BETSY SOROOSH, a sophomore at Dexter High school, was crowned the 1992 Chelsea Community Fair Queen last Friday evening. Soroosh is the first Dexter girl to win the crown in the 42 years of the program.

Betsy Soroosh Crowned '92 Chelsea Fair Queen

For the first time in the 42-year history of the Chelsea Community Fair Queen program, a Dexter girl was crowned queen.

Betsy Soroosh, 15, a sophomore at Dexter High school sponsored by the Dexter Student Council, beat out eight Chelsea candidates last week to win the title of 1992 Chelsea Community Fair Queen. It was also one of the few times a Dexter girl has even entered the program.

Although the program was held in the covered multi-purpose arena, cool temperatures and gusty winds made the setting somewhat uncomfortable for many in the packed stands. Potted flowers were blown off the stage and the girls had to give their talent presentations in clothes and costumes more ideal for summer weather.

The daughter of Robert and Lydia Soroosh performed the classical piano piece "Clementi Sonata No. 36," as she did at Monday's judging at Chelsea High school.

This year's public interview question was tied to the Olympics. Mistress of ceremonies Laurie Honbaum asked each girl how important sports is in a young person's life.

Soroosh said they are "very important" and she noted the "lot of character" in the athletes who have worked hard to achieve their goals. (Continued on page four)

Village Hopes State Will Help Pay for Clean Up

Village of Chelsea may have to pay more than $300,000 to clean up the contaminated site at the former electric and water building on North St.

The building used to have underground gasoline storage tanks on the grounds. After the tanks were pulled out of the ground it was discovered that gasoline had leaked out and contaminated soil around and under the building.

A clean-up plan, which calls for demolishing part of the building and hauling away about 2,700 cubic yards of contaminated soil, has been approved by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

However, because of administrative problems during the changeover in village administration last year, the village may be stuck paying the bill. Under the Michigan Underground Storage Tank Financial Assurance Act (MUSTFA), the village would normally be able to receive help from the state for all expenses over $10,000.

When the contamination problem was first discovered, former village manager Robert Stalker apparently hired the consulting company Envirotherm to investigate the problem and write a report. The report was apparently submitted to the Department of Natural Resources but was never acted upon by the village, perhaps because the report was never received by the village. Exactly what happened is not certain but village manager Jack Myers told village council last week that he cannot find a copy of the report.

A secondary problem is that Envirotherm at the time was not on the DNR's approved list of consultants.

MUSTFA denied the funding because the village did not meet all necessary timelines.

Soon after Myers was hired last summer the village hired Traverse

Group to study the problem and issue a report.

Since then the village has built a new electric and water building in the industrial park off Sibley Rd.

The village hopes it can convince the MUSTFA board the problem still deserves state financing. John D'Addona of Traverse Group told council that the state will often reconsider if a polluter has acted in good faith to correct the problem. He said one reason DNR was so upset about the Chelsea problem is its proximity to the village wells. However, tests have shown, D'Addona said, that the water supply is in no danger, partly because the aquifer runs away from the wells and partly because the contamination lies in a shallow aquifer that is substantially separated from the deeper waters where the village taps its water.

Myers said the MUSTFA board meets monthly and that he would like to meet with the board this month.

55th Community Fair Called a Success Despite Two Days of Bad Weather

The five-day Chelsea Community Fair was about as successful as it could have been considering nearly two full days of it were rained out.

The 55th annual fair had excellent attendance on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Saturday, when weather conditions were ideal.

However, Thursday, Aug. 28 was virtually a complete washout. It rained so long and hard that the planned Motorcross that evening was cancelled. Most of the people who entered that day were connected with the Livestock Auction, which ironically set several records.

Much of Friday was lost, too. The weather turned very cool but the rain eased up.

According to fair board president Ken McCalla, gate receipts were down about $10,000 for the week. In addition, the fair's 25 percent take from the Pugh Shows midway rides and games was down about $6,000, to about $20,000. McCalla said weather has apparently been a big problem for Pugh Shows all summer long. The carnival brought several new attractions this year.

The fair also lost its $1,500 deposit on the motorcross.

"I don't think we're disappointed at all considering the weather we had," McCalla said.

"I think we probably would have set an attendance record if the weather had been good all week."

The loss of proceeds shouldn't have a great effect on the operations of the fair next year, McCalla said. In addition, the fair board still plans to finish a $40,000 drain project before next year's fair.

Other than the loss of gate receipts, the fair was successful. Participation was up in the majority of areas. All livestock clubs had increased participation. There were fewer chickens on hand, but that's because they had to be at the state fair by Thursday, McCalla said. There was a mix-up and the small livestock auction was never held.

The horse shows, in which there was a big participation boost, were all held, with some delays due to the weather.

None of the tractor pulls were cancelled.

Other traditional events—Cavalcade of Thrills Demolition Derby, Ladies Day, Fair Queen Program, and the 4-wheel and 2-wheel-drive pulls—all had capacity crowds.

"The stands were as crowded as I've ever seen them for the pulls," McCalla said.

Two new events proved to be especially popular. The Fly Ball Dog Show on Wednesday night in the multi-purpose had standing room only, even though it started late due to a longer-than-planned hog show.

And the 50's-60's Cruise Night on Saturday drew many classic car and early rock-and-roll enthusiasts.

"In my opinion the classic car show was a success and I hope we'll have it again next year," McCalla said.

The Chelsea Fair Parade on Saturday lasted about 55 minutes, up five or 10 minutes from last year. There were plenty of floats, tractors, and politicians for state and local offices, but there were fewer horses, other animals, and clowns.

Equipment functioned as planned. The rain seemed to create fewer muddy spots than usual. A brisk business was reported by both the fair kitchen and the Kiwanis Kitchen. And the fair queen was a Dexter girl.

"As a whole, everything went very well," McCalla said.

School District Plans Bus System Study, Board OKs No Smoking

Chelsea School District administration plans to study whether its current busing system is the best for its taxpayers and students.

The school board discussed the bus system at a meeting Monday, Aug. 31. The district has what is called a one-tier system, in which students at all grade levels are picked up on one bus run in the morning and taken home on one run in the evening.

Superintendent Joe Piasecki said he plans to study two other options: a two-tier system and complete privatization of the service.

Privatization is considered a long shot, although the option needs to be studied because the district spends a little less than $1 million annually on bus service.

A two-tier system is probably more feasible. Under that system, a bus driver would make two runs each morning and evening. High school and middle school students would be picked up first. Then the drivers would go back out and pick up elementary students.

The two-tier system is believed to be cheaper. It would also help with the problem of athletes having to miss some of their final classes when they go to away games.

Early estimates say a two-tier system might be 30 percent cheaper, but I'm not sure I believe it," Piasecki said.

The system would use fewer drivers and fewer buses, but those drivers would get more hours and each bus would be driven more miles.

A private system might be even cheaper, if the district could find someone to provide the service. Potentially, there are several drawbacks, including loss of some control of the program. There's also the possibility that at some point the district might regret giving up its bus system and decide to switch back, which would require a huge initial expense of purchasing an entire bus fleet.

"I don't want to alarm anyone and make them think we're going to turn this over to a private company," Piasecki said.

"It's just something we need to look at as part of our study."

In other bus business, the board authorized the purchase of three buses: bodies from Wise International at $13,300 and chassis from Palmer Ford-Mercury for $32,906.25.

In other board business, a formal smoke-free building policy was adopted, which prohibits smoking in all school district buildings. The policy was made possible by the new teacher contract. Under the old contract, the district was required to provide a room in each building for on-staff smokers.

Piasecki said there are probably fewer than a dozen staff members who smoke. The biggest impact, he said, would be on adult education students.

"For them it will be a major change," Piasecki said.

The board hired Kathy Terbrack as a science teacher. She'll be a one-year replacement for Amy Poljan, who's taking a one-year leave of absence.

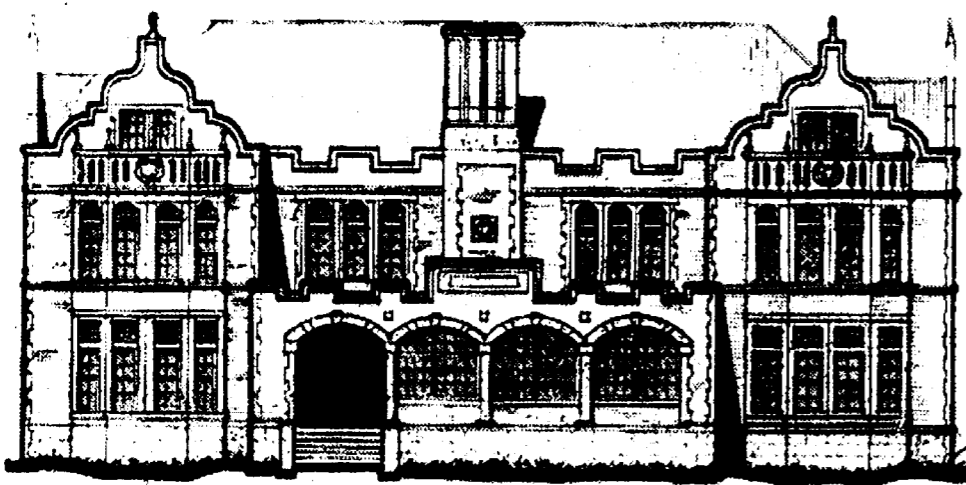

The district millage levy was approved. Total operating millage is 37.7285. Debt service millage dropped from 1.8 to 1.4 mills, saving taxpayers .4 mills.

Two changes in the agreement with bus drivers were approved. Under the first change, union dues will be automatically deducted from a driver's check. That change is the result of a recent case in which a bus driver was fired for failure to pay her dues. The driver was later reinstated. The other change involved the interpretation of sick leave.

Finally, as part of board goals for the new year approved Monday night, the board agreed to study the facilities issue and make a final recommendation by April 19.

Dodak Says House To Consider Ethics Reform In Fall; Senate Panel Reads Bills For Action
 House Speaker Lewis Dodak (D-Montrose) has said the House will address a comprehensive ethics reform package when it returns for what is expected to be a brief session in September. The Senate will also face several ethics reform issues, as its Government Operations Committee this week moved a portion of its package, including the elimination of Officeholder Expense Funds (OEFs), to the full floor.

Both members of the House and Senate are expected to return to Lansing Sept. 15 but recess after only a few weeks to allow for House and Congressional campaigns. But Dodak, who outlined his package at a recent news conference, said changing the way campaigns are funded is at the top of his agenda.

Blaming the delay in action on the controversial subject (one which legislators have been criticized as hesitant to attack because reforms could mean tighter restrictions on them) on protracted budget debates over the last 18 months, Dodak said there will be time in the fall. "We haven't had the opportunity or the luxury to look at other issues important to Michigan," Dodak said.

Dodak and Rep. Maxine Berman (D-Southfield), the former chair of the House Elections Committee, both said they do not anticipate that much controversy should stem from the Republican-controlled Senate over the package. Much of the Democratic version, they said, is contained in the Republican proposal.

"Most of them are relatively simple," Berman said. "Let's put something out that will pass instead of something we'll fight over."

House Majority Floor Leader Patrick Gagliardi (D-Drummond Island), chair of the Oversight Committee which could consider some of the reforms, said he is hopeful a compromise can be reached between both chambers in order to achieve some success.

"We're willing to talk with anybody about making this a better proposal. It's not something that we're trying to one-up the other side," he said.

On the Senate side, 11 bills were reported by the Government Operations Committee to accomplish, along with the elimination of OEFs (SB 24), the following:

- establish an ethics committee (SB 1075).
 - forbid legislators from using state funds to mail 200 or more pieces of similar material between the election filing deadline and the election itself (SB 1076).
 - prohibit former state elected officials from being registered by the Secretary of State as lobbyists or lobbyist agents for two years after they leave office (SB 1077).
 - ban honoraria (SB 26), gifts of any value, except campaign contributions (SB 1078), and complimentary transportation, meals and accommodations except from individuals (SB 1079).
 - mandate complete disclosure of all campaign contributions, regardless of the amount (SB 1081).
 - strengthen late filing fees (SB 1082).
 - make persons liable for knowingly making false statements in their advertisements (SB 1083).
 - mandate that all campaign finance records be computerized (SB 1084).
- Local officials were not addressed in the measures reported by the Senate panel. Committee Chair Phil Arthurs (R-Whitcomb) said the package might lose support from Senate members who might be pressured by local officials. However, his Republican colleagues, Sens. Michael Bouchard of Birmingham and John Fridnia of Hubbard Lake backed the expansion, saying the potential for abuse remains just as strong at the local level.

Democratic Sen. Debbie Stabenow (Lansing) agreed with Arthurs and called for separate legislation to deal with local officials. However, as reported, the honoraria ban and the OEF elimination would already apply at the local level.

As proposed, the Democratic plan, corresponding to the GOP package on several points calls for the following:

- establishment of an ethics committee.
- a ban on cash honoraria.
- establishment of a special committee to review alternatives to current campaign financing mechanisms.
- restrictions on payment to public officials of travel and lodging.
- limitations on campaign contributions to require that 50 percent of all House candidate contributions consist of $150 or less; for Senate candidates, $300 or less.
- redefining "independent expenditures" so that the entity making the expenditure could not consult with, or have the co-operation of, the candidate on whose behalf the expenditure was made.

The plan would also lower the disclosure threshold from the current $200 to $50 and require that contributors be at least 18 years of age.

KELLYN PAGLIARINI, age 4, won her age division of the Kiddies Pedal-Power Tractor Pull on Thursday, Aug. 27 at the Chelsea Community Fair. Kellyn has won numerous tractor pulls at fairs this summer and could be a state champion.

Chelsea schools will be able to improve their special education program this year as a result of receiving $20,000 in funds from a $100,000 innovative grant provided by the county for the intermediate school district, said Henry DeYoung, director of Chelsea schools special education. Chelsea defense stopped the Mason Bulldogs within a foot of the goal line as time expired to preserve a 12-6 win at Mason last Friday evening in the opening variety game of the season.

Competing in the junior class, John Heller, 13, took first place in the Sheep Showmanship contest at the Michigan State Fair in Detroit. John showed his Hampshire ram. Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle allowed during the session at the country store Saturday night that he knows he is more set in his ways than most. He says he always has took off his hat when he goes inside, and he always will. He used to smoke a pipe, but he never would smoke in somebody else's house, or in a public eating place. Now half the young men in a shopping mall cafeteria keep their ball caps on while they eat, and we got to have laws to keep old men setting next to you from lighting up their cigars.

Ed said he sees that everything is moving at a faster clip these days, and folks don't have time to pay as much attention to manners, but will he worries where rudeness is taking us.

For instant, he ask the fellows how many of them have answered the phone and heard a recording about paying $1 a week for life insurance that the company can't refuse to sell you even if you're on your deathbed. Worse, a live human being needs 90 seconds to tell you about the stock investment deal he just hear of and nobody else knows about.

The truth is, Ed said, society is forcing us to be rude to one another in order to go about our business. He said he is starting to feel about the phone the way William Faulkner felt when he quit his postmaster job. Faulkner said he wouldn't be at the beck and call of everybody that had a penny for a postcard. If you got a telephone and you try to be decent to everybody—that can look up your number you become a victim in a hurry, was Ed's words.

Bug Hookum, for one, was full agreed with Ed. Bug said he had made a list of what bugs him about the phone. At the top is when you answer and some sweet talking girl says "hold, please, for Mr. Bigshot" that wants to take up your time after telling you that his time is more valuable than yours. Next is when a complete stranger calls and when he's telling you who he is and what he's selling he'll say "would you hold, please, I've got someone on another line." The salesman might just want you to know he's got a lot of lines; but what he's telling you is that whoever is calling him is more important than you are.

General speaking, the fellows were worried about everybody being at the mercy of one gadget or another. As for manners, Zeke Grubb had saw where young businessmen are taking it to extreme. Zeke read where this country has been hit with gratitude inflation. When two businessmen do lunch, as they say, they swap business cards. Then when they go back to the office, both of them get their secretaries to call up the thank you note from the word processor and send it to the other. This way, Zeke said, each knows what the other is doing and why, so the hole exercise loses all meaning.

Furthermore, went on Zeke, the Japanese are taking business manner down new roads. He saw where they have a pocket computer that can scan business cards and store the information on them. And, Zeke said, they have another gadget to make sure they don't nod off at parties and embarrass themselves and their guests. It looks and it is wore like a wrist watch. If the wearer's arm doesn't move in so many minutes it alarms to wake him up.

Personal, I see a future here for the watch alarm. Many's the time I could use one to save myself some elbows in the side in church.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
I am writing to inform the residents of Sharon township and the general public of a service performed by an individual that I believe is very worthy of mention.

Mrs. Irene Kemner, a life-long Sharon township resident, has been a dedicated and dependable Township Election Inspector for many years. So many years, in fact, that it dates back to the Presidential Election of 1948, this being the very close contest between Harry Truman and Owosso native Tom Dewey. Mrs. Kemner was a member of this election board and has served on every Presidential Election since that time, and will be the chairperson of the 1992 Presidential Election Board in Sharon township. During my years as the township clerk I remember of only one election, special, primary, or general, that she was not a member of the board.

Certainly, this is a record that deserves recognition. Our township has always been very fortunate to have dedicated and dependable election workers. Our present group are all very capable and several of them have 20 or more years of service to the township. Needless to say, these people have reduced my responsibilities for running elections very much. Each one has an important role in the process.

I believe every resident of Sharon township would join me in extending appreciation to these people who have spent many 16-hour days at the Township Hall in order that all of us have the opportunity to exercise our freedom to vote our choice.
Duane Haselschwerdt
Sharon Township Clerk.

Patio Screen Door Damaged

A resident in the apartments at 250 Wilkinson St. told Chelsea police that someone apparently tried to break in to their residence on Monday, Aug. 24.

Someone tore up a patio screen door during the night while the residents slept.

Car Vandalized In Parking Lot

A Grass Lake woman who apparently left her car parked at Chelsea Shopping Center overnight on Friday, Aug. 28 returned to find her vehicle vandalized.

Someone removed the stems from all four tires and damaged the windshield wipers.

A DAY OF HONORS at the Chelsea Community Fair's Ladies Day Program on Friday, Aug. 28 recognized the achievements of special women in the community. The women give their time and love to a variety of causes without much recognition. From left are Betty Stoffer, Gladys Buck, Carol Strahler, Marge Hepburn, Helen Balmer, Veretta Whitaker, Lee Tremper, and Sandy Zeeb.

ALL HORSE SHOWS were held at the Chelsea Community Fair despite rain during two days of the event. Participation in the horse events was way up over previous years.

Betsy Soroosh Crowned Fair Queen

She said they show that "if you do work hard enough to achieve your goals, anything is possible."
Soroosh is an honor student, a member of the Dexter Student Council, and is active in her church. She is also the third member of the Chelsea Baton Corps to win the title since 1987. Honbaum won in 1987 and Chris Dunlap was queen in 1990. In fact, baton coach Rita Howard urged her to enter last March.

"It helps so much to have a coach," said Betsy's mother. She noted that her daughter spent many hours answering the kind of questions that might be asked by the judges. She also said Chelsea Baton Corps members are interviewed as part of their regular competitions.

Soroosh, who wants to be a physician, won a $500 scholarship from the Chelsea Fair Board which will be presented at her senior honors banquet.

quiet. She also won about $400 in other prizes.

First runner-up was Chelsea High school junior Jennipher Holzhausen, 16, sponsored by the CHS Junior Class. Linda Schaffer, 16, sponsored by Farmers Supply Co., was second runner-up. Talent Award went to Corrie Schoenberg, 15, sponsored by Chelsea Area Players, who sang "How Could I Ever Know" from the musical "The Secret Garden." Miss Congeniality was awarded to CHS senior Theresa Hurst.

Holzhausen performed a twirling routine with a tube and a scarf to the Janet Jackson song "State of the World." Holzhausen, a softball player, answered the public interview questions on the importance of sports by saying, in part, that her coaches had taught her about "great attitude, respect, and a lot of glory."

Schaffer performed a baton routine to "Olympic Spirit," the theme of the 1988 Olympics. Like all the girls, she said sports plays an important part in a young person's life and noted that they "build determination and give more self-confidence."

Other talent performances included the following.

Jessica Knight, 15, sponsored by the CHS Sophomore Class, played the Bryan Adams song "Everything I Do" on piano.

Hurst, 17, sponsored by the Little Red Caboose, performed an oratory "Freckle Juice" by Judy Blume.

Christy Wade, 17, sponsored by the CHS Key Club, sang the Judy Garland song "Zing Went The Strings of My Heart."

Melisa Molina, 14, sponsored by the CHS Freshman Class, performed a dance routine to "Comfort Zone" by Vanessa Williams.

Courtney Gorton, 17, sponsored by the CHS Senior Class, sang "One Moment in Time," made popular by Whitney Houston.

Honbaum and 1991 runner-up Michelle Smith were the emcees. Rebecca Dehring, 1991 queen, was a hostess and crowned Soroosh.

Judges for the program included Katrina Unsicker of Ann Arbor, former Miss Saline and Miss USA Teen, Robert Kilpatrick of the Ypsilanti Chamber of Commerce, and Lanita Hulse.

Free Rustic Cabin Week Offered by DNR in Sept.

Not sure if you'd enjoy a stay in a Michigan state park rustic cabin? The Department of Natural Resources is offering a gratis glimpse of life in a rustic cabin with its Free Rustic Cabin Week, Sunday, Sept. 13 through Thursday, Sept. 17.

The five-day stay is totally free to cabin patrons—no cabin rent, no state park motor vehicle permit required, no reservation fee—in the 11 Michigan state parks where these cabins are located.

"With as busy as life often gets, it's nice to be able to take a break and get back to basics," DNR Director Roland Harmes said. "A remote rustic cabin may be the ideal setting for a little rest and relaxation."

Parks participating in the Free Rustic Cabin Week include Wells State Park (517-724-5126) in the northern Lower Peninsula, as well as Bald Mountain (313-693-6767), Brighton (313-229-6566), Fort Custer (816-731-4200), Highland (313-887-5135), Holly (313-634-8811), Island Lake (313-229-7087), Ortonville (313-827-3828), Waterloo (313-475-8307), and Yankee Springs (616-795-9081) state parks in the southern Lower Peninsula.

There are approximately 60 cabins available to interested parties. Reservations may be made by contacting the selected park directly.

Those who take advantage of the free cabin week and fill out a brief questionnaire about their stay will receive a coupon good for one night's future stay in a state park rustic cabin at half price.

"Normally, cabin rents range from $25 to $50 per night, so this is quite a value," DNR Parks Division Chief Russell Harding said. "Your only investment is taking the time to relax."

The cabins vary in size, with capacity ranging from four to 24 persons, and are furnished with single-size beds or bunks, wood stoves, tables, chairs and brooms. Grills or fire pits, picnic tables, hand pumps for water and vault toilets are also provided.

Although furnishings vary by cabin, visitors should plan to bring bedding, cookware and tableware, lanterns and flashlights. A portable stove for cooking, a first aid kit, a handsaw and an axe, also are suggested.

"Usually we suggest bringing insect repellent, too," Harding said, "but that's part of the beauty of camping in the fall—the bugs are pretty well gone."

Some state park visitors have discovered that rustic cabins are the ideal getaway for old-fashioned Thanksgiving and Christmas celebrations, too. Yankee Springs Recreation Area already has some of its cabins booked for these holidays.

"We just plan to have an old-fashioned Christmas," said Sharon Rink, who, with husband Ed, will spend Christmas with two other families at Yankee Springs.

The Rinks, of Jenison, often spend week-ends in one of the cabins during the winter, but this will be their first Christmas in the rustic setting.

"We will have a Christmas tree with our home-made decorations on it."

Rustic cabin brochures are available at Michigan state parks and the DNR Parks Division office in Lansing, 517-373-1270.

Unusual Items Stolen from Truck

NOTES

DON HD A. COLE, Director

"Labor, if it were not necessary for the existence, would be indispensable for the happiness of man."
—Samuel Johnson

While we all complain about our work from time to time, it is important to remember that it is our daily labors that brings meaning into our lives. Only through hard work do we experience the joy of accomplishment and the thrill of creative effort.

We are proud of the work we do—helping people through one of the most difficult times in their life. We hope you will take time on this labor day weekend to reflect upon how your work enriches your life, as well as the lives of those around you.

Volunteers Needed for County Foster Care Review Board

The State Court Administrative Office has announced that volunteers are needed to serve on the Washtenaw county Foster Care Review Board.

The Michigan Legislature established the Foster Care Review Board Program in 1984 in an effort to improve children's foster care programs throughout the state.

The Washtenaw Board meets on the first Wednesday of each month to review a representative sample of cases of children who are placed in foster care as the result of abuse or neglect. The purpose of each review is to determine that efforts are being made by the Department of Social Services, Juvenile Court, or private child placement agency to establish and carry out the plan for permanent placement in a timely manner.

Currently, Foster Care Review Boards are operating in Genesee, Ingham, Jackson, Kent, Lenawee, Muskegon, Oakland, Saginaw, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

Board members will be selected to reflect a cross-section of the population of the county. Volunteers must live in Washtenaw county. Employees

Hospital Auxiliary Craft Show Slated Sept. 12

Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary is holding their seventh annual Craft Show and Flea Market Saturday, Sept. 12, at the Chelsea Fairgrounds. This special event runs from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and is open to all who are interested in specialty items for gifts or for their own homes. This event has always been a huge success, largely because of the number and quality of the talents and personalities of the exhibitors. Whether you are looking for antiques, wood-craft items, costume jewelry, dried flower arrangements, stained glass, cosmetics, porcelain dolls and all types doll clothes, miscellaneous crocheted articles or something special such as hand-made felt hats and rag rugs, then this is the event. Food will be available at the Fair Kitchen, including an all-you-can-eat pancake breakfast and sloppy joes, hot dogs and cold turkey sandwiches for lunch. Alcoholic beverages are prohibited on the grounds but there is wonderful coffee and cold pop available all during the day. In addition for all you munchers, pop corn will be sold on the grounds.

Come prepared to spend some time at the Chelsea Fairgrounds, Saturday, Sept. 12, and browse through the booths. Start your Christmas shopping early or buy just because the price is right and the proceeds go for scholarships and to the hospital building fund.

All areas of Michigan received below normal amounts of rainfall during May. Farmers are worried because about 80 percent of the state's cropland is short on soil moisture.

Fewer Daylight Hours Means Extra Attention On Equipment Lighting

Late summer means more farm equipment on roadways as farmers pursue their harvest activities. Motorists are more likely to encounter this equipment being moved after dark because the hours of daylight are shrinking rapidly with the approach of autumn.

State law requires that lights on farm equipment must be used from a half hour after sunset to a half hour before sunrise, or when visibility is reduced to less than 500 feet, according to Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau.

"At a minimum, farm equipment must have at least one white light visible for a distance of 500 feet in front and at least one red light visible for a distance of 300 feet to the rear," he said. "With some equipment it's very difficult or impossible to maintain a red light to the rear. Following that implement of husbandry with a car or pickup at a distance of not more than 50 feet also meets the requirements of the law."

Nelson noted that these are only minimum requirements. He suggested that farmers think about what a motorist sees, or doesn't see, when approaching farm equipment traveling on roads, and use sufficient lighting.

Farm Bureau Commitments Help Snare Rehab Pilot Project

Five counties in Michigan's Thumb have received an $87,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Extension Service to participate in the AgrAbility Project, which links Extension Service agricultural know-how with disability expertise to keep people with disabilities in farming.

The Michigan Co-operative Extension Service, through the Agricultural Engineering & Safety Program, will work with the Easter Seal Societies in Huron, Tuscola, Sanilac, Saginaw and Bay counties to create the Michigan Farm Family Rehabilitation Management Program (MI-FaRM). This one-year pilot program will establish a community-based network to assist farmers and their families with on-farm rehabilitation services.

"Farm Bureau is delighted that Michigan was chosen to receive these AgrAbility funds," said Julie Chamberlain, manager of Michigan Farm Bureau's Promotion and Education Department.

"This pilot project represents the first fruits of the Family Farm Rehabilitation (FaRM) program that Michigan Farm Bureau and the National Easter Seal Society are currently in the process of funding."

Chamberlain said that "FaRM is an important vehicle for demonstrating the commitment of individual farmers and county Farm Bureaus to the goal of allowing farm accident victims to once again become functioning members of the agricultural community," she said.

"This Co-operative Extension Service project is only funded for one year," Chamberlain explained. "If we want to attract additional funds for the future, and expand rehabilitation services state-wide, it is critical that we raise the $30,000 of seed money needed to make FaRM a reality."

U.S. breakfast cereals are finding a new audience in overseas markets, a development that's good news for cereal manufacturers and exporters. Boosted by rising incomes and populations, growing demand generated by Western tourists in major markets, declining trade barriers and changing tastes and preferences, U.S. exports of dried cereals reached a record $85 million in fiscal year 1990—a fourfold increase since 1986.

Fair Livestock Auction Sets Gross Sales Record

Chelsea Community Fair's annual Livestock Auction last Thursday set records in gross sales, the number of 4-H club members who participated, and the number of animals sold. Cool, rainy weather didn't seem to keep the buyers at home.

This year a total of 174 animals were sold (44 steers, 82 lambs, 48 hogs) for a total of $91,028.15, beating last year's mark of $87,952.40 for 140 animals. 119 club members participated, 33 more than in 1991.

The only record-breaking price was $9 per pound paid for the reserve champion lamb. The grand champion lamb sold for $15 per pound, 50 cents off the mark. Top steer price was $1 off the mark and top hog price was $2 shy.

Several animals were purchased and donated to various groups. Those donations are noted in the listing below.

Price Brothers again performed the auction.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Bulldogs Open Football Season Friday at Mason

What you see at the beginning of the Chelsea football season is not necessarily what you'll get three or four weeks into the season.

Coach Gene LaFave's Bulldogs have suffered numerous, although in most cases not severe, injuries during the pre-season. As a result, several boys are likely to be out of position, and others may be on the sidelines for this Friday's season opener at Mason.

"We're really banged up," LaFave said. "Generally, most of the [injured] kids will be out a week or two, a couple other injuries could be a little more severe. We'll just have to play with a little extra enthusiasm until we can get those kids back."

Junior quarterback Pat Steele has a sprained thumb but is likely to play Friday. He missed last week's four-team scrimmage. Number two quarterback, sophomore Dan Wehrwein, has a broken arm. So last year's substitute quarterback, Colby Skelton, could be back directing the offense temporarily.

Projected starters at offensive tackle, juniors Matt Dymond and Ed GreenLeaf, are also questionable for Friday. In their places are juniors Barry Arttila and Matt Seitz. The offensive line has less experience and depth than other parts of the team, which makes the loss of two starters particularly troublesome for LaFave. Senior Ken Slane, starting defensive tackle, may also be out Friday. If GreenLeaf is out, it means the starting defensive tackles may both be on the sidelines. In their places would be junior Dave Brock and sophomore Case McCalla.

"Fortunately we've had a week or so to prepare with the injuries," LaFave said.

If Steele is out and Skelton is at quarterback, the offensive scheme could change dramatically, as it did last year when Steele went down with a broken collarbone in the Milan game. Chelsea was forced to run the ball far more than LaFave wanted to.

"We plan on throwing the ball quite a bit this year but for now we're in kind of a quandary," LaFave said last week.

"Pat throws well, understands the game, and has good receivers. We hope he can go."

With Skelton at quarterback, it takes away LaFave's best and fastest receiver.

If the Bulldogs revert to a run-dominated offense, they'll have an untested backfield to go along with their injured and untested line. Juniors Matt Montange, Gabe Bernhard, Jay Westcott, and Aric Dougherty all have the potential to be good runners, but none of them has played varsity football. Westcott is the most likely to break off a big play.

LaFave had initially planned to have a one-back offense featuring senior Tom Poulter. But Poulter may, at least temporarily, end up back at his old position at tight end for most of the game to help out with the blocking game.

The rest of the offense shapes up with seniors Casey Schiller and Nick Schumann and junior Randy Hurst at guard, Brock at center, and senior Gary White at tight end or in the line, where he played last year.

Wide receivers are juniors Don Poppenger and Paul Lopez.

Senior Rob Bergman will anchor the defensive line at nose guard. White and Schiller are the defensive ends, backed up by Schumann and Hurst.

Juniors Rob Frost and Adam Bragg will give some depth to the defensive line.

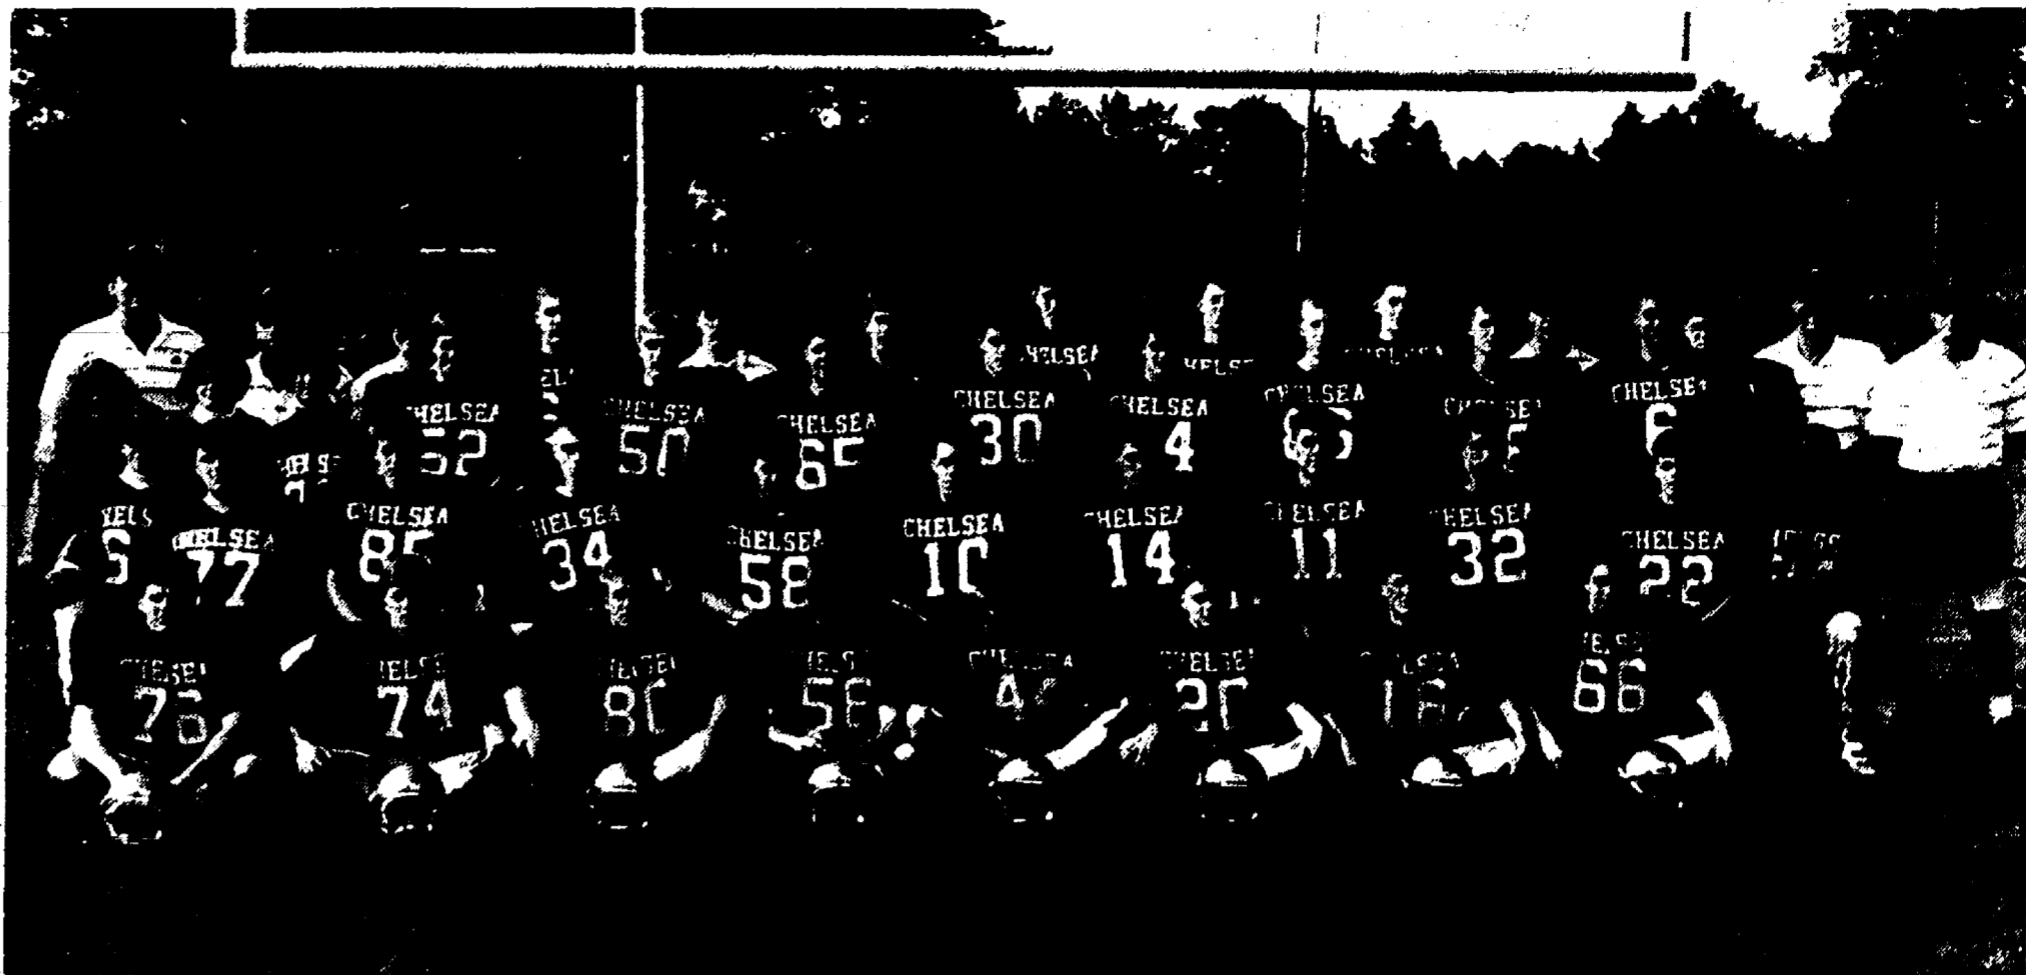

Poulter, Montange, and Josh Inwood will all play linebacker. The secondary may be the deepest part of the team. Skelton, junior Tim Westcott, senior Jason Johnson, Poppenger, senior Todd Watson, and Steele can all provide the coverage and downfield blocking.

Westcott gets the call as the team's kicker. He can hit field goals from 40 yards but is accurate to about 35 yards. He can also punt 30 yards and he'll kick off.

If the Bulldogs can manage to slide by their first three opponents, they could be in for a pretty good season. Mason figures to be the Bulldogs' best non-conference opponent. Sallie Hornets have beaten the Bulldogs five straight years. Milan Big Reds have also won for several years, but this season they are the pre-season favorites to win the Southeastern Conference.

"Milan and Pinckney should have two of the best teams in the league, and the rest is up for grabs," LaFave said.

Chelsea Girls Swim Team Hopes To Crack Top 10 at State Meet

Chelsea Bulldogs varsity girls swimming and diving team opens its season Thursday night at home against Willow Run.

Seniors Melissa Thiel and Sandy Schmid are co-captains of an otherwise young team for coach Dave Brinklow. Kristi Ostling is the only other senior.

Juniors on the team include Nona Giebel, Erica Street, Jennifer Schulz, and Amy Hinshaw. Sophomores include Betsy Schmunk, Carey Schiller, Carrie Smith, Angie Wilson, and Christie Longsky. The freshman class is the largest on the team. Included are Erin Armstrong, Erin Baird, Kelly Bowers, Cooper Deerwester, Michelle Dymond, Hillary Smith, and Stephanie Wesolowski.

Brinklow said his team should be comparable to last year's. "We should be a little stronger as a state-meet team than a dual-meet team," Brinklow said.

"I'm hoping for a third place finish in the Southeastern Conference and a dual meet record over .500. Milan and Dexter are the league favorites and we should have a good battle with Pinckney and Tecumseh for third."

At the state level, Brinklow hopes to return to the top 10. Thiel was an all-state breaststroker last year and scored in the 200 individual medley. She and Schmunk and Schiller competed on two all-state relay teams.

"I look for Schmunk and Schiller to score individually at the state this year," Brinklow said.

"And there will be stiff competition for the fourth spot on the relay teams. Hopefully, we'll take a couple of divers to the state this year also."

Team from Chelsea Hospital Helps Lung Association in Bike Event

A team of bicyclists from Chelsea Community Hospital will take part Sept. 12-14 in the "Bicycle Around Michigan" fundraiser for the American Lung Association.

Last year the hospital team raised $5,000 for the association, more than any other corporation in the event. This year the team hopes to raise even more.

According to captain Diane Weid, employee health nurse, the team will be raising money both individually and as a group. So far they've held a flower sale which consisted of individuals purchasing flowers anonymously for someone in the hospital for $1. If the donor is interested in finding out who the "donor" is, he has to pay $1 to find out the answer. If the donor wishes to remain anonymous, he has to pay $2. The hospital has also held bake sales.

Although each of the 30 team members is responsible for raising their own $225 in minimum pledges, the fundraisers help absorb part of the cost. In addition, the hospital pays the group registration fee.

Weid said the hospital always promotes health and fitness and employees are thrilled to get involved.

"In fact, people are approaching me about signing up," Weid said.

"Not only is it a good cause, but it's also a good opportunity for people to meet others from different departments."

Different departments are represented, including physical therapy, medical records, accounting, cardiopulmonary, x-ray, and administration. Nurses are representing stroke rehabilitation, intensive care, substance abuse, and head pain units. An internal medicine physician is also taking part.

The tour begins in the quaint town of Suttons Bay in the Leelanau Peninsula, follows the shores of Lake Michigan, explores the Sleeping Bear Dunes, and culminates in a night of leisure and luxury at Sugar Loaf Mountain Resort in Cedar Lake.

For the $225 in pledges, individuals get all meals, accommodations, and entertainment at Sugar Lakes Camp near Traverse City and Sugar Loaf Lodge.

Nearly 10 percent of the people in the U.S. have chronic lung diseases. It's the third leading cause of death in America. Money raised helps fund essential health care programs, and 90 percent of the money supports programs for Michigan residents. Some programs include Freedom From Smoking, Better Breathers Clubs for individuals with lung disease, summer camp for asthmatic children, and the LungNet network, which offers registered voters the opportunity to influence state legislation concerning lung health topics.

"This is the first time we've done this and it would be nice to do on an annual basis," said campaign chair John Mann.

"It gives our campaign a nice initial boost."

The team of John Welton, Gary Van Meer, and Troy Schiller from the Class of 1982 won the class event with a score of 60. Ken Larson, Chuck Wilson, and Mike Marsh won the overall competition.

★ Obtaining a Bank Loan For Your Business

Small business owners, like other borrowers, face stringent lending requirements. According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, lenders are primarily interested in a business' track record and ability to repay a loan. Here are some ways that small business owners can demonstrate their credit-worthiness and increase their chances of securing a loan.

The Necessary Documents

Most bankers are unwilling to lend money to a business which has been in operation for less than two or three years. Bankers will want to see evidence of your company's track record as well as plans for future growth. To satisfy this request, supply your banker with at least three of your latest tax returns along with any company financial statements prepared in the past three years.

In many cases, the banker will also want to take a look at your personal financial statements for that same time period. A poor record of repaying personal loans or credit card debt may jeopardize your ability to obtain a loan.

It's also important to provide your banker with a well-developed business plan. It should include your goals and objectives, data on the ownership of the business, and a marketing plan.

Be sure to do some homework on your industry. Compare your company's key financial ratios to the norm for your industry. Bankers will feel more comfortable lending money to your company if it is within the norm. One place to find such information is Robert Morris Associates' Annual Statement Studies, a reference book available in most libraries.

Collateral: What It Is and Why You Need It

Before issuing a loan, most banks want to be sure you have adequate collateral—marketable assets, such as accounts receivable, inventory, equipment, and machinery, as well as land or a building. Collateral gives banks assurance that there are some assets they can tap if you are unable to repay your loan.

If you do not have sufficient collateral in your business, you may be required to guarantee the loan with your own personal property. This can include real estate, stocks and bonds, and life insurance policies.

If you do not have sufficient tangible assets to use as security, you may still be able to obtain a loan if you have a co-signer, someone willing to put up the collateral that your business lacks. The co-signer offers the bank the assurance that if your business fails, he or she will be responsible for the loan.

Negotiating the Loan Amount and Rate

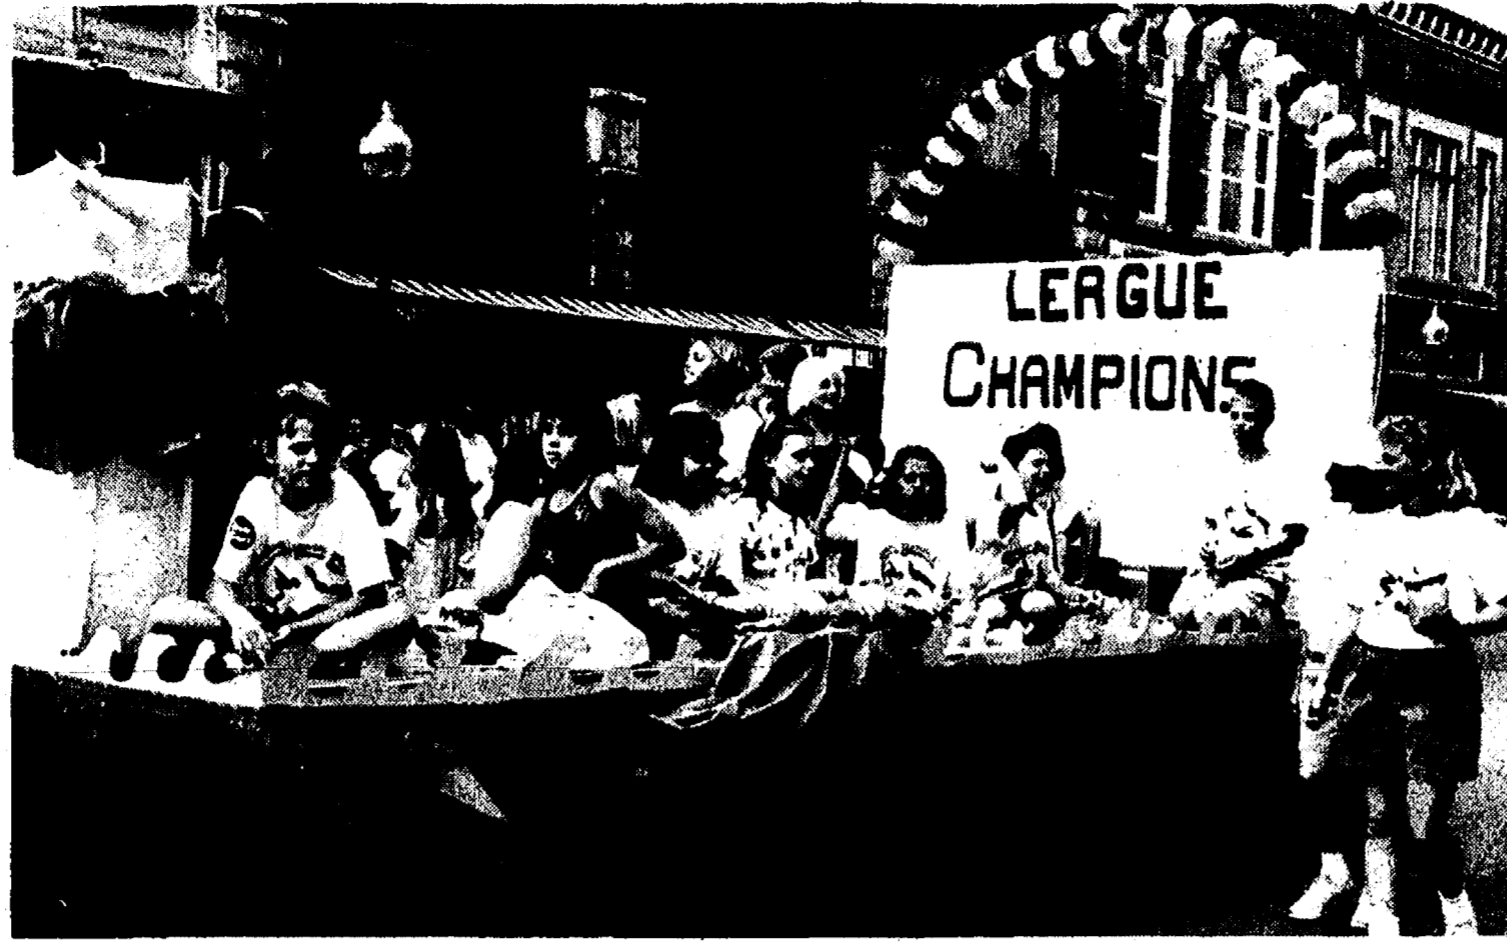

Generally, you can apply for two types of loans: a line of credit or a term loan. Lines of credit are usually extended for paying vendors when receivables are slow, while a term loan is most likely needed to purchase new equipment or property.

The size of the company, purpose of the loan, and amount of risk all affect how much a bank is willing to lend you and at what rate. You may get a lower interest rate at a bank in which you have either a personal or business account. However, in most instances, that is contingent on the account's activity and the average balance. A lower rate may be offered only if you maintain a high minimum balance.

Developing a Loan Request

Before developing your loan request, make sure you know your banking community's requirement for securing a loan. Then, if necessary, get help from a CPA or another financial advisor to help you prepare key financial information for the lender, as well as the necessary financial statements.

For further guidance on obtaining a business loan, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Michigan Association of CPAs at P.O. Box 9054, Farmington Hills 48333-9054 and request a copy of the brochure, Securing a Loan for Your Company.

Easton also operates the new Chelsea Antiques Market, held three times yearly at the 40-acre Chelsea Fairgrounds off M-52. Hundreds of dealers begin arriving Friday for the early buyer day, and must agree to stay until closing on Sunday. "For the dealers who bring motor homes or campers, the market is like going camping with business thrown in," he says.

Easton attributes the show's success to standards of authenticity and quality which grew out of his own bad experiences. "My wife and I had bought a couple of things that just weren't right," he says. "We went back to the dealers, and to the market managers who said 'that's your problem'."

To avoid this, Easton requires that dealers sign a contract that excludes the selling of reproductions. "With so much to learn about the many different areas of antiques, anyone can make a mistake," he says. "The few times there has been a dispute, the dealer is expected to refund the purchase price if the item proves not to be authentic."

The last Chelsea Antiques Market for the year will be Oct. 3-4. Show hours are 7 a.m. - 6 p.m. Sat. 8 a.m. - 4 p.m. Sun. Admission is $4. Call (517) 456-6153.

Dear Sir:

You have in your community a fine selection of people, homes and businesses. Generally, I see a prosperous, growing, upbeat climate. We are happy to be here three times a year at the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds.

The response to our July 4-5 market was excellent. Several thousand out-of-towners came to Chelsea, Michigan with checkbooks in hand. There is no question that these people spent money all over town.

We would be happy to cooperate in any village-wide or other type of promotion that coincides with our three dates. I believe in maximizing the potential benefit the out-of-towners have for the locals. Future dates: October 3-4, 1992; April 17-18, 1993; July 3-4, 1993; October 2-3, 1993.

Also, I might add, what a great group of men and women you have on the Chelsea Community Fair Board. The high level of cooperation is impressive, especially when you consider their time is volunteered.

Sincerely yours,
Nick J. Easton, Manager

P.S. You know you've made an impression when Country Living Magazine lists you as a "must see", not to mention AAA's own Michigan Living, circulation 1,500,000!

CHELSEA, Mich. — Chelsea, Chelsea, Chelsea! How many times each week have you seen Chelsea printed in AntiqueWeek this summer?

Show promoter Nick Easton says it pays to repeat. It catches people's attention. Easton moved his Chelsea show to Chelsea in 1991, and needed to draw attention to the new location. The admission of $4 per person on July 4 and 5 didn't stop the crowds from attending.

While walking through the first building, we started hearing old time music. Pictures of the six Edison phonographs, with big horns, all in one place.

Milan, Ohio, is the birthplace of Thomas Alva Edison. Don and Bobbie Giffel, who happen to live in Milan, collect and specialize in custom-made Soundmaster wooden horns for Edison phonographs. Don has been collecting for more than 20 years and only recently decided to start selling part of his collection. His booth had several phonographs dating from 1895 through 1930 from which to choose. He also carried records, cylinders and parts. Custom oak and mahogany horns ranged from $175 for the small morning glory type to $500 for the larger horns for Victor, Columbia and Edison phonographs. Any size horn can be attached to most machines.

TOYS in the booth of The Thomas in Williamston, Mich., dealers in the Nick Easton managed Chelsea show, included a red and green take-apart car (foreground), for $2,500, a small, Hori's motorcycle delivery truck for $1,480, a 1928 John Deere Vindex tractor marked $2,500 and a Hubley electric motorcycle with side car, $1,475.

CHELSEA

The Giffels showed an Edison Home Phonograph with a large oak horn for $1,300, and a blue, Babson Brothers, Chicago, metal horn on an Edison for $625. Cylinders for the Edisons were priced from $2 and $5 and up, depending on the music. Two dollars would also buy children's Little Wonder 78 records from the 1920s.

Among furniture pieces displayed was a hard-to-find oak vanity with oval beveled mirror. It is only the second one Richard L. Kessler of Steppenback Antiques, Hillsdale, Mich., has seen in 12 years of business. It was offered at $410. Kessler does 14 shows a year. He also showed a two-piece, oak kitchen cupboard with a slide-out cutting board that was priced at $1,295, a hall tree with original umbrella rack and applied decorations for $825, and an oak, two-piece cupboard with spoon carving for $1,095. It had tongue-and-groove backing, three drawers under the glass shelves and two drawers above the bottom cupboards.

Other fine furniture was exhibited by Nan Dangel of Great Midwestern Antique Emporium in Waterford, Michigan. A mahogany barrister's bookcase with desk, manufactured by Gunn Furniture of Grand Rapids, Michigan, with four drawers on bottom, was tagged $1,175. An unusual hand-painted over oak lady's desk and chair in original condition, had a price of $595. It had a carved and gilded Chinese scene carved on the front of the desk section. Dangle also had a 7-foot-high, circa-1840s corner cupboard of pine with tongue-and-groove construction and minor repairs for $1,595, quarter-sawn oak curved glass china cabinet with unusual storage space in a bonnet top, $3,650; and four heart-back soda fountain stools with red leather seats, $635. Dangle does her own furniture restoring.

A booth filled mostly with toys was featured by the Thomases who are dealers in the Grand River Merchants Mall in Williamston, Michigan. Their rare, green, Art Deco 1930 Champion take-apart car was tagged $2,500. Toy banks included, Bimbal, a mechanical that works great, in original condition with a price of $925; an 1889 Santa at Chimney mechanical bank by Charles G. Shepard was offered for $2,850.

They also showed the smallest "Soy It With Flowers" by Hubley motorcycle delivery vehicle, which was made in six sizes. This model was priced at $1,480. A Hubley electric motorcycle with sidecar, having the original bulb and driver but a replaced handle, was $1,475, and a John Deere "D" 1928 30, made by "Vindex," complete with drive, had a price of $2,800.

First-time Chelsea dealer Julie McCoy of Ypsilanti, Michigan, had some lovely glass and china that included Moser, cut glass pieces and Limoges. A piece that caught my eye was a Morlage biscuit jar, with much floral detail applied, priced at $185. A blue Vasa Murhina-type bowl by Fenton, was marked $47, and a pair of matching Loetz vases, white iridescent with green applied threading, $250.

Other interesting pieces were a worn, 24-inch round Coca-Cola sign priced at $125; a 14-by-18-inch Flow Blue platter, $305; a McCoy, Popeye cookie jar, 1971, $250; a large Westmoreland blue duck-on-nest, $115; a green Imperial Roster, $125; and a McKee cream color Tom & Jerry punch set with 11 cups, $185.

AN EXCEPTIONAL curved glass china cabinet was displayed by Nan Dangel of Great Midwestern Antique Emporium, Waterford, Mich., for $3,650. The oak piece with a mirror in the bonnet top also had storage space with applied decoration on both sides of the mirror.

For more information about future Chelsea shows, contact show manager, Nick Easton at (517) 456-6153.

THE PRICE tag on this Morlage biscuit jar was $185. The piece was shown at the Chelsea, Mich., show by Julie McCoy of Ypsilanti, Mich.

Lowell Cauffiel Opens McKune Library Series

Chelsea true crime author Lowell Cauffiel will kick-off Grapevine, a series of presentation-discussion programs featuring local literary stars and experts on Wednesday, Sept. 9, at 7 p.m. in the Chelsea Depot meeting room.

A former senior editor of Detroit Monthly with 22 years of professional writing experience, including 13 years with the Detroit News, Cauffiel is currently at work on his next true crime book for New York's Zebra Books.

He just completed his first novel, First Degree, a thriller set at Metro airport during the Thanksgiving week-end. "It's the busiest travel week-end of the year with stress running wild all over the place," says Cauffiel, "and suddenly there's a killer loose."

Cauffiel will discuss his books and discuss the realities that all writers face while pursuing their careers. The program is free and open to the public.

Home Meals Service Needs More Drivers

Home Meal Service of Chelsea is once again looking for volunteers to deliver its hot, noon meals to area elderly and home bound.

Each weekday two separate routes are serviced by the drivers, one from the Chelsea Retirement Center and one from the Senior Nutrition Program at Faith in Action. Each route takes an hour and covers several miles.

Home Meals has been active for 20 years, serving a hot dinner meal which meets any dietary requirement, such as low fat, low salt, diabetic, etc. The other meals which are prepared at the Senior Center are offered at no cost to the recipients if they qualify, and are not as diet-specific.

For the past several years, retired persons have made up half the volunteers, both as regular drivers and as substitutes. The program coordinator, Mary Erskine, is grateful to those persons for their willingness to jump in at a moment's notice and fill in for an ailing driver. The schedule for driving is generally every other week, although some people drive weekly.

The program is losing some wonderful people who must discontinue driving because of other commitments. This leaves some gaps in the service and an opportunity for others to try this volunteer activity. Any interested persons may contact Mary at 475-9494, or 475-2821 or Ann Feeney at 475-1145 or 475-1493.

Lake Ontario, the smallest Great Lake, is 193 miles long and 53 miles wide.

Female Urologist Begins Practice At Chelsea Hospital

Ann L. Oldendorf, M.D., of Saline, recently joined Dr. Howard Usitalo's urology practice. Dr. Oldendorf represents an increasing number of women entering the field of urology in the past five years. Currently, there are less than 60 board-certified female urologists in the country. She recently completed five years of medical training, the last four at the University of Michigan where she was a Chief Urology Resident for the past year. While at U. of M. she studied under Dr. Edward J. McGuire, an internationally renowned specialist in female urology. Dr. Oldendorf practices at Chelsea Community Hospital and at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Full Gospel Church Services Moving To Faith in Action

Chelsea Full Gospel church will begin holding services on Sept. 6 at the Faith in Action building in Chelsea, according to Pastors John and Sarah Groesser. The church's education classes will continue being held Wednesday evenings in the lower level of the First Assembly of God church in Chelsea. "We are very pleased to be able to hold all our activities within Chelsea for the first time," announced Pastor John Groesser. "Our previous location (Lima Town Hall) helped make us the best-kept secret in Chelsea. We enjoyed our good relationship with the Lima Township Board but we just felt we needed to move closer to the Chelsea community that we serve." Sunday services will continue being held at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. The Prayer and Healing Team meeting will remain at 10:15 a.m. All services are open to the public.

Girl Scout Troops Plan Fall Round-Ups

All girls who were not in a troop last year, are invited to a Girl Scout Round-Up! For those who attend North school, their round-up will be held Tuesday, Sept. 8, from 7 to 8 p.m., in the cafeteria at North. For more information, call Kathy Buss at 475-8944. Those attending South school, round-up will be Thursday, Sept. 10, from 7 to 8 p.m., in the cafeteria at South. If you have any questions, please call Jan Dohner at 475-9633. In Chelsea, there are over 240 girls, in grades kindergarten through high school, who enjoy a fun-filled year of meetings, crafts, games, singing, field trips, service projects, and camping. Join the round-up, and find out about the Girl Scout program.

"Labor Day Walk," a nature walk with a dash of history—one-time labor leader Jo Labadie and Kensington had a connection—will be held at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near Milford/Brighton on Monday, Sept. 7 at 10 a.m. For more information/registration contact Kensington Nature Center at (313) 685-1561 or 1-800-47-PARKS.

The Department of Agriculture says that farm banks are "among the strongest institutions in the banking system." A study shows a farm bank return on equity at mid-year of 11.4 percent, compared with small non-agricultural banks a 10.4 percent. Only 10 farm banks failed last year.

The wood of the Ombu Tree of Argentina is so moist it will not burn and so spongy it cannot be cut down.

Sheriff's Department Reports Number of Thefts in Area

Washtenaw County Sheriff Department deputies investigated a number of incidents between Aug. 20 and 27.

On Aug. 20, a 56-year-old Dexter resident reported a Yamaha 4x4 Warrior ATV was stolen from the 4600 block of North Territorial.

On Aug. 21, a 34-year-old Chelsea resident was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor on McGregor Rd. near Dexter-Pinckney Rd. in Dexter township. Deputies were dispatched to the area for a personal injury accident. When they made contact with the Chelsea resident they smelled "a strong odor of intoxicants." They also reported his speech "slow and deliberate." The suspect said he had one beer and was coming from a bar. His vehicle struck a 32-year-old Dexter resident's vehicle.

Also, a manager at the Inverness Golf Club reported a larceny over $100. A 6 foot bench and six tee markers were taken from the No. 5 hole, totaling $161.

A non-sufficient funds fraud was investigated in the 4000 block of Jackson Rd. The travel agency reported a 64-year-old Stockbridge resident wrote a bad check for $668.16 for airline tickets to Paris, France.

Also, a 40-year-old Chelsea resident reported a breaking and entering in the 1000 block of S. Steinbach Rd. The victim said he sold a tractor that day and received $2,500. He left the money on the kitchen counter and went to sleep with the side door unlocked. He awoke and discovered the $2,500 missing and an additional $960 missing from his bedroom dresser. The victim is deaf and heard nothing during the night.

On Aug. 25, a malicious destruction of property over $100 was reported on Waterloo Rd. near M-52. The 21-year-old victim said he left his car in the parking area and when he returned the air had been let out of his tires, his windshield was smashed and the engine hood and driver's side door were dented and scratched.
