ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-FIRST YEAR—No. 19

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1991

22 Pages This Week

THE RED METAL SHED attached to the Masonic Temple next to the new village parking lot was torn down Monday as part of the downtown streetscape project. The space will be used to help traffic flow from the driveway behind Main St. businesses into the parking lot.

Recycling Authority Readies To Start Program

Area residents face an annual charge for at least the next five years to cover operational costs for the Western Washtenaw Recycling Consortium.

The consortium, which recently became a legal authority, includes the villages of Chelsea and Manchester, and Sylvan, Lyndon, Lima, Dexter, Sharon, Manchester, Freedom, and Bridgewater townships.

Washtenaw County Department of Public Works plans to hold a public hearing on the program and fees in Manchester in late October and another in early November in Chelsea, according to county DPW director Dan Myers.

Area households will be notified of the specific dates of the hearings by mail within the next couple of weeks, Myers said. He said the county will cover the cost of the mailing, with later reimbursement by the authority.

Myers said the "tentative" fees are $17 annually for township residents and $30 annually for village residents. The higher village fees reflect the cost of curbside recycling programs.

The authority was formed to administer a $300,000 state recycling grant. The 75 percent grant will be operated on a reimbursement basis.

In other words, the consortium must purchase equipment initially, then seek state reimbursement for 75 percent of its cost.

The authority plans to purchase a variety of equipment for drop-off sites and materials pick-up, as well as build a recycling center at the Chelsea Sanitary Landfill on Werkner Rd. Site plans for the building are scheduled to be ready for the authority's October meeting. Once approved by the authority, they would have to be approved by the Lyndon Township Planning Commission.

The initial assessments would appear on this winter's tax bills. Residents would pay the assessments in the same manner as property taxes. Failure to pay would result in a tax lien on the property. Renters would probably be charged by their landlords.

The state money is designated for capital expenditures only, which means it will probably be entirely spent the first year. After that the authority will have to operate on its own. A full-time director will probably be hired.

Taylor St. Residents Don't Want Road Extended to Old US-12

Taylor St. residents told village council last Tuesday they do not want to see the street extended through to Old US-12 as the village's General Development Plan specifies.

At issue is a proposal by attorney

Peter Flintoft to develop vacant land at the end of Taylor St. into a housing development called Oscar's Acres. The land is part of what is commonly called the Schneider Estate.

Original development sketches call for a cul-de-sac to be constructed off Taylor St. Village planning commission requested that alternate plans be submitted showing the street extension.

Residents at the end of Taylor St. are concerned about traffic problems that might arise with the extension of the street as the village's long range plan calls for. They cited not only neighborhood traffic, but Chelsea Shopping Center traffic that would avoid M-52 in favor of less crowded neighborhood streets.

The Eder family at the end of the street told council that their property description shows they own land from their house on the west side of Taylor all the way across the street to almost the sidewalk. A family representative said he was concerned the village might condemn the portion of their land on which Taylor St. already sits so the through street could be built. He said the family has no objection to the development, just the street extension.

Village president Richard Steele indicated the village is not interested in condemning the property. It was not clear whether Flintoft would have to purchase an easement from the Eders in order to complete the development with either a cul-de-sac or road. Steele said if an easement is sold, Flintoft would probably be able to build the through-street if it is required by the village.

Main St. To Be Finished This Fall

At least the Main St. portion of the downtown streetscape project will be entirely completed this construction season, according to Franz Mogdis, consultant for the Downtown Development Authority.

Mogdis said that despite a manufacturing problem with the new old-style street lights, Main St. will be completed. He said parts of W. Middle St. may not be completed this year. The first shipment of lights should be here in a couple of weeks or so, he said.

Chelsea School District Faces Financial Hit Under 'Robin Hood' Bill

Chelsea School District stands to lose nearly $200,000 in operating funds this school year if Gov. John Engler signs what has been called a "Robin Hood" bill to provide more funds for in-formula school districts.

Under the bill, out-of-formula districts (districts that collect a certain level of money per student through property taxes) would be required to give up a portion of their future commercial and industrial tax base and share it with poorer school districts. That amounts to $196,000 this year alone in Chelsea's case, more than any other district in Washtenaw county other than the much larger Ann Arbor School District, which faces losses of $600,000. Saline stands to lose about $35,000, Dexter $35,000.

It would be considered precedent-setting legislation because traditionally local districts have had total control of their property tax proceeds.

The legislation also has a number of other stipulations. Local districts would be required to pay for high school seniors to take classes at local colleges, and students will have to take state-approved competency tests before receiving diplomas.

The pending legislation was met by anger and skepticism locally.

Assistant superintendent Fred Mills said "it's the slickest move I've ever seen [the state] make. It takes the heat off the legislature to make real changes in school funding because two-thirds of the districts in the state will get additional money without a tax increase. It's probably the single worst piece of legislation I've seen in a long time. It's the beginning of the end for local control of school districts. The state has found the golden goose."

The proposed legislation has no sunset. It is designed to provide about $23 per student in in-formula districts this year. However, Mills said that number could rise to several hundred dollars in the years ahead, which could be "a disaster" for the minority of school districts classified as out-of-formula.

Part of what has Mills upset is the timing of the legislation. The money will come out of this year's school budget, which was set in June. The budget was set with a balance of about $400,000, Mills said, because he anticipated the state would want additional money. However, the problem is compounded by the fact that the district discovered it has $10 million less in property values than it thought due to a reporting error by one of the townships. That error was discovered after the budget was set and will cost the district about $330,000, Mills said. Consequently, the district may be faced with cuts of about $130,000 this year. Mills said he doesn't want to use fund equity, or what amounts to the school district's savings account.

"We'll make it," Mills said. "But it's extremely difficult to make cuts once programs are already in place."

Superintendent Joe Piasecki said it's "very likely" the district will have no more revenue next year than it has this year due to the combination of pending legislation and the property tax freeze already enacted.

"In the meantime, the cost of paper and pencils is going up, the cost of insurance is going up," Piasecki said. Plus, this is the last year of the Chelsea teachers contract. Piasecki stopped short of saying an operating millage increase would be necessary next June.

The only part of the package Piasecki is even lukewarm about is the provision to allow all high school seniors to take college classes at the expense of their school districts.

"In principle it's a great idea, but how are we going to pay for it," Piasecki said.

"We don't have enough money for the things we are doing now."

Piasecki said he also has reservations about the proposed state-wide competency test for diplomas, which would be implemented by 1997.

"If students have to pass a state standardized test, we'll have to move more toward a state-prescribed curriculum," Piasecki said.

"Then local control of the curriculum becomes an issue."

Other provisions in the bill would have little effect here, Piasecki said.

The state wants districts to move to "schools of choice."

"There could be parents in other towns who would want to send their children here, but we probably won't have the space for them," Piasecki said.

The bill would require districts to offer individualized career planning for students, which Piasecki said is already happening here.

The state also plans to spend $300,000 for 12 school districts to expand their school year from 180 days to 200 days. Chelsea is not among them.

Piasecki said he likes the idea of an expanded school year, "but once people find out how much it will cost, I don't know how much support there will be for it. I don't think we can expect teachers and staff to donate their time."

Chelsea Fallfest Offers Saturday Fun for All Ages

As part of the Chelsea '91 Fallfest planned for Saturday, Oct. 6, Chelsea will host a unique bicycle race featuring Match Sprinting down Main St., a baking contest at Chelsea Milling Co., and a children's bike gymkhana at the Faith in Action parking lot.

United States Cycling Federation licensed riders, as well as citizen participants, will be seeded for 200-meter match sprinting based on their race category and their time in a standing-start time trial. Three-up and two-up sprints with double elimination will be conducted under normal match sprint rules.

Race day registration will be held from 10 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. at Faith in Action located on the north service drive to the Chelsea Community Hospital off S. Main St.

Time trials begin at noon with racing scheduled for 1 p.m. ANSI approved helmets must be worn, and only road bikes are eligible. All area riders are encouraged to join in this low-cost, high-excitement event, and each participant will receive a Certificate of Participation.

For further information on the bike races, call 781-1603.

Another main event being planned for the Fallfest is a baking contest sponsored by Chelsea Milling Co. and Chelsea 1995. Entries for this event must be submitted to Chelsea Milling Co. offices on W. North St., on Friday, Oct. 4, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Judging will take place that evening in a closed session. Winners will be notified later that evening and should be prepared to spend Saturday morning at Chelsea Milling Co. for awards and photo sessions. Rules may be picked up at Uptown Antiques and Litteratures, Polly's Market, The Common Grill, Gina's, and Kitchen Port in Ann Arbor. Winners will each receive a case of their favorite Jiffy Mix product.

A gymkhana for children will be held at the Faith in Action parking lot

Daniels To Host Saturday Night Live

Chelsea actor Jeff Daniels is scheduled to be the guest host on Saturday Night Live this Saturday, Oct. 5.

Daniels is expected to draw on his small-town background, as well as the popular movie, "Arachnophobia" for some of his material.

Saturday morning. There will be four age groups ranging from four to 11. The children will be timed while riding Big Wheel tricycles around a tight turning course. Certificates and prizes will be awarded to the winners in each category. Tricycles will be furnished by Chelsea Fallfest officials. Children may ride the course at any time between 10 a.m. and noon. This event is open to any child wishing to participate.

As an added attraction, there will be drawings to award a variety of Fallfest door prizes donated by local area merchants. Entry forms may be found at the craft fair at the high school, the Chelsea Shopping Center Mall near the fairgrounds, the antique car display on Park St., and at the historic depot downtown. The drawing will be held at 4 p.m. at Pierce Park preceding the concert being given there by the Sea Cruisers. In addition, the Downtown Merchants are holding a separate drawing for Purple Rose Theatre tickets and dinners for two. This drawing may be entered by visiting downtown merchant locations.

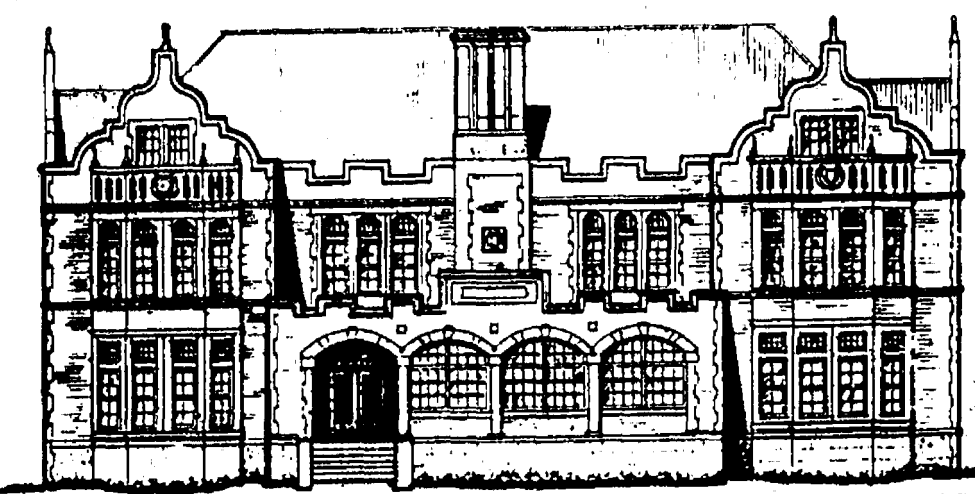

For further information on any of the events, call 475-6933.

CHELSEA POLICE DEPARTMENT sold all 121 of its penny parking meters last week after village council settled on a price of $25 each. This meter is the only one still standing in the village. One meter was donated to the Chelsea Historical Society. Village trustee Allen Anderson reserved 20 for himself, according to Chief Lenard McDougall, who is pictured above.

Commission Presents Five-Year Plan On HIV/AIDS Epidemic

The Risk Reduction and AIDS Policy Commission, in presenting a five-year (1991-96) plan on policy approaches to address the HIV/AIDS epidemic in Michigan, called for expansion of prevention efforts to avoid future infection and expansion of efforts to provide medical and psychosocial care for persons living with HIV and AIDS.

The commission said while the state's response to the HIV infection has been growing and significant, the urgent needs of the epidemic continue to outpace that response.

Toby Citron, chairman of the commission, said, "We cannot afford to be complacent about this disease, we cannot allow federal and state budget tightening to augment the human suffering caused by AIDS, and we cannot allow ourselves to 'normalize' this massive human tragedy with a 'business as usual' response."

The commission's consensus recommendations, divided into seven major categories, include:

—Epidemiology/surveillance: further development and expansion of HIV-related surveillance including case reporting and making data readily available for use in program development at the state and local levels.

—Health education: an intensification of prevention services at places where persons at risk interact, further development of outreach services, especially to target individuals where they interact with others and continued education efforts targeted to individuals and broad-based populations.

—Counseling, testing and partner notification: maintenance and expansion of capacity for HIV counseling and testing as a prevention approach, integrating HIV counseling and testing into settings serving persons at increased risk and increasing efforts to promote partner notification, including local health department assistance to contact, educate and refer partners for services.

and expanded as a pre-service and in-service education for health care and other service providers in prevention, policy and continuum of care.

—Community organization and planning: structured to maintain a focus on affected individuals while addressing community approaches to promoting and reinforcing effective prevention and continuum of care programs.

—Policy, research and evaluation: formulation of public policies to eliminate loopholes/barriers which preclude effective prevention and continuum of care program implementation and determination and advocating for state health department role in filling gaps in needed research.

The commission asked the Department of Public Health to submit back to the commission an implementation plan indicating the priorities which will be assigned, the resources that will be available and the anticipated timetable for implementation.

In addition, the group noted that in connection with the statutory requirement to report annually on AIDS and other diseases, the commission intends to assess progress in plan implementation each year, making appropriate revisions of plan recommendations as are dictated by experience with implementation and by the future course of the epidemic.

As of Jan. 1, 1991, the report noted 2,040 cumulative cases of AIDS have been reported. Of that number, 1,232 persons (or 60 percent) have died. Estimates indicate that Michigan will have reported between 3,779 and 6,673 cases of AIDS by the end of 1993.

Michigan has consistently accounted for approximately one percent of all cases reported nationally and, as of January, 1991, ranks 17th among all states in total cases reported to the federal Centers for Disease Control.

Coalition Urges State-Wide Ban on Billboards

Charging Michigan roadways are littered with "visual pollution" from larger and more frequent billboards,

Michigan United Conservation Clubs Director Tom Washington, two legislators and Attorney General Frank Kelley called for an immediate ban Tuesday on billboard advertising of alcohol and tobacco products and a five-year phaseout of all billboards state-wide.

Proponents of the legislation said the state's 18,000 billboards are the last unrestricted means of advertising alcohol and tobacco products to children; small businesses do not fully utilize them and would stand out more on proposed information panels; and Michigan is ranked in the worst three states for too many billboards while tourism is one of its choice industries for its scenery.

"A driver can't turn a dial to turn a billboard off," Kelley said.

Rep. Mary Brown (D-Kalamazoo) and Sen. Lana Pollack (D-Ann Arbor) said they expect bipartisan support when they introduce legislation this week that would:

—Impose a ban on any new off-premise billboards on Michigan roads;

—Prohibit after one year advertising of alcoholic beverages and tobacco products;

—Establish a five-year amortization period for existing billboards and mandate their removal;

—Increase the $5 billboard permit fee to 50 cents per square foot per year;

—Create Michigan Information Panel to provide travel information on restaurants, gas stations, motel/hotels and sites of interest for tourists; and —Prohibit destruction of trees and shrubs on public roads solely for the purpose of improving billboard visibility.

Sam Evola, director of the Outdoor Advertising Association of Michigan said eliminating billboards could close the door on many businesses that rely on roadside signs to attract customers.

Noting that 50 percent of the money spent on billboard advertisements comes from tobacco and alcohol producers, Kelley said previous attempts to limit the use of billboards have been hindered by heavy lobbying efforts by the tobacco and alcohol industries and resulted in legal loopholes and laws without the regulatory power needed to enforce them. The earliest billboard legislation Kelley cited was enacted in the late 1960s.

Citing the public's role in requiring bottle deposits to clean up roadsides in the 1970s, Washington said the public is ready to support billboard restrictions, and if the Legislature does not do something to address the problem, a petition drive is likely.

Because of the five-year phaseout, the legislation should stand up to any constitutional challenges opponents pose, Kelley said, adding similar laws have been upheld by state courts in Hawaii, Alaska, Maine, Rhode Island and Vermont. Twenty-five other states have enacted legislation placing a moratorium on new billboards, Brown said.

Brown and Pollack used a picture of two adjoining billboards, with one advertising a health care program and the other promoting a brand of cigarettes, to illustrate the use of health care dollars on advertisements that compete with conflicting messages from the tobacco industry.

They said the cost of health care could be reduced somewhat by spending less on billboards and eliminating billboards that encourage unhealthy habits.

While businesses that cater to tourists have expressed concern the legislation could put them out of business, Washington said the information panels created under the legislation would include essential travel information, such as tourist attractions.

Brown said she plans to introduce separate legislation to expand tourist information centers at Department of Transportation rest areas.

The state currently spends $200,000 a year monitoring billboards, to make sure they are of the appropriate size, do not pose a safety hazard and are constructed near exit ramps.

Under the bill, the Department of Transportation would select a group of individuals who currently use billboard advertising to determine which businesses may rent a space on the new information panels.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Clem Webster says he's been careless lately about making rolling stops at the foot of his road and he's looking into getting a permit to run stop signs. He told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that's been reading where people and companies now are being give the right to break the law.

Clem said drivers in Texas can buy books of $5 speeding coupons. When they get stopped, the trooper gives em a warning about wasting gasoline, pulls off one of the coupons and sends em on their way. And Clem had a clipping where a outfit called Parkulator is doing big business selling overtime parking permits to cities that set them like postage meters and sell em to folks that don't want to pay the parking meters. The driver parks, starts his parkulator and goes about his business. When he comes back he shuts it off.

The idee must be, Clem went on, that folks had rather pay now than pay later, knowing that the only difference between them that pay and them that don't is the caught and the uncaught. Governments probable figger the price of a book of coupons and a Parkulator in the hand is worth more than the fines of them they have to go out and catch.

The fellers picked up on Clem's report. Bug Hookum said no telling where this pay-now plan can lead. Fer instant, Governments could sell books of shoplifting coupons and set up a pool fer the stores to cover their losses. Then police would have more reason to patrol the stores and catch the thieves. This way, they sell more coupons, cut the store's losses, build up the payoff pool and make money both ways.

Actual, broke in Ed Doolittle, he had read somepon really scary that puts aside any thinking that these permits ain't fer real crimes. He reported that the Federal Government has gone in the business of selling "pollution credits" that actual give companies permission to pollute the air and water. Not only can they pollute as much as they're willing to pay fer, Ed said, they can buy the credits, hold em til the price goes up and sell em to other companies.

The clipping Ed had said environment lobbies think the idee is pure crazy, but backers point out that polluters will be paying to do what they've been doing for free, so the cost will make them more conscious of the harm they do. Ed said he wasn't buying any of that claim. What will happen, he said, is that the pollution permits will be cranked in the cost of doing business, and folks that buy the coal-fired generator's electricity and whatever the factory makes won't have any reason to clean up their acts, was Ed's words.

Personal, I am convinced Government goes about making policy like it was killing snakes. And once bad policy is made the bureaucracy spins its wheels justifying it. I see where the U.S. Postal Service is on track to run $1.6 billion in the red this year. This is the outfit that recent celebrated its 20th anniversary as a service cut loose from the Federal Government. This is the outfit that ends up running back to Congress ever year to give it more money to tide it over til it can get higher mail rates in place.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

C.R.O.P. Walk Scheduled for Oct. 6

The fourth annual C.R.O.P. walk, sponsored by the Chelsea Ministerial Association, will start again this year at St. Paul United Church of Christ on Old US-12 with registration at 1 p.m. and the walk leaving at 1:30 p.m.

The 10 kilometer walk, which takes about 3 hours to complete, winds all around the village, and raises money to combat world hunger. In addition, Chelsea's Faith in Action agency will receive 15% of all money collected.

Walkers of all ages from many area churches will participate, with each walker securing pledges for each kilometer of the walk.

The 10 kilometers (5.6 miles) is about the distance that many third world women walk to get daily water needed for their families, and that is an educational part of the walk.

C.R.O.P. is a hunger agency of Church World Service, the disaster relief, development and refugee resettlement division of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. It has been operating to help the needy for 43 years. Last year (1990) in Michigan alone 118 community walks resulted in $1,352,122 raised!

In the past three years, the Chelsea Walk has raised about $14,000.

Mark your calendars now, to be either a walker or a sponsor.

Anyone wishing more information, or wishing to make a pledge should contact their local church, or the Rev. Jerry Parker at 475-8119.

The Express will be parked in Polly's parking lot on Oct. 3 from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Please be prepared to pay by check, no cash will be handled on the Express.

The Express will be returning to Chelsea the same time and location on Oct. 24, Nov. 14, and Dec. 5.

Sheriff Warns Of Repair Scams In Local Area

Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department is warning area residents of a scam that has been tried at least twice in the area over the last couple of months.

Sgt. Carl Werner said the scam involves a very heavy Hispanic man in his mid 40s driving a full-size, late model blue pick-up truck with a Michigan license plate. He wears white dress shirts but is described over-all as "very rough looking."

According to Werner, the man is accompanied by a Hispanic boy, about 14 years old. He said the man typically drives up to a home in the country, and tells the owners some work needs to be done on the outside, such as cement patching or driveway tarring. The man refers to his son and tells his target that he needs food to feed his son. He will often refer vaguely to other just-completed jobs on another nearby road.

When the pair figures out where the homeowner keeps his money, the boy will create some kind of diversion, such as asking for a drink of water, while the man robs the house.

"They are looking for elderly people and others who might be confused," Werner said.

"We advise people not to accept work from someone who drives up to their home."

The pair, occasionally accompanied by an elderly Hispanic man, seems to be looking for cash only, Werner said.

Werner said anyone who has been a victim of such a trick should call him at 971-9036 or call 911.

This scam has been tried in Manchester, as well as the Peckins Rd. area.

The seminar is designed to improve students' language skills and knowledge of Germany. It includes classes on composition, conversation, and German heritage. Students live with a German family and will take a 12-day excursion to Dresden and Berlin.

Ousley Makes Ferris State List

Craig Ousley of Grass Lake was named to the academic honors list at Ferris State University.

Students must earn a minimum 3.5 grade point average to make the list.

time that featured the combined high school and middle school marching bands and inductions into Chelsea's football hall of fame.

School Enrollment Grows

Chelsea School District enrollment has grown by 107 students over 1990-91, according to the annual student count conducted on the fourth Friday in September.

Manchester Area Man Completes Marine Recruit Training

Marine Pfc. Don E. Benney, son of Phyllis J. and Don E. Benney, Sr., of 20130 Lemm Rd., Manchester, recently completed recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

During the training cycle, recruits are taught the basics of battlefield survival, introduced to typical military daily routine and personal and professional standards.

All recruits participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close-order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline are emphasized throughout the cycle.

The 1988 graduate of Willow Run High School, Ypsilanti, joined the Marine Corps in June 1991.

Total student enrollment is 2,513, up from 2,406 last year.

Total elementary enrollment is 1,197, including 578 at North Elementary school and 619 at South school.

The largest elementary grade is first grade with 215 students, while the smallest is third grade with 180 students.

Beach Middle school enrollment is 619 students. That includes a surprisingly large eighth grade enrollment of 232.

Chelsea High school enrollment is 697 students, ranging from 156 in the ninth grade to 180 in the 12th grade.

The numbers are used to determine the amount of state aid available to districts. However, because Chelsea is an out-of-formula district, the numbers do not affect funding levels.

New Village Trash Service Starts Nov. 12

Village of Chelsea's new residential garbage pick-up program is officially scheduled to begin Tuesday, Nov. 12, according to village manager Jack Myers.

Under the new program, residents will be able to dispose of trash in trash bags bearing a special sticker. Only trash bags 30 gallons or less will be allowed. Trash cans can still be used as long as garbage is in trash bags with stickers. No leaves, grass, sticks, or other yard waste will be allowed.

The village hopes to have 7,000 stickers available for purchase this week-end during Fallfest activities downtown. Myers was still working with the sticker supplier as of press time. Stickers would be sold in packages of 10 for $15.

At least three village businesses, Chelsea Pharmacy, Johnson's How-To Store, and Schneider's Grocery, have agreed to sell the stickers on a regular basis once they become available. Stickers will also be available at the village offices.

Under the new plan, pick-up will be on Tuesdays only, rather than current twice-per-week service. The village will haul the trash itself rather than pay a contractor. It recently purchased a Ford chassis for the program.

Village To Celebrate Public Power Week

When we turn on the lights or turn off the television, we don't usually think about where our electricity comes from. Here in Chelsea, the week of Oct. 6-12 has been set aside as Public Power Week—a time to celebrate the fact that our electricity comes from a community-owned, locally controlled electric utility.

Chelsea Electric Department is one of more than 2,000 public power systems in the United States that serve 35 million customers. It was created in 1898 to give local citizens a voice in utility policies and provide adequate, reliable electric service at a reasonable cost. Today it serves more than 1,700 customers.

Our public power system belongs to the citizens. In addition, the electric utility isn't run to make a profit for private stockholders, which keeps the money right here in Chelsea.

This year marks the fifth annual

Public Power Week. Its theme is "We're Public Powerful."

"Our special kind of electric utility does make all of us powerful," village president Richard Steele said. "By owning our own electric utility, we can control the energy which is essential to our daily life and our community's economic prosperity. The community should be proud of its public power system and learn as much about it as possible."

There are professional tea tasters just as there are professional wine tasters.

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON—A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Although other studies and scientists may not agree, researchers in Europe found that the ingredient, a natural plant colloid, actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.

While the project of National Dietary Research, aptly named Food Source One, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the formula which has since been improved with other natural colloids has been a windfall for some overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 3 weeks on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One tablets are part of National Dietary Research's comprehensive plan to bring a rapid end to obesity in this country. A variety of nutritionally sound diet plans, specially prepared by NDR, accompany each bottle and provide a natural, drug free alternative for confronting the problem of obesity.

"There is more to life than increasing its speed..."
—Mahatma Gandhi.

Has our modern life already been speeded up too much? It's not only our 750 miles per hour jet air transports and our 125 mph automobiles but the rapidity at which we seem to have to face and handle one crisis after another.

They tell us that the newer generations are smarter than we were at their age. Perhaps they'll be geared for high-speed living and never think wistfully about the good old days when people had, and took time to really live at a more leisurely pace. They may even be smart enough to reverse the trend!

Prudent people select a funeral director well in advance of need, just as they select a doctor, lawyer or other professional services. We welcome your visit and we will answer all of the questions you may have.

Visually Impaired Learn To Read With Electronic Equipment

Special Education students from Eastern Michigan University will be turning print into synthesized speech this semester with the Kurzweil Personal Reader at the Washtenaw County Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped. "Electronic Communication for the Visually Impaired" (SVI 469), taught by guest lecturer Ted Lennox, introduces students to various electronic equipment that enable blind and visually impaired persons to read print materials. The 14 students enrolled this semester will visit the library for a group orientation to the Kurzweil and follow up with an individual session on their own.

"I think it's terrific that Lions did this," added Lennox, referring to the Ann Arbor Host Lions Club's donation of the Kurzweil to the Washtenaw County Library in 1989. Lennox, who is blind, is a teacher of severely visually impaired and totally blind K-7 students at Carr school in Lincoln Park.

The Washtenaw County Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped provides books in recorded format to nearly 1,000 patrons in Washtenaw, Livingston and Jackson counties. The service is part of a national program administered by the National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped of the Library of Congress.

Do Not Disturb Crop Residues in Fall for Control of Erosion

"Do Not Disturb" is the theme of a new campaign by the Soil Conservation Service and the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District to promote conservation tillage for control of soil erosion and to protect water quality.

"Mulch till and no-till conservation tillage are usually considered spring practices, but they really begin in the fall," said Steve Olds, District Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service for Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

"The residue of the previous crop has to stay on the surface or be replaced with a cover crop for mulch till or no-till to be viable options next spring," he added.

"The best advice for farmers who expect to use no-till or mulch till conservation tillage next spring to control erosion and protect water quality, is—DO NOT DISTURB the residue left from this year's crop," Olds continued. According to the District Conservationist, leaving the residue of this year's crop on the surface of the land is the best and most cost effective thing a farmer can do to prevent erosion by wind and water during the winter and next spring when storms are most intense.

The secret, he said, "is to insulate the land from strong winds and hard rains."

There is usually enough residue left after harvesting most crops to provide the cover needed to prevent soil erosion and, if there isn't, a good cover crop will provide the protection needed.

"It just doesn't make sense to bury the best erosion protection we have," said Washtenaw county farmer and district board chairman, William Fishbeck.

Part of the residue management campaign is a special door hanger that reminds farmers not to disturb crop residue. For protection of soil and water resources and improve profits. It also lists the percent residue remaining after different tillage operations are performed.

Please contact the Soil Conservation Service at (313) 761-6722 or stop by the office at 6101 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor, if you have any questions, need planning assistance, or would like a door hanger.

Cow's breath is helping mosquitoes keel over and die in U.S. Department of Agriculture laboratories. The mosquitoes are lured by octenol, an element in ruminant breath. Scientists envision using octenol and carbon dioxide to attract large numbers of mosquitoes to targets laced with an insecticide.

Pioneer Day Slated Sunday, Oct. 13 At Farm Museum

This is the time of year when we often feel an urgency to get things done before winter sends us scurrying inside. We spend our time arranging schedules, sealing leaks around windows, raking leaves and hoping for another warm day to finish a painting job long delayed.

Waterloo Area Historical Society invites you to join in an exploration of the kinds of activities the Michigan pioneer farmer undertook to prepare for the coming season on Sunday, Oct. 13 from noon to 5 p.m.

Too swiftly now the hours take flight! What's read at morn is dead at night; Scant space have we for Art's delays.

Whose breathless thought so briefly stays,
We may not work - ah! would we might!

With slower pen.

—from Henry Austin Dobson's "On the Hazy of This Time," 1882

Visitors will have the opportunity to see the implements and skills needed to take advantage of the land's bounty such as green woodworking, cider pressing, beekeeping, buttermaking, corn shelling, herb preparation, basketmaking and horse shoeing.

Find pleasure in the result of "Art's delays" by viewing demonstrations of lace making, scherenschnitte (paper-cutting), stenciling, wheat weaving, tatting, quill-ornamented pine needle basketmaking, wood carving, spinning, quilting, rug hooking, pottery making and tinsmithing.

Displays will include stained glass, arrowheads and operational antique engines. The Michigan 5th Battery Light Artillery will punctuate the afternoon with the firing of a cannon.

It would not be a celebration of the harvest without entertainment. Don Boklage, the storyteller from Kentucky who kept children and adults mesmerized last year, will make a return appearance. The Rose City Harmonica Club from Jackson will be on hand as well as Carl Hakes who will play the hammer dulcimer.

Horse-drawn wagons provide a diversion sure to be enjoyed by all. The stately pace recalls the days of the "slower pen."

No one will want to miss the food tent, produce and baked goods wagon, gift shop, flower barn and artist's displays but take your time because "Too swiftly now the hours take flight!" and Pioneer Day at the Waterloo Farm Museum and Dewey School will be over for another year.

The Waterloo Farm Museum is located at 9998 Waterloo-Munith Rd., in the Waterloo Recreation Area in Jackson county. Admission to the grounds is free but admission is charged for tours of the 10-room Victorian farmhouse. The last tour will begin no later than 4:30. Dewey School Museum is a one-room country school three miles northwest from the farm at Mayer and Territorial Rds. Admission is by donation.

For information call Agnes Dikeman, president, Waterloo Area Historical Society, (313) 769-2219 or Denise Falk (517) 596-2956.

Diane Zakovich, Chelsea, is chairperson of Pioneer Day.

Apple Butter Time Arrives With Fall

By Debbie Barrow, Extension Home Economist

You know Fall is arriving when it's Apple Butter time. Butters are nice spreads and they go well with meats.

The nice things about butters are that they require half the sugar as jams and they can be made from cull fruit and the sound portions of windfall. Their one drawback is that they require long and careful cooking, because they stick and scorch easily. One method commonly used to prevent scorching is to finish cooking to the mounded state in a 300 degree F oven.

Butters as with other preserved foods require processing in a hot-water bath to prevent bacteria from growing.

Apple Butter should be processed 5 minutes if using 1/2 pints or pints, and 10 minutes for quarts.

Some varieties of apples that make good butters are: Jonathan, Winesap, Stayman, Golden Delicious, McIntosh, or other tasty apples.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
Appreciation is in order to many groups of people who worked toward the school bond issue. First of all, we'd like to thank all the voters who cast "yes" votes. Secondly, thank you to all the people who put many hours into the "Vote Yes" committee, especially Ann Feeney, Elizabeth Hammer, and Pat Kaminsky. We are indebted to the Needs Committee for their three years of study to help present to the community the specifics of what would be necessary to insure our children a fine education.

Lastly, we'd like to thank Joe Piasecki and Fred Mills for their concern for the future of our children. Joe and Fred have worked magic in the past using whatever resources they were given, and it appears they'll need a lot more magic in the future.

We're truly sorry that the "yes" votes didn't carry in last week's election. It seems that the real losers in all of this will be our children.

Robert Hodder Earns Black Belt in Aikido

On Sept. 22, Robert Hodder was awarded his black belt in Aikido by his instructor, Shihan Karl Scott, III, of the Asian Martial Arts Studio in Ann Arbor. Sensei Scott has trained Bob for nine years. Scott recently was honored with an appointment as USA National Director for the International Martial Arts Federation, and as counselor to IMAF world headquarters in Tokyo, Japan.

Aikido, or the Way of Harmony, is a martial art specializing in the use of circular movements. Aikido uses throwing and locking techniques, and is almost purely defensive in nature. It is an "internal art," much like several types of Chinese martial arts. Aikido was founded by Ueshiba Morihei, "O-Sensei," or "Great Teacher," in Japan. Efforts are made in training to teach the student to contribute to his or her community, learn respect for others, compassion and discipline both in the training hall and, more importantly, with family, friends and the community at large. Non-contention, or concordance are methods used to avoid conflict.

Hodder also has his black belt in Judo and still trains under Sensei Jim Cornforth of the Jackson "Y" Center. Bob has had formal instruction in various Asian and Western self defense systems. Recently he was also granted an Advanced Trainer Certificate in Handgun/Long gun Retention and Disarming by the National Law Enforcement Training Center. His trainer was Massad Ayoob of the Lethal Force Institute, Concord, N.H.

Hodder lives in Chelsea with his wife, Daphne, and is employed by the Michigan Department of Corrections as a Probation Agent for Washtenaw County Circuit Court.

Country Craft Show Slated for Saturday

On Saturday, Oct. 5, Chelsea High school will be the gathering place for more than 100 artists and craftspeople when they participate in the 7th annual Country Craft & Folk Art Show.

The craft show, which has become a very popular event in the Chelsea area, is held each year to help raise money for the Chelsea Senior Citizens organization.

Organizer and promoter of the show, Marcy Cavanaugh, feels the show this year will be even bigger and better than in the past.

Craftspeople from over Michigan and northern Ohio will be selling their hand-crafted items and some exhibitors will be demonstrating their talents as well.

Items available include baskets, pottery, stained glass, woven and rag rugs, chalkware, cloth dolls and animals, silhouettes, and much more.

A newcomer to the show this year is Pete Kaiser, who lives in Chelsea. Pete produces 1/4 scale wagons and buggies from a combination of hard and soft woods. A home builder by trade, Pete has always had a love for Early American furniture and accessories. He has personalized the homes that he has built by adding special touches, such as Early American style cabinetry that he has built himself. Pete started producing the 1/4 scale wagons and buggies about three years ago and now has a waiting list for some of his pieces.

Pete produces approximately 30 wagons and buggies each year plus making smaller items such as sleighs, oak buckets and picture frames. The wagons are unique in the fact that they are exact replicas of styles used years ago, complete with hubs, spokes, and axles that Pete makes himself. All of these wagons are numbered and dated. He is currently working on a Jackson Wagon for the Ella Sharp Museum in Jackson. The Jackson Wagon is a style that was produced by prison laborers prior to 1900 to be used as farm wagons and a means of transportation during the Gold Rush days.

Pete's wife Tamara, helps with the finish work. Some pieces have a painted finish, while others are stained, and all are detailed with lettering and pinstrips. You will step back in time when you visit Pete and Tamara in booth number one in the gymnasium.

Liz Wiedyk of Kawkawlin will be returning to the craft show for the fourth time. Her booth, located in the cafeteria, has been a busy spot each year.

Liz makes woven and rag rugs and chair pads, and has an interesting story to tell about her talent. She is a third generation weaver who, when she was 13 was taught by her mother to work the loom. With 14 children in the family, Ms. Wiedyk's mother made and sold rugs made out of old clothing to earn extra money.

Liz was impressed with the weaving techniques and continued to help her mother until she entered high school and other interests became a priority.

While taking art classes in college, Liz learned that there was more to making a rug than just weaving it together. The concepts of putting certain colors together and creating patterns was something she hadn't done while making the functional rugs with her mother. This newfound knowledge re-fueled the interest Liz had in rug making, and she has been weaving full strength ever since, creating functional, yet decorative rugs out of corduroy, denim, wool and cotton. The use of these new fabrics, as opposed to "rags" makes the rugs sturdy and long lasting.

Liz owns five looms; two of which were handed down from her great-grandmother, and she uses all of them at various times. She employs people to help her with cutting, because besides making unknown numbers of rugs each year, Liz also exhibits at over 50 craft shows yearly.

Another generation of weavers has been established with the Wiedyk children learning the art. The children all show a strong interest in rug making, especially Liz's daughter, who not only weaves, but also enjoys helping at the craft shows. Take time to visit with Liz in booth number 67 in the cafeteria. Her talent is self-explanatory once you see her beautiful work.

Suzanne Van Natter, along with her partners, LeAnn Racine and Dorothy Brooks are spinners, all of whom reside in Dexter. Suzanne and LeAnn both raise their own sheep and usually send the wool to Frankenmuth to be processed. The ladies dye their own wool, using either natural dyes or acid dyes, and sometimes leave the wool its natural color. They belong to a spinning group that meets once a month in Chelsea.

Suzanne, LeAnn and Dorothy have been working together for five years and between them they will have an interesting variety of items for sale at the show. They will have knitted items, such as sweaters and caps, sheep pelts, skeins of yarn, small balls of roving, which is carded wool ready for spinning, stuffed animals and Christmas ornaments.

They plan to feature a display which explains the various steps they go through to prepare the wool for spinning. They will also bring a spinning wheel with them so they can demonstrate their craft. You will find these three ladies in booth 7 in the gymnasium.

Kathy Naebeck from Ann Arbor will demonstrate her wood-burning talents at the craft show. Kathy, a former student of commercial art, has always enjoyed a variety of artistic media, such as watercolor painting and drafting. She started woodburning about 11 years ago when she received a woodburning tool as a Christmas gift.

Scenes on wooden spoons were her first attempt, and she has since branched out to burning on a variety of items such as thimbles, miniature bean pots and antique rolling pins. Kathy likes doing fine detail work. The bean pots she burns are less than an inch tall, and yet she will do an entire scene on the surface of it. She will do specialty items, such as anniversary plates, on which she duplicates a picture of someone's home or farm. When you stop by her booth, which is number 33 in the gymnasium, be sure to pay attention to the fine detail in all of her work. She will have some limited edition pieces available and will also personalize some items the day of the show.

We could go on for hours describing the talents and personalities of the ninety-some other exhibitors, but it's best for you to see for yourself. Whether you're looking for baskets, dried flowers, pottery or whatever, you'll find it at the 7th annual Country Craft & Folk Art Show. Again, the event takes place at Chelsea High school on Saturday, Oct. 5, from 10 to 5. Admission is $1.50 and 50¢ for children ages 6-12. Proceeds benefit the Chelsea Senior Citizens organization.

WORK IS PROCEEDING, although most of the downtown business district thinks much too slowly, on the railroad crossing at M-52. The work has discouraged shoppers from going downtown, merchants say. It has also rerouted traffic into normally uncongested areas.

HATCH STAMPING CO. held an open house last Thursday to show off its brand new facility in the Chelsea Industrial Park. Owner Ron Hatch and other employees were available for tours and to give a little history of the company. The company makes stamped metal parts for the automotive industry and has survived well during a time of high business failure rate in the stamping industry.

Skateboarders Not Welcome at Shopping Center

Village council has denied a request from Chelsea Shopping Center to amend an ordinance to prohibit skateboard riders in the shopping center parking lot.

The village has decided the best approach is for the shopping center to post signs prohibiting the activity. Then violators can be prosecuted as trespassers.

Village attorney Peter Flintoft cited an ordinance in the City of Plymouth in which a private property owner must invite a skateboarder in writing onto his property.

The village may consider an amendment along the same lines.

Skelton Guides Dogs To First SEC Win As Railsplitters Fall

With a revamped run-dominated offense the Chelsea Bulldogs won their first Southeastern Conference game of the season last Friday, 20-0 over the Lincoln Railsplitters at Niehaus Field.

Sophomore Colby Skelton got his first start of the year at quarterback after sophomore Pat Steele was knocked out for the season with a broken collarbone last week. Head coach Gene LaFave changed the offense to take advantage of Skelton's running ability, and the Bulldogs amassed 250 yards rushing, 90 by Skelton on 13 carries. Skelton had one of the longest carries of the night on his 26-yard touchdown run midway through the first quarter.

"Colby made tremendous progress from last week," LaFave said.

"I look for him to progress even more this week. He could be a very good quarterback for us this season. We've got a lot of confidence in him."

Despite the domination of the Railsplitters, LaFave was cautious in his assessment of the team.

"We're a one dimensional team and we'll have to work hard," LaFave said.

"I don't know if Colby can be a great passer, but he can certainly be a good thrower, especially as he gets more comfortable."

The total of the passing game was one pass for 12 yards to tight end Tom Poulter.

Skelton had perhaps the best game of his early career as he scored two touchdowns, one on a 79-yard kick-off return to open the second half, and picked off two Lincoln passes from his position in the defensive backfield. The first interception in the end zone stopped the Railsplitters' best drive of the night. The second he nearly returned for a touchdown.

Senior running back Ben Hurst had his fourth solid game in a row as he rushed for 135 yards and one touchdown on 25 carries.

An equally important contribution may have been Hurst's punting game as he kicked five times for a net average of 36 yards. Lincoln didn't start a drive outside their 30-yard line. One Hurst punt forced the Railsplitters to start from their own six.

"We were a very good kicking team Friday," LaFave said.

"That's where we won the game. All our punts were high, over 30 yards, and weren't fielded. Timmy Wescott also really helped us out with extra points (2)." Wescott was called up from the junior varsity this week, also to play defensive back.

LaFave also had high praise for his defense, which limited Lincoln to 108 total yards despite the absence of defensive co-ordinator Roger Cox, out from the previous week's ejection at Milan. Adam Taylor, at linebacker, led Chelsea with 10 tackles.

"Roger had the team very well prepared," LaFave said.

"It hurts when we don't have him there, but he implemented a good plan and we didn't get in tough situations."

Chelsea opened the scoring on Skelton's 26-yard run at the 6:20 mark of the first quarter, capping a 79-yard drive. Hurst had two big carries in fourth down situations to keep the drive alive. The kick was wide left.

The Bulldogs' second score came on Skelton's kick-off return to open the second half. He hit a hole near the middle of the field and veered down the right sidelines, barely outracing the Milan backfield. This time Wescott's kick was perfect.

Chelsea's second possession of the second half resulted in the final touchdown of the night. After a punt, Chelsea started from their own 42.

Hurst or Skelton carried on the next seven plays before Adam Taylor ran 11 yards to the three, nearly running over a referee in the process. On the next play, Hurst ran for the score.

The Bulldogs picked up most of their 125 yards in the remaining part of the game.

Chelsea takes a break from SEC action this week as they travel to Jackson County Western.

"Western is big and physical and has been tough through the beginning of the second half," LaFave said.

"For some reason, they haven't been able to get the job done after the third quarter. I don't know what it is."

Chelsea is 2-2 over-all and 1-2 in the Southeastern Conference.

Dog Girl Runners Splinter the Splitters

Chelsea girls continued their domination of the Southeastern Conference cross country circuit as they shut out the Lincoln Railsplitters, 15-50.

Only two Lincoln runners broke into the top 15 and only one into the top 10 as Chelsea took the top nine places.

"We really ran well," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"The top five girls all broke 21 minutes at Inverness Golf Course, the first time that's ever happened. Lisa Monti ran a strong race and is rapidly getting into form."

Monti fell far short of her own course record but still handily beat the field in 19:29. Chelsea runners behind her were 2. Val Bullock, 20:25; 3. Beth Bell, 20:32; 4. Beth Williams, 20:42; 5. Sarah Brosnan, 20:58; 6. Robin Phelps, 21:02; 7. Tracy Wales, 21:18; 8. Charity Allen, 21:47; 9. Jessica Holton, 22:00; 11. Lauren Sparaco, 22:06; 12. Molly Griebel, 22:18; 13. Carmen Smith, 22:40; 15. Sarah Henry, 23:45; 16. Keri Kentala, 23:54; 17. Erika Leiter, 23:55; 20. Linda Schaefer, 24:23; 22. Sarah Schick, 25:41; 23. Emily Anderson, 26:16.

Brosnan was named the team's runner of the week. Allen ran her best time ever at Inverness.

Chelsea placed first in both the freshman-sophomore division and junior-senior division of the annual Chelsea Invitational last Saturday at Hudson Mills Metropark.

The meet is unlike any other the Bulldogs have all year because the girls get to run against other girls their own age.

In the junior-senior division, Monti placed first in 19:25 after a good race with Tecumseh's Nicole Randolph. Bullock was third in 20:04 and Williams placed sixth in 20:44 to finish out the Bulldogs' scoring. Other Chelsea finishers included 8. Brosnan, 21:06; 15. Holton, 21:53; 16. Wales, 21:57; 17. Allen, 21:58; 19. Sparaco, 22:21; 24. Smith, 22:52; and 30. Schaeffer, 25:22.

Bell won the freshman-sophomore race in 20:33. Chelsea runners behind her were 6. Phelps, 21:19; 11. Griebel, 21:50; 26. Henry, 24:23; 27. Leiter, 24:25; and 30. Anderson, 24:58.

"Lisa had one of her best races of the season," Clarke said.

"She and Randolph were both exhausted at the finish. Valerie also ran her best race of the season."

Dog Golfers Win a Pair

Chelsea Bulldogs golf team posted two Southeastern Conference victories last week.

On Tuesday, Chelsea beat the Milan Big Reds, 187-207.

Medalist for Chelsea was Nathan Oake with a 44. Also scoring for Chelsea were Adam Beauchamp 47, and Chris White and Nick McCalla with 48 each.

The Chelsea junior varsity team also won its match, 196-219. Chelsea scorers included Justin Navin and Dave Seitz at 47, and Tom Payne and Ryan Fisher at 51.

The Bulldogs nipped the Lincoln Railsplitters, 190-194, at Pine View Golf Course in Ypsilanti on Thursday.

Aaron Tanner was medalist with a 42. Other Chelsea scores were White 46, Jason McVittie 49, and Oake and Cory Brown 53.

Chelsea won the junior varsity match 211-220. Dirk Wales led all scorers with 48. Other scores were Navin 52, Fisher 55, and Matt McVittie 56.

"It was good to see Aaron Tanner return to his old form," said Chelsea coach Jim Tallman.

"If we are to finish the season with somewhere close to a winning record, Aaron's contribution will be important."

BEN HURST finds running room to the outside and gains a few of his 135 total yards on the night against the Lincoln Railsplitters last Friday. Hurst and the Bulldogs went on to pick up their first Southeastern Conference victory, 20-0.

COLT WHITE (68) nails the Lincoln runner during Friday's 20-0 win over the Lincoln Railsplitters. The Chelsea defense made life miserable for the Railsplitters all night long.

JV Gridders Make It Look Easy Against Lincoln

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity football team recorded perhaps its most lopsided victory ever with a 60-0 whipping of the Lincoln Railsplitters last week in Willis.

Chelsea scored 10 touchdowns and no extra points. Kicker Tim Wescott was moved up to varsity and coach Lonnie Mitchell tried three substitutes.

The Bulldogs had two interceptions and a blocked punt against a predominately freshman team.

"We played good team defense," Mitchell said.

Running back Matt Montange led Chelsea with four touchdowns. Don Poppenger, Pat Lynch, Tom Hubbell, Jay Wescott, Aric Dougherty, and Dan Wehrwein each scored a touchdown. Poppenger's score came on a blocked punt.

Chelsea is 3-1 on the season for the first time in many years, and 2-1 in the Southeastern Conference.

8th Grade Cagers Win Two Games

Beach Middle school eighth grade basketball team beat Dexter 38-33 and Pinckney 37-17 in action last week.

In the Dexter game, played Monday, Sept. 23, Chelsea rallied from a 12-5 deficit for the victory. They eventually led by 16 points in the fourth quarter.

Chelsea scorers included Kyle Kentala 11, Anne Frederick 8, Chrissy Morse 6, Annie Terpstra 4, Sara Petty 2, Kim Fletcher 2, Katie Spink 2, Nikki Lane 2, and Tina Richardson 1.

Terpstra had 18 rebounds, and Morse and Frederick each had five steals.

In the Pinckney game on Thursday, Chelsea broke open a 15-11 game by outscoring Pinckney 16-0 in the third quarter.

Chelsea scorers were Terpstra 11, Lisa Beard 5, Carrie Buss 4, Frederick 4, Spink 3, Danielle Longe 2, Lane 2, Kentala 2, Morse 2, and Chrissy Vargo 1.

Terpstra again led with 14 rebounds. Morse had five steals and Frederick had four.

"Our goal is to improve each game and so far we have done that," said Chelsea coach Jon Schaffner.

Americans may eat more calories than the experts think. Long term studies at the USDA's Human Nutrition Research Center suggest people underestimate the amount of calories they're consuming by about 18 percent. That may explain why the nation's food intake data doesn't account for the population's increasing weight.

Bulldog Cagers Lose to Milan In Overtime To Open SEC Season

Two last-second free throws in overtime gave the Chelsea Bulldogs varsity basketball team a heartbreaking loss to the Milan Big Reds in the first Southeastern Conference game of the season last Thursday, 60-59.

Chelsea was up by four points with a minute remaining but couldn't hold on.

"We had a lot of chances," said Chelsea coach Dave Wojcicki.

"But the girls played a lot better this week."

Chelsea had to rally from a seven-point deficit in the third quarter.

Wojcicki said his team still had too many unforced errors and needs to rebound better.

Ginny Flannery led Chelsea with 12 points, and Christine Burg and Heather McConeghy each scored 11. Other scorers included Kelly Cross 9, Mara Smith 4, Martha Merkel 3, and Nicki Piasecki 2.

Chelsea shot 29 percent from the floor.

On Tuesday, Chelsea lost to Jackson Lumen Christi, 56-31.

"The score was a little deceiving because they pressed us all night and we broke the press," Wojcicki said.

"Unfortunately, we missed a lot of passes and shots. Over-all, though, I was pretty pleased."

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

The Bulldogs returned to Niehaus Field Friday night and displayed a running game that hasn't been seen here since the last Southeastern Conference championship season of 1986, back when Todd Starkey was at the helm and Curtis Heard was in the backfield.

Sophomore quarterback Colby Skelton and senior running back Ben Hurst moved the ball effectively for three quarters. The offense kind of drowned in a sea of penalties toward the end of the game, but the Bulldogs were basically in command all night long.

Skelton was impressive in his first start, especially in the sense that he didn't make many mistakes. That's about all a coaching staff could want from a quarterback who had to switch positions in mid-season and lead an entirely new offensive scheme. He surprised me with his poise, as well as his breakaway running ability.

Hurst had his usual solid, not-too-flashy game with 135 yards. Hurst, who is averaging more than 100 yards per game, is quietly becoming one of the best and most underrated running backs in the area. He's fast, he can take a hit as well as anyone, and he's been playing hurt much of the season.

Friday's performance, however, has to be tempered by the fact that Chelsea was playing the Lincoln Railsplitters, probably the weakest team in the league. Let's face it, the Bulldogs haven't exactly been a powerhouse in the early going themselves, yet they dominated the Splitters.

Lincoln has had millage problems over the last few years, (although occasionally money does turn up unexpectedly) and many of this year's varsity players didn't get the benefit of playing junior varsity football. They are also plagued by a coaching staff that never elects to take a kick-off when it's given to them, but that's another story.

Can anyone really blame Roger Cox for wanting to leave?

Chelsea's new offense will get a better league test next week for homecoming when they face Dexter. They'll get the ultimate challenge the following week at Tecumseh. By then, we should know how good it really is. (I keep having visions of Skelton watching tapes of Tecumseh with the same look of dread on his face as that catcher in the Roloids commercial watching tapes of Rickey Henderson stealing second.)

Speaking of Skelton, a few weeks ago, back when he was still Chelsea's best receiver, I referred to him as having hands like Velcro when it comes to pass catching.

Well, we at The Standard have been informed by the makers of VELCRO that generic reference to their product is not allowed. Companies spend billions of dollars to protect their trademarks, so that means they obviously don't want any free advertising.

According to the company's brochure, Swiss inventor George de Mestral was hiking and came home with cockleburs all over his pants. His microscopic evaluation showed the burs were covered with hundreds of tiny hooks and his pants with hundreds of tiny loops. Voila! What a great idea. Think of what I can do with sneakers, pants, and radar detectors! he must have thought.

So now, according to the brochure, if I ever want to make reference to Skelton's ability as a split end, I'll have to write "he has hands like VELCRO brand hook and loop fasteners." Says it all, doesn't it?

Chelsea girls cross country team is ranked, how about this, number one in the state in class B. They may be the best team regardless of classification. The best part is, virtually all the top runners are juniors or sophomores.

The boys are ranked 15th, the first time they've been ranked in years. And that team is dominated by freshmen. The boys, in a few years, could be right where the girls are today.

So how about them Wolverines? Twenty-point losers to a team from Tallahassee. That isn't even in the midwest.

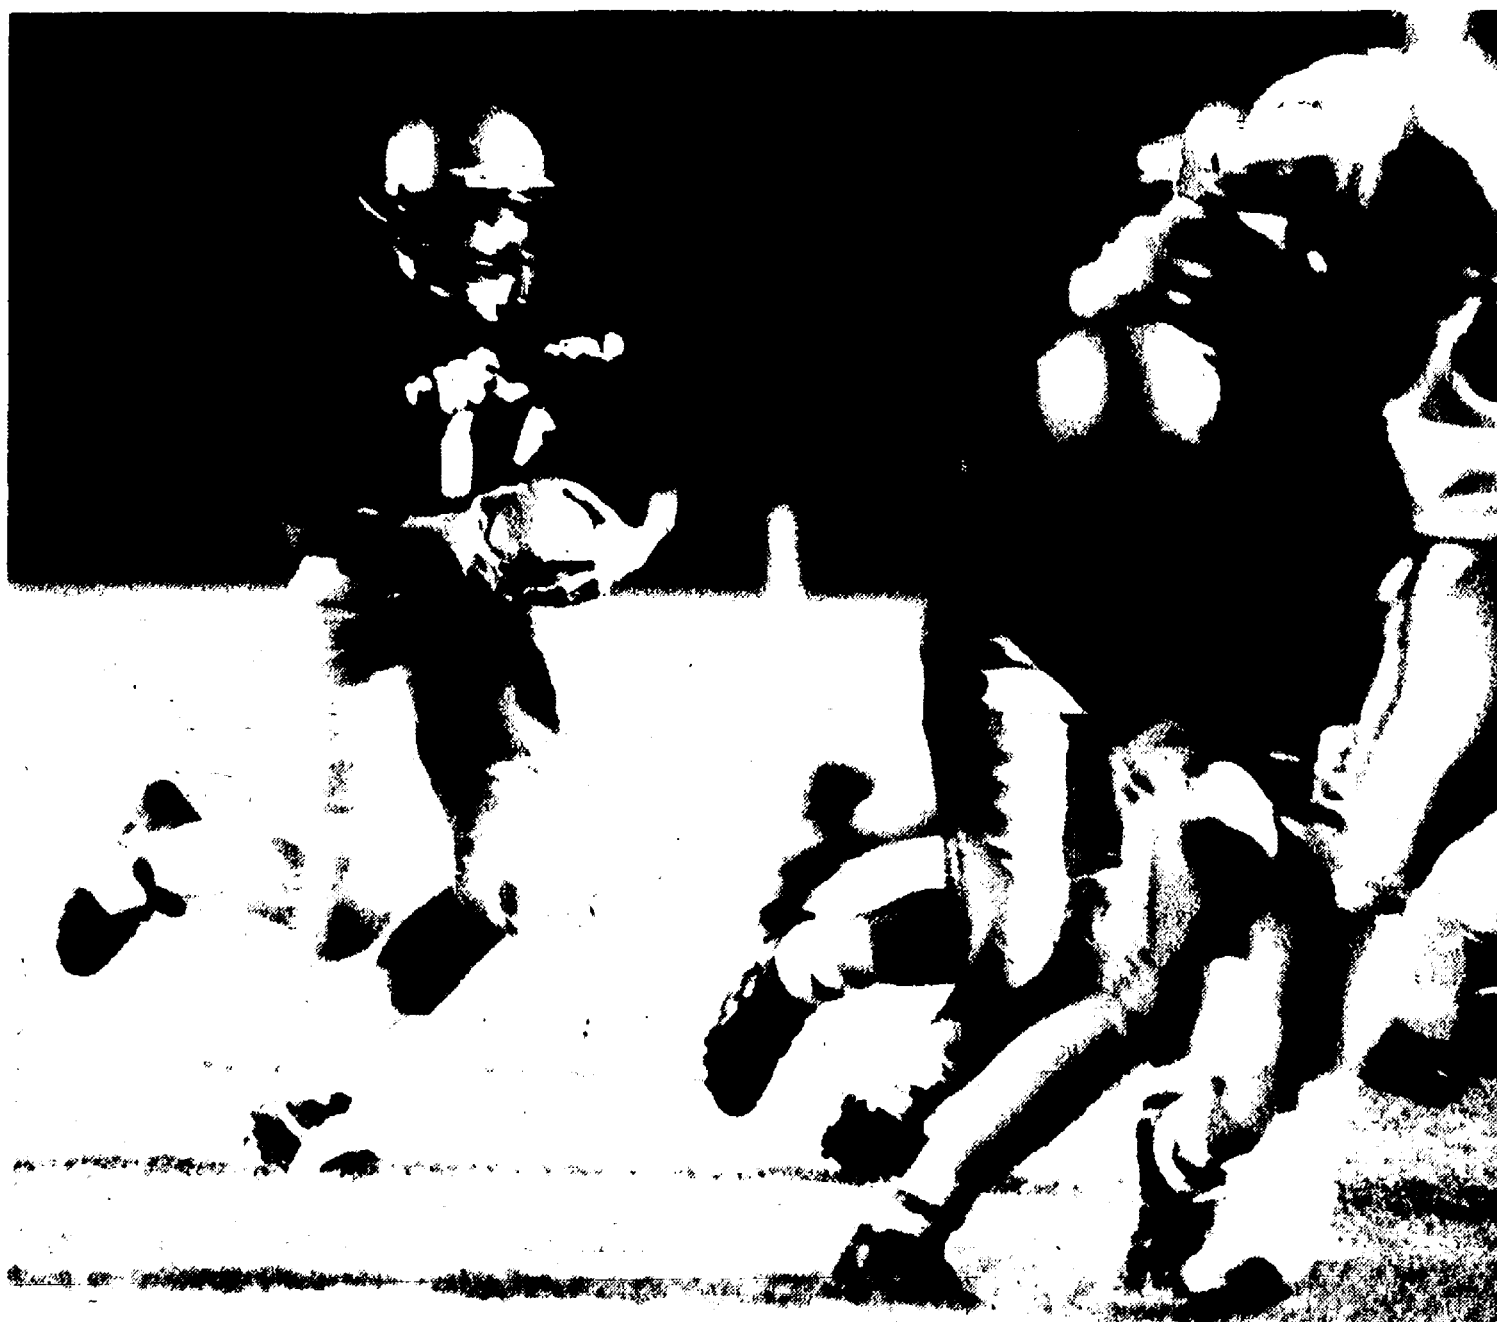

I hope once and for all southern football will get a little respect up here. It never ceases to amaze me how most people in this part of the country think college football begins and ends with the Big 10 and Notre Dame.

My favorite part of the whole game was the brief interview with the Florida State quarterback Casey Weldon's parents. Seems their son almost went to that other southern powerhouse, Liberty Baptist College, headed by coach Jerry Falwell. Even got a call from the coach himself.

Isn't that a little like trying to decide whether to spend your vacation in Paris or Ypsilanti?

Popcorn was one of the treats enjoyed by the American colonists at their first Thanksgiving dinner. It was offered by Quadequina, brother of the Indian Massasoit.

COLBY SKELTON follows his blocking during Friday night's home game with the Lincoln Railsplitters. The sophomore quarterback got his first start after Pat Steele went down last week with an injury.

Netters Lose to Greenhills

Chelsea Bulldogs varsity tennis team was shut out by Ann Arbor Greenhills last week on a cold day for tennis.

"We had a tough run-in with Greenhills on Tuesday, but were able to give them a good match as we took quite a few games this year as opposed to other years," said Chelsea coach Terri Curtis.

In doubles play, Theresa Hurst and Monica Hansen lost 3-6, 2-6; Becky Vitor and Christine McLaughlin lost 4-6, 2-6; and Becca Flintoff and Tracy Haas lost in three sets, 5-7, 6-0, 2-6.

"Becca Flintoff and Tracy Haas played some of their best tennis to date and showed their cohesiveness as a team," Curtis said. "They are becoming a good doubles team and are only in their second year of tennis."

In an exhibition match, Myra Musolf and Sara Smith of Chelsea played an excellent match, Curtis said, against Nanna Miller and Sabrina Marachian but lost 6-7, 3-6.

Bulldog Tankers Whip Railsplitters

Chelsea Bulldogs swimming and diving team whalloped the Lincoln Railsplitters last Thursday, 120-60.

Senior co-captain Erika Boughton qualified for the state meet in her fifth event as she took first place in the 100 butterfly in 1:07.48.

Co-captain Kristi Smith became the seventh team member to qualify for the state meet in the 200 medley relay. She swam the freestyle leg as she and Betsy Schmunk, Melissa Thiel, and Boughton won the event in 2:03.36. Kristi Ostling, Nona Giebel, Jennifer Koch, and Erica Street placed third.

Thiel won the 200 freestyle, while Maya Holleman was second and Angie Wilson placed fourth.

In the 200 individual medley, Sara Nicola placed first, Koch was second, and Giebel fifth.

Carey Schiller won the 50 freestyle while Sandy Schmid placed third and Ostling was fifth.

In diving, Jennifer Schulz had a personal best score for first place. Maya Ponte placed second in the 100 butterfly and Amy Hinshaw was fourth.

In the 100 freestyle, Smith placed second, Holleman third, and Carrie Smith fourth.

Schmunk won the 500 freestyle while Schmid was second and Wilson fourth.

The team of Schiller, Nicola, Hinshaw, and Ostling won the 200 freestyle relay while Giebel, Koch, Holleman, and Wilson placed third.

Street was second in the 100 backstroke, Kristi Smith was third, and Ostling fifth.

Schmunk's second victory came in the 100 breaststroke, while Giebel was third and Carrie Smith fifth.

The 400 freestyle relay team of Schiller, Nicola, Boughton, and Thiel placed first, while Holleman, Kristi Smith, Ponte, and Carrie Smith placed third.

Chelsea swims state-ranked Milan tomorrow.

JV Cagers Whip Big Reds

Chelsea junior varsity basketball team took a 62-31 victory over the Milan Big Reds last Thursday to open their Southeastern Conference schedule.

In other action last week, the Bulldogs lost 51-38 to Jackson Lumen Christi.

Chelsea beat Milan with defense as they stole the ball 37 times. Defense allowed the Bulldogs to control the game from the start.

Kate Steele led Chelsea with 14 points and Laura Carty scored 12. Others scorers included Jessica Flintoff 9, Charlotte Ziegler 9, Erin Schiller 7, Courtney Thompson 5, Lindsey Johnson 5, and Elizabeth McLaughlin 1.

In the Lumen Christi game, Chelsea fell behind 6-0 and never caught up. At one point the Bulldogs trailed by 14, but cut that deficit to three.

"We had slumps in the first and third quarters," said Chelsea coach Paul Terpstra.

Chelsea had 28 turnovers and made just 8 of 26 free throws, two big statistics in the game.

Bulldogs scorers included Flintoff 11, Schiller 8, Ziegler 6, Thompson 3, Ritter 2, Tracy Patrick 2, Johnson 2, Carty 2, and Steele 2.

Chelsea was 4-3 over-all and 1-0 in the SEC after last week.

Frosh Gridders Lose to Saline

Chelsea Bulldogs freshman football team lost to the Saline Hornets last week, 32-8.

Saline moved out to a 28-0 lead at half-time.

"They intercepted a pass and scored on the first play," said Chelsea coach Bill Bainton.

"The first half was a disaster from then on."

Chelsea scored their only touchdown on a five-yard run by Ryan Ludwig.

"Ryan was one of our best players offensively," Bainton said.

"He also had an interception on defense."

Bainton also praised the play of running back Case McCalla, offensive tackle Andy Thomson, defensive end Dan Koenigter, linebacker Josh Inwood, and nose guard Mike Bainton.

Boys Cross Country Team Loses but Continues Improvement

Ryan Schultz broke his own Chelsea freshman cross country record as the Bulldogs lost to Lincoln last week, 22-33.

Schultz finished second over-all in 18:50, just two seconds off the pace. His old record was 17:22.

"The boys ran extremely well at Inverness," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"The top eight all set some sort of personal record. Chad Brown ran under 18 minutes for the first time, Mike Reese ran under 18 minutes for the first time at Inverness, and senior Dan Zatkovich set a personal record despite running with the flu."

Chelsea runners behind Schultz were 6. Zatkovich, 17:35; 7. Reese, 17:49; 8. Brown, 17:54; 10. Tobin Strong, 18:03; 11. Scott Hawley, 18:04; 12. Brian Atlee, 18:31; 16. Rob Jaques, 18:42; 19. J.J. Hanke, 19:15; 20. Chris Leatham, 19:16; 21. David Sayer, 19:25; 23. Gabe White, 20:00; 24. Jim Bergman, 20:06; 26. Josh Metzler, 20:14; 27. Mike Kennedy, 20:14; 28. Nick Kramer, 20:18; 29. Jim Bennett, 20:25; 30. Kevin Kolodica, 20:47; 31. Hans Kemnitz, 20:54; 32. Chris Schiller.

"We now have four freshmen on the varsity, which is really something," Clarke said.

Chelsea is 1-2 in the Southeastern Conference, both losses coming to state-ranked teams.

The Bulldogs won the freshman division and placed third in the junior division of the annual Chelsea Invitational last Saturday at Hudson Mills Metropark.

The meet pits boys the same age against each other.

Schultz won the freshman race with a time of 17:17. Chelsea runners behind him were 4. Brown, 18:18; 5. Hawley, 18:25; 8. Kolodica, 19:01; 9. Atlee, 19:09; 12. Bergman, 19:25; 15. White, 20:05; 17. Metzler, 20:13; 20. Kramer, 20:17; 35. Peterson, 26:28.

In the junior division, Zatkovich ran his best race in several weeks to place seventh at 17:19. Behind him were 15. Strong, 18:14; 18. Hanke, 18:40; 28. Kennedy, 20:36; and 30. Schiller, 21:24.

Chelsea did not have enough runners in the sophomore and senior divisions to field an entire team. In the sophomore race, Leatham was 20th in 19:22 and Bennett was 29th in 20:30. In the senior race, Reese was 11th in 17:58 and Jaques was 26th in 18:58.

"The boys are gaining maturity and improving daily," Clarke said.

Chelsea boys are ranked 15th in the state this week, the first time in four years the boys have made the state rankings.

YOU & YOUR PET

★ Disciplining a Pet

Discipline is important for pets. It helps teach them acceptable limits to their behavior. As pet owners, it is up to us to make sure that the discipline methods we use are effective, humane, and consistent.

To be effective, discipline must be applied at the right time. If you find your pet doing something that he or she should not, then that is the time for discipline. It is futile and confusing to a pet to be disciplined after the fact. While human children and adults can remember an act, and associate a delayed discipline with the earlier offense, pets cannot do so.

Good examples of incorrect timing are disciplining a dog for urinating on the carpet and disciplining a cat for scratching the sofa, both of which happened while the owner was away. Although the pets may "act guilty" when the owner is reprimanding them later, they are simply reacting to the upset owner, without connecting their misbehavior with the discipline. The dog, for instance, knows his urine is on the carpet, but has no idea that he was misbehaving at the time he relieved himself. Owners who return home to a mess should quietly clean it up, realize that their pet is untrustworthy when left alone, and confine the pet in a safe room or pet crate when they are away in the future until the animal is fully trained.

Discipline types can be different for dogs and cats. A stern "No, Altie, you must NOT shred the carpet!" spoken with lots of emotion and looking the pet straight in the eyes is effective for either species. Dogs, however, respond well to having their muzzle held closed, due to being disciplined that way by their mothers when very young. Cats, on the other hand, dislike high-pitched sounds. A loud hand-clapping or hiss will often stop them from what they are doing. A squirt gun aimed across the room may be necessary with some cats. In either case, remove the object that the pet should not have, or physically move the pet away from the area.

Follow up well-timed discipline with praise for doing something right. Move the cat from the sofa to her scratching post, and praise/pet her while you show her how to scratch on it. Tell the disciplined dog to "Sit!" and then praise/pet him when he does so. The pets understand that you will reward good behavior, and that you still love them.

Never hit your pet. Hitting with your hand can lead to aggression towards you and fear of you. Hitting with a newspaper only serves to make the pet afraid of newspapers. Even pointing and shaking your finger in a pet's face can be misinterpreted as an aggressive action on your part.

Finally, discipline must be consistent. All members of the household should adhere to the same rules and use the same discipline methods to avoid confusing the pet. If you can't be home all day to watch for offenses, then confine your pet in a crate (dogs) or a room (dogs or cats) while you are away. Pets can learn the rules of the house, as long as owners choose and use discipline correctly.

MORMONS ARE CHRISTIANS!

Members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormons) use the King James Version of the Bible and the Book of Mormon, a second testament of the divinity of Jesus Christ, as scripture. A quote of Scripture from the Book of Mormon Says: "And we talk of Christ, we rejoice in Christ, we preach of Christ, we prophesy of Christ and we write according to our prophecies, that our children may know to what source they may look for a remission of their sins." We invite all to come unto Christ. You might also be interested in finding out how our belief in Christ makes us the healthiest group of people in the world and increases our life span about 10 years beyond average. Questions are often asked by residents about the Chelsea schools that deserve a wide circulation. The Chelsea Standard has agreed to publish this column several times during the year to provide information to the residents of the Chelsea School District.

Q. WHAT DID YOU THINK OF THE BOND-ISSUE RESULTS?
As a former U. S. Government teacher, I was pleased with the great citizen participation in the election. In a democracy, the majority rules, and the mandate from a majority of our voters was that they could not support the issue presented to them by the Board of Education.

We have begun to analyze why people voted against the issue and have put together at least four dozen reasons. In the next several weeks we will discuss the issues and will seek community input.

We also believe that the citizens of Chelsea want an exceptional education program for their students. It is the job of the Board of Education of the school district to provide that program with the money that is available to them.

Q. WHAT WILL HAPPEN NEXT WITH THE FACILITIES OF THE CHELSEA SCHOOLS?
Our student population will continue to grow, and we must find solutions to the space problems. We will continue to use portable facilities whenever needed until a bond issue can be passed.

The Board of Education will review options over the next several months before making a decision. Any resident who wishes to provide input to the Board should call or write any Board member or the Superintendent of Schools. Your input is always welcome and appreciated.

Commercial Drivers Must Have New CDL By April 1, '92

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin issued Michigan's first Commercial Driver License (CDL) under national driver license standards on Jan. 2, 1990.
A commercial vehicle is generally defined as any vehicle over 26,000 pounds gross vehicle weight rating (GVWR), or combination vehicles towing trailers over 10,000 pounds GVWR.

Buses or vans designed to carry 16 or more people, small buses transporting children to and from school, and vehicles carrying hazardous materials in placarded amounts also qualify.

Individuals with classified endorsements are converting them to CDLs as they renew their driver license. Because all commercial drivers nationwide are required to have a CDL by April 1, 1992, those whose license would expire after this date are being called in to renew early.

To date, the total number of individuals applying for their CDLs has been slightly higher than projected. As of Sept. 1, 104,049 individuals have received their commercial driver license. Approximately 160,000 drivers are expected to receive their CDL by April 1, 1992.

Mon. Tues., Wed., Fri. 9-5:30 • Thurs. 9-6:30 Sat. 8-4:00SEMCOG Reports on Study of Washtenaw Urban sprawl—the out-growth of urban development that's taking over green rural land—is the trend of the future, a Southeastern Michigan Council of Government (SEMCOG) committee has reported.

Representatives of the SEMCOG regional development initiative oversight committee presented findings of a year long study to the Washtenaw county chapter of the Michigan Township Association (MTA). The committee, a group of legislators, private sector corporation leaders, citizen groups and SEMCOG members, organized to conduct a year long study in the southeastern Michigan seven county area.

At the MTA meeting, held Thursday, Sept. 26 at 7:30 in the Washtenaw County Road Commission, Zeeb Rd., the committee presented a film of past, present and future developments in the Washtenaw county region.

Jack Morris, supervisor of Pittsfield township and co-chair of the committee, said, "Trends for the future were projected by the committee, based upon what has been happening over the years, provided that the trends continue."

Projecting into the year 2010, the county will continue to increase actual population in small percentages, but will urbanize more land, the committee said.

"There is only six percent growth in actual population but we will use up 40 percent more land accommodating that growth," Morris said.

Transportation problems were also addressed by the committee. In general, there is going to be more bus transportation and car-pooling and less traffic by individuals.

The committee made recommendations to help government leaders deal with these problems, based upon their conclusions.

The executive committee of SEMCOG met on Friday to receive the final report draft and will forward it to the approving body of SEMCOG with recommendations.

Breast Cancer Awareness Month Being Observed

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. Early detection provides the best opportunity to treat breast cancer.

Because of this, representatives from the American Cancer Society, Beyer Hospital, Chelsea Community Hospital, McAuley Breast Care, Michigan Cancer Foundation, Saline Hospital, University of Michigan Medical Center and Washtenaw County Health Department, work together to promote Breast Cancer Awareness in Washtenaw county.

Washtenaw County Breast Health Awareness Month Committee has joined the nation-wide program dedicated to educating American women and their families about the importance of early detection of breast cancer.

Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer in American women. One out of nine women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime. Every woman is at risk for breast cancer and the risk increases with age. By following a simple early detection program, many women could save their own lives.

The American Cancer Society recommends this three-step early detection program:

- Schedule a regular mammogram—a baseline mammogram between ages 35-40. Between 40-49, a mammogram every two years. Women over age 50 should have a mammogram every year.

- Practice monthly breast self-examination—a woman's physician can show her the proper method.

- Routine breast examination by a health professional—at least every three years until age 40, then every year after 50.

The five-year survival rate for localized breast cancer has risen to 90% because of advances in early detection, surgical procedures, radiation therapy, hormonal therapy, and chemotherapy.

September through November 1991, the Washtenaw County Breast Awareness Month Committee will provide speakers to local groups and organizations.

For further information, please call (313) 971-4300.

Master Gardeners Will Offer Tips at Autumn Open Garden

Has your flower garden run out of steam and more importantly, color? Did your plants grow extra fast and big this year because of the long, warm summer?

Come join Master Gardeners at the Co-operative Extension Service's Open Garden" and see the queens of the autumn border, learn about plant division and propagation as well as autumn care of the flower garden.

Master Gardeners will be working in the garden on Wednesday, Oct. 9 from 9:30 to noon, and Thursday, Oct. 10 from 6 p.m. to dusk.

The Exhibit Garden is located at Washtenaw Co-operative Extension office in the Washtenaw County Service Center on the corner of Washtenaw and Hogback Rd.

Dirty Dancing: Almost all birds bathe regularly, but not necessarily in water. International wildlife magazine reports that pheasants, quail, wild turkeys and many other birds prefer to clean themselves in dirt. This process, known as "dusting," is not only pleasurable but also beneficial. Dust absorbs excess oil in feathers, and it may also prevent the spread of parasites.

Village Denies Quiet Creek Road Request

Village of Chelsea has turned down a request by Quiet Creek Condominiums to have Quiet Creek Cir. designated a public road.

The condominium association argued that because many people use the road for jogging, bicycling, and other activities that it should be a public road.

However, village council denied the request because the road is three feet short of village width specifications spelled out in the village's street ordinance.

Black Sheep Tavern Gutted by Fire Sunday Evening

The 117-year-old Black Sheep Tavern in Manchester sustained heavy damage in a fire Sunday evening.

None of the more than 40 patrons was injured in a blaze that gutted the interior and eventually burned a hole through the roof of the three-story brick village landmark. Two firefighters suffered minor injuries.

An automatic extinguishing system failed to put out all the flames. Workers also tried to use hand-held fire extinguishers.

Fall Color Displays Near in Metroparks

Mother nature's paintbrush is once again sweeping across southeast Michigan and some of her brilliant colors have already dripped on the 13 Metroparks located in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Livingston and Washtenaw counties.

Containing extensive tracts of woods and fallow fields punctuated by lakes and rivers, the parks offer some of the best displays of nature's colorful handiwork to be found in the area. And, the annual sight show is close, too, with Metroparks stretching in an arc from Metro Beach Metropark on Lake St. Clair, along the Clinton and Huron Rivers to Lake Erie Metropark by Gibraltar on Lake Erie.

You can enjoy this annual color spectacular at your Metroparks by car, bike, hike or boat.

• Bike-hike trails are located in Metro Beach, Stony Creek, Indian Springs, Kensington, Hudson Mills and Lower Huron Metroparks.

• Nature trails can be found at Metro Beach, Wolcott Mill, Stony Creek, Indian Springs, Kensington, Lower Huron and Oakwoods Metroparks.

• Boats and/or canoes are available for rent, mainly on week-ends, at Stony Creek, Kensington, Huron Meadows and Hudson Mills, Dexter-

Huron and Delhi Metroparks (private rental at the last three parks).

The peak of the fall color season in southeast Michigan is generally the second or third week of October, but weather conditions can change the peak color dates considerably.

For details on fall color contact your nearest Metropark or use the Huron-Clinton Metroparks' toll free number: 1-800-47-PARKS.

A vehicle entry permit is required at the Metroparks (annual: regular $10, or senior citizen - $5, or daily - $2).

The 13 Metroparks include these sites: Metro Beach (770 acres) near Mt. Clemens; Wolcott Mill (2,380 acres) in Ray township of Macomb county; Stony Creek (4,461 acres) near Rochester/Utica; Indian Springs (2,232 acres) near Clarkston; Kensington (4,337 acres) near Milford/Brighton; Huron Meadows (1,540 acres) near Brighton; Hudson Mills (1,624 acres) near Dexter; Dexter-Huron (122 acres) and Delhi (50 acres) both near Ann Arbor; Lower Huron (1,237 acres) near Belleville; Willow (1,531 acres) near New Boston; Oakwoods (1,750 acres) near Flat Rock; and Lake Erie (1,590 acres) in Brownstown township in Wayne county.

State Sen. Lana Pollack is scheduled to attend the Monday, Oct. 7 meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education.

Pollack will be available to answer questions on a wide variety of topics at 7:30 p.m. in the Chelsea High School Media Center. The public is invited to attend.

Pollack has recently proposed legislation on school funding based on a graduated income tax. She also recently voted in favor of what has become known as the "Robin Hood bill," in which richer school districts may be required give up some of their tax base that arises from an increase in value of commercial and industrial property.
