1991: Chelsea's Top Ten News Stories

Chelsea's downtown dominated area news in 1991 and accounted for two of this year's top 10 stories as determined by editors of The Chelsea Standard.

This year's top 10 list includes several kinds of stories which haven't figured prominently in this list in recent years, from war, to crime, to sports. 1991 may also rank as the most unusual news year in more than a decade.

In general, stories that have the strongest impact on the most people tend to be ranked higher than stories that simply have widespread interest.

1. Downtown streetscape project begins. After many years of planning and controversy, Downtown Development Authority's $1.8 million project broke ground in May.

The project was billed as a way to make downtown Chelsea easier to shop in as well as more pedestrian-oriented. So far, a new 70-space municipal parking lot has been constructed behind businesses on the west side of Main St., the old Hop-In building at Orchard and Main St. has been demolished, sidewalk has been replaced with a combination of new sidewalk and paving blocks, corners have been beveled out, new streetlights and crossing lights have been installed, trees and other landscaping have been planted, directional signs have been installed, and wiring has been moved from overhead to underground. A large house was moved from South St. to W. Middle St. to make room for the parking lot. Long-term plans call for the construction of an annex for McKune Memorial Library.

The project also involved the replacement of more than half of the downtown storm sewer and water main system. Utilities were not where they were supposed to be and voids were found under the street, among other problems.

More than $500,000 of project will be paid for through private donations. Many downtown merchants have pledged contributions ranging up to $40,000 spread over the next several years. So far, DDA reports the project is on budget, though a little behind schedule. It will be completed next spring.

DDA has received numerous complaints, but most of them minor. Officials report that most response has been overwhelmingly positive.

2. Voters overwhelmingly reject school bond proposal. By nearly 80 votes, 1,000 Chelsea

Sea School District voters rejected the district's proposed $23.75 million bond issue for renovation and new construction in a special September election. It would have been the largest public project ever undertaken here.

The project would have included a new early elementary school, substantial renovations at both North and South Elementary schools, and renovation and new building at Chelsea High school.

Recent and expected student growth is the primary reason the projects were proposed. There are two portable classrooms at South school this year, and more will be installed next year. Small high school classes will soon be replaced by much larger classes.

The board of education also decided to include state-of-the-art communications technology at all district schools as part of the project.

The board has not decided what it will do next as far as facilities planning. Results of a telephone survey will be reported to the board early this year.

3. Chelsea business revitalization. Business news was overwhelmingly positive despite an economic slowdown which has hurt many merchants.

Chelsea was able to keep its Secretary of State office, although it moved to Village Plaza on the edge of town. The state had threatened to remove the service completely as a budget-cutting measure.

Two new downtown businesses have also pumped new life downtown, especially after dark. Despite a liquor license controversy, The Common Grill restaurant finally opened last summer. The restaurant, which opened to glowing reviews, has long lines most nights.

The Garage Theatre also opened at the former site of Poma's Pizza on Park St. Actor Jeff Daniels purchased the building and formed a foundation and a theatre company. In less than a year, the 100-seat theatre has had four productions, which have generally played to capacity crowds. But more importantly, it has brought people to Chelsea from all over the state and beyond and has added diversity to the downtown business climate.

4. Formation of Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority. Villages of Chelsea and Manchester, (Continued on page five)

USE OF RECYCLING BINS at the Chelsea landfill is soaring. Village residents drop off cardboard, newspaper, and milk jugs, which are not collected in the curbside program. Township residents drop off glass, metal, and the items listed above. The amount of materials collected is expected to rise dramatically as the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority gets its program into full swing later this year, with help from a $330,000 state grant.

Recycling Authority Expects DNR Contract, Sells Bonds for Project

Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority expects to receive a contract from the Department of Natural Resources shortly after the first of the year.

Authority chair Ron Mann was told by DNR that the agency will send out contracts to all grant recipients after Jan. 1. The authority hopes the contract will arrive for its next meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 8 at 7 p.m. at Manchester Township Hall. The grant, approved earlier this year, is for $330,000 and would be used to begin a comprehensive recycling project in the western portion of the county.

"They didn't say much other than they will recommend that the funds be released," Mann said of a telephone conversation with DNR last Friday.

"I'm still certain we're going to get the grant. I guess I used to be 99.9 percent positive and now I'm down to 96 percent positive."

DNR told the authority on Wednesday, Dec. 18 that it would know for sure last week what the decision would be. DNR representatives attended a meeting in which the authority described its planning process in detail. Dexter township resident Gary Stafford had lodged several complaints with DNR about the project, which prompted the exchange of information with DNR.

In a related item, Mann said Washtenaw county had sold bonds for the project to Society Bank at an interest rate of 4.9 percent. The authority had authorized the sale of up to $500,000 in bonds, most of which will be paid back in less than a year from the DNR grant. The grant operates on a 75 percent reimbursement basis. For every $1 the authority spends on equipment, DNR will pay 75 cents, up to a total of $330,000. Local share, to be divided among the villages of Chelsea and Manchester, and townships of Sylvan, Lyndon, Lima, Dexter, Manchester, Bridgewater, Sharon and Freedom, is $110,000.

"(Stafford) has sent more letters to DNR," Mann said.

DNR had given Stafford until last

Friday to provide any information that might put the need for the project in question.

"I am very, very happy with the interest rate," Mann said.

The authority project is on hold, Mann said, until the contract has been signed. The authority has had to delay purchase of a slightly-used specialized recycling truck, as well as construction plans for its planned materials recovery center at the village landfill.

"As far as I'm concerned, we won't spend another dime until we have the contract signed," Mann said.

Money from the bond sale will be invested until the contract is signed, Mann said.

THESE YOUNGSTERS took advantage of Sunday's snowfall to work on their snowman-building techniques. This snowman, constructed on E. Summit St., had pine branches for arms, carrots for eyes and nose, and a peanut for its mouth. From left are Sarah Rapai and her friends Danielle and Tristan Patt.

Streetlights To Be Removed This Month

Downtown cobra streetlights on Main St. that have been partially dismantled will be taken down completely in the next two or three weeks, said village manager Jack Myers.

"We're not in a hurry because we aren't pressured," Myers said.

"They can't do anymore concrete work until spring."

A cobra light on the southeast corner of Main and E. Middle Sts. will probably be converted to a flag pole, and downtown flags will be moved from the opposite corner, Myers said.

Windows Damaged At North School

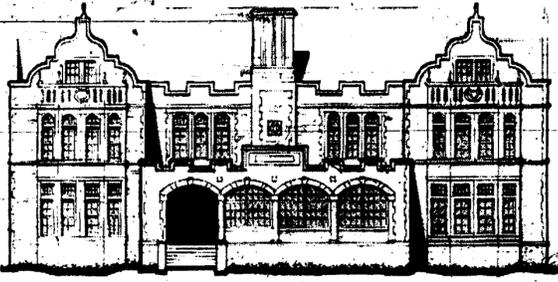

Someone broke two windows at North Elementary school sometime between Dec. 21 and 23.

Police said an object the size of a golf ball was used to damage one of the windows. An unknown object damaged the other.

Damage was discovered by school maintenance staff.

ORNAMENTAL METAL PROTECTORS were installed last week around trees recently planted downtown. They will help keep the young trees from being kicked or damaged in other ways.

 Two Cassidy Lake Technical School inmates were captured by Chelsea police as they were attempting to escape in an automobile. According to police reports, the two men were captured as they were riding in an automobile driven by a woman near M-52 and Old US-12. Officer John Dettling was on routine patrol when he saw the Mustang driving over the speed limit. After the traffic stop, the woman admitted the pair had escaped from the minimum security prison.

who usually crossed the Main St. railroad tracks to reach their destinations were forced to seek alternate routes when a Conrail train derailed near the downtown train depot after hitting an ice-covered patch of track. The incident took two hours to clear up.

Seven members of the Chelsea Community Fair Board locked horns with members of the Village Council over drainage problems created at the fairgrounds as a result of the federally-funded project on Old US-12. A Southfield man was apprehended by Chelsea Police after his attempt to pass a forged prescription in a local drug store was foiled by an observant pharmacist.

New Year's Eve revelers in Chelsea were fairly sedate this year as no incidents of drunk or disorderly conduct were reported by the Chelsea Police Department.

Village Trustee Richard Steele announced his intention to run for president in the March elections. Steele was in the middle of his third two-year term on the council. So far he was the only candidate to fill out a petition.

A dispute between the DNR and the Village of Chelsea was taking place over the licensing of the landfill on Werkner Rd. The village had been trying to obtain a license since the previous spring but kept encountering obstacles. The latest roadblock was that the DNR wanted the village to take sole responsibility for any clean-up that might result from ground-water contamination.

A site northwest of Chelsea near Stockbridge was chosen as one of eight finalists to receive a $4.4 billion atom smasher in a federally-subsidized project.

 Chelsea Milling Co. was in the process of building two new additions to its present facilities. Expansion on the west end of the plant would include a new warehouse to augment storage capacity and facilitate the shipping of goods, according to Howard Holmes, president of the Chelsea Milling Co.

Increased rates for all classes of mail except parcel post and international mail would go into effect this week, according to Postmaster Richard Schaules.

By the deadline for submitting petitions for village offices, the following residents had filed petitions: president, Donald Baldwin; clerk, George Winans; treasurer, Wallace Wood; assessor, Thomas Smith; trustees, George Doe, Eldon Gorton, Harold Pennington and Frederick Weber; and library board trustees, Katherine Wagner and Robert Merkel. All candidates were incumbent except Doe, Gorton, and Pennington.

Term Limitation Petitioners File 402,337 Signatures

The Campaign to Limit Politicians Terms filed 402,337 signatures with the Bureau of Elections asking voters whether they think terms for state and federal elected officials should be capped. To put the proposed constitutional amendment on the November 1992 ballot, the group must have 256,517 valid signatures certified by the Board of State Canvassers.

Elections officials said they will verify the total number of signatures and take a sample to determine how many are valid. Elections Director Chris Thomas said if the group's estimate is correct, the generous cushion will make it easier to canvass.

The amendment would limit the following:
 —state representatives to three two-year terms;
 —state senators to two four-year terms;
 —state executive branch officers (governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state and attorney general) to two four-year terms;
 —U.S. representatives to three two-year terms in a 12-year period; and U.S. senators to two six-year terms in a 24-year period.

"This amendment will give Michigan citizens the opportunity to take back control of their government," said campaign chair Glenn Stell, a grand Rapids business person. "Thirty-one governors have term limits."

Stell argued limiting terms will increase voter choice, invigorate the electorate and improve public participation, replacing the "ruling class" with "citizen legislators."

Campaign secretary Dominick Vincentini said the Royal Oak-based grassroots group has spent $300,000 with two-thirds national organization support and one-third from state contributors, and will launch a campaign to convince voters to approve the proposal. The group used 1,000 petitioners, some paid and some volunteer, to collect signatures.

Calling it an historic first step to bring government back under control, Vincentini said over 70 percent of individuals polled want term limits, while 98 percent of incumbents are returned to office. By forcing two new people to run rather than one against an incumbent, voters will have more choices and no one will have a lifetime hold on an office, Vincentini said.

"A $3.5 trillion debt, over 20 years of deficit spending, the S&L bailout, midnight pay raises, outrageously high property taxes and a wrecked economy are compelling reasons for term limits," Vincentini said, adding Michigan's representatives on the federal level, while having served in leadership positions, have only retrieved 24 cents for every $1 Michigan sends to Washington, D.C.

Eighteen states currently have term limitation drives for the 1992 ballot. Colorado, Oklahoma and California passed term limitation amendments in 1990, and the California proposal was recently upheld in the state's Supreme Court.

Washington lost its state initiative last month but a new proposal being circulated there is modeled after Michigan's.

Vincentini said a "fear campaign" similar to the one against Washington's proposal has not started but is expected in Michigan but the group will expose that tactic during its own campaign.

The group does not plan to encourage legislators to back their proposal because their support would "raise questions" but noted Governor John Engler has publicly supported term limits.

"The existing power structure is afraid of change and will try to stop it," Vincentini said, referring to political action committees among other groups from which he anticipates opposition.

He added unexpectedly low voter turnout could pose a problem for the amendment's approval.

The Michigan initiative is grandfathered so those currently in office will be treated as first term officeholders on Jan. 1, 1993.

The Board of State Canvassers is expected to begin considering the petitions from the Democrat property tax cut plan and the term limitation drive in March.

Petitions for the Republican tax cut drive are expected to be turned in to the Secretary of State in January. Thomas said the board must certify the term limitation petition signatures 60 days before the general election to secure a position on the ballot.

Drunk Man Drops Off Wife At Hospital

A 45-year-old Manchester man was picked up at a local gasoline station for drunk driving after he apparently dropped his wife off at Chelsea Community Hospital on Saturday, Dec. 21.

According to police, the man had taken his wife to the emergency room, and doctors quickly discovered the man was intoxicated. After a conversation with physicians, in which the man admitted drinking a case of beer, the man agreed to be admitted for detoxification. A test revealed a blood alcohol level of .29, nearly three times the legal limit for intoxication.

In the meantime, doctors were preparing the man's wife to be transferred to another hospital for surgery. The man said he wanted to say goodbye to his wife, and walked outside with a security guard. However, instead of returning to the hospital, the man got into his car and drove away.

ALL SEASON COMFORT CO.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb took note at the country store Saturday night that another year in a long string of years for all the fellers is winding down. He allowed they are holding up remarkable gear, considering that none of em ever makes any effort to take better care of the old equipment.

Bug Hookum said Zeke could speak for himself, but fortunate his hearing was getting so bad he didn't have to listen. Bug said he is like the old feller that was feeling poorly and went for a fiscal. His doctor told him what all the tests from his exam meant. The next Saturday night his doctor went to a nightclub and saw him dancing ever set with a girl built fer speed, not comfort. The doctor ask him why a man in his condition was carrying on so. He said he was doing just what the doctor ordered. He had got him a hot mama and he was being very cheerful.

The doctor told the old sport he had misunderstood. What the doctor told him was that he had a heart murmur and he had to be very careful.

Fer sure, Bug went on, when we really want to hear it like it is all we got to do is listen to the children. When the boy and his Ma were greeting the preacher after church Ma told him his sermon had just filled her so. The boy come by and said "yeah, preacher, I got a bellyful, to." Then there was the boy and his Ma waiting in the grocery checkout line. The little feller kept talking about how fat the woman in the white dress in front of em was, and his Ma kept shushing him.

Then the fat nurse's call-in beeper went off. The boy heard it and yelled out so everybody in the store could hear, "look out, Ma, she's backing up."

As fer good health, Zeke reported the new ailment of the season has joined the usual run of colds and flu. Sections of the country are reporting epidemics of winter depression. Zeke said this ain't cabin fever or the blahs, it's a discovered disease, like chronic fatigue syndrome last winter.

From what Zeke read, winter depression is caused by birth defects in eyes that can't let in enough light during these short days. Their brains begin to think the world is a darker place full of danger in ever shadow. This would have a way of making a feller worry more than usual, was Zeke's words.

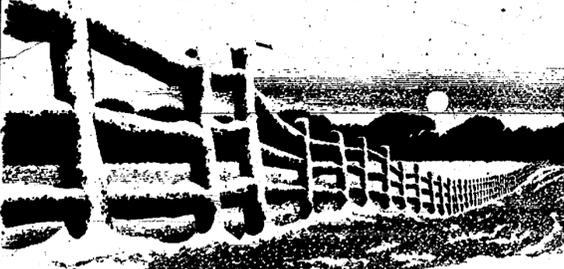

Fortunate, Zeke said, the cure fer winter depression is as simple as the cause. Patients just have to sit in the Laz-A-Boy at home and look at light. The TV ain't white enough, but it stands to reason a victim of the disease can treat himself by mounting a lamp on top of the set, and if he sneaks a look at the soaps and the football he can get the same dose by looking longer.

Furthermore, Zeke went on, if a ounce of prevention still is worth a pound of cure, that will explain all the fellers building up resistance to winter depression by spending more time in front of the lamp on top of the TV this time of year, especial when the NFL is on.

Fer sure, as soon as word of winter depression gets around we'll see ads fer fast working, doctor approved lights on special for only $199.95.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Lima Extension Members Join in Charity Auction

Green garlands entwined with red ribbon and bows adorned the home of Janet McCalla as it extended Christmas cheer to 18 Lima Extension Homemakers, Dec. 18 at 11:30 a.m. Inside, decorated tables were waiting for the guests. Little red and green Christmas baskets sat at each place. Co-hosts Blythe Johnson and others were busy in the kitchen serving plates of chicken topped with dressing, side dressed with Cranberry-port jelly-O. Rolls provided by Bertha Mot-singer, butter by Margaret Sias, and almond topped green beans were self serve at the table.

After coffee and apple pie, the extension members moved to the auction table to bid on the baked goods they themselves had brought. Barb Wing, the auctioneer, found homemade pretzels and sour cream coffee cake excited the bidders the most. Fifty dollars of this money will be donated to Chelsea's Faith in Action.

A gift exchange was fun for all after the January meeting was discussed and cancelled. A lesson on "Corn Husk Celled" is being offered Jan. 29 at the County Extension office. Norma Seyfried and Janet McCalla are to teach the lesson to the group Feb. 19, 10:30 a.m. at Lima Town Hall. Hosts are Margaret Sias and Jane Schairer.

Sheriff's Deputies Report Area Incidents

From Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department Station 3, Dexter, and Station 7 on Zeeb Rd., Sgt. Roger Stielow reported several area crashes, including car-deer incidents, and some larcenies had been investigated by deputies, recently.

At the Dexter High parking lot, Thursday, Dec. 19, a resident of Donovan Rd. explained to deputy Bruce Calmes an AM/FM cassette unit had been removed from his 1988 GMC pick-up sometime prior to 4:40 p.m.

Alan Arthur Bell notified deputies the tailgate had been removed from a 1987 grey Ford F-150 pick-up while it was parked overnight in his driveway on Grand St.

According to a report taken by deputy Mark Meako, a deer ran directly in front of a vehicle, eastbound on Dexter-Pinckney Rd., Dec. 17, about 10:50 p.m., driven by Thomas Earl Glass of Pleasant Lake.

On Saturday, Dec. 14, about 5:20 p.m., deputy Meako also investigated an incident in which Carolyn Theresa Porinsky of North Territorial Rd. was unable to negotiate a curve because of ice road conditions on Dexter-Pinckney Rd., west of Wylie Rd.

She lost control of the vehicle and struck a tree.

A two-vehicle crash occurred, which deputy Meako investigated on Dexter-Chelsea Rd. at 3:25 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 15.

John Bowlsby-Stevens of Lingane Rd. tried to pass a vehicle driven by Norma Jearn Stahl of North Territorial Rd., lost control and struck the second automobile, Meako's report indicated.

A deer which ran into the side of a vehicle driven on Huron River Dr. by Jessica Viane Oliviero at 7:15 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 19, died in the mishap, according to a report taken by deputy Skip Davis.

Kandi S. Pettit was driving east on Dexter-Chelsea Rd., just west of the Dancer Rd. intersection, about 8:40 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 25, when a doe ran suddenly in front of the auto she drove.

The doe fled the scene. Deputy Bruce Calmes filed the report.

Sgt. Stielow filed a report of a breaking and entering incident, which occurred Dec. 6 on Valleyview Dr. near Merkel Rd. in Webster township.

A Case garden tractor, snow blade and mower deck, were reported missing, totaling approximately $5,150 in value.

Investigation continues on the incident.

Matt David Jachalka of Riker Rd. was driving east on Island Lake Rd. at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 21, when the vehicle he drove slid off the road and struck a tree.

Deputy Mark Meako filed a report on the incident.

A deer ran out into the path of a vehicle driven by John Anson Wiltse, while he was southbound on Dexter-Pinckney Rd., just east of Dexter-Chelsea Rd., at 6:25 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 19, according to a report filed by deputy Roberts Mills, III.

Deputy Calmes filed a report on an unusual incident which took place on Dexter-Pinckney Rd., just north of Horseshoe Bend Dr., Monday, Dec. 9.

A wheel suddenly fell off a vehicle driven by B-Pinckney resident at 1:15 a.m.

Calmes also filed a report on a car-deer incident which occurred on North Territorial Rd., west of Dexter Town Hall Rd., at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 19.

Kenneth Gene Holder of Stockbridge was driving west on North Territorial when a deer ran suddenly in front of his vehicle, and Holder was unable to avoid striking and killing the animal.

Deputy A. Hunt filed a car-deer report, after Daniel Richard Kolander was traveling west on Dexter-Chelsea Rd. about 5:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 18, and a deer suddenly ran across the road in the path of the vehicle he drove, and was killed.

Munith motorist Kevin Keith Krieger was driving west on Warren Rd., west of Pontiac Trail, at 1:10 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 19, when his vehicle struck and killed a deer, which appeared suddenly on the road.

Deputies Deacons and LeVanseler filed a report on the incident.

Deputy Harry Valentine investigated a two-car crash on Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd., just east of Wagner Rd., at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 18.

Both drivers suffered minor injuries in the crash.

Carolyn Faye Newton of Ann Arbor decided to seek her own medical treatment, but Ann Marie Bonine of W. Huron River Dr. was transported from the scene by Huron Valley Ambulance to the University of Michigan Hospital.

Ms. Bonine interpreted the newly-placed traffic signal at the location to be a flashing, red four-way stop.

She stopped her vehicle, but then pulled out in front of the other automobile and was struck.

Chelsea's Top Stories

and townships of Sylvan, Lyndon, Lima, Dexter, Manchester, Sharon, Freedom, and Bridgewater formed the authority to establish a comprehensive recycling program. Impetus is a $330,400 state grant. It is the first time in the state 10 units of government have joined in a recycling project. Interest in the venture has come from as far away as California.

The authority wants to change forever the way residents think of trash. The program will initially concentrate on newspapers, glass, cans, milk jugs, and cardboard, although it could easily grow. Authority chair Ron Mann said the authority will consider recycling any materials for which there is an outlet.

Washtenaw county's waste management plan calls for a 30 percent reduction in trash to county landfills by 1995.

There will be drop-off sites in each township, and the villages will continue and expand their curbside recycling programs. A materials processing center will be constructed at the Chelsea landfill.

Households have been assessed $30 (villages) or $17 (townships) to help pay for operating costs. Those assessments will continue for at least the next four years.

The authority hopes the program will become self-supporting through the sale of recycled materials.

To encourage recycling, village of Chelsea has changed its trash collection system. Residents are required to purchase special stickers, which are applied to trash bags.

5. Landfill problems, negotiations continue. The village and Sylvan, Lyndon, Lima, and Dexter townships are still trying to decide how to divide more than $700,000 in expenses associated with closing the old cell. At the urging of village manager Jack Myers, the sides met face-to-face for the first time this fall. All previous negotiations had been conducted through attorneys and particulars of the negotiations have not been revealed. The first proposal by the village more than a year ago suggested the village pay 40 percent and the townships divide up the rest.

The negotiations will also determine how the governments will divide any long-range clean-up expenses and monitoring costs.

No matter how the expenses are divided, they will be a major burden for all parties concerned.

The village is also continuing its talks with the Department of Natural Resources on groundwater clean-up plans. The process has moved slowly for a variety of reasons, including a complete changeover of personnel at DNR. Most recently, DNR denied the village's application for a new operating license, citing 25 different reasons. The village filed an appeal.

6. Jack Myers hired as village manager. Harry "Jack" Myers, who had served a little more than half a term as a village trustee, was hired as Chelsea's village manager in May, following the forced resignation of Robert Stalker in February. Myers, who most recently ran the Information Technology Service Center at the University of Michigan, had no governmental administrative experience. He spent 20 years in the U.S. Marine Corps, much of it in auditing and financial affairs.

Although it is probably too early to judge Myers' over-all performance, he has shown he is not afraid to tackle the tough problems, from landfill negotiations to the construction of a new electric building. He also has the reputation for not backing down when he believes he is right. Myers also appears to have given village administration some measure of stability.

7. Operation Desert Storm. Although no one from the Chelsea area was injured or killed in the Persian Gulf war, more than 20 area families had relatives in the military service during the hostilities. Several area soldiers were involved in the hostilities.

A support group met weekly, and the group sent numerous packages to soldiers overseas. Eventually, every Chelsea area soldier was honored for his or her service during the war, whether it was in the Persian Gulf or somewhere else.

8. Major construction projects completed, announced. Chelsea Retirement Community's $12 million Dancey House was completed and opened for occupancy. The new building consists of 75 apartments for independent living, as well as shops and other amenities. It was built on the site of the original nursing home. Dancey House is part of an over-all $20 million renovation and building project at the community.

Hatch Stamping Co. completed its new 108,000 square-foot facility in the Chelsea Industrial Park. The company makes stamped metal products for the automotive industry.

Owner Ron Hatch had considered various alternatives before deciding to stay put in Chelsea. By doing so, more than 75 people will continue to work here.

Chelsea Community Hospital announced plans for a $3.85 million expansion project. Initial plans call for 15,000 square feet of new space and 7,500 square feet in renovation, which will involve diagnostic imaging, laboratory, and surgical areas.

Chelsea hospital is the only small, independent hospital in Washtenaw and Livingston counties. The capital improvement plan is designed to keep the hospital competitive so it can remain independent. The hospital is the largest employer in the area.

9. William Curtis murder case. No crime story in the Chelsea area has ever drawn as much attention.

Curtis, 54, a Dexter township resident and real estate salesman, has been ordered to stand trial for the murder of his wife, Sue Ellen Curtis, last April 1. Curtis allegedly hired his homosexual lover, Todd Plamondon of Ypsilanti, to kill his wife for $5,000. Plamondon is a crack addict and has admitted having sex with William Curtis to earn drug money.

Sue Ellen Curtis was allegedly stabbed to death by Plamondon in the Curtis home, in what police initially believed was a robbery that turned into a murder.

Afterward, Curtis sold the contents of his home and left the area in a motorhome. He was captured in Virginia.

10. Chelsea Bulldogs win state baseball championship. Coach Wayne Welton's squad earned the first state class B title for Chelsea in a boys sport since the play-off system was instituted. It may have also been one of the most exciting championship games ever played as the Bulldogs scored three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to win 6-5 at Battle Creek. Several hundred Chelsea fans watched as Jude Quilter's bases-loaded sacrifice fly to left scored Rob Clem from third for the winning run over Bullock Creek.

Many other stories were considered for the top 10 list. Among them were 1. a disastrous year for area wheat farmers; 2. Lucy Stieber named new South school principal after long-time principal Bob Benedict retired; 3. Tax base sharing and property tax freeze put squeeze on Chelsea School District; 4. Cassidy Lake Technical School converted to boot camp; 5. March 27 storm leaves thousands outside village without electrical power; 6. Employees at Chelsea Industries vote to join United Auto Workers.

No, the "Save the Rock" effort was not included.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
I think if Chelsea needs these great malls they should do something about having the walks shoveled before they open for business.

On Dec. 21 at 10:45 a.m. the walk in front of Ames was not shoveled yet. And they had been open a long time. I fell down getting my husband out of the car. I went in the store and asked why the walk was not shoveled. His answer was "That is a good question. They did send someone out to shovel it." We went to the Big Boy for breakfast before we went to Ames. We didn't have any trouble getting in there with a wheelchair. The walk was clean.

The mall across M-52 isn't any better. Chelsea Hospital put their Physical Therapy in there and the snow storm before the Dec. 20 one I started checking the walk on Wednesday and it had snow on it until Saturday when it got warm and it melted. That was the incline in front of the Sub Shop.

I think there should be a law you cannot open for business until you shovel the walk or pay a big fine.
Muriel Juergens.

ALEXANDER MCKINNON was named "Knight of the Year" by the Chelsea Knights of Columbus organization. The honor was presented Dec. 7 for McKinnon's outstanding service during the year. Left is Grand Knight Ken Unterbrink.

Carmer Slocum Injured in Crash

Investigation continues on a "hit-and-run" pin-in crash, in which Chelsea area resident Carmer Leroy Slocum was injured, and transported by Survival Flight to University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor. Fire-rescue workers from the Scio Township Fire Department extricated the victim at the crash scene. The crash apparently occurred on Parker Rd., between Shield and Marshall Rds., shortly before 4:17 a.m. Deputy Anuskiewicz was dispatched to the scene to investigate.

*A Prayer for the Year
That is Near*

Dear Master, for this coming year,
Just one request I bring.
I do not pray for happiness
Or any earthly thing;
I do not ask to understand
The way Thou leadest me;
But this I ask—Teach me to do
The thing that pleaseth Thee.
I want to know Thy guiding voice,
To walk with Thee each day.
Dear Master, make me swift to hear
And ready to obey;
And thus the year now begin—
A happy year will be,
If I am seeking just to do
The thing that pleaseth Thee.

A Blessed 1992

Thursday, Jan. 3, 1958—

St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church at Francisco dedicated its newly-completed educational building at a dedicatory service.

The March of Dimes drive in Chelsea began under the chairmanship of Mrs. Norman Ratcliffe.

Extensive smoke damage resulted when oil overflowed and ignited in a furnace in the north building of Chelsea Spring Division. The fire was discovered by a watchman at 2:40 a.m.

Research to date was not yet adequate to conclude that cigarette smoking causes lung cancer, reported Sir Ronald Fisher, eminent statistician and geneticist from Cambridge University.

S.E. Michigan Sheep, Angora Producers Will Meet Jan. 23

Sheep and Angora goat producers from Jackson, Lenawee, Monroe and Washtenaw counties are invited to attend an educational meeting on "How To Turn Cull Ewes into $$$." Tracey-Braun, sheep producer from Kinde, will be the featured speaker. Tracey has had "hands on" experience in this area. He will share his innovative ideas with you and hopefully you'll have some additional ideas to share with him.

Please come and get some good, profitable ideas as well as sharing fun and fellowship with other producers.

The meeting will be Jan. 23, 7 p.m. at the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service, 4133 Washtenaw Ave. (corner of Washtenaw and Hogback), Ann Arbor. The meeting is co-sponsored by the S.E. Michigan Sheep/Angora Goat Produce Association and the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service.

For additional information contact Bill Ames, Extension Agriculture Agent, Washtenaw county at 313-971-0079.

A natural enzyme has been found that can transform sugar into non-fattening food ingredients. That enzyme could offer a sweet bonus to the Michigan sugar beet industry if the converted sugar can be produced cheaply enough to use as non-caloric fillers, binders and extenders for food products.

1991 CHELSEA HISTORY:

Year-End News Summary

January . . .

2—Auditions for the play "Blush at Nothing" continued as the Chelsea's Garage Theatre prepared for opening.

2—Chelsea's Secretary of State branch office was identified as one of 22 branch offices that might close at the end of February due to state budget problems.

2—A tour bus containing 22 young people and their escorts, some from the Chelsea area, overturned on the Birch Run exit of I-75. No one was seriously injured. The bus was on its way to Frankenthumb when the brakes failed.

6—Dirk Colby of Chelsea became an Eagle Scout at a Court of Honor held at the First United Methodist church.

7—Chelsea Board of Education selected the architectural firm of Greiner, Inc. of Grand Rapids for the first stages of its proposed school construction and renovation project.

9—Village VCR, a new VCR- and television-repair business, was now open in the former Chelsea Associated Builders building on S. Main St. opposite Pierce Park.

10—No one was killed but Evelyn Jean Seegert, 56, of Manchester was severely injured when she struck a truck that ran a stop light on Pleasant Lake Rd. Police said Seegert's life was probably saved by the seatbelt she was wearing.

14—Marc A. Hardy, executive director of the Fourth Freedom Forum in Goshen, Ind., was the guest speaker at a Kiwanis Club of Chelsea meeting. Hardy argued that the U.S. should allow more time for trade sanctions to work against Iraq.

15—A public hearing was held over the Downtown Development Authority's plan to remove all parking meters from downtown and relocate some handicapped parking spaces.

15—Mary Shroer, legislative aide for state Sen. Lana Pollack's office, said that the state Office of Management and Budget had submitted an "alternative funding plan" to the legislature that would keep open many branch Secretary of State offices. There was some hope that the Chelsea branch may not be closed as previously thought.

18—Craig Common of Livonia planned to open a restaurant called the Common Grill in the vacant Dancer's building downtown.

18—Local parents and relatives of young men stationed in the Persian Gulf continued to struggle with the reality of the crisis in the Gulf.

21—Cheryl Davis, a woman with an extensive background in designing substance abuse programs was hired as the Chelsea School District's new substance abuse/mental health advisor.

1991 CHELSEA HISTORY:

Year-End News Summary

10—Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary donated $3,000 to the hospital's summer camp program for patients with traumatic brain injuries, held at the Lake Louise Methodist facility in Boyne Falls.

12—Jeff Latimer's family and friends welcomed him home after he spent nearly 2 1/2 months in the Persian Gulf. Latimer, a 1990 Chelsea High school graduate was stationed at Ft. Stewart in Savannah, Ga.

15—Lucille A. Stieber of Stockbridge was officially offered a contract for the position of principal at South Elementary school by the Board of Education. "We had three good candidates but after all the interviews [Stieber] just seemed like the best fit," said Chelsea superintendent Joe Piasecki.

17—Chelsea High school was granted accreditation by the North Central Association. The school has been a member of the association since 1927 and has been accredited continuously since then.

23—Young writers from Beach Middle school submitted their best pieces to be reviewed at a panel of writers and educators. Fifty students from Washtenaw county were selected on the basis of their work to attend a one-day conference on writing at the Washtenaw Intermediate School District. Students attending from Chelsea were Sarah Schick, Jessica Flintoft, Carrie Schoenberg, Lori Ritter, Jessica Knight, Mark Wallace, and Melissa Schultz.

25—"The Shoe Man," an original comedy by Jeff Daniels, began performances at the Purple Rose Theatre Company's Garage Theatre. Set in a small Michigan town, it spoofed some of the community's passionate beliefs, including religion, sexual relationships, and the grand game of golf.

30—Village trustee Jack Myers was offered the position of Chelsea village manager at a special council meeting. Trustee Stephanie Kanten, a member of the personnel committee, made the motion to nominate Myers. Trustee Allen Anderson cast the only no vote.

May . . .

3—Chelsea High school forensics team placed fourth in class B at the state forensics championships at Western Michigan University. Chelsea was led by senior Brett Salarnin, who won a state title in poetry with his performance of selections from "The Waste Land." He was the fourth Chelsea student ever to win a state title. The others were: Phil Powers, Phil Thomson, and Rob Coelius. This year Coelius received fourth place in prose for his performance of "Lost at C." He was only the second CHS student to place in the top six at the state level twice, joining Powers.

6—Chelsea Board of Education voted to put a $23.75 million bond issue before the voters in September for the construction of a new elementary school as well as renovations and construction district-wide.

8—Annual Sixth Grade Camp began at Mill Lake this week and Mariah Cherem, Monica Royce, and Jacki Setta created the official camp t-shirt. Theme of the camp is "Peace and Harmony," which inspired the girls to come up with "Feed the animals, water the trees, But to-peace we hold the keys."

8—A Manchester woman, Susan Morey, was opening a school to teach art, dance, drama, and music. Called the Arts Academy, the school would specialize in classes for both children and adults.

8—Police were seeking charges against two young teen-age boys in connection with a series of break-ins downtown earlier in the month. The boys, age 13 and 14, neither of whom attended Chelsea schools, broke into Chelsea Milling Co., Main Street Flower Shop, Farmers Supply Co. and Longworth Plating, stealing cash and various merchandise.

12—A man was seen "prancing around Weber Field" with nothing on but a shirt over his head. Witnesses said he was "jumping up and down" and running around for about 20 minutes. Police found nobody in the area when they arrived. However, a short time later another witness saw the man running naked through the nearby industrial park. According to the police report, the victim of the crime was "one girls softball team," which may explain why the man was in the area.

15—New archery targets were donated to Chelsea High school by the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club. The self-healing targets would replace the stuffed kind that had been used in high school physical education classes for years.

15—A blue ribbon committee was formed to study the Chelsea School District's sex education curriculum. Committee chair Laurie Bistie said she did not anticipate wholesale changes in the program, but that teaching materials would probably be updated. Some topics, such as homosexuality and abortion, were not now discussed in the curriculum and probably would not be in the future.

18—Juniors Jon Royce and Mike Terpstra and the Chelsea 1600 relay team all qualified for the state track meet with their performances at Albion. Royce placed second in the high jump at 6'4" and Terpstra was second in the shot put at 48'1". The relay team of Raduone Far, Joe Blough, Mike Reese, and Royce placed third in 3:32.7.

18—Chelsea Bulldogs won their first Southeastern Conference softball title in three years as Colleen Scharphorn tossed a no-hitter in the finals of the SEC tournament held at Weber Field. Chelsea beat the top-seeded Tecumseh Indians in the finals 7-0.

19—Laurie Honbaum of Chelsea was crowned Miss Michigan Teen USA. She competed against 18 contestants from throughout the state at the Troy Hilton Hotel for the right to go to the national pageant in August. She was sponsored by Hatch Stamping Co. of Chelsea.

22—For the second straight year, Chelsea's Bill Coelius, IV, won a national collegiate forensics title at the national tournament held at Marshall University. Coelius won the title in the poetry category, with his performance of love poetry by obscure artists.

22—Village of Chelsea accepted a bid of $179,500 from Ann Arbor Design Build for the construction of a new electric and water building. The bid was the lowest of four submitted. Others ranged from 14 to 19 percent higher.

22—Girls track team wrapped up an exciting league season by winning the Southeastern Conference meet for the second straight year, giving them the conference championship.

27—Beach Middle school principal Darcy Stielstra, a Vietnam War veteran, delivered an upbeat Memorial Day address in Oak Grove Cemetery. Christine Dunlap played Taps.

June . . .

1—The gym was packed for the annual Chelsea High school Commencement program. The program was originally scheduled to be held outside, but rain into the early afternoon forced a change of plans. The gym was hot and muggy, but for the most part parents, friends and relatives didn't seem to mind.

4—Chelsea Downtown Development Authority's streetscape and parking lot construction project began as workers began demolishing sections of sidewalk on the west side of Main St. The project was scheduled to be completed by October.

5—The Village of Chelsea had approved a new three-year contract for full-time village employees. The contract, negotiated for the 14 employees by the Teamsters union, called for a four percent raise this year, and five percent raises for the next two years. Salaries now ranged from $7.44 per hour for an entry-level clerical employee to $13.21 per hour for an electric and water foreman with six years of experience.

5—Mark Kemner of Chelsea achieved the rank of Eagle Scout as a member of Boy Scout Troop 425 of Chelsea. Kemner earned 22 merit badges and completed a reformation banner and stand for Emanuel United Church of Christ. Kemner, who just completed his sophomore year at Chelsea High school, is a member of the swim team, football team, orchestra, jazz band, and Key Club.

8—For the first time in school history, the Bulldogs qualified for the state class B baseball tournament, after defeating Dearborn Divine Child, the state's top-ranked team, in the finals, 5-3. "It was a good, solid effort all the way down the line-up," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

10—Superintendent Joe Piasecki received a letter of resignation from Chelsea High school girls varsity basketball coach Rahn Rosentreter. Rosentreter had wanted to add an hour to his part-time teaching schedule, but the school didn't accommodate the request. Rosentreter did not rule out coaching another sport.

10—Conrad Knutsen, edged Janet Roberts, 470-450, in the only race for school board in the Chelsea School District annual elections. Knutsen, who had been an active community member primarily in the Chelsea Recreation Council, said "I guess I'm surprised, but I have no idea why."

10—Chelsea Board of Education approved a $12.4 million budget for 1991-92 after a public hearing. The district anticipated expenses of $12,398,168 and expenditures of $12,797,770.

12—Chelsea Community Hospital was planning a major four-phase expansion over the next decade, beginning with a $3.85 million expansion and renovation of its diagnostic imaging, laboratory, and surgical facilities.

14—Thanks to a quick and generous giving of a patriotic community, the memorial plaque in Veterans Park was replaced and restoration of the stone monument was well under way. The plaque, cast in bronze by Arnet's, was presented to a gathering of veterans leaders who met in the park on this Flag Day.

12—A Westland man was convicted of reckless use of a firearm in connection with a deer-hunting accident in Lyndon township the previous fall. Alvin Besseau, 45, was convicted in the death of Chelsea-area resident Daniel Houk. The trial was tried in Chelsea's 14th District Courthouse in front of a packed courtroom.

15—Chelsea Bulldogs capped a storybook season at Bailey Park in Battle Creek by winning the class B state baseball championship for the first time in school history. Chelsea outlasted the Wyoming Rogers Golden Eagles, 5-1, then defeated the Midland Bullock Creek Lancers, 6-5.

19—Long-time Chelsea resident Mary Lou Rigg was named to succeed Steve Hartwell as WCC Western Regional Center Co-ordinator. Rigg graduated from Eastern Michigan University in 1967 with a bachelor of science degree in child development.

19—The conversion of Cassidy Lake Technical School to what is commonly called a boot camp prison was almost complete. The first 56 "probationers" had already arrived at the facility. They were transferred from Camp Sable, the first such camp in the state.

25—The Chelsea-Ann Arbor bus route was here to stay for at least a few more months. Village council approved a subsidy of $3,988 to continue the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority route through September. The fare was increased from $1 to $1.75 each way and council approved the elimination of Saturday service.

28—Three Chelsea Bulldogs were awarded all-state post-season baseball honors. Junior first baseman/pitcher Jake Rindle was named to the class B all-state team as a first baseman. Senior shortstop Kerry Plank was named to the all-state second team as an infielder. Senior pitcher/outfielder Rob Clem was named to the honorable mention team.

July . . .

1—Anne Comeau was elected for a fourth term as president of the Chelsea Board of Education at a board meeting. Comeau had served on the board for 10 years and had been active in a number of county educational organizations. She was also president of the board of the Washtenaw Intermediate School District.

3—Debra Treadt Brinklow was named to replace Linda Ormsby as director of the Chelsea Social Services. Debra had moved to the area a year ago and brought with her extensive background in working with children and families.

3—New milk jug recycling bins were placed at North and South Elementary schools. The bins were open week-days from 8 a.m. to noon for the general public. Once school began, the bins were open for longer periods.

3—Residents in the eastern part of the village were upset about the size (Continued on page 13)

NEW, SMALLER DIRECTIONAL SIGNS have replaced larger ones on Madison St. and Freer. Rd. The former signs were the subjects of numerous complaints by area residents, who said the signs were too intrusive. The signs are part of the downtown streetscape project.

Merchants Asked To Use Sand To De-Ice Sidewalks

Downtown merchants have been asked by the Chelsea Downtown Development Authority not to use salt to de-ice sidewalks this winter. New sidewalk, which has been poured throughout downtown this fall, is subject to damage by salt.

According to a notice from Franz Mogdis of the DDA, "the preferred deicer is sand. If you must use something else, you should use a commercial de-icer very sparingly. Make sure it does not "glob-up" and keep it swept off of the sidewalks after the ice and snow is cleared."

Some merchants have worried that complying to the request puts an additional liability burden on them.

Michigan Economy Will Begin Modest Recovery Early in 1992

Michigan's economy can expect a "comparatively mild recovery from the comparatively mild decline" that occurred between July 1990 and July 1991, University of Michigan economists report.

"We believe that the economy will move up from the bottom in early 1992, but the same risks that have caused concern about a double-dip recession in the U.S. economy are present in Michigan," according to U-M economists Joan F. Cray, George A. Fulton and Prof. Saul H. Hymans. "Although the risk is real, our best sense is that the Michigan economy will exhibit steady but moderate growth at least through 1993."

The forecast, compiled by the U-M Research Seminar in Quantitative Economics, was presented at the 39th annual Conference on the Economic Outlook on Friday, Nov. 22 at U-M.

"Employment in Michigan was on a slide from July 1990 to April 1991," Cray, Fulton and Hymans note, but the employment decline from July 1990 to July 1991 was just under three percent, "mild by Michigan's standards for downturns."

Growth in employment this year has "been at a crawl," the Michigan economists say. "This appears to be a profile of an economy that is off the bottom of a relatively mild recession, but with sufficient lingering weakness that the recovery has not yet taken firm hold."

Cray, Fulton and Hymans are forecasting modest growth in total employment in the state over the next two years, rising 0.7 percent for 1992, following a decline of 1.9 percent for 1991. For 1993, the Michigan economists forecast "an acceleration in employment growth to 2 percent, a pace low enough to be more typical to a mature economic expansion than of the early years of an economic recovery."

New manufacturing jobs will lead growth in employment, reflecting increased national demand for cars and light trucks, according to Cray, Fulton and Hymans. Manufacturing jobs will grow by 2.1 percent next year and 2.3 percent for 1993, following a decline of 5.4 percent expected this year, they say.

Even with low sales, auto makers have been trimming inventories by keeping production down over the past year, the U-M economists say. As a result, "even a modest increase in vehicle sales would require a prompt pickup in production."

Private non-manufacturing employment in Michigan, which grew in every quarter from the end of 1982 to the beginning of 1990, has declined in five of the six quarters since then.

Jobs in that category, including service and finance industries, wholesale and retail trade, transportation, communication and utilities, will decline 0.9 percent in 1991, according to Cray, Fulton and Hymans. A small increase of 0.5 percent is forecast for 1992, followed by a 2.1 percent increase, supported by an acceleration in retail trade and services.

Unemployment in the state is expected to average 9.2 percent for the year, and will decline to 8.7 percent in 1992 and to 8.1 percent in 1993, reflecting the improved labor market in Michigan.

Incomes in Michigan will rise by 5.1 percent in 1992, double the 1991 growth of 2.2 percent, reflecting the rebound in employment in the state, the U-M economists say. "More substantial gains in employment for calendar 1993 yield personal income growth of 5.8 percent for that year."

Inflation in the state is forecast to remain moderate through 1993, according to the Michigan forecast, averaging 3.1 percent for 1992 and 3.5 percent for 1993.

As a result of higher incomes and moderate inflation, the U-M economists see consumer purchasing power rising approximately 2 percent annually through 1993.

State tax revenues, which declined by 1.5 percent for fiscal 1991, are forecast to increase by 6.6 percent next year, reflecting some one-time revenue gains as well as a pickup in the economy. Revenues are expected to increase by 4.9 percent in fiscal year 1993. "Michigan has had two very lean revenue years, but our forecast of economic recovery suggests some modest relief through fiscal 1993," according to Cray, Fulton and Hymans.

Prevent New Year's Tragedy, Watch Alcohol

Question: How many drinks does it take to make a person drunk?

Answer: It's almost time to ring in the new year—an occasion that many people will celebrate by raising a few toasts. While moderate drinking is acceptable in our society, drinking to the point of getting drunk is not. And, when a person is drunk, there's absolutely no excuse for trying to drive a car.

The most recent statistics from the Centers for Disease Control show that about 42 percent of the fatal vehicle accidents in this country involve alcohol and that more than 20,000 Americans lose their lives in alcohol-related accidents each year. Every one of these accidents is a needless tragedy. You can be sure that hundreds of people will again have their holiday season spoiled this year by New Year's Eve drunken drivers.

Question: How can you tell if you are too drunk to drive?

Answer: It takes the average person one to two hours to eliminate the average alcoholic drink, such as a jigger of distilled liquor, a bottle of beer, or a glass of wine. Given this fact, a good conservative rule of thumb is that if you have had more than one drink for each two hours that you have been at a party, don't drive. Also, remember that inebriation is generally brought on quicker if you drink on an empty stomach.

If you are hosting a party at which alcohol is served, you have a responsibility to your guests. Make non-alcoholic beverages available, preferably served in the same type of glasses as the alcohol. Guests should not be persuaded to drink, nor ridiculed if they choose not to. Snacking should be encouraged. Coffee should be served in the last hour or so of the party. Although coffee does not counteract the alcohol as some people believe, it does offset drowsiness, and a lengthy period of socializing over coffee provides guests time to sober up before heading home.

Most importantly, anybody who is obviously drunk should not be allowed to drive under any circumstances. Instead, insist that this person stay overnight, go home with somebody else, or take a taxi.

By following these steps, you can help to assure that your 1992 will get off to a safe start.

Historic Flag Display Adds Famous Events

Portrayals of flag events are to be part of the Historic American Flag Display being prepared for permanent exhibit in the Dwight E. Beach Middle school. Pictures acquired thus far have been gathered from museums, newspaper services and the Bettmann Archive whose immense collection comes from world sources. All paintings in the Chelsea display will, of course, be reproductions. Some of the 16x20 inch color pictures have been made from 35-mm slides by multi-step enlargement in the laboratory of Precision Photo Service of Ann Arbor.

More graphics for the display will be added as the historical search continues.

BETSY ROSS EXHIBITS FLAG to General Washington, a legendary event also painted by Percy Moran. In 1776 the arrangement of the 13 stars was often chosen by the seamstress. Viewing the picture which will be part of the historic American flag display is Chelsea veteran Jerry White. (Bettmann Archive)

State Tax Credit Applies To Foundation Donations

Donations to the Chelsea Civic Foundation's Friendship Drive are coming in at a rapid pace. As outlined by president David Swan earlier this month, contributions will be made available to local agencies to provide food, fuel, clothing and shelter to Chelsea-Dexter area residents. This use of the Foundation's funds differs from the normal grants issued as seed money for new community projects. Residents and businesses are reminded to make their contributions by Dec. 31, to take advantage of the Michigan Community Foundation Income/Single Business Tax Credit for 1991. This credit is available for 1991 contributions to certified foundations and possibly may not be extended to 1992.

The Michigan Tax Credit is not to be confused with the Federal deduction for charitable contributions which may also apply to donors. The Michigan Community Foundation Credit is deducted directly from your tax balance, not your taxable balance.

The tax credit allows for a 50% credit for gifts up to:

- $100 for an individual taxpayer who is single or married and filing separately;
- $200 for married couples filing jointly;

• $5,000 or 5% of the tax liability before any credits (whichever is less) for businesses filing single business income tax returns;

• $5,000 or 10% of the tax liability before any credits (whichever is less) for a resident in an estate or trust.

The Michigan credit actually allows most donors to double their contributions at no extra cost. A $200 donation by a married couple filing jointly could cost as little as $67.

Your donation will make a real difference to someone who needs help. Take advantage of the help provided by the State to help a needy person.

Boosters Plan Spaghetti Supper Friday, Jan. 17

Chelsea Athletic Boosters, Inc. are planning a spaghetti supper on Friday, Jan. 17 before the varsity home basketball game with the Tecumseh Indians.

Dinner will be served in the high school cafeteria beginning one hour prior to the junior varsity game and will continue until the approximate starting time of the varsity game.

Spaghetti, salad, garlic bread, coffee and milk will be provided. Soft drinks will be available at the concession stand.

Cost is $5 for anyone older than a fifth grader, $3 for children in grades K-5, and nothing for pre-schoolers.

Advance tickets are available at Chelsea Lumber Co., Chelsea State Bank branch office, and Chelsea Pharmacy.

Proceeds benefit the various projects of the athletic boosters, which supports all school sports programs.

Petty, Ruhl Are All-America Scholar Athletes

Scharme Petty of Chelsea and Elizabeth Ruhl of Dexter have been named Division III All-America Scholar Athletes by the National Softball Coaches Association.

Both women play softball at Adrian College, which won the 1991 Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association title.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

I sit here on the brink of 1992 and wonder whether I should reflect on 1991 or look ahead for the next 12 months.

There certainly is plenty to be sentimental about. Chelsea's thrilling seventh-inning, 6-5 victory over Midland Bullock Creek in the finals of the state class B baseball tournament still puts shivers down my spine. Thanks in part to a photo I took, I'll probably never forget watching Kerry Plank hoist the championship plaque over his head and walk off the field surrounded by his teammates and coaches. It was about as emotional as I'd ever seen Plank after an athletic contest. I remember feeling so good for head coach Wayne Welton, who spent so much of the spring in the hospital with his young son, Joey. By the next morning the Rock had been painted and a banner stretched across the front of Pierce Park. By the next afternoon, Welton had changed the message on his answering machine, declaring his home as the headquarters of the state championship team.

The softball team gave us plenty to howl about, too. They reached the finals of the region tournament for the first time in many years, quite a credit to new softball coach Amy Poljan.

Bill Bainton's girls track team put on an equally good show as they placed fifth in the state, a major accomplishment for a team short on sprinters. Lisa Monti was a state champ in the 3200 and a runner-up in the 1600.

Boys track got a lift from the new coaching staff of Pat Clarke and Roger Cox. The boys actually won a few meets after Clarke forced them to do the oddest assortment of drills during practice.

Back a little further, then-junior Mike Terpstra, one of the best all-around athletes ever at Chelsea High, won his first state wrestling title at heavyweight, taking a one-point win in the finals. It was one of the few times the big guy was forced to wrestle an entire six minutes all season. Karl Wikman placed second at 119 pounds after winning a state title as a junior. Jim Hossett was eighth at 145.

Fall produced perhaps the best girls cross country team ever at Chelsea High, but they just couldn't quite reach the pinnacle, taking second in the state. They won every single race they entered, except the last one, another outstanding accomplishment.

The boys cross country team was actually ranked in the state, even though about half the team members were freshmen.

Another native son, Dave Wojcicki, returned to coach girls basketball in the ultimate of rebuilding seasons. Three freshmen were key players, perhaps the first time that's ever happened here.

Football in 1991 will probably be remembered more for a broken collarbone than any particular field heroics. The moment quarterback Pat Steele went down in the Milan game with his injury was the downward turning point for the season. The best thing that happened on the field, other than the marching band, was shutting out Tecumseh for the entire first half, although that memory is tainted somewhat by the second-half plowing under.

Girls swimming had a fine season under new coach Dave Brinklow. They placed eighth in the state, but should have taken seventh, which was as much as Brinklow could have hoped for.

Next year?

I am looking forward to seeing whether Terpstra can repeat; whether boys basketball can contend; whether girls track can compete for a state title; how many guys show up with radar guns when Jake Riddle pitches; whether softball can reach the next level; whether the boys track can win more than they lose and whether Jon Royce can win his second high jump state title; how well the football team can play when Steele is throwing rather than sifting and Colby Skelton is catching rather than passing; and whether the girls cross country team can bring home another state title.

1991 was full of surprises. I suspect 1992 will be as well.

Bulldog Sports Teams Get Busy Again Next Week

Most Chelsea High school athletic teams get back into action next week.

However, Chelsea wrestlers compete this Saturday, Jan. 4 at the Jackson County Western Invitational, beginning at 8 a.m. It'll be a tune-up for their Jan. 9 Southeastern Conference meet at Milan, their second SEC contest of the season. Chelsea is 1-0 in dual meets, having beaten the Saline Hornets.

Chelsea varsity and junior varsity basketball teams play at Manchester next Tuesday, Jan. 7 before traveling to Dexter on Friday, Jan. 10.

Friday's game at Dexter will be a key one for the varsity Bulldogs. Dexter is 2-0 in the Southeastern Conference and Chelsea is 2-1.

"We'll have to steal a win or two on the road if we're going to compete for the championship," coach Robin Raymond says.

The Dreadnaughts may turn out to be the league's most improved team. JV games start at 6 p.m., followed by the varsity contests.

Coach Dan Montgomery's varsity volleyball team has its first meet of the season on Monday, Jan. 6 at Ypsilanti beginning at 6 p.m. They return on Saturday, Jan. 11 to host the annual Chelsea Invitational.

Bulldogs swimmers get back into the pool for competition next Tuesday at Novi at 7 p.m.

Freshman basketball team hosts Lincoln next Monday, Jan. 6 at 7 p.m.

Beach Middle school wrestling starts competition on Saturday, Jan. 18, while Beach volleyball teams open play on Tuesday, Jan. 21.

Sunday Trail Walk Slated Jan. 5 at Botanical Gardens

A winter walk in the woods is invigorating and pleasant; a quiet pastime after the whirlwind of the holidays. The Docents of the Matthaei Botanical Gardens invite all interested persons to join them for a Sunday Trail Walk, at 2 p.m., Jan. 5.

Docents will be emphasizing winter tree identification, pointing out the many clues woody plants have. Also, they will be searching for color. The woods look grey this time of year; are they, really?

Weather permitting, the walk is expected to last 1½ hours. In the case of severe cold or unpleasant weather, the walk will be shorter and closer to the buildings. In any case warm dress and footwear is advised. Meet in the lobby of the Gardens Conservatory.

Also in January will be a series of Conservatory tours on Medicinal Plants—Nature's Pharmacy. Docents will point out many important medicinal plants that are growing in the Conservatory. These tours will be offered on the following dates at 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. Jan. 11, 12, 19, 25, 26. The Conservatory admission fees of $1 per person apply.

Because of space limitations in the Conservatory, these tours are limited to 30 persons per hour. Visitors are asked to arrive a few minutes early to register.

COLBY SKELTON made this pass inside to Jon Royce during a recent Chelsea varsity basketball game with the Milan Big Reds. The Bulldogs get back into action next Tuesday in Manchester, followed by a key SEC clash at Dexter on Friday.

AKEL MARSHALL of Chelsea will be honored as one of nine Assistant Baseball Coaches of the Year this January by the Michigan High School Baseball Coaches Association. Marshall has helped out with Chelsea baseball for 13 years, first at the junior varsity level but most of those years with coach Wayne Welton at the varsity level. He has also served as public address announcer for football and operates the clock for basketball. All of his service has been without pay. "His door is always open for the kids," Welton said.

Sgt. Angela Gallas Helps Fleeing
Haitians at Cuban Naval Base

Army Staff Sgt. Angela M. Gallas is one of many U.S. soldiers called overseas to support another country's citizens.

Gallas, 28, daughter-in-law of George and Carol Gallas, 13506 Riker Rd., Chelsea, is one of more than 1,500 American troops sent to Haiti since Nov. 21 for Operation Just Cause. Troops are providing food, clothing, shelter, security, and medical aid for more than 7,000 Haitian migrants at the Guantanamo Bay Naval Base in Cuba, nearly 400 miles southeast of Miami.

A joint task force of Marines, soldiers, sailors and other military personnel is expecting to house 10,000 Haitians in humanitarian centers. The base, in the southeast corner of Cuba, is the only U.S. military installation located in a communist country. U.S. forces will remain there until the Haitians' fate is decided in court, according to a task force spokesman.

"The first time I saw the Haitians I felt sorry for them because they were poorly dressed and they had a look of fear in their eyes," said Gallas, who joined the Army in 1984.

"My job here is to provide security for the Haitian centers."

Gallas was sent to Cuba on Nov. 28 from the 437th Military Police Company, based at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

The migrants began fleeing their island home in crudely constructed boats after a Sept. 30 military coup wrested control of the island from President Jean-Bertrand Aristide. The weak Haitian economy was dealt a crippling blow by a trade embargo imposed on the new regime by the Organization of American States.

"I feel this operation was originally meant with good intent and I had no problem with it," Gallas said.

"But now I think we bit off more than we can chew. I firmly believe we have enough problems with our own homeless people."

After the Haitian are brought to the 45-square-mile (land and water) naval base, they're transported by bus to a humanitarian center built by the troops. In addition to food and shelter, they receive clothing donated by Cuban-American residents of Miami and people from other cities.

This is the third consecutive year U.S. military personnel have provided overseas support during the holiday season. Last year soldiers helped Kiwanis get their country back and two years ago troops were in Panama for Operation Just Cause.

Now is the time to plan ahead for your spring tree-planting project, and a free booklet is available from The National Arbor Day Foundation to assist.

The free booklet, called Conservation Trees, uses colorful photos and illustrations and easy-to-understand descriptions to guide tree planting and care.

The Conservation Trees booklet includes these sections:

- How to use windbreaks and shade trees to save energy in your home
- How to attract songbirds to your yard
- How to save trees during construction
- How to save topsoil and help farm profits with shelterbelts
- The right way to plant trees
- The right way to prune trees.

"The National Arbor Day Foundation's Conservation Trees program encourages Americans to plant and manage trees to conserve soil, energy, water, wildlife, and the atmosphere," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director said.

"The Conservation Trees booklet is a central part of this educational project. It serves as a useful guide for people in all areas, whether they live in America's largest cities or in the country," Rosenow added.

UNO Dean Wagner
Participating in Yemen Health Project

Fritz Wagner, Dean, University of New Orleans College of Urban and Public Affairs, is participating in the World Health Organization project to improve the health aspects of cities in Yemen, Arabia.

The assignment is to identify the priority environmental and urban management needs of the city of Sana'a, with special reference to low-income areas of the city.

Wagner's tasks are to identify four or five potential Healthy Cities Projects in Sana'a; identify institutions and individual officials that can act as Healthy Cities focal points; prepare a draft proposal for working arrangements and co-ordination between Healthy Cities Projects and other related activities; and prepare a Healthy Cities Project proposal for United Nations funding.

In 1900, 40 percent of the U.S. population were farmers. Today less than 2 percent of the population produces food and fiber for the rest of the United States and much of the world.

Year-End News Summary

of new directional signs installed by the Downtown Development Authority. Signs on Freer Rd., Madison St., and near the intersection of Washington and Madison St. were drawing criticism. The signs were part of the new DDA beautification plan. They pointed the way to schools.

4—Chelsea July 4 fireworks show drew one of its biggest crowds. With shows unplugged in Ann Arbor and Whitmore Lake, people came from all over Washtenaw and Jackson counties to see the 25 minute display at Chelsea Community Fairgrounds.

15—With no warning, Chelsea Boy Scout Troop 476 closed up its newspaper recycling station at Polly's market. The operation had been in trouble for some time due to the enormous amount of work involved as well as the declining value of newspaper. The price had dropped from $55 to $10 per ton, which did not cover the cost of the operation.

15—The last of Detroit Edison's customers, including some in the Chelsea area, got their power back after doing without for eight days. A storm with wind speeds of up to 75 miles per hour had knocked out the power of many in the area.

15—It wasn't easy for the Chelsea Bulldogs baseball staff to pick a most valuable player this year after winning a state title. So they didn't. After weeks of discussions, Chelsea coach Wayne Welton named the whole team Most Valuable.

21—The Chenille Sisters returned for an encore performance at the second concert in the Park at Pierce Park. The Chenilles, who are not really sisters, had played the previous year to a huge crowd.

24—A group called the Vote Yes Committee was formed to promote passage of the proposed $23.75 million school bond issue this September. Chaired by recently-retired, long-time Board of Education member Ann Feeney, the group would focus on winning voter approval of the plan that called for various renovations at the four schools.

31—Village landfill began accepting newspaper for recycling. Village manager Jack Myers made the decision to begin the program after the Chelsea Boy Scouts dropped their newspaper recycling program on short notice. Initially it was thought the village might provide an interim service until something else could be worked out. However, Myers said the program was here to stay.

August . . .

2—Bargain hunters packed the streets for the annual Sidewalk Festival downtown. Merchants had many items on sale and reported a brisk business. The festival also featured entertainment and an arts and crafts sale.

7—Village council agreed to look into a lease-purchase agreement for a truck that would eventually be purchased by the Western Washtenaw Recycling Consortium. The truck would be used to pick up bins at 10 locations in Manchester and Chelsea and their surrounding townships.

7—Cavanaugh Lakeview Farms owners announced the company stock had been purchased by Thorn Apple Valley of Detroit. Financial requirements made it necessary for CLF to find an appropriate means to sustain its level of operation and to accommodate changes. Thorn Apple Valley had been a major supplier and supporter of CLF development during the past four years and purchased CLF stock, satisfying the needs of CLF. This transaction provided an excellent opportunity for both companies to improve their abilities to continue to develop.

11—Tammy Browning, a recent Chelsea High school graduate, performed a senior recital in the Chelsea High School Auditorium. The concert included operatic works from Mozart and Puccini, as well as songs from Schumann, Schubert, Head, Copeland, and others. Miss Browning sang in Italian, German, and English.

12—Village of Chelsea's landfill fund deficit plan was accepted by the state, village manager Jack Myers confirmed. Village council adopted a formal resolution to transfer a $607,720.82 landfill deficit to the electric fund.

13—A report submitted by village manager Jack Myers showed that of the 1,422 residences in the village, a total of 441 owed the village money, ranging from a couple of dollars to more than $2,000. In one case, the former Jifty Market owed $9,828. Myers said he wanted to get a collection agency involved in some of the accounts. Myers also wanted council to consider some kind of interest charge on past-due amounts.

14—Chelsea Senior Citizens, represented by Vincent J. Dorer, presented a $10,000 check to Faith in Action as part of a new FIA fundraising campaign. Because original plans for the building were expanded to include the senior center, and because FIA ran into other unanticipated expenses, a new fund campaign was necessary. Co-chairs of the campaign were Howard Holmes and Ann Merkel.

18—The Westwood Swing Set, featuring Chelsea musician Deborah "Debb" Rubinsky, played the fourth and final concert in the Park in Pierce Park. The band blended a combination of sounds using woodwinds, guitar, vocals, keyboard, and the "bones."

20—The Chelsea Community Fair opened in cool, sunny weather as the annual Children's Parade made its way from the Municipal Parking Lot to the fairgrounds. The midway featured carnival rides, games, and fair food provided by Pugh Shows. There were also numerous exhibits, from lawn equipment to energy efficient windows, vegetables and other agricultural displays.

21—Chelsea Woodshed Eatery was sold pending approval by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission. Dave and Boots Kaercher, owners of the Woodshed for 13 years, planned to move to Manistique if the sale was approved. New owners would be Patrick J. Cleary of Howell and his sisters, Margaret and Joan.

21—Sixteen-year-old John Vorus had recently returned to his home at North Lake after spending the summer crewing for the family sailboat charter business aboard the family's 52-foot Irwin ketch, Soliton. His adventures took him from Miami Beach to the Florida Keys and beyond. "It's a great time," said Vorus.

23—Rebecca Dehning was crowned the 1991 Fair Queen, sponsored by the St. Mary's Youth Group. She received a $500 scholarship as well as numerous prizes.

23—Chelsea's first art gallery, called Zozobra Gallery, was now open next to Murph's barber shop on S. Main St. Ann Arbor resident Chris Roberts-Anteau was the resident artist. The gallery, specializing in primitive art, also was selling works by other established artists.

28—Officials were confident that the 1991 Chelsea Community Fair set an attendance record of more than 25,000, eclipsing the old record of 23,000. Ideal weather was credited with the drawing of huge crowds, including standing-room-only at the Demolition Derby.

September . . .

3—William Hall Curtis was apprehended in Virginia by officers from the Roanoke Police Department, after they were contacted by Curtis' traveling companion. A nine-count warrant had been issued for Curtis, a former Dexter township resident and husband of Sue Ellen Curtis, whose homicide occurred at the Curtis residence. Assistant prosecuting attorney Jerry Farmer explained that Washtenaw county authorities had not yet been advised whether Curtis would waive extradition to Michigan.

4—The Friends of the Library reported a successful fund drive, with over 112 families responding to the request for funds to upgrade equipment for the McKune Library this year.

4—Chelsea Fire Department again was asking the village to consider a plan to build a second fire station in the North Lake area in 1993, a third fire station in the south of the village in 2001, and to renovate the current station in 1996. Village manager Jack Myers agreed to help secure bids for architectural drawings for the building. Both new buildings would be identical.

5—The Purple Rose Theatre Company began its 1991-92 fall season with a production of "Kuru," a new comedy by Josh C. Manheimer. "Kuru" takes place inside a jungle hut in New Guinea where a doctor is desperately trying to discover a cure for the fatal disease that is wracking the native tribes.

9—Amy Mitchell presented a program for the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea telling her recent experiences on a People to People Tour to the Soviet Union. With a video and some interesting souvenirs, she gave a vivid description of what life is like in the depressed country. Very little food available, dirty hotels, and very high prices were reported everywhere.

10—A new policy on delinquent bills was adopted by the village. Residents would be charged a two percent penalty for delinquent bills beginning with the January billing period.

11—Palmer Motor Sales of Chelsea was selected as one of the nation's Outstanding Dealerships and received Ford Motor Company's Distinguished Achievement Award for Quality for the 15th year.

11—Chelsea Board of Education selected O'Neal Construction Co. of Ann Arbor as the construction management firm for district-wide building and renovation work. The company would sign a contract with the district if the school district's proposed $23.75 million bond issued passed in a special election.

11—The Chelsea Police Department was given a special 20 Year Award from the National Child Safety Council in recognition of the department's service to the safety of children. The department is involved in a number of activities in the schools and other areas.

14—Four-area high school students were named National Merit Scholarship semi-finalists. Susan Schlee from Dexter High, and Heather M. Kendrick, Carey J. Wallace, and Jeff A. Dising from Chelsea High were included on the list of academically-talented seniors who represent about half of one percent of each state's graduating class.

18—Two Chelsea netters won gold medals at the Pinckney Invitational Tennis Tournament. Kate Neal won at second singles, while Amy Mitchell won at first singles. It was the second consecutive year for Mitchell.

18—Jan Balog was the new diving coach for Chelsea Bulldogs boys and girls varsity teams. She also coached Beach Middle school divers. Most recently Balog worked with boys and girls school teams in Pinckney, as well as community programs.

18—A new curbside garbage pick-up system was adopted by the village and was scheduled to go into effect in November. Under the new system, the village would sell stickers for $1.50 each, and a sticker must be affixed to each bag. The new program was intended to encourage recycling.

18—Dexter township's Dick Ryan was now home resting after completing the second leg of the 2,200-mile Appalachian Trail hike. After walking five million steps on the trail, Ryan was 30 pounds lighter.

18—The fun downtown had just begun as workers made an unexpected discovery while cutting away pavement across Main St.—a huge void under the road. The road was being cut so the new main electrical cable, to serve the east side of Main St., could be buried under the road. A third of the way across they found a hole two or three feet deep and several feet long. Now the block from Middle St. to the railroad tracks was closed while the road was being repaired.

19—Approximately 30-40 Chelsea area people, featuring everyone from prominent business people and school officials to retired senior citizens, met with state Rep. Margaret O'Connor and state Sen. Lana Pollack to express their dismay, frustration, and anger with the state's property tax laws.

20—The Bulldogs lost sophomore quarterback Pat Steele for the season with a broken collarbone during their 21-6 loss at Milan. That would force the Bulldogs to change much of their offense for the remainder of the season as sophomore receiver Colby Skelton moved to quarterback.

23—Chelsea's new cable TV Channel 22 broadcast its very first regular program. The show, entitled "The Lary Hafner Showcase," was an hour-long variety show hosted by local Chelsea resident Lary Hafner.

October . . .

2—Chelsea School District stood to lose nearly $200,000 in operating funds if Gov. John Engler signed what has been called the "Robin Hood" bill to provide more funds for in-formula school districts. Under the bill, out-of-formula districts (such as Chelsea) are required to give up a portion of their future commercial and industrial tax base and share it with poorer school districts.

5—As part of the Chelsea '91 Fallfest, Chelsea hosted a unique bicycle race featuring Match Sprinting down Main St., a baking contest at Chelsea Milling Co., and a children's bike gymkhana at the Faith in Action parking lot.

5—Pete and Tamara Kaiser of Gregory sold their miniature hand-crafted wagons at the Country Craft and Folk Art Show at Chelsea High school. The show drew more than 3,000 patrons, the largest attendance in its history. The show benefited the Chelsea Senior Citizens organization.

7—Chelsea residents and school district administrators expressed their displeasure with state property tax laws and other issues related to school financing in a question-and-answer session with state Sen. Lana Pollack before the regular school board meeting. Pollack, who had spoken to Chelsea High school seniors earlier in the day, was on the firing line for about 90 minutes. Much of the discussion was devoted to the pending "Robin Hood" bill.

9—An industrial park was slowly developing off Brown Dr. in Sylvan township on land owned by Chelsea Lumber Co. owner Bob Daniels. The land, originally a 120-acre farm, already had one business, Chelsea Self Storage.

10—An 18-year-old Manchester man was killed in a one-car crash on Austin Rd. Eric Scott Fillyaw was westbound at a high rate of speed when he failed to negotiate a right-hand curve in the road. The vehicle left the road and hit

JCC Will Host Criminal Justice Job Fair Jan. 15

Jobs in criminal justice, including law enforcement, security and investigations will be the focus of a Criminal Justice Job Fair at Jackson Community College on Jan. 15. Representatives from more than a dozen police departments, security companies and educational institutions will be at the fair. Two sessions, from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., will be conducted in the George E. Potter Center Federer rooms. The fair, sponsored by JCC and the Jackson Human Relations Commission's education committee, is geared for high school and college students interested in criminal justice. However, anyone is welcome to attend. Pre-registration is required by Jan. 10. A free lunch will be served to all attendees. To register, or for more information, contact Steve Seckler at 787-0800, ext. 326 or Jill Reese at ext. 357.

CHRISTMAS IN APRIL—Washtenaw, The Spirit of Giving, has drawn the attention of many in the Chelsea area. Purpose of the program is to repair homes of poor, elderly, or disabled homeowners. Those who met locally were, from left, Pat Merkel, American Legion; Rosemary Harook, village zoning inspector; Richard Shaneyfelt, Faith in Action; Ann Feeney, Chamber of Commerce; Duane Schiller, Kiwanis Club of Chelsea; Colleen Weddon, Modern Mothers Study Club; Joe Plasecki, Chelsea School District superintendent; Dave Dearing, Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce; and (not pictured) Warren McArthur, who was first contacted by Rep. Margaret O'Connor to explore the program locally.

Local Organizing Begins for Program 'Christmas in April'

First organizational meeting of "Christmas in April, Washtenaw—The Spirit of Giving," was held Wednesday, Dec. 18 at Chelsea Community Hospital. Purpose of the meeting was to gauge the interest in Chelsea for participating in the national project. Nine community members, representing various organizations and groups, met to review the purpose and goals of the project. "Christmas in April is an annual one-day blitz to repair and rehabilitate the homes of poor, elderly, and disabled homeowners. It unites people of all faiths and walks of life in an effort to assist people in need. It is non-partisan, non-sectarian, and non-profit. It is dedicated to keeping low-income, elderly, and disabled homeowners living in warmth, safety, independence, dignity, and decency through home repair using volunteer services," according to the organization literature. The plan is to help people who cannot maintain their homes. Referrals usually come from churches, synagogues, community organizations, and service groups. Homeowners are asked to work along with volunteers, wherever possible. Until April 25, the day of the program, committees will determine local needs, recruit volunteers, raise funds, get necessary permits, arrange for materials deliveries, and make provisions to feed workers. Anyone interested in the program may contact local chair Richard Shaneyfelt at 475-8193.

Jorgensen on Fall Dean's List

Holly Jorgensen of Chelsea was named to the Dean's List at Baldwin-Wallace College for the fall quarter, according to the office of the vice-president for academic affairs.

 NEW PATIENTS WELCOME

Goodbye 1991

Hello 1992

1991 wasn't the best of years. A lot of our good people found themselves out of work or changing jobs as the economy floundered. Many of our customers who depended on interest-bearing savings for income, particularly the elderly, had their income cut as interest rates dropped. Even though we were in a recession, inflation continued to creep upward. 1992. It has to be better.

Interest rates are down for those who are borrowing. Early 1992 could be the best time to buy a home, fix up a home or make a major purchase. We're bullish on the economy. We believe 1992 will be a much better year for everyone than 1991 proved to be. We look for growth in our bank and in our community. We believe, a year from now, Chelsea will be a stronger, healthier community than it is today. Keeping your business locally will help spur our local economy.

1991 CHELSEA HISTORY:

Year-End News Summary

11—Chelsea Industries employees overwhelmingly voted to join the United Auto Workers.

12—Don Boklage, a folk artist and naturalist, entertained on the grounds of the Waterloo Farm Museum on the annual Pioneer Day.

13—"The Rock" was again becoming the subject of controversy in the village as the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce worried about the image the stone projects as well as spillover painting of other objects in Pierce Park.

14—Some patrons made a hasty departure from Gina's Cafe after a deer jumped through a picture window, ran to the back of the restaurant, and was wrestled to the floor by Christopher Blesade, a waiter. The animal was later released in a nearby field.

15—Chelsea Village Council delayed any action on "the rock." Trustee Stephanie Kanten requested the issue be tabled until next meeting because a petition was being circulated locally to save the rock.

16—The Fox Theatre in Detroit hosted the Midwest premier of Paramount Pictures' comedy film, "The Butcher's Wife," starring Chelsea's Jeff Daniels and Demi Moore. Proceeds from the event benefitted the Chelsea based Purple Rose Theatre Co.

17—Chelsea Board of Education approved $70,000 in budget cuts for the current year as part of the district's way of coping with new state legislation, the "Robin Hood" bill, that would take $195,883 from the district this year.

18—A man stole $1,450 from the Chelsea branch of Society Bank in a robbery during the lunch hour. The man passed a note to a teller which read "This is a robbery. I have a gun, I want 50s and 100s." After the teller gave him the money, he fled the scene. The police arrived about 20 minutes later. No one was hurt in Chelsea's first bank robbery in about 10 years. The FBI would handle most of the investigation, with assistance from the local police.

19—Chelsea 1995 used a brainstorming session at The Common Grill to plan for projects it wants to complete over the next two years. Among the projects on tap were bringing a movie theater to Chelsea, as well as a motel or bed and breakfast, and creating an easy path for walkers or bikers from downtown to the fast food restaurants.

November . . .

1—Chelsea Bulldogs girls cross country team took second at a state meet held at Big Rapids. Chelsea fell to Jackson Lumen Christi and barely edged out Big Rapids.

2—Michelle Smith was honored for 30 years of volunteer teaching in the school district at a party at North school. Smith, a resident in the Chelsea Retirement Community, worked with children before there was a North or South school. In recent years she has worked with first graders at both schools.

3—Chelsea Area Transportation Service (CATS) celebrated its 15th anniversary of service to the Chelsea community. In 15 years, CATS has carried more than 123,000 passengers over 240,000 miles. The service provides transportation for handicapped and the elderly.

4—The Rock would apparently remain in Pierce Park. A village council meeting brought forth the usual arguments from both sides, and although The Rock's supporters did not seem to have solid support from the council, The Rock would not be moved. Village manager Jack Myers said he did not expect the issue to come before council again anytime soon.

5—Village of Chelsea's new trash pick-up program officially began. All trash bags must have stickers, which can be purchased at a cost of $15 for 10 stickers.

6—Village council voted unanimously to pay the $5,081 requested by the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority to keep the bus route running another year. However, council made it clear that unless "outside funding" is secured, the service was not likely to be approved next September.

7—A 52-year-old Grass Lake woman faced shoplifting charges in connection with the theft of four packs of cigarettes from Polly's Market. In her statement, the woman told police she was "too poor to even afford food."

8—Calvert's Rolloff Containers, Inc. received permission from the Washtenaw county board of commissioners to construct a solid waste recycling center in Scio township. An application for a building permit would now be considered by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

9—Chelsea Fire Department's effort to build another fire station in Lyndon township was handed a setback as Sylvan township decided not to consider the matter until the landfill issue was settled.

10—"Ties That Bind," a new play by Michigan playwright Kitty S. Dubin, began performances at the Purple Rose Theatre Company's Garage Theatre. It examines the strengths and weaknesses of intimate relationships in today's complex world.

11—Chelsea Area Players presented the original Broadway production of "A Chorus Line" at Chelsea High School Auditorium. The show is a celebration of those unsung heroes of the American Musical Theatre—the chorus dancers.

Woman Nabbed Taking Medicines From Supermarket

A 34-year-old Chelsea-area woman may face shoplifting charges in connection with an incident at Polly's Market on Dec. 21.

According to police, store security caught the woman outside with a bottle of Pepto Bismol and a bottle of Kaopectate in her purse. Value of the items was $7.66.

The woman told police she took the items because she was tired of waiting in line.

Figurines Stolen From Dayspring

Figurines valued from $29 to $190 were stolen from Dayspring Gifts in early December.

A routine check of inventory revealed the missing merchandise. Stolen were six Hummel pieces, another figurine, a pen set, and a poker game.

The theft was reported Dec. 19. Police suspect a collector might be involved. Available evidence has apparently ruled out involvement by an employee.

Red Cross Can Help Desert Storm Vets

The American Red Cross has been chosen by the Department of Defense to provide family and child care assistance to National Guard and Reserve members who served—or continue to serve—in Operation Desert Storm. The funds to help eligible families receive needed assistance have been appropriated by Congress.

Area residents interested in applying should contact the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross at (313) 971-5300 to schedule an appointment.

"The American Red Cross has been serving the armed forces and military families for more than 100 years," said Laura Burkey, director of Community Emergency Services for the Washtenaw County Chapter. "Our Chapter is happy to be able to provide this service to the Persian Gulf War veterans."

The assistance available includes family counseling, crisis intervention and budget counseling. These services will be provided by licensed professionals. In addition, child care subsidies are available to enable recipients to participate in reunion programs.

AYE AYE CAPTAINS: Team captains, Greg Skrepenak and Erick Anderson from the Michigan Wolverines are running their favorite play with this year's Rose Queen, Tannis Ann Turrentine. The double play was successfully completed using the ole' criss-cross pattern at the 36th annual Lawry's Beef Bowl at Lawry's The Prime Rib restaurant in Beverly Hills. Greg and Erick will meet with the Washington Huskies at the Rose Bowl on Jan. 1.

'Winter Party' Slated Sunday At Park

"Annual Winter Party" will be held this Sunday, Jan. 5 at Park Lyndon South. Smoking, alcohol, and pets are not allowed in the park.

Parks naturalist Matt Huemann will lead a short stroll through the park, and a dessert potluck will follow.

More Than 100 Attend Faith in Action Dinner

More than 100 people attended a Christmas dinner held by Faith in Action at St. Mary's of Chelsea Parish Center, Wednesday, Dec. 25.

"We were all one big happy family enjoying a dinner party," Nadine Shaneyfelt, volunteer co-ordinator, said.

Chris Bledsoe, a Chelsea youth minister, entertained on guitar while carols were sang.

Many volunteers from Dexter brought gifts and food, and offered their services.

Everyone was invited to choose among gifts of socks, mittens and hats. Chelsea Greenhouse donated centerpiece for the dinner tables and people were able to take them home.

Gina's restaurant provided ham, green beans, rolls and butter for the dinner.

The Rev. Jerry Beaumont, director of Faith in Action, spent Christmas in the hospital, Ms. Shaneyfelt said. He underwent nine hours of surgery and is now coming along well, she said.

"Plenty of volunteers took over for him and the dinner was a great success."

Faith in Action prepared more than 100 Christmas food baskets for families in their service area, which includes Dexter and Chelsea. The baskets contained a complete turkey dinner. They were distributed on Friday, Dec. 20.

In addition, 27 families were adopted by caring individuals who provided Christmas gifts of clothing, toys and other items to the families.

The Faith in Action Center will be closed for the holidays until Thursday, Jan. 2. Hours are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Faith in Action is an organization of local volunteers who assist those in financial, physical or supportive need. It is a recipient of Dexter Area Service Association funds.

AARP Will Hear Experts Discuss Home Maintenance

The Jan. 9 meeting of AARP will feature "house talk" again. By popular demand, Donald Macmillan, architect, and Terry Feret, general contractor, will return to answer questions about home maintenance and repair.

Members and guests are invited to come and try to stump the experts.

Washtenaw County chapter 4240 of the American Association of Retired Persons meets the second Thursday of the month at 1:30 p.m. at the Pittsfield Township Hall, corner of South State and Ellsworth, Ann Arbor.

Letter from China

Dear Friends,
 Christmas greetings from the Middle Kingdom!
 I just returned from a brief train trip to Chengdu.
 Traveling by train in China is an exercise in perseverance. You can travel in relative comfort via soft seat or soft sleeper—if you have a lot of money and “pull” with someone in the ticket office. I travel by hard seat. It is easy to get these tickets since they do not guarantee you a seat, only the chance for a seat. There are about 100 seats to a car and you generally have about 150 Chinese people with all their bags, baskets, cages of chickens, cages of birds, sacks of rice, thermos bottles of hot water, quilts, and crying babies sitting, standing, and leaning against each other as the train rumbles out of the station.

 The Chinese dislike and distrust two things. Cold water and moving air. Thus, on the train, you are trapped in a car with no fresh air, in a country where mouthwash and deodorant are not used. People hack, spit, cough, and pass gas. Of course, I think that for some there is a certain thrill in squatting over the toilet hole on the train and watching the railroad ties zip by. Note: If you are ever in China never stand next to the train while stretching your legs at a stop.

Cong. Pursell Awarded U-M Degree

The University of Michigan conferred an honorary Doctor of Laws degree on Second District Congressman Carl D. Pursell during the recent Winter Commencement.

Pursell, an eight-term member of Congress, was one of four honorary degree recipients during the December ceremony. The Doctor of Laws was awarded to Pursell “in recognition of his long-standing public service.”

The university’s presentation cited Pursell’s more than 20 years in public service, saying the congressman:

“... has proven himself to be a thoughtful and influential legislator and a devoted public servant since his first election to public office. Throughout his tenure in Congress, he has worked to promote Michigan’s interests while advancing a national agenda in areas such as health care, basic scientific research, transportation and the environment.”

The other recipients were: businessman Alex Manoogian, economist Richard A. Musgrave and researcher Nancy Sabin-Wexler.

In addition to U. of M., Pursell has received honorary degrees from Madonna University, Cleary College, Eastern Michigan University and Adrian College. He earned his bachelor and master degrees in education from Eastern Michigan University.

In all fairness I must admit I actually enjoy hard seat travel. Why? Nowhere else have I seen the Chinese practice such ingenuity for making do, for trying to have a pleasurable time even if the circumstances are terrible. They sing songs, play cards, have communal food feasts, joke, exchange cigarettes, drink beer, and prove that humanity can always rise to meet adversity. You live through it because you have to, and you remember it. Since many of the people I rode with were traveling for 17, 22, 34 hours this way, my admiration for their stoicism is strong.

By the way, in Chengdu, in addition to getting totally “temped” out after visiting five temples in two days, I enjoyed eating at Fangshan Restaurant where I had stir-fried sliced camel hump at my host’s determined insistence. Note: It looks like white jade, doesn’t taste too bad, but has a lot of fat. They also offered steamed crab and fish lips (it is made of the ovaries and digestive glands of crabs, with diced veggies, and fish lips). I didn’t see anybody order snake (you could pick your own from a tank where they curled nervously).

Mary Ellen Myning.

All Good Wishes
 Friends like you are what make celebrating a new and promising year special. Many thanks.

YOU & YOUR PET

By Linda Reider Education Department Humane Society of Huron Valley ★ Cat-to-Cat Aggression - Part II

Last week we explored a few of the reasons behind feline aggression in a multiple cat household. Specifically, we discussed male interfighting, territorial problems, and aggression caused by accidental frightening occurrences. We'll conclude by looking at redirected aggression, and aggression that results from introducing a new cat to the household. Redirected aggression: An angry cat is unsafe to approach, even if she is your own pet. Perhaps she was just involved in a cat fight or was severely frightened by another animal, either inside the house or viewed through a window. Cats generally do not redirect their aggression unless approached or touched by an animal or person. Therefore, simply wait until your cat has calmed down before attempting to handle her. You can tell that she is calmer when she has switched to another behavior (grooming, eating, playing) other than the defensive one. In an emergency, such as when your cat must be removed from the angry situation to prevent injury or loss of life, throw a heavy blanket over the cat, bundling her securely, and then pick her up.

New cat in the house: Whether a kitten or a full-grown adult, a new cat in a house will almost always cause tension. The existing feline feels her territory invaded while the new cat will establish a dominance rank in the household. You can minimize the stress for all parties and reduce the amount of fighting by introducing the newcomer over a period of days. Begin by confining the new cat in a cat-proof room that is closed off from the other cats in the house. Spend time with the new arrival, in the room only, for the first few days. It is an excellent time for her to gradually adjust to your routine and the house smells. At the same time you can watch for any signs of health problems that may not have been apparent upon adoption. Make sure she has her own litterbox: Your other felines will know that there is a new cat in the house, but won't be losing more than one room of their territory during the first crucial days. They will get used to the smell of the other cat by sniffing at the door and by smelling your hands and clothes when you come out of the room. Be sure to lavish extra attention on them at this time. After a few days, at a time when the house will be relatively quiet and you can be home, introduce the cats face-to-face. Open the door to the new cat's room, and then seat yourself nearby to watch developments, armed with a heavy blanket and a squirt gun in case of serious fighting that must be stopped. Expect a certain amount of growling, hissing, raised backs, sniffing, hiding, approaching, and even swatting. The cats will have to sort things out among them and this is how they do so. If things get too rough, use the blanket or the water.

The aggression should calm down gradually, but you may need to confine the newcomer in the room again and continue the introduction a few more times. It often takes days, weeks, even a month or more for the new cat to be accepted into the household by the other felines. But once that has happened, you can again sit back and enjoy the rewards of multiple cat ownership!

★ Resolving To Make 1992 A Better Year ...

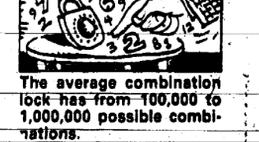

The holidays are over and the new year is about to begin. Many of us will greet 1992 with gusto—and a dog-eared list of well-intentioned goals for self-improvement. For some, making New Year's resolutions has become a holiday tradition. Unfortunately, many resolutions are familiar ones that seem to pop up annually, such as to stop smoking—again—or to lose 10 pounds by Valentine's Day. The reason many resolutions never get off the ground is because people tend to set unrealistic goals for themselves, according to psychologist Ovide Pomerleau, Ph.D., director of the Behavioral Medicine Program at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

"If you look at the over-all pattern of resolutions, they sound good, but they don't mean much," he says. A more realistic—and successful—approach to reaching self-improvement goals is to avoid the trap of setting mental imperatives, such as "I'll always" or "I'll never." Most people expect more of themselves than they can deliver, so they doom themselves to failure from the start. Setting up impossible, or improbable, situations steers them that way. Here are some guidelines for successful resolutions:

• Live in the present, not in the future. For example, don't say, "I'll exercise in six months when I'm thin and looking good in exercise clothes." Instead, start right away. But do so in sensible, gradual increments that are realistic and possible to accomplish. "You should build on your successes—not on your heroics," Pomerleau says. "For example, begin exercising 15 to 20 minutes a day for the first two weeks, then increase the time to half an hour. Don't go out there the first week and overdo it."

• Be willing to take time and practice the new behavior. After all, new attitudes or behaviors take time to establish and take even longer to become second nature. • By the time a person is 40 years old, he or she has sat down to meals roughly 40,000 times. Changing set eating patterns after that much time not only takes a great deal of ambition, but it requires that the person set a daily schedule for practicing those changes.

• Monitor the behavior, whether desirable or undesirable. If you sponsor a behavior designated as desirable, it increases the behavior, while if you monitor a behavior that is undesirable, it will decrease the behavior. "It forces you to acknowledge negative activities that you may not have even been aware of before, and it also forces you to acknowledge when you do something constructive that is leading toward your goal," Pomerleau says. Incorporating these fundamental behavior modification techniques into any resolution is bound to increase your chances for success so that hopefully, the same old promises won't crop up again next year.

The average combination lock has from 100,000 to 1,000,000 possible combinations.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!

On this, the brand new, grand New Year, we extend our wishes for peace, hope and friendship throughout the world.

Estimated 275,000 Deer Harvested in Michigan's '91 Season

An estimated 275,000 white-tailed deer were harvested in Michigan by firearm deer hunters during 1991's Nov. 15-30 season. This year's season was the fourth best in history.

The deer harvest is estimated by a southbound hunter traffic survey throughout the 16-day season, which has provided an early, accurate estimate of the harvest for three decades.

Final harvest figures, which will be available in June, are based on a mail survey of this year's deer hunters.

Michigan leads the nation in deer hunting recreation, with about 10 million days annually spent afield.

BRIAN LYNCH as "Jean Valjean" in a scene from "Les Miserables," the musical presented by Cameron Mackintosh, based on Victor Hugo's classic novel and winner of eight 1987 Tony Awards, including Best Musical. "Les Miserables" is written by Alain Boublil and Claude-Michel Schonberg. Music is by Claude-Michel Schonberg, lyrics by Herbert Kretzmer and original French text by Alain Boublil and Jean-Marc Natel. "Les Miserables" is directed by John Caird and Trevor Nunn. "Les Miserables" is playing at The Fisher Theatre in Detroit through Jan. 12.

PUBLIC NOTICE ICE AND SNOW REMOVAL

All owners or occupants of real estate in the Village of Chelsea must remove any accumulations of ice and snow which obstruct the free use of the sidewalk by pedestrians within 48 hours after the accumulation of such snow or ice.

ORDINANCE NO. 94

23.253-Sec3 - Ice & Snow Removal

It shall be the duty of the owner or occupant of every parcel of real estate within the Village which adjoins a public right-of-way upon which there has been constructed a public sidewalk, to remove any accumulations of ice and snow which obstruct the free use of the sidewalk by pedestrians, within 48 hours (Ord. No. 94, eff. June 21, 1985)

23.254-Sec4 - Failure to Remove Snow and Ice

Any owner or occupant of real estate which adjoins the public right-of-way upon which there is constructed a public sidewalk, who shall fail to remove accumulations of snow and ice as provided in Section 3 (25.253), above, shall be guilty of a violation of this Ordinance, and the Chelsea Village Police Officer may make complaint and request a warrant from the appropriate judicial officer, or issue and appearance ticket or citation, as provided by Public Act 366 of 1984, directing the appearance of such owner or occupant before the appropriate judicial officer to answer the complaint. (Ord.-No. 94, eff. June 21, 1985)

23.255-Sec5 - Removal of Obstructions or Snow and Ice by Village.

It shall be the duty of the Village Administrator, and Village Department of Public works, their agents and employees, on the order of the Chelsea Village Police Offices to remove any obstructions or accumulations of snow and ice, or cause the same to be removed, as soon as possible. The Village Administrator shall, at the next meeting of the Village Council, report any and all obstructions or accumulations of snow and ice so removed, together with the names and addresses of the owners and occupants of such premises, together with a statement of the costs of removal and the description of the real estate abutting the public right-of-way upon which there was located a public sidewalk and from which the obstructions or accumulations were removed. The Chelsea Village Council may cause the expense, or such portion thereof as the Council may determine to be just and reasonable, to be charged to such owner or occupant. Notice of the amount due shall be mailed by the Village Administrator immediately to the owner or occupant. The owner or occupant shall have thirty (30) days thereafter within which to pay the same. In the event that said amount remains unpaid, the Village Council may, at its next regular meeting, cause the amount of the expenses incurred for which said owner or occupant is liable, together with a penalty and collection fee of ten (10%) percent thereof, or FIFTY ($50) DOLLARS, whichever is greater, to be levied as a special tax or assessment upon the abutting lot or premises, in accordance with the procedures of Ordinance No. 80 (23.00), the Chelsea Village Special Assessment Ordinance. Such tax, when confirmed, shall be a lien upon such real estate, the same as other special assessment, and shall be spread together with such penalty and collection fee upon the roll as a special assessment, and collect it in the same manner as other Village taxes. The Village Council may elect, in addition to imposing a special assessment, to commence any action to collect such amount and penalty in an action at law together with the cost of prosecution. (Ord. No. 94, eff. June 21, 1985)

"LES MISERABLES"

Detroit—The magic paths of "Les Miserables" returned to The Fisher Theatre with their current bus and truck touring cadre performing through Jan. 12. Yes, "Les Miserables" holds its own as one of my all-time favorites, with this viewing representing attendance No. 11, again verifying my adoration of this moving musical masterpiece.

If you have yet to see "Les Miserables" on stage, you will be overwhelmed at the simplicity and richness of The Fisher production. Although the first National Touring Company still leads in quality performances and production values over other touring groups, including the original cast Broadway production, without a doubt, the depressing warmth and superb music are still enhancingly intact most effectively in this current offering.

Less fervor emanates from The Fisher stage because the direction of some scenes seems to have changed and the reduction of personnel in the production cuts down on the magnetism of the production.

Christmastime at Greenfield Village is especially eventful on Christmas Eve. To see Tamra Hayden (the current Cosette) and Stephen C. Bishop (Grantaire) walking through the museum exhibits furnished an acquaintanceship not otherwise affordable to me.

Colorado native Tamra Hayden had joined the First National Touring Company in the Fisher's first production. To see this beautiful young lady fulfilling one of the mainstay roles was truly exciting. Her Cosette is a faultless performance from acting to her clear enjoyable soprano voice.

With a little bit more spice, Stephen C. Bishop's Grantaire is a masterpiece of singing/acting. As a member of the student loyalists who drinks through the staged revolution rallies with fellow students by again raising the flag, only to be massacred by enemy gunfire in the final battle scene.

And a note should be made for Michael S. Proctor, joining the cast in place of both Joshua Finkel and Bryant Lanier; Tina Paradiso filling Ruthann Bigley's shoes, and Audrey Klinger's replacement of Mercedes Perez.

The most outstanding Enjolras (student leader of the loyalist forces) ever seen in the previous 10 productions is Aloysius Gigg. Gigg possesses stage magnetism that extends beyond the footlights, and his handsomeness adds to the excitement his role demands of him. Probably the most outstanding actor in the current Fisher production.

All actors in the production are competent. However, especially effective performances are given by David Jordan as Javert; Donna Kane as Fantine; and Brian Lynch, Jean Valjean.

Unusually well delivered musical numbers included Javert's "Stars," "One Day More" by the Company, "Drink with Me to Days Gone By" by Grantaire, students, and women.

Performances continue at The Fisher Theatre through Jan. 12 with information and tickets available at 1-313-871-1066. Many performances are sold out, so please call prior to attending this magnificent musical to assure yourself a seat.

NEED A HOUSE? This small house on Van Buren St. is available free of charge. The catch is, whoever wants it has to pay to move it. The house is on a lot that is being developed by Chelsea Internal Medicine. Dr. Steven Yarows, one of the partners, said the house will have to be demolished if it isn't moved. The house, which is being used as a billing office, is in decent condition, Yarows said.

Harmonica Virtuoso on Showcase

Opening its second season, the Lary Hafner Showcase will continue to entertain with musical and magical talent from the area.

Making his encore performance is Peter "Madcat" Ruth.

Ruth has established an international reputation through his exhilarating, riveting virtuosity on the harmonica. Performance Magazine refers to him as "A harmonica virtuoso who is rapidly approaching legend status."

Madcat has recorded on over 35 albums; has performed on national TV and radio; has recorded movie soundtracks; has performed with symphony orchestras; and has shared the stage with many well known musicians including Bonnie Raitt, Willie Dixon, Muddy Waters, David Bromberg, and Taj Mahal.

The magic continues with well known illusionists Jeff Boyer and Jim Fitzsimmons. In their second outing on the Showcase, they will introduce Flip the dog. Flip is famous for his many tricks and mystical power.

Rocking the Showcase this week will be hometown band the Holy Cows. The group consists of Scott Salyer, Mike Feeney, and brothers John and Mike Popovich. The guys have been together for five years and just finished producing their third album. They will be promoting their latest recording by performing original songs.

Making her singing debut is local country singer Kelly Thiele. With help from the Holy Cows, Kelly will give the audience her rendition of "The Blues."

Showcase regular Justin Kase will be on hand to play guitar and sing. Also appearing is Larry Guenther who will sing and accompany himself on guitar.

The new season premier of Showcase is Jan. 5. That date will be a benefit for The Lary Hafner Showcase with a $10 admission as a donation.

The Lary Hafner Showcase is taped before a live audience every Sunday evening from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Each show airs 8 days after taping and the public is encouraged to attend. Admission is free and tapings are held in the Faith in Action building in Chelsea.

The Lary Hafner Showcase airs every Monday and Thursday evenings on the Chelsea cable channel 22 at 7 p.m.

The Lary Hafner Showcase is always looking for guests and pet tricks, or if you would like to volunteer to help with the Showcase, call 475-9911 or write P.O. Box 571, Chelsea 48118.
