Chelsea-Ann Arbor Bus Route Gets New Life As Lima May Contribute

A last-minute effort by village and township officials and some bending by the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority (ATA) may well save the Chelsea-Ann Arbor bus route for at least another year.

Lima Township Supervisor Bill Van Riper told village council last week that he feels confident his township board will vote to help defray part of the $4,800 cost for the next year. Village council indicated last year that it would probably not subsidize the route unless there was outside help.

After the meeting, Van Riper said he believes Lima may commit $500 if AATA will include stops in Lima township. The bus now runs through the township on Dexter-Chelsea Rd. but makes no stops until it gets to the village.

Van Riper said he would like to have at least two stops in the township, one possibly at Stivers Restaurant near Fletcher Rd. and I-94 and another on Jackson Rd., with perhaps at least two other "flag" stops, in which the bus would stop only if a potential rider flags the bus down or there is a request to stop.

"I believe we'd get pretty good ridership if they'd just stop in the township," Van Riper said.

"Right now people think if they have to drive to Chelsea to get the bus they might just as well drive to Ann Arbor. We'll give it a year's trial and see what happens. I think the township would be really remiss if we turn our backs on it."

Van Riper said there's no guarantee the township will be able to continue its funding. It has to begin paying its share of landfill expenses and there is talk of cutbacks in state revenue sharing.

Village president Richard Steele said he would support continued funding of the route even if Lima township is the only other contributor.

It was not so much a question of the money, Steele said, as the principle of partnership, because residents of other area governments benefit as well.

Steele said it came as a surprise that AATA Executive Director Michael Bolton was suddenly willing to discuss changes in the route.

"Before that was off limits," Steele said.

Village and Sylvan township resident Luther Kusterer told council he believes Sylvan township may contribute as well. He said he told township supervisor Don Schoenberg that he believes he doesn't get much for his township taxes. He also urged council not to abandon the route because it represents the "livelihood" of some of the passengers who would have no other way to get to work in Ann Arbor.

Schoenberg said Monday that his board might consider a contribution to the route once the board is supplied with the necessary information.

"We don't have ridership figures, we don't even know how much the contract is," Schoenberg said.

"Once we get the information I'm sure we'd take a look at it but whether

School District Buys 50 Acres of Farmland Adjacent to Village

Chelsea School District gave itself some options as it plans for near-term and long-term building projects when the school board Monday night voted unanimously to purchase 50 acres of land off Freer and Trinkle Rds. in Lima township.

The farmland is owned by Duane and Elsie Weiss and Lee and Helen Weiss. It begins approximately opposite the high school driveway on Freer Rd., runs south all the way to Trinkle Rd., and east about half a mile. It is adjacent to the Herrst farm, part of which is being developed into Chelsea Meadows subdivision in Lima township. The owners approached the district about the sale.

Purchase price, subject to contingencies, is $200,000, about $27,000 less than its appraised value. The district will put $50,000 down and pay off a land contract at 6 percent interest in three years.

The district expects to close on the property in 90 days. The property will be annexed to give the property access to village utilities.

"As we prepare for the future we have to be concerned about having property contiguous to the village," said superintendent Joe Piasecki.

"Water and sewer are a real concern. We're real pleased. I don't think we could have made a better move. There are not many opportunities to get property contiguous to the village, and access to [the high school site] is extremely good. This should let us take care of our needs for many years to come. I think the community is going to be glad they have this property."

Assistant superintendent Fred Mills estimated that about 85 percent of the land is buildable but that eventually the whole parcel could become buildable once the Palmer-Baldwin drain is repaired. The clogged drain has caused all sorts of problems, including flooding around Beach Middle school.

"I think we'll make that happen ultimately," Mills said of the drain repairs.

"The schools are exempt from assessments for drain repairs but we'll put our part in voluntarily since we'll get a lot of the benefit. Having that repaired will also help the high school and the middle school."

Piasecki said it's likely the parcel could be considered for a new elementary school, which will be included in a bond issue late next year. In the long-term it may become the site of a new Chelsea High school.

"It's close enough to the current high school that we wouldn't have to put in a new football field and track if we didn't want to," Piasecki said, pointing out one advantage.

A new elementary school would require about 15 acres, which would leave plenty of space for other large projects.

The property would have access off both Freer and Trinkle Rds.

In other school news, the board voted to spend $13,500 in each of the next three years for computer software to streamline the bus system.

Edulog, Inc. will provide the software and enter all the data, which includes addresses of students, current stops, nature of the roads, length of the roads and current routes, and a whole host of other information.

"We were absolutely amazed at the capability of the software," Piasecki said.

"We can look at all kinds of different scenarios, from how long we want the routes to take to how many miles they are, and how many students they will pick up. We called a number of districts who have used this company and they were very pleased with the software and support. We anticipate we will make our money back very quickly by changing some routes, eliminating others and generally streamlining the system."

The software will also help the district determine if and how it could switch to a two-tier or three-tier system, in which each bus would make two or three runs in the morning and two or three in the afternoon.

"We need to have a lot of good information because if we make a switch, it will cause a lot of changes," Piasecki said.

Siblings may not be able to ride together anymore, school times would change, teachers' planning time could change.

Several district employees, perhaps even Piasecki, will be trained by the company in how to work with the software.

The board voted to uphold current music department policy requiring students to take part in activities outside normal class hours.

Students in high school band, for example, have to take part in the marching band on Friday nights and occasionally have to perform elsewhere.

The review by the board was spurred by a parent who complained when her child's grade suffered as a result of missing various performances.

"The feeling of the board is if a student is going to take an elective course and knows up front what is required in the course, then the rules should be followed," Piasecki said.

The board also voted to allow the spring softball trip in April and a possible trip to the state tournament by the high school debate team in December.

DDA Shifts Gears to Marketing, Promotions

Although a few relatively minor construction projects have still to be completed downtown, Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority has begun to switch its focus from bricks and parking lots to marketing and promotions.

DDA consultant Franz Mogdis described the change in emphasis in a presentation to village council last Tuesday and in a follow-up interview on Friday.

"Now that we've made the changes downtown, we need to publicize why we did them," Mogdis said.

Mogdis said the marketing and promotions budget is about $100,000, but that includes money from the DDA, Chelsea Merchants Association, and other individual businesses. Promotions will be more co-ordinated than they have been. In essence, downtown Chelsea will be marketed more like a shopping mall. A slogan, "Chelsea, See What's in Store," was developed and was included in materials promoting last week-end's streetscape dedication. The slogan can be used in a generic way. Last week it was "See What's in Store Downtown."

"Downtown" could be replaced with just about any kind of event or place. "We will have more consistent, ongoing activity," Mogdis said.

Mogdis is tabulating responses from a survey recently sent to 1,050 households in the Chelsea, Stockbridge, Unadilla, Gregory, Manchester, and Grass Lake areas. He's had a response rate of about 35 percent, an unusually high percentage.

From the survey DDA hopes to learn what shoppers like and dislike about Chelsea and what would make them shop downtown more often.

A big program will be aimed at promoting Chelsea as the place to shop for Christmas.

Another marketing effort is being aimed at business retention and recruitment, although Mogdis said there is no lack of interest once a storefront becomes available.

"Two years ago it was extremely difficult to lure businesses here," Mogdis said.

"Now we are often deluged with requests for information and the square footage rental rate is going up. Chelsea is perceived as the hot spot in the county right now. Our big problem is going to be a lack of space."

Another major thrust is to make sure downtown business space is used to its best advantage.

DDA is interested in trying to find a way to make sure first-floor Main St. storefronts are used for retail purposes, perhaps through a change in the zoning ordinance. Retail stores bring more people downtown than offices do, Mogdis said, and that's the key to keeping the downtown vital.

Two ordinance revisions regarding newspaper vending machines and signs are also of interest to DDA. DDA wants specific areas for vending machines, so they can be made more attractive. It also wants businesses to be able to use the old-style, two-sided vertical signs that would hang over the sidewalk.

A future construction project may be aimed at making upstairs space on the west side of Main St. more useable, Mogdis said there is talk of installing an elevator behind the businesses that would lead to a second-floor corridor.

The few construction/installation projects that remain include:

- Paving and landscaping of the clocktower parking lot, to make it more of a focal point;
- Installation of new streetlights all the way to Vets Park to the north;
- Installation of additional signs, including a stone entry sign at M-52 and North St., and two "calendar of events" signs at E. Middle and Main Sts. and the Heydlauff's building;
- Installation of additional landscaping

Kelley Urges Legislature To Reinstate Open Meetings Requirement

In a letter to members of the House and Senate last week, Attorney General Frank Kelley urged them not to bow to pressure from university officials who want their governing boards to be exempt from requirements of the Open Meetings Act.

Michigan State University and the Michigan Association of Governing Boards are seeking an exemption to the act, with MSU saying the closed deliberations are necessary in order for its Board of Trustees to select a school president. University officials said last month that members of the board have complained that they cannot trust each other and having the process open is too divisive.

The University of Michigan is supportive of the exemption, as is Sen. John Schwarz (R-Battle Creek), who has introduced two bills (SBs 1210 and 1211) to accommodate MSU. The measures would exempt a university's deliberations or interviews in a presidential search, as well as any related applications or documents, from the Open Meetings and Freedom of Information Acts.

Both bills have been sent to the Senate Education Committee, chaired by Sen. Michael Bouchard (R-Birmingham). There has been no hearing scheduled yet.

But Kelley, a staunch supporter of both laws, said the exemptions would allow schools, which he pointed out are funded by the state, to "pick their presidents in secrecy."

"The Open Meetings Act upholds the basic bulwark of our democratic system: the public's right to know what their government is doing. The colleges and universities of this state must not only teach but also practice the high ideals of a democracy," he said.

Kelley backed his stand in citing Booth Newspapers Inc. v. The Board of Regents at the University of Michigan, pointing to the Court of Appeals decision upholding the Open

Meetings Act as promoting accountability and openness in government.

Backers of the laws, including House Judiciary Chair Perry Bullard (D-Ann Arbor) and Rep. David Hollister (D-Lansing), two of their key sponsors, expressed outrage last month when Michigan State University made the request for the Open Meetings exemption, saying it would undermine the act.

"This is just another nibbling at the Open Meetings," an aide to Bullard said. "Where do you stop?"

While those who are behind the exemption have argued that persons applying for such significant positions should be afforded some level of confidentiality and protection from public scrutiny until the search is narrowed to a small number, the legislators referred to Kelley's concerns related to state funding for the facilities.

"You're talking about prestige and big money here, and a major decision that will affect the entire state," Hollister said.

Hollister admitted the open process may be difficult for some participants and could discourage others as well from even applying for such posts with colleges and universities. But he said an education board's most important decision-making responsibility is choosing a university president or school superintendent. If trustees cannot work together in an open process, they should work out those difficulties among themselves, Hollister said.

The University of Michigan was reprimanded by the courts during its search which resulted in the appointment of President James Duderstadt, as the Court of Appeals found it used revolving subcommittees to screen candidates. The school was also found to have avoided public interviews by visiting presidential candidates on their home campuses.

That case has been appealed to the Supreme Court.

The Michigan State board was challenged a well, by 16 newspapers and organizations, after trustees conducted two meetings in January of this year with more than a quorum of members present. The purpose of those meetings was to discuss whether football coach George Perles should serve as athletic director, a move which was opposed by then-President John DiBiaggio.

Dodak v. Ad Board: On another issue, the state Supreme Court will hear oral arguments in a suit brought by House Speaker Lewis Dodak (D-Montrose) against the State Administrative Board, alleging the illegal transfer of funds by that group without the approval of the Legislative Appropriations Committee.

The lawsuit (Docket No. 92072) is one of several brought by Dodak and other Democrats and the administration and although the issue of the specific transfer involved has since been resolved since the allegations were made in the spring of 1991, the case is intended to determine whether such transfers can be made.

Dodak and others claim the transfer violates the state's Management and Budget Act, which provides for approval of both the House and Senate Appropriations Committees before the movement of funds can be completed.

Governor John Engler, Management and Budget Director Patricia Woodworth and Treasurer/funds and even though the Legislature did move its operation into the Department of Management and Budget, it did not take action to specifically repeal that power.

Landfill soil and water studies are likely to cost $88,900, according to an estimate by the village's engineering firm. It is lower than the village's estimate of $110,000, according to assistant village manager Lee Fahrner. The studies are part of the landfill consent agreement the village signed recently with the Department of Natural Resources. The agreement details how the village will address the problem of alleged groundwater pollution at the Werker Rd. facility. Village sewer system user rates will more than double if village council adopts a proposal by the administration. The village anticipates that operating expenses for the new wastewater treatment plant will jump from an estimated $193,100 this year to $326,300 in 1990-91.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Bug Hooker still had the recent opening of the world's biggest mall on his mind at the country store Saturday night. From what he reads, Bug told the fellows, that humongous indoor downtown near Minneapolis just proves again that if you build it they will come.

As the old world turns, Bug said, it keeps coming up with interesting wrinkles, and we got people setting up nights figuring new ones. No sooner did we get golf courses lit up for playing at night, Bug said, than along come indoor golf courses for all kind of weather. He had read where a company in Chicago that designs indoor courses has got three years work under contract, with more coming in every day.

The fellows were general agreed that we got to run harder to keep up with progress. Ed Doolittle said what malls do is concentrate everything. For instant, Ed said he was thumbing through the Sunday paper and saw 10 solid pages of ads put together for a group of stores in one mall. They hire one ad agent to work for all of them, figuring when they get people inside they'll all get shots at them.

The ads had specials on everything, including brick-lined stoves, hair transplants, uncontested divorces and a League of Women Voters booth where you can learn all about services for folks in nursing homes and others that can't get to the polls. If you can think of it in one of them places, Ed allowed, if they ain't got it they will get it. What he is waiting to see, he went on, is a Not Sold in Stores store that offers the convenience of buying all the nick nacks instant, without having to call the number on the screen and wait a few days.

Ed said he thought that situation up one side and down the other, and he was of a mind that all them places in one place was just what the doctor ordered for broken down geezers like him. They're out of the cold and hot, and if they don't get knocked down by kids running to catch the next tram to the other end of the mall they can walk to whatever they want. Ed said he didn't miss his hair and he couldn't afford the stove, but out of curiosity he read about the divorce special.

Walk in married with $300 and walk out single, no fuss, no muss. The lawyer does the paperwork and mails you papers to sign and mail back. Talk about one-stop shopping, Ed said, he could get single, new hair, new teeth, a new outfit and leave ready for action. Drive the old model in, jack it up, drive a new model under it and head out down the yellow brick road, was Ed's words.

Actual, Clem Webster allowed, he's glad to see lawyers, dentists and doctors advertise and make their services easier to get to. A blood pressure check on one of them big city malls has got to be a help for folks to sick to ride three buses and walk four blocks to get to the 10th floor office of their doctor downtown.

As for progress, Clem saw by the paper that the hula hoop has been reborn in China, where it is being sold as a way to slim the waist and hips. The way Clem sees it, this is another case of finding a need in the market and filling it. Clem said he would like to think some American with a sharp eye on the market bid low on a carload of plant reject water hose and went from there.

One man's trash is another man's treasure. Ask that woman that is collecting "dog related art" to set up a Dog Museum in St. Louis.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

HOW TO AVOID PROBATE

"Probate" is the court procedure used to transfer property to a deceased person's heirs. The court procedure is often very expensive and it may take months or years before the heirs receive their inheritance. Having a will does not in itself avoid probate.

Joint ownership and pre-death transfers will avoid probate but may have devastating tax consequences to the heirs. In addition control of the property is surrendered prematurely.

The safest and most effective method is the Revocable Living Trust, which in combination with other documents avoids probate as well as minimizing or eliminating taxes, attorney fees and court costs. A properly drawn trust allows immediate transfer of the assets without court intervention. A trust attorney can prepare a complete estate plan for much less than the cost of probate.

Q. Would you comment on Telefonos de Mexico, S.A. (TelMex). I bought some awhile back at the suggestion of a friend. It has gone up and then backed off from its high. How do you get reliable information on a stock from another country?

A. Telefonos de Mexico provides all domestic and international fixed line and cellular mobile telephone services in Mexico. It is this fast growing country's third largest company and the largest that is publicly traded. The company's American Depository Receipts (ADRs) are listed and traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Many ADRs of foreign companies are listed on U.S. stock exchanges or traded in the over-the-counter market.

Reliable information is readily available from a number of sources, usually in your public library or at a full service broker. Look for Value Line which provides reports on 44 foreign companies in addition to a number of Canadian ones. Also, look for Standard & Poor's which produces reports on many foreign companies whose ADRs are traded in the U.S. Also, in the library ask for Moody's Investment Manual. It provides basic information on many companies, including foreign ADRs.

Some foreign companies translate their reports to share holders into English and the U.S. accounting system. Many have U.S.-based shareholder information offices. Be aware there is always a currency risk. Since the companies keep their books in their home country currency, any variation in value between the U.S. dollar and the foreign currency can have a favorable or unfavorable effect on reported profits. Of course, a number of U.S. companies have 50% or more of their business overseas, so they also have a currency risk.

"we'd give any money, I don't know." Village residents living in Sylvan township make up a large percentage of the ridership. All of the village stops are in Sylvan township.

AATA has also told the village that Scio township may be interested in participation. The Jackson Rd. corridor is a potential source of significant ridership considering the number of businesses and the huge Scio Farms Estates mobile home park. With participation by Scio township, the local share would drop dramatically, AATA told the village.

Village council is expected to vote on the AATA contract at its Nov. 10 meeting.

- Installation of lighting in the renovated alleys on the west side of Main St.;
- Landscaping and installation of park benches at the former Hop-In site at Orchard and N. Main Sts., a project to be undertaken by the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea.

Mogdis said removal of contaminated soil from the old Hop-In lot could begin this month. Between 1,000 and 4,000 cubic yards will be removed from the site, depending on the amount of contamination. Long-term plans for the lot are to use it as a site for the expansion of McKune Memorial Library next door.

"A few years ago I experienced every woman's nightmare. I was raped and robbed in my own home; my assailant had a gun and held a knife to my throat. Needless to say, my life changed — I was terrified and traumatized.
The rapist was captured by police. It was at this time that I had the great fortune of meeting Lynwood Noah as the prosecutor assigned to my case.
Before, during and after the trial Lynwood was sensitive to my needs as a woman whose life was shattered. He was kind and compassionate and provided me the strength and support to endure the indignities I faced as a victim of a brutal rape.
Because of Lynwood's brilliance and his ability to stay focused on the details of the case, justice was served. The rapist was convicted and this conviction stood up solidly against appeal.
As a victim of a heinous crime, I have first hand knowledge of Lynwood Noah's abilities. Although I often favor Democratic candidates, I will be voting for Lynwood Noah in November."

Bentley Resigns As Village Trustee

For the second time this year, Chelsea Village Council will have to appoint someone to fill out the term of a trustee who has resigned. Trustee Gary Bentley turned in his formal resignation last week because he is moving out of the village. Bentley was elected last year and had served two terms in the late 1980s. Council member Allen Anderson, who moved out of state, resigned early this year. He was replaced by Brian Cashman, who had run for election but was defeated. It turned out to be a controversial situation because of the way it was handled. Ishmael Picklesimer, who finished fourth in the election for trustee, ahead of Cashman, believed he should have been considered for the appointment. Village president Richard Steele has not said who he might nominate.

"Man shall not live by bread alone..."
—Bible, New Testament

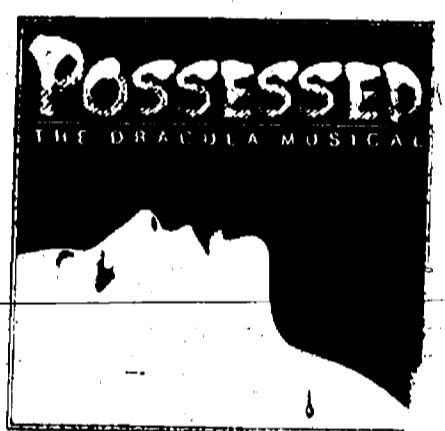

Besides food for the stomach, we also need food to nourish the soul and feed our emotional needs. And, in the same way that people have different tastes in food, they also have different preferences where emotional needs are concerned.

A closeness to God is perhaps the best answer to the need for spiritual fulfillment. There is no set menu... the important thing is that each person realize the importance of attaining spiritual fulfillment in their own way, as well as acquiring material things.

You can spare your family the burden of making painful decisions under emotional stress by specifying your exact wishes well in advance of need. We are available to discuss this with you at your convenience.

Senate OKs Bill Giving Credit Boost to Beginning Farmers

The U.S. Senate passed and sent to the President the Agricultural Credit Amendment Act, which earmarks part of the $87 million in the budget for the Farmers Home Administration to help beginning farmers get started. Michigan Farm Bureau public affairs director Al Almy said beginning farmers can really use this financial set-up.

"It takes a great deal of capital and other financial resources to begin farming today," Almy said. "This legislation would provide young farmers with some special credit in the early years of their farming operation to allow them to become established and show that they are capable of managing the farm operation."

To be eligible, the young farmers would have to provide a 10-year operating plan. The special credit assistance would be withdrawn if the farmer failed to make payments for two years. After the 10-year period, the young farmers would be expected to graduate to commercial credit sources.

Dick Chrysler Receives Farm Bureau Endorsement

The Michigan Farm Bureau recently announced their endorsement of Dick Chrysler as Michigan's Eighth District U.S. Congressman.

In a letter from the Michigan Farm Bureau, Secretary Albert Almy stated, "Following the interview and an identical interview with Bob Carr, the AgriPac Committee voted unanimously to designate Dick Chrysler as a 'Friend of Agriculture.'"

"We are extremely pleased about this endorsement," Chrysler said. "Our farmers are the backbone of this country and the career politicians haven't been representing them. I made them no false promises like incumbent Carr, I told them that things need to change in Washington and that I am the one who can best bring that change."

In his campaign, Chrysler has made it a point to make no promises of pork barrel projects. "No one believes the career politicians when they promise pork and big money. The farmers and other business people know that," Chrysler said. "I am very honored that I received their endorsement. I plan to work very hard for them and all of the residents in Washtenaw county and the Eighth District."

Chrysler also received the endorsement of the Michigan Milk Producers Association.

Matthew Steinaway In Persian Gulf on USS Independence

Navy Airman Apprentice Matthew P. Steinaway, son of Karen C. Reinhardt of 10255 Joslin Lake Rd., Gregory, has been in the Persian Gulf where he participated in Operation Southern Watch monitoring compliance with a United Nations ordered "no-fly zone" over southern Iraq.

Steinaway is serving with Fighter Squadron-21, Naval Air Station Miramar, San Diego, Calif., embarked aboard the aircraft carrier USS Independence, forward deployed to Yokosuka, Japan.

United Nations Security Council Resolution 688 forbids repression of the Iraqi people by the Government of Iraq. The no-fly zone protects the Shia population of southern Iraq.

U.S. and coalition aircraft are conducting the monitoring. The U.S. Navy task force in the Persian Gulf includes the USS Independence and 18 other ships. Additionally, other Navy ships are in the Red Sea as part of the Maritime Intercept Force, enforcing UN trade sanctions against Iraq.

Steinaway joined the Navy in July 1991.

IT MAY STILL BE FALL on the calendar but it sure looks a lot like winter Tuesday morning as nearly three-quarters of an inch of fluffy snow fell in the area during the morning. It was the first appreciable snowfall of the season. This scene is in Oak Grove Cemetery in Chelsea.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES:

Columbus' Discovery Praised

To provide another of those extended week-ends so popular among shoppers and schoolkids, this Columbus Day comes two days before the actual anniversary of the great voyager's discovery of America half a millennium ago. But historical revisionists and Columbus bashers aside, there's still reason to celebrate.

By Philip C. Clarke
Today's "politically correct" critics would have us believe that Christopher Columbus' epic voyage brought nothing but death and destruction to the New World. The National Council of Churches, for example, has called Columbus' arrival "a historic tragedy" that should be condemned as "an invasion and colonization with legalized occupation, genocide, economic exploitation and a deep level of institutional racism and moral decadence." In the words of Russell Means, the Indian activist, Columbus "makes Hitler look like a juvenile delinquent."

Most scholars, however, take a more traditional view. According to Jeffrey Hart, a professor of English at Dartmouth and senior editor at National Review, "Those who today denounce Columbus for discovering America are sentimentalists. They wish they have been able to stand aghast at a historical development that has been so enormous that nothing whatsoever could have stopped it."

Actually, today's Columbus bashing may be motivated not so much by "sentimentality" as by a desire to rewrite history along multiculturalist "anti-European" lines. Writing in VFW, the Veterans of Foreign Wars magazine, Professor Hart asks: "Do they (the revisionists) really wish that the Aztecs still held sway in Montezuma's old capital city, where thousands of sacrificial humans had their beating hearts cut out with stone knives? These Aztecs were so feared by their neighbors that the local tribes actually welcomed the Spanish conquistadores.

Continues Hart: "Does anyone actually think that the Stone Age American Indians were about to launch a civilization comparable to that of Columbus, Michelangelo and Dante, (all 15th century contemporaries)?" To ask the question, he adds, is to answer it. "The Indians had no written language and had not even invented the wheel."

Most defenders of Columbus by no means seek to ignore the cruelty and violence that often accompanied the colonization of North and South America. Nor do they attempt to denigrate the native cultures of the Indian races that preceded Columbus. Yet, they view the arrival of Western civilization as both inevitable and, in the balance, beneficial to mankind as a whole.

"In the European world of Columbus," says Professor Hart, "the great navigators were part of an explosion of cultural and intellectual energy that reached into all areas of life. Viewed historically, Christopher Columbus combines features of the old medieval world and the new restless creative drives of the Renaissance. And so, 500 years later, hail to Columbus, who so richly deserves the title conferred upon him by the Spanish monarchs, 'Admiral of the Ocean Sea.'"

As for who first discovered America, archeological finds in Newfoundland in the 1980's provide evidence that Lief Erikson and his intrepid Norsemen landed there some 500 years before Columbus and his three-ship, 87 man expedition reached the Bahamas on Oct. 14, 1492. But Columbus' entire 32-week voyage was recorded by the Italian-born admiral for all posterity. And it set in motion mankind's continuing search of the unknown, including that newest of frontiers, space. It was just 35 years ago this month that Sputnik I, the first man-made satellite orbited Earth. A dozen years later, our astronauts became the first humans to set foot on the moon. Who knows where tomorrow's Columboes will land.

Sandhill Crane Auto Tour Set In Recreation Area

A Sandhill Crane Auto Tour will be held this Sunday, Oct. 25 at 2 p.m. beginning at the Eddy Geology Center in the Waterloo Recreation Area.

The film "The Sandhill Crane" will be shown throughout the day. At 2 p.m. Stew Robinovitz will lead an auto tour to see cranes in the fields around Waterloo. The car tour will begin at the Portage Lake Campground entrance on Seymour Rd. Take I-94 west to exit 150. Go north to Seymour Rd. and turn left. The final stop will be at the Audubon Haehnle Sanctuary, where hundreds of cranes will be observed flying into the marsh until dusk.

Dress warmly for the trip because the windy point at Haehnle is on a rapid rise which becomes increasingly chilly as dusk approaches.

The program, sponsored by the Waterloo Natural History Association, is free and open to the public. However, a state motor vehicle permit is required to enter the state parks.

For more information call 475-3170.

FLOATERS

Have you ever noticed spots dancing before your eyes? Many of us have, and it's not all "in your head", they are in your eyes! Often when looking against a light background, such as the sky or a sheet of paper, we will see irregular grayish spots or lines which seem to "float" in space, and sway back and forth as our eyes move. Some people don't notice these at all, but others are affected to varying degrees, and sometimes the floaters are so dense they may obscure vision until they float out of the way.

These floaters are tiny particles of tissue suspended in the jelly-like fluid inside our eyes. Floaters are so common that they can be considered normal, just a nuisance, but they are not always harmless. If floaters have suddenly shown up or seem to be very dense, an eye examination is indicated to rule out problems which might require treatment. In some cases, floaters can be a sign of beginning retinal detachment, or of hemorrhages within the eye.

Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic Helped With United Way Funds

Editor's Note: As a continuation of the series on Chelsea United Way member agencies, the Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic and its impact on the Chelsea Community is featured.

Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic is the Children's Services Division of Washtenaw County Community Mental Health. Using facilities at the First United Methodist church in Chelsea, the clinic has provided outpatient counseling services to Chelsea area children/adolescents and families since 1982. Three staff persons provide services for a combined total of 40 hours per week.

In addition to outpatient child and adolescent therapy, the clinic offers diagnostic support with psychiatric and psychological evaluations available in the Ypsilanti office. Other clinic services include pre- and after-care for hospitalization, hospital and residential placement, an eight-week therapeutic summer day camp, and in-home outreach treatment as an alternative to hospitalization.

Parents may refer children to the program by calling (313)434-1150 to make a referral and to arrange an assessment. Fees are determined on a sliding scale basis; insurance and Medicaid are accepted. No one is denied service because of inability to pay a fee.

It is through an allocation from Chelsea United Way that they are able to offer these outreach services to Chelsea area families.

Let's Go Bulldogs!

THE ACHY-BREAKY PART of last Friday night's Chelsea football game as far as Tecumseh was concerned was performed in the Tecumseh end zone by Chelsea's Colby Skelton and the intended Tecumseh receiver. Skelton batted away the potential two-point pass to preserve a Chelsea two-point lead late in the game.

Bulldogs Clinch Tie For League Title, Go For Whole Thing Friday

After thwarting a Tecumseh two-point conversion that would have tied the game, the Chelsea Bulldogs went on to score two touchdowns in the final five minutes to take a 28-12 homecoming victory last Friday.

The victory clinched a tie for the Southeastern Conference championship for Chelsea with the Pinckney Pirates. Undeclared Chelsea takes on the once-defeated Pirates this Friday in Pinckney. A win gives the Bulldogs the outright title. A loss brings a tie for the championship. There's no such thing as a tie game in the SEC.

Friday's game will also provide a little extra motivation for each team as the loser will likely be eliminated from contention for the play-offs.

"We have great respect for Pinckney, but we have no fear," said Chelsea coach Gene LaFave.

"They are loaded with talent. Their offensive line averages about 215 pounds and they are big and strong. They haven't thrown the ball much because they've been a dominating team on the ground. They can run right over you."

Chelsea got a good taste of power football last Friday as the much bigger Tecumseh Indians gave the Bulldogs all they could handle for three-plus quarters.

The Bulldogs managed to use their quickness to overcome the size disadvantage, plus their passing game provided several big plays. Tecumseh relied primarily on the run and their passing game was not particularly effective.

Each team had four turnovers (including two blocked punts by Chelsea), but Tecumseh was flagged for two costly personal fouls as they were about to score. The penalties may well have cost the Indians the game.

Tecumseh had the first scoring opportunity late in the first quarter as they moved the ball to the Chelsea 31. On fourth down and 11, they fell two yards short at the Chelsea 22.

After the stop, Chelsea came back with a first down at their 34. On the next play quarterback Pat Steele connected with split end Colby Skelton down the left sideline for the touchdown as Skelton eluded two tacklers near the end zone. Tim Wescott's kick for the extra points in heavy side winds was perfect at the 1:40 mark.

Marty Hathcock got the Indians right back into the game as he returned the kick-off 75 yards for the touchdown. However, the extra point try was wide.

Chelsea's second score was set up by a Wescott interception at the Tecumseh 31.

Skelton's diving catch on a sideline pattern moved the Bulldogs to the Tecumseh eight. Two plays later, running back Tom Poulter scored from five yards out. Wescott's kick was good again.

The Indians had another good scoring opportunity three possessions later as they moved from their 39 to the Chelsea nine. However, a personal foul for swearing moved the ball back to the 24, and Poulter intercepted a pass on the next play.

The Chelsea defense made two big stops early in the second half. Tecumseh drove to the Chelsea 29 on the first possession and to the Bulldogs eight on their second possession. The Indians again were their own worst enemy on the second drive as a personal foul moved the ball back out to the Chelsea 24.

Meanwhile, the Bulldogs could get no further than their own 32 on their first two drives of the half. Their third drive was stalled at their own 35 by one of Tecumseh's four interceptions.

Following the interception, the Pirates drove 35 yards in 11 plays for their second touchdown. A two-point roll-out pass was broken up in the end zone by Skelton to preserve a 14-12 lead with exactly five minutes left.

A minute later, Steele found Poulter over the middle with a perfect strike and Poulter outran the Tecumseh backfield for a 60-yard touchdown. Wescott's kick was good again.

If that didn't put the game out of reach, another stop by the Chelsea defense and a 10-yard touchdown by Poulter did.

"I liked our resiliency," LaFave said.

"Every time Tecumseh made a big play, we answered it. Our defense had an outstanding game although it was under a lot of pressure. We only gave up one touchdown. Our offense was solid, even though we had four interceptions."

Chelsea had 334 total yards, 209 in the air. Skelton caught five passes for 124 yards and Poulter caught two for 85 yards as Steele was 7-15. Poulter rushed for 64 yards on 14 carries.

Tecumseh had 140 yards rushing and 88 passing.

JV Cagers Get Two Wins

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity basketball team beat Pinckney and Saline last week to improve to 4-2 in the Southeastern Conference.

Chelsea beat the Pirates 32-23 on Tuesday as Ann Terpstra scored 15 points and grabbed 12 rebounds and Lori Ritter had eight points and eight rebounds. Chelsea led the entire contest and took a 13-4 half-time lead.

Charlotte Ziegler led Chelsea with nine steals.

Chelsea beat the Saline Hornets on Thursday, 48-30.

The Bulldogs scored eight points in the first minute and cruised to a 18-2 lead by the end of the quarter.

Coach Paul Terpstra's team shot 49 percent from the field but only 2-11 from the free throw line.

Terpstra and Ritter had 19 and 13 points, respectively. Ziegler scored six points and Lisa Beard, Anne Frederick, Heidi Wehrwein, Heidi Kernitz, and Danielle Longe each had two points.

CHS Girl Runners Take Second at Sturgis Meet

Chelsea coach Pat Clarke hopes it serves as a wake-up call.

For the first time in two years his top-ranked girls cross country team did not come out on top in an invitational.

Last Saturday the Bulldogs placed second to Big Rapids, 65-71, at the Sturgis Invitational.

"This race was something that we needed," Clarke said.

"It says the state meet will not be any cakewalk. We ran a good race but in 2 1/2 weeks that will not be enough. We must build on our work and make our drops before state. We needed to be pushed and Big Rapids did that for us."

Chelsea's Lisa Monti placed first, beating last year's state champion Annie Erlewine of Big Rapids by 12 seconds.

"It was nice to see Lisa pushed," Clarke said.

"She responded to the challenge."

Chelsea places and times were 1. Monti, 18:36; 2. Val Bullock, 20:04; 3. Beth Bell, 20:20; 4. Molly Griebel, 20:27; 5. Sarah Brosnan, 21:06; 6. Jessica Holton, 21:27; 7. Sarah Henry, 21:28.

In the junior varsity portion of the meet, Chelsea placed first with 21 points.

Chelsea places and times were 1. Robin Phelps, 20:52; 2. Tracey Wales, 21:41; 3. Katie Spink, 21:50; 4. Beth Williams, 22:02; 5. Melissa Williams, 22:14; 6. Jill McKinnon, 22:50; 7. Kim Smith, 23:18.

The Bulldogs came within a point of shutting out the Dexter Dreadnaughts last week at Hudson Mills Metropark.

Chelsea took the top four places, led by Monti in 19:50, while Dexter all-stater Jenny McCalla placed fifth.

"The girls are rounding into final run form," said Chelsea coach Pat Clarke.

"The Dexter girls were 3-0 in the Southeastern Conference. We were awesome in the way the group ran. We had 10 girls under 22 minutes on the Hudson Mills course. Hopefully we can stay healthy and continue to build to a peak at the end."

Griebel ran a personal-best to place second. Melissa Hand and Spink each set a personal record. Wales and Holton each ran one of their best races of the season, Clarke said.

Chelsea Cagers Top Saline, Lose to Pirates

Chelsea Bulldogs varsity basketball team beat Saline, 57-51, last Thursday to improve to 3-3 in the Southeastern Conference.

Chelsea jumped out to a 30-20 half-time lead, expanded the margin early in the second half, then held off the Hornets down the stretch.

The game was marred by fouls. Chelsea was 17-29 at the free throw line while Saline was 20-37.

"It looked like a good game between two inept teams but then the officials lost their minds and decided to call everything," is the way Chelsea coach Charlie Waller described the game.

Courtney Thompson finished with 16 points and 21 rebounds to lead Chelsea. Other Chelsea scorers included Nick Piasecki 11, Ginny Flannery 9, Erin Schiller 8, Jessica Flintoft 6, Heather McConeghy 3, Laura Carty 2, and Mara Smith 2.

Chelsea shot 38 percent from the field, their best performance of the season.

In other action last week, the Bulldogs were no match for the Pinckney Pirates and lost 49-16.

Pinckney's Nicole Cushing, a potential all-stater as a sophomore, dominated the game inside.

Other Chelsea places and times were: 2. Griebel, 20:18; 3. Bell, 20:24; 4. Bullock, 20:25; 5. Brosnan, 21:11; 7. Holton, 21:23; 8. Henry, 21:24; 9. Hand, 21:29; 10. Wales, 21:37; 12. Spink, 21:59; 15. Beth Williams, 22:34; 16. Phelps, 22:45; 17. Smith, 22:55; 18. Williams, 23:16; 19. Andrea Ludwig, 23:47; 20. McKinnon, 23:52; 21. Erika Leiter, 23:53; 26. Emily Anderson, 27:28.

"They are an outstanding defensive team and very well coached," Waller said.

"They were way out of our league." Chelsea scored four points in each quarter.

Piasecki was Chelsea's leading scorer with four points.

8th Grade Cagers Top Saline, Dexter

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

And the answer is, no they haven't.

If you're a Chelsea High school football fan, you probably know what the question of the week is. Have the Bulldogs made the play-offs?

With last Friday's 28-12 victory over the Tecumseh Indians, the 7-0 Bulldogs did manage to tie for the Southeastern Conference title. To win it outright, they have to beat the Pinckney Pirates this Friday in Pinckney. More on that later.

Chelsea coach Gene LaFave confirmed what I have suspected for a couple of weeks. He said his team will have to go 9-0 to make the play-offs for sure. There's no guarantee they'll make it at 8-1. In fact, it's very likely they won't.

Here's at least part of the problem.

If Chelsea goes 8-1, it very likely means the loss with be this Friday to Pinckney, the toughest team left on the schedule and perhaps the best team they'll face all year. In the play-off system, a loss to a good class A school such as Pinckney counts only a little bit more in bonus points than a loss to a lousy class B school such as Jackson County Western.

It's quite a different story with victories. You get a certain amount of points depending on what class your opponent is in. Victories over class A schools are worth more than wins over class B schools, etc.—again it doesn't matter if it's a terrible class A school and a B superpower.

Then all hell breaks loose.

To make up for the difference in the quality of your opponents, you get extra points for each win or tie your opponent has. So, if you beat a team with five victories, you get a lot more points than if you beat a team with one victory. Add it all up, do a little division and a little addition, throw in some eye of newt and tap your heels together three times and you have the weekly point total which appears in large newspapers every week.

The upshot of this weekly exercise is you have coaches saying things like, "If Mason loses to the St. Mary's School for the Football Impaired, Marshall schedules SATs on Friday night, and Lakeshore steals Lumen Christi's playbook, we're in." Coaches spend the week-end looking for results, adding up points for all the possible scenarios for teams in their play-off region, and wondering how to steal Lumen Christi's playbook. It's not a healthy situation.

Anyway, if the Bulldogs win this week they get a lot of bonus points for beating a class A school and for all six wins the Pirates have accumulated. And if they lose they get next to nothing. (Actually, Chelsea would get one point for each Pinckney win.)

The other problem is, Chelsea has victories over Western and Lincoln, two teams that haven't won a game all season. Three other opponents, Saline, Dexter, and Tecumseh, are under .500, and Milan is 4-3. The bonus points are scarce.

There are four play-off teams taken from each region and Chelsea has been ranked third or fourth recently despite being undefeated. The Bulldogs' region happens to be one of the most competitive in class B.

So, you see, Chelsea can't afford even one loss, especially to a class A team that could give them a lot of bonus points.

As for last Friday's game with Tecumseh. Let's be honest about this. Yes, the Chelsea defense made several big plays, blocked two punts, and the offense had several game-breakers. But the Bulldogs got lucky.

Two big Tecumseh threats inside the Chelsea 10 were killed by Tecumseh personal fouls. If the Indians had scored on either occasion they would have put a lot of pressure on Chelsea.

The Bulldogs also survived four interceptions, a season high.

Chelsea will certainly have to play a better game this Friday. The Pirates are extremely talented and will be more than a little pumped up (Their play-off hopes are on the line, partly because they're a class A school playing a class B schedule.). It's also been five years since Chelsea has beaten the Pirates.

The Bulldogs will win if Colby Skelton can get loose in the secondary and Pat Steele has enough time to look downfield. My scouting report says Pinckney is vulnerable to a good passing game.

Chelsea will have to force more turnovers than they give up. And the Bulldogs defense will have to make some big plays on first down. The powerful Pinckney running game can't be operating in second-and-short situations all night.

In a close contest, look for the Chelsea kicking game to make the difference, especially if the Bulldogs score first and force Pinckney to convert.

My crystal ball says 28-22, but it's not revealing the winner.

JV Football Team Loses

Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity football team lost 6-0 to the Tecumseh Indians in Tecumseh last Thursday.

It was a hard-hitting defensive struggle as the game remained scoreless until the fourth quarter. The Indians set up the game's only touchdown after a 25-yard punt return gave them the ball at the Chelsea 35. Two third-down pass plays gave them the ball at the Chelsea nine, and they were able to push the ball into the end-zone with 1:20 left in the game.

The Bulldogs managed to drive to the Tecumseh 15, thanks to two Pat Lynch to Jeremy Bradbury passes, before time expired.

"It was probably our best defensive game of the season," said Chelsea coach Bill Bainton.

"Dan Koenigter had his best game at defensive end and Kent Young had a fine game at nose guard.

Chelsea threatened to score late in the first half but an Indian interception on the last play of the half ended the Bulldogs' best chance.

Bainton said he was pleased with the team's effort on the final drive. They ran nine plays and worked the sidelines well.

Beach Parent Group Creates 'Communications in Action Award'

Beach Middle school's parent organization has begun a program designed to honor teachers who communicate effectively with parents.

Called "Communication in Action," the program is designed to increase communication between teachers and parents by recognizing the efforts of teachers with a "Communication in Action Award."

The program came about as a result of parent responses to a survey sent to parents before the start of school by the School Improvement Committee.

Parents have been asked to notify the parent organization when a teacher has demonstrated an extra effort to communicate and involve parents.

The organization realizes that most teachers work with more than 100 students each day and that it would not be practical for teachers to call or write parents on a weekly or monthly basis. The organization is encouraging parents to write a note or call teachers, not only when there is a problem, but to thank a teacher or just check in on a child's progress.

Three Beach teachers have received an award so far. To nominate a teacher call 475-9456 or 475-7446.

Truck Load Limits Pose Complex Issue For Farm Vehicles

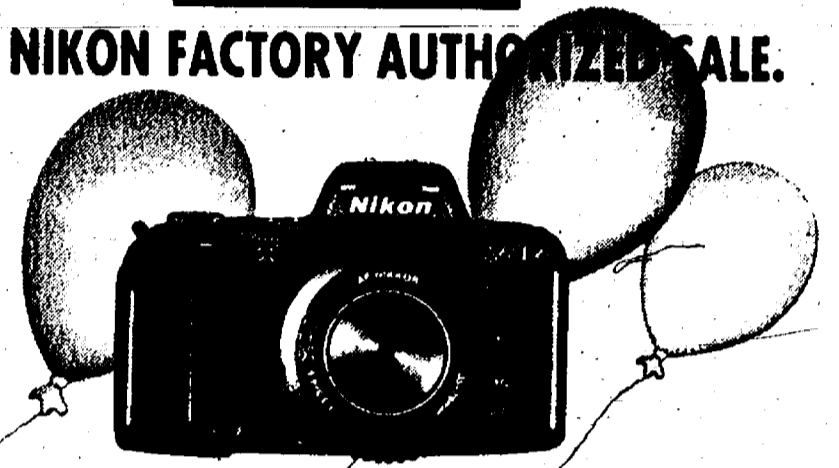

Some Michigan farmers this fall are getting hit with substantial fines for overweight trucks, according to Michigan Farm Bureau legislative counsel Ron Nelson. "Figuring out if you're in compliance with the weight limits can be kind of tricky," he said, "especially since the weight of a fully loaded farm truck can vary, depending on whether it's early or late in the harvest season."

Nelson said a good over-all strategy for a farmer is to estimate the volume he can load on the truck while still remaining well under the weight limit. "Then, get that load weighed to see how close you are to the weight limit, and adjust the volume of the next load up or down accordingly. Know approximately how much you can put on the truck and don't overload," he said.

The weight limit formulas are very complex and can even vary from one county to another, according to Nelson. So, he advised farmers to get some official advice on how to stay in compliance with the weight law.

"In general, the weight limits are based on the number of axles, the actual spacing of the axles and the size of tire. But the calculation of the actual weight limit is complicated. The best thing to do is to get an officer of the Motor Carrier Division or State Police to work with you," Nelson said.

Donated Game Meat Will Help Feed Hungry

With the release of the first bow on the opening day of archery deer season on Oct. 1, the second campaign of Michigan Sportsmen Against Hunger begins.

The state-wide program, sponsored by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, Salvation Army and Safari Club International, hooks up generous hunters with the Salvation Army and other meal sites for the hungry. Last year, Michigan Sportsmen Against Hunger collected 16,000 pounds of donated meat. This year's goal is 40,000 pounds—more than 160,000 meals.

Here's how the program works: A hunter who wants to donate venison, wild turkey, boar or any game meat, has it processed into two or five pound parcels of ground meat. Then he or she calls a local Salvation Army center, a state-wide hot line or a local co-ordinator to find out where to deliver the meat.

Each pound of meat donated to a Salvation Army center, soup kitchen or food pantry feeds four hungry people.

You don't have to be a hunter to join Michigan Sportsmen Against Hunger. Cash donations to Michigan Sportsmen Against Hunger help pay for transportation, processing and promotion. Food pantries and meal centers can always use some canned goods or other fresh meats.

"Michigan Sportsmen Against Hunger is just one more way hunters can show their compassion and demonstrate their understanding that the wildlife that used to feed our pioneers now can feed the hungry," said Bob Easterbrook, director of Michigan Sportsmen Against Hunger.

"We're sure hunters once again will come through for the Salvation Army and other food centers."

"This program is in keeping with sportsmen's concern for others and their generosity," said Thomas L. Washington, executive director of Michigan United Conservation Clubs. "We're proud to help those less fortunate than ourselves in any way that we can. We urge others to do the same."

No wonder the refrigerator always seems empty. U.S. food consumption studies show that nearly 40 percent of children snack between the end of the school day and dinner time, and nearly 50 percent snack again in the evening.

Evangelists Douglas & Eileen Crossman To Speak at Chelsea Free Methodist Church.

Everyone is invited to the Chelsea Free Methodist Church, 7665 Werkner Rd., Chelsea, to hear Rev. and Mrs. Douglas Crossman. Rev. Crossman will be preaching Sunday, October 25, at 8:30 and 11:00 a.m. Mrs. Eileen Crossman will speak during the Sunday School hour at 9:45 a.m. and in the evening service at 6:00 p.m. Services will continue Monday, October 26 through Wednesday, the 27th at 7:00 p.m.

Rev. Douglas A. Crossman is of Welsh background, the son of a steel worker of South Wales. While serving in the Royal Air Force he was challenged about his spiritual needs by an Army scripture reader, which led to his eventual conversion.

Later, after working as a relief shop manager, he was called into the ministry. After two years study at College Harlech, N. Wales, he went to the London Bible College where, after four years further study, he graduated with the London University B.D. and the College A.L.B.C. While there he met and married Eileen, who had also graduated with the Oxford M.A., and the London B.D.

The Crossmans have four grown children and now reside in Boston, Massachusetts. Eileen works with her husband in joint ministry.

Douglas spent nearly ten years as pastor of the Dunstable F.I.E.C. Church and a further six years as pastor of the Widcombe F.I.E.C. Church in Bath, England. In 1976 he was called to a wider ministry among the churches, since which time he has ministered at conventions throughout the United Kingdom, Europe, Spain, Africa and the United States.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
To have been gone from Chelsea, Michigan since August of 1933, I think that I am an unusual person to have maintained a personal interest in Chelsea's problems, history and growth, if such it can be called, by avidly reading your newspaper each week.

Having chosen Arizona as my adoptive home, I am very familiar with "coyote" problems—first-hand for I was bitten by a rabies infested coyote March 7, 1947 and spent a total of 30 days in a local hospital from the after-effects of two (not one) series of the Pasteur (28) inoculations abdominally!

I have read in The Standard with dismay how these animals have invaded Michigan and are threatening the sheep-raising farmers. The last October issue of Readers Digest has a rather obscure item on page 18 titled "United States" with our flag emblazoned at its beginning. I would suggest that farmers and the animal husbandry scientists and/or experimentalists at least evaluate the use of llamas who can purportedly scare all the fight out of a coyote. It's at least interesting reading and perhaps might protect flocks of sheep from the depredations of dogs also.

Agricultural scientists have discovered that a chemical released by plants when caterpillars begin to feed can be used to train wasps to remain in an area and protect the plants. The plant "distress call" is a combination of volatile chemicals that parasitic wasps use as a beacon to lead them to caterpillars that are eating the plant.

Everybody's Science

★ Stopping Erosion With Cheese-Making Leftovers ...

By Julie Corliss

If you've ever seen dirt wash off your garden during a rainstorm, you're familiar with a problem farmers often face when irrigating crops.

When they pump water down sloped furrows—the shallow trenches between crop rows—valuable top soil washes away.

How to stop it? Try cheese. Or rather, cheese-making leftovers known as whey.

This watery, slightly milky liquid, called acidic whey, can help prevent soil loss during irrigation. That's the report from U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists in Kimberly, Idaho.

They found that pumping whey down furrows before irrigating could cut soil losses as much as 75 percent. Whey acts somewhat like an adhesive, holding soil in place.

"Whey is a little sticky, because of its sugar and protein content," said Melvin J. Brown, a soil scientist with USDA's Agricultural Research Service. Cottage cheese whey is also acidic—about the same pH as vinegar—which benefits the soil. Hard cheeses, like cheddar, produce sweet whey as a by-product, which doesn't work as well for saving soil.

"In the west, over 500 million tons of top soil wash off during furrow irrigation each year, threatening future productivity," said Brown at the ARS Soil and Water Management Research Unit in Kimberly. Also, he said, the sediments can choke rivers and streams.

Brown said whey could become an erosion fighter because it's abundant and inexpensive. About half of the two million tons of acidic whey produced in the U.S. each year currently goes to waste. In fact, cheese factories must pay to get rid of excess whey through local sewage treatment plants.

This summer, Brown is combining the whey with another erosion prevention tactic he's used—scattering straw in furrows. He expects the whey-straw combination will reduce erosion better than either treatment alone.

Endangered Species Act Reform Urged By Michigan Farmers

Legislation introduced to reform the Endangered Species Act "should restore balance, scientific integrity and common sense to an important environmental law," according to the Michigan Farm Bureau. Public Affairs Director Al Almy said the measure would "protect endangered species without endangering the economic well-being of millions of people and thousands of communities."

The reform proposal would achieve that, Almy said, by requiring the federal government to consider the effect on local and regional economies when designing recovery plans for threatened or endangered plants and animals. The bill would also require peer review of the decision to list species.

"It's imperative that the Endangered Species Act be flexible and workable," said Almy. "Farmers and ranchers who have on or near their property endangered or threatened species now face a tremendous regulatory burden, which is often impossible to comply with. If the law has no flexibility, it won't be supported by landowners who are ultimately providing the habitat for these plants and animals. I think everyone will agree that recovery efforts should be cooperative rather than coercive."

Almy said the bill also would speed up the process of protecting endangered species by requiring recovery plans to take effect within 18 months for species newly listed and within two years for species already listed. It would also provide a timetable and specific goals for boosting the population levels of listed species.

CHELSEA'S LOIS SPEER was honored during a ceremony held Sunday, Oct. 18, at the Radisson Plaza Hotel, Kalamazoo. She is pictured with Chivalier G.E. Ritter. The "Decoration of Chivalry" was conducted under the direction of the Department of Michigan Patriarchs Militant, Independent Order of Odd Fellows (IOOF), Major General Glen Sanger, department commander, Col. Valmore Chapin explained to those attending Sunday's ceremony, "Conferring of decorations upon men and women who have rendered valiant or meritorious service in the cause of their fellows is a very ancient practice. Men and women have been decorated for such services by their kings and countrymen from the dawn of civilized governments. All the great countries of the world have established some sort of jewels, medals, or other symbols, usually to be worn upon the breast of those who have rendered service to merit this distinction. Following this practice, Odd Fellowship has provided such a decoration. These decorations are bestowed upon our members, not because of service upon the fields of battle, nor in the world of commerce, but because of the service rendered to their fellow man by the relief of the wants and sufferings of the common people. The Decoration of Chivalry is today bestowed upon several Sisters of the Rebekah Degree. The staff for today's ceremony includes Chivaliers and Ladies throughout the Jurisdiction of Michigan under the Sovereign Grand Lodge, IOOF." Lois is a member of Chelsea Rebekah Lodge No. 130.

JAMIE COLLINSWORTH, the 1991 Chelsea Homecoming Queen, took part in the annual homecoming parade last Friday afternoon. She also crowned 1992 queen Karen Albertson.

SUSAN HEINZ, director of Chelsea Dance Arts Academy accepted an invitation for the group to tour Spain next summer. Don Davis of DAA presented the tour package.

Dance Arts Academy Will Perform in Spain

It was the last glorious fall weekend afternoon. Hunkered beneath beleaguered fluorescent lighting in the Chelsea High school cafeteria were nearly 100 Chelsea men, women and children.

Detention? No. On Oct. 18, Susan Heinz, director of Chelsea Dance Art Academy, officially announced acceptance of an invitation asking the company to perform in Spain between June 16-30, 1993. The request came from Fiesta Spain '93, an annual series of invitational performing arts held each year in southern Spain.

The festival provides performers with an international cultural exchange and showcases their talents.

With a "Friar Tuck" warmth and informality, Don Davis, impresario of DAA, presented the fiesta trip package.

DAA will present five performances: one each in Banalameda, Marbella, Torremolinos, Mijas and Fuengirola, Spain.

Also included will be visits to Picasso's birthplace, fantastic scenic tours, Moorish fortresses, ancient Roman roadways and spas, art colonies and playgrounds for the "Rich and Famous."

Optional side trips offer opportunities to visit North Africa, Bullfights, burro safarries, Alhambra Palace in Granada and the Rock of Gibraltar.

Students having completed two years of dance by May 1993 and any immediate family member may participate.
