VILLAGE TRUSTEE Jack Myers will take over as village manager next month. Myers, a 20-year veteran of the U.S. Marines and current manager of a computer repair department at the University of Michigan, says he's excited by the challenge of a different job. He has no municipal management experience.

Myers Says He's Excited By 'The Challenge' of Job As New Village Manager

Jack Myers knows "it'll be a tough situation for a while," but Chelsea's newly-appointed village manager says he's ready for the challenge that awaits him in early June.

Myers, whose only municipal experience has been his 13 months as a village trustee, was offered the job last week at a special session of village council. The post has been vacant since Robert Stalker, a man whose entire education and professional experience was in government, was forced to resign in February.

Myers says the "challenge" is one of the primary reasons he is leaving a management post at the University of Michigan after six years. There he runs the Information Technology Service Center, a 14-employee operation that repairs about 450-500 personal computers each month. The department generates its own operating revenues from repairs.

"I've always liked a challenge," Myers says.

"I like to take over an office and get it running the way I see fit. Sure, it's a drastic move, but I look at it this way. It's no more drastic than leaving the U.S. Marines after 20 years to go into the unknown. I want to get involved with something new and different and get things organized. I'm not a miracle-worker, but I do believe I'll be an asset to the village."

From 1962 until 1982 Myers worked for the U.S. Marines. After high school he had intended to go to college to be a dentist. After being accepted at Marshall University, he discovered he couldn't afford the tuition and joined the Marines with a friend with the idea of earning money toward college. Initially he was assigned to electronics school, but during the Bay of Pigs operation in Cuba became part of the infantry.

"I was there for three months when someone came into the tent and told me my orders had come through," Myers said.

"He told me I was going into discharging, and I said 'what's discharging?'"

"That was the beginning of Myers' financial training."

Myers became involved in military payroll and expense account operations, was commissioned as a finance officer, and eventually handled everything from audits to paying contractors.

He served in Vietnam during the Tet Offensive and saw enough action to earn the Combat Action Ribbon and the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry.

"It got quite hairy at times," Myers says.

However, his primary duties remained financial affairs.

Myers got out of the military in 1982 after he learned he would have to return to Okinawa. He had just married his wife, Nancy, another finance officer, and didn't want all the upheaval of a long-distance move.

In 1983, Nancy's father died. Nancy grew up in the Dexter area and had attended Dexter schools. They decided to move back to the area, one thing led to another, and they landed in Chelsea at 306 Wilkinson St. in December of 1984.

"It was the first house we looked at," he says.

"I really liked the way Chelsea looked, and it seemed like a nice place to raise a family."

In his role as village trustee, Myers has worked closely with the fire department and the waste management committee. He has tended to vote conservatively on financial matters and probably questions expenditures more than any other trustee.

He will take that attitude to the job, he says, despite the fact that he knows Chelsea's infrastructure has problems and some parts of it, like streets, need immediate attention.

Myers says he is under no illusions about the job—he has a lot of learning to do about all aspects of government.

He says his first order of business will be to familiarize himself with all departments as well as the business community.

"I'd like to get more involved on site with services like public works," Myers says.

"I also want to get to know the merchants and business people and try to understand their problems and concerns. It's the same with the citizens in general." He's not involved with any local service organizations but is considering some affiliation.

Myers also says he'll be counting on various legal, planning, and engineering experts at his disposal when confronted with problems he can't answer.

"I don't want the citizens to think I'm learning at their expense, but to

School Board Puts $23.75 Million Bond Issue on September Ballot

Chelsea Board of Education Monday night voted 5-2 to put a $23.75 million bond issue before the voters in September for the construction of a new elementary school as well as renovations and construction district-wide.

Trustees John Eisenbeiser and Joe Redding voted against trustee Ron Satterthwaite's motion. Initially a voice vote was taken which indicated a 4-2 split. However, president Ann Comeau requested a roll call vote, which allowed her to officially cast a vote. Comeau has been an enthusiastic supporter of the plan.

If approved, the project will become the largest public project ever undertaken in Chelsea, more than twice as large as the village's wastewater treatment plant. It would dwarf the district's last bond issue of $4.8 million in 1973. That covered the bus garage and swimming pool, among other projects.

"Obviously, we would have preferred a unanimous vote," said assistant superintendent Fred Mills.

"But not all actions of the board are unanimous. I can't speak for [Eisenbeiser and Redding], but I believe the board will work hard to get the bond issue passed."

Mills said a combination of current interest and capital appreciation bonds would be sold and that about 2.2 mills in property taxes would be needed to finance the project over 30 years.

"It depends on what interest rates the bonds might be sold at," Mills said. He said projections assume a rate of between 6.8 percent and 7.25 percent.

Mills said the recently-enacted property tax freeze should have little effect because projections assumed a rise in SEV of about five percent after the first year. Voters will decide whether to cap property tax assessments at five percent or inflation, whichever is less.

"The magnitude of this issue and the current burden of the taxpayers is high," Mills said.

"We'll have to be involved in convincing the public that this plan meets the needs of the district."

The plan includes a new K-1 elementary school, at a yet to be determined site, as well as renovations and/or new construction at all four schools. It will take about three years to complete the project.

Some major portions of the project include the following:

- Construction of a new elementary school for $8 million.
- Classroom, building, and mechanical renovations at North and South schools for $2.75 million.

Washington Street Show Choir Cabaret Slated Saturday

Rehearsals are in progress preparing for the Washington Street Show Choir Cabaret.

This evening of family entertainment is scheduled for Saturday, May 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the High School Auditorium.

Advance tickets are available at Chelsea Pharmacy. Tickets will also be available at the door.

- Installation of high technology systems at all schools to allow increased use of computers and other aids for $2.18 million.
- Renovations at Beach Middle school for $610,000.
- Renovations and new construction at Chelsea High school for $14.1 million. Included is enclosure of the walkways, installation of new lockers, construction of an additional classroom building, renovations to existing areas, energy saving measures such as new windows and a new HVAC system, installation of a sprinkler system, construction of a new performance (three-station) gymnasium, construction of new baseball and softball fields, construction of new science labs and a music room, and renovation of the old gym and locker areas.

• Work on Mayer Dr. for $275,000 with the idea of "getting out of the road business," as Mills put it.

Mills said bond issues area-wide are being passed about 60 to 70 percent of the time.

The next step is for the district to have the election approved by the appropriate authorities and for ballot language to be created.

Teenagers Nabbed For Local Break-Ins

Police are seeking charges against two young teen-age boys in connection with a series of break-ins downtown earlier this month.

The boys, age 13 and 14, neither of whom attend Chelsea schools, broke into Chelsea Milling Co. in two places, Main Street Flower Shop, Farmers Supply Co. and Longworth Plating early Sunday, April 28.

They did not, however, break into The Country Rose as reported last week. There was no break-in at that business.

Police said the boys are from the general area but attend schools in Grass Lake and Ann Arbor.

According to reports, the boys stole about $1,100 from a safe in Farmers Supply, a felony offense. They also took soft drinks, a key to a drink machine, and a telephone from the store. They also allegedly broke out a window at Longworth Plating, took about $60, a radio-cassette player, and flowers from the flower store, and broke out windows at the mill, where they took two sets of scales and discharged three fire extinguishers.

The boys gained access to all the business by breaking out windows.

Police said the boys were seen in the downtown area prior to the incidents.

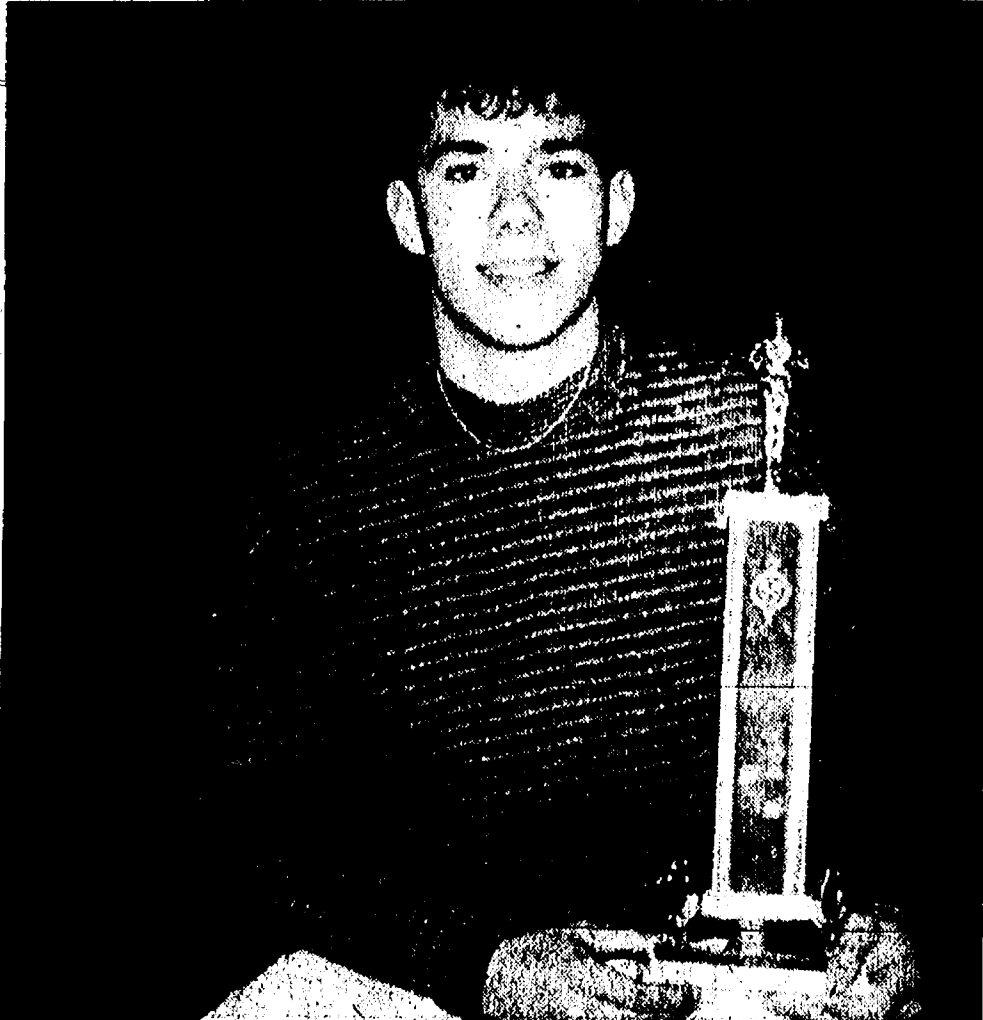

Middle School Substance Abuse Group Planned

An informational meeting on the formation of a parent support network aimed at preventing child substance abuse will be held Tuesday, May 14 at 7:30 p.m. at Beach Middle school.

The parent support network, called "As Parents We Will..." is designed to help middle schoolchildren by reducing many of the risks which confront children in their social development. The title of the group reinforces the commitment of parents.

The meeting will be held in the Large Group Instructional room by district substance abuse/mental health counselor Cheryl Davis.

Chelsea Forensics Team Takes Fourth at State Competition

BRETT SALAMIN, a senior at Chelsea High school, won a state forensics title in poetry with his performance of works by David Edder at the state tournament at Western Michigan University.

Chelsea High school forensics team placed fourth in class B at the state forensics championships at Western Michigan University last Friday and Saturday.

Chelsea was led by senior Brett Salamin, who won a state title in poetry with his performance of selections by David Edder. Individual titles and places include all classes of schools. He was the fourth Chelsea student ever to win a state title. The others were Phil Powers, Phil Thomson, and Rob Coelius.

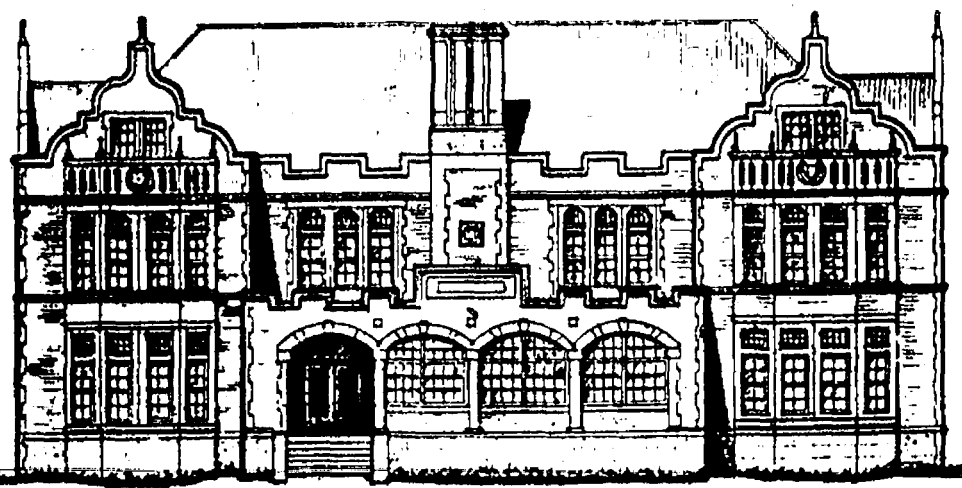

Coelius became only the second CHS student ever to place in the top six at a state tournament, joining Powers. This year he took fourth place in prose with his rendition of "Lost at C" by Jean Shepherd.

Other Chelsea performers also placed in the tournament, but not high enough to earn a trophy. Sophomore Megan Stielstra placed seventh in informative with a piece on umbrellas, Becky Pryor placed 10th in poetry 9-10, with a series of selections on the women's movement, the Fantastics multiple of Rob Jaques, Chris Craig, Matt Carlson, Matt Peckham, and Chris Dunlap placed 18th, and Jane Pacheco placed 22nd in broadcasting.

ANNUAL SIXTH GRADE CAMP began at Mill Lake this week and these three girls created the official camp t-shirt for this year. Theme of the camp is "Peace and Harmony," which inspired the girls to come up with "Feed the animals, water the trees, But to peace we hold the keys." From left are Mariah Cherem, Monica Royce, and Jacki Setta.

The control room at WCHS, Chelsea High school's internal radio station, was dedicated to the memory of Strat Rademacher, the former Chelsea student who was killed in an automobile accident. Rademacher had planned on a career in radio. The plaque is inscribed "So that others may realize his dreams." The Strat Rademacher Memorial Fund purchased a lot of new equipment for WCHS.

Honorary lifetime membership in the Chelsea Area Historical Society was awarded to Will Connelly, a charter member, at the May meeting of the society. A plaque, presented on behalf of the society by president Kathleen Chapman, cites Connelly's efforts on behalf of the Chelsea Sesquicentennial Celebration, his efforts in connection with the Chelsea Depot Association and numerous activities of the Historical Society including recognition of the depot as a Michigan State Historic Site.

A break-in at Hatch Stamping Co. sometime over the May 1 week-end netted a thief or thieves $10-$11 in cash, according to Chelsea police. Someone apparently used two steel rods to pry open a garage-door window to enter the building.

Anne Stuermer, a second grade teacher at North Elementary school who was retiring after 23 years in the Chelsea school system, was honored with a series of events including a limousine ride, concert, and luncheon. She started the day by being driven to school in a limousine rented by the Parent-Teacher Association. When she arrived, the whole school was waiting outside to greet her. Standing in the road were her own second grade students holding a banner proclaiming "We'll miss you." Later that morning, Jed Fritzele conducted high school orchestra in a concert dedicated to Stuermer.

Dexter Depot Party Store, located on Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd. next to the Cottage Inn, changed hands. Dave Rechinger, who started the store three years ago, sold it to a couple from Chelsea, Winona and Duane Landwehr.

If the rush for pledge forms is any indication of the number of riders who would pedal their way through Chelsea's second annual "Ride for Research" cancer bike-a-thon, the event should be a huge success. Coordinating the bike-a-thon were Donna Palmer of the American Cancer Society, Chelsea Chapter, and Elmer Kiel of Chrysler Proving Grounds, site of the 25-mile biking trail.

Engler Presses for Approval Of Headlee Petitions

The 20 percent Headlee property tax should be approved by the legislature and public even if it falls slightly short of legal requirements for valid petition signatures, Governor John Engler said.

Aides said Engler is now endorsing the far larger two-year Headlee plan as a first preference, rather than his own proposal for a three-year 20 percent cut applied just to school operational taxes. "The people of Michigan want significant property tax relief now. The Headlee proposal is an important step towards this goal," Engler said.

Asserting the number of valid signatures needed to certify the petition to the Legislature is close to and perhaps above the number required, Engler said, "If there is a question, the Board of Canvassers should err on the side of the people."

With many signatures still under review, elections officials have indicated they found 190,227 valid signatures among the 224,000 submitted by Taxpayers United for Assessment Cuts last September.

Under state law, 191,726 valid names are required to force a vote in the Legislature or at the November, 1992 general election ballot.

The group asserts 210,759 signatures are valid, arguing earlier this month the board has improperly disallowed 15,428 signatures and found proof to support 5,054 others which are in question.

"Names were disallowed after a review of a sample size, based on such things as illegible signatures, incomplete or erroneous identification regarding voter registration, and duplication.

"Since they're so close, they should certify the petitions and let the Legislature debate it. The number of valid signatures is so close and the number in question is such a small amount, go ahead and certify because they haven't been able to make a decision," Engler press secretary John Truscott said.

But Kevin Moody, attorney for the Michigan Education Association which challenges the validity of about 17,000 signatures, said the governor has a right to advocate certain policies, but the board is controlled by legal decisions and rules that determine if petitions are certified. "Based on our information, there's not enough," he said.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Warren M. Hoyt, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

He said the constitution reserves the right of initiative petition to a small minority of the citizenry, adding, "It's not something that you can say is close enough." And, if the MEA challenges are upheld, he said the number will not even be considered close.

Elections Director Chris Thomas said the board will likely meet the week of May 13 to review the results of the election staff's investigation into allegations of a number of invalid signatures. But he noted that report is not yet ready and no one knows how close the issue is to the number of valid signatures required. "People are operating without full information," he said.

Senate Majority Leader Richard Posthumus (R-Alto) introduced a resolution last week urging the board to certify the petitions.

Opponents alleged a substantial additional number of signatures were duplicates, which under board policy means not even the first of the duplicated signature is counted.

Moody said the duplication problem was more evident on petitions that had been revised by the Headlee group to remove a warning notice against signing more than once.

"The issue is important enough that we need some form of significant property tax relief immediately and this would help push the debate forward. If the board will move ahead and certify, yes we will support it," Truscott said. "If not, then we will pick up our tax plan again."

Approval of the plan by the Legislature would add to the problems in next year's budget, where Engler allocated $287 million to cover the first-year cost of his tax proposal.

The Department of Treasury estimates the Headlee plan would cost $727 million in 1991-92, after allowing for savings under the property tax credit program, and rise to $1,694 million in 1992-93.

The assessment cut applies to calendar years, retroactive to Dec. 31, 1990. It would mean taxpayers in all classes would save about $460 million in 1991 and $1.03 billion in 1992.

The governor did not directly contact the four members of the Board of Canvassers, equally divided along party lines, about his views, Truscott said. Approval of the petitions requires votes of three members.

The last time the board disallowed petitions was in 1982 when it determined proponents of a death penalty constitutional amendment fell about 42,000 signatures short of the 286,000 requirement. It had collected an estimated 307,000 signatures. The Supreme Court later affirmed the board's ruling.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Instead of his usual shirt pocket full of clipping, Ed Doolittle brought one to the country store Saturday night. It was a report on that survey where high school children learn more from newspapers than from television and radio. Ed said it was natural for the papers to play it up, and it would be just as natural for radio and TV to beg to differ. But, Ed told the fellers, it was a timely reminder all the same.

The Middle East mess turned television into a magnet, Ed recalled, and everybody was glued to it for a few weeks. On our side quit shooting, he went on, we had to go back to reading if we wanted to get any kind of grip on the situation. Print is there when and as long as you need it, Ed said, which is why we ain't content to watch the ball game on TV. We got to read what the paper says about the call at second that got the manager throwed out.

Fer sure, Ed said, if print news is literature in a hurry, radio and TV news is shorthand. It is good to see that students raised on TV are reading to fill in gaps in the news, Ed declared, and it goes to show that some of em still are undertaking education instead of undergoing it. They know learning won't soak in like water in a sponge, they got to reach out and grab it, was Ed's words.

The fellers all read the papers reglar, and they were full agreed that active learning beats passive ever time. But Bug Hookum noted that the papers have took to some strange side roads in trying to keep the attention of folks pulled from all sides. The comics and the crossword puzzles are with us always, Bug allowed, but the big dailies have gone in heavy fer what they call "news you can use."

Fer instant, Bug went on, the papers have took to putting out "Lifestyle" sections that ain't nothing but a conspiracy with the wimmin to git men to use news about restoring furniture, building bird boxes and turning one corner of the spare bedroom into a computer center that keep better records than the bank and the church, and will hold more family history than the back of the Bible.

Furthermore, Bug said, the eye of the usable news allus is on the market. You will see 10 long pieces on how young married can learn to tolerate one another fer ever mention of how to repair a upper plate broke on a ice cube. Even the sports features is weighed in favor of the right outfits to wear fer beach volleyball and mountain biking and hard agin checkers and games the old, slow crowd play to keep the neighbor dog out of the garbage without actual hurting the critter.

Zeke Grubb said Bug was right about the marketplace setting everything from size of the paper to the flavor of the news, but that's the best system fer the society we got. The plain fact is, Zeke said, every is linked to the economy, and a paper is as solid or as shaky as advertisers that are first to feel the boost and the pinch. All the folks in a paper's town are its friends, but advertisers are its special friends, was Zeke's words.

Ed got the floor to vote with Zeke. Ed said a newspaper worthy of the name hits hardest on what means most to its people, and whether it's the price of wheat or the bond issue to build a school it's all tied to the pocketbook.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

some degree that will be true," Myers says.

"However, that won't be a long-term situation."

Myers is aware he won't be able to answer all questions at council meetings.

"I probably will have to tell them 'I'll get back to you' but I'm not sure I won't know the answer from the time I've spent on council," Myers says.

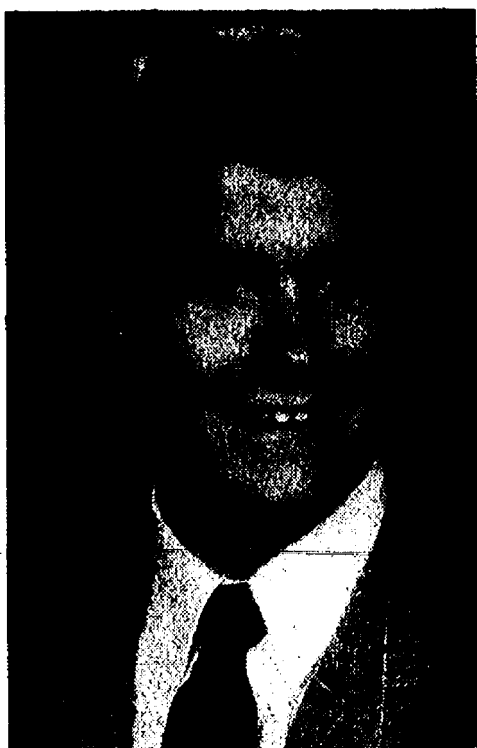

"I won't embarrass myself very often. If I do, I probably won't be around long."

Some long-time observers of village government say the village has lacked a strong leader since former manager Fritz Weber died several years ago.

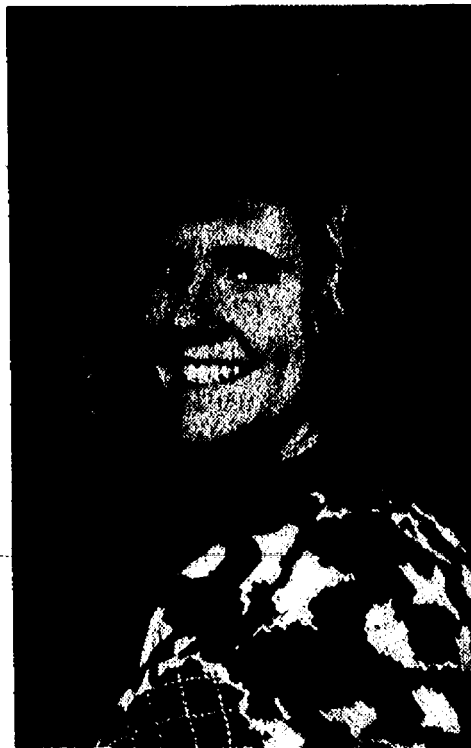

Myers says he hopes to change that perception immediately. He says he believes village employees respect him as a person, which gives him a little edge.

"My leadership background is very disciplined," Myers says.

"The way I carry myself and present myself, I think the employees will watch me and grow with my style of management. I have faith in myself. That's about the easiest way to say it."

Mother's Day

MICHELLE MIDDLETON
Hallmark Co. Ordinator

• Mother's Day is the fourth largest card-sending holiday in the United States.

• Mother's Day is always the second Sunday in May, this year May 12.

• Mother's Day was proclaimed an official holiday by then-President Woodrow Wilson when he signed a joint Congressional resolution in 1914, calling mothers "the greatest source of the country's strength and inspiration."

Anna M. Jarvis was the force behind the establishment of Mother's Day. She was born in Webster, Va., in 1864. After college and a brief teaching career in West Virginia, she moved to Philadelphia with her blind sister and well-to-do widowed mother, to whom she was devoted.

When Anna was 41, her mother died, and Anna became the guardian of her sister and a considerable estate. During the period of mourning, she came up with the idea for Mother's Day. On the second anniversary of her mother's death (the second Sunday in May 1908), she announced to her friends that she wanted to establish a Mother's Day.

The following year Anna began the tradition of a Mother's Day church service and persuaded the city fathers in Philadelphia to hold a city-wide Mother's Day observance. In 1912, West Virginia made Mother's Day a state holiday, and in 1914, a Congressional resolution made Mother's Day official.

Anna M. Jarvis died in 1948, having devoted the last part of her life and her fortune to promoting Mother's Day.

• Hallmark began making Mother's Day cards in the early 1920s.

• Mother's Day cards tend to be traditional and complimentary, although many of them use open, direct messages written in conversational language. For example, one card says: "It's always meant so much to me to know that you'd be there when I got home." Another card to a stepmother says: "I wish I'd understood, long perhaps, before I could..."

• Fifty-six Shoebox Greetings designs reflect today's humor. One card says: "Growing up with you as my mom, I learned two important lessons: First, 'Mom' is just another word for 'love'...Second, 'maybe' is just another word for 'no'."

• With 70 percent of mothers working outside the home, Dayspring Gifts offers an expanded section of Mother's Day cards which specifically thank mom for her many contributions, both inside and outside the home.

Come in and see our selection of Mother's Day gifts. Featuring a Silk Spring Bouquet for $7.50.

Ethel, Erwin Haist Honored On 60th Wedding Anniversary

Ethel and Erwin Haist were happy to celebrate their 60th Wedding Anniversary with their families and a few friends on April 21, with dinner at Zion Lutheran Church Social Hall, Rogers Corners.

They were married April 25, 1931, by the Rev. Moritz Brueckner and have been active members of Zion church all their married life. They have resided at the same home the entire 60 years.

Ethel's parents were John and Emma Bruestle of Sharon township.

Mr. Haist farmed until about 10 years ago when he retired.

For many years, Erwin was recognized as Michigan's top breeder of purebred Merino sheep, winning many awards at both state and national levels.

Mrs. Haist is still active in social affairs, including volunteer work with Faith in Action, the Ladies group at church, and various activities. They are always happy to be involved with family activities.

All of their four children and spouses were present for the occasion, Doris and David Crocker of Kalamazoo, Richard and Bonnie Haist, Kenneth and Barbara Haist, and Arlene and Erwin Riba, all of Chelsea. Also, 10 of their 13 grandchildren and seven of their great-grandchildren were present for the occasion.

DONALD A. COLE
Director

"All that I am, or hope to be, I owe to my angel mother..."
—Abraham Lincoln

Lincoln said it for all of us... our mothers have given us all of the good and worthwhile things we possess. Nowhere in this imperfect world do we find anything as perfect, true and steadfast as a mother's love and devotion to her children. No task is too disagreeable, no effort too exhausting for the mother who labors on behalf of her family.

And so, on one day of the year, we honor Mothers. It is little enough to do for her... or her memory... in the light of what she has done for us.

Our friendly, sympathetic advice and counsel is based on our years of experience in serving this community.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

We would like to respond to Mrs. Bower's letter regarding the cancelled Boblo and Cedar Point trips for the music students in Chelsea schools. These trips are not part of the music program or the school's academic program. These trips are solely at the discretion of the music directors. Monies raised for these particular trips do not funnel through the Music Boosters.

We appreciate the support of the parents and the community for the Music Booster fund-raisers. These funds are used for blouses and tuxes for the students in the music program, high school music tours, lessons for students, clinics, and other special needs of the music programs; such as the concert shell, music stands, risers for the vocal groups, etc.

We would like to thank everyone for their continued support of the Music Boosters.

We would also like to inform all interested parties that a Junior High School Music Program trip to Boblo Island is scheduled for Friday, June 14. The music teachers at Beach Middle School will send information home with the students.

Jan Manning and Clara Smith
President and Vice-President
Chelsea Music Boosters.

Dear Editor,

Please explain something if you can. The DDA has made many "deals" since its inception. They have worked very hard to improve the downtown area. Their ideas are noble, but their ways confuse me. They trade a graded, and paved parking lot, plus thousands of dollars, for a dirt lot. Now they want to buy a building for $70,000 and turn around and sell it for $50,000. We won't mention the thousands of dollars spent on "consultants."

I am no rocket scientist when it comes to business; but I do know a good deal from a real bad deal. Perhaps we should have let the schools receive all those tax dollars instead of asking us for a millage increase.

Donald Osborne.

Festival of Arts Showing Work of Area Students In 12 Districts

A generous sampling of the skills and art media used by students, kindergarten through seniors, will be displayed at a Festival of Arts on two consecutive week-ends, May 11-12 and May 18-19, in the Domino's Farms Exhibition Hall.

The exhibition is sponsored by the Washtenaw-Livingston Education Association (WLEA), and will be open to the public from 12 noon until 5 p.m. each of the four days.

Displays will include drawings, paintings, prints, sculpture, ceramics, jewelry, weaving, and other art forms by students in the Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Pinckney, Whitmore Lake, Brighton, Hartland, Howell, Lincoln, Saline, Willow Run and Ypsilanti school districts.

Jody Miller, Dexter art teacher, is co-ordinator for the ninth annual WLEA show.

Ms. Miller stresses the important and integral part of the total education-process for students that the Fine Arts programs offer in the listed school districts, and invites citizens from each of the communities to come and see the outstanding student work.

Tom Robards, Lima Township Zoning Inspector and a member of the six-member Lima Township Planning Commission, resigned from the commission. His resignation was the second to hit the planning commission in as many months. Another commission member, Donald Bauer, resigned. In his resignation, which was submitted to Lima Township Supervisor Robert Musolf, Robards cited the possibility of a conflict of interest as the reason for his action.

Lee Mayne, Harry Mertens and Herman Bertke were the new deputies.

DENTAL INFECTIONS CAN BE SERIOUS!

Q: How dangerous is an abscessed tooth? Can a person suffer from permanent injury from a dental infection?

A: Ignoring a toothache or abscess can threaten more than just your oral health. One study estimates that approximately 800 people die from complications of dental infections each year in this country! Before the discovery of antibiotics this number was much higher.

When bacteria from dental disease destroys the pulp in a tooth the inner pulp chamber can serve as an incubator for the bacteria to multiply. If these millions of bacteria are released into the blood stream they can attack other organs. The heart is especially susceptible to this kind of infection in certain individuals and, if left untreated, permanent disability or even death can result. An abscess of the face can quickly spread to the brain if not treated and this could also be fatal. Infection from a lower tooth can cause the neck to swell so much that the person is unable to breathe. Sometimes an abscess will spontaneously drain by breaking through the skin leaving a permanent scar.

As always, prevention through regular checkups and x-rays is the best cure. Trying to live with a toothache or hoping that it will go away will only make the problem worse.

A FUNDRAISING EFFORT has been started to renovate this monument in Veterans Park at M-52 and Sibley Rds. The monument was built in the 1950s by the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, with volunteer labor and donated materials from a variety of sources.

Anna Flintoft Performs at Carleton College

Anna Flintoft of Chelsea, a sophomore at Carleton College in Northfield, Minn., played the horn in the college orchestra in the recent Experimental Theater Board's spring musical production of "Into the Woods."

The play links together several Grimm Brothers' fairy tales in a new story about a young baker and his wife. It won the 1988 Tony Awards for Best Book, Best Music, Lyrics and Best Actress.

Flintoft is the daughter of Peter and Carol Flintoft of Chelsea.

Scouts Need Help With Paper Recycling Project

Chelsea Boy Scout Troop 476 has been collecting and recycling newspapers continuously for the past 20 years. Dozens of local boys have come and gone from the troop. Many worked their way to Summer Camp by handling discarded newspapers.

Their past effort has saved thousands of tons of useful material from the Chelsea landfill. The program has grown from two semi-trailers full a year, (44 tons) to two trailers a month, (308 tons a year)!

The success of the program has become a serious problem. The 11- to 14-year-old boys are spending more of their time hauling newspapers than on Boy Scout activities. The membership of Troop 476 has declined from 35 to our current 19 members, largely due to the growth of the newspaper recycling program. It's not fun to pick up and carry 2,000 pounds of newspapers every two days and boys are quitting the program because of it.

The troop needs help from another community organization to continue the collection program.

A multi-community recycling program with community governments involved, won't be ready for another year and a half.

Troop 476 has gotten too small to continue the program alone, until the government group can take over.

Unless another organization volunteers to assist the Boy Scouts, the newspaper recycling program will be discontinued in June. The Boy Scout troop is looking for a group to help with the labor of moving the papers and split the money it brings in.

If your organization would be willing to help please call Ed Lipiec at 475-9392, or Ken Hurst at 475-8127.

Plumbing Fittings Stolen from Site

Approximately 400 pounds of copper plumbing fittings were taken from the Chelsea Methodist Retirement Home construction site between April 19 and April 22, according to Chelsea police.

Police said the thieves cut a padlock at the gate and another padlock at a trailer owned by Boone & Darr of Ann Arbor. Two sets of footprints were found.

Project Started for Renovation Of Chelsea Vets Park Monument

Life-long Chelsea-area resident Roly Spaulding has started a fundraising project for the restoration of the monument in Veterans Park.

The monument, built in 1957 by the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, has deteriorated over the years. It was built along with the park to thank the veterans of yesterday for our freedom today, and our military today for our freedom tomorrow.

The plaque on the monument read, "In grateful tribute to those who served our American armed forces."

The original plaque came loose and was turned over to the village to re-install it. However, it somehow disappeared.

Spaulding has ordered a new plaque for $630 and will pay for it himself, if need be.

The stone monument needs cleaning and the mortar needs replacing. However, the water cannon is still in good shape and the water source that World War I veteran Floyd Rowe installed still works. Flagstone at the base needs to be replaced.

The Chelsea American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars will contribute money and labor, Spaulding said. The Chelsea Rod & Gun Club will also provide money and labor.

The project still needs about $800, Spaulding said.

"For those of us with our current high level of patriotism for our young men and women who took part in Desert Storm, those of us who went through Vietnam, Korea, and World Wars I and II, and those of us with ancestors in our country's wars, now is the time to re-establish our commitment to our veterans with a check," Spaulding said.

"Not too much, let everyone take part."

Will Connelly will be in charge of the fund.

Spaulding provided The Standard with notes on the history of the monument and the park, which are a little more lively than you might imagine.

In 1957 Spaulding raised the question of the development of a park at the north end of town to be called Veterans Memorial Park. He was made chairman of a committee to develop the park. Chamber of Commerce provided a budget of $125, which it didn't have but would raise.

Specifications for a stone monument were drawn up and stones were accumulated, many from the old Hagerty farm on Joslin Lake Rd. Ray Franklin came out of retirement and laid the stones and built the monument.

Floyd Rowe, a World War I veteran, furnished the copper line through the monument to provide the water for the flowing cannon.

Pete Bacon of Central Fibre told his chief engineer, Wally Impola, to draw up specifications for the cannon, and they were given to Olie Johnson of Federal Screw Works, where the cannon was built.

The cannon, which still has water flowing through it, was designed so that you could place your hand over the muzzle and water would come out the touch hole like water from a drinking fountain. However, the water flows too fast now to use the cannon and the water will shoot too high in the air.

At the time of construction, a portion of M-52 by the park was being constructed and a bridge was being built over the swamp that was at the site. The contractors wanted to set up a mixing plant just north of the creek. Don Alber, village president, along with Spaulding, convinced them to use the area with the stipulation that the park area would be filled in and a single flowing stream created, Lets Creek as we know it today.

A bridge was needed to cross over the creek from the north to the south sides of the park. Free pipe was scrounged from the local factories and from Gaunt's Gladiola Farm. It was taken to Cassidy Lake Technical School (still a technical school) and the welding was done free of charge.

Six-foot planks were needed for the bridge. Trees were cut in the Waterloo Recreation Area and taken to the Nels Peterson Saw Mill, where they were milled for free.

The planks were put behind Merkel's Hardware Store, where Norb Merkel went out every morning and painted creosote on them.

The bridge needed concrete footings. The company that was awarded the contract for the M-52 bridge consisted of an old man and his two sons.

"After talking to them, asking advice and being stupid, they got tired of me and said 'get out of the way and we'll build the footings with State of Michigan material,'" Spaulding recalled.

The two railroad irons that make up the cross structure of the bridge came from the old bridge that was torn down.

Money for the fund can be sent to Will Connelly at The Chelsea Standard, File P, 300 N. Main St., Chelsea. Excess money will be given to the village for use in perpetual care of the monument.

Bulldogs Sweep Dexter For SEC Baseball Lead

Chelsea Bulldogs varsity baseball team swept the Dexter Dreadnaughts in a double-header last Thursday to run their Southeastern Conference record to 7-1.

In other action, the Bulldogs came within one game of qualifying for the finals of the Huron-Rawlings tournament on Saturday, and split a double-header with Fowlerville on Tuesday.

Chelsea beat Dexter 6-2 and 4-2 behind complete games by Jake Rindie in the opener and Rob Clem in the nightcap.

The Bulldogs also played errorless ball, which coach Wayne Welton said was a major factor in the Bulldogs' success.

Rindie ran his record to 5-0 as he struck out 11, walked two, and gave up four hits in the opener.

"Jake pitched an outstanding game, and also helped us out a lot at the plate," Welton said.

Rindie and Craig Ferry were each 2-3 with a pair of doubles.

Chelsea jumped out to the early lead as Rindie's double highlighted a two-run first inning.

The Dreadnaughts rallied with a two-run homer in the bottom of the inning.

Kerry Plank got the game-winning hit for the Bulldogs in the third after Jude Quilter walked and was sacrificed to second. Chelsea picked up two more runs in the sixth on doubles by Rindie and Ferry, and a run in the seventh on a double by Ferry and a wild pitch.

In the second game, Clem improved his record to 4-1 on a four-hit, nine-strikeout, one-walk performance.

The game was very similar to the first one. Each team scored in the first inning and Plank smacked the game-winning hit in the third.

Rindie's double in the first scored Adam Taylor, who had walked. Dexter's Darrin Pomo countered with an RBI double in the bottom half.

A walk and steal by Taylor set up Plank's hit.

Quilter's single scored a run in the fourth, and Kelly Beard's sacrifice in the seventh scored Colt White, who had doubled.

After last week, Chelsea had the fewest losses in the league with one record.

Chelsea lost to the Willow Run Flyers, 8-7, on Saturday to miss qualifying for the finals of the Huron-Rawlings Tournament.

"We didn't look like we deserved to be ranked in the top 100," said Welton, whose team has been ranked in the top 10 much of the season.

Chelsea held a 7-4 lead after five innings but gave up four runs in the sixth on three errors and three walks.

"Craig (Ferry) really pitched well enough to win the game," Welton said.

"We just didn't do the little things.

We didn't run the bases well and missed a sign or two." Willow Run had just four hits.

A single by Jeremy Stephens and a sacrifice by Tucker Steele highlighted a two-run second inning.

Hits by Steele, Taylor and Rindie scored four more in the fourth. Quilter's squeeze in the fifth scored Chelsea's final run.

In the fourth game of the tournament, the Bulldogs beat Manchester as Chris White improved to 3-1 with a four-strikeout performance.

Chelsea pulled ahead 5-1 by the end of the fifth inning.

Beard led Chelsea's six-hit attack with two singles.

On Tuesday, Chelsea opened with a 12-1 victory over Fowlerville as Chris White pitched all five innings.

The Bulldogs pounded out a dozen hits, including a homer and double by Taylor, a triple by Quilter, a pair of doubles and a single by Rindie, a double by Stephens, two singles by Ferry, and singles by Steele, Chris White, and Plank.

Chelsea lost the second game 11-7 as pitcher Ben Hurst ran into early trouble, and Ferry and Colt White pitched in relief.

"We played a lot of kids in that game," Welton said.

"And we didn't play very well." Plank had two hits and Beard doubled to lead the Bulldogs.

Chelsea was 15-3 after last week's action.

Bulldogs Sweep Dexter In Softball Twin Bill

Chelsea Bulldogs softball team lost a single game to Tecumseh Monday afternoon but swept Dexter last Thursday.

In other action, the girls also split with Jackson Northwest on Monday, April 29.

In Monday's game with Tecumseh, played in cold, drizzly weather, the Bulldogs fell behind 3-0 after five innings before scoring two runs in the sixth to make it close.

"We weren't mentally sharp," said Chelsea coach Amy Poljan.

"Three out of four Tecumseh runs came off walks."

Each team had five hits on the day. Chelsea's two runs came on singles by Shawn Losey and Christine Burg, a double steal, an error, and a single by Kelly Bellus.

The second game was cancelled due to the weather.

and Musolf hit two singles.

In the second game, Colleen Scharphorn threw a four-hitter and the Bulldogs pounded out 15 hits to take a 10-0 win.

Chelsea again scored in four of the five innings played.

Top hitters for the Bulldogs were Jennifer Petty with two singles and a double, Scharphorn with two doubles, Bellus with a single and a triple, and Dana Durst and Theresa Hurst with two singles each.

"It was our best double-header of the season," Poljan said.

Chelsea took the first Northwest game, 6-2, but lost the second game, 6-5.

The Bulldogs took a 3-0 lead in the first inning and increased the lead to 4-0 after three innings.

Musolf pitched for Chelsea, struck out four and allowed eight hits. Burg, Cross and Durst each had two hits, and Scharphorn had three hits, including two doubles, and three RBI.

Chelsea had a 3-0 lead in the second game but surrendered six runs to Northwest in the fourth inning. The Dogs pecked away with one run in each the fifth and sixth innings.

Cross started on the mound and Scharphorn pitched in relief.

Musolf singled and doubled and Cross doubled and tripled and knocked in two runs.

"Colleen did a nice job in relief," Poljan said. Scharphorn allowed no hits and struck out five.

Chelsea is 21-5 on the season.

JV Baseball Team Sweeps Dexter in League Competition

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity baseball team swept the Dexter Dreadnaughts last Thursday in a double-header, 11-7 and 5-4.

In the first game, Nathan Oake threw a three-hitter and the Bulldogs scored six runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to take an 11-3 lead.

"We played just well enough to win," said Chelsea coach Jim Ticknor.

"Our mistakes were offset by good plays and timely hits. It was an exciting JV game."

In the sixth inning, Chelsea got singles from Nick Schumann, J.D. Alford, Tim Wescott, and Kevin McCalla, and a two-run triple by John Heller.

Chris Dunham had four steals for the game.

In the second game, Chelsea scored three times in the bottom of the seventh inning to pull out the win. Stolen bases, a hit batsman, and a wild pitch figured heavily in the rally.

Chelsea turned a pitcher to third base to second base double play.

Dunham led the offense with two hits.

The Bulldogs split a double-header with Fowlerville on Tuesday, April 30. They lost the first game, 15-5, but won the second, 16-3.

Fowlerville led 6-1 after two innings.

"I think we were a little intimidated by the high winds," Ticknor said.

"We didn't play very well." Ed Waller had a pair of hits and Nick McCalla tripled twice.

Chelsea scored at least two runs in all five innings of the second game and led 7-1 after two innings.

Dunham was 4-4 with two RBI, Waller was 2-3 with three RBI, and Casey Schiller was 2-4 with two RBI.

Mark Eder pitched all five innings, struck out three and allowed three hits.

The Bulldogs were 9-5 after last week's action.

In other action last week, the Bulldogs swept River Rouge in a double-header on Monday, April 29, 10-4 and 10-3.

In the opener, Chelsea took a 7-0 lead after two innings and had control of the game from there on.

Oake pitched a complete game, struck out nine and walked none.

Tim Westcott, who was 2-4 for the game, had a two-run single in Chelsea's five-run second inning.

In the second game, Chelsea broke open a 1-1 game with two runs in the third and two in the fourth, before putting the game away with five runs in the sixth.

Ken Slane pitched a five-hit complete game with nine strikeouts and one walk.

Waller and Dana Schmunk each had a pair of RBI.

Bulldog Girls Win Triangular, Take Second at Tough Relays

Chelsea Bulldogs girls track team won a triangular meet over Fowlerville and Columbia Central on Tuesday, April 30, scoring 97 points to Fowlerville's 42 and Central's 25. The Bulldogs won 10 of the 16 events, including the four relays, and earned at least two of the four places in every individual event.

Chelsea first places and times: the 3200 relay of Sarah Henry, Lisa Monti, Sarah Brosnan and Tracy Wales in 11:14.3; the 800 relay of Laura Paton, Leisa Schiller, Charity Allen, and Theresa Royce in 1:55.5; the 400 relay of Jeanene Rossi, Schiller, Leah Hadley and Royce in :54.6; and the 1600 relay of Beth Bell, Brosnan, Deanna Richardson, Jessica Holton in 4:30.1.

Individually, Allen was Chelsea's only double winner as she took the 100 hurdles in :17.8 and the 300 hurdles in :50.2.

Other firsts came from Rossi, high jump, 5'0"; Royce, 100, :13.8; Paton, 400, 1:03.2; Monti, 800, 2:31.0.

Taking seconds were Schiller, long jump, 14'11" and 200, :28.9; Lauren Sparaco, discus, 77'5"; Amanda Nimke, 100 hurdles, :18.1 and 300 hurdles, :53.5; Rossi, 100, :13.7; Bell, 400, 1:03.3; and Val Bullock, 3200, 13:24. Bullock also took third in the 1600 at 5:56.7.

Others taking third places: Maria Smith, shot put, 27'2 1/2"; Richardson, long jump, 14'3 1/2"; Wendy Bristle, discus, 73'3"; Monica Hansen, 100 hurdles, :18.2; Henry, 800, 2:40.6.

Earning a point for fourth place finishes were Nimke in the shot put and discus, Erin Schiller in the high jump, Leah Hadley in the 400, Beth Williams in the 1600 and 3200, Holton in the 400, Tracey Wales in the 800, and Paton in the 200.

The girls ran in the Corunna Relays Friday, and were second in the 15-team field with 73 points. Frankmuth won with 100 and Flint Kearsley was third with 58.5. No other local teams competed in the meet. Most of the field came from the thumb and Flint area and included several class A teams. Kearsley won an invitational at Midland earlier in the season. Frankmuth dropped from B to C this year and is a contender for the class C title.

The Bulldogs won two events, and placed in the top three in six of the 12 events. Only Frankmuth scored in as many events as Chelsea.

Meet champions from Chelsea were the sprint medley of Allen, Bell, Paton and Royce in 4:07.8 and the high jump where Erin Schiller and Rossi combined for 9'4", 2" ahead of second place.

Taking seconds were the distance medley of Brosnan, Bell, Bullock and Monti in 13:27.4 and the freshman-sophomore 1600 relay of Paton, Henry, Hansen, and Bell in 4:29.5.

The 800 relay of Paton, Leisa Schiller, Allen and Royce was third behind Kearsley and Frankmuth in a season-best of 1:52.6. The 3200 relay of Monti, Wales, Henry and Brosnan was third in 10:30.3.

Placing fourth was the shuttle hurdle team of Allen, Hansen, Becky Erskine, and Nimke in 1:15.0 and the 1600 relay of Brosnan, Nimke, Monti and Allen in 4:28.8.

The 400 relay of Rossi, Leisa Schiller, Hansen, and Royce was fifth in :55.0, and the long jump of Leisa Schiller and Renee Skelly combined for 26'2 1/2" to place sixth.

"The keys to our success were versatility, depth, and consistency" said coach Bill Bainton.

"For example, in the last three events, we needed nine people for 400's. We used sprinters, distance runners, and hurdlers, and only one other team placed better than us in all three events."

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Pot Clarke and Roger Cox appear to have pulled the Chelsea boys track program out of the muck within the space of half a season.

The Bulldogs, consistently the worst team CHS has fielded over the last six years, and maybe longer, are 3-3-1. They actually beat three other teams in a four-team meet last week, which may not have happened since some of those kids were born. They finished in the middle of the pack at the big Corunna Relays on Friday. It's been eight years since the Bulldogs were even .500.

That's not to say the Bulldogs wouldn't have won at all with another coaching staff. They do have Jon Royce, who could high jump 6' 7" in combat boots as well as a shot putter Mike Terpstra, one of the best in the area.

But my guess is they wouldn't have won without Clarke and Cox.

Clarke has insisted on discipline and dedication, both on and off the track. Recently a team member became academically ineligible, and Clarke required the boy to study in the stands during practice. He also does not allow anyone to participate in a single event.

Over the years it's always been evident there were two distinctly different teams on the Chelsea track, and I'm not talking gender. The difference in attitudes between Bill Bainton's girls teams and the boys teams was remarkable. It always seemed as though the boys, with a few exceptions, were in track for something to do, while the girls were there to compete and win.

It's not that way anymore.

My guess is, in a couple of years the boys will be just as competitive as the girls.

Royce could become the first Chelsea boy to become a big-time college athlete.

The junior is likely to clear 6' 10" or higher in the high jump this season, and perhaps 7' or higher next season. If that happens, he could probably attend any college he wants.

Maybe four years from now, when I can't sleep, I'll turn on ESPN at 2 a.m. and Royce will be clearing 7' 2".

Meanwhile, over at the baseball diamond, Wayne Welton's boys are playing championship baseball. That is, they aren't exactly pounding the hide-off the ball every game, even though they did manage to hit four consecutive home runs in one game, but they usually find a way to win, even when they aren't playing so hot.

They are, however, getting consistently strong pitching from Jake Rindle, Rob Clem, Craig Ferry, and anyone else Welton chooses to put on the mound.

Rindle, in particular, is having an exceptional season. He's 5-0, showing good control, and he's become a consistent hitter. I used to think basketball was his best sport, but now I'm not so sure.

The Bulldogs also have more pure speed than they've had in years. Adam Taylor is stealing a couple of bases or more in every double-header, and Jude Quilter is getting back on track and playing a fine second base. Ben Hurst, in centerfield, has given the outfield a new dimension. The list goes on.

Back on the track, the girls are dominating the competition and are odds-on favorites to win the league.

And back up the hill, new coach Amy Poljan has the girls playing pretty good, if not extremely aggressive, softball.

Poljan has taken the bat and run, which she learned originally from coach Charlie Waller, now her assistant, to a new level of intensity. If there's a chance to run, they'll take it. The emphasis is on forcing the other team to play outstanding defense to beat them.

So, it's possible we could see three SEC championship teams this season.

Beach Boys Track Team Falls Short

Beach Middle school boys track team came up two points short in a heartbreaker at the Tecumseh track last Wednesday, losing 65-63. They also suffered defeat at Pinckney's track on Monday, 77-55.

Quad Win Gives Boys Best Track Season in Many Years

It's been a long time since the Chelsea Bulldogs boys track team has won more than a single meet in a season.

This year, however, the Bulldogs surpassed their total number of victories over the last five seasons with a victory in a quad meet last Tuesday.

Chelsea scored 90 points while Fowlerville was second with 83, Gabriel Richard was third with 44, and Brooklyn Columbia Central finished fourth with 37.

"It was very gratifying to finally get the first win," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"This is the first time the boys have been at .500 in over eight years. We are on the way back."

Chelsea's record stood at 3-3-1 after last week.

Although junior Jon Royce won three events on the afternoon, senior Joe Blough had an equally impressive performance in Clarke's view as Blough won the 1600 in 4:48.1, ran a season-best in the 800 (2:05.9) to take second place, and had the fastest leg on the winning 1600 relay (54.1). Other relay members were Hans Kemnitz, Jim Hassett, and Ty Darden.

Royce, as usual, won the high jump at 8' 5". He also took the 300 intermediate hurdles in 43.5 and the 200 in 23.8.

Royce also placed second in the 110 high hurdles in 17.35.

Mike Terpstra was the only other winner for Chelsea, taking the shot put at 48' 1/4".

Other second-place finishes went to Raduane Far in the 100 at 12.1, the 3200 relay of Justin White, Scott Postiff, Tobin Strong, and Hassett in 9:09.8 (which bettered their previous best by 21 seconds), and Martin Cheng in the 300 hurdles in 45.9.

Third places went to the 400 relay team of Jason Garrigus, Cheng, Brian Piasecki, and Far in 48.7, Kemnitz in the 400 at 56.8, Garrigus in the 200 at 24.75, Zatkovich in the 3200 in 11:32, White in the pole vault at 10', Far in the long jump at 17' 11", and Terpstra in the discus at 117.

Chelsea fourth place finishers included Darden in the 400 at 58.45, Strong in the 3200 in 11:40.6, and Beeman in the shot put in 40' 5".

Chelsea fifth place finishers included Cheng in the 110 hurdles in 19:91, Zatkovich in the 1600 in 5:16.4, White in the 800 in 2:20.5, Hassett in the pole vault at 9', Garrigus in the long jump at 16' 7 3/4", and David Beeman in the discus at 96'.

Clarke said Zatkovich's and Strong's 3-4 finish in the 3200 was a key in Chelsea's comeback from a 10-point deficit.

"We were extremely proud of the way the team stayed focused to come back and win in the final four events," Clarke said.

In other action, Chelsea placed seventh at the 14-team Corunna Relays on Friday, May 3.

Chelsea placed in six events. Terpstra (48' 5") and Beeman (43' 10") combined for a first place in the shot put. Beeman's effort was his best of the season.

Terpstra (127' 8") and Beeman (118') also combined for a second place in the discus. It was the best effort by both boys this season.

The 1600 relay team of Hassett, Blough, Far, and Royce clipped 10 seconds off its best time to take a fifth place at 3:35.5.

JV Softball Team Rips Dreadnaughts in Double-Header

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity softball team swept the Dexter Dreadnaughts last Thursday, 18-8 and 15-4.

Gretchen Knutsen limited Dexter to four hits in the opener, but the Bulldogs had to come back from a 2-0 first-inning deficit. The big blow came in the third when the Bulldogs scored 11 runs to take a 14-2 lead. Joni Thrush, Knutsen, Liz Sager, Amy Bowling, Sandy Schmid, and Stephanie Hanselman all hit singles in the inning, and Thrush hit a homer.

"We started out a little shaky in the field, but settled down and made the plays," said Chelsea coach Ken Sullins.

"We showed good patience at the plate with 11 walks and put the ball in play fairly hard."

Thrush had three hits on the game and Schmid and Hanselman each had two hits.

In the second game, Chelsea answered a four-run top of the first for Dexter with six runs in the bottom of the inning and cruised to the win.

"Again, we started out a little shaky but settled in and made the plays," Sullins said.

"Tina Hassett at second base made several nice plays and Michelle Beeman in centerfield threw a runner out at the plate."

Missy Schumann held the Dreadnaughts to four hits and gave up no earned runs.

Knutsen had the only two-hit game for Chelsea.

The Bulldogs were 8-5 after last week's action.

In other games last week, the Bulldogs split with Jackson Northwest on Monday, April 29, winning the first game 11-1 and dropping the second game 5-2.

Schumann pitched a six hitter in the opener and the Bulldogs pounded out 15 hits and committed no errors.

"This game had the intensity and fine play expected in a varsity game," Sullins said.

"It was an outstanding game for us."

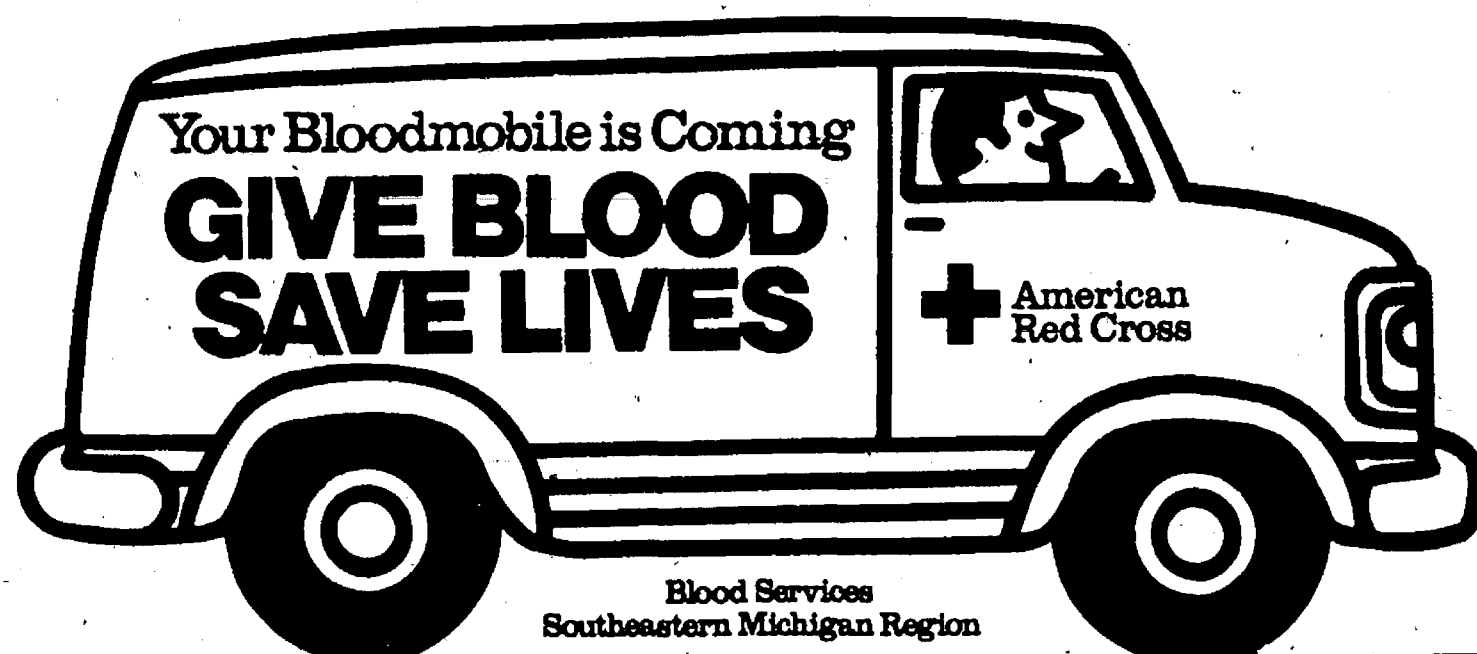

Blough, Hassett, White, and Zatkovich placed fifth in the 3200 relay in 8:54.4 by shaving 13 seconds off their previous best time.

The 800 relay team of Garrigus, Royce, Kemnitz, and Far finished eighth in 1:37.6, another season-best. The same boys placed ninth in the 400 relay in 46.9, their best time.

"This was quite an improvement over the Mason Invitational last week," Clarke said.

"We finished behind Mason last week and six places in front of them this week."

Royce cleared 8' 6" to win the high jump, but because it was a relay meet, Chelsea scored no points. Clarke said Royce cleared 8' 10" by a "good four inches" but hit the bar with his hand and jiggled it off.

Twenty-two local piano students attended Student Achievement Testing Day at Eastern Michigan University on Saturday, March 9.

Area piano students who participated were: Lindsay Boyce, Christine Broshar, Sarah Broshar, Emily Danforth, Beth Flintoft, Joan Flintoft, Anne Frederick, Keith Grifka, Claire Isaacs, Amy McCalla, Sara Mead, Matthew Milazzo, Kim Niehaus, Nicole Russ, Aaron Schnell, Kimberly Schnell, Rachel Schoenberg, Tamra Smith, Joanna Wells, Katie Wells, Rebecca Williams, and Elynn Wheeler.

The annual event was sponsored by Michigan Music Teachers Association and was administered by the M.M.T.A. Chapter; Ann Arbor Area Piano Teachers Guild. 415 students participated from the greater Ann Arbor area.

The above listed pupils are students from the studios of Faith Coffey, La Vonne Harris, Merilee Magnuson and Betty Rasmussen.

NEW CHURCH DOORS were dedicated recently at the Waterloo Village Methodist church. Shown here are Bill Darwin, II, who donated the doors and crafted the stained glass windows in them, and former minister of the church, Merlin Pratt.

THE HAL WEBB TEAM

Dr. & Mrs. Theron Babcock and Dr. & Mrs. Hal Webb

MAY 12th - 19th

 Sunday 9:30 & 10:30am and 6:00pm
Weeknights 7:00pm

The Hal Webb Team is well known for the wide scope of their ministry. For more than 30 years they have conducted revival/evangelistic campaigns, along with ministries in radio, recording, camp, and missions. The team presents a varied program which includes guitar, banjo, accordion, trumpet, piano and organ music. They even play an instrument which makes music without being touched. In addition to the instrumental music, there will be vocal solo, duet, trio, and quartet numbers. Dr. Babcock, who has written over 6000 songs, will be writing a new chorus from an audience suggested theme during the service every night. While Dr. Babcock is writing his chorus, Dr. Webb will present a special Gospel object lesson for the young people and those who are young at heart. In every service, Dr. Hal Webb will preach a dynamic message on a practical, life changing Bible theme.

School for Art, Dance, Music, Drama Opening in Manchester

A Manchester woman is opening a school to teach art, dance, drama, and music.

Called the Arts Academy, the school is located at 190 Main St. in Manchester in the old hardware store.

Susan Morey, who teaches art, drama, and dance courses in the Ann Arbor Public Schools, and is an English instructor at Jackson Community College, moved to Manchester six weeks ago with the idea of opening the school there. She holds a bachelor's degree in fine arts from the University of Michigan. She has an extensive background in a host of artistic endeavors, from drawing and painting, to working with clay, to ballet and jazz. She has taught summer children's workshops and for five years at a similar Schoolhouse Studio.

"Manchester has known a lot of art and has had a lot of artists in it," Morey said of her reasons for opening the school in Manchester.

"It's a rich area in art and art education."

Morey plans to offer everything from a drama troupe, in which students will create every aspect of a play and perform it throughout the area, to a summer daily arts camp, dance lessons for mothers and daughter and fathers and sons, art therapy classes, poetry readings, and home interior designing.

Music classes could include everything from the harmonica to drums.

Morey will teach many of the classes herself. However, she also plans to look for specialists in the area.

"I'm looking for people who approach education responsibly and have been given enough to gracefully turn around and give it away," Morey said.

Classes will be limited to 15 students each.

Summer camp will be five days per week and will run in two week sessions.

There will also be before and after dinner classes for adults.

Registration for the classes begins by telephone on Thursday, May 9. A formal registration will be held at the school on Wednesday, May 15.

Before and after dinner classes start June 3 and summer camp starts June 17.

Currently in the state of Michigan, 50.5 percent of front-seat occupants age 16 and over wear safety belts. Over-all (both front and back seats), 49.6 percent of motor-vehicle occupants in Michigan are buckling up.

SUSAN MOREY is opening the Arts Academy in Manchester. The school will specialize in classes for both children and adults in art, music, dance, and drama.

Faith Lutheran School Plans Open House

Faith Lutheran is located at 9575 North Territorial Rd., Dexter. For more information call: 426-4302.

Fly Fishing Program Offered Saturday

DOROTHY MARIE CONLIN Dorothy Conlin Said To Be Terminally Ill

Dorothy Marie Love Conlin of Ann Arbor who was greatly appreciated as counselor of Chelsea High school students and had a positive influence on their lives is pronounced terminally ill by her physicians.

Her family is fearful that her friends and those who love her will not know of her passing if The Chelsea Standard and The Dexter Leader do not alert them in this Wednesday's issue.

Dorothy Conlin was born in Detroit, Nov. 10, 1915. Her late husband, Henry T. Conlin, served as a Washtenaw county circuit judge from 1976 until his death in December 1988.

Mrs. Conlin guided many Chelsea High school students from September 1969 through June of 1978, leaving a positive influence on their lives.

After retiring from Chelsea High she was a founding member of the "Soundings Center for Women," a program in Ann Arbor where she counseled and retrained displaced homemakers. She was also a Teacher Credit Union member.

Children of the late Henry T. and Dorothy Conlin are the former State Representative Michael H. Conlin, now of Alexandria, Va., Mary Kay Toumajian of Long Beach, Calif., Terrence P. Conlin, an Ann Arbor attorney who served as a Scio township trustee, Patricia Adams of Potomac, Md., Colleen Love Conlin of Vienna, Va., Maureen Conlin Larson of Ann Arbor, Sheila Conlin of Raleigh, N. C., and Sean Conlin of Chicago, Ill.

Friends may contact the Muehligh Funeral Chapel, Ann Arbor, for further details.

Awards Ceremony Slated Thursday By Sheriff's Dept.

Card of ThanksTHANK YOU

Family and friends gathered on April 19, 1991 to pay their last respects and to say good-bye to my husband, Prentiss (Yorkie) Davis. At this time I would like to say thank you.

To my family—brothers, sisters-in-law, nieces and nephews—you all gathered to share my sorrow and to let me lean on you, to gather some of your strength to move through this ordeal. Thank you my loved ones for being there.

To my friends—too many to name—you all asked, "How are you?" and was there anything I needed. Dear friends, just being there was enough. To special friends Jean and Albert Wisecup, I would yell and you would always answer, thank you so much for being you.

To Rev. Harold and Mrs. Bilotta—Thank you so much for the beautiful service and through the years of spiritual guidance. Rev. James and Mrs. Massey and the First Assembly of God Church, the dinner following the services was planned with loving hands. Special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne and Philis Stutzman and to the other men, women and family members who helped, thank you everything was made to perfection.

And lastly to my niece Linda, you didn't want your name mentioned, but you were always there for me. Through you, I gained the knowledge of what Amicare and Hospice were all about—Nurses and Aids—the medical help I so greatly needed, to your co-workers, one and all, I thank you. From his wife, Hilda, and daughter, Sharon and son, William, family of Prentiss (Yorkie) Davis, we would all like to say THANK YOU.

Car-Cycle Crash Reported on M-52

Two injured motorists, one of them traveling on a motorcycle, were transported to Chelsea Community Hospital by Huron Valley Ambulance after a crash which occurred on M-52, north of Clark Lake Rd., about 5:30 p.m. Friday, April 26.

Chelsea resident Fremont Boyer, III, driver of a 1989 Chevrolet pickup truck, was traveling southbound on M-52 and turned left into a driveway directly in front of 29-year-old northbound motorcyclist Donald Runyan of 8655 Jackson Rd., who was unable to avoid the collision and struck the door of the truck.

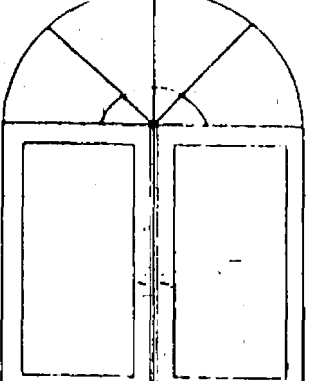

Runyan was seriously injured, and after his initial transport to Chelsea, was transferred to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Traffic investigator Stan Yates from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department cited Boyer for failure to yield the right of way.

Kathryn Maisy Moulton of Chelsea reported to deputy Steve Platt, she was driving west on Cavanaugh Lake Rd. at 1:45 a.m. Saturday, May 4, when a deer crossed the path of her vehicle and was killed.

At approximately 8:30 a.m. Friday, May 3, James Louis Devine of Dexter-Chelsea Rd. reported to deputy Mike King, he was traveling south on Parker, south of Shield Rd., when he was unable to avoid striking a deer which made a sudden appearance.

A quick assessment listed an $80 Panasonic phone answering machine, two telephones valued at a total of $90, and speakers with estimated value of $200 missing from a residence on Scully Rd., north of Walsh Rd., after a side door was observed standing open, according to a report received at 9:15 a.m. Friday, May 3, by WCSD deputies.

NOTICE
SHARON TOWNSHIP RESIDENTS

During the regular monthly meeting of the Sharon Township Board held on May 2, 1991, The R. D. Kleinschmidt zoning change request was considered. The Township Planning Commission held a public hearing on this question at the Township Hall on March 19, 1991. The change was denied by the Commission by a five (5) no and two (2) yes vote. The zoning change request was then referred to the Washtenaw County Metro Planning Commission for their recommendation. They advised approval of the change.

The Township Board, having the final vote as they do on all amendments and re-zoning applications, by roll call vote approved the change. All Board members were present and voted four (4) in favor and one (1) against.

The zoning change request asked that the North 165' of the Kleinschmidt property be changed from R-2 to C-1 in order to allow construction of additional mini-storage and to have existing buildings brought into compliance.

The Township Zoning Map will be amended to reflect this change from R-2 to C-1.

Manchester Canoe Race Slated May 19

The 25th annual Canoe Race will be held in Manchester Sunday, May 19, at 1 p.m. There will be five classes: adult-child, women, man-woman, choose partner and competition.

Trophies will be awarded for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place in each class.

Pre-registration is $7.50 per person. Two people are allowed per canoe. Registration fee includes a commemorative patch. Children 5-12 are free. To receive information by phone call 313-428-7722.

When the Manchester Centennial Committee planned the first canoe and boat race as one of the events for the summer of 1967, they did not know that 25 years later the event would still be one of the highlights of activities in Manchester. The race has had several different sponsors through the years and is now under the guidance of the Manchester Recreation Task Force.

Originally both rowboats and canoes could be entered in the race, but now only canoes may be entered. Many people come back year after year on the third Sunday of May to enter the race again. They really enjoy paddling as hard as they can to beat their last year's time or to beat the time of the other contestants in their class. The course on the River Raisin is approximately 3 1/2 miles. Record time of a few canoes has been 35 minutes.

The race begins at Fellows Bridge on Sharon Valley Rd. and ends at the Main Street Bridge in downtown Manchester. The racers are started one canoe at a time. Their starting and finish times are recorded and posted to a stats board at the finish line.

Some people allow their canoes to drift with the mild current and bask in the sights and sounds of the countryside. Turtles, ducks and an occasional jumping fish can be observed along the river. Nature lovers can watch for white tail deer, a squirrel, or a cow. Canoeists can listen to the cacophony of frog serenades and bird scoldings. Race participants will feel the gentle rush of the water as canoes pass them with the paddles swirling the placid water. They need to be alert for a turn in the river, a hidden log or a low-hanging branch.

Refreshments are available for friends and family to enjoy, at the finish line, as they wait and watch for all the canoes to complete the race.

After the racers have completed the regular race in their class they may participate in sprint races in the Manchester mill pond. Three or four canoes at a time will start at the Mill Pond finish line, race around a buoy about 100 yards upstream and race back to the finish line. After several heat races the winners will race for a sprint race championship trophy.

When all the canoes have crossed the finish line, and the times are all calculated, the awards are presented for the first three places in each class, plus the sprint race championship trophy.

Sunday, May 19, will be a fun-filled afternoon in Manchester for all who enjoy watching or participating in this water sport on the River Raisin.
