BOY SCOUT TROOP 425 representatives were present at Monday's Kiwanis Club meeting to accept funding for their charter renewal from the club which has sponsored the troop for many years. Club secretary Ray Kemmer,

Manchester Boy Kills Girlfriend, Then Self

A 13-year-old Sharon township girl was shot and killed as she slept in her bed last Tuesday, Feb. 23.

And a short time later, her 17-year-old boyfriend was found shot to death in his van, apparently of a self-inflicted wound.

The girl, Greta Slusher, a cheerleader and student at Manchester Middle school, and her boyfriend, Jason Briggs, a senior at Manchester High school, were apparently involved in an abusive relationship. Slusher had told police that Briggs, on Feb. 13, had tried to choke her until she passed out and had threatened to kill them both so "we could be together forever."

On Monday, Feb. 22, as a result of an investigation by Michigan State Police, charges of kidnapping and assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder were authorized against Briggs by Washtenaw County Prosecutor Brian Mackie. The paperwork was merely awaiting a judge's signature before Briggs would have been taken into custody, said Lt. R.J. Smith of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

According to police, Briggs and Slusher were watching videos at the home of Chris Petersen, 22, the boyfriend of Sandy Briggs, Jason Briggs' sister.

Later, when Petersen and Briggs were driving with the younger couple, who were in the back seat, through Lenawee county, Briggs apparently tried to choke Slusher until she passed out. Her face was covered by red blotches, perhaps from the choking, police said.

Sandy Briggs apparently thought the couple might have been kissing as music in the front seat apparently helped conceal the violence.

Police said that after Jason Briggs and Slusher were dropped off at Slusher's house, Briggs again began to choke her. She got away by telling him she would go inside and get him a blanket so he could sleep in the barn. Someone called the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department but when the deputy arrived he was told only of the incident in Lenawee county, not of the second incident. Lenawee County Sheriff's Department was notified and arrangements were made to see a Lenawee deputy later that day. In the meantime, a Washtenaw deputy escorted Briggs off the property.

When it was discovered assaults took place in two counties, Michigan State Police took over.

State police interviewed both Briggs (Continued on page six)

Council Approves $1.89 Million Budget

Village of Chelsea's 1993-94 general fund budget of $1,895,887 was unanimously approved by village council after a short public hearing last Tuesday.

For the second year in a row, former Chelsea businessman Luther Kusterer was the only person to ask any questions.

The budget estimates that the village will receive $960,000 from property taxes. Village manager Jack Myers said he had to lower the amount he expected from the state, to $310,000, because two payments have been pushed back.

Village operating millage is scheduled to remain at 10.94 mills.

The budget includes five percent pay raises for non-union employees. New salaries include Myers, $47,011; administrative assistant Barbara Fredette, $32,934; police chief Lenard McDougall, $42,738; electric department superintendent Robert Shepard, $40,425; water superintendent Dan Rosentreter, $31,500; wastewater plant supervisor Mel Leach, $40,493; public works superintendent Dave Bulson, $37,019; and landfill supervisor Cecil Clouse, $36,285.

Village Voters To Name Four Council Trustees In Monday Elections

Chelsea village voters will go to the polls Monday to elect four village council trustees, a clerk, an assessor, and two members of the McKune Memorial Library Board.

The only contests are for the council positions. All other candidates are running unopposed.

In the council races, two candidates are running for a one-year position and four candidates are running for three two-year seats. The one-year seat became available due to the resignation of Gary Bentley early in his term. The first year was filled by Connie Woodruff, who was appointed by council. Village charter calls for the seat to be filled at the next regular village election. Woodruff has chosen not to run again.

Candidates for the one year seat are Richard Rigg, 143 E. Middle St., an engineer at Chrysler Proving Grounds, and Jon Veurink, 18

Chestnut St., a certified public accountant for Deloitte & Touche.

Rigg ran unsuccessfully for council several years ago, but he has served on the Manchester Village council.

Veurink has never run for office here, but served as a precinct delegate for Washtenaw County Republican party from 1990-92.

Candidates for the two year seats include incumbents Stephanie Kanten, Tom Dorer, and Brian Cashman, and challenger Steven Daut.

Kanten, 560 Chandler St., is a Dexter school teacher. She has served on council, although not continuously, for 12 years.

Dorer, 777 N. Freer Rd., a plumber for John E. Green Co., was initially appointed to council three years ago, then ran for election unopposed two years ago.

Cashman, 449 Railroad St., a manager in the information technology division at the University of Michigan, ran unsuccessfully for council last year, but was later appointed to fill out the remaining year of Allen Anderson's term after Anderson moved out of the state.

Daut, of 16 Chestnut St. and Veurink's next-door neighbor, is an environmental consultant and technical writer. He's never held an elected office.

In the uncontested races for two-year terms, clerk Suzanne Morrison and assessor Rosemary Harook are seeking those seats again. Incumbent library board members Anne Belser and Susan Walters are seeking three-year terms.

Village elections are non-partisan. Polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at Sylvan Township Hall on W. Middle St.

WISD Election Proposes Additional 1.45 Mills For Special Education

A special election on a proposed 1.45 mills for the Washtenaw Intermediate School District (WISD) will be held next Tuesday, March 9 throughout the county.

The millage proposal is for five years and money would be used for special education programs, which are co-ordinated through WISD.

Programs for students with severe disabilities, which are conducted at WISD's High Point Center, would continue to be funded from WISD's current 3.5 mills (rolled back to 3.14 by the Headlee Amendment). The new millage would be re-imposed to local districts for their own special education programs. Those programs include children with learning disabilities, emotional impairments, speech and language problems, and those who need social workers, psychologists, occupational therapists, or an array of other specialists.

Special education is a co-operative, county-wide program.

A similar millage proposal was voted down last spring, although it was proposed as a charter millage, which means it would have been levied indefinitely. At that time, WISD officials maintained that by law they were only allowed to seek charter millages. Since then, they have received different legal advice.

The millage is being proposed because state support for state-mandated special education programs, as a percentage of cost, is declining. Although the actual number of dollars is projected to stay the same, costs are skyrocketing, primarily because the number of students is increasing dramatically.

If the millage is defeated, local school districts will be forced to make up the additional expense out of their general funds. By law, special education programs have to be funded.

Enrollment in special education programs has increased nearly 20 percent over the last six years, to 5,079 students, the current enrollment. Approximately 12 percent of the entire student population is enrolled in some kind of special education program. This year, Chelsea has 258 special education students, while Dexter has 229.

WISD reimburses local districts. Without additional millage, WISD reimbursement is projected to drop from 41.4 percent this year to 19 percent in 1996-97. With the millage, WISD funding over the next five years is projected to hold steady at about 67 percent, according to WISD figures.

The millage turns out to be a better deal for in-formula districts than out-of-formula districts. Chelsea, an out-of-formula district with 3.44 percent of the SEV in the county, would get back 5.39 percent of the funds from the millage in the first year. Dexter, another out-of-formula district, has 5.4 percent of the SEV, but would get back 4.68 percent of the money. The biggest loser appears to be Ann Arbor, which has 57.35 percent of the SEV but would get back 39 percent of the money in the first year.

A portion of the millage money will be invested so that WISD's reimbursement rate can stay level over the five years of the millage.

On the other side, Ypsilanti, an in-formula district, has 8.48 percent of the SEV but would get back 18.87 percent of the money; Willow Run, which has 3.65 percent of the SEV would get back 10.46 percent of the money; Lincoln, which has 4.37 percent of the SEV would get back 6.79 percent of the money; and Milan, which has 3.26 percent of the SEV would get back 3.74 percent.

The problem is, average special education costs per student are about the same from district to district and WISD reimburses each district the same percentage of its actual costs. But in-formula districts, by definition, have a lower tax base per student than out-of-formula districts, which means they collect less tax money per

Village Gives Up On Uncollectible Utility Bills

Village of Chelsea has written off $16,458.92 in uncollectible utility bills following action by village council last week.

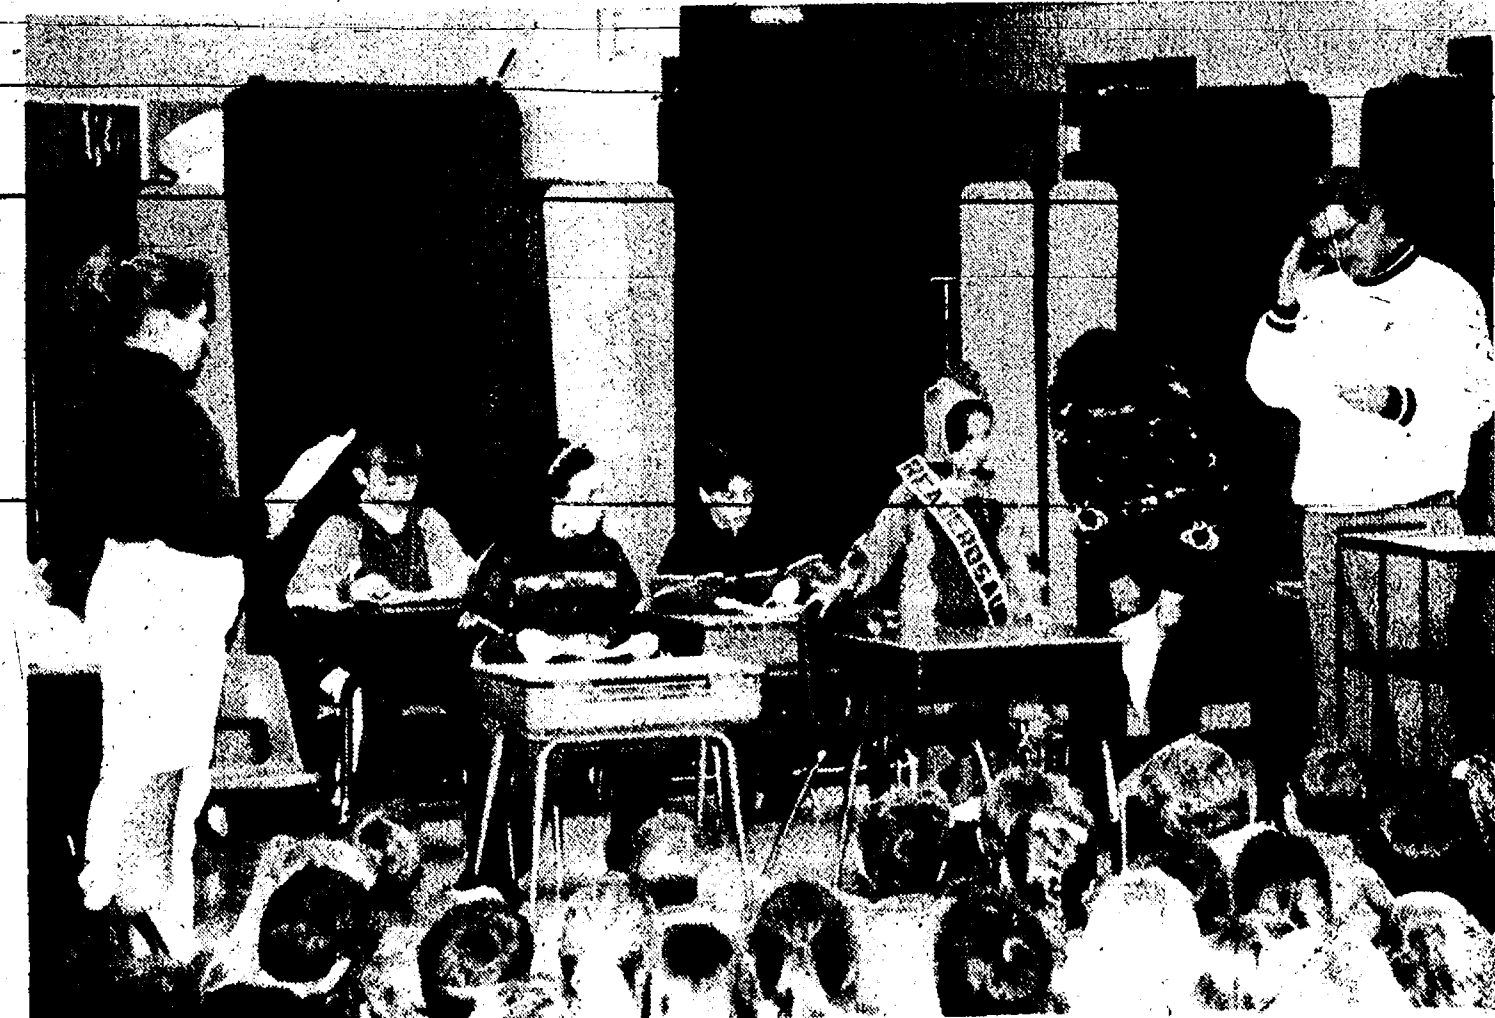

The 15 bills go back as far as 1987 and range in amounts from $4.65 to $9,826.10. They include five bankruptcies, two deceased customers, and eight customers the village and/or its collection agency couldn't locate.

Auditors advised the village to write off the bad debts.

Next Council Meeting Moved

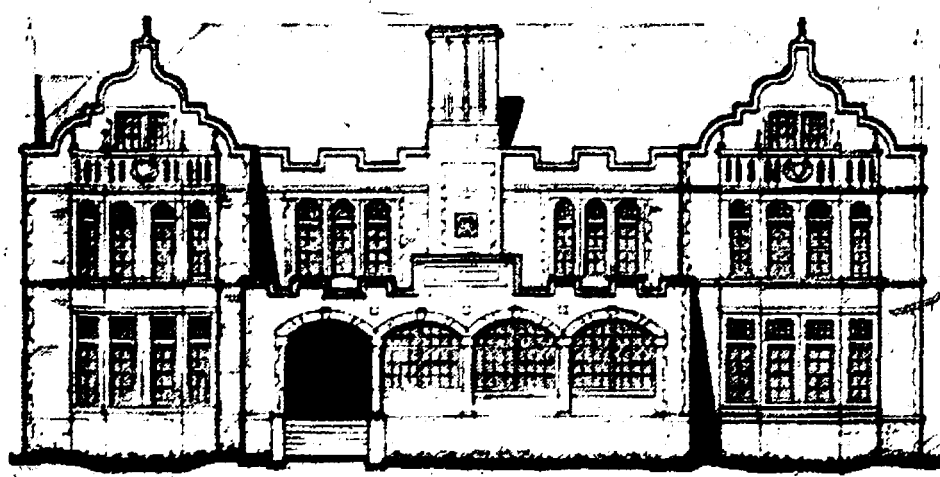

The regular Chelsea Village Council meeting of Tuesday, March 9 has been moved to the Chelsea Depot.

Sylvan township officials will be using the regular site, Sylvan Township Hall, for their board of review. Meeting time is at 7:30 p.m.

MARCH IS READING MONTH, an annual event at both North and South Elementary schools, got underway this week. Children seek pledges for every book they read during the month and the proceeds go to the Multiple Sclerosis Society. Last week, North school children presented a play called "Readersaurus" to get kids in the spirit. The play details how children teach their new classmate, a dinosaur, how to read. Children, from left, are Lindsey Powers (standing), Shawn Dyer, Kara Buntton, John Baird, readersaurus Leah Gerstenlauer, reading teacher Sandy Hamilton, and principal Bill Wescott. Last year both North and South school finished among the top 10 fundraisers in the state.

Wednesday, March 8, 1989—Mike Kennedy will have his Village Mall finished by summer if no more obstacles are thrown in his way. Chelsea Village Planning Commission approved Kennedy's plans for a temporary stormwater run-off system to service the 41,000-square-foot mall next to Polly's Market.

A light turnout is expected as village voters go to the polls Monday to decide whether or not to ouster one of three village trustees. Incumbents Stephanie Kanten, Richard Steele and Dennis Hall face a challenge by former village president Charles Ritter. It's the only contested position on a short ballot.

Chelsea School District officials are withholding judgment on the proposed Oxbender-Nye School Financing Program that may be passed by the state legislature this week. The idea of the plan is to redistribute tax money so that poorer districts would get more money.

The congregation, friends and family of Margaret Warren will recognize her as one of Covenant's distinguished senior citizens this Sunday during worship service. She is a life-time resident of the Chelsea area and has lived for many years on Congdon St.

Village of Chelsea has filed nine misdemeanor complaints against developer Rene Papo in connection with the filling in of a pond near Polly's Market off M-52.

Mike Gaken, 175-pounds, and Kerry Kargel, 145-pounds, became Chelsea's first state champions at the class B state wrestling tournament last week in Okemos. They are the first wrestlers from this conference to take state titles, and together they were the fourth place team in the tournament. Kargel finished the season with a 33-0 record. Gaken was 32-1, and set a new school record for number of pins in a season.

Two village charter amendments were approved in Monday's election of an uncontested slate of officers. One provides for two-year terms for village president, clerk and treasurer. The other exempts village candidates from the 1966 state law requiring township, county and state candidates to file petitions under a national party. Now village candidates may be nominated by a caucus of their own party, which may be formed by 10 registered voters.

★ Recycling Makes Sense—Sometimes

By Lawrence W. Reed

If there's a buzzword in the business of managing America's solid waste problem, surely it is "recycling." At times the term seems to have taken on an almost religious meaning, with the faithful assuming that "disposable" is bad and "recycling" is good by definition.

A recent task force report from The Mackinac Center for Public Policy argues from a different perspective, namely, that sometimes recycling makes sense—and sometimes it doesn't. In the legislative rush to pass recycling mandates, states and localities should pause to consider both the science and the economics of every proposition. Often, bad ideas are worse than none at all and can produce counterproductive effects if they are enshrined in law.

Accordingly, the federal Office of Technology Assessment warns against legislative "quick fixes" and even rigid application of its own waste management recommendations. "Mandatory recycling approaches should be undertaken only after the full range of social and economic costs are clearly understood," says OTA. Simply demanding that something be recycled can be disruptive of markets and is no guarantee that in fact recycling—which makes either economic or environmental sense will occur.

One area where recycling plainly works is in the disposal of aluminum cans. Since the process requires 10 percent less energy than transforming bauxite into aluminum, it pays for producers to use recycled cans. Hence, a market has spontaneously developed for these cans and market incentives encourage entrepreneurs to find efficient ways to collect them.

One area where recycling doesn't make sense is in the disposal of juice containers used principally by school children. Aseptic (disposable) packages such as those small juice boxes have been banned in Maine and are a frequent target of the more extreme environmentalists. But as our study strongly suggests, this may not be the way to go. Consider these factors:

• Filling disposable boxes requires about half as much energy as filling the supposedly preferable alternative, glass bottles.

• For a given beverage volume, transporting empty glass bottles requires 15 times as many trucks as the empty boxes—thus using more fuel and causing more air pollution.

• Because the end product is lightweight, small and rectangular, the filled boxes can be transported more efficiently than full glass bottles—using 35 percent less energy.

• And since aseptic boxes are the only containers which do not require refrigeration, they do not contribute to CFC production, a byproduct of conventional refrigerants and which some environmentalists claim is a threat to the earth's ozone layer.

A number of states have threatened to ban disposable diapers as a way to encourage the use (and recycling) of cloth diapers. Studies show, however, that when all environmental effects are considered, cloth has no clear advantage over disposables. In California and other western states where there is relatively abundant landfill space and a shortage of water, the case of disposables is actually quite strong. Residents of those states who avoid them and wash cloth diapers with scarce water may actually be doing harm to the environment.

Several cities, including Portland, Ore., and Newark, N.J., have essentially banned polystyrene food packages. That's what McDonald's used to put its burgers in until it was pressured into switching to paperboard containers. The average American thinks these efforts are positive for the environment because they will somehow promote recycling. They also believe that because paper is "biodegradable" and polystyrene is not, the switch will reduce the need for landfills. The truth of the matter is more complicated than that.

Polystyrene, it so happens, is completely recyclable, which isn't always true of the paper used in, say, drinking cups. And those paper cups, by the way cost the consumer about 2½ times as much as polystyrene.

Studies also show that production of the old polystyrene McDonald's hamburger shell actually used 30 percent less energy than paperboard and resulted in 46 percent less air pollution and 42 percent less water pollution. The average 10-gram paper cup consumes 33 grams of wood and uses 28 percent more petroleum in its manufacture than the entire input of a polystyrene cup.

Furthermore, the paper cup requires 36 times more chemical input (partly because it weighs seven times as much) and takes about 12 times as much steam, 36 times as much electricity and twice as much cooling water to make, compared to its polystyrene counterpart. And, about 580 times as much waste water, 10 to 100 times the residual effluents of pollutants and three times the air emission pollutants are produced in making the paper cup.

Managing solid waste disposal requires a mix of policies and practices, from the use of incinerators to state-of-the-art, environmentally safe landfills to composting. Recycling can play an important and constructive role in that mix, provided that it is based on good science and sound economics, not emotions.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle opened the session at the country store Saturday night with one of the strangest clips he has ever pulled out of his shirt pocket. He told the fellows it said that you can go to the Bestseller Section of book stores in a growing number of big cities around the country and rent books for three nights, just like you would a video movie overnight. Ain't progress wonderful, Ed ask, and have we come full circle in one little corner of our culture, or what?

The piece told how book sellers saw a gap in the market and they are filling it. Readers that want to be able to talk new books with their friends don't want to wait for 200 other people to read and return the public library's 10 copies. They don't see the need to spend $25 a novel they'll go through in a week and that won't impress their friends on the bookshelf. So they rent books for the same reason they rent Lincoln Town Cars at the airport when they fly across the country for their college reunions.

Maybe, Ed said, this miracle has somepun to do with all the hoopla about baby boomers that are hitting 50 and getting hit between the eyes with reality. Them that are talking the loudest and writing the most are boomers, so this silly exercise feeds on itself, was Ed's words.

But, Ed went on, now that we got a Rhodes Scholar boomer in the White House, reading might be took serious and it could even spread to school children. In education everything that goes around comes around. Ed went on, and when we got a whole generation that can program VCRs and run computer games, but can't read driver ed manuals we have reached a big turn in the road.

The fellows were agreed that Ed's item could be took as a good sign, but Bug Hookum was of a mind that we ought not to read much hope in it. For one reason, Bug said, we are being squeezed between computer technology and language that is riddled with jargon. We're building a high tech Tower of Babbie, he went on, to where we can't communicate at all.

Bug had saw a piece in one of his farm journals recent where an agriculture economist lamented that this country is "suffering occupational obsolescence, complicated by technological surplusage." He said he copied it down and he's been trying to figure out what it means.

Clem Webster said he read the same item and he took the high falutin language to say we're running out of job skills because our technology is running way ahead of us. Practical speaking, Clem said it ain't the surplusage of technology that's plowing us under, it's how we choose to use it. For instant, he said we got the technology to get serious about cleaning up our air and water, but we don't have the will to do it. Industries know how to stop polluting, Clem said, but they won't as long as we got Government policy that encourage pollution by letting plans with clean operations build up pollution credits and sell them to plants that need em.

If the Clinton people make any headway, Clem said, they got to rework the system where the right hand at EPA has some idee the left hand at Commerce is doing. Right now, everybody operates on the Agriculture-Health plan, where one promotes tobacco and the other fights it.

Yours truly,

Uncle Lew.

Bridge Marathon Will Meet Sunday

The February meeting of the Couples (Pairs) Bridge Marathon for the benefit of the Chelsea Community Hospital was held in the Woodlands Room of the Hospital on Sunday evening, Feb. 7 at 6 p.m.

Winners for the evening's play were Addie and Ernie Laetz, of Ann Arbor, with a total of 5,888 for the 20 hands played; Steve and Donna Dotson, of Chelsea, were second with a score of 4,860; and in third place were Daria and John Bohlender, of Chelsea, with a score of 4,100.

Approximately the same format is being followed as in the past except that this year it will take four, rather than five, times to qualify for year-end

Basket Weaving Lesson Presented to Lima Extension Group

Spring-flowering plants decorating the tables were warm greeters Feb. 17, 10:30 a.m., as 13 Lima Extension ladies came shivering into Lima Hall from the cold and snow of a Michigan winter!

Glue guns and paper twist were getting readied by Fran Coy and Peg Gould as Paper Twist baskets were the lesson for the day. Grocery bags for the base were a surprise plus a good recycle use of these bags.

The making of green, blue and violet baskets was called to a halt by hostesses Margaret Sias and Jane Schairer as the buffet pot-luck was waiting. The delicious variety of foods as always was graciously disappearing as Margaret Sias asked for volunteers to deliver the flowering plants to members who are ill and are not in attendance for the day.

During the business meeting brought to order by Mary Ann Burgess, Jane McCalla decorated a table with bright colored place mats and plants and myan crafts. As chairman for this project she reminded the Lima group that they host the County Foods and People lesson on Belize, Feb. 22, 11:30 a.m., at the County Extension Office. The foods and drink not being supplied by other county groups were divided up to participating members of this group.

March 30, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. is Jackson County Mini-College Day. Registration fee of $7 is due by March 19th. Lima Extension can register March 10 at their March meeting. Host home is Fran Coy. A Weight Management lesson by Barb Edict is set for 10:30 a.m. Pot-luck as usual.

HISTORICAL CHELSEA COLLECTIBLE ORNAMENTS

McKUNE HOUSE

One in a series of 24K gold finish on solid brass ornaments which will be a treasure for years to come.

$12.00

The McKune house was built in 1850 by Elisha Congdon on the site of the first residence in Chelsea. The original house had been built about 1832 but was moved to another site on Main Street to make way for a second structure. However, the second house burned to the ground, and the present edifice was built. By 1860 the building was bought by Timothy McKune and turned into a fashionable inn. In 1958, his heirs donated the building to the Village of Chelsea to be used as the public library.

Great Lakes Bancorp Calendar Benefits Charity

Sales from Great Lakes Bancorp's annual calendar earned dollars for charity this winter, with proceeds benefitting the Faith in Action program. This year the Great Lakes Collection calendar carried a small price tag for the first time. The calendar has been a popular give-away for bank customers for the past 10 years. "We wanted to use the tremendous popularity of the calendar for a good cause, to generate funds for local non-profit organizations," said Chelsea branch manager Will Susan. "And

The money from calendar sales was presented to Faith in Action, a church-sponsored assistance program supplying food and clothing to individuals and families in need. The Great Lakes Collection calendar features seasonal photos taken in the Upper Peninsula and around the Michigan shorelines of the Great Lakes. Thirteen scenes are selected each year from hundreds of slides submitted by area photographers.

although the donation was voluntary and many could have refused to pay, the response was generous."

"He who lives without folly is not so wise as he thinks."
—La Rochefoucauld

Nobody is perfect. We all have made mistakes and will make more, unless we stop doing anything at all. If anyone claims that he "commits no folly" he is confessing that he doesn't accomplish much, either.

The danger is not that we will make errors. They are to be expected and reasonable people will think no less of us because we err. But if fears of "committing folly" keeps us from using our abilities to best advantage, we may make no mistakes but neither are we very wise.

Just as you carefully select an attorney and doctor in advance of need, it is equally wise to choose your funeral director. We invite you to have a "get acquainted" discussion with us at your convenience.

Economic Census Helps Spot Changes in Business

The Census Bureau reports responses to the 1992 Economic Census are coming in from all parts of the country. Every five years, the Economic Census helps researchers—in business, universities, and government—spot trends and pinpoint changes in the evolving American economy.

Tracing its origin to the first census of manufacturers in 1810, the Economic Census has covered most of the economy on a consistent basis since the 1950s. Because millions of businesses are counted, the census provides details that are available nowhere else.

Here are a few examples of what recent censuses have revealed:

- About one in seven manufacturing jobs were related to exports in 1987. The largest number of export-related jobs were in electronic equipment and computers.
- Fast food places are outpacing other kinds of eateries. In 1987, fast food outlets accounted for 41 percent of sales at all eating places—up from just 29 percent in 1972.
- Cellular telephone service is surging. Between 1989 and 1990 revenues were up 18 percent, compared to growth of just one percent for all telephone industry revenues.
- Lumber and building material retailers are growing, but not because of construction. These stores sell a wider variety of merchandise than ever before. Hardware, garden supplies, and other non-lumber merchandise accounted for less than 16 percent of their sales in 1972. By 1987 these products had jumped above 36 percent of sales.
- Video-tape-rental stores had $2.7 billion in revenues in 1987, at 16,824 locations nationwide. The industry is so new that it was not measured in 1982. Drive-in theaters are declining in number—there were less than 1,000 in 1987.
- Temporary employment agencies came on strong in the 1980s. Their revenues more than tripled from 1982 to 1987.
- When census results are published, figures like these will be available for the nation, states, metropolitan areas, counties and places. Selected statistics will even be released for more than 30,000 ZIP Codes.

Results of the 1992 Economic Census will be published in more than 500 printed reports and in computer formats, including CD-ROM. Both printed reports and CD-ROMs will be available in thousands of libraries across the nation, or may be purchased inexpensively from the Government Printing Office.

World History Added To Required List

World history has been added as one of the required courses for Chelsea High school students. The change will affect the class of 1997, this year's eighth graders.

Students will be required to take world history, government, and student. The extra money comes from out-of-formula districts.

For example, the new millage would give Chelsea schools an additional $315,465 next year, (with additional money invested for later reimbursement) rising to $703,884 in 1997-98. However, if the district were to levy the millage itself, it would receive nearly $444,000 the first year. Chelsea district would be subsidizing other districts because it is involved in a county-wide program.

Chelsea Board of Education voted 5-2 not to support the WISD proposal, although Dexter Board of Education officially supported it.

However, Chelsea board Anne Comeau is an enthusiastic supporter.

"It is absolutely vital to special education programs," she says.

"As a group we can provide many of the services and equipment much more economically than we can by ourselves."

Last year when WISD made its initial proposal, Chelsea school board promised to roll back the local millage .5 mills if the local millage passed (and it did) as well as the WISD millage.

This year, however, there is apparently no such guarantee.

Assistant superintendent Fred Mills said it's possible millage may be rolled back, but "we don't know what the state is going to do yet," regarding the many proposed tax cut and/or school funding plans.

The millage would boost WISD's total authorized millage to 4.95 mills.

and Slusher, who were ordered to stay away from each other. Briggs was released.

According to state police trooper Byron Erikson, Briggs appeared remorseful and had co-operated with police.

Lenawee county prosecutor's office was considering attempted murder charges when the murder-suicide occurred.

Briggs had apparently stood outside Slusher's window and fired a shotgun blast into her head. A short time later he parked his van in a friend's driveway and shot himself in the head.

Police said Briggs had suspected Slusher was dating other boys and had become extremely possessive. He admitted as much in his interview with police.

Forum Slated on Child Sexual Abuse

A forum on child sexual molestation will be held on Monday, March 8 at 7 p.m. at the Manchester American Legion Hall on Adrian St.

Called a "community awareness meeting" by organizer Jayne Long, the program will have a number of speakers who have various kinds of experience with child sexual molestation cases, including at least two who have been directly connected with two cases involving charges against an assistant pastor and a deacon at North Sharon Baptist church.

Speakers include Washtenaw County Prosecuting Attorney Brian Mackie, Sgt. Norm Maxwell and Sgt. Dana McKee of the Michigan State Police, Saline Police Chief Jim Douglas, Mike Murphy and Gretchen Rooster of the Community Health Center, Terese Dowd of the Assault Crisis Center, Joyce Dorado, a counselor at the University Center for Child and Family, and Linda Medbury of Whitmore Lake, mother of a molestation victim whose case was prosecuted.

There may also be representatives from the governor's office and the parole review board.

According to Long, statistics show that one of three girls and one of six boys will be molested; the average pedophile as 87 victims; conviction rate of child molesters is three percent; and confessions don't bring convictions.

Traffic Controls Will Be Changed at Busy Intersection

Washtenaw County Road Commission will be making changes at the intersection of Dexter-Pinckney Rd. at Island Lake Rd., located west of the village of Dexter in Webster township.

This 2-way stop controlled intersection will soon become a 3-way stop intersection. Currently, the north and west legs of the intersection stop for traffic travelling from the east.

The traffic operations at the intersection will be upgraded to multiway (3-way) stop control. The Road Commission will install double STOP AHEAD and STOP signs on the westbound leg of the intersection, with the installation of double flashing beacons to follow sometime this summer.

Extension Service Offers Workshop on Values, Public Issues

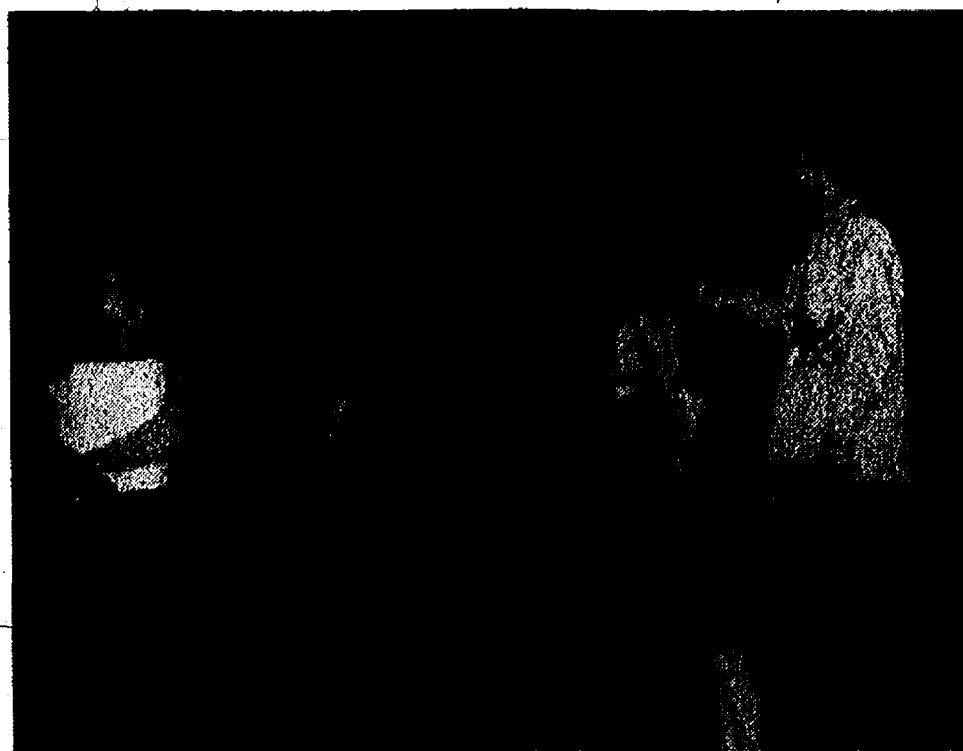

On Tuesday, March 9, the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service will be offering a workshop on "Our Values and Public Issues."

This program will analyze a community public policy issue in a way that will help participants better understand the essential characteristics of connecting choices to what people value as deepest motivations. Small and large group exercises will be used.

The program will take place at the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service (county service center) 4133 Washtenaw Ave., Ann Arbor.

Pre-registration is required by March 15, by calling 313-971-0079.

Retail food prices rose less than three percent in 1991, about half of the 1990 increase of 5.8 percent. Economists say prices were held down by record supplies of meat and a drop in disposable income. Grocery store sales declined about one percent last year.

They are preparing for "RE-CAP 1993" with numbers from each of the 24 musicals they have presented in the past 20 years. NEW YEAR'S DAY CUT-OUTS are sold on the streets throughout China as the holiday approaches. Every home and shop is decorated with the bright red couplets wishing everyone a hope for wealth and success in the new year and a long life.

Chinese New Year Is Most Important Holiday of the Year

Dear friends,
Spring Festival, the largest and most important holiday in China, is over. Spring Festival celebrates the coming of the lunar New Year. I was fortunate to celebrate this holiday in the home of a Chinese family I have come to be very close to and thus see first-hand how a traditional New Year is "done."

This year the New Year was celebrated on Jan. 23. But the holiday starts on the eve, and what an eve it is! Chinese television offers the very best variety shows from 7 in the evening until close to 1 a.m. and the whole family looks forward to the dazzling entertainment offered—that is, when you can hear it. Because outside the house the whole nation appears to be engulfed in war. Deafening rounds of firecrackers—shooting away like machine guns, booms of large rockets that sound like bombs exploding, and showers of color light up the sky so intensely that you can easily read a newspaper anywhere outside. Why so much firepower? Firecrackers are traditionally believed to have the power to chase out evil and herald good luck. The noise is loudest at the stroke of midnight, at the exact same time that families all over China are sitting down to the traditional meal of steamed dumplings.

Another traditional meal served on New Year's Eve is fish. When you say the Chinese word for fish, "yu," it sounds the same as another Chinese word meaning "more than enough"—these words were often used by people when times were rough to signify that change was on the way. Good times were just around the corner. Thus, another part of the celebration is pasting cutouts of red fish in your window or on your door.

Red couplets are found on almost all Chinese homes and in shop windows. The couplets wish all a happy New Year, hope for wealth and success in the coming year, and for a happy long life. I can't tell you how cheering it is to see these bright red and sometimes gold banners waving all over the cities and villages.

But back to the firecrackers. The firecrackers don't cease fire until after the first 15 days of the New Year, and legend had it that there was once a monster called "Nian" who was so evil that he destroyed everything 365 days a year. A trouble bad-guy.

Well, quite by accident a young boy discovered that the monster was afraid of loud sounds and bright red color. And, as they say, the rest is history.

Another feature of New Year's Eve is the giving of money. I was given 10 yuan (Chinese dollars) by Mrs. Zhang. As was each member of her family. According to her, if you receive money now, you will happily receive it all year. Good thought. Mom, please send money. Consider it an investment!

Anyway, about 2 a.m. we all happily crawled into bed and I personally prepared for a nice long sleep. Wrong! At close to 6 a.m. another huge explosion of firepower sounded off, and continued to sound off for most of the early morning. Seems you have to usher in the morning with an open-fire also. The day is filled with eating, almost constantly, watching more television, and having guests pop in to wish you a Happy New Year. Drinks flow freely and the Chinese have a favorite beverage called motai that is so powerful I wouldn't want to light a match anywhere in the area of it. By the time I waddled off to bed—stuffed with food, seeing double or triple thanks to the motai, I felt I had truly been baptized as a Chinese—by all kinds of firepower!

Before I close, I'd like to extend a heartfelt thanks to all the good people of Dexter who had a hand in sending books to my students. We should be getting them in 2 to 3 months. We are all grateful, excited, and I am extremely proud of how my hometown came through. Thanks Dexter!

Mary Ellen Mynning.

SPRING FESTIVAL TREATS are displayed and sold in shops in preparation for the holiday feast. These treats are made of haws, seeds, dates and cherries.

HOST for Mary Ellen Mynning at the Spring Festival New Year celebration was busy making the dough for the traditional meal of steamed dumplings.

Bulletin Can Help To Identify Trees

Can you tell a pine from a poplar? Of course. Well, how about a pine from a spruce? Or a white oak from a red oak? Or a beech from a birch?

Becoming acquainted with some of the more common trees in the state can add to your enjoyment of Michigan's forests and landscapes. Anyone interested in tree identification will want a copy of "Identifying Trees of Michigan," a new bulletin from Michigan State University Extension.

The bulletin includes an identification key and detailed illustrations of the characteristics used in the key, as well as the leaves, fruits and twigs of 64 of Michigan's most important trees, from ash to black willow.

"Identifying Trees of Michigan" is available for 75 cents from your local county Co-operative Extension Service office, or from the MSU Bulletin Office, 10B Agriculture Hall, MSU, East Lansing 48824. Call the bulletin office at 517-355-0240 for information on how to order.

Nutrition scientists have found that extra vitamin E reduces the tissue-damaging oxygen radicals the body generates during exercise. It appears that vitamin E blunts the immune signals that trigger inflammation.

Bulldogs!

Indians Drop Bulldogs, But Chelsea Plays For SEC Title Friday

As Chelsea coach Robin Raymond predicted early in the season, the Southeastern Conference championship won't be decided until the last game of the season. His second place Bulldogs will go head-to-head with the league leading Pinckney Pirates in Pinckney.

The setting will be most appropriate. Chelsea (8-3) needs the victory over the Pirates (9-2) to win a share of the title.

Chelsea football fans will remember the last SEC game of the fall season when undefeated Chelsea traveled to once-beaten Pinckney. The Pirates needed the victory for a share of the title and seemingly had the game in hand before the Bulldogs rallied to force the game into overtime, where the Bulldogs won by an extra point.

Football players Christian Pleuss and Brian Carruthers are starters for the Pirates, and Tom Poulter, Colby Skelton, and Pat Steele start for the Bulldogs.

The Pirates should have even more motivation as they attempt to avenge an earlier loss to the Bulldogs in Chelsea.

"It should be a fast-paced game and will probably come down to their outside shooting versus our inside play," said Raymond.

"We have to stop them from penetrating. Dennis Douglas can take the ball to the hole and hopefully we can keep him on the outside. Once he gets inside he's an excellent passer."

Chelsea won the first match-up, 77-62, precisely because Douglas didn't run wild and the Bulldogs dominated the inside.

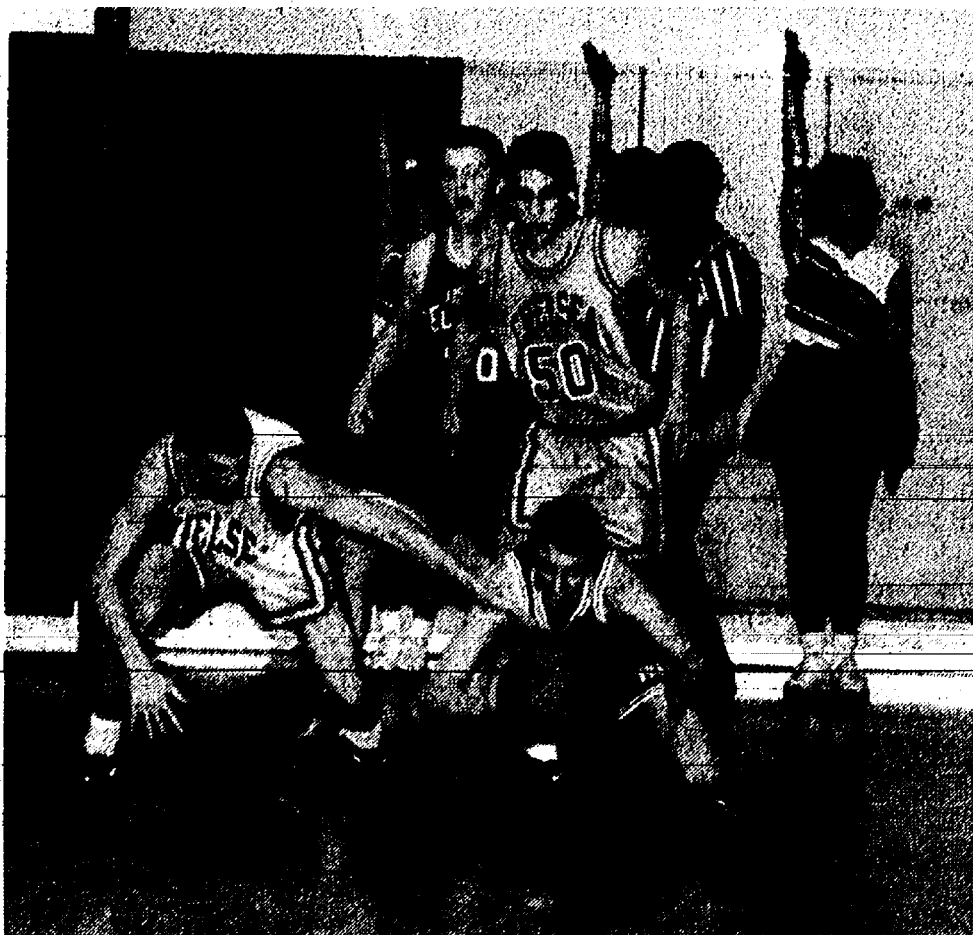

Last Friday at home the Bulldogs blew their chance to play for an outright title at Pinckney with a 65-58 loss to the Tecumseh Indians, while the Pirates defeated the Lincoln Railspitters. The Indians have the distinction of being the only team to knock off both Chelsea and Pinckney.

"We had our worst shooting percentage (34) of the season," Raymond said.

"They beat us inside the key, no question. It was just one of those nights when nothing went right. If we could have gotten the lead we could have done some things. But we were always playing catch-up. When they needed a big play, they made it."

The Bulldogs were down 32-24 at half-time but quickly cut the deficit to 34-32 as Poulter scored the first four points of the third quarter and Chris Dunham followed with four. The teams traded baskets twice before the Indians ran off six straight during a 10-2 run. By the end of the quarter Tecumseh led 48-38. Much of the final quarter was spent by both teams at the foul line and the Bulldogs could get no closer than seven points the rest of the way.

The Chelsea defense accomplished one mission—stopping sophomore center Brad Allen, who was held to four points. However, the Indians' other starting inside player, Brian COLBY SKELTON of Chelsea, left, dives for the ball during last Friday night's home game against the Tecumseh Indians. Chelsea lost the game, 65-58, as Bulldogs shooters went cold and the Indians dominated the inside.

Puffer, had one of the best nights of his career with 23 points and 12 rebounds and was just about unstoppable. He constantly had good rebound position.

Chelsea's free throw shooting, and Tecumseh's lack of it, kept the game as close as it was. The Bulldogs hit 15-16, while the Indians were 14-25.

Perhaps most indicative of Chelsea's play was a season-low of nine assists.

"We didn't play with a lot of patience," Raymond said.

Chelsea hit 20-59 shots from the field to Tecumseh's 25-44. The Bulldogs were also out-rebounded, 37-29, as they gave up nine offensive rebounds in the first half.

Bulldogs scorers were Poulter 16, Skelton 13, Steele 11, Nick McCalla 10, Chris Dunham 4, Dana Schmunk 2, and Aleksander Selmanovic 2.

In a non-conference game on Tuesday, Chelsea beat Jackson County Western 92-69.

Chelsea fell behind early, 22-14. However, once they began to show some patience against the Western trap and make the good passes, they took control of the game, Raymond said.

"Once we got the ball to the high post, we pretty much had our choice of shots," Raymond said.

Chelsea had five players in double figures. Bulldogs scorers included Skelton 19, Selmanovic 14, Steele 14, Poulter 13, Schmunk 12, Dunham 7, Cory Brown 5, Erik Brown 2, David Stimpson 2, Matt Seitz 2, and Ed Waller 2.

Chelsea shot an even 50 percent from the field at 36-72, and 82 percent from the line, 18-22.

The Bulldogs also dominated the glass, 44-28, as Schmunk had seven rebounds, McCalla six, and Selmanovic and Poulter five each.

Chelsea is 15-4 over-all.

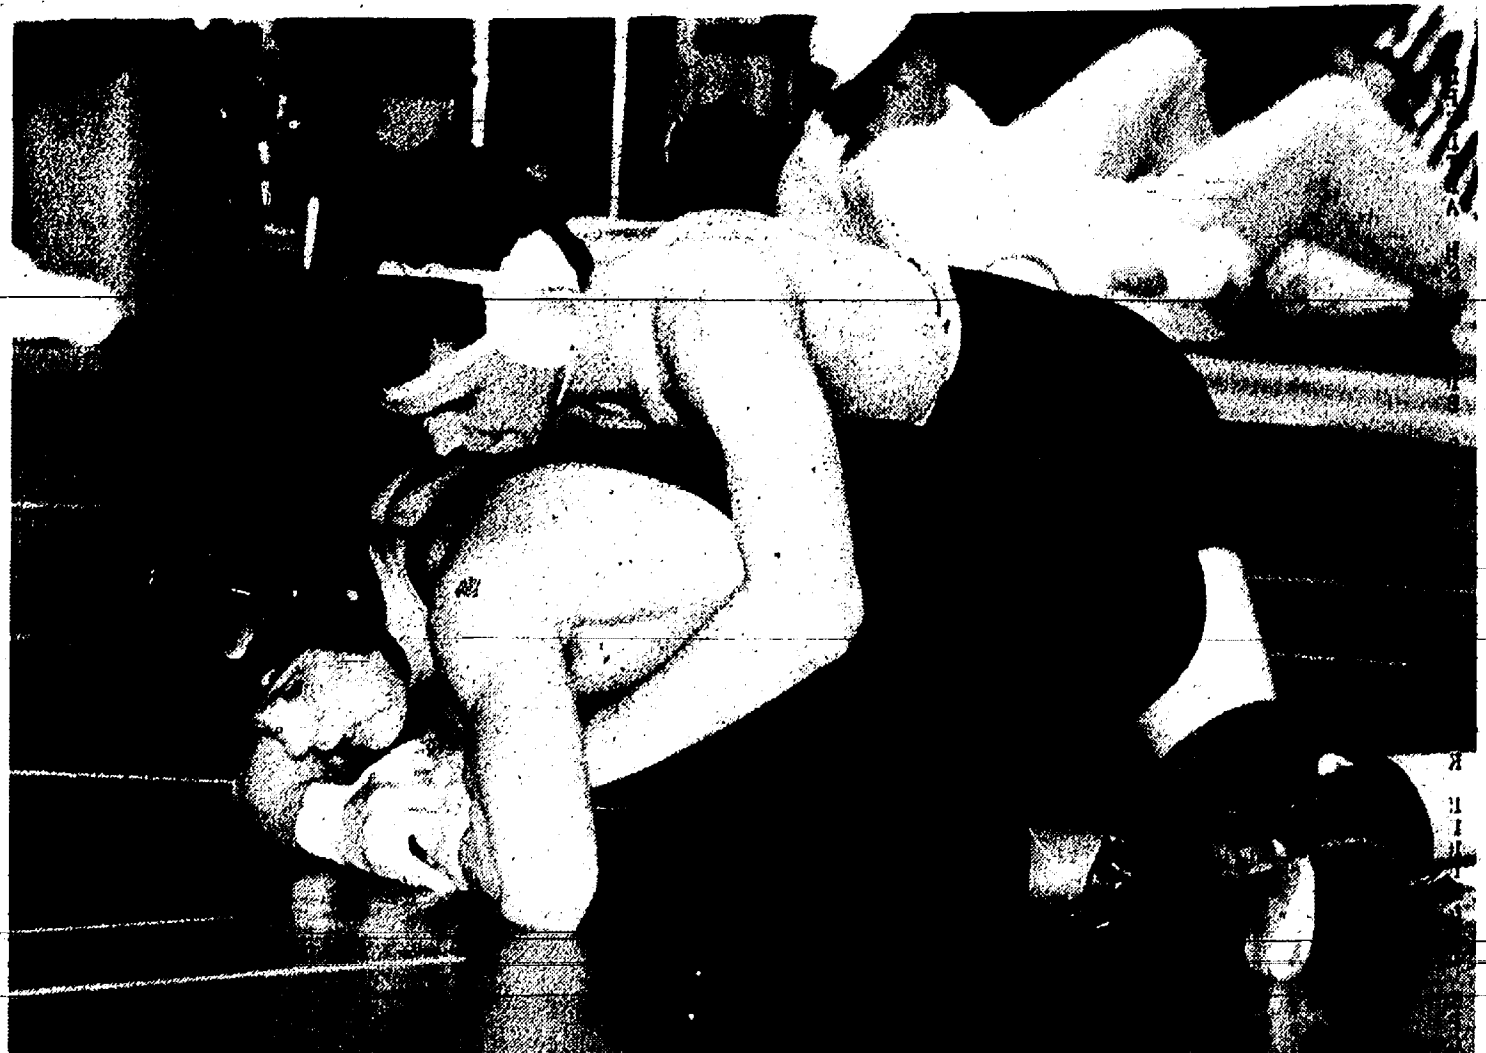

Dogs Draw Central in District Play

Chelsea Bulldogs, host of this year's district basketball tournament, will play Brooklyn Columbia Central in the first round next Monday, March 8 at 7 p.m.

There will be two games on Wednesday. At 8 p.m., Southeastern Conference foes Tecumseh Indians and Saline Hornets will tip off, followed by the Dexter Dreadnaughts against the winner of Monday night's contest. One ticket Wednesday is good for both games.

Friday night's championship game will be at 7 p.m.

For Chelsea, it's about the best draw they could have hoped for. The Bulldogs played everyone else in the tournament twice during the regular season. In their only game with Central, Chelsea won handily, 86-65.

KEVIN MCCALLA of Chelsea, top, qualified for the tournament in Tecumseh last Saturday. For McCalla, it will state wrestling meet by taking third at the regional tournament mark his first appearance at state.

McCalla Qualifies for State Wrestling Meet

Chelsea captain Kevin McCalla qualified for the state tournament on March 20 in Battle Creek with his third-place performance at 152 pounds at last Saturday's region tournament in Tecumseh.

The Bulldogs' only other regional qualifier, senior Ian Dyer at 145 pounds, lost each of his two matches by one point.

McCalla opened the region tournament with a 5-1 loss to Dustin Rowland of Trenton, who had a 38-9 record.

"Kevin looked a little flat in his first match and the coach was getting a little concerned," said Chelsea coach Kerry Kargel.

"I told him he couldn't afford to be flat another match or he would be going home. In the second match he came out and looked good and aggressive and took control."

In his second match, McCalla won an 11-6 decision over Scott Bergeron of Dearborn Heights Annapolis after taking a 5-0 lead.

His third match paired him with David O'Meara of Hillsdale. O'Meara beat McCalla the previous week in the final two seconds of the match on a controversial reversal.

"We felt comfortable with Kevin going against O'Meara," Kargel said.

"It was close the last time and I didn't think Kevin had wrestled all that well. This time Kevin came out really aggressive and got a takedown and a near fall. It kept going that way until he won, 8-4. O'Meara got two points right at the end of the match."

In the consolation finals, McCalla beat Curt Best of Dearborn Heights Crestwood, 7-4.

"Once Kevin qualified for state and got the pressure off, he became a different wrestler," Kargel said.

"He was aggressive and opened up and took control."

McCalla will face the number two seed from the Allegan-regional in his first match.

Dyer was paired with Jerry Brady of Riverview (35-2 record), a district winner. Dyer lost the match, 6-5.

In his second match he faced Aaron Sikora of Allen Park and lost, 5-4. Sikora had two takedowns and an escape and Dyer had two reversals.

"Ian had a very good chance of winning both matches," Kargel said.

"But when you get to this level, they're all high-caliber wrestlers."

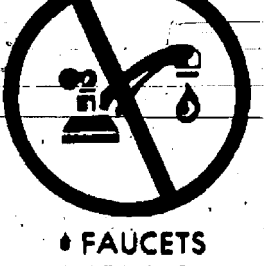

IAN DYER of Chelsea, left, wrestled at 145 pounds in the region tournament last Saturday in Tecumseh. He suffered two tough one-point losses.

8th Grade Spikers Lose to Saline

Beach Middle school eighth grade volleyball team lost to Saline in three games, 10-12, 9-11, and 8-11.

"Despite a 10-8 in the first game and a 9-2 lead in the second, we were not able to close the game," said Chelsea coach Ann Schaffner.

"We had our chances." Michelle Lucas served for seven points, and Kristi Cox, Jenny Space, Melissa Carty, and Amy Herrst each served three points. Leigha Young also had a strong game, Kargel said.

Frosh Cagers Lose Games To Lincoln, County Western

Chelsea Bulldogs freshman basketball team lost to Lincoln, 62-52, and Jackson County Western, 81-55, in action last week.

In the Lincoln Contest at home on Monday, Chelsea trailed 26-25 at half-time but was out-scored by six in the third period.

"We played Lincoln much tougher than we did the last time," said Chelsea coach Lonnie Mitchell.

"They beat us by 23 points in December and this showed how much we have improved."

Chelsea was led by Shane Miller, who had 20 points and five rebounds. Other scorers included Scott Hurst 8, Damon McLaughlin 6, Curt Carpenter 4, Kevin Cross 3, Dan Johnson 3, Rick Stahl 3, Drew Patterson 2, Matt Tuttle 2, and Josh Bernhard 1. Carpenter had five rebounds and Johnson had five steals and six assists.

On Tuesday at Western, Chelsea fell behind 41-23 by half-time to a hot-shooting team. Western shot 56 percent for the game from the floor.

Chelsea scorers included Kevin Holmes 10, Johnson 10, Miller 10, Stahl 9, McLaughlin 6, Cross 4, Bernhard 2, Carpenter 2, Drew Patterson 2.

Chelsea Tankers Upset Dexter at League Meet

Chelsea's Bulldogs swim team pulled an upset at the Southeastern Conference meet last Saturday by placing second behind the Milan Big Reds. The finish gave Chelsea a second place overall for the season.

Milan, one of the favorites to win the state championship, won easily with 482 points. Chelsea scored 191, Pinckney was third with 189 points, Dexter was fourth with 168, Tecumseh placed fifth with 137 points, and Lincoln was sixth with 113 points.

Dexter beat Chelsea during the dual-meet season and was favored for second.

"With a lot of help from Pinckney and some super swimming by the Bulldogs, we captured second place," said Chelsea coach Dave Jolly.

The 200 medley relay team of Steve Brock, Mike McEachern, Peter Straub, and Jeremy Ziegler placed fifth in 1:49.41.

The 200 freestyle had three Chelsea swimmers in the finals. Steve

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

Here it comes, just what we've all been waiting for. The big grudge match. Chelsea High school's basketball game against the Pinckney Pirates this Friday is for all the SEC marbles, or, in the Bulldogs' case, some of the marbles.

Like many Chelsea fans, what I really wanted was for the teams to be tied heading into the final game for a winner-take-all. But the Bulldogs couldn't get by the Tecumseh Indians last Friday at home, while the Pirates had no trouble beating the Lincoln Railsplitters on the road. The Bulldogs are 8-3, Pinckney is 9-2. So if Chelsea wins Friday, they'll take a share of the title, which is typically what happens to the good Bulldogs basketball teams. What could have been promoted as the Quagmire for the laurels has, unfortunately, been reduced to the Try for the Tie.

Anybody remember the last time a Chelsea team had the title all by itself? The last title, in Chad Starkey's senior year, was shared with Tecumseh. The title immediately before that, in Todd Starkey's senior year, was shared with someone. I forget, after the Bulldogs collapsed in the final two games of the season, partly due to a key injury.

The last outright title was during coach Robin Raymond's first incarnation as coach, back around 1980 or so, when Jeff Dils and John Dunn played together. (Incidentally, both of those guys are still regular players and are apparently much better shooters now than they ever were in high school, so I'm told.)

So maybe destiny, if nothing else, will be on Chelsea's side Friday.

The grudge part of Friday's game, of course, comes mostly from the Chelsea-Pinckney football game, a night I remember well. Pinckney, one game behind the Bulldogs and trying to salvage a tie for the SEC title on their home field, dominated most of the game.

Late in the fourth quarter, and down by a touchdown, quarterback Pat Steele and split end Colby Skelton, with the help of running back Tom Poulter and outstanding line blocking, took charge of the game. An 80-yard drive tied the game with two minutes left, and Tim Wescott's kick in the second over-time gave Chelsea its only lead and sealed the win, 21-20.

You can bet Pinckney doesn't want to settle for a tie. You can bet senior Pirates Brian Carruthers and Christian Pleuss, who were on that football field, don't want to give the Bulldogs any more satisfaction.

A second part of the grudge comes from the fact that the Bulldogs whipped the Pirates earlier this season, 77-62, in Chelsea. Without that loss, Pinckney would be walking away with the championship. Can the Pirates really call themselves champions if they lose twice to the team they tie with?

Chelsea, on the other hand, wants to finish the regular season on a high note (in addition to taking part of the title) after playing not so well against the Indians last Friday.

As Raymond said, just about everything went wrong on Friday. Shooting was horrible. The Bulldogs were killed on the boards. Tecumseh seemed to get every loose ball, including one errant pass late in the third quarter that bounced off a referee and set up a Tecumseh fast break, which proved to be a crucial two points. A long Indian rebound off a missed Tecumseh free throw sounded the Bulldogs' death knell.

The Bulldogs have typically played well after a poor performance, so I expect them to be more than ready this Friday. Skelton and Poulter could have big games on the inside, particularly if someone can get hot from the perimeter and force the Pirates out on defense.

I look for a much closer contest this time. Pinckney point guard Dennis Douglas is the key to their attack and if he gets inside the circle, watch out. When he's on his game, he is as exciting to watch as any player in the league.

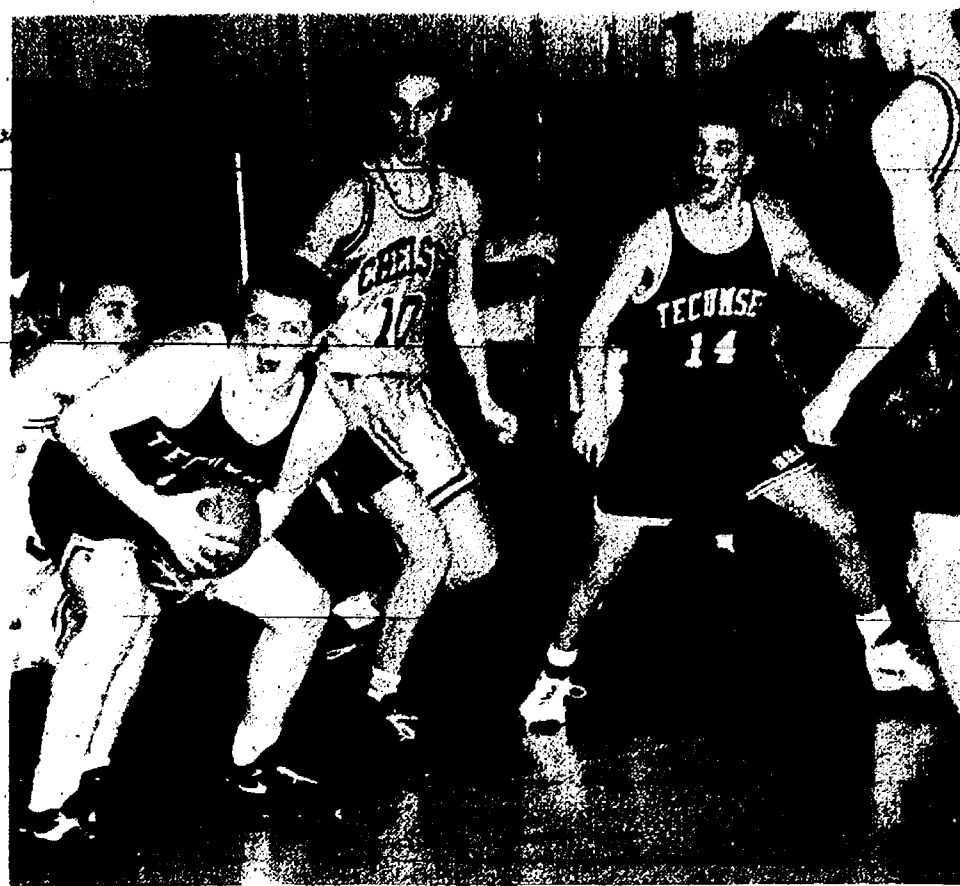

Should be a great end to the season.

Two games with the Lincoln Railsplitters had as much to do with the SEC title as anything else this season. In both cases, it was a case of who wasn't in the game.

In Chelsea's first game with Lincoln, Bulldog Dana Schumack was out with a sprained ankle and Chelsea lost by two points. In last Friday's Pinckney-Lincoln contest, Lincoln star Scott Chatfield was out. Chatfield is to Lincoln what Shaquille O'Neal is to the Orlando Magic of the NBA.

Congratulations to Chelsea senior Kevin McCalla for qualifying for the state wrestling tournament in two weeks.

McCalla, now wrestling at 152 pounds, has had an outstanding career. A couple of weeks ago he passed 100 career wins, which in itself is a remarkable achievement that few wrestlers ever reach. As coach Kerry Kargel said, that's an average of 25 wins per season, but in most cases you can throw out the freshman year, so it's more like 30 wins per season.

BRIAN PUFFER of Tecumseh grabs one of his game-high 12 rebounds during last Friday's Chelsea-Tecumseh game in Chelsea. Puffer proved to be the Bulldog killer with 23 points.

High School Soccer Club Being Formed

A soccer club for high school students in Chelsea is being formed for the 1993-94 school year. An organizational meeting will be held on Thursday, March 4 at 3 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Boys will play in the fall and girls in the spring.

It will be a club sport and not officially connected with Chelsea High school. Scheduling and funding will be handled outside the athletic department.

However, students will be expected to follow the Athletic Code of Conduct as set forth by the athletic department.

The club will play, as a minimum, home and away games against teams from Dexter, Pinckney, Saline, Milan, and Tecumseh. Home field will be on the new field on McKinley Rd. near North Elementary school.

There may be up to three teams formed for both boys and girls, depending on the level of participation.

"Considering Chelsea's strong recreational and travel soccer programs, the high school age club program should be a competitive program in a very short time," said organizer David Cooper.

"I am very excited about the addition of soccer to the already impressive list of athletic offerings for high school age students and I am sure, given the support that Chelsea has shown to soccer, that this will be a highly successful program for many years to come."

Recreation Council Hires New Director

Kristen Raeder of Chelsea has been named the new part-time director of the Chelsea Recreation Department.

Raeder, a former all-state softball player at Pioneer High school, as well as a basketball player, volleyball player, skier, windsurfer, and flyfisher, earned her bachelor's degree in parks and recreation with an emphasis on administration from Michigan State University last August.

She has recently interned at the Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Department.

Raeder will be working part-time until August.

"We want to try to offer a full-time position," said recreation council president Conrad Knutsen.

"Kristen should be a great addition. She will be administering all recreation department programs."

The council received 17 applications and there were four finalists.

Hinz-Johnson Recital Will Benefit Schools Music Department

Lisa Hinz-Johnson will be performing in recital on Saturday, March 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the George Prinzing Auditorium at Chelsea High School.

At first glance, one might think that a recital by a mezzo-soprano accompanied only by a single pianist might be a little too high-brow for most people's taste, possibly even dull. And this vocalist's credentials sound quite imposing. She earned her master's degree in music at the University of Michigan and was recently named a regional winner in the National Association of Teachers of Singing Competition. As a matter of fact, she is a six-time winner in the NATS competition. Ms. Hinz-Johnson is also a double award winner at the Minneapolis District Metropolitan Opera auditions in addition to having performed in opera roles ranging from "Hansel" in "Hansel and Gretel" to "Carmen."

But the good news is that you don't need to have a degree in music appreciation to enjoy this performance. Lisa Hinz-Johnson is simply wonderful, vocally, as one might expect. The unexpected bonus is how skillfully she engages her audience. The program moves along nicely with a good variety of music including folk songs from the British Isles, Germany and South America. It is when she sings in a foreign language that the true language of music comes shining through. Her incredible voice with her unbelievable stage presence combines to captivate.

Making this recital even more enjoyable is the fact that Lisa has generously offered her performance as a benefit concert with all proceeds going to the music department at the Chelsea schools. Ms. Hinz-Johnson is the wife of Steve P. Hinz, Chelsea schools vocal music director, and founder and director of the Washington Street Show Choir. She says: "Over the past few years both Steve and I have had wonderful support from this community and we care so much for the students. This recital was my way of giving a little something back to Chelsea. And maybe, too, to allow people to see that classical music can be fun. I hope the audience will be pleasantly surprised at the amount of humor, satire and the range of emotions expressed in this program."

Tickets are available at Chelsea Pharmacy and at the door for the March 6, Lisa Hinz-Johnson benefit concert.

Q: SO WHAT SHOULD YOU DO IN A RECESSION?

A: First, be brave and don't cut the ad budget.

An Open Letter to the Citizens of Michigan

Property owners in Michigan have probably received a notice from their local assessor announcing that the assessment on their property will be increased. Some of these increases, especially on residential property will be in double digits. Many will announce increases of 30%, 40%, 50% and even higher! Why has this happened? Who is at "fault?" What can we do about it?

First of all, please don't blame your local township officials or assessors. Everything they do is required of them by state law or administrative rule. If they do not perform as required by law, they can be fined or jailed, removed from office or have their assessor certification revoked. They are literally pawns in the property tax assessment process. Assessment levels are monitored and controlled by the county board of commissioners and the State tax commission through the equalization process.

Assessments for existing property were "frozen" in 1992 at 1991 values. This was required by a law passed by legislature in 1991 (P.A. 15, 1991). The hope was that a ballot proposal to reduce property taxes would pass in 1992. It didn't. That "freeze" period is now over so that all properties must be assessed at 50% of current market value. Most properties, especially residential, resort and waterfront have increased in value dramatically over this two-year period causing a "tax assessment shock." Michigan was one of the highest property tax states before the increase.

Property owners might properly ask, "What happened to that constitutional amendment we passed in 1978? Wasn't that amendment (known as the Headlee Amendment) supposed to hold property taxes in check with inflation?" The amendment has caused millage to be reduced in a limited fashion when assessments as a total increase more than inflation. The problem is the amendment as written and adopted does not apply to individual properties or separate classes of property. As a result, high value increases in residential property are offset in the formula by slower growth in commercial, agricultural and industrial properties. The result? Very little tax break even with high assessment increases!

To locate one major problem with property taxes look at your tax bill. On the average nearly 70% of the total bill is for school operational millage levies. Eighty percent or more of school operational millages are used for salaries and fringes of teachers and support personnel. Simple arithmetic reveals that over 50 cents of every tax dollar goes for a purpose having nothing to do with property ownership. Schools are not about to give up this "golden goose" easily. Township officials through the Michigan Townships Association have been laboring for years to reduce the reliance on property tax for school funding. Their pleas have not been heeded. Once again township officials, through their state-wide association and other groups, are bending the ear of legislators in Lansing. The goal is to have some form of property tax relief in place before the March meetings of the board of review. That's an aggressive time schedule when you consider that the legislature has not been able to provide an alternative over the course of two decades.

It is difficult to predict what kind of property tax package will be presented by the legislature to the governor. There are many proposals being offered and space permitted in this letter does not allow a description of them or a comparison between them. Every citizen should simply make a telephone call or write a letter enclosing their assessment increase notice to their legislator. Local officials have been the scapegoat for this perennial problem for too long. A phone call or a 29 cent stamp urging a simple reduction in the property tax would work wonders if it was done now. Help your township officials help you.

Michigan Townships Association.

To the Editor:

Proposal D: ROUND 2!

I am the president of MADD, Washtenaw county, and I find it appalling that our automobile insurance laws are under revision, AGAIN! Last November's sound defeat of Proposal D should have sent our legislature a clear message, but HB 4156 is trying to change the laws in the same ways, without giving us a say in the matter!

The insurance companies are trying to take away our rights and benefits again, this time behind our backs! With Proposal D, we all had a say, and WE SAID NO!

We all carry insurance in case something catastrophic happens, like being the innocent victim of a drunk driver. A Congressional Legislative Committee Member has told me that insurance savings would be less than $40, and this is not guaranteed, and these "savings" may only be for six months.

Again the insurance industry is asking us to give up the best insurance laws in the nation! We at Mothers Against Drunk Driving have been very involved in fighting this legislation: Why give up the best, unlimited lifetime auto insurance benefits, especially when these laws cost us less than the national average? If you are hit by a drunk driver, traumatic brain injuries, internal injuries, and/or a spinal cord injury could cost in the millions, for the rest of your life! Without the proper insurance coverage, this could ruin your and your family's lives.

I think we should have a say, and SAY NO! Please write or call Senator Lana Pollack and your Representative (Schroer, Rivers, Profit, or Hammerstrom) and tell them that we want a say in this issue, we have said no, and we say no again!

If you would like more information on this bill or how to contact your Congressional Representative, call MADD, Washtenaw county at 769-MADD (769-6233).

Sincerely Annoyed,
Ken Zabel.

Dear Editor,

I would like to address the issue of the Special Education millage election which is scheduled for March 9. Passage of this millage will insure that funds will be earmarked for children with special needs.

Unfortunately, since 1987 there has been about a 20% increase in the number of children who need individualized special education—that is one in eight children in county schools need special services.

A significant reason for this increase is that medical technology is saving many high-risk infants; many of these infants and children have handicaps. These handicaps range from learning disabilities to severe physical and mental impairments.

Fortunately, for these children there are federal laws that mandate that a basic level of special services be provided. Unfortunately, federal and state funds which assist the school districts in implementing these programs are drying up, leaving the burden to local school districts.

The passage of this millage will ensure that WISD has funds to continue existing centralized programs. The WISD will also be able to return the greater portion of the revenues to the local districts enabling them to continue to fund local programs for local children who require special education services.

If this millage does not pass our local districts will need to use more of their (already tight) general education funds to pay more toward the services that children in their districts require.

Children already handicapped, through no fault of their own, should not have to compete for basic services. Please vote 'Yes' on March 9.

Carol Magill.

Plan Your Escape

Fire Can Happen Any Time!

And if it does, every second counts. Will you and your family know what to do?

- Practice an escape plan from each room in the house. Feel your way out with your eyes closed.
- Teach your family to stop, drop to the ground and roll if their clothes catch on fire.
- Keep the fire department's number by the phone. By your bed, have a flashlight to help you see and whistle to alert your family.
- Install smoke detectors on every level of your house. Test them monthly, and change the batteries at least once a year.

Remember, fire can happen anytime, so make plans for a surprise visit.

County Deputies Report Thefts

The Chelsea Standard, Wednesday, March 3, 1993

Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputies investigated a number of incidents between Feb. 10 and Feb. 28 in Dexter, Chelsea and Scio township.

On Feb. 10, Steven M. Kowal, 34, of Stockbridge was arrested on a civil warrant out of Jackson county for neglect. He was stopped by Washtenaw county deputies for traveling 48 mph in a 35 mph zone on Dexter-Pinckney Rd. He was transported to the Washtenaw county jail.

On Feb. 15, an assault and battery was reported in the 2000 block of E. Bishop Circle, Dexter. A 26-year-old Jackson man accused a 27-year-old Dexter man of knocking a cup of coffee out of his hands and slugging him on the right side of his face with a closed fist. The suspect admitted to the assault.

On Feb. 19, malicious destruction of property was reported in the 7800 block of Kookaburra Ct., Dexter. A 1985 Buick sustained $480 in damages when its tires were flattened and windshield smashed.

A 20-year-old Dexter man and a 27-year-old Whitmore Lake man were cited for open intoxication in a motor vehicle after they pulled into Metro Park on Huron River Dr. near North Territorial Rd. and turned their lights off. A deputy found a 12-pack of beer in their vehicle. The Dexter man was also cited as a minor in possession of alcohol.

On Feb. 20, a breaking and entering was reported in the 1800 block of Fletcher Rd., Chelsea. A house under construction sustained $70 in damages when someone pried the garage door open. Approximately $410 worth of tools and supplies were stolen. The house belongs to a 41-year-old Manchester man.

A 37-year-old Belleville woman was arrested on Liberty Rd. near Park Rd., Scio township, for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor. The deputy investigating the incident was initially dispatched for a personal injury accident. He discovered several bottles of liquor in the woman's 1987 Buick Skyhawk. Her vehicle was impounded and she was taken to the University of Michigan Hospital.

A 33-year-old Dexter man was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor and for paying an unlawful blood/alcohol level. He was initially stopped for a traffic violation on Hudson St. near Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd., Dexter. A deputy noticed signs of intoxication and administered sobriety tests. The man was taken to Washtenaw county jail.

An accidental house fire was reported in the 5000 block of Park Rd., Scio township. A 46-year-old woman called 911 after her children reported seeing flames coming from their neighbor's home. No one was in the house at the time. It was reported as a total loss. Scio Township Fire Department handled the call.

A 34-year-old Albion man was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor on west-bound I-94 near Zeeb Rd., Scio township. A witness called the sheriff's department after observing the suspect's vehicle weaving across the center line. The suspect failed field sobriety tests given by the deputy.

A breaking and entering was reported on Fletcher Rd. near I-94, Chelsea. An owner of a business reported $10 in damages to a bottle shed when a lock was pried off the door. He wasn't sure if anything was missing.

On Feb. 22, a suspicious situation was reported in the 7700 block of Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd., Dexter. A 45-year-old woman told deputies a suspicious vehicle was hanging around the area. The license plate number was given to the sheriff's department and it came back registered to a 31-year-old Brighton man. The case is closed unless the vehicle is seen in the area again.

Larceny of a firearm was reported in the 1900 block of Pierce Rd., Chelsea. A 44-year-old Chelsea man said his .357 revolver worth $300 was stolen between Feb. 8 and Feb. 21.

James E. Hansen, 30, of Saline was arrested on a felony warrant in the 1200 block of S. Main St., Chelsea. The warrant was for his third offense of drunk driving. He was transported to the Washtenaw county jail.

Larceny from a motor vehicle was reported in the 5600 block of Jackson Rd., Scio township. A Toro snow thrower worth $600 was stolen from a company truck.

Larceny from a building was reported in the 1800 block of S. Wagner Rd., Scio township. A 45-year-old Ann Arbor man reported three VCRs worth $1,182 were stolen from a storage area. No forced entry was found. It is believed the thief had a key.

On Feb. 23, a 30-year-old Saline woman was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor on Baker Rd. near I-94, Scio township. Deputies were called to the scene of a property damage crash. The woman had lost control of her 1991 Geo and struck a trailer pulled by a U-Haul truck. A strong odor of intoxicants could be smelled on her breath.

A 43-year-old Grass Lake man was questioned about failing to return a rented vehicle. He said he rented the vehicle as a favor for a client, a 30-year-old Westland man. The man was to return the vehicle on Feb. 3 and never did. It was later returned to the rental agency's Westland office with damages.

On Feb. 24, a 29-year-old Grass Lake woman complained about someone passing a school bus loading students on Dexter-Pinckney Rd. near Alice Hill Rd., Dexter. The suspect was driving a 1978 green Oldsmobile. A license plate check showed the registration came back to a 47-year-old Howell man. He is being sent a traffic citation through the mail.

On Feb. 25, Marc D. Zucker, 28, of Ypsilanti was arrested on a bench warrant for failing to appear in district court on a charge for disturbing the peace. He was transported to Washtenaw county jail after being stopped on Jackson Rd. near Zeeb Rd., Scio township.

Malicious destruction of property was reported in the 2700 block of S. Wagner Rd., Scio township. A woman reported her 32-year-old brother, who had been staying with her for two weeks, destroyed a chair in her home. Damages are estimated at $75.

On Feb. 19, an accidental fire was reported on east-bound I-94 near Steinbach Rd., Dexter. A 1978 Oldsmobile caught on fire causing $50 in damages. Scio Township Fire Department handled the call. The vehicle was impounded because the license plate was not registered to the vehicle.

Workshop Offered for Potential Home Buyers

If you thought that owning a home was beyond your dreams, think again! If your family income is under $51,175 per year, you may qualify for a home mortgage under the Michigan Initiative Program which began in November of 1990. This program is available through November of this year (1993).

The Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service is offering workshops that will help you understand the Michigan Initiative mortgage, as well as provide basic information you need to effectively shop for and finance a home.

The goal of the workshops, according to Terry Jones, Washtenaw county extension home economist, is to provide potential first-time homeowners with information on all aspects of home ownership and to help them decide if home ownership at this time is feasible. The workshops are held every other month. The next one is scheduled for March 3 and 10, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The Michigan Initiative helps prospective home buyers by providing education about purchasing a home, cutting normal down payment requirement to 5 percent, and offering more flexible qualifying criteria than conventional mortgages.

Jones emphasizes that the workshop series is open to all potential homeowners, whether they are interested in the Michigan Initiative or not.

To enroll or to get more information, call Washtenaw Co-operative Extension Service at 313-971-0079.

Card of Thanks 19

THANK YOU

Thanks to the Stockbridge and Chelsea Fire Departments, the Stockbridge Ladies Auxiliary and the Rescue Squad for responding to our house fire on 2-17-83. We would also like to thank our family, friends, and neighbors for all their love, support, food and clothing donations during our loss. It's impossible to mention everyone but special thanks to Kathy Milliken, Brian Cook, the WSSC moms & kids, and to Denise Schiller for allowing us to live in her dad's house. How do we ever thank Terry Downs for risking his life to go back into the house and for he and his wife, Sharon, for giving us their home until we were able to make other living arrangements. Whenever winter arrives in Michigan, we wonder why we stay—but now we know—it's the people right here in Chelsea that make it all worthwhile!

The Millikens

Pat, Linda, Jodi and Amy.

CARD OF THANKS

Vickie Lou Milkey departed this life February 14, 1993. Vickie's family thanks each and every one who showed their concern, the many, many friends and relatives who sent flowers and food, or visited or made phone calls, those who helped in so many other ways who will always be remembered by this family.

Husband, Douglas Milkey

Sons, Jason and Michael

Parents, Thomas and Mary Patrick.

THANK YOU

Teen Pleads No Contest to Sexual Abuse

A 15-year-old Manchester boy pleaded no contest Tuesday in Washtenaw County Juvenile Court to a charge of first-degree criminal sexual conduct.

The victim, a five-year-old Manchester girl who has since moved to Tecumseh, had the boy's mother for a baby sitter.

The boy initially had three charges filed against him, but two were dropped in a plea bargain arrangement.

The boy's older brother also faces faces similar charges.

The boy allegedly abused the girl several times over the course of a year. However, the specific charge involved an incident in March of last year.

McKune Library Conducting Annual Bookmark Contest

McKune Library's fourth annual Design-a-Bookmark Contest began March 1. Children from pre-school through 6th grade are invited to submit their design. Bookmarks must be submitted on official entry forms that are being distributed at North and South Elementary, Beach Middle school and the McKune Memorial Library.

Bookmarks are judged on creativity, artistic skill, and how well they illustrate the different things you can learn about at the library. The slogan "Learn about it at the library" must appear on each design. Top winners in each of the five categories will have their bookmark reproduced and distributed at the Library. The deadline for entries is March 27.

FRANCES BAUER of Chelsea retired from Federal Screw Works last week after 25 years of service. As usual, employees held a festive retirement party at the plant with a wide array of desserts. Christmas in April Planned For April 24 in Chelsea Area

The second annual Christmas in April/Washtenaw will be held on Saturday, April 24.

Six homes in the Chelsea area will be repaired and renovated for their elderly, low-income, or handicapped residents.

Dick Shaneyfelt is again coordinating the local effort.

Last year, Chelsea area businesses and individuals donated more than $8,000 and expenses came to $5,500, which gives this year's program a jump start of more than $2,500. So far the program has received $1,300 in donations this year, putting the balance at approximately $3,800 (Shaneyfelt says that anyone who wants to see the exact amounts may do so).

Shaneyfelt estimates expenses this year will run about $9,000, or $1,500 per house. He says he hopes to have between 100 and 125 volunteers to do everything from home repairs to day care to forming an end-of-the-day rally for workers and their families.

Last year more than 150 volunteers worked on seven homes in the Chelsea area. Due to the rain on work day, several of the homes had to be visited two or three times, but most of the work was completed.

For more information, or to make a recommendation of someone who could use help, contact Shaneyfelt at 475-8193 after 5 p.m.

Recycling Manager Says Program Off To Excellent Start

The public is starting to "participate in a major way" in the Western Washtenaw Recycling Authority's recycling program, according to authority manager Jeff Bagocius.

The Material Recovery Facility on Werker Rd. has been operating for two months. In that time, the authority has collected 165,940 pounds of newspapers, 82,440 pounds of corrugated cardboard, 32,440 pounds of glass, 32,300 pounds of cans, and 14,000 pounds of plastic milk jugs, Bagocius said. That totals 327,120 pounds of materials that would have otherwise gone to a landfill. If they had gone to what is left of the Chelsea landfill, the facility would be closed.

The recycling efforts, Bagocius said, have saved 2,100 trees, reduced industrial water consumption by 1,116,000 gallons, and reduced industrial electrical usage by more than 5 billion watts.

"This is only the beginning," Bagocius said.

"To make recycling successful requires the participation of all of the people in western Washtenaw county. Everyone needs to participate. Every pound or cubic foot of material we can divert from our landfills contributes to keeping the landfills open longer as well as not having to spend a million dollars an acre to develop new landfills."

The program uses curbside recycling in the villages of Chelsea and Manchester, and remote drop-off sites in Sylvan, Lyndon, Dexter, Lima, Bridgewater, and Manchester townships. For more information call Bagocius at 475-6160.

Chelsea Resident Pleads No Contest To Sexual Assault

Chelsea resident Kermit L. Sharpe pleaded no contest last Monday to charges that he sexually molested a seven-year-old neighbor girl.

The girl, now nine, testified in Washtenaw County Circuit Court that Sharpe had forced her to perform oral sex in his bathroom in June of 1991. She also said she immediately went home and told her mother.

After the testimony, Sharpe, 35, of 310 South St., pleaded no contest to a reduced charge of intent to commit sexual penetration, a felony with a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison. Originally he was charged with first-degree criminal sexual conduct, which could have carried a life sentence.

A no contest plea does not admit guilt but is treated as a conviction at sentencing, which will take place April 1.

It is unusual for testimony to take place with a no contest plea. However, assistant prosecutor said the girl had been waiting for two years to tell her story to a judge because she had been told not to talk to anyone but police or the judge about the case.

Sharpe is free on bond pending his sentencing. He has no prior convictions.

District Urges Candidates To File Petitions Early

Anyone interested in running for the Chelsea Board of Education is advised to have their nominating petitions returned by Monday, April 12, the ninth Monday before the annual elections.

However, legally candidates may have until May 17.

The state legislature apparently created a major headache for some school districts when it enacted Public Act 263, which became effective in January. The act requires certain districts, called fourth class districts (Chelsea is one of them) to change the last day to file a petition to 30 days prior to the election, which this year is May 17.

The problem was created by the fact that candidates also have until May 20 to withdraw from any school board race, and absentee ballots have to be printed and available by May 25. "It would be just about impossible to comply with these dates," said Chelsea assistant superintendent Fred Mills.

Mills said there is the possibility that the legislature will amend Public Act 263 to return the deadline to its traditional nine weeks before the election. However, if the law is amended after April 12, "we might not have any candidates," Mills said.

"We are encouraging anyone who plans to be a candidate to file by April 12 so that if the law is changed you will have filed by the legal date of April 12 and would also qualify for the May 17 date should the law not be changed," Mills said.

"Chelsea is my hospital."

with her family physician,
Dr. Evelyn Eckles.

"As a hospital volunteer, I meet patients from all over Michigan and other states. They come for advanced treatment, and they leave with memories of a homelike, friendly hospital where people care. One woman from the Carolinas stayed with a local family while her husband was being treated for severe headaches. She says she'll never forget the friends she made here. I've been a patient at Chelsea, too, but looking through her eyes helped me see what a tremendous resource we have near home."
