A PRESS CONFERENCE last Wednesday morning at the Chelsea Depot described the investigation into charges of child sexual abuse that allegedly was perpetrated by employees of the North Sharon Baptist church near Grass Lake. Children took part in the church's Sunday school bus ministry. Jackson County Sheriff Hank Zavislak (third from left) did most of the talking, although his agency is working with Michigan

State Police on the investigation. Norman Maxwell (third from right), detective sergeant of the Michigan State Police is also heavily involved in the investigation, as is Robert Fitzpatrick (left) of the Jackson County Sheriff's Department. At far right is Pastor Mearl Bradley of the Chelsea Free Methodist church, who is also chaplain for the Michigan State Police. He is helping with counseling of victims' families.

Former Superintendent Raymond Van Meer Dies Following Long Illness

Above all he loved life and was an eternal optimist.

That's how friends and colleagues described former Chelsea School District Superintendent Raymond E. Van Meer, who died at home last Tuesday, Nov. 10 following a long battle with pancreatic cancer. He was buried in Jackson.

Van Meer served as superintendent here from 1978 to 1988, taking over for the late Charles Cameron.

"The thing that impressed me most was his always-positive attitude," said former school board president Art Dils, who also worked with Van Meer as a member of the board at Chelsea Community Hospital.

"Even if things were going very poorly, he always saw a way to make things better. He's one of the guys you'd look forward to seeing in the morning because he would always say . something good. Even while he was sick he was always positive and always hopeful. He had more courage than any person I've ever met."

Van Meer resigned as superintendent to become an education management consultant.

His educational career earned him induction this spring into the Education Hall of Fame.

Van Meer was known as a public relations wizard. At Chelsea he began several programs including a birthday recognition for employees, the exemplary employees/retirees award luncheon, Dialogue with the

that he was working for the board, and I appreciated that. He always had an agenda in mind but if he came to us with an idea and we decided against it he'd say 'you're the boss'." van meer was also extremely active in the community. He served as president of the Michigan Association of School Administrators, Kiwanis Club of Chelsea, and Civic Foundation of Chelsea, and served on the boards of the First United Methodist church of Chelsea, Huron Valley Ambulance, and Chelsea Community Hospital. He was a member of the American Association of School Administrators and participated in a Superintendents Work Conference in Columbia University.

He earned his bachelor's degree in history and physical education from Simpson College in Indianola, Ia. in 1952 and a master's degree in educational administration from Michigan State University in 1958. He was a teacher and coach at Essex Public Schools in Essex, Ia. from 1952-56, Eaton Rapids Public Schools in 1956-61, Jackson High school from 1961-63, and Parkside High school from 1963-67.

He was assistant principal at Parkside High school from 1967-72, then principal at Griswold Elementary school in Jackson from 1972-75. From 1975-78 he was assistant superintendent for Jackson Public Schools.

Rural Church Rocked As Two Employees Arraigned On Sex Abuse Charges

One of the most sensational news stories to hit western Washtenaw county in many years began unfolding last Wednesday morning at a news conference in the Chelsea Depot as police announced that as many as 22 children may have been sexually molested by several employees of the North Sharon Baptist church near Grass Lake.

Virtually every day since then there have been new developments in the case, which has been extensively reported by the state and national print and electronic media.

Nearly 30 picketers paraded outside the church (at the corner of Washburn and Sylvan Rds.) before and during Sunday morning services, some demanding that the Sunday school be shut down, and some heckling members of the congregation. Protesters, armed with signs reading "Save Our Children," promised to continue protesting every Sunday until the case is resolved.

Inside, Pastor Bill Wininger, who police said is not a suspect in the case, told his congregation "I don't like what has happened but we're in it. We didn't ask for it but we got it. My heart goes out to the whole community. Just because there's a problem in a church doesn't mean it's a bad church."

Initially, Michigan State Police and the Jackson County Sheriff's Department confirmed that assistant pastor Timothy Leonard, 32, of Napoleon township in Jackson county, had been

Also, Mark Foeller, 36, of Grass Lake, a Chrysler Corp. engineer, church deacon, and Sunday school bus driver has been arraigned on four counts of first-degree criminal sexual conduct and four counts of seconddegree criminal sexual conduct. In one of the cases he is accused of inserting a tire iron in the rectum of a three-year-old boy. The boy has reportedly lost control of his bowels as a result of his injuries.

In addition, an unidentified Leoni township man may also face charges and there may be a fourth suspect, described as a volunteer church worker and parish member.

Wininger has co-operated fully in the investigation, police said.

"This is not an indictment of the church." said Michigan State Police Lt. Garry Kregelka at the news conference.

"Everyone at the church who is not involved in the crime is a victim through innuendo."

Although the news conference took place in Chelsea and one Chelsea police officer is a member of the congregation, the Chelsea department was not involved in the investigation. Jackson County District Court Judge Lysle G. Hall set bond at $150,000 for Foeller. Leonard was scheduled to return Monday from Pennsylvania, where he was attending his father's funeral.

Police said Leonard and Foeller may have worked together in some of the cases.

The crimes, which one police investigator called "sickening and grim," allegedly took place on church grounds, on the Sunday school bus, in a cemetery next to the church, and at a Norvell township home last April and May. Children may have witnessed incidents on the bus, police said. Police said more cases may come to light as parents begin to question their children. As of last week, all known victims were Jackson county children, although most of the crimes took place in Washtenaw county.

Leonard's attorney, Michael Stillwagon, has said the charges against his clients are groundless and the investigation is amounting to a witch-hunt.

Police began their investigation after a mother took her daughter to the Jackson County Health Department. There a worker informed the mother-that abuse may have taken place.

Police said they began to get other complaints from parents of children, in different areas of Jackson county. North Sharon is a rural, fundamentalist church with an active Sunday Superintendent and the See for the necessary programs, staff and Yourself tour and luncheon.

Council Vetoes Motion To Appraise Property For Village Offices

on two lots it already owns on Park St. Village council defeated a motion 12,800-square-foot (including base-4-3 last Tuesday to have a five-acre parcel on S. Main St. appraised. The parcel, part of the Schneider estate opposite Pierce Park, would have given the village significantly more land to use. However, it is removed from the downtown area.

Trustees who voted for the appraisal included Joe Merkel, Stephanie Kanten, and Connie Woodruff. Those against included Tom Dorer, Frank Hammer, Brian Cashman and president Richard Steele, who cast the deciding vote.

"I don't think [the Park St. parcel] is going to be large enough," Kanten said.

Cashman said, "It doesn't appear we have any need for the [Schneider] property.'

Dorer said "I'd like to see the office building stay downtown."

Merkel, who made the motion to accept the lowest appraisal bid, said he believes the Park St. site will not be big enough even if the building is as tall as zoning ordinances allow. He noted that if the police department expands and "takes in a township or two" that it will need a building the size of the entire current office complex on E. Middle St.

The village has not yet made a commitment to build a new office complex. Village manager Jack Myers had a study completed by architect

Village Tells MDOT To Fix Traffic Light

The village is upset that the traffic light in front of Chelsea Community Hospital's north drive on Main St. is not synchronized with other traffic lights in the village. Consequently, last Tuesday village council voted to give the Michigan Department of Transportation 30 days to fix the problem or the village will cut off electricity to the light. Village manager Jack Myers told council that the village was not consulted about the light and the hospital simply pulled some political strings to get the work completed. The lack of synchronization causes traffic problems in the area.

If the village decides to build a new Lincoln Poley that shows it would and all of the third are not used. The village office building it will likely be probably cost between $600,000 and building does not have an efficient $900,000 to renovate the current design. In addition, there is no handicap access, which is what forced the village to move its council meetings to Sylvan Township Hall.

Myers said he is not sure what direction the village may take next. Several years ago the village acquired the two Park St. lots. Each lot had a house that was eventually charged with four counts of firstdegree criminal sexual conduct and three counts of second-degree criminal sexual conduct, involving both boys and girls age 3-10. Firstdegree charges are for penetration. Second-degree are for fondling. Yesterday Leonard was expected to be arraigned on six counts of firstdegree criminal sexual conduct and three counts of second-degree criminal sexual conduct.

school bus ministry, reportedly the largest bus ministry in Jackson county. Children in Washtenaw, Jackson, Lenawee, and Ingham counties, primarily those in trailer parks, police said, are actively recruited to attend Sunday school and they are picked up by bus each Sunday. Many of those children could not attend the church any other way. Parents reported that children were enticed by offers of candy and prizes.

Village of Chelsea apparently believes it will not have a new landfill operaing permit by the time a 60-day administrative appeal period ends Dec. 6. As a result, after an executive session last Tuesday, Nov. 15, Village Council voted to file an administrative appeal. That, according to village president Jerry Satterthwaite, will allow the landfill to stay open until the appeal is heard, which could be more than a year from now.

Welfare Cuts, Rising Demand Burden Private Agencies

Declining government support and increasing demand for emergency assistance have forced private nonprofit agencies to look for money elsewhere and restrict or deny basic services to the needy, imposing costly medical problems on already overburdened providers, a Michigan League for Human Services interim study has found.

The study's chief investigator, Knud Hansen of Wayne State University's Center for Urban Studies, and League Director Beverly McDonald said Monday agencies have cut back on how many people have access to their services and the communities with the most needy tend to have the least amount of money available through the private sector.

Agencies have experienced a 10 percent drop in the portion of support coming from the government over the past decade, with 42.6 percent now coming from private contributions other than United Way, 41.6 percent from the government, 6.2 percent from United Way, 4.2 percent from foundations and 1.7 percent from fees. The remaining 10.2 percent is made up from other sources.

About half of the emergency service providers in Michigan were established after 1975, with most of those not starting until the 1980s, and the younger they are, the smaller their staffs and the more vulnerable they are to changes such as funding shifts, McDonald said.

Compared to 1991, agencies have been providing a wider range of services in 1992, with demand particularly rising in areas where government support had declined, such as health care, heat and utilities, shelter and transportation, the study found.

Given the large volume of people already helped, a 19 percent over-all increase in demand for services from private agencies the first year was surprising even for the advocates who had stark predictions about the impact of the elimination of General Assistance and other reductions in state services.

Stressed families have pitched in to Legislature and Governor John care for some of the people who had Engler to expand the state's definition heen living on their ou disability: reconsider its Abusive perhelp themselves; build a better coalisons have also returned to homes they tion between the public and private should not, McDonald said. Almost a sector, and take a close look at the imthird of the agencies reported they pact of elimination of General could not serve people identified as Assistance.

As of September, 9,000 people qualified for state disability assistance. That represents slightly more than 10 percent of the 82,000 people who were receiving GA when that program was eliminated. According to the League's study, the figure should be much higher because one in three who were interviewed said their illness prevented them from working, the same ratio reported by both clients and emergency service providers in two earlier surveys. But DSS spokesperson Chuck Peller said the criteria being used is appropriate. "A lot of advocates feel it should be an employability program rather than a disability program. That's where we draw the line. The money's not there," he said.

Peller acknowledges that most of former GA recipients were unemployable, but added given the state's current fiscal problems and those when Engler took office and called for the program's elimination, the state cannot afford to help that many people anymore.

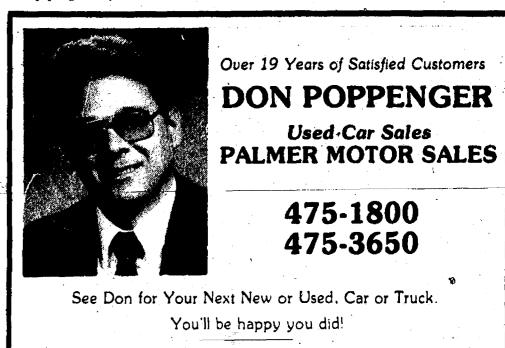

While McDonald said such basign needs as shelter, food and utilities have become more in demand and less available compared to prions years, Peller said the department directly contacted agencies stated wide to ensure that temporary shelters would be provided through Salvation Army contractors to whomever needed it.

The state is moving toward more transitional housing with shelters that go beyond warehousing people to providing them with employment train-v ing, Peller said.

McDonald noted that the major: utilities have developed several payment plans to help persons retain service but added at least $75 million has been lost because of persons failing to, pay their bills. And much of that cost will be incorporated into the base rate for all consumers, she said,

The Department of Social Services: is conducting a similar three-year study with University of Michigan but, does not plan to release any results, including data from a survey of 10 percent of those taken off GA, until they are complete, Peller said.

"I'm sure they're not making this, up, that they have found people who, have not had food for a day," Peller, said. "But it's hard to respond to conclusions based on inconclusive data."

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

After every national election the fellows around the stove at the country store give one session to pooling their ignorance about the state of the union. Before politics could rear its ugly head, Bug Hookum was first on the agender Saturday night to wonder out loud how Americans run their lives before they had all the advice on what to think and do when they get up mornings.

In a recent session, one of the fellows noted that the political poll wags the campaign dog. Candidates don't know what to stand for and against until the surveys tell em. Bug said he had thought the situation up one side and down the other, and he is full convinced that same reverse in rolls is everywhere in American life.

For instant, Bug said, he read where doctors that fix kids' teeth got a run on business from a study that found children catch maloccusion from watching television. Years of laying on the floor and propping their chins in the hand cause their front teeth to turn in and grow crooked. How long, Bug ask, until we learn that plastic surgeons are rebuilding lips of kids that bite em to keep from screaming, and sychiatrists are setting up group counseling so kids can tell real from make believe killing on TV.

The fellers were full agreed with Bug that we must be the most analyzed, polled, surveyed and predicted people the world has ever known. Zeke Grubb said our brains, blood, hearts, habits, eating, exercising, social and sex lives have been punched and probed until we have to fight the idee we're all cast from the same mold. As far as he can see, Zeke allowed, all we have got out of all this is more things to worry about. Farthermore, Zeke went on, we are so covered up with information about ourselves until we can't sort out what to use and what to throw away. For instant, he read where the TV Guide done a survey and found that one American in four wouldn't give up watching TV for $1 million. For the life of him, Zeke said, he can't see how knowing that is any good to anybody but TV Guide that sells ads based on how many folks it can convince advertisers look at the magazine.

Actual, Ed Doolittle said, we ought to throw out medical studies first. He saw reports on three lately that are bound to cause more. One said bad in milk outweighs good, one found caffeen withdrawal symptons and the other discovered that colesterol levels don't have anything to do with living or dying. If that ain't tossing conventional wisdom in a crocked hat what is, was Ed's words.

Fat in milk hurts more than the rest of what's in it helps, so we ought to get what's good in milk from other food. Brockly, for instant, is a good source of calcium. Schools, egged on by Guvernments and dairymen, offer students milk to drink every day. Ed said find him a school child that will swap his carton of milk for a glob of creamed brockly, and he'll find you a kid from another planet.

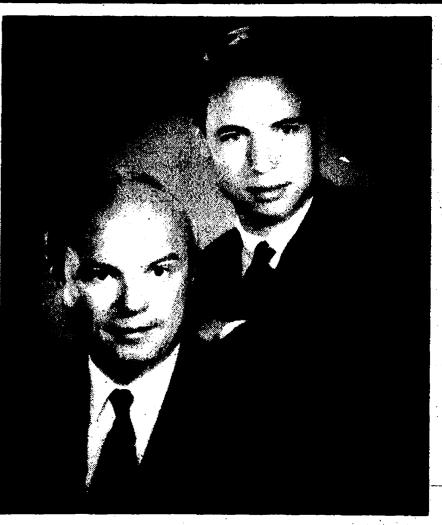

The biggest survey yet on colesterol is nothing short of medical blasfemy. It says the level of it makes no difference in otherwise healthy people. Ed said the caffeen report found folks that don't get their usual morning coffee are cantankerous. For medical breakthorugh, Ed said, that ranks with saying a finger hurts when it is whacked with a hammer.

School Board Says No to WISD Millage

Chelsea Board of Education's Monday night meeting produced a lot of discussion on various topics but little action.

In perhaps the most unexpected action of the evening, the board voted 5-2 not to support a special education millage that may be proposed again by the Washtenaw Intermediate School District next spring. A 1.45 mill proposal to fund state-mandated special education programs was rejected this spring by county voters.

Board president Anne Comeau, who is also president of the intermediate school district board, and trustee Ron Satterthwaite voted in support of the millage.

The percentage of state funding for special education programs is declining. The only way to make up the difference is through individual school district's general funds.

In other business, the board agreed to change the format of their meetings. Action items will be one of The board accepted a gift of two dugouts valued at $2,000 from the Chelsea Women's Fastpitch Softball Club.

The board approved a high school band trip to Florida March 17-21. The band will play at Disney World, Cocoa Beach, and other places.

The board also approved the makeup of the 22-member Sex Education Advisory Committee, which includes clergy, health professionals, administrators, teachers, and community members.

Tenure was approved for Beach Middle school teacher Diane Ritter.

Agricultural Goals Noted for New U.S. Administration

The president of the Michigan Farm Bureau congratulated President-elect Bill Clinton on his election victory, but noted that farmers are interested in how the new administration plans to address a number of challenges facing the agricultural industry. Tuscola county farmer Jack Laurie said that the U.S. needs growth-oriented policies not only for agriculture but the entire economy. "I'm concerned that there was a lot of talk during Gov. Clinton's campaign about increasing taxes and expanding regulations," Laurie said. "That's not the way to produce a growing economy. "Likewise, despite Gov. Clinton's

"Likewise, despite Gov. Clinton's campaign image as a 'new' Democrat, he will come into office owing a lot of favors to traditional Democratic constituencies. His goal of controlling the deficit undoubtedly will collide with the liberal social programs devised by the new Congress. Does he have the backbone to stand up to the demands of big-spending congressmen?" asked Laurie.

The Farm Bureau leader also said Michigan farmers await Gov. Clinton's specific views on issues like completion of free trade agreements, the shape of the 1995 Farm Bill, environmental challenges to farm practices, protection of private property rights and wetlands delineation.

church prided itself in its "isolationism," constantly preaching about the evils of the "real world." A majority-of church members feel that confining themselves in the four walls of the church will somehow exempt them from these worldly evils. Being in denial does not change facts. Somehow it seems to us that by confining oneself in a cocoon of unreality seemingly to protect oneself from evil, leaves that person unable to recognize evil when it's right in front of them. It's honorable to look for the good in individuals, but it's reality to know that not all people who call themselves Christians are honorable. We pray for those children and their families whose lives will be forever changed by this adversity (as stated by Rev. Wininger), and hope they know that God can heal all pain, even that which is perpetrated in His name. And to those at North Sharon Baptist church we pray that your eyes are opened to reality, and you will know that everything there is NOT as it seems. David Radtke

New Michigan Farm Bureau Scholarship Programs Approved

The Michigan Farm Bureau Board of Directors has approved a new Farm Bureau Scholarship Fund program. Under the new program, two Michigan Farm Bureau scholarships will be awarded each year: a $1,500 scholarship to a two-year Michigan State University ag student, and a $3,000 scholarship for a four-year MSU ag student.

Julie Chamberlain, manager of promotion and education for Michigan Farm Bureau, said the scholarships are an indication of Farm Bureau support for the future of the agricultural industry, "It's extremely important to support students in their agricultural careers," she said. "Both scholarships are specifically dedicated to students who are follow-ing an agricultural career and are enrolled in MSU in an agricultural program. We think these scholarships are the kind of attention and commitment to agriculture that is needed on the part of the state's largest farm organization."

Recipients will be selected by a committee of three MFB Young Farmer Committee members and three MFB Promotion and Education Committee members. The first Michigan Farm Bureau Scholarship

Dexter Woman Chosen For December Elk Hunt

Resources has randomly chosen the names of 170 Michigan residents to participate in the state's Dec. 8-15 elk hunt.

The names of applicants for the hunt were computer-drawn from 49.069 who applied for a December 1992 elk hunt license. Certified letters were mailed to successful applicants on Friday, Oct. 23. Unsuccessful applicants will not be notified.

Of the 170 chosen elk hunters, 63 will be allowed to take either an antlered or antierless elk, while 107 may take only an elk without antlers. Hunters have been notified of which type of elk they may take.

Rita Denoyer of Dexter was awarded a permit for an antierless only elk. This year's elk-hunting area includes Emmet, Charlevoix, neboygan, Otsego, Montmorency

The Department of Natural Presque Isle, and Alpena counties. esources has randomly chosen the The Dec. 8-15 hunt follows two successful elk hunts held during Sept. 9-15 and 17-24, in which elk were taken by 100 hunters. The September hunt elk were taken mostly from private land in the western part of the elk range where hunters had difficulty securing hunting access during December.

Swine Disease Legislation Signed Into Law By Engler

Gov. Engler this week signed into law a measure to help eradicate pseudorables in the state. Senate Bill 1112, sponsored by Sen. Paul Wartner (R-Portage), basically implements the federal eradication program, according to Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau.

"Michigan has a program to attempt to control pseudorables through vaccination and testing," said Nelson. "This new program would really step up the process and provide more tools for the Department of Agriculture to aggressively test, quarantine or depopulate swine herds where pseudorables has been diagnosed."

Pseudorabies is primarily a disease of swine, although it does transmit to other animal species. It is not a threat to human health.

'The good news is that the federal government has allocated a number of dollars to those states that implement the federal program, as Michigan has. Michigan pork producers have been testing and vaccinating at their own expense, and that will continue. But the dollars that the federal government will allocate to the state government simply steps up the process to eradicate the disease," Neison said.

Changes Made In Metropark Tolling Fees

Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, Metroparks, is changing its tolling fee structure in 1993. Some entrance fees will increase; others will stay the same; and Tuesday each week there will be no entrance fee to the Metroparks.

1993 Metropark annual vehicle entry permits will be: $15 regular (currently $10), and $8 senior citizen (currently $5).

The annual permits have a coupon on the back, worth $3-$5, redeemable for free use of one of seven Metropark facilities such as a round of par-3 golf, cross country ski equipment for onehalf day, or entry for two to one of the Metroparks' pools.

Daily vehicle entry permits for week-ends and holidays will be $3 in 1993, while the week-day fee, except for free entry day, will remain at $2.

Annual boat launching permits will be: $18 regular ($13 currently) and $9 senior citizen ($6 currently).

"The increases in entry fees reflect the increasing costs of maintaining, operating and improving the 13 Metroparks," says William P. Sherman, director of the HCMA. "The variable fees are an attempt to encourage use of the parks throughout the week and to hold down costs for those people on limited incomes."

Except for a slight increase in golfing fees and some marina fees at Lake-Erie, no other user fees will be increased in 1993, Sherman stated.

This is the first increase in the annual permit fees since 1986 and the first increase in daily fees since 1979, said David L. Wahl, HCMA controller. The fee increases are expected to generate about $870,000 added revenue in 1993, Wahi said.

The revenue generated will be used to help upgrade aging facilities.

A user survey conducted in 1990 indicated that residents of southeast Michigan highly regard the Metroparks for their natural beauty, recreational diversity, efficient operation, cleanliness and safety.

"The challenge now is to maintain the quality of recreational resources to which the residents of the five counties have become accustomed." Sher-village of Cheisea expects to receive $94,740 from Sylvan, Lima, Lyndon, and Dexter townships early next year as the first installment in the landfill cost-sharing agreement.

Final version of the agreement. Final version of the agreement has been approved by Sylvan and Lima townships and is expected to be ap-proved by the village as soon as Dex-ter and Lyndon townships approve it. The only significant change in the final agreement is the amount to be shared. Total figure is $567,440. The village will pay half, or $283,720 and the townships will share the rest over three years. In essence, the village is being re-imbursed for money it has already spent.

The first-year payments are as follows: Dexter township, $33,168; Lyndon and Sylvan townships, $21,279 each; Lima township, $18,914. The townships worked out their shares among themselves.

The figure represents the cost to close out the old landfill, as well as all testing incurred to date to determine whether the landfill groundwater and soil are contaminated. The village will pay for 70 percent of all long-term costs.

The agreement does not cover expenses associated with the current landfill cell because the townships did not enter a contract with the village as they did with the old landfill.

Snow Puts Damper on Chelsea Passing Game, Dogs Lose to Christi

Too much snow. Too much Jackson Lumen Christi depth. Those two factors combined to eliminate the Chelsea Bulldogs from the class BB football play-offs last Saturday afternoon at Withington Stadium in Jackson.

The Titans, regarded as the best high school team in the state, won the game 28-0, due in part to a punishing ground game in the second half.

Despite the lopsided score. however, the Bulldogs gave the Titans a tougher game than any other opponent this season. The Bulldogs were down 7-0 after two quarters, the first time all season Lumen Christi hadn't, for all intents and purposes, wrapped up a game by half-time.

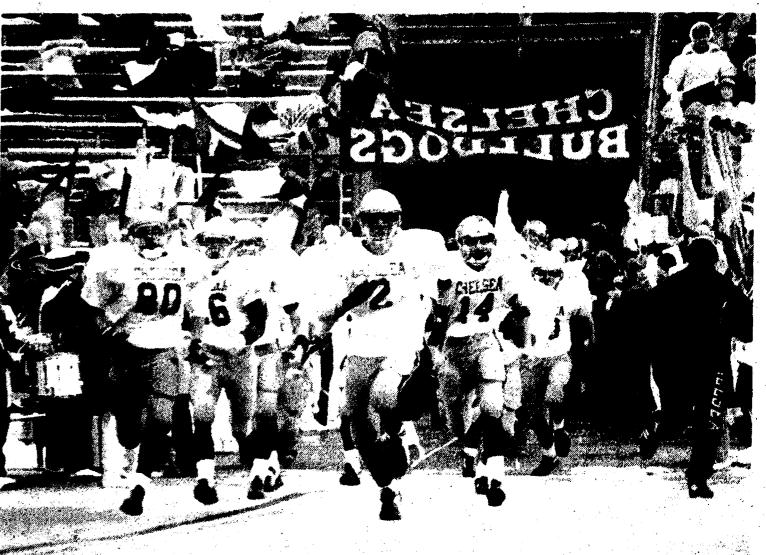

At intermisssion, however, a gentle but heavy snow started and it didn't take long for the artificial surface to be blanketed. Footing became treacherous and hands began to freeze, a lethal combination for a team that depends heavily on its passing game.

The weather was especially difficult for quarterback Pat Steele and receiver Colby Skelton, the Bulldogs' big-play combination, because they were among the Bulldogs' two-way players. Unlike their Lumen Christi counterparts, Steele, Skelton, and other Bulldogs couldn't use the defensive series to warm their hands.

"The snow was really the turning point in the game," said Chelsea coach Gene LaFave.

"The field was very playable in the first half, and we had Lumen Christi

8th Grade Cagers Lose First Game

Beach Middle school eighth grade basketball team lost its first game of the season, 26-19, to Saline last week. "We played a strong game defensively but couldn't score consistently enough to win," said Chelsea coach Jim Tallman.

"Several times we pulled to within three or four points but couldn't take the lead. Defensively we have a real quick team that is able to apply excellent detensive pressure, out now we have to find consistent scoring." Tallman said Tim Lawrence had a good game defensively with several steals.

CHELSEA BULLDOGS football team emerges from the tunnel at Withington Stadium last Saturday as they in a situation they'd never been in before. We thought we could come out and score in the second half and win the game. If Pat could have zipped the ball in there it might have been a different game."

The single biggest moment of the game came with 6:05 left in the third quarter and Christi holding a 7-0 lead. After a Lumen Christi punt buried the Bulldogs at their own three-yard line, Steele hit a leaping Skelton near the B-yard line, just inches short of a first down. Chelsea's next play was a run ap the middle. However, the ball popbed out and the Titans recovered, although the Chelsea coaching staff protested that the whistle had blown efore the fumble.

A Two plays later, Titan running back bason Martines burst through the fight side of the line for a touchdown. The extra point put the Titans ahead

The Titans went on to score on each their next two possessions, the first on an 18-yard run by Sean McGonigal with :52 remaining in the third quarter, and the second on a 14-yard delines pass play from Tim Crowley Casey Sykes with 4:35 left. Meanwhile, the Buildogs managed p reach the Lumen Christi 20-yard ing mid-way through the fourth quarter before turning the ball over on downs.

Chelsea had two good chances to score in the first half.

The Bulldogs opened the game by recovering a Lumen Christi fumble at the Chelsea three on the opening series. Chelsea was eventually forced to punt. Then the Titans began a 3-yard, three-play scoring drive, highlighted by McGonigal's 56-yard thun up the middle in which half a dozen Bulldogs made contact but couldn't complete the tackle. Chelsea came right back on the next series. Steele nassed 24 yards to series. Steele passed 24 yards to Skelton to the Lumen Christi 40. On purth down and two from the 32, Seele again hit Skelton on a sevenyard sideline pattern. However, the drive stalled at the 18 as a Steele pass play to Poulter on fourth down and 10 fell three yards short.

The Titans were forced to punt on their next possession and a shanked boot gave the Bulldogs good field position at the Lumen Christi 49. On the first play Steele connected with Skelton at the Titans 20. Again, however, the drive stalled, this time at the 14, as the Bulldogs couldn't convert on fourth down and four.

as they have all season," LaFave said.

"The whole defense played pretty darn well and hung in there. The offense also played well and the line pass blocked extremely well. Once we got down 14-0 we had to take more chances offensively and that hurt." LaFave said he was particularly pleased with the play of ends Casey Schiller and Gary White.

Steele completed 14-28 passes for 132 yards. Skelton caught nine passes for 94 yards and Poulter caught four for 34 yards. Poulter picked up 47 of Chelsea's 51 rushing yards on 13 carries.

Lumen Christi had three turnovers

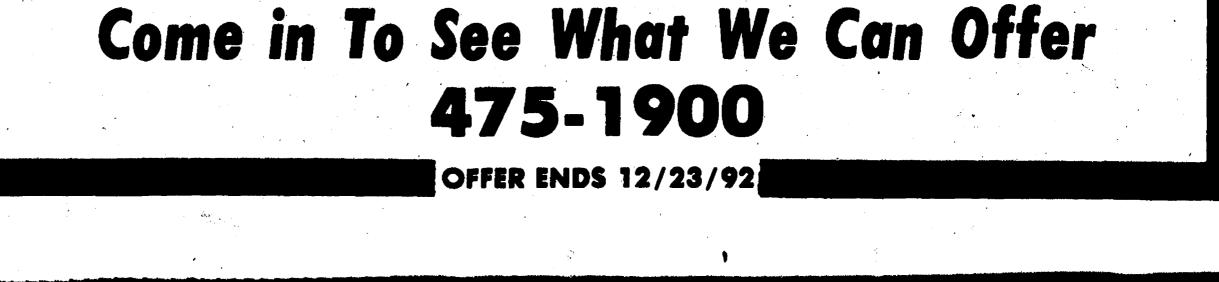

CHELSEA OFFENSE was forced to contend with heavy snow and a deep Jackson Lumen Christi team last Saturday in the region football championship game in Lansing. This is probably Chelsea's Colby Skelton who's on the receiv-ing end of a Pat Steele pass.

Chelsea scorers included Jason Sprawka 7, Casey Wescott 6, Lawrence 3, Lance Ching 2, and Dusty White 1.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture provides these picnic packing tips: For hot food, wrap the dish in several layers of newspaper before placing in a styrofoam cooler; for cold dishes, place in a styrofoam cooler with ice or blue gel cold packs. Freeze iced tea and lemonade in plastic containers and freeze small boxes of juice; they'll thaw on your way to the picnic site (before frezing a liquid, make sure there's some space at the top to allow for expansion).

6th Grade Girls Intramural Hoop Program Continues

A Chelsea sixth grade girls in-tramural basketball program will continue at Beach Middle school through Monday, Dec. 14.

The program will be held from 3 p.m. to 4:15 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 23, Monday, Nov. 30, and Monday, Dec. 14.

Chelsea High school junior varsity coach Paul Terpstra, along with members of the varsity and junior varsity teams, will run the program. There is no charge.

For more information call Terpstra at 475-9131.

EMU To Offer Kids Basketball Clinic

A one-hour clinic for elementary school age children on basketball fundamentals will be presented by Eastern Michigan University's basketball team Saturday, Nov. 14, in Bowen Field House.

The clinic, using smaller basketballs and lower baskets, will be taught by EMU coaches and players.

Kindergarteners, first and second graders will participate together from 9 to 10 a.m.; third and fourth graders will meet from 10 to 11 a.m.; and fifth and sixth graders will take the court from 11 a.m. to noon.

The fee for the program is $15 per child and includes a basketball t-shirt. For more information or to register, call the Basketball Office at (313) 487-0214.

NOTES SPORTS

BY BELAN HAMILTON

It was almost as though someone upstairs was looking out for those Catholics in areen and cold.

The Cheisea Bulldogs had given the Jackson Lumen Christi Titans plenty to think about at half-time last Saturday in the finals of the region class BB play-offs

Quarterback Pat Steele was right on the money with his passing game inghout the first 24 minutes. As usual, wide receiver Colby Skelton made several acrobatic catches. Running back Tom Poulter grabbed a couple of passes and broke off a couple of key runs. The Bulldogs had the guts to go for first down on fourth and inches deep in their own territory on their opening drive. The offense was in gear against the best high school team in the state. Twice the Bulldogs drove inside the Lumen Christi 20-yard line. By half-time, Chelseo was down just. 7-0 to a team that's used to leading by three or four touchdowns.

Superintendent Joe Piasecki was so confident that he wanted to know if he could cut a piece of my hair at half-time since he wouldn't be able to make the post-victory head-shaving.

But just a few minutes into half-time, almost on cue, the sputtering of snow we'd had during the first half turned into a near blizzard—huge snowflakes but little wind. Heavy, wet snow drifted down over the stadium and in no time the yardline stripes were completely obliterated.

The snow caused the Bulldogs all sorts of problems. Steele couldn't warm his heads enough to get a good grip on the ball. Receivers had trouble running routes and bolding onto passes they could grab. A couple of times it was snowing so hard that visibility on the field was even limited.

Meanwhile, the footing was not all that bad for a straight-ahead, power footbill game, the strength of Lumen Christi's offense. Their superb senior running back, Sean McGonigal, the best runner Chelsea has seen all year, exhibited extractinary balance reminiscent of the best runners you've seen at any level. He'd get hit three or four times on any play and keep right on trucking. When it was all over, McGonigal had rushed for 215 yards and two touchdowns.

But to top it all off, the Titans also got the break of the game early in the third quarter, right smack in the middle of the heaviest snow. On second down and inches at the Chelsea 13, the Bulldogs tried a run into the middle. Chelsea appeared to have the first down easily, but the officials ruled a fumble, even though everyone on the Chelsea sidelines thought the play had been whistled dead before the ball got away. So, the Titans took over at the Chelsea 13. From that position they'll score a touchdown 99 times out of a 100. And once they did, it just about ruined any hope of a comeback.

My theory is the Titans bagged any discussion of strategy and spent half-time in prayer because they knew it was just a matter of time before the Buildogs would put the ball in the end zone. ("Just a half an hour of heavy snow and one big turnaver is all we need.")

But the proof of my theory is this. Once the Titans began to take charge of the game late in the third quarter, the snow began to subside. And Chelsea didn't commit another turnover until a meaningless interception late in the game. Lumen Christi players, coaches, and fans couldn't have asked for a more perfect scenario.

It was obvious Saturday why Lumen Christi is regarded as the state's best team. They have an outstanding running game, a strong defense, and unbelievable depth. But I'll bet the Titans believe they just beat number two, thanks, perhaps to some divine intervention.

Congratulations to the Bulldogs for their most remarkable and exciting season since Jeff Daniels and Wayne Welton were wearing pads more than 20 years ago.

A lot of Chelsea fans are already looking forward to next year.

By the year 2000, the dearth of young workers may hamper the ability of companies to grow rapidly or to respond to change. With the absolute numbers of new workers age 16-34 declining by almost 5 million, many companies may find themselves unable to move rapidly to hire large numbers of new workers to respond to changing economic conditions, according to "Workforce 2000," a U.S. Labor Department publication.

TWENTY-EIGHT STUDENTS completed the DNR Hunter Safety Program conducted at the Chelsea Rod & Gun Club on Sept. 12 and 13. Students learn firearm safety, hunting ethics, map reading, first aid and participate on the rifle and trap ranges. As of 1987 the State of Michigan requires anyone born after 1960 obtain a hunter safety certificate in order to purchase a hunting license. The minimum age requirement set by the state for taking the hunter safety class is 12 years. Classes are free and pre-registration is required through Chelsea Community Education, 475-9830. The next hunter safety classes will be April 24-25, May 15-16, Sept. 11-12, Sept. 25-26, and Oct.

'93 Corn Acreage Reduction Hiked

Susan DeVoe, CED of the Washtenaw-Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said the 1993 feed grain program calls for a 10 percent reduction in corn acres compared to a 5 percent reduction in 1992.

She said prospects for a large 1992 corn crop has boosted stock estimates, prompting the higher acreage reduction requirement for 1993 corn.

The feed grain program includes a 5 percent acreage reduction requirement for grain sorghum, the same as last year, and zero percent for barley and oats. Participating producers will be eligible for federal target price protection of $2.75 per bushel for corn, $2.61 for grain sorghum, $2.36 for barley and $1.45 per bushel for oats. Price support loan rates per bushel are: corn, $1.72; grain sorghum $1.63; barley $1.40; oats, $.88, and rye, $1.46. The loan rates and target prices are unchanged from 1992. ASCS official DeVoe said other pro-visions of the 1993 feed grain program will be announced as soon as they become available.

★ Roses Need Winter Protection Most bush roses are not fully hardy in Michigan. That means they need protection against low temperatures to survive the winter.

The critical point, explains Master Gardener co-ordinator Mary McLellan, is the graft union, the spot where the named variety was grafted onto the supporting root system. If you don't protect the graft union, the top portion of the plant will die. Shoots that come up from the roots will be very different and will not produce the quality of flower you are expecting. Protect the graft union by mounding 8 to 10 inches of soil around it after the first hard freeze. Long canes that might whip in the wind and loosen the soil should be cut back.

After the ground freezes, pile hay, straw, leaves or some similar material over the mounded canes. To keep this material from blowing away, cover it with more soil, landscape prunings or branches from discarded Christmas trees.

"The aim here is to insulate the soil and keep the soil temperature constant," McLellan explains. "Twiggy branches or evergreen boughs will trap snow for an extra insulating layer."

You can also use tarpaper cylinders, Styrofoam cylinders or rose cones, she notes. Apply these after plants are fully dormant-after two hard freezes.

If you use an open-top cylinder, tie the canes together to make it easier to slip the cylinder down over the plant. Then fill the cylinder with dry vermiculite, ground corn cobs, leaves, straw or some other insulating material. Cut the tops of the canes off even with the top of the cylinder and cover with polyethylene film to keep the insulating material dry. Be sure to fasten the plastic securely so it doesn't blow off.

If you use a closed-top cylinder or cone, tie the cones together, shorten them as needed, cover the plant with insulating material and then slip the cover over it.

Remove covering materials in the spring after the ground has thawed and the danger of hard frost has passed, but before new growth has appeared. Remove mounded soil carefully to avoid damaging new shoots. Tree roses and climbing roses should be laid on the ground and covered with several inches of soil. For tree roses, this means digging under the roots of the plant on one side so you can tip it without damaging the stem or root system. Remove the soil and set the plants up again in the spring, replacing the soil around the roots, after the danger of severe frost is past.

Underground Printing, a silkscreen printing business, has just opened in the Chelsea Industries Annex (the former Rockwell building). The business screen prints t-shirts, sweatshirts, hats, and other garments.

Ward Beauchamp, Ken Beauchamp, and Dave Teare began Underground Printing nearly two years ago to help pay their way through college. They are all Chelsea High school graduates, and are focus ing their business in Chelsea.

They were formerly working out of the basement of the Teare family's house, which is the reason for the anique name. "We were sitting there in the basement," says Ward Beau, champ, "and it just seemed obvious," Although they are now up a flight of stairs, they will keep the name.

They are now open to the public, and if you have questions or interests A4 475 0

Eye Care Cheryl Huey, M.D. Ophthalinologist · Eye Physician and Surgeon INFECTIONS FROM CONTACT LENSES

About a year ago, major medical centers around the country began to recognize an increased incidence of infectious ulceration of the cornea in persons who wore soft contact lenses. A high percentage of these infections were in persons wearing soft contact lenses—the kind that can be worn two to four weeks without removal. The daily wear soft contacts—which must be taken out every night—were less of a problem. Additionally, the bacteria and fungi causing these infections can be virulent, sometimes causing a permanent reduction in vision due to scarring of the cornea. The cornea is the clear dome-shaped structure covering the pupil and iris.

A study recently published in American Journal of Ophthalmology showed that these corneal ulcers occurred in wearers of daily wear soft contacts only when the patients did not use proper hygiene when caring for their contact lenses. Improper techniques included failure to wash hands before handling the contacts, wearing them overnight, not using a disinfecting system, or having a contaminated case. In contrast, 40% of the extended wear contact patients who got corneal ulcers had followed proper cleaning techniques,

This suggests that daily wear soft contact lenses may be safer than extended wear lenses. Extended wear lenses are still O.K. to use, provided the wearer is educated regarding the possible risks.

'Anything you do to protect roses against low winter temperatures is more likely to succeed if plants were properly nourished and protected against disease during the growing season," McLellan notes, "There's not much you can do about that now, but it's something to think about next year."

Moving Farm-Stored Grain Must First Be Authorized By ASCS

"Before moving any farm-stored grain, farmers should contact our office for specific details." Susan DeVoe, CED of the Washtenaw-Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said.

She said federally-mortgaged grain must not be removed before repayment of the loan or receipt of release authorization.

Farm program participants are required to obtain ASCS approval before comingling, rotating, moving or selling loan grain. If the grain is to be used for feed, the loan must be repaid before it is removed from the storage bin.

DeVoe said unauthorized removal of farm-stored grain under loan constitutes a federal violation and could result in severe penalties.

The ASCS price support and grain reserve programs authorize loans to farmers who hold their grain off the market to benefit from future price increases. The mortgaged grain is then stored in approved storage facilities on the farm, or in a public warehouse. ASCS official DeVoe said unauthorized removal of reserve grain or grain under regular loan will result in the call of the loan, immediate repayment plus interest, denial of future farm-stored loans and possible investigation by the Office of the Inspector General.

The Rev. Beverly Pruitt Assigned to St. Barnabas

The Rev. Dr. Jerrold Beaumont, vicar of St. Barnabas church in Chelsea, recently announced that the Rev. Beverly Prult has been assigned to the church by the Rt. Rev. R. Stewart Wood, Jr., Bishop of the Diocese of Michigan. Deacon Pruitt assumed her duties in October.

Deacon Pruitt is originally from Hillsdale, and now resides in Pinckney. She converted to the Episcopal Church and was confirmed in Bonn, Germany, while her husband was in the U.S. Air Force. She also lived in Honolulu, Hawaii, before moving back to Michigan.

In 1976, Deacon Pruitt heard the call to the ministry, though it took her months to act upon the call.

In 1978, Deacon Pruitt enrolled at Eastern Michigan University in a multi-disciplinary social work program where she earned a degree in sociology with a minor in psychology. Her specialty was in the area of mental health and she worked in a behavioral treatment center for three vears.

After 10 years of preparation and training which she described as "lifechanging and arduous," Deacon Pruitt was ordained to the Holy Order of Deacons on Nov. 20, 1988. At the age of 47. she was Bisohp Wood's first ordained.

Deacon Pruitt's first ministry was one of social outreach and caring for the sick and elderly at St. John's Episcopal church in Howell. She developed the Stephen Ministry and trained others in the art of pastoral care-giving.

Having worked closely with those in need, Deacon Pruitt's concern with the lack of affordable housing in Livingston county grew. She organized the Livingston County Habitat for Humanity Corp., where she remains as elected president and chair of the board in a non-profit, ecumenical housing ministry.

At the Diocesan level, Deacon Pruit developed the Field Education Program for the Whitaker School of Theology. She is assigned to the position of Field Education Co-ordinator and works with mentors and others involved in the training of deacons for the Diocese of Michigan.

Besides her duties as Liturgical

Deacon and preacher at St. Barnabas. Deacon Pruitt has been named the consultant and co-ordinator of the Christian Education Program at the church. She will also be responsible for building community through the ministry of creating opportunities and empowering others into servanthood.

As Deacon Pruitt explains, 'Children are the future's heritage. They are our most important resource. I am gratefull to have four wonderful grandchildren. Being a parent and now a grandmother has been a life-giving gift that God has given me. Through my awareness of the youth around me, I hope I might bring the children of St. Barnabas some benefit from God. These are the littlest of God and perhaps the most open to the Spirit of God."

"I hope the child in me touches the child in them, and the Spirit they obtain touches the Spirit in me, bringing us all into the communion of God,' she concluded.

Deacon Pruitt is married to Charles Pruitt. They have a son and daughter and four grandchildren.

St. Barnabas is located at 20500 Old US-12, across from the Chelsea Fairgrounds. Visitors and newcomers are always welcome.

Conservation Reserve Payments Total $65,280 For Washtenaw-Wayne

The Washtenaw-Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service issued cash payments totaling more than $65,280 to 52 Washtenaw-Wayne producers participating in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP).

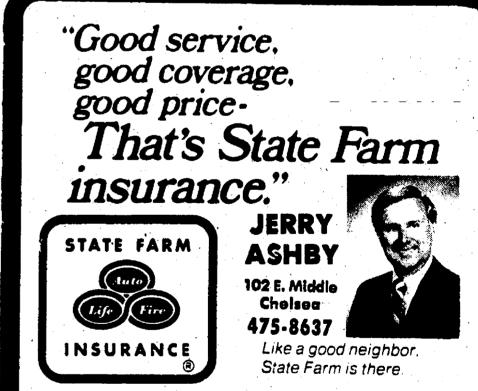

The annual rental payments are for cropland accepted into the program in crop years 1986-1992. "This payment is for fiscal year 1993," DeVoe said. Under the CRP, farmers sign a 10-15 year contract with USDA in which they agree to take eligible cropland that is highly erodible, or that is causing serious water quality problems, out of annual crop production and put it into perennial grass, wildlife plantings, windbreaks or trees. In return, USDA agrees to provide annual rental payments based on a bid, and shares with farmers the cost of establishing an approved permanent cover on the land.

When USDA accepts the bid, DeVoe said the land cannot be used for crop production, haved or grazed, and it must be planted to trees, grass or an approved vegetative cover.

Nationally, ASCS disbursed over $1.7 billion in CRP payments to approximately 386,000 producers for enrolling 36.5 million acres in the CRP.

A CHRISTMAS WALK VISITS 8 AREA HOMES

A Christmas Walk, sponsored by the Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary will be held Sunday, Dec. 6 from 3 to 8 p.m. Some of the homes visited are shown below. Others will follow in the coming weeks. Advance tickets may be purchased at Arbor Nook, Chelsea State Bank, Chelsea Pharmacy, Merkel's, Shirley's Fashions in Dexter, and Village Gifts in Manchester.

MARY ANN AND CHUCK HEARD 405 N. Freer Rd. Christmas hasn't changed. There is still plenty of heart, candle light, family and friends.

On the country road that passes the Heard Farm, traffic travels more slowly in December as people get a closer look at "Christmas in the Country."

The newly rebuilt kitchen-family room effectively serves as the hub of the house without sacrificing the cozy farm house look. The special aromas of tangerines and cookies cooling blend with the smells of logs burning in the fireplace. A Great-Grandmother's 7-leaf table helps with the holiday baking as well as family feasts on Christmas Day.

Festive grapevine wreaths, freshly cut greens and a tree adorned with abandoned birds nests from the woods out back gives us visual pleasure. The Heards use the Honey House behind their home as a guest "spill over," and when winter winds whirl by the porch eaves the wreath's giant red bow waves in festive response to the spirit of an old fashioned Christmas.

KAY CYBULSKI 410 Washington St.

Open the door and view a magical salute to the season when everything familiar assumes a nostalgic glow-

To achieve a 1930's-40's look in an 85-year-old house. Kay combines oak. fruitwood, a collection of pre-WWII wall-pockets and a convocation of cookie jars tucked atop the kitchen cupboards.

The art echoes the simplicity of the 1930's-one favorite is a J. Walters painting-traditional treasures, a Christmas postcard, newly framed, that was rescued from her Mother's correspondence and family guilts particularly suited to the season.

The simplest decorations often are the greatest delight: a house redolent of fresh cut fir, candles shining in the glass, and an old fashioned porch laden with yards of pine garlands.

A down home Christmas in a small midwestern town is always a time to remember.

DOUG AND MARSHA DENISON 503 East St.

Fashions wax and wain as time goes by, but childhood's trees, and the memories they spark remain forever.

Nature's bounty plays a major role in this 1890's Dutch Colonial House. Rustic touches remind us of simpler days. Santa's one of a kind treasures gather around a sparkling tree hosting the unusual foyer.

Originally heated only by the fireplace in the foyer, a specially designed door in the stair well serves as a means of regulating the flow of heat to the upstairs rooms.

Family heirlooms and hand crafted decorations declare the identity of family members. The colors of Christmas, red and green, Raggedy Ann's tea table and the girl's tree, replete with their own creations, bid a cozy welcome to the family-kitchen. Upstairs, a small Victorian tree, adorned with a sentimental collection, a loft full of animals waiting Santa's visit, a view from the study capturing the wonder of a starry night will help us all understand why we are never too young—nor too old to store up memories.

New Film To Be Shown⁴ At Free Methodist Church

World Wide Pictures, the motion picture ministry of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, is presenting "Zamperini: Still Carrying the Torch." This inspiring true story will leave its viewers encouraged and motivated.

A nationally known high school track star, an Olympic runner, a World War II hero, a prisoner of war-no one will argue that Louis Zamperini's young life wasn't saturated with adventure and challenge. Yet the greatest challenge he ever faced took place in Los Angeles in 1949, listening to a young evangelist named Billy Graham.

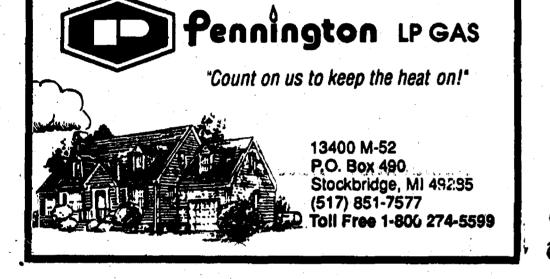

With the same energy and drive that had become characteristic of all his endeavors, Louis embraced his new-found faith with great fervency. He returned to Japan, sharing the love and forgiveness of Christ with the very guards who had tortured him in the prison camp not too many years before. He developed a wilderness program in California-working with ing, mountaineering, skateboarding, and rescue and survival skills.

This captivating film will inspire viewers of all ages, as they witness the miracle of salvation and the faithfulness of God's plan in this amazing true story of one man. It will challenge them to acknowledge God's plan in their own lives, and to pursue ways in which they, too, can "carry the torch" of the Gospel to those around them.

Pastor Mearl Bradley and the members of Chelsea Free Methodist church, 7665 Werkner Rd., Chelsea, would like you to attend this outstanding new film: "Zamperini: Still Carrying the Torch" on Sunday, Nov. 22, at 6 p.m.

For more information, please call the church office at 475-1391.

Faith was originally incorporated Magic Show Will Benefit Faith in Action

Have you ever wondered how magicians produce cards out of thin air, transform birds into rabbits and cause solid steel swords to safely pass through a human body? Now is your chance to witness these magical feats and much more as Faith in Action of Chelsea along with the Ann Arbor Magicians Club presents "Magic of Giving VII." "Magic of Giving VII" will be presented at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 22 at the Chelsea High School Auditorium. Proceeds to benefit Faith in Action, which supplies food and clothing for needy families in the community. Now in its seventh year, "Magic of Giving VII" has become one of Chelsea's most popular live entertainment events! The idea for the benefit was developed by James L. Fitzsimmons of Chelsea's own Boyer & Fitzsimmons Comedy Magic Duo along with the Rev. Jerry Beaumont of Faith in Action. Here's a look at the performers who will appear on the show. Randy "The Professor" Shaw will be the Master of Ceremonies. Shaw is not only a performer, but a teacher and an inventor of magic. He founded the non-profit group, M.A.G.I.C. (Magicians Against Gangs, Ignorance, and Crime). John Sterlini has been performing magic since the age of 4. Sterlini will open the show with a new act that has received first place at "Michigan Magic Day 1992," "Abbott's Magic Get-Together," and at "The Glass City Conclave" in Toledo, O. Boyer & Fitzsimmons have been performing magic together for 20 years and will demonstrate their unique style of comedy magic. Chriss Moss is originally from Oklahoma. Co-starring with his family, Moss will perform his own special style of vibrant magic. Richard Dean, "The Dean of Mental Magic," hails from Dundee. He will entertain the audience with his skill of Mentalism and Mind Reading. Mark Joseph will present his cabaret night club act. He is a 1984 graduate of the Chavez College of Magic and a 1992 graduate of Eastern Michigan University Business School. Chris Craig will present his "magic of music" and give the audience a sampling of his original keyboard skills.

nicotine patches also are encouraged to join smoking cessation programs such as Smoke Stoppers to help ensure their success, according to insurance companies and program counselors.

Smoke Stoppers will offer free introductory sessions Tuesday and Thursday, Jan. 12 and 14, to assist nicotine-patch users and others who wish to quit smoking. Personal programs for individuals and on-site corporate programs also are available.

"Some insurance companies, such as Care Choices HMO, now require that subscribers who use nicotine patches also complete a smoking cessation program like Smoke Stoppers. While the pathces help curb the problems of physical addiction, Smoke Stoppers assists people in overcoming their psychological_addiction and promotes behavioral changes," explained Patricia Harris, Smoke Stoppers instructor.

"The combination of the two methods certainly ensures a high rate of success for participants in Smoke Stoppers. Of course, those who are not using nicotine patches also find the program to be very successful," she added.

The January introductory sessions, which will be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Education Center, will explore the Smokers who want to kick their reasons why participants smoke and habit through the use of prescribed how they can quit-for good. There is a fee for additional classes. Care Choices Health Plans HMO members are eligible for a substantial reimbursement upon completion of the program, and other insurance companies also may cover a portion of the program costs.

"Our January classes attract a lot of people who have made New Year's resolutions to quit smoking," said Harris, a former smoker. "For those who are unable to set aside the time required for classes, our personal program enables them to complete the process through one-on-one interaction with Smoke Stoppers counselors. Participants in this program have been extremely successful as well."

Childhood Coalition Sponsoring Concerts By Song Sisters

Chelsea Early Childhood Coalition will present the Song Sisters in concert at Chelsea High school auditorium on Friday, Nov. 20. Performances will begin promptly at 9:15 a.m. and 1:15 p.m. Please call Chelsea Community Education fcticket information.

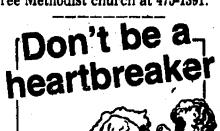

The Song Sisters, Julie Austin and Chris Barton, perform traditional and original children's music. Their vocal selections are accompanied by a variety of musical instruments including the guitar, recorder, and the dulcimer. The audience is actively encouraged to participate.

Chelsea Early Childhood C

was provided by "Aunt Flabby" (a.k.a. Rob Turner) who presented "herself" as a fitness and exercise "expert" and gave advice to all in regards to performance, technique and diet. What was actually gained from the talk was a good laugh.

On a more serious note, Pat Musolf of Chelsea, gave a very personal and inspiring talk entitled "The God of the Second Chance." She shared how God has changed her life and given her a new start in spite of critical illness and wrong decisions made.

She gave much honor to God for his love, grace and mercy to her and challenged her listeners to trust Him for the same in their lives. The audience gave Patty a standing ovation! Fitness classes are now being held daily, both mornings and evenings. The classes are free and chlid care is available at each class. For more information, please call the Chelsea Free Methodist church at 475-1391.

Chelsea Village Council Proceedings

Regular Meeting.

Tuesday, October 27, 1992 The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Steele. Present: President Steele, Deputy Clerk Beeman, Village Manager Myers, Assistant Village Manager Kuehn.

Trustees Present: Dorer, Kanten, Merkel and Cashman.

Absent: Hammer.

Other Present: B. Altenberndt, G. Widmayer, L. McDougal, I. Picklesimer, C. Woodruff, C. Clouse, B. Hamilton and M. Wonderly.

The first order of business was public participation and there was none. Motion by Kanten, supported by Dorer, to approve the Consent Agenda. All Ayes. Absent Hammer. Motion carried.

President Steele asked for Department or Commission Head Reports. Cecil Clouse gave an update on the Recycling Authority building progress. Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority meeting is October 28, 1992 at 7:30 p.m. at Manchester.

Village Manager Myers informed Council that our MUSTFA Claim had been settled and we are expecting to receive an approximate $300,000 reimbursement for clean-up at the North Street garage site.

Village Manager Myers has established a meeting with BFI representative along with the area townships to discuss the possibility of a transfer station at the Chelsea sanitary landfill site. This meeting is being scheduled for Wednesday. November 4th beginning at 4:30 p.m.

A letter from Village Attorney Peter Fintoft was distributed to Village Council stating his recommendation as to direction to take in handling of special land use permits for Chelsea Fairgrounds. Village Council agreed to take his recommendation and to meet with representatives from Village Council and the Fair Board regarding proposed zoning amendments. (Letter attached as Appendix A.)

Village President Steele suggested the name of Connie Woodruff to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Gary Bentley.

Motion by Kanten, supported by Dorer, to approve the appointment of Connie Woodruff. All Ayes. Absent: Hammer.

Deputy Clerk Beeman swore in Connie Woodruff as Village Trustee. Trustee Woodruff took her seat at the council bench.

Bids were received for trees at the sanitary landfill. These trees were to serve as a buffer between Werkner Road and the landfill. The following bids were received.

Motion by Kanten, supported by Merkel, to accept the bid of $2,948.00 from Skyhorse Station, Stockbridge, for the purchase of 67 trees to be planted at the Chelsea Landfill. All Ayes. Absent: Hammer. Motion carried. Bill Altenberndt and Gary Widmayer addressed Village Council with their request for Chelsea Amateur Radio Club to erect an antenna atop of the Village water tower. It was the consensus of Village Council that this would be permissible provided that Village employees did the installation of the tower due to liability.

Motion by Merkel, supported by Cashman, to approve the request from Chelsea Amateur Radio Club to erect an antenna atop of the Village water tower provided that it does not create other interaction with village radios and that Village Council make the final determination. All Ayes. Absent Hammer. Motion carried.

Request was made by Chelsea Milling for a zoning change on seven lots they own along North and Buchanan Streets from RS-2 (Single Family Residential) to I-1 (Industrial).

Motion by Merkel, supported by Dorer, to approve the zoning change for Chelsea Milling Company. All Ayes. Absent: Hammer. Motion carried.

Assistant Village Manager Kuehn explained to Council the desire of a village resident to vacate an unused alley between E. North Street and Railroad Streets.

BE IT RESOLVED AND IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED that the Village Council of the Village of Chelsea hereby considers it necessary and advisable to vacate, discontinue and abolish the alley in the Elisha Congdon's Addition (Block 7 and 8) to the Village of Chelsea, being approximately 35 feet wide and 1,742 feet long and running between North and Railroad Streets, Village of Chelsea.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Village Council of the Village of Chelsea hereby appoints the 10th day of November, 1992 at 7:30 o'clock in the evening at the Sylvan Township Hall as the time and place that it shall meet and hear objections to this resolution.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Clerk of the Village of Chelsea is hereby directed to give notice of said meeting in compliance with Act 287 of 1976, the Open Meetings Act.

Motion by Kanten, supported by Dorer, to adopt above resolution setting a public hearing for November 10, 1992 to hear objections to vacating alley between E. North and Railroad Streets. All Ayes. Absent: Hammer. Motion carried. Resolution adopted.

Motion by Kanten, supported by Cashman, to recess regular meeting until 8:30 p.m. All Ayes. Absent: Hammer. Motion carried. Meeting recessed at 8:15 p.m.

Village President Steelê recalled the meeting to order at 8:30 p.m.

Motion by Merkel, supported by Cashman, to adjourn to closed session. All Ayes. Absent: Hammer. Motion carried.

Motion by Kanten, supported by Cashman, to adjourn to regular session. All Ayes. Absent: Hammer. Motion carried.

Motion by Kanten, supported by Woodruff, to give our attorneys from Self-Risk Consolidated Insurance authority to negotiate a settlement in the Butler Litigation case. All Ayes. Absent: Hammer. Motion carried.

Motion by Kanten, supported by Cashman, to adjourn regular session at 8:40 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Russian Diplomat To Visit Chelsea Tuesday

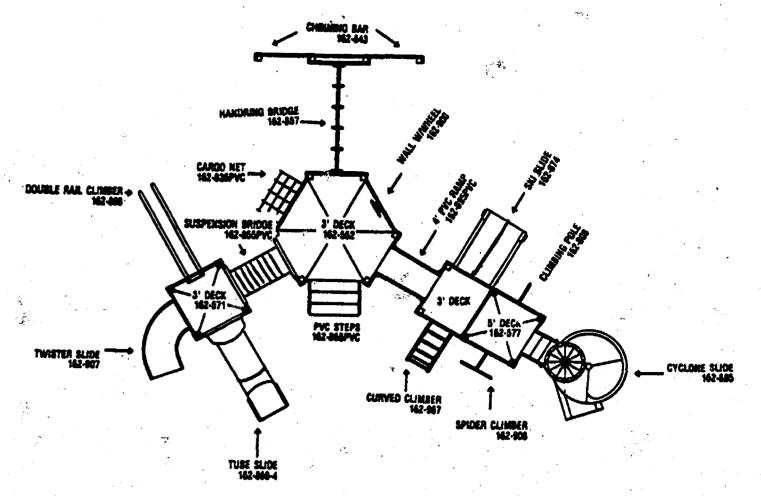

Students at Chelsea's Beach Middle school couldn't go to Russia to study post-Soviet Eurasia for their seventhgrade geography class, so Russia is coming to them.

Igor Goloubovsky, second secretary for the cultural group of the Embassy of the Russian Federation in Washington, D.C. will spend Tuesday, Nov. 24 in Chelsea talking to seventh-grade students about Russian culture and and the changes taking place there society, and the political and would be a challenge. economic changes that have taken place in his country since the end of the former Soviet Union.

Earlier this fall, Beach Middle school seventh-grade block teachers Jim Hoeft, Andrea Maines and Rahn Rosentreter spoke to parents at the Beach Open House about an upcoming unit on post Soviet Eurasia. Finding a way to provide accurate, up-to-date information about daily life in Russia

Parent Advisory Organization offered to locate recent information on Russian society and culture. The Russian Embassy in Washington, D.C. was contacted and asked if they could send a representative to visit the students. Mr. Goloubovsky, who speaks excellent English, accepted the invitation. NEW PLAYGROUND EQUIPMENT for Pierce Park mer long fund drive has netted the needed $15,000 and will be installed according to the above diagram. A sum-

Pierce Park Playground To Be Built

Thanks to generous responses from Chelsea area families, businesses, and service groups, new and safer play equipment will be built in Pierce Park. The village has also added a large sum to the fund and will provide workers for installation and maintenance.

The summer-long drive netted more than the $15,000 goal with hundreds of donations from $5 to $900. The campaign stressed community ownership, thus many Chelsea families contributed, recognizing the need for a playground that meets U.S. Consumer Safety Guidelines and the Americans With Disabilities Act.

The Americans With Disabilities Act of 1992 mandates that all playgrounds be accessible to children with special needs. This is interpreted to mean that the playground can be approached, accessed or entered, and at least parts of the structure used by the disabled.

The playground will include a sturdy, aesthetically pleasing structure with safe slides, suspension bridge, decks, and climping poles with a rull 12-inch protective surface. Attention to safety surface is important because 60% of injuries take place from falls to the surface. While not all injuries can be avoided, there are known, proven ways to reduce injury rate. The importance of safe play and good supervision can also not be underestimated. Older equipment lacks many of the safety features which will be incorporated in the new park, including slides which make children sit to descend with adequate safety platforms at the top.

Attention to areas for older and smaller children is important. Older equipment also has many areas where small fingers and necks can be trapped. Some of the park's older equipment will need to be removed.

Bucket seats for younger children, new swings for older children, and a therapeutic seat for children with special needs will be included. The previous swing set needed to be removed because of deterioriating metal poles. Sand scoops may be included, depending on final estimates. The playground may still be able to be built by mid-December depending on weather conditions, approval schedules, and shipping. Miracle Equipment has a tradition of dependability and safety utilizing recycled plastic and metal.

The project could be viewed as the start of updating Chelsea's parks. The scope of the project was limited compared to surrounding structures. Dexter opened a structure this year which cost $70,000 in materials with citizens doing the building. Development of a more extensive playground requiring a larger space may be included in the plans for Chelsea's northside Veteran's Park and recreation facilities.

Donations are still very welcome. A plaque in the park will list contributors. Any size donation is appreciated and may be mailed to "Pierce Park Playgound," P.O. Box 475, Chelsea 48118.
