Four Candidates File For Village President, Seven for Council Seats

How circumstances change in one year.

It promises to be one of the most interesting and unusual elections in Chelsea village history this March as four candidates will face off for president and seven will compete for three seats on village council. In 1991, three candidates ran unopposed for trustee in one of the most low-key elections ever.

This year there are plenty of familiar faces and several unknowns. In many ways, it's like a family affair.

Every person who has run for village president since 1984 is in this election for the same spot. One-term incumbent Richard Steele, and former presidents Jerry Satterthwaite, and Charles Ritter will all be on the ballot, along with 21-year-old political newcomer Todd Thurkow.

Thurkow's father, Harry, a member of the village's zoning board of appeals, is running for trustee for the first time. Other candidates include former trustee Gary Bentley, former planning commission member Ishmael Picklesimer, zoning inspector Rosemary Harook, political newcomer Brian Cashman, and incumbents Joe Merkel and Frank Hammer.

In uncontested elections, incumbent treasurer Kathleen Chapman is running again, and Gary Zenz and Robert Bowers are running for three-year terms on the McKune Memorial Library Board.

It may be the first time there have ever been four candidates for president.

Satterthwaite has beaten both Steele and Ritter in presidential elections. Steele has beaten Satterthwaite but has never faced Ritter. Ritter has beaten neither man.

Ritter, 71, 509 Maywood St., served as president in 1980-82 in the previous election format. He is a sales representative for MacDee, Inc. of Chelsea. He last ran for president in 1986 and was narrowly edged for a village council seat two years ago by now village manager Jack Myers.

Steele, 46, 211 Lincoln St., will seek a second term. He served for five years on council before defeating Satterthwaite for president two years ago. He is manager of endoscopy at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Satterthwaite, 50, 423 McKinley St., will seek his fourth term as president. He served three consecutive terms from 1984-90. In 1986 he defeated Ritter and in 1988 defeated Steele. He is employed by Klink Excavating Co. and has owned businesses in the past.

Todd Thurkow, 509 Lane St., has to be the surprise candidate of the election. He's a 1988 Chelsea High school graduate and works for RETS Painting.

"There are so many people around here 18-25 who aren't even registered to vote," Thurkow said Monday. "I want to wake them up and let them know we've got a voice in this, too."

Merkel, 45, 743 Taylor St., is the senior member of council. He usually draws more votes than any other candidate. He is the owner of Wolverine Food & Spirits.

Hammer, 46, 521 East St., will seek his second term on council. He is vice-chair of the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority and is a chemist at the National Sanitation Foundation.

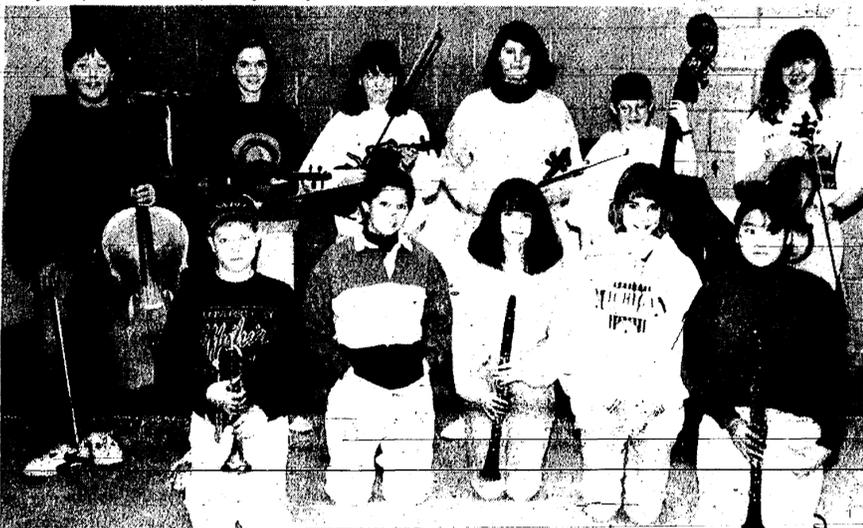

Bentley, 47, 223 Harrison St., served two terms on council from 1986-90. He decided not to run in 1990. He is employed at Chelsea Milling Co.

Harook, 53, 220 E. North St., has been zoning inspector for nearly eight years. She has also been outspoken on any number of issues at village council meetings.

Harry Thurkow, 47, 206 Wilkinson St., is employed at the Ann Arbor News and owns a hearing aid business.

Picklesimer, 68, 460 W. North St., is retired from Rockwell International. He served for many years on the village planning commission.

Cashman, 41, 449 Railroad St., is employed at the University of Michigan. He is an alternate on the zoning board of appeals.

School Election Slated For June, District Offers Early Retirement

After a long discussion, Chelsea Board of Education has decided to hold the district's annual millage election at the traditional time in June rather than in a special election in April.

The administration had recommended the special election for two reasons. Washtenaw Intermediate School District plans to ask for 1.45 mills in June. And an early vote might allow the district to avoid any lay-offs. By law, teachers who are laid off have to be notified 60 days before the end of the school year.

The district has yet to decide how much millage will be sought in June in addition to the current millage. The administration has estimated a possible $800,000 shortfall without new millage, but is looking at chopping about $200,000 out of the budget before the election.

The Chelsea district stands to gain about $200,000 from the proposed intermediate school district millage, earmarked for un-reimbursed special education expenses. That money, said superintendent Joe Plasecki, will have to come either from the proposed millage or the local general fund.

"We don't have any choice about whether to spend the money," Plasecki said.

Plasecki said if the WISD millage is passed, that local millage would be rolled back accordingly.

In a money-saving move, and in a possible change in hiring policy, the district is offering a new early retirement plan for any teacher with 15 or more years of service.

While about half of teachers in the Chelsea district would technically be eligible, Plasecki said that practically fewer than 20 teachers are likely candidates because of the economics of the offer.

Under the plan, teachers who apply for retirement would receive an annuity, cash, or an additional two years of service for retirement calculations. The policy differs from a previous policy adopted in 1987 that used age as the main criteria.

Plasecki said the plan would save the district at least $2,000 in the first year for each teacher who takes the package.

However, the savings would be realized by hiring an entry-level teacher to take the retiring teacher's place. And that represents a change in philosophy for the district, which has tried to hire "the best available teacher."

Mobile Home Park Rules Relaxed by Village Council

Chelsea Village Council has adopted a more relaxed ordinance governing mobile home parks to bring its regulations into compliance with state law, as recommended by the planning commission.

In doing so, the village has decided not to appeal to the state's Mobile Home Commission to allow higher local standards than those mandated by the commission. For nearly three years the village has been unable to convince the commission that more stringent standards are needed here, according to a report by assistant village manager Deborah Kuehn.

However, the council unanimously voted to urge approval of bills before the state legislature that would put mobile homes on the tax rolls in the same way as any other home. The new law would eliminate $3 monthly fees mobile home park residents pay in lieu of property taxes.

According to Kuehn's report, the new ordinance will allow shorter setbacks, more auxiliary buildings, and less paving, among other requirements.

Specifically, the new ordinance allows:

- Homes 20 feet from a right of way rather than 50 feet
- Homes 10 feet from a collector street rather than 30 feet.
- Only one hard-surfaced street rather than all driveways, parking spaces, and walkways.
- A reduction in size of individual sites to 4,400 square feet if the reduction (20 percent) includes extra open space within the park.
- No buffer around the lot rather than the previous 20-foot wide one.
- No recreation area per site, rather than a 300-square-foot one in the previous ordinance.
- Schools, daycare centers, government buildings, and churches as special uses within a park.

Kuehn said an appeal would require "substantial preparation of evidence" as well as legal counsel, and the chances of winning are small. Chelsea would have to prove the community has some unique characteristic to require tighter standards.

Kuehn said the new ordinance would not apply to the existing park on N. Main St. She also said it would serve as a guide for reviewing site plans.

Chelsea has 15 acres near the Chelsea Retirement Community zoned for a mobile home park as prescribed by law. Several potential developers have considered such a project, but no site plans have ever been submitted to the village.

TWO YOUNG VANDALS caused an estimated $2,000 damage at Beach Middle school early Monday morning, mostly by painting walls inside and out. As of Tuesday morning, Chelsea police had confessions from two eighth graders.

Vandals Paint Beach Walls, Inside and Out

Someone broke into Beach Middle school early Monday morning and used paint from the art room to vandalize the school inside and out.

Principal Darcio Stielstra's name was written in several places. Vandals also wrote "Dexter" and other words and symbols on walls inside and outside. Three reinforced windows, one of them in a door, were broken, and glass on several fire extinguisher doors were broken. Apparently nothing was stolen.

Police found an empty can of chocolate milk mix, plastic paint bottles, an automobile cigarette lighter, and a can of red spray paint.

Police said they have several local suspects.

Police said the damage occurred between 2:30 and 6:30 a.m.

DAN WEIR worked hard on his costume and his display on Saudi Arabia for last week's Middle Eastern Festival at Beach Middle school. Seventh graders studied individual countries, and the unit was concluded by the annual festival.

Engler Declares First Year in Office Produces 'Historic Change'

With Michigan still stuck in a lingering recession, Governor John Engler focused on economic and social issues in his State of the State address saying the course he began in his first year of office has pointed Michigan toward "historic change" which should be welcomed despite current uncertainty.

Engler asserted that a liberal, big government, "tax and spend" approach for the past decade has produced higher taxes, lower student test scores, greater dependence by the neediest and fewer jobs. He called on the state to continue to follow his program of less welfare, lower taxes and better schools "and not retreat down the path of failure."

After a year of heated confrontation and nearly non-stop opposition by Democrats, and occasionally some Republicans, to his proposals, Engler pledged to press ahead in 1992: "We cannot turn back. We will not turn back. Sometimes, people fear change and that's understandable. But in reality, we have nothing to fear but the failure to change."

While the address mostly painted broad themes than outlined specifics, the governor did propose a $1,000 business tax credit for those hiring the unemployed, a broadened small business tax exemption under the Single Business Tax, and a new Communities First pilot program to help low-income persons obtain services while working or seeking education or training.

He specifically opposed an increase in the gas tax, deflating hopes of many for raising large sums of money to fix deteriorating roads and bridges. But he did not yet disclose his decision on raising the cigarette tax, saying that for a later special message on health care.

"I offer a plan of action to create jobs and opportunity for our people. My plan puts Michigan first, gets Michigan moving and sends Michigan back to work," Engler said.

The plan includes his property tax cut plan—the "Cut and Cap." The plan calls for a 30 percent cut in property taxes over five years and a limit to the growth of future assessments.

"Cut and Cap sends a powerful message to job providers: that Michigan wants their business and their jobs," the governor said. "My friends, let this message be heard by all—Michigan is open and ready for business."

Engler said the importance of his strategy can be summarized by the words Willow Run, referring to the plant which General Motors has listed as one of two similar factories that will be closed as part of its latest round of downsizing.

The governor called on residents to buy American-made cars, calling it the best thing they could do to put Michigan back to work.

And he got the most bipartisan applause when he defended the industry, saying, "I'm sick and tired of hearing that American products don't have the quality to compete with Japan. Our cars are second to none. Our auto-workers are second to none. And, my friends, let me tell you—Michigan is second to none."

Without disclosing details, the governor said he will have special messages on health, social services and crime, along with the Build Michigan transportation program to be announced later this winter.

The special message on health care, due within two months, will include proposals to limit costs of liability, increase access to medical care, and promote prevention. It will also include programs to fight drug abuse and discourage smoking.

"Michigan can no longer lead the nation in deaths from preventable chronic disease," Engler said.

Democratic leaders, in their 1992 "Michigan State of the State Democratic Message," that aired immediately following Governor John Engler's presentation to a joint convention of the Legislature, declared the governor's lack of leadership has put the state at risk.

The taped message reiterated assertions Engler has promoted "mean-spirited" policies that have shredded the social safety net, harming working families, senior citizens and the poor and disabled.

House Speaker Lewis Dodak (D-Montrose) charged Engler has refused to negotiate and has never offered any alternatives to programs with which he disagrees. Instead, he said the governor has used the administrative board, executive orders and a "meat-ax" budget approach to governing. "There is no policy. If he doesn't like it, he eliminates it," Dodak said.

Senate Minority Leader Arthur Miller (D-Warren) said the governor is not facing reality and does not know the suffering occurring in the state. He said people are losing their jobs, homes and cars and the governor appears to be totally isolated from this.

"The governor is used to going to corporate board rooms and private country clubs," Miller said suggesting he needs to get out into the neighborhoods to talk with the real people of Michigan.

The Democratic leaders said they have attempted to fill the vacuum left by the governor's lack of leadership through a legislative agenda for family security through lower property taxes, education reform including reinstatement of Michigan Education Trust enrollments and capping higher education tuition increases, increased economic development and job training and environmental protection.

The 22-minute video presentation discussed what Democrats perceive as Engler's failure to provide leadership in social service programs, property tax relief, affordability and accessibility to education, current and future employment and environmental protection.

Committee Says Yes to Fences In Village Front Yards

Village residents may eventually be allowed to construct front yard fences. Those fences are outlawed by the village's zoning ordinance.

According to a memo from the Chelsea Planning Commission Fence Committee, their recommendation to allow front-yard fences "was based largely upon the demand from the community for this type of fence. A secondary, yet equally important consideration, was the desire . . . to allow homeowners the "reasonable use" of their entire property."

The committee has asked village council members to recommend standards for construction, which would

A tentative proposal from the fence committee suggests fences from 3-6 feet high be allowed in rear and side yards. Fences up to 4 feet would be allowed in a front yard between the home and the required setback. Fences up to 3 feet would be allowed within the setback area in a front yard but would have to be constructed of ornamental materials such as split rail or wrought iron. Retaining walls would also be considered fences if they are more than one-foot high. Front-yard fences would not be allowed to obstruct vision.

Front-yard fences have long been a thorn for zoning inspector Rosemary Harook, who has to turn down applicants for zoning compliance permits.

Village council will make the final decision whether to allow front-yard fences.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb told the fellers Saturday night at the country store that based on what he read in the early seventies when OPEC turned the spigot off it now is obvious that reports of the death of King Oil were greatly eggzaggerated. Zeke recalled that at the time Newsweek magazine said the world would run out of oil in seven years at the rate it was using it.

The rate may of gone down some, Zeke said, but not enough to extend oil's life this far. From what all the experts were repeating then, he said, we would of squeezed this old world as dry as a prune long before now. Actual, he went on, we are finding new supplies of oil and gas ever day and the experts see no end-in-sight.

Zeke said he brought the matter up because of two items in the papers. One was about Iran finding big deposits of natural gas, and the other was about Americans in Siberia helping the Russians get wells pumping in the world's richest oil fields. We don't need natural gas, but tearing up with the Russians can be just what we both need.

Practical speaking, Zeke said, what we've been hearing mostly is death rattles from the economy of what was the Soviet Union. Folks there need to convert oil to cash so they can buy food, clothing and shelter. We got plenty to wear and eat, but we need energy and we have no fear of going in debt. So helping them helps us.

Clem Webster was agreed that helping all the former pieces of the Soviet Union git up and running is good business for America. Those folks need everything and we got everything, including a international balance of payments that make us look like chumps of the universe. Clem recalled last month when President Bush took the GM and Chrysler presidents with him to beg Japan and other Far East countries to give us a shot at their markets. At last report, Japan had saw where GM was laying off 75,000 and Chrysler was in worse shape, so it was talking more imports and takeovers.

For sure, Clem went on, Americans allus come back to believing the best is yet to be. Why else, he ask, would investors put $700 million in the biggest shopping mall in the world. 650 acres under one roof in Minneapolis-St. Paul. Nobody behind that money is expecting anybody to have any trouble getting gasoline to git to the mall over the next 25 year, was Clem's words.

Meanwhile, the feller that runs the store has worked out a energy plan he calls BYOW. The key part is that not calling customers around the wood stove in the back of the store will bring their own wood.

He has a oil heater up front for the paying customers, and he is on a non-interrupt base with the oil and power companies. But he and his chainsaw ain't got a contract with the wood stove, and it can be shut down any time. He said he likes to bake his backside at the stove as much as the next burn, but he don't bake free and he don't see no good reason the rest of the burns should.

Actual, he said, the President is right. What the economy of this country needs is a better class of consumers.

Yours truly,

Uncle Lew.

County Explains Permit Fines In Reference to Lawsuit

Last week's story concerning a law suit filed against the village by electric department employee Paul Newhouse needs some clarification. The story said that village president Richard Steele was fined $80 by Washtenaw county because a permit was not issued for electrical work being performed at his home by a Chelsea electrical contractor.

According to Tom Miller of the Washtenaw County Building Department, the homeowner is ultimately responsible for work being performed on his property, although licensed contractors are responsible for securing permits. He said the department would pursue a licensed contractor for the fine. He also said such a violation "could reflect on the contractor's license with the state." He said the homeowner would be pursued for the fine if he or an unlicensed contractor was performing the work, or the homeowner couldn't prove a licensed contractor was performing the work.

Steele said he assumes his contractor paid the fine because the work passed a final county inspection, which otherwise would not have taken place.

The lawsuit is attempting to link the fine with Newhouse's demotion in the department.

ABWA Members Hear About History, Health Benefits of Yoga

Yoga is for relaxation and good health.

That's the advice given by Lucille Lightstone-Brochu to Chelsea's Charter Chapter of American Business Women's Association (ABWA) and many local residents.

As guest speaker at ABWA's meeting of Tuesday, Jan. 28, Ms. Lightstone-Brochu explained the history of yoga and its health benefits. Americans have found yoga to be a helpful stress reliever. They are interested in any kind of exercise that will benefit their body and exercise their minds, Ms. Lightstone-Brochu said.

Yoga is a combination of thought and exercise that brings together the three parts of the self—the body, mind and spirit. It is a holistic approach to exercise and those who practice it are more aware of their bodies, their health, and nutrition. It teaches them to relax and become aware of all aspects of what is reality, she said.

Ms. Lightstone-Brochu has been a student of yoga for 20 years. She has taught Hatha yoga in Dexter for the last 10 years. Hatha yoga is one of the many types of yoga that are taught today. It concentrates on movement of body.

Learning to breathe properly is one of the benefits of this type of Yoga. Many people suffer from respiratory problems because they breathe too shallowly, she said.

Oxygen is needed to energize the body, she said, when exhaling, toxins are released and this relaxes us.

Yoga is very popular in Dexter. Ms. Lightstone-Brochu has a large senior citizen following at her Thursday morning class.

In her Wednesday night class, students spend an hour on yoga posture and 15 minutes on conscious relaxation before rushing home from their work day.

Members of the ABWA participated in a few of the exercises during her demonstration.

ABWA members discussed plans for the annual fashion show and luncheon to be held Saturday, March 28 at 1 p.m. in the Chrysler UAW Hall in Chelsea. Members of the ABW will model spring fashions from Shirley's Fashions.

Almost everyone will receive a door prize, Cindy Bear, president, said. A 50/50 drawing will be held and entertainment will be scheduled.

Tickets for the fashion show are now available. In Dexter, ABWA members Shirley Enderle, Carol Model, Robin Meloche and Debbie Hutchinson.

Proceeds from the fashion show are for scholarship awards. Women who demonstrate ability and desire to continue their education and who demonstrate need are awarded the scholarships.

Applications for scholarship may be obtained through the ABWA president. Last year, $1,825 was awarded in scholarships.

At the Tuesday, Feb. 25, meeting, a vocational speaker will talk about her job. The meeting will be held at the home of Katie Chapman. Robin Meloche will give a travelogue of her trip to Spain.

Village To Replace Flouride Pump

Village of Chelsea will replace its water flouride injection system by late winter or early spring.

The village plans to buy a new flouride pump for $3,325.02 from Layne-Northern Co.

The old flouride pump broke down in August, according to acting electric and water superintendent Dan Rosen-treter.

Chelsea Man To Be Tried For Sexual Assault of Girl

A Chelsea man is scheduled to stand trial in May for sexually assaulting a seven-year-old girl last June. The girl lives next door to the accused, a man in his 30s. The girl's mother said the trial was originally scheduled for yesterday, but was postponed. She said the man originally agreed to plead no contest to a charge of second-degree sexual assault but changed his mind in November. He will stand trial for first-degree assault. The mother said the incident occurred in the man's house while she was watching the children of the accused in her front yard. She said her daughter came home and told her what happened. "This thing has been postponed to death," said the girl's mother. "The detectives have been very good and the Chelsea Police Department has been wonderful. But this has been going on for so long, and I think this is one reason why more parents don't come forward to prosecute. We feel like our backs are against the wall."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
Although the Christmas Season is long past and we all begin the new year each with our own agenda, I would hope the Chelsea Board of Education would do some reflecting on their actions in December and decide what they MUST do during the calendar negotiations for the school year 1992-93.

A decision was made by the School Board that Christmas music was not to be part of the annual Christmas Concert. Many families who attended the concert, although always pleased to hear their children perform, went away very disappointed with our school leadership. There was some holiday music performed, but the audience-participation "sing" was totally admitted. If the School Board remains steadfast in their decision for the future (of no Christmas music at the "Christmas Concert") let's be honest and rename and reschedule this event for January or February. The board made a decision that was not a reflective representation of the majority of this community.

Now, with the decision of "no Christmas music" at the Christmas concert, the board needs to consider how they must change the school calendar to reflect non-Christian interests throughout Chelsea schools. There clearly should be no Christmas, St. Patrick, or St. Valentine's Day parties at the elementary schools. (There are children attending classes now who CHOOSE not to attend these functions, but do not ask these functions be discontinued because of their non-participation.)

Of course there should be no Christmas vacation scheduled. The no-school days can be moved to January reflecting the "winter break." Dec. 25 should be a regular day for all non-Christian personnel and students as is Rosh Hashanah, a regular day for all non-Jewish personnel and students. Good Friday, another Christian holiday, should be observed the same way. Easter vacation no longer exists around Easter (except by mistake) so let's stabilize that vacation time to occur during a specific week each year, so parents will know from year to year when children will not be in school and appropriate arrangements can be made.

At this point there seems to be a lot of picking and choosing, with no particular guidelines that make sense or are consistent, as to what traditions are secular and what traditions reflect "religion." The separation of church and state is important to all of us. The church should not dictate to the government or rule the government, and neither should the government be involved in church practices.

As I recall from my history lessons, this country was formed partially because of religious persecution that many of our forefathers had experienced. They invited others to freely choose their religious practices without fear of persecution. They could participate in what was being established or not. THEY COULD CHOOSE!

However, the will of the majority of people in a community should be reflected by their elected representatives. If the singing, performing, and listening to religious songs during an event sponsored by the public schools is breaking the laws of this country, then the University of Michigan better stop sponsoring the annual performance of "The Messiah" at a state-funded university.

Nancy Dymond.

Dear Editor:
I would like the opportunity to express my opinion regarding a new development at Chelsea High school.

The Michigan law on school funding has blessed Chelsea High school with its beloved Student Improvement Team (SIT) from which we have received the newest idea in bringing the education of our high school students to its highest level.

The tactic which is supposedly going to lend a hand in solving the problems of CHS students is known as "I'm Prepared If..." Each teacher is provided with a fluorescent piece of paper with the title "I'm Prepared If" printed on it. Underneath these brilliant words the teacher has listed the qualifications that he or she thinks make a student ready for class; the qualifications usually consist of such things as having a pencil or pen, having paper, having the appropriate book, and/or being seated.

Does SIT actually believe that our education system is so terrible that it sees the need to teach people who have been in school for 12 years how to carry a pencil? When do parents start sending pencils to school with their children? First grade? Kindergarten? When are children expected to sit when and/or where they are told? Pre-school? Earlier?

My heart bleeds for a school district that feels the need to teach such things at the high school level.

My hope is that, even if teachers neglected to teach these basic concepts, children would discover, through trial-and-error or common sense (people under 20 do possess this), that they are supposed to carry a pencil or have their book or get paper. I bet that most normal children could catch on to these ideas all by themselves before entering junior high.

School officials and members of SIT seem to think that this great advancement in the teaching techniques at CHS will increase and improve learning and the learning environment. This is especially shocking since, as punishment for not being prepared, the student is sent out of the classroom where he is being taught useful material and into a room where he will spend his time pondering the values of bringing a pencil, paper, book, etc. The teacher is required to send work for the student, but if it were true that dittos can teach as well as class discussion or lectures, then we wouldn't have teachers.

As with many rules and regulations, punishing a student for forgetting class materials steals more from the learning process than it provides.

Carmen Smith.

To the Editor
and Civic Foundation of Chelsea,
On behalf of the Village of Chelsea and the Solid Waste Committee, I want to thank you and the Civic Foundation for your generous grant to the Chelsea Recycling Fund. The grant was to be used for the development of a cardboard recycling program and improvements in the milk jug program. Although the Foundation provided the funds as of December 1990, we have just now initiated the program after receiving monetary commitments from a number of area businesses. I felt a formal letter of thanks would be best sent after you and the Foundation could see the results of the grant.

The Civic Foundation Board of Directors is owed a special thanks for their understanding and acceptance of the conceptual ideas presented in the grant application. Your willingness to commit to this project at the outset spawned additional thought and commitment on the part of other organizations. Your foresight has initiated a recycling program that saves precious space in our landfill and encourages self growth. This same foresight has enabled the Village to improve a program in which our youngsters have so enthusiastically participated. No one would argue that an enthusiastic and involved younger generation is the key to intelligent solid waste management.

I realize that the support of such a grant is consistent with the purpose of the Civic Foundation. On the other hand, there are no rules which would require the high quality membership found in the Chelsea Civic Foundation. Please pass this letter among your membership and pat each other on the back because you have, indeed, made a positive difference in our community.

To the Editor,
I am writing to commend the managers of the Main Street Union 76 station and their president, James C. Lawson.
Several months ago I was dismayed to find several pornographic magazines on their shelves. They responded promptly to my request to remove the material.
These individuals have made a significant contribution to maintaining our community's high ethical standards. Pornography has clearly been linked to increased sexual crime. Let's encourage other businesses to follow our Union 76 station's lead.

CHRISTMAS IN APRIL* Washtenaw county-wide kick-off was held Jan. 25 at Washtenaw Community College. This project will target homes of people who, because of age or circumstance, are unable to maintain their homes. Volunteers will spend one busy day, April 25, doing what needs to be done. Representing Chelsea at the kick-off were, left to right, Dick Shaneyfelt, Chelsea's local chairman, Nadine Shaneyfelt from Faith in Action, Bill Bot, member of the county board of directors for Christmas in April, Warren McArthur who introduced the idea to Chelsea, Bob Smith and Norm Colby, representing the Lions Club.

'Christmas in April' Finds Plenty Of Needy Residents in Chelsea Area

Chelsea-area chapter of Christmas in April* Washtenaw will host a "Kick-Off Sunday" for the general public on Sunday, Feb. 9 from 2-4 p.m. at the Senior Citizen Center at the Faith in Action building on the grounds of Chelsea Community Hospital.

Christmas in April* Washtenaw is a one-day blitz to repair and rehabilitate the homes of the elderly, handicapped, low income residents. It will be held on Saturday, April 25.

A county-wide kick-off was held on Sunday, Jan. 25 at Washtenaw Community College.

The local kick-off will include an overview of the program, with a short video presentation, followed by a question-and-answer session. A second meeting at the same location is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 13 from 7-9 p.m. for anyone who cannot attend.

When asked whether there was a need for such a renovation program in the Chelsea area, Chelsea chairman, Dick Shaneyfelt said, "We sent out letters to all the agencies in the Chelsea area as well as the local churches. We received back six referrals, each was processed and turned over to our selection committee for approval or disapproval. At press time, five of the six have been processed and approved, and the sixth needs more information.

"The needed repairs range from electrical, heating and plumbing repairs to carpenter, plaster and window repairs, to the painting of entire homes. So with this kind of response in one month, I would say there is a need."

All work is done by volunteers with funds and materials donated by the community.

For more information about the program, attend one of the open

As the title suggests, the main attention is on baseball.

Nicklaus—An illustrated guide to lower scores. In this generously illustrated volume Nicklaus shows both the beginning and advanced player how to improve their game by stripping away the mistakes that lead to bad game scores. He presents step by step illustrations of how to execute and achieve a "professional swing" and how to grip, aim, stand, arc, create tempo, rhythm and timing to pack power into every swing.

Revolution from Within by Gloria Steinem—This book about self-esteem connects the social revolution against racial and sexual barriers led by Steinem to an internal revolution of spirit and consciousness. A unique blend of her own experience that includes stories of the lives of others as diverse as Mahatma Gandhi, Julie Andrews and the kids from Spanish Harlem.

Jewelry Making Highlights Meeting of Modern Mothers

On Jan. 28, the Modern Mothers Study Club held its meeting at Beach Middle school. Anne Mann and Mindy Kinner co-hosted the evening. The business meeting was followed by a demonstration by Kathleen Daniels on jewelry making. Kathleen shared with members and their guests a variety of possibilities for making jewelry using her special techniques and supplies. Each participant was able to design and make their own individual creation.

The finance committee reported the annual Christmas Auction in November added over $1,500 to the treasury. The money will allow the club to continue to support community projects, scholarships and club events.

NOTES

"Ability is a poor man's wealth..."

—Mashew Wren.

Even in our capitalist society, the only wealth that many of us will ever possess is our ability to do something better than average. We think first of the ability to earn a living... a talent or a skill which not everyone has without training and practice. From the neurosurgeon's skill at brain surgery to the housemaid's extra dexterity with a dust mop, we all possess some ability which is a form of wealth... perhaps our only wealth.

And even if one's only wealth seems to be the ability to uplift hearts, to make others happy, to inspire hope... who can say that this is a lesser form of wealth?

Today, many people select a funeral director as they do a lawyer or other professional... in advance of need. Our counselors will be pleased to discuss this with you at your convenience, without cost or obligation.

ROSE BOWL PAY-OFF: State Rep. Margaret O'Connor, R-Lodi township, is shown with Gov. Engler and her son, Patrick O'Connor, as Engler prepares to ship 10 bushels of Michigan Empire apples donated by the Michigan Apple Committee to Washington Gov. Booth Gardner. Engler was on the losing end of the "apple" wager based on the Rose Bowl game between the University of Michigan Wolverines and the Washington Huskies. Apples were selected as the appropriate commodity because last year Washington and Michigan ranked number 1 and 3 respectively in apple production. The younger O'Connor is director of Marketing and Communications for the Michigan Apple Committee, which also donated 10 bushels of the fruit to the Food Bank Council of Michigan in Gov. Engler's name.

District Offers Early Retirement

"In this part of the program it will be a change," Piasecki said. "If we're going to give retirees money, the only way we can recoup that money is to hire at the beginning of the salary schedule."

Piasecki said he didn't know how many teachers might apply for the benefits, but emphasized it is strictly a cost-cutting measure. The offer will be made this year, then again in about two years, Piasecki said. Teachers have to make their decision by March 28.

The early retirements may also reduce any necessary lay-offs needed, Piasecki said.

In other board business, the baseball team's annual spring trip was approved, as was the Outdoor Club's planned caving trip. The softball team spring trip will probably be approved in February.

New Calling Plans Offered Residential Phone Users

Beginning Feb. 1, Michigan Bell will offer a new calling plan that will provide major savings to residence customers who make frequent long distance and zone calls within 20 miles of their homes.

At the same time, the company said it also is enhancing an existing discount plan that offers savings on calls within a 30-mile calling radius.

"We estimate that nearly a million of our customers could save with these plans," said Laird Spencer, senior director of marketing and business development for Michigan Bell. "On average, a monthly savings of about $20 is expected with Circle Calling 20 and more than $5 with Circle Calling 30."

Circle Calling 20 will give customers seven hours of long distance and zone calling up to 20 miles for $20 a month. As an added feature, a 30 percent discount will apply to calls that exceed the seven-hour limit.

Circle Calling 30 will provide a 30 percent discount on toll and zone charges up to 30 miles, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and includes one-half hour of toll and zone calling for $3 a month. It could save an average customer more than $5 per month.

Circle Calling 20 for Chelsea will include the communities of Brighton, Clinton, Gregory, Pinckney, Saline and Whitmore Lake.

For Dexter the service will include Brighton, Clinton, Gregory, Howell, Manchester, Saline, South Lyon, Whitmore Lake and Ypsilanti.

Circle Calling 30 for Chelsea will include calls to Adrian, Belleville, Brighton, Britton, Clinton, Gregory, Hartland, Howell, Milan, Milford, Northville, Onsted, Pinckney, Plymouth, Saline, South Lyon, Tecumseh, Tipton, Whitmore Lake, Willis and Ypsilanti.

For Dexter Circle Calling 30 includes Belleville, Brighton, Britton, Clinton, Commerce, Dundee, Farmington, Gregory, Hartland, Howell, Livonia, Manchester, Mayfair, Milan, Milford, New Boston, Northville, Onsted, Plymouth, Romulus, Saline, South Lyon, Tecumseh, Tipton, Wall-ed Lake, Wayne, Whitmore Lake, Willis and Ypsilanti.

Spencer said the new plans are in direct response to "what our customers have been asking for."

In recent years, calling patterns have changed dramatically as the result of urban sprawl which has put more distance between people and their jobs, families and friends, he said.

"And people who've moved away to the suburbs or rural areas have been demanding a way to reduce their bills for calls to family, friends and businesses back in their old neighborhoods," he added.

Circle Calling 20 is an expanded version of Metro Service, a popular plan in existence several years ago in the Detroit, Grand Rapids and Pontiac areas. While Metro Service was limited to those three areas, the new plan will be available to residence customers anywhere in the state.

Village To Consider Sirens For Volunteer Firefighter Vehicles

Chelsea volunteer emergency vehicles may soon be equipped with sirens as well as oscillating lights. The matter came to the attention of village council last week after resident George Navin wrote to the attorney general's office for an opinion regarding the use of sirens. A letter from Stanley D. Steinborn, chief assistant attorney general, said "if volunteer firemen are exceeding the speed limit or proceeding past stop signs and signals without sounding a siren and showing an oscillating light, you should bring it to the attention of village council. The village should ensure that the firemen are abiding by the state's traffic code. At all times, drivers of authorized emergency vehicles have a duty to drive with due regard for the safety and welfare of others. Negligent operation of an emergency vehicle may render the village and the firemen liable for damages."

The letter said that volunteer vehicles may break certain traffic laws, but they must be using a siren. Dennis Hall, a part-time police officer in Chelsea, suggested that the village provide sirens for vehicles that go directly to the scene. Council agreed to have the village administration check with the village's insurance company about liability issues. Trustee Frank Hammer suggested the sirens have a different sound than that used by Chelsea police vehicles. Navin's letter to the attorney general's office indicated he is concerned about the safe operation of the vehicles in areas with children or elderly people. He noted that children always notice a siren, but don't necessarily see a flashing light.

Civic Foundation Grant Helps Fund Historic Flag Display

The hope for an educational public display of historic American flags in the community took a great step forward at the January meeting of the Civic Foundation of Chelsea. The trustees, led by president David Swan, listened to a presentation on American flag history by Will Connelly and the need for broader education about our national emblem.

In order to raise the additional funds a flag display committee will conduct a mail appeal. Members of Chelsea's Historic American Flag committee consist of: D. Patrick Merkel, The American Legion; Gary Speer, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Darco Stielstra, principal, Dwight E. Beach Middle school; Richard McCalla, member, Chelsea School Board; Judy Parker, art instructor, Dwight E. Beach Middle school; William Coltre, contractor; Benjamin Bower, artist; Will Connelly, producer.

Village To Buy Grass Fire Truck

Village of Chelsea plans to purchase a new fire truck for fighting grass fires. Village council accepted a bid of $13,396 from Village Motor Sales, Inc. of Chelsea for a 1992 Jeep Wrangler.

Fire chief Bud Hankerd estimated that would be about half the ultimate price of the vehicle as specialized firefighting equipment has to be installed.

Previous investigation of the flag display concept had been conducted by the foundation's distribution committee, headed by Fred Mills, assistant superintendent of schools. As a result, treasurer Jeffrey Stommen was on hand with a $2,000 award check to enable the flag committee to get off to a substantial start.

Engler Urges State GOP To Adopt Open Primary

Last Friday's announcement by Gov. Engler urging the State Republican Party to adopt an open primary system is a welcome addition to House Republican efforts to ensure that all voters are allowed to participate in the upcoming presidential primary.

House Republicans repeatedly have attempted to pass legislation that would allow residents to vote without having to declare a party affiliation. "The refusal by House Democrats to consider any legislation restoring Michigan's open primary system illustrates their lack of respect for voters' fundamental right to a secret ballot," State Representative Margaret O'Connor said. "The presidential nominating process should be open to all voters to ensure the best qualified candidate is elected."

The State Democratic Party amended its party rules in December to provide for same-day party declaration. However, Republicans remain bound by state law unless the national party changes its policy. "I hope the issue is resolved quickly and voters are given the opportunity to freely cast their votes on March 17," Representative O'Connor concluded.

Of all the reasons to borrow this one is the most appealing.

There is an advantage in dealing with a locally owned community bank, decisions are made right here in Chelsea. You see, because we are the community bank and not just a branch of a large bank with interests elsewhere, we know you and you know us. When it comes to a loan we don't have to plead your case to a committee miles and miles away who doesn't know you, never will know you and probably doesn't care if they ever know you. Before you decide to do it "their way" . . . stop in for "our way." After all, you know we're easy to talk to.

License Plate Fees Can Be Deducted on Federal Tax Returns

Motorists filling out their 1991 federal income tax forms are reminded that this state's license plate fees are deductible.

Taxpayers who itemize can deduct license plate charges, which average $46 per vehicle, as a personal property tax on Schedule A. The fees are deductible for 1984 and newer models since charges are based on the value of the vehicle. Fees for 1983 and older models are based on weight and are not deductible.

Taxpayers also should remember that interest payments on personal loans used to purchase vehicles are no longer deductible. That deduction is completely phased out for 1991 returns.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Bulldogs Fall Apart In Fourth Quarter for 61-56 Loss to Hornets

For all intents and purposes, the Chelsea Bulldogs were eliminated from the Southeastern Conference basketball championship last Friday with a 61-56 loss to arch-rival Saline Hornets on the road.

The Bulldogs head into this Friday's game at Milan mired in fifth place with a 3-4 record.

In Friday's contest, the only game of the week, Chelsea blew an 11-point lead over the last nine minutes of the game in a startling collapse. During that time, Saline out-scored the Bulldogs 23-7 while Chelsea fell apart in almost every phase of the game.

Even Chelsea coach Robin Raymond said his team was embarrassed.

"We looked totally disorganized," said Raymond, whose team has dropped its last three SEC games and four out of five over-all.

"I don't know if there is one answer. We have a good group of kids but we haven't clicked. Obviously, we're not quitting."

Saline scored nine unanswered points beginning at the 1:00 mark of the third quarter to pull within 49-47 as five different Hornets scored.

Chris Dunham's three-point shot from the top of the key at the 5:45 mark of the fourth quarter gave Chelsea a 52-47.

Then Saline, aided by two straight Chelsea turnovers, scored six more unanswered points to take a 53-52 lead with 1:54 left.

Tim Cain's two free throws put Saline up by 55-52. The Hornets stretched the lead to 57-53 with 1:02 left.

From there, Chelsea could manage only one more field goal, an uncontested lay-up by Jon Royce, and one more trip to the line, while Saline scored all four free throw attempts.

"I thought the turning point came with two minutes left in the second quarter," Raymond said.

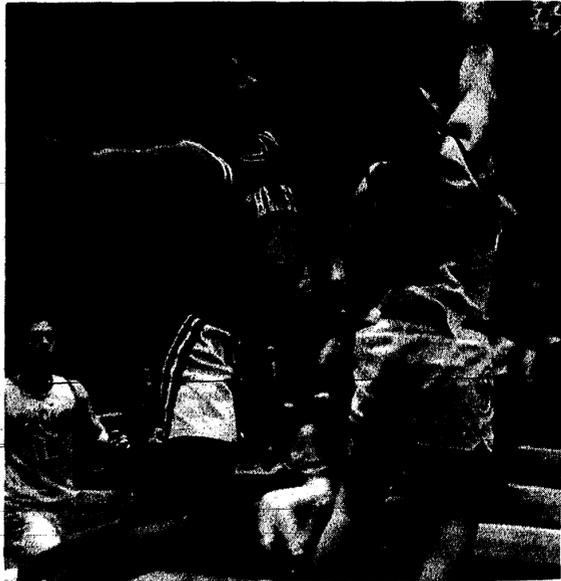

"We were up by 12. I made a couple of substitutions and by half-time we were only up by eight instead of being up by maybe 15. If I could change one thing, I wouldn't make those substitutions. When we got into the fourth quarter and Saline was still in it, you could see that look in their eyes. Winning that game was probably the high point of their season."

Chelsea hit 2-12 shots from the field in the fourth quarter, and missed seven shots within 12 feet, but shot a respectable 19-41 over the first three periods. They were also 2-6 from the line in the final period.

For the game, Chelsea held a 41-39 rebound edge and had 22 turnovers, three more than Saline. The Bulldogs were 13-22 from the line while Saline was 17-25.

For the second straight game, junior forward Dana Schunk led Chelsea in scoring, this time with 17 points. Other scorers were Royce 11, Dunham 8, Jake Rindie 7, Colby Skelton 5, Ben Hurst 4, Tom Poulter 2, and Nick McCalla 2.

With the Bulldogs out of the race (practically, not mathematically), Raymond wants his team to simply "be a better team than what we are today," by the end of the season.

JON ROYCE of Chelsea goes in for the defensive kills against Saline's Jeff Comfort during last Friday night's contest in Saline. Comfort and the Hornets got the best of the Bulldogs, however, and handed Chelsea an unexpected loss.

"We can always point toward the district, and we do have a chance to win it, but we have to be much better than what we are today," Raymond said.

"Our kids won't quit." Friday's game at Milan could mark the turning point of perhaps the two most disappointing teams in the league. Milan has won two league games.

Chelsea beat the Big Reds at home early in the season, but Milan was playing without two of its best players.

Tecumseh has the league all but locked up with a 7-0 mark after a big win on the road at Lincoln last Friday. Lincoln and Pinckney are tied for second with 4-3 marks. Dexter is an even 3-3.

Terpstra To Play in All-Star Football Game

Chelsea High school senior Mike Terpstra has been invited to play in the Michigan High School All-Star Football Game in August. Selections are made by the Coaches' Association.

Terpstra, a first-team class B all-state performer at tackle, will play on the offensive line for the West team at Michigan State University on Aug. 1. There will be two weeks of practice before the game.

"Mike has impeccable credentials," said Chelsea head football coach Gene LaFave.

"He was all-league two years and was a great player for us." LaFave said Terpstra has been recruited by schools in the Mid-American Conference, the Ivy League, and other areas.

"There's no question he could play in those leagues," LaFave said, but noted Terpstra hasn't decided whether he wants to play college football. Last year's state heavyweight champion will no doubt draw interest from college wrestling programs as well. Academically he will graduate near the top of his class.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

I've heard more comments about last Friday night's varsity basketball game at Saline than any other game of the season. The first one came about 30 seconds after the game ended, when a Saline player stood about two feet in front of me and yelled, "That's Chelsea's last easy game of the season." I don't know if it was directed at me in particular or if I just happened to be in his way. In case you missed it, Chelsea lost 61-56, after blowing a big lead. It was their third straight league loss. No one ever expected the Bulldogs to be so far out of the league race in just the seventh game of the SEC season.

There's no doubt about it. The Bulldogs fell apart. It was almost as though someone turned out the lights in the fourth quarter and forced the Dogs to play in the dark. Confusion reigned supreme. Cohesiveness hid out under the stands. I can safely say that was the worst quarter of Chelsea varsity basketball I've seen here in seven years.

I'm not the only one who's gotten a good dose of public opinion. Coach Robin Raymond says, to put it politely, he has been given more suggestions than he could possibly use in a 100-game season. Some of those ideas were, to say the least, quite intriguing, some contradicted each other. One woman offered, in all seriousness, to take his place on the bench.

You can bet Raymond wouldn't have heard a peep if his team was 5-2. It seems the loss to the SEC's last-place team was too much for some people to take with closed mouths.

Most coaches I know don't mind answering sincere questions from parents, or even reporters. I often ask Raymond why he employed some strategy or why he put so-and-so in the game at a certain time—not because I question his judgment but just because I want to understand his thinking. When he, or any other coach, explains his reasoning, it usually makes sense. Despite what observers may think, good coaches always have a reason for what they do.

However, it is axiomatic that coaches do not like unsolicited advice, unless they know they are incompetent and it's the only way out. There's good reason for it, too. Most of it stinks. Doesn't matter what sport we're talking about, either. Most unsolicited advice is reactionary and has about 45 seconds of well-reasoned thought behind it. If it comes from a parent, it usually has a decided bend to it.

Athletes spend more time with their coaches than any other person in school, often more than with their parents. Coaches have a pretty good idea of how each athlete fits into the over-all team puzzle, both physically and mentally. They know the strengths and weaknesses of each player. In short, nobody knows a team better than a coach, especially a good coach. Sounds simple, and it is, which should also make it pretty simple to understand why unsolicited advice is usually so bad.

Fans and other experts may disagree with a coach about his philosophy toward the game. For example, I'm sure Raymond has gotten an earful about his near exclusive use of intense man-to-man defense, which is the foundation of Chelsea's entire game. Whether you agree with it or not, I can just about guarantee you it will be easier to pass a bond issue for a new gym than to get Raymond, or any other coach, to change his basic philosophy.

So what's the point of all this? Just that although parents and other observers might not like what they see, complaints and advice directed to the coach are not likely to improve matters.

As a side note, over the last couple of weeks Raymond has been hampered by a severe back problem. Considering how young he is, and that he has a business to run, I have to admire him for hanging in there. It would be easy in light of how things are going to simply duck out and work on regaining his health. He will not leave unless there's no other choice.

Speaking of coaches, wrestling coach Kerry Kargel was criticized last week in a letter to the editor, based primarily on a comment he made in a story about his team.

While the basic concerns expressed in the letter were legitimate, it was obvious the writer does not know Kargel very well. I know that, one, concern for the safety of his wrestlers is his top priority. Two, Kargel is about the last person I'd accuse of being a poor sport. When I talk to him, he always has a good sense of humor about his team and its performance. He has always been a gentleman.

Purple Heart Chapter Meets Feb. 13 in Ann Arbor

Iver Schmidt reminded this week, "On Aug. 26, 1958, by an Act of the 85th Congress, United States Public Law 761 was passed, officially chartering the Military Order of the Purple Heart.

"Thus, it became the newest member of congressionally-chartered veterans organizations of the United States.

"However, by virtue of its constitution and by-laws, it's a very exclusive organization with membership limited to combat-wounded veterans."

The Military Order of the Purple Heart Department of Michigan has begun a campaign to invite all Purple Heart medal recipients to join its ranks.

Iver Schmidt explained the dues are a reasonable $15 per year, but until May 31, 1992, the Department of Michigan will pay $10, leaving only a five-dollar balance for new members to join.

Washtenaw County John Terhune Chapter 459 invites each and every man and woman awarded the Purple Heart to join Chapter 459.

Schmidt currently serves as commander for the Department of Michigan, Military Order of the Purple Heart, and reports the Chapter 459 meetings are held on the second Thursday of each month.

This month, the group will meet at the Ann Arbor American Legion Post on Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd. at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 13.

The post headquarters is the first structure east of Wagner Rd. on the north side of Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd.

Included in the membership is a national magazine, a Department of Michigan newsletter, and the monthly letter for Chapter 459.

Any Purple Heart recipient who wishes to join the organization on Feb. 13, please bring a copy of his/her DD-214, DD-215, W.D.A.G.O. 53-55, or a copy of his/her general orders, or proof of Purple Heart presentation.

Schmidt invited, "If you have earned the right to wear the Purple Heart medal, we would like to honor you by inviting you to become a member of this exclusive organization."

"If you have questions, please write or call me, Iver Schmidt, 3530 Hudson St., Dexter 48130, phone 313-428-4066, or come to the 7:30 p.m. meeting Thursday, Feb. 13, at the Ann Arbor American Legion Post.

Over the objections of trustee Stephanie Kanten, Chelsea Village Council recently passed an ordinance amendment to fine dog owners who allow their animals to defecate on a neighbor's property without cleaning up the mess.

The amendment, adopted by a 5-1 vote, simply reads: "It shall also be unlawful to allow any dog to discharge its feces on property other than that of its owner unless the owner immediately removes such feces."

The amendment, which caused a fair amount of council debate, discussion, and jokes, would be enforced on a complaint basis. In other words, someone would have to witness the crime before police would issue what amounts to a ticket under the new "no dumping ordinance." The fine would be the same as for allowing a dog to run at large, $50 and/or 30 days in jail.

There was some discussion as to whether dog-walkers could be fined simply because they didn't carry some feces disposal method with them, such as a spatula and bag.

Police chief Lenard McDougall said his force will not interrogate dog-walkers, partly because any disposal method could be used, including hand and pocket. The ordinance is not specific. It only says the mess has to be cleaned up immediately.

Kanten accused council of barking up the wrong tree, saying the police department has more important bones to pick.

7th Grade Spikers Win Two Matches

Reach Middle school seventh grade volleyball team beat Saline and Dexter in action last week.

The Bullpups won the Saline match 11-2, 11-4, 11-6.

Leading servers were Amy Herrst with six points and Jessi Messner with five.

On Thursday the Pups beat Dexter 11-4, 12-10, 11-1. Melissa Carty had nine service points and Alicia Broughton served five points. The team served with 88 percent accuracy.

Other team members include Kristy Cox, Erin Dougherty, Jessie Forsee, Michelle Lucas, Jenny Paddock, Kasie Ruhlig, Jacki Setta, Hilarie Szczygiel, Alicia Vogel, Leigha Young, Jennifer Space, Janelle Pierson, Erin Montgomery, and Monica Royce.

The first large-scale strike for a 10-hour day was in 1825 by 600 journeymen carpenters in Boston, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

Varsity Spikers Lose Two in SEC Contests

Chelsea Bulldogs volleyball team lost to the undefeated Saline Hornets on Monday.

Chelsea used strong defense to take a 10-8 lead in the first game before the Hornets rallied for a 15-11 win.

In the second game, Chelsea seemed flat, said coach Dan Montgomery, and lost 1-15.

"We just seemed to lose all ability to serve and pass the ball," Montgomery said.

"The teams will come back from this."

In other action last week, Tecumseh defeated the Bulldogs, 13-11, 15-10.

It was a match of Tecumseh's controlled offense and Chelsea's stubborn defense.

Chelsea took a 5-1 lead in the opener behind the serving of freshman Amy Petty. Tecumseh rallied to take an 11-7 lead. Chelsea battled to within 13-11 but the Indians held on.

In the second game, Tecumseh went ahead 8-3 using their balanced scoring attack. However, the Bulldogs tied the game at 8 on the serving of senior captain Jennifer Petty and front line play by sophomore Theresa Royce.

Tecumseh then took advantage of several Chelsea errors for an 11-8 lead. Chelsea pulled to within one on the serving of Amy Petty, but Tecumseh went on a four-point run to end the game.

Jennifer Petty led in attacks with 13 of 18 and six kills. Royce was 8-10 with five kills, and Melissa Thiel was 6-7 with four kills.

Chelsea is 9-10-4 over-all with a 1-5 mark in the Southeastern Conference.

Freshman Cagers Edge Dexter With Strong Fourth Quarter

Chelsea Bulldogs freshman basketball team used a strong fourth quarter to edge the Dexter Dreadnaughts last Thursday, 49-44.

The Bulldogs scored 16 points while holding the Dreadnaughts to three fourth-quarter points to overcome an 11-point deficit in the last four minutes.

"Dexter out-played us for three quarters and Case McCalla kept us in the game until everybody caught fire with about four minutes left," said Chelsea coach Dave Quilter.

"I really have to give this team credit for the way they came back."

Pat Lynch hit a three-point shot and Dan Wehrwein scored five points in Chelsea's 16-0 run to end the game. Dirk Wales also provided a spark by driving and getting fouled.

Chelsea shot 38 percent from the floor and 50 percent from the line, while Dexter hit 57 percent from the floor but took 11 fewer shots.

Wildlife Crop Damage Reported By Farmers According to Survey

Out of the almost 10,000 U.S. farmers and ranchers responding to an American Farm Bureau Research Foundation survey, 88 percent have suffered from wildlife crop damage with some losing thousands of dollars per year.

According to Michael Conover, an associate professor at Utah State University who compiled the survey results, two-thirds of those responding to the survey reported damage caused by deer, 36 percent reported damage caused by groundhogs, 17 percent by rabbits, 16 percent by mice and moles, 15 percent by beavers and 8 percent by migratory birds.

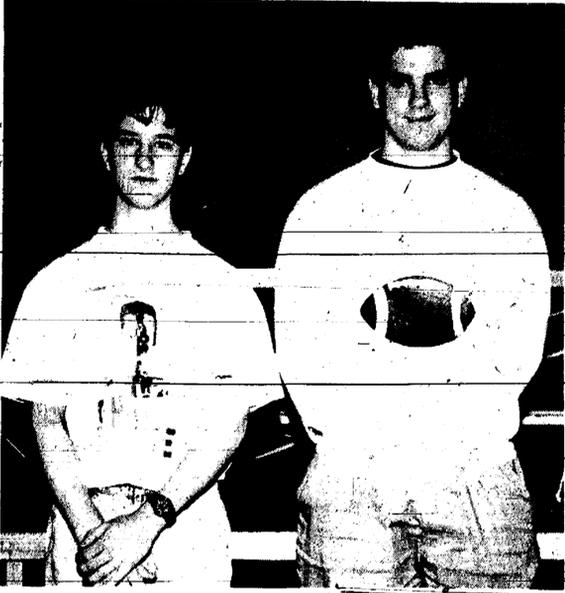

The survey showed that many farmers purposely use management measures that are beneficial to wildlife, such as leaving cover areas, crop residues, unharvested crop, water and saltlicks for wildlife. Of those surveyed, 79 percent allowed hunting on their land but only six percent charged for hunting.

Conover advocated some sort of compensation plan for farmers who suffer wildlife damage. "Society should bear the cost for feeding these animals and provide farmers with some sort of compensation for the damage that wildlife do," he said.

"The Life and Death of Sneaky Fitch"

Ann Arbor—James L. Rosenberg's farcical western tragedy, "The Death and Life of Sneaky Fitch," needs a director who understands and can convey to the audience what "farcical" and "tragedy" mean in the same context. Actors were gyrosopic in their interpretations: some were playing it for real, some were playing it "for camp," some needed to play something... but Rosenberg's Fitch should sneak out of time. Good-ridance!

However, to see some fine actors and actresses wasting their talent on what should have been a good old-time stupid western was a shame. Wayne Burkhardt's sets were very good and the spelling: Genri Store, Smithin, etc. were indeed gems appropriate for the farce.

Perhaps the most exciting event of the evening other than the paper cap pistols was a pile of horse (?) manure highlighted on the floor which flirted with many feet going over and around it. The costume crew certainly out-westerned themselves with the assistance of costume designers Lee Burkhardt and Kathi Genik.

What did I like about the fiasco? Found Marshall Forstot and his guitar quite pleasant and could have listened to him sing without the story for an hour. Outstanding actor, to me, and one that held his character "more as it should have been" than anyone else: Mr. Rackham played by E.J. Holowicki.
 Chelsea's Larry Rusinsky as Sneaky Fitch ran hot and cold with his character during the evening although when he "was with it" he REALLY was with it! Tim Henning, also of Chelsea, was a townsponser who had little or nothing to do but set the mood.
 Liked the riding of horses on and off stage. Great vigor and great fun! If dieing had been the topic, some of the greatest deaths encountered on stage ever, especially those who literally kicked the bucket.
 The Ann Arbor Civic Theatre's Second Stage series—"Sneaky Fitch"—continues through Feb. 15. Show times are Thursdays through Saturdays, 8 p.m. Call 662-7282 for tickets and reservations. The Ann Arbor Civic Theatre is located at 1035 S. Main St.

Don Drew Will Show Early Photos of Blacksmith Shop for Historical Society

Don Drew of Dexter will be displaying family photos and artifacts from his father's blacksmith background at the Feb. 10 meeting of the Chelsea Area Historical Society.
CAHS will be holding their annual "Founder's Day Dinner" which is a pot-luck dinner at 6 p.m. in the Chelsea Depot.
Although Drew's immediate family history is in the railroad, as he was a part-time fireman for Michigan Central and New York Central Railroads, and now owns the 15-gauge scale Lake Shore & Lyndon Central Railroad on North Territorial Rd., his memories are vivid of the blacksmith shop his father, Alfred Drew, operated on Main St. in Dexter in the late 1800's and early 1900's.
In addition to Don Drew's photograph display, CAHS will bring together the majority of their large photographs depicting Chelsea residents and buildings to display and evaluate as to which need restoration and preservation. Funds were received from the Chelsea United Way 1991-92 to complete preservation projects such as photographs and postcards of the Chelsea area.
Visitors are welcome to attend the program and pot-luck dinner. More information is available from Kathy Clark, chairman of the event, at 475-7047, evenings, or Marge Heppburn at 475-8871.

For the Record . . .

In last week's issue of The Standard, Jan. 29, it was incorrectly stated that Helen Panos of Gina's Cafe was to be one of the judges in the Cavanaugh Lake Chili Cook-Off. Such was the information from the organizers. Actually Helen Panos is the owner of The Village Kitchen on Maple Rd., and the new Inland House on Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor. She served as one of the judges, but she is not associated with Gina's Cafe.

There were nine contestants in the first Cavanaugh Lake Chili Cook-Off on Saturday.

Kurt Clark's "Elk Chili" won the grand prize. Second place went to Robert Barth and his "Barth's Road Kill Chili." Don Cubberly's "Green River Chili" placed third. Honorable mention was given to Colleen Thompson's "3 Amigo Chili" and Sue Collins' "Chili Peppers' Chiji."

The event raised more than $200 for the American Legion. A second annual event is already in the planning. Visitors consumed 500 sample cups of chili at 25 cents each.

Judges included organizers Larry Doll, Steve Jones, and Tim Collins. Legion post commander Lenard McDougall, local actor Jeff Daniels, Gina Pantely of Gina's Cafe, Helen Panos, owner of Village Kitchen in Ann Arbor, Pat Cleary, owner of Cleary's Pub, and Craig Common, owner of the Common Grill.

An NAIC Service NAIC Today's Investor

By Ralph L. Seger, Jr., CFA President NAIC Investor Advisory Service

Q. I bought Kmart stock at about $15 a number of years ago. At the recent price of $45 it has tripled in value. I like the regular annual increase in the dividend.

A friend of mine who has held Wal-Mart Stores during the same period points out to me how much more he has gained from a twelve-fold increase from his cost. Would you explain what you think my prospects would be if I took my friend's advice and switched from Kmart to Wal-Mart Stores?

A. As Bobbie Burns once said, "The saddest words of mice and men is what might have been." What you and your friend paid respectively for Kmart and Wal-Mart Stores and how much each has subsequently increased in value has no bearing on the future, except as to tax consequences if you switch.

Kmart earnings grow at about 8% per year. Wal-Mart Stores earnings grow at 22% a year. As a result, the price-earnings ratio of Kmart at 45 is 11.1 times 1991 estimated EPS of $4.07. Wal-Mart Stores at 49 has a price-earnings ratio of 28.8 times 1991 estimated EPS of $1.70. The dividend yield of Kmart is 3.9% and Wal-Mart Stores is 0.3%. Wal-Mart Stores is rated A+ for quality by Standard & Poor's. Kmart is rated A.

The two stocks have widely different investment characteristics. Which stock is suitable depends on the investor's investment objectives. Kmart is a growing income stock. Wal-Mart is a capital gains candidate. Wal-Mart Stores looks to me to be overvalued unless you can buy it at 37 or less.

If you switch from Kmart to Wal-Mart Stores, you will have a big capital gains tax to pay, receive a much lower dividend yield, and be in a stock that appears to be overpriced at 49. However, long-term capital gains prospects are better for Wal-Mart Stores.

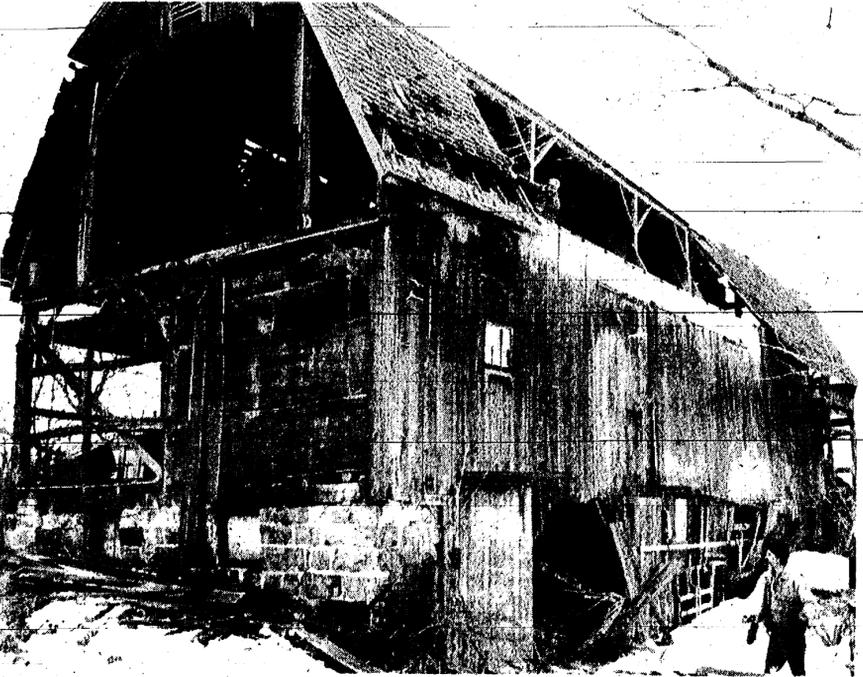

An Investment Idea For Today's Investor

The price of good quality Warner-Lambert has come down from 82-1/4 to 70. This combination pharmaceutical-consumer products company is producing an earnings growth of 12% to 15% a year. Earnings for 1991 are estimated at $4.17, up over 16% from $3.61 reported for 1990. The $1.76 dividend yields 2.5%.

The company's research and development has become more effective in producing new and profitable products to support sales and earning growth. Listed on the NYSE with the symbol WLA, Warner-Lambert holds promise of an opportunity for a combination of increased dividends and potential capital gain.

WORKERS have started to dismantle a barn owned by the Chelsea School District on Freer Rd. The district wants to have the barn removed largely for liability reasons. Barnbusters of Chelsea is doing the work. The barn is probably more than 100 years old.
