Memorial Day Services To Be Held Monday in Oak Grove Cemetery

Memorial Day activities to honor deceased war veterans will be held in Chelsea next Monday beginning at 10 a.m.

The annual parade will begin at 10 a.m. in the Municipal Parking Lot, led by members of the Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31 of the American Legion. All American war veterans, regardless of affiliation, are invited to join the march. Parade participants are asked to be in the lot by 9:30 a.m. The parade will move from W. Middle St. to Main St. to Park St. to East St. to W. Middle St. to Oak Grove Cemetery. Included will be Chelsea High school and Beach Middle school marching bands, as well as veterans groups, and scouting and other organizations.

Parade Marshal will be Pat Merkel. Memorial Day services will be conducted by the Rev. Mearl Bradley of the Chelsea Free Methodist church, with Jim Knott as master of ceremonies.

This year's featured speaker will be William Gourley, director of bands for Chelsea High school since 1981.

Gourley, born in Chicago and educated at Michigan State University, was drafted and served in Vietnam as an infantry sergeant in the American Division of the U.S. Army. He was awarded a Purple Heart as he was wounded more than once. His best friend lost his life.

Gourley said his speech would be about "how Memorial Day changed for me" after serving in Vietnam.

Services in the cemetery will be concluded with a salute from a firing squad, taps, and the playing of the national anthem.

This year's parade, for the first time, will include five historic flags in addition to the 50-star national emblem. There will be a replica of the Grand Union Flag, which flew from George Washington's headquarters on Jan. 1, 1776; the Battle of Bennington Flag, the first flag of the American Revolution; the Star Spangled Banner (15 stars and 15 stripes), which flew over Ft. Mchenry during the British bombardment as Francis Scott Key wrote the words of our national anthem; the 35-star emblem of the Civil War; and the 48-star flag which flew through World War II. They are identical to flags which will be included in the Historic American Flag Display, scheduled to be completed at Beach Middle school this summer.

Recycling Authority May Soon Make Decisions On Equipment, Staffing

Delegates to the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority had expected to make several decisions concerning equipment and staffing last Wednesday, but action was delayed until at least tomorrow (Thursday) when the authority holds a meeting at Lima Township Hall at 7 p.m.

According to two people who attended, several objections by one township supervisor, who is not a voting member of the authority but claimed he has not been allowed to participate enough in the decision-making process, was the primary reason no decisions were made concerning equipment.

That prompted authority chair Ronald Mann to call tomorrow's meeting a facilities meeting, with the entire membership of the authority constituting the facilities committee.

The authority did decide to look for a used or demonstrator loader for the materials center because the bid received exceeded the authority's budget of $15,000.

Freedom and Sharon townships turned in their official resignations, which leaves the authority with eight units of government—Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, Dexter, Bridgewater and Manchester townships, and Chelsea and Manchester villages.

Vice chair Frank Hammer of Chelsea said he believes there will be no more defections from the group. He also said he supports changing legal documents to reflect the changes.

Several actions may be taken tomorrow. The authority may hire a manager and decide on a contractor for the 4,200-square-foot materials recovery center at the village landfill. In addition, the authority may also go ahead and order the boiler for the center, the major piece of equipment.

The two lowest bidders for the building include a Brighton company and another within the boundaries of the authority. Lyndon township has granted both a special use permit for the building as well as necessary

School Board Recalls Art Teacher, Supports WISD Millage Request

North school art teacher Janet Alford, who faced lay-off next year if a 1.95 mill increase is rejected by voters this June, was recalled by the Chelsea Board of Education Monday night.

Alford would become an eighth grade teacher at Beach Middle school in the event the millage fails. The recall was made possible by the retirement of Alice Steinbach.

In other business, the board approved the borrowing of $3.5 million in tax anticipation notes, which would cover school operating expenses until taxes are collected.

A Beach Middle school eighth grade student was suspended until the beginning of next school year. He had been involved in several incidents and had been suspended on at least five occasions.

The board officially went on record in support of the Washtenaw Intermediate School District's 1.45 mill request, which will be on the ballot in June. WISD wants the additional money for special education. State reimbursement is expected to drop in that category. In addition, the number of students in special education has risen sharply in recent years.

The WISD millage would reduce Chelsea's millage increase by .5 mills in the event both requests are passed.

No decision was made on whether to sign up for Channel One service offered by Whittle Communications. A letter of support from district resident Kathy Buss was noted, as was a letter of non-support from resident Elaine Schauder.

The company would install televisions in every classroom at Beach Middle school and/or Chelsea High school, which would be connected to the school's media center for use as a central system. However, the company would require that a 12-minute program, containing about two minutes of commercials, be viewed by all students.

The board adopted a formal mission statement, which says the board will "provide an environment conducive to the education of all students," seek fair and efficient funding of schools, interact with district residents, define goals, establish policy, and stay in compliance with the state.

Vandals Cut Trees, Damage Property at CHS

Someone again has vandalized Chelsea School District property, although this time most of the damage occurred outside.

An axe and a saw were used to damage a sweet gum tree and an ornamental plum tree, as well as a classroom steel door at Chelsea High school. Plastic light covers were damaged, manholes were removed, trash cans were placed on a sidewalk roof, and water softener salt was used to create a "92" on the football field. Police suspected the salt had been stolen from a local business.

STREETSCAPE CONSTRUCTION continued down W. Middle St. last week as good weather has helped the project proceed quickly. It is part of the Downtown Development Authority's project, which began last fall.

Council OKs Move Of Farmers Market

Chelsea Farmers Market has been moved, probably for the rest of this year, to the northeast corner of the Municipal Parking Lot off E. Middle St.

For the first two years the market was held in the Chelsea Depot Parking lot off Main St. However, Depot Association board members would not allow the market on their property after they discovered they couldn't be individually covered with liability insurance for a reasonable amount of money.

Village council approved the new location at their regular meeting last Tuesday.

Trustee Joe Merkel, acting as mayor pro tem at last Tuesday's village council meeting, said he believed the market would lose business by being moved away from Main St. and urged market organizers to find a place closer to Main St., even suggesting the village purchase property.

Farmers Market Commission member Sandy Barkman said business has been good since the market was abruptly moved several weeks ago, but admitted the market will probably lose business due to its out-of-the-way location.

Village manager Jack Myers said he did not favor re-locating the market to the new village lot between South and W. Middle Sts. due to its heavy use.

Baccalaureate Slated May 27

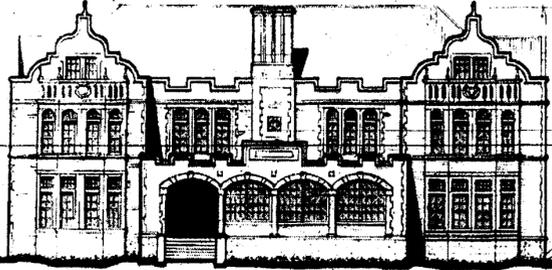

Chelsea High school's annual Baccalaureate will be held next Wednesday, May 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium.

The Rev. Kathy Batell and the Rev. Mearl Bradley will officiate.

KRIS HAMMERBERG studies machines for his project this year in the Enrichment Triad Program at South Elementary school. Kris is a fourth grader. His interest center consisted partly of a basic machine using ropes and pulleys. It was on display last Thursday at the school's Celebrate Live! program.

Wednesday, May 25, 1988—Chelsea Village Council raised the base village tax millage by 16 percent after a public hearing at its regular meeting. The 1.88 mill rise, in combination with 3.92 mills of additional debt service for the wastewater treatment plant, meant taxes would rise by 36 percent over all this year.

In a surprise move, Chelsea Village Council turned down the Downtown Development Authority's request for a six-year extension of the two-mill special assessment on downtown property. The money would have funded a DDA parking program, the group's first project.

Chelsea High school Baccalaureate services for graduating seniors and their families were slated for Sunday in the high school auditorium. The Rev. Dr. Jerry Parker would be the featured speaker.

Making ice cream the old-fashioned way was one of the activities at South Elementary school's Founders Day celebration. Students cranked the freezer by hand while teacher Tim Hinkle supervised.

14 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, May 25, 1978—Memorial Day services to honor deceased veterans would begin at 9:30 a.m. Monday when veterans, school bands, officials and residents would gather to parade through the village streets enroute to Oak Grove Cemetery.

Saturday would be the first day Chelsea residents could take a leisurely stroll down "produce lane" admiring red rosy radishes, sweet ears of corn, irresistible loaves of freshly baked raisin bread and more as the Farmer's Market opened for the season.

Report Cites Air Pollution Threat to Great Lakes

Air pollution is Michigan's largest and most uncontrolled contribution to the toxic contamination of the Great Lakes, threatening human health and the quality of life for many Michigan residents, according to a report by the Michigan Environmental Council and Sierra Club Mackinac Chapter.

The report was released to co-ordinate with the observance of National Clean Air Week.

"The Legislature and the administration must give Michigan citizens air quality protection that is right for Michigan—we all deserve better than just squeaking by on the bare minimums required by the federal government," said report author Alison Horton, from the Sierra Club.

The report calls for following state action:

- adequate fees to fund development and implementation of a permitting and enforcement program for stationary sources of air pollution;
- a comprehensive renewable permitting program for stationary sources;

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Warren M. Hoyt, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

• a strong enforcement program for stationary sources that includes penalties, administrative order mechanisms and authorities for court action;

• clearly delineated mechanisms to assure public access to information regarding air emissions and the operations of sources and assure public participations in decisions regarding permitted emissions;

• a strong enhanced inspection and maintenance program for vehicles;

• state notification of the EPA that Michigan wants to opt into the federal reformulated gas program; and

• adoption of rules to regulate existing sources of toxic air contaminants consistent with the recently adopted rules for new sources of air toxics.

House Conservation, Recreation and Environment Chair Tom Alley (D-West Branch) said the report sets the stage for action on several House air quality bills being drafted that are designed to bring Michigan into compliance with the federal Clean Air Act.

But he added the fate of those bills depends on whether an agreement can be reached between the Legislature, business interests and the administration yet this year.

The House already has rejected the governor's recommendation that next year's budget for Department of Natural Resources (HB 5523) include funding for the Air Quality Control program from proposed fees that have not gained legislative approval. The House inserted $11.6 million from the general fund instead for the program.

Alley said businesses have opposed implementing the federal act, particularly by raising fees, earlier than the state is required. But the department has requested startup money to be ready to implement the program once related legislation is in place, he said.

The House's subcommittee on air quality control, chaired by Rep. Mary Brown (D-Battle Creek), is preparing three bills providing for a small business compliance assistance program; improving enforcement with civil and criminal fines, greater inspection authority, administrative order mechanisms and citizen-initiated lawsuits and awards; and establishing a renewable permit process. The fee bills are expected to originate in the Senate.

The annual Toxics Release Inventory by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency listed Michigan as among the 10 worst states in its release of toxics emissions. From stationary sources, such as factories, dry cleaners and other smokestack industries which are currently issued lifetime permits, Michigan releases at least three times more into the air than into its surface waters.

Among non-stationary sources, vehicle pollution accounts for about 75 percent of Michigan's carbon monoxide problem. The state has a program for regulating vehicle emissions, but it is currently limited to the greater Detroit area, the report stated.

Ontario-Michigan Chamber of Commerce To Be Created
 A new international group to help facilitate trade between Michigan and Canada will be formed as a result of export development meetings in Toronto, Governor John Engler said recently.

Engler said he expects Canadian investments in Michigan to increase from the pace of the past few years, but would not identify any specific companies.

Engler said a Michigan-Ontario Chamber of Commerce will explore ways to develop a more effective trade relationship between the U.S. and Canada.

He appointed six persons to the state's bi-lateral trade team, which he said will pursue efforts to expand markets for Michigan-owned companies.

The members are: Bill Cornelius, director of trade policy and issue resources for Dow USA; Michael Kinard of Menominee, vice-president of sales and marketing for Lloy/Flanders; Valerie Magnuson, export manager at H.O. Trerice; Tom Reed of DeWitt, general manager of Michigan Live Stock Exchange; Hugh Sloan, Jr., of Birmingham, president of the automotive division at Woodbridge Group; and Keith VanderHyde of Grand Rapids, chair of Guardsman Products.

Kelley Asks Supreme Court To Reinststate Checklanes
 The Supreme Court has been asked by Attorney General Frank Kelley to resurrect the state's ability to operate sobriety checklanes. The Court of Appeals last month ruled the random highway stops violate Michigan's constitutional protection against unreasonable searches and seizures.

But noting the U.S. Supreme Court found the checklanes do not violate the U.S. constitution, Kelley said "the confusion" needs to be cleared up by the state's high court.

Governor Engler, an opponent of checklanes, said a successful appeal would have no impact on the state's approach to enforcement of drunken driving laws. "You can do more with a mobile patrol car than from a stationary check point," he said.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Bug Hookum allowed at the country store Saturday night that everything to do with crime has turned around and is going the other way. For instant, we use to say the only way to make sure crime don't pay was to let the Government run it. Nowadays, he said, the Federal Government sells permits to let factories break Federal law by polluting the air and water. State Governments are running big time gambling operations they claim make big money. The same Governments that say tobacco is a killer give it license to kill by taxing the sale of it.

Don't do the crime if you can't do the time was sound advice some time back, Bug went on, now jails are so full they take reservations six month ahead and for all practical purposes petty crime is legal because small time crooks never do time.

What riled Bug was another report of another study on alternatives to prison. Of all of them, Bug said, house arrest is the worst. Everwhere this is used it is abused, he said, and usual with deadly results. The report told of six murders done by crooks that cut off their monitor bracelets and went out looking for trouble. Four more that were supposed to check in with a video camera in their homes took off and nobody noticed for days.

Courts and police say the idea of house arrest is good, it's just bad in practice. The reason this system breaks down, they say, is that they don't have enough money to hire enough people to keep track of the crooks. This is the same reason crooks are sentenced to home, Bug said, states don't have enough money to build enough jails.

Texas come up with a plan that would pay prisoners to build more prisons, Bug went on, and other states are taking a look at it. Paying a convict to do useful work and teaching him a trade to boot can't get very far, Bug allowed, because it makes too much sense. Fer sure, some outfit is cooking up a lawsuit saying forced labor violates the convicts civil rights.

Actual, broke in Clem Webster, turn arounds can be seen everwhere. Clem took note that French parents object to Euro Disneyland serving their children American french fries. Japanese parents are fighting Government plans to cut out Saturday morning school. Children there still would go to public school 10 hours a day Monday through Friday 240 days a year. Here, parents won't hear of longer school days or years because it would be to tiring for the children.

Ed Doolittle picked up on the school times. He had saw a survey where 60 percent of honor roll students in American high schools say they study at home fewer than seven hours a week, and 80 percent don't think a longer school year would improve their education. If the best students don't want to challenge themselves, Ed said, what better can we expect from the rest of them.

Furthermore, Ed went on, he sees a turn around in how we treat disease. He read where thought is being give to busing health cost on how much time money will buy. For instant, somebody with diabetes can buy a year of life for only $1,000, a year of dialysis for a patient with kidney failure is $100,000.

The idea, Ed said, is to put a dollar value on life. How long, Ed ask, before we put a price tag on people.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Chelsea High Grad Leads With Innovative Project

A former Chelsea resident has been awarded a $202,000 federal grant to develop a Lawrence, Kansas, grade school into an innovative "Children's Academy."

Gene Ramp is the executive director of Educational Systems at Kansas University and has been actively involved for more than 20 years in the design and implementation of innovative classroom programs for public schools nationwide.

Ramp is the son of Irma Ramp of Clear Lake Rd., Grass Lake, and the late August Ramp.

He is a 1960 graduate of Chelsea High school. Ramp attended Michigan State University and Western Michigan University where he earned BA and MA degrees in psychology.

After completing his master's degree, Ramp was selected by the University of Kansas at Lawrence for advanced study in the field of human development and research. He earned his doctorate from KU in 1970.

Ramp's wife, Kathi Ramp, is an associate professor of human development at KU. The couple have two children, Robert and Regan, both of whom attend public school.

Ramp says his work with Educational Systems at KU has been a rewarding opportunity for enhancement of the public school system.

He became involved in the Lawrence school district last year and since June has chaired the Lawrence Education Round Table, a forum for discussing education issues in the community.

The $202,000 federal grant will be used by the group to convert one of Lawrence's grade schools into an innovative "Children's Academy."

The principals at seven of Lawrence's elementary schools have expressed interest in the proposed Children's Academy development program, Ramp said.

Ramp is pleased to be involved in public education planning and declares that these are the most challenging and exciting times in the history of U.S. education.

"We're coming from, not the dark ages, but the gray ages into modern, high-tech society in education, and it's going to be one of the hardest leaps that we've ever had to make," Ramp declared.

He added that "the '90s provide a chance to break the mold. We're not just going to extend the school day a couple of hours. We're going to make major quantum leaps in what we're doing in the way of change.

"I want Lawrence to be the model for change instead of one of the school systems that just follows along," Ramp charges. "There is a genuine interest in change here that you just don't find everywhere," he said.

Only one other educational development grant of this magnitude was awarded last year.

Under the grant, a task force of parents, teachers, community members, outside experts and university staff will be formed. The task force will develop ways for one school to become more effective.

The school will be chosen from among the seven that have indicated interest, Ramp said.

Ramp said that having children of his own enrolled in the district has given him a vested interest in making sure education is revamped to adequately prepare students to successfully meet the future.

"Someone once described the country's school system to me as a giant amoeba," Ramp recalled. "It has the capacity to absorb all the change anybody can throw at it and just keep on moving without any change at all."

Ramp believes that now is the time for change in public education, however. He noted that the America 2000 educational goals established by the 50 governors and President George Bush have given education some national direction for the first time in U.S. history.

"We owe it to our governors and our national government, who have taken a leadership role without being too prescriptive," Ramp said. "They haven't set up a lot of government programs requiring us to do X, Y and Z. Instead, they've said, 'Here are some general goals. The whole nation should try to achieve these. You sit down and figure out how to do it,'" he continued.

"To me, that is real leadership, and that is something that has been lacking in education for a long time," Ramp declared.

He is also not worried that educators might stumble a couple of times in the attempt to revise the system. "We can learn more from our mistakes than we ever will learn from what we do right," Ramp concluded.

He also said the KU's Educational Systems program is applying to become one of several school system "design teams" to be underwritten by the New American Schools Development Corporation (NASDC), an independent, non-profit organization created by business leaders at the request of George Bush.

FIFTY PLUS Senior Health Notes

D-Dental Care

"Brush your teeth before you go to bed." "Go to the dentist every six months." For years, we have told our children and grandchildren to take care of their teeth. Why can't we as adults follow our own advice?

According to Blue Cross of California, dental disease is the most prevalent health problem in the United States for persons of all ages. Older adults are no exception! Seventy percent of persons with their natural teeth have dental caries. Older persons are more susceptible to cavities than teenagers who live in areas without fluoridated water. About half of older persons are likely to develop periodontal disease. Yet, most problems can be prevented if we take care of our teeth regularly.

The condition of our teeth and mouth is closely related to our overall health. Medical problems, especially those that require regular medication, affect our teeth. Conversely, our teeth and mouth show symptoms of over 100 medical conditions. And, the average age of those who have oral cancers—cancer of the lips, tongue, or mouth, gums—is 60.

Common problems
Caries. We think of cavities as something that affect children. However, two of every three older people with natural teeth have cavities. Gums tend to recede with age, and this exposes the roots of the tooth. Unlike the crown of the tooth, roots are not covered with enamel, and they are likely to develop cavities more quickly. "Root caries" are thus a common problem of older persons.

In addition, old fillings may crack or wear away, and decay slips in.

Periodontal disease. Plaque is an evil nemesis of healthy teeth. It is the film of bacteria that builds up on teeth, especially around the gums. Brushing controls plaque. But, if it hardens into tartar, it can only be removed professionally. If not removed, plaque irritates the gums. Gums may become red and swollen, bleed and move away from the teeth. If not properly treated, loss of teeth may result.

Dry Mouth. This is a shortage of saliva. Saliva helps prevent dental caries by continually cleansing the teeth of food and by balancing acid. Dry mouth can result in gum disease, tooth decay and even tooth loss. Over 400 medicines, including diuretics, antihistamines and high blood pressure pills, cause "dry mouth."

Dentures. At one time, older persons expected that eventually they would lose their teeth and have dentures. Today, each generation has more people who keep their own teeth. In 1960, 60% of older adults wore dentures. In 1990, 40% wore dentures. Scientific knowledge and new technologies enable more people to prevent trouble or to take care of problems with means other than dentures. Bridges, crowns and implants are various techniques used when teeth are broken, lost or weak. Keeping natural teeth healthy is the best way to avoid the need for dentures.

Prevention
Just like we tell children, brush your teeth every day, preferably after meals and certainly before bed. The bacteria in plaque attack your teeth within minutes of eating. The American Dental Association recommends using only toothpastes that have an active fluoride ingredient. Look for the ADA Seal of Acceptance the next time you buy toothpaste. A fluoride mouthwash used once a day also helps prevent decay and build-up of plaque. Flossing is also essential. A toothbrush does not get in between the teeth; floss does.

For persons who have trouble handling a toothbrush or floss due to arthritis, stroke or other physical problems, creative devices resolve such problems easily and inexpensively. For example, if the handle is too small, insert the toothbrush inside a child's rubber ball or tape popsicle sticks to the handle to make it longer.

• Those who do have dentures must give these teeth as much attention as natural teeth. The fit of dentures changes over time. They must be relined and replaced about every five years to maintain a healthy mouth and good bite. Also, clean them daily.

• Visit your dentist twice a year for a check-up and cleaning. Hardened plaque can only be removed by a professional, and gum disease and oral cancer often give no symptoms. Thus, a professional exam is imperative. The dentist will check your teeth and examine your mouth for oral cancer. Be sure to tell him what medicines you are taking. Cleaning is usually done by a dental hygienist. The cost ranges from $20-$50. A full set of x-rays should be taken every five years, at a cost of about $45. In between, partial x-rays, or bite-wings, may be needed.

Bills for dental care are usually not covered by Medicare or private insurance. Six percent of older adults carry dental insurance. In some states, Medicaid may pay for certain dental costs for low-income seniors.

Most people pay out-of-pocket. The costs of maintaining healthy teeth are relatively minor compared to the expensive treatments needed to repair teeth that are badly damaged due to neglect.

"I thought it was normal to go to bed early and wake up tired, but when my wife noticed that my breathing stopped along with my snoring, we knew something was wrong.

Letters to the Editor

BETTY WESCOTT prepares to tee up while former South school principal Bob Benedict explains the rules of the game during last Friday's South School Ice Cream Social. It was one of many games for children to try.

Dear Editor,
I'm a fourth grader at North Elementary school. I'm studying the Environmental Protection Agency, also known as the EPA, as my research project in the Enrichment Triad Program. I am really concerned about the quality of air in our environment.

Did you know that automobiles are the biggest source of air pollution? Fifty to sixty percent of ALL air pollution comes from the operation of automobiles. In fact, most of this pollution enters our air during the first 3-5 minutes that an automobile's engine is running.

Did you know that six out of every 10 people in the United States today live in an area which fails to meet air quality standards that have been set to protect human health? Chelsea isn't like that, YET!

By the time you finish reading this letter, I hope that I will have convinced you to strongly consider carpooling to your work or entertainment place or both.

I created a survey to help me gather important facts. I gave it to a group of 50 adults. After I tallied the results I discovered that almost 75% of them travelled only three to five miles to work. Also, 82% of the people who answered my survey said that they would be willing to carpool.

Carpooling is one of the most efficient ways to cut the air pollution problem. But you must do it correctly. The person doing the driving must pick up the other people and take them to their destination. Remember the idea is NOT to start that car engine. Every time you don't start your car you don't pollute the air!

Also, you can ride the bus, walk, or ride your bike to your work or entertainment place.

Any one of these methods of transportation can help! Please consider carpooling!

Remember, we all breathe the same air, so do your part and help keep it clean!

Emily Rose

To the Editor:

Can you believe they want us to vote for MORE taxes in the June 8th school millage election?! Property taxes around Chelsea already resemble rent. Having paid taxes in several other states, it's hard for me to notice where the money goes once it reaches Lansing. But the tax structure in Michigan and the mechanism for funding public education are not the fault of our children, nor of the administration of our Chelsea schools. They are, rather, the fruits of seed sewn in previous years by ill informed voters and elected officials with interests far more influential than "the little guy" back home, the neighborhood school, or the youngsters who are our future.

I have lived in Michigan less than a year and I am still reeling from tax "sticker shock." Outraged, I attended several school board meetings. But I learned that our board has already cut the district's budget; that our school taxes are just about the lowest of the 10 districts in Washtenaw county; that our district spends more on each child and less on administration than most surrounding school systems; that several programs in the Chelsea schools have state-wide and even national recognition for excellence (programs for bright students, slow students, athletic students, creative students—even elderly students)! Ironically, these very programs are likely to be cut.

Finally, I figured out that the additional millage would cost most property owners less than the price of two fair seats at a major sporting event, or dinner and a movie in Ann Arbor, or a pack-a-day cigarette habit for a month.

We should not let Lansing force us to cannibalize a school system with a well-deserved reputation for quality and productivity. Let's take care of our own right here and then turn our attention toward the Capitol where our elected leaders have created this problem.

Vote YES on June 8th, and then let's put our energies toward genuine property tax relief at the root of the problem—the confiscatory tax structure in the state of Michigan.

EDUCATION RESEARCH

Prepared by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP), Reston, Va.

Reston (Va.)—What makes a good teacher?

If you listen to some of their clients—high school students—explaining material well and supporting student programs outside the classroom are key.

Fifteen hundred student leaders attending last summer's National Association of Student Councils (NASC) annual conference were surveyed on several educational issues.

When asked what makes a great teacher, the students split between two of five possible choices—"explains material well" and "gets involved in programs for students other than assigned teaching duties"—each being selected by 30 percent. Sixteen percent said the single most important quality is "provides extra help when necessary."

"Becoming involved in student activities makes teachers more approachable," explained Donna Sartz, a graduate of Chelmsford (Mass.) High school. "It's easier then for students to relate to teachers in the classroom. Students are less likely to be intimidated and more likely to ask their hard questions."

David Cieri, a senior at Holy Cross High school (Delran, N.J.) agreed that students and teachers become closer when the latter join activity projects.

"Many teachers don't understand students and vice versa," he said. "It's like they are on two different wave lengths. When they work together in student activities, they share a bond."

On the other side of the spectrum, more than half of the student leaders indicated the major characteristic of a poor teacher is that he or she "does not explain material clearly." Twenty-eight percent indicated a poor teacher "runs a boring class."

Most of the students feel good about the education they are receiving. Fifty-three percent awarded their school a B when asked to grade their school. Eighteen percent gave an A, and 22 percent a C.

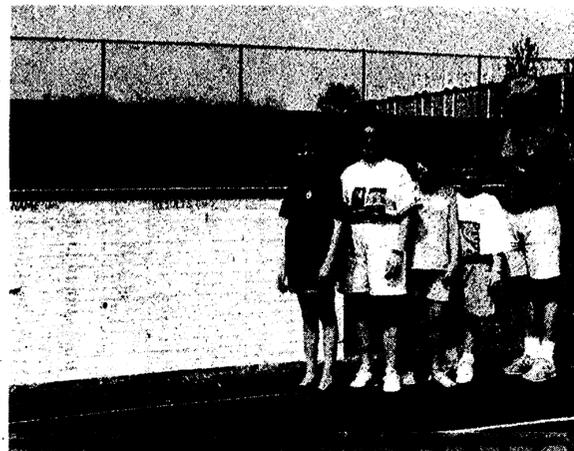

"This is very consistent with how adults evaluate schools in their communities," pointed out Dale D. Hawley, director of student activities for the National Association of Secondary School Principals, sponsor of the NASC.

"While people question the quality of education nationally, for years they have expressed positive opinions about schools in their communities in national polls," he continued.

The students, however, question whether declining dollars will hamper school improvement efforts.

When asked what is the biggest obstacle to improving education, 43 percent selected "lack of money." Twenty-nine percent named "lack of effort on the part of students to do well in school."

Twenty-six percent reported financial support for schools in their community has decreased in the last five years, 21 percent said it has remained the same, 20 percent indicated it has increased, and 20 percent said they did not know whether the funding level had changed.

SOUTH SCHOOL recently held its first Walk, Jog & Skip-a-Thon at the Chelsea High school track. The idea is to make a little money for PTS as well as encourage physical fitness among the students. Above, keepers of the lap scoreboard were, from left, Tiffany Buckingham, principal Lucy Steber, Laine Manor, Susan Selman, and physical education teacher Bill Wehrwein. Below are just a few of the students who participated.

NORTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL student council had the chance to meet with school administrators and board members recently discuss the state of the schools. From left are board president Anne Comeau, superintendent Joe Piasecki, and North school principal Bill Wescott.

Cholesterol Discovery Passes Mom's Test

WASHINGTON -- The mother of a research scientist recently lowered her cholesterol more than 20% without changing her eating habits.

After a visit to her doctor, a Florida woman learned that her cholesterol level was an elevated 308 and she was encouraged to change her eating habits. When she returned 10 weeks later, the doctor was astounded that her cholesterol level had dropped to 243. Asked if she achieved the amazing results just by dieting she replied, "No I didn't diet at all, in fact I ate the things I shouldn't eat like bacon, sausage and ice cream. The only thing I did different was take some tablets my son gave me."

The woman's son is Dr. William Morris, director of research and development at National Dietary Research, an organization that seeks nutritional solutions to health problems. Dr. Morris admits that the tablets called Vancol 5000 were designed as a dietary supplement to be used with a low fat diet plan. "She just wanted to put the tablets to the test," says Dr. Morris. "Of course I was pleased with the results she achieved, but now were working on reducing some of the fat in her diet to lower her cholesterol even further."

Vancol 5000 is a chewable food tablet that contains extracts from foods known to lower cholesterol. According to the exclusive distributor for Vancol 5000, inquiries about the new discovery are being received from all over the country and has peaked the interest of doctors currently prescribing expensive cholesterol lowering drugs. A 30 day supply of the Vancol 5000 Cholesterol Lowering Plan is only $29.98.

THE GARDEN CORNER

The coming of spring and another outdoor gardening season brings a proliferation of questions about vegetable and flower gardening, landscape plants and related topics. Extension specialists at Michigan State University respond.

Q. How could it be that cutting the flowers from spring bulbs is actually good for the bulbs?

A. Cutting the blossoms, either to enjoy indoors or after they've begun to fade, helps strengthen bulbs. Energy that would have gone into seed production goes instead to build up the bulb for next year.

Q. My house seems to be the target of an invasion of ladybugs. Why are they coming indoors now, when winter's over?

A. They aren't coming indoors now. They've been sheltering in your house all winter and are becoming active as the weather gets warmer. They've just made a wrong turn and tumbled into the living space instead of outdoors. Ladybird beetles are harmless to humans but voracious predators of aphids, so you'll be doing your garden a favor if you can gather up the beetles and release them outdoors.

Q. How long will spring bulbs continue to bloom before they need to be replaced?

A. It depends on the bulb. Tulips and hyacinths may begin to decline after only one or two years of flowering. Others, such as daffodils and crocus, may bloom dependably for years with little care beyond annual fertilization. When you are not satisfied with the spring flower display, it's time either to dig and divide clumps of bulbs for transplanting, or replant altogether.

Q. Do I have to wait until the local frost-free date to plant annual flowers?

A. Many annual flowers are frost hardy when plants are small. These include Alyssum, bachelor's button, California poppy, candytuft, larkspur, pansy and viola, petunia, phlox, pink, snapdragons, stock and sweet pea. You can sow seeds as soon as the soil is workable or set transplants out as early as two weeks before the frost-free date in mid-Michigan. (Be prepared to cover the plants with straw or plastic sheets if frost is predicted.) Greenhouse-grown plants will need some acclimatizing to outdoor conditions before transplanting. Set flats outdoors in a sheltered spot for longer and longer periods each day for a week or so before transplanting to reduce the chance of shock and frost injury.

Q. I've read that I should plant tomato transplants deeper than they were growing in the flat. Is this a good idea for other vegetable transplants, too?

A. No. Tomato plants can be planted so that only the top tuft of leaves shows above the soil surface. In loose or sandy soil, you can plant them vertically; in heavy or poorly drained soil, dig a slanting trench 2 or 3 inches deep and lay the plant in it with the leaves sticking out. In either case, trim any leaves that would be covered with soil. New roots will sprout along the length of the stem. Other vegetables, such as broccoli, cabbage, eggplant and peppers, will not benefit from being planted deeper than they have been growing and may even be harmed by it. Plant these and other transplants at the same depth at which they have been growing.

Q. What's different about a starter fertilizer? What does it do for transplants that a regular fertilizer doesn't do?

A. You can use any complete fertilizer for vegetables or flowers at planting time to stimulate growth and speed plant establishment. Starter fertilizers are designed to do this—they provide a relatively high dose of potassium, the nutrient most important to plant root growth, and little or no nitrogen and phosphorus. Complete fertilizers, on the other hand, contain nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium in more or less equal proportions.

Q. Why do recommendations for using grass clippings for mulch always specify dry clippings? Why not take clippings straight from the lawn to the garden?

A. Drying the clippings keeps them from packing down, rotting and becoming smelly. During dry, windy weather, clippings left on the lawn dry quickly. Heavy, wet clippings that need to be taken off the lawn can be spread on a driveway to dry before being taken to the garden.

Q. I planted a small area to wildflowers last year and was disappointed with the results. The seed mixture contained 15 or 20 different kinds of seeds, but I didn't see anywhere near that many different plants. Now, as growth is resuming this spring, I can't see anything coming up but grass. What happened?

A. Some wildflower seed promotions make establishing a patch of wildflower meadow sound much easier than it actually is. A big factor in success with wildflowers is site preparation. As if you were planting a lawn, you need to till and improve the soil, adding organic matter as needed, and eliminate perennial grasses, such as quackgrass. If you're tilling under lawn or weedy grasses, you need to kill the grass first, or it will stage a comeback. Grass can easily crowd out wildflowers that are trying to get established. That might be what's happening to your wildflower patch. Annual weeds, too, can germinate from seeds stirred up by tilling. A wildflower meadow is like any other garden spot—it must be properly prepared and weeded for the plants you have seeded to thrive.

Q. I transplanted a domestic dogwood tree into my yard from a site that was going to be developed, but it hasn't flowered, even though I've seen other trees its size (3½ feet tall) in bloom. I'm wondering when it will start.

A. Some flowering plants have to spend a certain length of time in a juvenile, non-flowering stage before they begin to blossom. Overfertilizing with nitrogen can prolong this stage by keeping the plant growing vegeta-tively. If the tree is past this stage, it could be producing flower buds but losing them to cold injury in the winter. Dogwood trees in the wild are forest understory plants—they are not well adapted to growing in the open. It could be that the planting site is too open and exposed. Though the plant is surviving, it is not thriving and so is not putting its limited energy reserves into flower production.

Q. Last year, I didn't get any fruits off my eggplant plants because some insect virtually destroyed the foliage. The leaves had so many little, round holes in them that the plants didn't grow well and were just thinking about flowering when frost killed them in the fall. Peppers planted next to the eggplant and cared for the same way produced a bumper crop. How can I protect my eggplant plants this year?

A. The shot-hole appearance of the leaves suggests that the culprit is the flea beetle, a small, hard-shelled insect with enlarged hind legs that allow it to jump like a flea when disturbed. Flea beetles are usually most damaging to young transplants, but they can continue to damage plants well into the growing season. Rotenone and pyrethrum, as well as carbaryl (Sevin) and methoxychlor, are effective against flea beetles. Check the labels on the vegetable garden insecticides at your local garden center, and choose a product labeled for control of flea beetles on eggplant. Then apply the product according to label directions and observe the withdrawal time between the last application and harvest.

John C. Bertelsen, Sr., Dies Friday at Age 69

A Chelsea man who invented an air-filtering system for high-speed laser printers died Friday, leaving six children and a thriving company.

John C. Bertelsen, Sr., 69, vice-president of the Dexter-based Universal Filter Air Systems company, died at his home.

In 1980, Bertelsen invented a filter that collects fine iron filings, paper dust and other gaseous materials that can damage computer hardware. The product allows firms to spend a few minutes each month changing filters, rather than spending valuable time cleaning the printers.

He quit his job as a supply representative to start Universal Filter Air Systems at the urging of the director of the University of Michigan computing center.

His son, Matthew, now president of the company, said his father married his late mother, Jane, at 15, and went to work after high school. He worked for the military in World War II as a parts overseer in River Rouge, then joined the Army Air Corps.

He worked in the building parts trades beginning in the 1950s, with the boom in construction. He also was a member of the American Legion Post No. 557 in Dexter.

Funeral services were at 1 p.m. Monday at the Hosmer Funeral Home in Dexter. Graveside services were at 2:30 p.m. at Yerkes Cemetery, Northville.

Community Fair Queen Program Seeks Girls for Annual Event

Chelsea Community Fair Queen Program has begun its search for Chelsea and Dexter-area girls interested in becoming the 1992 fair queen.

This year the queen will be selected on Friday, Aug. 28. She will receive numerous gifts from Chelsea and Dexter merchants, a crown, sash, trophy, and scholarship from the fair board.

Deadline for entry is June 19. Girls who live in the Chelsea and Dexter school districts who will be high school students in the fall are eligible to enter. However, girls do not have to attend Chelsea or Dexter High school. They could, for example, attend a private school.

Each contestant must be sponsored by a high school class, school or community organization, or business. Each sponsor must provide a float for the queen and her court to ride on during the Chelsea Fair Parade on Saturday, Aug. 29. Failure to have a float may result in disqualification of the contestant. Each contestant must fill out an entry form and numerous other forms provided by the queens committee.

Contestants will be judged on talent, poise, community involvement, and a personal interview with the judges. Each contestant's talent presentation is subject to prior approval by the committee.

This year's theme will center on the Olympics.

For more information call Holly Bulko at 475-7920 or Sally Heil at 475-3149.

Hudson Mills Golf Course, Starter Building Dedicated

Dedication and official opening ceremonies for the 18-hole golf course and golf starter building at Hudson Mills Metropark near Dexter were held Thursday, May 14.

HCMA Commissioner and Chairman Robert W. Marans, representing Washtenaw county, presided over the ceremonies, which were attended by park commissioners and staff, local governmental officials and project contractors.

Approximately $2 million has been spent on constructing the golf course and starter building to date. The 6,834-yard, par-71 course, built by Jack B. Anglin Co., cost $910,485 and the starter building, built by Gator Construction and Design, Inc., of Detroit, cost $533,977. Support structures and facilities such as a maintenance building, service yard and parking lot, and sewage disposal system, account for the rest of the $2 million.

The 4,250 square-foot starter building is primarily of masonry construction with an abundance of exterior glass. It includes a lobby, starter area, food service, indoor and outdoor dining areas, restrooms, offices and storage space.

"With the new building we can provide golfers much better service," says Gary Bartsch, superintendent at Hudson Mills. "It's nice to be out of the cramped trailer that we had been using as a temporary starter building."

NEW GOLF STARTER BUILDING at Hudson Mills Metropark outside Dexter was dedicated last Thursday morning by officials of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority Board of Commissioners. Chairman Robert Marans called the building a new standard in architecture for park buildings.

MEMORIAL DAY, 1899.

By ISAAC W. F. EATON,
Of Bigelow's Light Artillery, Army of the Potomac.

*WE gather where our soldiers sleep
In spring's departing hours,
The memory of the brave to keep,
And strew their graves with flowers.
One sleeps beneath the Northern pine,
Crowned with the victor's wreath;
Another where the Southern vine
Weeps o'er the dead beneath.*

*But soft the azure skies surround,
And white the lilies bloom,
To deck the lovely Southern mound
Or wreath the Northern tomb.*

*For he who rests beneath the palm
Strove in a hero's part;
Mistaken may have been the arm,
But valiant was the heart.*

*Now, but one foe their sons do brave—
One cause their bosom thrills.
Look! see one flag above them wave
Upon the Cuban hills.*

*O, gray-haired heroes! ye who stand
Where once did paths divide,
Place ye the wreath with clasped hand—
Your dead sleep side by side.*

Village Won't Enter
Vinyl Siding Dispute

Village of Chelsea has decided not to take sides in the siding issue.

Beiser Estates residents, represented by two attorneys, asked council to let them change their deed restrictions so that no more homes containing vinyl siding can be constructed in the village's newest subdivision. The most recent home built there has a combination of brick and vinyl siding. Subdivision residents claim they were misled about what siding would be permitted, although the deed restrictions make no mention at all of vinyl siding. The only siding expressly prohibited is aluminum. A lawsuit has been filed in circuit court against the developers.

Village council essentially adopted a resolution saying such a dispute is none of the village's business. The village waived the right to enforce the deed restrictions except as they pertain to the subdivision retention pond and storm drainage system.

Developer Hugh Warty, who said he owns about a 75 percent interest in the subdivision, said vinyl siding was permitted for "definite reasons" and that two more lot owners have been given permission to use it. However, he said he has been advised not to give further approval for the siding until the lawsuit is settled.

It appeared a dispute is brewing over what constitutes a lot owner. The restrictions say "amendments may be made to this document with a majority vote of the property owners..." Attorneys for the residents say their petition containing signatures of 24 residents representing 18 lots is a majority. However, an attorney for Warty said developers still own more than 50 percent of the entire development.

At a recent council meeting, subdivision residents had also expressed their concerns about the completion of roads. Warty told council he is seeking bids for the final road paving. Once that is completed, roads and utilities in the subdivision will be dedicated to the village, assuming they pass a final inspection.

Vegetable production in the United States was up slightly in 1991. Reduced production of fresh vegetables and sweet potatoes was offset by higher potato and dry bean use. Per capita consumption of vegetables and melons was nearly 400 pounds last year.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Bulldogs Baseball Team Wins League Tournament And SEC Championship

Chelsea Bulldogs withstood a seventh-inning rally by the top-seeded Tecumseh Indians to take a 10-8 victory in the finals of the Southeastern Conference baseball tournament last Saturday in Tecumseh.

Senior Jacob Rindle entered the game after the Indians bashed a no-out, two-run homer to reduce Chelsea's lead to the final 10-8 margin. However, Rindle eventually loaded the bases before second baseman Tim Wescott snagged a grounder up the middle and stepped on second to end the game.

For Chelsea it was the second straight SEC title and the third in the last four years.

"We played about as well as we can play," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

"It was just a great day. We had outstanding performances from a lot of people."

Rick Clouse had probably the best performance of his career as he went 7-13 on the day with a home run. He was also called on to play shortstop in the second game, a position he has rarely played.

Rindle, as usual, was another hitting star for the Bulldogs as he went 6-11 with three doubles and a home run. He also tossed a three-hitter in the opener against Pinckney, which gave him a win and a save for the day. Steve Grau caught for Adam Taylor in the first game, in which the Bulldogs played errorless baseball.

In the title game, Ben Hurst pitched the first four innings and gave up six runs, but only one earned run.

Chelsea took the early lead as Chris Dunham opened with a double in the first and eventually scored on a wild pitch. In the second inning, four straight walks gave the Bulldogs a 2-0 lead.

In the bottom of the second, however, the roof caved in as a walk, double, sacrifice, two singles, another walk, and a misplayed bases-loaded fly ball resulted in five Indian runs. The Indians increased their lead to 6-2 in the fourth on another Chelsea error.

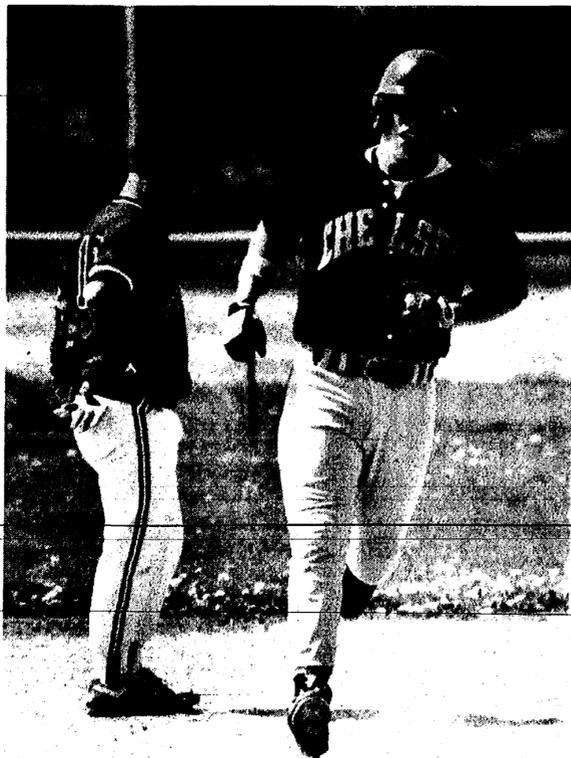

The Bulldogs struck for six runs in the top of the fifth on singles by Rob Jaques and Dunham, an RBI double by Clouse, a two-run double by Rindle, a run-scoring double by Taylor, and RBI-single by Hurst, and a pair of Tecumseh errors.

Chelsea increased the lead to 10-6 in the sixth on a single by Dunham and doubles by Clouse and Rindle.

In the opening game, Chelsea took a 10-0 victory in six innings. The shortened game may have helped Chelsea in more ways than one because Rindle was able to come back in the championship game.

Rindle opened the scoring in the first with his fifth homer of the season, a 400-foot shot to centerfield with Clouse aboard. A double by Hurst and single by Gary White added two more runs.

Clouse's double in the second scored

RICK CLOUSE takes a trot around the bases after cracking a three-run homer against Pinckney during the Southeastern Conference tournament last Saturday in Britton.

Casey Schiller for the fifth run of the game, and his three-run homer in the third gave Chelsea an 8-0 lead.

Two more runs crossed the plate on back-to-back doubles by Rindle and Hurst and a single by Gary White.

Chelsea had 10 hits for the game, but just as importantly to Welton, no errors.

Gary White pitched the second game, an 8-4 victory over second-seeded Saline.

Chelsea accumulated an 8-0 lead before surrendering two runs in each of the sixth and seventh innings.

A Rindle single gave Chelsea a 1-0 lead in the first. Then singles by Grau and Dunham put Chelsea up 3-0 in the second. Singles by Rindle, Gary White, and Jason Adams around a walk to Taylor stretched the lead to 5-0 in the fifth. And singles by Clouse and Hurst, and a sacrifice by Chris White gave Chelsea an 8-0 lead in the sixth.

Chelsea had 10 hits for the game, including three by Hurst and two by Rindle.

Any of four teams could have won the league. Chelsea, Tecumseh, and Saline each entered the tournament at 8-4, while Milan was 7-4-1. Tecumseh had the top seed due to the tie-breaking system.

The Bulldogs play Brighton this afternoon before hosting the Lincoln Railsplitters Thursday at 4 p.m. in a pre-district game. If they beat Lincoln, they'll move on to the district tournament next week-end against the winner of the Saline-Dexter match-up.

Saturday the Bulldogs play in a tournament at St. Joseph. Former Chelsea freshman-baseball coach Ted Hendricks is the varsity coach at St. Joseph.

The Michigan Natural Resources Commission recently adopted an initiative to establish a recreational trailways system, using abandoned railroad beds, state forests and other properties. The initiative directs the DNR to address the concerns of private property owners along the trailways, especially when it comes to liability and disruption of agricultural activities.

JENNIFER PETTY pitched two shut-outs in leading Chelsea finished undefeated in the league. In the photo she's backed up by Gretchen Knutsen and Erin Knott. last Saturday. She threw a one-hitter and a no-hitter as

Chelsea Softball Team Wins League Title In Convincing Fashion

Any doubt as to which team is the best in the Southeastern Conference was eliminated last Saturday as the Chelsea Bulldogs shut out the Milan Big Reds and the Tecumseh Indians to win the SEC tournament and take home the over-all league title.

Senior hurler Jennifer Petty ran her record to 18-0 as she opened the tournament with a 2-0 no-hitter over Milan and finished with a 13-0 one-hitter over the Indians.

"I've felt all along as though we're coming together as a team," said Chelsea coach Joe Beard.

"We had just one error on defense and it didn't make any difference."

Petty was nearly perfect in the championship game as she didn't walk a batter and struck out six in a dominating performance. She also led off the first inning with a single and a steal and came around to score on Theresa Hurst's ground out. Liz Sager's fly out brought home the second run of the inning. Those runs turned out to be plenty for Petty to work with.

Chelsea scored two more runs in each the fourth and fifth innings, before putting together a seven-run sixth inning featuring singles by Hurst, Kelly Cross, and Gretchen Knutsen, and several Indian errors. Petty's triple set up a two-run inning in the fifth.

The first game was a pitchers' duel all the way as the Bulldogs could muster only three hits.

However, Petty again figured prominently in the offense as she scored both runs. In the third she singled, stole second, was sacrificed to third, and scored on Cross's ground out. In the fifth it was virtually the same scenario except Petty reached on an error. Again, Cross got the RBI on a ground out.

The Bulldogs finished 11-0 in the league during the regular season and 2-0 in the tournament.

"We didn't want there to be any doubt about which team was the best in the league," Beard said.

In other action last Tuesday, Chelsea polished off the Lincoln Railsplitters in the final regular season SEC games, 10-0 and 10-1.

Petty threw a no-hitter in the first game and struck out six, and helped herself at the plate with two hits, including a home run to start off the seven-run third inning.

The Chelsea offense went to work in the second inning as Knutsen's sacrifice and Crawford's single scored two runs.

After Petty's homer in the third, Chelsea got singles from Cross, Sager, Knutsen, Erin Knott, and Nicki Piasecki, and a double from Jacki Crawford to finish the scoring. The Bulldogs finished their scoring in the fourth to put the game into the mercy rule.

Cross improved her pitching record to 5-2 in the second game as she struck out four.

The Bulldogs scored in five of the first six innings. Singles by Cross and Knutsen in the first brought home two

THE BULLDOGS CELEBRATE after edging Milan 2-0, which clinched the outright SEC title for Chelsea. The Bulldogs went on to shut out Tecumseh in the finals, 13-0, to go undefeated in league play this season.

Girls Track Team Wins First Regional Title With Strong Performance

A mix of balance, consistency, and outstanding performances gave the Chelsea Bulldogs girls track team their first regional title last Saturday at Jackson County Western.

Chelsea, with 71 points, just edged Southeastern Conference rival Tecumseh with 68 points, followed by Jackson Lumen Christi with 51, Eaton Rapids with 43, and Dexter with 42.

The meet wasn't decided until the final event, although the Bulldogs scored in 11 of the 16 events and qualified for the state meet in seven events.

The 3200 relay team of Robin Phelps, Lisa Monti, Val Bullock, and Beth Bell qualified for the state with a winning time of 9:51.4, which coach Bill Bainton called "outstanding."

Erin Schiller had already qualified for the state in the high jump at 5' but didn't score at the meet, which had 11 jumpers entered who had topped the state standard by two or more inches.

Dexter used a 1-2 finish in the 100 and a second in the 800 relay to take an early lead in the meet, but Chelsea slowly cut away.

Monica Hansen equaled her season best of :17.3 to place fifth in the 100 hurdles. The 800 relay team of Laura Paton, Keri Kentala, Charity Allen, and Theresa Royce placed fourth with their best time of 1:51.2.

Monti recorded her second best time ever in the 1600 with a 5:08.9, to qualify for the state meet and lift Chelsea to within 10 points of the lead.

A fifth place from Lauren Sparaco in the discus at 101' 8", and a third and sixth from Paton and Sarah Henry in the 400 in 1:02.4 and 1:03.5, respectively, cut the deficit to four points.

Allen won the 300 hurdles and qualified for the state meet with a time of :48.8, while Hansen was sixth at :51 to put the Bulldogs in the lead.

Bell ran her best race of the year in the 800 as she placed third in 2:25.8 and qualified for the state meet.

Royce placed sixth in the 200 with a :27.5.

However, Tecumseh placed second in the hurdles and 1-2 in the 800 and third in the 200, to put the Bulldogs back by five, 58-53.

Monti put the Bulldogs back in the lead by winning the 3200 in 11:37.8, to give Chelsea a five-point lead. That meant Chelsea had to stay within two places of Tecumseh in the final event, the 1600 relay, to take the meet.

Tecumseh won the relay, but the Chelsea team of Paton, Bell, Monti, and Allen were second in 4:41 to qualify for state.

"We planned to run Lisa in the 1600 relay only if she could handle it and the outcome of the meet depended on that race," Bainton said.

"When it got there, and with the runners Tecumseh had in it, we decided she would run."

Bainton said Monti was by far the outstanding performer of the meet, as she qualified for the state in four events with three firsts and a second, and had her best times of the season in two races, her leg of the 3200 relay and the 1600 run.

Bell also had an outstanding meet, qualifying in three events and running her best times in the 3200 relay and the 800. Allen qualified for the state in two events.

Chelsea also picked up seven points on fifth and sixth place finishes, a key to the victory.

"Our runners realize that their performance is important even if they aren't in the top two or three," Bainton said.

"We are excited and very proud of this win. It was a great achievement."

Chelsea whipped the Pinckney Pirates, 102-36, in the final dual meet of the season Tuesday. They finished 6-0 in the Southeastern Conference and 10-0 over-all in dual meets.

Nine individuals and all four relay teams won events.

Allen, in her final home meet, won both hurdle races with her best times of the season, :17 in the 100 and :48.5 in the 300. Allen also combined with Kentala, Schiller, and Theresa Royce to win the 400 relay in :54.1.

Senior Lauren Sparaco had her best discus throw to win at 102' 8". Senior Christine Burg won the 3200 in 12:54.6 and combined with Bullock, Sarah Brosnan, and Tracey Wales to win the 3200 relay.

Kentala, a freshman, also won the long jump at 14' 6", her best of the season, and was second to Allen in both hurdle races.

Schiller won the high jump and Courtney Thompson was third.

Mara Smith was third in the shot put and second in the discus, and Renee Skelly was third in the long jump. Skelly also placed third in the 100, second in the 200, and anchored the 800 relay of Paton, Megan MacDonald, and Schiller as they won in 1:56.4.

MacDonald was second in the 100 and third in the 200. Royce led a Bulldog sweep of the 100, winning in :13.8. Paton won the 400, while Henry was second and Linda Schaffer third.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Okay, this week, just for the heck of it, pretend you're the local sports editor. Here's your assignment. Pick the most important Chelsea sports story of the week.

Is it the softball team's waltz to a Southeastern Conference title? Is it the baseball team's repeat as league champions? Or is it the girls track team's first regional championship?

Yes, I admit, it is not really fair to force a novice to make such a choice. It wasn't exactly a typical week-end around here. We've had plenty of success over the last few spring seasons, but nothing like Saturday's spectacular achievements.

Okay, the next assignment gets a little hairier. Pick the best individual performance by a Bulldog. Was it unheralded Rick Clouse's 7-13 outburst at the plate, with a homer, and his sparkling play at shortstop, a position he hasn't had much experience with? Was it Jacob Rindley's pitching, as he picked up both a win and a save, to go along with 6-11 hitting, including a homer and several doubles? Was it Jennifer Petty's back-to-back shutouts as she allowed only one hit in the two games? Or was it Lisa Monti's double wins at the regional track meet in the 1600 and 3200 and her helping the 1600 relay to a second-place, which clinched the title?

Each of those performances is of all-star, all-state caliber. To have one of them on any given week-end would be a noteworthy achievement.

I can't begin to pick the top team performance. Perhaps the baseball team's three straight wins would have been the most unexpected accomplishment, while the softball team's championship was probably the most predictable. The track team's feat lies somewhere in between. The girls have dominated the opposition, but in a 22-team meet anything can happen.

It's just as tough to pick the top individual performance, although I like them all for different reasons. Clouse is this week's Unsung Hero. Every championship team needs someone like him to rise to the next level.

Rindley and Petty gave their Usual Outstanding Performances. They are their team's superstars, if a high school athlete can be called such a thing. When they are on their games, the Bulldogs are hard to beat.

Monti would earn the Beyond the Call of Duty Award. Few people can appreciate just how hard it is to win the 1600 and 3200 in any meet, let alone a huge regional. But then she turned around and ran a 400 as part of the 1600 relay, just minutes after completing the 3200. She was also part of the winning 3200 relay team.

The most inspiring performance, however, was school in by a coach, varsity softball coach Joe Beard. Most people in the Chelsea community know that Beard lost his son, Bryant, late last week, the end result of a car crash quite a while ago. Yet Joe, and his brother Bill, were right there Saturday, coaching the girls on to the title.

I, for one, never even expected Beard, or anyone in that situation, to show up. But he was just as thrilled as he could be when his girls accomplished their first goal of winning the SEC title.

Beard was somehow able to put the ambitions and dreams of the girls ahead of his own grief, which to me says an awful lot about the character and spirit of the man.

Yes, it was truly a remarkable week-end. But maybe it wasn't so difficult to choose the best story of the week after all.

CATCHER LIZ SAGER blocks the plate while a Milan runner tries to score during Chelsea's first game in the SEC tournament last Saturday. The runner was out as Theresa Hurst made the play from third base, and that ended Milan's biggest threat of the game.

Tennis Team Splits To Finish Year 6-5

Chelsea Bulldogs tennis team beat River Rouge, 7-0, but lost to Pinckney, 1-6, in matches last week.

At River Rouge in singles, Scott Pacheco (C) defeated Tim Hall (R) 6-0, 6-1; Ben Manning (C) defeated Glenn Devoy (R), 6-1, 6-0; Hooshmand Nightingale (C) beat Kendall Bryant (R), 6-2, 6-3; and Matt Jachalke (C) defeated Patrick Merchak (R), 6-2, 6-1.

In doubles play, Tim Bowers and Jeff Gietzen (C) won 6-0, 6-0; Ryan Girardi and Steve Harness (C) won 6-1, 6-3; and Mike Bainton and Dan Koengeter (C) won by default.

In the Pinckney match, Nikki Banchoff (P) defeated Pacheco (C), 6-4, 7-6; Paul Goff (P) beat Manning (C), 6-2, 7-5; Angelo Nardoni (P) beat Nightingale (C), 6-1, 6-4; and Matt Manikoff (P) defeated Jachalke, 6-3, 7-5.

In doubles, Bowers and Gietzen picked up Chelsea's only victory, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4; Girardi and Harness (C) lost 6-7, 7-6, 0-6; and Bainton and Koengeter (C) lost 1-6, 1-6. Chelsea finished with a 6-5 record, "even though the weather was miserable," said coach Terri Curtis.

Softball Champions

Chelsea scored one in the second without a hit. Five runs crossed the plate in the third as Jamie Collinsworth and Petty singled, and the rest were walked in. Knutsen's sacrifice fly in the fourth inning brought home the ninth run. And Sager's sacrifice fly in the sixth produced the final run.

Chelsea had 10 hits, including three by Petty and two by Tina Hasset. "I'm real proud of our defense," Beard said.

"The girls have worked hard and listened. They don't make spectacular plays but they're always moving and always talking."

The 26-3 Bulldogs host the Lincoln Railsplitters in a pre-district game on Thursday at 4 p.m. If they win, they will play the winner of the Fowlerville-Saline game on Saturday, May 30 in Chelsea.

Girls Golf Team Defeats Pinckney

Chelsea Bulldogs girls golf team defeated Pinckney, 228-268, last Thursday.

Scorers for Chelsea were Christine McLaughlin 52, Jenny Adler 55, Heather Wynn 59, and Sarah Devine 60.

Chelsea placed sixth in the regional meet at Saline.

Chelsea scores for 18 holes were Devine 105, Adler 115, Heather Wynn 131, and Christine McLaughlin 133.

JV Softball Team Sweeps Western, Huron

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity softball team swept Jackson County Western and Ann Arbor Huron in a pair of double-headers in recent action.

Against Western, Chelsea took a 10-4 victory in the opener and a 29-8 win in the second game.

In the first game, the Bulldogs pounded out 11 hits, including three singles by Carey Schiller, two singles by Shannon Shemansky, a single and homer by Amy Petty, and a single and double by Amy Bowling.

Schiller limited Western to three hits.

Chelsea scored twice in the first inning and led 4-0 before Western scored two runs in the top of the fourth. Chelsea returned the favor in the bottom of the inning and cruised the rest of the way.

The second game lasted 4½ innings as the Bulldogs scored three in the first inning, 12 in the second, 10 in the third, and four in the fourth on 21 hits.

"Their pitching was a little slower than what the girls were used to, but once they got the timing down, everyone started hitting," said Chelsea coach Kim Eder.

"Nancy Pidd had the best offensive game I've ever seen with three home runs in a row."

Schiller added three singles and a homer, Jenny Holzhausen had two singles and a triple, Bowling and Lindsay Gaken had two singles each, Martha Merkel had three singles, and Aubree Girardi had a single and a triple. Melissa Schultz was the winning pitcher.

At Ann Arbor Huron, the Bulldogs won the first game 19-2 as they took a 5-0 lead in the first inning.

Chelsea had 14 hits for the game, including two singles each by Shemansky, Girardi, and Charlotte Ziegler, a single and a homer by Petty, and three singles by Merkel.

The Bulldogs had eight singles in the fourth inning to score seven runs. Schiller was the winning pitcher.

Chelsea won the second game 14-2 as Pidd and Schulz split six innings of work.

The Bulldogs had a 7-2 lead before scoring seven runs in the sixth inning on two hits, six walks, and a double by Bowling.

"Again our pitchers came through strong, each allowing only one run and giving up only one walk," Eder said.

"We played two of our best defensive games against Huron."

Monti won the 1600 in 5:15.1, with Molly Griebel third in 5:53. Bell won the 800 in 2:26.2, and Bullock was second at 2:33.3, both season-best times. Phelps was second to Burg in the 3200 at 13:03.5 and Jessica Flintoff was third. Bell, Monti, Henry, and Brosnan won the 1600 relay in 4:20.1. "This was a nice way to wrap up this part of our season," Bainton said. "A lot of our younger runners used the opportunity to perform well and we were very pleased to see the three seniors, Allen, Burg, and Sparaco, do well in their final home meet. They've given us a lot this season."

Farm Bureau Against Flawed Global Warming Legislation

Farmers oppose legislation that purports to slow global warming by limiting carbon dioxide emissions in the year 2000 to 1990 levels, according to the Director of Public Affairs for Michigan Farm Bureau. Al Almy said Rep. Henry Waxman (D-Calif.) has introduced a measure (H.R. 4750) that could be offered as an amendment to the energy bill that will soon be considered by the House.

"The measure doesn't specify how to attain the goal, just that the goal be met," said Almy. "There are serious concerns that this could lead to requirements for higher Corporate Average Fuel Economy (CAFE) standards and major constraints on industrial growth."

Requiring the U.S. to unilaterally stabilize man-made emission of carbon dioxide at 1990 levels by the year 2000 would stifle our economy, particularly agriculture, which requires petroleum-based products, Almy said. He cited a recent Department of Commerce study indicating that the Waxman legislation would cause oil prices to increase by 58 percent, reduce GNP by $92 billion and eliminate more than 550,000 jobs.

"In addition, this legislation could force dramatic increases in fuel economy requirements for new cars and light trucks, severely reducing their safety and utility for agricultural products," Almy said.

Local Pastor Receiving Citation from State Police

Pastor Mearl L. Bradley, Chelsea Free Methodist church, has been awarded a citation from the Michigan State Police for services characterized by outstanding performance of duty and professional excellence as a chaplain for the Michigan State Police.

The award was presented to Pastor Bradley by Col. Michael D. Robinson for the compassionate service Chaplain Bradley provided to family members of the Department of State Police following a murder/suicide. Chaplain Bradley's service was submitted to the Board of Awards of the Michigan State Police for review. After carefully considering all the facts and circumstances, it was the decision of the board that the extra effort rendered by Chaplain Bradley to two different families at the same time should be recognized by this citation for professional excellence.

This is the first time in the history of the Michigan State Police that a chaplain (uniformed - non-salaried person) has been presented such an award. Pastor Bradley has been a volunteer chaplain for the Michigan State Police for 18 years.

MEARL L. BRADLEY
 Col. Michael Robinson will make a formal presentation of the award before the congregation of the Chelsea Free Methodist church on Sunday, May 31.

Civic Foundation Hosts Meeting for Non-Profit Groups

On Wednesday morning, May 6, leaders of 22 community organizations participated in an information exchange breakfast sponsored by the Civic Foundation of Chelsea. The gathering included representatives from Chelsea Village Council, Kiwanis, Rotary, Chelsea Social Service, Faith in Action, Christmas in April, Chelsea Recreation Council, Woman's Club of Chelsea, Ministerial Association, CATS, Foundation for Community Care, Depot Association, Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, Chelsea Home Meals Service, Chelsea Education Foundation, Chelsea Child Study Club, Chelsea 1996, Modern Mothers, Chelsea School District, Chelsea United Way, Lions Club, and the Purple Rose Theatre Foundation.

in a booklet for newcomers or anyone else requesting information about area non-profits, clubs, etc. "The Civic Foundation will underwrite the cost of this booklet if there is sufficient interest from most of the organizations in town," stated Swan. An idea which came up several times during the presentation was the need for a local youth center. Civic Foundation board member Suzie Weber has agreed to facilitate a meeting between interested parties to explore this idea further.

Taxpayers have certain rights guaranteed in the Taxpayer Bill of Rights. The Michigan Association of CPAs emphasizes that it's important for you to know your rights to ensure that you are treated fairly under the tax system.

If Your Return Is Questioned
The Taxpayer Bill of Rights ensures that you have sufficient opportunity to respond to IRS inquiries and resolve any differences. In most instances, the IRS will contact you by mail when they have an inquiry about your tax return. However, you do not necessarily have to respond to their questions through the mail. You can request a personal interview and even have the right to audiotape it. The IRS must work with you in scheduling the interview at a reasonable time and in a reasonable place.

During any interviews, you may have a qualified professional, such as a CPA, attorney or enrolled agent, accompany you. Throughout your dealings with the IRS, these individuals may also represent you in your absence.

If during the interview you do not resolve your differences with the IRS, you have other options for presenting your case.

Appeals
All taxpayers have the right to appeal to a tax examiner's findings. To do so, contact the IRS Appeals Office. If your problems cannot be settled through this office, you may make an appeal to the courts. Depending on whether you have already paid the disputed tax, you can take your case to the U.S. Tax Court, the U.S. Claims Court, or your U.S. District Court.

Interest Charges
You are responsible for paying interest on any additional taxes to be collected by the IRS. The interest is figured from the due date of your tax return, even if the return was filed under extension. The IRS may reduce the amount of interest you owe if an IRS error caused a delay in processing your case.

Refund of Overpaid Tax
All is not lost if you've overpaid your taxes. Generally, you have three years from the date you filed the return or two years from the date you paid the tax, whichever is later, to file a claim for a refund. What's more, in some circumstances you can charge the IRS interest on the money due to you.

Cancellation of Penalties
Even the IRS can make mistakes. If in calculating your taxes you relied on erroneous advice provided in writing by IRS employees, the IRS must cancel any resulting penalties. This assumes you gave the employee accurate information and that your reliance on the advice was reasonable.

Collecting Back Taxes
Before seizing any of your belongings as a way to recoup back taxes, the IRS must properly notify you. Specifically, they must send you a bill describing the tax and stating the amounts you owe, including interest and penalties.

Q: According to Michigan law, a motorcycle helmet is required to be worn: (check for correct answer at end of article)

- A. Only by operators under 20 years of age.
- B. By both operator and passenger on all public streets and highways.
- C. Only when traveling on freeways.

Spring has finally arrived when we see motorcyclists traveling on the scenic roadways of our state. Over 430,000 motorcyclists in Michigan will be sharing the road with drivers of cars and trucks, as well as with bicyclists and pedestrians.

But, fatalities and injuries related to motorcycle crashes occur all too often. In 1989, 68 persons were killed and 2,941 injured in such crashes, according to the Michigan State Police. While the number of motorcycle fatalities has dropped from 151 in 1984, there is still reason for concern.

Tragically, nearly all crashes involving motorcycles result in injuries or death to the motorcyclist. This occurs because motorcycles are small and not easily visible to drivers of cars and trucks. Operators do not have the added protection of a safety belt within an enclosed car or truck cab. Motorcycles also appear to be farther away than they really are and drivers of other vehicles may have difficulty judging speeds as a motorcycle approaches.

However, motorcyclists can be prepared to avoid crashes and protect themselves against severe injury. First, Michigan law requires all motorcyclists to wear an approved and properly fastened safety helmet. A 1900 study by the Centers for Disease Control indicates that states with partial or no helmet use laws have twice as many fatalities as states with full helmet use laws, like Michigan. Safety helmets improve the chances of surviving a crash and should always be worn, just like safety belts in cars.

When riding at speeds over 35 miles per hour, Michigan law requires shatterproof goggles, a face shield or a windshield for eye protection. Jackets, pants, gloves and shoes or boots also provide body protection and keep riders warm. Brightly-colored clothing makes motorcyclists even more visible.

Motorcyclists should always ride with their lights on and use both hand and electric turn signals so other drivers can see them more clearly.

Car and truck drivers must also be alert for motorcyclists. Drivers should allow extra space between their vehicles and motorcycles. The stopping distance of a motorcycle is less than a car or truck and following one too closely can cause a rear-end crash if the motorcyclist stops quickly or turns suddenly to avoid hitting objects on the road. When passing a motorcycle, maintain a safe distance and speed so that dirt and stones are not thrown into the rider's path.

Unlike drivers of cars and trucks, motorcyclists must be able to steer and balance their vehicles at the same time. Car and truck drivers should be prepared to dim their headlights so that the high beams do not have a blinding effect on motorcyclists and cause them to lose balance or steering control.

A little courtesy and common sense can prevent an injury or fatality. May is Motorcycle Safety Awareness Month, a perfect time to share the road safely and enjoy all that Michigan has to offer this spring and summer.

Further information on operating motorcycles safely may be found in the Michigan Motorcycle Operator Manual, available at Secretary of State branch offices.

b: According to Michigan law, a motorcycle helmet is required to be worn by both the operator and passenger on all public streets and highways.

Eye Care
 Cheryl Huey, M.D.
Ophthalmologist • Eye-Physician and Surgeon
TIMING OF CATARACT SURGERY
 A frequent question from our patients is: "Will you be removing the cataracts from both eyes?" Cataracts do tend to form in both eyes, although not necessarily at the same rate. When a patient does not have cataracts in both eyes that are "bad enough" to remove, a decision needs to be made how to proceed.
 It is generally inadvisable to remove both cataracts at one sitting. Doing so would require the patient to be nursing for both eyes at once, including patching and instilling medicating eye drops. Performing both surgeries at one time would also increase the possibility, however small, of a complication occurring in both eyes.
 Usually, the eye with the worse vision from a cataract is done first. After the eye has healed and a successful outcome is assured, both patient and surgeon will feel comfortable proceeding with surgery on the second eye. In many cases, the second eye will have little or no cataract and there may be a long interval between surgeries.
 Improvements in technology and technique of cataract surgery have made it a very safe and predictable procedure. The cataract surgery patient can look forward to a high probability of regaining normal vision, with minimal interruption of lifestyle while recovering from surgery.

★ This Rust Eats Beans Not Cars . . .

Every day, tens of thousands of motorists zoom past J. Rennie Stavely's rust-proofing center along Interstate 485, the freeway girding the Nation's Capital. But not one of them stops for repairs on a car or truck being eaten by rust.

That's because Stavely, a U.S. Department of Agriculture scientist, is battling rust that has a different appetite. This rust eats bean plants. And unlike metal rust, bean rust is alive—a fungus that infects the plant.

Bean rust discolors and stunts bean plants and comes in 55 known races, or strains. "In a bad year, rust can cost $250 million in losses nationwide," says Stavely. He's a plant pathologist with the Agricultural Research Service in Beltsville, Md.

"Rust rarely kills a bean plant—that would destroy the fungus' only source of reproductive energy," he says. But plants struggle to survive as the fungus robs water and nutrients from leaves and stems. Last year, epidemics of the disease struck in Colorado and Florida.

Scientists call the fungus Uromyces appendiculatus. Fungicides can reduce its infection of plants. But the most widely used fungicide was withdrawn because of environmental concerns, Stavely notes.

Fortunately, new-model bean plants that ward off all 55 rust strains are rolling off the research assembly line. Stavely co-ordinates anti-rust efforts from Beltsville's Microbiology and Plant Pathology Laboratory.

The beans are bred at his two-acre bean rust nursery and university research plots in Florida, Michigan, Nebraska, North Dakota, Tennessee and Virginia. Commercial breeders are turning the new bean lines into marketed varieties for farmers.

From 1984 to 1988, Stavely and his university co-operators released 17 super rust resistant beans. Then the pace doubled, with 38 lines since 1989. At least five more are expected this year, he says.

The 53 lines released so far include 30 green snap beans, 12 yellow wax beans, seven navy dry beans, two pintos and two great northern. Wild beans collected by ARTS scientists in Latin America are major sources of the beans' rust resistance.

"If beans are on the menu, the odds are USDA helped put them there," Stavely notes. "About 95 percent of the dry and snap beans grown in this country have some kind of USDA background in their genetic pedigree."

Ann Arbor Councilman Enters 52nd District Race

Ann Arbor banker Mark C. Ouimet has entered the 52nd District primary race it has been announced. He had served as Republican 4th Ward Ann Arbor City Councilperson from 1988 until this past April when he stepped down to pursue State office.

Honorary chairpersons for the Mark C. Ouimet for State Representative Committee are Dr. Harry and Margaret Towley of Ann Arbor. Co-chairing the finance committee are local businesspeople Bill Dobson and Ron Weiser.

Ouimet, a first vice-president at Great Lakes Bancorp in Ann Arbor, is a fourth generation area resident and active civic leader. On Ann Arbor City Council, Ouimet led the fight against the Headley tax override to keep taxes down and sponsored the .44 mill tax rollback of 1991 which was later deleted from the City budget. During his tenure on Council, he initiated and helped lead the Budget Policy and Advisory Audit Committees to monitor City operation and budget processes, initiated a Joint Employee/Management Committee to foster cooperation between City administration, management, unions, and City Council, and served as a member of the Housing Policy Task Force. Additionally, Ouimet was co-chair of the Ann Arbor Solid Waste Commission which was responsible for developing a comprehensive recycling and composting program to extend the life of county landfills.

As a leader in the business community, Ouimet is immediate past chair of the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce, and has served as treasurer of the Washtenaw Development Council. He is also past president of the State Street Area Association. His community involvement includes serving as elder and deacon at First Presbyterian church in Ann Arbor and active participation in, and volunteer efforts for, the Washtenaw United Way, Ann Arbor Area Foundation, Leukemia Society, March of Dimes, the University of Michigan and University Hospital, Glacier Hills, Ann Arbor Hands-On Museum, and St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Ouimet is the father of two children—Mark, a sophomore at Siena Heights College in Adrian, and Courtney, who graduates from Gabriel Richard high school in June.

The newly re-defined 52nd District is comprised of the northern half of the City of Ann Arbor and Ann Arbor, Scio, Lima, Sylvan, Lyndon, Dexter, Webster, and Northfield townships.

The primary to determine November's General Election nominees for State Representative will be held Tuesday, Aug. 4.

Inheritance Tax Reform Measure Falls Short of Goals

Farmers received substantial, but limited, relief from state inheritance taxes under reforms approved this week by the state legislature, according to Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau. "Was there unconditionally repeal of inheritance taxes for agriculture? Absolutely not," said Nelson. "Was there meaningful reform? Yes. This legislative action is a major step forward and we are grateful for this movement. But there's still a lot of work to be done."

Nelson said the inheritance tax reforms, which are still being analyzed in detail, are at least a step in the right direction. But he says they fall short of what is sought by Farm Bureau policy, which is total repeal of the state inheritance tax. "These reforms make a complicated tax more complicated. We would have preferred to see an across-the-board limited exemption."

Consumers overseas are apparently rapidly learning that the U.S. has great ice cream. Ice cream exports reached a record $41 million this past year, a 1,000 percent increase since 1985. Top markets are Japan, Europe and Mexico. Japanese consumers especially value the freshness and quality of the ingredients in U.S. ice cream.

HOW TO CUT YOUR DRY CLEANING BILLS:

Know your "spotter"

The real magician at the cleaners is the "spotter"- the person who uses a steam gun, tiny brushes and special chemical formulas, to dab away stubborn stains. The best cleaners send their spotter to dry-cleaning school for refresher courses on the latest techniques. Ask to talk to our spotter for any special handling.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

An Appeal Without Sex?

The tragedy of pet overpopulation is one of the issues often overlooked by the animal rights community. It has been said that it lacks sex appeal, although unfortunately our pets have plenty of sex! We, at WCAR, are distressed that the leading cause of death for cats and dogs is euthanasia. While the popularity of pets is increasing, so does their disposability. Accurate statistics are hard to find, but it has been estimated that between 10 to 20 million dogs and cats are euthanized annually at the nation's shelters. This number is of the same order as the number of pets born annually nation-wide. In Washtenaw county, the HSHV gives an estimate of the order of 5,000 adoptable pets who must be euthanized.

Although there are many facets to the problem, we want to be able, at the very least, to help pet owners who are responsible, but simply cannot afford the cost of sterilization, in addition to their usual veterinary bills.

There is a lot of concern in the community, and a desire to stop this waste of life and resources. The WCAR program is designed to help pet owners who do not wish to contribute to the over-population problem, but cannot afford the cost of the veterinary operation at this time.

For the past two years, we have been working in co-operation with the Humane Society of Huron Valley and the Brookside Veterinary Hospital to offer free spay/neuter operations for low-income pet owners. Typically, our clients are senior citizens, single mothers with dependent children, low-income families, underemployed men, and many persons who experience a temporary financial strain but wish to do the right thing for their pets. Occasionally, we do get calls from concerned neighbors of individuals who let their pets reproduce year after year, and we work with them to bring the problem under control.

Owners of healthy pets who believe they qualify for help should call 313-428-2492. Contributions to help maintain the program are also sought; they should be specifically marked for the spay/neuter program and sent to: WCAR, P.O. Box 2614, Ann Arbor, MI 48106.

Since last year we have paid for the sterilization of 80 cats and 20 dogs. We have raised $4,880, of which $4,045 is already spent or committed. If we are to continue this program next year, we must raise at least $4,500, assuming there will be no increase in the demand for our services. We ask you to help us by sending any amount you can afford and by contacting other possible donors (make sure to specify the spay/neuter program on your check). All contributions are tax-deductible to the extent permitted by law and no overhead is charged. All other non-veterinary costs, including the cost of this appeal, are covered by WCAR's general funds.

If you would like more information about the program, please contact our spay/neuter co-ordinator, at 428-2492. On behalf of the animals, we thank you.

P.O. Box 2614
Ann Arbor, MI 48106

To the Editor,

The cost of housing in Washtenaw county was recently increased by your elected officials. The membership of the Home Builders Association was recently informed of an increase exceeding 200% for building permits for average priced homes.

The Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners approved the new fee schedule at their meeting on April 15, 1992. This fee is to be implemented on May 1, with no apparent increase in services rendered to the consumer.

In consideration of the present economic realities of today, we question the ability of the consumer to absorb these additional costs. As an example, a building permit for a $130,000 home previously cost $240, after the increase the permit fee would cost $530, which represents a 220% increase. For a $200,000 home the permit fee increases from $240 to an incredible $740 fee, which is nearly a 300% increase!

The new building permit fee links the cost of the permit to the value of the building project. This action truly represents a form of taxation levied on the consumer for revenue collected beyond the cost of the service provided.

We regret that the home building industry and the consumer were not consulted in advance of these major cost increases.

Regular Session.

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Steele.

Present: President Steele, Clerk Morrison, Village Manager Myers, Assistant Village Manager Kuehn.

Trustees Present: Hammer, Kanten, Dorer, Anderson, Merkel.

Absent: Bentley.

Others Present: T. Osborne, D. Schumann, J. Boyer, D. Rosentreter, M. Scholtz, M. Wonderly, D. Pruess, C. Knutsen, J. Williams, C. White, A. White, R. Livengood, A. Lindauer.

President Steele informed the residents that Deborah Kuehn, Assistant Village Manager, was currently working on arranging a Public Hearing which will address the clarification of code regarding use of vinyl siding. President Steele also mentioned that the streets and sewers have not been dedicated and as part of the development agreement they need to be brought up to code and the appropriate documents filed.

Cindy Beauchamp, attorney for the Belser Estate Homeowner Association, addressed Council and discussed with them the dedication of the roads and several outstanding issues.

The Dexter Community Band, an adult concert band, sponsored by the Dexter Community Education will be holding a concert in the Gazebo at Pierce Park on Saturday, May 23, 1992 at 3:30 p.m.

Trustee Anderson addressed questions to Jack Myers, Village Manager, regarding accounts payable line items.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Kanten, to approve the Consent Agenda. All Ayes. Absent: Bentley. Motion carried.

Trustee Hammer reported that the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority would be meeting with BFI and Mr. Rubbish regarding the costs associated with recycling of materials. Trustee Hammer also outlined the criteria the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority will be using during their investigation. Trustee Hammer reported that an agreement will very likely be signed with BFI by Washtenaw County that would result in BFI paying Washtenaw County municipalities .10 per cubic yard for accepting out county refuse at their landfill to be used toward recycling efforts. This could be a savings of $13,500 per year over the next 5 years to the Village.

The National Association of Home Builders as well as our local chapter, the Home Builders Association of Washtenaw County, advocates for affordable housing through industry wide technology transfer, membership education and seeks the removal of barriers to affordable housing.

We would encourage government and our elected officials to begin the long overdue process of identifying and removing the barriers of affordable housing, rather than the creation of new barriers.

Peggy Haines Seeks Re-Election to County Clerk's Position

Peggy M. Haines, Washtenaw county clerk register of deeds, has announced she will be seeking re-election stating "providing prompt, friendly, efficient customer service to the citizens of Washtenaw county in the most cost effective manner continues to be my main objective. In 1990, we opened our branch office in Ypsilanti to better serve the citizens and new software was purchased to accelerate the tabulation of votes on election night."

Haines, 50, a Republican, was first elected county clerk/register in 1990 after serving 24 years as chief deputy register of deeds. During her first term, she was elected third vice-president of the Michigan Association of Registers of Deeds.

Munith Area Man Returns from Navy Duty in Persian Gulf

Navy Master Chief Petty Officer Jack F. Worden, son of Richard F. and Beverly R. Worden of 5632 Kennedy Rd., Munith, recently returned from a six-month Persian Gulf deployment aboard the destroyer USS Arthur W. Radford, homeported in Norfolk, Va.

Worden participated in various exercises designed to enhance the mission readiness of the command.

While operating in the Persian Gulf, USS Arthur W. Radford displayed the Navy's great versatility to operate throughout the world to meet commitments. He also made several foreign port calls to United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia, and Spain.

The 1975 graduate of Northwest High School, Jackson, joined the Navy in July 1975.

Trustee Hammer reported that April 21, 1992 the Ways and Means Committee met to discuss the proposed Fire Department Building Expansion project.

It was the consensus of the Committee that due to the fact that no monies have been budgeted in the 1992/93 budget for such project, that no monies will be allocated for any expenditures. The committee would like to suggest that this project be put on "hold" for a couple of years and at that time a second fire station may be proposed if the Village growth warrants the need.

Trustee Kanten, representing the Personnel Committee, reported that said committee met April 27, 1992 and they are recommending that the Electric and Water Department be split into two departments. It is the Personnel Committee's recommendation that Dan Rosentreter be appointed the Water Department Superintendent and overseer of the Electric Department at this time, until an Electric Department Superintendent is hired.

Motion by Hammer, supported by Kanten, to proceed and split the Electric and Water Department into two separate departments, appoint Dan Rosentreter as Water Department Superintendent and overseer of the Electric Department until an Electric Department superintendent is hired and to award Dan Rosentreter an appropriate salary increase to be recommended by the Village Manager. All Ayes. Absent: Bentley. Motion carried.

WHEREAS, historic preservation gives Americans a deeper understanding of their unique and diverse heritage, as well as a firm and visual foundation on which to forge the future of this great nation and state; and

WHEREAS, historic landmarks contribute greatly to the economic, social and cultural well being of cities and towns across the state and nation, by being frequent stops for school groups, history buffs, and tourists throughout the year; and

WHEREAS, during Preservation Week, May 10-16, 1992, each of us can show our neighbors, friends, and families that preserving and using the authentic evidence of our past enriches our lives and enhances the future of our children;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Richard Steele, Village President of the Village of Chelsea, do hereby declare May 10-16, 1992, as MICHIGAN HISTORIC PRESERVATION WEEK in Michigan and I urge all citizens to recognize and participate in this celebration of our national and state heritage.

Trustee Anderson discussed communication received from Robert Ponte regarding the proposed Dana field expansion and the potential installation of lights at the park and his concerns regarding the potential noise after dark.

The Recreation Council's grant request was deferred until next year, therefore, there will be no lights installed this year.

Trustee Merkel reported that Mayor Exchange Day has been changed to May 20, 1992.

Ishmael Picklesimer asked Council to clarify the changes proposed by the Chelsea Milling Company in their site plan recently approved by the Planning Commission. It is Mr. Picklesimer's impression that the drive across the street from his home is zoned light industrial and that it is now going to be heavy industrial. Deborah Kuehn, Assistant Village Manager, informed Mr. Picklesimer that the Chelsea Milling Company is considered a permitted use in the light industrial district.

Mr. Picklesimer also asked Council to act on the dust problem in his area, Village Manager Myers assured Mr. Picklesimer, that the Village would indeed take care of the problem as promised last year.

If your monthly income is less than $572 a month for one person or $760 for a family of two and your resources are $4,000 for one person, $6,000 for a family of two, you may qualify for help from the QMB program. If you work your income could be higher and you still might qualify.

If you meet the requirements the state will pay your Medicare premium which means you would save $31.80 per month. The state will also pay the Medicare deductibles and co-insurance which can mean additional savings.
