School Board Approves Potential Lay-Offs if Voters Reject New Millage

Four teachers, two media aides, and a counselor have been given their official lay-off notices by the Chelsea School District. They would go into effect only if voters reject a 1.95 mill increase in the June elections.

Teachers who would lose their jobs include North school art teacher Janet Alford, who has the most seniority in the group, music teacher Steven Hinz, high school English teacher Marie Polakowski, South school teacher Tracy Heydlauff, substance abuse counselor Cheryl Davis, and media aides Lou Kramer of Beach Middle school and Barbara Sullivan of Chelsea High school.

The lay-offs would be part of an over-all budget cut of about $634,000. The cuts would be necessary primarily due to the property tax freeze, decreased state aid for special education, and Tax Base Sharing.

Chelsea Board of Education approved the lay-offs at the Monday meeting in the Chelsea Depot.

Chelsea Education Association President Joe Beard said the lay-off determination process was unusual this year because union representatives "sat down with the administration." The process involves looking at seniority and certification.

"It was by far the most difficult part of the meeting," said superintendent Joe Piasecki.

Several audience members expressed their concerns about the lay-offs, especially as they relate to the music program. Hinz founded the popular Washington Street Show Choir and has had a major impact on the school music program in general. Piasecki said he hopes all the people who could potentially lose their jobs will wait to see the results of the millage election before deciding whether to look at other districts.

"We know there's the potential we could lose some wonderful people, and we hope they'll be patient."

Piasecki said he looks at the lay-off process as a "protection for the school district" in case cuts have to be implemented. Official notices have to be filed two months before the end of the school year.

Ironically, at the same meeting, Heydlauff and Polakowski were placed on second-year probation status, along with David Polley. Hinz was granted tenure status, along with Crystal Heydlauff, Jane Straith-Rose, Theresa Walsh, Karen Glover, Deborah Hoeffka, and Karen Schiff.

In other business, board members received letters both for and against the idea of signing on with Channel One. Middle school teacher Bev Yelsik wrote that she believes the service teaches students to be passive rather than active learners, among other concerns.

Piasecki said the board will probably decide next month whether to have the service installed.

Channel One, part of Whittle Communications, involves the installation of televisions in rooms, cable throughout the schools, a satellite dish, and videocassette recorders, all free of charge to the district. It can be used virtually any way the district sees fit. The company also offers programs on a variety of subjects.

However, students are required to watch a 12-minute news segment each morning, with about two minutes of commercials.

The board approved a number of policies dealing with the structure of the board, how meetings will be held, and other basic policies. The entire board policy book is being revised.

A three-day field trip for 32 special education students May 20-22 to a YMCA camp in Napoleon was approved.

The administration also discussed the difficulties of long-range financial planning in light of changes in school financing proposed at the state level.

"If the state would just do things the way they have in the past it wouldn't be so difficult," Piasecki said Tuesday morning.

"We're in the position of trying to guess what's going to happen."

'Christmas in April' Takes Place on Saturday

Several months of preparations have led up to this Saturday's Christmas in April*Washtenaw program, in which many Chelsea-area volunteers will participate.

Five homes in the Chelsea School District will be repaired and improved in the April 25, one-day blitz to aid elderly, handicapped and low-income residents.

As the name indicates, the program will be run in communities all over the county. However, it is a national program. The program is staffed by volunteers and funded entirely by donations.

People from all age groups and walks of life have offered to help. For example, for the last two Saturdays, eight electricians from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 252 have been upgrading the electrical systems in two of the local homes to prepare for work this Saturday. In all, more than 150 people have volunteered and many more have offered their support to the project with a promise to help next year. More than half the volunteers will be stationed at just two of the houses, which need work on both the interior and exterior.

More than $6,000 has been donated from area businesses, organizations, service groups, seniors, and residents.

One organization, Plumbers and Pipefitters Local 190 has adopted a home in each of the seven areas of Washtenaw county. A donation of $1,500 is required to adopt a home.

Other people have made in-kind donations, and residents have made donations of nails, lumber, and paint. Heller Electric Co. and Thompson Electric Co. have donated electrical materials and IBEW Local 252 has agreed to purchase the electrical materials not donated. Fuller Electric Co. has arranged the donation of a Lennox furnace for one of the homes. Other businesses have offered discounted merchandise.

Warren McArthur, owner of Chelsea Cleaners, made the initial inquiries into the program on Chelsea's behalf. However, Dick Shaneyfelt has served as the local co-ordinator since the beginning.

Village Council Forms Commission To Govern Chelsea Farmers Market

Village council agreed to the formation of a commission to oversee operations of the Chelsea Farmers Market.

Members of the commission will include trustee Tom Dorer, representing village council, Ann Feeney, representing the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, Lynda Collins, representing the Chelsea Depot Association, and at-large members Sue Heller and Sandy Barkman.

The commission was formed for several reasons. It is seen as a way to give the market added stability and protection because it will be under the auspices of village government. Errors and omissions coverage on the village's liability insurance would cover the commissioners. It would also make the purchase of liability insurance easier because the market can be covered as a special event at less than $500 per year. That cost may be passed on to exhibitors.

Council would have the responsibility of approving actions of the commission.

One issue to be resolved is liability protection for board members of the Depot Association. The depot parking lot is the site of the market. The association is protected against claims against the parking lot because the lot is leased from the village. Individual board members are not protected and cannot be included on the village's policy.

The market is scheduled to open next Saturday, May 2 for its third season.

Community Education Director Tracy Resigns

The person who guided Chelsea's Community Education Department from its inception as an adult high school completion program to one of the most comprehensive small-town community education departments in the state has resigned.

Jackie Rogers Tracy, hired as Chelsea's first community education director in 1978, will become an assistant professor in the College of Education at Eastern Michigan University later this year. Her resignation is effective June 30.

"I'll never have a job I could love as much," Tracy said.

"It was an extremely difficult decision to leave."

Tracy, an adjunct professor at EMU for the last nine years, finished her doctorate in educational administration there in 1989. She said it has been a long term goal to teach in college. At EMU she will teach graduate-level courses in school administration, as well as conduct research. It is a tenure-track position.

One of former superintendent Charlie Cameron's final projects in 1978 was to push for the establishment of a community education department. The philosophy was, and still is, that education is for the entire community, not just students who inhabit the buildings during the day. The department is designed to address specific community needs. Now there are a multitude of courses and activities offered for area residents of all ages.

Rogers was hired away from Bedford Community Schools. She served as president of the state association for community education from 1981-84. Now the only administrators here with more years of service are assistant superintendent Fred Mills and special education director Dr. Henry DeYoung.

"The program couldn't have started or grown without a supportive school board or support of our superintendents," Tracy says.

"The program has had tremendous support."

Since that first adult education program, the department has helped nearly 300 adults receive their high school diplomas.

Other department programs include the following.

- A pre-school program that serves more than 200 families annually.
- Youth enrichment programs including after school programs for children, and Super Saturday. About 800 students participate yearly.
- Before and after school child care program in partnership with Chelsea Community Hospital.
- Establishment of the Chelsea senior citizen program, in coalition with Chelsea Hospital, Kiwanis Club of Chelsea, and the Chelsea Recreation Council. It serves more than 1,000 area senior citizens.
- Establishment of an on-site Resource Center at Chrysler Proving Grounds using a National Training Center Grant from Chrysler Corporation and UAW. It provides staffing and programming for all proving grounds employees.

Implementation of a state-funded adult education GED program at Cassidy Lake Special Alternative Incarceration Program (commonly known as the boot camp), serving more than 100 young men age 17-25.

• And co-operation and co-ordination with more than 75 agencies and groups who provide community programming and enrichment courses.

The department also co-ordinates all after-school use of district facilities. More than 500 permits are issued annually, resulting in about 15,000 hours of community use.

One of the programs Tracy will miss the most, she says, is the senior citizens program.

"When I started here I was 25 years old and they used to say, 'now young lady...'" she says with a smile.

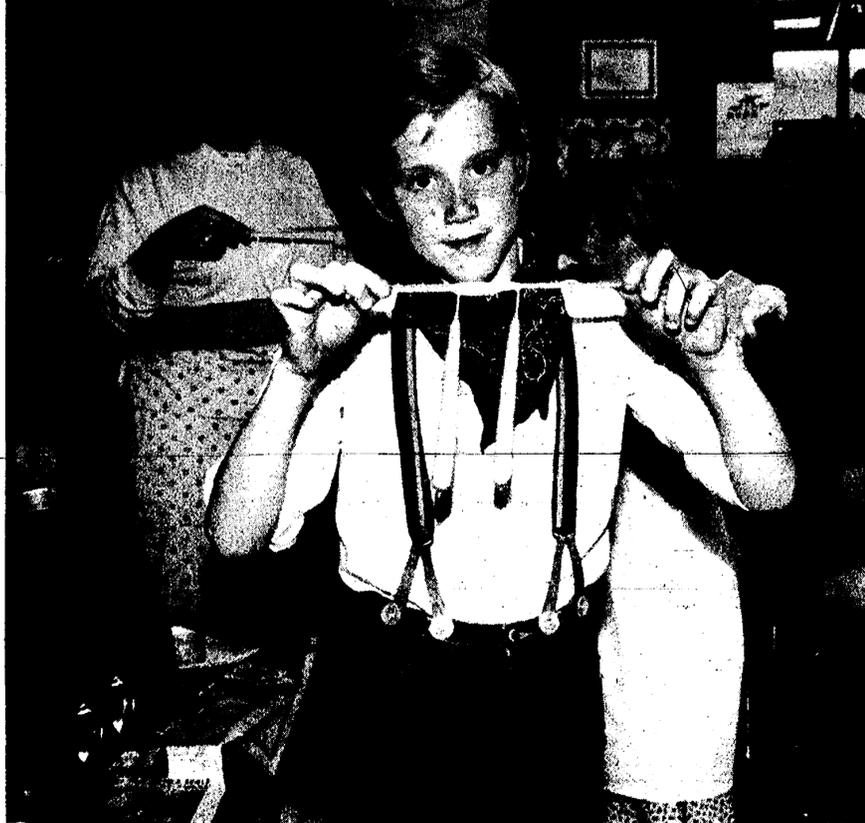

"Now they say, 'now young lady, you'd better put your coat on before you go outside, or now young lady, you'd better take a look at the tires on your car.' It will be tough to leave them."

Monday night Tracy received an ovation from those in attendance at the board meeting.

"It was both sad and happy," Piasecki said.

"We hate to see someone go who has made such a major contribution to the

Insurer Will Launch Initiative For No-Fault Reform

Giving up on the legislative process, the state's largest auto insurer announced plans to seek voter support for a complex reform of the state's no-fault law which would lower rates by 20 percent by cutting mandated coverages.

But critics suggested voters do not trust insurers to write insurance law, and proponents of the reform bill vetoed by Governor John Engler still hope for a successful override.

The proposal drafted by AAA of Michigan puts limits on mandatory medical coverage, eliminates the requirement for mandatory liability coverage and limits lawsuits as the result of accidents.

Terrence W. Shea vice-president of insurance operations for AAA, said rate cuts for some drivers could easily hit 40 percent. But many would also buy coverage they do not now have, such as uninsured motorist protection since the proposal eliminates the requirements that all drivers carry liability coverage.

"This is the only proposal on the table which provides both short-term and long-term savings. It will return no-fault to what it was originally designed to do—provide prompt payment of benefits with a limited right to sue."

Major points of the plan, which is detailed in five 8.5-by-14-inch pages in small type, include:

- a medical fee schedule;
 - required medical coverage only up to $250,000, instead of unlimited coverage as under current law, with optional coverage up to $5 million;
 - a cut in the $110.58 assessment for the Michigan Catastrophic Claims Association, although the amount was not estimated;
 - allowing lawsuits only for serious injuries and prohibit suits by drivers who are over 50 percent at fault; permitting discounts for claim-free drivers;
 - equal loss ratios among all of an insurer's territories; and coordination of no-fault with other medical and related insurance plans.
- The proposal would also prohibit insurance commissioners from going to work for insurance companies for two years after leaving office.

Insurers would not be required to roll back rates by a certain amount, protecting a right to reasonable return, and the proposal prohibits excess profits. The 20 percent rate cut, which could be less if insurers show the costs were not reduced that much, is premised on drivers purchasing just the $250,000 in medical coverage.

AAA said its payouts over 1985-90 for medical coverage increased 91 percent and for liability by 117 percent, compared to a general inflation cost increase of 23 percent.

Shea said the proposal strikes a balance between insurance that is affordable for all motorists while still leaving Michigan with the most generous benefits in the country. He said deleting the unlimited medical coverage is justified if it means more motorists who are now illegally uninsured will purchase policies and obtain medical coverage for the first time.

Jane Bailey, executive director of the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association, called the drive "another example of insurance company waste. The way they intend to save money is by stripping people of rights and benefits."

Bailey said the bill vetoed last week by Engler would have provided healthy rate cuts with only minimal restrictions on rights and benefits.

"But the AAA proposal, she said, 'not only dramatically lowers medical coverage, it would take what rights you have to hold a negligent driver accountable away.'"

Bailey called the petition drive "a desperate attempt to do something" about the problem created by the governor's veto.

Shea said the bill vetoed by the governor did not contain the cost savings needed to warrant any significant rate cuts, either in the short-term or long-term. He called the petition drive a matter of last resort, and said it would provide average savings of $150 a year for drivers insured by his company.

Speaker Lewis Dodak (D-Montrose) said the plan "will absolutely scare (voters) to death. We're comfortable with the bill we passed." He said that bill "was difficult to pass and it will be difficult to override a veto; but it is possible."

House insurance chair Rep. Mary Brown (D-Kalamazoo) called the AAA proposal "a sham. What I want to know is who trusts insurance companies to write insurance law? This is an insurance industry's wish list. It is not a compromise."

Senate Majority leader Dick Posthumus (R-Alto) and Senate commerce chair Sen. Paul Wartner (R-Portage) supported the petition attempt saying it reflects legislative failure.

Posthumus said he has had several discussions with Dodak since the veto and plans to work on the issue in good faith when the Senate returns from its recess, but supports the petition drive in the meantime.

Wartner said the proposal balances savings with the rate cuts, which he complained was not done in the bill passed by the Legislature.

Gary Mitchell of the Professional Independent Insurance Agents, continuing to push for a legislative solution, said the petition drive "gives the Legislature an escape route to shrug off its responsibility." But he said he has no problem with the substance of the proposal.

The plan does not address territorial regulations, which expired last week, thus permitting companies to set their own territorial boundaries, not be bound by rate differentials between adjacent territories and not be limited to how much rates could increase per year.

AAA officials are aiming at giving themselves until June 1 to collect the 206,186 signatures needed to put the issue before the Legislature and perhaps at the November election, and said they will easily exceed that number. The petition will be sent to each company's 1.5 million members with its May magazine.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

They say even a blind hog finds an acorn once in a while, and Bug Hookum dug one up Saturday night during the session at the country store. Bug recalled where a car dealer in Florida fired all 13 of his salesmen at the end of the year, put one rock bottom price on ever car and set back to see what happened.

What happened was, he sold twice as many vehicles in January that usual is his slowest month than in December when all the year end close out deals kick up sales. Bug said this is an idea whose time has come, which somebody said nothing is stronger than. He said Ford now is expanding a uniform pricing policy. The one-price plan was tried on Escorts all over the country, and it worked so good more lines are being added.

Personal, I'm with Bug. I never have been able to match wits with a car salesman, because I know and I know he knows that I'm unarmed. But then I'm the same way with all salesmen. I don't know how to haggle. The best I can do is listen the fellow down. It can be a pickup, a color TV or lime for the pasture, the salesman has a fall back position. When he sees he's about to lose you he'll sweeten the pot a little. If you keep nibbling at it he'll keep working the line.

But always after I cut what I think is the best deal I can get I run into somebody that worked the same salesman down four more pegs on the same item. I read recent about haggling seminars where experts brag if you take their course you'll never pay retail again. I can't help but wonder how much heavy haggling goes on between teacher and student before they settle on a fee to take the class.

Still, like Bug said, a fair price is what a willing buyer will pay a willing seller, and acceptance is to offer what a match is to dynamite. If the buyer and the seller go at this hassle free pricing serious it could spread all over and boost buying, was Bug's words.

General, the fellows favored the pricing plan, but Ed Doolittle said in practice it will do everything but work. Worse, Ed went on, if it caught on it would hurt much more than it would help, and advertising would be the first victim. For instant, he said, if car makers set one price for every vehicle all over the country, what have the dealers got left. Will the next move be to set up factory outlet stores and do away with the middleman altogether?

Practical speaking, Clem Webster declared, as a businessman Ed is a self made political analyst. The truth is, uniform pricing on any major consumer item would be just another starting point. Like the old salesman said, there ain't no business got that ain't went out after. Ford has got to back the idea with a big ad campaign, Clem said, and the dealers have got to set up ways to price trade-ins and build in other ways to make every customer believe he's getting a little extra.

With that starting price, Clem said, retailers can put more into the extras. In the case of cars, dealers could come with accessory packages, service contracts and lease plans, for starters.

Ed said beware of American car makers with ideas. These are the folks that cry about imports while they move their factories to other countries. And Chrysler recent picked a fellow to head the company because he run a GM division that lost only a few hundred million of the billions GM lost last year.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Dale Kohsman Celebrates 90th Birthday With Family

Dale Kohsman was 90 years old as of March 8, 1992. She didn't celebrate it until Sunday, April 12, because there would be nicer weather to travel in if it were held later.

Otto and Terese Bruning, Reuben and Ruth Bruning, Sylvia Raymond, Paul and Bernice Bruning, and Dorothy Joppich, all come from Rogers City for the party. Violet Wagner came from Pontiac.

The party was given by Dale's two daughters, Allyn and Junior Seitz of Chelsea and Donn Widmayer from Marshall.

Others attending were Dale's eight grandchildren and spouses and nine great-grandchildren.

The party was held at the historic Chelsea depot.

Walk for Wellness Slated April 26 By Chelsea Hospital

Chelsea Community Hospital Senior Health Connection, in co-operation with Michigan Recreation and Park Association, and Blue Care Network of Michigan, is offering a walking program for any interested citizens within the hospital service area. This is the third year that Senior Health Connection has participated in this project.

Walking is a healthy, fun activity that almost everyone can do, one that lets you exercise without increasing your appetite; helps to lower your blood pressure, keeps your arteries healthy, relieves tension and improves your physical, emotion and spiritual well being, as well.

On Sunday, April 26, at 5 p.m., Chelsea Community Hospital Senior Health Connection will hold its first Walk Michigan/Walk for Wellness this season. Anyone interested is asked to meet in front of McKune Library for a historical walk inside the village of Chelsea.

Prizes will be drawn at the conclusion of the walk. In addition, every participant will be eligible for a drawing for the Walk Michigan Annual Governor's Labor Day Mackinac Bridge walk. This Walk Michigan event is co-sponsored by Blue Care Network and Michigan Recreation and Park Association.

There will be six special Walk Michigan/Walk for Wellness dates this summer, in addition to a regular walking schedule: Tuesdays at 1 p.m. and Fridays, at 9 a.m. The schedule will be available at the first walk.

Supervisor Discusses Truth in Taxation For Woman's Club

Woman's Club of Chelsea met in the meeting room of McKune Memorial Library on March 24 at 7:30 p.m.

A program entitled "Truth in Taxation" was presented by Sylvan township supervisor Don Schoenberg. Mr. Schoenberg has been employed by Sylvan township as property tax assessor since the 1980s. He explained how the value of property is different as seen by your buyer, your lender, your appraiser and you at time of sale.

The State Equalized Value is placed on property in every township and city in co-ordination with the county. Valuation shall not exceed 50% of cash value as of Dec. 31 each year.

Economic conditions are an important factor in value of property. How the homeowner maintains his property is also important.

Some legislation may be introduced in the State Legislature in Lansing soon that will affect the amount of property tax the homeowner will pay. Cheryl Schoenberg, president, conducted the business meeting.

Emma Rupert was installed as a new member by Billie Zenz, chairperson of the membership committee.

The McKune Memorial Library requested hostesses to serve on April 25 from 10 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. during Library Week. Six members volunteered to serve.

Ruby Strieter and Rosemary DeGrow served the members a delicious dessert.

The next meeting will be April 14. The program will be "Food Facts."

All area women are invited to attend meetings. Please call 475-7273 or 475-3786 for information.

U-M Cancer Center Begins Ovarian Cancer Drug Study

Women who have failed to respond to conventional treatment for ovarian cancer are being given another chance at arresting the disease, thanks to a study at the University of Michigan Medical Center—and a drug derived from a rare tree.

The U-M Cancer Center is among 33 centers nation-wide—and the only one in Michigan—to be given a supply of Taxol for use in the treatment of advanced ovarian disease in this National Cancer Institute-sponsored study.

"Taxol is a promising cancer drug that is in short supply," explains James A. Roberts, M.D., director of the Gynecologic Oncology Program at the Cancer Center. "It is available only from the bark of a slow-growing tree called a Pacific yew."

In previous clinical studies, Taxol has been shown to be effective in stopping or slowing the progression of ovarian cancer, without the nausea, vomiting, kidney disease and anemia associated with traditional, platinum-based therapy. The drug also is being considered for use against cancers of the lung, head and neck.

"Maybe Taxol can provide some hope or benefit for patients who have failed a number of other regimens," Roberts says. "Ultimately we'd like to see how this can be used in conjunction with cisplatin, the conventional therapy, to allow for a much more effective treatment."

The study is open only to patients who have failed three other treatment attempts and who have no cardiac disease. The study will continue as long as the Taxol supply lasts—probably a year or less. However, researchers are working to synthesize the drug in the lab so that it will be more widely available.

Ovarian cancer kills 12,400 women each year and is diagnosed in 20,500 annually. Only about 30 percent of those diagnosed survive five or more years.

Ovarian cancer is especially frustrating for physicians to treat because it is a silent disease that displays no signs or symptoms. As a result, the majority of patients—70 percent—are in the advanced stage of the disease when diagnosed.

Jackson Man Arrested In Scam

A 22-year-old Jackson man has been arrested in a check writing scam that involved businesses in Chelsea and elsewhere.

A continuing investigation has resulted in the arrest of David Hubbard of Jackson, allegedly the sole owner of All Points Construction Co., which police say is a bogus business.

According to Chelsea Det. Richard Foster, Hubbard cashed what he claimed was a payroll check from All Points at Polly's Market for $183. Hubbard also apparently cashed at least one check at Ames Department Store as well.

Foster said Hubbard himself was the only person authorized to sign checks drawn on the company's account, set up at a Jackson bank with an initial $50 deposit. The second, as yet unidentified, man in the scheme allegedly used a typewriter and check-writing machine to make out the checks. The checks were signed by a "Felix Wood," which Foster said is the name of the accomplice's cat.

Foster said he knows of at least $6,000 in checks that were cashed in the scheme, which may have also involved two other people. He said Hubbard had also set up another fake business, Oakwood Construction Co., apparently for the same purpose.

Foster said as part of the scheme Hubbard gave some of the money from the cashed checks back to the unidentified man, whom he called his business partner.

Police from Tecumseh and Ann Arbor, as well as the Jackson County Sheriff's Department and the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department are all involved in the case. The Chelsea charge for uttering and publishing is a 14-year felony, Foster said.

Landfill Costs Total $737,552

A total of $737,552 had been spent through April 15 on closing the older portion of the village landfill on Werkner Rd.

The figures, from village manager Jack Myers, were recently given to representatives of Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, and Dexter townships, who are trying to reach a final cost-sharing arrangement with the village.

The figures include costs incurred for capping the old cell, as well as the continued monitoring of the site for possible groundwater contamination.

The sides have been negotiating for more than a year on how to split the costs, as well as long-term costs associated with monitoring and any clean-up of the site over the next 30 years. The latter is apparently the primary sticking point.

Village To Install Civil Defense Siren

Another civil defense siren will be installed later this year on the south side of Old US-12 near the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds.

Village council authorized the purchase of the siren from Federal Signal Corporation for $10,146.95.

The siren will rotate when activated and send its signal in a circle.

Council decided to delay purchase of a $3,000 battery back-up and remote control, which the company said can be retrofitted later when budgeting permits. Without the battery, the siren will not work if electrical power is interrupted. Civil defense director Robert Schantz said the village will eventually want to purchase the upgrades.

According to company literature, the siren can be heard up to 5,800 feet. The current siren downtown, Schantz said, is about 80 years old. He said that eventually another siren might be needed on the western edge of the village near the Chelsea Retirement Community.

Preserving Food Safely

By Debbie Barrow, Extension Home Economist

It's time to start thinking about food preservation as produce will be available before we know it. Some pre-planning can help you save money in the long-run as well as ensure the safety of your canned items.

(1) You must use a pressure canner for all low-acid foods.

(2) If you use a dial gauge canner you should have it tested yearly. This can be done at the County Extension office.

(3) Use only approved methods and times for preparing and processing foods. Sources of information that are dated before 1988 should not be used unless you check with your Extension Home Economist. The USDA has published an updated canning guide that is available either through the CES office or directly from MSU.

(4) Be sure and discard all jars that are nicked or chipped.

(5) Only use jars that are manufactured for home canning use.

(6) New lids must be used for sealing jars as used lids may not give a tight seal and food will spoil.

(7) Canning tomatoes and tomato based products require the addition of acid to ensure a safe product later.

(8) It is now recommended to use lid, ring and a boiling water bath for jams and jellies.

(9) When planning to use low-acid foods (such as green beans) they should never be eaten straight from the jar, a 10-minute boil is recommended to ensure total safety. However, this process cannot take the place of improper canning to begin with.

Canner testing will be held the first Thursday of the month from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., beginning in April and going through August or by special appointment at the Washtenaw County Extension office.

For more information or to have your gauge tested call (313) 971-0079.

Eye Care

Cheryl Huey, M.D.

Ophthalmologist • Eye Physician and Surgeon
THE FIRST CATARACT SURGEON

Eye surgery was probably performed as long ago as 2100 B.C. The Code of Hammurabi from that time is the first recorded mention of cataract surgical procedures. The Code also specifies the physician's penalty in case the surgery is unsuccessful: "If he has opened the spot in a man's eye with the instrument of bronze but destroys the man's eye, his hands are to be cut off." This was certainly an effective deterrent to malpractice.

The first ophthalmologist to record a written description of cataract surgery was Susruta of India about 1000 B.C. The procedure was called "couching" and was performed by passing a needle into the eye and through the pupil to push the cataract out of the pupil, which cleared the way for light to pass through. This was done without any anesthesia. Ouch! Amazingly, this brutal procedure was performed essentially the same way until about two hundred years ago.

Great changes in cataract surgery have taken place in this century, and the past fifteen years have seen revolutionary improvements in the safety, ease, and success of cataract surgery.

Today's cataract surgery is generally performed without an overnight stay, and anesthetic procedures keep discomfort to a minimum. Restoration of good vision is very likely, and lens implants free the patient from wearing contact lenses or the thick glasses that used to be worn after cataract surgery.

We're fortunate that we live in the modern era of cataract surgery—it took a long time to get here.

Mr. George Palmer
Palmer Motor Sales, Inc.

P. O. Box 70
Chelsea, MI 48118

Dear George:

Happy 80th Anniversary! April 15th is kind of an auspicious day for an anniversary, but this is nonetheless an outstanding achievement. Eighty years in any business, much less one as competitive as ours, is certainly a testimony to the entire Palmer family. During the past eighty years, Palmer Motor Sales has served as an excellent example for other dealers and has been symbolic of the strength of the Ford Dealer body.

I apologize for not being able to celebrate this special occasion with you in person, but I still clearly remember your 75th anniversary celebration which I enjoyed thoroughly. It was that year, 1987, that Ford Division regained the industry's total sales leadership. According to our records, this was also the best profit year in the history of Palmer Motor Sales. I'm confident that I can count on your support and effort as we look to duplicate those feats in 1992.

In 1993, Ford Motor Company will celebrate it's 90th anniversary, so we only have nine years on you. There are certainly very few more tenured "members" of the Ford family and even fewer that have made as valuable a contribution.

Thanks again from all of us at Ford Division, and best wishes for continued success.

Sincerely,

P. M. Novell

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
As the Media Specialist at Beach Middle school I feel it is necessary to further define the role of the Media Aide at the middle school; a position that is much more than maintaining an interest center (aquarium) at Beach.

The clerical tasks the aide performs include checking in and out books and materials so we are able to locate an item among the school population of 600-plus students. The aide inventories 6,000 or more items and keeps them in order on the shelves. The aide processes new materials, types bibliographies, and pulls special collections of materials for teachers and classrooms.

While I am working with 25-30 students in a classroom, the aide may be checking out, renewing or checking in materials from another class, answering their questions, or helping them type a report on the computer. The teaching staff at Beach appreciate the additional support this position provides for the research needed for classroom projects in all areas, including history, science, geography, social studies, drama, art and English.

But there are more than just clerical tasks. Mrs. Kramer brings to the aide position her previous library experience from McKune library, coupled with a genuine interest and concern for the students at Beach. She helps students use their time in the Media Center more effectively, and takes extra time with students who need special attention on completing their projects.

I feel the taxpayers' money is well spent in providing this service for our students.

Susan Beard
Media Specialist
Beach Middle school.

To the Editor,
Wow! There hasn't been this much letter writing since someone suggested we move the rock!

First Mrs. Kennedy has us believing that Beach Middle school is full of degenerates, and then Susann Thrasher has terrorists at North Elementary school. From whence did you come Mrs. Thrasher? Detroit? My son, too, attends North Elementary school. The education and care he receives are second to none. I can't believe that even Pinckney can rival North school!

I did not witness the removing of a gun from the trunk of a car at North, but I hope I would be able to recognize a Civil War relic from a modern rifle. The very fact that the gun wasn't concealed or wrapped in any way might have been some kind of tip off that this person did not have any ill intent. Mrs. Thrasher, the reason that toy guns aren't allowed in school and this was, is because obviously they were studying the Civil War, you have heard of it haven't you? How generous of this parent to share a part of our nation's history with this class! How many people are able to see, close up, such an artifact? A piece of history, our history? Do you honestly fail to see the value here?

I have no doubt that my son is entirely safe at North school. I am certain that he will be equally safe at Beach school if Mrs. Kennedy and her vigilantes are removed. It is too bad you have removed your daughter from Beach school, she might have had the opportunity to meet some of the great kids that attend, some of them have letters in the April 15 paper. I know these kids, they babysit for my sons, they are bright, honest, hard working and intelligent. They can probably recognize a Civil War weapon from a modern rifle!

Denise Fortner.

Dear Editor,
I am a Beach Middle school student and am writing to you concerning Mrs. Kennedy's letter printed in April 8 paper. Being a student at Beach maybe I can help people to understand the situation a little better. I, myself agree that there are some places where more discipline would be helpful, but our school isn't as bad as you might infer by reading Mrs. Kennedy's letter.

Some of the things in her letter were also a bit stretched (not on purpose I'm sure). The marijuana incident took place back in October and from what I know, disciplinary action was taken. Also, she mentioned the 7th and 8th grade bands being rude and inconsiderate at Band Festival when in reality I am sure that those who were loud and acting inappropriately were not the majority. Mrs. Kennedy also asked why the Band Festival students were praised in The Chelsea Standard. Although some acted up, I'm sure most of them deserved praise. Many of them worked hard and were pleased with having performed well. This is somewhat like the situation at Beach Middle school. Many kids do act responsibly but a small minority also choose not to.

Something that I am sure of though, is that Mrs. Kennedy's letter has been the cause of much discussion throughout Beach, most of it initiated by the students themselves. I know that some classes on April 9 spent some time (at least two classes spent the whole hour) discussing the letter. Although some students can see a few reasonable points in Mrs. Kennedy's letter, it has mainly generated concern and worry among students. There is some agreement, however, that there are a few areas of discipline that do need to receive greater attention. Although I think most students don't see Beach's problems as big as Mrs. Kennedy's letter portrays.

This was a bad time to print that letter as the millage vote is approaching in June. Many kids in my class and others were concerned about the negative effect Mrs. Kennedy's letter may present to the vote. In the class I was in we discussed which things would be cut if the 1.95 additional mills did not pass. Students are more concerned and aware than many adults might think. I hope that all of you reading this understand the negative repercussions for the schools if the millage doesn't pass. Many important programs and classes would be cut.

Besides a few problems that almost every school has, I believe that Beach Middle school provides students with a quality education and other wonderful opportunities to learn more about many different things. I hope that Mrs. Kennedy's letter has not damaged people's image of Beach school, for it is a very safe and excellent school.

Thank you for your concern Mrs. Kennedy, but I believe you should ask some of the students too. After all we go to this school.

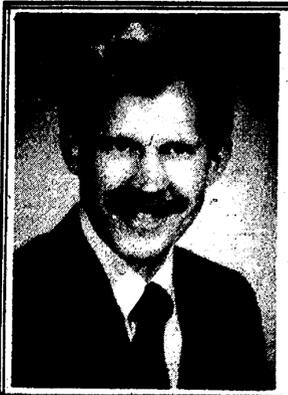

Beach-Middle school student.

Gasoline Stolen From Station

A man and woman working together stole $2.31 in gasoline from Village Mobil last Thursday, April 16. Police said the couple drove into the station and paid ahead for $5 in gasoline. However, by the time the station attendant realized what was happening $7.31 worth of gasoline had been pumped.

The man got back into the car and drove away.

J. Daniels' New Play 'The Tropical Pickle' Will Open May 7

Purple Rose Theatre Company will present "The Tropical Pickle," a new comedy written by Jeff Daniels, beginning May 7 through June 28. Previews will be held May 7 through May 14, with the Official Opening Night on Friday, May 15. Beginning Saturday, May 16, regular performances will be held Thursdays through Saturdays at 8 p.m. with Sunday shows at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. All performances are at the Purple Rose Theatre Company's Garage Theatre, 137 Park St., Chelsea.

Written by Jeff Daniels, film actor and executive director of the Purple Rose Theatre Company, "The Tropical Pickle" is a fast-paced spoof of office politics and a disastrous dinner party for the new president of the Shankelford Pickle Co. Bob Lee, plant manager of the company, will do anything to win a promotion and an all-expense paid trip to the annual Conditment Convention in Miami. Bob's plan to wine and dine the company's new president, Sporty Shankelford, III, turns into a nightmare when unexpected guests crash the dinner party at the Lee's suburban home. Pratts, punchlines and pickles disrupt the peace of Maple Oak, Mich., in this latest work from the playwright whose play, "Shoe Man - The Big Finish" received The Detroit News 1991 Best New Play Award.

The cast of "The Tropical Pickle" includes seven performers who will be making their first appearance at the Purple Rose Theatre Company, but have been seen at various Michigan and regional theatres. Wayne David Parker portrays Bob Lee, with Sandra Birch as his wife, Peggy, and Karen Kron as his step-daughter, Sara. Randall Godwin and Susan M. Arnold play the roles of the invited guests, Sporty Shankelford, III, and his date, Virginia Vanbrinker-Smythe. Completing the cast as the uninvited guests are Guy Sanville as Ed Bonetti, a former Shankelford employee, and Matthew Letscher as Dwayne Darlington, Sara's motorcycle-crazed boyfriend. Ms. Birch, Mr. Godwin and Mr. Parker are all members of Actors' Equity Association.

T. Newell Kring, artistic director of the Purple Rose Theatre Company, will direct "The Tropical Pickle." Set and Costume Design is by Greg Gillette, an associate professor of Theatre Arts and head of the design program at the University of North Dakota. Lighting Design is by Dana White and Susan Guszynski is stage manager for the run of the show.

"The Tropical Pickle" is the fourth original play by a Michigan playwright to be presented by the Purple Rose Theatre Company since its inception in January, 1991. Allowing Michigan playwrights an opportunity to develop and perfect their skills is an important function of the Purple Rose Theatre Company. Several readings and subsequent rewrites of "The Tropical Pickle" were held during the past year to prepare

National Grange Week Will Be Observed in April

Plans are underway to celebrate Grange Week among the many subordinate granges throughout the nation, reports Herman Koehn, master of the Pittsfield Union Grange on Saline-Ann Arbor Rd., Ann Arbor.

A canine "Good Citizen" test, for all interested dog owners, will be held on Friday, April 24, 7:15 p.m. at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds, 5055 Saline-Ann Arbor Rd.

A MANUSCRIPT INVITATIONAL sponsored by the Washtenaw Pyramid Project drew submissions from 225 young authors in Washtenaw county recently. A panel of experts selected the top 50 stories, and 10 were submitted by students in Mary Baker's English class at Beach Middle school. At the conference, students met with four published authors in small sessions and had their work critiqued. The Pyramid Project is a consortium of "able learner co-ordinators" in conjunction with the Washtenaw Intermediate School District. Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I know everyone is discussing the millage election and the proposed cuts by the school board and administration. It is a fact that Steven Hinz has been pink slipped. This is a travesty considering all this teacher has given to the students, schools, and this community by sharing his talents and bringing out the talents of the youth.

However, this announcement is not the primary purpose of my letter. During this economic slump, all of us are looking for ways to make our money stretch to meet all the demands placed on us. The millage is another demand on our budgets, and people are saying that the tax situation is overbearing and needs to be changed, so we are voting no for the millage. Let me tell you that the only people that will get a message is the students of Chelsea School District. I am not sure that they will understand what you are trying to say.

Having volunteered in all of the schools, I can say that cutting the supplies and capital outlay in schools will really hurt a lot of programs. I am talking about the 3 "R's," not sports or music. The science programs need updated equipment, the language arts always seems short of text and supplies, and I'm sure that same applies to mathematics and English.

I am asking you to do three things: If you can, "vote yes" on the tax millage proposal and support Chelsea students. If you do not agree with the way that school taxes are collected, write the following people and let them know how you feel:

- Governor Engler
State Capitol
Lansing, Mich. 48909
- Senator Lana Pollack
State Capitol
P.O. Box 30036
Lansing, Mich. 48909-7536
- Rep. Margaret O'Connor or Name of Your Representative
State Capitol
P.O. Box 30014
Lansing, MI 48909-7514.

If you disagree with the cut list for Chelsea public school let the school board and administrators know how you feel.

Clara Smith.

Dear Editor:

Because of the threat of insufficient funds in the school district due to many "ifs," the cuts that have been laid out include one elementary school music teacher.

This choice of language disguises the fact that the music teacher who has the lowest seniority is Steven Hinz, who also teaches choir at Beach school and the high school.

It has been a long time since such an individual has come into the district and so quickly won the respect and following of students, parents and teachers alike.

Mr. Hinz, who appears much younger than his abilities prove, is also the gentleman who brought the Washington Street Show Choir to this community. This is an extra-curricular activity in which students not only enthusiastically give a most uplifting performance for all ages to enjoy; but because of the influence innovation of Mr. Hinz, everyone in the show choir signs a contract promising to abstain from the use of all illicit drugs, including smoking. At first, one might think this concept won't go with young kids, but the younger students, even down to the elementary level, talk about becoming a part of this exemplary group.

Due to his numerous extra hours, the show choir is special, but obviously Mr. Hinz is extremely capable in the classroom. The elective choirs have grown in numbers by leaps and bounds since his arrival and the quality of music his students perform speaks for one exemplary teacher. And we're going to lose him if the millage doesn't pass!??

Unfortunately, one of the few ways the community feels they can be heard is to vote "no" on school proposal requests. Can't we find some way to reach the powers that be without shorting our children a treasured commodity like Steven Hinz?

Washtenaw Receives National Awards for Financial Reporting

Washtenaw county government was honored on Wednesday, April 15 when it received two national awards from the Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada (GFOA).

The first is the Distinguished Budget Presentation Award, for the 1991 Budget document. A panel of independent reviewers found it to be clear and proficient in presenting financial policies, and describing programs provided by the county. This is the second year the county received the budget award.

The second award is for the 1990 Annual Financial Report. Also issued by the GFOA, the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting is the highest professional recognition in governmental accounting and financial reporting.

The awards were presented at the Board of Commissioners' meeting on April 15 at 5 p.m., at the County Administration Building, 220 N. Main, Ann Arbor.

Larry J. Brown, county administrator, complimented Gerald Fischer, the county's finance director and his staff, saying: "Awards such as these are indicative of the highest degree of professionalism in your department and a lot of hard work preparing them to meet the exacting requirements of the GFOA."

Brown pointed out that only a few local governments win even one of these awards. It is quite rare for a government to win both awards.

Dexter Man Returns From Deployment Aboard Carrier

Navy Petty Officer 1st Class Scott J. Carpenter, son of Joyce M. Carpenter of Dexter, recently returned aboard the aircraft carrier USS Dwight D. Eisenhower, homeported in Norfolk, Va., following a six-month deployment.

Carpenter participated in operations in the Atlantic Ocean, Mediterranean Sea, Red Sea and Persian Gulf, as well as in the NATO Exercise Teamwork 92 in the Norwegian Sea. Teamwork 92, designed to improve the professionalism and effectiveness of NATO forces while operating in the realistic environment of the North Atlantic and coastal waters of Norway, included maritime, air, amphibious and field training exercises.

Other exercises conducted by the crew include "Eager Mace," a 10-day, joint amphibious landing exercise in Kuwait, and "Sandstorm," a joint effort with the U.S. Air Force, which included simulated air strikes and tested the carrier's ability to retaliate against air attacks.

Carpenter visited the cities of Dubai, United Arab Emirates, and Palma, Spain.

He joined the Navy in October 1982.

The U.S. labor force growth will be 21 percent between 1990 and the year 2005, slower than during the past 15 years, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Heart & Sole Run-Walk Set for May 30

Chelsea Community Hospital will once again host the "Heart & Sole" Fun Run and Walk. The running event which attracted nearly 400 runners in 1991, will be held at 8 a.m., Saturday, May 30 and is again co-sponsored by the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce.

The route of the race meanders through the Village by way of Main St., Middle St., through Belser Estates, with the last leg coming through the trail and ending near Kresge House on hospital grounds.

Applications have been mailed to last year's participants, but others may pick them up at various businesses around town or by calling event chairman Dave Parham at Chelsea Hospital, (475-4063) or Chamber of Commerce (475-1145).

Scott Hubbard, noted local writer and runner, will lead an informal runner's workshop from 6 to 7 p.m., Friday, May 29 in the hospital dining room, where the Pre-Race Spaghetti Dinner is being served. The dinner is offered to anyone, but will afford runners an opportunity to register and pick up their packets. There will be a nominal charge for the dinner.

Freedom Township Votes To Quit Recycling Group; Authority Meets Tonight

Freedom Township Board of Trustees voted last Tuesday to withdraw from the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority. The township is one of 10 units of government in the authority, which was set up to implement a comprehensive recycling program in the western portion of the county using a $330,000 matching grant from the Department of Natural Resources.

The vote reflected concerns over the cost of the program ($17 per township household annually) compared to what are claimed to be similar services programs provided by private companies.

In light of claims by both BFI Waste Systems and Mr. Rubbish, Inc., the largest trash haulers in the area, that they can provide the service at substantial savings, those companies have been invited to make presentations tonight (Wednesday) at the authority's regular meeting at Sylvan Town Hall.

According to authority vice-chair Frank Hammer, BFI is scheduled to appear at 8 p.m. and Mr. Rubbish at 8:30 p.m. The meeting starts at 7 p.m. "We owe it to everyone to discuss this," Hammer said.

"We need to address what Mr. Rubbish and BFI have and see if they have now put together something that makes sense monetarily."

Late last fall a Dexter township resident also complained that private industry could provide cheaper and better service. The resident was challenged by a DNR representative to provide proof of his claims, because DNR had planned not to release the grant money until it was satisfied the authority's plan was the best option. The challenge was not met and the money was released.

Freedom Township Supervisor Bob Little, who voted against leaving the authority because he didn't have enough time to digest figures supplied by the trash haulers, said he is under the impression the companies are offering services they didn't have when the authority was set up.

"Previous to this, we had no information from private companies," Little said.

"Now they seem to be getting into it. One thing that's come out of this is that if [the members of the authority] hadn't gotten together and started a program, we probably wouldn't have anything from the waste haulers. They seem to be jumping on the bandwagon," Little said he has reservations about his vote.

According to Chris Bragg, a Freedom township resident who opposes the authority, the exact same service in Freedom township from BFI would cost $8.74 per year per household. That is based on once-per-month pick-up of a bin placed at the township hall. The cost would drop to $3.37 for pick-up every other month.

Bragg said the Mr. Rubbish plan would only charge residents who recycle, and those who do participate would pay an annual fee of up to $5.60 per household. The plan calls for weekly pick-ups at the town hall with no bins on site.

Little said he favors the Mr. Rubbish plan, but said cost figures supplied by the companies are about 50 percent too low.

The authority plans to place bins in each township in the authority, and the bins would be serviced by the authority manager. Other townships in the authority include Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, Dexter, Bridgewater, Manchester, and Sharon. Chelsea and Manchester village residents would be charged $30 annually for curbside pick-up.

The township and village charges, authorized for five years, are assessed on property tax bills. The idea behind the authority is for the program to eventually operate on money from the sales of recyclable materials, based on projections of future markets which may or may not be accurate. Authority-backers say the program would be totally under local control.

Little said there was no guarantee from the companies about future costs.

It is not clear, Hammer said, whether Freedom township can legally back out of the authority. The authority has signed a contract with the DNR, and most of the townships have signed contracts with Washtenaw county, but Freedom township is not one of them.

Little said the county's solid waste management plan requires the township to have some sort of recycling program, and his township will now consider other options. Both BFI and Mr. Rubbish have been invited to the township's next meeting May 12.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

IT WAS A CLOSE PLAY at the plate during the first game of last Saturday's Chelsea home double-header against River Rouge. However, Gary White was called out at home in an aggressive play from third. Chelsea won their sixth and seventh straight games of the season.

Dogs Continue Streak, Take Two from Rouge

It was another remarkable, yet perhaps less than persuasive, double-header victory for the Chelsea Bulldogs baseball team last Saturday as they whipped River Rouge 10-0 and 17-1 at home.

They were Chelsea's sixth and seventh wins of the season and Rouge's lone run was just the second the Bulldogs have given up this season.

"River Rouge has some good athletes but they are a little short on pitching," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

"We scored three runs in the first inning of each game and that kind of set the tone."

Neither of Chelsea's top two pitchers worked on the mound.

In the opener, junior Steve Grau pitched a four-hitter to run his scoreless streak to 11 innings. He struck out five and walked one.

The Bulldogs got two hits apiece from Jacob Rindie and Adam Taylor, doubles from Pat Steele and Tim Wescott, and singles from Ben Hurst, Gary White, and Rick Clouse.

"We got some outstanding defense from Hurst in centerfield," Welton said.

"He had an assist and a couple of nice catches."

In the second game, Hurst and Jason Adams combined for a four-hitter as they each struck out four.

Perhaps the most unusual achievement of the week-end was Rindie's three-run grand slam in the first inning. His blast with the bases loaded went to center. Taylor, at second, went back to tag up, while Hurst, at first, admired the hit. Hurst inadvertently ran by Taylor, which resulted in an out.

Chelsea scored six more times in the second and eight times in the fourth.

Ken Slane went 2-3 for three RBI, Rindie knocked in four runs, Casey Schiller had a pair of hits, and Chris Dunham, Nick McCalla, Ed Waller, Rob Jaques, and Steele each had a hit.

"It was good just to be able to play," Welton said.

"The way the weather's been, it's been tough to get the regulars enough at-bats to keep them sharp as well as get everyone in the games."

Chelsea's first Southeastern Conference games, scheduled for last Thursday in Saline, were rescheduled for May 11, Welton said.

The Bulldogs, at 7-0, were still the state's top-ranked class B team this week.

game, 10-1, but were shut out 2-0 in the five-inning second game.

The loss stopped the Bulldogs' win streak at eight games, and 28 games spanning two years.

Rindie was the major story of the first game as he pitched a four-hitter, struck out eight, and walked one. He also got the key hit of the game, a bases-loaded single in the second inning that resulted in three runs and paced a five-run outburst.

Hurst, Dunham, Grau, and White each had two hits in the 13-single attack.

Milan picked up one unearned run in the fifth.

The second game, delayed by a thunderstorm, was called due to darkness after the top of the fifth.

Gary White allowed three hits and struck out five, but the Bulldogs hit in four double plays.

"We pitched well enough to win but couldn't get the big hits," Welton said.

Hurst had two hits, and Rindie, Grau, and Clouse each had a single.

Chelsea is 8-1 over-all and 1-1 in the SEC.

Dogs Win Own Relays, First Title Since 1980

The host team easily outdistanced the pack in the annual Chelsea Relays last Saturday.

Chelsea girls took the title with 74 points, while runner-up Okemos finished with 55. Hillsdale took third in the 10-team field with 46 points, and Dexter placed fourth with 44. It was Chelsea's first championship since 1980. The Bulldogs were runners-up in 1986 and 1987. Last year the meet was cancelled by bad weather.

"It was an outstanding meet for us," said Chelsea coach Bill Bainton. "We scored in all four field events and dominated the running events with four firsts and three seconds and turned in some very good times in the process."

Chelsea's top performance in the field events came in the high jump where Erin Schiller and Courtney Thompson combined for 9' 2" to place third.

Keri Kentala and Theresa Royce combined for fourth place in the long jump, Mara Smith and Erin Garrigus were fifth in the shot put, and Smith and Lauren Sparaco placed sixth in the discus.

Okemos and Mason each won two field events, and Okemos had the lead going into the running events. It took the Bulldogs only two races to catch up, and they held the lead the rest of the way.

Chelsea placed second in the shuttle hurdles with the team of Schiller, Kentala, Monica Hansen, and Charity Allen combining for 1:12.2. That pulled Chelsea to within a point of the lead.

Then the 3200 relay team of Lisa Monti, Beth Bell, Robin Phelps, and Sarah Brosnan dominated the field with a time of 10:13.7 to give Chelsea the lead.

The 800 relay of Laura Paton, Kentala, Allen, and Royce turned in a season's best of 1:52.4 to take second place.

The Bulldogs then virtually put the meet away by winning three events in a row.

The intermediate relay, with Brosnan and Val Bullock running 800s and Sarah Henry and Christine Burg running 400s, won in 7:46.1.

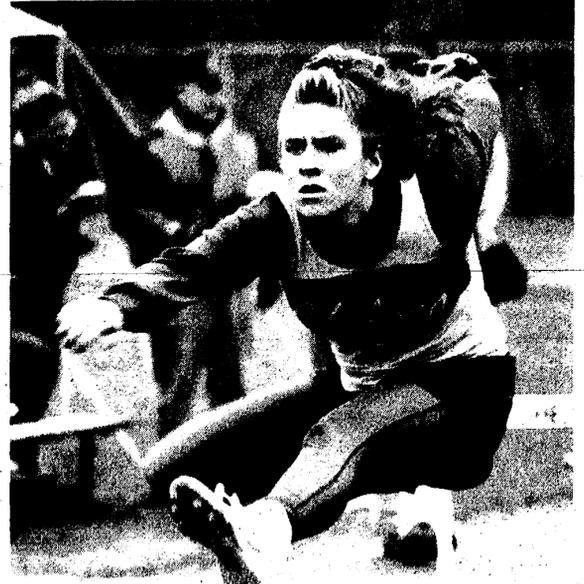

Royce, Kentala, Allen, and Paton took the sprint medley in 1:59.5 as Paton-pulled from behind Dexter and Okemos runners on the final stretch of the anchor 400 to record a 1:03.3.

Bell, Phelps, Burg, and Monti won the distance medley in 13:40.

The Bulldogs finished the day with a second place in the 1600 relay from Paton, Bell, Monti, and Allen in 4:19.1.

"We did a lot of things well and had some very good performances," Bainton said.

"We were ready to run. It means a lot to win our own relays like this. I was impressed with our performance."

early-season double." Bainton said, with a 5:27.9 in the 1600 and an 11:43.9 in the 3200.

Smith took the shot put at 30' and was second in the discus.

Burg won the 800 in 2:41.8. The team of Brosnan, Molly Griebel, Bullock, and Bell won the 3200 relay in 10:53.7.

Schiller contributed three second places with a 4' 10" in the high jump, a :30.6 in the 200, and a leg on the 400 relay with Megan McDonald, Hansen, and Renae Skelly.

"Schiller (a sophomore) is becoming a key person on the team," Bainton said.

McDonald placed fourth in the 200.

Hansen, who Bainton cited as another valuable athlete, placed fourth in the long jump, second in the 100 hurdles at :17.8, just behind Allen, and fourth in the 300 hurdles.

Royce, in addition to an anchor leg in the 400 relay, was second in the 100 and third in the long jump.

Kentala placed second in the long jump and third in the 300 hurdles.

Paton was second in the 400, and Phelps placed second in the 1600 with a time of 5:57.1.

The Bulldogs got third places from Brosnan in the 1600, Henry in the 800, and Beth Williams in the 3200.

Tracey Wales completed a sweep in the 1600 with a fourth place.

Griebel was fourth in the 800 and Bullock placed fourth in the 3200. Wendy Bristle earned fourth place in the discus.

CHELSEA BULLDOGS softball team celebrates after surrendering one run in her outing. Chelsea won the final winning the Corunna Invitational last Saturday in Corunna. Jennifer Petty pitched three shutouts and Kelly Cross

Petty Pitches Zeros As Bulldogs Take Corunna Championship

Chelsea senior Jennifer Petty pitched a three-hit shut-out to give the Bulldogs a 1-0 victory over Corunna in the finals of the Corunna Invitational last Saturday.

Petty, who pitched three of Chelsea's four tournament games on the day, struck out five and walked none in the final game.

"It was an old-time fast-pitch game," said Chelsea interim coach Joe Beard.

"It was a game played by two very fine teams with two very fine pitchers."

Chelsea's lone run came in the fourth inning as Heather McConeghy singled, stole second, and moved to third on a sacrifice by Theresa Hurst. With two outs, Liz Sager's infield hit scored the run.

The tournament, which began at 9 a.m., and was played in the cold and generally miserable conditions, opened with Chelsea matched up against Chesaning. There Petty pitched the first of her three shut-outs of the day, tossing a five-hitter in a 4-0 win. She struck out six, walked one, and yielded five hits in seven innings.

Chelsea scored early as Kelly Cross' triple highlighted a two-run first inning. Hurst's double keyed another run in the third. And in the seventh inning Petty manufactured a run as she walked, stole second and third, and came home on McConeghy's single.

McConeghy was the only Bulldog with two hits against Chesaning.

Cross started the second game against Durand and the Bulldogs took an 11-1 win in six innings. She struck out two and allowed just three hits.

The Chelsea offense wasn't quite as potent as the score might suggest. They had six hits but also received 13 walks. Cross and McConeghy had two hits each.

The Bulldogs opened up a big early lead with four runs in the first inning, featuring a two-run single by Cross and a two-run double by Gretchen Knutsen. Chelsea scored four more times in the fourth as Cross again pounded a two-run single, and two more runners came home on ground outs. McConeghy's single inspired a two-run fifth inning, and Petty's single produced the game's final run in the sixth.

Petty pitched the Bulldogs to a 5-0 victory over Mason in the semi-finals as she surrendered five hits, struck out seven and walked three. Mason, like Corunna, was previously undefeated.

Hurst's single in the first gave Chelsea the lead. Sager's double in the second was the big hit of the game, Beard said, "because we knew it would be a close game and it kind of fired us up." Knutsen's single plated a run in the fifth. Cross' sacrifice scored Petty in the sixth, and Knutsen's ground out in the seventh gave Chelsea their final run.

McConeghy, Knutsen, and Sager each had two hits.

"I felt real good about the week-end because we played some real, caliber ball clubs," Beard said.

"We played good defense, got great pitching, and we were swinging the bat. We're getting to where we need to be."

In other action last week, the Bulldogs mauled Jackson Lumen Christi on Tuesday, 23-0 and 10-1.

Cross pitched the opener, struck out four, walked one, and gave up three hits.

Chelsea scored all their runs in two innings, nine in the first and 14 in the fourth. Petty had three hits and two RBI, including a double and a triple. Cross had four hits and two RBI, Knutsen and Sager each had two hits and an RBI, and Hurst knocked in two runs.

Beard said that even though his team scored 23 runs in a shut-out, he was not pleased with his team's performance.

In the second game, Petty pitched a two-hitter as she fanned 10 and walked one.

The Bulldogs took a 6-0 lead as they scored five runs in the fourth, featuring Knutsen's triple. Hurst's two-run single helped Chelsea to a three-run fifth inning.

Cross had two hits for the game, including a triple, and Angie Riley had two hits. Petty hit a double.

The Bulldogs outslugged the Milar Big Reds on Monday, 20-0. The second game was rained out.

Petty, who pitched the first two innings and the fifth inning, picked up the win. Knott pitched the third and fourth innings.

"I put Jennifer back in because she's a fast worker and I was afraid we wouldn't get the game in," Beard said.

Chelsea had 11 hits, including a triple by McConeghy and a double by Hurst.

The Bulldogs scored two runs in the first and 12 in the second to break the game open.

JV Softball Team Beats Lumen Christi

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity softball team beat Jackson Lumen Christi last Tuesday on the road, 21-11 in five innings.

The game was close in the early innings. Chelsea held a 6-4 lead after two innings, and a 15-11 lead after three.

Amy Petty pitched her first game of the season. She faced 30 batters, struck out eight, and allowed four hits.

"Facing Lumen Christi gave us a great opportunity to work on offensive strategies," said new coach Kim Eder.

"I have a very ambitious and talented team with great potential."

Village Transfers Funds for Two Industrial Park Lots

The village has paid itself for two lots in the industrial park which were used as the site of the new electric and water building.

The village transferred $49,459.50 from the electric fund and $35,815 from the water fund to the Industrial Development Fund. Purchase price of the lots was $22,500 per acre for the 3.79-acre parcel. The transfer allocations were based on a formula used by the village for years, Myers said.

The village constructed the new building because the old building on North St. has contamination problems caused by leaky underground gasoline storage tanks, which have been removed. Part of the building may have to be torn down.

The new building, according to village manager Jack Myers, has received its final inspections from the county. However, Myers said he wants to make a detailed inspection of the premises before equipment and personnel are moved.

INSTRUCTIONS to more than 150 area volunteers in the Christmas in April*Washtenaw project were mailed last week by Ann Feeney of the Chelsea Area Chamber of Commerce, left, and Dottie Van Riper. Five local homes will be repaired and cleaned up during the one-day event this Saturday, April 25.

Belser Residents Want No More Vinyl Siding

Residents of Belser Estates subdivision, upset that the newest home in the subdivision contains some vinyl siding, addressed village council last week about amending deed restrictions to the subdivision.

A lawsuit has been filed in circuit court over the vinyl siding issue.

The residents told council they were misled about the deed restrictions by the developers, believing vinyl siding would not be allowed. However, the only siding expressly prohibited in the deed restrictions is aluminum siding. Vinyl siding isn't addressed. The deed restrictions require that village council approve any changes, among other requirements.

Village trustee Frank Hammer suggested, and trustee Gary Bentley agreed, that any village legal costs associated with the change be paid by Belser residents.

Village attorney Peter Flintoft told council that he believes the only way a change could be made is by amending the approved plat, because the deed restrictions are a part of it and the plat act is the only law governing the village in the matter. That will at least require a public hearing.

Assistant village manager Deborah Kuehn said last week that the provision for council approval of changes would probably be eliminated to keep the village out of any future disputes.

Dangers of 'New World Order'

Russian President Boris Yeltsin wants his country to adopt a new system of government based on the U.S. Constitution. Ironically, some global-minded visionaries in the U.S. would like to subordinate our Constitution in what they call a New World Order.

By Philip C. Clarke

Yeltsin's proposed constitution contains "secure legal guarantees against totalitarianism," something he said would "enable Russia to join the world community as an equal." It also includes a "declaration on the rights and freedoms of a person and citizen," and was written in what Russian Parliament member Viktor Sheinis said was "the spirit of the American Document."

Significantly, the Russian draft contains no reference to the New World Order, a concept mentioned frequently and favorably in recent months by Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev as well as by President Bush.

To stem Saddam Hussein's aggression in the Persian Gulf, the U.S. last year put together an unprecedented alliance of more than 20 nations under the aegis of the United Nations. Supporters hailed it as a possible precursor to a "New World Order." In urging Congress to commit American forces to battle in Desert Storm, President described the Gulf crisis as "a rare opportunity to move toward an historic period of co-operation. Out of these troubled times... a new world order can emerge."

The term New World Order seemed to imply that the collective will of the nations of the world, exercised through the U.N., would be imposed to uphold international law—by force if necessary.

Before Americans embrace the concept of a New World Order, however, a number of questions should be asked and answered. Who would determine just how, when and where U.N. forces would be deployed? For example, would the New World Order be invoked to liberate Croatia from Serbian-dominated Yugoslavia? What if the New World Order decreed that a Palestinian state be carved out of Israel, regardless of Israeli objections? And what if the New World Order declared that sanctions should be imposed against China because of its human rights violations?

The questions are raised in a newly-published America's Future pamphlet, The New World Order: A Critique and Chronology, by historian and educator Dennis Cuddy. In his exhaustive research, Dr. Cuddy traces the term back to pre-World War I days and to President Woodrow Wilson, who sought unsuccessfully to win Congressional approval of U.S. entry into the ill-fated League of Nations.

Summarizing the current revived interest in the New World Order, the pamphlet concludes that in today's discordant and war-weary world, the dream of a peaceful and ordered family of nations has understandable appeal. President Bush apparently envisages a larger and more influential role for the United Nations, with major powers, including the United States, retaining their sovereignty while acting jointly under the U.N.'s aegis to enforce world peace. In much of today's world, however, newly-independent populations are fiercely defending their age-old nationalist and ethnic origins and geopolitical frontiers against all outsiders. Examples currently are found in Central and Eastern Europe, in Yugoslavia, and in the disintegrating Soviet Union itself.

While the motives of many, if not most, internationalists appear well-meaning, there is cause for serious misgivings over the objectives of some "one-worlders." Among the skeptics is Robert Morris, the geopolitical authority and chairman of America's Future. "The term, 'new world order,' has a nice ring to it," says Morris, "but there are caveats."

"Experience tells us that instead of entrusting our foreign policy to a U.N. dominated by enemies of freedom and democracy, we should maintain and strengthen the traditional values and principles that have made our independent nation the beacon of hope for oppressed peoples everywhere."

Margaret O'Connor Tells Plans to Seek Congressional Post

Declaring she is "putting her money where her mouth is" on term limitation, state Rep. Margaret O'Connor has decided not to run for re-election to the Michigan House, and is looking instead at a congressional seat.

The ardent supporter of limiting legislative terms is also a long-time watchdog and critic of excessive state spending. She gets requests from all over the state for copies of her annual "Pork Barrel" awards publication that list hundreds of unnecessary and inappropriate government expenditures.

"Despite the fact that my one-locally crusade against too much state spending now has widespread support and has resulted in sweeping changes in spending policies, I am ready to move on to new challenges," O'Connor said.

"I've made my contribution at the state level, and considering how loosely Congress handles taxpayers' money, it may be time for me to take my spending-restraint message to Congress."

The Lodi township Republican is eyeing the newly redrawn 8th Congressional District that includes all of Livingston and Ingham counties, and portions of Washtenaw, Shiawassee, Genesee and Oakland counties.

"Voters are frustrated with politicians and 'politics as usual,'" O'Connor said. "I'm frustrated too."

"My longtime advocacy of a downsized, better-managed, more frugal government is finally coming to pass on the state level with Governor Engler's policies and programs. If running for Congress looks feasible, then I'm ready to translate my frustration with Washington into action."

O'Connor would not accept contributions to a congressional race from political action committees, but would accept donations from individuals.

O'Hagen Seeks Nomination For Washtenaw Prosecutor

Trial attorney Terrence J. O'Hagan has announced his candidacy for the office of Washtenaw County Prosecutor. In 1988, O'Hagan, 56, captured a respectable 48% of the vote in a challenge to unseat incumbent William F. Delhey.

In his formal announcement O'Hagan declared that "The Washtenaw County Prosecutor's Office is disorganized and ineffective. Systems designed for the 1940's and 50's are simply no longer effective or acceptable. Crime and the methods of dealing with crime are the most serious problems facing this community and immediate steps must be taken to bring the prosecutor's office to the level of professionalism for which the legal staff were trained and are capable. The public has paid for and has every right to expect the highest level of performance from their professional employees. This will require reorganization of the legal staff to achieve the level of effective professional performance and that task has to begin now. New effective leadership is essential to bring the office into the 21st century. I have the commitment, the experience and the skills to accomplish these objectives. It is time for a change."

O'Hagan, a past president of the Washtenaw Trial Lawyers Association, was responsible for developing the public law school, an adult educational program designed to provide citizens with insight into the operation of the legal system. O'Hagan also served three terms on the executive board of Michigan Trial Lawyers Association.

O'Hagan taught high school while attending law school and graduated from the Detroit College of Law in 1968. He has been engaged in the private practice of law since that time.

He and his wife Jean, also an attorney, reside in Chelsea.

Michigan History Magazine Features Baseball

For many Michiganders, the coming of spring means baseball at Tiger Stadium in Detroit. But in the early years of the 20th century, Detroit was not the only Michigan city to boast a professional baseball team. The town of Ludington had the Mariners, a Class D team in the Michigan State League. The story of the Ludington Mariners and their seven seasons as a professional team will be featured in the May/June 1992 issue of Michigan History Magazine, available on newsstands April 29.

"Baseball is a passion for many Americans," said Secretary of State Richard H. Austin, Michigan's official historian. "Ludington residents were no exception—they loved their team and packed the seats at Culver Park when the Mariners played home games."

The article by Dr. William Anderson, President of Westshore Community College and the author of The Detroit Tigers: A Pictorial Celebration of the Greatest Players and Moments in Tiger's History, describes how the Mariners were founded in 1912 when Forrest Dickerson, the owner of a struggling Holland team, moved his franchise to Ludington. Public-spirited businessmen, excited by the prospect of the free advertising a baseball team would generate for their city, raised $900 to subsidize the Mariners. Wilmer I. Culver, a prominent local entrepreneur, secured a multi-year lease of waterfront property from the Pere Marquette Railroad Co. and constructed a new ballpark for the team. The Mariners won the Michigan State League, Class D, pennant in 1921. They were its top hitting club, with 73 home runs. They also had three of the four top pitchers in the league, carried the top fielding record and excelled in stealing bases with a total of 87. Four Mariners later moved up to "big league" status, several playing with the Detroit Tigers.

Other articles in the May/June Michigan History Magazine feature a tour of the recently restored Victorian-era commandant's house at Detroit's Historic Fort Wayne museum complex, and the unexpected havoc wreaked on Benzle county's Crystal Lake when Archibald Jones attempted to build a shipping canal from the lake to the Betsie River. The magazine also offers the third and final installment of the history of Wayne county (Michigan's oldest and most populous county) and profiles Dow Company chemist Edgar C. Britton, one of Michigan's most successful scientists and industrial chemists.

Michigan History Magazine is available by single issue ($2.95) at many bookstores across the state, and by annual subscription ($9.95). The magazine, which explores all facets of Michigan's past and reviews contemporary historical events and publications, is published six times a year by the Michigan Department of State's Bureau of History.

Ducks Unlimited Seeks Prizes for Annual Banquet

Ducks Unlimited's, Western Washtenaw County Committee (Dexter, Chelsea, Pinckney, Manchester and Grass Lake) will hold its 11th annual banquet at the Dexter Knights of Columbus Hall on May 15, at 8:30 p.m. There are still a limited number of tickets for the banquet.

"Our Ducks Unlimited committee is working very hard in 1992 to bring this traditional fund-raising event back to our area," said David Flawcham, committee chairperson. This event was not held in 1991 after 10 very successful years.

For 54 years, Ducks Unlimited has been helping to conserve wetlands in North America. The greatest majority of its funds come from membership dinners throughout the country. Ducks Unlimited's Michigan fund-raising goal for 1992 is $2.4 million. Michigan raised $2.2 million in 1991 and set a national record for new life sponsors with 60 Michigan natives and businesses pledging $10,000 each.

Ducks Unlimited has wetland conservation projects in Canada, Mexico and the United States. These projects make certain there is water available for waterfowl and other wildlife when they need it the most.

"With an annual loss of some 700,000 acres of wetlands in North America, Ducks Unlimited's job becomes more critical each year," adds Connolly.

For more information about making a donation or purchasing tickets for the event, contact David Flawcham at 428-2714 or Walt Brown at the Loft in Chelsea (475-2728).

McKune Memorial Library

60th Anniversary Celebration

When the Chelsea Child Study Club (now the Woman's Club of Chelsea) was formed in April 1931, its 20 members were asked to bring suggestions for projects which the club members could undertake. Among the suggestions was the idea of starting a Public Library. Until this time, the only place in Chelsea to get a book one did not buy was a small rental collection in one of the jewelry stores, and these were mostly westerns. The project was discussed with enthusiasm and the women were eager to try to organize a public library.

In January 1932 guests of the club were the State Child Study Association officers, one of whom, a Mrs. Baldwin, talked on "libraries." As a result of this talk, a committee was appointed to study the possibility of a library in Chelsea, with Mrs. A. A. Palmer as its chairman. She was able to get the loan of a store belonging to the Palmer family for this purpose. The club voted to pay to have the place cleaned.

On Feb. 28, 1932, the library started its existence in the store at 110 E. Middle St. It was too big a space for a couple of bookcases and a table or two, so the first thing to be done was to cut it down to size. This was done by dyeing sheets a maroon color and hanging them across the space, using the back premises for storage and work room, and the front part for the public. The donated bookcases and tables were painted maroon to match the curtains.

The Library started with 22 books donated by the members of the Child Study Club, and 100 books loaned by the State Library. It was run by volunteer help. Two members of the club were on duty each library period of three hours twice a week. A bake sale had to be held at the time of opening to replenish the treasury. It brought in $11.50. From 1932 until 1938 when the Library became tax supported, the Child Study Club supplied the volunteer help and the money, with the help of an occasional gift.

In 1934, the Library was offered space in the Chelsea State Bank in the upstairs front room and accepted it gratefully. The Village Council gave $50 in support and the American Legion Post gave $15 and helped move the books and furniture to the new location. The Library budget in the early days was from $100 to $200 per year as contrasted with today's budget of $14,000. All during this time, the club members worked at the Library serving the public, processing the books, mending the books when needed and seeking sources of money. In the late thirties, the WPA began to mend the books, having taught several local people the techniques.

In 1938, a plan was made to petition the Village residents for tax support. A proposal was put to the people in March for a one-half mill tax levy for the Library. It passed by one vote. In 1941, this tax levy was raised to one mill, the limit which can be levied by law for libraries. Now that the Library was tax supported, a librarian was hired, and in 1940 the trustees rented the ground floor space in the old Kempf Bank building.

The Village purchased a three-story building on E. Middle St. in 1946 and remodeled it for a Municipal Building, planning to give the Library space on the second floor. The Library Trustees had not been consulted about this and were unwilling to move back to the second floor anywhere, especially where the premises were approached down a long hall. They refused the offer, but the Village Council put the proposal to the voters who decided that the Library must move. Although the Public Library is a part of village property, the Library Trustees paid rent for the 10 years they were in the Municipal Building. The space allotted and to which they were moved in 1947 is now occupied by the Village Council. The rooms were adequate for library needs although no reinforcement of floors or walls had been made to cope with the weight of books and this was a worry.

From the time the Library was moved to the Municipal Building, the Trustees were determined to find permanent quarters. In 1949, "The Friends of the Chelsea Public Library" was organized and one of their aims was to search for a site or building for the Library to acquire. It was the aim of the Building and Site Committee of the Friends to find a place within one block of Main St. To this end, the Trustees began a program of setting funds aside in bonds and encouraged industry and private individuals to contribute. By 1958, there was $5,000 in bonds for this purpose.

One of the Friends of the Library, a past trustee, Mrs. Warren Daniels, in 1956 called on Mrs. E. J. McKune who was living on Main St. in a house which had belonged in the McKune family since 1870. She had no children to whom she could leave the property and had considered several organizations who might use the house. However, when Mrs. Daniels proposed that she leave her house to the Library, she was much taken with the idea saying that more people would use the house if it was a library than any of her ideas. She informed the Library of her intent and immediately put it into her will. She died in June 1958 and the Village was informed that she had left her house to the Village to be used as a Library.

The Library Board knew that a great deal of work would need to be done on this house to make it usable as a library although they did not have any idea how much. So in November, 1958 representatives from all clubs and organizations and the Village Council were invited by the Friends of the Library and the Library Board to a meeting to be held in Mrs. McKune's living room of the McKune House, to view the building's interior. There was an excellent response as some 60 people came to this meeting. When the house was shown, it was a disappointment to many as it was in very poor shape as to plaster and wiring. Many frankly said it would take too much money to convert it and that the Library Trustees would not be able to afford the upkeep, if and when remodeled.

In the "Book of Donors" at the Library, there are the names of 493 individuals, industries, businesses, clubs, church groups, memorial funds, labor union, six townships and the Village of Chelsea who contributed money, materials, labor or discounts. This was a true community effort. In June 1959, the Library was moved to its permanent home and in accordance with Mrs. McKune's will, the name was changed to the McKune Memorial Library.

The book collection which began with 22 books and augmented by loans from the State Library grew rapidly due to private donations from many bookcases. Since early days, the book budget has been generous until for many years some 500 books are added annually. A triennial inventory of the books is made at which time old, worn, and out-of-date books are discarded, to keep the collection modern and useful.

The Chelsea Library was administered by a library committee from the then Child Study Club from 1932 to 1938. When it became tax supported, trustees were appointed for the first year, after which they were elected at the spring Village election for terms of three years. These trustees have been hard-working and devoted. They do not get paid.

This library has been fortunate in its friends for many gifts have come to it, many of which in the form of memorials, some for specified furniture or equipment, many unspecified. The Woman's Club, once the organizing Child Study Club, has given an annual money gift to the Library ever since it became tax supported.

The Library's funds come from the one-mill tax which Village residents pay, gifts from five townships this Library serves, penal fines distributed by the county treasurer, book fines, gifts, fees from non-residents, and State Aid.

Now at the end of 60 years, this library has a collection of 24,597 books, and 288 videos and records. It subscribes to 48 magazines, newspapers, and maintains bound volumes of The Chelsea Herald and The Chelsea Standard on microfilm.

CONGRATULATIONS!

McKUNE MEMORIAL LIBRARY.

In commemoration of your 60 years of service to the community, we are happy to announce our donation of the library's 24,598th book, Men at Work, by George F. Wills

Happy 60th!

from the

CHELSEA RECREATION COUNCIL

From its humble beginnings on East Middle Street, the library opened in 1932 with twenty-two donated books, a $100 budget and labor donated by its founders, then known as The Chelsea Child Study Club, now called The Woman's Club of Chelsea.

Now, 60 years later, with its 24,516 books and a $189,000 budget it is truly a success, and a positive force within the community. We are proud to have played a part.

Congratulations, McKune Memorial Library!
Best wishes, and our continued support in the future,

Preserving Food Safely

By Debbie Barrow, Extension Home Economist

It's time to start thinking about food preservation as produce will be available before we know it. Some pre-planning can help you save money in the long-run as well as ensure the safety of your canned items.

(1) You must use a pressure canner for all low-acid foods.

(2) If you use a dial gauge canner you should have it tested yearly. This can be done at the County Extension office.

(3) Use only approved methods and times for preparing and processing foods. Sources of information that are dated before 1988 should not be used unless you check with your Extension Home Economist. The USDA has published an updated canning guide that is available either through the CES office or directly from MSU.

(4) Be sure and discard all jars that are nicked or chipped.

(5) Only use jars that are manufactured for home canning use.

(6) New lids must be used for sealing jars as used lids may not give a tight seal and food will spoil.

(7) Canning tomatoes and tomato based products require the addition of acid to ensure a safe product later.

(8) It is now recommended to use lid, ring and a boiling water bath for jams and jellies.

(9) When planning to use low-acid foods (such as green beans) they should never be eaten straight from the jar, a 10-minute boil is recommended to ensure total safety. However, this process cannot take the place of improper canning to begin with.

Canner testing will be held the first Thursday of the month from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., beginning in April and going through August or by special appointment at the Washtenaw County Extension office.

For more information or to have your gauge tested call (313) 971-0079.

Social Services Dept. Needs Foster Homes For Many Children

Can you make time in your life for a child who needs you?

Washtenaw County Department of Social Services needs foster homes to provide care for children who have been removed from the home of their natural family because of abuse or neglect.

They need black and white homes for children of all ages. They especially need homes for brothers and sisters to be placed together and families who understand drug abuse and sexual abuse. There is a shortage of black families willing to do long term care or adopt children of all ages. They need homes who will work with children ages 12-18 and pregnant/parenting teens.

For anyone interested there is a foster parent/adoption training program starting Monday, April 27, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Department of Social Services, 22 Center St., Ypsilanti. Please call Pat Ruby at 481-2002 to register or for more information.

Dennis Petsch Will Seek State Rep. Nomination

On Monday, April 20, Dennis Petsch of Chelsea announced his candidacy for State Representative from the 52nd district. The announcement came during a speech to the Chelsea Kiwanis Club.

Petsch will be running for the Republican nomination vacated by Representative Margaret O'Connor in the Aug. 4 primary election.

Petsch is a life-long resident of the Chelsea area. He holds a master's degree in Guidance and Counseling from Eastern Michigan University. He is currently teaching at Stockbridge Community Schools. Petsch is committed to serving the community. He has been a member of the Chelsea Recreation Council and is currently a board member of the Chelsea United Way.

As an educator, Petsch believes that the future is in the hands and minds of the young people. In order to achieve this, the educational system must be a priority. "The funding of such a system must not fall solely on the property owners of the State of Michigan," stated Petsch. "The so-called 'Robin Hood' bill is not a fair answer to the constituents of the 52nd District. Lansing needs a continued leader from this district."

Any persons interested in more information or would like to assist please call 313-475-1895.

McKune Library Week Features Experts, Authors

Local residents Barbara Cherem, Don and Mary Hunt and Celeste Balogh will begin the McKune Memorial Library "Love Your Library Week" presentation series next week.

Barbara Cherem, professor of educational psychology at Spring Arbor College, will kick off the series on Monday, April 27, at 7:30 p.m. Cherem's informal presentation-discussion will be about the book "Women's Ways of Knowing." This book, written by Mary Field Belenky and her University of Vermont colleagues, is based on interviews with over 100 women who identified powerful learning styles they used that are not always accepted by our culture. The presentation will encourage the reader to think in new ways about what constitutes knowledge and what the aims of education should be for both men and women.

Local authors Don and Mary Hunt will speak on Tuesday, April 28, at 7:30 p.m. at McKune. The Hunts founded the Ann Arbor Observer in 1976 and built it into one of the country's most successful city magazines. In 1986, they sold the Observer and in 1987 they founded Hunts' Midwestern Guides in Waterloo. The guides are packed with useful information about west, north and southeastern Michigan and other parts of the midwest, including great restaurants, interesting sights, outstanding shops and stores, revealing historical profiles and specific price information.

The Hunts will talk about one of their latest guides titled, Hidden Treasures, Undiscovered Pleasures of Michigan. "The over-all message of our presentation is that there are hundreds of fascinating people and places waiting to be discovered," say the Hunts. "We like to share with others how our discoveries have changed our lives."

Local expert on the American southwest, Celeste Balogh of Maya Place, will display authentic Katchina carvings when she discusses the Hopi Katchina cult and religion on Wednesday, April 29 at 7:30 p.m. The series is free and open to the public.

Cholesterol Discovery Passes Mom's Test

WASHINGTON -- The mother of a research scientist recently lowered her cholesterol more than 20% without changing her eating habits.

After a visit to her doctor, a Florida woman learned that her cholesterol level was an elevated 308 and she was encouraged to change her eating habits. When she returned 10 weeks later, the doctor was astounded that her cholesterol level had dropped to 243. Asked if she achieved the amazing results just by dieting she replied, "No I didn't diet at all, in fact I ate the things I shouldn't eat like bacon, sausage and ice cream. The only thing I did different was take some tablets my son gave me."

The woman's son is Dr. William Morris, director of research and development at National Dietary Research, an organization that seeks nutritional solutions to health problems. Dr. Morris admits that the tablets called Vancol 5000 were designed as a dietary supplement to be used with a low fat diet plan. "She just wanted to put the tablets to the test," says Dr. Morris. "Of course I was pleased with the results she achieved, but now were working on reducing some of the fat in her diet to lower her cholesterol even further."

Vancol 5000 is a chewable food tablet that contains extracts from foods known to lower cholesterol. According to the exclusive distributor for Vancol 5000, inquiries about the new discovery are being received from all over the country and has peaked the interest of doctors currently prescribing expensive cholesterol lowering drugs. A 30 day supply of the Vancol 5000 Cholesterol Lowering Plan is only $29.98.
