Knutsen Edges Roberts For School Board, Voters Reject County Millage

Conrad Knutsen edged Janet Roberts, 470-450, in the only race for school board in the Chelsea School District annual elections Monday.

In other results, Chelsea voters soundly rejected the Washtenaw Intermediate School District's request for 1.5 mills in charter millage for an "Education for Employment" program, 798-159. County-wide, the millage failed in every district and the over-all tally was 17,028 no, 9,686 yes. The vote is a turnaround from last year. In an 11-candidate race last year, Roberts finished fourth by four votes with 263 while Knutsen placed eighth with 142.

Knutsen, who has been an active community member primarily in the Chelsea Recreation Council, said Tuesday morning "I guess I'm surprised, but I have no idea why."

Roberts has a long resume of community activity, especially in elementary school groups.

The two differed in their views on the September school district bond issue vote. Knutsen said he would have preferred the voters be offered a choice of building plans, separating elementary school work from high school work, while Roberts supported the board's decision of trying for the whole $23.75 million issue.

Knutsen was also strongly against the WISD's charter millage request, while Roberts took a more neutral position.

"It's a shame either of us had to lose because I think Janet would be an excellent board member," Knutsen said.

Superintendent Joe Piasecki would not speculate on the implications of the election in terms of the September bond issue.

In other elections of interest around the county, Dexter voters defeated an $8 million bond issue for a new elementary school and improvements to current schools, 1,027 to 792. However, they approved a millage renewal, 1,120 to 701. Manchester voters approved a millage renewal, 442 to 207.

Voters in the Lincoln Consolidated School District turned down an override of the Headlee Amendment, 1,480 to 970, and rejected a new millage request, 1,591 to 841, perhaps forcing that district to make some drastic cuts.

Chelsea-Ann Arbor Bus Route Likely To Keep Running

Ann Arbor Transportation Authority has agreed to give the village two alternatives for saving the Chelsea to Ann Arbor bus route.

Village and AATA officials met last week to discuss ways the route might be saved.

AATA had threatened to discontinue the route if the village could not come up with $9,053 to operate the route for six months. While the village never officially voted not to pay the money, it nevertheless indicated it couldn't afford the price tag.

At last week's meeting, a fare increase of 75 cents to $1.75 each way was discussed. Myers said the increase will probably be in both proposals. The proposals will differ, he said, in the amount of service offered. Some runs, such as mid-day runs and/or Saturday service could be eliminated.

However, Myers said it appears as though the village's requested share would be reduced enough by either proposal that council could seriously consider it.

The proposal is likely to be considered at the next village council meeting June 25.

School Board Approves $12.4 Million Budget

Chelsea Board of Education approved a $12.4 million budget for 1991-92 after a public hearing Monday night.

The district anticipates expenses of $12,396,158 and revenues of $12,797,770.

According to a report by assistant superintendent Fred Mills, the budget provides for a 4.56 percent increase in expenditures over the 1991-91 budget and a 9 percent increase in revenues.

"While the revenue exceeds the expenses by $401,612 on a current-year basis, I am unwilling to recommend additional expenditures at this time because of the unsettled State of Michigan budget, which I feel will lead to future recapture of state aid for out-of-formula districts," Mills' report reads.

"It will also provide some cushion for the SEV freeze for the following year."

Superintendent Joe Piasecki agreed that the state is likely to take back some of its aid to the district as it tries to balance the budget.

The budget provides no increase for supplies and "virtually no capital outlay," Mills said.

The new budget breaks down as follows.

Basic instruction	$6,092,190
Added needs	$925,311
Adult and continuing ed.	$139,274
Support services	$742,482
Instructional staff	$485,131
General administration	$188,852
School administration	$564,085
Business	$515,785
Operation and maint.	$1,535,485
Transportation	$873,044
Central data	$14,000
Athletics	$161,138
Community ed.	$110,581
Capital outlay	$204,000
Outgoing transfers	$45,000

In other budget items, the board approved an amended budget for 1990-91 of $11,741,333 in revenues and $11,855,722 in expenditures.

"The big reason our expenditures exceeded our revenues is the work at the bus garage," Piasecki said.

"We've gotten some money from a group fund but we will continue to spend money out there."

The district may have to install a vapor extraction system to remove gasoline contamination from soil under the building. Piasecki said there's not a lot of contamination, but it will have to be removed eventually, depending primarily on requirements by the Department of Natural Resources. Three monitoring wells have been installed.

School Board Approves Annual Maintenance Projects

Chelsea School District plans to spend most of its dedicated maintenance millage on $284,800 in routine maintenance this summer.

The one mill voters approved years ago has been rolled back to .889 mills for this year.

The major project scheduled is replacement of the bulkhead and relocation of starting blocks and diving board at the Cameron Pool for $80,000. The current concrete bulkhead will be replaced by stainless steel.

Other projects include painting at all schools for $19,000; drapes for $17,000; electrical work for $32,000; sound-proofing, chalkboard replacement, and playground fence at North school for $15,000; public address to portable classrooms and other work at South school for $12,000; clock replacement and shelving at Beach school for $5,000; doors, shelving, and work to the science rooms and orchestra room at the high school for $32,000; and roofing for $40,000. Undesignated funds are $10,800.

The maintenance items were approved by the school board Monday night.

In other board business, the board approved an expenditure of $3,505 for a three-year asbestos reinspection.

The board decided to continue to start school at the same time next year. This year's 20-minute earlier starting time was originally a pilot program.

The board accepted a gift of $1,000 from Max Frisinger in memory of his brother, George. The money will be used to encourage theatre appreciation.

Young Car Thief

A 13-year-old boy was arrested on Tuesday, May 28 after stealing a car from a driveway in Bridgetown Condominiums.

According to Chelsea police, the 1990 Cutlass was left running in the driveway while a woman made a brief visit inside. When she came out, the vehicle was gone.

The boy drove around town and eventually to Chelsea High school, where he was caught by police.

Police said the boy rode his bike into town and parked it near the corner of Old US-12 and M-52, then walked to the condominium complex.

Chelsea Hospital Plans To Begin Expansion With $3.85 Million Project

Chelsea Community Hospital is planning a major four-phase expansion over the next decade, beginning with a $3.85 million expansion and renovation of its diagnostic imaging, laboratory, and surgical facilities.

Phase one (dubbed DILS, for former hospital board chairman Arthur Dils) could begin as early as this year, according to Will Johnson, hospital president.

The initial project was approved by the hospital's board of trustees in May. Included will be 15,000 square feet in new construction and 7,500 square feet in renovation. The current campus is about 200,000 square feet. Johnson said site plans could be ready for village approval this year. However, before the project can proceed, the hospital needs approval of a Certificate of Need from the state.

"On July 1, we will be the only small, independent hospital in Washtenaw and Livingston counties," Johnson said, referring to Saline Community Hospital's pending merger with Catherine McAuley Health Center. Many small hospitals have been forced out of business or to merge with larger facilities in recent years.

"If we want to maintain this alternative, we had to consider a capital plan. We're running out of space. We have offices in the shopping center and we can't accommodate all our needs with our current facilities. We also only have three private rooms here. We used to think if a patient was worried about his roommate, he was well enough to go home. That kind of thinking is a little out of date now."

The initial project, scheduled to be constructed near the administrative entrance, will provide 4,000 feet for laboratory space and 11,000 feet for surgery preparation, operating room, recovery, support space and diagnostic imaging. The latter would include space for a permanent CT Scan (the hospital now uses a mobile unit shared with other hospitals), a mammography room, and three ultrasound rooms. There will also be renovation of the specialty clinic, examination and procedure rooms, and waiting and registration areas. Surgeons will be able to dictate, as well as consult with their patients, in private. It will provide separation of acute recovery and step-down recovery areas, update locker facilities, and provide storage space. The new building will keep the look and feel of the current hospital complex, Johnson said.

The hospital is projecting increased surgery business, partially due to the addition of an orthopedic surgeon later this year. It also plans to hire another anesthesiologist.

Johnson said the project would probably be funded with the combination of a fundraising drive, grants, and sale of bonds.

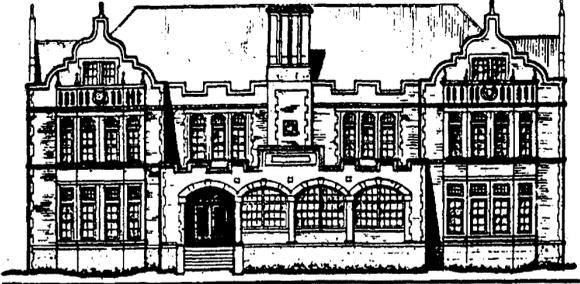

"The good news is, we have a lot of people who want to lend money to us," Johnson said.

"We have a good, strong balance sheet and our only debt is on three clinic buildings we purchased last

Insurers, Proposing Limits on Care, Oppose Mandatory Rate Cut
 Objecting to a 20 percent mandatory rollback in automobile insurance rates and fee schedules kicked off testimony before the House-Senate conference committee negotiating no-fault reform.
 Instead, insurance and business interests advocated a package limiting coverage for medical care and imposing other cost-cutting measures which they said would lead to insurance rate cuts.
 The objections by insurers and businesses were centered on a draft by Conference Committee Chair Sen. Paul Wartner (R-Portage) to a no-fault reform bill (SB 154), which includes the rate cut, but also includes options for drivers to select lower cost coverage for accepting limits on medical care for injuries.
 Under Wartner's proposal, the 20 percent cut would apply to personal protection and residual liability coverage and insurers would have to negotiate with health care providers and facilities to establish a managed system of care for personal protection insurance benefits.

Options available to drivers would include the current system covering all reasonable charges for care, or coverage in a managed care system limits for such expenses as home modification, vocational rehabilitation and home health care.
 The proposal also requires a system of maximum fees paid to health care providers, as set by the Insurance Bureau, and maximum fees to attorneys for lawsuits brought by injured persons.
 But Nancy McKeague of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, which backed the alternative package, said the Wartner proposal is flawed because of the mandated rate cut. "Price controls have never worked in a free market economy and instead resulted in cost shifts and decreased availability," she said.
 The package endorsed by the Chamber, the Michigan Insurance Federation and AAA Michigan, recommended the following:
 —Clarify definition of what insurers can be expected to pay for and have trial judges, not juries, decide whether the treatment and payments are appropriate.

 —Place limits and controls on rehabilitation and long-term care services for automobile accident victims, allowing insurers to send patients to those with the best track record for results and costs.
 —Limit payments made to family members for care of auto-accident victims for "supervision" and "stand-by" assistance.
 —Provide increased incentives to insurers to limit claims approaching or exceeding $250,000, including requiring the Michigan Catastrophic Claims Association to participate in cost of suits to limit claims.
 "If these issues are significantly addressed, the results will be lower costs which can then be passed along to your constituents in the form of lower insurance premiums," MIF president Doug Cruce said. "Market competition will determine the exact amount."
 Cruce said mandated rate rollbacks have not survived constitutional challenges.

Van Regenmorter To Introduce "Crime Kingpin" Legislation
 Sen. William Van Regenmorter (R-Jenison), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, unveiled legislation which specifically prohibits money laundering and financing of criminal activities.
 Van Regenmorter, during a press conference announcing the introduction of the measure, said the bill would begin to get at crime kingpins who engage in money laundering.
 He said a specific felony would be established for those who organized or support continuing criminal enterprises. He noted this would cover crimes involving drugs, white collar fraud, computer fraud and gambling, among others. A violation would carry a 20-year prison sentence, $1 million fine, five times the value of the process or both.
 The bill would incorporate into Michigan law two provisions of federal organized crime statutes, commonly referred to as "continuing criminal enterprise" and "money laundering and illegal investments."
 The crime kingpin portion would make it a felony for an individual to organize, manage or supervise a continuing criminal enterprise.
 It must be proven that the person was involved in crimes such as extortion, murder or drug trafficking, and that the criminal act was part of a continuing series of two or more violations. It must also be proven that the individual acts in concert with five or more persons, acted as an organizer, supervisor or manager and received substantial income or resources.
 The money laundering part would make it unlawful to transform illicit cash into openly usable income.
 State Police Director Michael Robinson appeared in support of the bill and said this would place on the books a means at getting at persons financing criminal activities investigators may have been able to identify.
 He said the really prosperous criminals need to mask their wealth and provisions within the Van Regenmorter bill will help expose them and bring them to justice.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:
 Zeke Grubb got the floor early in the session at the country store Saturday night to call for a reserlation supporting a support group for folks sick of support groups. Zeke was of a mind that somebody has got to put a stop to this move before we all meet ourselves going to meetings.
 Like what happens to most good ideas eventual, Zeke said, this one has been run in the ground. He told the fellers he had saw recent where folks that have been struck by lightning have started a support group. Other groups that come to mind, he went on, is fer them thinking of changing religion or sex, them having babies and abortions, rapists and their victims, them that say they have died and come back to life, not to mention the usual run of wife beaters, drunks, dopers, gluttons and gamblers.
 Zeke's motion got some support and some flack. Bug Hookum was of a mind that we can't have to many support groups because they can help everybody draw help from everybody else. And when a feller's problems git to big to handle he needs all the help he can git. Besides, Bug said Zeke was a fine one to talk, since the fellers at the store backing when even his old lady and his preacher put him down.
 Furthermore, Bug said, he would support a move to form a support group fer folks in favor of outlawing commencement speeches. If a fresh idee has come out of one, or if one graduate has been caught paying attention to one, Bug said, the news ain't made the papers. The schools try to outdo one another in gitting the most famous speaker, Clem said, but nobody cares what he says.
 Practical speaking, declared Clem Webster, what worries him about all the groups is that to many in em are looking for reasons why they can't help themselves. It is the same line of thinking that says alcoholism is a disease, but cocaineism is an addiction. Alcoholism is a disease like arsenic is, Clem said, but society keeps looking fer ways to excuse booze because it is legal, and it is a heap easier to work up support fer a health problem than a police problem.

 Actual, went on Clem, there is a risk in trying to fix everthing that might break. Fer instant, he said he is convinced that the move to remove all the asbestos in all public places is one of the biggest boondoggles in history. Everbody agrees that if you leave it covered it won't hurt anybody, and onct you let it loose you got to find a safe way to cover it agin. The same logic has us digging up oily dirt from all the underground fuel tanks leaks and burying it somewhere else, Clem said.
 The fact is, Clem said, we're running out of somewhere else that folks use to call gullies between their farm and the next. Nowdays, we got to put plastic liners in landfills, and Lord knows what we will have to do with all that plastic that never rots when the land fills up and we got to find more burying ground.
 Personal, I'm with Clem on cures being worst than diseases. I see now where we got to git all the lead out of our water pipes before we all die of poisoning. Tests show that plain baking soda down the pipe will stop lead flaking, but we know that would be to cheap to work. We want problems we can throw real money at.
 Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Charles Trubac, chief executive officer of State Farm, said the current no-fault system gives consumers the best return for their premiums in the country and said insurance companies would pass down savings without being required to because of competition.
 But George Sinas of the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association said any managed care system must serve as an advocate for patients. He said some independent medical examinations have been abusive to patients and have put doctors in a conflict of interest with care managers and patients. "It's like the fox guarding the chicken coop," Sinas said.
 He also strongly opposed fee schedules as contrary to accident victims' interest by discouraging "top-flight" physicians from treating them. Sinas said schedules would lead to overuse of medical services and delay patients' return to work.

Lima Extension Hosts Two Dexter Area Groups

The Emerald Isle, or Ireland, as we better know it, was the program topic May 8, for Lima Extension Homemakers.

Lima Extension invited Webster and the Congregial Dex C's to join them as they toured through Ireland with Diane Horning and her slides.

The groups enjoyed their mid-morning coffee or tea as they viewed the beautiful countryside of Ireland with Diane, not missing the trip to County Cork to kiss the Blarney Stone.

Shamrocks and colors of green adorned the tables as the special Irish luncheon was enjoyed by all. The food dishes were prepared by individuals of each group, including the potato, cabbage, salmon and lamb so prevalent in this country. Mint flavoring with its green color was added to many of the desserts. Blueberry Buckle was a treat brought in by the Webster Group!

After lunch a May meeting was called to order by vice-chairman Janet McCalla. Secretary-treasurer update was presented by Blanch Feldkamp.

From the business discussion future meetings were officially changed to the third Wednesday of the month.

The June meeting is planned at the Methodist Home Crippen Building with Mary Haselswerdt, 725 W. Middle St. Virginia Raney will assist as hostess. The lesson, "The Environment at Risk" will be taught by Jane Schairer and Margaret Sias. Guests are welcome.

Hospital Plans Major Expansion

year. The main question for us is how much debt do we want to take on."

Two other projects will also probably be pursued this year—the construction of an "energy center" and the construction of a 30- to 50,000-square-foot office complex.

Johnson said within the next three months the hospital would seek approval for the energy center to monitor heating and cooling needs for the various buildings. He said payback for the investment takes about 6-8 years.

The office center would be built near the south entrance near the Family Practice Center. He said it's not clear yet who would own the office building, and once that question is worked out, traditional financing can be worked out. An office building Rene Papo is planning to build off Old US-12 near the hospital may not be completed quickly enough for the hospital staff's needs, Johnson said.

Johnson said there's a 50-50 chance the office building would be constructed within 18 months.

The office complex is technically considered to be part of phase two. Phase three involves the replacement of the medical/surgical facility, and phase four would likely be a remodeling of the existing facility.

Johnson said it's "my fondest wish" that all four phases be completed this decade.

Friends of Library Plans Fundraiser Targeting Townships

Friends of McKune Memorial Library is planning a fund drive to raise money for new equipment. The annual fund drive will target the townships surrounding the village. "Village residents have generously provided support for building upkeep, renovation, and the development of plans to expand the library through the recent millage vote," said Mary Green, president of the group. "However, the library has been enormously successful in attracting new patrons and has a great need for new equipment, including a new microfilm reader and printer for the historical room and a word processor for public use."

Green said the children's section also needs new book racks and one or two computers to supplement the training and services provided in Chelsea schools. The resources would be available during library hours when students are free to work independently and pursue their individual interests.

The group has targeted the townships because the number of users from outside the village has more than doubled over the last 10 years.

Green said the group wants to raise more than $4,000, building on the success of last year's drive.

Anyone interested in donating to the campaign may send contributions to Friends of the Library, 221 S. Main St., Chelsea 48118.

The library plans to thank all donors publicly. Anyone who would like to remain anonymous should indicate that desire with the donation.

Boy Scout Rummage Sale Opens Friday Morning in Dexter

This year marks the 21st annual Rummage Sale by Boy Scout Troop 477, and families have been collecting donated items for months to display at the event.

Sale dates are Friday and Saturday, June 14-15.

The barn was full! Everyone pitched in, Monday, June 10, to haul the rummage to the high school gym, where a beehive of activity is anticipated as families sort, arrange for display, and price the items.

Everything from sporting goods, toys, household items, clothes, appliances and furniture, to books, records and antiques can be found at the Rummage Sale.

The entire gym will be arranged as a huge store.

Dianna Borel explained it's a "must see" for those who haven't previously attended the annual event.

Because of the tremendous volume, those who are interested in real "finds" like to make the sale their first stop.

A long line will already have formed by the time the doors fling open at 9 a.m. Friday, June 14.

Sale hours, this year, will be extended until 9 p.m. on Friday, and on Saturday, June 15, when prices are slashed and hundreds more items are added to the floor, the hours will be 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

This year's sale promises to be the biggest and best ever, as Troop 477 has a special project toward which it's working.

Plans for a new troop log cabin have been approved, and ground-breaking will take place in the near future.

While this is an exciting event for Troop 477, it's also very costly.

More than 170 area individuals, merchants and organizations have been contacted, requesting donations of merchandise and gift certificates to the sale.

Some things to be seen, this year, will be 30 square yards of new carpet, two late-model automobiles, a used Honda 350 motorcycle in good condition, a used complete Apple IIc computer with Imagewriter printer and software, a used upright piano, and a new GM V-6 2.8-liter engine.

The Scouts invite the Dexter community to come and see, Friday and Saturday, June 14-15, at Dexter High.

Local Students Participate in Government Study

Chelsea High school students Carey Wallace and Jeffrey Dising recently participated in a seven-day program of intensive study of government held annually at Albion College.

The 100 high school juniors selected to participate in "Operation Bentley" examined the political process of local and state government through simulation, guest lectures from current public officials, classroom instruction, and a full-day visit to the state capitol.

During the government simulation, students assume the roles of mayor, city manager, council members, planning commission members, and civic activists in a city of 120,000 people. Students work to resolve current issues facing city government.

The second portion focuses on politics and decision-making at the state level. Students had the chance to talk to members of the executive and legislative branches, including Gov. John Engler, an alumnus of Operation Bentley.

Wallace is the daughter of Richard and Wendy Wallace and Dising is the son of Dave and Jane Dising.

Citizenship Event To Include Area Students

Four area students will take part in the state-wide Young People's Citizenship Seminar at Olivet College June 17-21.

During the five-day event, students will be involved in political activities that include running for office, conducting campaigns, participating in party rallies, caucuses and conventions, and voting in primary and general elections.

Students will be divided into two political parties, Federalists and Populists, with a few independents to add variety.

The event is sponsored by Michigan Farm Bureau.

Speakers and instructors for the 1991 seminar include Sen. Debbie Stabenow, Rep. Frank Fitzgerald, canoeist and world traveler Valerie Kruger, Michigan Farm Bureau President Jack Laurie, the Rev. Bruce Hanks, a leading portrayer of Abraham Lincoln, and Maria Schultz, a woman who became a U.S. citizen after living under Polish, Nazi, and communist forms of government.

Area students participating include John Heller of Chelsea, Lynette Wackenhut of Manchester, Thomas Solowczuk of Saline, and Amanda Boike of Ann Arbor.

The first real paper, made from wood, was invented by the Chinese in 105 AD.

aper, as we know it, was invented in China in 105 AD by Ts'ai Lun who found that the inner bark of the mulberry tree could be broken into fibers and matted into a sheet. The Chinese later found that good paper could be made by pounding rags, hemp, and old fish nets.

The Chinese art of papermaking spread to other parts of the world, and in 795 AD, the paper industry was established in Baghdad. As a result of the Crusades and Moorish conquest of Northern Africa and Spain, papermaking spread to Europe in the late 1100's.

For several hundred years, paper was made by hand from rag pulp. In 1798, a Frenchman invented a machine to make paper in continuous rolls rather than in small batches.

In 1840, a German invented a process for grinding logs into a fibrous pulp, and in 1867, an American found that fibers in wood could be separated by dissolving the wood in sulfuric acid. By 1882, wood pulp was finally made by processes similar to those used in modern paper mills.

THEATRE R.e.v.i.e.w

By RUSS OGDEN
Free Lance Drama Critic & EMU Professor

"RED HOT AND BLUE"

Turkeyville—You will clearly understand every word, enjoy every tune, and be moved by the varied rhythms of a well-performed musical revue: "Red Hot and Blue," currently enlivening the afternoons and evenings at Cornwell's Dinner Theatre.

David Pritchard's Legitimate Stage Productions create another winner with four musically talented, charismatic entertainers!

The evening is one of remembrance for many with this musical resurgence of romantic ballads, blues, and "torch songs," and a taste of idiosyncrasy expressed by Gershwin's "Blah, Blah, Blah," covering 50 years of lyrical melodies.

Approximately 23 Cole Porter tunes, 14 Irving Berlin melodies, and 15 Ira and George Gershwin favorites are commandeered with respect by director Charles Misoyve where he brings forth natural movements by cast members, not stupid forced choreographical dance steps.

A new arrival from Colorado, music director Cheryl Van Duzen's challenge for excellence proliferated into outstanding performances by the quartet, both individually and in group singing. Duzen appears to be quite a musical gem!

Gregory Checkett's set, featuring silhouetted male/female dancers, encases the stage on sides and top with the words: Gershwin, Cole Porter, and Berlin. Elevated platforms from rear to front furnish excellent entrances and exits for the actors.

The use of red, white, and blue lighting by Richard Gibson enhances the scenes.

Costumes by Kelly Lucas in the first act were terrific. However, I wondered why she repeated black and white costumes again in the second act. Would some color not add to the festivities?

The black and white evening gowns and tuxedos, garnished with red and white cumberbunds, enhance the picture of gracefully performing vocalists giving a most peppy opening with Cole Porter's "Red, Hot and Blue."

What about those fabulous singers and dancers? Julio Agustin, a soft-toned tenor, tenaciously embraces every ballad he sings; Nancy J. Misoyve, energetic soprano who "belts ballads" with a strong voice and stage presence; Paul Gregory Nelson, bombastically enjoying his song and dance performance; and vivacious Suzanne Ogden lighting up the stage charismatically, admirably at ease with her comedic musical entendres or when using her strong soprano voice for "torching": A neat appearing and likeable quartet combining multi-talents for unified great performance.

Using a combination of graceful and upbeat singing, Julio Agustin opens with Berlin's "Steppin' Out with My Baby."

Newly graduated from Florida State University, Agustin arrived from Rockford, Ill., fresh from completing "42nd Street." For his second professional show, Agustin shows a remarkable stage presence for a newcomer, primarily with his fluidity on stage. Laughter fills the house at each performance with "Blah, Blah, Blah," a Gershwin musical tease.

Paul Nelson follows with a bumptious delivery of "Top Hat, White Tie and Tails," with the Nelson and Agustin tuxedoed combining their efforts successfully with an energized "Everybody Step."

Combining innocence and talent, Suzanne Ogden torches "My Heart Belongs to Daddy." (The late Mary Martin walked on the Broadway stage, clothed in a fur coat... and not much more... and gave her heart to Daddy from atop a piano. From that point on stardom was hers.) Perhaps Ogden's warmest, romantic delivery comes with "Someone To Watch Over Me!"

Nelson bends the Bunny Berrigan trumpet solo of "I Can't Get Started" to suit voluminous baritone voice.

A powerful voice, beautiful eyes, and a demanding stage presence by Nancy Kolton makes us believe that she really does "Get a Kick Out of You."

Many group numbers are enjoyable but "Puttin' on the Ritz" by Berlin combined with "Ritz, Roll and Rock" by Porter is a bouncy, dancy interlude of entertainment by Nelson, Augustin, Ogden and Kolton.

Matinees are Wednesday, Thursday with lunch at 12, show at 2. Evening performances Friday and Saturday at 8, dinner served from 6.

"Red Hot and Blue" provides two hours of good, clean entertainment and continues at Cornwell's Dinner Theatre (Marshall by I-94, 69 North, exit right, left at top of exit for 1 mile).

Information and ticket orders may be placed at 616-781-4315.

Farm Bureau Applauds Farm Credit Decision

The U.S. Treasury Department has backed away from an earlier recommendation to place the farm credit system under its regulatory wing, leaving that responsibility to the Farm Credit Administration. According to Al Almy, director of public affairs for the Michigan Farm Bureau, that decision is good news to farmers.

"We feel that the Farm Credit Administration has the expertise in agricultural lending, understands the need of the agricultural industry for an adequate source of credit, and is well-equipped to administer the farm credit system," he said.

Almy said the basic issue is that the Farm Credit Administration will continue to manage the resources which are backed by the federal government, rather than turning control over to a broader government regulator that does not have the understanding and the needs of agriculture at heart.

Thursday, June 15, 1967—Ralph Johnson received the Rockwell-Standard award during Class Night ceremonies at the Chelsea High school gymnasium. Ralph was honored for his outstanding contribution to the field of industrial arts. The presentation included three power tools manufactured by Rockwell Manufacturing Corp.

Ernest Hinderer, 15, hospitalized for almost three weeks after being struck by a stray bullet, returned home to continue therapy as an outpatient of the hospital. Ernest was felled by a .22 calibre bullet in the head while plowing a field near his home. His father told Washtenaw county sheriff's deputies at the time that he looked up while greasing plows to find his son slumped back over the seat of the tractor.

Honor graduates of Chelsea High school class of 1967 posed after recognition of their achievement during Class Night ceremonies at the high school gymnasium. Maintaining a grade-point average of 3.5 or better to win the honors were Charles Winans, II, Janice Koenigter, Sue Gardner, Sue Weller, Eric Batzdorfer, Cheryl Grau and Ellen Merkel.

A farm owned by Leigh W. Beeman was designated a Centennial farm by the Michigan Historical Commission. The farm, located in Lyndon township, had been in possession of the family since 1865.

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, June 13, 1957—Charles Stapish, Jr., buried to the armpits for almost a half-hour in the cave-in of a trench he and his father were digging at the Stapish farm on Waterloo road was released unharmed when his father succeed in digging away the pile of caved-in-dirt which imprisoned him. The senior Stapish had also been caught by the cave-in although only his legs to his knees were covered. Ten men from the Chelsea Fire Department responded to the call for help; however, Fire Chief Ted Balmer, on reaching the scene, ordered his men to remain at a distance for fear their weight near the trench should dislodge more dirt. They stood by with the resuscitator in readiness while the elder Stapish finished digging the son out. Only ill effect felt by the rescued man was numbness of his legs.

Respite Volunteers Offer Help for Adult Caregivers

To give someone respite means to give them relief. There are many people in our county who are providing daily care for older adults who cannot be left alone. These caregivers are working hard and deserve a break from their exhausting routines.

Respite Volunteers of Washtenaw is a program that gives assistance to the caregivers of older adults. Volunteers are trained to be caring companions to the homebound for approximately three to four hours per week. The presence of the volunteer in the home allows the caregiver to get out of the house to shop, visit friends, attend meetings, go to church, or just relax. Volunteers are not expected to do personal care, chore services, or to administer medication.

There have been a number of requests for respite service from families living in the outlying communities in Washtenaw county such as Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Saline and Whitmore Lake. In order to assist these families, respite volunteers are needed from all of these areas.

A two-part volunteer training program is now being planned for Thursday, June 20, and Thursday, June 27, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The training will be held in the administration building at Chelsea Community Hospital.

If you are interested in becoming a respite volunteer, please call Rebecca Knorp, Respite program co-ordinator, at Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw county to register for the training or obtain further information. The telephone number is 662-4534.

This program is made possible by a grant from the Ann Arbor Area Foundation to Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw County. All are welcome to become volunteers in this program.

YOU & YOUR PET

By Linda Reider
Education Department
Humane Society of Huron Valley

★ Placing a Pet

It happens sometimes that people can no longer keep their pets. Perhaps a relative dies or moves into a nursing home and family members are unable to take in the person's pets. Frequently, people who adopt appealing puppies and kittens without spending adequate time in the selection process later find themselves with dogs and cats who do not fit their lifestyles. I hear many reasons as animals are handed across the counter at the humane society, some good, some not. But I realize that although we receive about 4,500 unwanted pets from owners every year, many animals in our community change hands without our help.

If you plan to place your pet in a new home, here are some tips to make the best choice possible. Some animals should not be placed in new homes. These include animals who bite or are aggressive, animals who are very elderly or ill, animals who are not socialized to humans (feral), and cats who have permanently lost litterbox training. Euthanasia is usually the best choice in these cases.

If your pet is relatively young and in good health, you have a better chance of placement. Try to find someone through word of mouth—relatives, friends, co-workers. If you run a newspaper ad, never list the animal as "free." Responsible adopters will pay a small fee. Also be prepared to carefully screen respondents, first over the phone, then in person.

Screening is the hardest part. Are they local residents? Why do they want a pet? Do they have other pets? Ask to see their veterinary records to verify good medical care. Can they afford the care of this pet? Do they rent or own? Ask their landlord directly if he or she allows pets. What is their household like? Is it suitable for your pet?

Be honest about your pet's personality and why you can no longer keep him or her. Don't be afraid to turn someone down. Your pet is depending on your judgment! Once you make a choice, take a small fee as a refundable deposit towards sterilization or vaccination. The best choice is to have your pet sterilized prior to placement. Call the new owners one week and one month later to see how your pet is adjusting. For a free brochure with a sample adoption agreement, send a self-addressed stamped legal envelope to Pet Placement, c/o L. Reider, HSHV, 3100 Cherry Hill Rd., Ann Arbor 48106.

Hot Weather Causes Jump in Fish Kill

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has received an unusually high number of "dead fish" complaints, this year.

Engineer Byron Lane, who works in the DNR's surface water quality division and is headquartered at the Jackson office, explained that he has been with the DNR for nine years, and this is the first time the department's fisheries division has issued a press release regarding fish dying because of the significant rise in temperatures so early in the year.

With a fairly long stretch of hot weather, the water in Michigan ponds, lakes and rivers warmed suddenly, bringing additional stress to fish, many of which were in the midst of spawning, producing one stress on top of another.

Next week, The Chelsea Standard will publish information provided in the press release from the DNR fisheries division to provide additional information on the problem.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Bulldogs Trip Divine Child, Earn Berth in Final Four

It's down to the final four for the Chelsea Bulldogs baseball team.

For the first time in school history, the Bulldogs have qualified for the state class B baseball tournament, scheduled this Friday and Saturday at Nichols Field in Battle Creek.

Last Saturday, Chelsea took a 10-0 mercy-rule win over Coldwater before ripping Dearborn Divine Child, the state's top ranked team, in the finals, 5-3.

"It was a good, solid effort all the way down the line-up, just an outstanding team effort," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

"We got contributions from everyone, including the kids who didn't play. All of us knew we had a good club and felt we could play with anyone. Our play Saturday should have helped us establish some credibility outside the area."

The Bulldogs (31-3) play Wyoming Rogers (29-3) of Grand Rapids in their semi-final game at 7 p.m. Friday. The winner meets the victor of the Madison Heights Bishop Foley/Midland Bulloch Creek game on Saturday at 7.

Senior Rob Clem, who extended his pitching scoreless streak to 29 innings against Coldwater and his record to 11-1, will get the assignment Friday.

Chelsea reached the finals in dramatic fashion Saturday, much as their season has gone all year.

The game was tied 3-3 going into the top of the seventh inning.

The visiting Bulldogs posted two outs before senior pinch-hitter Kelly Beard smacked a solid single to center field. Ben Hurst, who Beard batted for, re-entered the game as a pinch-runner.

Senior Jude Quilter hit a liner on a two-strike pitch to center, which appeared to be a routine single. However, the ball took a funny hop and the centerfielder slipped to the ground, allowing the ball to roll to the fence. Quilter kept on running, eventually belly-flopping to score the fifth Bulldog run just ahead of the throw.

In the bottom of the inning, junior pitcher Jake Rindle yielded a single and a walk with no outs. A sacrifice bunt moved them into scoring position, and a walk loaded the bases with one out. Rindle struck out a pinch-hitter for the second out. Then, on a one-strike pitch, the batter hit a high pop foul, which first baseman Craig Ferry lunged for and caught, prompting a mob scene off the first base line.

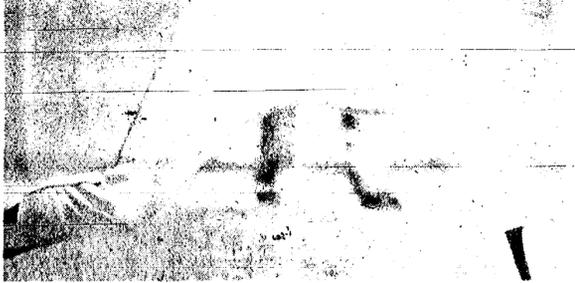

There was no indication at the outset the game would go down to the wire. The Bulldogs scored one run in each of the first three innings and no Divine Child runner got past second base.

A walk to Quilter, a sacrifice by Adam Taylor, and a single by Kerry Plank scored the first run.

In the second inning, Rindle doubled and Jeremy Stephens sacrificed him to third. Then Clem tried to squeeze, but the ball was thrown away at third to allow the second run.

In the third, Ferry doubled and scored on consecutive sacrifices by Rindle and Stephens.

However, one swing of the bat tied the game in the fourth. A walk and a single put two runners on. The next batter tripled to right center. A throw to third bounced away, allowing the runner to score.

Rindle tossed a three-hitter but walked seven and recorded two strikeouts.

Chelsea had six hits, two by Ferry and one each by Quilter, Rindle, Beard, and Plank.

In the first game, Clem allowed five hits, struck out five, and the Bulldogs played errorless defense. In the fifth inning they also recorded their first triple play to snuff out the only Coldwater threat. With runners at first and second, second baseman Quilter snagged a line drive, threw to Rindle at first, who threw to shortstop Plank at second.

Chelsea scored in five of the six innings.

In the first, an error at first scored Plank from second base.

A double by Stephens, walks to Clem and Tucker Steele, a single by Beard, and a bases-loaded walk to Quilter scored two more runs in the second.

Steele's double and Quilter's single scored the fourth run in the fourth.

Five runs scored in the fifth on a walk to Plank, single by Rindle, walk to Stephens, an error, a triple by Steele, and a single by Quilter.

Finally, the game-ending run in the sixth was produced by a single by Ferry, a wild pick-off attempt, and a wild pitch.

Chelsea had eight hits for the game.

Dog Softball Team Makes Region Finals But Loses to SMCC

Chelsea Bulldogs softball team, in the region tournament for the first time since 1985, were eliminated in the finals by Monroe St. Mary's Catholic Central, 5-1, ending the Bulldogs' season.

It was an emotional, draining afternoon for the Bulldogs, who squandered a five-run lead in their first game, only to come back and win in extra innings, 9-5, over Jackson Northwest. It was the first extra-inning game of the season for Chelsea.

"The hardest thing about the day is we didn't play our best ball, we lost playing average ball," said Chelsea coach Amy Poljan.

"The girls were nervous, without a doubt, but they just didn't respond as well as they wanted to. After the first game they were worn out."

Chelsea had problems in the field all day long. In the championship game, they loaded the bases with three errors in the second inning but yielded only one run. A walk, single, and error in the third put St. Mary's up 2-0. Two errors and four hits scored St. Mary's final three runs in the sixth.

The Bulldogs, who were no-hit through six innings, put together their only threat in the seventh. Shawn Losey singled and stole second, Christine Burg singled, and Scharphorn singled.

Junior Jennifer Petty started the game but was relieved by Scharphorn in the third inning.

"The game probably would have been 2-1 if we had eliminated our errors," Poljan said.

"However, we really felt that if we could have played them earlier in the season it might have made a difference. The only team we lost to twice this season was Belleville."

In the first game, Chelsea took a 2-0 lead in the top of the first and increased the lead to 5-0 in the third.

However, Northwest scored three in the fourth and two in the fifth to tie. Chelsea errors in each inning helped the Northwest cause.

Theresa Hurst started the Chelsea run in the top of the eighth with a long triple. Northwest followed with a wild pitch to score the first run. Dana Durst reached on an error, Liz Sager walked, Northwest misplayed a Petty bunt, Losey singled, and Northwest threw another wild pitch.

Poljan called the game an "error-rathon" as Chelsea committed six fielding mistakes and Northwest had nine.

Scharphorn pitched all eight innings, gave up five hits and five walks, and struck out five. She stranded eight Northwest baserunners.

Poljan called it an average outing for Scharphorn.

"Over-all I'm real happy with what happened to us this season," Poljan said.

"We did a lot of things I never expected us to do."

COACH AMY POLJAN tries to position her defense during the region semi-final game with Jackson Northwest. The Bulldogs reached the finals but were eliminated by Monroe Catholic Central.

KELLY CROSS plays the bunt attempt and throws to first base from her knees during the region final game against St. Mary's Catholic Central last Saturday. Chelsea lost, 5-1.

COLLEEN SCHARPHORN makes the play to first base during the region semi-final game against Jackson Northwest. Chelsea won the game in extra innings, 9-5.

THERESA HURST slides home for what turned out to be the winning run in the Bulldogs 9-5 victory over Jackson Northwest in the semi-finals of the region tournament.

Softball Team Gets Eight on SEC Teams

Senior outfielder Dana Durst made the honorable mention team. Other first team selections included Milan pitcher Inge Schoeff, Dexter infielder Karen Hagarty, Milan infielder Lori Karr, Tecumseh infielder Monica Hilliard, Tecumseh outfielders Julie Oxley and Jill Schneider, Lincoln outfielder Amy Kimbrell, and Tecumseh's Jill Hawley, selected as an at-large player.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Who would ever have expected Divine Child to do all the growling? Anyone who watched the region baseball finals last Saturday in Monroe, in which our Chelsea Bulldogs stunned their opponents from Dearborn, 5-3, knows what I'm writing about.

Divine Child literally growled, or maybe it was retched, through the entire game. It was hard to tell exactly what kind of noise they were making. Jake Rindle into the stretch and "GRRROWLLLLL." Every single pitch, without fail. It was an obvious attempt to rattle the junior hurler, an attempt that made the Falcons look more juvenile and foolish than clever and competitive and, in the end, probably made the Bulldogs more determined to win.

And what kind of coach takes his team to a regional final and permits, even encourages that kind of behavior through lack of action?

"Okay kids, this is a regional final. If you're going to retch, do it politely. No loud belching, please."

It's seeing teams like Divine Child that make me appreciate the kind of class program Chelsea coach Wayne Welton runs year in and year out.

Despite all that, Divine Child was a pretty good baseball team, which is what you might expect from the state's number one ranked team. Their pitching and defense was excellent. But not good enough.

Does that make our Bulldogs number one? Thankfully not. The weekly rankings are done and frankly, a number one ranking can be a curse. That's something they don't need for this week-end.

No matter what happens this Friday and Saturday at the final four of class B baseball in Battle Creek, last Saturday will be hard to top for pure entertainment.

A little of everything happened. Chelsea got another shut out from Rob Clem, a mercy-rule win, a 4-3-6 triple play, several double plays, an inside-the-park homer, and two outstanding catches by Ben Hurst in centerfield and Craig Ferry at first base. They also had an umpire whose strike zone ran from the shoelaces to the neckline but occasionally ruled out belt-high fastballs.

The Chelsea softball team had some outstanding defensive plays as well, including the snagging of a line drive down the line by rightfielder Dana Durst. In the second game they had three straight put-outs at the plate.

There were countless people like me running back and forth between the two games. The Hursts had Ben playing baseball and Theresa playing softball and there was some talk of putting chairs on the roof of the pavilion so they could watch both games at once. It's also fitting that Theresa scored the winning run in the first softball game and Ben scored the winning run in the championship baseball game. Quite a week-end for that family.

Much of the school district administration was on hand, including an unintentionally color-coordinated superintendent Joe Piasecki and assistant superintendent Fred Mills. North school principal Bill Wescott wore an "I Hate Indoor Recess" t-shirt. They appeared to be fans, but, in fact, they may have been on a covert mission to scout out the four-diamond facility, which is what the district wants to build if the September bond issue passes.

The Chelsea fan turn-out was inspiring—parents, relatives, and just plain Chelsea fans. Believe me, they got their money's worth, a day full of memories, and a good sunburn to boot.

I won't speculate about this week-end except to say Chelsea has as good a shot as anyone. There is no weakness in any part of their game.

One of the people I know in the area who has participated in a state ball tournament is softball coach Amy Poljan. Her 1982 team took the state title.

I asked her what makes the difference between winning and losing at the state level. She mentioned luck, hitting on all cylinders, etc. But at that level, she said, the teams are all good.

Once you get to a regional final, the games have a grueling intensity level. Poljan said:

"How a team handles three games in a row like that makes the difference."

Six Bulldogs Get SEC Baseball Honors

Six Chelsea Bulldogs were named to All-Southeastern Conference baseball teams this spring.

Senior pitcher Rob Clem and junior first baseman Jake Rindle were unanimous selection.

Before the regional play-offs, Clem had a 9-1 record with a 1.10 earned run average. He had pitched 22 2/3 consecutive scoreless innings and had pitched 27 1/3 innings without giving up an earned run.

Rindle was batting .517, had 41 RBI, 14 steals, and played errorless defense. Although selected as an infielder, Rindle had the league's best pitching record at 10-0.

Senior shortstop Kerry Plank was also named to the first team. He was batting .430 with nine game-winning hits and 21 stolen bases.

Second team selections included senior Craig Ferry, chosen as a designated hitter, and junior catcher Adam Taylor.

Ferry was hitting .406 with three home runs and 31 RBI. He plays third base, first base, and pitches.

Taylor was hitting .338 with four home runs and a team-high 25 steals. Coach Wayne Welton considers him the best defensive catcher in the area.

Senior Tucker Steele was named to the honorable mention team as a utility player. Primarily a designated hitter, Steele was hitting .327.

Other first team selections included Saline pitcher Dan Scutchfield, Saline catcher Tim Boivin, Saline infielder Rob Reeves, Tecumseh infielder Heathe Fowler, outfielders Brian Burns of Tecumseh, Jeff Kirchner of Pinckney, Bryan Covel of Milan, and designated hitter Jason Tuberville of Tecumseh.

Two Caravans Planned for Chelsea Baseball Fans Friday

If you want to go to Battle Creek Friday to watch the Chelsea Bulldogs pursue a state baseball championship, there are several alternatives.

Parents and baseball team supporters have organized two caravans. The first will meet at 1:30 p.m. at the high school baseball field. After the departing of vehicles, the group will depart at 2.

A second caravan will depart at 4 p.m. from the high school ball field but will decorate their vehicles in Battle Creek.

Both caravans will travel to the Stouffer Hotel, 50 Capital Ave. SW, where players and many supporters plan to spend the night, no matter what happens at Friday's game.

All Chelsea fans are urged to meet at the Stouffer Hotel for one large caravan to Bailey Park at 6 p.m. Game time is at 7.

Questions can be directed to Tom or Sarah Steele at 475-1222.

For those who can't make either caravan, here are directions.

Take I-94 west to I-194 north. Exit I-194 at Capital SW and turn right. Bailey Park is a short drive up Capital SW on the right.

Rosentreter Resigns Girls Basketball Job

Chelsea High school varsity girls basketball coach Rahn Rosentreter has resigned his position.

Superintendent Joe Piasecki received the resignation on Monday.

"Obviously we need to fill the position quickly so we can have a summer program," Piasecki said.

Rosentreter had wanted to add an hour to his part-time teaching schedule, but the school didn't accommodate the request. Rosentreter did not rule out coaching another sport.

Rosentreter's teams won Southeastern Conference titles each of the last three years, as well as a district title one year. He served as coach for four years.

As of press time, it was not known whether any school district staff member would be interested in the position.

On the following Sunday, Pentecost, they received their first communion. They and their parents, along with the 7th grade class and parents, have earned sufficient money to go on a seven-day trip to St. Louis, via Chicago, from June 17 through 22. Accompanying them will be Mrs. Carolyn Flintoft, Ms. Elizabeth Maurer, Melvin Seitz, and Pastor Koch. Members of the Class of 1991 are (first row, left to right), Eric LeFurge, Michelle Parker, Amanda Erskine, Jessica Flintoft, and Charlotte Ziegler; (second row) Mark Seitz, Leslie Read, Courtney Thompson, and Pastor Erwin Koch.

United Churches of Christ Planning Joint Celebration

Two Chelsea churches plan a joint-congregation celebration June 23 of their status as United Churches of Christ: The First Congregational church on Middle St., and St. Paul United Church of Christ on Old US-12. Under the theme of "We Are Family," the churches will celebrate a worship service led by the children and held at St. Paul church, followed by a brunch immediately afterward. Catering the brunch will be Chelsea Community Hospital.

Over 30 members of the Chelsea community have been working on the arrangements for the service and the celebration, including the pastors of both churches: the Rev. Ervin Koch of St. Paul, and the Rev. Keith Roberson, interim pastor of First Congregational church. In June of 1957, the United Church of Christ was formed with the union of English and German churches interested in returning to a New Testament teaching. The Congregational Christian Churches, originating with the Pilgrims and Puritans of New England, joined the Evangelical and Reformed Church, peopled by German and Swiss immigrants from the 17 and 1800s. The German and English Reformation heritages formed a rich mixture of both pietism and pragmatism, social sensitivity and Biblical scholarship, a concern for people and for prayer, for local church strength and a world-consciousness and concern.

With the 1957 union, the United Church of Christ became the only church union in America in which two distinct forms of church polity melded.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES:

How Not To Unify Europe

By Philip C. Clarke
Napoleon tried it. So did Hitler. They sought to unite and rule Europe by force of arms and, of course, failed. But starting next year, visionary leaders in 12 European countries plan peacefully and voluntarily to begin merging their economies in a single strong community. The European Economic Community, or EC as it's called, promises to be the world's largest financial and trading market. If successful, it could lead to a politically integrated "United States of Europe," as well.

The final target for economic integration calls for a single European currency to be administered by a European central bank, beginning on Jan. 1, 1994. It's a favorite of many Europeans who have long resented the U.S. dollar's dominance in world money markets. But planning can be a lot easier than doing, as EC's sponsors are discovering in the example of Germany's problem-plagued reunification.

When the Bonn government last July suddenly introduced its strong deutsche mark in eastern Germany on a one-for-one exchange basis with the weak East German mark, the result was, in the words of Germany's Central Bundesbank president, Karl Otto Poehl, "a disaster." Instead of invigorating the economy of eastern Germany and halting the exodus of its workers to the West, the exact opposite occurred. Consumers in the east went on a spending spree, buying better made western goods with their new deutsche marks. Eastern Germany's industry, hobbled by years of communist mismanagement, soon collapsed, its output falling by 50 percent in eight months. Now, the Bonn government has had to raise income and consumer taxes to pay for soaring unemployment benefits and other subsidies in the East.

The Bundesbank's Karl Poehl says the German experience is a "drastic illustration" of what could happen if the European Community moves too fast toward a single currency and central bank. Poehl has urged that East German industry be given time to adapt to free market practices and raise its productivity before being forced to compete on an equal basis with the booming West. He predicts a similar disaster if Europe's weaker economies are merged overnight with those of the stronger ones.

Nonetheless, under the leadership of French socialist Jacques Delors, the European Commission, which is overseeing the EC, is pushing some 300 specific proposals aimed at submerging national identities within the planned supranational authority. All of which has drawn a warning from Hans Sennholz, chairman of the Economics Department at Grove City College in Pennsylvania.

Writing in the Durrell Journal of Money and Banking, Dr. Sennholz says: "Many champions of the Economic Community view the common currency as merely another step toward complete European integration and unification. They favor a gradual surrender of national sovereignty to the European parliament, followed by an early inclusion of all non-member countries. Intent on gradually transforming the European continent, they would welcome the former communist countries, including the Soviet Union, to an even broader union, a 'Urals to the Atlantic' federation which Gorbachev likes to call 'our common European home'."

Dr. Sennholz says the initial framework already is in place through the Conference on Security and Co-operation in Europe, or CSCE, which combines both the NATO nations and former Warsaw pact members. "If we are to believe these thinkers" concludes Dr. Sennholz, "EC '92 may be followed by CSCE 2002, and a new world order soon thereafter."

Medflight Celebrates 2,000th Accident-Free Emergency Flight

Midwest Medflight, the air ambulance service based at Catherine McAuley Health System, Ann Arbor, celebrated its 2,000th accident-free flight at the end of May.

"It's a milestone for the industry," says William Pesel, Medflight operations manager. "An industry-wide effort is underway to improve the safety record for emergency medical air services. With strong and active safety programs, we will continue making safe trips."

Midwest Medflight will be presented with a medical safety award for "2000 Consecutive Accident-Free EMS Helicopter Missions" at the annual conference of the Association of Air Medical Services. Medflight, a co-operative service of McAuley and several other southeastern Michigan hospitals, began operating in October, 1986.

Catherine McAuley Health System is a not-for-profit health care provider based in Ann Arbor. CMHS units include St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, McPherson Hospital, the Center for Mental Health and Chemical Dependency, Reichert Health Building and outpatient facilities in Washtenaw, Livingston and Wayne counties.

Veterans Park Memorial Fund Nearing Goal

Veterans Park Fund is nearing its goal and as contributions continue to come in it will meet its expectations within the next few days.

A new memorial plaque has been cast in bronze and is ready for re-mounting on its stone monument. Dayton Peck, an expert stonemason from Traverse City, will labor through the week restoring the stonework and tuckpointing of the monument.

Installation and dedication of the memorial plaque, which honors the veterans of all American wars, will be carried out by Chelsea members of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and veterans of Desert Storm.

According to Rollie Sapulding who spark-plugged the Veterans Park restoration, additional contributions to the Veterans Park Fund will be used to establish a permanent trust fund to assure ongoing maintenance of this memorial monument. Checks may be mailed to Veterans Park Fund, Will Connelly, treasurer, care of The Chelsea Standard, 300 N. Main, Chelsea.

Two Area Students On CMU Honors List

Two area students, one a Dexter High graduate, the other from Manchester, were among those on the spring-semester honors list at Central Michigan University, as announced, this week, by CMU's News Bureau director Jo Stephenson.

Dexter's Angela M. McCalla, a junior at Central Michigan, and senior Jacqueline J. Davis of Manchester were included in the 1,007 CMU students named to the honors list.

To qualify for the honors list, students must have earned semester averages which placed them in the top 10 percent of their classes, 3.67 for juniors and 3.76 for seniors.

From the SUPERINTENDENT'S CORNER

By JOSEPH K. PIASECKI

Questions are often asked by residents about the Chelsea schools that deserve a wide circulation. The Chelsea Standard has agreed to publish this column several times during the year to provide information to the residents of the Chelsea School District.

Q. Why does the bond issue include so much work on the High School?

A. As we began planning for our elementary needs, we also took a good look at the high school needs. The students who will fill our new elementary school will be high school students in the future. The existing high school, which currently houses 668 students, will need to house over 900 students because of students moving through the grades and projected increases in enrollment.

Q. What will be done at the High School?

- A new music facility will be created to meet the needs of our growing band, orchestra and choir programs.
- All science facilities will be updated.
- The academic buildings will be connected by adding a building in the middle of the campus. This building will house classrooms, offices, storage space and work areas. The buildings will be connected by hallways, with lockers in the hallways rather than in the locker building. The locker building will be removed.
- Much of the industrial arts building will be converted to general classrooms to meet our changing student needs.
- Athletic and physical education facilities will be added to and renovated to meet our future needs. A new competition gym, as well as the improvement of our existing facilities, will take us into the next century.
- Integrated technology will be added to help both our teachers and students. The technology plan also calls for doubling the number of computers at the high school.
- The traffic flow will be improved by redesigning the system.
- The heating, plumbing, ventilation and electrical systems will be evaluated and improvements made where necessary.

Q. What is being planned for the outdoor facilities?

The completion of the football facilities, the addition of one softball diamond, the addition of one baseball diamond, and adding soccer facilities.

Q. How much will all of the High School improvements cost?

It is estimated that the high school improvements will cost $14,650,000.

Philippine Missionaries Will Speak at St. Paul's

A husband-wife missionary couple, Richard and Mary Beth Lake, will speak during the program sponsored by the Friendship Group, St. Paul United Church of Christ, on Thursday, June 13. A pot-luck luncheon will begin at noon. Other area UCC churches have been invited, as is the public.

Richard Lake teaches business management and computer literacy courses at Silliman University, the major Protestant University, in Dumagueta with a student body of over 5,000. He is in the College of Business Administration. Mary Beth is on the faculty of the School of Music and Fine Arts. She is also director of the Silliman University Women's Ensemble and its church choir.

"Silliman University," write the Lakes, "is a microcosm of the national scene. Financial problems that have plagued the university for several years have reached crisis proportions... Our greatest satisfaction comes from our relationship with the students..."

Before going to the Philippines in 1982, Richard served as director of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce Savings and Loan Division, from 1978 to 1982. Prior to that, he held a variety of executive positions with Michigan banking institutions and the Michigan Dept. of Education. Mary Beth taught voice at Michigan State University as well as in Germany, and was a soloist with the Battle Creek Symphony Orchestra. They will show slides, and will bring the group up-to-date with some of the social problems which are catching world attention.

Covenant Association, Michigan Conference, is currently working on a partnership program with the United Church of Christ in the Philippines, a denomination comprised of several Protestant church bodies, including the United Church of Christ.

Murder Suspect Bound Over to Circuit Court

Near the conclusion of the preliminary examination, Wednesday, June 5, in District Court 14, Chelsea, the Honorable Kenneth Bronson, presiding judge, explained, "There are many questions that remain. Many. Why use a knife when a gun is available, for example. There are many questions that remain. Why break into the house and do an armed robbery at all, when you have access to the house, and there's a safe in there, (that) presumably could be carted off and pried open at somebody's leisure.

"For the purpose of this hearing, the court believes that the probable scenario is that, and the probable cause lies for murder under felony murder rule, and all of the other charges as specified herein against Mr. Todd Plamondon.

"Accordingly, the defendant'll be bound over to face these charges in circuit court—Circuit Court No. 1, at 1 p.m. on June 18."

Judge Bronson continued, "I haven't asked all of the questions that are still left dangling, but it isn't the business of the prosecutor to exclude all of those questions, or even answer them.

"He had strong evidence that he didn't even introduce, such as the blood—he was holding for a later date—that we stumbled on."

Glynn Barnett, the most recent court-appointed attorney for Todd Plamondon, said during Wednesday's court proceedings, "It seems to me that based on the testimony we've heard this morning, that this is what we have in this situation. We have an armed robbery, we have a homicide, and I think there is inconsistent testimony on how the homicide occurred.

"The vest of the significant testimony, I think, is that Miss Ancypa says that when she ran out of that house, screaming, Sue Curtis was right behind her. Sue Curtis was alive. That three people were left in the house alive, that she ran across the street, across this yard, across the berm; across the street, across the other yard, talked to the neighbor.

"Then, she turned around and saw movement in the house, saw what had to have been Sue Curtis moving in the house.

Continuing with his remarks, Barnett noted, "Mr. Curtis, on the other hand, says that he was pretending to be unconscious, that he heard Miss Ancypa screaming outside. He jumped up, his wife was bleeding, and he ran to the phone."

Barnett said, "It couldn't have happened both ways, your honor. If at the time he jumped up, his wife was lying on the dining-room floor, she couldn't have been moving across the window of the living room or the dining room. I think, based on the testimony we've heard, either Mr. Curtis or the intruder stabbed Sue Curtis. I don't think we have any evidence as to who did it."

Prior to the testimony during Wednesday's proceedings, Judge Bronson outlined the charges against Todd Plamondon, stating, "The charge is homicide, first degree murder; robbery, armed; breaking and entering an occupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny therein, or murder; unlawfully driving away an auto, and a violation of the firearms law.

Assistant prosecutor Jerome Farmer asked that the name of Joyce Ancypa be added to that of Sue Ellen Curtis on the armed robbery charge, to which defense attorney Barnett expressed no objection.

Barnett asked that the witnesses be sequestered, and that the court instruct the witnesses they should not discuss their testimony with each other.

Prosecutor Farmer had no objection, and the court granted Barnett's request.

The first witness at the preliminary exam identified himself as Dr. Robert C. Hendrix, consultant in forensic pathology at the University of Michigan Hospital and St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

During questioning by Farmer, Dr. Hendrix informed the court he had supervised the autopsy performed on the body of Sue Ellen Curtis, and that he had actually participated in parts of the autopsy, although a younger doctor did a lot of the work.

He stated, "There were two cutting wounds on the front of the chest, one of them extended through the chest wall, through part of the lungs, and into the heart. Another one extended to the left side of the heart, between the heart and the lung, into the soft tissues of the center part of the chest, and produced a large amount of bleeding in that area."

Dr. Hendrix stated further, "There were two cuts in the front of the neck, and in one of these, there was a tracheotomy tube."

Farmer inquired, "In your expert opinion, doctor, what was the cause of death?"

Dr. Hendrix's reply stated clearly, "Stab wound to the heart and chest."

The prosecutor produced a small paring knife, and a broken-off section of the knife, and asked the doctor if it could have been the instrument causing the death of Sue Ellen Curtis.

Hendrix answered, "It could have been, yes, sir. It is the right size, it is long enough to make the wounds. The wounds were not particularly large. It could have made those wounds.

Under cross examination by Glynn Barnett, Hendrix was asked, "Assuming that Mrs. Curtis had received treatment for those injuries within a reasonable time, would they have resulted in her death, in your opinion?"

Hendrix answered, "No, sir." Describing her April 1 visit to the Curtis home at 4899 Cottonwood Lane, Dexter township, witness Joyce Ancypa stated she arrived at 8:40 in the evening.

She explained, "After I walked into the house, Sue was in the kitchen, preparing dinner, and I stayed in the kitchen and spoke with her for quite a while. After that, we made a drink and went into the living room to sit down and chat more leisurely, just Sue and I. Bill Curtis came later. After Bill arrived, he hung up his coat and came into the living room, sat down, and had made a drink and sat with us. We started to chat about the day."

She described how a man who had a stocking over his face appeared at the Curtis home, dressed very casually.

Replying to prosecutor Farmer's question, Joyce Ancypa said the man had a gun.

She explained, "He said, 'Give me your jewelry and your cash, and drop to the floor.'"

Ancypa described how she threw the watch she was wearing on the floor and dropped to the floor. She said she subsequently removed her earrings and her necklace and threw them in the carpeting.

The man with the stocking over his face ordered, "You come with me," Joyce Ancypa told the court.

The man grabbed her by the hair and dragged her toward the kitchen, she told the court.

She and Sue Curtis ran to the front door.

Ancypa explained, "We got to the door, and I got through the door. I pushed it open and I ran. It felt like a thousand miles an hour. I was screaming at the top of my lungs, hoping that someone would hear me."

She described the situation, "The man at the house across the street came out, and when he heard that we were—I was escaping from what was going on across the street, he went in the house and I stood on his porch, I turned around and I could see into the dining room. I saw a flash, a green. Sue was wearing a green suit, a green casual outfit."

The witness said she didn't go into the house, but that the neighbor went to call for help.

Maybe 10 minutes later, she wasn't sure how much later, she saw the Cadillac sedan as it backed out of the driveway very erratically.

In subsequent testimony, WCSD deputy Gary Severinsen said he was on duty in Ypsilanti township when he overheard radio traffic about a crime that was occurring—had just occurred in the Dexter area.

He understood there was a lone suspect involved at the time, and that he had left the scene in a burgundy Cadillac, for which the license plate was specified.

Severinsen told the court he observed the vehicle come off of eastbound I-94 onto the entrance ramp, actually exiting onto Rawsonville Rd.

He called for a back-up unit and when it arrived, he and the Michigan State Police trooper tried to make a traffic stop with overhead lights activated.

The driver of the Cadillac accelerated, starting to flee, Severinsen explained.

He noted he decided to ram the car in an effort to stop the vehicle.

Following the crash, the car's lone occupant fled on foot with the two law enforcement officers pursuing him.

Plamondon was evidently apprehended at the intersection of David St., just north of Grove Rd.

Severinsen identified Todd Plamondon as the driver of the Cadillac and the person that exited the driver's seat.

Retirement Proposals Give Farmers Hope

Several bills have been introduced in Congress that would permit farmers to roll over the proceeds from the sale of capital assets into an individual retirement account, with tax deferred until they begin to withdraw funds from the IRA. Michigan Farm Bureau public affairs director Al Almy said such legislation would provide farmers with a retirement planning tool they haven't had before.

"Many farmers have not been able to set aside retirement funds in a retirement plan like an IRA or Keogh, so the ability for them to sell property, tax deferred, to finance their retirement is important," he said.

"We realize these bills, as with all new tax proposals, face an uphill battle because of the need for revenue loss offsets. However, the principal involved is a good one and hopefully the legislation will receive consideration."

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers
WASHINGTON—A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.
Researchers in Europe found that an ingredient in the aptly named product Food Source One actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition.
Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.
While the development of Food Source One, a project of National Dietary Research, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the discovery has been a windfall for overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143, I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 15 days on the product and was never hungry.
Food Source One is available through physicians and pharmacies without a prescription because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients already known to be safe. Copies of the referenced study are available free from National Dietary Research, Suite 553, 1377 K St., Washington, DC 20005, however, please include $2 postage & handling for each request.

Card of Thanks 19

THANK YOU

I feel very honored to be the first recipient of the Chelsea Community Fair Scholarship, and I would like to thank the Fair Board for their generosity.

Christine Dunlap.

THANK YOU

I would like to thank Rita Howard and the Chelsea Baton Corps for the Scholarship they presented to me. It will help me in furthering my education at Michigan State University next fall.

Christine Dunlap.

THANK YOU

We would like to thank our many friends, neighbors and relatives for prayers and cards during William's illness, also for the floral arrangements, food and memorials at the time of our loss. Special thanks to the Manchester Fire Dept., Chelsea Community Hospital. Also, Martin Braun.

Viola Bross Helen Popkey and family

William Jr., Beverly and family

Harold, Rachel and family

H. Leone Bross.

THANK YOU

To all the people in Chelsea who bought tootsie rolls from the Knights of Columbus a great big THANK-YOU. Because of your purchase and the kindness of the Knights, 25 mentally impaired youngsters went camping in Pentwater on Lake Michigan.

They spent a week in May horseback riding, hiking, dune climbing, swimming in Silver and Hamlin Lakes, telling ghost stories around campfires, shopping, cooking all their own meals, beach combing, and go-cart riding.

Not only did we have a fun time, but we learned a lot of independent living skills and made some long lasting friendships.

Thanks again for being such a supportive community and a special thanks to the K. of C. for their organization's commitment to helping the mentally impaired.

Your caring is very much appreciated.

Nancy Cooper Chelsea Schools Special Education.
