ONE HUNDRED TWENTIETH YEAR—No. 46

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 10, 1991

22 Pages This Week 2 Supplements

NO ONE WAS HURT but several were startled as a Chelsea-area woman drove her car through the storefront at North Lake Country Store at North Territorial and Stoffer Rds. last Wednesday morning. The woman, driving east on North Territorial, tried to turn into the lot, hit a large rock and accidentally accelerated into the store.

The car nearly struck a van parked in the next space containing Karen, Jason, and Jennifer Churches of Hadley Rd. At right, store owner Marty Ehman looks on while Jim Brooks of J&M Service prepares to extract the vehicle from the store.

Sylvan Township Budget Is $447,319 for Year

Sylvan township passed a $447,319 budget for 1991-1992.

"The gravel road just can't take all the traffic," Schoenberg said.

The township, which no longer has a formal annual meeting, passed the budget at their April 2 regular board meeting. The previous year's budget was $359,000. Total assessed value of township property rose $20 million, said supervisor Don Schoenberg.

Other road work will be minor, Schoenberg said, and will consist of ditch and berm work, as well as gravel application.

The largest chunk of the budget is $70,000 for road work, much of which will be spent on the beginning of a four-year project to pave Bush Rd. from Ivey to Pierce Rd. Schoenberg said the entire Bush Rd. project is estimated to cost $450,000. No asphalt will be applied this year.

Other budget items include $62,000 for fire protection, and $20,000 for the area-wide recycling project. The money for recycling will be used primarily for the township's portion of the matching grant approved by the state. In addition, there are other administrative costs associated with setting up the recycling consortium with other area governments. All township officials earned raises.

Supervisor's salary was boosted from $16,000 to $17,000; assessor's salary went from $15,000 to $17,000; clerk's and treasurer's salaries were increased from $14,500 to $16,000 each; and trustees will earn $3,240, up from $3,000. This year, for the first time, all elected officials have to contribute to the Social Security program, Schoenberg said.

No money has been allocated for solving clean-up problems at the Village of Chelsea landfill, Schoenberg said.

The township has budgeted $10,000 for the purchase of computer equipment and software to automate its assessment records.

Village, Townships Still Discussing Landfill Mess

The village and surrounding townships have still not figured out how they will share the costs of cleaning up any groundwater pollution at the village landfill, village president Richard Steele said Saturday.

report should be completed in about three weeks.

Steele said he wants the village to be prepared for the worst in terms of a costly clean-up plan mandated by the Department of Natural Resources. However, he said he doesn't necessarily expect the worst to happen.

The townships have also not yet agreed on how to divide nearly $750,000 in costs associated with the closing of the old landfill already incurred by the village.

Five Interviewed for Village Manager Job

Five candidates for the Chelsea village manager's job have been interviewed but no finalists have been selected, according to village president Richard Steele.

Two local candidates included village trustee Jack Myers, who works for the University of Michigan, and village resident Steven Pugsley, zoning administrator for Hamburg township, Steele said.

The other candidates were from Alma, Tawas and Ann Arbor.

When asked whether he was confident a final candidate would be selected from among those already interviewed, Steele said, "No, I'm not even certain of that."

The interview team of Steele, council personnel committee members Stephanie Kanten and Joe Merkel, and former village trustee Phil Boham, had not met again to discuss the interviews as of press time.

Steele said definite salary figures have not been discussed but it was likely the new manager would be paid close to what former manager Robert Stalker made. His salary was $39,188 when he left his job.

Zoning Change Given For Housing Project

Chelsea Meadows development in Lima township was granted a zoning change for a 10-acre parcel that will allow developers to construct three homes rather than one on the site.

The township board followed the planning commission's recommendation to change the zoning at their regular April 1 meeting.

Chelsea Meadows, a development of single-family homes, is being constructed on the former Herrat Farm, 180 acres bordering the eastern edge of the village. Its main entrance will be off Freer Rd. opposite Washington St., although its temporary access is now off Trinkle Rd.

Virtually all homes in the subdivision will be built on 10-acre parcels in agricultural zoning. The front 10 acres along Freer Rd. was re-zoned to rural residential zoning, which allows houses on three-acre lots. Developers wanted as many building sites as they could get out of the parcel considering much of it is unbuildable due to the amount of wetlands.

Parts of Bird Bath Stolen From Residence

A resident of Moore Dr. in Bridgetown Condominiums told Chelsea police that someone stole parts of a bird bath from their lawn sometime before April 5.

Stolen were the sprinkler, consisting of a boy and a small dog holding an umbrella, and the pedestal. The actual bowl was not taken.

Value of the item was $350.

Radar Detector Stolen from Car

A radar detector and a dozen cassette tapes were reported stolen from a parked car at Chelsea Community Hospital on Friday, April 6.

The victim told police there was no sign of forced entry and his vehicle was locked before the theft.

The theft occurred between 9 a.m. and 11:30 a.m.

Two File Petitions For School Board

Two candidates filed petitions for the one school board seat that will be available in the June 10 Chelsea School District elections.

Conrad Knutsen, 648 W. Middle St., and Jan Roberts, 11506 Jackson Rd. met Monday's 4 p.m. deadline. They will run for the seat held by Ann Feeney, who decided not to seek reelection. Both are active in various organizations in the community.

Both Knutsen and Roberts ran for school board last year. Roberts finished third in the race for two seats with 263 votes and Knutsen was eighth with 142 votes. There were 11 candidates.

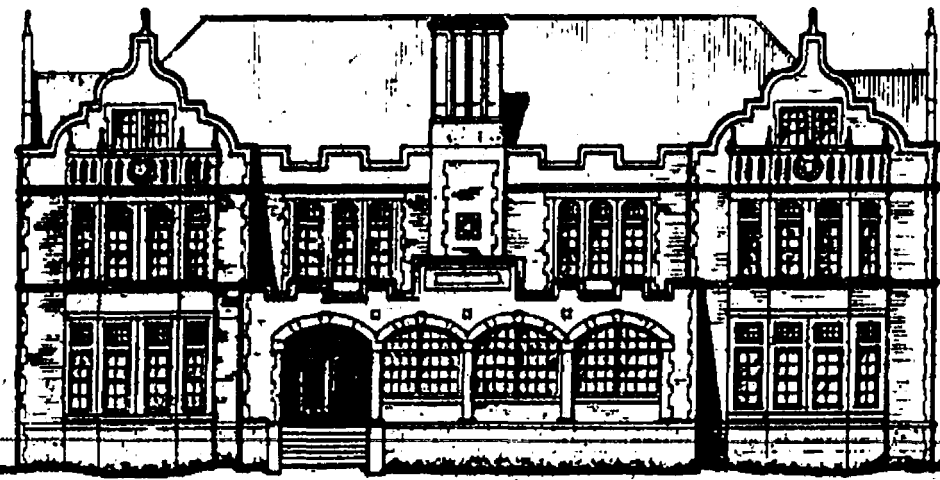

BILL WEHRWEIN extracts rocks from topsoil spread in the outfield of the newly created Sandy Koutax-Pee Wee Reese baseball field at Beach school. Parents and kids got together last Saturday to work on the field, the first of its kind in Chelsea. Chelsea kids who want to play in those leagues have never had a facility they could use to host out-of-town teams. This summer they will.

CHARLES HOOSHMAND NIGHTINGALE, a 16-year-old Chelsea High school student and Boyce Rd. resident, was listed in critical condition Tuesday morning after a one-car crash on westbound I-94 near Baker Rd. Monday at about 9 a.m. Police said Nightingale apparently lost control of his vehicle, which ran off the road and hit a tree. Nightingale was taken by survival flight to University of Michigan Hospital.

Wednesday, April 15, 1987— George Palmer isn't the kind of guy to put on a cowboy hat, grab a sledge hammer, stand in front of an Escort with a price painted on the windshield and say on TV, "Yis sires, we're smashin' car prices just for you!" ed either in the Municipal Parking Lot Palmer, the easy-going, conservative owner of Chelsea's only Ford-Mercury dealership, keeps his business in low profile, which helped it become the state's oldest Ford dealership. April 15 was the official 75th birthday of one of Chelsea's oldest continuous family-owned businesses.

Chelsea High school's forensics team would be one of the favorites to capture the state tournament at the University of Michigan as 11 of 16 entries got through the Southeast Michigan Regional Tournament. The team finished with two regional championships. The Bulldogs won a state title in 1982. For the first time in the history of the school, the coaching coach, Bill Coelius, Chelsea will have more than one entry in a particular category. In fact, Chelsea qualified two entries in four separate categories.

Ann Feeney was appointed to Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority to fill out a term created by the resignation of Dayspring Gifts owner Laurie Smith. The 100th birthday of Theodore Weber was celebrated March 29 at the Gilbert Residence in Ypsilanti. Weber was born on April 1, 1907, in Sylvan township, on a farm just outside Chelsea. The farm that Weber grew up on is now in the Chrysler Proving Grounds. He and his seven brothers and sisters all attended the Little Red School house, which in more recent years was situated on the Chelsea fairgrounds.

Robert Updegraff was elected president of the Chelsea Jaycees. Fifteen Jaycees were candidates for offices in this election, far outnumbering candidates in other years. The organization had 62 members.

Judge Upholds Welfare Cuts, Budget Cutting Law

The law passed in December authorizing either 9.2 percent cuts in each line item of department budgets or other program reductions to achieve the same savings was upheld recently by a Wayne County Circuit Court judge.

Judge Louis Simmons also ruled Governor John Engler did not violate the law in imposing 17 percent cuts in welfare benefits and totally eliminating some services for the poor within a line item.

Both sides in the case expressed some surprise at the comprehensive nature in which the allegations were rejected by Simmons, who had earlier issued a temporary restraining order against the welfare cuts and had called Social Services Director Gerald Miller to explain the cuts that are being imposed.

The cuts in grants had gone into effect in March after appellate courts reversed the restraining order.

The judge ruled the law (PA 357) was not an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority to the governor, did not permit the governor to appropriate money and was not a violation of due process rights.

He also said the cuts imposed by the governor did not go beyond the 9.2 percent mandate even when in some cases cuts were deeper than that, saying the reduction only applies to line items and not programs and deeper reductions are permitted when loss of federal funds is also involved.

The ruling did not deal with whether the cuts violate the state welfare act or federal law, or the administration procedures act. Those questions may yet be pursued by the welfare recipients, Michigan Association for the Education of Young Children and the UAW, which filed the suit.

Simmons, in an opinion delivered from the bench, said he would not upset the law because "it is up to the Legislature to change the law." He said courts do not make laws.

Susan McParland of Michigan Legal Services, which represented the plaintiffs, said she was "incredibly saddened" by the decision. She said she continues to believe that the budget cutting plans implemented by the Engler administration violate existing law and are "arbitrary and an abuse of power."

However, McParland said the judge "sent a strong message to the Legislature that it's their job to straighten out the mess that was created by the passage of PA 357. We are hopeful the Legislature would act very quickly to resolve these problems because people are suffering because of the cuts."

John Truscott, press secretary for Governor Engler, said the governor is "pleased the judge will let the state carry out the law. But we're not pleased with the effects of the cuts and we will continue to work towards a solution to minimize the harm caused by the House Democrats unwillingness to compromise."

The biggest change in what the governor proposed as an alternative to the across the board cut in DSS was elimination of the General Assistance welfare program for able-bodied adults, leaving just a small program to aid the disabled and handicapped.

Suit Against Three States on Radioactive Waste To Be Heard in Michigan

A suit seeking to force three states with nuclear waste disposal facilities to continue to accept Michigan's low-level waste for up to two more years has been cleared for trial in Michigan, rather than in each of the other states.

U.S. Western Michigan District Judge Robert Holmes-Bell denied a request by South Carolina, Nevada and Washington to dismiss the suit on jurisdictional grounds and venue grounds.

The three states last November stopped taking waste from Michigan utilities, medical facilities, universities and industries because of what they viewed as inexcusable delays in identifying a site for a Midwest regional dump site.

MichRad, a coalition of generators of radioactive waste, has asked Bell for a quick ruling on its assertions that the states may deny access to their dumps only if Michigan failed to take certain actions by specific dates, that denial of access is barred by the interstate commerce clause, and that the states are improperly trying to enforce federal law setting timelines for developing regional dump sites. The states, which under federal law close their dumps to outside wastes as of Jan. 1, 1993, have until April 24 to file answers to the MichRad arguments.

Since November, the 51 waste generators in Michigan have been temporarily storing the material on site, accumulating at an estimated rate of about 3,000 cubic feet per month.

The three states and other states in the compact have been pressuring Michigan to relax its environmental criteria that eliminated from consideration the first three areas selected as potential waste sites.

Study of 78 remaining areas has begun, but the state is seeking more money from the compact to complete the task.

The state of Michigan has also sued the other six states in the Midwest Compact for failing to provide enough money to continue the search for a site, and has sued the federal government challenging the validity of the law that led to creation of 16 regional dump sites.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where a feller that works for the city of Portland, Oregon earned $94,889 last year on a emergency telephone operator's job that pays $30,600 a year. He done it by putting in more time and a half overtime than regular time.

I mentioned this item to the fellers during the session at the country store Saturday night, and it struck most of em as passing strange. Bug Hookum, fer one, wanted to know why the city wouldn't of come out better hiring another worker at regular wages. Clem Webster quick explained that overtime is cheaper than Social Security, health insurance and all the other benefits everybody expects nowadays. Onct a person is trained fer a job, Clem said, the more hours he's willing to work the better.

"Practical speaking, Clem went on, he could see where the city was taking a risk letting the feller work 100 hours weeks. Clem said if some ambulance chasing lawyer found out he was asleep on the job while somebody burned up in his wrecked car the city would find out it would of been cheaper to hire half a dozen more operators. That's part of the reason most private companies don't allow overtime if they can help it, Clem said, and if they can't help it they give their workers equal time off so as not to pay em extra.

But it was Zeke Grubb that raised doubt about the whole idee. Out here in the country, he noted, folks general work from see to can't see, and them with lights on their tractors keep right on going when they have to. You don't hear talk of overtime or compensation time, you just keep doing as long as it's got to be done, was Zeke's words.

Some say discussion is light without heat and argument is heat without light, and it is said that discussion is exchanging ideas while argument is exchanging ignorance. The fellers stayed on a pritty even keel during the session, but the Oregon overtime champion kept slipping other items down the agender. Fer instant, Bug said fer all the Federal laws that multiply ever time Congress sets you would think some labor or health rule would keep that kind of thing from happening.

Clem was full agreed with Bug about Federal rule overkill. Clem said he had been following the California droust and water rationing where a fourth of some of the country's vegetables usual grow. You know the Federal regulators are getting ready fer farmers in other parts of the country that want to take up the slack.

If we see a jump in home gardens, Clem said, the next thing we'll see is word from Washington that a tomatoer grewed at home is a tomatoer not inspected by the USDA. That tomatoer is outside the official food chain and it don't git picked by labor under OSHA and NLRB protection. What we have here is a outlaw tomatoer, and if everybody is allowed to raise and eat em we'll cripple the tomatoer picking, packing and sauce making industry, not to mention losing all the taxes from trucking and selling. And if tomatoer outlaws ain't stopped you know the potater, bean and melon outlaws ain't far behind, was Clem's words.

The fellers didn't take Clem serious, but Zeke did note that cutback in California means mark up in stores, and that's serious.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Chelsea firemen were called because of a chimney fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burgett at the corner of Chelsea-Manchester road and Waldo road. At the time the run was made driving was extremely hazardous because of the sleet and snowstorm which had begun an hour earlier.

William I. Scheel, Salem township supervisor, was elected chairman of the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors. Scheel, who represented his township on the board for the past eight years was elected by unanimous vote. He succeeds Edward W. Frederick of Ann Arbor township, who served as chairman the past year.

A GROUP OF ENTHUSIASTIC BOYS helped haul away brush and branches from between an upgraded baseball field and Oak Grove Cemetery last Saturday morning. The boys and their parents worked to give Chelsea its first official Sandy Koufax-Pee Wee Reese baseball diamond. A new pitching mound had to be created and dirt was spread to even out the outfield. Chrysler Proving Grounds donated the truck to haul away the debris.

A NEW PITCHING MOUND was created last Saturday at a Beach Middle school field for boys who want to play Sandy Koufax-Pee Wee Reese baseball against out-of-town teams this summer. The mound will contain two rubbers, one 54 feet from the plate and the other 50 feet 6 inches, the official distances in each league. The bases can be moved for each game. Above, Dick Coy works on the tractor while local baseball expert and ex-Detroit Tiger pitcher Fred Holdsworth, right, applies some of the finer touches. Other parents and interested adults who worked on the project included Kathy Sprawka, Rodger Delong, Claire Delong, Tom Tuttle, Ken McCalla, Ed Greenleaf, Rainey Bassemier, Paul Cheng, Craig Brown, Craig Wales, Joe Merkel, Kathy Clark, Fred Mills, Bob Moffett, and Tom Ludwig.

YOU & YOUR PET

By Linda Reider
Director of Education
Humane Society of Huron Valley

* First Aid/CPR Can Save Pet's Life

An injured pet depends on you to provide appropriate first aid and even cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) in the event of an emergency. Every pet owner should be familiar with proper handling and transport of injured pets. In addition, pet owners should learn the first aid techniques for common animal emergencies including bites, bleeding, fractures, burns, convulsions, birthing difficulties, heatstroke, choking, poisoning, shock, urinary obstruction, and drowning. Pet owners should also know how to check an animal's vital signs to help evaluate his or her condition.

Here in Washtenaw county, we are fortunate to have a private emergency veterinary clinic (listed in the yellow pages) which is open during the hours that most clinics are closed. We also have an animal emergency rescue service operated by the humane society for assisting injured strays and wildlife (not owned animals). The rescue vehicle may be reached 24 hours a day at (313) 682-2374. Another phone number that pet owners should keep handy is the Ann Arbor Poison Control hotline, (800) 572-1655, which dispenses emergency information for poisoned pets for a small fee.

But being prepared for your pet's potential emergency situations involves more than knowing who to call.

Knowing what to do is equally important. First aid and CPR techniques for animals vary from those for humans. To teach owners the correct techniques, the Humane Society of Huron Valley (HSHV) is holding a class in emergency first aid and CPR for pets through the Ann Arbor Community Education Program on Wednesday, April 17, at 7 p.m. The two-hour class will be taught by HSHV's own Dr. Annette Walker. Call (313) 994-2300 ext. 216 to register.

To receive a first aid brochure for cats and/or dogs, send a self-addressed stamped legal envelope to First Aid, c/o L. Reider, HSHV, 3100 Cherry Hill Road, Ann Arbor 48106. Please indicate whether you need information for a cat, a dog, or both species. Do you have a pet-related question? Send it to me at the above address.

New Drug Counselor Has Broad Experience

Compared to the problems Cheryl Davis has addressed before, her position as the Chelsea School District's first full-time substance abuse and mental health counselor may seem tame.

Davis, a New Boston resident with a master's degree in social work from Wayne State University, was hired by the district in February. She has worked in methadone programs for heroin addicts, in a rehabilitation hospital where cocaine addicts with brain aneurysms were taken (some the result of beatings), and in devising substance abuse programs for teenage boy prisoners. They're sides of humanity rarely seen in a rural community like Chelsea.

Yet Davis knows Chelsea has its own set of problems that presents its own set of challenges. She said, in general, cigarette, alcohol, and marijuana use has probably risen over the last three years but use of other illicit drugs has fallen.

"The kid who concerns me the most is the one who has a little to drink, likes the feeling, then has a little more and gets in a car," Davis says.

"Then we see his picture in the newspaper. Those kinds of events are the least likely to be predicted and the hardest to deal with. Those are not the kids who are self-destructive and they're not trying to get in their own way. The other thing kids don't understand is alcohol poisoning. They don't know that if they chug it they can die. How do we get them to hear those messages?"

So education will be a large part of Davis' work. She'll be trying to instill the message that both substance abuse and use can be dangerous and deadly. She's been charged with expanding the program started and continued by Christine Dillon and Moira Hubbard. As a full-time counselor, however, she'll be able to spend more time at Beach Middle school and South and North Elementary schools than her predecessors.

Davis sees the work with younger students as vitally important because the local trend in drinking is kids are starting out at a younger age. In addition, many middle school children are experimenting with brain-damaging, yet legal, inhalants, such as airplane glue. That was confirmed in the recent district survey given to 8th, 10th, and 12th graders.

"We don't know whether this is just a trend in this district or in the geographic area because other districts are not sharing their information with anybody," says Davis, who is a member of the St. Clair County Student Assistance Program, which includes schools from Washtenaw and Livingston counties.

"There seems to be a reticence on the part of administrators to share their information. I think the open approach in Chelsea has been very good. In many ways our hands are tied if we don't have adequate information."

Davis will also be seeing students

CHERYL DAVIS, Chelsea School District's new full-time substance abuse and mental health counselor, has dealt with everything from junkies to head trauma patients. She was most recently a consultant for a company that set up adolescent substance abuse programs. However, she felt she was stifled somewhat because she wasn't entirely free to express her own values. She has a master's degree in social work.

who may need immediate help, overseeing support groups, handling referrals to medical professionals, and staffing a resource team. She said the "mental health" portion of her job is not as clearly defined and is, for now, being handled by other people.

Davis said a longer-term goal is to set up a community-wide adolescent program that includes churches, service organizations, and other entities.

Davis is also affiliated with a program called "Teen Institute of Michigan" sponsored by Central Michigan University. The summer program trains teams of teen-agers from schools in leadership skills as they relate to substance abuse prevention. This year the institute runs June 23-29. She hopes a team from Chelsea will attend.

Three Young Chelsea Girls Train at U.S. Space Camp

Three Chelsea youths recently trained for a space adventure at the U.S. Space Camp in Huntsville, Ala., a program designed for youths in grades 4-6.

Kimberly and Krystal Baird and Gerilyn Pearce had the chance to sample astronaut training by using the camp's special astronaut training simulators. They bounce high in the air while in the microgravity training chair, which is similar to equipment used to train astronauts for missions to the moon. They also spun and turned in the five degrees of freedom trainer, which was used by Gemini astronauts in training for early space walks.

The girls also used the nation's only full-scale space shuttle exhibit to get a better understanding of how the space shuttle orbiter works. They donned special space suits and climbed aboard a new vehicle for a simulated moon walk.

Kindergarten Registration Planned at North Elementary

Registration for fall kindergarten classes will be held the week of April 15 at the North Elementary School Media Center.

Anyone with a kindergarten-age child should have received a packet of information from the Chelsea School District. Anyone who has not received the information should contact the Community Education Office at 475-9830.

Registration week will include screening tests for hearing, vision, and motor skills. Registration will be taken by appointment only.

Harold Trinkle To Fill Term

Harold Trinkle was appointed by the Lima Township Board to fill out the term of his brother, Charles, who died recently.

Harold Trinkle is also a member of the township planning commission, as was Charles Trinkle. Township supervisor Bill Van Riper said no decision has been made concerning an appointment to the planning body.

"Personally, I'd like to see it go back to a five-member board because I think they'd get more done," Van Riper said.

Science Oriented Project Offers Chance To Explore Area's Natural History

W.R.A.P. stands for Waterloo Recreation Area Project. This is a unique program for students in kindergarten through 12th grade to explore the natural regions of our community, including its natural history, environmental issues, and environmental responsibility.

Initially the program will be a five-day, intensive, science-oriented summer project. Four groups of 20 students will include grades K-2, 3-5, 6-8, and 9-12. Students will participate in activities geared to their own developmental level within each group. Activities within the natural history category will include observation of fish, birds, plants, animals, soil and water; a look at local geology, wetlands, and ecosystems; and background information about the history of the Waterloo Area and its use by Native Americans.

Students will explore environmental issues through observation and testing of water, soil and air quality, through discovery of waste disposal and sewage treatment methods, and through discussion of agricultural methods and types of land-use planning.

Environmental responsibility will be promoted through many media. Each student will keep a journal as well as participate in other forms of creative expression such as arts and crafts, music, creative writing, news writing, photography, drama, songs, storytelling. Students will also learn about political activism, recycling, community awareness efforts, identifying environmental organizations, environmental career awareness, and exploration of land re-use and reclamation and "living simply" ideas.

Program participants will produce a booklet and other products to share with other students, the community, and program sponsors. Adult community members will have the opportunity to participate as staff or "visiting experts." An opportunity to expand the participation and scope of the project in the future is anticipated, pursuing the goal of community-wide awareness and activism in environmental issues specific to the area.

The program is scheduled for July 22-28, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Most of the activities will be located at the Eddy Geology Center. There is no charge to students.

Registration information will be published in The Chelsea Standard on April 10 and April 17.

This program is sponsored by the Chelsea Education Foundation and its supporters.

Community members interested in assisting with the project may contact Jan Roberts, 475-3615 or write the Chelsea Education Foundation, P.O. Box 296, Chelsea 48118.

"If there is anything in the world a person should fight for it is the freedom to pursue his ideal, because this is his greatest opportunity for self-expression . . ."

—Orestes Sweet Marden

Each of us has his own version of an ideal existence . . . the way of life that will give the most gratification. We may not agree with the ideals but we cannot deny the right to strive for whatever goals are considered important, so long as no hardships are imposed on others.

We should be thankful that we live in a society that allows us freedom to choose and to pursue those ideals that best represent our self-expression.

Your freedom of choice includes selecting a funeral director whose policies coincide with your desires. We invite your consideration.

Andrew P. Dehring Named 'Outstanding Recruit' in His Class

Navy Seaman Recruit Andrew P. Dehring, son of Gregory P. and Judith A. Dehring, of 41 Butternut Court, Chelsea, has graduated with honors and selected as a Lions Club "Outstanding Recruit" at Recruit Training Command, San Diego, Calif.

As the honor graduate of his training company, Dehring demonstrated exemplary qualities, leadership and superior performance during this training period.

During recruit training, Dehring studied seamanship, military regulations, close order drill, first-aid and Naval history.

A 1990 graduate of Chelsea High school, he joined the Navy in October 1990.

With 80 percent of divorced women in the labor force and three out of every four working, they are more likely to be employed than any other marital group, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Women's Bureau. Eighty-eight percent of employed divorcees are full-time workers.

THE DEXTER TOWNSHIP HOUSE in which a homicide occurred, Monday night, April 1, is pictured above. Located on Cottonwood Lane, it was the residence of Sue Ellen and William H. Curtis. Todd Plamondon has been identified and apprehended as the intruder who is suspected of stabbing Sue Ellen Curtis, stealing several items from the home, and driving the 1986 burgundy

Cadillac, which was later spotted by deputy Gary Severin on Interstate-94 near the Rawsonville exit. With the help of back-up units from the Michigan State Police and the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, Plamondon was chased down and apprehended after crashing the automobile and taking off afoot.

Nothing New Yet in Curtis Murder Case

"Nothing new to report," was the message from the team of detectives at the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, Tuesday morning, April 9. Detective Kennon heads the homicide investigation initiated after Sue Ellen Curtis was found stabbed in her Dexter township home, Monday night, April 1.

A pre-trial hearing has been scheduled at 9:45 a.m. Wednesday, April 17, in the 14th District Court, Chelsea, for Todd Plamondon, who is charged with five offenses: open murder, breaking and entering, armed robbery, unlawfully driving away an automobile, and a firearms felony.

At the onset of the investigation, it was thought that Plamondon was not known to either William Curtis or his wife, but detectives have since learned Curtis and Plamondon were at least acquaintances, and had met frequently at an Ypsilanti bar.

Investigators are trying very hard to veil information on the homicide, so as not to prejudice the case before it reaches the courtroom.

The vehicle was recovered from the area where it was crashed, and was given a thorough check by detectives.

Anyone with additional information about the incident is asked to contact WCSO detective Kennon, who heads the investigation, or detective Craig Swenson, chief of criminal investigations at the department.

Village Planners Okay Zoning Changes for Lots

Two village parcels, one of which will be used for a new downtown parking lot, were recommended for rezoning by the village planning commission on Tuesday, March 28.

Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority asked the village to change the zoning of the parcels at 114 and 120 South St., immediately behind the Chelsea 14th District Courthouse, from two-family residential to commercial. DDA is purchasing the house immediately behind the courthouse and plans to move it to a village lot in May. A parking lot will be built in its place.

The second house, a rental duplex owned by Don Cole, will remain where it is. The zoning change was necessary, in part, to reduce the parking lot setback from 20 to five feet. A parking lot adjoining a residential district has to maintain a 20-foot setback.

Cole will still be able to rent the home as a two-family residence even though it will be in a commercial zone, assuming village council approves the change.

Council is scheduled to consider the change at its April 9 meeting.

In other planning commission business, Dave Prohaska, a member of the commission, was granted a special use permit for a printing business he plans to open April 15 in the former Secretary of State building on Main St.

A printing business is considered a special permitted use in a C-5 commercial district.

The commission took no action on proposed revisions to the village's home occupation ordinance. One of the items at issue is the definition of a commercial vehicle.

Finally, the commission discussed the need to follow up in zoning enforcement. The discussion focused on the failure of developer Rene Papo to complete promised landscaping at his Chelsea Shopping Center.

Farm Leaders OK New Dairy Position

Acting on a recommendation forwarded by its Dairy Advisory Committee, the American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF) Board of Directors has taken an important new policy position on the federal dairy program, according to Jack Laurie, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Laurie, who serves on the AFBF board, said they voted to support a milk pricing program established on a base and excess concept tied directly to commercial utilization and market reserve.

"The board said the proposal should establish a separate, market-clearing price for excess milk and should be designed to allow a profitable relationship between supply and demand," said Laurie. "The program should be initiated on an annual basis, only if estimates of industry controlled purchases exceed a prescribed trigger level. The program should be administered by an industry controlled board consisting of dairy farmers."

Laurie said the board also repeated its opposition to program assessments which are then diverted, ostensibly for deficit reduction.

Economic Breakfast Club Will Hear Wm. Rosenberg

Chelsea Economic Breakfast Club will move its regular meeting to Saturday, April 20, to hear Chelsea resident, William Rosenberg, assistant administrator for the Office of Air and Radiation in Washington, D.C., as the guest speaker. He will discuss his involvement in the development and passage of the Clean Air Act and its ramifications for the nation. The meeting will begin at 8 a.m. in the Main Dining Room of the Chelsea Community Hospital.

Rosenberg was appointed by President George Bush to become assistant administrator for Air and Radiation, U.S. EPA, Washington, D.C., Chief of Air Policy for the U.S. Government. He is responsible for developing and implementing environmental regulations and serves as lead for the USA in international policy development in such areas as acid rain and stratospheric ozone protection.

Previously he was chairman of The Investment Group in Ann Arbor which engaged in acquisition, development, and finance of income-producing real estate from 1982-1989. From 1977 to 1982 he was president of Rosenberg, Freeman & Associates in Ann Arbor, a firm which developed multi-family housing. He has also served with the Federal Energy Administration in Washington, D.C. as assistant administrator, Energy Resource Development and as chairman of State Regulatory Commission of the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Chelsea Economic Breakfast Club is co-sponsored by Society Bank and the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce and ordinarily meets in the Hospital on the third Wednesday of each month. Topics and speakers which would interest members of Chelsea and the surrounding communities are presented.

The meeting is open to the public. A continental breakfast for $3 will be served at 8 a.m. The program, which includes a brief question and answer session, will be adjourned at 9:30 a.m. Reservations are requested and should be made through Mark Bailly, Society Bank, at 475-9154 or Ann Feeney, Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, at 475-1145.

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON—A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Researchers in Europe found that an ingredient in the aptly named product Food Source One actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.

While the development of Food Source One, a project of National Dietary Research, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the discovery has been a windfall for overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143, I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 15 days on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One is available through physicians and pharmacies without a prescription because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients already known to be safe. Copies of the referenced study are available free from National Dietary Research, Suite 553, 1377 K St., Washington, DC 20005, however, please include $2 postage & handling for each request.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Washtenaw county is one of only a few counties in Michigan that are growing, growing, growing! If you ever wondered what the "urban tide" was, just look at the suburban growth going on around Ann Arbor/Chelsea/Saline and you will know. Now the southwestern portion of the county, consisting of Freedom township, Bridgewater township, Sharon township, Manchester township, and Manchester village, has to decide whether the Manchester area becomes another area of urban growth or stays a small rural community. This is not only a big question, it's a very tough one.

We are a unique group around Manchester. Some of us are from families that have lived on, worked on, and loved these lands for generations. Some of us are transplanted urbanites who love this area with a passion no less intense for being new. We are in the Manchester area because we value a rural community. The big question is—do we, old and new, want to stay small, rural, low density? (and probably not as financially well off as we could be); or—do we want to welcome the urban tide and the increased financial opportunity that it may or may not bring. NOW is the time for southwestern Washtenaw county to answer that question.

Manchester township is in the process of rewriting their General Development Plan. This plan will be that township's statement of how they want their community to look in 10 to 15 years. Freedom township has passed a sliding scale zoning ordinance as part of a rural preservation effort. Bridgewater township has been in the process of ongoing revisions for some time. Now Sharon township has begun its own General Development Plans revisions.

What our community becomes in the next 10 to 15 years depends on what we, as a community, decide.

The only way to come up with the best answer is to do it together. Together means going to township meetings and speaking up. Every voice is needed in the decision on where we want to go and how we are going to get there. Local government is the purest form of democracy that exists, and it is the most precious "possession" we have. As a planning commissioner in Sharon township, I would love to see hundreds of people at every meeting because I need to hear what people have to say and what they want. If your township is not what you want five years from now and you did not speak up, you can blame no one but yourself. This is especially true in Sharon township. If there is one thing I do know, I know this: what our community wants is listened to and matters very, very much.

The Sharon township community has had to come out for some big issues in the past year. There was the proposed gravel pit/asphalt plant, two rezoning hearings for subdivisions, condominium development inquiries and it's not stopping here! So far, the message received is "Keep our community rural!" That is a value that has been held in Sharon township for as long as I know of. If this is still what we want, NOW is the time to say it again with up-to-date, strong, legally accurate documents that will enable our community to be what it wants to be. Those documents are the General Development Plan and the Zoning Ordinance.

NOW is a time like no other to help determine the way our community will look in 5 to 10 years. If you want strip malls, subdivisions, lots of shopping, and all of the rest that comes with being a suburb, come and speak up! If you don't want those things, you really need to come and speak up! In other words, please come to the meetings and speak up!

Together we can come up with the answers that have the best chance of expressing what most of us want. Unfortunately not all of us will get exactly what we want. Hopefully, most of us will get most of what we want.

Beginning Thursday, April 11 at 8 p.m., the Sharon township planning commission will be starting a series of weekly, Thursday night meetings to take public input on the General Development Plan revisions and the resulting Zoning Ordinance revisions. The Sharon township planning commission feels so seriously about the importance of this process that we asked the township board for (and received) a three-month moratorium on all planning commission business on April 4. We are going to meet every week during this time without pay, and we are going to work our tails off so that our community will still be what we want it to be in 10 years. Please come to as many meetings as you can to help out.

First draft copies of the goals and objectives will be available at Wachter's and Green Lakes Bank in Manchester. Stop by and pick one up. Let the planning commission know what you would like, and what you think, at the upcoming Thursday night meetings. As much as it may be inconvenient or a bother, the time to speak and act is NOW.

Sandra Thomson
Sharon Township
Planning Commissioner.

Dear Editor:

During the week of March 18-24 we had the pleasure of accommodating the Chelsea High School Band at the Holiday Inn on King in Toronto, Ontario.

Needless to say, any hotel would shudder at the prospect of 180 teenagers descending on them for a week and may even consider passing on such a group.

The Holiday Inn on King took a chance on the Chelsea High School Band and are we glad we did. The city of Chelsea can take pride in their young people.

The Chelsea Band members were at all times polite, courteous and well mannered. At no time during their stay were any other guests inconvenienced or voiced complaints. The management and staff of the Holiday Inn on King found the members of the band to be co-operative and receptive to all requests.

We wish to thank Mr. Bill Gourley, the chaperons and especially the band members themselves for a wonderful experience.

Chelsea High School Band, you are welcome anytime!

Dear Editor,

Please allow me to use this forum to thank Harold Allen for his time and trouble in putting on the Easter Egg hunt.

My two sons, Chad and Ross, had a fine time, as they do every year. In fact, Chad has gone to the hunt, rain or shine, wind or rain since he was two. I believe that next year, because he will be a third grader, he'll have to retire. They have never found one of the "special" eggs, but that doesn't seem to matter. We have had some mighty fine egg-salad sandwiches that for some reason are better than the ones made the rest of the year.

Again, thank you to Harold Allen, and to Polly's for the egg donation, and to the people who colored all those eggs!

Denise, Chad, and Ross Fortner.

Dear Editor,

I recently had a wonderful experience at Chelsea Hospital that I would like to share with the community.

Six months ago, my fiancé John and I had planned to get married on St. Patrick's Day at St. James Episcopal church in Dexter. All the plans were final by the time March came around until we were told that my mother had to have surgery. The situation was rather serious, therefore surgery was scheduled to take place just four days before our wedding with a six- to eight-week recovery period.

Needless to say, we were in absolute turmoil over the surgery and the wedding. My mother requested that the wedding go on as planned; however, I could not bring myself to exclude her from such an important day. There seemed to be no light at the end of the tunnel, that is until Dr. Portz's office became involved. They made arrangements to have the wedding in the hospital chapel and the reception in the private dining room so that my mother could attend.

The surgery was a complete success and as unusual as it may sound, the wedding went beautifully. I found Chelsea Community Hospital to be everything a hospital should be. It offers a pleasant environment and a warm atmosphere with caring professionals. My mother and family received outstanding personal care and words alone cannot express our appreciation.

Special thanks to: Dr. Douglas Portz, Dr. Howard Usitalo and Dr. Gerald Utaler for taking excellent care of my mother, Joy Davis. Sue Wagner, R.N., for making the wedding arrangements; Father Harry Shaefer for coming to the hospital to perform the ceremony; Ron, Sharon and all the cafeteria staff for supplying beverages and offering their help with the reception; all the nurses for giving the wedding party a private room to change in and for their help looking for my husband's lost wedding band; and Ethel, my mother's roommate during her stay, for putting up with a dozen strangers invading her privacy every day. Our best wishes to you for a speedy recovery.

With God's grace and the help of those at Chelsea Community Hospital, what should have been the happiest day of my life was exactly that. Many, many thanks.

Rhonda & John Granet
and the Davis Family.

Hospital Auxiliary Helps Fund Traumatic Brain Injury Camp

Chelsea Community Hospital will sponsor its third annual Traumatic Brain Injury Camp. The campers' destination is the beautiful Lake Louise Methodist facility at Boyne Falls. The trip will take place the week of Aug. 25-30.

Up to 15 of the campers are survivors of traumatic head injuries, most of which result from automobile accidents. These campers are accompanied by an interdisciplinary team of health professionals from Chelsea Community Hospital. The team is among the most comprehensive offered for such an outing and consists of physical, occupational, speech and recreational therapists, as well as social work and nursing professionals.

Under the leadership of Donna Murphy, director of the hospital's Recreational Therapy Department, a committee of professionals are planning for camp. They include Jan Collins, recreational therapist; Warren Clark, social worker; Pam Van Buren, occupational therapist; Beth Bertelsen, speech pathologist; John O'Connor, physical therapist; and Shirley Miller, R.N.

Chelsea Community Hospital's Auxiliary has donated $3,000 in scholarship funds to help pay camping expenses. This follows a donation by the Auxiliary the previous year of $5,800. "The support of the Auxiliary has been incredible," states Murphy. "The experience that camp provides for survivors of Traumatic Brain Injury is an unforgettable one. The Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary can be proud of their efforts and significant donations, because this project can change peoples' lives. Many patients would be unable to attend the camp without these scholarship funds."

In addition to the Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary support, other Chelsea-area businesses have expressed interest in supporting the project. Palmer Ford-Mercury has been involved for the past two years by donating the use of a vehicle to transport campers and staff.

"The support for this project is growing," said Murphy. "Many people know the devastating effects of traumatic brain injury either through personal experience or through an acquaintance. Sharing the experiences of this project and seeking support can help to further educate others to understand the needs of traumatic brain injury survivors and their families."

Those interested in learning more about the camp may reach Murphy at the hospital, at 475-3962.

Red Cross Sponsors Workshop for Area Military Families

Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross is sponsoring a Reunion Workshop for Desert Storm families and returning military personnel on Saturday, April 13, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the Washtenaw County Human Services Building, 655 Towne St., Ypsilanti. "Purpose of the workshop is to address the adjustment process and related issues that military families will have to face," said Jacqueline Terpstra, co-ordinator of Support Services to Military Families for the Red Cross. Air Bag Probably Saves Driver's Life

An airbag which inflated on impact was very likely responsible for saving the life of Deborah Schenk, driver of a 1990 Cadillac, struck by a second vehicle in a crash, reported at 1:50 a.m. Thursday, April 4, and in which four people were seriously injured, and a fifth was also injured.

Deputy John Haensler from the traffic services unit, Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, explained all five victims were transported from the crash scene to University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor, by Huron Valley Ambulance. Haensler was assisted at the crash scene by several additional WCSD deputies.

Schenk apparently didn't have her seat belt engaged, but the airbag with which her automobile was equipped inflated automatically.

Nina Stivers, a passenger in the Schenk car, was properly secured in a seat belt, and suffered lesser injuries than the other four people.

John Babycz and his passengers, Patrick O'Brien of Ypsilanti, and Kathy Walker of Ann Arbor, were all listed with serious injuries.

None of the three had a properly-engaged seat belt at the time of the crash, deputy Haensler reported.

A motorist who resides on Jennings Rd. received minor injuries when the truck he was driving eastbound on Joy Rd., Monday evening, April 1, went off the right side of the road and struck a tree.

Deputy Dunnigan, assigned to investigate the crash, said it was alcohol-related.

The first city-wide general strike took place in Seattle in 1919 when approximately 60,000 workers refused to go to work in support of striking metal trades workers who wanted a wage increase, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

'Shoe Man,' By Jeff Daniels Opens April 25 at Purple Rose

"Shoe Man," an original comedy by Jeff Daniels, will begin performances Thursday, April 25 at the Purple Rose Theatre Company, 137 Park St., in Chelsea. Performances are scheduled Thursdays through Sundays from April 25 until June 2.

Set in a small Michigan town, "Shoe Man" spoofs some of the community's passionate beliefs, including religion, sexual relationships and the grand game of golf. The intertwining of these passions, both on and off the course, leads the play's characters through a two-hour romp of infidelity, mayhem and the proper way of hitting a seven iron.

Written by Jeff Daniels, noted film actor and unheralded Michigan playwright, "Shoe Man" is the second original script to be produced by the Purple Rose Theatre Company since its inception in January, 1991. The production, with a cast of eight performers, continues the goal and mission statement of the Purple Rose Theatre Company: to allow Michigan performers, designers and playwrights an opportunity to showcase their talents and entertain audience members from around the state.

The cast of "Shoe Man" includes Erik Fredricksen (Ann Arbor), Dana Gamarra (Dearborn), Joanne McGee (Farmington Hills), Janet Maylie (Ann Arbor), and John Seibert (Ypsilanti), all members of Actor's Equity Association. Others in the cast include James Cooper (Ann Arbor), Linda Parolini (Southfield) and Patricia Rector (Ann Arbor).

"Shoe Man" is being directed by T. Newell Kring, Artistic director of the Purple Rose Theatre Company. Scenic design is by Gary Decker with lighting design by Susan Chute. Lynn Durgom-McQuown is designing both costumes and props and Ken Beauchamp is serving as sound designer. Sandra Houde will stage manage the production.

Five low-priced preview performances of "Shoe Man" begin Thursday, April 25 through Thursday, May 2. The Official Opening Night will be Friday, May 3. Regular performances will be Thursdays through Saturdays at 8 p.m. with Sunday performances at 2 and 7 p.m. (No matinee is scheduled for Sunday, April 28.)

The Purple Rose Theatre Company Box Office will re-open Wednesday, April 10 at 12 noon. Reservations and additional information may be obtained by calling the Box Office at 475-7902 Tuesdays through Fridays, noon to 6 p.m.

SPORTS

Let's Go
Bulldogs!

Speed, Defense Give Dogs Shot at Softball Title

Five seniors, seven juniors, one sophomore, and a new coach hope to give Chelsea Bulldogs softball fans their first Southeastern Conference title in three seasons.

Coach Amy Poljan says she has plenty of pitching depth, good team speed, and enough sock at the plate to score some runs.

"We have four good pitchers and right now it looks like it'll come down to who wants to pitch the most," said Poljan, Chelsea's most accomplished pitcher ever.

"They all have different strengths. We'll just have to see how it works out the next couple of weeks. We'll give everyone the chance."

Senior Colleen Scharphorn is perhaps the hardest thrower on the team and one of the favorites to see a lot of time on the mound. Junior Jennifer Petty is another hard thrower. They were scheduled to get the first starts of the season yesterday at home against Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Senior Sara Musolf, "who will be a good control pitcher for us," and junior Kelly Cross "who has a real good drop pitch," could also see a lot of mound time.

As usual, the Bulldogs will feature a strong bunt-and-run game on offense.

"I'm fairly conservative," Poljan says.

"I believe we have to establish the bunting game and control the game defensively. But we might do a little more swinging than they have in the past. We just have to see if we can hit on a consistent basis."

Chelsea will have plenty of speed in Musolf, Petty, senior Dana Durst, and juniors Christine Burg and Jennifer Teare. Petty, Scharphorn, Cross, junior Jenny Bobo, and seniors Shawn Losey and Kelly Bellus should provide the power at the plate.

Poljan says her team may play with more abandon on the base paths.

"Fans should see a lot more running, although the only comparison I have is the three games I coached against Chelsea last year," Poljan says.

"It's taking the kids a little time to get used to how I want them to set up, but they seem to be excited to go tearing around the bases."

Defensively, the Bulldogs should be solid. Most of their infield returns and they have plenty of speed in the outfield.

The early-season line-up looks like Bobo at catcher, Cross at first base, Musolf at second, Burg at shortstop, and Bellus at third. Durst, Teare, and Petty or Scharphorn (depending on who's pitching) should get the call in the outfield.

Losey, Bellus, and sophomore Theresa Hurst are catchers, Scharphorn and Durst can play the infield, and juniors Danielle Taylor and Liz Taylor will play the outfield.

The Bulldogs should be one of the teams to beat in the league. Tecumseh returns a strong team and Saline has some talented players returning.

Most league teams have new coaches this season, including Tecumseh, Dexter, Saline, Milan, and Lincoln.

Poljan is assisted by her former coach, Charlie Waller.

Boat Safety Classes Set at Sheriff's Dept.

Sheriff Ron Schebl has announced that the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department/Marine Safety Section and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources will offer pleasure boating classes throughout the county during the months of May and June.

The pleasure boating classes are open to all without charge; texts, notebooks, and related materials will be provided. Persons successfully completing the course will receive a Boating Safety Certificate. The Boating Safety Certificate also permits persons between the ages of 12-16 to operate a powerboat (6 h.p. or greater) without adult supervision.

Program instructions will include the following:

- Michigan watercraft laws and regulations;
- Familiarization with rules for the road and navigation aids;
- Principles of safe small boat handling and seamanship;
- Proper selection and maintenance of equipment;
- First aid pertaining to water sports; and
- Accident prevention, rescue and assistance.

Classes that are scheduled to be taught at the Sheriff's Department will be on May 4-16 and June 15-22. Class will begin at 9 a.m. and end at 3 p.m. They will be conducted in the Administrative Conference Room.

Please contact the Marine Safety Division of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department at 971-7551 for further information and registration.

EDUCATION RESEARCH

Prepared by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP), Reston, Va.

★ Adults Should Understand Teen Stress ...

Reston, Va.—Today's teen-agers are subjected to stress and pressure in many activities and encounters throughout the day, advises a book published by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP).

"Stress can play an important role in a teen-ager's physical and emotional development and success as an individual," indicates Dr. Timothy J. Dyer, NASSP executive director. "It's essential that adults—both educators and parents watch for signs of stress in adolescents and deal with them."

Stress is the body's general response to any demand made upon it according to the book, Adolescent Stress.

"Some people are more vulnerable to stress, and all of us vary from time to time in our individual vulnerability," the authors wrote. "Vulnerability to stress is determined by a set of complex interactions among our biological predispositions, which include health, lifestyle, and financial, spiritual, and social resources for coping with stress."

The book provides numerous suggestions on how educators can help students deal with stress. Many also are appropriate for parents:

- Parents should be aware that what is stressful for one adolescent may not be stressful for another. Stress is unique. Respond to each individual as an individual. Support and encourage. Avoid unreasonable pressure.

- Have a good sense of humor. When used appropriately, it can help cut through stress. Remember, a helping person tries to understand adolescents and is concerned about them. A helping person is someone who can give or suggest help when it is needed without causing embarrassment.

- Set rules, procedures, and consequences, if necessary, when working with your adolescents. Make it easy for teens to understand what is expected of them and how they can be successful.

- Be a positive role model, making it easy for others to learn from you. Make it easy for your students to interact with you.

- The sooner we identify stress and begin to deal with the problem, the better. Recognize the problem—name it, focus on it, and plan a course of action.

- Teach adolescents to respect themselves. Help them to accept who they are, their strengths and weaknesses. Help them to understand what talents they can develop and to appreciate their gifts.

- Help adolescents learn to listen to themselves. Their feelings and opinions are valid and important. Students with positive self-esteem are more receptive to new thoughts and risk taking. They experience less stress.

- Set realistic goals. Achievements create a sense of accomplishment and pride. Teach students to set reasonable, clear, and concise goals.

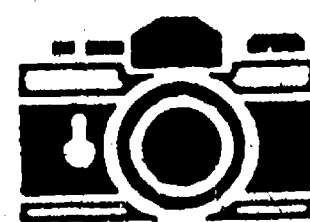

- Help adolescents to believe in themselves as capable, significant, successful, and worthy. They will be better adjusted more independent, less defensive, and have a greater acceptance of others.
