Proposed School Cuts Would Have Major Impact On Day-to-Day Operations

Chelsea Board of Education announced last month that next year's school operating budget will be cut by $634,021 if voters do not approve an additional 1.95 mills in the annual June 8 elections.

The cuts would hit a wide variety of programs and would affect all four schools. A number of lay-offs were announced as well.

The cuts are necessary, the district says, due to the state-wide property tax freeze, tax base sharing, and a decrease in state funding for mandated special education programs.

In an effort to help district voters understand how the proposed cuts would affect teaching and support services on a day-to-day basis, Chelsea Education Association, the teachers union, asked its members to complete a survey for The Chelsea Standard. Much of what follows comes from those surveys.

A major concern among teachers is how use of heavily-used school media centers will change. The budget calls for media aides to be laid off at both Beach Middle school and Chelsea High school ($24,000). In addition, funds for maintenance of equipment, purchase of books and magazines, and other items would be curtailed or eliminated.

"The impact will be profound," says high school media specialist Ruth Withey.

"The media center will have limited before-school hours and no after-school hours. Only 4-5 classes per day will be able to come to the media center—we take up to 10 classes now. Shutdowns will become commonplace as I try to keep up with the work for 2-plus people. The media center will be closed at lunchtime. Parents will find themselves transporting students to the Ann Arbor library to get the resources they need outside of school time. Some teachers will have to cut back on trips to the media center so that everyone has some time in here. Limiting hours seems unthinkable, but there will be no way to avoid this."

Withey also says the district is "several years behind" other districts in terms of automation. The district lacks CD/Roms, video-disk players and other new technology. The effort to automate, which began two years ago, will fall further behind.

"Access to the media center and media assistance will be limited, hampering research and independent learning in general," says high school English teacher Pam Holmes.

The situation will be much the same at Beach school, where access to the media center will be severely curtailed. Specialist Sue Beard says "the materials in our collection will not reflect the many changes taking place in our world."

"I have used the support of [the media center] to help develop research skills in writing papers," says Beach history teacher Judy Ward.

"Lu (Kramer, media aide) has been more than helpful not only to my classes but to particular students who desperately need help. For example, help with word processors, research, and encouragement."

Cuts will also mean fewer purchases of books and magazines at the elementary schools and tighter scheduling of audio-visual equipment. More than 600 students use each elementary media center each week.

Another big concern is the elimination of some art, music, and physical education instruction ($105,000) in the elementary schools. The effect would be that children would be taught those subjects half as often.

However, as with many of the proposed cuts, there would be a ripple effect.

For example, when students are being taught one of those subjects, their regular classroom teacher might be preparing ("prepping") for a science class which includes much hands-on activity. Or the teacher might spend that time in conference with parents.

"Teachers nowadays have to set up a lot more materials than they used to even 10 years ago," says North school principal Bill Westcott.

"It's been my experience that the teachers who are most effective are those who spend the time doing the prepping."

The loss of art, music, and physical education instruction is a major concern of the teachers.

Students would get 25 minutes of PE instruction each week.

Recycling Authority Likely To Approve Leslie Man as Manager

Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority is expected to approve the hiring of a full-time manager and award bids for its materials handling facility and other equipment during a meeting tonight at Manchester Township Hall.

Jeffrey Bagocius of Leslie is likely to become the authority's manager at a starting salary of about $27,500. He is a former police chief of Leslie and has a master's degree in public management from Central Michigan University. He told the authority he is studying for a human resources degree at Spring Arbor College. He has also served on a planning commission.

"He came highly recommended," said authority vice-chair Frank Hammer. Hammer said Bagocius has indicated he is willing to stay in the job for several years.

In other business, the authority will likely approve a bid of $119,939 from Adams Construction Co. of Grass Lake for the construction of the materials recovery center at the village landfill on Werkner Rd. The bid, about $10,000 over budget, specifies a steel building. Lyndon Township Planning Commission recently approved site plans.

Other bids likely to be approved include $103,670 for a baller, the center's primary piece of equipment, from T.S. Stevens of Pontiac. The bid was more than $14,000 under budget. A four-wheel drive pick-up offered by Village Motors Co. of Chelsea at $15,799 would be used primarily in the curbside recycling programs in Chelsea and Manchester villages. It would also be used by the manager.

On-site recycling bins (13) for the six townships in the authority will be purchased for about $51,550 from Ecotec.

Budget for a forklift for the recycling center was increased by about $2,000.

The over-all project, Hammer said, is about $4,500 under budget.

The authority wants to have the program in place by late summer or early fall.

Members of the authority include the villages of Chelsea and Manchester, and townships of Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, Dexter, Bridgewater, and Manchester. Sharon and Freedom townships recently dropped out and are being written out of the contract with Washtenaw county, Hammer said. He also said the defection of two townships does not pose a problem for receiving the $330,000 grant from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources to get the program off the ground.

Escaped Prisoners Steal Car, Elude Authorities

Police on Tuesday morning were still searching for two armed men who escaped from Cassidy Lake boot camp shortly before noon on Sunday.

The search moved out of the Chelsea area Sunday and was being handled by the Jackson County Sheriff's Department and Michigan State Police.

One other escaped prisoner gave up without a fight on Sunday.

According to Chelsea police chief Lenard McDougall, the pursuit of the prisoners began early Sunday afternoon when Chelsea policeman Dennis Hall saw a car matching the description of a stolen car on M-52 near the Lanewood Subdivision north of the village. He followed the vehicle north on M-52, not realizing initially it would contain the prisoners.

Deputies from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department arrived and passed Hall, who also continued to follow.

The vehicle, along with clothes and guns, had been stolen from a Lyndon township home on North Territorial Rd. The residents were not home at the time of the theft. They called police immediately when they returned home and realized what had happened.

McDougall said the prisoners shot out the back window of the stolen Cadillac and fired at the pursuing sheriff's deputy vehicle. An unidentified sheriff's deputy suffered minor injuries from broken glass, but McDougall said if there had been a passenger in the vehicle there could have been serious injury. The vehicle, which was eventually abandoned 100 yards off Tophith Rd. between Park Rd. and Leeke Rd., contained 17 empty .22 caliber shells and five empty 30-30 shells, McDougall said.

A helicopter and at least two dog tracking units searched the area, which consists of mostly swamp. McDougall said dog units are virtually useless in those areas. As of press time, the men were still believed to be in that area.

More than 35 officers from police agencies in three counties, including 10 Chelsea officers, were involved initially in the search.

At about 8:45 p.m., one of the prisoners, Joseph Sidney Tice, 20, turned himself in after walking out of the woods. He said the other men, Robert E. Johnson, 21, and Michael Blodgett, 20, are armed with a deer rifle and a scoped .22 rifle, and about 800 rounds of ammunition, all stolen from the home.

Johnson is described as white, 5' 10", 160 pounds, with brown hair and blue eyes. He, like Tice, had been sentenced for breaking and entering.

Blodgett is described as white, 5' 11", 130 pounds, with blond hair and

Jury in William Curtis Trial Begins Deliberations

A Washtenaw County Circuit Court jury was scheduled to begin deliberations Tuesday after a week of testimony in the William H. Curtis murder conspiracy trial.

Curtis, 55, of Dexter township, is accused of conspiring with Todd Plamondon, 24, in the murder of his wife of 27 years, Sue Ellen Curtis, in their Cottonwood Lane home on April 1, 1991. He faces a life sentence if convicted.

A packed courtroom listened to two conflicting testimonies from the two men. In addition, key witnesses over the course of the week seemed to cast considerable doubt over the stories of both men.

Curtis has admitted having a sexual relationship with Plamondon, paying him once or twice a week for seven or eight months for sex. He said he often took Plamondon to his home, where the younger man showered, ate, and even had his laundry done by Curtis.

Plamondon, who has already pleaded guilty to second-degree murder and is serving a life sentence with the possibility of parole, claimed Curtis wanted his wife killed so he could collect an insurance policy and sell the couple's stocks and bonds. He said Curtis began discussing the possibility of a murder in late 1990 or early 1991, and that one attempt in the parking lot of Sue Ellen Curtis's place of work had been thwarted. He said Curtis offered to pay him $5,000.

However, Curtis maintained he was being blackmailed by Plamondon and that Plamondon had threatened to tell Sue Ellen Curtis and his employer, a real estate company, about their relationship. He said the night of the murder Plamondon pulled a gun on him and forced him to drive to the Curtis home.

Joyce Ancypa, a houseguest of the Curtises, said she was sitting in the living room with the Curtises when a man, carrying a gun and wearing a nylon stocking over his head, appeared in the doorway. He ordered all three to hit the floor, and demanded money and jewelry. Afterward, he ordered Ancypa out of the room and tried to drag her out by her hair.

Ancypa said she and Sue Ellen Curtis struggled with the man, whipping him with electrical cords. Curtis was able to get out the front door and across the street to a neighbor's house. Initially, Sue Ellen Curtis was right behind her, but never made it out of the house. She said William Curtis was lying on the floor, and she assumed he had been knocked unconscious.

Ancypa saw the assailant leave the Curtis' home in William Curtis' car.

Plamondon testified he inflicted only a single stab wound to Sue Ellen Curtis during the struggle. He said he had the gun only to make people do what he told them. He said he did not know how the woman suffered the other stab wounds or slashes on her throat. William Curtis, he said, gave him the keys to his car for the getaway. He said when he left the house, the knife he used was in one piece. However, at the trial the knife was in several pieces.

Curtis said the night of the murder he had intended to end his relationship with Plamondon. He said he drove Plamondon to a Chelsea-area bar to wait while Curtis showed a house to a client. That testimony, however, was refuted by his alleged client.

When he returned to the bar, Curtis said Plamondon was so high on drugs that he created a scene. However, that contention was disputed by bar employees, who said the pair was carrying on a normal conversation.

After Plamondon forced Curtis to drive to his home, Curtis said, Plamondon stayed behind in the garage. He said he didn't call police because Plamondon had threatened to kill him. Curtis said he decided to let

Judge Blocks State from Issuing Homestead Permit
The state was temporarily blocked Monday from issuing a wetlands permit for a golf course at the Homestead Resort in Glen Arbor. The temporary restraining order by U.S. District Judge Richard Enslen continues a five-year-old battle that has developed into a nationally significant case involving enforcement of state federal wetlands laws.

Enslen, acting on a lawsuit brought by several environmental groups and local opponents to the golf course, scheduled a June 8 show cause hearing on whether to issue a permanent injunction.

The lawsuit, filed after the Environmental Protection Agency withdrew its objections to the permit, alleges EPA had no authority to retroactively rescind a 1990 decision by its regional office.

The state failed to challenge the objections by the Region V office, and the suit asserts that means jurisdiction was transferred to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Tom Washington, director of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs which is one of the groups behind the suit, asserted "blatant political intervention" pressured the EPA's decision. He said he is concerned about the national impact on environmental protection if the golf course permit is approved under a political taint.

Sharon L. Newsome, National Wildlife Federation vice-president, said, "The wisdom of delegating the federal wetlands program to the state is thrown into serious question by the Bush administration's willingness to undercut EPA's oversight in a case as egregious as this one."

But John Truscott, Engler's press secretary, denied political meddling, saying the governor was only trying to ensure the state's right to enforce wetlands regulations. Michigan is the only state with authority to enforce federal wetlands law.

He called the involvement by Region V "questionable" from the start, and said state action was based on scientific and factual information.

Truscott said if Michigan's rights to make the decision in the Homestead case were undermined, other states would be reluctant to accept the EPA's invitation to take over enforcement authority.

Before Enslen issued the restraining order, the Department of Natural Resources had agreed to an EPA request to delay issuance of a permit for at least two weeks.

The permit identifies about three acres of wetlands affected by the development, but Washington said a "couple of dozen" of acres are of the same type as covered by permits in other parts of the states. He and others assert the chemicals and pesticides used on a golf course would leech into the Crystal River.

DNR officials concluded that modifications made to the plan and the imposition of a detailed environmental compliance plan determined the water would not be polluted and species would not be significantly affected.

Engler Targets Malpractice Reform in Talk to Seniors

Once again greeted by scattered hostility at the annual Senior Power Day rally, Governor John Engler again turned his hostility toward the trial lawyer lobby as he called for malpractice reform to cut health care costs.

The governor also promoted his property tax cut plan as a way to help seniors by cutting property taxes and limiting future growth.

The governor said the current system has led to "a litigation lottery that you are all paying for and few are participating in. It's wrong for the senior citizens, it's wrong for women and you should take that message to the Legislature," he said.

Engler said malpractice reform needs to be part of a national health care reform that guarantees access to all citizens. He said all residents are hurt because malpractice costs in Michigan are four to five times as high as the national average.

Engler said the "boos" from the some 3,500 seniors in the Lansing Civic Center audience were not as bad as last year or the year before. "It gets better every year," he said.

Trial lawyers have denied they are a major factor in health care costs, blaming the medical profession instead for not weeding out bad practitioners.

Engler touted his tax cut plan—which relies either on revenue growth and cuts in other state services to reimburse schools for lost funds—as his answer to Senior Power demands that the elderly be protected from losing their homes due to high taxes.

He said the ballot proposal is a better approach than a bill pending in the House that prevents sale of a low-income senior's home for unpaid taxes.

The health care portion of this year's Senior Power platform call for universal health-care covering preventive care, compassionate care for the dying and more emphasis on controlling costs.

Legislators approved funding for a $2.5 million senior prescription drug program—another element of the platform—as part of the budget agreement.

Other platform issues call for restoration of $800,000 that was cut in the home delivered meal program, and of another $800,000 cut in in-home services.

Separately, Attorney General Frank Kelley warned two companies to halt using what he described as false and misleading tactics to sell high-priced living trust kits to senior citizens.

He filed notices of intended action against Senior Citizens Information Center of Eaton Rapids and the American Association for Senior Citizens of Dallas, Tex.

Kelley complained that sales representatives for the companies try to convince seniors that using their kit, which costs up to $2,500, to put property in a revocable living trust will avoid costs of probate.

He said estimates used in the sales pitch for probate costs are inflated and that similar services may be obtained from attorneys at lower costs.

Kelley also advised seniors that state law permits rescission of in-home purchases within three business days. The companies have 10 days to contact Kelley's office to resolve the dispute.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle come to the session at the country store Saturday night fired up over the selling of America. He has this fit every year when he sees the U.S. Department of Agriculture report on how much more land has been sold to foreigners. At the end of the year, Ed told the fellows, 14.8 million American acres were owned by people and companies in other countries. This was an increase over 1990, according to the USDA report, but it still is just over one percent of the privately owned land in the United States, and that amount has held steady for the past 10 years.

Canadians hold title to 25 percent of foreign owned land, the USDA said, and Japanese own three percent. But the report noted that Japanese holdings grew more last year than them of any other country. And not all this Japanese piece of the USA is golf courses, Ed said. They go for grazing land to raise beef to sell at home for about four times what it would bring on the American market. At the same time, the Japanese won't permit import of American beef.

Ed did not make clear what the fellows were to make of or do about the annual statics on the selling of America. Which goes to show there ain't no end to information Ed picks up from the newspapers and tries to find reasons to know. Ed reads like he's doing research on the planet, and he keeps a file of clippings ready to whip out and present as evidence for the defense of whatever case he's making at the time.

For instant, as soon as he give his annual USDA report on land sales he moved to a wireservice clip from Greenville, S.C. The item carried a letter the county social services department there wrote to a man it had been helping. The letter said "your food stamps will be stopped effective April 1992 because we have received notice that you have died. You may re-apply if there is a change in your circumstances."

This, Ed declared, is what happens when we turn our lives over to computer operated word processors and printers. It ain't no wonder, he went on, that so many live people fall through the cracks of Government agencies that are run on the automatic. And this hurrier we go the behinder we get plan carries over to business. Ed had saw where the General Motors Acceptance Corporation recently found a flaw in some software that had let a GM dealer in Florida borrow nearly $1 billion and pay back only $600 million over the past eight year. Now GMAC has took some of his homes, cars and airplanes, and he has hid behind bankrupt court owing more than $380 million.

Clem Webster is so use to objecting to Ed's political speeches he natural got in the discussion. But he picked up how computers are taking over more jobs. He read that when power was cut off on account of the Chicago flood, it was like the heart of the city quit beating. Being without power to run computers in the big banks and stock exchange put everybody out of business instant, Clem said.

Furthermore, Clem said he sees by the papers where news now is being sent by computers without paper. A outfit in Cambridge, Mass. sends news from its computers to subscribers computers. The cost is $4,000 a year for five stories a day, so nobody's cancelling their paper newspapers, Clem said, but what does the future hold for wrapping potater peels and putting down for the puppy.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

HIV/AIDS: What You Don't Know Could Kill You

Since the early 1980s, more than one million Americans from all walks of life have become infected with the human immunodeficiency virus, or HIV. Thousands more have died from complications resulting from acquired immune deficiency syndrome, or AIDS. While AIDS remains incurable, HIV infection is preventable when basic precautions are taken.

For its next Health Night Out, the University of Michigan Medical Center will present "HIV and AIDS: What you don't know could kill you." Leading the discussion will be David Markovitz, M.D., assistant professor of internal medicine and internist in the Division of Infectious Diseases.

During the presentation you will learn how HIV can be transmitted, what the real risk is to and from health care workers, how HIV and AIDS are treated at the U-M Medical Center, how the search is progressing for novel genetic approaches to therapy, the likelihood of developing a vaccine, and more. The impact of AIDS on society and the ethical dilemmas posed by this worldwide epidemic also will be discussed.

Plan to attend from 7:30-9 p.m. Thursday, May 28 at the Kellogg Eye Center Auditorium for the next Health Night Out program. Prevention is still the best weapon against HIV and AIDS—and the key to prevention is knowledge.

Following the dinner, prizes were awarded for the season with the first-place winners in the daytime league scoring a high of 22,750 points. Isabel Eisele and Frances Runciman took first, with Gloria Mitchell and June Wilson taking second with a score of 22,400. The evening league winners were Marlene Rademacher and Beverly Slater with a high score of 17,940 and June Warren and Martha Davison placing second with a score of 17,420. Thirty-six members in all participate in the two-league bridge marathon.

Anyone desiring to join this league is invited to call Jinny Johnson at 475-8276 to add their name to the list. Bridge play will resume in the fall. Others on the Bridge Marathon Committee are Billie Zenz, Jean Schmidt and Janet Fulks.

Impact of School Cuts

"In order to achieve any level of physical fitness, a person must have peak workouts at minimum of 25 minutes, three times each week," says North PE instructor Cheryl Vogel.

"There will be very minimal skill instruction with little continuity because of so much time between lessons."

Said North school teacher Jean Meconi, "the students will not have a consistent specials program that integrates with classroom lessons or builds non-academic skills. The classroom teacher cannot duplicate these special programs."

South school art teacher Patti Rogers, who would become the district's only elementary art teacher, says "I would only be able to teach one-half of the art curriculum for which we spent three years planning."

"Only the very basic art concepts would be able to be taught. More lengthy, multi-media subjects would have to be eliminated."

North art teacher Janet Alford, who would become a Beach Middle school eighth grade teacher if the cuts are implemented, says "by cutting the art program, students will have fewer opportunities led by a specialist to learn how to express themselves, to be creative, and to experience success and a feeling of accomplishment."

Beach art/drama teacher Bev Yelsik says, "Obviously, without elementary art my students in art will not be as prepared in sixth grade and I'll waste valuable hours teaching them what they should already know."

A number of elementary teachers were also concerned about the loss of the Enrichment Triad Program ($35,000) because it teaches basic problem-solving skills and provides a series of speakers throughout the year for any interested child.

Teachers at all levels say they are concerned about the loss of textbooks and teaching supplies ($33,000) and capital outlay ($55,000). For example, it's likely changes to the reading curriculum will not be implemented due to lack of materials. Outdated social studies books will continue to be used and because few, if any, magazines could be purchased, there will be no easy way to teach those changes. There would be no replacement of outdated or broken furniture or equipment. Children, in some cases, may have to bring supplemental teaching supplies.

Field trips ($10,000), which each elementary class used to take twice each year, would be cut out completely. They were scaled back to one for this year due to budgetary problems. The trips are a part of the stated curriculum.

A less noticeable effect of the cuts is several teachers will be moved around to different positions to avoid additional lay-offs.

Wescott says for him, that is one of the most troubling parts of the cuts. "You could take a guy like Bill Wescott and stick him in French II, but that doesn't make nearly as much sense as going out and finding the best teacher for the job," Wescott says.

The district's counseling department would take a big hit as the full-time substance abuse counselor Cheryl Davis ($48,221) and the equivalent of a full-time counselor ($35,000) would be lost between Beach and the high school.

Some substance abuse duties would be assumed by the other counseling staff members.

High school counselor Chris Dimanin says there would be less personal and group counseling, no college campus visits co-ordinated by the department, and possible elimination of the mentorship program, an independent study program.

Extra-curricular programs totaling $64,300 would be eliminated. They include all 7-9 grade athletics, the athletic department subsidy, summer band and orchestra, middle school cheerleading, high school musical and newspaper, middle school newspaper and yearbook, sixth grade camp director and middle school academic games.

For this year, 137 7-9 grade students were involved in sports in the fall, 151 in the winter, and 120 in the spring.

By eliminating sports, as well as the middle school yearbook and newspaper, virtually every extra-curricular activity will be taken away from Beach students.

Add the Washington Street Show Choir (which would go with music teacher Steven Hinz's job), theater opportunities, and you might wonder, as Yelsik does, "where will all those kids be after school hours?"

THAR SHE BLOWS! An 80-foot, life-sized replica of a blue whale was inflated at North Elementary school last Tuesday. The whale project was part of a study of sea life by the kindergarten students of Jill Carlson and Peggy Moore. The whale was made of polyethylene plastic and inflated by three room-size fans. A group of moms made the whale in two mornings. The children were able to go inside and listen to whale sounds and a whale story. Chelsea Lumber Co. donated the materials and the whale's creators were Bonnie Adams, Helen Ziegler, Tami Houle, Brenda Moffett, Mrs. Franks, Mrs. Boshoven, and Mrs. Augustine.

Park Playground Project Fundraising Continues

Efforts to raise funds for a wood and steel playground structure in Pierce Park continue.

Plans include an activity structure with slides, suspension bridges, decks, climbing activities, and swings (for pre-school, special needs, and older children). All structures will be over a full 12-inch protective base which minimizes the risk of injury.

Pierce Park is in need of new equipment due to the breakdown of older, less safe equipment.

In addition, to comply with the new American Disabilities Act, a portion of the structure needs to be accessible to children with special needs. Structures need to have transfer points for wheelchairs, a base that supports wheelchairs, and some activities at chest level for children with special needs.

Community support is being sought. Donations will provide quick, tangible results providing decades of safe use for the community's children. The Village has pledged a sizeable sum. Many service organizations such as the Modern Mothers, Chelsea Lions, Chelsea Lions, Chamber of Commerce, and Rotary groups have donated or pledged funds. Several businesses have also contributed. While these are extremely important, the drive wishes to stress community ownership. A modest, one-time donation from many Chelsea citizens would build the project this summer.

Equipment could be delivered within three weeks if the fund goal of $15,000 is reached. Any donation is greatly appreciated from Chelsea civic groups, businesses, and private citizens who support children's safety and want to see them have fun! Make a lasting contribution to the community's children.

All contributions may be mailed to "Pierce Park Playground Project," P.O. Box 475, Chelsea 48118.

Schools Music Department Presents Year-End Concert

CAREY WALLACE

Carey Wallace Receives Scholarship To Attend Princeton

Chelsea High school senior, Carey Wallace, has received a scholarship to attend Princeton University. Wallace is the only Chelsea student designated as a National Merit Scholar Finalist, ranking her in the top one-half percent of the nation's seniors.

She has also been selected as one of the Detroit News' 1992 Outstanding High School Graduates and will be honored on June 11 at a dinner at the Henry Ford Estate in Dearborn. She was previously honored as a member of the Southeast Conference's All Academic Team.

Carey expects to study religion, writing, and political science at Princeton.

Apparently saving the best for last, the Chelsea Music Department seemed to outdo itself in the final concert of the year—the "Spring Concert 1992 Americana," on Thursday, May 21. For seniors this was their last concert performance, perhaps explaining both the emotions they poured into the performance and the emotions sometimes visible on their faces. One does not achieve this level of excellence without investment and one does not walk away from the years of experience in these fine programs without realizing what one will miss.

The symphony band, under the baton of Michigan State University student teacher Amy Gronda opened the concert with Smith's "Emperata" a piece reminiscent of Ravel's "Bolero" for its mild start followed by a relentless building to stirring conclusion.

Next, Amy Blankenship, the student teacher from Eastern Michigan University, took the podium, leading the band through Kopetz's "American Folk Suite." The low brass demonstrated their substantial talent in Hall's "New Centennial March" under Gronda's conducting and then Blankenship returned to finish the "set" with Ployhar's "Centennial" a collage of familiar American folk melodies including, "Shenandoah." The musical spectrum was matched by an array of attire ranging from gorgeous satin gowns to casual bermuda shorts of some musicians.

Next the string orchestra performed "Fiddle Rags" by Halen, giving the audience a "hoe-down" feel. Then choir director Steven Hinz, much like a proud papa, introduced baritone soloist, and recent Michigan State University scholarship recipient, Jeremy Guenther, who transported us to an open air cafe in Paris where he recreated the magic of being in love with that sense that life could never be better.

Blankenship and the concert band returned us to the Southern United States with Curnow's "Fantasia on a Southern Folk Hymn." The band exhibited fine ensemble work with statements of point and counterpoint woven perfectly together. Blankenship then treated us to a second fantasy trip, this one to sea, with a Grundman "Fantasy on American Sailing Songs," including the familiar "What do you do with a drunken sailor?"

The concert choir then treated the audience to a capella renditions of Berger's "When I Hear the Robin Call," Daniels' arrangement of "Billy Boy," Smith's arrangement of "Ride the Chariot," and Dawson's arrangement of "Ezekiel Saw De Wheel." Only in "Everything's Alright" from "Jesus Christ Super Star" was the choir accompanied. Here Wendy Bell and Colby Gorton contributed impressive solo performances.

The wind ensemble opened its part of the performance with the exhilarating horn fanfares of Jenkins' "American Overture for Band," under Gronda's direction, followed by Blankenship conducting Tyra's "Intraventions." Not until Grainger's "Irish Tune from County Derry" did conductor William W. Gourley lead. Under Gourley's passionate direction of "London Derry Aire," ("Oh Danny Boy") the band gave the most emotional performance of the evening, surely one many seniors will remember a lifetime when they think back to their high school band day. Peter Rosheger next led the massive Symphony Orchestra through Dvorak's Symphony No. 9 "New World." From the initial bold entrance of the low strings amidst the mournful woodwinds, one could easily have mistaken these high school students for talented adults. Few places in this nation or in the world would one find such a talented and musical high school orchestra, and this particular ensemble has no seniors. We can only eagerly await new accomplishments by this still growing and developing group next year.

Even the audience had the opportunity to contribute to the final performance of Walter's "Battle Hymn of the Republic." These scores of students led by the gifted team of conductors and supported by Jan Manning and a host of "Music Booster" volunteers received a standing ovation at the conclusion of the concert.

Travis L. Mills Enlists in Air Force Delayed Program

Travis L. Mills, son of Paula R. Surrney of Chelsea, has enlisted in the Air Force Delayed Enlistment Program, according to Sergeant Kevin Baker, Air Force recruiter, 2500 Packard Rd., Ann Arbor.

Mills, a 1992 graduate of Chelsea High school, is scheduled for enlistment in the Regular Air Force on Feb. 11, 1993. Upon graduation from the Air Force's six-week basic training course near San Antonio, Tex., he will receive technical training in the general aptitude area.

He will be earning credits toward an associate degree in applied sciences through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and technical training schools.

Michigan physicians had an average of 36 visits per week from Medicare patients in 1991.

There is no limit to the goals you can attain, the success you can achieve—your possibilities are as endless as your dreams.

Plamondon rob the house and figured he would "go away" after that.

Curtis testified that Plamondon hit him on the head, but he was not certain whether he was knocked unconscious. Curtis contradicted himself several times in testimony and police interviews about whether he was unconscious while lying on the floor. He also admitted lying to police after the murder because he didn't want to get involved. A tape of an interview with police showed dramatic evidence of how Curtis' story had changed.

After Sue Ellen Curtis was stabbed, Curtis said he went to the kitchen to call police, but encountered Plamondon, who demanded his car keys.

Curtis also had explanations for all the paraphernalia, such as electrical cords and nylon stockings.

A surprise witness, Gerald Whitman, a friend of Plamondon's, testified Plamondon told him he was going to make up a story in order to make a deal with prosecutors.

After the murder, William Curtis sold many of the couple's belongings and left the state in a travel trailer. He was captured by police in Virginia, where he was traveling under an assumed name.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

As I listen to various persons talk about the upcoming millage vote I am truly amazed at the memories of some people. We like to think that our educational system is the best in the world but we object to paying for it. We think that our teachers and administrators should be above reproach but if they ask for cooperation from us as parents we feel they are "picking" on Johnny.

After all, we didn't get away with what kids do today and in many cases we didn't simply because our parents supported the teachers in their efforts.

Another sore point with us is teachers are constantly asking for more money and benefits. Of course we like to forget that many of us went from high school into the factory and with union protection we demanded and got steady pay increases plus more benefits, even during the war years and everytime we got a raise the price of automobiles went up—but teachers only work nine months of the year and have three months to rest (if they can afford to).

We seldom take into account the cost of training to get that certificate or the advanced courses teachers must take to keep up with our advanced technology (most of this extra training is night or summer courses while we are vacationing or watching television).

Then of course, we can't understand the constant upkeep and repair of our schools (if our teachers would just be more firm with the kids there wouldn't be so many repairs and replacement of fixtures—please excuse my admiring my new carpet, I was so tired of the other color and only three years old. And these awful taxes, higher each year but this new street surface is wonderful—it was mostly mud or dust when I visited grandma here as a child and no bathroom either).

Sewers and running water are wonderful but why do we need all these art and music teachers; why isn't readin', writin', and 'rithmetic enough, but it was such a wonderful feeling to see my grandson directing that symphony orchestra in front of all those people.

Isn't it time we got realistic? Just remembering, Ben Bower.

To the Editor,

A "yes" vote will only cost you $8.13 a month (based on a $100,000 home). Just $8.13 a month will enable the wonderful Chelsea school system to continue providing the quality education your children need, want and deserve.

$8.13—One medium pizza.

$8.13—A week's worth of junk food your kids don't need.

$8.13—A toy bought, now forgotten.

Vote YES on both the renewal and the additional millage. Vote YES on June 8 at Beach Middle school.

Shawn Personke.

Answering America's Doomsayers

According to pundits and pollsters, America is in a woeful state of decline—economically, politically and morally. Are the doomsayers correct? Or are they ignoring the underlying strength, resourcefulness and resilience of the American people?

By Philip C. Clarke

There's no denying that times are tough and people are hurting. But magnifying and accentuating the negatives in the news media doesn't help public confidence and in time can prove self-fulfilling. In fact, the sky is not falling. Nor is it in our national character to give way to despair. We have rebounded from far worse crises in the past. Just ask any of us oldsters who remember the Great Depression. In the early 1930's, unemployment reached 25%, nearly four times what it is today. And unemployment insurance was unknown. Likewise, there was no FDIC to bail out depositors who lost all their savings when more than 10,000 banks failed and closed their doors. Money was so hard to come by that public school teachers in Chicago, for example, were paid partly in scrip, or IOU's. As in many other cities, the municipal government of Chicago was flat broke.

Soup kitchens and World War I veterans selling apples for a nickel each were familiar sights. To make matters worse, in the mid-30's giant dust storms plagued the Plains states, driving farm families off their land to seek work wherever they could find it. The lucky ones might locate a job paying $13.50 a week, or less. Many worked just for their rent, or for room and board. Families cared for their own sick and elderly. There was no Medicare, Medicaid or Social Security early in the Depression. And in some rural regions, doctors were paid in chickens and eggs.

Through all this and more, the American people toughed it out, helping one another as best they could, and relying on their own ingenuity and perseverance to see them through the worst of times. Above all, the vast majority never lost faith in themselves or in their country's destiny. And when called on to fight the forces of totalitarianism in World War II, Americans responded with unprecedented determination, dedication and self-sacrifice.

Since those years, our nation has met and overcome many challenges and adversities, both at home and overseas. We have made our share of mistakes; for one, not finishing off Saddam Hussein's malevolent rule. Yet, few of our friends and former enemies question our good and generous intentions. And in times of stress here at home, Americans have retained that "can do" spirit inherited from our pioneering forefathers and mothers. In those perilous times, it was for many a daily life-or-death struggle just to survive.

Can there be any serious doubt that today, with our boundless resources, America ultimately will surmount its major difficulties? Surely, we can summon again our incomparable scientific genius, inventiveness and energy to achieve new greatness. Even today, despite our debts and deficits, we remain competitively the most productive people on earth. And if more consumers continue to discover the greatly improved quality of the new U.S.-built cars, that nagging trade imbalance with Japan could soon disappear.

We can dismiss the whinings and wailings of the naysayers who perceive only darkness and imminent disaster. "Look around at our own Cold War-torn landscape of the 1960's. In a recent Los Angeles Times commentary that was widely reprinted, Morris draws a picture of "our starved education, endangered environment, creaking infrastructure, disfigured economy, perverted income distribution, irrational health-care system, needless poverty, wasteful crime and social disintegration."

The Soviet threat, Morris goes on, was a myth created by ignorant politicians, venal industrialists and, of course, the omnipresent CIA. It was perpetuated, he argues, by "lethal excess, tragic exploitation (and) fatal obsession," the cost of which must be paid by future generations "less encrusted with shame and cant." Concludes Morris: "As the Soviet Union ends its grim chapter and strives for the American dream, a triumphant United States resembles more and more czarist Russia."

What nonsense. Only the likes of Hollywood's Oliver Stone, who also sees conspiracy and evil lurking nearly everywhere in the U.S., could buy such hysterical hyperbole.

Rather than indulging in self-flagellation, what America needs is a clearer view of the big picture. As Wall Street Journal publisher Peter R. Kann has suggested, Americans should celebrate "the realities of all that is going right," not succumb to "the myth that all is going wrong." While criticism often is warranted by facts, said Kann, "pessimism is different. It's a mind-set that assumes the worst and bends reality to fit."

Fortunately, America was built not by pessimists but by optimists—including generations of refugees who still flock to our shores in pursuit of the enduring American dream.

The first authorization for a 10-hour day for federal government workers was by President Martin Van Buren in 1840, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a U.S. Labor Department publication. Van Buren issued an executive order giving Navy yard workers a 10-hour day without a pay reduction.

Festivals Offered at 56 State Harbors

Michigan's Great Lakes harbors offer scenic backdrops for boaters and landlubbers attending dozens of waterfront festivals with a potpourri of themes between June and August.

AAA Michigan's 1992 guide, "Cruising Michigan's Nautical Fests," lists 56 events accessible to motorists and boaters alike at state-sponsored harbors.

Lake Michigan festivals stretch from the southernmost harbor at New Buffalo to Menominee, Escanaba and Manistique in the Upper Peninsula.

Samples of the varied celebrations include St. Joseph's Venetian Festival, July 16-18, focusing on the waterfront with a lighted boat parade, water-related activities, arts and crafts show, and "A Taste of Southwest Michigan."

A Waterfront Festival in Menominee, Aug. 6-9, entices visitors with entertainment, fireworks and a parade.

Pentwater's Homecoming Celebration, Aug. 13-16, includes children's games, a grand parade, and a band concert.

Lake Huron boaters can make waves at Bay City's River Roar, June 19-21, offering three days of heart-thumping powerboat races.

The Bluewater Festival sails into Port Huron, July 8-19, highlighted by a carnival and a downtown sidewalk sale and providing an opportunity to cheer on the sailors in the Port Huron-Mackinac Island sailboat race.

Rogers City's Nautical City Festival, Aug. 5-9, is a city-wide celebration with arts and crafts, fireworks, a parade, nightly entertainment and food booths.

In Southeast Michigan on the Detroit River, the 34th annual International Freedom Festival, June 24-July 4, observes Canada Day and U.S. Independence Day with casinos, midways, nightly soundstage entertainment, and the spectacular Freedom Festival fireworks.

Lake Erie boaters and visitors to Monroe county can view the Offshore Powerboat Races, Aug. 8, south of Bolles Harbor.

Visitors to Lake Superior shouldn't miss the Houghton-Hancock Bridgefest, June 12-14, commemorating the birthday of the Portage Lake Lift Bridge with boat races, a seafood festival, a dance and arts and crafts show.

Munising observes Independence Day, July 4, with an all-day festival highlighted by games and treats and culminating with a fireworks display at dusk.

Marquette's Art of the Rocks, July 25-26, features artists from across the U.S. displaying and selling a variety of works.

There's good news for boaters who wish to dock at public harbors this season—fees remain the same as last year. Boats less than 24 feet in length pay a flat rate of $15 for 24 hours. Vessels between 24 and 50 feet in length pay between 63 and 85 cents per foot. Boats 60 feet and longer pay $1.09 per foot. The rates include water and 110 volt electrical service when available. Dock space is usually rented on a first-come, first served basis.

For motorists heading to various harbor events, festival organizers generally make provisions for parking within walking distance of the harbor or provide bus transportation to and from there.

GREG BUCHANAN

Harpist To Play at Chelsea Free Methodist Church

Greg Buchanan, world-class harpist, will appear at the Chelsea Free Methodist church, 7685 Werkner Rd., Chelsea on Thursday, June 4, at 7 p.m.

Greg's superb musicianship combined with an enthusiastic attitude toward the Christian life make him one of the most sought-after Christian performers in America.

Greg has played the harp since age nine. He spent four years with the U.S. Navy Band in Washington, D.C., and has played solo for every type of audience in many styles of music; jazz, pop, classical and gospel. His playing is so masterful that the makers of the world-famous "Salvi" harp asked Greg to endorse their fine instrument.

This was indeed a great honor and an answer to Greg's prayer to someday be able to play one of the finest harps made by man. Greg has performed at most of the major Christian gatherings of our day. He has received a great deal of recognition by his peers in music ministries, yet his humble spirit remains constant.

During concert performances, Greg plays not only the Salvi Ariana concert grand harp, but also includes selections on the Kinnor (David's harp) and a Celtic Irish-folk harp.

Greg has performed throughout the U.S. as well as abroad, in locations ranging from fine concert halls in major cities to local churches in small towns. TV appearances have introduced Greg's talent and ministry to even more people. He is on the road much of the time.

The public is welcome. There is no admission charge, but a love offering will be taken.

For further information, call the church office, 475-1391.

Don't Send Valuable Nutrients Down the Drain

By Debbie Barrow, Extension Home Economist

No matter how careful you are, cooking by any means destroys some nutrients. The total amount lost will depend on the freshness of the food to begin with (and how it was handled and stored before you bought it), how long you cook it and at what temperature, and how much of the food's surface is exposed to water and air.

Certain vitamins are more likely to be destroyed by heat than others—vitamin C, for instance, and B vitamins such as thiamin and riboflavin. Others, including most vitamins and some minerals, are likely to leach into cooking water.

Here are a few guidelines to help you prepare foods—especially vegetables and fruits—so that they stay as nutritious as possible.

- Cook foods for the shortest time possible. Microwaving, steaming and stir-frying are the quickest methods. Covering a pot or pan will help cut cooking time.

- Cook vegetables whole and unpeeled whenever possible, or eat them raw. Avoid buying pre-cut produce.

- Wash fruits and vegetables to remove bugs, sand and dirt, but never soak them.

- If you're boiling vegetables, use as little water as you can. Don't place them in the water until it's at a full boil. This will cut down on cooking time. If you use the water from boiling or steaming to make soups and gravies, you'll consume any nutrients that leached away.

- Minimize the time cut and peeled fruits and vegetables are exposed to air. Exposure to oxygen rapidly destroys some nutrients.

- Don't leave cooked food standing at room temperature.

Pond Creatures Subject of Program At Eddy Center

"Creatures of the Pond" will be the subject of a program at the Eddy Geology Center this Saturday, May 30 at 2 p.m.

Reservations should be made by today, Wednesday, May 27 by calling 475-3170.

The program, sponsored by the Waterloo Natural History Association, is free and open to the public. However, a state motor vehicle permit is required to enter the park.

Secrets of Driving When You're Drunk

Six common myths used to rationalize Drinking and Driving

1. "Two cups of coffee sobers me up." Wrong! Coffee—be it black, strong or straight out of the can—cannot rid your system of alcohol. It will just make you a nervous drunk.

2. "Once I roll down the window, I'm okay." Sorry. No amount of fresh, chilly air can keep an inebriated from being inebriated. So you gain nothing by rolling down a window, turning on the air conditioning, driving a convertible or living in Alaska. (But, you may catch a cold.)

3. "I'm bigger. I can handle my liquor better." Guess again! Big people don't necessarily make better lovers, better backgammon players, or better drinkers. The fact is after three to five drinks, most everyone under eight feet tall is legally drunk.

4. "I always stay away from the hard stuff." Let's not try to kid ourselves; alcohol is alcohol! Behind the wheel, low calorie beer can be just as deadly as straight Scotch. The same holds true for all those slushy, sweet concoctions that are tropical delights!

5. "All I have to do is splash myself with cold water." Splash all you want; you can even take a cold shower, but it won't sober you up. It is certain to make you cleaner, however, and hopefully, keep you off the road.

6. "I just drive slower." Many people do, believing that they can actually compensate for their drunkenness by creeping along at 22 m.p.h. Others creep along at 80 m.p.h. The truth is, drunk drivers are unsafe at any speed.

Coffee. Fresh air. Cold showers. No matter how invigorating, they cannot make you sober. Nothing can—except time—about an hour for every drink!

No matter who you are, a few beers, a couple of glasses of wine or a half a shaker of weak martinis is all it takes to dim your vision, slow your reflexes and warp your judgment, and turn your automobile into a deadly weapon!

So, if you really want to know how to drive when you're drunk, the answer is obvious: You don't! Stay in control of your life, you future—don't drink and drive!

Boy Scouts To Assist With Help Line

In an ongoing effort to promote the Chelsea Help Line, Chelsea Boy Scout Troop 425 has taken on the task of distributing the Help Line materials to the merchants in the Chelsea community.

On Saturday, May 30, the scouts will be visiting each merchant in the community to provide a packet of materials to assist in promoting Chelsea Help Line. The packet contains a small logo poster, a plastic holder with business card sized logo cards and a question and answer brochure.

The ability to see the logo and phone number everywhere a person goes has been found to be the most effective way to communicate the Chelsea Help Line and still keep the anonymous nature of the service.

Chelsea Help Line has been in existence for over three years and averages 50-60 calls to the 475-0111 number each month.

If anyone has questions or suggestions about the service, they may call any of the board members listed below.

The 1992 board of directors for Help Line are: William Chandler, Cheryl Davis, Lenard McDougall, Ron Mead, Jeane Thomson, and Blake Thomson.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

EVERYONE LOOKS toward left field where Jennifer Petty lined a pitch for a double during last Thursday's pre-district tournament game against the Lincoln Railsplitters. The Bulldogs merced Lincoln and will play Fowlerville this Saturday at noon in the tournament semi-finals.

Dogs Face Dreadnaughts To Open District Play, Beat Lincoln To Qualify

Chelsea Bulldogs baseball team will face the Dexter Dreadnaughts this Saturday in the semi-finals of the district tournament.

The game will start immediately following the Willow Run-Tecumseh game, a contest featuring the number one and eight ranked teams in the state. That game starts at 10 a.m. at the Chelsea field. Dexter upset Saline, 7-6 in eight innings, to advance.

The Bulldogs earned the right to play the Dreadnaughts with a 12-5 win over the Lincoln Railsplitters last Thursday at home in pre-district action.

Jacob Rindle picked up the victory as he struck out 11 and walked one, although he gave up an uncharacteristically high number of hits, 10.

"Everyone contributed," said Chelsea coach Wayne Welton.

"Jake struggled a little and couldn't get his curve in the right spot, but he was able to win even though he wasn't sharp." Rindle was able to get out of a no-out, bases-loaded jam in the early going without surrendering a run, which may have been the crucial point of the game.

Chelsea never trailed after the second inning, although Lincoln, on the strength of a two-run homer, pulled to within 6-5 in the fourth inning.

Sophomore second baseman Tim Wescott led the Bulldogs with three hits, Chris Dunham and Ben Hurst each had two hits, and Rick Clouse and Adam Taylor each hit a double.

In other action, Chelsea lost to Brighton in 10 innings, 14-13, and dropped two games in miserable weather at St. Joseph, 3-0 to St. Joseph and 6-1 to Traverse City.

In the Brighton game, Chelsea rallied for five runs in the bottom of the seventh, featuring a three-run homer by Rindle, to send the game into extra innings. Before Rindle's blast, Steve Grau and Dunham each walked, and Wescott and Clouse each singled. The Bulldogs stranded a runner at third.

Brighton scored in the 10th on a walk, a balk on an attempted pick-off, a sacrifice bunt, and a ground ball error.

For Rindle, it was his sixth homer of the season.

Hurst started the game on the mound, and Chris White and Grau pitched in relief.

Wescott and Clouse each had three hits, and Hurst, Dunham, and Pat Steele each had two hits.

At St. Joseph Saturday, the tournament was played in moist weather with temperatures in the 30s.

"It was probably the worst weather we've had all season and we've had some pretty bad weather," Welton said.

"The highlight of the day was probably the pitching of Chris (White) and Ben (Hurst). We didn't hit a lick." White struck out six in the first game as the Bulldogs could put together only five hits, two each by Dunham and Hurst, and one by Rindle.

Hurst was down 1-0 through five innings, before Traverse City, ranked in class A, scored six runs, helped by two bloop hits and a bad bounce in the outfield.

Again, Chelsea had just five hits, two by Rindle and one each by Dunham, Clouse, and Hurst.

The Bulldogs had to play without several of their regulars for a variety of reasons.

Between 1990 and 2005, the growth of new entrants to the labor force will slow, reflecting lower birth rates in the 1970's and 1980's compared to the 1950's and 1960's, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics. The proportion of the population participating in the labor force will increase at a slower rate than over the 1975-90 period.

TIM WESCOTT moves to his right to snag a ground ball during last Thursday's pre-district game against the Lincoln Railsplitters. The Bulldogs won the game, 12-5, and the right to play the Dexter Dreadnaughts this Saturday at home.

Dog Softball Team Eyes District Title Saturday

Fowlerville Gladiators will try to keep the Chelsea Bulldogs softball team from reaching the finals of the district tournament this Saturday in Chelsea beginning at noon at Weber Field.

The Bulldogs advanced to the semi-finals by topping the Lincoln Railsplitters in four innings last Thursday, 12-0.

Senior pitcher Jennifer Petty ran her record to 20-0 with another one-hitter.

"The girls are very focused on their goals and are playing well," said Chelsea coach Joe Beard.

"We want to go to the region tournament."

Chelsea scored four runs in the first inning and seven in the second to put the game within mercy-rule territory early.

In the first, Theresa Hurst, Kelly Cross, Gretchen Knutsen, and Erin Knott each had an RBI-single. In the second, Petty led off with a triple, and Heather McConeghy (two hits in the inning), Cross, Jackie Crawford, each had key hits.

Petty, McConeghy, Cross and Crawford each had two hits.

In action last Tuesday, the Bulldogs thumped the Ypsilanti Braves twice, 14-3 in the opener and 12-0 in the nightcap.

Petty and Knott split time on the mound in the six-inning first game and allowed one hit. Petty was credited with the victory.

Chelsea scored six runs in the third and five in the sixth.

McConeghy, Hurst, Cross, Liz Sager, and Knutsen each had two hits.

Cross pitched a two-hit shutout in the second game. The contest was relatively close until the Bulldogs scored five runs in each the fourth and fifth innings.

Angie Riley had three hits, Hurst and Petty had two each, and Hurst had a team-high three RBIs.

In the only other game played last week, Chelsea was merced by Ann Arbor Pioneer on Friday, 10-0.

Beard said his team had just won the league and is aiming at the district tournament, and was apparently not mentally ready to play.

The Bulldogs had just two hits, including a triple by Crawford.

Knott pitched for the Bulldogs and gave up seven hits.

Chelsea has a 28-3 record for the season.

JACKIE CRAWFORD drops a perfect bunt during last Thursday's pre-district game against the Lincoln Railsplitters.

Dog JV Softball Team Beats Tecumseh Twice

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity softball team swept the Tecumseh Indians in a double-header on the road recently, 4-1 and 6-5.

In the first game, each team only had two hits.

The game was tied 1-1 after five innings before the Bulldogs took the lead in the sixth as Shannon Shemansky sacrificed Carey Schiller home. In the seventh inning, Schiller gave the Bulldogs some extra insurance with a two-run homer.

Shemansky's first sacrifice bunt plated Chelsea's first run in the first inning.

Amy Petty was the winning pitcher as she struck out eight and walked four.

In the second game, Schiller tossed a five-hitter and went 4-4 with a triple to help the Bulldogs to their 19th win.

Chelsea fell behind 3-1 in the first inning and 4-1 after two innings. In the first, Schiller tripled and scored on Charlotte Ziegler's sacrifice bunt. In the third, Schiller singled and scored after hits by Ziegler and Shemansky.

The Bulldogs took a 6-4 lead with a four-run sixth inning, highlighted by a lead-off homer by Amy Bowling and a double by Petty.

"Key hits from Carey Schiller and Amy Bowling helped bring in the runs we needed to win," said Chelsea coach Kim Eder.

"We lost to Tecumseh earlier in the season and the team was determined not to let it happen again."

CHS Girls Track Team Takes SEC Meet, Title

Chelsea Bulldogs girls track team won their third straight Southeastern Conference championship and completed an undefeated season as they won the conference meet last week with 98 points, just ahead of second-place Tecumseh with 89.

Dexter scored 82 points, Saline 43, Milan 28, Pinckney 27, and Lincoln & Tecumseh took an early lead with two firsts and 22 points in the field events, but Chelsea overtook the Indians with depth in the distance and hurdle races, and 1 all-league performances.

Erin Schiller was Chelsea's top performer in the field events, capturing all-league honors and second place with a jump of 5' 1" in the high jump. Mara Smith placed fifth in the shot put with a toss of 30' 4" and Keri Kentala squeezed a sixth in the long jump with a 14' 1" effort on her last jump.

The 3200 relay set the tone for the running events as the Chelsea team of Val Bullock, Lisa Monti, Robin Phelps, and Beth Bell set a meet record with a 9:45.2, bettering the old record by more than six seconds set by the Bulldogs in 1987.

Charity Allen followed with her best race of the year to win the 100 hurdles in :16.4. Kentala added a fourth, equaling her best of :17.2.

Theresa Royce was fourth in the 100, and ran the anchor leg of the 800 relay as she and Laura Paton, Kentala, and Schiller placed third.

Monti won the 1600 in 5:10.4, narrowly missing a meet record, and Christine Burg placed sixth at 5:43.4.

Chelsea edged Tecumseh at the finish line to take second in the 400 relay, as the team of Allen, Monica Hansen, Schiller, and Royce ran a season-best of :53.

Paton earned all-league honors with a second place in the 400 at 1:02.9, while Sarah Henry was fourth at 1:03.2, her best time.

A 1-4-5 finish in the 300 hurdles put the Bulldogs in the lead for the first time, and for good. All three Chelsea runners had their best times as Allen was first in :47.5, Kentala placed fourth in :50.3, and Hansen was fifth in :50.4.

"We needed a race to give us a big point boost," said Chelsea coach Bill Bainton.

"The hurdlers came through in a big way. As a group they've been very solid for us all season."

Bell was third in the 800 in 2:28.3 and Bullock placed fifth in 2:29.4, her best ever.

Royce placed third in the 200.

"We knew a key for us was our performances in the sprints and relays," Bainton said.

"Theresa's four strong races were big factors."

Monti won the 3200 in 11:23.8 and Burg was fourth in 12:25, her best time, to give the Bulldogs the clinching points as they vaulted to a 91-79 lead with one event to go.

The 1600 relay team of Paton, Bell, Henry, and Allen took second at 4:16.3.

"You would have to say the keys to the meet were Monti, Allen, Royce, and the same thing that has carried us all year—our depth and consistency," Bainton said.

"We had two placers in six of the eight individual running events and were third or above in all four relays."

The win capped a spectacular season for the girls, who were 10-0 in dual meet competition, the most wins ever for the program. They won every invitational they were entered in, captured the first regional championship ever, won the SEC meet for the third straight year, and were conference champions for the second year in a row.

Jenni Smith Receives Many Academic, Athletic Awards at WSU

Smith received four academic honors, seven athletic awards, and set six school single-season softball records.

She received the Wayne State Student Athlete Sophomore Class Highest Honor Point Average Plaque at the beginning of the year. She carries a 3.9 average in criminal justice and psychology.

Smith was voted to the CoSIDA/GTE Academic All-District IV Softball Team for the first time in her career, and is eligible for Academic All-America Honors. Those teams will be announced next month.

Smith also headed the 1992 Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference All-Academic Softball First Team by being selected for a second straight season. Her average was the highest among the 10-member first team. She was selected as Wayne State's GLIAC Women's Scholar-Athlete for 1991-92, an award generally reserved for seniors.

The 5' 11" pitcher was also a force on the mound for Wayne. She compiled a 27-11 record in 39 appearances this year as the Tartars finished 37-20, were GLIAC champions, and made their sixth appearance in the NCAA Division II National Championships, where they finished in the top 12. She completed 25 of her 31 starts, recorded 109 strikeouts and a 1.31 earned run average. Her 109 strikeouts are third on the all-time list, just behind former Chelsea pitcher Kelly Hawker, who ranks both first and second with 148 and 120.

Smith set season records for games pitched (39), games started (31), complete games (25), victories (27), innings pitched (224), and hits allowed (190). Her won-loss percentage of .71 was the fifth-best mark in school history.

She was voted to the NCAA-II All-Central Region Second Team and the All-GLIAC First Team, and was twice named GLIAC Softball Player of the Week in 1992, the only Tartar to receive the award and the only player in the conference to receive it twice.

KASEY ANDERSON of Chelsea recently completed her degree in chemistry at Hillsdale College and graduated as class valedictorian with a 4.0 grade point average. She received the 1992 American Institute of Chemistry Senior Award and will begin post-graduate work at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland. While at Hillsdale she was a four-time cross country and track All-American. She was a member of the Lamplighters Women's Sorority, Sigma Zeta math/science honorary, and Omicron Delta Kappa, a leadership honorary. She is the daughter of Rudy and Linda Anderson of Chelsea.

Boys Track Team Takes Big Step Up in Conference Meet

It's been a long, strange trip for the Chelsea Bulldogs boys track team over the years, coach but Pat Clarke's group made it out of the cellar for the first time in recent memory with their sixth-place finish in the Southeastern Conference meet last week.

"We have a very young team and we made a nice comeback this season," Clarke said.

"We are very happy to be out of the basement. We are making a lot of improvement."

Chelsea, with 31½ points, finished just ahead of the Dexter Dreadnaughts with 29. Lincoln won the meet easily with 92 points, followed by Tecumseh with 76, Saline with 73½, Pinckney with 59, and Milan with 38.

Chelsea senior Jon Royce, battling back from a knee injury which kept him out most of the season, set a league record in the high jump at 6' 7" and was the team's only conference champion. He also placed fifth in the long jump at 19' 11½".

Other Chelsea placers were as follows.

Shot put: 2. Mike Terpstra, 51' 3½"; 3. David Beeman, 50' 4½".

Discus: 3. Beeman, 142' 6".

3200 relay: 6. Dan Zatkovich, Cory Brown, Scott Hawley, Ryan Schult, 8:34.

800 relay: 4. Cory Brown, Hans Kemnitz, Dana Schmunk, Jason Garrigus, 1:38.3.

400 relay: 6. Kevin Kolodica, Martin Cheng, Kemnitz, Garrigus, :48.

400: 5. Royce, :53.5.

300 hurdles: 6. Schmunk, :44.9.

3200: 7. Schult (not an official place but his best time of the year), 10:14.5.

1600 relay: Garrigus, Cory Brown, Hawley, Royce.

MIKE TERPSTRA, right, will represent the Chelsea Bulldogs track team at the state meet this week-end in Grand Rapids. He and David Beeman, not pictured, will compete in the shot put. Jon Royce, left, recently got back on track from a knee injury to set a Southeastern Conference record in the high jump at 6' 7". Unfortunately, his return came too late for competition in the state meet, although he is probably the best jumper in Michigan.

CATCHER ADAM TAYLOR pivots to make a snap throw to first base during last Thursday's home game against the Lincoln Railsplitters in pre-district play. Taylor and the Bulldogs will host Dexter at the Chelsea field this Saturday at about 12:30 in the semi-finals of the district tournament.

Sports Physical Exams Scheduled for June 10

Sports physicals for all Chelsea students entering grades six through twelve for the 1992-1993 school year are scheduled for Wednesday, June 10.

These examinations are intended to detect any significant health problems which would prevent a student from participating in athletics, as well as to meet the Michigan High School Athletic Association guidelines requiring an annual physical.

This is not intended to serve as a substitute for a comprehensive health evaluation by your regular physician.

The physical examinations will be performed at the University of Michigan Family Practice Center, 775 S. Main St., according to the following schedule:

Last Name Begins With:	Report At:
A - E	2:00 P.M.
F - J	2:30 P.M.
K - O	3:00 P.M.
P - T	3:30 P.M.
U - Z	4:00 P.M.

The fee for the sports physical will be $5 to be paid at the time of the examination. Sports physical forms will be available at the high school, Beach Middle school, and the athletic director's office, after May 30.

It is each student's responsibility to obtain a form, have a health history portion completed and signed by his/her parent or guardian, complete the school district athletic department portion of the form, and present the COMPLETED form to the physician at the time of the physical.

Action Grants To Help Area's Displaced Workers

State Labor Director Lowell W. Perry has announced two special Action Grants to the Washtenaw County Job Training and Placement Division to assist workers affected by a plant closing and by a major layoff at another business. Perry said the money will be used to provide job placement and readjustment services to the workers.

Washtenaw county has been awarded a $25,000 grant to assist 120 workers laid off by Spring Arbor Distributors on Textile Rd. in Ypsilanti township. The second grant is for $15,000 to provide services to 58 workers displaced by the closing of J. Abraham and Son warehouse distributors in Scio township.

"The Action Grant program is part of Governor Engler's effort to provide critical adjustment services to displaced workers," Perry said. He added that experience has shown that the earlier workers are assisted in a layoff or plant closing, the earlier they are re-employed. Action Grants are administered by the Labor Department's Rapid Response Unit in the Governor's Office for Job Training.

School Board Notes

Present at a regular meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday, May 18, were Comeau, Satterthwaite, Diesing, McCalla, Knutsen, Redding, superintendent Piasecki, assistant superintendent Mills, principals Mead, Stielstra, Stieber, Wescott, assistant principal Rossi, community education director Tracy, curriculum director Bissell, guests.

Meeting called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Anne Comeau.

Entered as official communications were letters from two district residents relative to the Channel One program available through Whittle Communications.

Assistant superintendent (for Special Education) Bill Miller, of the Washenaw Intermediate School District, was present at the meeting to give an overview of the special education millage request which will be on the June 8 ballot. The last request for special education millage was in 1987, at which time a five-year plan was established to stabilize funding for the local districts. A total of 287 Chelsea students presently receive special education services.

Principal Lucy Stieber reported on the Chrysler "partnership" program, whereby approximately 15 volunteers give one hour per week to helping students/teachers at South school. The program has been a very positive experience, and it is hoped that it may be extended to both elementary schools in the future.

Community Education director Jackie Tracy reported on the Cassidy Lake adult education program which is funded through the Willow Run Consortium. Four teachers are involved five nights per week to prepare the boot camp students for the G.E.D. test. The program offers a positive learning experience for these students.

In action items, the board:

- adopted a resolution for the borrowing of $3.5 million tax anticipation notes for operating expenses
- approved the recall of Janet Alford to a teaching position for the 1992-93 school year (possible because of the retirement of a teacher)
- approved the Board of Education Mission Statement
- approved the election inspectors for the June 8 election
- approved the Curriculum Development Plan
- approved the suspension of a middle school student until the beginning of the 1992-93 school year
- went on record in support of the WISD special education millage request.

Meeting adjourned at 9:27 p.m.

Sister Pat To Retire After 24 Years of Service

After 24 years of service to St. Mary's Catholic church, Sister Patricia Weigang is retiring due to health problems.

Sister Pat came to Chelsea in August of 1968 as principal of St. Mary's school. When the school closed in 1972, she became co-ordinator of the religious education program. She's still at work, getting her final first communion class to the altar and preparing graduating seniors for the baccalaureate mass.

She has been an active member of both the parish and the community. She is an honorary member of the Knights of Columbus Auxiliary, the Parish Council, and she served on the Parish Affairs Committee. She has also lent her voice to many church and bereavement services.

Sister Pat entered the Dominican Order in Adrian on Jan. 25, 1953 and made her profession as a Dominican nun on Aug. 4, 1954. Before coming to Chelsea, she taught in Lansing, Mason, and Ypsilanti. She still enjoys teaching, and now has some of her first students' children in class.

In her free time, she enjoys bowling, bingo, and family cook-outs. An open house will be held in Sister Pat's honor on Sunday, June 14 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at St. Mary's Parish Center, 400 Congdon St. A brief program will begin at 2:30 p.m.

From the people who brought you the 1988 Christian film of the year, "A Man Called Norman," comes a new powerful and poignant story of a young frightened Christian family who God lovingly and patiently encouraged to grow from fear to faith ... of the faithfulness of God to His people if they will obey ... of giving with integrity. You'll love to laugh and try not to cry and surely understand the challenge, struggle and eventual triumph found in this true story. Your own life will be changed forever. ## YOU & YOUR PET

By Linda Reider

★ Leave Wild Animals In the Wild...

By Linda Reider

Few animals are as appealing as baby raccoons, skunks, rabbits, squirrels, etc. In the spring and summer, people frequently find injured or seemingly abandoned young wild animals and want to help them. While injured wild animals definitely need assistance and should be taken to the Humane Society (open seven days a week, phone 662-5585), many young wild creatures who appear to be abandoned are not. Watch any you find from a distance to see if the parent animal visits the youngster. Mother rabbits, for instance, only visit their nests twice a day, morning and evening, for short periods. Therefore, unattended nests of wild rabbits are normal. Only if no parent visits the youngster during an hour or more of watching, or if you can locate a dead parent animal nearby, should you intervene.

Young wild animals can often be raised to maturity by expert wildlife rehabilitators. These people know and have available the correct diets, medication, and housing for the individual species. They know how to handle the baby animals safely without imprinting upon them human characteristics. A baby raccoon or squirrel must be raised as a wild animal so that it may be returned to the wild as soon as possible. Most importantly, wildlife rehabilitators such as those who work with the local humane society, are licensed by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources to handle wild animals. It is illegal for an untrained, unlicensed person to raise wildlife.

Sadly, well-intentioned individuals frequently attempt to raise baby wildlife or keep wild animals as pets. While a tiny raccoon's playful antics are adorable at first, she quickly matures into a full-grown animal. Her partially-tamed unpredictable nature makes her an unsafe pet. She may be a carrier of rabies or transmit a deadly roundworm to her handlers. Since she has imprinted upon her human "parents," she can no longer be returned to the wild successfully once her charm has worn thin. Whether kept in a cage outside, released unprepared into the woods, or finally taken to the humane society, her future is bleak because of human intervention.

Wild animals in Michigan can only be owned by private citizens if they have obtained the necessary permit from the DNR. Even in these cases, they may not be taken from the wild, but must be legally obtained from a licensed breeder. Wild animals as pets are never a good idea, however. While dogs and cats have been domesticated by humans for thousands of years, a wild animal will never be as predictable or companionable a pet. Their housing, veterinary care, and diets are specific and often expensive.

If you have a desire to rehabilitate wild animals, you can learn the proper techniques and become licensed through attending the Humane Society of Huron Valley's annual training workshop, coming up in May. Call 662-5545 for information and reservations.

A dog is an excellent pet, but many canines develop behavior problems at some time during their lives. A special seminar sponsored by the humane society on April 26 at 2 p.m. will address such common problems as aggression, breaking housetraining, and destructive behavior. Call 662-5545 for details.

GRAND UNION FLAG, which flew over George Washington's headquarters on Jan. 1, 1776, was carried in Monday's Memorial Day parade by Chelsea veterans Gerry Wenk, left, and Charlie Winans.

HISTORIC American Flag featuring 13 stars was carried in Monday's Memorial Day Parade by Ron Zatorski, left, and Stan Montange. A similar flag will be part of a permanent display at Beach Middle school.

Q. SO WHAT SHOULD YOU DO IN A RECESSION?

A. First, be brave and don't cut the ad budget.

They're out for blood.

At first, it was only once a week. Then three times. Now they're out for blood every night. And they're not alone. They're just two of the thousands of people all over the country who are finally starting to do something about the disease that kills almost 32,000 Americans every year—and afflicts another 38 million. It's high blood pressure. And once you know you've got it, you can usually control it. By following your doctor's advice on exercise, weight control, salt intake, and medication. Talk to your doctor today about getting started on a program that will keep you out for blood. And in the running.

Q. I heard a guest on Wall Street Week say something that really caught my attention. He said of all the investment principles he had ever heard of or studied, there was one that stood out above the others. He said the most important thing any individual could do was simply to stay in the market. He didn't offer any explanation. Do you agree with him and could you explain why that is important?

A. For most individuals, that principle probably is very sound. There are two broad approaches to investing. In the first, often called market timing, the individual notices that stock prices move up and down by sizeable amounts and reasons that if he buys at the bottom and sells at the top and keeps repeating the process he will make a lot of money. That reasoning is irrefutable. If you buy at the low and sell at the high, you can't lose.

However, in practice no one has been able to consistently buy at the low and sell at the high. No one has been able to pick those spots successfully more than a few times. In actual practice, individuals miss the high and low points and consequently make less than if they caught those points. Some actually end up buying high and selling low.

Several studies of the market have done research studies which show that the individual who buys good quality stocks and holds them as long as they seem to have reasonable prospects of being worth substantially more five years in the future, do as well as or better than the investor who tries to time the market. These studies show market timers have to be right 80% of the time to do as well as these investors, who are often referred to as fundamental investors.

One of the important factors is that in most market moves, both up and down, a major part of the move, often 40% of most of the upward move, takes place within just a few days. If you are out of the market, waiting to determine if it is high or low, you will have missed a major part of the move. That is why being out of the market is dangerous and staying in the market is so important.

Investment Idea for Today's Investor Medicine Shoppe International, Inc. (MSII), OTC, 24 3/4 is the largest U.S. franchise of pharmacies. It tends to target the growing senior market. Annual revenues are about $40 million a year. Earnings are growing at about 16% a year.

The recent price of 24 3/4 is down 19% from the 52-week high of 30 3/4. Officers and directors control about 32% of the common stock.

The $0.36 annual dividend yields only 1.5%.

Grillin' for Food Gatherers Benefit Helps Fight Hunger

On Sunday, June 7, from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m., co-sponsors Casey's Tavern and Zingerman's Delicatessen will present the third annual "Grillin' for Food Gatherers." This benefit dinner is held outdoors in the "courtyard" at Casey's Tavern. The event will feature fabulous food and drink, music by a variety of local performers, special activities for children, and a relaxed spirit of fun and community involvement.

Grillin' for Food Gatherers will be held outside Casey's Tavern, 304 Depot St., Ann Arbor. Casey's manager Dick Schubach is excited—"Food Gatherers is a great cause, and Grillin' is a great party! We're glad we can help with the fight against hunger." The menu will feature grilled specialties, including a vegetarian option, tasty summer side dishes, dessert, and a selection of fine beers and wines.

This year's Grillin' includes special activities for children between the hours of 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. Parents are encouraged to bring the whole family.

Food Gatherers invites you to purchase tickets to attend this special fund-raising dinner. The ticket price is $40. A child's ticket is $3. 100% of the ticket proceeds go directly to Food Gatherers' fight against hunger in Washtenaw county. Last year's Grillin' raised more than $15,000. This year's goal is $22,500. Each $40 ticket purchased makes it possible for Food Gatherers to rescue and distribute enough food to provide a meal for 100 people.

Food Gatherers is the food rescue program serving Washtenaw county. Its mission is to glean food from the community for the use of agencies feeding people in need. In 1991, Food Gatherers collected over 250,000 lbs. of nutritious food from 79 local businesses and delivered it to 38 different community agencies in the Ann Arbor/Ypsilanti area, as well as sites in Pontiac, Jackson, and Detroit.

For further information about Food Gatherers or "Grillin' for Food Gatherers," contact: Lisa DeYoung, director of Food Gatherers, (313) 761-2798.

Old Days On the Farm

The Men's Club hosted a program "Models of Yesteryear's Farm Equipment" the evening of April 20 for the men and women of the Home. The program was presented by Paul Kleinschmidt of Dexter and included a talk on farm life early in this century, and a most remarkable display of scale model farm implements with how they were used on the farm. The display has been featured in the magazine "Early American Life" and nearly all of us could remember using or watching these machines in action in our early days.

Most of the models, beautifully hand-crafted by Paul, were more than a foot long and many had teams of horses with full harness. The following are some that were shown: wagons for different purposes, equipment for haying, harvesting grains such as the old binders, threshing machines, sleighs for pleasure and for logging, and even an old type cream separator.

To conclude the program, there was a replica of the old schoolhouse that Paul attended. It was built as he remembered it, including the interior. He removed the roof and one side to show details of desks, tables, book cases and stove. Everything in detail. Many of the ladies, who had been school teachers came up to examine the room in detail. This type of program is always enjoyed as most of our people have spent some of their lives there.

The slate of officers of the club was incomplete, so a complete report on business and future programs will come later.

The Men's Quartet has been invited to sing at the North Central Jurisdictional Conference of the United Methodist Church convening at Adrian College on July 16. The conference is composed of delegates from eight north central states.

Some Nice Antiques

We have quite a few folks who have antiques in their rooms in the Retirement Community, and we would like to write about one this month. At Rose Reske's room we find a large collection. She has brought lots of things from her former antique shop near Detroit, to keep her company in D-303. She does not sell, but will show them and give you some of their history.

As you enter, a large four-poster bed with a canopy fills your view. Rose explains that the bed, which is about 200 years old, and in excellent condition, came over from England in a sailing ship. A few people now have the modern version in their homes. They used to have side curtains to keep out the cold. A colorful item is a large double globe, hand-painted, oil lamp. This may be worth $750 and brings to mind some simple oil lamps all over the land, before electricity. There are upholstered straight chairs, very old with hand carving, very expensive. These look sturdy enough to be in use. What is this little gadget, that looks a little like an old pair of shears? It's a candle snuffer. Marble top tables are also getting scarce.

It's worth a visit just to see the large Cinderella Carriage, complete with horses. There is a possibility that this came from George Washington's home. You can see from this and all the other hundreds of small objects that they have had good care for a long time. It must take lots of time just to keep dust off of everything. We should mention all the artificial flowers all around. Maybe I have given away her trade mark. Just look around the dining room and find the lady with the flower in her hair. That's Rose!

Backroom Society

Our large sitting room was pretty well filled with residents when "The Backroom Society" came on the evening of April 28 with a fine program of music. The three members of the band had bluegrass, country, western and some old time tunes for us. They had lots of songs that we knew. They have a crazy name, but beautiful music.

Spelling Bee

Thirty residents took part in an evening of fun—a spelling bee—on Thursday night, April 9 in the gym. The contest was conducted quite similar to those of our early school days. One team against another. This time men against women.

Dwight Brown, the MC, lined up all the men, about 10, and the same number of women. The word announcer and score keeper, were appointed. The rules were simple: The contestant was given two chances to spell the word and if spelled right, they got one point for their team. If the word went to the other team, and still was misspelled, then the word was thrown out. Each team performed much better than elderly seniors might be expected to even though it was a strain on our mental capacity. The folks in the audience were given a chance along towards the last and they also did well.

A few of the words that they threw at us follow: octave, subjective, ebony, calcium, magnificent, energize, quantity, onyx. The highlight of the program was when nearly everyone that tried to spell "Hallelujah" failed. A Merriam dictionary dated 1975 gives this spelling. Another Webster's dated 1984 gives this way and another. Your reporter went down on the word 'ebony'. We ought to be thinking about another BEE. We enjoyed this one.

Try Mini Golf

Our new mini-golf course has not been crowded at any time that this reporter has happened to go by. Maybe we should have some resident tours out that way, now that we are getting some spring weather. Although I have only been out a few times, I can testify that it's fun. The putters and balls may be borrowed at the receptionist's office, or bring your own. The course is a one-minute walk from the Kresge entrance. Even a beginner can play 9 holes in less than one-half hour. Par is 2 strokes a hole. Play alone or bring friends. Have a happy round!

HAPPINESS

Happiness is like a butterfly. The more you chase it, the more it eludes you. But if you turn your attention to other things—it comes and softly sits on your shoulder.

A Pennsylvania Easter

David had spent a week doubting his tractor. It is an old Ferguson, made in England, and sold in Pennsylvania before the Ford Company took over, to build a lot of tractors using the Ferguson system. David is a school man, but he also has a small Pennsylvania farm where he raises a few sheep and other assorted livestock. He was spending a busy hour on the day before Easter, shearing one of the sheep. This took quite a while, as David doesn't like to hurt the sheep with his sharp shears.

"My tractor needs a new distributor cap," he explained. "And I don't know where to get one." Further discussion revealed that it must be the cap. He had replaced the coil, the breaker points, and the condenser. But the tractor would not start.

While he sheared, we looked over his barn, one that had apparently been built well over 150 years ago, one of the first of the standard Pennsylvania Dutch barns. The timbers in the basement were cut before any sawmills were in use; merely roughed out with the pioneering axe.

But it wasn't the distributor cap, nor the spark coil, nor the condenser. We suggested that perhaps the gas tank contained a little water, as well as fuel? Well, his neighbor had given him four gallons from his storage, and maybe...

Yes, a bit of Drygas added to the tank, and the machine worked fine. The bit of a chip in the fabric of the distributor cap wasn't really a problem, but being irreplaceable it was a worry.

And that's part of what I did on my "Spring Break." There may be a moral here someplace.

A Little History

The Garden Apartments and the Crippen Bldg. were dedicated on May 14, 1972. Other May 1972 happenings: The Chelsea Home W.C.T.U. met in the Chapel, April 4. There was a report on the World Convention of that group in Chicago.

The Ladies Prayer Group was held every week. The Men's Club met every week at 10 a.m.

Then in 1975...

Students from Eastern Michigan University were here to help our hand of hearing residents. They recommended that people OPEN THEIR MOUTH when talking; WATCH THE PERSON you are talking to; and SPEAK DISTINCTLY.

The Ladies Prayer Group met every week in May.

The Men's Prayer Group is not listed for the month.

Shuffle Board was listed for every Monday and every Saturday.

Always Use Care Around Manure Tanks

The Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA) reminds all farmers to use specialized personal protective equipment when working around covered manure storage pits or tanks.

When agitated, animal waste gives off methane, hydrogen sulfide, ammonia and carbon dioxide. Hydrogen sulfide is toxic and is heavier than air, and will displace oxygen just above the surface of the liquid. As few as two inhalations of a high concentration of hydrogen sulfide can result in immediate loss of consciousness.

Farmers are advised to use special equipment consisting of a self-contained breathing apparatus (SCBA), a lifeline, a lift harness and a tripod, if entering a tank. The equipment should be used regardless of the temperature or humidity, or whether the tanks are full or empty.

The Michigan Co-operative Extension Service lists four safety measures to take when working around manure pits. These precautions include: testing the air for hydrogen sulfide with dependable and reliable equipment; having constant and abundant ventilation of fresh air; using an approved harness or lifeline on the person entering the tank with at least two people outside the tank capable of pulling the person out; and, having an approved pulley and tripod ready to remove anyone who has passed out in the tank opening.

The National Safety Council ranks agricultural occupations as the most hazardous in the nation, with 48 deaths per 100,000 workers. From 20 to 25 farm-related deaths are recorded annually in Michigan.

For more information, residents should call their local county co-operative extension agency.

CERTIFICATES OF ACHIEVEMENT were recently presented to Beach Middle school eighth graders Sara Mead, left, and Ana Morrel-Samidell, right, by the National Council of Teachers of English for their performance in the 1992 Promising Young Writers Program. Only 17 students in Michigan were among the 400 so honored nationally by the council. Nearly 2,000 eighth graders entered the competition. The number of students who may enter the program from each school is determined by enrollment, and the number of certificates awarded per state is determined by the size of the state's delegation in the U.S. House of Representatives. The students wrote impromptu essays and submitted samples of their best work.

Jeff Daniels Addresses Economic Breakfast Club

Jeff Daniels, successful actor and playwright, was the guest speaker at the Chelsea Economic Breakfast Club meeting held May 20 at the Common Grill. Jeff spoke particularly about the Purple Rose Theatre Company and how proud he is to be a new business in town which attracts visitors who attend the plays, have supper in the restaurants and browse the candy and gift shops.

The Purple Rose opened in February, 1991 with the production of "Shoe Man — the Big Finish" which Jeff wrote.

In 15 months they have sold 22,000 tickets for a gross of $300,000, and the Garage Theatre only seats about 110.

The producers have auditioned 1,000 actors, received 500 scripts from all over the U.S. and are now talking to film producers and to people who hope to take some of the plays on the road.

In spite of the success of each play, the board of advisors must count on contributors for at least a third of the annual budget.

"The Purple Rose is more than just a little theatre in a little town," remarked Daniels. "In addition to attracting actors from all over the state, there are student apprentices from U.

of M. and E.M.U. who have an opportunity to work with these professional actors, gaining invaluable experience." Jeff was very complimentary of the calibre of performer he has worked with in Chelsea, especially in contrast with some highly paid movie stars who he found to be anything but professional.

Recalling his nine years in New York City, Jeff admitted to taking tickets, sweeping floors and whatever else needed doing as an apprentice at the Circle Repertory Theatre. He found living in the city difficult and considered it a lucky day when the family could return to Chelsea.

Jeff reminded the audience that "The Tropical Pickle" is now playing at the Garage Theatre, featuring some fine, professional talent in the comedy he wrote which will run through June 28.
