MARY HARRIS, right, was honored last Tuesday by Chelsea Village Council for her many year of service to Sylvan township and the village. Harris has served as township clerk since 1980 and was village treasurer from 1980-84. According to the Resolution of Appreciation passed by council, Harris has also helped with elections, clerk responsibilities, and has offered helpful advice. Harris has decided not to seek re-election this fall. Village president Richard Steele, center, read the resolution and presented Harris with a bouquet of flowers. Left is village clerk Suzanne Morrison.

Landfill Agreement Approved By All Five Governments in Pact

An agreement for sharing landfill expenses has been approved by all five governmental units involved in the negotiations for the last two years.

Sylvan and Lima township boards, the first to approve the pact with the village, were quickly followed last week by Lyndon and Dexter township boards and the Chelsea village council.

Language of the final agreement has to be drawn up by attorneys for each side. And negotiations could continue on some minor points.

However, the major items in the agreement have been approved.

The townships and village will each pay 50 percent of short-term costs, an estimated total of $542,000 as of March 1.

The townships' 50 percent share would be divided so that Dexter pays 17.5 percent, Sylvan and Lyndon pay 11.25 percent each, and Lima pays 10 percent. The splits were based on historical use of the landfill by residents in each township.

The townships agreed to pay their shares in three installments over three years.

Based on the $542,000 figure, Dexter would owe about $31,000 each year, Sylvan and Lyndon would owe about $20,000 each, and Lima township would owe about $18,000. The townships' shares would be paid to the village, which has already covered the expenses. Village manager Jack Myers said the money would be deposited into the village's new capital contingency fund, with the idea that they would be used to close out the new landfill.

The costs cover monitoring and engineering expenses related to the closing of the old portion of the landfill. The new landfill is exempt from the agreement because the village did not sign a contract with the townships for use of the facility.

Long-term expenses, which could run for 30 years, will be paid 70 percent by the village and 30 percent by the townships. The expenses are subject to negotiations with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. They will cover continued monitoring costs as well as any clean-up expenses.

The townships will divide those expenses according to the same formula. Lima will pay 6 percent, Sylvan and Lyndon will pay 6.75 percent each, and Dexter will pay 10.5 percent.

The primary area of disagreement is over how much say the townships will have in the village's negotiations with the DNR. The townships want some sort of voting rights rather than just the right to participate.

"Maybe they'd like to pay 50 percent [of the long-term expenses]," village trustee Gary Bentley said last Tuesday.

Village trustee Frank Hammer said he'd like to see a clause requiring representation from the townships at every meeting with the DNR, so the townships would have no question about the process.

Industrial Park Broker Quits, Troy Company Makes Its Pitch

The village's industrial park real estate broker has resigned his position and recommended a Troy-based company to take his place.

Michael Sholtz, president of Commercial Real Estate Concepts of Ann Arbor, gave no reason for his resignation but said he is "very sorry" that no lots were sold during the year and a half he had the park listing.

Village officials had been growing increasingly frustrated with Sholtz, who officials said was extremely difficult to reach. They were dismayed that his telephone had been disconnected. He also had not been delivering promised reports and updates.

Sholtz cited a large glut of available existing industrial buildings as a barrier to selling lots in the park.

Two representatives of Farban/Stein & Co. of Troy were introduced to village council. In their brief presentation, Geoffrey Greensien and David Ethernio said they are specialists in sales of industrial property and that their philosophy is to "pound the pavement" and "knock on doors" to sell lots, rather than wait for potential buyers to respond to advertisements or mailings. They said that at $22,500 per acre the lots are "accurately priced." They said that every two or three weeks they would report on their efforts to sell lots.

Council said it wants a written proposal before deciding whether to sign a contract with the new company.

The park is 79 acres and more than half the lots remain to be sold.

State School Budget Affects Chelsea as Officials Anticipated

The state's school aid budget will affect the Chelsea School District just about the way district officials had anticipated when they designed their 1992-93 budget.

According to figures submitted by state Sen. Lana Pollack's office, Chelsea will receive the same amount in categorical state aid, $535,000, as it did in 1991-92. That money pays for some special education expenses and other mandated programs.

The state will pay $711,000 in social security payments for school employees, up from $668,000, and $729,000 in payments to the state retirement fund for district employees, up from $598,000.

The district is scheduled to lose about $57,000 to tax base sharing.

Pollack said she has proposed legislation to cut property taxes by about 30 percent "for an average home" and raise the state income tax from 4.8 to 6 percent to make up the difference. The proposal, which would provide an estimated $1.8 billion in property tax relief, is sitting in committee, she said.

"The effort grew out of the meeting we had with the group of citizens from Chelsea," Pollack said.

"This is wholly doable. It doesn't require a vote and it makes up for the lost revenue from the property tax cut, which other proposals don't do."

Pollack said her proposal isn't likely to get much consideration until after the November elections.

Farmers Market Gives Report To Council

Chelsea Farmers' Market continues to thrive in its new location, according to co-manager Sandy Barkman in her status report to village council.

Her report indicated there are four vendors who have signed up for the full season and between 5-10 vendors on any given week. She said she anticipates more vendors as growers begin to have more produce.

Barkman said the re-location of the market to the northeast corner of the eastern Municipal Parking Lot is becoming less of a problem as more people find the market. She said parking is plentiful and she told council she believes people are more inclined to shop elsewhere downtown because of the easy parking.

The report indicated the market has spent $542.88 for advertising, $13 in bank charges, and $10.28 for supplies. Stall rental income through July 8 was $1,000.

City Committee Begins Collecting Information

A committee studying whether the Village of Chelsea should become a home rule city continues to collect information on a variety of relevant topics.

Last week the committee, chaired by Jack Merkel of Merkel's Home Furnishings, held its second meeting. It continues to meet every two weeks, with the next meeting scheduled for July 29 at BookCrafters, Inc. The committee has been directed to make a firm recommendation to village council by the end of the year.

One of the major areas of concern is how the change could affect Sylvan township, which has nearly half its tax base within the village limits. A change to city status means the township would lose its tax base within the city limits. That would be a significant loss. Based on current values, the township's SEV would drop from $163.1 million to $83.6 million, primarily because the village's entire business district, as well as most of its homes, are in Sylvan.

Lima township would be in a similar position, although far less drastic. That township's SEV would drop from $63.7 million to $54.8 million.

"It's a very sensitive subject," Merkel said this week.

Among other information the committee is collecting are charters from other municipalities that have recently made the switch. Mattawan and Clarkston are two of them.

Committee member Bill Nuffer, president of BookCrafters, Inc., said one of the reasons villages often make the change is as a defensive move to hold off an encroaching charter township.

"We don't have that situation here," Nuffer said.

"From what I understand, over the years the village and townships have had pretty co-operative relationships."

The committee is also beginning to study how organizational relationships within the city government would change. Village manager Jack Myers produced an organizational chart this week for the group's use. One question is whether operations would be smoother and whether it would be financially advantageous to have an assessor and board of review, as well as an appointed clerk and treasurer. Assessing is now handled by the townships and the clerk and treasurer are part-time, elected officials who often have more work than they can handle easily.

Increased financial flexibility is one of the major advantages of becoming a city. Both entities may levy up to 20 mills, but categorical limits are specified for a village (12.5 mills for operations, 2.5 mills for cemeteries, and 5 mills for streets), but not for a city. Chelsea does not have a dedicated millage for either cemeteries or streets.

Businesses probably wouldn't be affected much by a change, unless tax rates were to increase, Nuffer said.

Chelsea already has services common to cities—fire and police departments, public works department, and trash service—and others, such as an electrical utility that are not typical.

"I believe cities have more freedom to operate and have more autonomy," Merkel said.

School To Start Tuesday, Sept. 1, Negotiations Continue

Key issues still have to be resolved between the Chelsea School District and the Chelsea Education Association in their continuing contract talks.

However, one agreement that has apparently been reached is the official first day of school, said superintendent Joe Piasecki.

The sides have agreed that the first day for students will be Tuesday, Sept. 1 and the first day for teachers will be Monday, Aug. 31. Those dates have to be included in the final contract.

Piasecki said Tuesday morning that the union is considering the district's latest proposals on other aspects of the contract, and that the union may reply this week.

He said the sides still have not agreed on how much of a raise teachers will receive this year. There are also language issues to be resolved.

"I think we're getting real close," Piasecki said.

"We have resolved most of the issues raised and our discussions have been very cordial."

OWL PELLETS were studied last week by children in the Waterloo Recreation Area Project at the Eddy Geology Center. The pellets are formed when owls eat their prey whole then regurgitate the bones. Children used tweezers to pull the pellets apart and study the bones. Left is Emily Morgan and right is Jenna Haas. The project, which completed its second year, is funded by the non-profit Chelsea Education Foundation.

Response Surpasses Goal for College Savings Bonds

The state has sold $19.7 million in tax-exempt college savings bonds to 4,088 individuals, which Treasurer Doug Roberts said represents an overwhelmingly positive response to the new program.

The small denominations that were sold were set aside within the $800 million Quality of Life bond issue approved by voters in 1988 for environmental and recreational uses.

The Engler administration, which developed the bond program after suspending new enrollments in the Michigan Education Trust, initially hoped between $5 million and $10 million in bonds would be sold, Roberts said.

The administration contended that MET was not financially sound in part due to prior underestimates of tuition increases.

"Michigan College Savings Bonds accomplished exactly what we had hoped in terms of providing an affordable program for middle income families to save for future college costs," Roberts said.

The program was completed in June and additional bonds may not be issued without voter approval. Most of the bonds sold with a face value of $5,000, while a portion were sold as mini-bonds with a face value of $1,000. Individual investors normally are not able to purchase state-issued bonds because they are sold in much larger denominations.

"It demonstrated not only that parents are serious about savings for their children's future education costs, but that they are also willing to invest in the future of Michigan," said Governor John Engler.

The bonds, which will be worth $42.3 million when they mature did not have to be used for college, but 69 percent were purchased for that reason. Another 19 percent were sold to persons saving for retirement. Children were the primary beneficiaries of the bonds, while grandchildren comprised 25 percent.

Roberts said the response to the program illustrates the public's concern about the rising cost of higher education in Michigan. Since tuition levels are difficult to control, families are trying to set aside as much as possible, he added.

The average purchase made was $4,819, with the mini-bonds sold to 1,617 individuals for as low as $275 apiece and the larger bonds sold to 2,471 persons for about $1,500 apiece.

Based on information volunteered from those who purchased the bonds, 57 percent earned between $35,000 and $75,000 annually, 35 percent earned more and 8 percent earned less.

And, while individuals who missed this opportunity to invest have to wait for the Quality of Life or a smaller bond issue to be approved by voters, there is still hope the MET program will be resurrected if proven viable and the courts find it cannot be taxed by the federal government.

"MET is not dead," Roberts said. "It's just the numbers don't justify reopening it right now."

AAA Demands Petitions Be Sent To Legislature Without Certification
Facing a time crunch that could keep its auto insurance reform proposal off this year's ballot, AAA Michigan officials demanded the issue be transmitted to the Legislature for consideration without waiting for a determination of the sufficiency of valid signatures on petitions.

A letter sent to Secretary of State Richard Austin by AAA attorneys contends the constitution and state law do not require verification of the signatures before a proposed initiated law is given to the Legislature.

The novel legal argument contradicts long-standing practice by the state to transmit proposals to the Legislature only when certified as having sufficient voter signatures.

The proposal would have to be transmitted to the Legislature by July 24 in order to meet the Sept. 3 deadline to certify issues for the 1992 ballot.

Initiated laws go on the ballot unless the Legislature approves the bill within the 40-day period it is allotted under the constitution for consideration of such proposals. The Board of State Canvassers canceled a recent meeting and is not scheduled to meet until July 24.

"As the official with whom initiative petitions are filed, the secretary of state has legal duty to timely submit the proposal to the Legislature regardless of whether the State Board of Canvassers has completed its statutory duties," said attorneys Michael Hodge and Peter Ellsworth in their joint letter.

They requested he transmit the proposal immediately.

A spokeswoman for Austin said a legal opinion on the issue was immediately sought from Attorney General Frank Kelley. Elizabeth Boyd said the department hopes for "an expeditious response" that would be received prior to July 24.

John Pirich, attorney for the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association and others opposed to the AAA proposal, confirmed a challenge would be brought "on a multiple basis."

He said the argument that a proposal should be transmitted to the Legislature without certification of sufficiency of signatures "stands 30 years of history on its head."

In a separate letter to Michael Pyne, chair of the board, the AAA attorneys requested an earlier meeting to schedule a deadline for challenges that would assure resolution of the issues by July 24.

"I can see the board coming up to July 23 and concluding there is not sufficient time to resolve challenges in one day," Ellsworth said. He said AAA is prepared to file a lawsuit to force legislative consideration of the proposal in a time frame that permits the issue to make it on this year's ballot.

AAA submitted some 634,267 petition signatures on June 9, and Ellsworth said, "Seven weeks ought to be plenty of time." Initiated laws must be supported by 205,166 valid voter signatures.

"However, I haven't even begun to put weight on either side of the issue." The village last considered city status in 1958, when the change was voted down in a referendum.

Other members of the committee include village trustees Tom Dorer and Brian Cashman, realtor Helen Lancaster, attorney Stanley Burke, Chamber of Commerce director Ann Feeney, automobile dealer George Palmer, and county parks director Fred Barkley.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:
Zeke Grubb come to the session at the country store Saturday night with a followup clipping to the one on the agender recent where Atlanta schools has a rule that ever administrator has to spend part of ever year teaching to get some idee of what he was administering. Zeke had saw where a judge in Martinsburg, W. Va. had sentenced a woman to a month in the second grade.

The move was a streak of genius, Zeke said. The woman's son missed so much school that the school system filed a complaint against her. The judge figured the unusual sentence would get the boy in school with his Ma, and she would come to realize what her child was missing.

They say everthing that goes around comes around, Zeke allowed, but some of it gets stuck on the back side. We're not ready to say we are moving into a whole new field with this notion of getting people more personal involved in their duties. For sure, he said, making folks live up to their responsibilities would make the world a better place. But first try it in politics, and if it works there it'll work anywhere.

This is the promising season, Zeke said, and the way the game is played candidates look folks straight in the eyes, shake their hands and promise everbody everthing with the understanding they are not to be held to anything onct the votes are counted. There is not a candidate at any level that ain't promising to do his level best to cut down on the size of Government at all levels. He and everbody else know that if he gets elected and keeps any of his other promises he's bound to make the Government bigger.

Zeke recalled this fellow running for a town council in Georgia. He said he had two planks in his platform, to put curbing in front of his house and to clean out a ditch behind it. He lost. Actual, Zeke went on, there are two people in ever politician, the one that wants in and the one that's in. The one that wants in is everybody's friend and he wants everbody to know all about him. The one that's in operates on the mushroom growing plan. He keeps everbody in the dark and feeds em nothing but fertilizer.

Practical speaking, broke in Bug Hookum, politics is played like a proam golf tournament. The candidate is the professional and the voter is the amateur. They play by the same set of rules, but the rules have different meanings for each. Some years ago, Bug recalled, the Liars Club announced it couldn't take in anybody holding elected Government office because the club was for folks that lied for fun, not for a living.

General speaking, Bug went on, the smaller the job the more likely the office holder is to tell the truth. First, he's right there where everbody can get to him at the cafe and the post office mornings and church on Sunday. Second, he won't be able to blame everbody else in the state legislature and in Congress for the damage he helped to do.

Personal, I'm like the GI that got tired of his foxhole buddy griping about the cold, the rain and the noise. He told him if he knowed of a better hole, to go to it. For all the promising and backsliding, politics in this country still can work like a self-cleaning oven. It gets all messy while it's doing the job, but it has a built-in system that can give us the kind of leaders we deserve.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

EDUCATION RESEARCH

Prepared by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP), Reston, Va.

★ Teaching Ethics in the Public Schools . . .
Reston (Va.)—Public schools should assist in the teaching of ethics in their curriculum, according to the U.S. Secretary of Education.
"We must do whatever is necessary to ensure that future generations of Americans respect and honor the moral heritage on which this nation was founded," Lauró F. Cavazos recently wrote in the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP) monthly journal.
"When it comes to teaching ethics in the public schools, the question often arises as to which values or whose values are to be taught," he indicated. "I find that question puzzling. For the assumption on which that question is based is that we as a society have no values in common; nothing we hold to be worth inculcating in every school child."
Cavazos contended that there are values which the United States traditionally has held dear.
"Do we not, as a society, respect the truth? Have we no regard for justice? Is courage something for the athletic field alone? And what about virtue?"
Recent surveys show that youngsters learn values primarily from television and their peers and that many students would copy examination answers from a peer. These facts point out the need for schools to assist in teaching ethics.
"I do not mean to suggest that there should be regular time set aside for teaching ethical values, or that there is one single ethics curriculum that works best," Cavazos wrote. "My purpose, rather, is to point out the importance of nurturing in all our children—regardless of their cultural heritage, race, or religion—that ethical conscience that must be developed for them to function as full citizens in this democracy."
"The clear need for ethics instruction in the schools is amply demonstrated by statistics showing that our country has the highest rate of juvenile crime, teen-age pregnancy, and drug abuse in the world."
"As a nation, we ought to be embarrassed! And we ought to take whatever steps are necessary."

"THE PAJAMA GAME"

Broadway's St. James Theatre on May 13, 1994, welcomed the opening of a new musical, "The Pajama Game," featuring the debut of several unknowns. Critics frowned doubtfully about a musical based upon management vs. labor in a struggle for 7 1/2 cents an hour.

However, critics fell to praise the new Broadway success with six raves and one favorable, hailing a run of 1,063 performances prior to continued success on the road for years to come. Why don't we see "Pajama Game" done more frequently in community theatre or regional professional theatre? John Chapman of the New York Daily News captured the answer for: "It is difficult to take bunches of actors, songs, scenery, and dancers, throw in a spot of plot and come out with a Broadway show that is first class. This is no task for amateurs..."

For Chelsea Area Players to attack this wonderfully funny musical certainly evidences a top-notch professional fortitude. Because of the demands vocally (and it is very demanding) our local stars sometimes faltered in delivery. "Pajama Game" demands fast development of character, and in some cases the local Thespians dramatically stumbled prior to reaching acceptable levels.

Set in a pajama factory, Hines (Michael Weiss) sings "Pajama Game," explaining he is one of the finest time-study men in the business as we observe women at sewing machines turning out pajamas. Prez (David C. Bloom) is married, sex starved ogler of the first class and also the union president. Into this melee comes Sid Sorokin (Jeremy Guenther) who needs to prove himself as the new superintendent of the pajama works.

In his first round of duties, Sid asks First Helper (Ben Williams) to bring him a screw driver and in his immediate need to get the instrument he shoves the First Helper out of the way. A grievance!

Heading the Grievance Committee is single and vivacious Babe Williams (Jean Leverich) who confronts Sid both with her presence and with the problem at hand. Sid and Babe immediately fall into love: management versus union.

Attempting to hold the business together because of an anticipated strike for a 7 1/2 cents an hour increase in wages, Sid is faced with a mercurial boss, a slowdown of workers, a pending strike and most of all, success (which thus far has eluded him) on this job.

Sid, by courting Gladys (Lori Wetzel) at Hernandez's Hideaway, gets the key to the records which indicate an approved raise has been on the books for over six months. Sid confronts Hasler (Tom Peckham), his boss, and the meeting ends with an approval of the demands of the garment workers' union.

What about Chelsea's individually itemized performances? Members of the women's chorus, for their terrific musical vocal work and for maintaining their characters throughout the evening, have to be named the outstanding performers. Especially effective was their version of "I'm Not at All in Love." Steven Hinz's vocal direction falls into the applaudable category.

Tom Peckham's character development (as Mr. Hasler) was professionally admirable. Musically, Michael Weiss as Hines presented a clear, easily heard voice extending toward the audience with charismatic proportions. A minor, almost walk-on, role as Pop earned Frank Dillon plaudits with his naturalness in characterization.

And who could forget a blooming newcomer to Chelsea, David C. Bloom for his "Groucho Marx-like" performance as the union president. Bloom takes his acting talent, nicely combines this with a strong singing voice which elevated him to one of the best performances on opening night of "The Pajama Game."

Although I do not know her name, a young lady constantly blowing bubble gum with a terrific voice and attractive good looks, always keeping in character, was indeed a sparkling gem in an unnamed role in the production. My personal plaudits for her endeavors.

Certainly a favorite of the opening night audience was "Steam Heat" physically powered by Lori Wetzel, Ben Williams, and Norman Weber (the dancing W's, ha!). Just the energy necessary to pull off this front of the curtain number that catapulted the young Shirley MacLaine (a stand-in for absent Carol Haney) to Hollywood stardom almost became a show stopper in front of the appreciative audience.

The professional colorful setting for "Hernando's Hideaway" certainly added to the effectiveness of this dance number. Members of the set construction group included Brian Myers, Don Paulsell, Phoebe Strong, Peg Moulleseaux, Bob Wheaton, Shelley Wheaton, Ward Beauchamp, Ben Williams, Tom Peckham, Jerri Cole, Don Gerstler, and Norman Weber.

Eye catching costumes were provided by Mary Layner, Norma Graflund, and Clara Smith.

In the musical number category, the physical body manipulations by the entire company at the Picnic was terrific. Sid's (Guenther) rendition of "A New Town Is a Blue Town" earned applause. The final scene "The Pajama Game" in which all were attired in pajamas with Sid barecheated in trousers only and Babe covered with the other half of the heart-decorated pj's was an effective ending.

Other members of Chelsea Area Players holding "Pajama Game" together: Second Helper (Justin White), Charlie (Don Gerstler), Mae (Shelley Wheaton), Brenda (Megan Stielstra), Poopsie (Jennifer Bennett), and Max (Jason Skidmore).

Improvements could be made, even though the evening to me was an enjoyable one. The orchestra is accompanying the people on stage, not vice versa. Sometimes, particularly at the beginning, the orchestra and actor(s) were fighting one another to be heard. However, this was overcome by the competent director Robert Rawson and an extremely talented group of musicians.

In "I'll Never Be Jealous Again," Hines can be heard but Mabel's (Norma Graflund) vocal volume needs a little more oomph.

In previous appearances of Jeremy Guenther with the Chelsea Area Players, his acting and singing certainly were top of the line. However, in "Pajama Game" his youth (and I'm somewhat envious here) does not work in his favor as a superintendent in a pajama factory. With added maturity at the voice level, the wide range of singing needed for Sid's role will develop in time in this very musically demanding play. However, he is a youthful package of energy; always trying to expend his efforts to improve the production and I admire him for this.

Workers in the factory, Peg Moulleseaux, Betsy Schmunk, Jeremy Cybulski, Marigrace Randazzo, Maria Johnson, Mark Carlson, Phoebe Strong, Melissa Smith, Clara Smith, Justin Huschke, and Ascott Dale added to the effectiveness of the show. Children performing were Emalee Danforth, Melody Smith, and Kasey Ruhlig.

You will enjoy "The Pajama Game" at the Chelsea High school which continues this week-end. The unique delivery of "Hey There," a melody you have undoubtedly heard along with "Once a Year Day," "Her Is," "Small Talk," and "There Once Was a Man" all help to deliver a musically satisfying evening. Tickets are available at the door of the George Prinzling Auditorium.

TAMMY BROWNING taking part in a recital in the Palazzo Ducale in Urbania, Italy.

Tammy Browning Back From Singing Tour of Italy

Tammy Browning, a Chelsea resident, recently completed a singing tour of Italy during the month of June. Miss Browning had the opportunity to sing at many cathedrals and opera houses throughout the northern part of Italy. She sang in cathedrals and basilicas in Assisi (home of St. Francis), Ravenna, Florence, Gubbio, Rome, Vatican City, Urbania, Urbino, etc.

While in Italy Miss Browning had the opportunity to participate in recitals given in area opera houses such as Pesaro, Urbino, Rome, and Urbania. Miss Browning's repertoire included mass responses to the Star Spangled Banner in Rome for the Fourth of July. Her largest audience was in St. Peter's Basilica in the Vatican City, while her smallest was for a small recital at the Baths of Caracalla in Rome.

Tammy is a voice performance major at Oberlin College in Ohio. Presently she is studying with Martha Sheil at the University of Michigan. While in Italy she was able to become well versed in Italian and next year will be taking the Diploma di Firenze to certify her bi-lingual.

Miss Browning is the daughter of Robert and Chris Browning and the twin sister of Tiffany, a junior at Adrian College. In three weeks Tammy will be traveling to Texas to perform in San Antonio.

Texas is a big state, so its not surprising that it has the most farms in the nation: about 186,000. Michigan had around 54,000 farms.

Waterloo Farm Museum Needs Volunteer Helpers

Close your eyes and imagine; step back in time until you are standing in a 19th century log house. See the rough stone fireplace and the ripples of heat curl the hair of the woman bending over the fire. Smell the wood smoke and the herbs being chopped for the turkey. Hear the stillness—no motors, only the thumping of the bread dough as it is pounded against the table. For a while you forget about telephones, TVs, and Nintendo. You are simply a Michigan pioneer waiting for your company to arrive.

Soon several children file in through the open door. You hand one of them a broom and to others you give apple peelers. Seeing that the fire is low, you ask a few of the bigger boys to carry in some wood. The children mind without hesitation, gladly entering your world—the world of our ancestors.

During their visit to the museum, the children will experience history with all of their senses—not just their sight. They will taste the smokey flavor of roasted turkey and feel how heavy a wooden bucket of water can be. Some will go away wishing they lived "back then." Others may acquire a new found reverence for the microwave. But all will leave the museum with a unique perception of history—seen not as dates or events or scattered "historical figures," but as people whose lives are in some ways not so different from their own.

However, in order to make this living history program at the Waterloo Farm Museum possible, the museum needs volunteers to act as role players or guides. Acting experience, while helpful, is certainly not necessary. The children visit the museum through school field trips during May and September.

If you are interested in volunteering, please contact the Waterloo Area Farm Museum and leave a message on the answering machine.

An introductory meeting will be scheduled the beginning of August. Those who call will be notified of the exact date and time.

Payment for your efforts will be in the form of some of the best food you've ever eaten.

Village Joins Composting Group

Village of Chelsea has joined a group called The Michigan Composters Group for a fee of $100.

Purpose of the group is to develop guidelines for the composting of yard waste in light of two public acts that have mandated a ban on the landfilling of yard waste. So far no state agency has developed guidelines for composting.

The group will seek to have its guidelines included in any state legislation dealing with composting.

The village has composted yard waste for many years.

USDA Accepts More in Conservation Reserve

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has accepted an additional 998,211 acres of highly erodible and other environmentally sensitive cropland into the Conservation Reserve Program. Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan has announced.

"After 11 sign-up periods, we now have enrolled 35,395,951 acres into the program. This acreage provides substantial environmental benefits by reducing soil erosion, improving wildlife habitat and enhancing water quality," he said. "The Conservation Reserve Program is one of the largest federal commitments to environmental quality and clearly shows how effective voluntary farm stewardship programs can be."

The additional acreage, which was bid during the 11th sign-up period from July 8-19, 1991, was concentrated in Iowa with 100,490 acres; Texas with 86,574 acres; and Missouri with 87,992 acres. Michigan had 41,822 acres at a bid price of $59.27 per acre. Per acre rental payment rates for the 10-15 year contracts averaged $52.35. Most participants are also eligible to receive a cost-share payment to establish permanent vegetative cover on their enrolled acreage.

"Politeness goes far, yet costs nothing . . ."

—Samuel Smiles

Politeness, courtesy and ordinary consideration for others appear to be in short supply these days. Some of us seem to think that we can't afford the luxury of expending even the small amount of extra time it takes to be polite.

We look forward to the time when, hopefully, the pace of living will slow down a little. It may even reach the point where everyone can once again take a little more time to indulge in the courtesies and politeness that distinguish gracious living in truly civilized societies from life in the jungle.

We can conduct services in any church or chapel. Our own lovely chapel is, of course, available to the families we serve. We can arrange for a religious ceremony for those with no church affiliation.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
On Friday the 10th of July and a hot day, my friend and I had a flat tire on Dexter-Chelsea Rd.
We had no choice, parked the car in a small lane and took off (as well as two grandmas can) on foot. We had dozens of cars fly by us!
A very lovely lady, we didn't even get her name, turned around and gave us a ride to Big Boy where we had another friend waiting and worrying about us.
This lady wouldn't even take a cent for her help.
We would just like her to know how much she helped us and to give her our heartfelt thanks!

Dear Mr. Editor:
In response to Ms. Linda Cooper's letter regarding the fireworks in last week's Standard, as co-chair of the fireworks, I worked closely with Chelsea Police during the evening to monitor the storm's path and intensity. I want to assure her and the community that we were very concerned with public safety due to the severity of the storm, but we were equally concerned with panicking the 6,000-7,000 people parked in a small area around the fairgrounds. Fortunately the storm passed over us and the weather cleared for a short time, allowing the fireworks to occur.
Amazingly almost everyone stayed through the storm so we decided not to reschedule the event.
Since this is the first time a tornado warning has sounded during the fireworks as far as anyone can remember, this situation was reviewed by the Chelsea Police Department and Chelsea 1995 last week and clear guidelines were established for future fireworks displays.
I'm sorry Ms. Cooper and her children missed the "sparkles" in the sky on the Fourth of July but I hope they can attend next year and the weather co-operates.
John Wagner.

Dear Editor:
We have sent this letter to Gov. John Engler.
Dear Gov. John Engler:
We are the third grade class from the Waterloo Recreation Area Project (WRAP). We are concerned about the environment. We are especially worried about clean water. We think people must stop pollution of all five great lakes. Please sign the "Great Lakes Initiative" when it comes to your desk.
Thank you for your help.
Respectfully,

DEPTH PERCEPTION

Many people don't understand what depth perception is. Does everyone have it? How important is it for normal vision?

Depth perception is an ability possessed only by humans and probably a few other primates, to sense the relative near-distant relationship of objects. The development of depth perception occurs in early childhood, and will occur only if vision is good in both eyes, and the eyes are properly aligned. People who were cross-eyed when young, for example, or had poor vision in one eye, may never develop normal depth perception.

To demonstrate your depth perception, try this simple test: hold both arms straight out in front of you, with your index fingers pointing up, but pull one arm in just a little closer to you. Now close either eye. You'll notice that with one eye closed it's much more difficult to judge which finger is closer. Persons who have had normal depth perception, but then lose vision in one eye find that they are clumsy for a while—they may miss things they reach for or be unsure of where they are stepping. But those without normal depth perception learn to use other clues to judge nearness, such as the relative size of objects, shadows, and the relative movement of objects at different distances. These people adapt well and function very normally.

"3-D" viewers and movies are able to provide a sensation of depth by providing each eye with a view of a scene from a slightly different angle, but to a person without depth perception the scene looks flat. Hopefully your visual "third dimension" works well.

Purple Rose Theatre Co. Plans Apprentice Program

Purple Rose Theatre Company will begin an apprentice program for various theatre positions during the upcoming 1992-93 season of productions. The apprentice program, scheduled to begin Sept. 1, is due to the growth and success achieved by the Purple Rose Theatre Company since starting operations in January, 1991.

The Purple Rose Theatre Company Apprentice Program will be geared for individuals to gain hands-on experience in technical theatre, production and arts management. According to artistic director T. Newell Krings, "The Apprentice Program gives the Purple Rose Theatre Company another way of offering employment and educational opportunities for members of the Michigan arts community. As a regional theatre exceeding our early expectations, this will allow us to increase our support staff in order to handle the added responsibilities of our productions and educational programs."

Since January, 1991, the Purple Rose Theatre Company has produced six different productions which have drawn over 26,000 people to the intimate 119-seat theatre in Chelsea. During the last six months, the Purple Rose Theatre Company has started to offer acting classes which have also filled to capacity enrollment and a Playwright Workshop utilizing seven Michigan playwrights. The upcoming schedule of four plays for the 1992-93 season and additional information about future classes and workshops will be announced in August.

The 1992-93 season at the Purple Rose Theatre Company will need five apprentices for all aspects of theatre production and arts administration. Apprentices will gain experience and opportunities to work in the following areas: scenic construction, lighting, sound, props, stage management, production management, house management, box office, marketing and set and theatre maintenance. The apprentice positions will be full-time positions that will include day, evening and week-end hours. Applicants should have a general knowledge of theatre, college-level theatre experience and excellent organizational skills. Apprentices will be paid a weekly stipend and may earn membership points in the Equity Membership Candidate program.

Resumes and cover letters for those interested in the Purple Rose Theatre Company Apprentice Program should be sent to The Purple Rose Theatre Company, 137 Park St., Chelsea 48118.

BOB HURD will have some of his antique bicycles at the Chelsea Retirement Community this Sunday, July 26 from noon until 4 p.m. as part of the community's Antique and Classic Vehicle Show. Various forms of antique transportation will be on display and the event is open to the public. Refreshments will be available at a nominal price. Bikes, from right, are a 1951 Schwinn Starlet valued at about $800 ($69.95 new), a Mead Ranger, built in 1918-23, valued at $600 ($16.95 new), and an Elgin, built in 1939-40 and valued at $600. Hurd says old bicycles are some of the hottest collectibles going. He will have a high wheeler at the show.

Work Continues At Fairgrounds

Several items of business were discussed Thursday, July 16 at the regular meeting of the Chelsea Community Fair Board.

The drain project was discussed and tabled until the drain commissioner could report to the board about the funding.

Painting is continuing between rain showers. The Service Center only needs the trim and gutters to be painted. The Merchants Building will be started soon, weather permitting.

The water system at the Service Center has been repaired, as the village flushed the water line that runs on the north side of the fairgrounds. New pressure tank lines will be in place soon. New electrical outlets in exhibit buildings are being installed, and the additional lighting and electrical service for the Multi-Purpose Arena will be completed before the fair.

There was some discussion on off-season rentals, but the topic was tabled until next month.

Anyone interested in helping with the many fair projects before this year's fair Aug. 25-29 is urged to attend one of the Thursday night work bees.

A TOUR OF THE VILLAGE LANDFILL was included as part of the curriculum at last week's Waterloo Recreation Area Project, funded by the Chelsea Education Foundation. Here the students climb up the most recently closed out portion of the landfill to get a better view of the area. The long tubes sticking out of the ground at top right are for the release of methane gas formed by the decomposition of trash. The tour included information both about the landfill and recycling.

CATHERINE FISHER of the Wildflower Community Bakery discusses the composition and health properties of whole wheat with children in the Waterloo Recreation Area Project. The children had the chance to hand grind wheat as part of the presentation.

Two Area Students Offered Regents Scholarships at EMU

Kathleen Nobsch of Manchester and Christopher Bauserman of Whitmore Lake have been offered Regents Scholarships to attend Eastern Michigan University this fall.

The scholarship is one of the most prestigious awards given to EMU students. Eligible students have a minimum 3.65 high school grade point average and a score of at least 25 on the American College Test and 1050 on the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

The scholarship will pay for 30 credit hours per year of in-state tuition, plus mandatory fees. It is renewable annually if the student maintains a 3.5 grade point average while at EMU.

Bauserman also received a Campus Leader Award, a $500 award, also renewable annually.

Prairie Grass Management Subject At Geology Center

"Prairie Grass Management" will be the subject of a program at the Eddy Geology Center this Saturday, July 25 at 1 p.m.

Controlled burning of prairie grass is done by the Department of Natural Resources to enhance the nesting habitat for wild turkeys and pheasants and to increase the feeding area for other upland game.

Bruce Baker of the local DNR upland game management unit will describe the process with a video at the center, then lead a trip to Baldwin Flooding, a managed site nearby.

JANET ROSSI reads "The Great Kapok Tree" to young environmentalists in the Waterloo Recreation Area Project last Thursday at the Eddy Geology Center. The week-long program, marred by poor weather, features nature and environmental studies for youngsters of all ages.

RECYCLING and the village landfill were two of the topics for youngsters in the Waterloo Recreation Area Project last week. Children had a chance to see how a landfill is operated and the impact of trash on the environment from landfill operator Cecil Clouse (center, rear in photo). Jeffrey Bagocius, manager of the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority, (rear, left) was also on hand. WRAP is an environmental study project funded by the Chelsea Education Foundation.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Chelsea Summer Baseball Team Plays Well Against League's Best

Chelsea summer baseball team played its best ball of the summer last week as they won two of three games against the top two teams in the league.

On Wednesday the Bulldogs played first place Walled Lake Central Adray and lost 2-1.

Adray scored twice in the first inning on one hit as Chelsea committed three errors.

Chelsea spent the rest of the game trying to rally but left runners on first and third in the second inning, and a runner on second in each the third and fourth innings.

Chelsea finally scored in the fifth as Jason McVittie reached first on an error and scored on a double by Gary White.

In the sixth inning, Matt Powell doubled with two out but was stranded at second. In the seventh, Chelsea had runners on first and third with one out but a grounder to the pitcher and a strikeout ended the threat.

Chelsea had three hits in the game, including doubles by White and Powell and a single by Casey Schiller. Nine runners were left on base, including seven in scoring position.

"Ken Slane pitched for us and gave a tremendous effort," said Chelsea coach Akel Marshall.

"He allowed only two hits, both in the first inning, and struck out two. In fact, he allowed two baserunners from the second through sixth innings."

In the seventh, Adray loaded the bases with a walk and two errors but Slane pitched out of it.

On Saturday, July 18 the Bulldogs swept E.T. Express in a doubleheader, 7-2 and 3-0.

In the opener, Chelsea got on top early and scored three runs in the first inning. Chris Dunham led off with a single. With two outs, Chris White singled, Slane was safe on a run-scoring error, and Steve Grau drove in two runs with a double.

Chelsea made it 4-0 in the fourth as Grau stroked a solo home run to left.

Express scored one in the fifth, but Chelsea got that run back in the sixth as Schiller and Grau had back-to-back singles following a walk.

McVittie's double highlighted a two-run seventh inning for the Bulldogs.

Grau's three hits led the Bulldogs' offense. Dunham had a triple and a single, McVittie doubled, and Gary White, Chris White, and Schiller each singled.

Grau hurled a three-hitter as he struck out five and walked none.

In the nightcap, Gary White matched Grau's pitching performance as he allowed only a second-inning double while striking out six and walking none. He allowed just four baserunners.

Chelsea scored all three runs in the second inning. Gary White singled, Slane walked, and Grau loaded the bases on a fielder's choice. Powell's double drove in two runs and Boone Gegenheimer's ground out scored the third run.

The Bulldogs threatened in the third, as they loaded the bases, and put two runners on in the sixth.

Five of Chelsea's six hits were singles by Tim Wescott, Chris White, Grau, Ed Waller, and McVittie.

"Grau and White pitched great ballgames," Marshall said.

"They didn't walk a batter and gave up only four hits in both games. We finally played some defense this week and got a few hits when we needed them."

Chelsea improved its record to 9-14 going into the last week of the season.

JACOB RINDLE of Chelsea has been named to the first team All-American team by the National High School Baseball Coaches Association. Rindle, selected as a first baseman, was one of 14 members of the team, which included three first-round draft picks in the recent amateur draft. Rindle hit .483 with 54 RBI his senior year. "It came as a complete surprise," said his step-father, Dennis Hubbard. "A friend called to say he had seen the team listed in USA Today and Jacob thought he was crazy." Derek Jeter of Kalamazoo, the first high school player taken in the draft, made the second team. Rindle, who wasn't drafted to the surprise of his coaches and teammates, plans to attend Michigan State University, where he'll both pitch and play first base. Rindle was a two-time all-state selection and the only player ever chosen to the state Dream Team twice.

Sheriff's Deputies Report Area Calls

Washtenaw Sheriff Department deputies responded to a number of incidents between July 8 and July 15 in Dexter, Dexter township, Scio township and Chelsea.

On July 8, a rear-end collision involving Carl A. Smyth, 40, of Howell, and Patrick A. Grobnagler, 41, of Pinckney, occurred on Dexter-Pinckney Rd.

On July 11 an assault was reported by picnickers and David Wolkiers of Ann Arbor. It occurred on Huron River Dr. near Zeeb Rd. in a wooded area in Scio township. Six juveniles threw rocks at the picnickers from the railroad tracks. The juveniles fled when one of the victims chased after them. The juveniles said they went to the area because it was rumored to be a place where Satan worshippers go. They said they heard voices from the wooded area but didn't see anyone so they began throwing rocks. When they heard someone coming they were frightened and fled. As the juveniles fled, another person, Wolkiers, tried to stop them while they were in their car. The juveniles said they feared Wolkiers was a member of the cult and swerved toward him. The picnickers and Wolkiers are not pressing charges; instead they spoke with the juveniles' parents.

An incident of indecent exposure was reported July 11 on the railroad tracks west of Greenook Dr. in Scio township. An 11-year-old and a 12-year-old described a white male, about 25 years old, medium height with black hair and a mustache and three tattoos, who exposed himself to them.

On the same date after investigating the indecent exposure the deputy discovered a malicious destruction of a vehicle and a larceny from the vehicle. The vehicle was parked on Huron River Dr. near Greenook Dr. in Scio township. The owner, Shannon Rhoades, 22, of Jenison, reported $100 in damage and $5 stolen. The suspect is the same as in the indecent exposure incident.

Also on July 11, it was reported that Donald C. Trinkle was involved in a head-on collision with a pheasant. On July 12, Larry W. Smashey, 34, of 121 Tiplady Rd., Pinckney, was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor and open intoxication, near Winston Dr., Dexter township. WCSD deputies were dispatched to the incident of Smashey ramming a house and backing into a fence and a tree at 9820 Winston Dr. He refused a sobriety test and a bottle of whiskey was found in his vehicle, according to sheriff reports.

Also, Ricky Watkins, 39, of Cushing Ct., Dexter, was arrested on two warrants. The warrants involve expired license plates and driving while his license was revoked.

A larceny was also reported at 1691 Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd., Dexter. A wicker planter worth $95 was stolen. The victim, Terrance Rose, 42, said the item was on the porch earlier.

A malicious destruction of property over $100 was reported by Beulah Kleis, 74, of 17992 Waterloo Rd., Chelsea. She said someone shot out one window near her dining room and two garage windows.

On July 13, a larceny from a motor vehicle was reported by Paul Larson, 36, of Knox, Ind. He said his semi-truck was parked at the rest area eastbound on I-94 near Baker Rd. in Scio township. His credit cards and $200 in cash was missing from his wallet. He suspects someone reached in through the window which was partly open.

A breaking and entering of an office was reported at 4105 Liberty in Scio township. An Epson computer worth $3,000 and a Toshiba copier were stolen from Saginaw Hills business office. The incident was reported by John Cooch, 46, the owner.

On July 14, a 1990 Acura Integra, worth $10,000, was stolen from 5523 Cambridge Club Circle near Zeeb Rd. in Scio township. The owner, Brian J. Black, said the car was locked and parked in a carport in front of his apartment the last time he saw it.

A malicious destruction of property was also reported. A contractor, George Griffiths of Griffith Earth Moving, reported thousands of dollars in damage to his construction equipment parked on Mast Rd. in Dexter. The 59-year-old Brighton resident said wires were cut, dirt was placed in a hydraulic tank and lubrication lines were cut. He suspects it may be union related.

On July 15 a breaking and entering was reported at 16345 McClure Rd., Chelsea. Desk drawers were rummaged through at the Sugar Loaf Lake Campground at Waterloo Recreation Area. The incident was reported by April Greene of Jackson, an employee.

A personal injury accident and an operating under the influence of liquor was investigated by WCSD deputies at 5:48 p.m. on July 15. The accident involved Lisa A. White of 14478 E. Michigan Ave., Grass Lake. The 27-year-old lost control of her vehicle on Old US-12, Chelsea, while driving along a left-hand curve. She side-swiped a tree and nose-dived into a creek, according to WCSD reports. White was taken to Chelsea Community Hospital by Huron Valley Ambulance.

On July 16 David M. Colwell of 33 W. Steinbach Rd., Dexter, ran off Miller Rd. while he was heading westbound. He struck a bridge with his vehicle, causing front-end damage. It was reported Colwell was operating his vehicle under the influence of liquor. He said he had five drinks during the night.

In addition, a malicious destruction of property under $100 was reported by Douglas Fox of Grosse Pointe. The incident occurred at 3975 Jackson Ave. in Scio township. A hole approximately two feet by eight inches was cut into a fence. The damage is estimated at $75.

An accident involving Yoshimi Miyake of Ann Arbor and Kay Hifum of Pinckney occurred on Huron River Dr. near Zeeb Rd. Miyake was transported by Huron Valley Ambulance to the hospital and he was also ticketed for disregarding a stop sign.

This is the second year that the club has participated and the second of three clean-ups scheduled for this year.

The club picks up trash on both the north and south sides of I-94, between the Freer Rd. overpass and the Pierce Rd. exit, for a total of six miles of roadside.

TO THE RESIDENTS OF SHARON TOWNSHIP

I have been privileged to have had the opportunity to be associated with you, the residents of Sharon Township, for many years. In any situation, where possible, I have attempted to be understanding and helpful to anyone who has asked advice or assistance on township affairs. I have enjoyed working with, becoming acquainted with, and doing whatever possible for many people. More importantly, I appreciate the confidence all of you have extended to me. The duties and responsibilities of any township or municipal clerk are, needless to say, many. I believe I can perform these duties and responsibilities for another four years. I would appreciate your continued support again this year at the Primary election, Tuesday, August 4, 1992. Voting is a right of all registered citizens 18 or over. Please exercise that right.

Thank you.

Elect a Leader, not a Politician:
 "Richardson brings a common sense approach to government. He believes it should be held accountable, especially for the way it handles tax dollars. He also is willing to ask tough questions, even when it means challenging political sacred cows... He is an elected official, but not necessarily a politician."

Police Investigate Two Attempts of Breaking and Entering

Chelsea police suspect two cases of breaking and entering on the night of July 14 may be related. Someone tried to break into Chuck Wilson & Associates on S. Main St. Pry marks were found on a door. Someone also apparently entered the Garage Theatre without permission that night. There were signs of forced entry into the electrical room and the audio room door had scratch marks on it. Nothing was stolen in either case. Police said they believe a door was left unlocked at the theatre.

Legislation Sought To Clarify Federal Pesticide Laws

Farmers are deeply concerned about a recent federal court ruling that four widely used pesticides are illegal under the Delaney Clause of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, said Al Almy, director of public affairs for the Michigan Farm Bureau.

The Delaney Clause prohibits the use of any pesticide on crops if the pesticide residue becomes concentrated in processed foods and if there is any evidence the pesticide can cause cancer in animals or humans.

The court ruling struck down an Environmental Protection Agency policy, allowed under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act, that tried to take into account the potential benefits of pesticide use and set less stringent standards for raw agricultural commodities. "The court ruling clearly shows that congress must act to remove the inconsistencies between federal laws governing the use of agricultural chemicals," he said. "There is legislation pending in Congress that would replace the outdated Delaney Clause with a negligible risk standard. Farm Bureau strongly supports this because we believe such a standard would pose no health problem for consumers."

Almy said unless the court decision is appealed and overturned, it could affect up to 68 pesticides. "If these pesticides are banned and no adequate substitute can be found, fruits and vegetables could become less available and more expensive, which in itself would pose a health risk," he said.

"When you're through changing, you're through."

A CAPACITY pavilion crowd turned out to hear the Paul Vornhagen Quartet last Saturday evening in Pierce Park, the second installment of the Concert in the Park series. Hard rain fell throughout most of the first half of the two-hour set, and those who attended were able to sit down under the pavilion for an excellent concert by the Ann Arbor group. Band members, from left, are Mark Kieswetter, Paul Vornhagen, Dave Stearns, and Steve Carow.

YOU & YOUR PET

By Linda Reider

★ Coping with Grief

The loss of a beloved animal companion initiates a natural grieving process in the pet owner. Sorrow, anger, guilt, denial, relief—all of these feelings can be part of a normal reaction to the death or permanent loss of a pet. Understanding the progression of grief after pet loss enables the owner to experience natural grieving. She may then achieve a sense of peace in which the shared time with the absent pet remains as a special comforting memory.

Whether a pet dies unexpectedly, is euthanized after injury or illness, or is lost and never relocated, the final result is one of physical separation. It is helpful if the pet owner sees the separation coming, as in the case of an elderly pet or lengthy illness, and has time to consider life without the dear animal. It is also beneficial, although difficult at the time, for the owner to be with the animal at the time of death. Not only does this make the pet's death very real to the person, but it can be comforting to see the body of a pet who has suffered relaxed and at peace.

Everyone experiences the loss of a pet differently, but the following description of the grieving process is common. Even after seeing and perhaps burying a loved pet, a pet owner may experience denial of the death. For some owners, the denial phase of grieving may begin when the extent of the animal's injuries or illness first becomes apparent. After accepting the animal's permanent absence, the pet owner may experience relief that the pet is actually gone. No more intensive care, expensive trips to the veterinarian, worry or fear about the animal.

Anger may follow denial and relief. An owner may direct their anger over the loss of the pet at the veterinarian, family members, or friends. Guilt is a common next step in grieving. The owner blames herself for letting the cat outside where she was hit by a car, or feels that if she had only consulted one more specialist a miracle cure could have been found. After guilty and angry feelings have subsided, sorrow is experienced. Excessive sadness may make it difficult for the person to concentrate on her job or enjoy time at home.

As sorrow softens and the person achieves a sense of acceptance and peace, the grieving process draws to a close. This personal and highly individual life experience may take days, weeks, or even months to complete. For many people, creating a memorial to their pet helps the grieving process along. A memorial may take the form of a photo album, a poem, a gravestone, a donation to an animal charity, etc. Sympathy expressions from family and friends can be helpful also. Most people aren't ready to adopt a new pet until they have come to terms with the loss of the old one, and should avoid doing so just to fill the empty spot.

Children also will experience this grief process if the pet was loved by them. Adults should talk openly with kids and encourage them to express any or all of the above valid and important feelings.

Everybody's Science

★ Cow's Milk Can Become Infant Formula

By Bruce Kinzel
Cow's milk can be made more like mother's breast milk in a new process being patented by a U.S. Department of Agriculture scientist.

John Woychik, a chemist, said the new form of cow's milk is easy for infants to digest without causing an allergy linked to milk protein.

"Cow's milk and human breast milk differ significantly in protein concentration and composition," said Woychik of USDA's Agricultural Research Service. "It's these differences that make human milk more nutritious and more easily digested than cow's milk."

For example, cow's milk contains about 3.5 percent protein, compared with 1.2 percent protein in human milk, he said. His process easily reduces that higher protein content to the level in human milk.

Using cow's milk as an infant formula is an idea that has been around for years. But procedures for changing the protein composition of cow's milk to simulate mother's milk would be too costly on a large commercial scale.

Now, Woychik said, cow's milk can be cooled and microfiltered to separate proteins in one continuous step at a cheese-and-dairy-product facility. That is in contrast to costly separate batch procedures that would be required to produce the desired infant formula composition.

One of the proteins in cow's milk, known as Beta-lactoglobulin, needs to be minimized because it is chiefly responsible for an infant's milk-protein allergy, Woychik said. This protein is not found in human milk.

Woychik said the B-lactoglobulin content can be reduced to levels of 4 percent or less. That is done by adjusting the pH level and adding salt after filtering the milk proteins.

Also, cow's milk has several types of casein proteins. Only one of them—Beta casein—is found in human milk, he said.

Once the Beta-casein is separated and B-lactoglobulin reduced or eliminated, he said, the product becomes "an excellent protein base to produce infant formulas that best simulate human breast milk."

Any type of cow's milk—regardless of breed—can be used in the new process, said Woychik. He worked out the process at the agency's Eastern Regional Research Center in Philadelphia.
