All Seats Unopposed In March 11 Elections, Library Seeks Millage

Village of Chelsea voters will go to the polls next Monday, March 11 to elect three village trustees, a clerk, two McKune Memorial Library Board members, and decide a library millage proposition.

All candidates officially are running unopposed. However, rumors have circulated recently about possible write-in candidacies for trustee.

The candidates for trustee include incumbents Stephanie Kanten and Tom Dorer, and newcomer Allen Anderson, who is finishing his second term as village clerk. Dennis Hall decided not to seek a third council term.

Kanten has served more than three two-year terms as trustee.

Dorer was appointed to his position last spring to fill out the term of Richard Steele, who was elected president.

Anderson has often used his position as clerk to express his opinion or ask questions about various issues. As clerk he has no vote.

Dan Kaminsky and Anne Merkel, two incumbents on the library board, are seeking re-election to their three-year seats.

The library is seeking an additional one mill in taxes for operating purposes. If approved, it would double the library's millage.

The library building is in need of major repairs. In addition, the board wants to add staff because use of the facility has increased dramatically over the last several years.

Polls at Sylvan Town Hall will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Village Planners Vote To Begin Revision of Development Plan

After several years of false starts, Village of Chelsea has apparently decided to overhaul its General Development Plan and Zoning Ordinance.

The planning commission talked several years ago about working on the plan but an onslaught of local development projects put the revisions on the back burner.

The commission voted last week to work on the plan in conjunction with long-time village planning consultant Carl Schmitt, who will direct the project. A committee, consisting of acting village manager Deborah Kuehn, planning commission co-chair Bill Bott, and village trustee Frank Hammet, was formed to identify "what we want from the plan," Kuehn said.

Kuehn said the initial estimate for the project is $20,000 over two years.

Kuehn also said the decision was made to meet with Sylvan and Lima townships as needed but not to involve them directly in the plan.

The decision also marks a change in course for the village. Bott had proposed, and council had endorsed, the generation of an area-wide plan that would include the village, as well as Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, and Dexter townships. However, Lyndon and Dexter townships voted against participation.

"Our development plan is 14 years old and we really need to get going," Bott said.

"We also want to maintain regular communications, I mean face-to-face, not by letter, with Sylvan and Lima townships. We want to share with those townships and hope that eventually we'll see some common areas of interest and perhaps find some areas to pursue."

Those areas, Bott said, might include the border areas where development might take place, or the common functions, such as roads and traffic.

Much of the modification of the zoning ordinance will be handled internally, Kuehn said. The ordinance, she said, is what "implements the plan." It defines how land is used.

The ordinance is considered by many village officials to be inadequate. Interpretation of the ordinance is frequently challenged, partly because the ordinance is out of date and partly because it's vague.

Bott suggested that the language in the zoning ordinance get first priority, not zoning districts.

No estimate was given for the cost of revisions.

In other business, the planning commission unanimously affirmed the general concept of the Downtown Development Authority's streetscape plan.

The commission also agreed it would have to review site plans for any new parking lots as well as potential expansion of McKune Memorial Library.

School Board Extends Supt. Piasecki's Contract

The contract of superintendent Joe Piasecki was extended for a year by the Chelsea Board of Education Monday night.

Piasecki operates on a three-year contract and it has been the tradition to extend the contract each year to keep it at three years.

Piasecki's salary will probably be adjusted in May, when all administrative salaries are considered.

Two discussion items highlighted the meeting. Athletic director Wayne Welton prepared a report on the possible start-up of a district soccer program. Area resident Debbie Osborne had proposed the new sport. Chelsea children can play recreation soccer through grade school but there is no formal way for them to continue in the sport.

Welton told the board there are several problems, one of them being the lack of a soccer field as well as uncertain sources of funding. He also expressed concern about the effect of a new sport on sports already offered, as well as how many students might actually turn out for the program.

The board agreed to put the topic on the March 18 agenda to allow anyone to express their opinions.

District administrators also discussed their opinions about the configuration of the proposed new elementary school building. Although no decisions were made, Piasecki said it seemed to be the consensus that an early childhood center made the most sense.

A work session has been scheduled for this Saturday to discuss the issue further.

The board is working on a May 1 deadline for all elements of the building program to be decided.

"I have the feeling it's going to take us every bit of that time," Piasecki said.

In other board news, a resolution was passed for the district to borrow $4.8 million to use as operating funds until winter taxes are collected. It is a standard district procedure because it does not have summer tax collections. The district will use the Michigan Municipal Finance Bond Authority as a source for the money.

Part-time Chelsea High school English teacher Jonathan Andrews was granted a one-year unpaid leave of absence so he can pursue advanced studies and take part in a research project.

Chelsea Flag Corps was given approval by the board to take part in a Sunday competition at Linden High school on March 25.

A committee was formed to begin screening the 39 applications received for the South school principal position. Among the 39 applicants are three internal candidates.

School District Plans To Hire New Principal in April

Chelsea School District plans to hire a new South Elementary school principal by mid-April.

Current principal Bob Benedict announced earlier this year that he plans to retire at the end of the school year in June after spending 28 years in the district.

Monday was the deadline for applications and 39 were received, according to assistant superintendent Fred Mills.

"Normally we would have had more applications than that but the state changed its requirements," Mills said.

Mills said all principals must have an elementary principal certificate and many classroom teachers have not met the criteria.

The district will begin screening resumes this week and plans to schedule first interviews the week of March 18 and second interviews the following week. The ultimate goal is for a final selection to be made by the board of education's April 15 meeting.

Rally To Support Troops Slated Sunday

A "Rally Around The Flag To Support Our Military Personnel" will be held this Sunday, March 10 at 2 p.m. in the village.

After a parade from downtown Chelsea, the gathering will hear three speakers, including Gen. Dwight D. Beach, Sgt. Doug Inglis, and Beach Middle school principal Darcy Stielstra.

A parade will start at the Chelsea Depot and anyone is welcome to participate. Participants are urged to carry banners, posters, flowers, ribbons, or any other items in support of U.S. troops in the Persian Gulf.

The parade will go from the depot to Van Buren St., Washington St., Madison St., Mayer Dr., and end up at Beach Middle school. The Rev. Meari Bradley will serve as master of ceremonies for the program at Beach school beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Gen. Beach's military history goes back to the days of horse-drawn artillery. He also served in World War II, where he conducted amphibious assaults, and commanded artillery units in the Korean conflict. He has also held various jobs in the Pentagon, including director of guided missiles and deputy chief of research and development. He became a four-star general in 1965.

Sgt. Doug Inglis is the first Chelsea soldier to return from the Persian Gulf. He served with the 82nd Airborne Division and was directly involved in the fighting.

Stielstra is a Vietnam War veteran. He served at Cam Rahn Bay and was a convoy commander in central Vietnam.

Council Starts Review Of Manager Applications

Chelsea Village Council has begun screening applications for the vacant village manager's position.

The village received 55 applications and village president Richard Steele said he was pleased by the overall quality of the applicants.

"The applications ran the gamut of experience," Steele said.

"Some applicants are very well qualified while some are not so qualified."

Once council narrows the number down to about a dozen, Steele said, the personnel committee will whittle that number to about six candidates who will be interviewed.

Steele said he again plans to involve community representatives in the interview process, as was the case when previous manager Robert Stalker was hired. Assistant school superintendent Fred Mills and Bill Nuffer, president of BookCrafters, Inc., were among those involved previously.

Steele said he didn't know whether the village-owned home on Sibley Rd. might become part of the new

Allen Plans To Sponsor Easter Egg Hunt

Chelsea resident Harold Allen again plans to sponsor an Easter Egg Hunt, this year on Saturday, March 23 at 11 a.m. at the Chelsea High school football field.

Allen has sponsored the event for several years, with help from his family.

As usual there will be several age categories as well as various prizes for children who find specially-marked eggs.

manager's compensation package or whether it would simply be rented out at market rates. Stalker moved into the home after he said he couldn't find a place to live in the village that was either affordable or would suit his family's needs. His contract had a residency requirement.

Village council has also discussed amendments to the village manager's ordinance, which was adopted early in Stalker's tenure.

 Political newcomer Dennis Hall was in by a wide margin and incumbent Herman Radloff was out by a single vote as a trustee on the Chelsea Village Council. Chelsea voters gave Hall more votes in Monday's elections than any of the three incumbents. Hall received 138 votes, Richard Steele, 110, Stephanie Kantan, 83, and Radloff, 82.

Chelsea Bulldogs had to settle for a tie for the Southeastern Conference basketball title after dropping their third straight league game at Pinckney. Chelsea had their best chance in three games to win the conference title outright. The lead changed hands eight times in the fourth quarter before the Pirates built a five-point lead with :36 to go. However, the Bulldogs staged a near-miraculous comeback to tie the game with :07 remaining. After Chelsea's Mark Bareis tied the game by sinking the second of two foul shots, Pinckney pushed the ball quickly up court and Junior Jeff Yeaker sank a fall-away jumper with :04 to go. A desperation shot from half-court by Todd Starkey fell far short as time ran out. "Obviously I was very disappointed on Friday, and angry on Saturday, but you start to look at it now, at what we've accomplished, and I think there are five teams in this league who envy us, and one team in the league (Saline) that knows they're lucky they ended up tied with us," remarked Coach Robin Raymond.

Environmental Groups Seek Fees To Enforce Pollution Laws

A system of fees on businesses and governments which discharge pollutants to raise at least $50 million a year to enforce environmental laws was proposed recently by the Michigan Environmental Council.

The council, composed of 23 environmental groups, said the fees are justified both because of general budget cuts by the state and the need to make those responsible bear part of the burden of cleansing the air and water.

David Stead, MEC executive director, said the group is seeking a comprehensive approach to ensure that all environmental programs are funded, preferably with at least half of the money coming from fees. The cost could be as high as $100 million, he said, depending on the mechanism for supporting a new fund that would pay for cleanup of contaminated sites when no responsible party is identified.

Stead said businesses pay little or no fees now to ensure compliance with various environmental permits, which the council also suggests be required to be periodically renewed.

He said about $25-$30 million would be required just for waste management, water and air permit programs.

Other top priorities of the council include:
 —A mechanism to raise $5 million a year to implement the new polluters' pay law, which was the group's top priority last year.

—A comprehensive recycling law setting a moratorium on waste facilities until recycling and reduction goals are met and stricter standards and siting procedures for dumps under reforms to the Solid Waste Act.

—A combined sewer overflow control law to reduce pollution when waste treatment systems are overloaded during storms by trying to handle both sanitary waste and storm drain flows. The ultimate goal of separating the two sewer systems could cost $3 billion among all governments, but the council said large retention ponds and conservation are alternatives that could help the problem.

—A toxics use reduction law setting a goal to cut use of toxics and waste generation (over 300 substances such as heavy metals, dioxins and styrene) to air, water and land by 50 percent by 1995. Industries now discharge about 100 million pounds of toxic chemicals into the air annually, MEC said. The council acknowledges the goal will be controversial and is probably a longer-term project. Reduced use, it suggests, could be accomplished by alternative products (such as not using solvents for cleaning operations) and use of different technology that is available.

—Air act reform to mandate the best pollution control technology and requiring permits to be renewed periodically. The council said the state now has the weakest air pollution control law in the country, and faces federal sanctions in areas such as lost highway funds for high levels of air pollutants.

"This agenda tackles environmental problems facing every area of our state," said Andy Buchsbaum, director of the Public Interest Research Group in Michigan and chair of MEC's Environmental Protection Policy Committee.

MEC officials said they hoped most could be approved during the upcoming two-year session.

Michigan Manufacturers Association president John Thodis disputed the need for any fees, saying the single business tax was intended to cover all relevant business obligations to government.

"In today's economy, any substantial increase in fees or taxes would be very unwelcome," he said. He said waste reduction is a worthy goal, but said it should be considered in light of the cost of technology to achieve it.

Rich Studley of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce also criticized the fee proposals. "In the middle of a war and recession and calling a tax increase a fee or a charge doesn't really change the fact that now is not the time to raise taxes on individuals or business," he said.

He added the Chamber is willing to work with MEC to make environmental programs a higher priority and get more money from existing taxes paid into the general fund.

He also said it is hypocritical of groups like the MEC to complain about lack of funding for the polluters pay law when that had been an issue during debate over the proposal and environmental officials made an unsuccessful push to put the law into effect immediately last summer.

Waste Compact Attorneys Respond; Battle Continues
 A five-page response from the Midwestern Interstate Low Level Waste Commission has left Michigan and other members of the Midwest Low Level Radioactive Waste Management Compact no closer to agreement on a regional waste facility.

Attorneys from both sides say they are uncertain when the conflict will be resolved.

The answer was filed in U.S. District Court in Minneapolis regarding a lawsuit seeking $10.3 million from other states in the Compact to continue the search for a regional site in Michigan for low-level radioactive waste. Attorney General Frank Kelley filed the suit last year after Michigan ruled out the last of its three finalist sites.

Other states in the Midwest Low Level Radioactive Waste Management Compact, including Minnesota, Iowa, Ohio, Wisconsin, Missouri and Indiana, have held up the money, criticizing Michigan for using tight environmental restrictions to avoid having the site, and pressured Michigan to hasten its site election process.

Richard Ihrig, a Minnesota attorney representing the Commission, said the response challenged Michigan's request for the additional funding, saying the Commission had a rational basis for imposing conditions for releasing the funding and charged the allegation that the Commission had not negotiated in good faith was "inaccurate and does not give rise to the relief requested."

The response denies Michigan's charge the Commission has not complied with a pre-operational funding agreement that upon satisfaction of certain conditions the Midwest Compact would give Michigan funding to develop a facility, Ihrig said.

The Commission offered to release about $8.9 million but with conditions Michigan low-level radioactive waste officials have argued are unacceptable.

Michigan has 30 days to respond to the Commission's filing, which requested several documents.

Gregg Larson, executive director of the interstate commission, said "we intend to defend ourselves." He added he does not expect a court date for several months—giving both sides time to develop arguments and gather information during the discovery period.

Michigan's waste has been stored on site since South Carolina, Nevada and Washington banned Michigan's waste from their dumps last November.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb told the fellers at the country store Saturday night he had saw by the papers where gitting mad is hazardous to your health. The piece that said folks with quick tempers is three times more apt to die than them that's easy going.

According to the item, anger is rough on the system. It works like fear, grief and other emotions to mess up chemicals of the body and put stress on all the working parts, especial the heart, Zeke reported. He said he had studied the situation up one side and down the other and he was of a mind that these sessions at the store go a long way toward keeping up the health of all involved.

Zeke's report played to mixed reviews, as they say. Bug Hookum was agreed with the health benefits of the sessions. Bug said Churchill was right about jaw jaw being a heap better than war war, and the fellers prove it reglar. They might have a strong difference, Bug said, but by the time the talking is done the matter is to wore out to git upset over.

Practical speaking, Bug went on, he was of a strong mind that Zeke got a wrong slant on the item in the paper. The risks of gitting mad is tied direct to who-you-git mad at and what you do about it. Fer instant, he said, health hazards of yelling at your 120 pound old lady across the supper table ain't near as great as pulling in a rest stop and picking a argument with the 250 pound ox driving the truck that run you off the road 15 mile back.

Clem Webster was full agreed with Bug. As fer keepin' anger bottled up inside and building up stress, Clem was of a mind that's usual better than letting it out and gitting a tire tool up side the head. You allus cool off after a hour of being by yourself, Clem said, but that tire tool is bound to spoil your hole weekend.

It ain't so much turning the other cheek, Clem said, as seeing the wisdom of moving both cheeks out of harm's way. As fer easing around instead of butting head on, Clem said that tells him why "National Say What You Think Week" never got past the first one. Just when you are convinced there's a day or a week fer everthing, he said, this one turned out to be a idee whose time ain't likely to come.

Like Bug said about a time to talk and a time to listen, Clem said the health benefit of this week by cutting down tension was more than offset by the wear and tear on one another and the extra business fer hospitals, police and courts. If it weren't bar fights over whose basketball team ought to be suspended longest it was board-room brawls about foreign companies buying America.

Fer instant, Clem had saw where a national "manufacturing climates study" said North Carolina was the best. No sooner did North Carolina's governor start bragging than Ohio's governor declared all the climates study showed is where pay is lowest and where workers won't stand up fer themselves.

The fellers got a taste of "Say What You Think" when Ed Doolittle ask Clem what in the world he'd been eating. Clem said he had heard garlic would fight a cold and he had eat a ball of it. Ed said Clem was right because no germ could stand to git anywhere near him, and Clem ask Ed to put his boot on, gout or rot, or move down wind.

Final, Bug moved to adopt "Keep it to Yourself Night" and it passed unanimous.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Single mothers have the highest unemployment rate of all mothers, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Women's Bureau. At 22.1 percent, their unemployment rate is nearly double that of widowed mothers (11.6 percent), and almost five times that of married mothers (4.6 percent). Since 1975, however, the labor force participation rate of single mothers increased from 41.7 percent to 51.8 percent in 1988.

MICHELLE MIDDLETON
Hallmark Co-Ordinator

- Easter is the third largest card-sending holiday in the United States.
- Between 156 and 185 million Easter cards will be exchanged this year, according to Hallmark research.
- Easter is always the Sunday following the first full moon after the vernal equinox, sometime between March 22 and April 25. This year, Easter is Sunday, March 31.
- Easter was first observed in the second century to commemorate the resurrection of Jesus Christ.
- The word "Easter" comes from Eostre, the Anglo-Saxon goddess of spring, whose festival was celebrated at the vernal equinox, according to some historians.
- About the time of the Civil War, Americans began to celebrate Easter much as it had been celebrated in Europe.
- Hallmark offers more than 1,400 different Easter card designs.
- Shoebox Greetings, one of my personal favorites is a card where a young woman says: "I love Easter. It's the one time of year I can put my cooking skills to work . . . Boil some water? You got it!"

Friends of Wildlife Rescue Injured Birds, Animals

Twelve volunteers helped capture a Sand Hill Crane Sunday, Jan. 6 near Werkner Rd., Chelsea. The crane, suffering from a broken wing, was difficult to catch, explained Carol Akerlof, Senior Bird Volunteer for Friends of Wildlife. One of the volunteers used a white sheet as camouflage to get close enough to catch the bird.

Sherri Smith, also a volunteer for Friends of Wildlife, cared for the bird in her home until it was well enough to be transferred to another more experienced rehabilitator.

Smith described the Sand Hill Crane as a wading type bird and one of the biggest seen in Michigan.

"They gather on marshes east of Jackson and fly to Florida in the winter," said Smith.

Friends of Wildlife volunteers also rescued a Great Blue Heron, Dec. 12 near Paint Creek. Barbara Schlecte reported the heron was caught in an unmarked trap. The heron, a common wading bird, was cared for by volunteers and then flown to Florida's Suncoast Seabird Sanctuary, Inc., where it was released Dec. 14.

Friends of Wildlife started informally about 20 years ago, with a veterinarian caring for wild animals in his home. Seven years ago they began training classes for volunteers interested in caring for wild animals.

"Out of 100 people taking the training, we get about two to three bird volunteers," said Akerlof. "Most volunteers want to care for mammals."

Volunteers donate their basements, time and money to the effort since the organization has no facilities of its own. Ann Arbor Animal Hospital and Veterinarian, Kenneth Harr of Canton attend to the animals medically free of charge.

"Some people say we are interfering with nature when we heal these animals, but these animals' injuries are not from natural causes. Many fly into wires or windows or are hit by cars," said Akerlof.

Federal government requires

FRIENDS OF WILDLIFE donate their time and facilities to rescue and treat injured wildlife.

Friends of Wildlife to release the birds that are able to survive on their own. Those that cannot survive in the wild must be sent to educational institutions or be put to sleep.

Friends of Wildlife invite the public to attend a fund-raiser Saturday, April 6 at the Michigan Theater with Walter Crawford, Jr., and his wild birds. Crawford will bring seven birds of prey including a Golden Eagle, Red Tailed Hawk, Great Horned Owl, Peregrine Falcon and Screech Owl which will circulate through the audience during the show. For more information and tickets contact Carol Akerlof for the children's show at 973-8625, Wendy Halsey for the adult show at 428-3219 or the Michigan Theater box office.

Chili Cook-Off Cooks Sought

Amateur and professional Chili cooks are invited to compete in the 1991 Great Chili Cook-Off, May 4 and 5, sponsored by the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan.

The event features two days of chili cooking competitions at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds on Ann Arbor-Saline Rd. Eighty cooks will be selected to compete in Saturday's cook-off, which follows the rules of the International Chili Society, forbidding beans and other fillers. The winner will receive $500 and be eligible to compete in the International Chili Society World Championship Cook-Off to be held in California this fall.

The "anything in the pot" Renegade Cook-Off on Sunday, May 5, allows cooks to use beans, pasta and other fillers. The winner gets $250 and a guaranteed spot in the 1992 Saturday cook-off. Forty cooks will be selected to participate.

Registrations for both cook-offs will be accepted through March 15. Cooks will be selected through a lottery drawing on March 18.

To receive a registration form, call the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan toll-free at 800-482-1455.

Educational Foundation Preparing Annual Spring Benefit Auction

The Educational Foundation of Dexter has completed its gift catalog for its third annual Spring Benefit scheduled for Friday, March 15. The event will be held at Weber's Inn, Ann Arbor, beginning at 8 p.m.

The evening's activities will include a Silent Auction and musical entertainment by Jeannette Luton-Yates. Hor d'oeuvres and cocktails will be served.

The Silent Auction will feature merchandise and services contributed by Dexter, Chelsea and Ann Arbor merchants and friends of the Foundation. Bidders at the Silent Auction place their name and their offered price on a poster placed with each item to be sold. Groups of items have bid closing times that vary throughout the evening. The last and highest bidder for the item at its closing time wins the item.

A copy of the catalog and ticket information may be obtained by calling Doug Christensen at 1-800-899-3773 (days) or 426-3510 (nights) or T. J. Spencer at 769-2333 during the day.

Merchant gifts include certificates for dry cleaning, pizzas, oil changes, video rentals, car washes, cheesecakes.

Donated merchandise includes a camera, pottery, jackets, duffle bags, recycling containers, flower arrangements, prints, tree trimmer, chain saw and floor coverings.

Services donated cover a wide range including home cleaning services, bookkeeping or tax accounting, car detailing and lessons for horseback riding, windsurfing and tennis. One special service is an outdoor family portrait and large photographic print.

Some of the more unique items in this year's Silent Auction include: an airplane ride around the Washtenaw county area; week-end use of cabins and cottages; a ride in a Ferrari convertible; ride a Dexter fire engine in the Memorial Day parade; a carpet square removed from the State Senate floor, bearing the state seal.

Special opportunities include a Dexter walking tour with lunch for six at Cousins' Heritage Inn and dinner for eight in your home catered by Cousins' Heritage Inn. Sports lovers items range from a party of four to view a Pistons game from a private suite through a party of two to join Ernie Harwell and Paul Carey as they broadcast a Tigers game on WJR radio. A week-end Lake Michigan fishing trip for four is another fine sporting opportunity.

This event is the major fund-raiser for the year for the Educational Foundation of Dexter. The Foundation exists to provide for the enrichment and benefit of the students enrolled in the Dexter Community Schools.

The Foundation's 1990 Silent Auction delighted over 100 guests. Sixty-one auction items sold for over $5,000 in funds for the Foundation.

The Foundation was organized in 1984 by citizens concerned about providing funding for innovative and creative educational projects in the Dexter schools. It is governed by a volunteer Board of Trustees. Since its beginning, the Foundation has funded more than $25,000 worth of projects throughout the school district.

"ONCE UPON A MATTRESS" was presented to a packed house last Thursday and Friday in Chelsea High school's George Prinzing Auditorium. Chelsea High school students produce a musical play every winter to showcase their many talents.

Chelsea Students On Honors List At Spring Arbor

Two Chelsea students have been named to the Academic Honors List at Spring Arbor College for the fall semester.

The list honors students with a grade point average of 3.5 or better.

The students are Robert C. Pratt, a junior philosophy/religion major, and Angela M. Sager, a freshman elementary education major.

Pratt is the son of Bob and Jan Pratt, 625 N. Main St. Sager is the daughter of Rodger and Geanie Sager, 518 W. Middle St.

Survey of CHS '90 Grads Starting Soon

A survey of 1990 graduates of Chelsea High school will soon be conducted as part of an on-going effort to provide quality education. Information from recent graduates is important as it provides an accurate picture of what graduates are doing, provides input for planning, and helps in the process of matching educational programs to student needs.

Data from the Class of 1989 (from the survey last Spring) showed 66% of the graduates responding, were continuing their education after high school. An unusually high 9% were in the military service, and 25% were working exclusively. The over-all response rate was 84%.

Again this year, phone calls will be made to homes of graduates and information will be taken from graduates or family members. If graduates or their families would prefer to be called at a certain time, please welcome to the office of the South & West Washtenaw Consortium of their preferred time (428-8327 or 662-9888). Bob Miller, survey co-ordinator, states that a report based on the data will be available by early fall.

Governor Makes Reforms In Office Expense Funds

Gov. John Engler has announced a series of reforms and restrictions dealing with state legislative Officeholder Expense Funds. The reforms are designed to end abuses resulting from the current OEF system by ensuring greater accountability, more regular reporting and tougher enforcement provisions.

"Our ultimate goal is the elimination of Officeholder Expense Funds," Engler vowed. "The Senate has taken an important first step in that direction with their vote Feb. 28 to repeal OEF's, and they are to be congratulated. Until OEF's are abolished, however, they must be reformed."

Engler's reforms would:

- Mandate that OEF's be managed by a Treasurer and Chairman who are legally responsible for all receipts, expenditures and reporting on behalf of the fund.
- Mandate regular, periodic public reporting of all fund activity.
- Establish a mechanism for determination and enforcement of fund violations, by providing a system of meaningful penalties, including civil fines.
- Limit the types of expenditures which could be made by these funds to those acceptable under the federal Internal Revenue Code as "business or charitable deductions." This is a more restrictive list than that currently afforded by R162.62 of the Michigan Administrative Code.

In keeping with these reforms, Engler announced the creation of the Governor's Club, a fund that, among other things, will pay for services and items incurred by members of the Executive Office incidental to holding office which would otherwise be borne by the taxpayers.

In addition, Engler announced that the Governor's Club fund will voluntarily abide by the reforms and restrictions he has proposed regarding OEF's. The Governor's Club will also operate under other, more severe, self-imposed restrictions:

- The Club will be limited to individual contributions of no more than $100 per year.
- No corporate or PAC contributions of any amount will be accepted.
- There will be quarterly reporting of all receipts and expenditures by the Governor's Club, changing to monthly reporting during the gubernatorial election year.

"This is not a cure-all. But it is an important step in cleaning up the OEF system, and it leads the way toward the eventual elimination of Officeholder Expense Funds."

"Success is getting what you want. Happiness is wanting what you get..."

—Dave Gardner

Those who are frantically scrambling for "success," however they may define it, will contend that they are actually seeking happiness... the happiness that might be expected to come with achievement.

For most of us who will never be acclaimed as "successful" in acquiring a multitude of material things, there is an easier road to happiness: just learn to want what life gives us.

It is possible to make detailed arrangements, including financial aspects, in advance of need. We are available to discuss this with you. Call for an appointment.

Brownie Troop 125 Has Lock-In at North School

Brownie Troop 125 had a Lock-In workshop recently at North school. Lock-in included painting sweat-shirts, making a treat from the Fig Islands out of bananas, honey and coconut, playground safety, making a toy, learning a little about constellations, learning and singing songs, learning knots and making a bracelet, playing games, learning about U.S. money, and playing even more games! To close out the day they had pizza for dinner and as a surprise (a reward for a successful progression with their Friendship Candle) dessert was chocolate ice cream bars and a few pieces of candy.

Many parents participated in shifts during the day to help supervise the various projects and programs. Troop 125's leaders are Gail Turluck and Kim Williams. Troop 125 is a second grade North School Brownie Troop. The troop is sponsored by the Faist-Morrow Buick-Chevrolet-Oldsmobile-Geo automobile dealership.

In the near future Troop 125 will be going to a Camp-In at the Impressions-5 Science Museum in Lansing, delivering Girl Scout Cookies, and participating in the Father-Daughter Banquet, in addition to their regular weekly meetings.

An $11,000 project to add 100 telephone lines to the Chelsea central dial exchange had been announced by Michigan Bell manager Nicholas J. Prakken. Prakken said the addition was being made to ward off potential overloading of the exchange with a resultant shortage of facilities.

Three fire alarms were sounded by the Chelsea siren, the second and third being for the same fire. They were sounded when a fire started by an over-heated oil space heater resulted in extensive damage to the Tony Barocco home. The siren was sounded again when firemen on the scene reported more help was needed to get the fire under control.

Drivers Say Deer, Ice Cause Accidents

Car-deer crashes continue to plague motorists (and deer) along the roads in western Washtenaw county.

Robert Arthur Pierce reported such an incident about 11 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 27, which he said occurred on Baker Rd., south of Shield, at 2:30 a.m. that date.

The deer was killed, the damaged automobile was removed by Dexter Welding.

Kevin Anthony House of Pinckney reported to deputy Matt Manczak, his automobile struck and killed a deer at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 16, while driving southbound on Dexter-Pinckney Rd., south of North Territorial.

Rhonda Lynn Davis was cited for failing to yield, following a two-car crash on Baker Rd. Investigated by deputy Skip Davis at 8 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 27.

Driver of the second vehicle, Katherine Marie Coy, was injured in the crash and sought medical treatment at a physician's office.

She was traveling south on Baker Rd., and Ms. Davis was exiting a private driveway, when she pulled into the Coy vehicle's path, and the driver was unable to avoid a collision.

About 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 26, Larry D. Holzinger of Jacksonville, Ariz., was traveling along North Territorial Rd., east of Dexter Town Hall Rd., at what WCSO deputy Mark Mesko described as a speed too fast for the road conditions.

The vehicle slid on the ice in a curve, and subsequently struck a tree and rolled onto its side.

Two Gregory motorists, Julia Ann Singer and Heiga Deape Heaton, collided on North Territorial Rd., south of Brand, about 10:45 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 20.

Deputy Skip Davis was dispatched to investigate the incident.

His report indicated Ms. Heaton was traveling east on North Territorial, and Ms. Singer's vehicle, headed in the opposite direction, crossed the double yellow line.

To avoid a head-on collision, the eastbound driver took evasive action, but was unable to completely avoid the collision.

Deputy Davis issued Ms. Singer a violation for driving left of center.

Pinckney motorist Krista Lynn Dolphin lost control of the vehicle she drove on Dexter-Pinckney Rd., just east of Wylie, at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 16.

Deputy Davis was dispatched to investigate the crash.

After she lost control of the vehicle on the ice, it spun out and slid into the ditch, he reported.

Deputy Mesko took a delayed report from motorist Alfred Leroy Bommer of Manchester, who was driving south on Dexter-Pinckney Rd., north of Island Lake Rd., about 11:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 21, when his vehicle crossed to the oncoming lane, and after striking a stop sign, hit a tree at the location.

TAKING CARE OF YOUR EYES

Intraocular lenses, commonly called an implant, restores vision after cataract surgery without the need for thick, coke bottle-like glasses.

The implant is a small piece of plastic that takes the place of the lens, which is removed during cataract surgery. Like the lens, the implant will focus objects and improve vision.

For over a decade, implants have been routinely used during cataract surgery. Luckily, an implant can be placed even years later for patients who had their cataracts removed and did not receive an implant.

Farmers Push for Full Health Insurance Premium Deduction

A bill is expected to be introduced in the U.S. House to expand the current 25 percent health insurance premium tax deduction for the self-employed to 100 percent. The bill would also make the 100 percent deduction a permanent part of the tax code. But Michigan Farm Bureau public affairs director Al Almay says the bill must overcome a tall political hurdle.

"Congress currently has a law on the books that is known as pay-as-you-go," he said. "In other words, in the case of allowing self-employed people to deduct 100 percent of their health insurance premiums, there would be some loss of revenue to the federal government. Therefore, the pay-as-you-go concept mandates that either Congress cut back some other program to offset that loss or raise taxes."

When a similar bill was introduced in the last Congressional session, it gained 243 co-sponsors.

T. Washington Named To Natural Resources Trust Fund Board

Gov. John Engler has announced the appointment of Thomas Washington to the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund Board.

"Tom Washington has been a leader in the fight to preserve Michigan's precious natural resources, and I welcome his willingness to continue in the battle," Engler said.

Washington, of Lansing, is executive director of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, the State's largest conservation organization. He fought successfully for regulation protecting Great Lakes fish from commercial exploitation.

Washington was a major force behind legislation to allow the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund to purchase choice recreation lands for public use with royalties from oil, gas and mineral production on state-owned lands.

He has served on the Michigan Natural Resources Trust Fund since 1978, serving several terms as chairman. Washington has been reappointed by Governor Engler for a term ending October 1, 1994.

YOU & YOUR PET

By Linda Reider
Director of Education
Humane Society of Huron Valley

★ Selecting a Veterinarian

With the number of dogs and cats I've owned through the years, I've gotten to know a few excellent veterinarians. They've handled everything from routine vaccinations to sniffles to bone surgery for my animals. I've called on those dedicated men and women in the middle of the night in near hysterics with seriously ill pets. I have the highest regard for their insight and skills.

How do you select the best veterinarian for the pet in your life? Choosing a vet is similar to choosing a personal physician. Perhaps you have friends who have had positive experiences with their vets.

It is often good to select a vet fairly close to your home to shorten emergency transport distances. While most urban clinics provide care for dogs and cats, some veterinarians specialize in certain species. In our area, for example, we have a clinic that sees only cats and a veterinarian who treats birds, rodents, and exotic animals. In addition, consider whether you want to visit a clinic with several doctors, or a practice with only one or two doctors.

Once you have narrowed the field to a couple of choices, it is wise to visit them individually. Make "get acquainted" appointments. Are you treated politely by the receptionist? When you arrive, is the clinic clean, comfortable, adequate? How long is the wait?

When you talk to the doctor, ask about their recommended routine health care for your particular pet. Ask for a list of their prices. But most importantly, try to get a feel for the doctor's personality. No one personality type is right for everyone. Make sure that you feel comfortable talking to him or her.

Make your final choice and set up an initial appointment for your pet. Then stick with that choice every time your pet needs care, getting to know the veterinarian well. If at any time you feel that your needs or your pet's needs are not being met, try to talk honestly with your vet about the situation. But don't be afraid to try someone new if you can't resolve problems.

Do you have a pet care question? Write to me at HSHV, 3100 Cherry Hill Rd., Ann Arbor 48105.

WCC's Motorcycle Safety Program Begins in April

Washtenaw Community College's 1991 Motorcycle Safety Program begins this May with courses offered in four levels. All sessions, except the Experienced Rider Course, meet the State of Michigan licensing requirements. The novice sessions require students to ride the cycles provided by the program, and the advanced courses require the students to provide their own cycles. Students must pass both written and driving exams for certification.

These courses, all taught by instructors who are certified by the Motorcycle Safety Foundation, are designed to provide information on cycles, proper riding gear and road-handling tips. Upon successful completion, the student will become certified by the Motorcycle Safety Foundation and WCC.

Novice sessions are designed for students who have little or no experience riding a motorcycle on public roads. It focuses on riding techniques such as motorcycle controls, street riding strategies and advanced maneuvers.

There are seven separate novice sessions offered in two formats, one or two week-ends. The two-week-end format is the same material but at a slower pace.

There is also a performance-based course for the more experienced rider who wants to sharpen his/her skills and learn more advanced riding techniques. Students must pass a basic riding skills test at the beginning of class so the pace is fairly quick. Classes will be held May 12, June 9, and Aug. 4, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For the technically-minded, experienced rider, the Experienced Rider Course explores advanced riding skills with some emphasis on the physics involved in making a motorcycle turn sharply and stop quickly. Students must pass a basic riding skills test and provide proof of a valid operator's license with a motorcycle endorsement. These sessions will be held April 21, June 8, and July 28, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Village Landfill To Take Milk Jugs

Area residents who recycle their milk jugs won't have to find a way to get to the elementary schools any longer.

Beginning this Saturday the village will accept milk jugs at the village landfill from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays only.

The new policy was made possible by the village's recent purchase of a compacting garbage truck. That means recyclers won't even have to crush the jugs—the machine will do it for them.

The truck will haul the milk jugs to the village's new (used) baler at the village garage.

Recyclers should remove the caps from the jugs and make sure the jugs are well rinsed.

For the last year and a half, the only place to recycle the milk jugs has been through a program initiated at North and South Elementary schools. The jugs will still be collected at the schools each Thursday morning before school starts.

Pioneer Craft Fair Returning March 16

A sure sign of Spring arriving in the Dexter-Chelsea area is not only the mud and slush, but also the Dexter Pioneer Craft Fair.

This year, as for the past 17 years, the fair will be presented by the Dexter Historical Society as a major fundraiser for the Dexter Area Museum. All proceeds from the fair goes to the Museum for operation and maintenance.

The fair will be held Saturday, March 16 at the Dexter High school, 2615 Baker Rd. Doors will open to the public at 10 a.m. and close at 4 p.m. Admission will be by a donation of $2.00 for adults; grades 1-12 are 50¢. Lunch will be available in the cafeteria from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m.

The fair began in 1974 with 25 demonstrations and a committee of four. Today the fair includes approximately 55 demonstrators and is organized by a committee of eight, assisted by many members and community volunteers.

All participants must demonstrate his/her craft or art form. The craft or art form should be one from our ethnic or historical heritage or a modern adaption of such.

A treat for the children this year will be a master story teller, Marjorie Shaefer. There will also be a number of new demonstrators and new crafts being presented. Old favorites will return as well.

A few of crafts and arts to be demonstrated this year will include the following: needlearts, doll making, wood working and rug weaving.

AATA Wants Money For Village Bus Route

Ann Arbor Transportation Authority has requested more than $9,000 from the village to maintain the Ann Arbor to Chelsea bus route for six months.

A letter from AATA Executive Director Michael Bolton informed village council that state funds for the program will dry up at the end of March. He requested the village pay half of the requested $9,053 by June 30 and the other half by the end of September.

According to acting village manager Deborah Kuehn, the request came "out of the blue." Council tabled the request at its last meeting and wanted more information.

Village council has never given much indication it is willing to dump a significant amount of money into the program, although the make-up of council has changed substantially since the issue was last discussed in public session.

"These are tough times as far as the budget goes," said village president Richard Steele.

"As supportive as we might be of the service in principle, I hope we can muster other support for it in the community. It is important to a certain number of people who depend on the bus for daily transportation."

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Bulldogs Play Central To Open Tournament, Drop Final Two Games

Chelsea Bulldogs will try to break a three-game losing streak tonight when they take on Brooklyn Columbia Central in the semifinals of the district basketball tournament at Adrian College.

The winner will play in the championship game this Saturday at 2 p.m.

The Bulldogs dropped their final two games of the regular season last week, both on the road. On Friday, the Bulldogs ended their Southeastern Conference season with a 57-49 loss to the Pinckney Pirates to finish 6-6 on the season, good for fourth place.

In non-conference action on Tuesday, the Bulldogs were handled by Jackson County Western, 96-68.

In Friday's game, Chelsea was down 29-24 at half-time, but the Pirates scored the first two baskets of the second half to take a nine-point lead.

Chelsea was eventually able to pull within three points in the fourth quarter as senior Kerry Plank made two consecutive steals at mid-court and converted a three-point play and another field goal.

But that was as close as Chelsea could come. At one point they had a chance to pull within two points after a Pinckney player appeared to dribble the ball off his foot and out of bounds. However, the ball was awarded to the Pirates and they scored.

"Pinckney packed the zone on us and did not give us the inside shots," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

"In the second half, we had good, crisp passes and were able to get the ball to the open man. However, we didn't hit the shots."

Raymond said his team seemed to pick up its intensity once he switched to a full-court man-to-man press.

"Maybe we should have gone to it a little earlier," he said.

Raymond praised Pinckney's patience on offense and willingness to work for the open shot.

"Pinckney didn't take many bad shots," Raymond said.

"They were able to penetrate from the point in the first half and in the fourth quarter Ryan Bronsberg was able to penetrate from the wing. He scored 12 points in the fourth quarter."

Bronsberg led all scorers with 22 points.

The Pirates held Plank and Jon Royce to a combined 25 points. In the earlier meeting between the teams, Royce and Plank scored 52 of the team's 60 points.

Plank led Chelsea scorers with 17 points. Other scorers included Jake Rindie 11, Royce 8, Chris Dunham 6, Chris Haugen 4, and Dan Stahl 2.

Chelsea held a 26-22 rebound advantage, and Raymond was pleased that the Bulldogs gave up just five offensive rebounds.

JEREMY STEPHENS drives between two Pirates during Chelsea's game at Pinckney last Friday. The Bulldogs lost 57-49 to finish 6-6 in the Southeastern Conference.

"We're putting our bodies on them much better," Raymond said.

The big difference in shooting percentage from the floor was the big difference in the game. Chelsea was 20 of 48 for 42 percent while Pinckney hit 22 of 39 shots for 56 percent.

Both teams shot well from the line as Chelsea went 7 for 9 while Pinckney made 13 of 15 tries.

The JCW game was not quite as lopsided as the score would indicate. Chelsea was down by 14 points after three quarters and Raymond began to substitute fairly early. Meanwhile,

Western left most of their first team in until the end.

"Western is a very aggressive and very good offensive team," Raymond said.

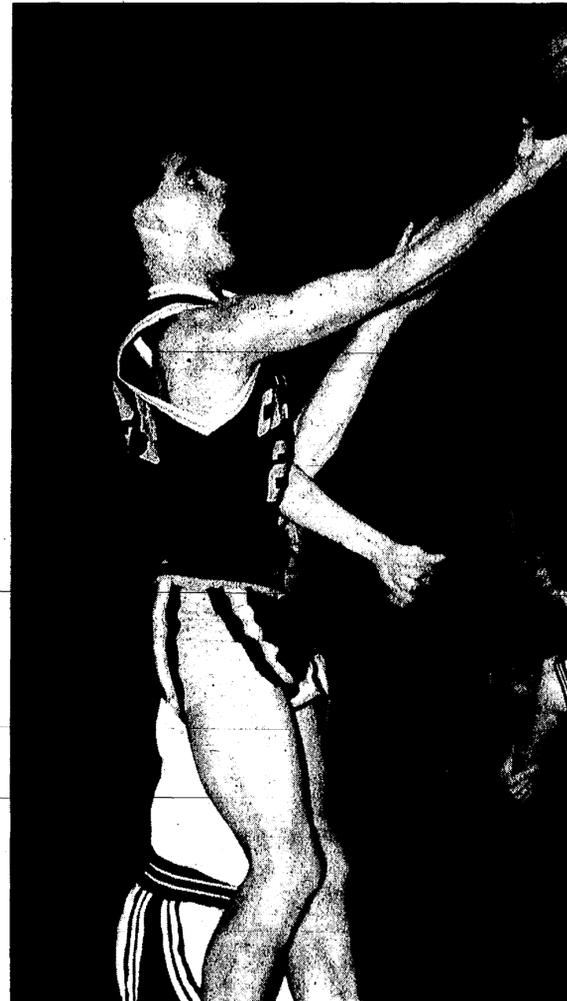

"We shot 50 percent from the field and still got blown out. They press, run, and fire it up."

Western started three 6' 8" guards to go with 6' 3" and 6' 5" inside players.

Western had a significant advantage in terms of numbers of shots taken both at the line and from the field. From the line they were 31 of 37 compared to 15 of 29 for Chelsea. From the field Western hit 32 of 67 shots compared to 26 of 52 for Chelsea.

Royce led Chelsea with 21 points. After him were Plank 19, Dunham 9, Rindie 6, Haugen 4, Tucker Steele 4, Rob Coelius 3, and Ben Hurst 2.

Chelsea finished the regular season at 6-12.

COLBY SKELTON looks frightened by the ball as he drives for two points against the Pinckney Pirates last Friday. The Chelsea junior varsity team lost the game but finished with a 16-4 record.

JV Shooters Cold In Loss at Pinckney

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity basketball team lost to the Pinckney Pirates last Friday in Pinckney, 59-34.

The game was billed as the Southeastern Conference championship game as each team had one league loss.

Chelsea was ahead 15-10 at the end of the first quarter but cold shooting plagued them the rest of the way.

"We shot six of 22 after the first quarter," said Chelsea coach Lonnie Mitchell.

"Pinckney did a good job of pressuring us throughout the game." Chelsea fell behind by half-time, 27-22, and scored 12 points the rest of the game.

Nick McCalla paced Chelsea with 12 points. Other scorers included Tom Poulter 7, Colby Skelton 5, Pat Steele 4, Dana Schmunk 4, and Colt White 2. Poulter had 10 rebounds and McCalla had nine to lead Chelsea.

"I'm very proud of our team," said Mitchell, whose team finished at 16-4 on the season.

"The important memory I will have of this season is how way this squad played as a team."

On Tuesday, Feb. 26 the Bulldogs beat Jackson County Western, 61-51.

Chelsea led the entire game and after three quarters held a 46-32 lead.

"We made the free throws in the clutch," Mitchell said.

"We were nine of 12 in the fourth quarter.

Poulter and McCalla shared scoring honors with 15 points each. Other scorers included White 9, Steele 8, Schmunk 8, Erik Brown 4, and Ed Waller 2.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Friday wasn't much fun for Chelsea basketball fans.

The junior varsity team, competing at Pinckney for the Southeastern Conference championship, played what must have been their worst game of the season. They were whipped in every phase of the game, but more often than not were responsible for their own demise. When they weren't throwing the ball away, they couldn't make easy shots. Pinckney guards penetrated with ease. You name it, it went wrong. It was their worst beating of the season.

It's too bad because otherwise the team had a tremendous season, one they should remember for a long time. I'm sure coach Lonnie Mitchell is proud of his team's accomplishments, its 16-4 over-all record, and its progress toward making a significant contribution to next year's varsity team.

As the team walked off the floor Friday, Mitchell was shaking hands with his players and congratulating them for their season. Some of it, no doubt, was to console the kids. But most of it was sincere pride. The problem is, when you're a player and you've just gotten your clock cleaned, the compliment is a little difficult to believe.

The varsity team also looked sluggish, about a half step slow, for most of their 32 minutes on the court. Toward the end of the game they seemed to gain a little fire when Kerry Plank stole the ball twice and converted them into goals.

But over-all it was one of the most forgettable varsity basketball games I've seen all year. Maybe the best part of the entire night was the half-time dance routine.

No, I take that back. The best part of the night was my fish dinner at the Pinckney Inn.

Three more basketball notes.

One, I fully expect the Bulldogs to win their first district game tonight against Brooklyn Columbia Central and advance to Saturday's afternoon's finals, to play, most likely, their dear rivals to the south, Tecumseh.

Two, Pinckney coach Matt Seidl has proven he is one of the fine young coaches in the area. He's gotten an awful lot from a team that in someone-else's hands could have been very average.

Three, the Southeastern Conference is going to be one of the toughest in the area over the next few years. There is excellent young talent at many of the schools. I expect Chelsea, Pinckney, Tecumseh, and Milan, at the very least, to be showing each other all over the SEC standings. Should make for some exciting basketball.

Well, head football coach Gene LaFave is back at square one. His number two assistant, Curt Ellis, has been named the new head coach at Gabriel Richard.

Just when it looked like LaFave might have a little stability for a couple of years, boom, it's gone again.

Athletic director Wayne Welton won't be coaching at all next year. LaFave has a lot of holes to fill.

So, right now LaFave has number one assistant Roger Cox and Lonnie Mitchell to help out. Those guys are teachers and probably won't be going anywhere. At least not until after teacher contract negotiations next year.

If you know something about football and like to work with kids, LaFave would probably love to hear from you. The pay is lousy and so are the hours, but you'll probably be invited to Friday's team meal.

Word is, the Chelsea Basketball Club wants to sponsor a three-on-three tournament in conjunction with Sidewalk Days this summer. What a great idea.

Parent-Child Communication Discussed at Brighton Hospital

Brighton Hospital's recent Community Education Program on Tuesday, March 5 was devoted to helping parents improve their skills in talking with their children about a variety of issues, including healthy self-esteem. The title of the program was "Communicating With Our Children."

Dennis Hinze, a family therapist at the hospital's Adolescent Center, led the discussion, fielded questions from the audience, and pointed out some strategies that parents can use in communicating with teen-agers and pre-teens.

A free copy of the helpful booklet "About Self-Esteem" was made available at this session. The publication is also available directly from the hospital's Community Relations Department.

This evening program was at 7 p.m. in the Adolescent Center.

On Tuesday, March 19 Brighton Hospital will also host "How to Recognize and Overcome Co-dependency," part of a series aimed at people who are in relationships with chemically dependent people, who were raised in chemically dependent homes, or who are themselves chemically dependent.

The March 19 program is a joint effort of Livingston Counseling and Assessment Services and the Women's Resource Center. This session begins at 7 p.m. in the hospital's chapel.

DANA SCHMUNK keeps his eye on the ball as he dribbles toward the basket during Friday's junior varsity game at Pinckney. The Pirates handed Chelsea their worst defeat of the season.

Governor Makes Reforms In Office Expense Funds

Gov. John Engler has announced a series of reforms and restrictions dealing with state legislative Officeholder Expense Funds. The reforms are designed to end abuses resulting from the current OEF system by ensuring greater accountability, more regular reporting and tougher enforcement provisions.

"Our ultimate goal is the elimination of Officeholder Expense Funds," Engler vowed. "The Senate has taken an important first step in that direction with their vote Feb. 28 to repeal OEF's, and they are to be congratulated. Until OEF's are abolished, however, they must be reformed."

Engler's reforms would:

- Mandate that OEF's be managed by a Treasurer and Chairman who are legally responsible for all receipts, expenditures and reporting on behalf of the fund.

- Mandate regular, periodic public reporting of all fund activity.

- Establish a mechanism for determination and enforcement of fund violations, by providing a system of meaningful penalties, including civil fines.

- Limit the types of expenditures which could be made by these funds to those acceptable under the federal Internal Revenue Code as "business or charitable deductions." This is a more restrictive list than that currently afforded by R102.02 of the Michigan Administrative Code.

In keeping with these reforms, Engler announced the creation of the Governor's Club, a fund that, among other things, will pay for services and items incurred by members of the Executive Office incidental to holding office which would otherwise be borne by the taxpayers.

In addition, Engler announced that the Governor's Club fund will voluntarily abide by the reforms and restrictions he has proposed regarding OEF's. The Governor's Club will also operate under other, more severe, self-imposed restrictions:

- The Club will be limited to individual contributions of no more than $100 per year.

- No corporate or PAC contributions of any amount will be accepted.

- There will be quarterly reporting of all receipts and expenditures by the Governor's Club, changing to monthly reporting during a gubernatorial election year.

- "This is not a cure-all. But it is an important step in cleaning up the OEF system, and it leads the way toward the eventual elimination of Officeholder Expense Funds. These reforms are good government, and they're good for Michigan," Engler said.

In 1882 the Molly Maguires, a secret society of Irish miners in the anthracite fields, first came to public attention, according to "Important Events in American Labor History," a U.S. Labor Department publication. The Mollys were charged with acts of terrorism against mine bosses. They went out of existence in 1876, when 14 of their leaders were imprisoned and 10 were executed.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

It is with dismay that I have read some of the recent letters to the editor pertaining to the sex ed program in our Chelsea schools. It frightens me that in our community there seems to be a move against openness about human sexuality. I have worked for a number of years as a psychotherapist with children, adolescents and adults, and almost invariably, where there is suppression of information about normal human sexual development, there are serious problems.

Ironically, at a time when Chelsea seems to be moving towards ultra-conservatism, last week the Ann Arbor Board of Education voted to expand the curriculum for sex ed for their fourth and fifth graders, to include health units on AIDS, and sexual abuse; this program will be in place there later this semester. I support this openness wholeheartedly.

If there are a few people whose private belief systems involve their wanting to promote sexual abstinence for their children, it is their privilege to teach their children those views at home. They can even choose to have their children not be involved when health units are taught.

However, there is no getting away from the reality that young people are becoming sexually active earlier and earlier. In our complex society, young people need to be armed with as much information as possible, so that they can make sensible, responsible, mature choices for themselves. I feel strongly that the schools need to offer a thorough, comprehensive sex ed program where not just "basic plumbing" is dealt with, but also some of the more complicated realities related to this are covered, such as sexually transmitted diseases like AIDS, child sexual abuse, and sexually violent crimes, such as rape. Under the guidance of trained professionals at school, in the comfortable, safe atmosphere of a group of their peers, young people can openly discuss their thoughts and feelings about sensitive subjects that they find difficult to share with their parents.

My children need as much information as they can have to handle today's complex world in a responsible and mature manner. We need to rally behind our Chelsea administrators and teachers, to support their offering a thorough, comprehensive sex ed program in the schools here.

Janice M. Stevens, M.S.W.,
Clinical Social Worker.

Dear Editor,

I am writing now to express my heartfelt gratitude to all of the people who supported the Chelsea area soldiers during the last five months: Your letters have provided inspiration to us all. Your packages have been well received. I felt compelled to make this a public statement. Because your support has been so overwhelming I have not been able to write back as often as I would like. I have received 16 letters in the last three days and cannot hope to reply to them all.

There are a few people I would like to thank personally for their time and effort. Ellen and Paul Kalmbach, for being there from the very start; Clyde and Maryann Myers, Christmas was a little brighter because of you; Craig and Stacy Maier, for all the times you wrote without waiting for a reply; the Osterlies, for everything; and finally my parents, Lynn and Leon Lewis for their undying love and support.

Once again I would like to thank the entire Chelsea community for their support.

SPC Tyler Lewis
101st Airborne

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter serves to commend some of the fine civic organizations in Chelsea. Despite difficult economic times these groups have generously donated monies to help treat children.

Chelsea Arbor Treatment Center has an ongoing education and support group for young children of alcoholics. The donated funds enable this group to provide quality services at low cost or at no cost through scholarships.

We would like to give our sincere thanks and recognition to: Civic Foundation of Chelsea, Chelsea Kiwanis, VFW Post No. 4078, Chelsea, Chelsea Historical Society, Chelsea Ministerial Fellowship.

Thanks for caring and helping, Betsy Beckerman, M.A./C.S.W., Coordinator, Children's Group Chelsea Arbor Treatment Center.

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON—A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Researchers in Europe found that an ingredient in the aptly named product Food Source One actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.

While the development of Food Source One, a project of National Dietary Research, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the discovery has been a windfall for overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143, I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 15 days on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One is available through physicians and pharmacies without a prescription because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients already known to be safe. Copies of the referenced study are available free from National Dietary Research, Suite 553, 1377 K Street, Washington, DC 20005; however, please include $2 postage & handling for each request.

Food Source One is available in chocolate, vanilla or strawberry. A 100 tablet supply only $24.98. Food Source One is available at:

The annual Chelsea Day in Florida was held on Saturday, Feb. 9 in Hudson, Fla.

More than 80 senior citizens from around Florida with ties to Chelsea attended an afternoon of music, comedy, singing, and dancing, as well as a potluck dinner.

Two guests, Ruth Ingram Davy, of Madison, Wis., and Marie French, of Phoenix, Ariz., came from outside Florida.

Premium Quality Bill Introduced

State Representative Roland Niederstadt (D-Saginaw) has introduced a bill that would assist farmers in developing "premium quality" programs, according to Michigan Farm Bureau legislative counsel Ron Nelson. He said the programs could provide a way for farmers to get a premium price for top notch products, and could also assure consumers they are getting what they pay for when they purchase premium quality commodities.

"The government really would not be involved other than in developing legislation that would permit the establishment of rules for a commodity that wanted to organize a premium quality program," Nelson said. "It would be strictly voluntary. Government would only make sure that the producers, the processors and the handlers all follow the rules that have been developed."

Card of Thanks 19
THANK YOU
We wish to thank our children, many relatives and friends for the cards, gifts, and the open house in honor of our 60th Wedding Anniversary. We are so fortunate to have been able to celebrate this great occasion with such a nice group.
Jay (Jack) & Donna Bradbury.

THANK YOU
Sincere thanks to my family, friends and neighbors for their cards, visits and calls of concern during my recent surgery. Gratefully,
Helen Rybka.

CARD OF THANKS—
I wish to express my thanks to all my friends who called, sent flowers and cards during my stay in the hospital and since my return home. To Dr. Waldyke, Dr. Marcus, Dr. Krasuse and Pastor Bradley, I cannot thank you enough for your caring and compassion. A special thanks to Jennifer, Marvin, Kimberly and my good friend Charlie for all the help and support to Judy and me.
Carl D. Schneider.

CARD OF THANKS
The family of Wally Inglis is appreciative of gestures of sympathy and respect demonstrated before and after his death. Not unexpectedly, those gestures really have helped ease the sorrow of his illness and passing and we thank you. A special thank you to the Rev. Mearl Bradley, Dr. Jerry Waldyke, Dr. John Sheerer, and Mary Wright and Ariane Pink of Hospice of Washtenaw.

Memorial 20
DAVE GERAGOSIAN—
In loving memory of Dave Geragosian, a truly wonderful man. Sadly missed by his friend, Kay Pfiffer.

Tie A Yellow Ribbon . . .

The rest of the story and a little bit of history!
 In 1973—"Tie a yellow ribbon round the old oak tree" song ushered in a new era. All across the land the yellow ribbon bows graced the trees, shrubs, and poles, reminding us of the POWs—MIAs (prisoners of war and missing in action).
 This song was new, but the idea was not! An earlier song "And around her waist, she wore a yellow ribbon . . ." she wore it for her soldier boy, who's far, far away! This was sung for two wars, World War I and World War II, and in between as well.
 In the 19th century, an earlier version was very popular in the old West among the U.S. Cavalry troops and the women they had left behind. The words of that song told of a yellow ribbon and a willow tree.

 The use of ribbons can be traced further, to the Middle Ages. When the knights sailed forth to battle wearing a ribbon favor, like the ones loyally worn by his "fair lady" who he left behind.
 Some authorities think the use of ribbons and willow trees goes to honor the warriors as far back as biblical times.
 So once again yellow ribbons are being displayed to show our loyalty, not only to the hostages, but to our own troops overseas—far, far away!
 This explanation of the ribbons was written by the Valley Forge Flag Co. and submitted by the VFW Auxiliary No. 4076 Chelsea, and Americanism chairperson Eulahlee Packard.

Everybody's Science

By Marcia Wood
 Summer temperatures of 99 degrees F. can hinder wheat's ability to produce top quality flour for breads and other baked goods.
 But two U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists say genetic engineering offers a new way to boost heat resistance and thus protect flour quality of tomorrow's wheats.
 An answer to beating the heat lies in the genes of certain proteins in wheat plants.
 Two kinds of proteins—the glutenins and the gliadins—dictate the quality of wheat flour, according to John E. Bernardin and William B. Inwood of USDA's Agricultural Research Service.
 "The highest quality wheats—the ones that make strong yet pliable dough for the best breads and rolls—have a higher ratio of glutenins to gliadins," says Bernardin, a research chemist.
 "Hot weather works against wheat's chances of ending up with the ideal ratio of these proteins. That's because production of glutenin proteins—controlled by genes—starts to slow when the thermometer hits 95 degrees F."
 Bernardin and Inwood, a research plant geneticist, discovered this problem in laboratory and greenhouse experiments at the ARS Western Regional Research Center, Albany, Calif.

 "At 99 degrees F., common on summer days in the wheat growing states, production of the glutenin proteins stops," says Bernardin. "But genes that control production of gliadins stay on the job until temperatures reach 113 degrees F."
 To improve heat tolerance and the glutenin-to-gliadin ratio of future wheats, Bernardin and Inwood are building a new gene. They will splice key, signal-like mechanisms of the heat-resistant gliadin gene onto the heat-intolerant glutenin gene.
 "We're changing the on-off switch of today's glutenin gene," explains Bernardin. "We want our new glutenin gene to continue working past the 95-degree point. Perhaps we can even make it work until it reaches the gliadin gene's upper limit of 113 degrees."
 Wheat, like other cereal crops, typically resists biotechnologists' efforts to give it new genes. So Bernardin and Inwood may need anywhere from six months to four or five years to build the improved gene, insert it into wheat, and produce healthy, fertile plants with the new gene working inside.

Steelhead Season Looks Promising

Southeast Michigan anglers should find good numbers of steelhead in area streams and rivers during spring spawning runs, AAA Michigan reports.
 Fisheries biologists from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) expect this year's migration to be as good or better than last year.
 They base their optimistic predictions on the strength of fall spawning runs, quality steelhead being planted in Great Lakes tributaries and favorable conditions for natural reproduction.
 However, some said increased steelhead harvests the past two years in the Great Lakes could reduce the number of fish returning to spawn this spring.
 The AAA Michigan 1991 Steelhead guide includes six Southeast Michigan tributaries from Port Huron to Flat Rock where the best steelhead action is expected this spring. The guide lists 53 hot spots state-wide.
 The best time to fish should be from early to mid-April in Southeast Michigan although warm weather could spur earlier runs.
 Steelhead—rainbow trout that live in the Great Lakes—are dogged fighters with tasty flesh. The fish, which average 5 to 12 pounds, return to spawn in the stream where they were planted or hatched.

 Migrating steelhead normally will be found in the main flow of a river and are targets for waders, shore fishermen and boaters.
 The most popular bait for steelhead is a spawn bag, a sack containing salmon eggs or the roe from a captured steelhead. The spawn sack should be bumped along the stream bottom near rocks, stumps or other obstructions, places where steelies are often found.
 Fluorescent yarn, lures with contrasting colors or bright-colored artificial spawn also are used to excite or aggravate the fish into taking the bait since spawning steelhead are not that interested in feeding.
 For information on size, catch, season and consumption information, check the 1991 Michigan Fishing Guide, available at DNR offices or where fishing licenses are sold.

Mr. Common further defended his reasons for acquiring the Dancer building as the site of his restaurant and asked that Council act favorably on his request for transfer of a Class C Resort and SDM license.

Much discussion was held regarding Act 179 of 1990 and whether or not the Police Department employees should receive the training necessary to enable them to act as "first responders" at the scene of an accident, medical emergency, etc. Chief McDougall estimates training costs at $10,000.00 minimum. It was Council's decision to not authorize police employees to participate at this time.

Mark Bally, representing Chelsea 1995, informed Council of the group's desire to host a fireworks display this July 4th. He explained that the display would be conducted by a private company. Mr. Bally also inquired as to Council's requirement of liability insurance for the event. President Steele appointed Trustees Hall and Dorer to study the matter and report back at the next Council meeting with a recommendation on the limit of insurance necessary.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Kanten, to authorize transfer of funds to cover vehicle rentals from the General Fund to the Vehicle and Equipment Fund in the amount of $81,000.00 and from the Landfill Fund to the Vehicle and Equipment Fund in the amount of $45,000.00. Motion carried.

Premium Quality Bill Introduced

State Representative Roland Niederstadt (D-Saginaw) has introduced a bill that would assist farmers in developing "premium quality" programs, according to Michigan Farm Bureau legislative counsel Ron Nelson. He said the programs could provide a way for farmers to get a premium price for top notch products, and could also assure consumers they are getting what they pay for when they purchase premium quality commodities.

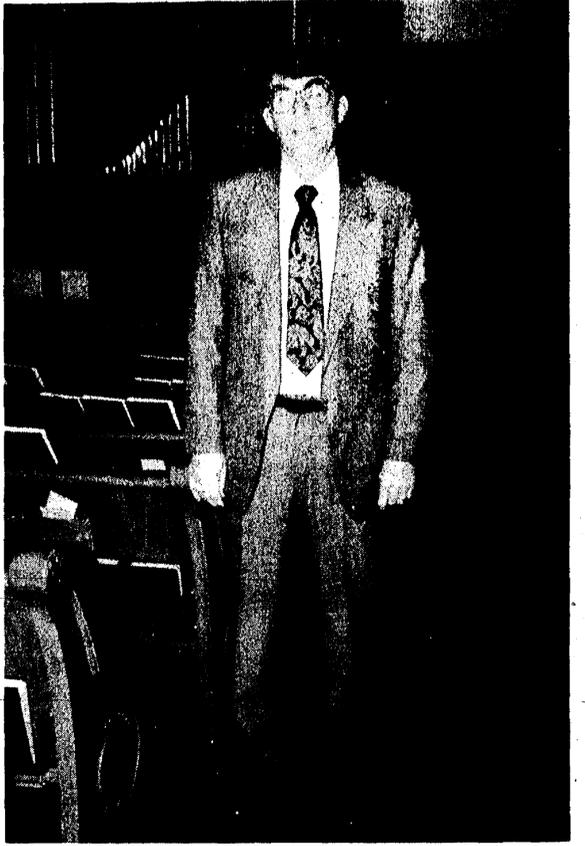

"The government really would not be involved other than in developing legislation that would permit the establishment of rules for a commodity that wanted to organize a premium quality program," Nelson said. "It would be strictly voluntary. Government would only make sure that the producers, the processors and the handlers all follow the rules that have been developed."

U.S. Maintains Farm Export Levels to Middle East Area

Export bonus and credit guarantee programs for nations in the Middle East should help offset the loss of U.S. farm exports to Iraq and Kuwait, according to Michigan Farm Bureau economist Bob Craig.

Despite the war in the Persian Gulf, Craig said shops loaded with American commodities for other nations in the region continue to sail unimpeded to their destinations. "I doubt the war has had any serious effect on trade with Egypt, Israel or Saudi Arabia," Craig said. "There is a minimal, if any, impact on our exports to those countries and trade is still moving."

The USDA's Economic Research Service said issues such as credit availability could cause more export fluctuations than the war itself. "Other than the loss of exports to Iraq and Kuwait, exports to most of the rest of the nations in the region should be up," said USDA economist John Parker. U.S. farm sales in the region may not dip much from the 1990 fiscal year, when we exported about $2.76 billion of farm goods to the Middle East, he said.

UNDERSTANDING PEACE:
 The Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide, and the similar measures concerned with eliminating all forms of discrimination based on race, sex or religious belief; upholding the rights of the child; protecting all persons against being subjected to torture; eradicating hunger and malnutrition; using scientific and technological progress in the interest of peace and the benefit of mankind—all such measures, if courageously enforced and expanded, will advance the day when the specter of war will have lost its power to dominate international relations.

Obscenity on Receipts Prompts Several Complaints

A former Chelsea Taco Bell employee may face charges in connection with several incidents at the store near the end of February. According to Chelsea police, the store complained that the disgruntled employee may have been responsible for changing the printed message on receipts to include an obscenity. Several customers called the store to complain about the incident, as well as to question whether they were charged the correct amounts. The store also said inventory is missing, and the front door was pried open. Police are investigating.

Recession Doesn't Slow Michigan Manufacturers

New companies, or established companies that relocated, are actually on the increase according to compilations taken from the just completed 1991 Harris Michigan Industrial Directory.

"Of 15,556 manufacturers, over 1,050 opened their doors for the first time during the last 12 months," said Robert A. Harris, president of Harris Publishing Co., of Twinsburg, O. "In light of fears over the current recession, these figures are like a breath of fresh air. This seems to be an early indication that Michigan's economy is starting a modest upturn."

Hard facts back up his cautious optimism. As the leading compiler/publisher of directories for mid-America, his research staff contacts virtually 99% of manufacturers in Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Kentucky, Maryland and West Virginia.

"Because we're so comprehensive, we can chart economic trends as they evolve. For example, our figures indicate that only 631 manufacturers opened or expanded their facilities in 1988. Statistics for '89 rose to 946 new companies. This year's findings show a nominal 7% upward change, but it definitely represents a positive growth trend."

Harris states that most manufacturers tend to see their growth as an on-going process, especially when it comes to creating more jobs. Dow Corning Corp., of Midland, is one such company with an eye toward tomorrow.

Spokesperson Scott Seeburger of Dow Corning agrees. "The opening of the Midland center is part of our global investment in research and development. It demonstrates our long-term confidence for the future. By the end of the decade we plan to have added an additional 300 employees."

Harris is quick to note that almost all expanding firms say they have long-range plans to add employees. He cites Becker Manufacturers, a firm that moved from Troy to Auburn Hills in 1990, as a prime example. "Although they are in a slump at the present time, they anticipate a series of hirings as the economy rallies."

"That's correct. In spite of the recession, we are still optimistic," said Becker vice-president, Ed Powers. "We see ourselves adding 100 more jobs once this recession is over."

According to Harris research this recession hasn't hit hard like its predecessor in the early '80's. "Barring any unforeseen disasters, I think we can safely say the worst is behind us. At least, that's what the statistics show."
