Bus Route Funding Loses Temporarily, Council To Consider It Again

Although bus service from Chelsea to Ann Arbor appears to be assured for at least another year, Chelsea Village Council has officially rejected the service until at least their next meeting.

The unusual set of circumstances came about at the Oct. 22 meeting when council voted 4-2 in favor of paying Ann Arbor Transportation Authority $5,081 to keep the route through next September. At the time, council thought the two-thirds majority was enough to carry the measure because unbudgeted expenditures require a two-thirds vote. However, it was discovered afterwards that a two-thirds vote, or five votes, of all council members is required. Trustee Allen Anderson was absent.

However, Anderson has publicly supported the route, so it's likely he would cast the fifth yes vote.

Trustees Jim Finch and Tom Dorer voted against the subsidy.

"If we vote against it, we'll have 49 people upset," Finch said, referring to the number of village residents who ride the bus, according to surveys.

"If we vote for it, we'll have 3,000 people unhappy. People are bitching about taxes and complaining about how the village government spends money right and left. This seems like a good place to cut back." He suggested carpooling as an alternative.

According to AATA, about 60 percent of the ridership is from the outlying townships, and 40 percent from the village. Council sentiment seems to be that the townships should help pay part of the bill.

Village president Richard Steele, in voting for the subsidy, said he didn't think it was fair to cut off the service on such short notice since most of the riders are extremely dependent on it to get to work. He suggested that alternative sources of funding be pursued during the next year.

AATA had estimated the minimum Chelsea share for the year would be about $5,500 after the fare was raised to $1.75 each way and week-end service eliminated.

The route travels through Dexter, which has already authorized its share. Without local funding, the route would come no further from Ann Arbor than Dexter.

Recycling Hearing Shows Citizens Wary of Taxes, Want More Information

A well-attended public hearing was held last Tuesday in Manchester township as area residents wanted more details on proposed funding for the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority.

A second public hearing is scheduled for next Wednesday at Sylvan Town Hall, beginning at 7 p.m. However, the meeting may be moved to accommodate what is expected to be another large crowd.

The recycling authority was formed to implement a $330,000 state grant for setting up a comprehensive recycling program in the villages of Chelsea and Manchester, and the townships of Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, Dexter, Manchester, Bridgewater, Sharon, and Freedom. The money can only be used for capital expenditures, such as buildings and equipment. The way the grant works, the authority submits invoices to the state for equipment, and the money will be reimbursed on a 75 percent basis, up to a total of $330,000. The money has to be spent by July.

The authority has proposed that township residents be assessed $17 annually and village residents be assessed $30 annually as a way to come up with the $110,000 matching portion of the grant, as well as operating funds. The difference in the fees reflects the higher costs of curbside programs in the villages. The fees would be assessed for five years. The fees would generate about $150,000 annually.

Authority chair Ronald Mann, Manchester township supervisor said Tuesday's hearing was "quite spirited."

"Most of the people who spoke against [the fees] were not so much against recycling as they were against more taxation," Mann said.

"They just see this as more dollars out of their pockets. I'm not totally in favor of paying more either and I wish something else could be done."

A high percentage of the opposition appeared to come from senior citizens, some on fixed incomes, and others who said they simply don't have much to recycle, Mann said.

"I understand their concerns," Mann said.

"But with 9,000 households, we can't pick and choose who will make the payments."

Mann said he is under the impression that the "silent majority" in his township support the over-all plan.

Some people argued that the assessments amount to illegal taxation because there will be no referendum. In fact, similar programs in Wixom and Farmington Hills have been challenged by Taxpayers United for the Michigan Constitution, Richard Headlee's group, as a violation of the Headlee Amendment.

Part of the problem faced by the authority is the timing of the grant. If a referendum were to be scheduled for next fall, the authority would be forced to borrow the entire amount of the grant and incur far more interest expense.

"My guess is assessments would have to be $3-$5 more per household," as a result of the interest, Mann said.

"When we weighed everything, [the current plan] looked to be the most economical route."

It was not clear whether any organized legal challenge to the financial strategy will be mounted.

Others at the hearing didn't understand why the current local effort isn't good enough, Mann said.

The state has mandated that each county have a solid waste management plan. Washtenaw county's plan calls for a 30 percent reduction in the trash flow to landfills by 1995. Recycling is seen as the primary way to reduce dependence on landfills. The WWRRA is designed to allow the western part of the county to meet the 30 percent goal, as well as keep more local control, and the authority hopes, reduce costs. It's likely long-range costs would be higher if the villages and townships simply relied on the county to take care of the problem.

Most of the county depends on Recycle Ann Arbor to process its recycled materials. In the Village of Chelsea's case, that is often a losing proposition.

For example, in a one-month period, the village disposed of nine tons of newspaper. For that, Recycle Ann Arbor paid $20 per ton, or a total of $180.

However, in turn, the village was billed $270 for bailing expenses, a $90 sorting fee, a $90 administrative fee, a $87.50 drop-off fee, and a $1.80 foreign-materials fee. Consequently, it cost $339.30 to recycle nine tons of newspaper. (Administrative assistant Barbara Fredette has not paid the bill because she says the newspaper bin only picks up 4 1/2 tons and there was only one pick-up that month.)

For August, after all charges, the village was billed $67.05 to recycle its glass and cans. For September the charge was $110.61.

On the other hand, the village is making at least a little money on milk jug and cardboard recycling because it is dealing directly with the end market rather than going through a

Man Robs Society Bank, Police Seek Witnesses

A man wearing a green ball cap, black wrap-around sunglasses and black gloves stole $1,450 from the Chelsea branch of Society Bank in a robbery during the lunch hour last Wednesday.

The man, described as about 5' 4", with olive-colored skin and a thin mustache, dressed in jeans and possibly tennis shoes, passed a note to a teller at about 12:30 p.m. which read "This is a robbery, I have a gun, I want 50s and 100s."

After the teller gave him the money, the man demanded all the money she had and she replied, "that's all I have."

Manager Dennis Stoffer moved toward an alarm activator, but the robber told him "don't." As the man ran out of the building, Stoffer activated the alarm at 12:35 and secured the premises. Chelsea police didn't arrive until 1 p.m. because the bank's security company, Honeywell Protection Services Division, didn't notify the department until 12:57.

"The company told me they had several other alarms at the same time," said Chelsea police chief Lenard McDougall.

No one was hurt in Chelsea's first bank robbery in about 10 years, although employees were shaken. It all happened so fast that one employee said she didn't know the bank was being robbed until the man ran out of the bank. The only witness other than employees was one customer who entered the bank as the man left.

No witnesses have reported seeing the man after he left the bank. Police do not know what kind of vehicle he drove away in or which direction he took.

"I'm sure someone out there saw him, but they just didn't realize what was going on," McDougall said.

"I hope someone in the area may be able to help us."

The FBI will handle most of the investigation, with assistance from Chelsea police.

Break-In Results In Theft of $1,345

Someone stole $1,345 in cash from the Chelsea Big Boy sometime after closing on Thursday, Oct. 24.

Store manager called Chelsea police after he arrived at work at 5 a.m. the next day.

Police said someone used a pry bar to enter the rear door of the restaurant. Once inside, the same bar was apparently used to pry open the office door, then pry open a safe. The thief also apparently cut the telephone line and broke out a light. The safe was found in a hallway.

The manager called police from a nearby gasoline station.

Police believe the same person may also be responsible for a break-in at Taco Bell restaurant on the same night. However, nothing was apparently stolen.

CHELSEA 1995 used a brainstorming session at The Common Grill Monday morning to plan for projects it wants to complete over the next two years. Among the projects on tap are bringing a movie theater/entertainment center to Chelsea, as well as a motel or bed and breakfast, and creating an easy path for walkers or bikers from downtown to the fast food restaurants. Clockwise, from top left, are Bob Daniels, Mary Daniels, Daphne Hodder, Ann Feeney, Mary Ann Merkel, and Dave Prohaska.

Drug Czar Calls Use of Drug Money

A "Scandal;" Agreement Near
A top Engler administration official agreed the purchase of false teeth and a toothbrush as materials for a school health program is an example of "scandalous" use of $14 million in federal drug funds. Education officials noted several years of federal audits and reviews have not found any misuse of federal funds in support of the Michigan Model health curriculum.

The dispute over control of federal funds prompted a surprise, and unannounced, veto by Governor John Engler of state money for the Michigan Model, which is supported in large part by the federal funds.

The issue came to a head during a House Oversight Committee hearing on resolutions opposing the governor's proposed transfer of the federal money to the control of his drug office as part of efforts to consolidate all drug problems because of an asserted violation of federal law.

Robert Peterson, director of the drug office, and State Board of Education president Dorothy Beardmore said a proposed agreement for shared authority over the funds—which has the support of federal officials—was to be presented to the board for approval.

Peterson said the administration wanted to postpone the hearings on the issue because it was "sitting on a major scandal." The model teeth and toothbrush were part of $8,000 in materials he said are provided under the Michigan Model for health education and are paid with the federal drug funds. "These are a small portion of what we are spending our drug money on and this is inappropriate," he said.

Rep. Greg Pitoniak (D-Taylor), and others on the committee, disputed the charge, saying, "Your charge of mismanagement is not backed up by anything." He said it was more a difference of opinion on how the money should be spent.

And Beardmore said federal officials found no inappropriate use of the funds after a foundation first raised the issue a year ago. She added President Bush's America 2000 education plan establishes a comprehensive health model as the preferred use of drug education funds.

Department spokesman Bob Harris said it is impossible to determine what portion of materials were bought with federal funds. But he said 64 percent of the program is supported by the U.S. money, while the U.S. Department of Education's assessment of the Michigan Model is that 74 percent of the curriculum falls under acceptable guidelines.

"The feds know what's in the Model and how it's being spent and they do not have a problem," Harris said. "So many of the things aimed at healthy living are things that impact on kids' decisions to use or not use drugs."

Peterson said the administration hopes to give schools more flexibility in use of the drug funds, establishing programs beyond those provided under the Michigan Model and with perhaps a different emphasis. He said the Model does not cover nearly as broad an area as allowed by the federal law. "I'm not opposed to a portion of the federal funds going for the Model, but not the whole thing," Peterson said.

A memorandum of understanding to be presented for board approval designates the Office of Drug Control Policy as the recipient and administrator of the federal funds, which would be distributed under a plan formulated by a seven-member committee which could be rejected by the State Board of Education. Three board members would serve on the committee.

Beardmore agreed that the legal requirements of the federal law since the board retains accountability for the funds by holding ultimate approval rights for the plan and is part of the membership of the board that draws up the plan. "The board's position from the beginning was that we cannot turn over control and still be held responsible," Ms. Beardmore said. "It's legal with the concurrence of the board."

A Sept. 5 letter from John MacDonald, assistant U.S. secretary for elementary and secondary education, approved the process of the board designating the drug office as the agency to receive and administer the funds.

However, resolution sponsor Rep. William Keith (D-Garden City) cited an opinion from the bipartisan Congressional Research Service saying the state department has no authority to give its authority to another agency.

He insisted the federal law, requiring the state education agency receive 70 percent of the funds and the governor's office 30 percent, allows little discretion. "This governor's order violates the law," he said.

Lucille Taylor, the governor's legal advisor, said the law is silent on the department's authority to designate another agency to administer the funds.

Committee chair Rep. Pat Gallagher (D-Drummond Island) defended the committee's attention to the issue, saying legislators needed to be assured that the transfer is legal. "It is clearly laid out in the statute that the state education agency is responsible," he said.

John Truscott, press secretary for Engler, said negotiations on funds for the Michigan Model would reopen if the drug money is transferred to the authority of the drug czar.

The Engler veto took all $2 million from the Michigan Model health curriculum, which supports health education efforts in grades K-8.

"Rather than send the money with no guarantees that it will not be spent inappropriately, we vetoed the Michigan Model and said when we know it will be spent appropriately, we will reopen discussions," Truscott said.

Keith said he was pressured by the governor's office to drop the inquiry on the legality of shifting the federal funds. He said he was told the Michigan Model money would be vetoed unless the House Oversight Committee indefinitely postponed consideration of resolutions preventing the transfer.

Truscott said the veto was issued separate from the announcement of other budget vetoes, because of continuing negotiations with board members and legislators on use of the federal funds. "I know we had trouble getting phone calls returned," he said.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that he has thought the situation up one side and down the other, and he is full convinced America has cut solutions to all her problems down to two. We bury it under money or we reclassify it out of sight. He said one recent example is what we got to do to prevent more tragedies like that chicken plant fire in North Carolina that killed 25 people.

What we learned from that accident, Ed said, is that Government can't keep people from getting hurt at work. If we've come this far without knowing that, Ed allowed, we ain't likely to bring about change fer the better now. You can pass a law where it takes two hands to operate a paper cutter, but you can't keep somebody in the print shop from jerry rigging it so he can chop his hand off.

Which is another way of saying when it comes to education, highways, defense and everything else Government does fer people what people can't do better fer themselves, we're allus fighting the last war. We got to have a reason fer everything that goes wrong, Ed said, but we never learn from our mistakes.

As fer the chicken plant fire, conventional wisdom says we got to git more Occupational Health and Safety Administration inspectors out there inspecting. Somebody cranked out the staties to show it would take inspectors we got 75 years to make the rounds of all the work places. We got to throw some big money at this problem to provide twice a year inspections, was Ed's words.

Practical speaking, Ed declared, inspectors can be as much of the problem as the solution. It's how they inspect and what happens after they inspect that can make the difference. The way to make folks follow the rules is to show em what happens to them that don't. The IRS wants all the publicity it can git on them big back tax bills and penalties because it knows one rotten egg in the nest goes a long way toward breaking other dogs from sucking eggs.

Which brings us around to reclassifying, Ed said, and the more serious the problem the more we do. Fer instant, when the prisons filled up we eased the crowding by identifying crimes as victim and victimless. Criminals that didn't hurt anybody didn't belong in jail, they could pay their debt to society by staying home at night and by what the courts call community service.

Reclassifying is no longer than spending money. Not long back, Ed recalled, the U.S. Department of Agriculture solved the problem of surplus meat by downgrading the grades. It let more choice into the prime class, and that made more room in choice fer some of the ordinary good cuts that weren't selling at all. This is the same thinking that lets towns raise their class of people by letting more of em in the country club. You got the same people, but you got more of em wearing neckties, was Ed's words.

Final, Bug Hookum got a word in sideways to agree with Ed. Bug had took note that we throw money at a problem as long as we think we can solve it. When we give up we reclassify it. Fer instant, Bug said, we change the allowable grades of air and water pollution, and the amount of "foreign matter" in food ever time Government experts review em.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

'Lifeline' Program Offered Through Chelsea Hospital

Calling for help should be as simple as dialing the phone or knocking on a neighbor's door. But for many elderly or disabled persons living alone it can be a frightening experience—especially if a fall or medical emergency makes it impossible to reach the phone.

The "Lifeline" program of Chelsea Hospital's Social Work Department provides the help these people need. Lifeline is the emergency response system which enables those who are elderly, handicapped, or who have significant health problems to call for assistance. The system is designed to provide fast response to emergency situations by sending a signal to the Chelsea Community Hospital emergency room. The Lifeline subscriber simply presses the portable "help button" worn on a pendant or wrist strap. The CCH emergency room is alerted through the phone system and sends help immediately.

Lifeline allows people who live alone the independence and security of staying in their own homes with the knowledge that emergency assistance is available when they need it. It also provides peace of mind to families who worry about their relatives living alone. Lifeline is available from Chelsea Hospital for the cost of $1 per month. Installation and service are provided at no additional cost.

To order a Lifeline or to obtain more information, call the Chelsea Hospital Social Work Department at 475-3952.

In action items, the board:

- accepted the 1990-91 audit as prepared by Curtis, Bailey, Exelby & Sposito
- approved the revised 1991-92 budget, with income of $12,552,870, and expenditures of $12,613,155; this budget reflects a reduction of $70,000 in line items and the use of $60,285 fund equity.

★ Obedience Training Is for Every Dog

Take a chihuahua to obedience school? You bet! How about a quiet older adult dog, or an unruly "teenager"? Perfect! Puppies and adults alike will benefit from a well-taught obedience class. As long as your pet is at least eight weeks old and in generally good health, take my advice and sign him up!

What do you and your pet stand to gain from basic obedience training? First, and most importantly, you can have a good time while strengthening the bond between you and your dog. Obedience class is quality time. So is the extra practice time during the week.

Second, your pet learns who is in charge, and that it is not him. He will learn to obey basic commands such as "sit," "down," "stay," "come," and "wait." Obedience training is also the first step towards resolving many dog behavior problems, including chewing, barking, jumping up on people, even aggression.

Why a class setting instead of teaching your dog alone at home? Two reasons: One, your dog will become accustomed to behaving around other dogs and people; and two, you can benefit from the teacher's knowledge and past experiences.

Shop carefully before you decide on a particular obedience school. Don't choose the cheapest or the closest, choose the best one you can find. It is worth a few extra dollars or miles to have a top quality training experience over the typical six- to nine-week class period. Ask to observe one session before you enroll. Make sure that you are comfortable with the class size (small enough for individual attention?), that the dogs are humanely treated, that the teacher seems professional and knowledgeable, and that the facility is sufficient. ### Michigan Winter Travel Guide, Events Calendar Available

The Michigan Travel Bureau has made it twice as easy to get out and enjoy Michigan's winter season this year. The 1991-92 Michigan Winter Travel Guide and the Michigan Winter Travel Calendar of Events, are now available.

This pair of publications provides information about where to ski, snowboard, snowmobile, and snowshoe, as well as the dates and locations of more than 400 winter festivals and events.

The Michigan Winter Travel Guide also tells about two special ski programs being offered this winter: the Michigan Ski Industry Association's "Discover Michigan Skiing" program, Jan. 6 through Jan. 31, 1992, and the Northern Michigan Nordic Ski Council's "Ski the Trails Free Day," Sunday, Jan. 5, 1992.

During the "Discover Michigan Skiing" program, many Michigan ski areas are offering learn-to-ski packages that include a beginner lesson, equipment rental, and beginner-area lift ticket at $20 for adults and $10 for children ages 7-14. Free trail passes and half-hour group lessons will be offered at participating facilities during the "Ski the Trails Free Day."

And the listings in the Michigan Winter Travel Calendar of Events, 1991-92, range from arts and crafts shows and Christmas parades to fishing derbies and theater, to camper and RV shows and fiddler jamborees.

For copies of the Michigan Winter Travel Guide and the Michigan Winter Travel Calendar of Events, 1991-92, travelers may write the Michigan Travel Bureau at P.O. Box 30228, Lansing 48909, or call, toll-free in the United States and Canada, 1-800-5432-YES.

There are several theories to explain the slow growth of U.S. productivity during the past several years. They include declines in the rate of capital investment, increases in the number of young, inexperienced workers during the 1970's, and the slowdown in the shift of workers from agriculture to industry, according to "Workforce 2000," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

Portage Lake Level To Be Lowered Starting Nov. 10

The lake level at Portage Lake will be lowered 12 to 15 inches beginning Nov. 10, according to Janis A. Bobrin, Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner.

Bobrin said that each winter the lake level is lowered to reduce frost damage and erosion at the lake. In the winter, homeowners in the Portage Lake area are cautioned to prepare for the lowering of the lake level, which is co-ordinated with the closing of the boat launch facilities.

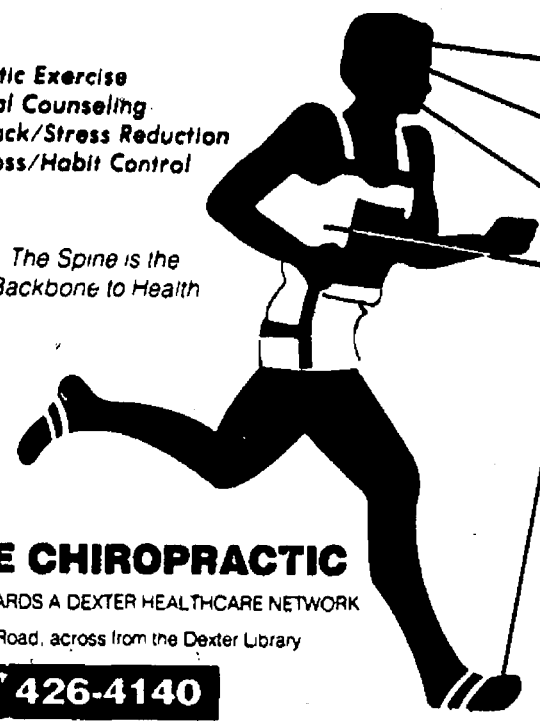

Peter A. Knorr, Deputy Drain Commissioner, will answer inquiries and may be reached at (313) 994-2525.

Wave of B & Es Reported in Area

Deputies at the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department reported a rash of breaking and entering complaints in the western part of the county during October, with many of these accomplished after kicking in garage or residence doors.

Detective sergeant Brian Miller, working with the criminal investigation unit, explained the department encourages residents in western Washtenaw county to be particularly vigilant about reporting the presence of people or vehicles which are not usually seen in their neighborhoods.

Because it's impossible to be at every driveway, or to watch each home in the western half of the county, WCSO deputies are forced to rely on the eyes and ears of neighborhood residents.

Although direct intervention is discouraged, especially if the intruders are armed, residents who witness unusual activities in their neighborhood are urged to contact law enforcement agencies, as quickly as possible.

On Friday, Oct. 25, a television, some stereo equipment, and a camera, in addition to some currency, was reported missing from a Sylvan township home on Tory Lane.

The total loss was estimated at $4,000.

Intruder(s) apparently cut a front door screen, then pushed in an interior door, to gain entry to a home on M-52 in Sharon township, Thursday, Oct. 24.

Items totaling $6,000 were reported missing, including miscellaneous jewelry pieces, currency and a coin collection.

From a Lima township home on Sager Rd., $400 in currency and a woman's raincoat were reported missing, after the front door was kicked in, Friday, Oct. 25.

On Thursday, Oct. 24, two doors were kicked in, one in the garage, the other an interior door, at a N. Lima Center property in Lima township.

Cash amounting to $107 was taken from envelopes in a desk at a Sharon township home on Bethel Church Rd., Thursday, Oct. 24.

Another Sharon township break-in occurred on the same date.

Residents at a home on Sharon Valley Rd. reported $250 cash, in addition to some coins, missing after the break-in.

Again, entry was gained by kicking in a door.

In Webster township, a break-in was reported by residents of a home on Barker Rd., Wednesday, Oct. 23. A door was kicked in.

On Tuesday, Oct. 22, a rear door was kicked in to allow intruders the opportunity to depart with $995 cash, and a jewelry box containing some rings, in addition to other items, during a break-in at a Sylvan township home on Conway Rd.

Intruders kicked in a side door to gain entrance to a Lima township garage on Sietz Dr., from which frozen food, in addition to a lawn mower and several tools were reported missing in a break-in, Tuesday, Oct. 22.

A Harley-Davidson motorcycle was reported missing from a location on Trinkle Rd. in Lima township, Tuesday, Oct. 8.

A rear door was kicked in, and $250 in currency and change were also missing.

Residents of a home on Old US-12, near Freer Rd., in Lima township, reported a break-in, Thursday, Oct. 3, after garage and interior doors were kicked in.

Missing items included personal checks and silverware.

From a Dexter township residence on North Territorial Rd., where the glass was broken out of a door, baseball cards were taken during a break-in, Tuesday, Oct. 3.

NBTA PUMPKIN PATCH WINNER: Saturday, Oct. 26 was the annual NBTA (National Baton Twirling Association) Pumpkin Patch baton competition in Sycamore, Ill. Wylie seventh grader, Kate Sullivan traveled to Sycamore for the competition, and came home with quite a collection of the ceramic Halloween trophies. In intermediate opening twirling solo, Katie won a first place, which qualified her for the intermediate twirl-off. The twirl-off is an event all first-place winners in all age divisions twirl, and Katie went on to do an exciting twirl, and win this title. The competition also held Miss Pumpkin Patch—which is a three part title—consisting of modeling, fancy strut, and twirl. Katie conquered the over-all title by winning a first in all three divisions. # Fritz Wagner Is Chairman of New Orleans Planning Comm.

Fritz Wagner, Dean of the University of New Orleans College of Urban and Public Affairs (UNO/CUPA) has been elected chairman of the New Orleans City Planning Commission. He is a native of Chelsea and the son of Katherine Wagner and the late Frederick Wagner.

The commission is a chartered, independent advisory board which guides the city's land use and develops a capital improvement plan for the city. It is composed of nine members appointed for nine-year terms by the City Council upon recommendation of the mayor. Officers are elected by commission members. Wagner has served on the commission since July, 1984.

Wagner said the City Planning Commission has a major new undertaking called "New Century New Orleans," a comprehensive approach to rethinking where the city should be in 20 years. The project, currently in the policy development phase, is designed to help the city set priorities and to address impelling issues which revolve around five major areas: neighborhoods and housing, basic services, recreation and culture, natural and built environment, and economic growth.

Feb. 1, 1992 is the projected completion date for the policy scheme which will have been generated with the help of recommendations gleaned from a grass-roots survey of residents from all New Orleans neighborhoods, Wagner said.

"The city went to the community this summer through several goal-setting forums in an effort to get a feel for citizens' concerns. It's not a foolproof method but at least it's an attempt to find out what citizens are thinking," said Wagner. "Once a draft document is put together that reflects on this process, there will be more public meetings to hear from the citizens again and from that to make future adjustments in what I call the 20-year policy plan."

"It's an important endeavor. Cities need to think about where they want to go. That's not saying they can get there but at least there should be a vision of where you think you'd like to go," said Wagner.

Vietnam Memorial Will Honor Area Vets Who Gave Their Lives

A memorial to Vietnam veterans will be dedicated on Sunday, Nov. 10 at 1 p.m. at the Ypsilanti Township Civic Center.

Retired Gen. William Westmoreland will make the dedication speech before what is expected to be a crowd of thousands.

The memorial will contain the names of 75 county soldiers who died in the war or are still missing in action. It is also intended to honor area veterans who survived.

The memorial, similar but much smaller in scope than the Vietnam Memorial in Washington, D.C., will feature an $83,200 engraved stone, obtained in Pennsylvania, cut and polished in Georgia, and engraved in Seio township at Arnets, Beckers, Burrells.

It is not intended to be a political statement but a place of honor. It will also serve as a special site for ceremonies honoring those veterans on Memorial Day, Veterans Day, and Declaration Day. A U.S. flag will fly prominently at the site 24 hours a day.

Names on the memorial will include Ronald L. Koch, Robert E. Kushmaul, and Scott P. Smith, all Chelsea residents who died in the war. Michael J. Wallace of Ann Arbor, who has many relatives in the Chelsea area, will also be included. He is still missing in action.

On April 19, 1968 he was flying as crew chief on a resupply mission when his helicopter was blown apart over A Shau Valley. He was last seen jumping from the helicopter into the jungle from 100 feet along with another crew member. Three other crew members survived the crash and were picked up by rescue aircraft.

In 1974, the United States Army decided officially to consider Wallace as killed in action. However, his body was never recovered.

On Sept. 28, 1984, Wallace's mother, Muriel M. Chance of Ann Arbor, was presented a special bronze medal for soldiers missing in action in Vietnam at a ceremony at Hart Plaza in Detroit.

Wallace is survived by his mother, Muriel M. Chance of Ann Arbor, formerly of Chelsea; a brother, Eric Dunkel of Ann Arbor; three sisters, Kathy Bouchard of Chelsea, Susan Bycraft of Ypsilanti, and Mary Niethammer of Saline; two aunts, Lucille Martin and Arlene Larson of Chelsea; great-aunts Norma Schiller and Margaret Warren of Chelsea; and first cousins Ken Larson, Judith Irwin, Randallyn Larson, and Douglas Warren, all of Chelsea.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

CHELSEA BULLDOGS cross country team won their third straight regional title at Battle Creek last Saturday. They will compete for the state title this Saturday in Big Rapids. In front are captains Carmen Smith, left, and Charity Allen. In back are Beth Bell, Sarah Brosnan, Tracey Wales, Lisa Monti, Beth Williams, Val Bullock, and Robin Phelps.

Bulldogs Fall to Pirates In Final Home Contest

Chelsea Bulldogs were dumped by the Pinckney Pirates last Friday, 21-5, in the final Southeastern Conference game of the season to finish league play at 2-4, tied for fifth place with Dexter.

For the second straight week, the Bulldogs took a slim lead into half-time, this time 5-0. And for the second straight week, the Bulldogs looked like an entirely different team after the intermission.

However, unlike the previous week against Tecumseh, the Bulldogs didn't fall victim to an overpowering opponent as much as they simply fell apart in virtually every phase of the game. At one stretch of the second half, over two drives, they ran five straight plays on which they lost yardage. On the sixth play they fumbled.

Chelsea head coach Gene LaFave said it was a "very disappointing" performance in a number of ways. He said he was upset his players responded to taunting by the Pirates and lost their composure.

"Teams will do that all the time, but there's no place in the game for responding to it," LaFave said.

"There's no excuse for allowing ourselves to get into those situations," LaFave said it was also probably the first time in his career that one of his teams has not scored a touchdown in two straight games.

"We have not moved the ball in the second half as well as we do early in the game," LaFave said.

"I think we lost confidence in our offense and there's the feeling that we won't score. We played a solid game in our offensive line, good enough to win the game. We knocked them off the ball. But we didn't execute in the offensive backfield."

Chelsea had just 94 yards total offense, 39 rushing and 55 passing. Running back Ben Hurst gained 68 yards,

IT WAS A LONG, LONG NIGHT for Chelsea quarterback Colby Skelton last Friday as Pinckney Pirates were constantly in the backfield during the second half. Chelsea lost the game, 21-5, to fall to 2-4 in the Southeastern Conference.

but quarterback Colby Skelton lost 39 yards on 12 carries. The rushing total was the lowest in years.

"We went in with our best plays based on what we thought they'd do defensively, but we didn't execute any of them," LaFave said.

Chelsea shut out the Pirates in the first half. However, the lack of offensive production, as well as two quick turnovers, seemed to spark the Pirate offense in the second half. They broke runs of 29 and 18 yards for scores in the third quarter immediately after the turnovers, and another 34-yard run in the fourth quarter for a final touchdown.

Chelsea's only scoring came on a 33-yard field goal by Tim Wescott and a safety, which probably should have been ruled a touchdown. Chelsea recovered a fumble in the end zone.

Chelsea is 4-4 over-all and 2-4 in the SEC.

This week the Bulldogs travel to Stockbridge for the final game of the season.

"They were the best JV team we played last season and they are talented, although they are junior-dominated," LaFave said.

Chelsea will be forced to play without running back and linebacker Adam Taylor, who injured his knee in a pile-up last week. Gabe Bernhard will take his place in the backfield.

During the first three quarters of fiscal year 1990, about 7,000 homeless people took part in pilot job training programs run by the U.S. Department of Labor. The purpose of the demonstration program was to identify innovative and replicable job-related services for the homeless which could guide national policy.

Chelsea Girl Runners Dominate Region Meet, Win Third Straight Title

Chelsea's Lisa Monti beat the field by nearly 15 seconds to lead the Bulldogs to their third straight regional cross country title last Saturday in Battle Creek.

Chelsea, with 57 points, beat second-place Jackson Lumen Christi by 19 points and third-place Hillsdale by 71 points. Those three will move on to the state finals this Saturday in Big Rapids. Southeastern Conference rival Dexter placed fourth with 140 points, and Saline was fifth with 142. The state's second-ranked team, Mason, finished sixth with 144 points. There were 19 teams.

Chelsea will be shooting for their second state title in three years. Monti's time was 19:12.5, ahead of second-place Shannon Dye of Hillsdale in 19:27.

Other Chelsea places and times included 6. Val Bullock, 20:10.1; 8. Beth Bell, 20:32.1; 12. Robin Phelps, 20:36.8; 30. Beth Williams, 21:27.0; 33. Sarah Brosnan, 21:35.1; 42. Tracey Wales, 22:06.6. The top five placers count in the scoring.

"Lisa ran a great race to pull away in the last 800 yards for her second regional individual title," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"Valerie ran her best race of the season and Beth turned in an outstanding performance. Robin also ran her best race. Those four girls made all-region."

Clarke said Williams ran well for two miles but was a little "under the weather." He said Brosnan also ran well but he hopes she'll drop some time for this week's state meet.

"Over-all, we ran very well as a team in the toughest regional in the state," Clarke said.

JV Gridders Lose to Pirates

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity football team lost 25-0 to Pinckney last Thursday in Pinckney.

Chelsea was behind 6-0 late in the first half when the Pirates scored on a 60-yard run to take a 12-0 half-time lead.

It was the second game in a row that Chelsea has been shut out.

"They were the best team we've played all year," said Chelsea coach Lonnie Mitchell.

The Bulldogs are 4-3-1. They can finish with their first winning record in many years with a win at home tomorrow against Stockbridge.

8th Grade Cagers Win Last Two

Beach Middle school eighth grade basketball team tied Tecumseh for the Southeastern Conference championship last week with a 33-23 win over Pinckney and a 38-23 victory over Milan.

The girls finished the season 8-2. Chelsea scorers in the Pinckney game included Annie Terpstra 17, Danielle Longe 4, Jessica Inwood 3, Katie Spink 2, Anne Frederick 2, Kyle Kentala 2, Suzy Steele 2, and Sara Petty 1.

Leading rebounders were Terpstra 10, Longe 6, Steele 2, Inwood 2, and Spink 2.

Leading stealers were Frederick 3, Longe 3, Kim Fletcher 2, Steele 2, Inwood 2, Spink 2, and Katie Morse 2.

Scorers in the Milan game were Terpstra 11, Longe 9, Spink 2, Chrissy Vargo 2, Nikki Lane 2, Carrie Buss 2, Lisa Beard 2, Kim Fletcher 2, Tina Richardson 2, Chrissy Morse 1, and Frederick 1.

Leading in rebounds were Frederick 12, Terpstra 11, Longe 8, Vargo 5, Beard 5, Buss 4, and Richardson 3.

Leading stealers were Beard 4, Longe 3, Vargo 3, Petty 2, and Terpstra 2.

Hillary Smith was the team's statistician and manager.

"We have a shot at the title if we run well."

The region contained the number 1, 2, 3, 7, 9, 10, 11, 14, and 15 teams.

In other action last week, Monti set a Hudson Mills course record of 18:53 as the Bulldogs easily laid claim to their third straight Southeastern Conference title with an easy win in the SEC meet.

Chelsea scored 29 points, well ahead of second-place Saline with 65.

"Lisa ran one of her best races ever to win her second straight individual SEC title," Clarke said.

"She broke the old course record set last year by 25 seconds. Valerie, Beth (Bell) and Robin all ran very well to make the all-SEC team."

Clarke said Williams also returned to her old form to finish 8th and make the all-SEC team.

Behind Monti were 4. Bullock, 20:24; 7. Bell, 20:50; 8. Williams, 20:55; 9. Phelps, 20:58; 11. Brosnan, 21:07; 16. Charity Allen, 21:40.

"In all, we had half of the all-league runners in one of the strongest leagues in the state," Clarke said.

Other league team scores included Dexter 66, Tecumseh 84, Milan 141, Lincoln 171, and Pinckney 185.

Chelsea runs in Saturday's state meet at 1:30 p.m. Allow about 3½ hours to drive there from Chelsea.

Boy Harriers Eighth In Regional Meet

Chelsea Bulldogs boys cross country team finished their season with an eighth place finish at the regional meet last Saturday in Battle Creek.

The Bulldogs, with 209 points, finished behind Mason with 198 points. Region winner was Jackson Lumen Christi with 46 points.

"Dan Zatkovich and Chad Brown ran good races but did not qualify for the individual state meet," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"Mike Reese ran his best race ever to place 28th. He's come a long way this season and I'm looking for big things from him in spring track. Over-all, the team ran just average. We didn't have our number one runner, Ryan Schultz, who was out with an ankle injury."

Chelsea places and times included 24. Zatkovich, 17:38.6; 27. Brown, 17:50.1; 28. Reese, 17:50.6; 61. Scott Hawley, 18:37.9; 71. Tobin Strong, 18:48.6; 96. J.J. Hanke, 19:18.1; 105; Rob Jaques, 19:52.6.

In other action last week, Chelsea placed fifth at the Southeastern Conference meet held at Hudson Mills Metropark on Tuesday, Oct. 22.

Chelsea had 99 points, one point behind fourth-place Dexter. The Bulldogs tied for fourth over-all for the season.

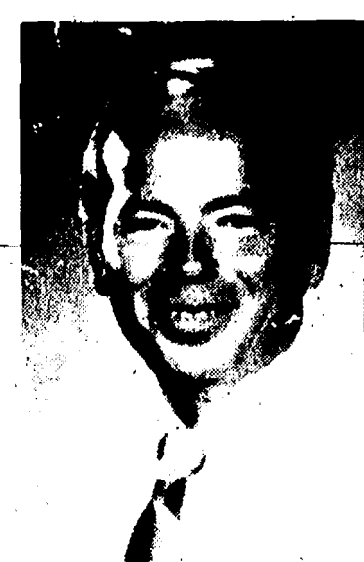

"One of our goals was to go 3-3 in dual meets and we did," Clarke said.

"Another goal was to finish higher than fifth place and we did that too." With Schultz out, the rest of the team pulled together and ran well, Clarke said.

Brown led Chelsea with a seventh-place time of 17:20 to make the all-SEC team.

Other Chelsea results included 15. Zatkovich, 17:55; 22. Reese, 18:21; 23. Strong, 18:24; 32. Hawley, 18:48; 35. Jaques, 18:53; 38. Hanke, 19:01.

Chelsea returns all but two runners next season from a team that has 10 freshmen. The Bulldogs are ranked 13th in the state.

JV Cagers Beat Big Reds

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity basketball team won its only game of the season, 21-16 over the Milan Big Reds.

Chelsea took a 9-3 lead in the first quarter but didn't score a field goal in either the second or third quarter.

The Bulldogs hit 9-33 shots from the foul line.

"If we hit the free throws, we put the game away early," said coach Paul Terpstra.

"But the kids did a good job of hanging in the game."

Erin Schiller and Courtney Thompson each scored six points. Chrissy Hodgson, Elizabeth McLaughlin, and Laura Carty scored two each, and Tracy Patrick scored one.

Thompson and Schiller had eight and six rebounds, respectively.

Chelsea is 7-7 over-all.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

About the best things that can be said about last Friday's final home football game of the season is Ben Hurst averaged 41 yards per punt, the Chelsea Marching Band gave another splendid performance, and it didn't rain much.

It was a sad way for the Bulldogs to end their home football campaign. The score, 21-5 in favor of the Pinckney Pirates, didn't bother me nearly as much as what I would call some of the side shows.

By the middle of the fourth quarter, coaches were yelling at players (but not in the usual way), players were yelling at each other (but not in the usual way), and parents were yelling at coaches, all on the Chelsea side of the field. About the only people who didn't forget who the real enemy was were the cheerleaders. They were too busy trying to get the fans to grunt, sizzle, and cheer.

Here's sort of what happened.

Pinckney got it started by taunting Chelsea players, which really isn't all that unusual in high school football. Should we really care about a little name-calling and finger-pointing in the middle of such an emotional and violent game?

Anyway, Chelsea players uncharacteristically started responding on their own, taking a few cheap shots here and there.

That got up the coaches' dander. Head coach Gene LaFave can't stand that sort of behavior, partly because it can lead to 15-yard penalties. Anyway, the coaching staff began loudly demanding decent behavior from its guilty players. That, in turn, caused a comment or two from the stands directed at the coaches, as well as some accusations among the players.

It was not fun to watch.

Frustration was the name of the game Friday.

This has been perhaps the most frustrating season LaFave has had here in years.

There have been so many key injuries. Quarterback Pat Steele was sidelined in the third game of the season. LaFave had to abandon what could probably have been a potent and balanced attack in favor of a one-dimensional running offense. That has made the Bulldogs easy pickings for the decent defensive teams. Just about every key player on the team has suffered some sort of compromising injury.

Inconsistency has also been a hallmark of this year's team, helped immensely by those injuries. One week it looks like the Bulldogs can score at will, the next week you feel lucky if they don't lose yardage. Sometimes it looks that way from one half to the next.

I am sorry the season has ended up this way, primarily because there are some fine seniors on the team. Adam Taylor won't even have the chance to finish the season because his knee blew out. Mike Terpstra, who has been injured himself much of the season, has been a stellar lineman for three years. Ben Hurst could have been one of the best runners in the area if he hadn't hurt his shoulder and his supporting cast hadn't been so hobbled.

I just hope they can pull back together this Friday to get the job done at Stockbridge and finish 5-4.

Chelsea girls won their third straight region cross country championship last Saturday in Battle Creek. They also won their seventh Southeastern Conference title in the last nine years. That has to be the most dominant performance by any series of Chelsea teams ever.

This week's starting seven (five of whom will figure in the scoring) for the state championship in Big Rapids includes five juniors, Lisa Monti, Val Bullock, Beth Williams, Sarah Brosnan, and Tracey Wales, one sophomore, Beth Bell, and one freshman, Robin Phelps. This team should also be the odds-on favorite to win the state title, barring injury, illness, or some other unforeseen circumstance. It always takes a peak performance, as well as a little luck, to win a state title.

The Bulldogs like cold, even sloppy weather, maybe because it takes a little extra concentration. Two years ago they won in numbing temperatures, while last year they finished fifth in 65 degrees.

I look for a good battle at the end between Monti and the girl from Petoskey who turned on the jets and beat her last year. However, as Monti has matured she has added a lot of savvy to her immense talent. If you want to see her finish, better get to the finish line early.

Monti, Bullock, and Bell are Chelsea's three top dependable runners. They all seem to be peaking at exactly the right time.

The key to the title will lie in the last two places. And that's where I really like Chelsea's chances. Williams, Phelps, Brosnan, and Wales are all capable in any given week of a superb performance. The depth is excellent. If they all run their best times, Chelsea should win hands down. However, if even two of them run their best, the Bulldogs are in excellent shape. It's possible Chelsea could have three or four all-stars this year.

Put another way, most teams need career times from all of their top five runners to have a chance, because most teams have two runners who will always finish far back in the crowd.

Chelsea only needs excellent times from five of its top seven. You can bet the number six and seven runners won't be far behind number five.

And don't discount the contributions of numbers six and seven. While they may not contribute to Chelsea's score, they will finish ahead of top runners from other schools, thereby forcing them further back in the pack. In the state meet, every point helps.

Bring home another one, girls.

BEN HURST looks for running room during the first half of last Friday's game against Pinckney. Hurst gained 88 yards, but the rest of the running game lost yardage in one of Chelsea's poorest offensive outings of the year, resulting in a 21-5 loss.

Beach Football Teams Each End Season on High Note

Beach Middle school A football team completed their season with a 4-0-1 mark by defeating Dexter Tuesday, Oct. 22, 14-12.

Dexter took the early lead by scoring after each team failed to move the ball on its first possession. Dexter drove the ball 60 yards but failed on the conversion and the score was 6-0.

Chelsea's offense moved the ball but was stopped on three drives by penalties. They played the game without the outside running of both Jason Sprawka and Mark Hand, both of whom suffered leg injuries earlier in the week. Jordan Dyer, Josh Bernhard, and Sam Morseau powered the ball into the middle of the offensive line.

Chelsea scored the tying touchdown late in the first half as Scott Colvin threw deep to Morseau for 37 yards, then hit Nick Brink for 26 yards and the touchdown. The conversion failed after a penalty. Score was 6-6 at half.

Dexter again took the lead in the third quarter, 12-6, on a drive that featured a 35-yard run by the Dexter tailback. Coach Phil Bareis said the defense played well in giving up just two touchdowns to a strong Dexter offense. He said Rick Stahl and Eric McCalla, Matt Martin and Damon McLaughlin all played well on defense.

With a little more than four minutes to go, the Chelsea offense took over on their own 25 yard line and began the last drive of the game.

Behind the hard running of Dyer, the Chelsea offense ground it out in 18 plays. Dyer finally took the ball in from one yard to tie the game. Bernhard pounded the conversion right back up the middle for the two points and the win. Dyer had 133 yards on 26 carries for his best day of the year and Bernhard had 89 yards on 15 carries. Colvin completed three of seven passes for 69 yards.

Kent Young led the play of the interior line for Chelsea as they kept the ball between the tackles most of the day. Eric McCalla, Jeremy Feldkamp, Bill Carmack, Tom Barkman all played well on offense, Bareis said.

In the B game, Chelsea jumped off to an early lead with a strong offensive performance to take a 30-6 win to finish the season 2-3.

Jorge Rosario led the Chelsea offense with three long touchdown runs of 35, 42, and 55 yards, and Mike Thayer struck paydirt from the eight yard line.

Chelsea also had three two-point conversions as Scot Stewart scored two on a pass from Paul Bragalone, Tom Irwin ran one in for two, and Thayer picked up a conversion.

The offensive line play of Jeff Landrun, Jeff Glowicki, and Eric McDonald on the right side was very strong, said coach Mike Bohlender.

On defense it was the young Bulldogs' best game as Bohlender used a multitude of players. Strong performances were noted by David Paton and John Beeman at inside linebacker, and by Jason Phelps at end. Jake Hurst played well on defense and completed an excellent year as the B team kicker, Bohlender said.

Auto Stolen From Residence

A new 83-year-old W. Middle St. resident told Chelsea police that someone stole his car on Tuesday, Oct. 22.

The car, parked away from the man's residence, said the 1985 Plymouth was last seen Oct. 19.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank you for honoring the requests of some of your readers to limit the pictures of the hunter and the hunted. It would be my hope that you would someday eliminate them all together, as I'm sure there is news more worthy of newspaper space.

L. M. Tarantowski.

Dear Editor:

In response to the so-called "rock" problem: I am a life-long resident of Chelsea and have grown up with the rock's presence.

It would seem to me, if any observance is taken as to what has been written on the rock, one might note that a majority of the messages reflect the work of the "older generation" or family outings. "Happy 41st Birthday, Tom," "Happy 53rd Birthday, Betty" and "Best Wishes, Sue and Jim."

My family and I look forward to reading the new messages as we pass. On a rare occasion, I have seen bad language on the rock but have noticed that within an hour some conscientious person has painted them out!

If the "new" people to Chelsea have a problem with this, take heart. We residents have enjoyed this rock for many years and feel we should not change it because in all likelihood, you will move on.

Judy Armstrong.

Dear Editor,

As a resident of Chelsea since 1962 I feel that I need to give my feelings about "The Rock." I feel like a life-long resident since I was only 11 when my family moved here. When we did move to Chelsea, we moved into a house only a block away from the old high school. For you new folks in town, that was where the Schoolhouse Apartments are now and where the "Rock" used to be.

Many of my first memories of Chelsea involve the "Rock." I remember hearing kids laughing and having fun doing something that didn't hurt anyone. I remember the first time we painted it when we were in 7th grade and some Seniors came by yelling at us "bratty freshmen" for painting "their Rock." We thought that was hilarious!

I have seen many messages come and go over all these years. I could understand when the owners of the new apartments asked to have the rock moved. I thought it was a great idea when it was moved to the park. I look every day to check the message. I've talked to people from out of town who come into our town often and they think our "Rock" is something unique and worth keeping.

The "Rock" is NOT something for the kids. I've seen many adults painting "Happy Birthday" or "Welcome Home" or even "Will You Marry Me" messages on it. I know, I've seen a few obscene words too, but the people who want to keep the rock seem to get those words covered quickly. We all know that no matter what, there will be a few that try and ruin it.

If our Rock simply HAS to be moved, why not move it to the high school where the tradition started. If those new-comers to Chelsea that want to blow it up don't like our Rock, then maybe they should move again to some other town that doesn't have an "eyesore" as they call it. That Rock is TRADITION and as the kids grow up they look forward to taking THEIR part in that tradition. I know of a few "kids" that got their first chance to be part of the tradition two years ago in the early morning hours after our 20-year class reunion. Listening to them talk about it the next day at the picnic was great. They had a ball! Apparently Tom Dorer was not part of that group, or he wouldn't be wanting to put it in the wastewater treatment plant!

I hope and pray the council will think seriously before doing anything too drastic to our tradition.

Nancy (Dyson) Hughes.

4-H Host Families Needed for Japanese Exchange Students

Host families will be needed this summer for 70 youth and six adults from Japan. The youth are members of the LABO Party and have been studying English and American culture for many years. They will live with Michigan 4-H families for about a month from July 20 to Aug. 20. The youth range in age from 12 to 18.

This is the 19th year Michigan has offered this tremendous experience to 4-H youth. Those hosting the group this summer will have an opportunity to visit Japan in 1993 and become a member of a Japanese family for one month.

This cultural exchange is a unique experience for the entire family.

Applications must be submitted to the Co-operative Extension Service office by March 1. Matches will be made in April so that correspondence can begin prior to their arrival.

For further information about this and other educational 4-H programs contact Janet Nagele, 4-H Youth agent at 971-0079.

Showcase Taping Session Changed to Monday Night

The "Lary Hafner Showcase" taping that would ordinarily take place on Sunday, Nov. 3, will instead take place on Monday, Nov. 4 at the Faith in Action building at the regular taping time beginning at 7 p.m. and running to 8:30 p.m. However, future tapings will be on Sunday evenings at 7 p.m. This does not change the regular scheduled airing time of the program.

The "Showcase" airs every Monday and Thursday nights from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Chelsea cable channel 22. The "Showcase" band has made a big hit with the audiences, both viewing and live. They play during the opening of the show and then play bits of songs as guests are introduced for their segments on the show.

There have been many calls come into the "Showcase" from local people who want to help out and volunteer on the production. There are still a variety of positions open for more help and the public is encouraged to give them a call and see what they can do to help.

Producer Melody Reifel said, "The show is progressing with each and every time we tape. There are several technical problems that will take some time to perfect. We are pleased that the community is watching the show and we would like to see more people at the live tapings."

The line-up of guests continues to grow with each day. There have been a flood of calls to the "Showcase" office from people volunteering their friends and family members as guests. If you know anyone who would like to be on the show you can let the "Showcase" staff know by calling 475-9811, 9 to 5 Monday through Saturday or write them at "Showcase" P.O. Box 571, Chelsea 48118-0571.

This week's guests for the show will be Chelsea School District superintendent Joe Piasecki, Monica Merz and her dog "Dexter" will perform "pet tricks," Blue Grass Band "Friends and Neighbors," "Showcase" fashion expert Penny Trinkle, SADD chairperson Budd Janich, jazz dancer Emily Rose, Tommy Reifel who won an award for raising the most money in the National Multiple Sclerosis Society fund-raiser, and singer-songwriter Alan Gwyllt.

World Community Day Slated at Methodist Home

World Community Day, observed on Friday, Nov. 1, is an annual event that unites Protestant, Roman Catholic, Orthodox and other Christian women in a common worship experience.

This year's service will be held Nov. 1 at the Crippen Building by the Methodist Home, Chelsea Retirement Community from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

The ecumenical service, entitled "Jubilee is Justice" was written by Carol Barton, director of International Affairs for CWU, in consultation with a diverse group of women including Patricia Brady, New York coordinator of the Soviet-American Women's Summit; the Rev. Jackie Carr-Hamilton, African-American Womanist Clergy-Theologian, Drew University; Marie Giblin, associate professor of theological studies, Maryknoll School of Theology; Chris Smith, assistant professor of homiletics, Princeton Theological Seminary; Ingrid Washinawatok, Indigenous Women's Network; and Barbara Weaver, executive secretary for development education, Women's Division, General Board of Global Ministries, United Methodist Church.

The service is organized like a tapestry. The warp is the biblical message of Jubilee; the weft, the voices of women's experiences, and the overlay, specific actions we take for Jubilee. Together, these symbolize the possibility of wholeness through our diversity and scripturally-based collective action.

We hope you will join in this year's celebration of World Community Day. We also hope all who support women's ministries toward justice and peace will make a generous offering. It is these World Community Day offerings that make possible, in part, the mission of Church Women United, and support its national commitment to eliminate poverty of women and children in this country, and to build a world of peace and justice.

Winter History Class Offered By WCC at Alternative Time

Washtenaw Community College will offer History of Civilization 101 at an alternative time other than the traditional evening class time schedule.

The History class will meet twice a week on Mondays and Wednesdays from 3:30 to 5 p.m., at the Western Regional classroom locations, 134 W. Middle St. in Chelsea. This will offer students the option of taking another class on the same day or at a late afternoon time which will be more convenient for some students.

History 101 examines the development of cultures and institutions of the ancient near east and classical, medieval, and renaissance civilizations. The class is for three credit hours and transferable to four-year institutions fulfilling the History of Western Civilization requirement in most cases.

George Holmes, a full-time faculty member of Washtenaw Community College and a Chelsea area resident, will be teaching the class.

For information on admission and registration, call 475-5935 Monday through Thursday, 3:30 to 8:30 p.m., or Friday between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Action on 'Rock' Tabled

Chelsea Village Council delayed any action on "the rock" at their Tuesday, Oct. 22 meeting. Trustee Stephanie Kanten requested the issue be tabled until next meeting because a petition is being circulated locally to save the rock. She is a rock supporter. The rock is used as a mini-billboard by anyone who wants to paint it with any message.

Indeed, signatures were being solicited at Polly's Market last weekend.

Trustee Tom Dorer again discussed his proposal to move the rock to the wastewater treatment plant, where it would be dedicated to long-time plant employee Cal Penix, who died earlier this year. The rock would be sandblasted. In addition, Dorer said some village workers are willing to donate their time to the project. He said some machinery would have to be rented.

Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce recently complained to council about the presence of the rock in Pierce Park. Spokesman John Evans complained about the fact that other items in the area also get painted, as well as the image the rock gives to visitors. He suggested to council that Pierce Park is not the best location for it.

Rock supporters tend to think of painting the rock as a tradition that should be allowed to continue.

Kiwanis Club Halloween Party Slated

On Thursday, Oct. 31, the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea will hold their annual Halloween Party in the Municipal Parking Lot. Costume judging will begin at 6:10 p.m., following the community trick or treat period.

Six age groups will be judged. They are 0-3, 4-5, 6-7, 8-9, 10-11, and 12 and older. Judges will be selecting 1st, 2nd, 3rd place and Honorable Mention winners for both "Most Original" and "Best Looking" categories. Winners will receive ribbons and have their pictures taken by The Chelsea Standard. Each participant will receive a participation ribbon. Apple cider and donuts will be served by the Kiwanis Club.

The following local merchants have donated their time to be this year's judges: Lisa Preston and Theresa Broderick of Gemini Family Hair Care; Joanne and Susan Oesterle of Harper Pontiac; Daleen and Bill Harper of Harper Shoe Co.; Catherine Kelly and Celeste Balogh of Maya Place; Mary Rigg and Jon Oesterle of the Total Fitness Outlet and Westside Gym; Dianna Bell and Kelly Eisele of Trendsetters.

AN UNUSUAL FOUNDATION is being constructed for the house moved by Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority from South St. to vacant lots on W. Middle St. Due to ground conditions, 40-foot poles, similar to telephone poles, are being driven into the ground around what will be the perimeter of the house, as well as across what will support structural beams. The poles will be cut off below ground level, and a 12-inch concrete base will be poured.

A person with ordinary vision can distinguish about 150 different colors. An expertly trained eye can distinguish more than 100,000 colors, tints and shades.

Memoriam 20

ALBERT &amp; ROBERT NOTTEN

In loving memory of our dear father, Albert Notten, and brother, Robert Notten. Gone, but not forgotten. You will always be cherished in our hearts, as after the snow of winter, spring will surely come. After the rain, a rainbow will follow a sunlit sky with our tears of sorrow. Spirits will renew for with a bright tomorrow we are praying that someday we will be with you. Sadly missed by son and daughters, brother and sisters.

Children With Learning Disabilities Need Early Help

October has been declared Learning Disabilities Awareness Month by Governor Engler. Just what is a Learning Disability?

"He's failing reading and making A's in math. I know he could do better in reading if he'd only try."

"She's so clumsy! I hope she'll outgrow it."

He's always moving. I can't make him sit still."

She doesn't pay attention. Never follows directions."

These are remarks that are often made about children with learning disabilities.

A learning disability is a permanent disorder which affects the manner in which individuals with normal or above average intelligence take in, retain, and express information.

Learning disabilities should be considered as possible cause if a child has trouble thinking clearly, writing legibly, spelling accurately, learning to read or do math, following directions, remembering facts, putting things in sequence or copying forms. Other indications might be a child who is often confused, clumsy, impulsive, hyperactive, or disoriented and who becomes frustrated and rebellious, depressed, withdrawn or aggressive.

Youngsters with learning disabilities are sometimes labeled as uneducable, behavior problems and underachievers. Many of these children will be failures in school unless their disabilities are discovered early and diagnosed properly. Then the children can receive assistance in educational, medical, psychological, and social services to develop their strengths and potential.

Adults with learning disabilities frequently have difficulty in one or more of the following areas: reading comprehension, spelling, written expression, math computation and problem solving. Less frequent, but no less troublesome, are problems in organizational skills, time management and social skills. These adults may also have problems understanding written or spoken instructions, interpreting visual information, or expressing thoughts with the proper words.

The Learning Disabilities Association is a national organization in all 50 states. Our local organization covers all of Washtenaw county. It is a support group for parents, teachers, professionals from various fields, and individuals with learning disabilities.

For more than 25 years the organization has provided information about learning disabilities and supported research, early detection, legislation, advocacy, educational innovation, and career opportunities to improve the lives of children and adults with learning disabilities. The organization is non-profit and is made up of volunteers.

American Schools Failing in Goals To Raise Standards

A national report has revealed that only 17 percent of Michigan eighth-grade students have a competent understanding of math skills for their age level, and four in 10 have a "below basic" knowledge of math.

These are among several distressing education statistics that Gov. Engler is intent on reversing through concentrated educational reforms.

The National Education Goals Panel report showed that states have made little progress toward meeting the six ambitious education goals President Bush and the nation's governors ratified in January 1990 to be accomplished by the year 2000.

Those goals are:

- all children shall be prepared to start school "ready to learn"
- the high school graduation rate shall increase to at least 90 percent
- students shall prove competent in core subjects such as English, math, science, history and geography at grades four, eight and 12
- U.S. students shall be first world-wide in science and math
- every American adult will be literate and have the skills needed to compete in a global economy
- all schools will be drug- and violence-free.

The Michigan portion of the national test results indicated that maintaining classroom order was as difficult as getting students to understand core courses. In addition, results of the 1990 Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) revealed that over 70 percent of state students failed the reading section; more than 69 percent failed the science portion; and over 30 percent were unable to pass the math section.

These figures are deeply alarming and great cause for concern as Michigan moves from an industrial era to the age of knowledge and increasing international competition. They graphically illustrate the urgency for the educational reforms Gov. Engler and Republican legislators have put at the top of their priorities.

The governor's education agenda includes proposals to improve school quality, achieve funding equity, tighten tenure requirements and loosen procedures to dismiss poor teachers. His dedication to achieving these reforms is reflected in the 1991-92 state budget that increased funding to education while streamlining most other state departments.

GERRY CAMPBELL of Portage Lake, Pinckney, won the Lone Star quilt at the Chelsea Historical Society's raffle drawing on Oct. 14. She has bought raffle tickets for years, many while on vacation, but this is the first time she has ever won. Gerry is a quilter also. She was wearing a quilted jacket the day she picked up the quilt at the museum. Rose Reinhardt, a Historical Society member and quilting instructor, makes the quilt for the raffle which along with the quilt show is the major fund-raiser for the group. It helps to pay the rent for the museum which in turn helps to maintain Chelsea's historic railroad depot.

Postal Service Will Forward Your Mail

With timely notification, your post office will promptly forward mail to your new address shortly after you move. For First-Class Mail, this free service continues for a full year. For newspapers and magazines, the free service is good for 60 days.

The Postal Service suggest adding "mail" to the list of things to do when moving. The basic tool to make the process work is a Change of Address Order (PS Form 3575), available at all post offices and from any letter carrier.

Fill in or check each block on the form that pertains to you and your household. Type or print the information, being sure to include the effective date for your new address and the new ZIP Code.

Check either the "individual" or "entire family" box. If you check "entire family," mail will be forwarded for everyone at the address with the same last name.

If a member of your household is moving to a different new address, he or she should file a separate Change of Address Order.

Upon receipt of your address change, the postmaster will send you a Change of Address Kit (Notice 8A) containing preprinted cards that you can use to notify publishers and correspondents of your new address.

Many publishers ask you to speed your magazine address change by clipping the coded address label and taping it to the card.

If you must move before knowing your new permanent address, have your mail held at the old post office. Mail can be held for up to 30 days. As soon as you know your new address, complete a change-of-address card and mail it to your former delivery post office. This will cause less inconvenience than changing your forwarding address for a second time within weeks after moving.

If you move more than once within a one-year period, you can help speed the forwarding process by filling in a Notice to Change Forwarding Order (PS Form 3546) and mailing it to the post office that served your original address.

"We will do everything possible to provide you with uninterrupted mail service," says John M.
