained she apparently lost control of the vehicle she drove on the icy road, ran off the roadway and struck a hillside.

Ms. Dankert suffered minor injuries, resulting from the crash.

With the onset of the holiday period, and into the early days of the new year, breaking and entering cases continued to be reported by residents in the western portion of the county.

A Chelsea area woman reported a larceny from a parked vehicle, Thursday, Dec. 27, to Deputy LeVanseler of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

Missing from the vehicle were $175 in clothes, a $55 necklace, the woman's purse containing $110 in currency, and a bottle of perfume.

Another citizen informed deputy LeVanseler an estimated $365 worth of items had been taken, Dec. 26, from a vehicle parked on Base Lake Dr. near Mast Rd., including the vehicle's battery and a man's $260 ski jacket.

John David Alford of Chelsea was traveling west on Waterloo Rd., shortly after 11 p.m. Friday, Dec. 28, when he lost control of the vehicle he drove and slid into a tree.

Deputy C. Squires was dispatched

Sheriff's Report

to investigate a two-vehicle crash involving two Ann Arbor motorists at 10:15 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 27, on Jackson Rd., west of Wagner in Scio township.

Christopher Paul Pilon was driving west on Jackson Rd., and Kevin Gordon Crouch was pulling up to Jackson Rd. from a private drive.

Due to heavy snow falling in the area, Crouch slid, failing to stop for traffic, and his vehicle struck the one Pilon was driving.

Debra L. Fisher of N. Manchester, Ind., suffered minor injuries, but refused medical treatment, in a crash which occurred on Interstate-94, east of Lima Center Rd., at 9 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 27.

Ms. Fisher told deputies she was attempting to pass a semi driven by Joseph Edward-Huston of Hudson, Wis., but as she pulled around the semi, she was unable to see, because of heavy snow falling, and got too far to the left.

Her vehicle started to rotate in deeper snow, then slid sideways and struck the semi's trailer.

The truck driver explained to deputies he was unable to stop without jack-knifing.

About 5:10 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 23, Manchester area motorist Stacia Ann Williams was traveling west on Ellsworth Rd., east of Wagner.

She told deputy Peters, she didn't know there was a "stop" ahead, tried to slow on the snow-covered road, lost control of the vehicle, went into a ditch, and struck a small tree, damaging the automobile.

Deputy Skidmore filed a report on an incident which occurred when Marilyn Rose Gallimore was driving south on Saline Ann Arbor Rd. at 2 a.m. Friday, Dec. 28, and drove off the paved portion of the road.

Skidmore noted the road shoulder was about four inches below the pavement, the driver overcorrected to the left, then to the right, lost control, drove off the road, and the vehicle hit the ditch and rolled over.

The road was snow-covered, Skidmore indicated in his report.

Sgt. Dan Minzey cited Grace Ewa Kazuro of Addison, Ill., for failure to use due care and caution when she drove on eastbound I-94, west of the Fletcher Rd. intersection, about 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 30.

Ms. Kazuro lost control of the vehicle she drove on the snowy, icy road, it struck a reflector pole and rolled over.

Deputy Tom Reed filed reports of two car-deer collisions involving Manchester area motorists.

Krista Leigh Sahakian of Manchester was traveling west on Pleasant Lake Rd., just west of Esch Rd., at 9:45 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 29, when a deer ran suddenly from the north side of the roadway into the path of the vehicle she drove.

She was unable to avoid hitting the animal.

The second Manchester area motorist, Ollie James Edwards, explained to deputy Reed, a deer darted directly in his path from heavy brush on the west side of northbound M-52, near Waldo Rd.

The incident occurred about 4:15 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 20.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Chelsea Standard:

I wish to raise some important questions about the article on "biodegradable wrappers for bread" under the headline of "Everybody's Science" in the Jan. 2, 1991 issue of The Chelsea Standard.

One of the most important criticisms of "biodegradable" plastic is that its name is a misnomer. It is not the plastic that degrades, but the cornstarch binder, or in the new wrapper the "wheat starch." This leaves behind an invisible "plastic dust" which is equally if not more dangerous than the original plastic.

The article referred to says "Today's biodegradable plastics typically are 6 to 7 percent starch." The remaining 93 to 94 percent plastic is inflicted on the environment. Will this plastic dust eventually be as common as sand on the beach?

The article does not say that the new "wheat starch" biodegradable plastic will be 100 percent, or even 30 percent of the new wrapper. If this were so that would be great news, but even then would not necessarily solve many environmental problems.

The last paragraph of the article is just as disturbing. The research is an effort to find more ways to turn farm products into new commercial products. Did anyone stop to consider how much the price of food from farms will rise if commercial interests start bidding for the same produce as the grocery stores? There is already too much hunger in the world for that!

The credibility of the article is weakened by the statement that an inch contains 25,641 microns. According to my physics book a micron is a millionth of a meter, and a meter is 39.3701 inches (in Britain it used to be 39.3701 inches). When my calculator divides one million by this number of inches the result is 25,400.05 (or 25,399.98 in the British world). In neither case is it close to 25,641. Such a mistake in an article not only misleads the public, but creates a credibility gap when a reader knows better.

To the Editor:

This letter is to thank two members of your community who made a recent unplanned visit to Chelsea much more pleasant than it might have been.

I was driving on I-94 with a friend on our way to western Michigan from Detroit recently when a simple flat tire became an insurmountable problem for us. Without help, we would have been in real trouble. I learned (in the least advantageous way possible) that the spare tire on the recently purchased used car did not fit the wheel! The wheel was too small and we were stuck.

Terry D. Miller of your town was kind enough to offer his help, drive me to get help and when a mechanic couldn't be found, take me to his home where he arranged for a tow truck. He then drove me back to my car. He did all of this on the afternoon of a holiday party planned for that evening at his home!

We were then towed to Tower Shell on I-94 and M-52, where a young mechanic named Stan went far beyond the call of duty to find us a tire and rim, drive to get it and mount it for us. All done with great courtesy and caring and at a fair price.

We were on our way having spent some three and a half unplanned hours in Chelsea—made all the more pleasant thanks to Terry and Stan!

These Good Samaritans are a credit to your community. We'll remember what could have been an unsettling experience warmly, knowing that Chelsea has at least two citizens who know the meaning of the Golden Rule. These ambassadors certainly gave Chelsea a good name with us.

Thanks. And God bless them.
Paul E. Gainer
Detroit.

Dear Editor,

While visiting in Chelsea for the Christmas Holidays I was privileged to be invited to the Christmas Collage on Dec. 18 at Chelsea High School put on by the Beach Middle school and High school orchestras, bands and choral groups.

It was indeed an evening well spent. The choirs, bands and orchestras all gave wonderful performances. The program moved along without many hitches due to the efforts of the directors and the discipline of the students.

With better than 400 students in the Chelsea music program the Chelsea Community should be proud of all those who participated, students, directors and family members who helped move chairs, music stands, etc. after the concert.

It would be my hope that the Chelsea community and schools would continue to support and encourage these young people so that they may develop their talents and continue to treat the community to many more wonderful musical performances.

Thank you to all those people who made it such a nice evening.

YOU & YOUR PET

By Linda Reider
Director of Education
Humane Society of Huron Valley

★ Cold Weather Pet Care

HSHV does not generally recommend keeping most dogs and cats outdoors, as we feel they often lack for companionship and proper medical care. However, if your pet is exposed to the cold this winter, HSHV Veterinarian, Dr. Annette Walker, has these recommendations.

Pets for Outdoor Living

Lean shorthaired animals and toy breeds of dogs do not adjust well to cold weather. Neither do elderly, very young, or unhealthy pets. Any animal should be allowed to acclimate to the weather for a few months before being left to live outdoors.

Appropriate Shelter

A properly constructed house for your pet has well-insulated walls and plenty of clean bedding (such as straw) on the floor. It should be just large enough to allow the animal to stand and turn around comfortably, but small enough to retain body heat. A securely self-closing flap door which faces south is ideal.

Dietary Changes

Pets that go outdoors require more calories during the winter months to stay warm. These calories may be supplied by increasing the amount of dry food available or by supplementing with canned food. Avoid adding fats or oils to your pet's diet as they can cause digestive disorders. Also be sure to keep an unfrozen bowl of water available at all times.

Cold Dangers

Frostbite and hypothermia are two serious conditions that require immediate veterinary care. Frostbite usually stiffens the body extremities (tail, toes, and ear tips). Hypothermia is more dangerous as the bodily functions actually slow down to the point of going into shock. No pet should be left outside when the temperature falls below zero.

To receive HSHV's free handout on care of the outdoor dog, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Outdoor Dog, c/o Linda Reider, Humane Society of Huron Valley, 3100 Cherry Hill Rd., Ann Arbor, 48105.

Next Week: Keep Your Cat Indoors.

Social Security Numbers Needed for All Dependents

"This year, for the first time, taxpayers who do not provide a social security number on the federal income tax return for dependents age 2 and over, may have the exemption automatically disallowed," said IRS district director John Hummel. "They may also be fined $50 for each number not shown on the return."

The 1986 tax reform act required social security numbers for dependents age 5 and over. In 1989, the requirement changed to age 2 and over, Hummel said. "I would encourage taxpayers to apply for a number for all their dependents," he said, noting that for next year, the requirement will apply to all dependents age 1 and over.

To be issued a social security number, a person must have proof of the following items: age, U.S. citizenship or legal alien status, and identity.

"A birth record from a public authority, hospital, or religious organization is generally sufficient for the first two items," Hummel said. "A school record or certain other documents may be used for proof of identity."

For more information, taxpayers should contact the Social Security Administration toll free on 1-800-234-5772, or visit any Social Security office for Form SS-5, Application for a Social Security Number Card, and for the free leaflet, "Applying for a Social Security Number."

Changes Noted In Road Service

Changes have recently taken place to the AAA Michigan contractor network providing emergency road service in the area.

AAA Michigan members needing a jump start, tow, tire change or other assistance in Dexter should call Fox's Lakewood Sunoco Service at 2891 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor, or Smith's Service, Inc., at 11453 Jackson Rd., Chelsea. Motorists should call the service station closest to their disablement.

When the tow truck arrives to assist, AAA Michigan members must show their membership card to the driver. The driver will then take necessary steps to start the vehicle or tow it to a repair facility if necessary.

Fines Hiked for OSHA Violations

Despite Farm Bureau's objections, Congress this year approved a substantial boost in fines for violations of the Occupational Safety and Health Act and child labor laws. Michigan Farm Bureau's labor specialist, Howard Kelly, said farmers should be aware that the penalties for a serious violation has gone from $1,000 to $7,000.

"The U.S. Labor Department has made a conscious decision that because it doesn't have enough inspectors to do thorough inspections, looking for violations of the laws, they intend to send a message with these severe penalties," he said.

Kelly said Farm Bureau opposed the increases in the belief it would set a precedent for using fines as a way to raise revenue.

3. Proceed when red lights are turned off.

School Bus Stop Law Changes

When school resumes in January, new school bus stop laws will provide a different "light look" for motorists at many bus stops, the Michigan State Police report.

Amendments to Michigan's school bus stop law, signed Dec. 20 by outgoing Gov. James J. Blanchard, spell out guidelines for motorists to follow depending on the buses' flashing lights system.

How a driver responds when approaching or following a school bus depends on what lights are on and if the bus is moving or stopped.

Motorists should be familiar with the following situations:

- On buses with overhead red and yellow lights—This new lighting system is being phased in on all Michigan school buses. If overhead yellow lights are flashing, drivers should be prepared to stop, because flashing red lights are about to be activated. When overhead red lights are flashing, approaching and following motorists must come to a complete stop not closer than 20 feet from the stopped school bus. Drivers must not proceed until the signals are turned off.

• On buses with overhead red lights only—These buses with the standard overhead red light system will eventually be phased out. If the overhead red lights are flashing and the bus is moving, motorists should prepare to stop. When red lights are flashing and the bus is stopped, motorists must stop no closer than 20 feet from the bus. Drivers must not proceed until the signals are turned off.

• All school buses—When yellow hazard lights are flashing (located midway or near front and back bumpers of bus) on a moving or stopped bus, motorists may proceed with caution past the bus.

Michigan's school bus stop law—P.A. 187—originally passed in July 1990 requires all new Michigan school buses to be fitted with yellow overhead lights in addition to the red lights currently on all buses. Retrofitting of old buses, though not required, is encouraged for more uniform and safer bus stops.

The amendments to P.A. 187 are designed to correct difficulties experienced by some districts. School districts are now permitted to use a previous bus stop law in which red lights are activated 200 feet prior to the stop. This is for buses not fitted with overhead red and yellow lights.

The overhead red-and-yellow-light system is in use in 49 states. National studies have found the system provides a much safer environment for students by reducing illegal passes of stopped buses.

Food Price Rise Predicted for '91

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has predicted that food prices will rise between 2 percent and 5 percent in 1991.

"There's no question that this forecast reflects the uncertainties concerning our general economy here in the United States, as well as the Persian Gulf crisis," said Bob Craig, Michigan Farm Bureau's agricultural economist.

"If we are in fact in an economic recession in this country, which I believe is the case, that has a dampening effect on food prices," he said.

Craig does not see much increase in red-meat prices in 1991, and he forecasts a decline in dairy product prices. On the other hand, he believes fresh and processed fruit prices will go up 9 percent to 12 percent, about the same amount as in 1990.

By Thomas E. O'Hara

National Assoc. of Investors Corp.
& Consulting Editor, Better Investing

Q. I bought my first stock in 1968. It was Sara Lee Corporation. It has done very well. I paid $13 a share for it and it is now $32. It has been as high as $3 3/4. I was nervous about buying stock when I bought this stock. I told the broker how frightened I was about buying stock and he promised me he was recommending a good stable stock. I still don't understand stock and I would appreciate it if you would explain to me why this stock has done so well when so many of my friends have stocks which are way down.

A. I would guess that there are two reasons why Sara Lee's stock has done so well for you. One is the record of the corporation itself and the other is the industry of which it is a part. The figures for Sara Lee which are used by securities analysts to judge the company are all very good. In 1990 the company completed 13 years of an average 8.4% compounded annual increase in sales. There were only two years in that period when sales were not up over the previous year. In the same period of time, earnings per share were up every year. Their compound annual increase was 13.9%.

Sara Lee also has a good pre-tax profit margin on sales. It also clears about 20% on invested capital each year. Not only has Sara Lee produced these very good figures, but the company continued this trend in 1990 when the figures of so many businesses were suffering from the business slowdown that was taking place.

This company has grown by building the share of the market its products hold, by expanding overseas and by making acquisitions.

Sara Lee has a number of leading brands which it continues to develop. Its Jimmy Dean breakfast sausage leads its category as does its Hillshire Farm smoked sausage and its Ball Park, Kahns, Hygrade and Bryan hot dogs. Its bakery goods have 27% of the market. Overseas the company is a leader in coffee products.

Currently the company enjoys the favor of investors because its industry is considered to be relatively depression proof. Thus you have a company which has had an excellent sales and earnings record for many years and which is part of an industry which is very popular with investors at this time.

If you wanted to invest in other companies with similar characteristics, consider Nabisco, PepsiCo, and Philip Morris.

Mr. O'Hara welcomes your questions and comments, but will answer them only through this column. #### Tax Deferment Available to County Senior Citizens

It is not too late for seniors to get a tax deferment for their winter, 1990 taxes. The Housing Bureau for Seniors has recently created a Property Tax Default Prevention Program for senior citizens in Washtenaw county. Program coordinator Terry A. Drent said, "There are many steps seniors can take to reduce their property tax burdens. We can save people from losing their homes due to delinquent taxes."

Though winter, 1990 taxes are due anytime in December, those 65 and older can still postpone them until April 30, 1991, if they fill out a deferment form prior to Feb. 15, 1991. It is also possible to reduce the amount of property taxes owed.

The Housing Bureau for Seniors was established in 1983 to help Washtenaw county senior citizens maintain affordable housing.

For more information, call The Housing Bureau for Seniors at 763-0970.

U.S. Farmers Show Increased Interest in Conservation Tillage

Over the last year, farmers put an additional 1.3 million acres of crop land into conservation tillage programs, with the biggest gain coming in "no till" systems, according to Michigan Farm Bureau economist Bob Craig.

"Some of it certainly is being encouraged strongly by U.S. Department of Agriculture," Craig said. "If farmers want to receive their government farm program benefits, they must have conservation plans in place."

"Also, I think that people need to give a lot of credit to the Association of Conservation Districts, not only here in Michigan but all across the country," he said.

Craig said farmers are finding that under conservation tillage they are able to maintain yields while also reducing the amount of soil erosion and improving water quality.

DDA Asks Village To Remove Parking Meters

Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority has proposed a plan to remove all parking meters from downtown and relocate some handicapped parking spots.

The plan is scheduled to be the topic of a public hearing at village council's next meeting Tuesday, Jan. 15.

New DDA chairman Mark Heydlauff said the experiment of covering Main St. meters and turning them into two-hour, free parking spaces has been "generally successful," and that many merchants like the idea of free parking for shoppers.

"Nobody seems to be abusing the situation and there are parking spots available," Heydlauff said.

Heydlauff also said that having meters on the side streets but not on Main St. has created a confusing situation for shoppers.

"We need to either have all of the meters or none of them," Heydlauff said.

Heydlauff said the public hearing was called because there are "legitimate concerns" about the plan by some residents and members of the business community. Chelsea Cleaners owner Warren McArthur has spoken out in the past against removing the meters from in front of his Park St. business.

The plan also calls for moving six handicap spots from the Municipal Parking Lot and the lot behind the fire hall to areas on Middle St., South St., and Park St., as well as near McKune Memorial Library.

One major question is who will bear the expense of parking enforcement and how much enforcement will be required. The village will lose the money generated by the meters and perhaps some fine revenues.

DDA has proposed making up half of the deficit that now exists in the police department's parking fund.

"We need to figure out what kind of relationship we'd have with the village next year," Heydlauff said.

The penny meters would be removed during the DDA downtown beautification project next spring.

Valentine's Brunch Will Benefit C.E.F.

Chelsea Education Foundation will host a Sunday Brunch on Feb. 10 from 11:30 to 1:30 in the Chelsea Community Hospital Dining Room. At 12:15, a brief presentation about the foundation's mission and goals will be made by president Barbara Rose.

This special event marks the kick-off benefit to raise operating funds for the foundation.

Ex-POW of Vietnam War Addresses Stockbridge Group

Captain Eugene B. "Red" McDaniel, one of the most brutally tortured prisoners of the Vietnam war, was the guest speaker at the membership meeting of Task Force Omega of Michigan, Jan. 5 at the Stockbridge Town Hall.

Capt. McDaniel was shot down over Hanoi during his 81st combat mission in 1967. He was listed missing in action until 1970 when Hanoi acknowledged he was being held prisoner. He was released on March 4, 1973 after the Vietnam cease-fire.

During his talk, Capt. McDaniel stressed three important steps concerned citizens can take to help bring our POW/MIA's home: to read and circulate the new book, "Kiss the Boy's Goodbye: How the United States Betrayed Its Own POW's in Vietnam" by Monika Jensen-Stevenson and William Stevenson; to write our congressmen urging them to read the report by Lt. Eugene Tighe, former Director of the Defense Intelligence Agency, stating evidence of live sighting reports of American POW's still being held in Southeast Asia and supporting the Truth Bill (HR 3603) calling for the release of classified information on POW/MIA's to family members and others seeking the truth; and to urge the local media to cover this important issue to help raise public awareness.

Capt. McDaniel is the author of "Scars and Stripes," a book telling about his six years in a communist prison.

Today Capt. McDaniel is president of the American Defense Foundation and its educational branch known as American Defense Institute. To receive information on the ADF or ADI call 1-800-USA-MIAS.

Task Force Omega of Michigan is a non-profit organization dedicated to bringing our POW/MIA's home.

For more information call or write to Task Force Omega of Michigan, Inc., 3595 Parman Rd., Stockbridge 49285, (517) 565-3314.

New VCR Repair Business Opens On S. Main St. Opposite Park

Village VCR, a new VCR and television-repair business, has opened in the former Chelsea Associated Builders building on S. Main St. opposite Pierce Park.

Owner Jim Webb, a Conway Rd. resident, will repair any kind of VHS videocassette recorder or television, although the emphasis of the business is on VCR repair. It's a second business for him. He spends most of the day at his Livonia business, Toner Cartridge Services, which remanufactures cartridges for laser printers. The business is open from 4-8 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday.

"Business has been far better than I expected," Webb says.

"I thought five units the first week would be a good start, but we got 20. Business slacked off the next couple of weeks, but last Saturday alone seven people brought their machines in."

The business, he says, is drawing customers even from Ann Arbor. He says his rates are lower and his turn-around time is much faster.

"People don't want to be without their VCR's for three weeks," Webb says.

"Most of the time we can have a VCR repaired in three to five days."

Webb also offers free estimates. He does not work on an hourly rate but prefers to give customers a "not-to-exceed" price. He does not make house calls.

Webb, who has a master's degree in computer science from the University of Iowa, first moved to the Chelsea area in 1984 from Iowa when he was recruited by the former Hoover Universal in Saline. He later worked for a short time at a company called Trinova in Toledo as director of computer applications. He and his wife, Mary Sue, and daughter, Debbie, moved back to Chelsea in 1989, and that's when Jim opened the laser printer cartridge business.

Webb says he is planning to hire an electronics technician, which will allow him to repair more televisions as well as keep longer business hours. Now all television repair is handled by someone he knows in Livonia.

Mary Sue is a nurse at the University of Michigan Family Practice Center in Briarwood. Debbie is a 1990 Chelsea High school graduate. Their son, Douglas, is a 1987 CHS grad and is a junior at Western Michigan University.

Bulldog Wrestlers 12th At Western Invitational

Chelsea Bulldogs wrestling team finished 12th in the 16-team Jackson County Western Invitational last Saturday in the team's first tournament since before Christmas.

The Bulldogs were without junior heavyweight Mike Terpstra and senior captain Kelly Beard. Also, several younger wrestlers were sent to a junior varsity tournament to gain "experience and confidence" according to coach Kerry Kargel.

Class A Holt won the tournament easily with 303 points, while Chelsea scored 65. Southeastern Conference rival Saline placed fourth with 123 points and Tecumseh finished 14th with 57 points.

The Bulldogs forfeited at 103 pounds.

Senior Karl Wikman at 112 pounds placed second as he lost 9-5 in the finals to his opponent from Holt. His earlier matches he won via a pin and a 10-0 decision.

"Karl was basically beaten on takedowns," Kargel said.

"He was caught three times in the same move. In the long run, though, I think the loss will make Karl even tougher."

Sophomore Todd Watson wrestled at 119 pounds and lost two matches by decision.

After the Bulldogs forfeited at 125, sophomore John Heller lost two matches at 130 pounds. He was wrestling at a higher weight than normal.

The Bulldogs forfeited again at 135 pounds.

Sophomore Kevin McCalla wrestled five times at 140 pounds and placed sixth. He lost his first match to the number two seed, then won three matches in a row by decision before losing in the battle for fifth place.

"Kevin is really maturing," Kargel said.

"He's in good condition and the fact that he was able to win three matches in a row after losing his first one is the sign of an athlete."

Senior Jim Hassett placed second at 145 pounds as he won his first two matches by pins then lost 15-5 in the finals as he was caught in a cradle by his Allegan opponent.

"The match really could have gone either way," Kargel said.

"I felt Jim could have won it."

Sophomore Jason Szoatak went 2-2 on the day at 152 pounds as he pinned one opponent and won another match by default.

Freshman Paul Taylor was pinned twice at 160 pounds, the first one by the number one seed.

Junior Jeff Holzhausen went 2-2 on the day at 171 pounds. His two wins came on pins.

Sophomore Brent Hansen got his first varsity start at 189 pounds and was pinned twice.

Chelsea forfeited at heavyweight.

TUCKER STEELE takes the ball up against a Jackson defender during a scrimmage between Jackson and the Chelsea Bulldogs last Wednesday. Chelsea was scheduled to get back into action last night at Dexter. They play Friday at Tecumseh.

TWO CHELSEA NETTERS play good defense at the net during the Chelsea Invitational last Saturday. Chelsea placed third in the six-team field under new coach Dan Montgomery.

Bulldog Netters Finish Third At CHS Tourney To Open Season

Chelsea Bulldogs volleyball team placed third at the six-team Chelsea Invitational last Saturday.

"The team improved throughout the day," said Chelsea coach Dan Montgomery.

South Lyon won the tournament and Milan was second. Other teams included Williamston, Pinckney, and Ypsilanti.

Chelsea lost three games to South Lyon in their first match, 3-15, 11-15, and 7-15.

"South Lyon played seven times before this tournament while this was our first competition," Montgomery said.

The Bulldogs beat Williamston in their second match, 16-14, 15-9, and 12-15.

In the semifinals, Milan beat the Bulldogs twice, 15-7 and 15-11.

"Jennifer Petty had a consistently outstanding performance throughout the day," Montgomery said.

"She played good defense and was a good spiker. Leah Hadley had an excellent day setting. Amanda Nimke played aggressive defense. Jenny Bobo stayed consistent all day, and Amy Koegeter came off the bench to give us a good performance. Amy had three kills."

Monday night the Bulldogs lost again to Milan, 4-14, 8-15.

"We tried to make some changes but they ended up backfiring because we couldn't practice them," Montgomery said.

Montgomery said his team's serving was one of the highlights.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Just how good is the Chelsea Bulldogs varsity basketball team?

We'll have a pretty good idea by next Friday night.

This Friday the Bulldogs travel to Tecumseh to take on 6'7" Andy Poppink and the rest of the Indians. Like the Bulldogs (assuming everything proceeded as planned at Dexter last night), the Indians have one league loss, that of the hands of the Lincoln Railsplitters.

Tecumseh should be the best team in the Southeastern Conference, especially on their home court. They have the league's best all-around player in Poppink, as well as two other solid starters. They always have good coaching. And they have the x-factor, The Jungle, as it's known in Tecumseh. More on that in a minute.

Even if you're a die-hard Chelsea fan, one of the best reasons to make the trip south is to watch the amazing skills of Poppink. He can shoot three-pointers, take the ball inside, and make passes that will take your breath away, partly because he's so tall that he can pass over an entire team. It's almost not fair. In the games I've seen, he's also been a class player. To top it all off, he has something like a 3.9-grade point average (did he get a B in phys ed?) and is on his way to California next year to play and study at Stanford.

Does he have a weakness in his game?

"No, not that I can see," is the way Chelsea coach Robin Raymond put it.

"I just don't see much we can do to stop him. He's the best player I've ever seen in the area."

So, do the Bulldogs concentrate on trying to stop Poppink, or do they try to stop the rest of the team and let Poppink get his 35 points? I wouldn't be surprised to see several Bulldogs get the Poppink defensive assignment. It might keep him guessing a little more. But more importantly, it would help keep key Bulldogs, like Kerry Plank and Jon Royce, out of foul trouble. If either of those guys has to sit down for an extended period, Chelsea will be in trouble.

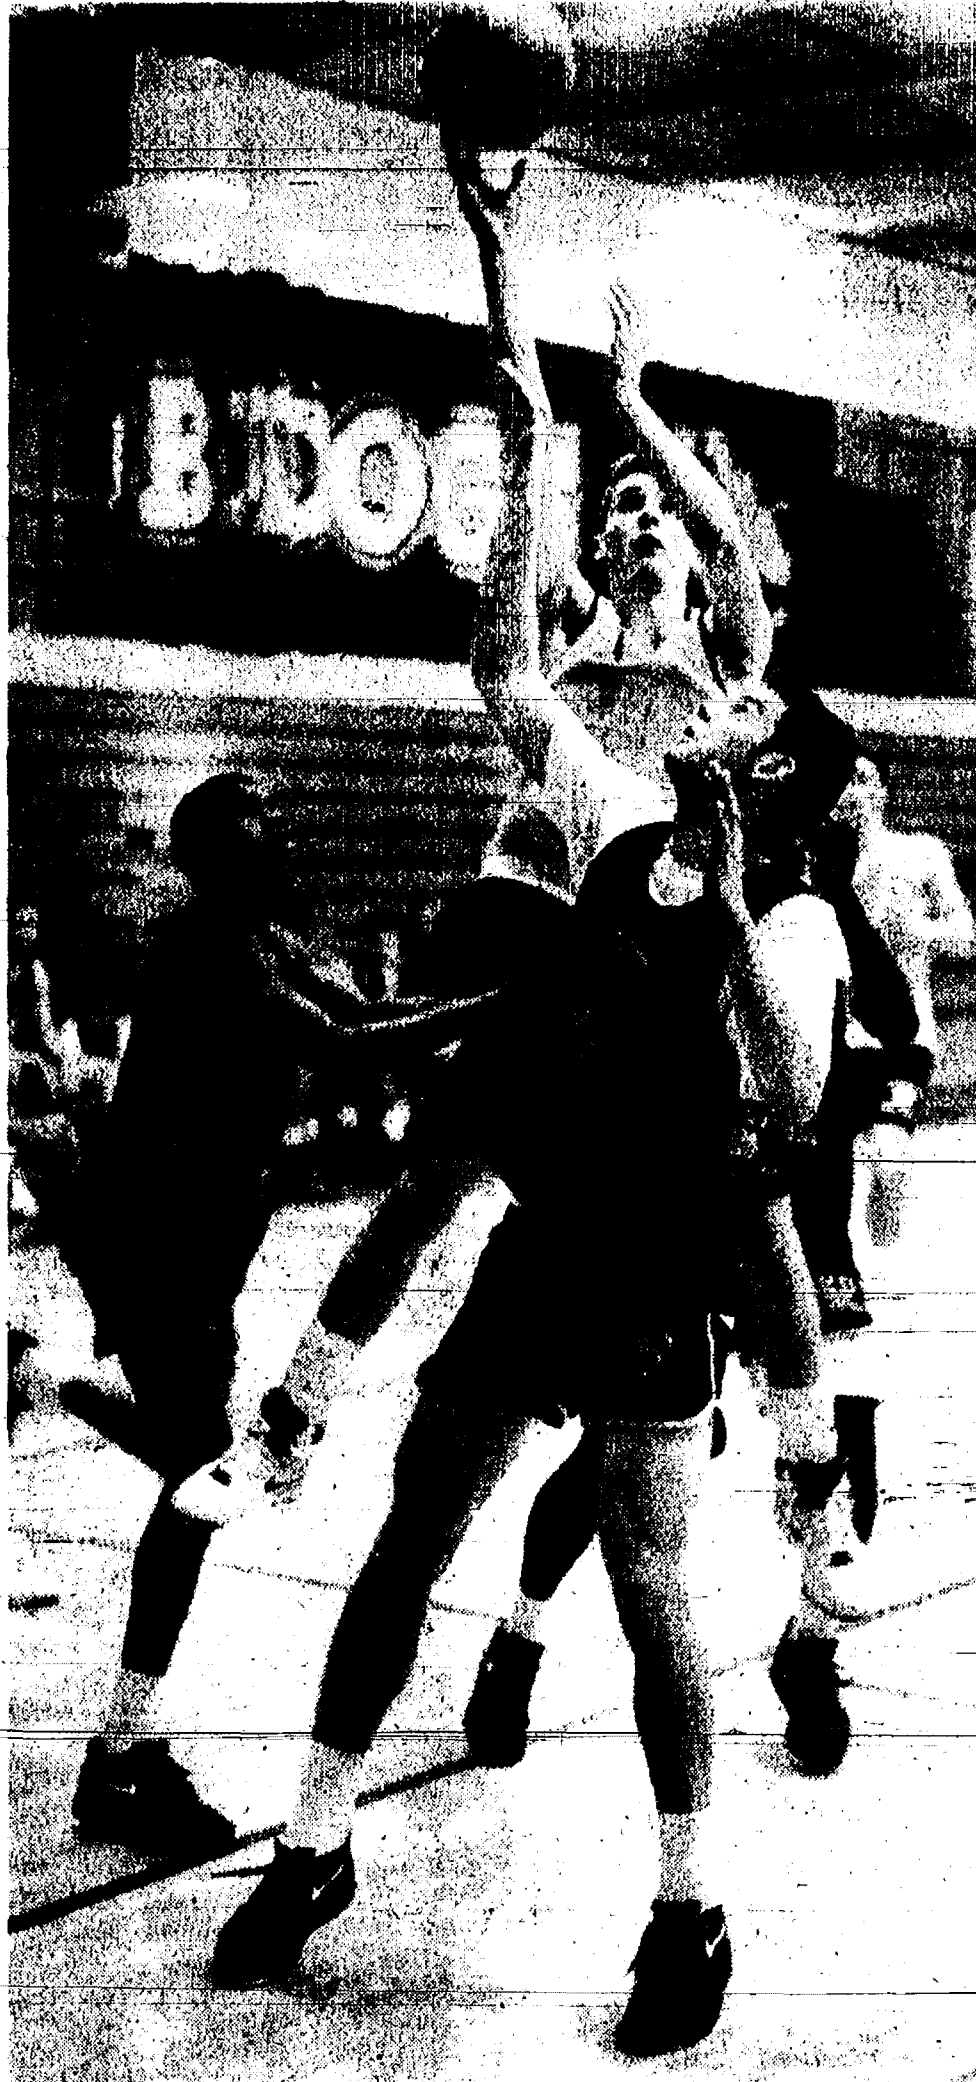

Back to The Jungle, Tecumseh's high-spirited student section. There is simply nothing in the Southeastern Conference that compares to it in terms of spirit, rowdiness, and sheer amperage. Last year the kids had a toga party. I've also seen the Grim Reaper and other characters in the crowd. It has to make a difference to the Tecumseh players, who for 90 minutes must feel like the most important and exciting people in, well, at least all of Tecumseh.

All in all, it's a tough assignment Friday, but not an impossible one. If the Bulldogs can control the tempo and get a few breaks, who knows what could happen. In order to win, Chelsea will have to play solid fundamental basketball, i.e. few turnovers, solid defense, blocking out on the boards, and at least 60 percent free throw shooting.

Next Friday, the half-way point in the SEC, should be just as much fun when the Bulldogs host the Pinckney Pirates, perhaps the surprise team in the league. Pinckney nearly knocked off Tecumseh before the holidays and has just one league loss.

The Pirates are probably a better physical match-up for the Bulldogs. They're quick, not too tall and prefer an up-tempo game. They also have an Ypsilanti High connection. New coach Matt Seidl was the JV coach there. Raymond played there.

Right now it looks as though Chelsea could finish anywhere from first to fourth. I hope I can write the same thing on the 18th.

KERRY PLANK takes a short jumper during the Bulldogs' scrimmage with Jackson High school last week. Plank and the Bulldogs face one of their toughest tests of the season this Friday at Tecumseh.

CCH Will Present Plans to Economic Breakfast Club

Willard H. Johnson, president and chief executive officer and Kathleen S. Griffiths, vice-president and chief operating officer of Chelsea Community Hospital, will make a joint presentation to the Chelsea Economic Breakfast Club on Wednesday, Jan. 16 at 7:30 a.m. in the Woodlands Room of the Chelsea Community Hospital. The title of their presentation will be "Chelsea Community Hospital in the 1990's."

This presentation will discuss the possible future expansion of the Hospital. It will focus on the new Chelsea Arbor Treatment Center, a substance abuse joint venture between the Hospital and the University of Michigan Hospital.

Johnson has been president and CEO since 1975. He is a member of the Board of Trustees and Executive Committee of the Michigan Hospital Association and the past chairman of the Southeast Michigan Hospital Council Board of Trustees. His master's degree in Hospital Administration is from the University of Michigan.

Griffiths has worked for the Hospital since 1981 and became vice-president and chief operating officer in 1986. She has a master's degree in public administration from New York University.

Chelsea's Economic Breakfast Club is co-sponsored by Society Bank and the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce and meets in the Hospital on the third Wednesday of each month. Topics and speakers which would interest members of Chelsea and the surrounding communities are presented.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES:

We Still Need Space Defense

By Philips C. Clarke

When Conservatives questioned taxpayer-funded subsidies for obscure art exhibits, the liberal media erupted in self-righteous indignation, accusing Senator Jesse Helms and others of attempted censorship and violation of free expression. Subsequently, Congress voted to continue the National Endowment for the Arts' annual budget of nearly $200 million.

By contrast, when Congress slashed nearly in half the $4.7 billion needed to complete work on a space-defense system against missile attack, the media nodded in approval.

As usual, liberal pundits ridiculed the so-called "Star Wars" program as a worthless and unworkable boondoggle, especially now that the Cold War supposedly is over.

Once again, however, the critics are dead wrong. The vast majority of experts who have been associated with the Strategic Defense Initiative since its initiation by President Reagan in 1983 are agreed that an effective space shield is possible, practical and deployable within a year or two—given the necessary funds.

Even Soviet officials now concede that strategic defense is the way to go. As a matter of fact, the Soviets have continued to upgrade their anti-ballistic missile defenses around Moscow. (The U.S.' only ABM unit, erected to protect our Minuteman missiles near Grand Forks, N.D., was dismantled in 1978 by a 52 to 47 Senate vote initiated by Edward Kennedy, the Massachusetts Democrat.)

Retired U.S. Army General Daniel O. Graham, former director of the Pentagon's Defense Intelligence Agency who now heads a pro-SDI think tank called High Frontier, warns that American and allied forces in the Persian Gulf are now vulnerable to attack by Saddam Hussein's array of Soviet medium-range SCUD missiles. Graham says that deployment of a first-stage SDI system known as "Brilliant Pebbles" could have provided protection against the Iraqi SCUD's, as well as a global shield against missiles launched from whatever source, either by design or by accident.

Significantly, Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze has publicly voiced concern that ethnic strife in the U.S.S.R. could ignite what he described as "giant stockpiles of nuclear and chemical weapons."

Meantime, U.S. Defense Secretary Dick Cheney has warned that "by the year 2000, at least six developing countries will have intermediate-range missiles—not merely short-range ones." And the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency says that "Today, at least 16 Third World countries possess ballistic missiles or are striving to develop them."

Such stark forebodings rarely are reported in our major news media where priority continues to go to paeans of praise for Mikhail Gorbachev, Time magazine's "Man of the Decade," and the Nobel committee's latest peace-prize winner. Ironically, it was Reagan's refusal to scrap SDI in return for Gorbachev's pie-in-the-sky promises of strategic arms cutbacks that finally induced the Soviet leader to seek real reductions.

As British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher said recently, "I believe it (SDI) convinced the Soviet Union they can never achieve their aim by military might because they know they could never succeed." And reporting on a recent international conference in The Hague on science, society and the future, Aleta Jackson, editor of High Frontier's Newswatch, said the meeting was dominated by a single theme—SDI. "The Strategic Defense Initiative set us free," one young delegate from Bulgaria told Miss Jackson. "Over and over," she said, "I heard enthusiastic praise for SDI—from the East Europeans."

New Technique Simplifies Gall Bladder Surgery

Sixty-six-year-old Roy Clemons of Chelsea had ignored intense pains in his stomach for almost a year, hoping they would go away. He finally wound up in the emergency room of his local hospital last November, where he was referred for further testing to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, a unit of Catherine McAuley Health System.

Physicians there diagnosed his problem as gallstones and recommended a new type of gall bladder surgery called laparoscopic cholecystectomy. The procedure involves the use of narrow scopes similar to those used for years in obstetrical and orthopedic surgery, and results in much shorter hospital stays and recovery time for patients at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

"They said I was a candidate for this new type of gall bladder surgery and I agreed," recalled Clemons. Following the surgery, Clemons spent one night in the hospital and then recovered at home. A week later, he said, "I felt great."

"What we're doing is taking existing technology and applying it to gall bladder surgery," said Randal P. Desrochers, M.D., the SJMH surgeon who operated on Clemons. "Conventional gall bladder surgery used to require a three-to-five day hospital stay and a month of disability. With this new technique, patients can go home the next day and be back to work in a week."

That's welcome news in an era when hospitals and physicians are working to control costs and reduce the length of inpatient hospital stays. "This is part of a new technology that is obviously working and has a place in patient care. It cuts down on expenses and hospitalization," commented William Fry, M.D., head of the SJMH Department of Surgery.

Gall bladder surgery is very common in the U.S., said Dr. Desrochers. "It's estimated that 25 million Americans—mostly in their 40s and 50s—have gallstones, although only 15 percent of those have symptoms. That means approximately 500,000 operations are required each year."

Symptoms and Causes
The primary symptom of gall bladder disease is pain below the breastbone which sometimes spreads to the back and is brought on or exacerbated by eating. "Sometimes it is confused with an ulcer," said Dr. Desrochers. "The difference is food will usually make an ulcer feel better. But eating often makes a gall bladder feel worse."

That's because eating triggers the release of bile from the gall bladder. Bile—a liquid produced by the liver that aids in the digestion of fat—is stored in the gall bladder. "When you eat, the gall bladder contracts and releases bile," Dr. Desrochers explained. "People form stones in the gall bladder partly due to the chemical composition of their bile and partly because the release of their bile is incomplete. The stones float over and block the duct through which the bile is released." This duct obstruction causes the pain upon eating.

The new laparoscopic technique involves removing the gall bladder and stones with several small incisions. "Most people are candidates for this type of surgery," explained Dr. Desrochers. "Most people find that the loss of their gall bladder doesn't affect their ability to eat or digest food."

Laparoscopic cholecystectomy has been practiced in the U.S. for only about a year, but Dr. Desrochers said, "It's really phenomenal how it's catching on. There's no question this will replace most conventional gall bladder surgery."

"This is just the beginning," predicted Dr. Desrochers. "We're looking at applying the technology in different ways, for ulcer and appendix operations, for example."

Catherine McAuley Health System is a not-for-profit health care provider based in Ann Arbor. CMHS units include St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, McPherson Hospital, the Center for Mental Health and Chemical Dependency, Reichert Health Building and outpatient facilities in Washtenaw, Livingston and Wayne counties.

Break-ins Reported in Dexter Township Area

A rash of breaking and enterings have been reported in Dexter township during the past couple of weeks. Alert investigative efforts by deputy Mark Mesko, who explained he "just happened to be in the right place at the right time," resulted in the apprehension of a suspected culprit and two apparent accomplices at King's Service Station on McGregor Rd. in Dexter township, Jan. 30 at 10:18 p.m., and thwarted burglars' plans after a break-in at the Huron Creek Party Store on Dexter-Pinckney Rd. in the Jan. 2 wee hours.

As he drove by King's Service Station, Mesko noticed a vehicle parked with its lights out at a nearby establishment, and stopped to ask the two occupants what they were doing at the location.

Footprints in the freshly fallen snow indicated a third person had entered the fenced-in lot adjacent to the station. Neither occupant of the automobile admitted they knew the whereabouts of the third person.

Mesko called for a back-up unit and the station's proprietor.

When his back-up arrived, a systematic search was undertaken of all vehicles in the lot.

During the search, station owner Bill King noted one of the vehicles was missing an AM/FM radio, which had been in the auto earlier.

Although he was not visible from the outside, when the driver's door of the last vehicle the deputies searched was opened, a third youth was observed, who at first told deputies he was "just sleeping," and denied any wrongdoing.

Following a breaking and entering incident, Thursday, Dec. 20, cash and coins from a register were reported missing at the same business establishment, King's Service Station.

Entry was gained by a sliding door wall at the front of the building, deputy Zakrzewski noted in his report.

At the time the station was closed, 7:30 p.m. on the previous night, all was secure.

At the Portage Inn, located in the same immediate Dexter township area along McGregor Rd., owner Ronald Cartier of Brighton discovered when he came to open his business at 12 noon, Tuesday, Jan. 1, the building had been broken into, after thieves gained entry by smashing a 24" x 30" window at the front of the store and made off with at least 15 cases of cigarettes.

Everything was locked and secure when he closed the store at 10 p.m. the previous evening, Cartier told Cpl. Skip Davis.

Deputy Mesko found everything shipshape when he drove by the Huron Creek Party Store on Dexter-Pinckney Rd. at 3 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 2, but when he returned only 30 minutes later, he observed several cases of beer stacked neatly in front of the door.

The double-pane window in the main entrance door had been smashed with a four-way tire iron, which intruders had tossed aside.

Three bags of chips and a half-box of Snickers had also been snatched during the break-in.

Again, footprints in the freshly-fallen snow proved helpful in the investigation.

Larry Douglas Johnson, of Whitmore Lake told Cpl. Roger Stielow he was traveling east on M-14, near US-23, about 6:20 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 20, when he lost control of the vehicle he drove, after hitting a patch of ice, and the vehicle rolled.

Cpl. Stielow also investigated a second incident in the same vicinity on eastbound M-14, which also occurred Dec. 20 about 6:20 a.m.

After hitting an ice patch on the roadway, Steven Douglas Albright of Whitmore Lake lost control of the vehicle he drove and hit a guard rail.

When deputies Anuszkiewicz and Deacons were dispatched to the Dexter Bowl-N-Bar, just 41 minutes into the new year, they offered a safe ride home to a woman who was causing a disturbance and appeared to be intoxicated.

At first, she told deputies she lived in the Stockbridge area, but after beginning the journey to her home, they asked more specific directions.

She apparently changed her mind about the whereabouts of her home, became violent, and started kicking the inside of the patrol vehicle.

Eventually, following a temporary stop in Chelsea, the deputies were forced to return the woman to WCSD's station one for the night.

Deputy Mike Taylor investigated a crash which occurred about 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 29, on eastbound North Territorial Rd.

Ann Arbor area motorist Edward Branwell Jones apparently lost control of the vehicle he drove after hitting a water puddle.

The vehicle left the road and crashed into a tree, deputy Taylor's report stated.

The driver received minor injuries, but no transport took place.

Agnes Mae Branham of Millington was driving south on US-23 at approximately 3:50 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 30, when she lost control of her vehicle due to the slippery road, left the roadway and crashed into a ditch, deputy Taylor reported.

Deputy Taylor was dispatched to two other traffic crashes on ice-covered or snowy roads.

One occurred at 9:25 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 30, on northbound US-23, near Joy Rd., where Robin Ann Jones of Pinckney lost control on the snowy road and her vehicle went into a ditch, striking a mile marker on the road's right shoulder.

The second crash involved two Manchester area motorists.

Robert James Nickels' vehicle was stationary on Sharon Valley Rd., when Keith Brian Crawford lost control while turning onto the road, and crashed into Nickels.

Julia Louise Hayward of Ann Arbor told deputy Steve Platt she was traveling west on I-94, near M-14, about 8:30 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 27, when she came around a curve and another car was getting onto I-94 from M-14.

She explained she was in the right lane, and all at once, got over too far to the right, tried to correct, but pulled too hard to the left and her vehicle went sideways, left the road, and finally rolled over.

Platt's report noted both road shoulders were snow-covered.

Karl Reinhold Gebhardt of Waters Rd. was traveling west on Scio Church Rd. at 11:20 a.m. Friday, Dec. 28, when something happened to his steering, he explained to Cpl. Tom Spiess.

Gebhardt subsequently lost control of the vehicle, which went off the south side of the road and struck a tree.

Spiess investigated another crash at 1 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 27, in which Sharon Jeffries of Benton Harbor was driving west on M-14, east of Interstate-94.

She came around a curve, went off the north side of the road for no apparent reason, and the vehicle rolled over several times, Cpl. Spiess explained in his report.

Manchester Area Residents Organize Plea for World Peace

As the world anticipates the Jan. 15 deadline for action in the Middle East crisis, citizens in the quiet, rural neighboring community of Manchester have joined together to oppose the United States participation in a war there as the means of resolving the problems in the Persian Gulf.

On a cold Sunday afternoon just before Christmas, a gathering of nearly two dozen Manchesterites braved the cold to meet at the Gazebo on the Town Square.

Last week the group met again and voted to name itself "Citizens Against War in the Mideast." They planned specific actions to help their community consider this crisis—and hopefully to urge their elected representatives to find a better solution than war.

The idea originated with three women in town, each with enough years behind her to have clear memories of World War II. Gail Curtis, Mae Hardenbergh, and Lois Jarwell, along with the dozen or so other folks at the last meeting who came from country and village, decided on two specific courses of action:

First, they contacted Manchester and other area churches to ask that a "Prayer for Saddam Hussein and George Bush" be included in the church service and bulletin on Sunday, Jan. 6. (prayer attached)

Secondly, they are organizing a larger "community gathering" to be held Sunday, Jan. 13, just two days before the United Nations deadline.

This meeting entitled "Why War?" will take place in the Assembly Hall at Emanuel church on W. Main St., beginning at 2 p.m. Featured speakers will share insights on this complex issue and opportunities will be offered for communicating ideas to elected representatives in Washington.

Currently scheduled to speak are

Professor Benjamin T. Hourani from the Political Science department at Eastern Michigan University, and Jeannie Aten, a Chelsea resident and mother of a son in Saudi Arabia. Other speakers may be added to the schedule.

Manchester's "Citizens Against War in the Mideast" feel a sense of urgency as each day brings conflicting information about the possible resolution to this crisis, and they invite their fellow citizens in this far-from-the-fast-track community to take part in determining the course our country and the world will take.

They feel that this complex matter is of greatest importance at this time and can only benefit from the informed and thoughtful input of our nation's citizens.

A PRAYER FOR SADDAM HUSSEIN AND GEORGE BUSH

O God, you fill the universe with light and love. In you we live and move and have our being. We pray for Saddam Hussein and George Bush. Enlighten their minds and fill their hearts with the power of your creative love. Guide their actions so that all civilians and soldiers in the Gulf area are protected from the suffering of war. Inspire their decisions so that the crisis in the Middle East is resolved peacefully, and all peoples of the world learn to walk in ways of justice, love and peace.

Amen

Books Being Collected To Help Philippine University

Baha'is of Chelsea are collecting books which will be sent to Central Luzon State University in the Philippines.

The university there suffered two catastrophes within the last year: a fire which destroyed the Literature, Science and Arts building, and the recent earthquake in which the university library collapsed. Whole classes are sharing one or two copies of textbooks; many of the students cannot pay the cost of photocopying these books.

Dr. Dorothea Martin, a graduate of the University of Michigan and a volunteer lecturer at Central Luzon State University, has requested donations of English literature and world literature books for these classes.

Dr. Martin states, "The school is so poor that they don't have the money to buy the spare parts to keep their vehicles running well. The only thing which was running well enough to come to Manila and which was bigger than a small car was a dump truck. So the three teachers and the driver all came to Manila in a dump truck to get some donated books."

Chelsea Baha'is have already sent one shipment of books and are planning to send another one in January.

Anyone who wishes to donate books to Central Luzon State University may bring them to Peterson's, 705 S. Main, Chelsea, or to Christine Marsh's, 203 W. Middle, Chelsea. Books may be dropped off during the week-ends of Jan. 12-13 and Jan. 19-20. Especially needed are titles which might be useful in teaching English or world literature.

Ames Employee Steals Items

An 18-year-old employee of Ames Department Store may face charges in connection with the theft of a purse and cosmetics from the store on Thursday, Jan. 3.

According to police, the store manager saw the woman put eye pencil, lipstick, and a brush in a purse and leave the store. The items were valued at $18.96.

The woman admitted stealing the items because she didn't have the money to pay for them, police said.

Everybody's Science

★ New Sweet Potatoes Have Super Built-in Bug Defenses

By J. Kim Kaplan
New sweet potato varieties are sweet to farmers, but they are a sour surprise to hungry insects.

Most sweet potatoes naturally have some chemicals in the potato skin that act as built-in defenses to insect damage. So U.S. Department of Agriculture researchers put these defenses to work for potato farmers.

What resulted were three new varieties that produced more marketable potatoes than did a leading variety sprayed regularly with insecticide. Jewel, the commercial variety, is the standard against which new varieties are usually measured.

All three new varieties—Regal, Southern Delite and Excel—were developed by scientists at the U.S. Vegetable Laboratory operated in Charleston, S.C., by USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

When insecticides were used appropriately during their growing season, these three varieties produced even larger harvests, according to ARS plant pathologist Philip D. Dukes, who worked on the project along with entomologist James M. Schalk and plant geneticist Alfred Jones.

"In one trial conducted as an outside verification at Mississippi State University, Southern Delite produced five times the U.S. No. 1 quality yield of Jewel when they were both treated with insecticide," Dukes said.

According to the scientists, the new varieties have an "amazing level of insect resistance" that can protect farmers' sweet potato crops against various damaging insects.

As an example, Excel, the newest of the three varieties, has unusually strong resistance to seven common soil insect pests: southern potato wireworm, tobacco wireworm, banded cucumber beetle, spotted cucumber beetle, elongated flea beetle, pale-striped flea beetle and sweet potato flea beetle. It also has high levels of resistance to the white grub and southern root knot nematode.

"Resistance in Excel amounts to 80 percent control of the soil insects, 75 percent of the sweet potato flea beetle and 92 percent of the white grub," Jones said. "That's control you just cannot achieve with the presently recommended chemical treatments."

Altar Your Future.

There's one place where millions have found the hope it takes to begin life all over again. The motivation to make a fresh start. And the faith that assured them—beyond all doubt—of God's enduring love. That place is the altar. And when you take the short walk that gets you there, God will be waiting to meet you. That's why we're inviting you to join us in worship. To experience firsthand the love of Christ and the reality of the new life he offers. Whatever your situation right now, there's hope for a new beginning. You can altar your future because Jesus cares for you.

Here's Hope.

Results of the autopsy determined her death was caused by gunshot.

Police Capture Prison Escapists

Chelsea Police Department and the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department combined to capture two prisoners who escaped from Cassidy Lake Technical School early Sunday morning.

Chelsea police were called to Vogel's Party Store at about 9:30 a.m. after a store employee saw Robert Good, 19, and Scott Toplift, 18, using the telephone.

After a short footchase, one of the men was caught immediately by Chelsea officer Chris Kruger just north of Werkner Rd in a wooded area.

Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department Deputy Stan Yates chased the other man for more than three miles through snowy swampland, beginning near M-52 and Werkner Rd. off the west side of M-52. The escapist was eventually captured near M-52 and Waterloo Rd. by off-duty Chelsea officer Riley Sumner.

The effort to capture the men also involved several other Chelsea officers, including chief Lenard McDougall, Dick Sobor of the Huron Metroparks, and even public works superintendent Dave Bulson.

Good was serving time for writing bad checks and Toplift was serving time for car theft.

Examination Set in Shooting Death of Daniel Houk

A preliminary examination has been set for Wednesday, Jan. 16 in Chelsea 14-A District Court for Alvin H. Beseau of Westland, charged with the fatal shooting of Daniel Norman Houk of Stockbridge on Nov. 17.

Beseau, 45, charged with involuntary manslaughter, allegedly shot Houk while deer hunting on property at 20825 North Territorial Rd. in Lyndon township.

An arraignment was held in December after an investigation by Det. William Kennon of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

A conviction could carry a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison and a fine of $7,500.

Beseau has been released on $10,000 bond.

Gov. Blanchard Signs Engler-Sponsored Farm Export Bill

In one of his last acts before leaving office, Governor Blanchard signed Bureau economist Bob Craig said the new law will permit the state government to invest surplus funds in banks that will in turn loan the money at slightly below market interest rates to farm exporters.

"Michigan corn, soybean, wheat, dry edible bean and beef exports should benefit," he said. "All commodities are eligible, but those in particular that are involved with a lot of export activity are likely the first ones to take advantage of the new law."

Craig said the new law, originally sponsored by then state senator John Engler, will also help Michigan farm exporters compete against other states that have similar legislation.

Slippery Roads Cause Many Auto Crashes

Washtenaw county motorists are advised to slow down and be very cautious on snow-covered and slippery roads.

They should also be wary of the sudden appearances of deer on the roadways, a frequent occurrence.

Driving east on slippery Pleasant Lake Rd. at 10:23 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 2, Brian Edward Bourk explained to Cpl. Tom Spiess he lost control of the vehicle he drove, went off the north side of the road into a ditch, and struck a sign.

Cpl. Dave Miley was dispatched at 12:20 p.m. Monday, Dec. 31, to a crash reported on Baker Rd., north of Interstate-94.

Edward Chester Roberts, III, of Dexter-Pinckney Rd. told Miley he observed a person on a garden tractor, plowing snow in a driveway, and as Roberts approached the driveway, southbound, he pulled to the center of the road to give the tractor maneuvering space and broke traction, continued into the northbound lane, where his vehicle was struck by one driven by Carolyn Sue Reed of Chelsea.

Cpl. Miley and deputy Jack Carrier investigated a crash reported at 12:27 p.m. Monday, Jan. 31, on Zeeb Rd., north of westbound I-94.

Ronald Lee Winkle of Valley Drive told the officers he was headed south on Zeeb Rd., when he observed a van on northbound Zeeb.

He explained the van turned left in front of another vehicle, which Winkle was unable to avoid hitting.

Jody Benjamin Davis was driving the other vehicle.

Deputy Gomez said in a report filed after Brooklyn motorist Candy Bell Taylor suffered minor injuries in a crash at 9 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 5, Ms. Taylor was headed west on Sharon Hollow Rd. when she lost control of the vehicle she drove, and it slid sideways into the ditch.

Roads in the area were "very icy," the report explained.

All at once, two deer appeared and proceeded across the road, as Sharon

Marie Roderick was driving south on Zeeb Rd., north of Scio Church Rd. at 8:15 a.m. Friday, Jan. 4.

She told deputy Steve Piatt she never saw a third deer until it struck her van.

A crash occurred about 10 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 5, on Interstate-94, near Zeeb Rd., when Mary Kathryn Brown of Northville was trying to get onto eastbound 94, but began to slide sideways and was struck by a vehicle, which Janine Leila Szymanski of Chelsea drove.

Deputies Piatt and Adams were dispatched to investigate the incident.

At 11:45 a.m. Jan. 5, Piatt and Adams were summoned to Saline-Arbor Rd., where Michael Joseph Ryan of Manchester stated he was driving north, when his vehicle began to slip sideways and struck a telephone pole.

At 12:20 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 5, Piatt and Adams arrived at a site on Wagner Rd., just south of Liberty Rd. in Scio township, where a motorist reported his vehicle suddenly began to go sideways and struck a fire hydrant, which broke off, but was left at the scene.

Donald S. Powley, Jr., of Cincinnati, O., explained to deputy Piatt he was traveling west on Jackson Rd., east of the Zeeb Rd. intersection, about 9:30 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 3, and saw a semi ahead which had no tail lights.

After he observed the semi's emergency flashers come on, he felt the vehicle was going to pull over, tried to pass it and was struck by the semi, whose driver, Wisconsin resident Harold C. Johnson, said he was trying to turn left at the location.
