What Chelsea village officials had hoped would be a meeting that would mark the beginning of the end of the landfill license squabble with the Department of Natural Resources turned out, instead, to leave the village even more exasperated. Village president Jerry Satterthwaite, village manager Robert Stalker, landfill operator Cecil Cluse and village consultants and legal counsel met with DNR geologists Barb Vetort and Cynthia Noble and their supervisor, Lonnie Lee, last Friday in the village council chambers. Afterward they took a tour of the landfill. Village officials had hoped they might get a temporary license, or at least an indication of when a license would be forthcoming. However, in the DNR's view there are still several issues that have to be resolved before a license will be granted.

An attempt to establish a building inspection department in Chelsea area has been put on hold for a few months while the performance of the Washtenaw County Building Inspection Department is monitored by a group of concerned citizens. A meeting was held last Wednesday in Sylvan Town Hall that included Duane Evou, head of the county's building inspection department, township supervisors and representatives of the village. Sylvan Township Supervisor Don Schoenberg ran the meeting. Area residents and contractors, according to Schoenberg, are upset with the attitude displayed by county trade inspectors when they deal with homeowners, in particular the county electrical inspector. In addition, some are upset about the length of time the county takes to inspect prints.

Several young Chelsea bowlers were honored on Sunday, July 23 for their performances in the State Bowling Tournament last winter in Grand Rapids. The 7th Annual Awards Banquet of Champions was held at the Kellogg Center at Michigan State University. Tricia Wurster won a $1,000 scholarship and took first place in the All Events category. The team of Wurster, Carrie Vargo, Holly Koscielnik and Annette Wurster took second place in the division C team event with a handicap score of 2,755.

Chelsea 16-18-year-old girls softball team is in Texas pursuing a national title. Team members managed to raise $5,000 in two days to go to the national tournament in Irving, after taking the regional crown Sunday in Saginaw with four consecutive wins. Qualifying for the nationals means they are among the top 20 teams in the country. Chelsea's 13-15-year-old girls team lost to Charlevoix twice in its regional to end its summer season.

Three area residents spent a wet hour bobbing in stormy Lake Erie last Sunday after their 12-foot boat capsized in eight-foot waves, high winds and rain. Tod Tudor, and Jim and Jeff Shepherd were fishing out of Boles Harbor near Monroe when they saw clouds forming on the horizon. They headed for shore, but were still two miles out when the storm hit. The boat capsized, but they managed to flip it, hold on, and wave at passing boats to get attention. After an hour, another boat got close enough to see their predicament. The Coast Guard found their boat Monday off Toledo Beach.

School district voters approved the 10.98 millage request by 93 votes but defeated the one-mill for demolition and paving at Monday's election. It was the third election on millage issues this season.

Area contractors are invited Saturday to look at new, down-scaled plans and tour the former Chelsea Stae Bank building which is to become a district court building. The county board of supervisors rejected all previous bids, which ranged from $110,000, because they were too high. Construction work on the $2 million, 106-bed addition to Chelsea Medical Clinic continues. The basement of the two-level building will provide support services, while beds will be on the upper level. A tunnel will connect it with the present facility.

★ The Looming Threat to NAFTA

By James M. Sheehan

The North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) was created to open vast new markets for American companies and generate economic prosperity across the entire continent. In recent weeks, however, the Clinton administration has undertaken negotiations to radically overhaul the treaty in ways that have nothing to do with free trade.

Side agreements the administration has been negotiating threaten to undermine the free trade components and transform NAFTA into a labor and environmental treaty. Some leading NAFTA supporters in Congress, such as Missouri Senator John Danforth, may even switch and vote "NO" because of these distortions of NAFTA's original intent.

In order to placate anti-NAFTA members of his own party in Congress, President Clinton has been pressuring Canada and Mexico to form powerful supra-national commissions to govern labor and environmental issues under NAFTA. Each commission would be given an independent force of bureaucrats empowered to investigate allegations of lax enforcement of each nation's own labor or environmental laws. If Mexico, for example, were unable to use these commissions to modify U.S. enforcement policies in its favor, it could resort to trade sanctions under the Clinton proposal.

Including such provisions in NAFTA would deal a stunning blow to free trade, which is supposed to reduce government intervention and eliminate trade barriers. The international commissions in the Clinton proposal could second-guess our own national laws and create needless confusion for businesses trying to comply with environmental and worker safety regulations. These regulatory hindrances could destroy many of the very jobs NAFTA was intended to create.

The merging of the environmental and labor laws of three nations is a recipe for endless and expensive litigation—a bonanza for lawyers who specialize in international red tape. The deliberations and decisions of the new multinational commissions are not likely to be guided by U.S. trade law precedents familiar to American businesses. Indeed, as Representative James Kolbe of Arizona has stated, the NAFTA side agreements threaten to "add another layer of regulation that burdens the U.S. economy and impinges on the state-federal relationship."

Trade sanctions and broad new investigatory powers envisioned in the side agreement talks, Kolbe observes, would open a Pandora's Box. Canada could make an international trade dispute out of differences in employer-provided health care coverage between our two countries.

Likewise, the environmental lobby could argue that failure to spend more money to clean up a polluted river furnishes the U.S. an unfair trade advantage. NAFTA could then be used to compel federal and state authorities to spend additional sums, curb economic development, or even shut down factories and entire industries.

This is not at all far-fetched: part of the function of the environmental commission, to be called the North American Commission on the Environment, will be to allow "public" participation of groups such as Greenpeace to provide "expert" advice about regulating businesses. The effects of logging in the Pacific Northwest on the spotted owl's habitat could someday become the basis of a cross-border trade war.

NAFTA, it should be noted, already gives precedence to existing international environmental agreements over any provisions of the treaty itself. Some economists have argued persuasively that those agreements often waste resources for dubious or immeasurable benefit; vesting expanded environmental authority in a new layer of international bureaucracy would only make matters worse. And American workers don't need foreign tampering with the domestic laws that govern their contracts, conditions, or compensation in the workplace.

What started out as a time-honored good idea—free trade—is now mutating into a regulatory monster, all because the Clinton administration apparently feels it necessary to attract the support of certain labor and environmental lobbies who exert influence in Congress. Unless the President reverses himself, the prospect of free trade from the Yukon to the Yucatan will evaporate before our eyes.

(James M. Sheehan is a research associate with the Competitive Enterprise Institute in Washington, D.C. and an environmental policy analyst for The Mackinac Center for Public Policy, a research and educational organization based in Midland.)

LAURA PATON, a 1993 Chelsea High school graduate and daughter of Norm and Lana Paton of Chelsea was the recipient of a $1,000 dollar scholarship from the Washtenaw One Hundred Club on July 14. The Washtenaw One Hundred Club is an organization of business people who support local active fire fighters and police officers serving within Washtenaw county. Laura was one of six individuals selected from 34 applicants, on the basis of leadership skills as reflected in school activities, volunteer work in the community, and after-school employment. Laura will be attending Central Michigan University in the fall where she is running on the women's varsity track and cross country teams.

Puppet Show Slated at Library for Sidewalk Sale

Professional puppeteer Beth Katz will bring two performances of her Red Rug Puppet Theater to Chelsea's annual Downtown Sidewalk Sale and Craft Show on Saturday, July 31.

Her "Love Your Library" show, featuring puppets such as Mrs. Momma Monkey and Bizzard Wizard, will be performed on the side lawn of McKune Memorial Library at 11 a.m. "The Frilly Frog" show will be performed at the entertainment tent located at Main and Middle Sts. at 1:45 p.m.

"Puppets are effective learning tools that appeal to children of all ages," Katz says. "There's a sort of magic about childhood. And when children see puppets, even though they're silly animals, it's as if they're life-like. It's as if the puppets are talking to them. The puppets come to life."

A unique feature of the Red Rug Theater is that it travels on the puppeteer's back. She wears her stage and during the show, all the audience sees of Katz are her two feet sticking out from under the curtains.

Katz, a native of Exeter, N.H., now lives in East Lansing. She began touring eight years ago, and now performs over 175 shows each year, using her growing collection of over 300 puppets. She performs shows with different themes, depending upon the age group of her audience at schools, libraries, festivals and other events. Most of her shows promote the virtues of libraries and the importance of reading to adults and children of all ages.

"Libraries are very special institutions in our commercial society," she says. "It's a place to get something of real value for nothing. Especially in an age where kids are reading less, libraries need more support now than ever before."

Katz, who has two children, hopes her shows make children and adults realize that libraries are important places in our communities.

The Red Rug Theater performances are being co-sponsored by the Friends of McKune Memorial Library and the Downtown Merchants Association.

Children 10 and under attending the shows must be accompanied by an adult.

Chelsea Students Chosen To Attend Showchoir Camp

Nathan Gillikin, Laura Hodgson and Heather Greenleaf were accepted to participate in the 1993 Showchoir Camps of America, Inc.

The Chelsea teens were joined by over 500 students and teachers from a 25-state region. This camp was held at Heidelberg College in Tiffin, O., June 18-24, and consisted of an exciting week of singing, dancing, special concerts and workshops. A final performance was presented by the camp participants on Saturday, June 24 at 2 p.m. The concert was held in the Sieberling Gymnasium on the Heidelberg College campus.

The Chelsea students are all members of the Washington Street Show Choir. Their director, Steven Hinz, also participated in the camp at Heidelberg College.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

After reading the letter to the editor printed in the July 7 Standard, I felt compelled to offer my thoughts on the subject of the North Lake sewer proposal.

I and, I'm sure, a good number of others who attended the meeting also understand simple mathematics. We know a great low interest loan when we see one. Remember, one never figures the cost of his home by totaling his mortgage plus all the years of interest. We also know we can pay no interest by paying the assessment in full up front. Looking beyond the dollar, however, we realize the great benefits to us, as individuals, as well as to the entire North Lake community.

One only needs to stop and think of the single most important contribution to the improvement of public health. It's neither vaccine, nor penicillin, nor surgical techniques. It is simply the move in the 1920s and 1930s to indoor plumbing and proper sewage disposal.

There may not be any little houses on North Lake with half-moons on their doors, but we have essentially the same end result on many properties. One boat trip around the lake makes you wonder where some lots have their drainfield since some of the cottages are close to each other, close to the lake, and close to the road. Many are a step away from being condemned by the health department.

The seeping of effluents into the lake not only makes one feel a little squeamish about going swimming, but it also acts as a fertilizer for the weeds. The past few years, we have been spending money trying to eradicate the obnoxious milfoil. Clean water can help with this problem as well as controlling to some extent the increased growth of the others. Persons living on Portage Lake can hardly believe the difference in their lake water in the few short years since their system became operational.

Many residents have no desire to increase the size of their homes but would, perhaps, love the idea of a laundry room with a washer and dryer or maybe even a dishwasher in the kitchen.

Taxes are a fact of life and so are tax increases that keep occurring with nothing in return. Having my taxes raised for my home's increased value as a result of a sewer system seems easier to tolerate than having them raised for nothing.

North Lake, like all the other area lakes, needs the sewer and having it installed will hopefully end the summer rentals of porta-potties and the nocturnal hum of backhoes.

Carol Loukotka.

Dear Editor:

My family and I enjoyed the Chelsea Fireworks this year and would like to thank those who worked so hard to put the show together. I think Chelsea does a very good job for a small village. We quite often are in Washington, D.C., on the Fourth of July, but do catch Chelsea's when we are home.

I do have one complaint, though. I have NEVER seen such a traffic jam!!! We usually park at Chelsea Lanes and never have any problem getting out of town. This year, we were the second car in line trying to get out of the parking lot. There was a nice gentleman willing to let us out, but there was a COMPLETE STANDSTILL [both North and South] on M-32 for 14 MINUTES!!! I'm used to stop and go traffic moving out of town, but not dead still for THAT long!

I saw some men dressed in uniforms on the road, but they didn't seem to be directing traffic. If we are going to use "rent-a-cops," shouldn't they have SOME training?

We've never gotten into a dead stop traffic jam in Washington, D.C., unless there was a major traffic accident! If THAT was the problem on the fourth, I apologize for all the things I've said and commend you for cleaning up the mess so well, so fast, but if there was no accident, someone should be ashamed that the traffic on a main State Highway was stopped for so long.

It wasn't only the traffic control people's fault either. You people who parked on the Southbound side and wanted to go North after the show [and vice-versa] SURE didn't HELP the mess one little bit. Next year USE YOUR HEADS!

Nancy Hughes.

Pennsylvania is one of four states officially called commonwealths. The other three are Kentucky, Massachusetts and Virginia.

Wish Chris Craig a Positively Happy 21st Birthday July 23rd!

Similar petitions on the drain were rejected in the 1920's and again in 1953.

THEATRE Review

By Maggie Hilliard
Free-Lance Drama Critic

LITTLE MARY SUNSHINE

It was unfortunate that the Dexter Community Players had to change their original summer musical, "Best Little Whorehouse in Texas," because a professional group was performing it nearby; but DCP's alternate production, "Little Mary Sunshine," proved an excellent replacement to feature the troupe's talents.

Sharon Sussman depicted Little Mary Sunshine sweetly without being syrupy. As the weeping damsel in distress (quite literally at one point when a set piece began falling with her attached), Ms. Sussman shone on stage with her characterization of the innocent and optimistic leading lady who battled foreclosure and a villain while ultimately finding true love with the brave Capt. Jim Warrington, honorably played by David Laird.

Martha Guest, as Mme. Earnestine vanLiebedich, was a stand-out with her presentation of "Did You Ever Dream of Vienna," which highlighted her wonderful singing voice. It was a pleasure to see her each time she stepped under the spotlight.

Regrettably, many lines of this show were difficult to understand due to the acoustics at Copeland Elementary school and it appeared that one cast member may have forgotten the lyrics to his song. But on a whole, the audience seemed delighted with several of the musical numbers including, "Look for A Sky of Blue," which made you want to actually do just that and with the ladies, "Mata Hari," which featured Julie Tite as Nancy Twinkle.

Particularly comical performances were provided by Carl Art, as Cpl. "Billy" Jester, David Chapman, as the real Yellow Feather, and Julie Tite, when all three were dressed as the dastardly Yellow Feather. Their romp drew chuckles of approval from the crowd as they watched the antics unfold.

Besides the actors and actresses, one could not help but notice how the colorful costumes, beautiful set and fine choreography added to this enjoyable presentation which spoofed the old Jeannette MacDonald-Nelson Eddy movies and was so charmingly directed by Ms. Ann Vandemark.

I look forward to catching DCP's winter production, "Nunsense."

Pinckney Man on Aircraft Carrier

Navy Airman Apprentice Jason M. Placinto, son of Ralph E. and Diane C. Placinto of 171 Knollwood, Pinckney, recently passed the midway point in a six-month deployment aboard the aircraft carrier USS Theodore Roosevelt, homeported in Norfolk, Va., as lead ship in its battle group.

After more than 100 days at sea, the ship transited the Suez Canal from the Mediterranean Sea to the Red Sea where Placinto is now participating in Operation Southern Watch, enforcing the United Nations-imposed "no-fly" zone over Southern Iraq.

While deployed, elements of the battle group have worked closely with North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies enforcing a United Nations imposed "no-fly" zone over Bosnia-Herzegovina. While operating in the Adriatic Sea, some units also participated in Operation Provide Promise, providing relief supplies to war-torn former Yugoslavia.

USS Theodore Roosevelt is a Nimitz-class aircraft carrier that

Our Teacher in China Finds Popular Hobby of Walk Birds

By Mary Ellen Mynning
Tianjin, China

Dear Friends,
Well the school term is finally finished, the exams scored, and the grades turned in. Almost all of the American teachers who signed on for one year have left and now the foreign guest house is pretty much empty.

I had a difficult decision a few months ago, whether to stay another year in China or go home. The deciding factor was economic. Jobs are plentiful here. I was accepted by four universities and I chose Tianjin Normal University for my next teaching post. Tianjin Normal is a teaching university and they not only offered me more money than my current university, but won me over with the promise that I will teach only post-graduates.

Now that I have so much free time on my hands I have become an inveterate people watcher to the extreme! As I have said many times, China is fascinating. And to understand her people, culture, customs, history, her spirit would take a lifetime, but I am on the accelerated plan—since mom has declared she will disinherit me if I stay over here much longer!

Each morning around 6 a.m. the old men gather in parks, around our university lakes, along the Haihe River, or in street gardens. Why? They are the bird keepers.

The bird keepers are men past 60 and retired. And there are thousands of them. You can see them riding down the street, bird cages swinging madly from their handlebars. Or you can see them walking briskly down the street swinging their bird cages. Both of these swinging procedures are called "walk birds"; in Chinese it is called "liu niao." When the men walk or ride they carry the cages by elaborate brass hooks adorning the tops of the metal or bamboo cages. This exercise often lasts for more than one hour. After "walk birds" comes "air bird" and this is when the men gather at the places I mentioned above and hang their cages from branches. The air is filled with the songs of the birds and the murmuring of the visiting men and it is one of the most common and peaceful sights in China.

When I asked my friend Wang why he "walked birds" and "aired birds" he said he enjoyed their music and companionship and that there was too little of the music of birds in the air. This is something I understand totally.

In the north there are few birds, and these are of the sparrow and crow variety, all the lovely birds have vanished long ago. You see, for years they had been shot at, frightened by clanging pots and shouting people until they dropped dead of exhaustion.

This had been decreed by Chairman Mao for he declared they were a health hazard. Mao had a lot of thoughts on this subject. That is why he cut down so many trees and had all the grass pulled up—for the insects were also a problem, he believed.

Now Beijing is busy planting new trees, trying to encourage grass to grow where there is only swept barren hard-packed dirt, if Beijing doesn't do this, it will be a desert city in a matter of years.

So far efforts are being made on every level to "regreen" the city, for every year each child in Beijing has to plant a tree in or near the city—and Beijing has a lot of children.

One added note of interest. I have never seen a woman with a bird cage [unless she is selling them]. It is a "man only" hobby.

Well, more on people watching later. Bye.

BIRDS are enjoying the view along the Haihe River in Tianjin, China.

MY STUDENT enjoys looking at the Orioles, Thrushes and Larks at a local street garden.

FIRST AID FOR EYE INJURIES

Chemicals In The Eye: This is a potentially blinding injury. Immediately flush the eye with water, holding the eye open with your fingers.

Flush generously for fifteen minutes and then seek medical help. If water is not available, flush with any safe liquid—basically anything that is safe to drink is O.K.

Foreign Object In The Eye: Gasp your eyelashes and pull the upper lid down over the lower lid to try to dislodge the object. Let your tears try to wash it away. If it can't be removed this way, see a physician.

Lacerations: If the eyelid or eye has been cut, very gently cover the eye with a bandage without applying too much pressure, and seek medical attention immediately. Don't try to rinse the eye or remove embedded material.

Blunt Trauma: Apply a cold compress over the eye. If blurring persists, see a physician.

Contact Lens Overwear: After removing contacts, apply cold compresses. Expect several hours of irritation or discomfort, but if pain does not subside, see a physician.

Chelsea Area Players Features 'Gypsy' as Third Decade Begins

Chelsea Area Players kicks off its third decade of music, drama, and fun with performances of "Gypsy" this week and next in the George Prinzing Auditorium at Chelsea High School.

Gypsy is the story of Mama Rose, who dreams that her two girls will one day be stars in vaudeville. It's the story of a dominating mother and her dream—and how she affects her children over the span of a couple of decades.

Roxanne Kring, who worked professionally in theatre for a number of years in the midwest and previously starred here as Kathy in "Singin' in the Rain" and Moonbeam McSwine in "Li'l Abner" has the role of Mama Rose. Kring finds herself in an unusual situation as she is nearly six months pregnant with her first child. Costume designer Sally Doucette is providing a "Gypsy" look—usual costumes for Kring, who says the play is helping her through her pregnancy because it's giving her both exercise and an outside focus.

"This is a role I've wanted to do for a long time," Kring says. "I know the director (Kerry Graves) and I like her work. Plus, I know it will be a while before I have this much time and energy again."

Kring calls Gypsy a "strenuous show" because she will be on stage virtually the entire time. She'll have to move around a lot, but won't have to dance. "I'm glad there aren't a lot of big, huge numbers for me," she says. Gypsy has nine songs with a lot of recognizable tunes. Although it's a musical, there are some highly dramatic elements, Kring says.

Kring says she was surprised by how smoothly the early rehearsals went. There are 53 named characters and "along with them come a lot of requirements."

"After our first run-through, we thought 'this went pretty smoothly'," Kring says.

"Normally at that point we're into panic mode."

In general, Kring says, she has been impressed with CAP productions and the mission of the organization in general.

"This is a very good community theatre," Kring says.

"There is a lot of community support and a lot of loyalty. The number of people who came back to work on the 'Recap' show was incredible and that by itself speaks very well of Chelsea Area Players. There are a lot of deep feelings connected with the organization, which almost ensures its success."

She also notes the organization does not exist just for a few people to have fun. Proceeds beyond expenses go back to the community in the form of scholarships and equipment. The group has bought lighting equipment and this year is raising money to help purchase new curtains for the stage.

Those who attend Gypsy will see some CAP regulars as well as some new faces. Performances are July 23 and 24, and July 29-31.

SPORTS

Let's Go
Bulldogs!

Chelsea Summer Baseball Team Wins Two Games, Takes Second

Chelsea summer Connie Mack baseball team won two of three games last week to move into second place in the league.

On Monday, July 12, the Bulldogs won their fourth game in a row with a 13-6 victory over Ann Arbor.

The game started off a little shaky for Chelsea as they gave up five runs in the first inning on four hits, two walks, and two errors.

But Chelsea rallied for three runs in the bottom of the inning, highlighted by a double by Scott Colvin.

After Ann Arbor took a 6-3 lead in the top of the second, Chelsea sent 10 batters to the plate in the bottom of the inning and scored six runs on five hits. A double by Steve Grau and a triple by Nick McCalla did most of the damage to put Chelsea up 9-6.

In the third inning, Matt Powell and Tim Wescott each singled and scored to increase the lead to 11-6.

Colvin knocked in two more runs in the fifth to end the scoring for the Bulldogs.

Grau pitched the first five innings for Chelsea, and Aric Dougherty finished the game.

Chelsea had 14 hits for the game, including three hits by Colvin, two each by McCalla, Powell, and Wescott, and singles by Jeff Branch, Dirk Wales, and Ed Greenleaf. It ended a three-game stretch in which the Bulldogs had 40 runs on 38 hits.

However, undefeated Brighton handed the Bulldogs an 8-1 loss on Tuesday, July 13.

Chelsea's only run scored on an error after Wescott walked in the third. Brighton scored one run in the third, two in each of the fourth, fifth, and sixth innings, and one in the seventh.

Two hits by Grau and one by Jason McVittie were the extent of the Chelsea offense.

"The Brighton pitcher did an outstanding job," said Chelsea coach Axel Marshall.

"He struck out 15."

Branch was the Chelsea pitcher and gave up seven runs but pitched better than that, Marshall said. Wescott came on in the sixth and finished the game.

Chelsea pounded Pinckney on Thursday, July 15, 13-3.

The Bulldogs scored in every inning, accumulating 15 hits.

In the first, Powell walked and Wescott singled and both scored on sacrifices.

In the second, Branch doubled and scored on a single by Powell.

Pinckney picked up a run in the second to pull within 3-1.

Chelsea batted around in the third as they scored four runs on four hits; keyed by a triple by Powell and double by Grau.

Ahead 7-3 after three innings, Chelsea picked up one run in the fourth on singles by Dougherty and Ken Slane and a sacrifice by Colby Skelton.

Chelsea increased the lead to 10-3 in the fifth on a single by Wales and four straight walks.

A Wescott double drove home Powell and James Courdway in the sixth, and a single by Skelton in the seventh drove in Dougherty.

Wescott and Powell each had three hits, Skelton hit two singles, Branch and Grau each doubled, and Slane, Courdway, and Wales each singled.

Powell and Wescott, the 1-2 hitters in the line-up, reached base 10 times and scored five runs.

Powell pitched a complete game. He allowed three hits, walked four, and struck out six.

Chelsea has a 7-5 record.

Gospel Singing Duo Appearing Sunday at Full Gospel Church

The Hendersons, a Gospel-singing husband and wife team from Danville, Va., will be presenting a music outreach at Chelsea Full Gospel Church this Sunday at 11 a.m.

This year's appearance marks the second visit of the Hendersons to the Chelsea area. The couple travels extensively each year presenting their upbeat evangelistic message in a variety of churches.

The Chelsea Full Gospel church meets in the Faith in Action building along the north entrance to the Chelsea Community Hospital.

For more information, please call 475-7379.

St. Mary's Hosting First Meeting of RCIA Program

St. Mary's Catholic Parish will be hosting its first meeting of the RCIA program on Tuesday, Aug. 3, at 7:30 p.m. at the parish rectory on Old US-12, Chelsea.

This program addresses itself to anyone who is non-affiliated with any Christian sect but is interested in learning more about Christianity; anyone who is a baptized Christian who is interested in learning more about Catholic Christianity; or anyone who is Catholic but has not been active in their practice and is interested in renewing their participation in a Catholic community.

The meeting will be conducted by the parish staff and member of the Parish RCIA Team. All interested adults are invited to attend.

Good news for vegetable lovers! U.S. farmers this spring are expected to harvest six percent more fresh-market vegetables like sweet corn, lettuce and tomatoes. Given normal weather, retail prices should be below last year's elevated levels.

'Nooner' Run Extended At Purple Rose Theatre

Purple Rose Theatre Company will extend the performance run of Nooner, a new comedy by Michigan playwright Kim Carney, through Sunday, Aug. 29. The production, which began previews on June 17, was scheduled to close an eight-week run on Aug. 8; however, the popular demand for tickets has sold out a majority of the July shows. Performances of Nooner for the remainder of the run will be Wednesdays through Saturdays at 8 p.m. with Sunday shows at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. All performances are at the Purple Rose Theatre Company's Garage Theatre, 137 Park St., Chelsea.

Nooner is set in a Manhattan hotel room where two hopeful lovers, Frank Yeuhaus and Joyce Minardos, stumble through an afternoon of desperation and delight. Frank and Joyce have been meeting and fantasizing about each other for years while riding up and down the elevator at work. When the pair finally agree to a lunch date, their spontaneity and curious passion leads them to one of New York's finest hotels. Once there, unexpected visitors and guilt pangs from this potentially adulterous afternoon interrupt their romantic tryst.

Nooner was written by Kim Carney, one of Michigan's talented new playwrights and a member of the Purple Rose Theatre Company Playwrights Unit. This World Premier of Nooner will mark the first play developed through the efforts of the PRTC Playwrights Unit, under the supervision of T. Newell Krug, PRTC artistic director. Ms. Carney's earlier works have been produced at other Michigan theatres, including Photographic Memories at the Boars-Head Theatre in 1987 and again recently at the Baldwin Theatre; and Bombshells, produced at the Boars-Head Theatre in 1988 and at the University of Detroit Theatre Company with her other one-act, Influence, in October, 1992. This production of Nooner will be the fifth original work by a Michigan playwright to be produced by the Purple Rose Theatre since the company was founded in 1991.

Leading the Nooner cast is John Seibert as Frank and Marie O'Donnell as Joyce. Remaining members of the cast include Todd E. Babcock, Mary Kay Cook, Barbara Coven, Randall Godwin, Ed Guest and Mary Vinette. The original cast will remain in their roles for the additional performances through Sunday, Aug. 29.

Nooner is directed by Guy Sanville, a guest director for the Purple Rose

Michigan Kiwanians To Meet in Ypsilanti

Kiwanis Club members, their families and guests from around the state will convene at the 78th annual Michigan District Convention, Aug. 19-22, at the Radisson on the Lake and Corporate Education Center.

The four-day event, which is expected to attract over 1,000 people, will begin with a golf outing at the Huron Golf Course on Aug. 19. Other social activities include a Friday "Family Fun Night" at the Ypsilanti Heritage Festival Aug. 20.

"Our convention will allow us to really showcase the Ypsilanti-Ann Arbor area and have a positive economic impact to Washtenaw county," said Kiwanian Dennis Dimoff, chairperson of the event. "The last time the convention was held in this area was 20 years ago; this is a special honor."

"Discover the Spirit" is the theme of this year's convention which refers to the Kiwanis objective of building better communities through volunteer service.

The main business of the convention is to elect the State Kiwanis leadership for the coming administrative year. Kiwanis delegates will also hear about a pilot project in Michigan that may develop into a world-wide Kiwanis effort to address the iodine deficiency in Third World Countries.

Those scheduled to address the Convention activities include: Ypsilanti businessman, John W. Barfield; Lowell Perry, director of the Michigan Department of Labor; and Cynthia Hudgins Wilbanks, president of Michigan Children, and a former aid to Eastern Michigan University Regent Carl Pursell when the latter served in the U.S. Congress.

For further information on the Kiwanis District Convention, call the Convention Hotline at 313/741-4060 or Mary Kerr at the Ypsilanti Area Visitors and Convention Bureau at 313/482-4920.

General fund appropriations may also be made to cover such additional costs and expenses.

SECTION VI. SEVERABILITY. Should any provision or part of the within Ordinance be declared by a Court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unenforceable, the same shall not affect the validity or enforceability of the balance of this Ordinance which shall remain in full force and effect.

Unusual Sight Greet Visitors Downtown Thursday Afternoon

While a steady stream of shoppers took advantage of an anniversary sale at Johnson's How-To Store early last Thursday afternoon, a customer of the hardware store earlier that morning sat in his car, parked immediately outside the store's open doors, for nearly an hour and a half with a bed-sheet draped over his head and seat.

According to Chelsea police, a 77-year-old Grass Lake man made a purchase at the store at about 9 a.m. and returned to his car sometime later. At about noon, another shopper went into the hardware store to ask how long the man had been sitting in his car.

Rescue squads arrived quickly, only to find out the man was dead—slumped over the steering wheel with the key in his hand, the key turned to the start position in the ignition.
