CHARLES CAMERON'S family was on hand for the dedication of a mural in his memory last Sunday. The former school superintendent had a major impact on the district during his 41 years of service to the district, 26 as superintendent. The mural, created by Chelsea artist Ben Bower, depicts the history of the district. Clockwise, from center, are Cameron's widow, Ruth, and children Carol Lauhon, and Charles, George, and Jim Cameron.

CHELSEA ARTIST Ben Bower has created a mural depicting the history of the Chelsea School District, which is on display at the Board of Education room at Chelsea High school. The mural was dedicated Sunday afternoon in memory of former school district superintendent Charles Cameron. A capacity crowd was on hand for the ceremony.

Financial Picture for School District Hinges On Proposed Legislation

The financial outlook for the Chelsea School District is growing murkier by the day as state legislators try to figure out how to make funding for school districts more equitable.

The most recent proposal by Rep. Dan DeGrow of Port Huron calls, essentially, for all out-of-formula districts such as Chelsea to pick up social security payments for all their employees. The state now pays those costs for all districts. The state would theoretically disperse that money to in-formula districts.

DeGrow's proposal is a way to get around the recently passed Tax Base Sharing legislation, commonly known as the Robin Hood Bill, which is being challenged in court. DeGrow, a champion of tax base sharing, has said he would support repeal of the new law if the state re-captures social security payments.

If DeGrow's proposal becomes law, and Chelsea assistant superintendent Fred Mills said he expects it will, it could have a devastating financial effect locally.

Tax Base Sharing would have taken a net of about $199,000 from the district's budget this year. It is based on capturing additional tax revenues generated from rising property values.

DeGrow's newest proposal could take up to $630,000 from the Chelsea district in the first year. The amount would rise as salaries rise. The additional loss would come on top of an anticipated $800,000 shortfall for next year.

"This is the most disappointing time for me in 26 years as assistant superintendent," Mills said.

"It's the feeling that in spite of all we know, we don't know what the financial situation is going to be. There's no way I can make solid judgments to give to the board. I anticipated an increase in recapture, but having the state grab all social security I didn't anticipate. That came from left field. I can't believe they'll recapture all of it, but they might."

Mills said he expects tax base sharing will be declared illegal and the new proposal will eventually be passed by the legislature, perhaps by September or October.

"Even then it will be too late to make real large changes in the budget," Mills said.

Mills said he didn't think the district would begin a "wholesale whacking of programs" until the financial picture becomes certain. But he acknowledged that sometime next year the district could be faced with a huge outlay of money.

The district already anticipates asking for at least an additional mill in property taxes this June for operating expenses. If the district seeks to replace the entire $800,000 shortfall, it would need about 2½ new mills. The social security proposal would require even more millage.

Mills said that if the state recaptures too much social security, the issue of equitable school funding will likely end up in court. He said Ann Arbor Public Schools stand to lose up to $8.6 million from DeGrow's proposal, and others even more.

"The state of Michigan is not stepping up to the issue of school financing," Mills said.

Recreation Council Plans For Major Expansion

A vastly expanded recreation program for residents of the Chelsea School District was described in Five Year Plan submitted Tuesday night to village council for approval.

The plan, devised by Beckett and Reader, Inc. for the Chelsea Recreation Council, details the much-discussed linear park system first proposed by students in last year's Enrichment Triad Program, the addition of ball fields, lights, scoreboards, and parking adjacent to the current Weber Field complex on Sibley Rd., the construction of a recreation building complete with basketball courts and an indoor track, the addition of programs for senior citizens, and sponsorship of a Fourth of July Bluegrass Festival.

The plan anticipates school district population will grow by 26 percent by 2010, and an increasing demand for recreation programs.

Impetus for the plan came from the proposal for the linear park system, which is really a system of paved or wooden pathways through scenic areas of the village. Parents of students in the Enrichment Triad Program, with the help of a number of professionals, government officials, and other interested parties, are applying for a state grant. The plan is a required part of their grant proposal.

The first phase of the linear park program would be a 1,400-foot-long, 14-foot-wide paved loop around the South school athletic fields. A 450-foot boardwalk through a wetland area adjacent to Bridgetown Condominiums would also be constructed.

Other parts of the proposed linear park are the Letts Creek Historic Pathway, Beach School Nature Area and Marsh Walk, and the Hospital Woodland Trail.

The Letts Creek portion, 5,000 feet long, would follow the creek starting at Sibley Rd., with one split ending at the Chelsea Retirement Community, and another at the Sibley Rd./Bush Rd. bike route. It would be barrier-free, 12 feet wide, and lit for night use. Fishing, wading, and play areas would also be available. There would be pictorial signs along the way describing the village's history.

The Beach school portion, beginning at the entrance to Oak Grove Cemetery at Madison St., would be 4,500 feet long. It would run through the woodlot bordering the cemetery, follow the creek south across Mayer Dr. through the Nature Center, and eventually end at Freer Rd. It would contain an observation tower. Much of the trail would consist of boardwalk.

The hospital trail, 2,600 feet long, would begin in Pierce Park and follow west to Flanders St. It would be paved, 12 feet wide, and barrier-free.

The South school, Letts Creek, and hospital routes would get priority funding.

The four pathways are designed so existing roads connect them.

The council also wants to develop 13 acres next to Weber Fields, which would be donated by Dana Corporation, who donated the land for the original complex.

The addition of lighting and scoreboards would allow the fields to be used more efficiently. Additional parking is already desperately needed, as any local softball fan knows.

Other ideas include outdoor basketball courts, a soccer field, and softball and baseball fields.

A recreation building is described in the report as "a long term goal." It would include two basketball courts, which could be used for volleyball and other sports, an upstairs track similar to the gym at Pinckney High school, exercise and weight rooms, kitchen facilities, and possibly a pool.

The building would allow a major expansion of programs, including an intramural program for students not involved in school sports programs, as well as programs of interest to senior citizens, who comprise 25 percent of the village's population. It could also take some of the load off school district buildings, which are used by all sorts of organizations for a wide variety of programs, such as craft shows, festivals, general meetings, and tournaments.

Other proposed program development includes the establishment of a summer day camp for preschool and elementary children in one of the nearby state park systems; continuing establishments of "sports camps" for youths, the upgrading of boys baseball programs, and establishment of programs with for employees of various industrial businesses.

With the physical improvements and expansion of programs, the council also anticipates it will need a larger and more professional staff. Recreation director is a part-time position.

The proposed bluegrass festival would provide the council with a source of revenue, as well as help promote recreation programs.

Exactly how all the physical upgrades will be financed is not detailed in the plan, although a bond issue is discussed in general terms. Ongoing maintenance is also not addressed.

The recreation council now offers about 40 programs throughout the year, ranging from youth soccer to men's basketball.

Village Says Decision On Demotion Justified

Village officials acted properly in their demotion of Paul Newhouse from acting superintendent of the village's Electric and Water Department because the dismissal was based on Newhouse's poor work performance and lack of initiative and supervisory skills.

That's one of the assertions of the village's official response to a lawsuit filed by Newhouse over his demotion last fall.

The answer to Newhouse's complaint was filed last week in Washtenaw County Circuit Court by village attorney David Kempner of Ann Arbor.

Newhouse contends he was demoted because his actions resulted in an $80 fine levied against village president Richard Steele by the Washtenaw County Building Department. Steele had hired a Chelsea electrical contractor to do work at his home. An inquiry by Newhouse eventually revealed no permit had been issued for the work and the fine was issued.

Newhouse's suit, filed by attorney Richard LaFlamme of Jackson, claims a violation of the Whistleblower's Protection Act on the part of the village. It claims that village manager Jack Myers told Newhouse that Myers was ordered by Steele to demote Newhouse. It also contends that after the fine was issued Steele's attitude toward Newhouse changed.

The village's answer denies all major contentions of Newhouse's suit.

The village claims:
• The decision to demote Newhouse was made by the village's personnel committee (Steele, and trustees Stephanie Kanten and Joe Merkel) based on a recommendation by Myers. Newhouse was an "at-will" employee in the position and could be removed "at any time and for any reason, with or without cause or notice."
• The decision was based, in part, on complaints received by Myers.

• The demotion decision was made before the committee had any knowledge of the county fine.

• The failure of the electrical contractor to obtain a permit was "at most, a technical violation" of the building code. The contractor paid the fine. Newhouse's report of the violation "was made in bad faith for the purposes of harassment."

Newhouse, who served as acting superintendent from mid-May to Oct. 1, is on leave.

The answer asks for dismissal of Newhouse's suit as well as compensation for attorney fees.

Kempner said last week he expects a pre-trial conference to be scheduled within a few months. He said it could take up to a year for the case to go to trial.

Dan Rosentreter is the new acting superintendent.

Grass Lake Man Charged in Stabbing

A 23-year-old Grass Lake man has been charged with three counts of assault with intent to murder in connection with a stabbing incident early Saturday morning on Brown Dr.

According to Det. Paul Wade of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, Matthew Underhill surrendered to Chelsea police officer Norm Paton shortly after 7:30 a.m. behind a house at 20088 Brown Dr.

Underhill was charged with the stabbing of Chris Maitland, 18, of Manchester, Brooke Ann Currence, 18, and Mark Schulze, 19, of Chelsea.

Police said there was apparently a party the night before that erupted into violence, partly due to drinking. They speculated that Underhill became enraged over comments made to Currence, who may have been romantically linked to Underhill.

When police arrived they found Maitland on the floor of the house with severe neck wounds. He was taken to Chelsea Community Hospital then University of Michigan Hospital, where he was in critical condition but was expected to live. Schulze was treated for a stab wound in his upper body and Currence was treated for a "blunt trauma wound."

Police found Underhill outside clutching a knife with two hands. He allegedly told police he wanted to be shot because he didn't deserve to live. He demanded to talk with Paton, who quickly convinced Underhill to surrender.

The house belongs to Schulze's grandparents, who were out of town.

Bond for Underhill was set at $100,000.

Cash, Lottery Tickets Stolen

Cash and lottery tickets were reported stolen in a break-in at Vogel's Party Store on Monday, Jan. 27.

Chelsea police first responded to the call. Someone apparently pried a door knob off a door on the north side of the building and pushed the door in.

Police also discovered the telephone line had been cut. Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department later responded to the scene.

Meet Your Candidates

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of profiles of candidates for village office in the March 9 elections. This week focuses on Ishmael Picklesimer and Brian Cashman, two of six candidates who will appear on the ballot for trustee. All candidates for trustee have been asked to complete a candidate questionnaire. Virtually all of the information that follows comes from those questionnaires.

Ishmael Picklesimer, 68, of 460 W. North St., was born in Salyersville, Ky. but has lived in the area most of his life, including 45 years in the village.

He is retired from Rockwell International, where he was active with the United Auto Workers. The reason he decided to run, he says, is "I'm retired and would like to be involved in the community."

Picklesimer was a member of the village planning commission for about 10 years. He has also worked on the United Way campaign and was one of the founders of the Community Chest. He's a member of the Mason Olive Lodge 158 of Chelsea and was recently named Man of the Year. He's also a member of the Chelsea Rod & Gun Club.

"I have served on other various committees and have enjoyed the commitment of serving," Picklesimer said of his main qualification for office.

"I will be fair and honest." Resolution to the problems with the village landfill is the top priority facing the village, Picklesimer said. During his term, he'd also like to see the

State Budget Deficit Blamed on Revenue Drop from Prior Year
As Governor John Engler prepares his fiscal 1992-93 budget, lower than expected final collections in September and October of last year are blamed for an $89.8 million deficit in 1990-91.

At the same time, Management and Budget Director Patricia Woodworth projected a $554.2 million deficit for the current year unless legislative leaders and the administration agree to a solution.

"It's not an expenditure issue, it's a revenue issue," said treasurer Douglas Roberts, referring to declining revenues from income withholding, sales tax and the single business tax.

Woodworth added, "I look forward to meeting with legislative leadership in the following week to review options for addressing the serious fiscal shortfall facing the state in the current fiscal year."

Roberts said August revenues were up $65 million from August 1990, indicating they would cover expenditures for that fiscal year and the Legislature would not need to make cuts. But for the first time since the recession of the early 1980s, revenue collections were lower than the previous year, down 2 percent, Roberts said.

"It was not a good year," Roberts said.

While Woodworth declined to say how the administration will propose to reduce the deficit beyond legislative action on revenue bills, she reiterated opposition to draining the budget stabilization fund and said executive order cuts may be ahead.

Woodworth stressed the deficit would have been worse if the Engler administration had not imposed spending cuts and improved efficiency to bring it down from the $1.8 billion originally estimated. "A potential deficit of nearly 24 percent of the general fund budget was reduced to just over 1 percent in 1991," she said.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

All departments, except Mental Health, closed at below appropriated budgets for 1990-91 due to a $40 million shortfall in federal aid, a problem which has persisted in Michigan for several years, Woodworth said.

The management and budget director added the administration spent $69 million less than the Legislature appropriated for 1990-91, which helped reduce the deficit and resulted in a lapse to the general fund.

Former Governor James Blanchard's administration spent $210.5 million more than the Legislature appropriated the prior fiscal year, when the state closed its fiscal year with a $310.3 million deficit, Woodworth said. The current year deficit includes the $89.8 million carried forward from book closing for 1990-91, as well as requirements of $97.9 million in general funds to meet K-12 spending expectations and a revenue outlook agreed to by Senate Fiscal Agency and Management and Budget that reduced available revenue by $54.5 million.

But the key item contributing to the current year deficit is the failure of the Legislature to pass Senate and House revenue-sharing, pre-funding and inheritance tax bills that would generate $247.5 million, Woodworth said, which was anticipated in the passage of the 1991-92 budget.

One reason the deficit is not worse is the reduction in the structural deficit, which in 1991 was about $1 billion, and use of one-time revenue sources, which is expected to be only about $150 million in 1992, Woodworth said. Among the issues surrounding completion of the 1991-92 budget will be the appropriation of $20 million that has been triggered from the budget stabilization fund, which currently has $195 million, she added. The release was the result of higher than 8 percent unemployment.

While the 1992-93 budget could be adversely affected by the sagging revenue and the potential current year deficit that would be carried over if not resolved, Woodworth said the governor will try to address the spending plans separately to avoid the confusion that was created last year when the administration tried to tackle two years at once.

A combined total revenue of $9,579.1 million for the general fund and school aid fund for 1991-92 was agreed to by Senate Fiscal Agency and Roberts earlier this month.

The administration will use $10,125.2 million as its estimated revenue for 1992-93, Woodworth said, unless continued collection shortfalls require a downward adjustment. Roberts defended saving room for the governor's Cut and Cap property tax proposal in the budget on the grounds such relief will boost the state's economy in the long run by attracting employers and encouraging home purchases.

The approximately $300 million price tag would be offset by $500-$600 million in growth if next year brings in the normal revenue level, Roberts said.

House Fiscal Agency director John Morberg said while the House recognizes a concern in the current fiscal year, the administration has overstated the problem by not listing more of the possible ways to erase the deficit, such as using the budget stabilization fund, continuing hiring freezes, or providing for early retirement for state employees.

And the enactment of revenue-generating bills, he added, is still a possibility once an agreement is reached between the leaders on veto restorations and the total revenue estimate.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Bug Hookum got the floor first at the country store Saturday night. He was half convinced he has been reading the papers in a mirror lately. He said the more he reads the more he gets a reverse image of everything.

For instant, he saw some time back where "wellness programs" were catching on with doctors and big companies. Bug said this is a deal where doctors charge a flat fee for people to stay well and don't charge for treating the sick. Companies that have health plans for their workers say paying for health is cheaper than paying for sickness.

No sooner did he come to see the advantage of reverse doctor's bills, Bug said, than the Federal Government turned around on keeping factories from polluting the air. It started selling credits that allow plants to put out certain amounts of gunk. The idea was that by tying profit to pollution, plants would cut polluting to cut costs.

Now, Bug reported, he sees where a company that distributes natural gas in North Carolina says it's got to raise prices because the winter has been mild and folks ain't using enough gas. The state has to approve the hike because it gives the company a monopoly and a guaranteed profit. The company says selling more gas or making more money on less gas is the only way to keep stockholders happy.

General speaking, the fellers were not surprised by Bug's report. Zeke Grubb said North Carolina might be letting out franchises on reverse policy. He recalled everybody laughed last year when the state offered tax stamps to illegal drug dealers. The deal was, dealers could pay cash for stamps ordered by mail and not be known. If he got busted he paid the regular fine. Without the stamps he paid five times as much. Zeke saw a report recent where not one drug tax stamp had been sold, but the state has took in $700,000 more in fines than it would if it didn't offer the stamps.

Actual, Zeke went on, that line of reason is being used all over. Drug dealers deal, speeders speed, children get pregnant and quit school no matter how many rules we make, Zeke said, so there's logic in reversing the charges. He reminded that Texas is taking in more money selling speeding credits to drivers before they get caught than it was in fines after.

Practical speaking, broke in Clem Webster, for every plus there's a minus. When a Texan buys speeding credits he plans to get return on his investment, and that can't make the roads safer. Took to extreme, Clem said, what is good for speeders is wonderful for drunks. No sooner would a state limit drunk drivers to two credits a year than all the teetotalers would start buying low and selling high.

For sure, New Jersey got in the game wrong, Clem noted. Even before it could print up credits for runny eggs it was shamed into not enforcing the new law against them. If the state health department had used reverse policy and got the credits before the law it would of made the point about undercooked eggs without the long arm of the law coming down hard on the over-easy boys.

Personal, I can't come around to the thinking that if you can't stop it get a piece of the action.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

village water system upgraded and the creation of a senior citizen complex.

Brian Cashman, 41, of 449 Railroad St., has lived in the village for three years with his wife, Peggy, and daughter, Stephanie, age 4. He was born in Winthrop, Mass. and has an engineering degree from the University of Michigan, where he is manager of the Information Technology Division. He has worked in the division for 14 years and manages a staff of 12 people who maintain and support the campus data network.

Cashman is an alternate member of the village's Zoning Board of Appeals.

"In the three years I've lived here I've come to appreciate the unique aspects of the village and I want to work to preserve those qualities," Cashman said of his reasons for running.

"The village council seems to have been more reactive than proactive recently and I'd like to change that."

Cashman said his management experience and participation in the budget process at his U-M department, as well as his responsibility for planning and implementation of services make him qualified to serve as trustee.

"As a relative newcomer, I can bring a fresh perspective to council," Cashman said.

"I like to participate in the planning process, but just as importantly I like to get things done."

Cashman said the most pressing issues facing the village are financial issues and the need to plan. He said he believes the village will be faced with decreasing revenue, in part due to voters who feel they are over-taxed. That, he said, will force the village to re-evaluate its current services, as well as any new ones.

"The problem is that this assessment isn't typically well-planned but is done with short-term goals in mind," he said.

"The village needs a plan."

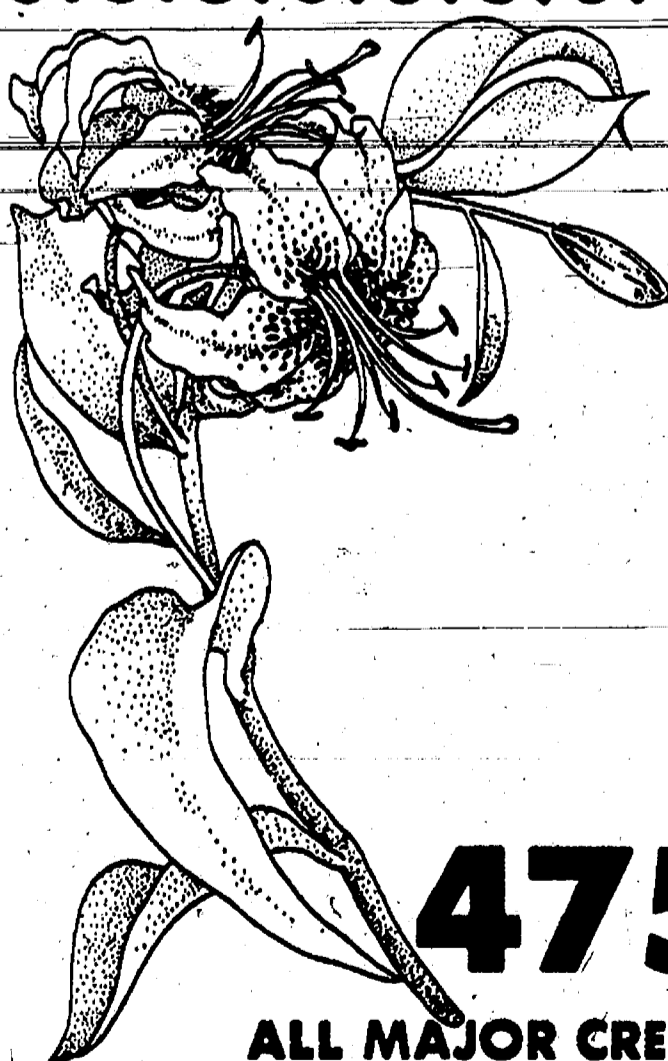

During his term, Cashman would like to see the village develop a plan for dealing with the maintenance of services and the infrastructure, and how they relate to the village's financial picture. He'd also like to see the village become more aggressive about managing the pressure for growth. He said he's also a little uneasy about the landfill situation because it continues to be a financial burden.

Cashman said he supports Richard Steele for village president.

Valentine Making in U.S. Started in 1849

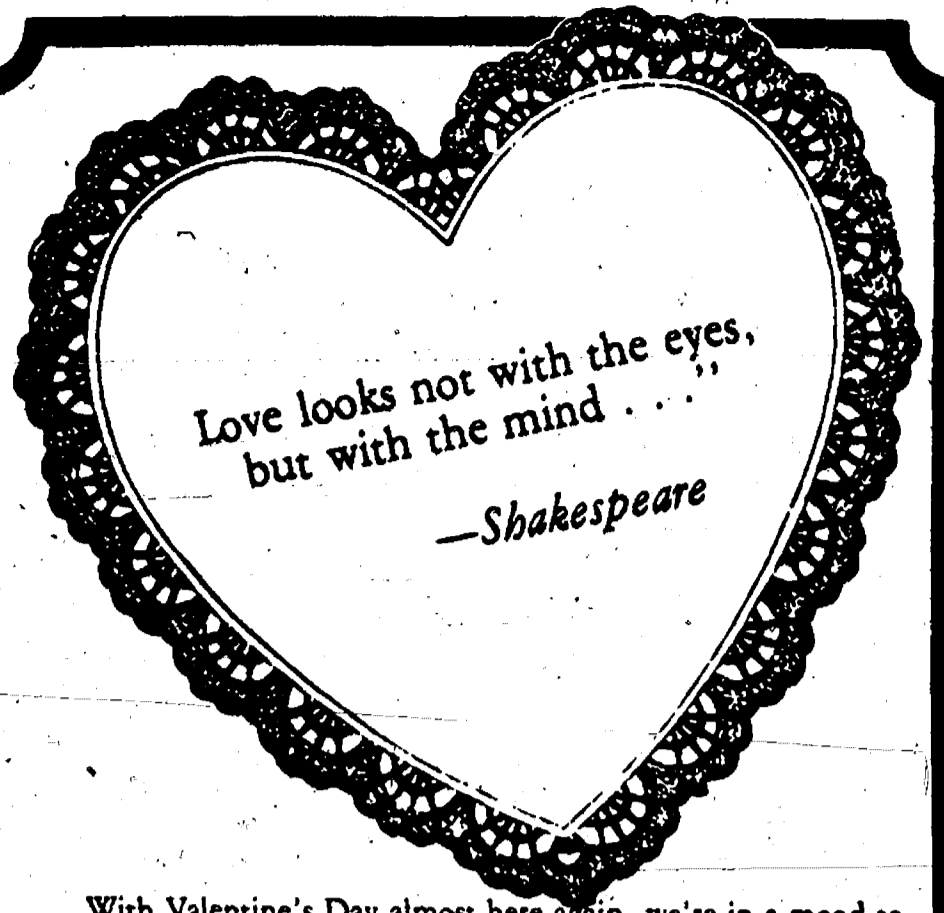

Prior to 1850, the best Valentines sent in the United States were imported from England. They were popular and expensive—their arrival was advertised in local newspapers and their prices ran as high as $50 each.

In 1849, Esther Howland of Worcester, Mass., began making inexpensive Valentines in the English manner. She used lace paper imported from England and decorations from various areas of the United States. Orders during her first year of business exceeded $10,000!

A vast change in Valentines took place in the 1870s. Gaily colored chromolithographs edged with silk fringe, they used lace-patterned paper and paste-on symbols.

German mechanical cards appeared in the 1880s—three-dimensional pull-outs with a series of sets lined one behind the other. Many times a photograph of the sender was used.

By World War I, however, the popularity of Valentines was declining—and the custom was obsolete in England where it had once been most popular. A return to sentiment brought quality Valentines back on the market by 1930, but the day of the exquisite lace paper, delicately colored designs with original, handwritten verses, was over.

With Valentine's Day almost here again, we're in a mood to speculate on "love" and its meanings. It may be that some of our teen-age friends will differ with Shakespeare's thought on how love operates.

We suspect that it's just another indication of advancing age, but we have learned by growing older that the mind IS more perspective than the eyes. The traits the mind can sense are so much more enduring and endearing than mere surface beauty that there is really no contest.

Your friends at our mortuary urge lovers of all ages everywhere, to use St. Valentine's Day as an opportunity to let their loved ones know the way they feel.

CHINESE NEW YEAR was studied and celebrated by children in grades 2-5 at North Elementary school beginning last Friday. Above, second graders Phoebe Booth, left, and Ashleigh Bartlett hold a couple of items made in China that illustrate a story about a beggar girl told by media specialist Barb Locks.

YOUNGSTERS discovered it's not too easy to hold chopsticks when you're used to a knife and fork during the annual observance of the Chinese New Year at North school. Here, second graders Danny Goss and Sarah Eisenberg work on their technique to eat steamed rice. Children had a chance to taste various unusual Chinese foods in the school media center. In case you're wondering, it's the year of the monkey.

Beach School Hosts Quiz Bowl Tournery

Beach Middle school will host the 1991-92 Southeastern Conference Middle School Quiz Bowl Tournament on Saturday, Feb. 22.

The double-elimination tournament features sixth-, seventh- and eighth-grade teams from all SEC schools, plus Stockbridge. There will also be a few fifth grade teams.

The competition is much like a game of trivia. Questions are appropriate to subjects studied by each grade. Each five-member team competes in 20-minute rounds. No team will hear the same set of questions twice. There is a questioner, timekeeper, scorekeeper, and judge for each match, consisting of principals and parent volunteers.

All middle school students had the opportunity to enter an intra-school competition to qualify for the league tournament.

IRS Offers Variety of Tax Help

"There are few changes on this year's federal income tax returns," said IRS district director John Hummel. "This will make preparing the return easier for most taxpayers." Hummel said that one change in particular will benefit many low-income working taxpayers.

"This year, the earned income tax credit has been expanded," Hummel said. "Families with one or more children and income up to $21,250 may be eligible to receive extra money from the IRS."

Hummel said the 1040, 1040A and 1040 EZ packages also have a list of additional forms and information booklets available from the IRS, including Publication 598 which explains the earned income credit. There is a special toll free number for ordering forms and publications. The number is 1-800-829-3876 and is available Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

"Tax information is also available 24 hours a day through a pre-recorded system called TELE-TAX," said Hummel. "This computer assisted program provides information on over 150 tax topics and may be reached by calling 1-800-829-4477."

The IRS also said that the Ann Arbor office of the IRS, located at Wolverine Tower, 3001 S. State St., will be open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Hummel also urged Michigianians to file returns electronically to speed up refunds and eliminate errors. "My best advice?" File electronically, and file early," Hummel said, "and remember that information and assistance is available from the IRS to reduce the burden on Michigan taxpayers."

Audubon President Talks About Owls

A group of 40 bird watchers went owling with Don Chalfant, president of the Washtenaw county Audubon Society, on Sunday evening, Feb. 9.

Chalfant called a screech owl to the scene on Bush Rd. by playing tape recorded owl sounds. Owls have extra sensitive hearing, he explained, doubtful that one would appear with such a large group mingling about on the road.

To his dismay, the owl moved in immediately, lighting on a tree branch for all to see.

The Screech owl is one of the most abundant birds of the owl family to be found in Michigan, Chalfant explained to a crowd of 140 people in a discussion at the Gerald Eddy Geology Center earlier that evening.

The three most common owls found in Michigan are the Screech owl, the Great Horned owl and the Barred owl.

Many migrating owls may be seen in the state during winter months, he said. Of the 12 owls which are common to eastern North America, 10 occur in Northern Michigan.

Snowy owls have been seen in three places in Michigan this winter, he said. There were two sightings in Ann Arbor and one in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

This is the year for owls to move across the Upper Peninsula, he said. Several Great Gray owls were seen in the months of December and January.

At Whitefish Point in the Upper Peninsula, a bird observatory is operated by the Audubon Society. During the last week of April, birds are banded and visitors can watch as they are let go.

The two best times to go looking for owls is two hours before sunrise and two hours after sunset, Chalfant said.

Owls are largely nocturnal animals which hunt during the dark time hours. Some owls are tremendous mouse hunters and may kill 20 to 30 each day. These are great for controlling the mouse population on a farm, Chalfant said.

Most owls eat mice, but smaller owls rely on large insects.

Owls are territorial birds, if they hear another owl call they will respond to it as if to say "this is my turf and you don't belong here," Chalfant said.

When calling for the birds, a tape recording of an owl call does not need to be played loudly. The owl can hear it better than humans can, he said.

Chalfant read from a children's book "The Owl Moon," at the lecture on Sunday. In the story, a child went owling with her father on a cold winter's night. When the father calls the owl, the child listens intently and waited, then suddenly an owl comes into sight and perches on a tree.

The Audubon Society is an educational organization that provides outlets of interest for the public, mostly in outdoor activities.

'Friends for Wildlife' Subject of Program At Geology Center

"Friends for Wildlife" will be the topic of a program at the Eddy Geology Center this Sunday, Feb. 16 in the Waterloo Recreation area at 2 p.m.

The program will focus on the Friends for Wildlife organization, which treats injured animals and otherwise aids helpless wildlife with the goal of returning animals to their natural habitat.

Carol Akerlot, Karen Young, and Cody Winchester will demonstrate some of their special equipment during their presentations.

OWLING FOR FUN was the topic of a lecture given by Donald Chalfant, president of the Washtenaw Audubon Society, at the Gerald Eddy Geology Center, Sunday, Feb. 9. Chalfant, an Ann Arbor resident and public school teacher, said most owls have yellow eyes. The Barred owl perched next to him in this photo is one of the three native Michigan owls and has brown eyes.

Valentine's Day Has Ancient Origin

All the world loves a lover and that is why Valentine's Day is such a popular holiday.

The holiday has its roots in an ancient Roman festival, Lupercalia. In mid-February the Festival was celebrated in honor of the goddess Juno, the protector of the women and the goddess of marriage.

Young Romans celebrated the day by gathering around a love urn into which young girls had placed their names.

After Christianity was established in Rome, Lupercalia was renamed St. Valentine's Day in honor of the martyr whose death so closely approximates the Roman festival. He was a Roman priest who lived during the reign of Claudius II. He gave aid and comfort to the Christian martyrs and was imprisoned and executed because of his sympathies on Feb. 14, 207 A.D.

★ Why Does Fido Bite?

A dog who growls at or bites people or other animals has a very serious behavior problem. Most dogs are well-socialized animals under normal conditions; they show aggression only under extreme circumstances, such as when cornered and attacked. Some dogs, however, exhibit threatening behavior more frequently. It is these dogs who are dangerous. Their behavior problem should be addressed immediately; never ignored, encouraged, or excused by their owners.

Dogs express aggression by showing their teeth, growling, snapping, and/or biting. A bite may be brief or prolonged, as when the dog holds on tightly and shakes his head back and forth. Fear may be involved in an attack, evidenced by a crouching posture and ears flattened back against the head. A dog may stare at, stalk, or chase what he is about to bite, or he may show no warning signs at all.

Why does Fido bite? In addition to a mother dog protecting her pups, and dogs who are attack-trained by humans, common causes are:

The "Alpha" complex: Dogs, like their wild relatives, are pack animals. In the home, the dog's human family and any other pets function as his pack. It is natural for a dog to strive to be the "top" or "alpha" pack member. Unless a human takes the alpha role, the dog will try for leadership. Multiple dogs in a household may aggressively defend their pack positions, alpha or otherwise. A dog with an alpha complex may growl when his food or favorite toy is approached, or when he is given a command or is rebuked by his owner. He may snap at a child or other subordinate pack member who walks by or touches him. He might even growl when he is petted, feeling that the human hand over his head is a dominance threat. Alpha complexes occur in males and females.

Male interfighting: As in cats, aggression is more common among unneutered males, probably due to the hormone testosterone. The behavior can be traced to competition for dominance and, therefore, females. This is because only the alpha dog in a pack mates.

Fear: Some dogs react aggressively when severely frightened. Shy or timid dogs are more likely to bite out of fear.

Pain response: Dogs may become aggressive when handled by a human who causes them pain. Touching an elderly dog's arthritic hind end; inadvertently clipping a nail too short; trying to move an injured dog; and, of course, striking a dog—all can initiate a bite response. Children, especially pre-schoolers, often hurt dogs and are frequently bite victims.

Dog as predator: Rodents, cats, small dogs, livestock, and even fast hand movements by humans can stimulate a dog's natural predatory response.

Territory protection: A wild dog scent-marks his territory and aggressively defends it against intruders. A domestic dog may threaten when his yard, house, or favorite human is approached by anyone other than an accepted pack member. Dogs defend small territories very aggressively; such as when locked in a car or chained to a stake.

Unpredictable biting: Usually a result of poor breeding or extreme abuse or neglect, unexplained unprovoked aggression is seen in some animals. Often such dogs are good pets otherwise.

Next week: "Treating Canine Aggression."

"MORE FUN THAN BOWLING," a comedy by Steven Dietz, continues at the Garage Theatre in Chelsea through March 15. Phillip Locker, above, portrays Jake Tomlinson, owner of the Dust Bowl Bowling Alley. Performances are Thursday through Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. For tickets or more information contact the Purple Rose Theatre Company at 475-7902.

Successful Pet Food Round-Up Reported By Humane Society

Humane Society of Huron Valley has announced that its 14th annual Holiday Pet Food Round-Up was a great success.

More than five tons of cat and dog food were collected during the month of December from 16 Washtenaw county pet and grocery stores. Scores of shoppers pitched in this season depositing cans and bags of assorted pet foods into the donation "corrals" placed in each of the participating stores.

The thousands of homeless cats and dogs which will be received by the shelter this year will reap the benefits of the public's generosity. The substantial amount of food donated should supplement the shelter animals' food supply for a number of months to come. For example, canned dog food collected in last year's drive supplemented the shelter dogs' food for the entire year.

Humane Society of Huron Valley is extremely grateful to all of the businesses who graciously placed "corrals" in their stores and to all of the individuals who generously deposited food into the "corrals." It is through your diligent effort and good-will that the shelter's food supply continues to be a success from year to year.

Family Heart Health Program Offered Feb. 19

Heart disease accounts for nearly one of every two deaths in America—almost a million deaths a year. But individuals can reduce their risk for heart disease through healthy lifestyle behaviors.

In recognition of February as American Heart Month, the Michigan Heart & Vascular Institute at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital-Ann Arbor and Chelsea Community Hospital are sponsoring the lecture, "Family Heart Health," on Wednesday, Feb. 19 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Chelsea Community Hospital Dining Room.

Chelsea's Chief of Medicine, Steven Yarows, M.D., and MHI cardiologist Joel Kahn, M.D., will present information about risk factors, how families can reduce their risk for heart disease, and the latest in medical testing and treatment for heart disease. Clinical nutritionist Zonya Foco, R.D., will offer dietary information for healthier eating behaviors. Her presentation includes a cooking demonstration, food tasting and recipe handouts.

For further details about this and other scheduled heart lectures during February, call ASK-A-NURSE at (313) 572-5555.

Arrests May Be Near In Armed Robbery

Warrants are expected to be issued this week in the armed robbery of the Cavanaugh Lake Store on the evening of Saturday, Jan. 18.

According to Det. William Eskridge of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, a young man, possibly a juvenile, used a rifle or shotgun in the robbery. An undisclosed amount of cash was taken from the register.

The man may have worn a wig because the employee told police the assailant's hair looked unnatural. It is believed he had accomplices waiting in a car outside.

Eskridge said a juvenile boy, who has been arrested for a robbery of the Clear Lake Store in Jackson county, is a prime suspect. The accomplices may have been from Ann Arbor.

Even though farmers get a lot of benefits from agricultural research, consumers get even more. Americans spend only about 12 percent of their income on food, less than anyone else in the world. Some economists estimate that the typical family gets back $3 for each $1 invested in ag research.

Man Arrested Drinking Beer During Break-In

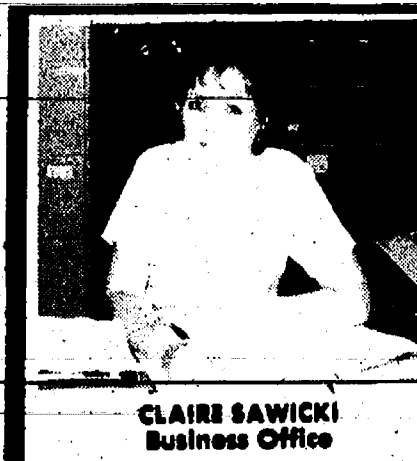

A man who broke into Schneider's Grocery Saturday night was taken into custody by police after they found him sitting by a cooler drinking a beer.

According to police, Robert D. Stoddard broke two store windows shortly after 6 p.m. to gain access to the building. A witness, who mistakenly thought he saw a man breaking into the Garage Theatre on Park St., notified police.

When police arrived with the owner of the store, they found Stoddard with a six-pack of beer, one can partially empty. Police said Stoddard told them he wanted a beer but didn't have any money.

Police chief Lenard McDougall also said Stoddard told him the court system is too lenient.

Two windows, 14" by 30" were broken in the incident. Value was estimated at $100.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Cagers Let Still Another Slip Away in Final Minutes

It was more of the same for the Chelsea Bulldogs varsity basketball team last Friday at Milan as again they let an apparent victory slip away in the closing minutes.

The Bulldogs, who held a 12-point lead shortly before half-time and still led by five points with less than three minutes to go, couldn't close the deal as the Big Reds scored the final 11 points of the game for a 62-56 win.

Pat Steele's field goal with 2:25 left gave Chelsea a 56-51 advantage. Then the roof fell in, as it did at Saline the week before, and at Pinckney the week before that.

After a three-point play, Maurice Eaddy's putback of a missed Milan free throw tied the game at the 1:46 mark. On the exchange, Chelsea's Ben Hurst got caught in a trap beyond the top of the key and was unable to get the ball to a teammate. After the turnover, an E.J. Bates field goal with :47 left gave Milan the lead.

The Bulldogs still had a good chance to tie, but a drive down the lane by Hurst came up short. Orlando Butler put Milan up by four points on the next trip down the court. The final Chelsea shot was blocked and the play ended with an intentional Bulldog foul.

"In the first half, we played as well as we have all year," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

"We played a zone defense part-time and I think it caused Milan some problems. We also shot over 50 percent in the first half. At the end, Milan picked up the defensive pressure and we didn't react well. We wanted to go inside to Jon (Royce) but our guards couldn't penetrate enough to make the pass. Jon didn't get the ball in the last four minutes."

Chelsea's major problem, as it has been for much of the season, was the lack of floor leadership down the stretch.

"There was no question," Raymond said.

"We didn't control the ball and get the shots we wanted. We need to control the ball better at the end or we can't win a tight game."

As in the Saline game, the momentum began to shift late in the second half. Chelsea was up by 12 points, but gave up the last five points of the half including a 30-foot spinning jumper by Butler at the buzzer.

After the break, Royce scored the first two points of the third quarter, but the Big Reds went on a 12-2 run, including eight points by Bates. By the end of the third quarter, Chelsea was up 44-43.

Chelsea shot 46 percent (23-50) from the floor to Milan's 40 percent (23-57). The Bulldogs were 9-14 from the line and Milan was 14-24. Chelsea also out-rebounded the Big Reds, 43-33, but committed 25 turnovers to Milan's 17. The Bulldogs were also whistled for 15 second-half fouls to Milan's five, although the Big Reds pressed most of the second half.

Royce led Chelsea with 15 points and a season-high 14 rebounds. Steele scored 11 points, his highest total of the year. Other scorers included Tom Poulter 6, Hurst 5, Dana Schunk 5, Jake Rindle 4, Colby Skelton 4, Dan Stahl 4, and Chris Dunham 2. Skelton, who fouled out, had a season-high six assists.

Chelsea was 3-5 in the Southeastern Conference going into last night's home game with the Lincoln Railspitters.

In non-conference play last Tuesday at Stockbridge, the Panthers held off a late Bulldog rally for a 78-67 win.

"Stockbridge is one of the best passing teams we've seen all year," Raymond said.

"We played tight man-to-man but they passed the ball well and made the plays and got a lot of easy shots. We matched up with them real well."

Chelsea was down 40-28 at halftime, but managed to trim the Stockbridge lead to three points with four minutes to go. However, Stockbridge's Dan Loigren took over and scored two inside baskets and a pair of free throws to put the game away.

Stockbridge hit 8-14 field goal attempts in the fourth quarter.

Chelsea, however, may again have been their own worst enemy as they committed 30 turnovers. The Panthers also had 15 offensive rebounds.

"We didn't catch the ball well," Raymond said.

"Their press bothered us more than most. They are a quick, aggressive team, a lot like Tecumseh."

Another big difference was at the line. Stockbridge was 19-25 while Chelsea was 10-14.

Rindle led Chelsea with 14 points. Hurst had 11 on a trio of three-pointers, and Royce and Skelton scored 10 each. Others were Steele 7, Dunham 6, Nick McCalla 5, Schunk 2, and Poulter 2.

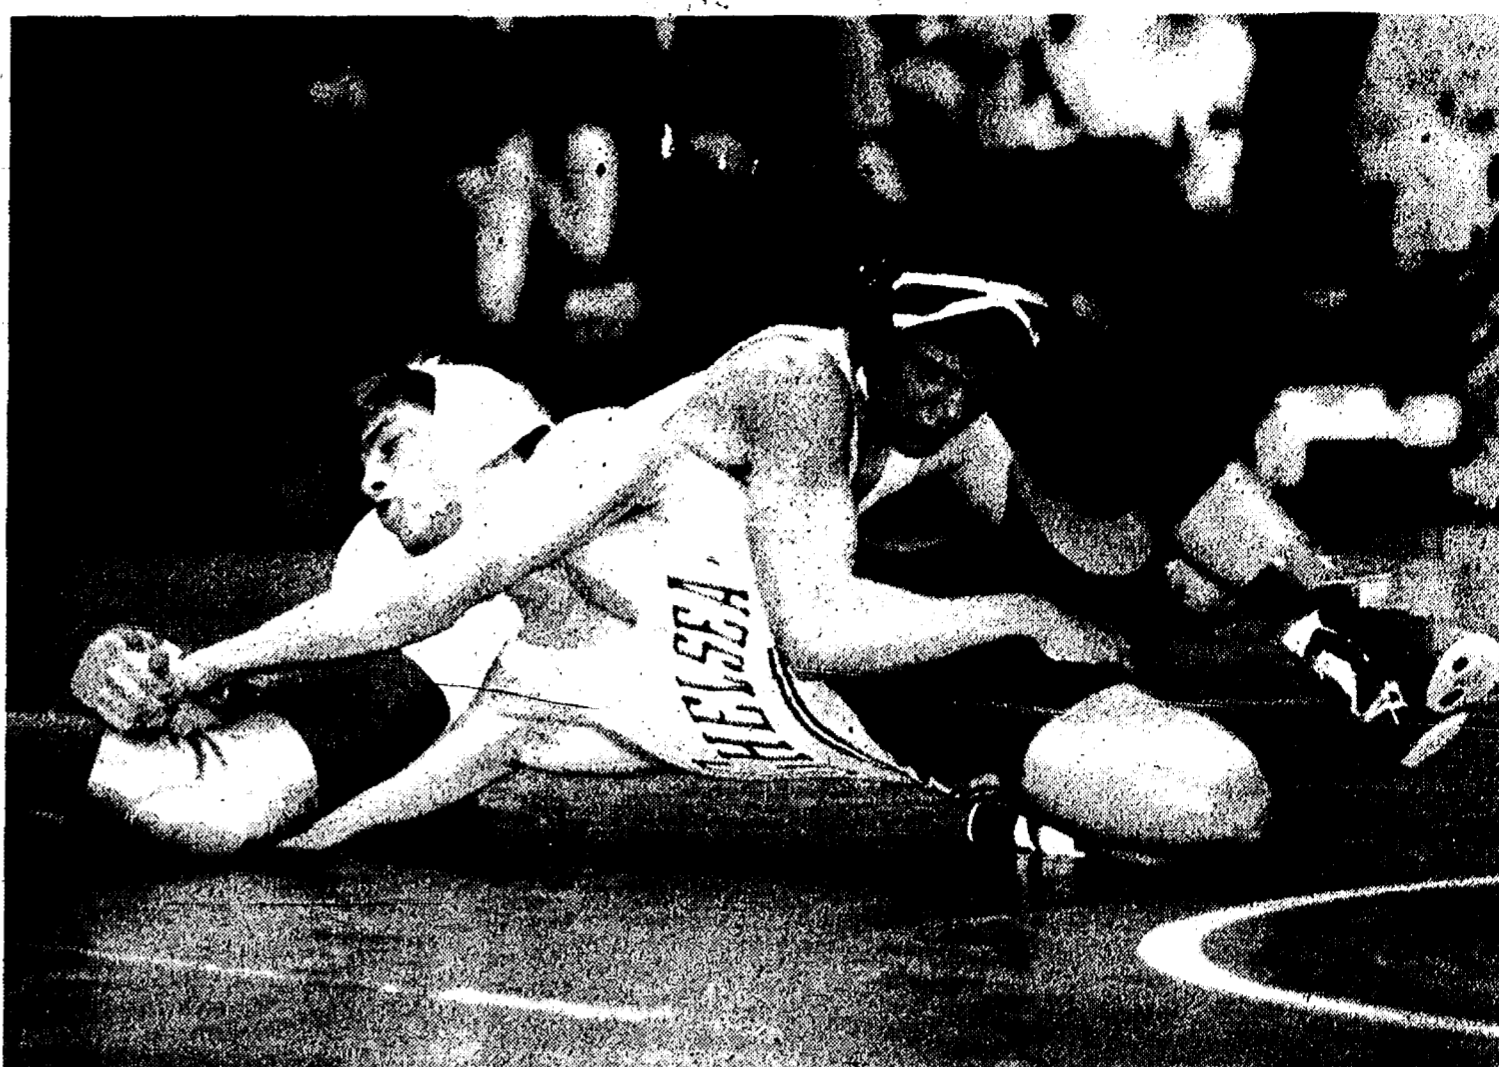

Chelsea fell to 5-8 over-all. They play a non-conference game at Brooklyn Columbia Central this Friday, followed by home games against Jackson Northwest and Dexter next week.

JAKE RINDLE battles with Milan's E.J. Bates for rebounding position in the first half of last Friday night's game in Milan. Bates almost single-handedly got the Big Reds back into the game during the early part of the second half. Chelsea and Milan finished last week tied for fifth place in the SEC.

COLBY SKELTON drives hard to the basket during last Friday night's game in Milan. Chelsea held the early lead but couldn't hold on, and fell to 3-5 in the league.

SOPHOMORE TIM WESCOTT won two out of three matches last Saturday for Chelsea in a quad meet at Brooklyn Columbia Central. Wescott wrestles at 112 pounds for the Bulldogs. He also won his Pinckney match last week.

Grapplers Head into SEC Tourney With Title Hopes

Chelsea Bulldogs wrestling team heads into this Saturday's Southeastern Conference tournament at Dexter with an outside shot at the championship as they finished the dual-meet season in second place with a 5-1 record.

The Bulldogs knocked off the Pinckney Pirates, 32-30, last Tuesday in their final SEC dual meet.

Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel knows, however, the Bulldogs would be hard-pressed to beat the Dreadnaughts under ideal conditions. Saturday his second best wrestler, Kevin McCalla, may still be out, along with three or four other starters.

"Anything can happen this time of year," Kargel said.

"Right now we're just splitting and spitting. We are really banged up. If we lose McCalla, we're losing almost a sure league champion and that hurts. We also have some other decent athletes out, which could cost us some points. This has been quite a year."

Results of the Pinckney meet follow.

103: Ryan Ludwig (C) pinned Chip Hall in 1:03.

112: Tim Wescott (C) beat Scott Lavey, 10-5.

119: Todd Watson (C) lost to Brad Palumbo, 9-0.

125: Ryan Wagner (C) was pinned by Jeremy Kosnicki in :19.

130: Vince Stahl (C) pinned Willy Daniels in 1:51.

135: Mike Bainton (C) lost to Jason Reck, 17-2.

140: Andrew Parker (C) defeated Scott Colvie, 9-4.

145: Ian Dyer (C) won by forfeit.

152: Paul Taylor (C) was defeated by Frank Samples, 11-6.

160: Aric Dougherty (C) was pinned by Chris Lavin in 2:43.

171: Chris Kargel (C) lost to John White, 14-5.

189: Jeff Holzhausen (C) lost to John White, 14-5.

Heavyweight: Mike Terpstra (C) won by forfeit.

"Little things helped us win that match," Kargel said.

"Mike Bainton and Jeff Holzhausen didn't get pinned, which saved us two points each, and Aric Dougherty's tie helped."

In a quad meet Saturday at Brooklyn Columbia Central, Chelsea beat Central, 35-28, Harper Creek, 38-31, and Haslett, 48-21.

"Considering how banged up we are, I thought it might be a tough day for us," Kargel said.

"But the kids proved me wrong. I was also able to get one match for just about everyone."

Results of the Columbia Central match follow.

103: Matt Delong (C) pinned Mark Vanallstine in 1:00.

112: Tim Wescott (C) pinned Steve Frank in :23.

119: Eric Montange (C) pinned James Schaffer in 1:33.

135: Andrew Parker (C) lost to Kam Chamberlain, 17-10.

140: Mark Sparaco (C) lost to Casey Arrinstrong, 5-0.

145: Ian Dyer (C) beat Jason Arnst, 10-0.

152: Paul Taylor (C) lost to Chris Van Slyke, 16-6.

160: Aric Dougherty (C) was pinned by J.J. Swift in 1:09.

171: Chris Kargel (C) beat Jamie Butler, 12-4.

189: Jeff Holzhausen (C) was pinned by Terry Eman in 1:24.

Heavyweight: Mike Terpstra pinned Rick Bonhaus in 1:10.

Results of the Harper Creek match follow.

103: Dan Alber (C) beat Ray Root, 17-2.

112: Tim Wescott (C) defeated Bill Cohoon, 6-4.

119: Eric Montange (C) won by forfeit.

125: Jason Knisely (C) lost to Mike McConville, 17-0.

130: Ryan Wagner (C) was pinned by Bob Cohoon in 1:15.

135: Mike Bainton (C) lost to Chris Carlisle, 15-0.

140: Andrew Parker (C) pinned Randy Swatford in 4:41.

145: Casey Schiller (C) pinned Shane Niswander in 4:50.

152: Paul Taylor (C) lost to Jim Taft, 14-4.

160: Aric Dougherty (C) pinned Curt Nichols in 1:29.

171: Brian Schulz (C) was pinned by Shayne Wyman in 1:24.

189: Jeff Holzhausen (C) was pinned by Dave Walback in 1:03.

Heavyweight: Mike Terpstra pinned Matt St. Johns in :22.

Chelsea had no problem with Haslett, partly because Haslett forfeited all weight classes from 125 through 145, giving victories to Watson, Wagner, Parker, Sparaco, and Schiller.

"They had some kind of problem, but I don't know what it was all about," Kargel said.

Results of other matches follow.

103: Ryan Ludwig (C) lost to Mike Russell, 11-7.

112: Tim Wescott (C) lost to Jamie Lupp, 8-4.

119: Eric Montange (C) pinned Brent Brewster in 4:33.

152: K.C. Harr (C) pinned C.C. Shaver in 2:42.

160: Aric Dougherty (C) lost to Jason Robinson, 3-2.

171: Chelsea forfeited.

189: Jeff Schurmaker (C) was pinned by Ryan Pustay in 1:11.

Heavyweight: Rob Bergman (C) pinned Jason Jeppson in :45.

Chelsea is 10-4 over-all in dual meets.

Freshman Cagers Whip Milan But Lose to Saline Hornets

Chelsea Bulldogs freshman basketball team beat Milan, 58-48, last Thursday but lost to Saline, 52-40, last Monday.

Chelsea used a 28-point fourth quarter to erase a seven-point deficit and beat the Big Reds.

"As a team, we played to our capabilities both offensively and defensively," said Chelsea coach Dave Quilter.

"Everyone on the team played and played well."

Eleven of 14 Chelsea players scored and Adam Beauchamp, Scott Hawley, and Case McCalla combined for 20 points in the fourth quarter.

Beauchamp finished with a team-high 21 points, including all 10 first-quarter points. He also had four rebounds and four assists.

★ Governor's Program Will Improve Local Delivery of Human Services

Gov. Engler has begun the reorganization of social programs in some communities with a pilot project geared to improving delivery of human services to Michigan's neediest citizens.

Muskegon's Nelson neighborhood will be the beneficiary of "Communities First," a new program that will explore ways services can be offered at the neighborhood level to provide more efficient and timely aid to troubled children, the poor, elderly, addicted and mentally ill. An example is the possible use of schools to administer programs that currently are fragmented, such as immunization and counseling services, and day-care centers.

Other options could include night hours for social services offices, and transportation programs to help low-income parents get to work, job training or day-care centers.

By consolidating social services programs and making them accessible at the neighborhood level, Communities First will serve those who need help the most and are least able to travel to get it.

The Department of Social Services (DSS) will oversee the project, but all details will be co-ordinated through a network of state agencies and schools. State departments that will work with and base their efforts on suggestions from local parents, teachers, senior citizens and children include Public Health, Mental Health and Education.

The program also will be implemented in several other economically distressed areas of the state.

Communities First is an innovative concept designed to establish non-traditional human services offices that will meet needs at their origin. I'm pleased Gov. Engler is continuing his campaign promise to improve Michigan's social services network and help people help themselves, and I fully support his efforts.

Emergency Soup Kitchen Program

Acting on the recommendation of Republican legislators, Gov. Engler has implemented an emergency soup kitchen program to provide additional help for Michigan's needy.

As the rise in unemployment forces more state residents to become dependent on public and private programs, Michigan's traditional licensed soup kitchens are being taxed beyond their capabilities. By waiving some of the regulations applicable to temporary food providers, the emergency soup kitchen concept will allow more facilities, such as churches, to serve the state's hungry.

Under the plan:

- regulations not critical to the protection of the public's health have been relaxed for these facilities
- food service establishments and providers will be made aware of a

AARP Members Will Hear Address
By Peter Fletcher

Peter B. Fletcher, prominent Republican businessman, takes the AARP podium to talk about the humorous side of his long career in Michigan politics in the meeting on Thursday, Feb. 13, which begins at 1:30 p.m.

Advisor to Governors Romney and Milliken, Fletcher "just call me Mr. Highwayman" served as chairman of the Michigan Highway Commission—"because of me, they abolished it," he claims.

He denies, however, that he stole Toledo during his tenure on the Highway Commission.

He admits to modifying the state map slightly, by inserting fictitious towns along the Ohio border in a famous—and limited edition—of a map of Michigan.

He promises to tell the truth about this incident—and more—during his talk on "Good Advice from a Bad Example." Don't miss it!

Washtenaw County Chapter No. 4240 of the American Association of Retired Persons meets at the Pittsfield Township Hall, corner of the Pittsfield and South State, Ann Arbor.

IRS Speakers Available to Civic Groups

Believe it or not, many civic organizations and professional associations actually look forward to a visit from the IRS! That's because IRS personnel are available to address these and other groups on federal income tax law and tax filing tips, through the IRS Outreach Program.

"IRS speakers are very popular with groups around the state," said IRS district director John Hummel. "Tax information is interesting to almost everyone, especially this time of year."

Speakers are also available to explain IRS procedures and policy related issues. "The IRS Speakers Bureau can provide individuals from our management ranks to discuss topics ranging from the operation of our Criminal Investigation Division; to IRS collection procedures, or the examination process," said Hummel. "These are free services provided to inform and assist Michigan taxpayers and to help reduce the burden in complying with federal income tax laws."

Groups interested in an IRS speaker should contact the Taxpayer Education Office, Internal Revenue Service, P.O. Box 330600, Stop 45, Detroit, MI 48232, or call (313) 226-3874 (not a toll-free number).

"We recommend calling at least two to three weeks in advance when requesting a speaker for a specific date," Hummel said.

FAMILY HEART HEALTH:
Learning How To Reduce Your Family's Risk Of Heart Disease

Approximately one million Americans die each year from heart disease. On average, one death occurs every 32 seconds. Physicians estimate that certain types of heart disease can be prevented through healthy lifestyle behaviors.

The Michigan Heart and Vascular Institute at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital will be sponsoring a free community lecture series highlighting healthy heart behaviors for you and your family. Lectures will be given by a cardiologist from your Cardiac Emergency Network Hospital and a registered dietitian.

- Learn how you and your family can reduce your risk of heart disease.
- Learn about "good" and "bad" cholesterol, testing, and treatment.
- Learn about nutrition and food preparation, including food sampling and a cooking demonstration at most locations.
- Receive kitchen tested, heart-healthy recipes.

Lectures will be held at your local Cardiac Emergency Network Hospital on the following dates:

Tax Assistance Available via IRS Hot Line

"Many of the 4.1 million Michigan taxpayers who will file federal tax returns are probably about ready to sit down and prepare them," said IRS district director John Hummel. "And as they do so, I want to remind them about a special assistance feature we provide.

"Our TELETAX program provides tax information 24 hours a day through a pre-recorded message system. This computer assisted program provides information on over 150 tax topics and may be reached by calling us toll free on 1-800-829-4477.

"Of course we also have assistants available to answer tax questions on our toll free lines, at 1-800-829-1040, during regular business hours. But the advantage of TELETAX is that taxpayers can call any time of the day or night when they happen to be working on their tax returns," Hummel added.

"I want to encourage Michiganders to file early and accurately, and remember that we are here to help reduce the burden on taxpayers by providing guidance and assistance."

Q. Would you please make some comments about Community Psychiatric Centers. I have owned the stock for 10 years or more. My average cost is only $5 a share, but I am concerned about its recent drop in price. Is there any way to judge whether the problem it has reported can be solved quickly or is it likely to be a problem for several years?

A. Community Psychiatric Centers operates 48 acute-care psychiatric care hospitals in the U.S. with about 4,550 licensed beds.

Late in September 1991 the company shocked the investment community by announcing an August quarterly earnings report which was 98% below the prior year. Prior to that the company had a 22-year long record of quarterly profit increases. The price, which has been as high as 40 early in 1991, dropped from 28-5/8 to 10-5/8 in a few days. Recently it was about 12. Wall Street lost confidence in the management.

The company management's explanation was the drop was caused by charges for accounts receivable where collection was in doubt. Perhaps more importantly, quarterly total revenues declined 4.8% from the prior year. Historically revenues had grown at a 15% annual rate. Management stated it was studying the various options available to help it respond more effectively to difficult operating conditions. The explanation was more revealing for what it did not say, rather than for what it did say. There was no frank discussion of the problems which led up the huge write-off. Management was somewhat less than candid with the owners of the business, the shareholders.

For many years, health care costs in the U.S. have been rising much more rapidly than other costs of living. Enormous pressures are being exerted to slow this down. The effect is a number of health care facilities reporting lower occupancy and lower profits. There is a shake-out occurring and this is an industry to avoid. I suspect the problem cannot be solved quickly and that unfortunately the stock of Community Psychiatric Hospitals has changed from one of the steady highly predictable growth to an unknown quantity.

Investment Idea for Today's Investor

For investors seeking 8.5% yield income after seeing the yields from CD's collapse, we suggest they look at Pennsylvania REIT (PEI) ASE. A REIT is a real estate investment trust. Under the IRS code, if a REIT pays out 95% of its income in dividends to shareholders, the corporate income is not taxed.

Pennsylvania REIT is a self-managed REIT.
