JOHN DEIKIS of Chelsea had his restored 1953 MG Roadster on display at the Antique and Classic Car Show last Saturday, sponsored by the Chelsea Classic Cruisers club. The right-hand drive car can reach a top speed of about 75, and Deikis will take it for fairly long drives. His car was one of about 120 cars at the show. The turnout was about twice the number organizers expected. It was all part of the annual Sidewalk Sale.

School Board Approves Monday Staff Meetings On Improvement Issues

Classes will begin 30 minutes later than usual each Monday at Chelsea High school this year to allow the staff to work on school improvement issues.

Monday night the Board of Education approved the request, which is an extension of a program started last spring when the high school staff took the entire first period.

Teachers will use the 30 minutes, along with part of the zero hour, to discuss innovations in teaching and a host of other issues.

The board also approved two one-half days for staff at North and South Elementary schools and Beach Middle school to work on school improvement. The half-days will be taken in January and June.

The board has requested quarterly reports on the high school program.

The board also approved five goals for the year: continuing to work on the curriculum; devising a plan for district facilities as well as a plan for implementing the recent technology plan; increasing communication with the public; continuing school improvement activities; and development of a data base for planning.

Although the board wants to create a facilities plan, it does not necessarily mean there won't be a bond issue election during the next school year, said superintendent Joe Piascecki. However, Piascecki said it will be difficult to come up with a proposal until the state solves the school funding issue for next year. He also said the federal budget plan could have an impact.

As part of the communications goal, the district plans to commission another Project Outreach survey to see how residents feel about the schools. Other parts of the goal include a survey of graduates from five years ago, a survey to determine the success of the new advisor program to be implemented at the high school this year, and finding more ways to reach the public on a systematic basis. The format of the Chelsea Challenge may change and the district plans to send copies of its annual report to everyone in the district.

The school improvement goal includes finding ways to educate the public about school improvement issues, finding ways to involve high school students in high school improvement, and looking at how school ideas will be implemented.

In other business, new bleachers will be installed on the east side of the high school gym at a cost of $43,075, all of which comes from the district's maintenance millage. C.R. Equipment Sales of Lansing won the bid. The current bleachers are the original bleachers and the mechanisms are not always working properly.

The district set its over-all millage rate at 37.0275 mills. However, it was discovered after the meeting that the board will have to approve an additional .0010 mills, for a total of 37.0285 mills, due to an addition error.

The over-all millage includes an operating millage of 35.6285 mills and

Chelsea-Area Man Gets Jail Sentences For Sexual Abuse

A 43-year-old Chelsea-area man has been sentenced in circuit court to two prison terms in connection with the repeated sexual molestation of a teenage girl over three years.

Alan Joel White, who pleaded no contest on May 25 to two counts of first-degree criminal sexual conduct, was sentenced by Judge Patrick J.

Conlin to two prison terms of 15-45 years, which will be served concurrently. White's plea does not admit guilt but is treated as a guilty plea at sentencing.

White, the father of five children, was accused of molesting a girl beginning when she was 14 years old and continuing until she was 17.

CHELSEA POST OFFICE joined post offices throughout the county in a food drive last month. Midwest flooding has depleted many local charitable organizations of food, and the drive was held to help relieve that situation. Food collected here will be distributed to Faith in Ac-

Village Losing Money In Trash Program, Eyes Building Transfer Site

Village residents are almost certain to be paying more to have their trash hauled away within the next several months.

The village appears to be on the verge of making a final decision to build a trash transfer station at the Chelsea Solid Waste Facility on Werkner Rd. in Lyndon township.

During a work session after last Tuesday's regular village council meeting, Solid Waste Committee Chair Frank Hammer said the village lost $3,282 in trash disposal costs in June.

The village took in 723 1/4 yards of trash to generate $8,533 in revenues. However, waste hauler Browning-Ferris Industries, Inc. (BFI) charged $11,815 to take the trash away to their landfill.

The village had hoped it could use its interim program for more than a year to allow time to seek federal money for the station. However, no one anticipated losing so much money.

The problem, Hammer said, is caused because the village has no way to compact the trash before it is taken away by BFI. He said a compactor, which would be incorporated into a transfer station, would allow about six times as much trash to be hauled away on each trip.

Hammer's rough estimates for the transfer station showed the station in June could have made about $5,300.

If the station is built large enough to take in 18,000 yards of trash per year, the village could make about $170,000 annually.

The estimates are exclusive of labor costs to run the station. They also do not include the collection and hauling of demolition.

It's likely the village will use a bond issue to raise funds for the project. How the bonds would be paid off is not known. The village could levy up to three mills for waste disposal, an option it has under state law. It could raise both sticker fees for residents and tipping fees for township residents and other station users. There was some discussion of including the transfer station in a larger bond issue that would also finance the cover for the landfill cell and perhaps improvements to Gene Dr.

Village manager Jack Myers said the village could sell bonds totaling less than $1 million without a referendum.

The village has been given its blessing by Lyndon township and Hammer said Dexter township is an enthusiastic supporter of the project. Sylvan and Lima townships had preferred that the station be built further south, although no other site ever materialized.

Study Planned on Space Needs for Village Offices

The village plans to commission a study to determine how much space its municipal office building should have.

Village council authorized a study, to cost $6,000 or less, as the first step in determining whether a new office complex should be built. The village will seek bids from architectural firms for the study, according to assistant village manager Bruce Pindzia.

The study will also "let us get a little better handle on [handicap access] requirements," Pindzia said.

Pindzia said he was surprised to learn recently that handicap requirements are stricter for a municipality than a private business.

That, Pindzia said, may make renovation of the existing office complex more feasible for a company should the village decide to sell it. Members of Chelsea's Downtown Development Authority recently urged village council to consider renovating the quarters rather than constructing new facilities, partly out of fear that the current building would not be usable if the village abandons it.

The village hall does not meet handicap requirements for a whole list of items, from doors and corridors, to bathrooms, to access to the second and third floors. The village moved council meetings from the building to Sylvan Town Hall several years ago because the former meeting room was not handicap accessible.

Pindzia said the village is "not leaning in any direction" as it studies whether to renovate or build anew. However, he said he would not be surprised to learn that the current building has plenty of room if it is utilized more efficiently. The entire third floor is unoccupied.

Property Tax Reform May Hit Local Government, DDA Financing

Local units of government, including the Village of Chelsea and surrounding townships, stand to lose money under the state legislature's recent action to eliminate property taxes as a mechanism for funding school operations.

Included in Senate Bill 1, which is awaiting Gov. John Engler's signature later this month, is a provision that changes when property assessments will be used to calculate taxes.

Under current law, assessments are determined by Dec. 31 and applied to taxes the following year. For example, assessments made this December would ordinarily determine village summer tax bills and township winter tax bills in 1994.

The new legislation requires taxes to be based on assessments one year earlier. For example, this year's assessments would be the basis for summer and winter taxes in 1995.

The impact of the change is harsher than a straight freeze because units of government will never be able to collect as much money as they ordinarily would have.

The new law also jeopardizes many municipal projects across the state because it substantially decreases the amount of money a Downtown Development Authority may receive through tax increment financing.

Also, many DDAs, such as the Chelsea DDA, have already sold bonds that are supposed to be paid off through tax increment financing. Tax increment financing allows a DDA to capture additional tax revenue generated by the increase in property values.

By eliminating school property taxes, the legislature has taken away about 60 percent of the tax base for tax increment financing.

And that could provide an even greater financial hit for the Village of Chelsea because the village essentially acted as a co-signer when the DDA sold its bonds. If the DDA can't make its payments, the village will have to pick up the difference out of its general fund. This year's bond payments total about $115,000.

There appears to be plenty of recognition among lawmakers that the tax increment financing problems have to be addressed.

Police, Restaurant Owner Nab Con Artists in Local Scam

A drycleaning scam made victims of two Chelsea businesses before police caught the alleged con artists in the act last Friday, July 23 at a local restaurant.

According to Chelsea police, Jeffrey P. Ruddy, 33, of Redford township, altered his voice to sound like a woman when he called both a Chelsea restaurant and retail store on July 22. He claimed his son had spilled something on his clothes while in the business and had incurred a drycleaning charge. He also said another manager at the business had told him to take care of the cleaning and bring in the bill.

Each time the manager on the telephone told him to bring in the bill. When Ruddy arrived, he was either given cash or a check. It was quickly discovered at each business, however, that no one had authorized any such payments.

Chelsea police began calling area businesses to warn them of the scam. While police were advising Joe Merkel at Wolverine Food & Spirits of the scam at about 2 p.m., Ruddy allegedly called and Merkel played along.

About 5 p.m., Ruddy allegedly came to the restaurant to collect while two police were on the premises.

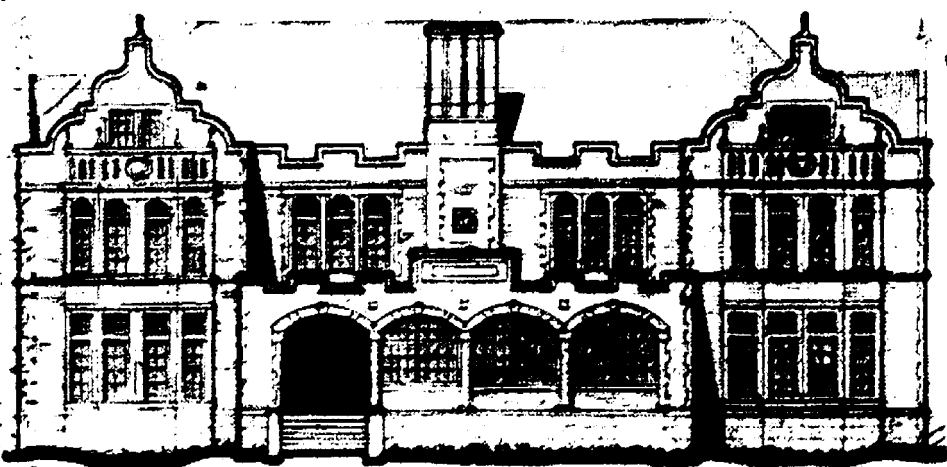

While officers talked with Ruddy, Merkel went to the parking lot and used his own vehicle to block the escape of Ruddy's partner, John R. Rietz, 39, of Belleville.

Evidence recovered from the car included 72 cleaning receipts.

Police also discovered that Rietz was wanted on child neglect charges.

FACE PAINTING was one of the popular attractions for children last Friday and Saturday during the annual Sidewalk Sale. Here, the Scott brothers, Ryan, left, age 6, and Shawn, age 4, show off their Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles. They are the sons of John and Kathy Scott of Chelsea.

Chelsea School District voters Monday overwhelmingly approved a three-year request for a 2.1 mill property tax hike. One of the largest turnouts in recent years for a school election, 2,011, passed the new millage 1,162 to 839.

The 1989 Chelsea Community Fair gets underway next Tuesday afternoon when hundreds of children dress themselves in costumes and ride their bikes from the center of town to the fairgrounds, the event known as the Children's Parade. Marching bands and fair queen candidates also participate in the traditional opening event of the fair.

Chelsea School District hired an interim high school principal and three teachers during Monday night's school board meeting. Former Beach Middle School principal Al Conklin was hired as a temporary replacement for high school principal John Williams, who has accepted a job in Ingham County.

Chelsea Baton "Show" Corps recently returned from Florida where they performed at Disney World, Sea World and the Mercado shopping mall. On June 27 members and their families flew to Orlando after nine months of intensive fund-raising, planning and practicing. The corps, under the direction of Rita Wilson-Howard, sang, danced, and twirled in the hearts of tourists from all over the world. Called "Baton on Broadway" the corps performed 15 numbers ranging from comedy to gymnastics, to a cape ballet, to twirl teams and ending with a drill march to "No Business Like Show Business."

School district voters turned down a 1.7 mill increase at the special election Monday for the second and last time. The school board will decide program cuts at its Sept. 4 meeting.

Marty Steinhauer won the national junior boys water skiing title last week in Duquoin, Ill. He set a midwest regional record in jumping with 107 feet on his way to the title. He has skied competitively for six years and was second in the nationals last year.

Because of a shortage of classrooms Chelsea High School will go on a seven-period schedule this fall, a change from the previous six. School will start at 8:20 a.m. and end at 3:20 p.m.

Representatives of the Chelsea Education Association and the Board of Education bargained all night, finally adjourning at 8 a.m. after starting at 7:30 p.m. the previous evening. Some 127 issues, most of them non-economic, were reported to be unresolved. State mediator William Johnson, called in by the school board to try to bring about an agreement, suggested that both sides make an earnest effort to narrow the issues.

Eight girls are entered in the annual Community Fair queen contest.

SAVE Organization Planning Community Awareness Meeting

The organization Sex Abuse Victims Everywhere (SAVE) plans to hold a community awareness meeting in Chelsea, tentatively scheduled for Oct. 18.

The meeting will feature several speakers who will talk about preventing sex abuse. It will be similar to a March 8 meeting held in Manchester. More information on the meeting, including times, place, and specific speakers will be published as it becomes available.

SAVE meets regularly on the second and fourth Mondays of each month at the Faith in Action building on the grounds of Chelsea Community Hospital from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. SAVE will also have a booth at the Chelsea Community Fair, where Jacqueline Doneghy Allen of the debt service of 1.4 mills. This will be the final year of the 1985 debt service, which should drop .4 mills off debt service next year.

Amy Boerma, formerly a teacher at L'Anse Creuse High school in Mt. Clemens, was hired as a half-time music teacher at Beach Middle school. She will help with both the band and orchestra programs directed by Warren Mayer and Peter Rosheger as enrollment is extremely high in those programs, Piasecki said.

There was some discussion Monday night about school finances, both for this year and next.

The state has not passed its school aid act for this year, so the district does not know whether it will lose any money.

A worst-case scenario, Piasecki guessed, is the district will have to pay an additional $200,000 in social security for staff members.

"If it's $200,000 or less, we'd probably make some internal adjustments, see if we can defer some things, and take a look at our fund balance," Piasecki said.

Thursday, Aug. 27, 1959—Chelsea's 125th Anniversary queen, Mrs. Charles Popovich, and her husband returned from a week's vacation in Clearwater, Fla. The trip was the prize awarded to Popovich for winning the queen contest. The couple reported having a very busy but enjoyable week.

It is now illegal to keep chickens inside Chelsea's village limits. A zoning ordinance amendment passed in 1955 with a four-year grace period has taken effect and village authorities promise to crack down on violators.

A Dearborn man who tried to beat a passenger train across the N. Main St. railroad tracks lost the race and the front end of his car, but escaped injury.

Bruce K. Plankell, a funeral director in Chelsea from 1924 to 1941, died at Higgins Lake in Roscommon county of a heart attack apparently caused by witnessing a boat collision in front of his cottage. He was 55.

Ode To John Fill

He was born August 8th in the year of '33 . . .
A cute little lad, by the picture you can see.
He's 60 this year so let's give a cheer
To the crafty man who's such a dear.
He's retired from his job, but stays active each day
Tending his flowers & crafts, and oh, by the way . . .
A GENTLE MAN to all he knows,
His dog Heidi is his pal and it sure does show.
He spoils his wife and lets her catch all the fish,
Good health and "HAPPY BIRTHDAY" is our special wish.

James J. Barry and Mark T. Clark of Dexter will both receive bachelor of arts degrees. Barry majored in telecommunication and Clark majored in MLM-purchasing and operation management.

Julie L. Hall, Kelley J. Lester, Judith A. Porte and Robert J. Romano of Pinckney will receive bachelor's degrees. Hall majored in physical education and exercise science; Lester majored in advertising; Porte majored in accounting; and Romano majored in philosophy.

The nine were among 1,490 candidates for bachelor's degrees at the university.

Residential Housing Market Expected To Continue Rebound

"Residential construction starts should continue to rebound in the second quarter, after a first quarter that was slowed by the March blizzard and skyrocketing lumber prices," according to Mike Hofer of Welcome Homes in Clarkston, 1993 president of the Michigan Association of Home Builders (MAHB).

Aided by 4,027 new housing starts in May, Michigan's residential construction market reflects a 13.4 percent increase as compared to April totals. As compared to 1992, the housing market reflects a modest gain.

According to Hofer, mortgage interest rates, already at 20-year lows, dipped slightly in April to about 7.25 percent. "There's still plenty of pent-up consumer demand from consumers who wanted to buy during the first quarter but didn't because of the bad weather or the higher new home prices brought on by the spike in lumber prices."

Low rates and strong demand should fuel starts throughout the second quarter and the rest of the year, according to Hofer.

The Michigan Association of Home Builders in Lansing is comprised of 9,671 member companies representing over 370,433 people in the homebuilding/construction industry. The MAHB represents 38 local home builder associations throughout the state.

Agriculture Eyes Conference Action On Budget Package

The budget reconciliation package approved by the U.S. Senate is more balanced than the package approved by the House, but Farm Bureau still opposes tax increases as substitutes for spending control according to Jack Laurie, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Both plans would cut agricultural spending by around $3 billion over the next five years. Laurie said agricultural programs have already been cut significantly during the past eight years. "On average, farm program spending has been cut nine percent per year for the past eight years," he said. "Had all federal entitlement spending been reduced by the same percentage, there would not be a budget crisis today."

The budget package extends the 25 percent deduction for health insurance premiums paid by the self-employed from July 1, 1992, when it expired, to Dec. 31, 1993.

With attention now focused on the conference committee, Farm Bureau will urge conferees to kill attempts to resurrect the BTU tax and other provisions that unfairly impact agriculture, said Laurie.

Road Rally Slated To Benefit Theatre

A road rally to benefit the Garage Theatre in Chelsea will be held this Saturday, Aug. 7, beginning at noon at the fairgrounds.

Organizer Steve Yarows said the rally will be a treasure hunt by car and will not test the performance of vehicles and drivers as much as their brains. Participants will need to bring a directional compass, dictionary, watch with a second hand, calculator, and a quarter.

There will be a variety of clues along the way. Sometimes it will involve getting out of the car. Occupants of the first car to reach the finish will have to answer questions, which will make taking shortcuts impossible.

Yarows said the rally should take all afternoon and will take drivers throughout western Washtenaw county.

Participants in the rally will be treated to a meal at Wolverine Food & Spirits.

Entrance fee is $20 per person or $75 per carload. First place prize is $1,000. There will also be second and third-place prizes.

Registration will be accepted the day of the rally, but Yarows said he would prefer registration ahead. The event will be held rain or shine.

Chelsea Connie Mack Team Ends Season With Six Straight Wins

Chelsea's Connie Mack baseball team finished their season last week with wins over Ann Arbor, 7-6, and Pinckney, 6-2.

Chelsea won their fifth straight game on Monday, July 26 with the victory over Ann Arbor. It was also their ninth win in the last 10 games.

The Bulldogs took a 2-0 lead in the first inning as Tim Wescott and Matt Powell scored on a triple by Steve Grau. But Ann Arbor rallied for three runs in the bottom of the inning.

Chelsea again took the lead in the second with three runs, highlighted by a double by Powell.

Again, Ann Arbor responded with three runs in the bottom of the inning to take a 6-5 lead.

Chelsea tied the game in the fourth and scored the winning run in the sixth on Wescott's double.

The Bulldogs had seven hits in the contest, including two by Wescott, and one each by Grau, Powell, Ryan Ludwig, Jeff Branch, and James Courdway. Nine walks also helped the Chelsea cause.

Powell was the starting pitcher and gave up all six runs, although coach

Akel Marshall said the Chelsea defense didn't help much. Grau pitched the last five innings and allowed one hit and one walk, and struck out nine.

Chelsea finished the season the next night with the victory over Pinckney.

Pinckney opened the scoring in the first but Wescott's two-out double drove in Nick Brink to tie the game in the second.

The score stayed tied until the sixth inning, when the Bulldogs sent nine batters to the plate and scored four runs. Scott Colvin's double was the big blow.

Scott Gietzen Gets Ace at Huron Hills

Scott Gietzen of Chelsea shot his first hole in one on Tuesday, July 20.

Gietzen aced the 138-yard third hole at Huron Hills Golf Course using a seven iron. Witnesses included John Cattell, Chris Cheng, and Jack Johnson.

Gietzen finished the round with a score of 47, which he called "about average."

Powell drove in Ed GreenLeaf in the seventh for the final Chelsea run.

Chelsea's 10 hits included a pair of singles for Wescott, Dirk Wales, and GreenLeaf, a double by Colvin, and singles by Powell, Grau, and Courdway.

Wescott pitched and yielded four hits and two walks, and struck out six. After the first inning, he allowed only one runner to reach third.

"We had a good summer," Marshall said.

"We made some mistakes but we'll learn from them. We did a lot of good things and we'll be all right."

Chelsea finished with a 12-5 record, good for second place.

Football Team Plans Meeting Monday Night

Chelsea Bulldogs varsity football team will open its pre-season practice schedule with a meeting next Monday, Aug. 9 at 6 p.m. at the high school. Practice starts at 7 a.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 9.

Annual football camp begins Wednesday, Aug. 18 and the annual blue/gold game will be held Saturday, Aug. 21.

Junior varsity practice starts on Wednesday, Aug. 11 at noon.

Papos on Crew of Top Sailboat in Port Huron-Mackinac Race

Developer Rene Papo and his father, Dr. Michael Papo, were members of the 17 person crew on the sailboat "Trader" which finished second over-all in the Port Huron to Mackinac Race on July 24-25.

"Trader," owned by Papo family friend Fred Detweiler of Grosse Pointe, owner of Michigan Trade Exchange, finished first in its class, called Perf A, the division with the largest boats. Detweiler's boat is 70 feet long, was built in Estonia, and was delivered just a few weeks ago. It finished in 26 hours and 41 minutes, eclipsing the old record by nearly six hours.

Rene Papo said strong winds allowed all 240 boats in the race to set a fast pace as the last place boat beat the old last place record by nearly eight hours.

"We've been racing with Fred for years," Papo said.

"We bought our first boat from him and he taught our family how to sail."

Each of the 17 crew members had a specific job, as well as generalized jobs such as sitting on the side of the boat to flatten it out. Papo worked in the cockpit "doing whatever needed to be done." It wasn't all hard work, but there wasn't much sleep, either.

The race began at 2 p.m. Saturday. By 5 p.m. the next day, when Trader completed the race, the party began, Papo said.

"There's a bar there everyone goes to called The Pink Pony," Papo said.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

This is in response to R. L. Thomas' letter regarding her opinion of one of the coaches on the girls' Midget League. After one game, I feel you do not qualify to judge this man and his team. You do not have the total picture. My daughter is on that team and I speak for myself and just about everyone involved with the team that we are proud and pleased our daughters were fortunate enough to have him as a coach. He taught the girls the fundamentals, the rules, and yes, the sportsmanship of the game where I feel some of the other coaches severely lacked.

This was my daughter's first year and she came in not knowing how to play softball. He worked with these girls on his own time with many practices. He was early for every game to practice and when he could not be at one game it broke his heart. He always praised his girls and as far as public reprimands, how can you learn from a bad play if you don't know it was one?

My daughter loves this man as a coach as he loves each and every one of his girls. We have requested to be on his team again and from hearing the other parents talk, when he took everyone out for ice cream after the last game, they feel the same way I do.

If anyone is whining and setting a bad example of poor sportsmanship it's R. L. Thomas.

T. Kellman.

Dear Editor:

I want to call your attention to an important publication recently released by The Heritage Foundation, the Index of Leading Cultural Indicators. Written by William Bennett, the Index is a comprehensive statistical portrait of behavioral trends over the last 30 years.

It shows, for example, that while population has increased 41 percent since 1960, violent crime has increased 560 percent; illegitimate births have increased more than 400 percent; divorce rates have quadrupled; the percentage of children living in single-parent homes has tripled, and the teen-age suicide rate has increased more than 200 percent.

As a member of The Heritage Foundation, I am eager to see the facts in this document given wide publicity. Only if we admit we are in a crisis of values can we begin to reverse our cultural decline.

You may already have received a copy of the Index. If so, I urge you to keep it on hand and use it as a resource. If you haven't yet seen it, you can obtain a copy by calling The Heritage Foundation's Publications Office at 202-546-4400.

Animal Activists Snare Nature Conservancy Group

Carrying a banner that reads, "TNC Tortures Animals With Your Money," demonstrators gathered outside a Nature Conservancy annual chapter meeting on Saturday, July 31, from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m., at the Sharon Mills Winery, 5701 Sharon Hollow Rd. Snare and skulls taken from the controversial Nature Conservancy trapping program were displayed. Members of People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) have already destroyed more than 700 Nature Conservancy snares on the Hawaiian Island of Molokai and are targeting the group nationwide.

According to PETA researcher David Cantor, "Once trapped by snares, wild pigs, deer, and other animals die a slow and painful death. The more they writhe in pain, the tighter the snare cuts into their skin. The bleeding attracts flies who lay their eggs in the wounds of the animal, resulting in thousands of maggots swarming over and entering the ears, mouth, nostrils, and eyes. Death by infection or starvation finally releases the victim from this agony."

Snare trapping is illegal in several states and in many countries. The Nature Conservancy, which has $800 million in assets, has refused to spend money on chemical sterilization and other available humane alternatives. The rotting animal carcasses in the snare traps foul rivers and streams and are evidence of untold suffering to pigs, goats, and deer.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL was held last week at North Lake Methodist church, and children had the chance to learn a little about life in Biblical times in the "Marketplace" theme. The school has been held for at least 75 years. Above, from left, are John Erskine, 7, Tommy Santoro, 8, and Caitlin Paul, 7, who are making lanterns under the guidance of Brenda McGuire. The children used nails to puncture holes in the cans, creating various designs. Below, retired pastor Dia Vale teaches Christopher Baker, 8, how to weave a parament, a hanging for the church.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mark Balze extends our sincere thanks to all who assisted him, July 22 at the time of his accident. Special thanks to Chelsea Fire Rescue for their immediate response and to Claire and Danielle DeLong who had started CPR. Huron Valley Ambulance for transporting him to Chelsea Emergency and for the medical team there. We also express our special appreciation to the membership of North Lake United Methodist church for their contribution of food and the Rev. Wayne Hawley for his very special service. Our many friends who expressed their sorrow with food, calls and cards, Sandy Zeeb and staff for the beautiful flowers. We will always remember the lovely people who served the luncheon at our home following the service, Bob and Dean Burrows, Rose DeGrow, Mae Sarah, Mary Waldyke, Dorothy Antis, Joe and Judy Merkel for the delicious food they provided. We are also very grateful to John and Lynn Klink for the kindness to Mark through the years. The care and concern for the family by John, Gloria, Johnny and Mike Mitchell who somehow eased the pain. A big thanks to "Chandler Street" for being the best neighbors and friends a family could have. Our deepest gratitude to those we have mentioned and to all who shared our grief. Our love to all of you.

Elimination of State Property Tax Raises Revenue Questions

The seismic shift that took place this week in state school financing raises some concerns about where the replacement revenue will come from, according to Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for Michigan Farm Bureau.

"We would be concerned about efforts to generate revenue by broadening the base of the state sales tax," Nelson said. "The current sales tax exemptions that apply to agriculture are designed to promote agricultural production in Michigan and make our industry competitive with other states. We will support the continued sales tax exemption status for all inputs directly related to agricultural production," he said.

Expansion of the personal property tax would also be a concern for agriculture, according to Nelson. "We would have no enthusiasm for expanding the tax base of personal property. In fact, it should go the other way in order to encourage investment in Michigan by agriculture and other business. Personal property should simply be eliminated as a source of taxation," he said.

Current Michigan Farm Bureau policy says that a shift in school finance away from property taxes should be funded by a combination of increasing the state sales tax, increasing the income tax and/or increasing other taxes. "Any tax shift should be revenue neutral in its impact on the agricultural industry," said Nelson.

A PORTION OF WASHINGTON ST. is closed to traffic as a long-awaited resurfacing project takes place. South St. is also getting a facelift. More of Washington St. is being paved than initially planned as village council authorized an additional $25,000 to pave between Flanders St. and the high school driveway. The project should be completed before the Chelsea Community Fair begins.

Athletic Boosters Now Told Project Doesn't Need Approval

Chelsea Athletic Boosters will apparently be able to go ahead and build a new concession stand at Chelsea High school without formal approval from the village.

The boosters had been told the project would need formal site plan approval because it was not a school district project. However, as it turns out, projects on school district property are exempt from the approval process, no matter who the sponsor is.

Boosters president Rod Payne said he hopes construction can begin by the middle of the month.

The concession stand, which will also have restrooms, is the first phase of a two-phase project. It is the most ambitious project ever undertaken by the boosters.

Jorgensen Makes Baldwin-Wallace List

Holly Jorgensen of Chelsea was named to the Dean's List at Baldwin-Wallace College for the spring quarter, according to Dr. Mark Collier, vice-president for academic affairs.

Farm Producers Support Efforts To Improve Food Safety

The president of the state's largest farm organization said farmers support the call for improved residue data on foods commonly eaten by children.

Jack Laurie, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, made the comments after a study was released by a National Academy of Science panel that criticized the government for failing to adequately protect children from possible ill effects from leftover pesticides on produce.

"Farmers take very seriously their goal of providing safe and nutritious food for domestic as well as foreign consumers," he said. "We believe that consumers can rejoice in knowing that the American food supply is already the safest in the world. If additional, meaningful actions can be taken to further guarantee safety, as indicated by the Academy's report, we will support those actions," said Laurie.

Farmers increasingly are relying on non-chemical strategies to fight insects and diseases and to reduce pesticide applications, according to Laurie.
