A NEWPORT WOMAN was killed last Thursday morning when a truck jackknifed on eastbound I-94, crossed the median, and struck her car, crushing the hood. Michigan State Police said Beverly K. Knight, 43, was pronounced dead on arrival at Chelsea Community Hospital, where she was taken by Huron Valley Ambulance. Police said snowy and icy conditions probably contributed to the crash. The incident started when the driver of one truck lost control of his vehicle and it jackknifed. A second truck, trying to avoid a collision, also jackknifed. The first truck struck Knight's vehicle, which was westbound on I-94.

School Board Given Results of Survey on Drug, Alcohol Use

Results of a survey on student alcohol and drug use conducted by Western Michigan University were presented to the Chelsea Board of Education Monday night.

The results, contained in 102-page report, give what superintendent Joe Piasecki believes is an accurate portrayal of substance abuse in the school district.

A more extensive summary of the survey will be presented in a future edition of The Chelsea Standard.

According to Piasecki, there were several key pieces of information.

First, he said, use of alcohol should probably be the number one concern of the district and the community.

"A number of our kids are drinking and with some regularity," Piasecki said.

"We also found that in the case of our seniors, the percentage who are driving under the influence is in the double digits."

Kids say they are drinking at home, at friends' homes, at parties, or in cars, Piasecki said.

He said another disturbing trend is that the use of inhalants, such as freon, white-out, and glue is on the rise.

"This is scary because of the potential for brain damage and other problems," Piasecki said.

"Obviously, that's one thing we need to take a look at."

On the positive side, Piasecki said, students apparently believe the district is providing needed information in a reasonably effective way.

Piasecki said the district plans to compare results of the survey to the results of previous surveys here.

In other board business, the high school may offer some a few classes during zero hour next year. That would give students the opportunity to take an additional class.

Zero hour is now used as a prep hour for teachers. Teachers who elect to teach that hour would be given a make-up prep period later in the day.

Students would also have to provide their own transportation to school. The class could not be used for early daily dismissal or for early graduation.

Athletic director Wayne Welton offered a proposal that would allow Chelsea's girls golf team to participate in a golf league next year. Not enough Southeastern Conference schools have girls golf to form a league.

The board heard a presentation from Greiner, Inc., the district's architect for the proposed new elementary school and renovations. The representative showed aerial photographs and discussed preliminary figures about square footage. A three-hour workshop is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 23 from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. in the board room. That's when some initial costs will be discussed, Piasecki said.

Stalker Gets New Job as Administrator in Oscoda Twp.

It didn't take long for former village manager Robert Stalker to find a new job.

Stalker, 29, who cleaned out his Chelsea office last Friday, has been offered the job of superintendent of Oscoda township near Tawas City. The township board held a special meeting Friday. Stalker, despite the opposition of the township supervisor, will become the township's first superintendent. According to reports, supervisor Robert Hunt opposed the hiring due to the expense but voted with the township board.

Stalker accepted a three-year contract with a starting salary of $39,800 per year, about $800 more than he was making in Chelsea. He said his first interview was in early January.

"It's the same, basic kind of job," Stalker said Friday.

"They have police and fire departments and a department of public works."

Stalker, originally from Flint, has relatives in the area, including his father.

Oscoda, a charter township, is the home of Wurtsmith Air Force Base. The township is considering multi-million dollar sewer projects and is co-ordinating downtown development, an issue Stalker became very familiar with during his time as Chelsea manager. The Au Sable River, a major fishing facility in the area, runs through the township.

Stalker was hired here in March of 1989. He had previously served as assistant city manager in Tecumseh. He has a master's degree in public administration from the University of Michigan. He and his wife have two young children.

Stalker's vacated position has been advertised in area newspapers, as well as in Lansing and Jackson.

Evening Dialogue With Superintendent Is Rescheduled

"Dialogue With the Superintendent," originally scheduled for Feb. 13, has been re-scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at Beach Middle school.

It will be the last evening dialogue this school year. The informal meetings with school superintendent Joe Piasecki are designed for parents whose schedules prevent them from attending the morning sessions.

All community residents are invited to attend.

Recycling Grant Pushes Chelsea-Manchester Area Into Unique Venture

By Brian Hamilton

Village of Chelsea and nine other units of government are preparing to implement a unique partnership that could serve as a model for the way small communities in Michigan and nationwide handle their solid waste in general and recycling in particular.

Chelsea, along with the Village of Manchester and Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, Dexter, Bridgewater, Sharon, Manchester and Freedom townships, is scheduled to receive a $330,400 grant from the Protecting Michigan's Future Bond Program to set up a recycling program that will ultimately serve virtually the entire western portion of Washtenaw county.

The 10 units of government plan to set up a Solid Waste Management Authority to administer the grant. However, that may be just the first program the authority tackles. Once the Chelsea Sanitary Landfill is history, the authority may also address trash collection on a regional basis, perhaps using the landfill as a site for a transfer station.

For now the unofficial authority is called the Western Washtenaw Recycling Consortium. It is meeting on a regular basis to set the groundwork for the recycling program, which will take off in October once money from the grant is received.

"We were told that getting 10 units of government together for any purpose has never been done before in Michigan," said Chelsea landfill operator Cecil Clouse.

"That's probably the main reason we were able to get the grant."

The plan calls for a 3,000-square-foot collection and processing station, complete with conveyors, a baler, concrete storage bunkers, and loading machinery, to be built at the Chelsea landfill. There, glass, metal, newspaper, cardboard, and plastic will be sorted, banded, and shipped to various companies that will buy the materials.

Fifteen drop-off stations are scheduled to be set up throughout the 10 units of government to handle all those materials, which will be collected on a regular basis.

Village of Manchester will begin a curbside recycling program, and Chelsea's program will be expanded to include plastics and newspapers.

A small army of volunteers will be trained to promote and implement recycling in the villages and townships. There might be, for instance, block captains or street coordinators.

According to the grant proposal, the goal of the program is to collect annually more than 2,100 tons of materials, partly through 80 percent participation in weekly curbside collections in the villages.

The grant only covers the purchase of equipment, which includes the processing center. It does not include funds for labor to run the program, or money for long-term education and promotions.

According to Frank Hammer, chairman of the village's solid waste committee, Chelsea's program now has about 25 percent participation.

It's an ambitious undertaking, village officials say, but enthusiasm for the program is high and there is every reason to believe it can succeed.

The main keys to the success of the program, Hammer said, would be "co-operation among all 10 governmental units, and organization."

"There was some trepidation at the outset that with 10 units of government it would not be easy to reach an agreement about how to run the program," Hammer said.

"Everybody agreed right up front [to the concept of an authority]. It feels good because it's such an important issue and we don't need to squabble over small issues."

The primary concept of the authority is each unit of government has one vote and costs will be shared based on population and households.

Both Hammer and landfill operator Cecil Clouse said the first couple of meetings were enlightening in that it was obvious Manchester and its surrounding townships have a solid working relationship regarding solid waste issues. They even have money set aside for their shares of the matching portion of the grant (a total of $110,000 for the 10 units).

"I think communication is something that's been missing around here for a long time," Clouse said.

How much the program will cost to operate is one of the unknowns. Plans are to use prison labor at the processing center to sort materials. Chelsea village employees will likely service machinery, handle billing, and other administrative matters, and those costs will be charged back to the authority.

After the first two years, it is projected the program will collect $62,950 annually through sales of materials, while expenses will total $152,500. Other revenues would be generated from a household surcharge and a user fee system, which would probably be implemented at the beginning of the program. The projected cost per household in the townships is about $15 annually. The cost per household rises to about $30 in the villages due to the curbside operations.

The proposed user fee system is a bag/tag program in which all refuse put out for collection is placed in a special bag or bag affixed with a special tag.

Village of Manchester and its surrounding townships had initially planned to seek the grant by themselves. (Continued on page six)

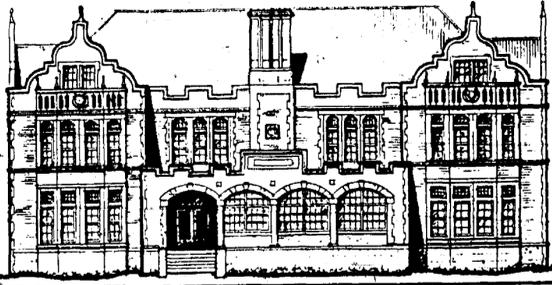

"BLUSH AT NOTHING," a play by University of Michigan graduate Lisa Wing, will be the first production of the Purple Rose Theatre Company at Chelsea's new Garage Theatre beginning this Thursday, Feb. 7. Above, Barry Delaney and Terry Heck portray Godfrey and Vivvie, a pair of mismatched lovers in the original comedy about the Holdens, a slightly eccentric Kalamazoo family. As of Tuesday morning, actor Jeff Daniels, the driving force behind the theatre, was high in the rafters with a paint brush putting the final touches on his new playhouse. A notice about the theatre opening even appeared in the Tuesday edition of the New York Times. Daniels created the theatre to give Michigan actors and writers a chance to display their talents.

STUDENT COUNCIL at Beach Middle school sponsored its quarterly locker clean-up and recycling project last Friday afternoon. At the end of the day, every student went to his locker and cleaned it out. Paper and other items that could be recycled were sorted by student council members. Some council members who helped out were, from left, Bryndon Skelton, Keri Kuntala, Kate Steele, and Miquel Bonilla.

EXCAVATION CREWS started site work for the new Chelsea Officenter off Old US-12 opposite Polly's Market last Friday. Work continued throughout the week-end. The office complex is the second major project in the village for developer Rene Papp. He also plans an adjacent housing project.

An Ohio man, who claimed to be "on a race with the Devil from Detroit to Chicago," plowed into the back of a police cruiser driven by Chief Lenard McDougall on I-94 as McDougall attempted to force him to stop. The man led police on a 10-mile chase at speeds up to 90 miles an hour before the accident stopped his 1980 Datsun just east of the Pierce Rd. exit. "He said he was chasing the devil and he thought I was the devil," McDougall said. "He said he wanted to kill me."

Kelly McKernan of Chelsea was selected as a finalist in the 1987 Mrs. Michigan Pageant. The contest was divided into four events, each worth 1/4 of the final score: bathing suit, evening gown, beauty, and personality. Being a finalist in the Mrs. Michigan contest is, according to McKernan, "like a dream come true."

State Put on Credit Watch As Leaders Plan Talks on Budget

One of the major New York rating firms has placed Michigan on its credit watch list, warning that the state's credit rating will be lowered unless officials agree soon on a budget package that erases a projected deficit in the current fiscal year.

And while all three rating agencies reaffirmed the state's existing credit standing, the newest of them also expressed concern over the budget problems and the rejection of Governor John Engler's proposals.

The credit rating action, which has implications for the cost of bonds sold by all governments in the state, came as Engler prepared to open negotiations with House and Senate leaders on how to erase a projected $1.1 billion deficit.

House Democrats rejected the administration's plans to implement $536 million in cuts already approved by the Legislature and $257.4 million more by executive order. That left a 9.2 percent across the board cut in place for nine departments and the state still facing a deficit of $477 million, the administration said.

That across the board cut will have more devastating implications than their own plan, administration officials said, including the possible dismantling of the Medicaid system, a 17 percent cut in grant levels to welfare recipients and 4,300 worker layoffs that could be averted.

Because of notice requirements, actual cuts will not be implemented for another two weeks to a month, although layoff notices to 7,781 employees will be sent out within the next few days, Management and Budget Director Patti Woodworth said.

Engler, Speaker Lewis Dodak (D-Montrose) and other legislative leaders held what was described as a "cordial" meeting on the budget problems to review broad issues, planning to return to begin specific negotiations. Others at the meeting were Senate Majority Leader Richard Posthumus (R-Alto), Senate Appropriations Committee chair Harry Gast (R-St. Joseph) and Rep. Ralph Ostling of Roscommon, the ranking Republican on the House of Appropriations Committee.

Standard and Poores put Michigan on a "credit watch with negative implications." Vladimir Stadnyk said that is "primarily due to the fact that the state is still faced with a budget imbalance. We will be looking to see if they close the 1991 imbalance realistically. If they don't then (the credit rating) will change downward."

He said the agency is concerned with over-all economic deterioration in the state, a weakening cash position, whether the Budget Stabilization Fund will be drained of money beyond the $103 million provided under existing formula; and whether any property tax cut plan is properly financed.

Woodworth said the credit watch is a "warning that if we fail to take prudent financial measures, our rating will be cut."

Treasurer Doug Roberts said he was not surprised by the action, saying the "numbers in terms of our cash position and the budget are very serious. They're looking forward to seeing the state realistically resolve the current budget imbalance."

Roberts said the administration intends to propose a balanced 1991-92 budget that assumes reimbursement to school districts for revenue lost by the property tax cut.

Engler has not specified what actions will be necessary to pay for his proposed 20 percent cut in property assessments for schools over three years, but indicated some additional program cuts may be needed.

Democrats opposed to the Engler proposals to close the budget gap—which included elimination of the General Assistance welfare program, elimination of aid to cities, and wiping out most economic development programs—had sketched an outline that drew $333.3 million from the BSF, limited budget cuts to $333.3 million and used "short term" methods to deal with the rest of the problem.

The state's credit rating had been increased several times during the Blanchard administration after taking a beating during the last recess-sion. Both Standard and Poor's and Fitch Investors Service kept the rating at AA, while Moody's Investor Service maintained its A-1 rating for general obligation bonds.

Ratings for the State Building Authority, which intends to market $213.4 million in bonds later this week, are one-half-step lower for each rating agency.

George Leung of Moody's noted the agency is also monitoring both the short-term resolution of the budget and longer-term issue of property tax cuts and how that can be done in light of the budget problems. He noted Moody's did not raise the rating and said the immediate issues involve the actions taken to control the budget. "The rating level we have for Michigan incorporates to a degree that concern," he said.

Claire Cohen of Fitch's noted its rating was issued before the rejection of the Engler budget plan by the House. She said the suggestion that 9.2 percent across the board cut may cause Michigan to drop out of the Medicaid program "would seem to be a very major problem for the state."

But in many other respects, such as an optimistic revenue forecast, she said Michigan is in the same position as many other states, and while the economy bears watching, it has not weakened as much as might have been expected.

Cohen also cautioned against using too much of the Budget Stabilization Fund to solve the budget problems and said the agency would be watching for a budget agreement that is "reasonable and realistic."

Woodworth said the negotiations will include not just a new executive order to cut $257.4 million, but also alternatives to the 9.2 percent cut that now looms over the largest departments, including Social Services, Mental Health and Corrections.

Non-negotiable items, she said, include further withdrawals from the Stabilization Fund, higher taxes and education spending.

She said the Democratic alternative lacks specifics on how cuts would be made, whether short-term proposals would produce sufficient money, and fails to address basic imbalances between spending and revenues.

But she added the administration is looking at early retirement and selling the Accident Fund, two items in the Democratic agenda.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers camped on different sides of the river Saturday night at the country store when the discussion came around to new ways of selling cigars. One school held that a product legal to sell ought to be legal to advertise, and Ed Doolittle set himself up at the head of this class. Clem Webster and his followers took the view that wrapping themselves in the flag and preaching patriotism is taking cigaret marketing down a road we ought not to travel.

Clem got this sticky item on the agenda when he said he read about Phillip Morris sponsoring a touring show on the Bill of Rights. This follows this tobacco company's ads inventing Constitution Week to push its products. The idea is catching, Clem said. R.J. Reynolds recent run a page ad in Sunday newspaper supplements and magazines showing a picture of the bald eagle that is the symbol of the best we are. "Quality above all," it's the copy for Winston cigs read, "It's our commitment to be the best."

In those same papers and magazines, Clem said, U.S. Armed Forces ran the same eagle showing that same stern strength and noting that staying free means work and sacrifice, "but the rewards are great." Gitting around ad bans on television by sponsoring car races, tennis and golf matches on-TV is one thing, Clem allowed, but using love of country to git your name fixed in the minds of children is another.

Ed held fast. He said if a Nobel Prize was give fer hypocrisy our Federal Government would git it ever year. It backs ever effort to make smoking a crime while it pumps billions into tobacco production and price supports. It spends billions more fighting the evils of alcohol with one hand, while the other is pushing up alcohol sales taxes and giving the same tax breaks to breweries, wineries and distilleries it gives other businesses. This Government says a cigaret ad is bad, but the First Amendment protects ads fer fuzzbusters that are good fer nothing but to help drivers speed and kill one another.

Practical speaking, broke in Zeke Grubb, everybody's stand-boils-down-to-the-old-line about whose bread I eat his songs I sing. The beer, booze and cigaret companies do all the things fer the economy and fer politicians that all other companies do, and they got a right to expect the same return on their investments. Zeke had saw recent where a Tennessee senator that stood foursquare fer building a dam in his state would endanger the snail darter fish has come out just as strong agin cutting timber in Washington that threatens the spotted owl.

It was Bug Hookum that shifted gears by noting that no sooner did we final git a handle on a billion than we got to start dealing in trillions. Allus this time-of-year, Bug said, the papers are full of facts and figgers on how bad a year the Government had and how good all the pro sports franchises done and expect to do.

Wading through all this information, ordinary folks realize that fer all we're told we learn mighty little. One thing we know is that everything is good or bad in big numbers. Trillions in debt and billions in value of captured cocaine are in the same paragraf, so when the next one tells how many millions might starve this winter we have trouble seeing that big trillions ain't real and little millions are.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Feb. 7, 1957—
 Kenneth Livingston of Cavanaugh Lake, hauled in a 31-inch 8 1/4-pound Northern Pike while spearing on Mill Lake. Another ice fisherman, Earl Kalmbach of Grass Lake, speared a 5-pound pike the same afternoon after taking a 9 1/2-pound one and a 4-pound one.

Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Rogers of Cavanaugh Lake discovered that purple finches, rare in this part of the country, were among the many varieties of birds which feed at his feeding station at the Chandler home. The Cavanaugh Lake area is the only place where the birds have been reported in this vicinity.

The Rev. W. H. Skentelbury, former pastor of the Chelsea Congregational church and for the past four and one-half years pastor of the Litchfield Congregational church, was retiring from the ministry, according to an announcement received this week.

The Boy Scout building known as Yost Lodge at Camp Newkirk, Dexter, was extensively damaged by fire of undetermined origin. No one was present when the fire started. The east end of the building was destroyed. The blaze is believed to have started in a pump house wing of the building where an electric light bulb had been kept burning to prevent the pump from freezing.

Lima Township Plans To Buy Computer, Upgrade Office Space

Lima township board approved an expenditure Monday night of about $9,000 to upgrade its office space in the town hall.

According to supervisor Bill Van Riper, the township plans to purchase a computer and software at a cost of about $5,900, as well as construct an office in the basement. He said volunteer labor has been lined up to handle various construction details.

The computer would be used primarily by the assessor. However, word processing software will also be purchased.

In other business, Ed Guenther was appointed the township's official representative to the Western Washtenaw Recycling Consortium. The township also agreed to pay its one-tenth share ($500) to set up a Solid Waste Management Authority with nine other units of government in the western part of the county.

Planning commissioner Harriet Hamilton was appointed to represent the township at quarterly meetings of the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments.

Home Meal Service Needs Drivers Again

Although the number of persons and distances the drivers must travel is down a great deal from a few months ago, Home Meal Service is once again looking for volunteer drivers. A driver need only commit to every other week, for no more than one hour.

The meals are prepared at the United Methodist Retirement Home and 11 of these are right within the Village. The other two are farther out, but not so far as to be a hardship. The remaining meals are picked up at the Senior Citizen Center and delivered within the Village. With two drivers each day, the whole operation can be easily handled in one hour from start to finish.

Anyone wanting more information about this program may call coordinator, Mary Erskine at 475-9494 or 475-2821 or Ann Feeney at 475-1493 or 475-1145.

Ann and Mary particularly encourage retirees to give it a try. It is a nice way to stay in touch with some of the older folks who have difficulty getting out and also a way to make some new friends. Young parents whose children are in school can also volunteer knowing that if a child is ill and they need to cancel anytime, someone will take over the driving that day.

"The only way to avoid being miserable is not to have enough leisure to wonder whether you are happy or not . . ."

—George Bernard Shaw

Machines and computers have taken over much of the dreary, monotonous and tiring work of the world and will continue to take over more in the future. Yet, we wonder if people are any happier and content than they were when long hours of hard work was the rule for the majority of us.

The happiest people are usually those so busy that they have no time to wonder whether or not they are happy. The secret of happiness, Shaw is pointing out, lies in being fully occupied in satisfying work you have learned to enjoy.

Spare your family the burden of making decisions during bereavement by making your desires known through our pre-need arrangement plans.

In the case of Commonwealth v. Hunt in 1842, the Massachusetts Court held that labor unions, as such, were legal organizations, according to "Important Events in American Labor History," a U.S. Labor Department publication. The court ruled that a "conspiracy must be a combination of two or more persons, by some concerted action, to accomplish some criminal or unlawful purpose, or to accomplish some purpose not in itself criminal or unlawful by criminal or unlawful means."

Chelsea-Manchester Recycling

They decided their case could be made substantially stronger by including the Chelsea area and they approached the village last spring about signing on.

That, as it turned out, may have provided a double benefit. It more than doubled the population served, but it added a small community that probably has as much expertise and experience in recycling as any small community in Michigan.

Clouse has been attending meetings of the Washtenaw County Solid Waste Consortium for several years, initially with former village president Jerry Satterthwaite. It didn't take long for the village to realize that the life of its landfill could be extended through recycling. In addition, the village began to see how expensive trash removal will become once the landfill is closed.

As Hammer put it, "recycling has gone from a socially acceptable alternative to a social necessity."

The village became the first small community in the county to implement a curbside program. Cub Scouts already had a newspaper recycling program in place, with the help of Chelsea Milling Co. trucks, and volunteers in the school district collected more than seven tons of plastic milk jugs last school year. The milk jug program is now being run by public works superintendent Dave Bulson.

In addition, the village has operated a composting program since 1979. Clouse and Bulson manage the day to day operation of both the recycling and composting projects, from coordinating collections to repair and maintenance of equipment.

The composting program has not only kept grass clippings and leaves out of the landfill, but has proved to be money-saver. Topsoil created through the program saved the village more than $85,000 last year when the old landfill was capped according to Department of Natural Resources specifications.

The success of the composting program may have also helped the consortium obtain the grant. Clouse and Bulson have become speakers in demand. They addressed a group in Auburn Hills last October. They are scheduled to speak at the Michigan Municipal League's Operation Compost program later this month. In April they'll go to Lansing to discuss the recycling program.

Bulson and Clouse have talked about how the composting program has been started primarily with the novel use of existing equipment, such as loaders and dump trucks.

"One of the things that really got them is how we thought up the idea of using a manure spreader to aerate the compost," Clouse said.

"Most other cities have about $100,000 or $200,000 worth of equipment to do that."

The seminars have also given Clouse and Bulson the opportunity to discuss the village's recycling program on an informal basis.

And word has spread about the success of the Chelsea programs.

"I've talked with people in Minnesota, Illinois, and California about our program," Clouse said.

"It's also unbelievable the number of salesmen that have called trying to sell us equipment."

The village's recycling program probably won't change much until the grant money arrives. Any equipment purchased now won't be reimbursable through the grant.

However, Hammer said the hope is to begin recycling cardboard by this summer, as well as make the milk jug program more easily accessible to area residents.

Area resident Diane Kyte, a member of the village's recycling committee, is managing a fledgling office paper recycling program.

The village had considered collecting used motor oil. However, that got sidetracked, Clouse said, when the Environmental Protection Agency designated oil a hazardous waste. The ruling changed liability insurance requirements, which posed too many problems for both the village and the purchasers of the used oil.

The village will also continue to recycle tires and appliances at the landfill.

Humane Society Sponsors Pet Food Drive for Shelter

Follow your heart this Valentine's Day and remember the animals at the Humane Society of Huron Valley. Participate in the "Hungry Hearts Pet Food Drive" sponsored by the Humane Society of Huron Valley. All donations of pet food will help to feed the thousands of animals received at the shelter each year.

Beginning Feb. 9 and continuing through March 4, look for donation bins at the front of participating grocery and pet stores throughout Washtenaw county. Shoppers are encouraged to purchase extra bags of dry pet food and deposit them in the bins located at the front of participating businesses or bring donations directly to the shelter at 3100 Cherry Hill Rd., in Ann Arbor.

Special needs include puppy and kitten food, as well as canned cat food.

The shelter has a tendency to run short of these items at this time of year.

Why not spread some love this Valentine's Day to the many homeless dogs and cats at the Humane Society? The next time you do your shopping, please remember to pitch in for the needy animals of Washtenaw county.

The following stores have graciously agreed to provide donation bins for area shoppers:

- Chelsea—Folly's Market.
- Dexter—WALCO Foods.
- Manchester—WALCO Foods.
- Milan—Milan Foodtown.
- Saline—A & P, Busch's Valu-Land.
- Ypsilanti—Kroger, 1771 E. Michigan Ave., Huron Pet Supply.
- Ann Arbor—Buster's Food Mart, Food and Drug Mart, Huron Pet Supply, Padare Lane Pet Supply, Scamp Pets and Supplies, and all area Kroger stores.

CHELSEA AND DEXTER STUDENTS are part of a group of students building a home in Saline in an annual project sponsored by the South and West Washtenaw Consortium. The home, 348 Berkshire St., will be built entirely by the students, from the foundation to the interior trim. The house is expected to go on the market in April for about $185,000. Students meet at the house daily under the supervision of Larry Hawker and instructor Richard Lutz. Students come from Chelsea, Dexter, Saline, Milan, and Manchester High schools. Above is Chelsea student Jim Robinson and below is Dexter's Shawn Murphy. Other Chelsea students include Wayne Hodges, Jack Middlebrook, Jennifer Petty, Terry Reynolds, and Michael Kent. Other Dexter students include Buster Bell, Dave Sindlinger, and Damon Edwards.

The Red, White & Blue

'Twas the night after "K" Day and all through Iraq.
Everyone was sleeping, no thoughts of attack.
Their planes were all grounded with Hussein unaware
That Uncle Sam's finest soon would be there.

The soldiers all tossed & turned on their beds with nightmares of infidels that cut off their heads.
Ole Saddam was dreaming and it frightened him too.
For in his nightmare he was strangled by the Red, White & Blue.

When all around Baghdad there arose the dread sound, of great bombs exploding as their targets they found.
He jumped out of bed, his head all a-fuddle
He was scared almost senseless and where he stood made a puddle.

Sadham opened the window, saw his city on fire and wished he had never raised Uncle Sam's ire.
Then what do his trembling eyeballs see but a squadron of bombers and some F16s.

There were Cruise missiles also, way more than a few
Hussein saw what he'd dreaded, the Red, White & Blue.
Sam sent them like eagles and thicker than fleas,
Determined to bring Saddam to his knees.

Now Dashim, now Crushim; keep bombing Iraq.
Liberation's begun, there's no turning back.
From the center of Baghdad to the east and the west
Destroy all your targets and show them who's best!

Like a man that is crazy . . . Saddam started to cry
"Launch some Scud missiles up into the sky!
Shoot them toward Saudi, make sure they're all hits.
We'll show the Americans, we'll blow them to bits."

The Scuds headed southward, their tails all aglow.
He'd kill all Sam's forces like ducks in a row.
But the allies were ready for Hussein's deadly due
With missiles called Patriots of the Red, White & Blue!

The soldiers who launched them, did so with skill.
They did like they'd practiced, only this wasn't a drill.
The Patriots were fired, Sam knew they'd do well.
They raced toward the Scuds and blew them to hell!

Sam's forces all shouted and gave high fives of glee.
Iraq was in shambles and Kuwait soon would be free.
Saddam was real worried, Things weren't going as planned.
He thought in his bunker, way deep in the sand.

I have missiles and planes, tanks and mines it is true
But they're all made confetti by the Red, White & Blue.
Uncle Sam pressed on in the war in the east.
The mightiest country protecting the least.

He wouldn't let up till Kuwait's people were free
And the villain Hussein was brought to his knees.
America's forces are second to none
And they wouldn't rest until victory was won!

It was an awesome task they faced in the sand.
In that far away place, in that strange barren land.
The Sons of Liberty from the Home of the Brave
Sent Saddam's army straight to their grave.

And the whole world watched as tyranny fell,
As Hussein joined Satan in his bunker in hell.
Now he knows full well what the world always knew
You can't touch this—the Red, White & Blue.

Raccoon Picked Up Infected With Distemper

Strange behavior by raccoons recently caused some area residents to notify the Humane Society of Huron Valley. Many of the raccoons are sick, some possibly with distemper.

"It acted lethargic," said Karen Dworek of Dexter. "At first I thought it had a broken leg."

Dworek reported the raccoon to the Humane Society Saturday, Jan. 26, after she noticed it walking in circles and eating snow.

The Humane Society picked up 10 sick raccoons in Washtenaw county during the month of December. Undoubtedly, some had distemper.

"There's definitely an outbreak going on," said Humane Society of Huron Valley, director of cruelty and rescue, Dee Strom. "These things seem to run in cycles."

Alecia Heilman, shelter technician at the Humane Society of Huron Valley, described raccoons with distemper as lethargic, disoriented and more visible during daylight hours.

Distemper, an airborne virus can infect dogs and cats. Pets can get the virus through inhalation of a raccoon's urine, feces, sneezes or coughs. Symptoms in dogs include chronic pneumonia, high fever and seizures. Cats exhibit different symptoms, vomiting, diarrhea and fever. Although the virus can harm pets, it does not make the animal dangerous to people.

"Prevention is most important," said Animal Care Center veterinarian, Jim Clark.

He recommended all pets have vaccinations against such diseases. On average, puppies and kittens should receive their first vaccination at six weeks. After full vaccination, they should receive a booster shot every year.

The Humane Society requests that if you spot a raccoon acting strange, keep it in sight and call them immediately.

Massachusetts and Connecticut passed laws prohibiting children from working more than 10 hours a day in 1842, according to "Important Events in American Labor History," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

JOHN HELLER was having a successful day on the mats for Chelsea until an injury forced coach Kerry Kargel to remove him from the line-up after the second round of the Southeastern Conference tournament. Heller, at 125 pounds, beat Saline's Brian Burgess. The Bulldogs won the tournament, and the conference title, by one point.

Bulldogs Wrestlers Take Third Straight SEC Title With Close Tourney Win

Chelsea Bulldogs scratched out a one-point victory over the Dexter Dreadnaughts to win their third straight Southeastern Conference wrestling championship last Saturday afternoon in Chelsea.

Chelsea scored 169 points to Dexter's 168. Saline placed third with 141.5 points. Those three teams were tied for the league championship heading into the league meet.

Tecumseh scored 95 points, Pinckney had 88, Lincoln 72, and Milan 53.5. "It was truly a team victory," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"What made the difference for us was we had a lot of pins in the early rounds. Just about everybody had at least one pin for us."

In the tournament, a victory was worth two points and each pin was worth two additional points.

The meet was even closer than the score indicated. Dexter was penalized a team point for unsportsmanlike conduct in the second round when a Dreadnaught threw his head gear after losing a close match.

Chelsea appeared to be on the ropes before the finals even started. Kargel had to pull two boys after the second round. John Heller at 125 pounds, had a bad back and couldn't continue. Ian Dyer, at 135 pounds, also had to be lifted as he was suffering from the flu.

"Things seemed to be falling apart for us," Kargel said.

"I'm sure John and Ian could have picked up some additional points for us."

To make the outlook even worse, Tim Wescott was forced out of the championship match at 103 pounds due to a head injury.

"At that point I was saying to myself, 'my goodness, there's no chance we'll have a shot,'" Kargel said.

Chelsea finished with three champions.

Karl Wikman pinned Paul Jamies of Tecumseh in 3:21 to take the championship at 119 pounds. He pinned Scott Caldie of Pinckney in :19 in the first round and earned a 16-1 technical fall over Rod Baton of Milan in the second round.

Jim Hassett took the 145 pound title by knocking off Lincoln's Colby Jordan, 4-2. In his only other match, Hassett pinned Rich Upham of Milan in 1:05.

Heavyweight Mike Terpstra had three pins on the day, finishing with a 3:58 fall over Milan's Dave Budd. He opened with a pin in :27 over Devon Heney of Pinckney and followed with a pin of Tecumseh's Raymond Torres in :55.

Other Bulldogs who reached the championship round were Todd Watson at 112 pounds and Kevin McCalla at 140.

Watson, who drew a first-round bye, beat Saline's Brian McCasey, 16-2, to reach the finals, where he was pinned by Tecumseh's Chad Dinius in :54.

"I thought Todd might get a third or fourth place, but for him to make the finals was a big boost for us," Kargel said.

McCalla pinned Milan's Pat Crisovan in :29, then rallied for a 5-4 victory over Dexter's Buster Bell. In the finals he lost a 6-3 decision to Saline's Lance Beebe.

"Kevin has shown tremendous improvement throughout the season," Kargel said.

"He has really turned the corner." Chelsea also had two third places and two fourth places.

Kelly Beard picked up a third at 130 pounds. He opened with a pin of Darell Miatech of Milan in 1:47 but lost a 4-0 decision to Dexter's Matt Dolezky in the second round. He came back with a pin of Tecumseh's Jason Coury in 2:26 and a pin of Pinckney's Keith House in the consolation final in 1:48.

Jason Szostak also placed third at 152 pounds. After an opening bye, he lost to eventual champion Tino Jimenez of Tecumseh, 6-2. However, like Beard he finished with two pins, stopping Clint Fink of Pinckney in 4:12 then Matt Johnson of Saline in 3:37.

John Bobo took fourth at 160 pounds. He opened with a 5-4 win over Chris Simpson of Lincoln, then lost a 19-4 decision to eventual champion John Spilak of Pinckney. In his third match he pinned Scott Greene of Tecumseh in :43. Denny DeGrand of Saline pinned him in the consolation finals in 1:48.

Jeff Holzhausen also picked up a fourth at 189 pounds. He was pinned by Pinckney's John White in 2:33, then followed with pins of Tecumseh's Dave Dalgard in 1:40 and Milan's Chris Dindoffer in 4:48. He met up with White again in the consolation finals and lost an 11-5 decision.

Paul Taylor lost both his matches at 171 pounds. He was pinned by Buddy Allen of Tecumseh in 3:21 and dropped a 17-1 decision to Chris Lavin of Pinckney.

Heller and Dyer had each won one and lost one through two rounds. Heller beat Saline's Brian Burgess 11-5 but lost to Lincoln's Chuck Burnett 12-4.

Dyer was pinned by Pinckney's Jason Reck in 2:22 and beat Milan's Jeremy Morawski, 17-0.

"I've had a good feeling about this group all year long," Kargel said.

"Early in the year I would have put us third in the league. After we beat Dexter in our dual meet I realized we had a shot. The kids believed in themselves all year long and wanted to be league champs. That's exactly what they did."

Chelsea competes in the team district tournament at Tecumseh this afternoon (Wednesday). The individual district tournament is also at Tecumseh on Saturday.

Dog Cagers Edge Milan With Late Clutch Play

With less than 3:00 remaining in the game, the Chelsea Bulldogs scored six straight points to break a tie enroute to a 70-65 victory over the Milan Big Reds last Friday in Chelsea.

Jake Rindle's lay-up on a Chris Haugen assist gave Chelsea a 63-61 lead with 2:43 left in the contest.

It was the first of several key plays for the Bulldogs down the stretch. Jon Royce followed with quick drive down the right side of the lane, then blocked Milan center Jim Ross' shot in the lane on the subsequent trip down the court.

After a Milan timeout, Jeremy Stephens pulled down a rebound between two Big Reds and was fouled. Stephens' missed shot was tipped in by Haugen to give the Bulldogs a 67-61 lead with 1:10 remaining. Free throws by Kerry Plank and Ben Hurst in the last 12 seconds sealed the win.

"We are getting contributions from a lot of people," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

"Jeremy said after practice that every game somebody seems to come off the bench to give us a lift, and he's right."

At the outset it looked as though Chelsea might run away with the contest. The Bulldogs led 23-15 after the first quarter and had their running game in high gear.

However, the Big Reds outscored Chelsea 17-7 in the second quarter to lead 32-30 at half-time.

"I thought we should have had a decent lead by half-time," Raymond said.

"In the second quarter we seemed to be standing around and watching them play. We looked a step slow. At half-time we just decided to re-group and start over."

The teams traded baskets throughout most of the third quarter. However, Plank scored the final three field goals of the quarter to give Chelsea a 47-43 advantage.

The Big Reds again took the lead, 49-47, early in the fourth quarter as they scored on their first three possessions while Chelsea came up empty. From there the lead changed hands eight times until Rindle's basket gave Chelsea the lead for good.

Chelsea again had good scoring balance as three Bulldogs were in double figures. Plank had 21 points and Royce and Rindle each scored 14. Other scorers included Hurst 7, Haugen 4, Chris Dunham 4, Tucker Steele 2, Stephens 2, and Dan Stahl 2.

The Bulldogs hit 29 of 61 from the floor for 48 percent while Milan was 27 of 54 for 50 percent. Chelsea was 10-17 from the line and Milan was 10-18.

Chelsea held a big advantage in both rebounds (44-28) and assists (16-10).

Jim Ross led Milan with 19 points. The Bulldogs moved to 3-3 in the Southeastern Conference and 6-6 overall heading into last night's game at Lincoln. Chelsea hosts South Lyon on Friday.

Chelsea Tankers Sink Pirates But Have Tough Time With Milan

Chelsea Bulldogs swim team took a strong 108-77 victory over the Pinckney Pirates last week.

In other action, Milan, the state's top-ranked team, beat the Bulldogs 109-74.

Chelsea moved to second place in the Southeastern Conference with a 3-1 record. They're 6-5-1 overall.

Chelsea coach Dave Jolly said there were "outstanding swimmers in both meets."

The medley relay team of Matt Fischer, Matt Montagne, Mauricio

Bara, and Von Ackner swam a 1:51.34 against Pinckney and a 1:51.99 against Milan.

In the Pinckney meet, Dirk Colbry swam his career-best in the 200 freestyle with a time of 1:58.26. Joe Huettman won in 1:56.37.

Bara swam a season-best in the 200 individual medley with a time of 2:10.09 against Milan but slowed against Pinckney to a 2:12.01.

Hooshman Nightengale swam a career-best time in the 50 freestyle with a 25.85.

Colbry clocked a :53.87 in the 100 freestyle against Pinckney.

Radoune Farr had his best diving performance of the season as he scored 127.85 points.

Huettman just missed qualifying for the state meet in the 500 freestyle with a time of 5:09, just .06 seconds off the pace. David Brock recorded his best time in the event with a 5:29.89.

The 200 freestyle relay team of Bara, Huettman, Ackner, and Colbry sprinted their way to a season best of 1:37.81 in the Milan meet.

Fischer's time of 1:04.58 in the 100 backstroke against Pinckney was a season-best effort.

The most impressive swim of the week, Jolly said, was turned in by Bara in the 100 butterfly against Milan. His time of :55.83 was the second best in the state this year and qualified him for the state meet.

Chelsea faces Dexter this Thursday at home at 7 p.m. in the final conference meet of the season.

8th Grade Spikers Win Two Contests

Beach Middle school eighth grade volleyball team beat Saline in four games last week 11-1, 8-11, 11-4, and 11-1.

Kari White led the Pups with 16 service points, while Tammy Shaw, Amy Petty, and Jayma Spears each had four points. Coach Ann Schaffner said the defensive play of Petty, White, Lauren Zuehlke, Aubree Gerardi, and Cindy Tripp was particularly strong.

"Our serving was not very consistent but I was real pleased with the girls' effort to attack the ball this early in the season," Schaffner said.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Well, they're throwing their best at the problem. If it doesn't work this time, there's probably no hope.

Pat Clarke has agreed to become Chelsea High school's new boys head track coach this spring. He'll be assisted by Roger Cox, who's more famous for his football.

As Clarke put it, "I'm the head coach and (Cox) is the smart one." I don't know if there was much arm twisting involved in getting Clarke out of spring retirement so soon. After all, it was less than a year ago that he decided to get out of the softball business for a little slower pace of life.

If you think about it, though, there isn't a much slower pace than boys track at CHS. The team has won exactly one meet in the last several years. It's kind of the Northwestern of high school boys track. They're a lot of fun to watch if you don't look at the scoreboard too closely.

Granted, there have been some fine individual performances the last few years. Jon Royce was state high jump champion last year. Distance running has been strong at times.

The athletic department has had to struggle in recent years to find coaches. The continuity has been missing for a long time, which means boys track has resembled more of a year-to-year activity rather than an on-going program. Kids don't know what to expect or what is expected of them.

As of now that will all stop. Guaranteed. Clarke built Chelsea's cross country programs by himself. He had a lot to do with the success of softball here. He shows kids how to succeed and gives them the chance to do it through hard work and discipline. But, just as important, kids who play for him know the dedication runs both ways. Nobody works harder for Chelsea sports than he does. And, in case anyone forgot, he used to coach track here.

I don't know much about Cox's credentials as a track coach. But I do know he is a motivator and he knows how to coach.

My guess is we may see a few more football jocks out for track over the next few years.

Clarke doesn't kid himself about how much work it will take to make Chelsea competitive again. In essence, it'll be like starting from ground zero. The one redeeming feature is he has one of the best track facilities in the area.

Congratulations to the Chelsea wrestling team. The team of three seniors, two juniors, six sophomores and two freshmen became the second Chelsea team this year to win three straight Southeastern Conference championships. The other, of course, was the girls basketball team.

Chelsea, tied with Dexter and Saline going into the SEC tournament, scored 169 points to Dexter's 168. Saline checked in third with 141.5 points.

Everything fell just right for the Bulldogs, including one Dexter Dreadnaught's head gear. A tournament like the SEC event last Saturday really gives a casual observer like myself an appreciation for just how much control a team has over its own destiny, as well as how little control it has.

I haven't counted them, but Chelsea must have had close to 20 pins for the entire tournament, which translated to 40 extra points over ordinary, garden-variety victories. That's a big way a team can help itself.

On the other hand, if the Dreadnaughts had picked up just one more pin along the way, they would have won. They also lost a couple of excruciatingly close matches. Chelsea wrestlers, individually, could have finished in exactly the same positions but the team could have lost the tournament by 20 points or more.

A coach could go crazy trying to figure out all the combinations. From here on, whatever the Bulldogs accomplish as a team is "icing on the cake," as coach Kerry Kargel put it.

This evening the team participates in what amounts to SEC Tournament II. The top four teams from the SEC meet, which includes Tecumseh, are in the same district tournament, along with Brooklyn Columbia Central. Why not just forget about the district tournament and put the winner of the SEC directly in the regional? The current format doesn't make much sense from a competitive standpoint. No coach wants to see the same teams so soon after a tense, emotional tournament.

The individual districts, this Saturday, are another story. Chelsea has some aces in Karl Wikman, Jim Hassett, and Mike Terpstra. Given a break or two, any or all of them could be state placers or state champs. I doubt whether any of them would settle for a mere district title.

JV Cagers Crush Milan Big Reds

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity basketball team crushed the visiting Milan Big Reds last Friday, 81-42.

Chelsea opened an 18-7 lead after the first quarter and never looked back.

"The last time we played Milan, we were ahead by four points in the fourth quarter," said Chelsea coach Lonnie Mitchell.

"This time we played to our level of ability."

Twelve Bulldogs scored, led by Colt

White and Ed Waller, who scored 15 points each, and Nick McCalla, who scored 13. Other scorers included Colby Skelton 9, Dana Schmunk 8, Pat Steele 6, Tom Poultier 5, Matt Jachalke 2, Eric Brown 2, Hans Kemnitz 2, Scott Larson 2, and Jeremy Beauchamp 2.

McCalla had eight rebounds for Chelsea.

Chelsea is 11-1 over-all and 7-1 in the Southeastern Conference.

7th Grade Spikers Have 2-0-1 Record

Beach Middle school seventh grade volleyball team is 2-0-1 in the early going.

They won their first game with Lincoln on Jan. 22 in three sets, 11-0, 11-1, and 11-1.

Liz Holdsworth served nine points, Carrie Buss eight, and Tina Richardson 7.

On Jan. 29 the Bullpups beat Saline in five sets, 7-11, 11-0, 11-1, 7-11, and 11-0.

Tracy Dufek was the top server with eight points, while Amanda Kivi and Jeannine Mouilleseaux with seven and six, respectively.

On Jan. 31 the Pups hosted Dexter and tied in four sets, 6-11, 11-2, 14-12, and 5-11. The match was called after the one-hour time limit.

Kerry Lynch and Jill McKinnon had seven and six point serving, respectively.

Other members of the team include Suzy Steele, Nikki Fite, Anne Frederick, Andrea Ludwig, Kyle Kentala, Sara Petty, Heidi Kemnitz, Erin Baird, Lisa Beard, and Danielle Longe.

Freshman Cagers Whip Saline But Lose to Milan Big Reds

Chelsea Bulldogs freshman basketball team beat Saline but lost to Milan in action last week.

Chelsea broke open an 8-8 first-quarter tie to beat the Saline Hornets, 51-38, on Tuesday, Jan. 28.

"Our defense in the first half was outstanding," said Chelsea coach Dave Quilter, whose team limited Saline to 13 points in the first half.

"It was a satisfying win for us after we lost an earlier game at Saline by blowing a five-point lead with less than a minute and a half left."

Quilter said his team's full-court trap and half-court man-to-man defense was the best of the season.

Chelsea had three boys in double figures as Matt Powell scored 15 points, Cory Brown had 13, and David Stimpson scored 11. Other scorers include Jason McVittie 8, Ed Greenleaf 2, and Matt Seitz 2.

Chelsea shot 41 percent from the field and 57 percent from the free throw line.

The Bulldogs also dominated the boards with a 49-38 rebound advantage. Mackinder had 11, Powell 9, and Gabe Bernhard 7.

Quilter said Stimpson and McVittie had their best games of the season.

In Thursday's game at Milan, the Big Reds out-scored Chelsea 15-11 in the second quarter to take a 26-23 half-time lead. They gradually extended their advantage to win 53-46 in a game that had nearly two fouls called per minute. A total of 56 were called for the game.

"The game was extremely frustrating to coach and for our kids to play because of all the whistles," Quilter said.

Harr Leads JV Spikers To Easy Win

Chelsea junior varsity volleyball team defeated Milan 15-5 and 15-6 on Thursday, Jan. 31.

Chelsea never trailed in the first game as freshman Katie Harr served 10 consecutive service points.

In the second game, Harr had eight consecutive points.

"It was the Katie Harr show," said Chelsea coach Rainey Bassemir.

"Some players never touched the ball the entire game."

Lesley Berg had eight kills and Beth Bell and Casey White set well.

"We never got into any offensive or defensive flow."

Chelsea had a one-point lead with about two minutes to go but couldn't hold on.

Brown led Chelsea with 20 points. Other scorers were Powell 7, Mackinder 6, Bernhard 5, Stimpson 5, Seitz 2, and McVittie 1.

Chelsea shot 33 percent from the field and 57 percent from the line.

Bernhard and Powell each had eight rebounds, and Mackinder and David Seitz each had seven.

"Hillsdale won the Chelsea Invitational Track Meet last year and she thought a payback was necessary."

Two Chelsea Students Earn Academic Honors At Hillsdale College

Hillsdale College has recognized Kasey Anderson and Kirsten Erickson who achieved academic excellence during the first semester of the 1990-1991 school year with publication of its Dean's List.

Kasey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Anderson of 3500 Jeanette Dr., is a graduate of Chelsea High school. She earned a perfect 4.0 grade-point average for the semester.

Kirsten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Erickson, of 50 Butternut, is a graduate of Chelsea High school.

The Dean's List, published each semester, consists of all students who attain grade-point averages of 3.4 or better out of a possible 4.0 points. With Hillsdale's full-time student enrollment at 1,061, a total of 266 students were listed, which represents 25 percent of the student body.

Faith in Action Volunteers Cited at Recognition Dinner

Saturday, Jan. 26, was a special evening devoted to volunteer recognition and a birthday celebration for the Rev. Jerrold Beaumont, president and founder of Faith in Action.

Assembled in the dining room of Chelsea Community Hospital were volunteers and their spouses as well as seven Faith in Action Board of Trustee members. Chairman of the Board, Bill Rademacher, gave an inspiring talk urging continued participation and support of Faith in Action.

The dinner, prepared and served by Ron Yonkowski, director of Chelsea Community Hospital food services, and his staff, was followed by birthday cake and ice cream in honor of the Rev. Beaumont.

Volunteer of the Year Award was given to Donna McDonald, chairwoman of the Parent to Parent program, for her sustained and faithful service. Nadine Shaneyfelt, Vista volunteer and all around "Girl Friday" to the organization, received a special appreciation pen.

Musical entertainment provided by Alice Rhodes throughout the evening was climaxed with her rendition of "Happy Birthday" as volunteers presented the Rev. Beaumont with a much appreciated easy chair for his office.

Farmers Should File Tax Returns Early

The tight state budget means there may be some delays in processing Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act (P.A. 116) refunds this year, according to Michigan Farm Bureau legislative counsel Ron Nelson.

"Like everyone else in state government, the Department of Treasury is facing a budget crunch," he said. "The Department is doing everything it can to accommodate people at tax time. But with fewer dollars there will be fewer hours and fewer people, which translates into a longer wait for people after they file their Michigan income tax returns."

Nelson said Farm Bureau has told the Treasury that it's important farmers get their refunds in a timely manner for spring planting needs. He also advised farmers to get their tax returns in as soon as possible and be sure to include all the appropriate P.A. 116 information.

Vandalism Found By Sheriff's Dept.

Window smashings continue to plague store owners, in addition to other vandalism reported in western Washtenaw county.

Deputy Steve Platt was sent to investigate a report of broken windows at the Antiques Mall of Ann Arbor, following a 9:10 a.m. report by Karl Lagler, who found the damage when he arrived at the Jackson Rd. store, Monday, Jan. 28.

Platt said in his report that four 12" x 48" double-pane windows were broken, and three of four screens were out.

An oak 2 x 4 had apparently been thrown through the windows.

Party Store Window Smashed
While on routine patrol, Lt. Ted Kilburn was checking area party stores and observed a double-pane window was broken in Ruth & Chuck's Grocery on Jackson Rd.

Kilburn noted in his report, it did not appear the suspect who broke the window had gained entry to the establishment, which was temporarily closed for remodeling.

Vandalism in Scio Twp.
An estimated $650 damage was reported to Cpl. David Miley and deputy Durigan on Tuesday, Jan. 22.

More than 60 holes were punched in the drywall, throughout a home under construction in Scio township, and two oak cabinet doors were broken off, as well.

A 2 1/2 ft. wooden stick was found at the scene of the malicious destruction.

Laurie Honbaum Is Finalist In Woman of Year Program

Laurie Honbaum, a senior at Chelsea High school, was named a finalist in Michigan's Young Woman of the Year Scholarship Program (formerly Michigan's Junior Miss) held in Marshall, on Jan. 26. She had previously entered the At Large Program which was on Dec. 1. Laurie placed in the top seven and this qualified her as a state contestant, since our area does not hold a local program.

Contestants stayed with host families from Jan. 21-26. The week was spent touring historic Marshall homes, Archway Cookies, the W. K. Kellogg home, attending a college/career seminar and practicing for the final program.

The Junior Miss program originated in 1958. It seeks to recognize, reward and encourage excellence by focusing on the achievements of outstanding college-bound young women with the presentation of scholarships to the top honorees.

Evaluating contestants consists of a panel evaluation, scholastic achievement, creative and performing arts, presence and composure, and fitness.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Evelyn Sindinger thanks you for your cards, calls and concerns for us before and after her passing. The memorials to Hospice of Washtenaw were much appreciated. Thanks also to Thetford people, Dexter bus drivers, Dave and Larry.

SINCERE APPRECIATION

We would like to express our deepest thanks to all our relatives, friends and neighbors who gave us such wonderful support with their prayers, visitations, floral tributes, the many memorials and many cards at this time of our loss of our beloved mother, dear grandmother and dear great-grandmother. A special thank you to the Rev. Erwin Koch for his comforting words, to the John Mitchell family for all their understanding and guidance, the women of St. Paul church for the luncheon and to all who prepared food for us before the funeral as well as for the luncheon. What would we have done without good friends and family like we have had at this time of our loss of our loved one. We also want to thank the E.R. staff of the Chelsea Hospital, the ICU, Dr. Krause and the nurses for the care given our loved one before her passing, the Rev. Koch for his calls and prayers, the flowers and many cards sent to Mother while in the ICU and the hospital. All these kindnesses will long be remembered. God bless you all.
The family of Ella R. Gross.

Card of Thanks 19

THANK YOU

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the many friends who called, visited, sent flowers or just thought of us during the past weeks. Also thank you to Dr. Krause and his office staff, Dr. Gravelyn, Dr. Taylor and the Emergency Room staff, and Chelsea Fire and Rescue who so quickly responded. A special thank you to the members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints for all the food and help in meal preparation. Thank you to Staffan-Mitchell Funeral Home and John W. Mitchell for making a difficult time much easier.
The family of Howard Bergman.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks for the many acts of kindness given to us by the family, friends and relatives at the time of Francis (Suff) Truntzer death. A special thanks to Father Dupuis, Sr. Pat, Dick Shaneyfelt and Helen Bullick. To the Wolverine and Staff for the luncheon, last but not least, to John Mitchell, Jr., a special thanks for his wonderful concern and help. God bless all of you.
Chuck and Mary Eder.

THANK YOU

Ray and Louise Altenberndt are grateful for being in a community that has such dedicated personnel of Chelsea Fire Rescue, Huron Valley Ambulance and Chelsea Community Hospital Emergency Room. Response to our call was excellent. Thanks.

Penalty Increase To

Hurt Farm Employers

A Michigan Farm Bureau labor expert said the Engler administration has agreed to a compromise plan with House Democrats that would finance Michigan occupational safety and health programs (MI-OSHA). Howard Kelly, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau, said that while agreement involves some transfer of funds, Farm Bureau is concerned that a seven-fold increase in MI-OSHA fines will emphasize enforcement over education.
"Farm Bureau is opposed to this because in the six months remaining in the fiscal year, this move would indicate that inspectors will be looking for areas where they can levy fines to increase their budget," he said. "This is a very bad situation for all employers and particularly for Michigan farmers."
Kelly says Farm Bureau favors educational programs to inform employers about their responsibilities under health and safety regulations, and believes that no penalties should be levied for violations found during first-time inspections.

Slippery Roads, Speed Contribute to Crashes

The great musician, Ignace Jan Paderewski, became the first premier of the Republic of Poland after World War I.

A crash in which two people were seriously injured occurred on US-12, near Case Rd., at 11:55 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 27.

Deputy Kevin Deacons was dispatched to investigate the crash. In his report, Deacons indicated that Louis Carlos Velarde, Jr., of Clinton, was traveling east on US-12 when he lost control of the vehicle he drove on the ice, went off the right side, over-corrected, then drove across the center line, and struck a vehicle hauling bar steel and driven by Jackie C. Land of Holland, O.

The truck driver was trying to get out of the way of the first vehicle at the time of the crash, Deacons noted.

Both Velarde and his passenger, Kristen Ann O'Brien of Ypsilanti, were seriously injured. Velarde was transported to Herrick Hospital, Tecumseh, by Survival Flight, and his passenger was taken to University of Michigan Hospital by Huron Valley Ambulance.

Deputy Gomez filed a report on a crash which took place at 7:32 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 30, on northbound M-52, south of Sager Rd.

Eric Eugene Wenk of Manchester was cited for excessive speed, when he and Elizabeth Seabury of Grass Lake were both driving vehicles on M-52, south of US-12, and Ms. Seabury stopped for a third vehicle which was making a left turn into a driveway.

Wenk explained he wasn't paying attention to the road, and when he looked up, it was too late to avoid a collision with Ms. Seabury's vehicle, which he struck from behind.

Sgt. Tom Spiess cited Todd David Shock of Milan for improper passing, after Shock was headed west on Bemis Rd. at 7 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 30, and was passing a third vehicle in a "no passing" zone on the snow-covered road, went off the south side of the road and struck a tree.

Shock was injured, but decided to seek his own medical treatment.

Mailbox Bombed
Deputy George McAllister was summoned at 6:02 p.m. Monday, Jan. 28, to investigate a reported mailbox bombing on Riverview, near Indian River Pl.

A carbon dioxide cartridge was recovered from the scene. Authorities think it probable the cartridge had been filled with black powder.

Crash, Pleasant Lake Rd.
Larry Richard Gorlitz of Manchester was traveling east on Pleasant Lake Rd., east of Smythe, and was passing another eastbound automobile.

He told the investigating officer he didn't see a westbound car, then was unable to get back into his lane, went off the north side of the road, taking down a road sign, before going through the front yard of a residence and running over four junipers and a split-rail fence.

One Auto Hooks Another
Jerry John Swantek of Ypsilanti told deputy George McAllister he was waiting to turn left after he stopped at a traffic signal on Dixboro Rd. at Geddes at 3:55 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 27.

A second motorist, Stephen Andrew Knezic of Ann Arbor bumped into him.

Swantek departed his vehicle and checked for damage, found none, re-entered his automobile, pulled forward a little, and was bumped again. Swantek completed his left turn, then noticed the second auto was hooked to his bumper.

Cavanaugh Lake Rd. Crash
At 9:20 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 29, deputy George McAllister took a report of a two-vehicle crash on Cavanaugh Lake Rd.

Steven Wayne Hofmeister of Manchester was traveling east, but slid to the north side of the road on the curve.

As she came around the curve from the opposite direction, Carol Fay Lakatos of Grass Lake was unable to stop, and slid into the vehicle driven by Hofmeister, who was injured, in addition to two passengers in his automobile.

The victims sought their own medical treatment, according to McAllister's report.

Car-Deer Collision
About 6:55 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 29, William Perry Ledwidge of Grass Lake was driving west on Old US-12, west of Hayes Rd., when a deer ran out in front of his vehicle, and he was unable to avoid striking and killing the animal.

Deputy McAllister was sent to investigate the collision.

Crash, Dexter-Pinckney Rd.
Haley Katrina Bryant of Pinckney was issued a citation by deputy Gomez for excessive speed, after she lost control of the vehicle she drove north on Dexter-Pinckney Rd. at 8:40 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 30, crossed the double yellow into the oncoming lane and struck a vehicle driven in the opposite direction by Troy Jerome Spitzley of Dexter-Pinckney Rd.

Driver Injured
About 9:35 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 30, Donna Lea Seweikis of Pinckney was injured and transported to Chelsea Community Hospital by Huron Valley Ambulance.

Deputy Gomez explained in his report, she was driving south on Dexter-Pinckney Rd., just west of Bell Rd., when she lost control of the automobile, and it left the road and struck a tree.

Morning Crash, Eastbound I-94
Stockbridge motorist Corey Lea Pena and Patrick Alan Hill of Jackson were both traveling east on I-94, west of the Zeeb Rd. intersection, when they were forced to stop for a traffic back-up.

A third vehicle driven by Lester Edward Guest of Manchester told Cpl. David Wiley and deputy Carrier he was watching a driver to his right, who appeared to be sleeping, and when he turned his gaze back again, the other two vehicles were stopped and he struck the rear bumper of one, pushing it into the rear bumper of the other automobile.

Public Boating Course Starts Today At Ann Arbor School

If you've looked outside recently you can tell it's winter-time at the old boat yard. All the engines have been winterized, and your boat is probably at rest after a good season.

Now would be a good time to plan for the spring launch and make your equipment checklist so you are prepared when the new season starts.

One of the items you ought to include on your checklist is the United States Power Squadrons 1991 Public Boating Course. The Public Boating Course gives you an opportunity to learn the "Rules of the Road" in boating. It will also give you a basic introduction to seamanship whether your boating interests take you to the local lakes and rivers or into international waters. It will allow you to be a better and safer boater.

The 1991 Public Boating Course begins Feb. 6, at Clague Middle School located at 2616 Nixon Rd., Ann Arbor. Classes will be held on Wednesday evenings from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. Instruction is free. There is a nominal fee for the manual and student kit.

You may contact Ken Morrow at (313) 487-5405 and make your arrangements today. Registrations may also be made at the class on Feb. 6, between 7 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

YOU & YOUR PET

By Linda Reider
Director of Education
Humane Society of Huron Valley

Last year the Humane Society of Huron Valley's (HSHV) deputized cruelty investigation team handled 526 complaints of cruelty to animals in Washtenaw county. Of the calls, 349 reported inadequate food, water, shelter, and/or veterinary care. In addition there were 34 beating, 31 abandonment, and 10 shooting reports.

In the state of Michigan, anti-cruelty laws are designed to protect pets from abuse, but they are not always adequate. There are also inequities in the laws. For example, if a person cruelly kills his neighbor's pet, he may be found guilty of a felony. But if the same person cruelly kills his own pet, he can only be charged with a misdemeanor. Very few cases of animal abuse are actually brought to trial. Penalties for people convicted of abuse are typically only fines, probation, and/or community service.

Sadly, current laws do not protect animals from suffering from neglect. A dog may spend her entire life chained to her outdoor doghouse without any attention or exercise, suffering extreme loneliness. But as long as the law's minimum requirements for food, water, and shelter are met, her owner cannot be cited for cruelty.

Why do people cause animals to suffer? No one reason accounts for animal abuse, but links have been detected between child abuse and animal abuse. In a recent study of 57 New Jersey families being treated for incidents of child abuse, 88 percent also abused their pets. It seems that most children go through a stage of "innocent" cruelty to animals, during which time they may harm insects or other small animals while exploring their world. Guidance from adults in this period can help children develop empathy for the animals' suffering. Unfortunately, some children grow up without ever learning to treat animals kindly.

Adults may turn to abuse out of frustration—or anger—when a pet misbehaves. Learning humane discipline methods is essential for every pet owner. But HSHV investigators agree that the overwhelming causes of animal cruelty in our area are ignorance about proper animal care and lack of funds to pay for food, veterinary care, etc. The investigators' job is often one of teaching people how to meet animals' basic needs. HSHV also offers monthly low-cost classes in pet care for the same purpose.

If you know of an animal in Washtenaw county who is suffering, please call HSHV at (313)662-5585, Monday through Sunday, between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. Your call will remain anonymous and every single report will be investigated.

Next Week: Feeding Stray Cats.

Area Students on Grand Valley List

The students are Kimberly Collins of Chelsea and Catherine Anne Mehler of Pinckney.

A minimum grade point average of 3.5 is required.

Road Commission Elects Herman Koenn Vice Chair

Herman L. Koenn of Chelsea has been elected vice-chair of the Washtenaw County Board of Road Commissioners.

Koenn is a Sylvan township resident and has been a member of the board since 1983.

In other appointments, Norman E. Kennedy of Ypsilanti was elected chair and Fred Veigel, also of Ypsilanti, was named to his first term on the commission.

Road commissioners are appointed to staggered six-year terms by the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners.

The commission is responsible for the maintenance and operation of about 1,500 miles of county roads. It has a staff of 126 and its 1991 budget is $16,189,000.

The board meets on alternating Tuesdays at 1 p.m. at 555 N. Zeeb Rd., Ann Arbor.

Area Students Get Perfect Marks At Michigan State

Two area students earned perfect 4.0 averages at Michigan State University for the fall term.

The students are Martin C. Heller, 20640 Sager Rd., Chelsea, a sophomore chemical engineering major, and Christopher Meloche, 7857 Grand St., Dexter, a junior liberal arts major.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
 Since the Village Council suggested on Nov. 20, 1990 that I resign my position as Village Manager, discussions on that topic have continued. The end result of those discussions is a submission of my resignation to the Village Council effective at the close of business on Feb. 1, 1991. Although I do not believe the Council's request was appropriate, I am resigning for the reasons set forth in a press release published in The Standard on Dec. 5, 1990.

My purpose in writing this letter is to publicly thank the many individuals who have come forward during the past few months to offer words of encouragement and support. These months have been difficult ones for both myself and my family and the positive nature of your comments has been truly appreciated.

Chelsea is a community blessed with an abundance of caring and energetic people who make good things happen. I consider myself very fortunate to have had the opportunity to serve as Village Manager and work with these people. During my tenure I believe many positive changes occurred and I would like to wish the Village and the citizenry it serves well in continuing to pursue the best interests of the community.

Robert F. Stalker, II,
 Village Manager.

Dear Editor:
 Being in attendance at the Jan. 28 meeting of the Sex Education Committee meeting, I was surprised with two of the statements made in the Jan. 31 article pertaining to the meeting. First, the article said a "small" group of parents was in attendance. In reality, I believe the record may indicate that the attendance was one of the largest ever present. Second, the article also stated the group was "vocal." As far as I could ascertain by the way the meeting was run, the attendees were only bystanders watching the meeting in progress. Although two or three audience members were recognized, the indication was that this meeting was not open to public discussion.

It is my understanding that the Feb. 25 meeting will be an open discussion regarding the films currently being used in the eighth grade sex education classes. Hopefully, the audience will be able to participate in open discussion. I would encourage all parents interested in this very important part of our children's education to be present at this meeting. Now is the time to take responsibility of making sure that we know what is being presented to our children.

I believe that if your reporter is in attendance at the Feb. 25 meeting he can accurately report "a large and vocal group was present."
 Y. Janene Pratt

Dear Editor,
 Recently it has come to my attention that Faith in Action of Chelsea has refused services to certain individuals because some staff members did not "know" them.

As one of Chelsea's economically disadvantaged, I have received many services from this fine agency on several occasions. Frankly, I am bewildered as to why they would turn someone away. Apparently, a young woman with two children turned to Faith in Action when her cupboards were empty. She was told she could not have anything because they did not know her and they didn't have a card on her. The card I am referring to is their way of keeping track of the families they serve and any specific needs the family may have. This system is also used to match persons in need with individuals who have items or services available. It works well for those reasons, but should this woman and her children be allowed to go hungry because they don't have a card?

There have been times when the end of the month brings empty cupboards for me and my family, and when I called Faith in Action recently, I was given the same story. The only difference is I have a "card." When I called, the lady in charge was out, and the woman on the phone said she couldn't give me anything until the manager returned. She asked for my name and wanted to know half my life story before asking if I had a card. I asked her what the difference was, all I wanted was a jar of peanut butter. Her reply was a sarcastic "Well, if you have a card, you can come and get some food." Then she wanted to know why I wasn't in the food line when they handed out the government surplus. I wasn't notified of the surplus, so I didn't know about it, or I would have been there. I never did go and pick up the peanut butter.

It is hard enough to ask for help, but to be persecuted like this was more than I could handle. I did not get her name and I want to make it clear that the lady-in-charge was innocent. I have known her for many years and to my knowledge, she has never turned anyone away.

The point I am trying to make is this: recipients of public assistance and food surplus programs are beaten down and scorned enough by the general public. Why are we being turned away by the agencies that are set up to help the needy? It is my opinion that if the person I talked to on the phone is against helping the poor, she is in the wrong business and should think about working somewhere else.

Economically Disadvantaged.

 THE STANDARD

Dear Editor:
 Your Jan. 16 paper had a letter expressing parental concern about some of the materials being used in our public schools' sex education curriculum. Your Jan. 30 paper had a front page article about the most recent meeting of the sex education committee that reviews these materials.

As a member of the committee, I would like to respond. First, the lady who served as your source did not have her facts correct. Pastor Mark Weirauch is indeed on the committee, in fact the chair of it, but he is not the only member of the community's clergy. I too am a pastor; and although Pastor Weirauch was not at the meeting, I was.

Second, she seemed to suggest that the committee is not open to clergy or community input. While there is a concern about violating the Constitution's First Amendment, the committee is acting responsibly and is open to the public's voice. In fact, there is a state law which requires that if sex education is taught, there must be a committee which is representative of the entire community to review and to approve or reject all materials to be used in the class.

How, then, did the materials in question get used? They were among the first materials approved years ago, before most of the current members served on the committee. In those days, "Seasons of Sexuality" and "Am-I Normal?" may have been among the best materials on the market.

Now, it seems like almost everybody is making sex ed materials, so the committee has its hands full keeping up with current offerings and has until now made little effort to re-evaluate materials approved in the past.

That is why it is so vital for parents to be involved, going to the viewings when they are offered. Teachers are creatures of habit and tend to use old, familiar things unless there is pressure to change. That also helps explain why recent materials that the committee has approved, such as "Sex Respect," are not used by the teachers. (The other reason being given for not using "Sex Respect" is that it would take more time to teach it than the older, more open materials do; and there already is a time crunch in our schools.)

Parents, please don't wait for your children to come home to tell you what is being taught. The School District staff and the sex ed committee work for you; our task is to educate your children the way you want them to be educated. If you wait for your children to tell you what is going on, they've already seen the films.

And most of them aren't going to tell you. Did your eighth grader tell you that they showed a film that suggested that a boy might get more information about sexual maturation from a zookeeper than from his father? (I was asked not to put this information in my letter, but it was a major part in the movie and it has already been shown to the students. Maybe I should take back what I said about these films being the best there was at the time!) In fact, both films seem to make the point that children might as well make up their own minds about sex as talk to their parents about it. Does that sound like an attitude you want being taught in school? I sure don't want it taught that way.

Some people say that it is wrong to force your views of morality on others. I agree. Don't force them on anybody. But do share them. You have a perfect right—and responsibility—to make your views known. You are part of the community. How can the community reflect your values if nobody knows what they are? Attend the previews; come to the committee meetings (at my suggestion, a special meeting will be held on Monday, Feb. 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the District office, primarily to reconsider the above two films); or at least, let your views be known to committee members so we can represent you.

Another widely held view is that even though the majority of parents favor traditional values, students will try sex, so we must prepare them to do it safely and properly. (I am serious about this.) Let me show you where this logic leads: most young drivers exceed the speed limit at least occasionally (just like their parents); therefore, our drivers' education classes should teach students how to operate fuz-busters, how to use high-speed cornering techniques, and how to fix the car if they do wreck it. Isn't the point of drivers' ed to teach the students how to drive safely? We wouldn't allow it if, instead, it set up situations that encourage people to break the law and endanger lives on the presumption that they are going to do it anyway.

Kids do get hurt from sexual fantasies and from sexual experiences; it happens all the time. Rape, pregnancy, abortion, venereal disease, and guilt complexes are the result. Just doing away with the guilt won't do away with the other parts of the problem. People need to know the rules of the road and not just ways to break the law "safely."

At least, that is the point of view that I try to reflect on this committee.

I urge you to make your views known, too. That is the only way we can represent you and choose materials that are what you want used. And if that means going back to re-evaluate materials previously approved, so be it. We want what's best for Chelsea, even in this sensitive area. The only alternative is to not teach sex education in our schools at all.

Franklin H. Giebel,
 Pastor and Parent.

Dear Editor,
 Again I was disappointed with Mr. Piasecki's recommendation to the Chelsea School Board and their concurrence to do nothing to help alleviate the difficulties for the students riding School Bus 17.

Bus 17 goes west out of town on Old US-12. The bus was designated as a right hand "drop off" and "pick up" route in September 1990. This decision was made for safety reasons because cars were passing the bus even when the red signals were flashing. Parents along this route definitely want their children to be safe. Unfortunately for our children, they are now safe from passing cars, but they pay the price of riding Bus 17 for as much as 1 hour and 20 minutes either to or from school. So children are now out waiting for the bus at 7:00 a.m. (school starts at 8:30 a.m.) while other children don't arrive home until 4:00 p.m. (school is out at 2:40 p.m.). THESE CHILDREN LIVE LESS THAN 1.5 MILES OUT OF TOWN.

All agree that the area along Old US-12 is very dangerous for children to get on and off their bus. In addition, we are still concerned with the safety of 15 children (soon to be 18 children) who wait for the bus at Chisholm Trail out on Old US-12. The children range in ages 6 to 16 years old. It was determined by the superintendent that this bus stop is so dangerous that children can't cross with bus-driver supervision. The School Board determined this area to be such a dangerous stop that a 15-year-old, with his parents' permission, would not be allowed to cross the road. Yet 15 children stand alongside that same area for up to 15 minutes every day.

The parents of Chisholm Trail met with Mr. Piasecki hoping that a compromise could be reached to achieve better safety and convenience. The parents offered several suggestions to help solve the problem. One strong alternative suggestion was to have the bus drive down the paved, country road of Chisholm Trail for .2 miles and turn in the large cul-de-sac, picking up 15 children and providing safety off of Old US-12 for them as they waited for their bus. In addition the bus could turn down Chisholm Trail after school, providing a safer place to let the children off and eliminating 40 minutes of bus riding per day.

This would involve a total of .74 miles per year traveling down the Trail twice each day, adding less than 3 hours to the route per year. (This would add about 2 minutes per day for the bus driver). The total cost would be less than $800 per year.

Mr. Piasecki recommended that nothing be done to improve the plight of children on bus route 17 because the cost was prohibitive. Apparently when the cost of safety reaches 30 cents per child per day, the children's safety is no longer an issue. Unfortunately for our children, the superintendent also felt that this plan was a deviation from what is now POLICY regarding buses driving down roads to pick up children. It saddens me to realize that "policy" and "cost" is more important than safety and common sense. This experience has taught each of us, including our children, about compromise, compassion, and the desire of adults to make "difficult" decisions.

To the Editor,
 Sometime during the last week I read that a peace advocate in San Francisco recommended the reinstatement of the draft to protect minority groups who are overly represented in Operation Desert Storm.

At the time, I realized that I was bothered by the statement, but was unable to identify the source of my discomfort.

Upon further reflection, I was able to get at the source of my discomfort. Such a statement depicts minority participants as victims rather than courageous individuals who choose to fulfill their social contract with their country.

As I see it, it does not come down to a debate over the morality of the war, but rather our tendency as a society to discount or emasculate the valiant efforts of the minority community.

Such thinking perpetuates the myth that minority participants are victims rather than informed, brave individuals who choose to serve their country in a way that makes sense to them. Perhaps, the latter is a subtle form of racism, I don't know.

I choose not to rob the minority community of its fine efforts to contribute to our society by seeing them as victims. I choose to see them as thoughtful men and women who are acting on their conscience. It is time that we give credit where it is due.

I can't help but wonder why throughout the years that it has been so difficult for us as a society to welcome and applaud the contributions given to us by the minority community.

A TUG-O-WAR broke out in the halls of Beach Middle school last Friday as students cleaned out their lockers in 10 minutes of frenzied activity. Student council handled the recycling of paper and other materials, and teachers,

Choices Slim and None In March 11 Elections

Village of Chelsea voters won't have many choices to make when they go to the polls Monday, March 11.

Monday at 4 p.m. was the deadline for candidates to submit their nominating petitions.

The only ballot item requiring any thought will be McKune Memorial Library's request for an additional one mill in taxes. Due to increased use, the library needs to expand its staff. An in-depth story on the request will appear in a future edition of The Standard.

The most intriguing part of the election is who has decided to run for what and who has decided not to run at all.

Two-term trustee Dennis Hall decided Monday not to seek reelection. He picked up a nominating petition but didn't turn it in.

That left the door open for clerk Allen Anderson, who decided not to run again for clerk in favor of running for trustee.

And that left another door open for newcomer Suzanne Morrison, 563 Chandler St., to run unopposed for village clerk.

Zoning inspector Rosemary Harook, 220 E. North St., is running unopposed again for assessor.

Incumbent trustees Tom Dorer, 777 N. Freer Rd., and Stephanie Kanten, 560 Chandler St., are also seeking reelection.

In library board elections, Dan Kaminsky, 104 E. Summit St., and Anne Merkel, 158 Orchard St., are also running unopposed.

Unless a substantial write-in campaign is mounted, the new slate of village officers will be, Richard Steele, president; Dorer, Kanten, Anderson, Joe Merkel, Frank Hammer, and Jack Myers, trustees; Morison, clerk; Kathleen Chapman, treasurer; Harook, assessor.

Construction on Lakes Sewer Well Underway

Sewers at Portage Lake are being constructed at good pace, particularly for winter construction.

Jim Drolett, Portage-Base Lakes Area Water and Sewer Authority chairman, noted that at their current rate, the contractors should have no problem meeting the project schedule.

D. N. Higgins of Ann Arbor is already about one-third of the way through its $5,169,000 contract to build 14 miles of sewers and eight miles of pump-discharge mains.

Mead Bros., Inc., of Springport has the treatment site rough-graded, and is beginning work on piping.

Their $900,000 contract is about 20% complete.

Union Construction of Manchester began constructing 46 pumping stations—the first-week of January, and their $990,000 contract is 15% complete.

All work is scheduled to be completed by October, 1991, at which time homes may connect to the system.

Gary Street, field engineer for McNamee, Porter & Seeley, Consulting Engineers, noted that sewer work has been concentrated on the north and east shores of Portage Lake, and south of Tamarack Lake.

In the near future, work in easements on the north and south shores of Base Lake, and south of Portage Lake, will be scheduled.

A prominent landmark has risen along McGregor Rd. Dubbed Mt. McGregor by local construction observers, two piles of approximately 100,000 cubic yards of sand and stone were stockpiled by the sewer contractor for backfill and road restoration to permit construction to continue during the winter and springtime, when load limits prevent heavy road hauling.

Dan Myers, director of the Washtenaw County DPW, noted he has already received the initial payment from the Michigan DNR two-percent loan fund.

The state money makes the project more affordable, noted Myers, since only a portion of the project was financed at the 7% open market rate.

The state funding will considerably reduce the cost of special assessment annual payments, starting with the December, 1991, tax statement.

Drolett reported that at the January Authority Board meeting, the township representatives agreed to set the interest rate at 3.81% for next year's special assessment, which will result in next year's payment being nearly $300 less than this year's.

Drolett noted that the Authority employed Elizabeth Brushaber in early November as part-time administrative assistant.

Citizens with questions on the sewer project may call Mrs. Brushaber, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., at 428-0510, or may contact her at the Dexter Township Hall.
