CHELSEA SCHOOL DISTRICT ELECTIONS drew a total of 1,988 voters to Beach Middle school Monday. There was a steady stream of voters throughout most of the day. When it was over, the school district's operating renewal was approved and Jan Roberts and Sandra Merkel were elected to the school board.

A Chelsea man was sentenced to 3-15 years in prison for second-degree criminal sexual conduct.

Circuit Court Judge Patrick Conlin sentenced Lloyd Harden on May 27 after he pleaded guilty to the charge on March 30. The crime involved a family member and was investigated by the Chelsea Police Department.

Car Vandalized At High School

An on-going dispute among a group of teen-agers may have resulted in vandalism to a car parked in the Chelsea High school parking lot earlier this month.

Chelsea police reported that the owner discovered that vacuum hoses on the engine had been cut.

School District Voters Approve Millage Renewal, Elect Roberts, Merkel

Chelsea School District voters overwhelmingly approved a millage renewal and elected two new school board members in Monday's annual elections.

Voters approved a base millage of 28.89 mills for the 1993-94 school year by a vote of 1,199 to 784. The millage represents a rollback of 2.1 mills due to the large local increases in property assessments.

Voters also elected a Chelsea native and a long-time Chelsea-area resident to the board to replace board president Anne Comeau and vice-president Ron Satterthwaite, who decided not to seek re-election.

Jan Roberts, 37, 11506 Jackson Rd., who had run unsuccessfully twice for the board, received the highest number of votes, 990, in the five candidate race. She is a life-long Chelsea resident who has been extremely active in various school organizations and committees for many years.

"This is something I've wanted to do for a long time," Roberts said.

"I'm pleased to be able to serve the community in this way," she said. She believes she'll be a strong voice for parents with elementary-age children.

Sandra Merkel, 49, 252 Shoreview Dr., received the second highest total of 803 votes. She is a clinical nurse specialist in pediatric pain at Met-

Children's Hospital. She has worked with athletic and parents groups in the district.

"I'm excited," Merkel said. "I'm committed to doing the best job that I can. I encourage people in the community to share their ideas and concerns."

Both Roberts and Merkel said they were gratified to get such a high number of votes among what they considered a strong slate of candidates.

Dayle Wright, who has been extremely active in school activities, particularly at South Elementary school, ran a strong race with a third-place total of 770 votes.

Chelsea native Anne Williams and Dr. John Deikis, a relative newcomer to the area, finished fourth and fifth, respectively with 467 and 378 votes, respectively.

Superintendent Joe Piasecki said the passage of the millage renewal was extremely gratifying.

"In this day, anytime you win you feel pretty good about it," Piasecki said.

"We had a good ratio and a lot of my colleagues would like to have had that total. I am real excited about the fact that it passed and passed overwhelmingly."

Piasecki also recognized the significance of the high number of voters who voted against a basic renewal.

"I think it reflects the times," Piasecki said.

"More than a vote against the operating budget, I think it was a vote of frustration against high property taxes."

The approval allowed the board to adopt a 1993-94 budget of $14,272,986 in revenues and $14,255,483 in expenditures. Of the revenues, $12,837,615, or 91 percent, will come from local taxes, and $224,299 will come from the state. The rest comes from the federal government and state fund for special education.

The district may be forced to ask voters for more money later this year, depending on what the state includes in this year's school aid package.

Not included in the figures above is the amount the state traditionally contributes to school employee social security and retirement costs. Piasecki said there is some discussion that the state may force out-of-formula districts such as Chelsea to pay 20 percent more of those costs, which could force Chelsea to find another $300,000 this year. The money not paid for Chelsea and other out-of-formula districts would be distributed to poorer in-formula districts—part of a backlash from the defeat of Proposal A earlier this month.

Pastor of St. Paul Church To Retire

The Rev. Erwin R. Koch, pastor of St. Paul United Church of Christ, Chelsea, will retire following his final service on Sunday, June 20, beginning at 9:30 a.m. He and his wife, Grace, plan to move to Brunswick, O., a suburb of Cleveland, beginning July 1.

A Retirement Banquet will be held at the church on June 19, in the nature of a "roast," with Walter Hamilton serving as M.C., and Dr. Warner Siebert, a former pastor of St. Paul's, speaker. Shirley Schaible, Virginia Dietle, Pat Whitesall, and committees are in charge of the program, arrangements, and banquet dinner.

Pastor and Mrs. Koch came to St. Paul church in January, 1981. He has served four congregations during his 38 years in the ministry: Friedens Evangelical & Reformed Church, St. Charles, Mo.; Friedens Church and Chapel, St. Louis, Mo.; St. John's United Church of Christ, Kenton, O.; and here.

They have three children and four grandchildren, many of whom are in the Cleveland area. The headquarters of the United Church of Christ has recently moved to Cleveland, and he plans to "keep in touch with things" during retirement.

His final sermon topic is: "A rendezvous With Life."

A reception following the service is being sponsored by the Church Council, Tom Gerstenlauer, president.

An Interim Search Committee will soon announce the name of an interim pastor, and the Search Committee is in process of seeking a full-time pastor.

A NEW STRAIN OF WHEAT, called Chelsea wheat, was dedicated last Friday at Chelsea Milling Co. The new wheat, developed at Michigan State University, was bred specifically for mid-Michigan weather and soil. It resists disease and mildew better than other strains and produces an outstanding yield. The wheat is called Chelsea to recognize Chelsea Milling's financial support for the research at MSU. Scientists at MSU say the wheat is a combination of several strains from various parts of the world. They say the wheat will last about seven years before research displaces it with an even better wheat. They expect thousands of acres to be planted throughout the state, much of which will be used by Chelsea Milling for their various Jiffy Mix Products. The company uses about 2 million bushels per year. From left are Howdy Holmes of Chelsea Milling, Rich Ward, assistant professor and wheat breeder at MSU, Everett Everson, professor emeritus at MSU who led the project, and Dudley Holmes, Jr., Howard Holmes, and Bill Holmes of Chelsea Milling Co.

Board of Education Says No to Willow Run in SEC

Chelsea School District will vote against the inclusion of Willow Run schools in the Southeastern Conference.

Representatives of the seven conference schools, including Chelsea, Dexter, Saline, Tecumseh, Milan, and Lincoln, are scheduled to meet next Monday to decide whether to admit the eastern Washtenaw county district. Willow Run needs support from at least six schools.

Chelsea Board of Education voted unanimously Monday night not to admit Willow Run, primarily because the school has inferior girls and middle school athletic programs.

"Inclusion of Willow Run has absolutely no advantages to the league," said Chelsea superintendent Joe Piasecki.

"When you look to add a school you want to strengthen the league. Their middle school sports are real suspect and some non-revenue sports are non-existent. In some sports, such as volleyball, their involvement is so low."

Chelsea High School Principal Ron Mead, who is also president of the SEC, said "in five or six years, Willow Run would probably be up to speed in everything, but is that the league's responsibility? Most of us would like to have a new school improve the situation for us."

Willow Run has no programs in tennis, golf, or cross country. They have no tackle football in the middle school and frequently have only one combined seventh and eighth grade team in a sport rather than two teams as is common at Chelsea and the rest of the SEC.

In other board business Monday night, the Technology in Education Planning Committee listed its priorities for the start of a comprehensive technology program. Their recent report detailed a $4.4 million program of fiber optics, computers and networks, and telephone communications.

The committee suggested that the district start with new computer labs at Chelsea High school and Beach Middle school, and 20 new computers for North and South elementary schools. Older computers at the high school and middle school would be used in the media centers and classrooms.

The suggestions are designed to fit into an operating budget of $200,000 for 1993-94.

"The recommendation...came down to getting what is needed most: computers at all levels," curriculum director Laurie Bissell wrote in her report to the board.

The report also suggested that the over-all cost of the $4.4 million program could be cut to $2.5 million by scaling back the number of computers at all levels.

Bissell's report said the program could still "retain its integrity" by having one middle-school lab rather than two, two high school labs rather than four, one computer, rather than five, in each classroom at the high school and middle school, and two computers rather than five in each elementary classroom.

Other features of the plan would remain.

How the plan would be funded remains the biggest question. A fairly long-term, secure source of revenues is needed. Piasecki said there has been talk about the establishment of a millage dedicated to technology, similar to the school's maintenance millage. One mill, for example, would raise $300,000 annually. Some portion of the program could be funded as part of a bond issue for other school improvements. And some money

CHELSEA POLICE CARS have been outfitted with sophisticated video systems designed to record what happens during traffic stops, stakeouts, and transportation of suspects. Each system has a camera (mounted next to the rear view mirror) which can be turned in any direction, a small monitor, below, and a recording unit, which stays in the trunk. The camera turns on automatically when either the siren or flashing lights are activated. In addition, it can be manually operated. Police believe the systems will cut down on officer court time because many suspects won't bother to contest a situation after they've seen themselves on tape. They also believe it will help protect officers against charges of police brutality. Chelsea resident Roger Dymond, the technical representative for the system, said the Chelsea systems will also be used to test enhancements. Police chief Lenard McDougall, above, said he is happy to have the systems, which are being financed through the department's drug fund.

Chelsea Board of Education approved a new three-year contract Monday night for the district's 145 teachers, social workers and psychologists. The contract had been ratified more than a week ago by the Chelsea Education Association, the Chelsea teachers union. The contract raises most teaching steps at the bachelor's and master's level from seven percent up to 14.9 percent. The highest raises are at the low end of the pay scale, where Chelsea teachers were said to be at a disadvantage over teachers at the same levels in other districts.

More than 100 people turned out for an informational meeting last Thursday night on a proposed $400 million development in Grass Lake township. The meeting, which lasted about an hour, featured presentations by employees and consultants of Agee & Associates of Ann Arbor, the developing company. The only questions entertained by the developers were from the township's planning commission. One question, which was not answered specifically, was where the money is coming from to support such a massive project. The project, to be built on 1,400 acres in Jackson county, is nearly three times the size of the original proposal of a 500-acre development.

Chelsea School District has decided to call a special election in August to ask for an additional 2.1 mills to offset more than $400,000 that was lost through the Headlee rollback. School district voters turned down a district request in the June 12 election to waive the provisions of the Headlee Amendment. The Board of Education Monday night approved cuts across the board totaling $493,000 in the event that the new request for millage fails. No one will be laid off.

A gathering of 200 determined citizens overflowed Lyndon Township Hall last Wednesday night to make a double-barreled protest to the acts of an area landowner. First, they oppose his attempt to suck water from Joslin Lake to irrigate his farm. Second, they deplore his efforts to violate adjoining wetlands which has been a breeding and nesting ground for wildlife since time immemorial.

Area farmer Todd Lee says he'll go to court if he loses his battle to build a ditch across his property to irrigate his crop. Lee wants to use water from Joslin Lake to irrigate his Lyndon township farmland, where he grows alfalfa, corn and small grain. His dredging has caused an uproar among lake residents who are concerned that his plans could drain too much water out of the lake.

Chelsea Fairgrounds promises to be the area's hot spot Wednesday, July 4, as members of the Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31 of the American Legion turn their talents to the roasting of 2,000 chickens and the detonation of more than $1,800 worth of fireworks. Beginning the celebration of Independence Day at noon Wednesday, Legion grilling pits will become a production line of hot, juicy, perfectly roasted chickens served with cole slaw, rolls and chips for a modest price.

Chelsea police became cowboys last Wednesday when at least 11 stray Black Angus caused two wrecks on I-94 near Pierce Rd. Cattle were all over the road in both lanes, said one driver, who couldn't avoid hitting an 800-pound steer. His convertible rolled over four or five times and threw him 100 feet from the car. Just after the ambulance took him to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital where he is in satisfactory condition, the driver of a semi-truck loaded with automotive parts hit a cow, jack-knifed and rolled over on its side. That driver was treated for knee injuries. Six cattle were rounded up and put into a barn on US-12. Two that were still loose were chased by a policeman on foot and one in a patrol car. The cows disappeared into the night.

Homer Nixon, who has served 29 years in the village's water and electric department, will retire as supervisor of that department at the end of June. Changes he has seen include fluoridation of water begun eight years ago, installation of the iron removal plant in the early 1940s, a doubling of electrical customers and a quadrupling of electricity consumed.

Heidi Sprague and Bobbie Dvorak, both upcoming seniors at Chelsea High school, left today for France. Their trips are being sponsored by Youth for Understanding and a French scholarship fund.

★ Certificates of Need: Poor Health Care Policy

By Terree Wasley

One important health care reform being discussed now in Lansing involves the state's "Certificate of Need" (CON) program. While the House is considering a Senate-passed plan to reduce its regulatory burden, research suggests that outright abolition might be an even better idea.

Under the Certificate of Need program, hospitals and nursing homes must receive state approval before making certain capital expenditures for new technology, expanded facilities, or additional medical procedures. The authority to grant such approvals rests with the State of Michigan's Certificate of Need Commission. If a hospital wants to purchase a Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) machine, a CAT scanner or more beds, or expand services from open-heart surgery to organ transplantation, it must secure the state's permission.

State governments first began passing CON laws in the mid-1960's. The stated goal was to slow the rate of growth in medical costs by encouraging consolidation and reducing duplication of hospital services. State officials believed, for example, that one efficient and fully-utilized piece of equipment was better than two that were under-utilized.

The notion was not without merit. No one wants to waste scarce resources. And at a time when government's share of our total health care bill was rising, it's not surprising that legislators looked for ways to clamp controls on medical spending.

CON laws are largely the legislative application to medicine of the old adage, "He who pays the piper calls the tune."

Extensive research, however, suggests strongly that CON programs have not worked as originally intended. It appears, in fact, that they may have boosted the very costs they were supposed to control for these reasons: 1) they restrict competition among hospitals, and 2) by curtailing efficient capital investments they actually raise operating costs.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle kicked off the agender at the country store Saturday night with the ragged remains of a clip his old lady found in the wash. It reported the hoop to do some weeks back where Sen. Strom Thurmond celebrated his 90th birthday. Them on hand included former President Reagan that ain't a spring chicken himself. Ed told the fellows that the more he thinks about that the less he thinks of it.

Why is it, Ed ask, that people can hold public office after they get to old to do anything else. Show business is a different kettle of fish, Ed allowed, because them old fogies just keep doing the same thing they've been doing another thousand times. The entertainment business fell all over itself recent helping Bob Hope mark his 90th birthday. Hope is like George Burns that is making a new career out of being old, Ed said, people watch and listen to them out of habit. They do the same thing ever time and folks find that comforting, like watching a sunset.

Actual, Ed went on, that might be the same reason politicians keep getting elected after their bodies and minds have rode off into the sunset. Folks have got so use to the same old tired lines they think it's the natural order of things. The truth is, Ed declared, Americans have got to rethink their thinking on putting people out to pasture. He said there's somepun sour about a system that says a school teacher in charge of 30 children can't work after 65, but a United States Senator can keep speaking for 12 million people as long as he can get elected.

All the fellows are long past their three score and 10, and Clem Webster was the first to call Ed's hand. Clem noted that some column writers are taking the reverse tack by carping about the new President surrounding himself with a bunch of kids. Everybody seems to think Clinton is old enough for the job, Clem said, but to many folks think you can't handle responsibility unless you're between 30 and

An analysis by Wharton School economist Mark Pauly compared states that had enacted CON laws with those that had not and found no effect on over-all capital investment. In a 1988 article, Pauly wrote of his findings, "The surveys did find evidence that the form of investment was altered, away from beds toward other facilities, and the consequence of restricted supply was higher prices." Interestingly, Pauly also observed that CON programs "tended to be 'captured' or dominated by the hospitals they were intended to regulate, and that those hospitals used regulation to keep out competition."

CON programs vary in their emphasis from state to state, but examination of the available data shows that when large projects are targeted, hospitals make investments in small projects. When CONs focus on hospitals, investments are made in non-hospital facilities.

The gains from avoiding or removing the duplication of facilities through the use of CONs are small, according to a 1980 study. Only a minuscule amount of medical cost inflation over the previous few decades can be attributed to duplication, reported William B. Schwartz and Paul L. Joskow in the prestigious New England Journal of Medicine. Meanwhile, the CON process itself is ever more costly, requiring extensive monitoring, paperwork and bureaucracy.

In any event, perhaps this is an area where costs should be measured in more than dollars and cents. A 1988 analysis from Northwestern University surveyed the hospital records of more than 200,000 patients in 45 states. It found that those states with the most stringent CON regulations had mortality rates 5 to 6 percent higher than states with less stringent regulations.

Since Michigan's CON program was reformed in 1988, the CON Commission has exercised restraint in vetoing requests from hospitals for approval of capital construction projects. Of 83 proposed projects covered by the CON program between May 1988 and October 1991, only two were denied. Some legislators, however, feel that further deregulation is advisable.

Currently, CON approval is required in Michigan for clinical construction projects over $850,000 and non-clinical projects over $1.7 million. The Senate-passed bill now under review in the House would raise those thresholds to $2 million and $3 million, respectively. The bill would also permit more MRI units in rural counties, reduce the program's ability to micromanage administrative decisions made by hospitals and nursing homes, and cut the paperwork burden.

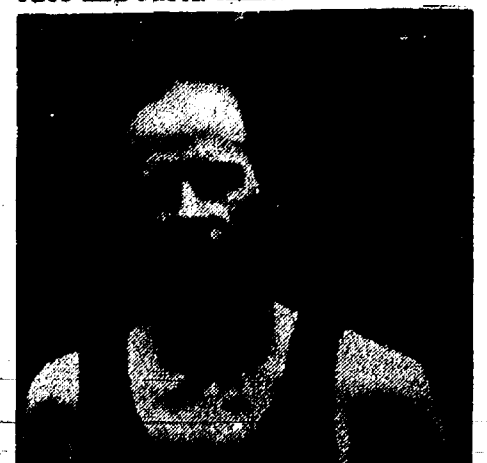

Recognizing the harm that CON regulations have done, a number of states have now relaxed, ended, or are planning to end their CON programs altogether. Abolition of CON programs makes even more sense if coupled with other market-oriented reforms. That would include policies that strengthen competition in the medical marketplace, encourage consumers to be better-informed "shoppers" for medical care, and end the reimbursement practices of federal and state governments that simply subsidize and reward ever-higher costs.

Nothing in economic experience suggests that government bureaucracy more efficiently allocates scarce capital resources than free and competitive markets. It appears that Certificate of Need programs are no exception to this cardinal rule.

Terree Wasley, author of a 1992 Cato Institute book, "What Has Government Done To Our Health Care?" is a health policy analyst with The Mackinac Center for Public Policy, a Midland-based research and educational organization.

Student Faces Charge After Throwing Object from Bus

A Beach Middle school student who allegedly nearly caused a car crash when he threw something out a school bus window at a passing car may be prosecuted in juvenile court.

The incident occurred on Hankerd Rd. earlier this month and no one was injured. According to Chelsea School District transportation supervisor Sally Proctor, an elderly woman was driving in the opposite lane when something struck her windshield and startled her, causing her to swerve off the road.

The bus driver was not aware of what had happened. The woman later reported the incident to authorities.

could come from the district's operating budget.

"Board member Joe Redding suggested that we need a master plan for technology," Piasecki said.

"We will have on-going maintenance and updating expenses. Plus our staff has to feel comfortable."

Also Monday night, the board accepted the resignation of middle school foreign language teacher Karen Schiff, who is moving to Chicago, and high school social studies teacher Bud Janich, who was on disability for most of last year.

The board accepted a $1,000 donation from Dr. Michael Smith for the purchase of chemistry lab equipment for the high school.

The board tabled action on a grievance filed by an employee. Piasecki wouldn't elaborate other than to say there is the "potential for employee discipline."

DIET ROLLER COASTER

Did you know that the body is composed of 50 trillion cells. Did you know that 98% of all the bodies atoms are replaced every year; that your skin is new every 5 weeks, that your skeleton is new every 3 months. What value do you place on your health? Most of us don't take an active role in caring for this every-changing body we live in. If success isn't coupled with health, it doesn't mean much.

What type of nutrition is required so that our cells are fed and healthy? Are you getting the 40 nutrients that your body can't manufacture, but must get from food? If you are serious about improving your health and increasing your energy levels; if you'd like a simple, convenient, nutritionally sound way to get the nutrients the body needs, let's sit down and talk.

Call Susan Bryan, R.N. "the diet lady" for an appointment today (313) 475-2794. Consultation is free.

AN EXPERIMENTAL TUTORING PROGRAM involving Beach Middle school students and South Elementary school sixth graders was tried during the recently-completed school year. The program was designed to help youngsters over some rough spots and help the older students learn a little about themselves. South school principal Lucy Stieher said the program seems to have benefitted all the students involved and it may be continued next year. The Beach students were recently given certificates to recognize their willingness to participate. From left are Charles Harris and his tutor, Pat Wyss, Shawn Schanz and his tutor Amanda Johnson, Natasha Robinson and her tutor Leslie Castleberry, and Amanda Hubbard and her tutor Kelly Curtis.

Thursday, July 2, 1958—McKune Memorial Library, the first permanent site for the library collection, opened Monday. Chelsea Woman's Club, the former Chelsea Child Study Club, began with 22 donated and 100 loaned books in 1932. They began a library building fund in 1961 with a $100 contribution. The McKune house was built in 1880 by Elisha Congdon, II, one of the founders of Chelsea. Timothy McKune purchased the home when Congdon died in 1887 and used it as an inn.

Farm Bureau Still Supports School Finance Reform

The president of the state's largest farm organization said it is very unfortunate that Michigan voters turned down Proposal A. "We have tried in this state for a number of years to address the property tax issue, and this proposal, even though obviously it wasn't perfect—and there won't be a perfect proposal—was in my opinion the best opportunity that we had seen," said Jack Laurie, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Laurie said Farm Bureau will continue to pursue school finance reform. "The members of our organization still support their policy that says we should shift the burden of financing education from the traditional property tax to some other form of revenue," he said. "I think it's probably time to regroup and look at how we propose and promote this issue. Certainly the issue of trust was one that came to the forefront. This proposal, being a constitutional proposal, should have assured that trust—but apparently it didn't answer the questions. So we need to review that and go on from here," said Laurie.

The ownership of property, especially farmland, is no longer a good measure of the ability to pay taxes, according to Laurie. "The increasing burden of property taxes on farmers as their profit margins narrow really is a motivating factor behind trying to shift some of the responsibility for school finance to other areas," he said.

BIG ERIC'S BRIDGE, designed by former Chelsea resident Howard Haselschwardt, used components that were pre-assembled at the Baraga Prison Camp. It is considered to be a prototype for a timber bridge industry in Michigan.

Former Chelsea Resident Designs Bridges Using Timber Technology

While a lot of politicians have talked about the need to repair the country's infrastructure, a former Chelsea resident is doing something tangible about it.

Howard Haselschwardt, a 1974 Chelsea High school graduate, is a civil engineer for the Charlevoix firm of Northwest Design Group, Inc. He has become something of an expert on replacing worn out rural bridges with sophisticated timber bridges. He has developed a computer-aided design program and has designed two bridges incorporating the timber technology in Michigan.

Haselschwardt designed Big Eric's Bridge, which spans the Huron River in Baraga county, and the Eagle River Bridge. His firm is scheduled to replace a bridge this summer in Unadilla.

A 1987 study by the Federal Highway Administration's National Bridge Inventory concluded that more than 3,000 of the state's bridges spanning 20 feet or more were substandard due to natural deterioration, road salt, and changing requirements. More than 80 percent of those bridges are maintained by cities, counties, or townships, which often do not have adequate financial resources to complete repairs.

The cost of rebuilding those bridges, according to a federal study, is more than six times the amount spent by local governments on annual maintenance.

Haselschwardt began his investigations into timber technology while working for 10 years with the U.S. Forest Service, an agency which is touting wood as the material of choice for rural bridges spanning 20 to 60 feet, the size of the vast majority of rural bridges.

The agency says there are numerous advantages to timber construction, including cost (up to 30 percent less than concrete bridges), durability, quick assembly, and superior aesthetics in rural areas. Wood is not affected by road salt, which can damage steel or concrete bridges in as little as 10 years.

The technology uses laminated beams, which can be made by gluing together small pieces of inferior woods. Trees for that wood, as it turns out, are plentiful on state land. The state believes there is plenty of wood available simply by thinning out existing forests, which also has the advantage of improving the forests.

DNR Forest Products Specialist Jack Pilon would like to see a state timber bridge industry developed using Michigan woods and Michigan labor as a way to solve the infrastructure problem and create jobs.

Big Eric's Bridge is considered somewhat of a prototype for the industry. It was pre-fabricated at the Baraga Prison Camp and erected on its substructure.

Haselschwardt's software determined how the pre-assembled components should be built.

"Bridge design is absolutely site-specific," Haselschwardt says.

"But this program can provide engineers with a design process that can be used for bridges in any location. It merely requires adapting the technology to the conditions found at a particular site."

About four percent of the state's bridges are wooden, but they were all built using the old technology.

Haselschwardt hopes the technology may eventually even apply to bridges on major roads and highways. The bridges will apparently handle the loads adequately. However, life expectancy is the primary question. Laminated wood technologies were not developed until after World War II and life expectancy projections of 50 to 70 years are based on laboratory simulation.

Haselschwardt is the son of Howard and Agnes Haselschwardt of North Lake. The elder Howard said his son has always been interested in wood construction. When young Howard was a senior in high school, he and his dad built a hunting log cabin in Sharon township.

"Everything in the cabin, except the roofing and the nails, came from the site," the elder Howard recalls.

(Much of this story was based on an article that appeared in the November/December issue of Michigan Natural Resources magazine.)

Good Lawn Care Discussion Offered

A beautiful lawn is an asset to the environment and to property values. However, home lawn care accounts for a significant portion of the fertilizers and pesticides used in the United States.

A beautiful lawn and a healthy environment are not contradictory terms. On Wednesday, June 30, the Michigan State University Extension Service of Washtenaw county will provide you with insights into the whys and hows of environmentally friendly lawn care and maintenance.

Some of the topics to be covered include:

—How to improve the beauty and health of your lawn while reducing dependence on chemicals.

—What you can expect from organic lawn care.

—How to prevent or control weeds, insects and diseases with cultural techniques, including watering, mowing and seeding practices.

Test plots comparing organic fertilizer with synthetic fertilizer will be available for viewing. There will also be a demonstration of how to calibrate a fertilizer spreader.

The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday, June 30, in the basement meeting room at the Extension Service office in the Washtenaw County Service Center. The Service Center is on the N.E. corner of Washtenaw Ave. and Hogback Rd., with the entrance off of Hogback Rd.

Pesticide Container Recycling Program Set

By Roberta Lawrence,
Horticulture Agent

With the success and experience of a pilot pesticide container recycling program in 1992 behind them, Grower Service, Inc., Michigan Department of Agriculture, and the Michigan Agricultural Business Association are sponsoring a vastly expanded container recycling program free of charge and open to area farmers during the 1993 growing season.

According to Bill Ames and Roberta Lawrence, of the Washtenaw County Michigan State University Extension Service, there are five of the 82 sites in Michigan where farmers can drop off cleaned plastic pesticide containers. "This year, we could grind 150,000 to 200,000 containers state-wide, that will be reused instead of being burned or buried in a landfill somewhere," he said. "We estimate that there were 800,000 such containers utilized in Michigan last year."

Interested farmers must follow three simple guidelines: make sure the containers are triple rinsed and clean; all paper and labels are removed; and that caps and foil seals are removed. Containers must pass inspection by an MDA inspector before they will be allowed into the recycling program, which can be a problem in some cases.

The over-all rejection rate last year was just under 14 percent, according to Ames. Several collection sites had rejection rates below 2 percent while some western locations had rejection rates of 30 to 40 percent.

According to MDA's Dr. Chuck Cubbage, inspectors will be on hand for the actual collection dates to verify that those containers have been adequately cleaned and prepped. "Our field staff will be looking for chemical residues, aluminum foil and caps," he said. "A sliver of foil in a remanufactured plastic container could actually result in a weak spot in the wall of the container."

Once the pesticide containers are ground, they're sent to a plant near St. Joseph, Mo., to be used either as stock for recycled containers, plastic products such as fence post and possible drain pipes, or as a fuel in cement kiln operations.

The collection dates are:

Tuesday, June 22, (Jug collection and inspection), 8 to 11:30 a.m. at Napoleon Feed mill; 1:30 to 5 p.m. at E. G. Mann & Sons.

Wednesday, June 23, (Jug collection & inspection), 8 to 11:30 a.m. at C. F. Braun AgriService; 1:30 to 5 p.m. at Vigoro Farm Market.

Thursday, June 24, (Jug collection & inspection), 8 to 11:30 a.m. at Saline Valley Fertilizer.

If by chance you could not deliver jugs on June 22 or 23 to your dealer, you may bring your jugs to Saline Valley Fertilizer. Goal is to get them recycled.

12 to 5 p.m. Jugs from other dealerships along with those collected by Saline Valley Fertilizer will be chipped/shredded by Grower Service for recycling.

You are invited to view the recycling process. The Saline FFA will be serving a free bratwurst and chips lunch from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

If you have questions, call the Washtenaw County, MSU Extension office at (313) 971-0079, and ask for either Bill Ames or Roberta Lawrence.

Chelsea 1995 Actively Supporting the Community

Chelsea 1995 is a group of residents concerned about shaping the future of Chelsea, and are volunteering their time to ban together and work towards positively impacting the growth of the community. Generally this group networks with other individuals and local organizations to share information and discuss needs, then band together to spearhead a new project or to help support the growth of established programs, projects or functions within the community.

When Chelsea 1995 spearheads a new project, eventually it will evolve to the point that it stands on its own or is adopted by an established group or organization. The focus of Chelsea 1995 is to be a think-tank and provide the initial spark to start, implement and support new projects or activities.

Some of the projects which Chelsea 1995 has had a major influence upon since its inception a few years ago are: the Downtown Development Association (DDA) and the Downtown Beautification Project; 4th of July Fireworks; co-ordination of a Fund Raising Program for the Purple Rose Theatre in the Fall of 1990; Fallfest 1991; Chelsea Farmer's Market; Village marketing and storefront rental; and the Community Calendar.

In addition, recommendations are made and support is given to projects or programs which may be in the planning stages of other organizations: such as the expansion of the Library and possible plans to extend the decorative lighting and sidewalks out to the shopping centers and/or Lanewood as an extension of the Downtown Beautification Project just being completed.

Several projects are in the development phases and need additional support to continue to grow and become successful: development of a Hiking, Biking, Jogging Path—working on funding and finding an organization to maintain once established (contact Tim Merkel); 1993 Bounty for the County Festival (contact Craig Common or Laurie Gravelyn); and the 1993 4th of July Fireworks (contact John Wagner).

Some ideas which are in the works but need volunteers to take over and develop the project, including the recruitment and co-ordination of committees are: an Annual Purple Rose Fund Raising Event working with the Purple Rose Fund-Raising Committee; establishment of a local Bed & Breakfast; and the creation of a local Arts Council.

Since Chelsea 1995 is a not-for-profit organization—and is not formally structured with a board of directors and committees, financial support from the community is needed to continue to support the direction and efforts of this group. Annual operating expenses are about $500, and donations are needed to continue providing these much needed services. If you'd like to donate, please forward a check made out to Chelsea 1995, the Chelsea State Bank, Attn: Chelsea 1995.

If you would like more information on how to volunteer your time and services, contact Lenore Mattoff (313/475-7678) or Kathy D. Finger (313/475-8792), or attend the next meeting scheduled for Wednesday, June 23rd, 7 p.m. at the Sylvan Township Hall.

If you have additional ideas and suggestions to help shape the future of our community please plan to attend this next meeting!

Let's Go Bulldogs!

Bats Fail Bulldogs in Loss at Region Tourney

A lack of timely hitting last Saturday in the first round of the region tournament brought the Chelsea Bulldogs' softball season to an abrupt end.

Chelsea lost to Riverview at Monroe Jefferson High school, 4-3. The Bulldogs got good pitching from freshman starter Lisa Beard and sophomore reliever Carey Schiller, and other good defensive performance.

But the Bulldogs couldn't solve Riverview pitcher Joelle Zajas, whom Chelsea coach Joe Beard said was hittable.

"We just couldn't get our bats going," Beard said.

"Riverview lost 14-0 in the finals, and we should have done the same thing to them. We expected a little quicker pitching, but the ball was there to hit."

Chelsea took a 3-2 lead into the bottom of the fifth inning. With one out, Riverview's Kristina Vidojevski reached on a bunt single although it appeared she had been thrown out. She stole second and Sarah Lockwood followed with a double to right to tie the game.

Beard then put Lisa Beard into left field and Schiller moved from left field to the mound. A ground out to first moved the runner to third with two outs. A wild pitch scored the winning run.

Chelsea got a two-out hit from Gretchen Knutsen in the top of the sixth, but she was thrown out stealing.

Jacki Crawford led off the seventh inning with a bunt single but didn't advance as the Bulldogs popped out twice and struck out once. Riverview may have made the play of the game on Crawford's single because the strong throw went several feet over the first baseman's head and into the glove of the rightfielder backing up the play.

"Even though we had a 3-2 lead, we knew the game wasn't going as we liked it," Beard said.

SENIOR Theresa Hurst played third base for the Chelsea Bulldogs last Saturday in the region tournament despite suffering a severe cut on the ankle the day before in practice. The Bulldogs lost the game, 4-3.

"We tried a lot of bunting and two strike bunting but just couldn't quite get it. We had a good season, but we knew we could play better than we did against Riverview."

Chelsea took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Erin Knott reached on an error. Knutsen hit a slap single past the pitcher, Crawford bunted them to third, and Knott scored on a pass ball. Riverview tied the game in the bottom of the second on a bases-loaded walk.

The Bulldogs grabbed the lead back in the top of the third as McConeghy reached on an infield single and went to second on a wild pitch. Schiller bunted McConeghy to third. Theresa Hurst followed with a bunt, and on the play to first McConeghy scored.

Riverview again tied the game in the bottom of the inning on a bunt, a fielder's choice, and a bloop single to left.

In the top of the fifth, a double by McConeghy to right scored Nicki Piasecki, who had singled.

It was the third straight season the Bulldogs were eliminated in the first round of the region tournament.

HEATHER MCCONEGHY slides home with the go-ahead run in the third inning for the Chelsea Bulldogs. The senior second baseman had two of Chelsea's five hits for the game as the Bulldogs struggled at the plate.

Lisa Monti Ends Chelsea Career With Track Most Valuable Honors

Senior Lisa Monti was named the Most Valuable Player for the Chelsea Bulldogs girls track team this spring at an awards banquet last Tuesday.

Monti was a four-year all-stater and competed in the 1600 and 3200 runs, and several relays. She will run for the University of South Carolina next year.

Monti was invited to run for a Michigan team this week-end in a quad meet against teams from Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois. Senior athletes are selected based on their season and state-meet performances.

"This is quite an honor for Lisa and a fitting conclusion for a fantastic high school career," said Chelsea coach Bill Bainton.

"We are all very proud of her. She is a fine representative of Chelsea athletics and the track program."

Four other seniors were honored with Monti for their four years on the team. Wendy Bristle was awarded her third letter as a thrower. She was sixth in the Southeastern Conference in the shot put. Monica Hansen was a four-year letter winner and an all-SEC competitor. Valerie Bullock ran on the SEC champion 3200 relay. And Laura Paton was all-SEC three years and a state qualifier in the 400.

During their careers, the five seniors helped the Bulldogs to three undefeated seasons, three SEC and two regional championships, four SEC meet championships, and two fifth and one sixth-place finish in the state meet. During that time, the Bulldogs were 33-2 in dual meets.

"We will miss this talented group," Bainton said.

"They were dedicated and conducted themselves with a lot of class when they represented Chelsea."

Distance runner Molly Griebel and sprinter Sarah Schick were named Most Improved performers.

Other winners of varsity letters included Amalia Adrianto, Melissa Hand, Andrea Ludwig, Jill McKinnon, Josie Romero, Laurie Schiller, Katie Spink, Heidi Wehrwein, Melissa Williams, Jessica Flintoft, Keri Kertala, Megan MacDonald, Robin Phelps, Courtney Thompson, Beth Bell, Sarah Henry, Theresa Royce, Erin Schiller, and Mara Smith.

Junior varsity letters were presented to Angie Bell, Rosalind Gray-Lion, Lynne Kalmbach, Erika Letter, Christie Lonskey, Sara Mead, Lori Nelson, and Sara Walters.

Heart & Sole 1993

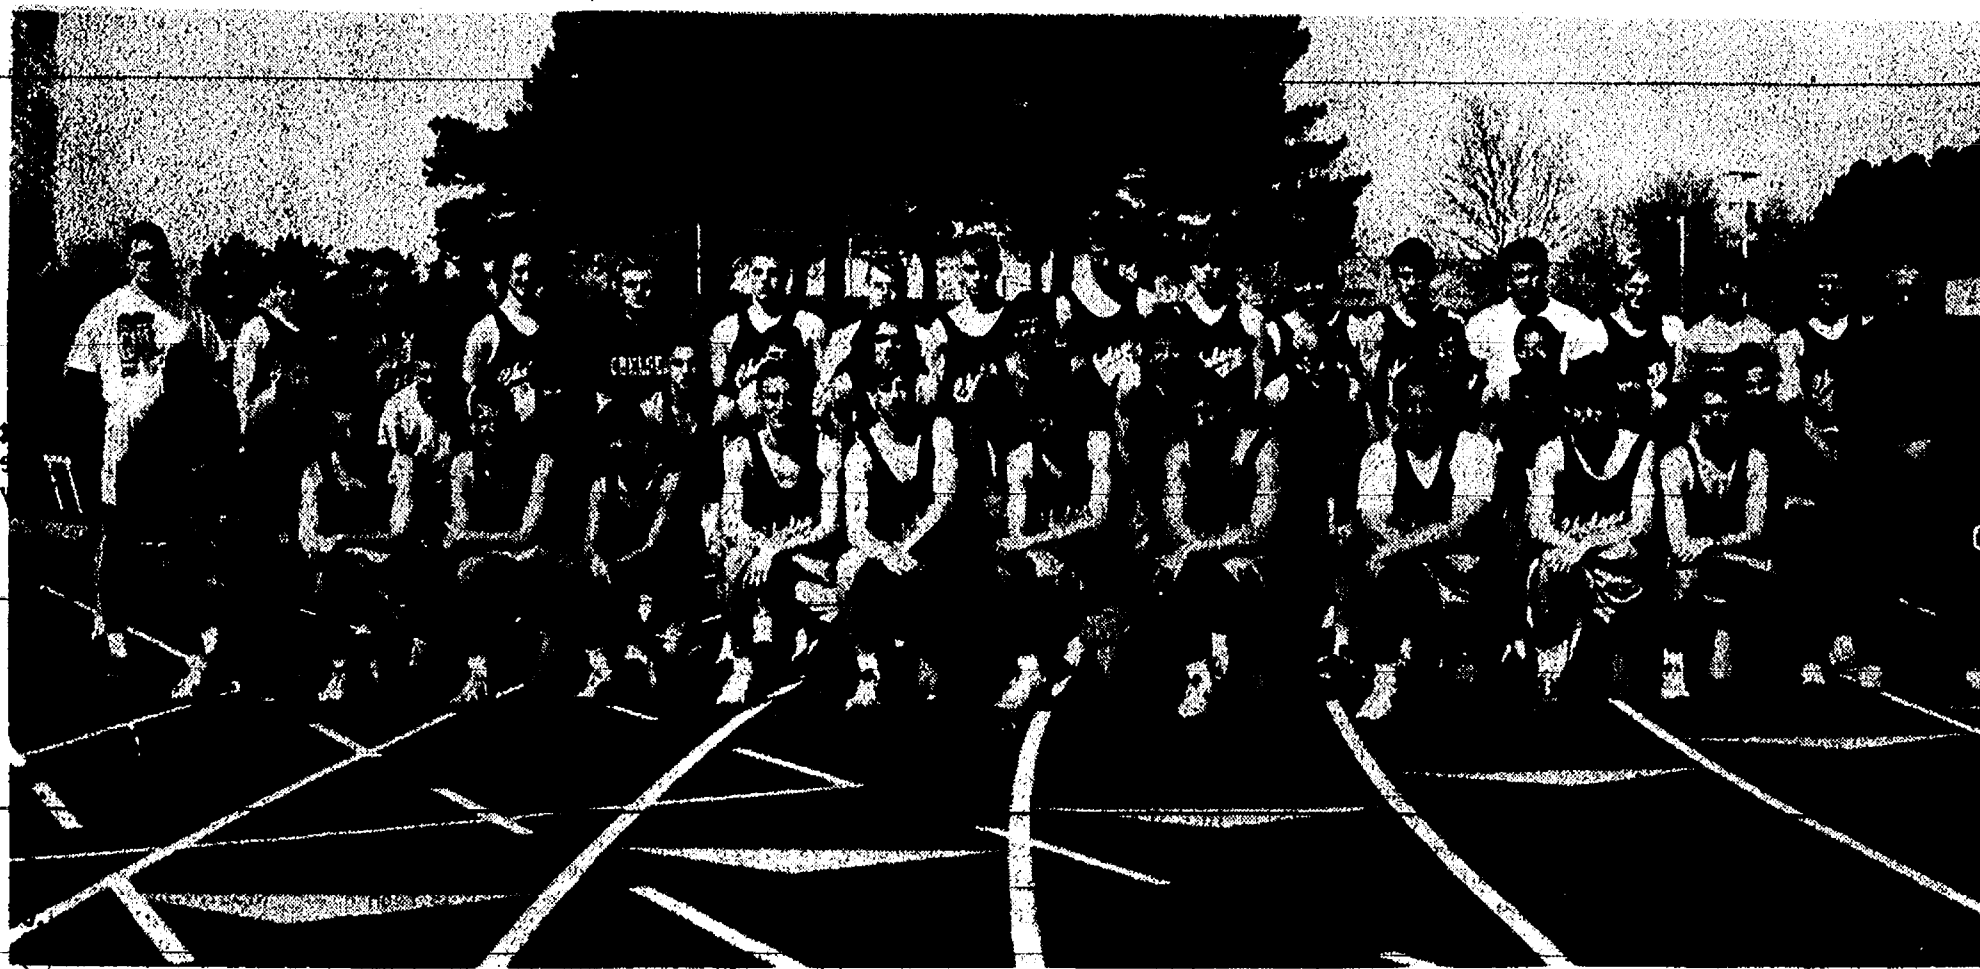

Each year the "Rain Run" aka the Heart and Sole 10K, 5K, and 2 Mile is blessed with miserable weather. Saturday, June 5 was just another example with steady wind and rain greeting the hardy 481 runners and walkers—the largest turnout thus far. Conditions were favorable for fast times however, as course records were set in the 10K (32:58) and the 5K (16:22).

Chelsea residents made up over 30% of the total participants and placed in nearly all age divisions.

Next year's race, sponsored by Chelsea Community Hospital and the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, promises a separately timed competitive walking event, a mutual starting point for the 2 Mile and 5K, and an absolutely perfect day!

Final Hearing Set On Sewer System For Three Lakes

The final in a series of three public hearings on the proposed sewage system for residences at North Lake, Half Moon Lake, and Silver Lake is scheduled for Thursday, June 17 at 7:30 p.m. at Dexter Town Hall.

The final hearing is primarily for residents of Silver Lake, although any resident from either of the other lakes who may not have been able to attend previous hearings is welcome to attend.

Engineers and a representative from the county health department will be on hand to discuss a recently completed feasibility study on the project. Estimated cost is $9,700 to $12,000 per residence, depending how several variables with the project are worked out.

Township supervisor Jim Drolett said the state parks system has decided not to become part of the system, which will make the project more expensive for residents than it might have been.

If residents decide they like the idea of a sewer system, they can circulate a petition requesting the creation of a special assessment district.

"We would probably ask the county to finance the project," Drolett said.

THREE SCHOLARSHIPS were awarded this spring to three Chelsea High school seniors by the First Congregational Church of Chelsea. The Wurster/Crowell Scholarship, made possible by a bequest by Nina Belle Wurster, was awarded for the 20th year. This year the award was split and given to Aimee Armstrong, left, daughter of Charles and Judy Armstrong, and Katie Neal, center, daughter of David and Karen Neal. The George Frisinger Scholarship, given by Eloise Frisinger in memory of her husband, was given to Colt White, right, son of Gary and Linda White. Armstrong is going to Michigan State University, Neal to Texas A & M University, and White to Northwood Institute.

Fruit, Vegetable Supplies Threatened By Chemical Loss

Michigan consumers of fruits, vegetables and other so-called minor crops could see reduced supplies and poorer quality due to the continued loss of many safe, effective chemicals, according to a recent survey conducted by the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Production of apples, cherries, carrots, peppers, tomatoes, strawberries, salad crops, onions and celery in the state will be the most affected, according to Ken Nye, director of commodity activities and research for Michigan Farm Bureau. "Unless Congress and the regulatory agencies act quickly, growers of these commodities could face serious problems," said Nye. "Farmers will likely end up using larger amounts of less effective chemicals. Those growers who rely on integrated pest management, combining cultural practices with the limited use of chemicals, will lose some of their most effective tools."

The issue stems from 1988 amendments to the nation's pesticide-control law. The new law required all products registered before 1984 to be re-registered by 1997. Chemical manufacturers, faced with expensive tests to get products re-approved, generally have responded by choosing not to re-register products with lower sales potential, hence the term "minor crops." As a result, the number of products available to farmers has been cut in half. Farm Bureau is supporting legislation (H.R. 967) that provides incentives to the pesticide industry to pursue minor crop registrations.

Ag Workers Act Reform Would Hurt Farm Employers

Michigan farm employers are concerned about a bill (H.R.1173) introduced in the U. S. House that would eliminate the family farm and small farmer exemption under the Migrant and Seasonal Agricultural Workers Protection Act. "The current Act is already the broadest labor contract in the country, and now the reform is even going further," said Howard Kelly, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau. "This law does protect the worker's rights, but also gives farm worker advocates too many opportunities for litigation and other forms of harassment." Kelly said another major problem with the measure is that it would give farm workers a private right of action to sue employers for safety and health violations. "Farm workers would be able to get workers compensation and still sue their employers. No other workers in the country have that," he said.

County Deputies Report Many Break-ins, Thefts

Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputies investigated a number of incidents in Dexter, Chelsea and Scio township June 1-8.

On June 1, breaking and entering was reported in the 2200 block of Sylvan Rd., Chelsea. A couple reported $6,120 worth of entertainment equipment, coins, jewelry, a phone, answering machine, rifle and sheepskin jacket stolen from their home between 6:40 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. that day. The investigating deputy believes the burglars drove their vehicle into the garage to load the property without being seen. No fingerprints were found.

On June 2, a 47-year-old truck driver from Minnesota was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor and for having an unlawful blood/alcohol level. He was stopped on east-bound I-94 near Zeeb Rd., Scio township, after a deputy received a radio report of a possible drunk driver. When the deputy caught up with the driver at a truck stop, the driver didn't respond to the deputy's requests to exit the truck. Instead, the man tried to pull away. The deputy firmly told the man to get out of his truck, and he finally did. Field sobriety tests were administered by the deputy, who smelled a strong odor of toxicants on the man's breath. The man was taken to Washtenaw County's jail and his vehicle was impounded. A breath test revealed an illegal blood/alcohol level.

Larceny was reported in the 200 block of Baker Rd., Scio township. An employee of a restaurant said some regular customers ordered $29 worth of food and drinks and left without paying for it.

On June 3, larceny was reported in the 1900 block of Grand St., Dexter. A silver worth $180 was stolen from a 10-year-old Ann Arbor man. A 6-year-old Dexter High school boy confessed to stealing it after being investigated and questioned over a number of other crimes, including arming of guns. The theft of the beeper occurred in April; however, the owner never reported it. Not until a sheriff's deputy questioned the boy about other thefts and the beeper he carried, did the boy confess. The beeper was then traced back to its owner, who filed the larceny report June 3. The 16-year-old boy also confessed to stealing $300 from a home in the 400 block of Parker Rd., after being let in by the homeowners' daughter. A friend of his, a 15-year-old, confessed, through his attorney, to stealing two shotguns in January. WCSO is waiting for the prosecutor's office to file charges.

Larceny of credit cards was reported in the 3700 block of Kiver Pine Dr., Scio township. A 22-year-old township woman said a VISA credit card she applied for was stolen from her mailbox sometime around May 22. Novi Police Department contacted WCSO about the case after they caught two suspects trying to use the woman's credit card in Novi.

On May 4, malicious destruction of property was reported in the 500 block of Dincer Rd., Chelsea. A manager at a local restaurant reported vandals spray painted the restaurant's sign, causing $25 in damages.

Larceny from a building was reported in the 4800 block of Park Rd., Scio township. A 44-year-old man said $250 worth of change, silver certificates and a rare $5 bill were stolen from his home. He suspects his daughter's friends after she told him they were over earlier.

On June 5, a 29-year-old Manchester man was arrested for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor and for having an unlawful blood/alcohol level. He was driving a 1993 Dodge Rampage along Parker Rd. near Scio Church Rd., Scio township, when the arrest was made. He was initially stopped for speeding.

As the result of an illegal blood/alcohol level, his vehicle was impounded and he was lodged in Washtenaw County's jail.

Deputies transported a Brooklyn woman to the University of Michigan Hospital for a psychiatric evaluation after being called to a possible fight in progress on westbound I-94 near Pierce Rd., Chelsea. The woman was trying to commit suicide and her husband was trying to stop her, while she sat in the middle of the highway. He also said she had been trying to jump out of his moving vehicle. She was transported to the hospital after deputies tried to talk to her and she became very violent.

A cellular phone was found in the 8900 block of Main St., Dexter by a 39-year-old business owner. The phone, worth $300, is lodged in the property room at the sheriff's substation in Dexter until its owner claims it.

On June 6, a 20-year-old Jackson man was arrested on eastbound I-94 near Wagner Rd., Scio township, for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of liquor and for having an unlawful blood/alcohol level. The man was driving a 1987 S-10 truck 75 mph in a 55 mph zone.

On June 8, larceny was reported in the 2600 block of Baker Rd., Dexter. An 18-year-old Dexter High school student said her leather purse and green billfold, containing $40 and her driver's license, were taken from her unlocked Ford Escort parked at the school on June 4.

Student Trade House Included in Annual Showcase of Homes

The South and West Washtenaw Consortium Student Building Trades program is showing off its student built home in Saline through June 20. The Building Trades Program is one of 17 career and technical education programs for students in Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Milan, and Saline schools.

Chelsea students included John Babycz, David Bolanowski, Ian Dyer, Kevin Reese, Vince Stahl, Keith Strecker, Brett Virzi, and Dan Engle. Dexter students included David Asher, David Byrd, Kevin Early, Keith Freeman, Cory Knieper, Mike Roth, David Willi, and Dan Vontom. Manchester students included Tim Landini, Ken Lane, Steve Raab, John Schiel, and Jeremy Wenger.

Dick Lutz, instructor of the program and a Chelsea teacher, said, "the students do 90 percent of the work. They do the labor and professionals help teach." He sees the program as a stepping stone for students interested in construction careers. Many graduates are hired by construction companies. Students also earn up to six hours of college credits through an agreement with Washtenaw Community College.

The student home, at 486 Bennington Ct. in the Northview Subdivision off Waterworks Rd., is part of the Showcase of Homes. It is a top-of-the-line, traditional ranch with three bedrooms, jacuzzi, three-and-a-half bathrooms, oak floor in the kitchen and dining area, a cathedral ceiling and fireplace, and a gourmet kitchen. Glen Macomber, president of the board of directors of the non-profit Building Trades Corporation, is handling the sale of the home. For more information call 429-9449.

MFB Policy Study Group Appointed

The 1993 Michigan Farm Bureau (MFB) state Policy Development Committee has been appointed. The Committee will research probable issues that will be facing agriculture in the coming year and review recommendations from county Farm Bureaus. During a series of meetings that begin July 27 and run through the fall, the Committee will formulate proposed policies that will be considered by voting delegates to the 1993 Michigan Farm Bureau Annual Meeting, Nov. 28-Dec. 1 in Detroit.

The chairman is Farm Bureau vice-president Wayne Wood of Marlette. Committee members representing Farm Bureau Districts are Harlow Bailey of Schoolcraft, Keith Brown of Jonesville, David Dejanovich of Willis, Lorna Wilson of Nashville, Tom Jennings of Swartz Creek, Charlene Delisi of Capac, Rick Johnson of Leroy, Don Sutto of Saginaw, Gener Veliquette of Williamsburg, Willis Walker of Johannesburg and Jim VanDamme of Rock.

Representing Farm Bureau Young Farmers are Dan Steinbrecher of Iron Mountain, Doug Forraht of Berrien Springs and Pam Brighton of Adrian.

At-Large members of the Committee are Judie Burmeister of Shelby, Ivan Top of Hamilton and Mike Tulgestke of Hawks. Other MFB Board members on the committee are Diane Horning of Manchester and Joshua Wunsch of Traverse City.

Proposal Requires Headlight Use According to Visibility

Michigan Farm Bureau supports S.B.81, sponsored by Sen. George McManus (R-Traverse City). The bill, which passed the Senate, would expand Michigan's current law to require that headlights be used during any type of precipitation that impairs visibility.

"That precipitation could include rain, fog and snow," said Darcy Cypher, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau. "Presently, vehicle headlights are required to be on from one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise and when there is not enough light to clearly see persons and vehicles on the highway at a distance of 500 feet."
