Chelsea School District Teachers, Administration Reach Tentative Contract

Chelsea School District administration and teachers reached a tentative agreement Tuesday for a new two-year contract.

Details of the contract won't be made public until at least Aug. 17 when the Chelsea Board of Education has its next regular meeting. Superintendent Joe Piasecki is hopeful the board will be able to approve the contract then so it will be in place by the start of the school year.

"We're real happy with it," said Joe Piasecki.

"It's a fair contract for both sides."

The board met in executive session for nearly two hours Monday night to talk about specifics of the contract. Tuesday afternoon union negotiators and the administration sat down once again to hammer out the final details.

Before the Chelsea Education Association, the teachers' union, can ratify the contract it must be approved by the Washtenaw Livingston Education Association, of which the CEA is a member.

Contract language issues, as well as salary increases, were major concerns for the CEA.

In other board action Monday, a revised transportation policy was adopted that essentially put district practices and expectations in written form.

"The policy is a lot more complete than it's ever been," Piasecki said.

The formal policy is designed to head off any disputes about a variety of procedures.

This year, for the first time, the state is allowing stop arms to be used on buses. The stop arms project from the side of the bus with a sign similar to a traditional stop sign.

Chelsea policy has been not to allow students to exit a bus if they would have to cross a main road to get home. The district says too many drivers were ignoring the flashing lights.

Piasecki said it may turn out the policy can be revised if experience shows motorists are obeying the new stop arms. The district has ordered the arms and hopes to have them installed by the start of school. Any policy change will depend on the experience bus drivers have with the signs during the first month or so.

"This could turn out to be one of the most significant changes we've had in transportation and it could have a revolutionary effect," Piasecki said.

"We're real excited about the change. It could mean a substantially shorter ride home for some of our students."

The board hired several new teachers for the new year and accepted the resignation of English teacher Marie Polakowski.

Hired were Carol Strahler to a teaching position at Beach Middle school, taking Alice Steinbach's place; Patricia Compton to a Beach counseling position, taking Jean Mann Purdy's spot; and Jenine Soloko to a Beach position, taking David Knisely's place.

Chelsea High school teacher Amy Poljan was granted a one-year leave of absence for child care.

The board discussed a substance abuse policy for all students involved in extra-curricular activities. Current policy only covers students in athletics.

Transfer Station Viewed As Necessity for Area

There was a sense of urgency as some members of the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority met informally last week with representatives of a waste hauling company to discuss the possible construction of a transfer station at the village landfill on Werkner Rd.

The meeting was called by Chelsea Village Manager Jack Myers due to concerns about the remaining life of the landfill.

Landfill operator Cecil Clouse said the landfill might last for another year if it is closed to everyone but residents of the village and Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, and Dexter townships.

A year, however, may not give the authority enough time to get a transfer station in place since there are so many variables involved. The village has never had an easy time negotiating with the Department of Natural Resources' Waste Management Division.

Representatives of Browning Ferris Industries (BFI) agreed to put together a cost study for the building. Trash would be hauled from the transfer station to the BFI landfill in Salem township.

Many questions about the proposed project have yet to be answered. The authority has until Aug. 21 to submit a grant application to DNR if it wants state help with funding by next year. It was not clear whether an application could be put together so quickly. Resource Recycling, which put together the grant application for the authority's recycling grant, would probably write the new grant application.

It was not clear whether all members of the authority are interested in taking part in the project. Bridgewater and Manchester townships were not represented. Other members, including the villages of Chelsea and Manchester, and townships of Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, and Dexter, indicated they are interested. It's possible a new authority could be set up to deal with waste disposal.

BFI agreed to investigate whether it could build the structure and finance it for the authority in case the grant does not materialize. The authority is interested in owning the building, even if it contracts management of it to BFI, said authority vice-chair Frank Hammer.

It was not clear how long the permit process might take since the structure would be built on a site already approved for a landfill. BFI representatives said the process could take a minimum of nine months, depending on whether all public hearings in a regular landfill siting process have to be held.

Appliance Disposal Becomes Big Problem

Chelsea landfill has temporarily stopped taking old refrigerators, air conditioners and other appliances containing refrigerants until the village can figure out how to deal with Clean Air Act regulations.

Chelsea landfill typically takes old refrigerators and sells them to scrap iron dealers. However, new laws require that freon and other suspected ozone-layer destroying refrigerants be removed before they can be crushed for scrap metal.

Another problem is that removing the refrigerants is not cheap. Contractors have quoted a price of up to $40 per appliance. Officials are worried that old refrigerators will be dumped in the countryside if residents are forced to pay $40 or more just to get rid of an old appliance.

Several options have been discussed. Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority may purchase the necessary purging equipment, the village may purchase it, or an outside contractor could be hired when enough appliances have accumulated. Heydauff's, Inc. of Chelsea, the appliance store, has also offered assistance. Mark Heydauff told village council last week that his store will have to purchase the equipment. How the options will translate into a disposal price is not known.

Anyone deliberately releasing refrigerant could be fined up to $25,000, according to the act.

Chelsea DDA Sells House It Moved to W. Middle St.

Chelsea Downtown Development Authority has sold the house it moved from South St. to W. Middle St. for $97,000.

The house, which has been on the market for $119,000, was sold without various mechanical and electrical improvements that would have been completed for the higher price.

DDA has agreed to complete various external improvements such as re-attaching a front porch, seeding the lawn, and other items.

DDA moved the house last year to make way for the new parking lot between South St. and W. Middle St. It was placed on a special foundation on two village-owned lots. Those lots were considered "unbuildable" by traditional methods.

Money from the sale will all go to DDA to cover most of the costs incurred in moving the house, not including the purchase price of the house.

The house remains on the village tax rolls.

A Southfield couple reportedly purchased the home.

Car Thief Sticks Jackson Man Again

Someone impersonating a Jackson-area man was able to steal a car at Faust-Morrow Buick, Olds, Chevrolet late last month.

A man claiming to be the Jackson man went to the dealership July 23 and told a salesman he wanted to purchase a green, 1992 Buick for his wife's birthday present. He later called back with all pertinent credit information and essentially obtained

Auditor Suggests Village Study Water, Sewer Rates

Village auditors issued a six-page report of suggested improvements in billing and other matters as part of their audit of the 1992 fiscal year.

Representatives of the accounting firm of Plante & Moran of Ann Arbor concluded during their presentation to village council last Tuesday, July 28 that the village is in basically good financial health.

"You're doing well," said Michael Swartz.

"There are no major problems and things are run efficiently."

Swartz, however, said the village may soon want to review its charges for water and sewer service, noting that the village may not be able to handle improvements to the water or sewer systems with projected retained earnings, which declined during 1991-92. He also suggested annual rate reviews for all utilities.

The audit showed retained earnings of $612,163 in the water fund, $373,104 in the sewer fund, and $2,747,743 in the electric fund.

The firm suggested an aggressive policy of utility billing, for example charging for water and sewer service monthly or bimonthly rather than quarterly, and instituting a strong penalty structure for non-payment of water bills. It also discouraged estimated meter readings.

Other "revenue enhancement" suggestions included sending monthly estimated bills to the townships for fire services rather than a year-end bill for the entire amount; contacting the drain commissioner's office to petition for funds for drain maintenance; and encouraging more village stores to purchase garbage bag stickers for resale to customers.

Under "expenditure controls" the auditors suggested obtaining an energy audit of village facilities; considering "self-insurance" for worker's compensation and liability; implementing an employee suggestion program for rewarding employees for cost-savings suggestions that are adopted; and integrating microcomputers into the accounting process.

The auditors also suggested maintaining all property tax assessment and payment information at the village office, as well as maintaining detailed records for delinquent taxes and other property tax concerns.

Other suggestions related to fixed asset records, fund transfers, and other general accounting activities.

After the presentation it was not clear whether the village would adopt any of the suggestions.

Plante & Moran's presentation was the first public discussion or presentation of the audit in many years. It was also the first audit the firm has conducted of Chelsea.

Police Seek Moped Thief

A man with a medium build and short dark hair tried to steal a moped from a Railroad St. residence on July 28.

Police recovered the moped at Jackson and East St. at 4:22 a.m. and discovered it was registered to the Railroad St. resident.

A witness later told police he saw a man walking with the moped then drop it when he saw a police cruiser in the area.

Contamination Clean-up Plan For Garage Approved by DNR

The village plans to demolish approximately one-half of its former electric and water building on North St. and haul away about 2,770 cubic yards of contaminated soil this fall.

The site was contaminated by two leaky 1,100-gallon underground gasoline storage tanks. The tanks were removed two years ago.

Test holes showed the gasoline had spread under the western portion of the building.

According to the report submitted by the Traverse Group, the village's consulting company, and accepted by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, the excavation method is the cheapest alternative. Other methods considered included site incineration of contaminated soils, and vapor extraction.

According to the report, the leak has probably not affected the village's water supply due to the position and flow of the upper and lower aquifers. Wells are to the north of the contaminated area.

Excavated soil will be hauled to an approved landfill.

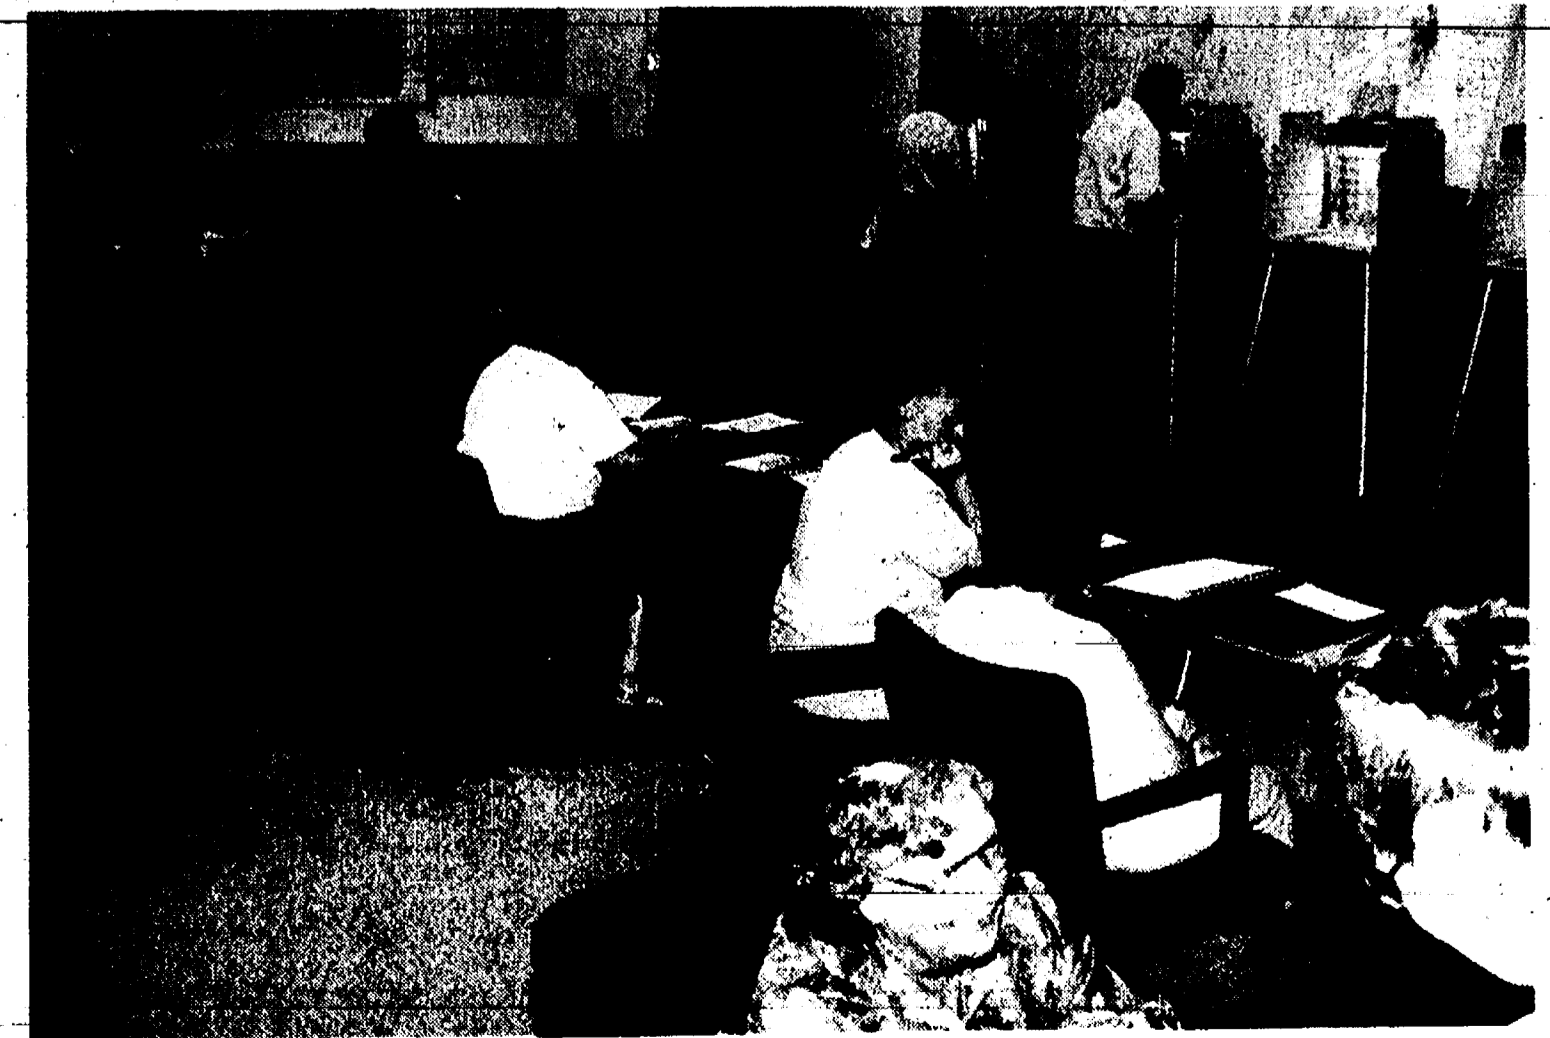

Groundwater samples will be collected once each month for at least three months following the removal of the soil.

No estimates were available on the over-all cost of the project.

IT WAS A SLOW DAY at the polls Tuesday as Chelsea area voters didn't seem particularly excited by this year's general primary. Sylvan township had about 65 voters during the first three hours of the day.

Survey Reveals Clouded Fiscal Outlook for States

While Michigan's fiscal outlook appears more optimistic, the nationwide picture remains clouded with few major improvements in state finances expected in the coming year, according to an annual survey to be released at the National Conference of State Legislatures in Cincinnati, O. "State finances are at a very low point," NCSL President Paul Burke said.

"Most evidence indicates that economic recovery will continue to be slow. State officials do not expect significant recovery in fiscal year 1993."

The survey found year-end balances are almost non-existent for most states and will not recover significantly in fiscal 1993; expenditures for the 40 jurisdictions that provided expenditure information will grow by 4.8 percent in 1993, continuing a long trend of slower growth in state general fund budgets; and at least 12 states made broad-based or across-the-board budget cuts to control spending growth in fiscal 1993, with cuts reducing aid to local governments, salary and benefit costs and health care costs.

In Michigan, with the last of the 1992-93 appropriation bills signed into law, the Legislature and Governor have approved $13.7 billion in spending from all state resources, a .4 percent increase from 1991-92.

The $7.98 billion general fund budget represents a 5.3 percent increase, higher than the national average, but aided by $322.1 million in one-time revenues, according to the Senate Fiscal Agency.

The Department of Management and Budget, in noting some problem areas of the budget due to underfunding of critical operating items such as Medicaid and Corrections, projects a potential deficit of $37.1 million, while the SFA estimates a $19.1 million surplus for the upcoming year.

The national survey also reported a net national tax increase of 1.4 percent of fiscal 1991 collections, down from 5.4 percent in fiscal 1990.

Of the 47 states that reported tax information, 24 enacted net tax increases for fiscal 1993, seven reported net tax cuts and 18 reported no change. Including non-tax sources, total state revenue growth in 1992-93 is expected to hit 7.1 percent.

Treasury deputy director Nick Khouri said Michigan's changes in tax revenue are in stark contrast to the other states surveyed.

In terms of tax policy, Michigan has had a net reduction in taxes because of the new incentives approved for small businesses, but actual tax collections will still increase by about 6 percent, he said, because of "significant" economic improvement.

The survey also said state budgets are being squeezed by spending demands in several areas.

Aid to Families with Dependent Children and Medicaid costs grew faster than expected in fiscal 1992, but they grew more slowly than in recent years, according to the survey. Spending for K-12 education, corrections, AFDC and Medicaid continues to require a larger portion of general funds each year.

The escalating burden in these spending areas, combined with the need to hold down tax hikes, led to substantial cuts in other areas of state government, as well as cuts even in sensitive areas such as K-12 education and Medicaid.

In Michigan, next year's $400.6 million increase in state spending from state resources includes $218.8 million (or 54.8%) dedicated to human services in Social Services, Mental Health, Public Health and Corrections budgets, according to the Senate Fiscal Agency.

The agency noted, however, that over the past three fiscal years most of the appropriations growth has not gone to human services but to education programs. During that period, education spending accounted for 86.5 percent of the over-all growth in state appropriations.

Khouri said Michigan is facing the same spending pressures in Medicaid and Corrections that other states are, and blamed the Medicaid issue on federal mandates that have increased costs without providing additional federal dollars to cover them.

AAA Takes Case to Supreme Court

AAA Michigan asked the Supreme Court to ensure that its auto insurance rate cut and reform proposal makes it on the November ballot.

The lawsuit, in the nature of both an original action and an appeal of a Court of Appeals order, is in response to the refusal of the Board of State Canvassers to certify the proposal even though it had far more signatures than needed.

"They have a duty to resolve the issues one way or another. They did not do that," Peter Ellsworth, attorney for AAA said. "If it is true that one or more members voted due to the merits, that is totally improper."

With the board action undermining citizen rights, the suit said, "It is no wonder that the people have lost confidence in their government."

Board chair Michael Pyne said he voted against certification because he believed the description was deceptive and that the proposal would not do what it purports to do.

The AAA suit asked the court to transmit the proposal to the Legislature by Aug. 6 and to compel its appearance on the ballot if not adopted by legislators in 40 days. It noted the state elections staff estimated the petitions contained 517,543 valid signatures, compared to 205,166 needed to send the issue to the Legislature.

John Pirich, attorney for groups opposed to the proposal, had no immediate comment on the merits of the appeal, but said his response will address the claims made before the board that the petition violated constitutional petitioning requirements and was misleading to voters.

Gov. John Engler issued a statement encouraging the court to "uphold the Constitutional right of the people." He said the Democratic board members abdicated their responsibility.

Gerhart Smith, secretary of the Advocacy Organization for Patients and Providers, (one of the opponent groups), said the board acted properly because AAA misled voters "desperate" for lower auto rates in an attempt to enrich itself without higher premiums. He said signers were not adequately informed about loss of benefits that would be part of the 20 percent rate cut.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Saturday was a let Ed Doolittle catch up on his clippings night at the country store. Ed got the floor early and led the discussion down a rambling road.

For starters, Ed said he needed help reading signs of the times. He had saw where in Japan children are to busy to visit their aging parents so they hire actors to stand in for em. The actors playing children probably are to busy acting to visit their own folks, Ed said, and the green grass grows round and round.

Ed said his first thought was that when anybody is running so fast he can't take a few minutes to check on Ma and Pa it's time he slowed down. But then he realized that in Japan when Children go out on their own and move to a big city a few hundred miles from their folks it's a heap harder for them to travel than for us, so hiring somebody closer to drop by the house for a hug and a meal makes some kind of sense.

Furthermore, Ed went on, a lot of young, busy Americans put their folks aside and operate on the out of sight out of mind plan. Elderly that can afford what they call retirement communities get along good, but them that are poor and in poor health have a hard time seeing anything but a dead end down the rest home road, was Ed's words.

Actual, Bug Hookum noted, this saw cuts both ways. He read where in this country we got more of a problem with kids moving back home than with em never visiting. Just when Ma and Pa get the kids grown and gone and have some time for themselves, Bug said, here comes Junior laid off from his job to lay around the house. The next shoe to fall might be Sis with a divorce and a carload of rowdy kids. From where he sets, Bug declared, some thought needs to be give to old folks who are by themselves because they want to be.

Practical speaking, Clem Webster said, we can read into these signs whatever we want to. For sure, he said, whatever young folks do to keep contact with family is better than the granny dumping where kids get tired of looking after their old and feeble folks and park em in their wheelchairs at hospital emergency rooms.

As for signs, Clem went on, it's not hard to read Project Safe Run operating in the Northwest and in western Canada. This is where joggers can rent dogs to run with em because they're afraid to run alone in their own neighborhoods. If this is an idea whose time has come, Clem said, we have took another step down the road to a armed camp. From what he read, Clem went on, joggers are renting from a pack of 42 dogs that have been trained to attack on command.

For all the danger outside, Clem said, it ain't no wonder this fellow in Jacksonville, N.C. recent tried to break into jail. The police said he had been released from the same jail early this year, and he hadn't be able to find a job or a home. He said he liked the town's new jail, especial the food and the new exercise room. He was charged with breaking, entering and damage to public property. The court might consider sentencing him to two years on the street.

For signs, Clem said, it's hard to beat the Los Angeles doctor convicted of stealing millions with fake Medicaid claims is drawing $266 a month in state disability benefits because he's so depressed about the trouble he's in.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Arbor Treatment Center Staff Attends Training Workshop

On June 12 Larry Sheldon, residence counselor, and Betty Bliger, research staff, attended the Safe Anchor Project training in Ypsilanti. Safe Anchor Project is a coalition of substance abuse treatment providers and human service providers to families with abused and neglected children. The Project gives training to professionals in both fields about the intersection of substance abuse and child abuse and neglect, and provides for co-ordination of services within the community.

The Michigan Department of Public Health hosted a conference in Lansing on June 23 about substance abuse and violence titled, "Our Superbowl Sunday World of Violence." In attendance from CATC were Karen Kairys and Donna England-Hancamp, nurses, Fred Prezioso, therapist, and Maureen McCarthy, therapist intern.

Keynote speaker was Beverly Coleman-Miller, M.D., president of BCM Corp., Washington D.C. She was dynamic and inspiring in presenting violence as an epidemic in the U.S., and as a learned behavior that needs to be unlearned. The morning panel presentation and the afternoon workshops focused on the different forms of violence: child abuse, domestic, sexual, and street violence, and their connection with substance abuse. Attendees received ideas and suggestions of addressing problems and issues in their local treatment programs.

$ Money Management $

Prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants

★ Shopping for Banking Services . . .

To select the bank that is right for you, the Michigan Association of CPAs recommends you shop around for a financial institution that offers services tailored to your needs and that you evaluate each product or service individually.

Financial Institutions
Consider placing your money only in a bank that is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC). FDIC-insured banks protect up to $100,000 of your deposits. Each FDIC-insured institution is examined regularly to check the adequacy and liquidity of its reserves and the soundness of all operational practices.

Don't confine yourself to looking at one kind of financial institution. Many commercial banks, known primarily for making business loans and providing business and industrial property mortgages, offer traditional savings accounts as well as consumer loans and home mortgages. Although interest rates on savings vehicles may be slightly less than those offered by thrifts, a commercial bank may offer you more services.

Thrift institutions have also expanded their range of services. Originally formed to encourage savings by individuals and to foster home ownership by issuing home mortgages, they now offer checking accounts and business loans, not unlike those offered by commercial banks.

Credit unions offer many of the same services as banks. Savings accounts opened through credit unions frequently pay a slightly higher interest rate than similar accounts opened at banks and other thrifts.

Recently, loans for homes and other major purchases have been added to the more traditional list of auto, home improvement, and general purchase loans offered by credit unions.

A look at checking accounts

Don't waste your dollars on hefty service fees for checking accounts. Most banks will waive service fees if you maintain a minimum balance. Since you won't earn interest on the balance in a regular checking account, it's best to find one that requires a low minimum balance—anything under $500 is a good deal.

NOW accounts—or interest-bearing checking accounts—are offered by both commercial banks and thrifts. Generally, in order to earn interest on your account, you must maintain a minimum daily balance. If you go below the minimum, most banks will charge you a service fee. However, the service fee is usually minimal and may be more than offset by the interest you can earn on your money.

Unlike a regular or NOW checking account which require minimum balances, a non-minimum account generally involves a monthly fee and a per-check charge that makes it a good choice only if you write very few checks.

Selecting a savings vehicle

As you consider the many different savings vehicles financial institutions offer, do so with an eye toward three important factors: risk, liquidity, and yield.

For example, a passbook or statement savings account is completely liquid—meaning you can readily put your hands on the cash. Certificates of Deposit (CDs), on the other hand, require you to maintain your deposit in the account for a fixed period, generally three months to 10 years, but pay a higher rate of interest than the passbook account.

Money market accounts, another short-term savings option, have no interest-rate ceilings. Interest rates are adjusted periodically, and you can make unlimited deposits and withdrawals. However, money market accounts require significantly larger deposits than CDs—usually a minimum of $2,500.

NOTES

"Riches take wings, comforts vanish, hope withers away but love stays with us. Love is God."

—Lew Wallace.

Love makes the world go 'round, says the ever-popular ballad. And so it does. All the world loves a lover. There are many different kinds of love and all are beautiful.

Love, of whatever variety, is always characterized by kindness and consideration, the willingness to put a loved-one's well-being before our own. Whether the object of our love is a mate, a child, a parent or a very dear friend, our feeling for that person is the most God-like emotion we can experience. And, our ability to love is inexhaustible; unlike our own assets, the more love we use, the more we have remaining.

We do our best to make each funeral service the basis of beautiful memories... a source of comfort for the bereaved.

An attempted breaking and entering was also reported. N. H. Miles of 5215 Pratt Rd., Scio township, reported two screen doors in his home were cut open. No entry was gained.

On July 26, Johanna Melangton, 35, of 733 Scio Meadow Rd., near Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd. in Scio township, reported a larceny from her motor vehicle. She found her trunk open and her cellular phone, battery pack, 10 cassette tapes and purse were taken, totalling $450.

Another larceny from a motor vehicle was reported at 4209 Conway Rd., Chelsea. A juvenile victim reported his stereo amplifier worth $50 was taken. Entry was gained through a rusted door panel.

Jonathan M. Jarosz, 20, also reported a larceny from his motor vehicle. Jarosz of Fort Wayne, Ind., parked his car at 948 Florence St. in Scio township. His passenger side door was left unlocked and $1,830 of items were stolen. The items include a cellular phone, a compact disc jam box, a radar detector, compact discs, cash and a pager.

SPORTS

Let's Go Bulldogs!

High School Fall Teams Start Practice Monday

High school fall sports practices begin state-wide next Monday, Aug. 10 and Chelsea Bulldogs teams will be on the fields, courts, and courses in preparation for the beginning of the season some three weeks later.

One major coaching change has been made this fall as former head softball coach Charlie Waller takes the reins as the head girls basketball coach. He takes the place of Dave Wojcicki, who held the job for a year.

Waller, whose softball teams won two state titles in the early 1980s, was chosen partly because of his past success as a head coach, said athletic director Wayne Welton. Waller will leave a middle school football coaching job, and probably a middle school boys basketball position.

Paul Terpstra will again coach the junior varsity girls team. The JV's will practice from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. at Beach Middle school while the varsity team will get underway at the same time at the high school and practice until noon. Questions should be directed to Waller at 475-8816 or Terpstra at 475-8822.

The high school football staff remains largely intact as head coach Gene LaFave begins his 13th season.

A varsity organizational meeting for juniors and seniors will be held Thursday, Aug. 6 at 6 p.m. in room 114 at Chelsea High school. The first practice will be held on Monday beginning at 7 a.m. The annual football camp will begin on Wednesday, Aug. 12 and conclude on Saturday, Aug. 15 with picture day and the annual Blue-White Game.

Any boy or girl interested in being a varsity football manager should attend the organizational meeting.

An equipment issue for the junior varsity team will be held Monday, Aug. 10 at noon in the high school gym. A light workout may follow, said coach Bill Bainton. First scheduled practice is for Tuesday.

Pat Clarke's boys and girls cross country teams will again hold their first week of practice in the countryside. This year they'll gather at Mill Lake Camp on Monday.

Girls tennis team will again be led by Terri Curtis. The team will hold its first practice at 9 a.m. Monday at the high school courts.

Coach Dave Brinklow's girls swimming team will leave for Holland on Monday where they'll hold their first practice, some of it in Lake Michigan. They hope the pool will be ready in time for a home practice by the middle of the week.

Anyone who plans to participate in sports should have had a physical exam before attending the first practice.

Elk Hunt Applications Now Being Accepted

For the first time, the Department of Natural Resources has scheduled two September elk hunts—Sept. 9-15 and Sept. 17-24—for Michigan's 1992 elk hunting season, with a third hunt scheduled for Dec. 9-15.

With the hunts beginning earlier in the fall, applications to include the September elk hunts must be postmarked by Aug. 1, earlier than in previous years. Those postmarked after that date, but by Sept. 15, will be applied to the December hunt only.

"This will be the ninth consecutive year of elk hunting in Michigan in recent history," DNR director Roland Harmes said. "Since 1984, hunters have harvested 1,126 elk. The ability to maintain regulated hunting, as well as providing opportunities for people to see elk in the wild, is another indication of the outstanding success we have had in managing the population of this magnificent animal."

Application forms to apply for the elk hunt licenses may be purchased for a non-refundable $4 fee at more than 2,000 license dealers throughout Michigan beginning July 1.

Accompanying elk hunting guides will contain instructions for filling out the application forms. Only Michigan residents who will be 14 years of age on or before the first day of the hunt applied for will be eligible.

The DNR expects to receive more than 40,000 applications for the 270 elk licenses available this year—173 for the taking of antlerless elk only, and 97 hunter's choice licenses for taking either antlered or antlerless elk.

As in past years, applicants may select two application options—bull-only or any-elk. All applicants, regardless of which option they select, will have an equal chance of obtaining a hunter's choice license. Applicants who apply for the bull-only option will not be considered for antlerless-only licenses.

A random drawing will be held to determine which applicants will be issued elk hunting licenses. Successful applicants will be mailed registered letters by Aug. 24, indicating the area where they may hunt and the type of license they will receive. Successful applicants for the December hunt will be notified by Nov. 2.

Successful applicants are required to attend a special orientation session on the day before their hunt begins (Sept. 8 or 16, or Dec. 7), where they will receive instruction on elk biology, hunting regulations, hunting techniques and elk distribution.

Michigan's native elk disappeared from the state about 1875. Today's herd dates back to 1918, when seven western elk were reintroduced in the state near Wolverine. The herd increased to the point where regulated hunting could be allowed in 1964 and 1965, and more recent hunts have been held annually since 1984.

Last January's estimate of the herd points to a population of about 1,200 and an expected fall herd of about 1,400.

Don't forget to check the labels of the products you use on your indoor plants, too. Make sure that you're not bringing unnecessary toxic chemicals into your home.

If you have a major infestation of ants, apply boric acid or mix a bait of boric acid with a food base. Use boric acid for 5% of the mix. Any food will do if the ants have shown an interest in it; powdered sugar, pet food or jelly work well. The acid will take some time to work, but will affect the whole colony, due to the way ants feed one another.

Chelsea Fair Queen Contestants

Nine Chelsea and Dexter-area girls have entered the Chelsea Fair Queen Program this year.

The public portion of the program will be held Friday, Aug. 28 in the covered arena at the fairgrounds. However, the girls will be involved in a variety of activities through the fair week, beginning with Tuesday's Children's Parade right through Saturday's Chelsea Fair Parade.

They attend the Livestock Auction, Ladies Day, and other events.

This year, for the first time, all contestants are required to sign a contract so there will be no misunderstandings about the obligations of the contestants and the eventual queen, particularly during the year of her reign.

Girls will be judged on talent, poise, and an interview with the judges. Each girl is being sponsored by a school or community organization or business.

Chelsea and Dexter girls of high school age are eligible to enter.

Below are profiles of three girls who have entered the contest. The other six contestants will be featured over the next two weeks.

MELISA MOLINA, 14, daughter of Ralph and Lisa Molina of Gregory, is being sponsored by the freshman class of Chelsea High school. Melissa ran track at Beach Middle school, was basketball manager, and played in the orchestra. She plays softball in the summer and is a dance student. Her hobbies include music, dance, and water skiing. Members of her court include Jeanine Moulleseaux. She has a brother, Robert, age 10.

COURTNEY GORTON, age 17, daughter of Lawrence and Gayle Gorton of Chelsea, is being sponsored by the Chelsea High School Senior Class. She's a National Honor Society member, an honor student, a Brass Pass recipient, is listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students and won an award for effort and achievement in English. Courtney performs with the Washington Street Show Choir and the Madrigals. She also performs with her family in churches. She and her family recently moved here. Courtney enjoys singing, dancing, biking, aerobics, writing letters to friends, traveling, and swimming. Aimee Armstrong will be in her court. She has three sisters, Carter, 18, and Colby, 16, and Casey, 7, and two brothers, Tyler, 12, and Trevor, 9.

BETSY SOROOSH, age 15, daughter of Robert and Lydia Soroosh of Dexter, is being sponsored by the Dexter High School Student Council. She's an honor student, won the school's Outstanding Algebra Student Award and was a scholarship recipient from the Dexter Education Association. She's listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students. Betsy is the first feature twirler in 14 years for the Dexter High School Marching Band and was the Novice State Twirl Champion last year. Betsy also plays cornet and piano and has received I and II ratings in the annual solo/ensemble festival. She's a member of the St. Joseph Catholic church youth group "Mustard Seed" and has organized youth Bible study. Her fair activities include baking, crafts, and antiques. Members of her court are Alicia Smith, Jenny Murphy, and Kristin Fecker. She has a brother, Stephen, 12, and two sisters, Sally, 10, and Beka, 7.

YOU & YOUR PET

★ Disabilities of Pets . . .

Accidents, illnesses, and the gradual effects of aging can leave our companion animals with some common disabilities. Yet most disabled pets can continue to enjoy their lives and enrich those of their owners. Special care, lifestyle changes, and veterinary treatment enable many dogs and cats to adjust to physical handicaps and live comfortably into old age.

An injury to or birth defect of an animal's limb need not be a reason for euthanasia, as long as the pet is otherwise healthy. Either a front or back leg can be surgically amputated by a veterinarian. The limb will usually be removed completely, so that no stump is left for the animal to attempt to use and possibly injure. Three-legged cats and dogs, once healed from their surgery, can walk, sit, and even run after they readjust their balance. Unlike humans, they suffer no social stigma from their unusual appearance.

Sometimes a pet will lose use of both hind legs through a back injury or disease. As long as the animal is continent, he or she may be fitted with a custom-made cart which enables the pet to remain relatively mobile. The lightweight wheeled cart supports the hindquarters of the animal and attaches to a well-fitted harness. For information on how to acquire one, contact your vet or local humane society. The carts cost around $200 each.

Incontinence, or loss of bladder control, is a disability seen most often in female dogs. Luckily, this condition is usually treatable by your veterinarian. Two drugs, estrogen and phenylpropanoamine, are frequently used successfully to cause a female dog to regain control of her bladder.

Blindness is a disability that many pets experience as they age. A few pets are blind from birth or lose their vision accidentally. When a pet loses his or her sight gradually, the animal usually adapts by memorizing the surroundings. Frequently owners don't realize the extent of their pet's vision loss until they move the furniture and find that their pet keeps bumping into it. Given time, an animal can adjust well to sudden vision loss as well. Keeping a blind pet indoors and on a leash or confined when outside, is very important to the animal's safety. Traffic is especially dangerous as the pet cannot see things coming at him or her.

ALLIE'S CAFE, a new coffee shop behind The Country Rose off W. Middle St. offers cappuccino, various special coffees, pastries, ice cream and desserts. The cafe opens early and stays open late.

New Coffee Shop, Allie's Cafe, Opens Behind The Country Rose

Allie's Cafe, a new coffee shop with a range of pastries, desserts, and ice cream, has opened behind The Country Rose off E. Middle St.

The Country Rose owners, sisters Ann Currie and Mary Currie-Williams, opened the new shop this month (Common Grill owner Craig Common was the first customer) in the former home of the Sweet Surprises candy store, which has since moved to Main St.

"My original dream was to open an old-fashioned soda fountain," Mary says.

"But the Big Dipper beat me to it."

Originally a greenhouse, the cafe is a comfortable and light place to relax with a cup of cappuccino and read the newspaper or visit with friends. There is both table and bar seating, and the entire cafe is non-smoking. The store got its name from the fact that the store is bordered by two alleys, and Mary has a daughter named Allison.

All the furniture came from the old Whiffletree restaurant in Ann Arbor. The oak and brass bar is the centerpiece of the store. An oak church pew sits along one wall.

The cafe features its cappuccino, which can be everything from hazelnut to blackberry-flavored. There is also espresso, regular and gourmet coffees (including decaf), soft drinks, and fresh-squeezed lemonade. At any time there are about a dozen pastries, ranging from scones to croissants to muffins and fresh bagels.

Desserts are also a specialty, all shipped in from gourmet suppliers. There are cakes, pies, cheesecake, and eight flavors of ice cream for cones, sodas, and floats.

Customers may also buy bulk gourmet coffee.

Mary says the cafe is aiming to lure some of the Garage Theatre crowd by staying open to 11 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Other days the cafe is open until 10 p.m. All seven days it opens at 8 a.m.

Q. Please tell me the difference between using an insurance company compared to a mutual fund for accumulation of retirement funds.

A. Each has its place depending on the objectives of the investor.

When you place your retirement funds in a mutual fund, you are deciding on the particular investment style and portfolio manager you desire to manage your retirement funds. The type of mutual funds available can vary from rather staid no-growth funds such as money market or bond funds, to aggressive growth or overseas investments. However, it is possible to select a fund with an objective in between these extremes.

The important point to remember is that the investment results are largely a function of who you select to manage your retirement funds. There are no guarantees.

An insurance company usually targets the investment results in dollars. Their expense ratio is usually higher than a mutual fund, but the amount of retirement benefits in dollars is usually stated by the insurance company ahead of time.

Unfortunately, there has been some advertising hype attached to some insurance products, which states them in terms of Guaranteed Investment Contracts. The problem is that the guarantee is usually for only the first year and tends to decline thereafter. The final results are dependent on the safety and strength of the insurance company. There have been some unfortunate losses by retirees who were depending on insurance companies.

Another problem is that the investment results are usually discussed in terms of dollars and ignores the effect of inflation on erosion of the purchasing power of the dollar. To counteract this problem, some insurance companies offer a variable value annuity. The money is invested in stocks in much the same manner as a mutual fund. The dollar value is not guaranteed and the investor takes the risk of the final value.

In this column, I do not have the space to discuss fully all of the various types of mutual funds and retirement type insurance policies that may be available.

New Video Series For Parents, Teens Aired on Cable TV

"Evolution of the American Teenager: The New Counter Culture," a two-part docu-drama, is currently being presented on local cable channel 22 each Monday night in the months of August and September. Costs of the presentation are being underwritten by the Chelsea Full Gospel Church.

In this video presentation, the life of a teenage boy is vividly captured in a movie-style drama that traces his experiences growing up in the turbulent 60's. His life is presented in the context of the pivotal events of that era and the decades that followed. Host Blaine Bartel's commentary links these events to the current problems faced by teenagers across the nation. "Our hope is that parents will view this series with their teenagers," comments Chelsea Full Gospel pastor John Groesser. "It brings up issues that must be discussed within families and also allows parents to help their kids better understand what it was like to be a teenager in the 60's." Part One of "Evolution of the American Teenager" will be shown on Mondays throughout August at 8 p.m. on Channel 22. Part Two is scheduled to air during September.

Gospel Films PRESENTS
BEYOND BARRIERS
 New Film Series Being Shown at CHELSEA FREE METHODIST CHURCH
 7665 Werkner Rd. Ph. 475-1391
 Through stories told from both sides of the prison bars, Harold Morris shows us how to endure every human disadvantage possible and refuse to accept defeat because the hard times can be overcome through tough faith.
 Here's a film series that you dare not miss.
SUNDAY, AUGUST 9 - 6:00 p.m.
 Film 1: Making the Right Choices—Harold intertwines his own story with the story of two other convicts. Their related experiences show how random choices made as a teenager can affect the rest of life.
SUNDAY, AUGUST 16 - 6:00 p.m.
 Film 2: Fragile, Handle With Love—Harold tells of both funny and tender experiences when as a young ex-con, he worked in a boy's orphanage. We learn that love has to have arms if it's going to be fleshed out in a hurting world.
SUNDAY, AUGUST 23 - 6:00 p.m.
 Film 3: The Joy of Laughter—Harold gives practical applications on how to survive the "tough stuff" that life can throw at us by sharing the importance of the humor that kept him alive in his prison environment. Declaring that "laughter is the lotion for the sunburn in your life," he challenges us to make the two steps of faith and obedience, and God will put us to the test every time.
SUNDAY, AUGUST 30 - 6:00 p.m.
 Film 4: Tough Faith—Harold becomes a living example of how to overcome the hardest times in life—facing the death of a loved one. He shares powerfully the story of Russell Moore, a dedicated young Christian dying of cancer. He shows how his caring for young Russell prepared him to face his own bout with throat cancer as he made the tough-faith decision to become God's communicator in spite of his affliction.

RESOLUTION RE: ADOPTION OF RETIREE HEALTH CARE INSURANCE COVERAGE PLAN

FOR FULL-TIME, NON-UNION SALARIED EMPLOYEES
RESOLVED, that this Village Council for the Village of Chelsea does herein provide, effective July 15, 1992, retiree health care coverage to all full-time non-union salaried employees; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this health care coverage shall be provided in an amount determined by the Village Council and as set forth in the following coverage plan:

VILLAGE OF CHELSEA RETIREE HEALTH CARE COVERAGE PLAN FOR FULL-TIME, NON-UNION SALARIED EMPLOYEES

1. Eligibility. Any full-time, non-union salaried employee of the Village who has retired from service with the Village at a time when he/she qualified for an immediate retirement benefit from the Village's retirement plan under the Municipal Employee's Retirement System (MERS) and whose combined age and years of full-time service with the Village at the time of such retirement equalled or exceeded eighty (80) years shall be eligible for retiree health care coverage provided by the Village. Such coverage shall commence upon the retired employee's attainment of age sixty (60).

2. Death Before Retirement. In the event a full-time, non-union salaried employee of the Village dies before attaining age sixty (60) but after his/her combined age and years of full-time service with the Village equals or exceeds eighty (80) years, the spouse of such deceased employee, if any, shall be eligible for retiree health care coverage provided by the Village. Such coverage shall commence on the date the deceased employee would have attained age sixty (60).

3. Description of Coverage. The retiree health care coverage for full-time, non-union salaried employees and eligible surviving spouses of full-time, non-union salaried employees shall be roughly equivalent to the health care coverage provided by the Village to its active full-time, non-union salaried employees.

4. Contributions by Retired Employees or Eligible Surviving Spouses. In order to receive retiree health care coverage from the Village a retired full-time, non-union salaried employee or eligible surviving spouse of a deceased full-time, non-union salaried employee must contribute fifty (50%) percent of the cost of the coverage received. Payment of such contributions shall be made at such times and in such manner as the Village shall determine from time to time.

5. Coverage of Spouse. The legally dependent spouse of a retired full-time, non-union salaried employee receiving retiree health care coverage from the Village shall also be eligible for such coverage, provided that the retired full-time, non-union salaried employee pays fifty (50%) percent of the cost of the coverage received. In the event that a retired full-time, non-union salaried employee dies after satisfying the eligibility requirements of paragraph 1 above (whether or not such employee has attained age sixty (60) and commenced to receive retiree health care coverage), the surviving spouse of such employee shall be eligible for retiree health care coverage on the date of the employee's death or the date the employee would have attained age sixty (60), whichever is later, provided that such spouse must pay fifty (50%) percent of the cost of the coverage received.

6. Coverage from Other Sources. In the event the retired full-time, non-union salaried employee or such employee's spouses is receiving health care coverage from any source other than the Village, including Medicare, the Village may, at its option, pay the premiums for a coverage supplement to provide health care coverage roughly equivalent to that otherwise provided herein.

7. Benefit Intent. In providing this benefit it is the intent of the Village to assist employees who have provided many valuable years of service to the Village with payment of health care coverage expenses. However, the establishment of this benefit does not constitute a long-term commitment on the part of the Village in terms of benefit duration, coverage level or dollar value. The Village Council retains the right in its sole and absolute discretion to amend, modify or terminate in any manner the retiree health care coverage provided hereunder upon adoption of an appropriate resolution at any time.

BE IT STILL FURTHER RESOLVED, that, although the Village intends to continue the above coverage for an indefinite period of time, the Village Council desires to emphasize and re-state the right which has been retained, as referenced above in Section 7 of the coverage plan, to amend, modify or terminate the benefits provided for herein at any time.

GARDEN CORNER

Natural Predators Help Control Pests...

Natural predators are an important part of an integrated system of landscape and garden pest control.

Ladybird beetles and praying mantises are highly promoted and even sold through gardening catalogs.

Some larger predators, however, are not only not appreciated or encouraged in their good work, but may actually be persecuted.

"Think about it," says Glenn Dudderar, Extension fisheries and wildlife specialist at Michigan State University. "Have you ever seen an ad for snakes or toads?"

Bats seem to be making a little headway, thanks to their well-known appetite for mosquitoes. Some catalogs—including the 1992 official Boy Scout catalog—offer bat houses, either ready-made or as kits, to lure bats into backyards.

Few people go out of their way to make their yards attractive to toads, but homeowners generally tolerate toads. They may be startled to have one jump across their path on a summer evening, but they understand that toads are harmless creatures that eat insects. They're even sort of cute, in a lumpy, froggy sort of way.

The common toad is the gardener's ally because it eats insects and other invertebrates, including snails and slugs. Like bats, toads work nights. They spend their days in damp, shaded hiding spots.

You can encourage a toad to hang around your vegetable garden or flower bed by building what National Wildlife magazine calls a "toad abode." Simply hollow out a shallow depression in the soil, line it with fine mulch or good topsoil, and upend an old clay flower pot over it. Take a chunk out of the side of the pot for an entry way. Especially if you've chosen a shaded, secluded spot, a toad is likely to take up residence.

The snakes that are likely to appear in lawns and gardens are equally harmless and beneficial, but fewer homeowners are as tolerant of snakes as toads, and fewer still welcome them, Dudderar observes.

"Unfortunately, too many people have a policy of killing every snake they see," he says. "Eliminating these predators from the backyard ecosystem can lead to increased problems with such pests as slugs and rodents."

Garter snakes, Michigan's most common snake and the one most likely to turn up in lawns and gardens, consume large numbers of slugs.

"Every garden I have ever had has had slug problems," Dudderar relates. "The more you mulch for weed control and water conservation, the more likely you are to have slugs. If you tolerate the snakes that come into the garden to feed on the slugs, you'll have a lot fewer slugs."

If you want to encourage snakes to hang around the garden, try laying some old boards, flattened cardboard boxes or discarded carpet scraps off to one side to provide snake hiding places. Snakes passing through the yard should find the combination of food and shelter quite appealing.

Garter snakes eat insects, slugs and other invertebrates. Other types of common, harmless snakes, such as milk snakes, eat mice. Leaving the snakes alone to go about their business can make a significant difference in the magnitude of a rodent problem.

"I've seen this at my mother's home in Baltimore," Dudderar says. "When I stopped the killing of snakes around the house, the mouse problem in the house virtually disappeared. Faced with evidence that the snakes were doing a better job of mouse control than humans had managed with traps and poison, family members learned to tolerate black snakes, milk snakes and the occasional corn snake in the basement."

Some people are so fearful of snakes, of course, that they'd rather be overrun with mice or garden slugs than tolerate the presence of snakes.

"It's unlikely that the practice of encouraging insect predators even to the point of selling them will ever extend to vertebrate predators such as snakes and toads, which could also be helpful," he predicts. "Homeowners and gardeners can preserve and protect these creatures when they encounter them, however. Over time, they may even find themselves enjoying the chance to observe them and learn about them."

The bright flowers of the prickly pear cactus bloom for only one day.

ELEMENTARY—All school district kindergarten students should register at South school. Parents will need health immunization forms and the child's birth certificate to register their child for kindergarten. All other elementary-age students can register at either North or South schools on Aug. 17, 18, 19 from 9 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m.

Elementary children who will be riding a bus will be placed in either North or South school depending on present student enrollments. Walkers will attend their appropriate neighborhood school, and those parents should register their children at that school.

Both North and South schools will be hosting an orientation program to welcome new students. South school will be having its new-student orientation on Aug. 25, and North school will have its orientation on Aug. 28. The time schedules for both elementary orientations are: kindergarten to grade 2, 10 to 10:45 a.m.; grades 3 to 5, from 10:45 to 11:30 a.m.

MIDDLE SCHOOL—Sixth-grade students should plan to report directly to the school cafeteria, where they will be introduced to their first-hour teachers who will, in turn escort them to their classrooms. Seventh- and eighth-grade students will pick up their class schedules and then report to their first-hour classes. Students should plan to arrive at school between 8:15 and 8:25 a.m. First-hour classes will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Families new to the Chelsea School District may wish to enroll their middle school students on Aug. 17, 18 and 19 from 9 a.m. until 11 a.m., and from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. Susan West will be available to answer questions and to register new students at Beach.

The middle school principal will review the parent/student handbook on the first few days of school. A copy of the handbook will be sent home with students. Parents are encouraged to review this document to acquaint themselves with policies and operational procedures at Beach school.

HIGH SCHOOL—Parents and students are asked to report to the high school office to pick up and complete registration forms and scheduling information as soon as possible so that records can be requested from the former school. All new students must meet with a counselor between Aug. 17 and 20 to establish a schedule for the 1992-93 school year. New students should set up a counseling appointment when they register with the high school secretary.

Any new student interested in athletics should be aware that fall practice begins Aug. 10. Likewise, new students interested in band should be aware that band camp will be held from Aug. 24 through Aug. 27.

The first day of school for all students will be Tuesday, Sept. 1. All high school students should report to the gym by 8:25 a.m. for a brief orientation before reporting to classes. All current students will be receiving a letter with more detailed information.

TRANSPORTATION—Complete information on bus schedules will be made available in the Aug. 19 issue of The Chelsea Standard.

SUCCESS IN BUSINESS

Helpful Hints To Increase Sales

More newspaper advertising and more color in brochures—those are two tools many businesses are using to sharply increase sales.

Many businesses have found color can communicate a powerful message before the reader ever sees what else is on the pamphlet page, says Doug Reiter, vice president of marketing at PIP Printing, the nation's largest business printing chain. The company recently began offering affordable, high quality, full-color printing.

According to one study, color increases readership 41 percent, retention 18 percent, and the tendency to act by 26 percent.

Which colors you use, however, can be very important. It depends on what message you want to convey. Researchers found, for instance, that bright red stimulates most people while soft pink is calming. Dark blue sends a message of respectability and knowledge; light blue, creativity. Yellow implies temporary and new. Orange suggests affordability. Green can be welcoming in a light tone, implies wealth in very deep color, but can hurt credibility in medium tones. Brown encourages people to share confidences, but does not give authority to the presenter.

You can get more colorful information on professional printing from a PIP Printing Center or by calling PIP's National Preferred-Account Manager at 1-800-421-4634.

CHELSEA'S JOSH POWERS sold his reserve champion individual hog to Farm Credit Services, represented by Elliot Alfredson at the 4-H Livestock Auction, Thursday, July 30. Kyle Weidmayer and Michelle Mann, king and queen of the 1992 Youth Show are pictured with the buyer and seller. It's Tom Bloomer in the photo for his wife, who was sidelined with an injury.

HE'S ALREADY DEAD, DON. Funeral director Don Cole of Chelsea greets Elvis impersonator Dave King, who gave a very lively performance at last Saturday's Concert in the Park in Pierce Park. The real Elvis is, of course, dead—or is he? With them is Don's wife, Linda.
