ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-FIRST YEAR—No. 7

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, JULY 10, 1991

20 Pages This Week Supplement

THE BOOGIE WOOGIE and blues piano of Mr. B once again wowed an appreciative audience Sunday afternoon in Pierce Park. Spectators sat in the shade for two hours while Mr. B and his band performed the free concert. The event was sponsored by the Chelsea Recreation Council and the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce. The series features three more concerts this summer.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL sponsored by the Chelsea 1995 organization and staffed by members of the Chelsea Rotary Club couldn't supply enough ice cream to meet the demand last Thursday at Chelsea Shopping Center. The hot weather produced long lines and some people had to do without. The event started two hours before the fireworks display. From right, Rotary Club members Chuck Rader, Dave Mathis, Fred vanReesema, and Sue Carter work on the serving line.

Drain Commissioner Asks For Changes in Projects

The village has been asked to modify the approved Wilkinson St. drainage district to include a portion of the approved Pierce Lake district. The village petitioned for the establishment of both districts about three years ago to handle a number of stormwater run-off problems. Drain commissioner Janis Bobrin has recommended the change, primarily because she believes the Pierce Lake project is too costly for the benefit. The Pierce Lake project would include Polly's Market and Village Plaza, along with several businesses south on both sides of M-52. According to deputy commissioner Kevin Sullivan, the estimated cost of the Pierce Lake drain would be between $43,000 and $60,000, depending on what kind of drain is installed between M-52 and Pierce Lake. The cheapest option is to use an open ditch, while the most expensive option is to install underground pipe. Either option would run through farmland owned by Rene Papo. Either option has its problems. A ditch would preclude some land from being farmed, but could be moved easily to accommodate development. Underground pipe would be expensive to re-route but would allow all the land to be farmed. Bobrin wants to include businesses south of Chelsea Shopping Center on the west side of M-52 in the Wilkinson St. drain. Originally, all that land drained under M-52 to the east. However, someone filled in the drain pipe under the road many years ago. Sullivan said that to re-open a passage under M-52 makes the project extremely costly. "Of the 26 parcels in the original Pierce Lake district, only two would receive any real benefit," Sullivan said. By including the extra land in the Wilkinson St. drain, the cost of that project drops from $429 per acre to about $398 per acre, Sullivan said. The village has the right to reject the suggestion since it was the petitioner. If it does reject the modification, the Pierce Lake drain will proceed as approved, Sullivan said. Papo had filed suit against the Pierce Lake drain project shortly (Continued on page six)

July 4 Festivities Run Smoothly, Although Short of Supplies

Chelsea July 4 fireworks show drew one of its biggest crowds last Thursday, and Chelsea police reported few incidents requiring police attention. With shows unplugged in Ann Arbor and Whitmore Lake, people came from all over Washtenaw and Jackson counties to see the 20-25 minute display at Chelsea Community Fairgrounds. Chelsea 1995, which sponsored the day's festivities along with the Chelsea American Legion, collected enough money to pay for the $7,500 show, according to Mark Baily of Chelsea 1995. Boosters of the Washington Street Show Choir of Chelsea High School, dressed in dayglo caps, collected about $1,350 from people in the crowd, Baily said. The choir was allowed to keep 25 percent of the proceeds. Earlier in the evening, Chelsea Rotary Club staffed an Ice Cream Social at Chelsea Shopping Center and raised about $200 for its own use. Proceeds from the social also helped to pay for the fireworks, Baily said. Every last scoop of ice cream was sold, which prompted perhaps the only complaints of the evening. American Legion also reported the same problem that afternoon as they sold all 430 chicken halves before 3 p.m. at their post home at Cavanaugh Lake.

Chelsea Knights of Columbus also kicked in $150 for the fireworks. Their initial plan to charge for fireworks parking in their Old US-12 lot opposite the fairgrounds was changed, said K. of C. member Joe Yekulis. Instead, they collected donations for the show and made no money on parking. Chelsea police chief Lenard McDougall said Monday the only incidents involved juveniles shooting off illegal fireworks. Baily said he is looking for a service organization or other group to take over yearly sponsorship of the fireworks show. Next major event for Chelsea 1995 will be Fall Fest-Chelsea 1991 on Oct. 8.

Anne Comeau Elected School Board President, '91-92 Goals Reviewed

Anne Comeau was elected for a fourth term as president of the Chelsea Board of Education at the board's July 1 meeting. Comeau has served on the board for 10 years and has been active in a number of county educational organizations. She is also president of the board of the Washtenaw Intermediate School District. Other elected officers include Ron Satterthwaite, vice-president, John Eisenbeiser, secretary, and Jane Diesing, treasurer. In board assignments, new trustee Conrad Knutsen was named to represent the district in the Washtenaw Association of School Boards. Trustee Joe Redding was named a liaison with the Michigan Association of School Boards. In other board business, the board reviewed goals for the 1991-92 school year. Major goals include curriculum review and revision, continued development of a school improvement program, passage of a $23.75 million bond issue for facilities improvements, and exploration of alternative methods of school funding.

Curriculum work includes a review of social studies (K-12), technology education (6-12), and computer education (K-12); revision of language arts, testing and assessment, study skills, and curriculum review plan, all K-12; implementation of changes in physical education (K-12) and foreign language (10-12); and continued monitoring and adjustment of changes already made in math (K-12), health (K-9), foreign language (7-10), and writing and speaking (K-12). The school improvement process will involve written, three-year plans for each school outlining seven areas, ranging from staff development to budget items. The board indicated it would use "dialogue, in a variety of ways" to describe to district residents the need for additional facilities ranging from a new elementary school to new athletic facilities. The board also decided it would formally support one school financing option by the end of the school year and inform legislators of its preference. The board accepted bids totaling $53,704 for the replacement of the bulkhead at the Cameron Pool at Beach Middle school. Recreation Supply Co. will supply a stainless steel bulkhead to replace the concrete one for $41,874; Paddock Pool Equipment Co. will provide starting platforms for $7,320, an electric pool scrubber for $1,600, and relocate diving boards for $450; and Colorado Time Systems will provide timing touch pads for $2,460. In another maintenance item, Gundrum Roofing will replace the roof on the 300 building for $21,757. The pool and roof projects are being funded by the school's dedicated maintenance millage. The board also decided to interview four construction management firms in regard to the possible $23.75 million construction project. Meanwhile, the district's architectural firm has been asked to start initial creative design work with the idea of providing the district conceptual drawings it can show voters. "We're going to try to get what we can for the $8,500 the board approved a while ago," Plasecki said. "We're not going to spend tens of thousands of dollars."

New Village Parking Lot Ahead of Schedule

The village's new downtown parking lot is scheduled to be paved the week of July 22, according to Franz Mogdis, consultant for Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority. The parking lot project, west of Main St. behind the Main St. business district, is ahead of schedule, Mogdis said. A large retaining wall will be poured this week, and final grade will be made next week. When the lot is completed, in time for the annual Sidewalk Festival Aug. 2-3, 50 new spaces will be ready for downtown visitors. DDA also hopes to pave the current alley and tear down a red metal shed during the parking lot project. The portion of the alley that runs under a building on W. Middle St. will be reconstructed for pedestrian traffic only.

While the parking lot is ahead of schedule, other parts are behind. Mogdis said the village is waiting for a county electrical inspection before the post office block is completed. The block from W. Middle St. to Heydlauff's, Inc. was scheduled to be finished last week. The majority of the work is being completed this week. Minor modifications are being made to the construction schedule so shoppers won't be dodging demolition or new construction on Main St. during the Sidewalk Festival, Mogdis said. In other DDA news, 4' by 6' residential signs at Mayer Dr. and Freer Rd., Mayer Dr. and Madison St., and Washington St. and Madison St. will be replaced by 2' by 3', one-post signs. The current signs have drawn a number of complaints by area residents and will be replaced in two or three weeks. The larger signs will be repainted and used in other locations. Mogdis said one would be put on Old US-12 west of the village. No sign was originally planned for that area. The house that was moved from South St. to make room for the parking lot will apparently be permanently located on village lots on W. Middle St. where it is currently sitting. Mogdis said preliminary soil studies show the house can be put over a basement if certain fill techniques are used. DDA has not yet decided whether it will sell the house as-is, or renovate the home and sell it in an upgraded condition. In any event, Mogdis said, no sale will take place until fall. He said DDA has already had several inquiries from interested buyers. DDA has still not taken possession of the former Hop-In lot at S. Main and Orchard Sts. Mogdis said the Department of Natural Resources plans to install groundwater monitoring wells on the grounds of McKune Memorial Library, Chelsea State Bank, and Palmer Ford-Mercury to determine the extent of any soil or groundwater (Continued on page six)

Milk Jug Bins Open 8 to Noon Monday-Friday

Village residents who live near South Elementary school report that milk jug recyclers are leaving jugs outside the bins. Recent high winds have caused the jugs to be scattered all over the neighborhood. The recycling bins are open during the summer from 8 a.m. to noon, Monday through Friday. The narrow slots in the bins require the jugs to be crushed before they are deposited. The village asks recyclers not to leave the jugs outside the bins, which are also located at North school.

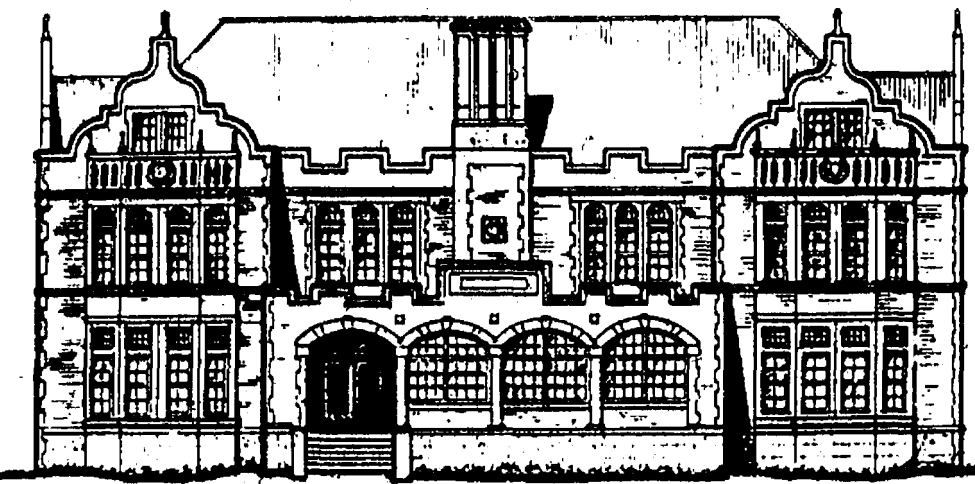

School District Plans Hearing On Operating Millage Rate

Chelsea School District will hold a public hearing next Monday, July 15 so it can collect 35.77 mills in operating millage for 1991-92. Without a public hearing, the school district can only levy 33.94 mills. The additional 1.83 mills represents the allowance for inflation prescribed by state law.

To levy more than 35.77, a referendum would be required. In recent years, voters have approved a total millage of 40.6 mills. The difference of 4.9 mills represents the effect of compounded Headlee Amendment rollbacks. Operating millage for 1990-91 was 36.15 mills. With the hearing, school district millage will drop .38 mills.

DOWNTOWN CONSTRUCTION has moved to the block from Harper Shoe Co. to Heydlauff's, Inc. Sidewalk has been torn up and shoppers are having to follow improvised paths into the stores. On Tuesday, workers started pouring new curb. Eventually the whole block, like the rest of the Main St. business district, will get paver blocks, trees, and new lighting.

Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce contributed $1,000 to the Chelsea Community Fair toward the purchase of additional grandstand seating. The $17,000 project resulted in additional seating capacity of 720.

A lawsuit filed against the village of Chelsea by Robert and Audrey Penskar became an unplanned topic of discussion during a village council meeting. The Penskars filed suit after the village denied the couple a zoning variance. They charged the village with not following correct procedures for turning down a variance, not informing them why it was turned down, and discriminating against them. The Penskars were seeking a minimum $10,000 in damages and a reversal of the variance decision.

An "extraordinary" event was planned for Traverse City. The world's largest cherry pie would be baked. The world's largest cherry pie, to be baked with Michigan cherries, was sponsored by the Michigan Cherry Committee. The previous record was set in Charlevoix in 1976 with a pie that weighed 7 tons and was 14'4" in diameter, 24 inches deep, and contained 4,960 pounds of cherries. According to Rod Wells of Chef Pierre, the pie pan for this pie would measure 18 feet from rim to rim; the depth would be 28 inches. The estimated weight of the pie would exceed 28 thousand pounds (14 tons) and the finished product would yield about 100,000 four-ounce servings.

Although a funnel was sighted by law enforcement officials 15 miles north of Dexter, and several funnel sightings flowed in from areas north of Chelsea, no touchdowns occurred locally.

The Chelsea School District and the Village of Chelsea submitted a joint proposal to the Department of Natural Resources for funds to provide conservation jobs for local area youth. If approved, the Chelsea program would have openings for about 50 young people.

Democrats To Kick Off

Property Tax Petition Drive
State Democrats will officially launch a petition drive, already quietly underway in Macomb county, for an initiated law cutting property taxes for individuals paid in large measure by repeal of a $500 million a year business tax benefit.

The petition drive and the continued failure of political parties to agree to a consensus tax cut approach appears likely to prompt a competing drive from Republicans for their own across the board cut premised on budget cuts.

Details of the Democratic plan were not discussed by individuals involved. The drive will be launched in Mount Clemens under the flag of the Michigan Homeowners Tax Break Committee. The petition needs 205,166 valid signatures collected in a 180-day period.

Macomb county Democratic chair Leo Lalonde refused to comment on the plans for the drive or to release copies of the petition.

Speaker Lewis Dodak (D-Montrose) also declined specific comment, but said he would be involved in the effort.

Republicans continued to argue the repeal of capital acquisition deduction in the single business tax and the $500 million in higher taxes on business would discourage economic growth in Michigan.

But Dodak said he does "not believe for a second" that repeal of the CAD would scare business away from Michigan. He argued that just 1 percent of the state's businesses account for 76 percent of the revenue lost through the deduction.

House minority leader Paul Hillegonds (R-Holland) said talk of a competing Republican plan is "in the very preliminary stages." But he added the sense of his caucus, where members face election in 1992, "is that it is not desirable to only have a Democratic plan on the ballot that requires us to be opposed to property tax relief. We should have a positive alternative."

Still, Hillegonds said that is the least preferable prospect since competing plans would likely mean the rejection of both. He said he still hopes the Legislature will still reach agreement on a plan.

Rusty Hills, communications director for Governor John Engler, said the administration is looking "at all sorts of options, a petition drive being one. No final determination has been made." He said a decision would be made soon, but would not be dependent on the Democrats' drive.

"We are committed to cutting taxes one way or another," he said. Dodak said it was a "good possibility" that circulators were already collecting signatures in Macomb county, which he said would be the focal point for the petition drive.

Senate Republicans Propose

"Affordable" Health Care

A $100-a-month health insurance policy covering doctor's office visits, hospital emergency care, surgery and maternity care would be available to most of the almost 800,000 uninsured persons in Michigan under a 28-bill health care reform package proposed by Senate Republicans.

Incentives in the bill would cost the state $78.8 million in lost business and individual income tax revenue beginning in 1993.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Mamas allus say the middle child gits the worst of the deal. Ma don't have time for him when the baby comes, grandparents go crazy over the first and the last, and the middle gits picked on from both ends. That was the sermon Ed Doolittle laid on the fellers at the country store Saturday night. He took his text from selected passages in the Book of Human Nature, and he brung serious doubt to bear on the verse where the Good Lord must love ordinary folks because he made so many of em.

Practical speaking, declared Ed, what happens in the family happens everywhere, them in the middle git squeezed from both sides, the top and the bottom. His topic come to mind when a column writer claimed the majority in this country is being rent asunder by minorities of one flavor or another. The point to the piece, Ed said, was that the majority is silent because it has lost its voice and is a endangered species.

Furthermore, Ed went on, it is true that what use to be called the middle class in America is being squeezed to death by the rich, the poor and the Governments. So many middle minorities have their own agenders until the middle has self destructed. The way we're headed, Ed said, the middle American is going to be as extinct as the dodo, and then who'll pay the country's way.

Whenever you hear about tax reform you know it means more for the top and the bottom and more from the middle, was Ed's words. The average working man in this country has what can be called awkward income. He makes too much to qualify for public programs so he can live as good as them classified as poor, and he don't make near enough to live as good as the rich can keep living because they can hire high powered lawyers to spend their time looking for loopholes in tax laws.

It actual has got to where a average working man can't afford to git a raise because the Government will git more of it than he will, Ed went on. Use to, he said, folks were afraid of being poor. Old folks started giving everything they had to their children so they could qualify for rent, medical care, food stamps and everything else in the poverty programs. Now this aid is drying up and local Governments are having to fill in where Federal and State pull out, so we're back where towns and counties have to jack up their taxes on property, sales and everything else they can think up to keep their services going.

You don't have to ask who owns most of the property and buys most of the goods, Ed said, it's the same pickend on feller in the middle. The less you got the more you git, the more you got the more you keep, and all the middle can do is pay the bills, was Ed's words.

The fellers went round and round on Ed's sermon. Bug Hookum said it ain't just the middle income, it's the middle everything. The young git schooling and counseling and no end of programs to set em straight and keep em straight, Bug said, and they got the advantage of not having incomes to tax. The old git all kind of attention, discounts on everything and they start gitting back their investment in Social Security. It's them in the middle, agin, that git no relief.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

On June 15, the fifth annual "Swing Away for ADA" golf outing was held at Brookside Golf Course in Saline. The tremendous support of more than 100 area businesses who donated money, prizes and food helped make this year's event the most successful to date. Over $10,500 was presented to the local American Diabetes Association to benefit research programs, including those at the University of Michigan.

This year's tournament carried a special dedication to the memory of Sheila Marie Tripp. Sheila had been a diabetic for 14 years before she died last year due to related complications at the age of 25.

In five years, $34,500 has been raised by this golf outing, both to help the half million Michigan residents with diabetes to live healthier lives, and ultimately to find a cure for diabetes.

Our sincere appreciation goes out to all the businesses, volunteers and golfers who have made this tournament such a success.

The Washtenaw/Western Wayne Chapter of the American Diabetes Association.

To the Editor,

Thanks to you and other good-spirited contributors, we have done a fine job in the renewal of the Veterans Park Memorial Monument. This restoration was long overdue and we owe additional gratitude to Rolly Spaulding, Dr. Wilfred Lane and other veterans who shared in the initiative.

We have collected and spent $1,147. The money went as follows: $500 for extensive stonework; $630 for a new memorial plaque; $17 miscellaneous.

Some contributions in addition to the $1,147 have been promised and these will be entrusted to our Chelsea veterans organizations for monument maintenance as needed.

Will Connelly, Treasurer
Veterans Park Fund.

"Constant success shows us but one side of the world; adversity brings out the reverse of the picture."

—C. C. Colton

It isn't likely that many of us are accustomed to constant success; it is much more probable that we are better acquainted with the reverse side of the picture.

An over-abundance of anything can be a deadening situation, lacking in hopes, expectations and the thrill of accomplishment. However, most of us would probably prefer to struggle along and somehow make out with too much success, rather than too little.

We are able and qualified to take over most of the many duties which fall with frightful suddenness on bereaved families. Your first call should be to us; let us share your burden.

PEOPLE CAME FROM ALL OVER THE AREA for last Thursday's Ice Cream Social sponsored by the Chelsea 1995 organization. The event, in Chelsea Shopping Center, was held partly to raise money for the fireworks display that followed. Demand for ice cream turned out to be greater than the supply as the hot weather had people looking for relief.

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON—A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Researchers in Europe found that an ingredient in the aptly named product Food Source One actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition.

Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories. While the development of Food Source One, a project of National Dietary Research, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the discovery has been a windfall for overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 15 days on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One is available through physicians and pharmacies without a prescription because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients already known to be safe. Copies of the referenced study are available free from National Dietary Research, Suite 553, 1377 K St., Washington, DC 20005, however, please include $2 postage & handling for each request.

Dexter Township Board OKs Preliminary Plat

Dexter Township board voted 3-2 in favor of granting tentative approval of the preliminary plat of Woodbrooke Meadows Subdivision at last Tuesday's July 2 meeting held in Dexter Township Hall.

The lots must comply with the Dexter Township Zoning Ordinance, the board stipulated. Earl Doletsky and Julie Knight dissented.

The preliminary site plan review will cost $400 for the first acre or portion thereof, the board agreed.

A deposit of $2,000 is required for site condominiums review by legal engineering and planning services. A refund will be made after actual costs are incurred.

Area Students On MIAA List Of Student-Athletes

Four area students were named to the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association Academic Honor Roll as students at Adrian College.

Included are Chelsea freshman Scharme Petty, who plays volleyball and softball; sophomores Elizabeth and Lisa Ruhl of Dexter, who play softball and basketball, respectively; and Steve Black of Pinckney, a junior football player.

To be eligible for the list, a student must play a variety sport and maintain a 3.5 grade point average for the year.

The board also approved funds of no more than $10,500 for the purchase of computer equipment from Compuadd and Technology Partners. The previous authorization for purchase of equipment from Technology Partners solely was rescinded.

Balmer Wins Award for New Textbook

Dr. Robert Balmer, a 1957 graduate of Chelsea High school, won the Meriam Wiley Distinguished Author Award for his textbook, "Thermodynamics."

Balmer, professor and chair of mechanical engineering at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, wrote the book in 1990. The award was presented June 19.

The award was established in 1986 to recognize authors of new engineering texts that embody technical excellence, clarity of presentation, and strong relevance to engineering practice.

Balmer is the son of the late Ted Balmer and Elsie LaFontaine, formerly of Chelsea and now of Cedarburg, Wis.

Lawrence Lounsway told High School Principal Charles Lane that he would accept the position of agriculture teacher. Lounsway, a graduate of Michigan State University, had been teaching in Kinde, a community in the "Thumb," since finishing college.

34 Years Ago...

Wednesday, July 11, 1957—

Chelsea firemen responded with the rescuistator when three middle-aged people were reported to have fallen into the water at Ellsworth Lake when their boat turned over. None could swim but were pulled from the water by rescuers who went to their assistance. Firemen administered oxygen but resuscitation was not required.

Chelsea police recovered two stolen automobiles at Cedar Lake and another one in Ann Arbor. The car recovered in Ann Arbor was stolen from the Donaldson place at Cavanaugh Lake.

Four people were injured, two houses and a barn were demolished and a dozen dwellings in a new subdivision were damaged when a tornado struck on the Fourth of July in the Brighton area.

Teddy Pickelsimer was still smiling and still riding his bicycle around the neighborhood in spite of the fact that he spent his eighth birthday in U. of M. hospital where he had a post-polio operation on his left arm and then, on the following Saturday, after his return home, falling on the lawn at the family home and breaking the same arm.

Drain Project

after it was approved. However, the challenge has since been dropped.

If the modification is approved, the Pierce Lake district would simply include the drainage ditch from M-52 to Pierce Lake. It would start at the site of a former pond that was filled in controversially by Papo several years ago. That ditch, Sullivan said, could be constructed for about $20,000.

By law, the village is obligated to pay for 25 percent of each project because it petitioned for the projects.

Assistant village manager, Deborah Kuehn recently told village council that former assistant village manager Lee Fahrner, who petitioned for the drains, is not convinced the projects should be changed.

The village and drain commissioner plan to hold a work session to discuss the projects.

The first state law establishing Labor Day as a holiday was passed in 1887 in Oregon. Similar legislation was passed in Colorado and New York later that year, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

Back-to-School Immunization Clinics Slated

Free back-to-school immunization clinics, sponsored by Washtenaw County Public Health Division, will be offered to children and adults beginning in August at various places around the county.

More than 27,600 measles cases were reported in the United States last year, the worst outbreak since 1977, mainly because vaccination of infants and toddlers has fallen drastically. Other diseases such as whooping cough and rubella are on the rise. And polio may also make a comeback.

These diseases can be prevented if your child is two months or older. Keep him/her safe from disease. Be sure they get their shots. No appointment is needed, just remember to bring your child's immunization records to the clinic. Diphtheria-tetanus boosters and TB skin tests are available for adults.

Clinic dates, times and locations are as follows.

Wednesday, Aug. 7, 1:30-7:30—Washtenaw County Public Health Division, 4101 Washtenaw, Ann Arbor (off Hogback).

Wednesday, Aug. 14, 1:30-4:30—Eastern Subcenter, 555 Towner, Ypsilanti.

Wednesday, Aug. 21, 1:30-7:30—Washtenaw County Public Health Division, 4101 Washtenaw, Ann Arbor (off Hogback).

Thursday, Aug. 22, 1:30-7:30—Arborland, Washtenaw Ave. (No TB skin tests.)

Wednesday, Aug. 28, 1:30-4:30—Department of Social Services, 2350 W. Stadium, Ann Arbor.

If you have any questions about immunizations or scheduled clinics, call the Washtenaw County Public Health Division at 971-3993.

contamination and the direction it may be flowing. The wells are scheduled to be installed this month.

The lot was the former site of several auto-related businesses, at least one of which leaked petroleum products into the ground.

The lot will not exchange hands until DNR is satisfied no further cleanup work is necessary.

An annex for McKune Memorial Library is scheduled to be built on the lot.

IRS Speakers Are Available For Groups

"Now that the tax filing season is over, you're probably wondering, 'Now why would my civic group or professional association want an IRS speaker to address our club?'" said IRS district director John Hummel. "Good question. The tax season may be over, but the time for increased audit and collection activity in our agency is now here; and we also have many ongoing criminal investigations," he said.

"How familiar are your members with IRS policies and procedures relating to these activities? Would they like to know more about the operation of the Criminal Investigation Division (what constitutes proof, intent, knowledge, an overt act)? Would they be interested in collection procedures (bankruptcy, seizures and sales, liens, levies, summons and suits)? Or perhaps they need a better understanding of the audit/examination process (statutory notices, "repeat" audits, appeal rights)," Hummel said.

"Individuals from our management ranks are available to address these topics and more. This is a free service provided by our Speakers Bureau to inform and assist Michigan taxpayers," Hummel added.

Groups interested in an IRS speaker should contact the Public Affairs Office, Internal Revenue Service, P.O. Box 330500, Stop 13, Detroit 48233-6500; or call 1-800-829-1040, extension 7288, or (313) 226-7288 (not a toll free number).

"We recommend calling three to four weeks in advance when requesting a speaker for a specific date," Hummel added.

The first May Day demonstration was held in 1886 as approximately 340,000 workers rallied for an eight-hour day in various cities. Beginning in 1890, such demonstrations became annual events, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a publication by the U.S. Labor Department.

Questionnaire Shows Most Feel Welfare Recipients Should Work

In the recent district-wide questionnaire issued by state Rep. Margaret O'Connor, more than 89 percent of nearly 6,700 respondents said welfare recipients should be required to work.

Only 5.8 percent believe people should not have to work in order to get state aid, said the Lodi Township Republican lawmaker.

"Never during my tenure has the Legislature been confronted with so many important issues that affect every Michigan resident," O'Connor said. "In order to better represent 52nd District residents in these tumultuous times, I need as much input from them as possible."

Other survey replies revealed:
—nearly 70 percent of respondents believe property taxes should be reduced 20 percent with the state making up the difference, while 21.3 percent disagree
—more than 45 percent of those responding believe students should be allowed to attend the school of their choice, while 49.8 percent believe otherwise —legislators' $45,500 salaries have increased faster than the inflation rate; nearly 95 percent of respondents do not believe this trend should continue, while 3.1 percent concur with the trend

—more than 73 percent of those responding said Michigan should have a part-time Legislature, while 17.6 percent oppose it

—13.6 percent believe employers should be required to pay for day care for their employees' children; more than 81 percent are against it —nearly 88 percent are opposed to employees having to join a union as a condition of work, while 10.6 percent favor it.

"I'm pleased so many people took the time to give me their opinions on issues the Legislature will be confronting sooner or later," O'Connor said. "In addition, many constituents offered additional comments and questions, which I am in the process of answering."

"While questionnaires are helpful, I also encourage everyone concerned about any state or local issues to contact me directly."

O'Connor may be reached in Lansing at (517) 373-1792 or write to her at P.O. Box 30014, Lansing 48909-9514.

Ask-A-Nurse Service Gets New Number

Ask-A-Nurse, the free 24-hour-a-day physician referral and health information service, has a new number. As of July 1, call Ask-A-Nurse at 1-800-472-8696 or 572-5555.

The service, which began in 1989, is staffed by registered nurses who provide information on a wide range of health care topics. Trained to answer health-related questions, the nurses are assisted by a computer database of health care information and can answer anything from what to do about treating poison ivy or how to find a drug rehabilitation program to where to find the nearest hospital emergency room.

Nurses can also refer callers to physicians in their communities who are accepting new patients.

Ask-A-Nurse was developed in 1984 and is licensed by 170 hospitals nationwide. In southeast Michigan, the service is sponsored by the Sisters of Mercy Health Corp., including Catherine McAuley Health System, Ann Arbor; St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac; and Mercy Hospital, Port Huron.

James LaVoie Graduates In Court Management

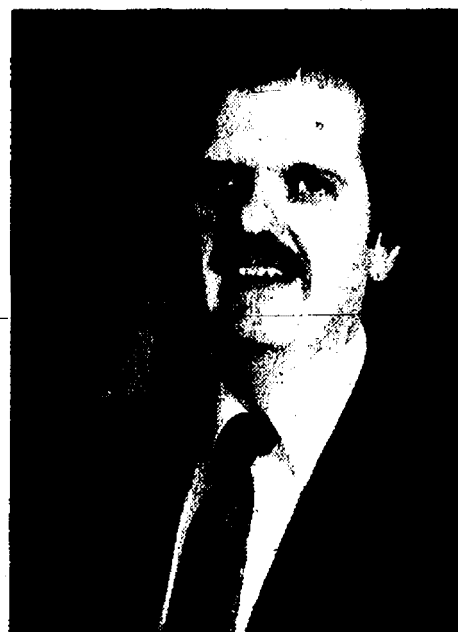

Dexter resident James LaVoie, in graduation ceremonies at the U.S. Supreme Court in Washington, D.C. on June 14, became a Fellow of the Institute for Court Management (ICM) of the National Center for State Courts.

Retired U.S. Supreme Court Justice Warren E. Burger presented Jim and 34 other graduates, representing 15 states, with their certifications.

Since 1974 Jim has been an official court reporter for the 22nd Judicial Circuit, Washtenaw county. He was the only graduate from the State of Michigan in this multi-year Court Executive Program in the 1991 class.

This nationally recognized court management program has graduated 580 individuals since 1970. ICM graduates work in state and federal courts across the country and with university faculties, criminal justice agencies, consulting firms and other organizations serving the courts.

Miniature Golf Course Dedicated At Methodist Retirement Home

Thanks to Jim Wise, age 17, residents of the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home have their own miniature-golf course.

Jim, a Scout in Troop 4 sponsored by First United Methodist Church of Ann Arbor (FUMC-AA), first became interested in building the golf course when he visited the nursing home with the troop back in 1987.

At that time he talked and played games with the residents. When the weather was good, he took wheel-chair bound residents for trips around the grounds. During conversations with residents and staff he learned of the need for more outdoor recreation opportunities. Jim who is an avid golfer, and a member of the Ann Arbor Pioneer High School Golf Team, hit upon the idea of building the miniature-golf course to satisfy the last requirement for earning his Eagle Scout badge. He reasoned that many of the residents had enjoyed playing golf, or miniature-golf, before retiring. There was no such facility available nearby. His course would provide residents with enjoyment for years to come.

He planned to begin construction during the summer of 1987. However, as a result of a rather spectacular (and unplanned) skateboard maneuver, he spent most of that summer on crutches. One positive outcome of his experience was an increased awareness of how handicapping conditions can affect a person's ability to do tasks which seemed routine before the condition appeared.

Rather than spending the summer watching television, Jim consulted an architect. He wanted to develop a course layout appropriate for the home. He sought obstacle with enough challenge to make it interesting, without creating hazards or impossible barriers, for senior-citizen users. At least one hole would be wheel-chair accessible. Stairs were to be avoided. Wide concrete walkways were to be installed around each green to provide sure footing. All obstacles would be painted a bright color. The course would be located among mature trees to provide shade. Suction cups would be provided on the handles of the clubs to help residents retrieve balls without the need to bend over.

With a small architectural model in hand, Jim set out to raise the needed money. He began by selling popcorn to raise the estimated $2,000 required to finance the project. Dale Leslie, an FUMC-AA member, approached Jim with a question—"How much would it take to sponsor a hole?" Dale became the first hole sponsor and his question dramatically changed Jim's fundraising strategy. Subsequently Chelsea Lumber, the Washtenaw Convalescence Home Auxiliary, Cole-Burghardt Funeral Chapel, Troop 4 and Jim's parents also became hole sponsors. Without Dale's question, there's no telling how long it would have taken to fund the course by popcorn sales alone, or whether it would even have been possible.

As the project developed, it became evident Jim was going to have to deal with more obstacles than just the ones on the miniature-golf course greens. The Dancy House building program at the Chelsea Retirement Home had just gotten underway. An access road-way for heavy construction equipment went right through Jim's golf course to be. That caused a one-year delay.

Jim's model was simple enough. But he slowly came to realize the immensity of his undertaking. The course would require over two large transit-mix trucks of concrete, much of which had to be delivered by long chutes to avoid damaging the forms for the greens near the periphery. Joe O'Neal, President of O'Neal Construction Co., learned of the project and volunteered one of his construction superintendents, Paul Vein, to help Jim. Paul's experience working with sub-contractors; his help and advice throughout the construction phases of the project has been invaluable.

Many others also helped. Dennis Hanley, an FUMC-AA member, arranged for the Thompson McCully Co. to donate 28 cubic yards of sand for the base of the course. Killins Concrete Co. provided concrete at a reduced contractors cost. The Inverness Country Club donated ball cups which were embedded in the concrete. Merkel Carpet Co. provided outdoor carpeting at cost. Volunteers ranging from Cub Scouts to skilled adult tradesman volunteered hundreds of hours of their time to make the course a reality. Sandy Schmunk, Social Services co-ordinator at the home, related she once saw Jim and his friends work all day in the rain. Jim tells of working late one night with only a flashlight to provide illumination.

A ribbon cutting ceremony was held on June 16. Jim's delight was apparent when many residents, including some on crutches and in wheelchairs, came forward without hesitation to play the course on that opening day. Connie Amick, assistant administrator at Chelsea, predicts the golf course will provide a natural kind of activity where residents can interact with visitors. Some are even talking of a tournament and challenging another retirement home. One problem—nobody knows of another retirement home with its own miniature-golf course.

BIRDIE: Resident M. C. Martin puts the ball on the newly completed miniature-golf course at the Chelsea Retirement Home.

Chemical Use Study Shows Farmers Are 'Prudent' Managers

A recent survey by the National Agricultural Statistics Service shows that farmers are "prudent" managers who use far less than the maximum amount of chemicals allowed on vegetable crops, according to Ken Nye, director of commodity activities and research for Michigan Farm Bureau.

The survey collected information on all vegetable, melon and strawberry crops grown in Michigan, Florida, Texas and Arizona during the 1990 vegetable growing season.

"I think the results pretty well firm up the idea that while agricultural chemicals are important tools for farmers, in most cases farmers are prudent managers who are not using any more of these materials than absolutely necessary," Nye said. "The survey showed that little or no pesticides are applied to thousands of acres of vegetables grown here in Michigan."

Michigan farmers planted 159,200 acres of vegetables in 1990. Herbicides were applied to 81 percent of the vegetable acreage, insecticides to 75 percent and fungicides to 39 percent, according to the survey.

"When the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) does its testing on the safety of food products, it assumes that farmers use the maximum amount of all pesticides permitted for a commodity," said Nye. "This survey pretty well indicates that farmers in real life are not by any means using those maximum levels."

Wheat Farmers Having Another Horrible Year

It's turning into another miserable summer for area wheat farmers, who have seen prices for their crops drop to their lowest levels in more than 20 years.

Klaus Bachmann of Provoco-Big H of Chelsea, said farmers are receiving $2.31 per bushel, down from about $4 two years ago.

"That's below the cost of production and it's absolutely devastating," Bachmann said.

Not only is price down, but yields are down about 25 percent, from 80 bushels per acre to about 45 bushels.

Bachmann said the wet May weather caused heads not to fill out properly. Test weight is also lower than it should be. Soft red wheat is averaging about 55 to 57 pounds per bushel while white wheat is averaging about 53-56. Good test weights are 59 and 58 pounds, respectively.

The only good news, if it can be characterized that way, is wheat is being harvested earlier than ever this year. Bachmann said his elevator got its first shipment of grain on June 27, 10 days ahead of schedule, the earliest date the company has taken shipment.

Early hot weather is the cause. Bachmann said the lack of world demand is causing the drop in price. He said the U.S. will have virtually no export market this year.

"We're going to have to find a way to pump more wheat into the world market or curb production," Bachmann said.

In Ohio, Bachmann said, farmers had a little better luck with test weight. However, they're also in a tight situation.

Bachmann said recent experience with wheat may cause more farmers to experiment with canola, which is grown for oil.

"If canola catches on, it could replace some wheat ground," Bachmann said.

"It is harvested about the same time as wheat. The seed is more expensive, but you get an equivalent yield. Last year the price for canola was $4.50 per bushel."

The situation looks as bad or worse for corn farmers, Bachmann said.

Farmers who don't want to gamble on future prices are looking contracts for $1.98 per bushel.

"Dollar for dollar, prices aren't even what they were in the 1940's," Bachmann said.

More area farmers will go out of business, Bachmann predicted. He said virtually no young farmers are staying in the family business. In addition, many older farmers may not survive the pinch.

"I think you'll see more farm auctions next winter and spring," Bachmann said.

Before, After School Program Turns Around

Before and After School Care program, for children whose parents have to work before school starts and/or after it ends, has been called "very successful" by Jackie Rogers, director of community education.

The program, sponsored jointly by the Chelsea School District and Chelsea Community Hospital, even made $41.29 for the first year of its second incarnation.

It's a program that has made a dramatic turnaround since it first began.

The original program, held at a church outside of the village, often attracted children from as few as five families and was eventually cancelled.

The revised program, held at North Elementary school, drew an average of 18 children for the morning session and 48 students in the afternoon session. The district has made a three-year commitment to the program.

Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and 2:40 p.m. to 6 p.m.

"The families of our many participants have been most pleased with the new program in almost every case," Rogers wrote.

The program is for children in grades 1-5 and runs the entire school year, including school vacations. It uses North school facilities, including the gym, cafeteria, media center, and playgrounds.

Parents can send their children for every available hour down to one morning per week.

Professional staff operates the program.

Total expenses for the first year were $82,188 while total revenues were $82,227.29. Salaries and employee benefits totaled $67,893. The other major expenses included food, building lease, supplies, and small equipment.

For more information on the program contact the community education department at 475-9830.

Former Chelsea Residents Die In Florida Murder-Suicide

A former Chelsea resident fatally shot his wife in the head then killed himself at their Eustis, Fla. home on Friday, June 21.

Donald Frank Thomas, 70, former head of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, shot his wife, Olive, 63, once in the head, police said, then turned the gun on himself.

The bodies were found by their son, Robert Thomas, when he returned home from work at about 11 p.m.

Eustis police said the apparent murder-suicide was brought on by the failing health of Donald Thomas. The couple moved from Chelsea in 1970. Donald Thomas had asthma and hoped the warmer temperatures would help his condition. However, his health continued to deteriorate and he developed severe breathing problems.

Olive Thomas was apparently in good health.

Robert Thomas said his parents spent most of their time together at home.

Summer Baseball Team Drops Only Game to Cliff Keen, 6-3

Chelsea's summer Connie Mack baseball team dropped its only game last week, 6-3 to Cliff Keen of Ann Arbor.

Chelsea managed only two hits for the game, singles by Chris White and Kevin McCalla. Cliff Keen issued seven walks but Chelsea couldn't get the big hit, according to Chelsea coach Axel Marshall. Chelsea batters struck out 10 times.

Chelsea took the early lead as Ben

Hurst led off the first inning by reaching on an error. He stole second and eventually scored on a fielder's choice.

A Chelsea error in the bottom of the inning allowed the tying run to score. Cliff Keen scored twice in the second and twice in the fifth inning to take a 5-1 lead.

Chelsea pulled to within 5-3 in the sixth on three walks and a hit. The inning ended on a pop fly with the bases loaded.

Cliff Keen closed out the scoring with a run in the sixth.

White was Chelsea's starting pitcher. He was relieved by Ken Slane with the bases loaded in the fifth inning. Slane allowed one of the runs to score. Steve Grau pitched the sixth inning.

Chelsea (3-5) plays on Thursday, July 11 against Ann Arbor Renesol at 6 p.m. in Ann Arbor's Vet's Park. They play a double-header at home this Saturday at 1 p.m. against Edward Surovell Realty. They host Saline Sunday at noon. On Tuesday they play Saline and Surovell at 6 and 8:30 p.m. at Vet's Park in Ann Arbor.

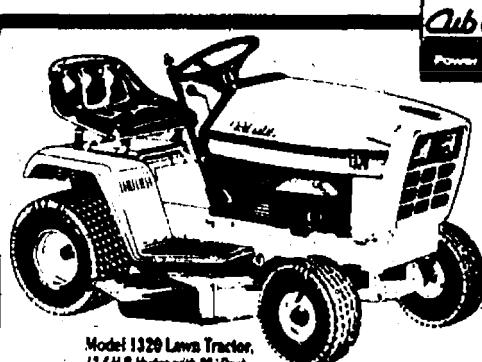

KELLY CROSS of Chelsea was named to the class B All-State Softball Team this spring. Cross, a junior first baseman, had a .529 batting average and a slugging percentage of .731. She had 49 RBI and struck out just twice all season. She had 98 percent fielding percentage. Cross was also named to the All-Southeastern Conference First Team, as well as the All-Region and All-District First Teams.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

For whatever reason, coaches in this year's Chelsea recreation baseball and softball leagues have been slack about turning in results of their games.

In years past, I've had a big stack of those games to sort through every week. Sometimes coaches from both winning and losing teams would bring them in. It's quite a different story this year.

Form League baseball coaches have had a hard time turning in anything, period. However, over the last few years, Farm League coaches have probably brought us more information than any other league. So what's happening this year?

Coaches in Midget and Junior Miss softball leagues have been the most consistent about turning in their sheets, which probably has more to do with leagues organizer Lynda Collins than anything else. Yet even information from those leagues is down.

Another change I've noticed this year is many teams aren't even bothering to name themselves. We get more results with the team number or team color than we have in any year since I've been here. Again, I wonder what's going on.

Incidentally, anyone who wants to bring us a team picture is welcome to do so. All we ask is that it be of reasonable quality (in focus, for instance), color or black-and-white, and that everyone in the photo is identified with full names.

That last part may sound a little strange. But you would be surprised how many results sheets we get that merely say, "Jeremy got a big hit," or something similar. There are only about 342 jerseys in Chelsea.

The big experiment that sounded too good to be true, apparently was...

The state had planned to move high school girls swimming to winter to give the girls more than just volleyball during the coldest months.

That plan, however, was canned before it even got off the ground.

For some reason, this state can't figure out a decent way to give girls more than one sport in the winter. It did decide to make cheerleading a formal varsity sport, complete with competitions. That, however, is a poor substitute.

Here's what I'd like to see.

Flip-flop boys and girls swimming. Then flip-flop volleyball and girls basketball.

With those changes, girls would have volleyball, cross country, and tennis in the fall, and swimming and basketball in the winter.

Boys would have football, swimming, cross country, and golf in the fall, and wrestling and basketball in the winter.

Too much competition for athletes, especially as far as football is concerned? Well, not many swimmers play football.

Too much basketball in the winter? Perhaps. Athletic director Wayne Welton says finding enough officials would be the hard part. Yet, the vast majority of other states manage to put all basketball in the right season.

Eventually, soccer will be a varsity sport here. The way this state operates, perhaps that's destined to become the next girls winter sport.

It may be a little early to look ahead to fall. But I guess I can't help it.

The varsity football team, for the first time since Dan Bellus, will have a sophomore quarterback, most likely Pat Steele.

The Steele to Colby Skelton connection could be the next great passing combination here. I made a similar prediction three years ago, however, that didn't come to pass for a number of reasons, one of them being the receiver decided not to play anymore.

With the speedy Ben Hurst and the tough-nosed Adam Taylor in the backfield, Chelsea could score a lot of points if the blocking is adequate.

Pot Clarke's girls cross country team should be astounding. All the top girls are back from last year's fifth place team in the state. What's even better, most of them will be back the year after next.

People believe if your upper lip itches, you will be kissed by someone who is tall.

THE FIRST HOUSE in the new Chelsea Meadows development off Trinkle Rd. is underway. The subdivision, on the former Herrst Farm, is in Lima township. A road is scheduled to be constructed to connect the project to Freer and Washington Sts. in the village.

FIREWORKS lit up the sky over the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds last Thursday, July 4 as a huge crowd gathered to watch a 20 to 25 minute show sponsored by the Chelsea 1995 organization. It was the first time Chelsea 1995 has sponsored the event.

Cattle Buyers Use Modern Technology

Uplinks, downlinks and satellite dishes never used to part of the scene at a cattle auction, but today they are an important medium in the trade, according to Michigan Farm Bureau commodity specialist Kevin Kirk.

"Instead of being traded in auction barns with buyers catching the attention of the auctioneer and pens of cattle on display," Kirk said, "some sales are taking place in hotel meeting rooms, exhibit halls or private homes, while the cattle remain in their pens and bids are submitted by telephone."

Kirk said at least three U.S. companies sell livestock using the same satellite technology long used for image and data transmission. One such firm, Midwest Livestock Producers Association, has held eight satellite video auctions produced in the Park Ridge, Ill. studios of the American Farm Bureau Federation. The firm, based in Wisconsin and affiliated with the Wisconsin Farm Bureau, holds its auctions in various locations, with some buyers actually present and others tuning in from receivers. More than 22,000 head of cattle have been sold in those eight satellite auctions.

★ Share in the Secret . . .

Though one of the finest tourist attractions in southwest lower Michigan, the Michigan Fisheries Interpretive Center may also qualify as one of the state's best-kept secrets. It's not all that well-known at present, but definitely worth the trip.

Officially dedicated in the fall of 1983, the center has drawn an estimated 80,000 visitors during the intervening years. Each comes intent on viewing the center's many colorful displays which graphically tell the story behind the state's top-notch sport fishery.

School, scouting, senior citizen and conservation groups as well as individuals from all over the nation and world have made their way to the modern facility in Van Buren county. Located adjacent to the State's Wolf Lake Fish Hatchery in the small community of Mattawan (just west of Kalamazoo), the 7,000 square-foot interpretive center is a popular destination with in-the-know travelers.

The center is open year-round as follows: Memorial Day to Nov. 15—Sunday 12-5, Wednesday-Friday 9-4, and Saturday 9-5; Nov. 15 to Memorial Day—Tuesday-Friday 9-4 and Saturday 9-5. Admission's free and so is parking. The building is handicapped accessible and tour groups with reservations are welcome.

The Michigan Fisheries Interpretive Center is situated on 165 scenic acres complete with nature trails and fish ponds. Birding enthusiasts consider its setting one of the best in southwest Michigan. Angler, naturalist, historian, bird-watcher . . . all will enjoy a visit to one of our state's best-kept secrets.

The center's located on Hatchery Rd., off M-48. Visitors coming from the east may take US-131 to exit 38B then continue six miles west to Hatchery Rd. Hang a left and go to the second drive on the right.

Fritz Wagner To Head Center For Central Cities Revitalization

Fritz Wagner, former Chelsea resident, has been appointed director of the newly established National Center for the Revitalization of Central Cities at the University of New Orleans. The center has been funded by $500,000 in federal monies.

Wagner, who is dean of the UNO College of Urban and Public Affairs, said that the center will develop a comprehensive program to address the growing social and economic problems of central cities. The center will be comprised of a university consortium based at UNO with affiliates at the University of Maryland, Rutgers University, University of Georgia, University of Texas and City University of New York.

The consortium will use a planning process to develop programs and strategies for Congress to use in correcting equity and efficiency imbalances which exist in cities, Wagner said.

Tasks to be accomplished in the planning process include to inventory and analyze existing central city revitalization programs, to review the success of existing urban renewal programs, to create a national archival center which would collect data and physical information for revitalization efforts in each city, and to provide a system for designating best strategies for particular central city revitalization needs.

Wagner is the son of Katherine Wagner and the late Frederick J. Wagner. He is the brother of Village Council member Stephanie W. Kanten and of John Wagner, local Allstate agent.

BANCORP

CHELSEA FIRE DEPARTMENT has had to fight several grass fires recently due to the extreme dry conditions in the area. Anyone planning on burning brush should plan on monitoring the fire constantly because a brush fire can spread quickly. To obtain a burn permit by telephone, contact the Chelsea Police Department at 475-8122.

Michigan State Fair Premium Book Available

The 1991 Michigan State Fair Premium Book is now available for entrants in Community Arts and Youth Competitions. The Premium Book contains complete rules, entry forms, prize structures and necessary information for each event in the division. The deadline for entries is July 24. The Fair runs Aug. 23 through Labor Day, Sept. 2.

Since its inception in 1849, the Michigan State Fair has offered craftspeople a forum in which to display their handiwork. The 1991 Fair offers a myriad of competitions for both adults and children. Cash awards vary, depending on the event and placement. Adult competitive categories are: needlecraft and other handicraft, baking, canning and preserving, flower arrangements and table settings.

Talented young artists and craftspeople will have a host of categories in which they can enter their wares. Michigan's youth will compete for awards in homemaking, fashion, art, hobbies, industrial arts, horticulture.

"Michigan residents of all ages are renowned for their craftsmanship and handiwork," says Dick Allen, general manager of the State Fair. "From needlepoint to mechanical drawing, our contestants consistently display incredible levels of creativity and ingenuity. Many entrants also use some of Michigan's fine agricultural products, such as Michigan apples in Crisco's American Pie Celebration Contest and the Great Lakes State's majestic pines for the Christmas Tree Decorating Competition. No matter what event, the State Fair is proud to provide the perfect venue to show case Michigan craftsmanship."

This year, the 143rd annual State Fair will feature 11 days of grandstand and fairgrounds entertainment from across the country and around the world. The excitement of alligator wrestling and Monster Truck Madness contrast with the elegant and daring acrobats of the Chinese Magic Revue, who will make their 1991 North American Debut at the Fair. Headline national entertainers including Lee Greenwood and Ricki Van Shelton are among the scheduled performers.

For a free premium book or information on any homemaking events, contact the Michigan Exposition and Fairgrounds, 1120 W. State Fair Ave., Detroit 48203 or call 313-369-8290.

Farm Bureau Applauds Farm Credit Decision

The U.S. Treasury Department has backed away from an earlier recommendation to place the farm credit system under its regulatory wing, leaving that responsibility to the Farm Credit Administration. According to Al Almy, director of public affairs for the Michigan Farm Bureau, that decision is good news to farmers.

"We feel that the Farm Credit Administration has the expertise in agricultural lending, understands the need of the agricultural industry for an adequate source of credit, and is well-equipped to administer the farm credit system," he said.

Almy said the basic issue is that the Farm Credit Administration will continue to manage the resources which are backed by the federal government, rather than turning control over to a broader government regulator that does not have the understanding and the needs of agriculture at heart.

Retirement Proposals Give Farmers Hope

Several bills have been introduced in Congress that would permit farmers to roll over the proceeds from the sale of capital assets into an individual retirement account, with tax deferred until they begin to withdraw funds from the IRA. Michigan Farm Bureau Public Affairs Director Al Almy said such legislation would provide farmers with a retirement planning tool they haven't had before.

"Many farmers have not been able to set aside retirement funds in a retirement plan like an IRA or Keogh, so the ability for them to sell property, tax deferred, to finance their retirement is important," he said. "We realize these bills, as with all new tax proposals, face an uphill battle because of the need for revenue loss offsets. However, the principal involved is a good one and hopefully the legislation will receive consideration."

St. Barnabas Church Members Celebrate Independence Day

More than 100 members of St. Barnabas Episcopal church and their friends gathered on the church lawn to have an old fashioned 4th of July picnic and to celebrate our Nation's Birthday.

The typical picnic fare of hot dogs, potato salad and watermelon was enjoyed along with salads, cakes, cookies and soft drinks.

The young people played games and competed for various types of prizes as they waited for the fireworks. When it became dark everyone settled down on blankets or lawn chairs to watch Chelsea's great fireworks display.

A major contribution to the success of the day is the location of the Chelsea Fairgrounds immediately across the street from the church. This permitted everyone attending the celebration to have a place to park and enjoy both the picnic and the fireworks without having to leave the church grounds.

Plans are already underway for next year's 4th of July with ideas being considered to make it even bigger and better than this year.

AN AUTOMOBILE driven by an 18-year-old employee of Palmer Ford-Mercury ran into the Palmer service garage last Wednesday, July 3. According to police, the employee tried to move the car but somehow accelerated quickly and hit the garage. The employee, who was taken to Chelsea Community Hospital with minor injuries, told police that after the car was started, the gas pedal went to the floor. Mechanics checked the car over and could find no reason for the vehicle to accelerate on its own.

GM Assessment Appeal Denied By Tax Tribunal

The Michigan Tax Tribunal on Monday, July 3, denied a tax assessment appeal filed by General Motors against Comstock township. GM was appealing tax assessments on its automotive stamping and fabricating plant located just outside the city of Kalamazoo.

The decision may have state-wide implications for determining the value of industrial property.

The tribunal rejected a strategy GM developed to reduce its local property tax bills. In its appeal, GM contended that its Comstock plant was obsolete and had depreciated in value. It argued that if the plant were replaced with a modern facility, it would be cheaper to operate. GM wanted the tribunal to use a "hypothetical replacement model" to assess the current value of the existing plant. The tribunal rejected GM's hypothetical replacement model because it involved too much speculation and conjecture.

"GM wanted the Comstock plant assessed as though it were a discarded and obsolete building rather than as the viable industrial facility it really is," said Samuel J. McKim, an attorney with Miller, Canfield, Paddock & Stone, the outside law firm that acted as co-counsel at the trial on behalf of Comstock township. "GM wanted the tribunal to use an imaginary model plant, which had never even been built, to determine the value of its real industrial property," said McKim.

"The tribunal's decision will save the township millions of dollars in taxes and may have far reaching implications for other cities where industrial taxpayers are appealing tax assessments," said local councilman Richard D. Reed of Kalamazoo law firm of Early, Lennon, Fox, Thompson, Peters & Crocker.

The Comstock township assessments had been set at approximately $34.5 million. General Motors had sought a reduction to approximately $12.5 million. The tribunal's order set the assessment at approximately $32 million.

"Hopefully, this will mean more realistic trials for the other cities in which GM has filed tax appeals," said McKim, who is currently representing

EDUCATION RESEARCH

Prepared by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASPP), Reston, Va.

★ Adults Should Understand Teen Stress ...

Reston, Va.—Today's teen-agers are subjected to stress and pressure in many activities and encounters throughout the day, advises a book published by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASPP).

"Stress can play an important role in a teen-ager's physical and emotional development and success as an individual," indicates Dr. Timothy J. Dyer, NASPP executive director. "It's essential that adults—both educators and parents watch for signs of stress in adolescents and deal with them."

Stress is the body's general response to any demand made upon it according to the book, Adolescent Stress.

"Some people are more vulnerable to stress, and all of us vary from time to time in our individual vulnerability," the authors wrote. "Vulnerability to stress is determined by a set of complex interactions among our biological predispositions, which include health, lifestyle, and financial, spiritual, and social resources for coping with stress."

The book provides numerous suggestions on how educators can help students deal with stress. Many also are appropriate for parents:

- Parents should be aware that what is stressful for one adolescent may not be stressful for another. Stress is unique. Respond to each individual as an individual. Support and encourage. Avoid unreasonable pressure.

- Have a good sense of humor. When used appropriately, it can help cut through stress. Remember, a helping person tries to understand adolescents and is concerned about them. A helping person is someone who can give or suggest help when it is needed without causing embarrassment.

- Set rules, procedures, and consequences, if necessary, when working with your adolescents. Make it easy for teens to understand what is expected of them and how they can be successful.

- Be a positive role model, making it easy for others to learn from you. Make it easy for your students to interact with you.

- The sooner we identify stress and begin to deal with the problem, the better. Recognize the problem—name it, focus on it, and plan a course of action.

- Teach adolescents to respect themselves. Help them to accept who they are, their strengths and weaknesses. Help them to understand what talents they can develop and to appreciate their gifts.

- Help adolescents learn to listen to themselves. Their feelings and opinions are valid and important. Students with positive self-esteem are more receptive to new thoughts and risk taking. They experience less stress.

- Set realistic goals. Achievements create a sense of accomplishment and pride. Teach students to set reasonable, clear, and concise goals.

Rail Crossing At M-52 Due To Close Soon

As of press time Tuesday, the railroad crossing at M-52 had not been closed by Conrail. However, it will be closed any day.

The crossing is scheduled to close for at least four weeks for repairs. Franz Mogdis, consultant for Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority, said it's likely the crossing won't re-open until September.

Conrail is scheduled to set up detour signs around the village. Wilkinson St. and Freer Rd. will handle much of the traffic.

Village manager Jack Myers said Wilkinson St. and Freer Rd. are not designed to handle the heavy flow of truck traffic.

"I'm not real happy about it, but we don't have much choice," Myers said.

YOU & YOUR PET

By Linda Reider
Education Department
Humane Society of Huron Valley

★ Pets in Research . . .

About 30 million cats, dogs, rabbits, rodents, and birds live their lives not in homes with individual owners, but rather in cages in research facilities. These animals are being used for scientific study and product testing. Their fate is a controversial one, with animal rights advocates on one side, animal researchers on the other, and the public (and the pets) in between.

One side wants an end to all animal testing, believing it to be unethical. The other feels that the benefits gained for humans validate the sacrifice of so many animals.

The Humane Society of Huron Valley (HSHV) would like to see a significant reduction over time in the number of animals used for research and product testing, along with better living conditions and reduced suffering for the animals which are used. Additionally, HSHV supports an end to pound seizure in Michigan--and nation-wide.

Recent progress has been made to reduce the numbers of animals used in product testing through the creation and refinement of alternative tests. Substitute methods of testing include cell and tissue cultures, computer modelling, and non-invasive studies. These new tests can reduce the number of animals, mostly rabbits and rodents, who are force-fed or have their skin and eyes treated with consumer products such as mascara and oven cleaner.

Animals are also used for biomedical and other research at private institutions and universities, including Eastern Michigan University and the University of Michigan. Cats, dogs, monkeys, and other higher animals are frequently utilized for many types of research, some of which is painful.

The Federal Animal Welfare Act regulates the use of these animals. HSHV feels that this act needs to be more explicit and humane in regards to animal care, and that it should be more strictly enforced by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture. However, HSHV supports the Act's new requirement mandating institutional animal use committees with at least one public representative to oversee all animal testing.

Finally, HSHV feels strongly that pound seizure (the sale of dogs and cats from animal shelters to dealers who sell to research facilities) should be prohibited in our state, as it is already in others. While HSHV doesn't sell animals to dealers, other shelters in Michigan do. Thus, animals who have been pets and up in research. This violates the public's trust when they bring lost and unwanted pets to shelters for care. We feel that adoption or humane euthanasia is preferable to life in a cage for pets.

For information on pound seizure and cosmetics testing, or to receive a list of companies that do not test on animals, indicate your choices and send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Pets in Research, c/o L. Reider, HSHV, 3100 Cherry Hill Rd., Ann Arbor 48106.
