"FUN AND FANTASY" is the subject of a class for three-year-olds offered this month in the Super Saturday program sponsored by the Chelsea Community Education Department. Here, teacher Pat Rohrer, wife of community education director Jeff Rohrer, gets the children to have some fun with their Teddy bears.

Chelsea Village Council Gets Two New Members In Annual Elections

Long-time Chelsea village council trustee Stephanie Kanten was ousted in Monday's annual village elections. Kanten, a Dexter elementary school teacher who has served 12 years during a time of unprecedented growth in the village and has spoken most forcefully on issues involving senior citizens and children, finished fourth with 109 votes. In her place will be Steven Daut, an environmental consultant and political newcomer.

Daut was third with 121 votes, behind incumbents Brian Cashman, 449 Railroad St., with 129 votes and Tom Dorer, 777 N. Freer Rd., with 161 votes.

Cashman is a manager in the information technology division at the University of Michigan. Dorer, another life-long Chelsea resident, is a plumber for John E. Green Co.

Dorer, Cashman, and Daut will be joined on council by Richard Rigg, 143 E. Middle St., who beat Jon Veurink, 18 Chestnut St., an accountant for Deloitte & Touche, 107-85. Rigg, an engineer at Chrysler Proving Grounds, will hold his seat for one year before facing re-election because he is filling the remaining year of a term started by Gary Bentley, who resigned.

All other seats are for two years.

In uncontested elections, clerk Suzanne Morrison received 188 votes, assessor Rosemary Harok received 150 votes, and McKune Memorial Library Board members Anne Belser and Susan Walters received 166 and 176 votes, respectively. All are incumbents. Clerk and assessor seats are for two years and the library board seats are for three.

North Lake Residents Push for Sewer System

A multi-million dollar sewer project which could serve about 1,000 residences at North Lake, Half Moon Lake, and Silver Lake is being investigated by Dexter township.

The system would be comparable in size to the recently completed Portage-Base Lakes project.

Township supervisor Jim Drolett said he estimates the project could cost somewhere between $8,000 and $11,000 per residence, but there are still too many unanswered questions to know for sure. Site of the wastewater plant has not been chosen and it's not known how much the Department of Natural Resources might contribute since the sewer would also serve state parks.

"We've had a very positive response," Drolett said of a survey to residents asking if they would be interested in finding out more about a sewer project.

"Now we need to try to find out how much it's going to cost."

The sewer effort was begun by a handful of North Lake residents who went door-to-door to find out how many people would be interested in converting from septic systems, Drolett said. From there, interest was also expressed by residents at the other lakes.

"This is not Dexter township trying to push a sewer system," Drolett said. "This is their baby. We're just the facilitators."

Drolett survived a recall attempt organized by opponents of the Portage Lake project.

The plant, Drolett said, would probably be located in an area central to all three lakes, in a "benign area." He said it would be comparable to the Portage Lake plant but without a lagoon. He called it a sequencing batch reactor.

Waste disposal problems at lakes have grown since more people have made lake cottages their year-around homes. Drolett said some people have not been able to fix up their homes because they couldn't get approval from the Washtenaw County Health Department. He said he knows of one case in which a resident purchased an extra lot down the road from his home and installed a pump system so he could get rid of the "black water" from his septic system. Another resident has had to take a chemical toilet to his cottage every summer. Heavy spring and fall rains have caused some systems to quit.

"People at Portage Lake have found out how nice their system is," Drolett said.

"They can stay in the shower as long as they want. They can run dishwashers."

Drolett said it's likely no construction would begin before next year. Once a feasibility study is completed by McNamee, Porter, and Seeley and there's a better handle on costs, public hearings will be held. The township would apply for a low-interest loan through the state to pay for the project. Ultimately, residents would be included in a special assessment district.

"We want to make darn sure folks want this," Drolett said.

All but about 18 of the residences are in Dexter township. The rest are in Lyndon township.

Comeau, Satterthwaite Say School Board Days Done

There will be two new people on the Chelsea Board of Education this July as incumbents Anne Comeau and Ron Satterthwaite have decided not to seek re-election in June.

Their four-year seats are the only ones up for election this year.

Comeau is completing her 12th year on the board, including the last five as president. Satterthwaite is finishing his eighth year, and is the vice president. Neither has children in the district as they have all graduated.

Both Comeau and Satterthwaite said they believe it's time for some new blood on the board.

"I love the work, I enjoy it as much now as when I started, but I think someone else should have a turn," Comeau said.

"I'm very proud of the things the board has accomplished."

Satterthwaite said, "It's been a lot of meetings and a lot of good times, but it's time for some fresh faces."

When Comeau first became a board member, some of the key issues included energy conservation and a review of district athletics.

Now the key issue may be finding alternative ways to fund schools, an issue largely out of the board's hands.

"I think the board has been active in promoting action by legislators and telling them what their rulings are doing to us. We have involved the community in that effort," Comeau said.

"If the state doesn't straighten out funding, it's going to be a disaster. Education can't be based on where children live. It's got to be equalized."

Sex Abuse Forum Draws Large Crowd

Manchester American Legion Hall was packed Monday night for a forum on child sexual abuse organized largely by parents whose children have been victimized.

Organizers also announced the formation of a non-profit support group, Sexual Abuse Victims Everywhere (SAVE), which is designed to keep the issue in the public spotlight and "aid worthwhile programs already in place," said organizer Gail Ganger.

"We had people come from four counties and drive as much as an hour and a half," Ganger said.

Some of the best speakers included Saline Police Chief Jim Douglas, Washtenaw County Prosecutor Brian Mackie, and Michigan State Police investigator Norm Maxwell.

The 1½ hour program also drew a representative from state Sen. Lana Pollack's office, a member of Gov. John Engler's office, and a representative of the Michigan Alliance for the Rights of Children.

Some questions in the question-and-answer period concerned the case of North Sharon Baptist church, which

Sylvan Township Fire Ordinance Allows Billing for Car Crashes

Sylvan township has adopted a new fire ordinance designed to save its residents thousands of dollars each year by billing those involved in vehicle crashes on township roads.

The intent of the ordinance, said township supervisor Gerald Dresselhouse, is to pay for Chelsea Fire Department services provided to victims of crashes on I-94 and M-52, two heavily-traveled highways. Most people involved in those accidents, which make up as much as 40 to 50 percent of the township's fire department costs each year, are not township residents.

Sylvan township, like all area townships, has paid for fire department services on an as-used basis. Sylvan township is being billed approximately $69,000 for fire protection during the village's 1993 fiscal year. If the ordinance had been in effect for last year, township coffers might be $30,000 richer.

"The question is, is it fair to subsidize people who use the freeway and pay for fire services for non-residents," Dresselhouse said.

"As a board we said let's see if we can do something about it."

The township expects that in 95 percent of the cases a victim's auto insurance company will be billed for the cost. Insurance information will be routinely available from police reports.

Because the ordinance cannot discriminate, however, township residents involved in crashes on Sylvan township roads will also be billed.

No one in the township will be billed in the event of a fire or medical emergency, Dresselhouse said.

GINA PANTELY, owner of Gina's Restaurant, was presented a plaque from the Chelsea Lions Club in appreciation of the support she has given various projects of the club. Irv Tabaka, immediate past president of the club, made the presentation at the March 2 ladies night meeting.

Village trustees Dennis Hall, Stephanie Kanten and Richard Steele successfully denied a challenge by former village president Charles Ritter and were re-elected Monday for two-year terms.

Ten acres of land that would be used for Chelsea's first office complex will be annexed into the village if the county gives its blessing. On March 7, village council voted to annex the land belonging to developer Rene Papo. The land is located off Old US-12 next to Chelsea Community Hospital in Sylvan township. Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners has the final say.

Village Zoning Board of Appeals cleared the way for Domino's Pizza to set up a store downtown when it approved the substitution of one non-forming use for another at the proposed site. The former site of Ralph Fletcher's Friendly Service at the corner of S. Main and Lincoln Sts. will be the home of the new store.

★ Wastewater Should Be A Private Matter

By Lawrence W. Reed

The treatment of municipal wastewater doesn't have to be an expensive duty of local government. In fact, it's increasingly being thought of as something the private sector can handle better and at lower cost.

Wastewater treatment has historically been regarded as a high-cost municipal function. Treatment plants in many Michigan communities have proven to be among the most expensive capital investments, and regulations that must be met to secure federal funding of the new ones have delayed construction and prevented the adoption of innovative technologies. Stories about "America's crumbling infrastructure" often neglect to mention that more than roads and bridges need to be brought up to date; wastewater treatment facilities owned by local governments often need plenty of improvements as well.

Those improvements—and cost savings too—emerge when and where private companies in the wastewater business enter the picture. Municipalities which have contracted with them benefit from the experience and expertise of the private firms and from the competitive efficiencies that this "privatization" process generates.

Hamilton Lakes, Ill. is home to the country's most innovative wastewater privatization experiment: a wastewater recycling plant built entirely with private financing in less than a tenth of the time it normally takes for local governments to build a more run-of-the-mill facility. According to economist Stephen Moore of the Cato Institute, this one more cost 30 percent less to build than public construction, but it also treats the water, disinfests it in air-filtered reservoirs and then pumps it out for irrigation and other commercial purposes. Public plants, by contrast, typically dump the treated water back into a lake or stream.

Jack Sheaffer, a one-time Environmental Protection Agency employee and the man who developed this so-called Land Treatment Technology, makes sense when he says: "It is far more efficient and environmentally sound to use wastewater as a resource rather than to try to dispose of it." It's the sort of innovation that a private firm has more freedom (and incentive) to adopt than municipalities which have to contend with the regulatory strings that come attached to state and federal dollars.

Edgewater, N.J. took wastewater privatization in 1988 when it contracted with a private firm to build and manage a $10 million treatment plant. Again, the reason for privatization was to put the project on the fast-track, take advantage of the know-how that private sector engineers had developed, and save taxpayer dollars.

Wastewater privatization took root in Michigan in the 1980s. Today, more than 50 cities, towns and townships in both the Upper and Lower Peninsulas have put it to work and are saving as much as 20 percent of what they formerly spent to manage their own plants. They include Battle Creek, Menominee, Grosse Ile township, Reed City, Rockwood, Lowell, Hart, Portland and Essexville.

The first private Michigan company to operate treatment facilities under contract with local governments, WW Operations Services of Grand Rapids, was started in 1982. It is now the dominant firm in the state, holding 90 percent of the wastewater treatment contracts.

Alpena in northern lower Michigan is WW's showcase city. Prior to privatization in 1988, Alpena's wastewater plant was in a state of non-compliance with EPA regulations and several hundred thousand dollars over budget. Three years after privatization, the City of Alpena received two national awards from the EPA for that same facility. The city is saving an estimated $250,000 each year, for a total savings of almost $1 million since 1988. In July, the council awarded WW with a four-year renewal of its contract after an open re-bidding process.

Contrary to a popular objection to privatization, Alpena's savings have come from efficiencies and innovations, not from pay cuts or mass layoffs of formerly public employees. When WW took over, it kept all but two of the city plant's employees, provided them with additional training and actually raised their pay. Shortly after privatization, the employees were pleased enough with their new employer that they decertified the union that previously had represented them in negotiations with the city.

Tom Kelly, a councilman and Alpena's mayor pro-tem, cites WW's "good utilization of employees" for making a big difference in plant operations. "A big part of the success here," he says, "is the company's desire to develop the skills of the employees and pay them for it; it does wonders for their motivation and initiative." Machinery and equipment, for instance, was falling into disrepair under city management but the company's program of preventive maintenance has energized the employees to "keep everything in good shape and running smoothly," according to Kelly.

The Alpena plant, under WW's stewardship, has been nationally recognized for its positive contributions to the area's environment. The company is literally "manufacturing" soil through a process that reclaims huge mounds of waste cement dust (called "moonscape") from a nearby kiln by mixing it with treated sludge from the wastewater plant. Grass now grows where nothing did before.

As communities all over Michigan bump up against opposition to higher

Free Prostate Cancer Support Group Meets At St. Joseph Hospital

McAuley Cancer Care education program offers a free prostate cancer support group for men who have been diagnosed with prostate cancer. The self-help support group meets on the third Thursday of each month at 7 p.m. in the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Education Center, Room 1, located on the E. Huron River Dr. campus of the Catherine McAuley health System, Ann Arbor.

The meetings provide cancer patients with the opportunity to share experiences and hear informative talks given by physicians. The sessions will provide answers about the disease and information about available treatments.

"This support group can help patients because it allows them to share their individual experiences in dealing with prostate cancer," said Yvonne Reed, nurse manager.

For more information on the program, call Pam Ceo R.N., at (313) 572-3655.

At the same time they need to provide and upgrade services, infrastructure privatization will become an increasingly attractive option. There's no reason wastewater treatment shouldn't be high on the list to go private. The track record—in this state and around the nation—proves that it can be made to work and work well.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Bug Hookum got the floor early in the session at the country store Saturday night to tell the fellows he had thought the situation up one side and down the other, and he was half convinced that what this country needs is no Congress at all. The latest reminder came last month, he said, when President Clinton got around to announcing that he had reinvented the political wheel.

Bug said he told the American people the first spoke was changing tax increases from the Republicans' revenue enhancements to the Democrats' contributions. Then he went into more detail with Congress, and that's when the picture started to get blurry. Ever since, Bug allowed, everything out of Washington reads like Baptists and Methodists explaining the Book of Revelation. Understanding allus is in the eyes of the beholder, was Bug's words.

What sticks in his craw, Bug said, was that Congress had to take off a full week before it was up to hearing the President explain his economic plan. The returning honorables wore themselves to a frazzle convening, swearing in new members and putting them on committees where they couldn't change anything. So they had to rest before they could take on the job of unwrapping Clinton's package and making sure they don't have to contribute anything personal, or sacrifice any appointees in their districts.

No sooner did Congress get back to town after a President's Day break than it was making plans for a long Easter break. It ain't no wonder the country never is safe when Congress is in session, Bug declared, it is out of session so much that when it does work it goes at it like it is killing snakes.

Practical speaking, he said, the people that allus are called on to making the contributions are allus out of the loop. They tried limiting terms of Congress, and they got beat down by Congress and the special interests. This time they tried electing new members, and all they got is more of the same. Look at any calendar for any Congress, Bug said, and you see more than 100 days of paid vacation. Based on the power of the mail and phone calls over Clinton's baby sitting problems, Bug sent on the country would be way ahead if all the congressmen would stay home and check in with the Capitol switchboard every week or so.

Bug's long lament got some nods and some shakes out of the fellows. Republican Ed Doolittle said he hated to tell them so, but he told them so. The difference in being out and in public office is reality, Ed said, and Clinton learned that quick enough to start backtracking on his promises before he was sworn in. He still wants Haitians to like him, Ed said, but in Haiti. And he learned that before he decides who's fit to be in the military he's got to deal with what former President Eisenhower warned about, the military industrial complex.

Democrat Clem Webster said he's got no problem with the out party picking on the in party, because that's how the system is supposed to work. What worries him now, Clem said, is what to do with advice from our five former Presidents. What we pay to keep them up is bad enough, Clem said, now they're all preaching the tired old "do as we say, not as we done" sermon.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Papo Says He's Negotiating For Shopping Center Anchor

As Ames Department Store is wrapping up its going-out-of-business sale, Chelsea Shopping Center developer Rene Papo says he has not yet signed a replacement tenant for the mall's anchor store.

"We're getting close with two businesses," Papo said. "I hope to know within a couple of weeks."

If one of the two potential businesses signs, the center will either have a new retail store similar to Ames or Chelsea will have a grocery store to compete with Polly's Market across M-52, Papo said.

The Ames store is closing as part of the company's bankruptcy proceedings.

In other shopping center news, Fantastic Sam's salon has nearly finished its new store at Village Plaza. In addition, construction of the new Little Caesar's pizza restaurant has started opposite Subway in Village Plaza.

Blood Drive Gets 75 Pints

Merchant Swindled By Woman Posing As Supplier

A Chelsea merchant told Chelsea police that she was swindled by someone posing as a wholesale products supplier.

The merchant told police that the woman claimed to be from a Toledo company. The woman had several brochures, said she had clients in Detroit and was trying to expand to the suburbs.

The woman also mentioned that another woman from Pinckney would come in to pick up supplies she needed that day.

After taking an order, the woman returned a short time later with some items in her car and said a truck was on its way from the warehouse with the rest of the order. She took two checks, but neither the truck or the Pinckney woman ever arrived.

When the merchant tried to stop payment on the checks the same day, she discovered they had already been cashed.

The swindle totaled about $700.

Lecture Slated on Substance Abuse

Sheriff's Deputies Report Break-ins, Thefts, Assault

Terpstra on Harvard List

Mike Terpstra of Chelsea was named to the Dean's List at Harvard University for the first semester. Terpstra, son of Paul and Cheryl Terpstra, was also a member of the Harvard wrestling team. He is a 1992 graduate of Chelsea High School.

Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputies investigated a number of incidents between Feb. 23 and March 3 in Dexter, Chelsea, Scio township and Dexter township.

On Feb. 23, an Ann Arbor man wrote a $2,387.45 bad check for car repairs in the 7100 block of Jackson Rd., Scio township. He later gave the business owner, a Gregory man, $1,700 and promised the rest, but never paid him.

On Feb. 27, a 21-year-old Sanford man and three passengers in his 1982 Chevy Camaro were cited for having open intoxicants in a motor vehicle on Jackson Rd. near Wagner Rd., Scio township. A deputy on patrol noticed the vehicle and its occupants sitting in a parking lot. He approached the vehicle and saw open bottles of liquor inside of it. The driver was given a preliminary breath test. The results proved he hadn't been drinking so he was allowed to drive home.

An assault and battery occurred in the 3400 block of Hudson St., Dexter. The mother of a 24-year-old Dexter man called the sheriff's department after her son and a 24-year-old Ann Arbor man got into a fight. It was reported that both men were highly intoxicated and neither wanted to press charges.

A breaking and entering occurred in the 2800 block of Baker Rd., Dexter. A cash box containing $220 was stolen from a desk drawer, which was pried open. The incident was reported by a 32-year-old Napoleon woman. No forced entry was found.

On Feb. 28, a 44-year-old Chelsea man died in the 1800 block of Brown Dr., Chelsea. Deputies were dispatched to a death investigation and were met by Huron Valley Ambulance personnel and the Chelsea Fire Department. The deceased man's brother called for help after he found the victim on the floor in the bathroom. He said his brother was having trouble breathing and he was going to take him to the hospital after breakfast. No autopsy was ordered because the deceased man had a number of medical problems. The Chelsea Fire Department took him to a funeral home.

A semi-automatic 10-shot handgun was stolen from the 1700 block of Knight Rd., Scio township. The gun owner, a 45-year-old Ann Arbor man, said he left for Florida on Feb. 2 and when he returned Feb. 28 it was discovered missing. No forced entry was found. The man said the only people with access to his home were his daughter and a cleaning service.

A 34-year-old Ann Arbor man was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor on Wagner Rd. near Liberty, Scio township. He was found passed-out in the driver's seat of his Dodge vehicle. A Huron Valley Ambulance employee shook him to wake him up. The man refused a preliminary breath test and a half bottle of liquor was found in his vehicle. He failed two field sobriety tests. He was arrested and cited for driving with a revoked driver's license, OUIL, PBT refusal and open intoxicants in a motor vehicle.

A 37-year-old Pinckney woman was arrested for domestic assault and malicious destruction of property in the 8900 block of Riverview Rd., Dexter township. She admitted to causing $550 in damages to her ex-boyfriend's vehicle and home after a verbal argument. She told deputies she was at his home and they began to argue. He asked her to leave and she refused and kicked him. He pushed her into the garage, where her car was, and locked her out of the house. The woman got in her car and pushed her car door into the victim's truck door, causing damage. She then went to the front door, knocked on it, and tore the screen off.

Malicious destruction of property was reported in the 1000 block of Sugar Loaf Lake Rd., Chelsea. A 22-year-old Chelsea woman said someone put sugar in her 1985 Ford Ranger's gas tank, causing $175 in damages.

Educational Foundation Spring Benefit Set Friday

The Educational Foundation of Dexter's fifth annual Spring Benefit will be held at Weber's Inn, Ann Arbor, on Friday, March 12, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Hors d'oeuvres and cocktails will be served.

The evening's Silent Auction will feature merchandise and services contributed by Dexter, Chelsea and Ann Arbor merchants and friends of the Foundation. 120 items in all price ranges will be sold throughout the evening.

This event is the major fund-raiser of the year for the Educational Foundation of Dexter. Last year's event raised $8,000 for funding grants in the Dexter Community Schools.

Several door prizes will be given away during the evening. The primary door prize is dinner for four on the Michigan Star Clipper Dinner Train. Tickets to the University Musical Society's May Festival are another door prize donated by Edward Surgeon, Co. and the University Musical Society.

Further information on the event may be obtained by calling T. J. Spencer at 426-0900 or Doug Christensen at 800-899-3773. Catalogs and tickets are available at Christine's, 8107 Main St., or from any of the Foundation's trustees: George Borel, Dan Chapman, Doug Christensen, Paul Cousins, George Hicks, Jim Hollister, Herb Linkner, Gregg Ottaviani, Stacy Phillips, Sallie Reithel, Diane Schmid, Margaret Smith and T. J. Spencer.

The Foundation was organized in 1984 by citizens concerned about providing funding for innovative and creative educational projects in the Dexter schools. It is governed by a volunteer Board of Trustees. Since its beginning, the Foundation has funded more than $35,000 worth of projects throughout the school district.

Economists say the use of corn-based ethanol as a fuel additive provides an extra 20 cents a bushel to the corn farmer. If a farmer produced 500 acres of corn a year, that would add up to an extra $15,000 to his bottom line.

CAP 20th Anniversary Play Opens Thursday

Chelsea Area Players will be presenting their 20th Anniversary year production, "RE-CAP 1993" on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, March 11, 12, 13 in the Chelsea High School auditorium. The curtain will rise on the over 50 songs and dance numbers in the show at 8 p.m. each night.

Chelsea Area Players community theater group was founded in 1972 by Ms. DiAnn L'Roy, the high school drama teacher, and high school alumni as a way to provide theater to the community as well as teach budding playwrights and directors in a workshop environment. Through the work of many dedicated people including the Chelsea School district superintendent, Charles Cameron, the first musical, "The Sound of Music" was successfully staged over two nights. Twenty years and almost 50 productions later, the Chelsea Area Players are going strong with a yearly season of two or three plays and musicals, a summer theater workshop for students as well as support for many community activities.

Over the past 20 years, the Chelsea Area Players have presented 24 musicals, 11 winter comedies/dramas, an Irish and a Russian theater group, a comedy night, a 10-year anniversary show, as well as numerous summer workshops. In the mid-1980's, CAP began sponsoring a scholarship award given to a graduating high school senior. Close to $2,000 has been awarded to date. Also around the same time, CAP began sponsoring a girl in the Chelsea Community Fair Queen contest. The Chelsea Area Players have raised money and made donations to several community projects including saving the old courthouse and the railroad station.

As the years have passed, CAP has accumulated a large inventory of costumes, props, and sets which have been stored in a variety of places including the Clock Tower building, a Chelsea landmark. In the late 1980's a fund drive was started to provide money to build a permanent storage facility. CAP raised over $15,000 to build a storage barn on land donated by the Chelsea school district at the north end of the football field. CAP and the school district share the space in the barn. Improved storage has allowed the Players to loan out various pieces for high school productions as well as to The Purple Rose Theater.

Most of the productions of CAP have taken place in either Chelsea high school George Prinzing Auditorium or at Beach Middle School. Other productions have taken place at St. Louis school, the Wolverine restaurant, and at Chelsea Fairgrounds where two original plays were produced during Chelsea Community Fair week in the early years, and the musical "Anything Goes" was presented during the summer of 1977 when the high school was closed. For "Anything Goes" the orchestra pit became a true pit as it had to be dug out in one of the open-air barns for the production.

Many people from Chelsea and the surrounding area, including Ann Arbor, Dexter, Saline, Manchester, Belleville, Ypsilanti, Stockbridge have appeared on stage or assisted backstage over the years. Some of the original founders have gone on to other endeavors while some have stayed to continue working with CAP. Ms. L'Roy moved to Texas and has been involved with her company's choir group which just gave a presentation. Jeff Daniels, who starred in the first presentation of "Fiddler on the Roof" has starred in several movies and will be appearing on Broadway later this year. Jan Koenigster has directed numerous plays in the Ann Arbor area as well as CAP productions. Doug Beaumont, the technical director, has appeared in several CAP plays as well as directed high school plays and worked on plays for The Purple Rose.

This year's production, "RE-CAP 1993" is a musical salute to the 24 musicals that have been presented. Selections from each of musicals will be presented with many performed by the original cast members. Over 50 songs and dance numbers will be presented by the 65 cast members for the enjoyment of the audience.

For over 20 years, the Chelsea Area Players have been presenting musicals, comedies, dramas, and other forms of theatrical entertainment in the community. CAP has provided a stage for many talented actresses, actors, musicians, singers, dancers, as well as people who help backstage painting, arranging sets, providing publicity and selling tickets among the many jobs that are required to put on quality productions. The Chelsea Area Players always welcomes those interested in helping or attending any of the productions.

Tickets for this year's performance are available at Chelsea Pharmacy or at the door. For more information call 475-7412.

Boy Says Man Grabbed Him

Police are investigating an incident at North Elementary school in which a parent allegedly grabbed a youngster and told him to leave his son alone.

The man told Chelsea police that he had complained to the school about his son being beaten up on the playground but that nothing had been done about it.

When the man dropped his son off, he asked his son to show him who had been pushing him around. However, the man denied he grabbed the child, but admitted he did tell him to leave his son alone.

LIONS CLUB PRESIDENT Norman Colby of the Chelsea Lions Clubs presents a check to Chelsea School Superintendent Joe Plasecki to sponsor three students to attend the World Affairs Seminar in Whitewater, Wis., this summer. The Lions Club typically sponsors two students each year, but because of the generous response of the community in recent fund-raising projects the club is able to increase the sponsorship this year. Also pictured are Rick Alvarez and Meghan Stielstra, from Chelsea High school, attendees at last summer's conference. Purpose of the World Affairs Seminar is to bring about a better understanding of world problems on the part of high school students through a study of current issues. It also provides the opportunity to discuss those issues with young people from the countries concerned. Emphasis is placed upon promoting better understanding of the causes of world conflict with the thought that if the causes are understood world problems are more likely to be solved peacefully.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

Across the United States of America, the more than 20 million men and women who provide the food and fiber Americans depend on every day will be honored during the 20th anniversary of National Agriculture Week (March 14-20).

Without a national observance, it is too easy to forget the important role the American food and the agriculture industry plays in our daily lives. We tend to take for granted the very industry that puts food on our table, clothes on our backs and shelter over our heads each day. National Agriculture Day provides an opportunity for all Americans to take a moment and reflect upon the many ways agriculture touches their lives.

National Agriculture Day and Week coincide with the beginning of spring, when thousands of farmers across the country are preparing their fields for planting. The annual observance is designed to direct attention to the important contributions made by the food and agriculture industry. The food and agriculture industry represents nearly 16 percent of the gross national product and an estimated 21 million jobs (or 17 percent of the total national work force). Yet, approximately 90 percent of the industry's jobs are off the farm which means that Americans don't have to live on a farm to have their livelihood tied to agriculture.

A large segment of the population depends on agriculture, but have never been on a farm, from the assembly worker building farm machinery, people in processing, retailing, transportation, veterinarians, scientists, etc.

Take time to "thank" and "think" of the agriculture of today.

Dale and Sue Weidmayer Representing Washtenaw County Farm Bureau Promotional and Educational Committee.

Ganger said that after the program she talked to several adults in the audience who had been raped or otherwise sexually abused as children.

"That tells me the abuse is out there," she said.

But Robin Hood is not an appropriate solution, either."

The Chelsea board, along with all other school boards in the county, recently sent a resolution to the state legislature in support of equitable school funding.

Comeau said her primary interest has always been in curriculum. She was involved in the hiring of curriculum director Laurie Bissell, and is proud that now every child is taught study skills in every class.

Another accomplishment she points to is the board's continuing effort to "seek input from the community for improvement."

March Declared Red Cross Month

In observance of Red Cross Month, Red Cross flags will be flown at Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Ann Arbor and Milan city halls during the month of March. In Saline, the flag will be flown at the Service Center on Maple Rd.

President Bill Clinton has issued a Presidential Proclamation declaring March as Red Cross Month. This tradition dates back to 1943, when President Franklin Delano Roosevelt issued the first Presidential Proclamation for this observance.

"The Red Cross embodies a strong belief in helping those in need, from members of our own communities to people around the world," said Washtenaw county chapter chair Maxwell Sweet. "March Red Cross Month is an opportunity for us to celebrate our success as a service organization, as well as thank our volunteers and community for their support."

In Washtenaw county, the Red Cross provides blood services to local hospitals, holding blood drives within various communities. The Health and Safety department offers classes ranging from first aid to AIDS education.

In addition, social services provided by the chapter include the Ann Arbor Assistance Fund and the Emergency Food and Shelter program for individuals faced with homelessness and utility shut-off. A free safe ride program is also provided. The MichCon Heat Bank program assists families with winter heating bills.

The Red Cross also provides emergency communications, crisis intervention, counseling and financial assistance for military personnel and their families.

On Sunday, March 28, the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross will celebrate Red Cross Month, as well as the culmination of its 75th anniversary, by holding the First Annual Red Cross Family Brunch. For more information on this event, volunteer opportunities and other Red Cross activities, call 971-5300.

Dexter Drama Club to Present 'Bye Bye Birdie'

Dexter High school's drama club will be performing the musical "Bye Bye Birdie" March 11-13 in the Copeland Elementary school auditorium.

Set in the early 1960's, this lively musical is about Conrad Birdie, played by Patrick Davidson, an "Elvis" type rock star who is leaving to go into the army. His manager, Albert, played by Carl Arft, along with Albert's secretary and sweetheart, Rosie, played by Keturah White, book Conrad on the Ed Sullivan show to sing the song "One Last Kiss," as Conrad's farewell appearance. They choose a young teenage girl, Kim Macafee, played by Stephanie Tucker, to be the recipient of the song and kiss in front of national TV. With this song, Conrad symbolically says good-bye to his many fans.

Bedlam sets in for Kim's parents, the Macafees, played by Sarah Redmond and John Davidson, who try to house and entertain Conrad and his entourage. Kim has to work out her own feelings for both Conrad and her high school boyfriend Hugo, played by Jeff Wagner. Albert is faced with making a choice between his sweetheart, Rosie, and his interfering mother, played by Sara Bonisteel.

This humorous musical will be a fun evening for the whole family with other familiar tunes including "Put on a Happy Face" and "Kids."

Tickets are available at Dexter Community Education, Dexter Realty or at the door. For more information call Dexter Community Education at 426-0008.

DHS DRAMA CLUB will present "Bye Bye Birdie" cast members Sara Bonisteel (Rosie's mother), Carl Arft (Albert) and Keturah White (Rosie).

"Capturing a major portion of the world market is essential to the profitability of United States agriculture," said Laurie. "The number one priority of the farm organization I represent is to increase net farm income to farmers. In order to do that it is necessary without question to reach into this world market and sell our U.S. farm commodities."

Laurie said farmers support, with some qualifications, the objectives of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) and the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). "We know that it is impossible to move directly and immediately to the type of open-trade policy that we would like to have over the long-term. So, there has to be a transition period. We feel comfortable that this transition period has been addressed in both NAFTA and the GATT. We feel that the negotiating process has enabled commodities individually to raise the question as to what happens to them in the process of liberalizing our trade policy. At the same time we support the inclusion in trade policy of protective forces and disciplines that will allow us to combat unfair trading practices by other countries," he said.

Orchestra Concert Outstanding

The auditorium of Chelsea High School was almost filled to capacity on Thursday, March 4. The crowd had braved one of the worst storms of the winter to be entertained, and the applause proved that the music was worth the effort.

The Symphony Orchestra began with Mozart's "Symphony No. 12," very majestic and bright, as only Mozart could write it. The Hofeldt "Centennial Overture" showed a good interplay between the woodwinds and the strings, and demonstrated the orchestra's excitement about the music.

The Seventh Grade Orchestra made an excellent showing as well. The orchestra was very attentive to director Peter Rosheger and made crisp entrances and cut-offs, one of the marks of an excellent group. As usual in the beginning orchestras, Rosheger had the students switch from first to second violin parts between selections, thus teaching them to play more than one type of music. "Biscayne Bay" by Shapiro demonstrated their ability to play in close harmony in very good tune.

This group seemed obviously to enjoy the music and their director. When the bass section placed roses in their mouths and swayed their instruments in rhythm to "Petite Tango," their director claimed he had nothing to do with it!

The Eighth Grade Orchestra began with the rich, robust melody of Handel's "March from Scipio," a perennial favorite. Next came Corigliano's "Reverie" which featured a flowing cello section solo which was very well executed. The "Peasant Suite" by Bartok presented some challenging rhythms and harmonies for eighth graders which they handled very well. This is a group to look forward to listening to for four more years.

Chamber Orchestra crowned the evening with their precision playing which demonstrated both refined technique and musicality. Percy Grainger, well known for arranging traditional tunes into modern form, had written a challenging piece in "Molly on the Shore," but the students proved they were equal to the task. Their intense concentration was evident as each section showed what happens when a group of musicians together works beyond the level of notes and begins to interpret the idea of the composer. The music was infectious; fingers and feet were tapping and heads were bouncing in time to the music. Director Rosheger was almost dancing on the podium.

The last selection of the evening was Benjamin Britten's "Simple Symphony." Britten is one of the most approachable of the modern composers, and this piece was also well-received by the audience. It was a joy to watch them as they listened carefully to one another in order to coordinate and create beautiful music. In a world where there are so few people co-operating with one another, it is wonderful that our young people have this kind of opportunity to learn that together they can create what none of them alone can produce.

Director Rosheger introduced two special guests at the concert. Priscilla Smith, well-known professor of violin performance at Oberlin Conservatory, and long-time mentor and friend of Rosheger, was in attendance. She was accompanied by Elizabeth Green, professor emerita of violin and conducting at the University of Michigan. Green has written and taught widely in the field of conducting and has also been important in Rosheger's training.

That two such well-respected persons in the field of string playing would attend a high school orchestra concert speaks volumes about the quality of our string program in Chelsea. In the past few years that the program has been growing in size, it has also been growing in quality. Today when Chelsea students meet other music students at festivals, their reputation as excellent musicians has already preceded them and they are held in some esteem before they have played a note.

This reputation for working hard toward excellence is something we can all encourage in our young people. The Chamber Orchestra showed its appreciation of Rosheger by giving him a boutonniere to wear for the evening. We can show our appreciation for him by continuing to support such wonderful and worthwhile music programs in our community.

Bulldogs!

Bulldogs Take Share Of SEC Basketball Title With Win Over Pinckney

Chelsea Bulldogs tied the Pinckney Pirates for the Southeastern Conference basketball championship last Friday with a 42-39 victory over the Pirates in Pinckney in the final game of the season.

Pinckney and Chelsea each finished the SEC season at 9-3, but the Bulldogs accounted for two Pirates losses.

It was an aggressive, physical game from the outset as the Pirates collapsed in a zone defense in an effort to stop the Chelsea inside game, which killed them in the first meeting in Chelsea. The battle inside was typified by Chelsea's Tom Poulter and Pinckney's Brian Carruthers, who each finished the first half with three fouls.

In a sense it was almost two different games as Chelsea was whittled for 14 fouls in the first half but just two in the second, while Pinckney had six in the first half and 10 in the second. Nine of Pinckney's 23 first-half points came at the foul line.

By half-time, Chelsea's Pat Steele, and Colby Skelton joined Poulter with three fouls each. Those three, all starters, sat on the bench for much of the second quarter. That enabled Pinckney to cut a 12-6 deficit at the end of the first quarter to a 23-18 half-time advantage.

"In the second quarter we did lose all our rhythm," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

"And we didn't show a lot of patience on offense. I thought the first four minutes of the third quarter would determine how the game would go, and we took over in the first half of the third quarter."

After the break, Chelsea reeled off the first eight points of the second half as Skelton, Dana Schmunk, and Dunham each hit a field goal inside, and Steele sank two free throws. The Pirates scored their first two points of the quarter with 3:43 left.

With the score 26-23, the teams essentially traded baskets the rest of the way.

Pinckney's Jayson Shore made two free throws with :29 left to cut the Chelsea lead to 41-39. Heavy pressure on the in-bounds play forced Steele to call a timeout to keep from losing the ball on a five seconds call.

Once the Bulldogs got the ball in,

Dunham was fouled. He made the first shot but missed the second, and the Pirates took the ball down court quickly to try to tie the game. The Chelsea defense never let the Pirates get off an uncontested shot. Eventually the ball was batted out under the Pinckney basket with :01 left, and the Pirates had one last desperation try. They didn't get a shot off.

At the buzzer, Bulldogs players and their fans celebrated on the court while the Pirates looked more than a little discouraged.

"I thought the second half was our best defensive half of the season," Raymond said.

Pinckney was completely frustrated on offense. Chris Dunham had his best defensive game on the year. He really caused problems for Pinckney point guard Dennis Douglas.

Neither team was very productive on offense. Chelsea made 17 of 50 field goals (34 percent) while Pinckney hit just 13 of 53 tries (25 percent). The Bulldogs were 7-10 from the line while Pinckney was 11-19.

Chelsea had a 48-36 rebound advantage and committed 12 turnovers to Pinckney's seven.

Dunham and Shore were high scorers for their teams with 11 points each. Other Chelsea scorers were Schmunk 8, Steele 7, Poulter 7, Skelton 6, Nick McCalla 2, and Cory Brown 2.

Steele had a team-high 14 rebounds, while Poulter had eight, Schmunk and McCalla had seven each, and Skelton grabbed six.

Chelsea finished the regular season at 15-5.

The number of women in the labor force will continue to increase faster than the number of men between 1990-2005, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. However, the rate of increase will be slower over the 1990-2005 period than during the past 15 years as the rates for women approach those of men.

TOM POULTER of Chelsea makes a strong move inside during last Friday's game at Pinckney. The senior, like two of his teammates, got into foul trouble in the first half but never fouled out. Chelsea's win gave them a tie for the SEC title with the Pirates, whom they beat twice.

Bulldogs Face Dexter In District Play Tonight

Chelsea Bulldogs will play Ryan Hill and the Dexter Dreadnaughts tonight at 8 p.m. in the Chelsea gym in the second round of the district basketball play-offs.

Monday night the Bulldogs recorded their most lopsided victory of the season with a first-round win over the Brooklyn Columbia Central Golden Eagles, 73-35.

As in the first time the teams met, Central kept the game close early before the tide broke.

Chelsea held a 15-12 lead after Central scored six straight points.

But the Bulldogs answered with six consecutive points, then went on to out-score Central 24-6 in the second quarter to take a 43-20 lead and put the game away.

Chelsea's second string played much of the second half. All three kids up from the junior varsity, Case McCalla, Dan Wehrwein, and Chad Brown, got into the game.

"At half-time I talked about increasing the lead and working on the things we needed to improve," said Chelsea coach Robin Raymond.

"We talked about holding Central to fewer points in the second half than they scored in the first. I thought the kids did a good job of keeping their composure."

Although Chelsea didn't shoot particularly well (25-65) from the floor, they whipped the Golden Eagles in every phase of the game. Chelsea's pressure-defense-forced numerous Central turnovers and held the Golden Eagles to 13 field goals.

The Bulldogs made 22-32 shots at the foul line, while Central was 8-15.

Chelsea held a 52-32 rebound advantage.

Dana Schmunk led the Bulldogs with 14 points and 15 rebounds. Tom Poulter checked in with 13 points. Nick McCalla and Aleksander Seimanovic had 10 each, Colby Skelton had nine, Pat Steele had six, Chris Dunham, and Erik Brown had four each. Matt Seitz scored two, and Chad Brown scored one.

The winner of the Chelsea-Dexter game will play the winner of tonight's game between the Saline Hornets and Tecumseh Indians.

The Tecumseh-Saline game starts at 6 p.m., with the second game to follow.

Friday's championship game starts at 7 p.m.

7th Grade Spikers Split Two Matches

Beach Middle School seventh grade volleyball team defeated Pinckney but lost to Dexter in games last week.

The girls beat Pinckney in three games, 11-5, 11-3, and 11-1. Alison Montero served 10 consecutive points, Jennifer Saarinen served seven points, and Amanda Warren served six consecutive points.

The Bulldogs lost in five games to Dexter, 5-11, 11-9, 9-11, 11-3, and 5-11.

Top server was Sarah Pruess with 12 points. Rachel Spruce had six points, and Sarah Edman served five. Robyn Raymond, Saarinen, and Bree Wireman also played consistently.

Team record is 7-2.

SPORTS NOTES

BY BRIAN HAMILTON

There was never any doubt that high school basketball can be at least a tiny bit fun and unpredictable. You can't have to look much further than Chelsea High School's last two games.

Friday the Bulldogs played before the largest crowd of the season at Pinckney for the Southeastern Conference title, and neither team could hit the outside shot of a jiffy. The game was the winning team barely breaking 40 points, and neither team trying to stall. Chelsea took the game, 42-39, but that should have been the half-time score.

Then Monday night the Bulldogs shot less than 40 percent from the field but still scored 73 points and could have easily put up 100 as they dismantled Pinckney at Union Center in the opening round of the district tournament. Chelsea took 65 points for the game, ever more if you count all the tips, but only eight in the last quarter. If the first quarter had stayed in, Chelsea might have taken 80 or 90 points. And when was the last time all three guys up from the JV team actually played in a district tournament game here? JV Coach Brown ever scored a point.

Friday's game, only the fans and cheerleaders had their rhythm. Fans for both teams were rowing all night long, so much that you could barely hear the cheerleaders. The Bulldogs have their share of followers who love to shout out, even in mediocre non-league games. But Friday there were people who would classify as cheerleaders during their regular day jobs who turned into cheerleaders. People who would come to cheer in a street suit.

There is some that the officials came out of sync. They called 14 fouls on the Bulldogs in the first half, 10 for Pinckney, including one extremely stupid foul by Pinckney's Pat Steele, and Colby Skelton each had three fouls before half-time. It seems like the Bulldogs would get a true test of their defense.

Chelsea fans could sense a conspiracy, with Pinckney football coach Tom Quigley calling the shots, and maybe that had something to do with their interest. Which would be, except the officials to target for an early foul. The three guys who headed out the Pinckney football team in that classic game last fall, right?

But only thoughts of a plot involved in the second half as the Bulldogs picked up on the more fouls, although "couldn't see where they changed their style of play." There was just as much pushing and shoving and aggressive play by both teams, mostly fouled out for Chelsea, although Pinckney's Brian Conners was fouled out with about a minute left. Each team fouled with 16 fouls, but Pinckney was fouled to four late in the game.

Both teams played extremely aggressive defense from the start and both defenses were effective. So effective that neither offense could quite get off. At the end of the first quarter, Steele's conservative free-throwers in the second quarter, most of the wide open shots were in range.

Nevertheless, it was about as exciting as a high school basketball game can get. In the second half, the Bulldogs took the lead early in the second half, 31-28, as they were 10-10 in the second half, simply because there was no defense that either team was capable of scoring six or eight points in a row to get out of a hole.

It was a great victory for the Bulldogs on many fronts. They completed a remarkable turnaround after going 1-2 in the SEC before the holiday break. Back then, they had lost to a team that had a chance to end up on top. They beat the Pinckney team, although they had them for the title. They won the biggest game of the season on the road, an outstanding achievement.

Monday's game was never far from the beginning, although the Bulldogs were never the dominant force. There weren't many fans compared to Friday's game, and after the Bulldogs didn't seem to have their offense going, Chelsea had nearly 30 turnovers and Chelsea took 32 foul shots, which shows how slow the flow of the game was interrupted by Central mistakes of one kind or another.

Chelsea's eighth game against the Central Bulldogs promises to be another hard-fought contest. Chelsea is entirely capable of beating Pinckney, although they haven't done it in years. The Bulldogs come out for what, and it's not a bad thing. The Bulldogs will have to get some scoring from outside after that, but don't let the Chelsea defense will let them.

And it's not tonight would in all probability set up another district final Friday night, which seems like a possibility.

Nothing was predictable about that, though. Seems like every time a Chelsea basketball team has a success, the season is in the way.

PAT STEELE is surrounded by Pinckney Pirates before making a pass under the basket during last Friday's game at Pinckney. Chelsea beat the Pirates 42-39 to earn a tie for the Southeastern Conference title.

JUNIOR VARSITY BULLDOGS celebrate after Case McCalla's jumper at the buzzer gave Chelsea a one-point victory over the Pinckney Pirates in Pinckney last Friday.

JV Bulldogs Nip Pirates at Buzzer

Case McCalla's turnaround 15-foot jump shot at the buzzer gave the Chelsea Bulldogs junior varsity basketball team a 59-58 victory over the Pinckney Pirates last Friday in Pinckney.

The Pirates missed a free throw and guard Bryndon Skelton took the ball up court and fed the ball to McCalla for the game-winning.

"What a way to end the season," said Chelsea coach Dave Quilter.

"This team just wouldn't quit. We played great pressure defense in the second half and that got us some very easy buckets and got us going offensively."

The Bulldogs were down 15-6 at the end of the first quarter and 34-24 at half-time before starting to rally. The Bulldogs' second-half full-court defense, along with 83 percent field goal shooting, made the difference.

McCalla scored a team-high 23 points on 11-14 shooting from the field. He also finished with two steals, two assists, and five rebounds.

Nick Brink checked in with 11 points, four assists, and three steals.

Other Chelsea scorers included Dan Wehrwein 10, Skelton 6, Scott Colvin 5, Adam Beauchamp 2, and James Diesing 2.

Colvin had a team-high eight rebounds.

Quilter also praised the defensive play of Wehrwein and the play off the bench by Beauchamp, Kevin Coy, Diesing, and Josh Inwood.

Chelsea made 25-51 from the floor and 9-13 from the line.

The Bulldogs ended the season with a 9-3 record in the Southeastern Conference and a 16-4 mark over-all.

APR

Our Adjustable Rate Mortgage allows you to enjoy this excellent mortgage rate for the first year of the loan. After the first year, your interest rate can only increase by 2% a year or by 6% over the life of the loan. And you have the option to convert to a fixed rate mortgage under certain conditions.

Typical APR (annual percentage rate) includes interest on loan and other fees, and is based on a $100,000 loan with an 80% loan-to-value ratio. The APR may increase after closing. Loan must be for construction or acquisition of borrower's single family owner-occupied primary residence. Interest rates and terms are subject to change at any time without notice. *Based on a 30-year loan. For 15-year loan, APR would be 6.359%.

Programs Planned At Eddy Center Saturday, Sunday

Two programs are planned at the Eddy Geology Center in the Waterloo Recreation Area this week-end.

On Saturday at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m., the film "The Home Planet," the last in the PBS series "The Miracle Planet" will be shown. The film examines the prospects for continuing life on earth.

On Sunday at 2 p.m., "Waterfalls of the Upper Peninsula" will be the topic of a program by geologist C. Robert Reszka, Jr. He will show the beauty of the waterfalls and discuss why the UP has nearly all of the waterfalls in Michigan.

The programs are free and open to the public. However, a state park motor vehicle permit is required to enter the park.

The Department of Agriculture says that farmers in 1991 received about 27 cents of every food dollar, down from 30 cents in 1990. The farm value varies widely, depending on the product. Farmers got about 56 cents of every dollar of choice beef, but only 20 cents of every dollar spent on margarine.

This Month in Diving

RANDY LAYHER, right, and Al Knack, members of the Washtenaw Public Safety Diving Team, prepare to submerge in Lake Charlevoix for a dive under the ice. Note the safety lines each diver carries and the third member of the team standing by in case of an emergency.

By Randy Layher

March, 1993
Wow! What's all the fuss about diving and why would a small town paper have a column once a month about diving?

Well, let me tell you, diving is the fastest growing sport going and Chelsea is right smack in the middle of a water wonderland. Within a 60-minute drive you could dive a different lake every week for a year and still not get to them all.

Well, by this time I guess you know I am a diver. My name is Randy Layher and I have been an avid sport diver since 1987. In the first two years of my diving career I chalked up more than 200 dives and most of them in the surrounding lakes. In 1990 I became a Public Safety Diver for Washtenaw county and I soon learned there was a big difference between sport diving and rescue diving. With all the training I have taken as a sport diver which included open water, advanced open water, rescue diver, and a trip to Florida for cavern and cave diving and several trips to the Great Lakes for wreck diving and finally my Divermaster Card. Once you become a Public Safety Diver you look at the water in a different way. As a sport diver you can pick and choose when and where you want to dive. As a Public Safety Diver you may be asked to dive in the middle of the night or in swift water as in rapids or in polluted water or under the ice in a rescue mode to look for a car or snowmobile that went through. The training from the county is some of the best in the world partly due to the in-house instructor Jerry Evans and the support we get from Dive Rescue International. But most of all it's the team members that are dedicated to make it work. The dive team consists of eight members who will go above and beyond at any time of the day or night to serve you, the public. But enough said.

In this column I will try to bring to you some of the finest diving spots around and some of the best stories that I and my friends can tell and from time to time try to tell you about the latest in water sports and safety.

For the past four years in the middle of winter I and a group of divers that varies in size from year to year have made an annual trip to a small town on the western side of Michigan just north of Traverse City called Charlevoix. Why Charlevoix in the winter? Well, lots of reasons, but the most important is a shipwreck, the Kueka. It is a beautiful 176-foot shipwreck that lies in 45 feet of water in Lake Charlevoix about a half mile off Irish Boat Works. It sank due to neglect after being used as a party boat during prohibition. Its early history was that of a package carrier in the Tonawanda Transport Line during the late 1800s. Built along the lines of a schooner it had two masts and a steam-powered winch to haul in its anchors. Today the boiler remains as well as most of the rails and decking. This makes an enjoyable dive as the visibility can be up to 50 feet in the winter but as low as 2 feet in the summer months.

With chain saw in hand we set off across the lake. Cutting a hole in the ice can be a lot of work for the ice can be as thick as two feet.

Once the hole is open divers are paired into buddy teams putting two divers under the ice at one time, both tied on a 3/8" nylon line to make sure they can find their way back to the hole. Two divers on the surface will stand by as backup divers in case of an emergency, ready to go in at a moment's notice if necessary.

Once you get to the ship history comes alive. Diving in and around the Kueka you can only imagine what once might have been. The ship is a fish magnet as thousands of fish gather in her hull, mostly small pan fish and some very nice bass. They seem to make her their home for winter.

After a 30- to 40-minute dive you return to the surface where getting out of the 35-degree water can sometimes feel as good as the dive itself. At the end of the day the hotel hot tub can be worth its weight in gold.

Staying in Charlevoix as a diver I can think of no better place than the Edgewater Inn where divers are welcome to walk off the patio and jump off the dock right into Round Lake. Round Lake also has a wreck, "Elisabeth II," a 65-foot pleasure yacht perhaps of 1940s vintage. The nearest dive shop is just a 30-minute drive to Traverse City (Scuba North). Air is available and dive charter arrangements can be made.

If you have a story to tell or a question to ask, "This Month in Diving" wants to hear from you.

Scarcity of Hay May Make Corn Cheaper

If shrinking hay supplies or rising prices put hay out of reach, livestock feeders may want to consider increasing the amount of corn in the daily ration.

Steve Rust, Michigan State University Extension livestock specialist, says that current prices make corn a more economical source of energy than hay.

According to Rust's calculations, before the net energy value of average quality hay exceeds the energy value of dry shelled corn at $80 per ton, the cost of hay would have to be around $45 a ton.

Producers who need corn can find ample supplies via the list of corn sellers that is available from Michigan State University Extension or Michigan Farm Bureau (MFB).

Currently, the list has more than 150 farmers who have approximately 6 million bushels of corn for sale.

To obtain a free copy of the list, call MSU at (517) 336-1555 or MFB at 1-800-968-3129. The names of people who wish to buy corn will be held in confidence so they are not flooded with calls from people who want to sell corn.

The corn list is updated periodically and is available at all MSU Extension county offices and MFB county offices.

MSU Extension animal science specialists remind producers that acidosis, bloat and flounder are always risks when feeding high grain diets to ruminants.

Producers can minimize these risks by following these management practices:

—When starting on grain, gradually increase the amount fed over two weeks.

—Provide plenty of feeding space to promote uniform grain consumption.

—Feed an ionophore to help prevent acidosis. Note that whole or coarsely processed grain is less acidotic than finely processed grain and dry grain is less acidotic than high-moisture grain.
